October Is Pork Month

Hogs Are Beautiful, Especially Without Disease

October is pork month and pork prices at the retail level should please consumers, but won't help profits of Wayne County pork producers.

Wayne County's pork producer, Dick Sorensen says the effects of supply and demand have forced the hog market down and most producers are selling hogs slightly under the break-even point.

"To produce a 200-pound hog, the total cost is from 35 to 38 cents per pound," the former Northeast Nebraska Pork Producers' Association president said. "The market top earlier this week was from 35 to 35.50 cents per pound."

Favorable profits from hog production over the last few years have stimulated hog herd expansion, resulting in increased market numbers. But with the increase in hog numbers comes a decrease in prices hog producers receive for their product.

"We're at the point now where you have to have a real top performing hog to break even," Sorensen explained.

Overhead costs

Sorensen, who handles from 1,200 to 1,300 head of hogs yearly, said the cost of doing business continues to go up while the hog market fluctuates above and below the break-even margin.

Feed costs have remained relatively stable over the last few years, but the price of equipment, fuel to heat buildings, veterinary expenses, interest rates, taxes, etc., has continued to rise in line with double digit inflation.

While Sorensen is receiving less per pound for his hogs than in recent years, he is able to maintain his profit margins by selling top quality and disease-free breeding stock.

Diseases such as pseudorabies, brucellosis and virus pig pneumonia are foreign to hogs raised on the Sorensen farm because his pigs are specific pathogen free (SPF) and are certified by the SPF Association.

Sorensen's operation is one of three in Wayne County and is one of 48 in the state. His stock is guaranteed to be free of any diseases, and area commercial breeders pay a premium for that guarantee, he explained.

In 1962, after deciding that "if I was going to raise breeding stock, I was going to raise good, clean animals," the former national pork producer representative started his operation.

He took some of his top hogs and had them bred. When the gestation period was nearing its end, Sorensen had the baby pigs taken by Cesarean (C-section) to break the disease cycle. Under sterile conditions in a laboratory, the pigs are born germ free, he explained.

The hogs are kept under sterile laboratory conditions for five weeks before they are brought to the farm. His hogs remain disease free because his operations meet stringent requirements established by the SPF Association.

Once the pigs arrive at the farm disease free, they can subsequently be bred at breeding age and can give birth naturally. The only time pigs are taken by C-section in the lab at present is when a new blood line is added to the operation, Sorensen said.

Detailed information is kept on each hog born on the farm or brought to the farm from a laboratory. Certain requirements set down by the SPF program in Nebraska have to be met in order to maintain certification, he added.

The farm is visited six or eight times yearly by field men and coordinators with the Nebraska SPF program. Tests are taken to make sure the hogs are performing according to SPF specifications.

In addition, blood tests are taken quarterly for pseudorabies and yearly for brucellosis. Hogs also have to be free of mange and lice.

If even one hog is found to be diseased, the SPF certification is cancelled. To return to the SPF program, the entire stock has to be sold and rebuilt from scratch.

If an animal is found not to be meeting SPF performance qualifications for gain or back fat, that particular hog is sold on the market to a buyer at a reduced rate.

"Obviously," the 1953 Wayne Prep

Sorensen added that buyers, potential buyers and SPF employees are required to wear special overalls and coveralls when around the hogs. Diseases can be transmitted from herd to herd easily.

While the cost of producing an SPF hog is higher, there are two advantages which make that type of operation favorable — SPF hogs provide the potential buyer with clean animals, and the hogs are guaranteed performance tested, are low in back fat and are of excellent quality, Sorensen said.

In addition to the hog operation, Sorensen, his son Steven, full time help Tom Nissen and some part time help manage 840 acres of farm land. This includes 425 acres of corn, 250 acres of beans and about 100 acres of oats.

Most of the grain is fed to his livestock. A balanced ration program is geared to the hogs and lab testing is done on feed samples to assure correct levels of amino acids.

Most of Sorensen's hogs are sold in Eastern Nebraska, and nearby parts of South Dakota and Iowa. He has sold in 27 states, Canada, Mexico and sold 30 head to E. Germany in 1974.

Because each hog is ear tagged, tested and weighed at birth and periodically through the growth cycle, a "tremendous amount of bookkeeping" is needed. That chore goes to his wife, Judy. Each hog has to be identified within three days of birth with an ear notch and the filling out of a litter record sheet for each litter.

Although Sorensen raises primarily Durocs now, he began in 1962 with Hampshire.

Sorensen has been involved in hog production since high school. He farmed with his father until 1957 and then entered the service. Returning to Wayne County in 1959, he found that hog production in Nebraska faced a lot of health problems and decided to start his SPF operation.

The only other two SPF herds in the county are owned by his brother, Dean, just east of his farm and by Jim Bush of Carroll.

Because of his involvement in hog producing, Sorensen is considered a state and national expert on the subject. He has been director, president and vice president of the Northeast Nebraska Pork Producers' Association, president of the State association, as well as director, and has been involved on the national level, and was presented the pork All American Award at the 1972 National Pork Congress in Kansas City, Mo.

Wayne to Host District State Teachers' Event

Wayne is one of several sites for this year's district Nebraska State Education Association conventions scheduled here Thursday and Friday, Oct. 25 and 26.

Other locations include Lincoln, Omaha, Kearney and Alliance.

REGISTRATION for the Elkhorn District Convention will run from 8 to 11 a.m. Thursday in the lobby of the Wayne State College Fine Arts Building and from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the WSC Student Union. Friday registration will be from 8:45 to 10:15 a.m. in the Fine Arts Building.

Exhibits will be set up in the north dining room of the WSC Student Union and in the Student Union lower level.

A general session is slated for 9 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 25, in the Fine Arts Building. Featured will be Elkhorn District president Miron Jenness of Wayne, WSC president Lyle Seymour, Jerry Kriha of the NSEA staff, Elkhorn board members Gary Osborn and Tom Black, Stan Carlson and Harriet Egerton of the Department of Education, and Nebraska Commissioner of Education Dr. Anne Campbell. She is featured speaker.

SESSIONS Thursday include development of vocabulary in content areas, how to help yourself and others, land measure, strawberry street, youth employment in secondary schools, future problem solving, English for the next decade, what's available in outdoor environmental education, learning to read by reading, Nebraska Professional Practices Commission, teacher certification: Implication for the school, increasing your classroom effectiveness through multi-ethnic education, and a variety of others.

Friday's general session will be at 9 a.m. in the Fine Arts Building and will feature Dr. Debora Phillips, a teacher of psychology at Temple University and a sex therapist at Princeton University. She will discuss "Stress: Is It Eroding Change?"

FRIDAY'S individual sessions will include human relations, grievance writing workshop and negotiations workshop.

For more information, contact the Nebraska State Education Association, Lincoln, 475 7611.

Miron Jenness, Wayne, president; Lanny Boelter, Wayne, president elect; Marie Skokan, Wayne, secretary; Jim Hallerty, Winslow, treasurer; Ivan Van Dyke, Norfolk, NEA coordinator; Ruth Wagner, Norfolk, Marjorie Decker, Neligh, Dennis Linsler, Wayne, Stephen Warner, Norfolk all members of the Executive Committee; Gary Osborn, Randolph, Tom Black, West Point, NSEA board of directors.

AN ESTIMATED 1,200 to 1,300 hogs are handled on the Dick Sorensen farm each year as part of his SPF (specific pathogen free) pork operation. He says his hogs are disease free and are guaranteed as such to area pork buyers. Sorensen maintains his efficient and clean operation by following stringent requirements and specifications set down by the Nebraska SPF Association.

Firearm Count Dropped Robbery Pair Enter Pleas

Both defendants charged in the robbery of the Hoskins Commercial State Bank Sept. 27 pleaded guilty to a reduced charge in Wayne County District Court Wednesday morning.

Kevin D. Wehrer, 18, Norfolk, and Douglas L. Schulz, 18, Pierce, entered pleas to only one of two original charges, theft by unlawful taking. The other charge of use of a firearm to commit a felony was dismissed by Judge Merritt C. Warren upon recommendation of prosecuting attorney Budd Bornhoff.

BORNHOFF and defense attorneys David Domina of Norfolk and John Addison of Wayne had reached the agreement through plea bargaining.

Dismissal of the second charge also included a stipulation that prosecuting attorney Bornhoff "stand mute" or make no recommendations at time of sentencing.

Judge Warren set tentative time and date for sentencing at 2 p.m. Friday, Nov. 9, in District Court here. A pre-sentence investigation will be conducted by members of the District Probation Office.

THE HEARING Wednesday was held to determine the nature of the charges to allow the defendants to enter pleas.

Pleas available included guilty, not guilty, standing mute and nolo contendere.

In entering his plea, defendant Schulz told Judge Warren that he had, in fact, robbed the Commercial State Bank of Hoskins Sept. 27 of more than $1,000 ($4,389). He told the judge that he used an unloaded firearm in committing the Class III felony.

Defendant Wehrer also admitted his involvement in the robbery, but said Schulz had used the firearm.

Judge Warren accepted the pleas and reduced bond to $100,000 from $150,000. All three attorneys agreed the original amount was excessive. Schulz and Wehrer will be held in County Jail until 10 percent of the bond is posted.

BOTH COULD be sentenced up to 20 years in prison and/or a fine of $25,000 on the theft charge. Minimum sentence is 1 year in prison.

According to testimony at a hearing Oct. 4 in Wayne County Court, the Commercial State Bank was robbed shortly after 1 p.m. of $4,389.

Bank vice president Jim Miller said he returned from lunch to the bank to find two men waiting in the lobby area to speak to him. After inviting them into his office, one of the men, Schulz, requested a loan of $1,000 to buy a used car.

Grandparents Have Special Days, Too

GRANDPA AND GRANDMA are special people to have around, even if it's just to share a lunch hour with their grandchildren. Friday afternoon nearly 70 grandparents turned out to eat lunch with their grandsons and granddaughters to kick off National School Lunch Week in the Wayne Public Schools. In the photo above, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Fluent enjoy a meal of spaghetti, green beans, peas, cookie, French bread and milk with their granddaughter, Michelle Fluent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Fluent. Parents of the school children have been invited to each lunch with their children any day this week. The hot lunch program in the Wayne schools began 20 years ago.

Job Service Has Applicant Decline

At the end of September there were 247 persons registered for employment with the Norfolk Job Service office, 285 with the Wayne office and 140 with the O'Neill office for a total of 415 registered applicants.

This compares with 595 last month and 758 at the close of September 1978. The 415 total includes 251 females and 36 veterans but does not include 193 individuals seeking only part time work.

The Job Service office in Wayne is on an itinerant basis after the full-time office was closed recently.

Bob Simpson, Norfolk, is the interviewer for the new set-up and is in Wayne from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday and Friday, and from 1 to 5 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Simpson can be contacted at the Chamber of Commerce building, 108 W. Third St., or by calling 375-2945 during these times.

New applications filed during September totaled 280 compared with 279 last month and 461 for September of last year.

Nonagricultural job openings received from employers numbered 487 compared with 484 in August and 438 for September of 1978. Nonagricultural placements made by the office during September totaled 291.

Appreciation Night Near For Farmers

The eighth annual Farmers' Appreciation Night Dinner has been set for 7 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 10, at the Wayne State College Student Center.

Sponsored annually by the Chamber of Commerce, the appreciation banquet is held to show appreciation to Wayne-area farmers for supporting the Wayne business community.

Bob Jordan, co-chairman of this year's event, said a social hour is set from 6 to 7 p.m. at the Wayne Fire Station.

Featured speaker will be Don Stoner, former television personality in Sioux City and now a marketing officer for Northwest National Bank in Sioux City. More information on Stoner will appear later.

Tickets are free to farmers in the Wayne trade area, and may be picked up from any Chamber of Commerce merchant in Wayne. This is a change from last year when tickets were mailed to each farmer.

Tickets must be picked up before Monday, Nov. 5, Jordan said. For more information, contact Jordan at the State National Bank, 375-1130.

Open House at Carroll Schools

Parents and friends of youngsters enrolled in the Carroll Elementary School are invited to visit with their teachers and view student work during the annual open house Monday evening, Oct. 22.

Principal David Luff said the parents can visit the school anytime between 7:30 and 9 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Thirty-three elementary children attend school in Carroll and teachers are Mrs. Wayne Kerstine and Mrs. Lowell Olson.

Mental Health Group Elects Officers

The Wayne County Advisory Committee on Mental Health met recently at Wayne State College and elected new officers.
ELECTED president was Mrs. Twila Claybaugh of Wayne. Vice president is the Rev. Doniver Peterson of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Wayne and secretary is the Rev. Ken Edmonds, First United Methodist Church, Wayne.
Other members of the committee are Curt Frye, Ann O'Donnell, the Rev. Robert Haas and Clifton Ginn.
The committee was first organized in 1976 and meets on a regular monthly basis to help support the services and programs of the Wayne Mental Health Service Center, which is a satellite of the Northern Nebraska Comprehensive Mental Health Center in Norfolk.

MRS. CLAYBAUGH said the primary goal of the Wayne Mental Health Service Center is to provide mental health services to individuals living in the Wayne County area.
These services include psychological evaluation and consultation; individual, family and parental counseling; alcoholism counseling; drug abuse counseling; and vocational rehabilitation counseling.
THE STAFF includes Stanley M. Reiss, Ph.D., director and clinical psychologist; Robert Agnew, Ph.D., clinical psychologist; Neal Boeshart, alcoholism counselor; Charles Thissen, drug abuse counselor; and Joan Sennschel, vocational rehabilitation counselor.

Consultations are available at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Wayne on the first and third Thursdays of each month from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Appointments can be arranged by contacting Pastor Peterson or Mrs. Arlen Peterson at 375-3180 or 375-2899. Appointments also can be made by calling 1-800-672-8323.
Mrs. Claybaugh emphasized that contacts are held in the strictest confidence.
The Advisory Committee is scheduled to meet again at 8:15 a.m. Oct. 18 in the Student Union on the Wayne State College campus.

Land O' Lakes to Have Enough Fuel

An allocation of crude oil for the remainder of the year will ensure adequate diesel fuel supplies for the harvest season for farmers served by Land O'Lakes, Inc. Congressman Doug Bereuter said Tuesday.
Bereuter said that Energy Cooperative, Inc. in Each Chicago, Ind., which is the major supplier for Land O'Lakes, has received 3,024,896 barrels of crude oil, or 95 percent of its full requirement.
The allocation is for the fourth quarter of this year.
"Farmers who depend on Land O'Lakes for their fuel supplies can expect to have enough fuel for the harvest season," Bereuter said. Gasoline and heating oil supplies will also be adequate for them, according to Bereuter.
Late last month, Bereuter met with representatives from Land O'Lakes concerning fuel supplies for Midwestern farmers.

In a telegram to Bereuter, company officials said, "Your assistance to us in our dealings with the Department of Energy was the most significant factor in achieving success in assuring adequate fuel for Midwestern agriculture this fall harvest season. On behalf of Land O'Lakes and its Midwestern farmer members, we would like to sincerely thank you for your efforts and assistance in solving this problem."
On Dean's List
Five members of the most recent class of Northeast Technical Community College practical nursing graduates have been named to honor lists.
Named to the Dean's Honor List, earning a 3.75 grade average or higher on a 4.0 scale, was Lori Jean Hartman of Dixon.

Thought for Today

By Brian McBride

"To stumble twice against the same stone is a proverbial disgrace..."
Cicero

We should try to learn and benefit from our mistakes, bypassing the pitfalls that have claimed us before. To make the same mistake twice is an admission that we have difficulty in learning.
It is sad but true that some of us tend to stumble not only twice but many times and against the same "stone" before we learn certain lessons that experience should teach. We could save ourselves trouble by learning from the first stumble.
We are able to arrange for funeral services anywhere in the country. At a time of need, your first call should be to us. We will provide the kind of help you would expect from a friend.

Editorial - Higher Education Funding Is Lacking

CAPITOL NEWS
By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The Lincoln Regional Comprehensive Care Unit will probably come under the scrutiny of a special legislative committee soon.

That was the comment of Sen. Don Wesley of Lincoln after the state Health Department terminated certification of the unit in which mentally retarded adults are cared for.

The termination has been appealed by the state Department of Public Institutions according to the agency's new director, W. Ralph Michener.

The appeal, as added, will have the effect of postponing the ending of federal funding.

The care unit was strongly criticized last summer, and the Health Department placed center officials on notice they had one month to remedy deficiencies.

Health Department investigators made another review of the situation recently and indicated there were two major areas of concern: Insufficient documentation of individual treatment programs, and too much reliance of chemical and physical restraints.

Michener said physical restraints being used are not the type that triggered the initial controversy about the care unit.

Last spring a national hospital commission revoked the unit's accreditation, noting the physical restraining devices violated commission standards and perhaps violated the civil rights of the patients.

Gov. Charles Thone then appointed a special committee which made a number of recommendations. Thone also directed that restraining devices not be used unless absolutely necessary.

Because "very substantial improvements" have been made since last spring, Michener said, he was surprised by the Health Department's reference to the restraining devices.

According to Michener, the care unit's environment has been improved, treatment programs have been developed and the use of the restraints have been significantly reduced.

Wesley said the special legislative committee appointed to study to state's programs for the mentally retarded gave Michener one month to report on actions he has taken to improve conditions at the unit.

At the time of its first meeting, the committee said it would allow Michener some time to initiate his program.

That time, Wesley added, has elapsed "and apparently things haven't gotten better" at the care unit.

Nebraska lags

The Chronicle of Higher Education says Nebraska is one of nine states that has failed to keep up with the inflation rate in funding higher education the last two years.

A Chronicle survey showed Nebraska appropriations for higher education just kept abreast with inflation during the period while the national average of state funds for such education rose 24 percent. Nebraska's average was 15 percent.

During the past two years Nebraska appropriated $150.9 million, nearly $18 million of which was given to the University of Nebraska.

The survey showed Nebraska's spending on higher education exceeded the national average in two categories. Last year the Legislature appropriated $95 per person for higher education, compared with the national average of $87.48. Also, the state appropriation per $1,000 in personal income was nearly $13. The national average was $11.16.

Bailout not requested

Ever since residents of the Omaha School District approved no-increase in property taxes proposition, there have been recurring reports the Legislature would be requested to grant special state aid to help the financially squeezed district.

Gaynelle Goodrich, president of the Omaha School Board, said such a bailout would be unfair to other school districts. She added that contrary to published comments attributed to Ed Jaksha of Omaha, she never suggested asking for special treatment by the state's lawmakers.

In a recent letter to Sen. Cal Carsten of Avoca, chairman of the Legislature's Revenue Committee, Mrs. Goodrich enclosed a copy of a newspaper story in which Jaksha said some school officials, including Mrs. Goodrich, have discussed seeking special consideration.

Mrs. Goodrich said the Omaha district has already made cuts in the budget required to operate within anticipated revenues for the coming year.

In her letter to Carsten, Mrs. Goodrich said, "We have, however, always known that a second year's adjustment... will be crippling. For that reason, I have several times said that we will have to look to the legislature for help in the form of more state aid and/or adjustment of the tax structure that will enable local boards to provide for local needs."

Court hits the road

The Nebraska Supreme Court recently held an actual session outside the Capitol.

The justices conducted the session at the Ahmanson Law Center at Creighton University in Omaha.

Dean Rodney Shkolnick dismissed law classes for the day and encouraged the students to observe the court and practicing attorneys in action.

About 400 students were present when Chief Justice Norman Krivosha called the session to order.

During the day, attorneys presented oral arguments on the appeals of five cases.

The session was well received, and Shkolnick said he hopes the justices will make such a visit on an annual basis.

Bothered by staff increases

Sen. Ralph Kelly of Grand Island says he's bothered by the fact that increased demands on state legislators' time have led to increases in legislative staff members.

He said if the state senators can't make all the decisions necessary to represent their constituents, "hired help is going to" and will do the things the staffers want done.

"That really scares me," said Kelly during a recent appearance at a meeting sponsored by the League of Women Voters. "It is something we want to watch very closely."

Kelly said increasing the number of state senators or placing the lawmakers on fewer committees might eliminate some of the time pressure that causes the addition of more staff people to the legislative payroll.

Oct. 15, 1979

Dear Editor:

I would like to recommend to your readers a book called "The Christian Couple" by Larry and Nordis Christenson (Bethany Fellowship, Inc.). They taught me a new word: kinderfeindschaft. It's German, and means hostility against children — an attitude toward your own children that looks upon them as enemies. Kinderfeindschaft begins when a parent chooses his own convenience over the needs and rights of the child.

Today, abortion is being used as a birth control measure. Regardless of when we believe life begins, our society is finding a foundation of Kinderfeindschaft. I find that concept scary.

In the book, "Airport," when the co-pilot discovers his girlfriend is pregnant, he says to the pilot, "You have seven children. Did you ever think of abortion for the un-planned ones?"

The pilot answers, "Oh, sure. But I've read a lot of history, and it is my observation that a civilization began its decline whenever it stopped affirming the value of human life. And, a further thing, each of the un-planned kids is extra-special, for one reason or another."

I've practiced nursing the past 20 years. I've witnessed hundreds of births; and have even delivered a few myself. Each is a miracle — and the thrill never diminishes.

America has always had great respect for life. During the war, we risked much equipment to rescue just one stranded soldier. Now, I wonder if our nation's changing attitude is reflected in her internal decay. And I am deeply concerned about what I regard as moral decay.

I see "instant gratification" becoming the rule. If we cannot discipline our sex drive, we will lack discipline in other areas of our lives.

An actor, well known for his romantic roles, was asked on a TV talk show, "What makes a great lover?"

He answered, "a great lover is someone who can satisfy one woman all her life long. A great lover is not someone who goes from woman to woman to woman. Any dog can do that."

Psalms 127 says "Children are a gift from the Lord; they are a real blessing." I still believe that. I still believe the sex act has a place only in the framework of marriage; and that we must take the responsibility for that act within that framework.

I realize this is regarded as old-fashioned today. Some of the old-fashioned virtues were good; and fewer people were hurt by them.

Bright, an international pregnancy service, has an office in Norfolk. Its address is: Skyview Medical Center, 109 No. 15th, P.O. Box 1382. They can always use good maternity and baby clothes. If you would like a program about it, contact the office 379-1000; or Rita Walsh, 371-7238.

Louise Summerhill, the founder of this positive organization, will be guest of honor at a dinner on Tuesday, Nov. 6, at the Norfolk Country Club. Cost is $7.50 per person. Reservations must be made by Nov. 1 to Mrs. Virginia Kingsbury, 1513 Glenmore Rd., Norfolk.

I realize that the command to be fruitful and multiply and replenish the earth has been fulfilled — the earth has been replenished. I, too, am concerned about the increased incidence of child abuse. As a school nurse, I could show you many cases of neglect here in rural Nebraska. Little people are sent to school without breakfast, without teeth brushed and without clean underwear. Standards of adequate nutrition are not being met in many homes. TV is used as a babysitter; and children are not even getting enough sleep because they stay up to watch it.

I can't find it in my heart to accept the notion that it would have been better to interrupt those lives. Somehow, we must use the current interest in good health to teach responsibility and respect — for our bodies and for those of our children.

I ask those who are parents and those who will someday be parents to accept their responsibility.

Pat Melner-Henke

Business Has a Better Idea - Will Government Listen

Richard L. Leshar, President
Chamber of Commerce of the United States

A key challenge Americans must urgently face is whether we can reduce environmental regulatory costs without sacrificing basic environmental goals. The problem is not so much the air and water pollution standards themselves. After all, business people do live here too! So while some standards are neither reasonable nor cost-effective, the real problem is the rigid and costly way they are enforced. Regulators want to dictate both what industry must do and how it must do it. That does not make sense.

By one estimate, the air and water pollution control regulations issued by the Environmental Protection Agency account for 77 percent of all the added costs Industrial firms incur in complying with federal, state, and local regulations of all types. So when you take all these costly regulations, then blend in the dangerous brew of excessive federal spending, taxation, and printing of money, it's clear what you're going to create: Higher inflation, lost jobs, wasted energy, lower productivity, and a weakening of American ability to compete in world markets.

The recent economic distress signals that we've seen dominating the news — wild increases in the prices of gold and silver, the dollar under siege, and panic selling on Wall Street — all provide dramatic proof that Washington must stop this abuse of our economy.

In the regulatory area, the business community should be given the opportunity to provide leadership and use its expertise to reduce both costs and pollution. Take a look at a case in point: Arco, Inc., a steel company in Middletown, Ohio. Today's environmental protection regulations spell out detailed requirements for control systems on each separate smokestack or device. Arco already effectively controls all primary sources of air pollution, having spent more than $188 million since 1955 on various air pollution controls. But under current regulations, it must do still more. It must attempt to capture those last few wisps of smoke — fugitive emissions — which occur only sporadically. To do so would cost more than everything the company has spent so far.

Arco has proposed a better alternative, the bubble concept, which could allow the company to produce cleaner air than today's rules, yet save vast sums of money. This concept would replace stack by stack regulations by establishing an imaginary bubble over the entire facility. EPA and the state would then decide total allowable emissions coming from that site. In return, plant managers would be permitted to decide which mix of pollution controls for the entire plant would be most cost effective — in other words, the company could determine how to get what EPA says must be obtained.

Obviously, the key to the success of the bubble concept lies in not limiting its application. For example, Arco's own testing revealed that 49 percent of all the plant's particle emissions came from raw materials, storage piles, un-paved roads, dusty paved roads, and open areas. By spraying water on storage piles of iron ore, Arco estimates it could control about 284 tons of iron oxide and dust particles each year at a cost of $704 a ton. By contrast, it would cost the company $8,500 a ton to recapture some of the 309 tons of iron oxide emitted from its blast furnaces, and a mind boggling $35,700 a ton to dig into the 140 tons emitted from its open hearth furnaces.

The savings could be tremendous, and not just in terms of capital expenditures.

With the bubble concept in place, the steel industry alone could save 4.3 million barrels of oil a year. And by applying the concept throughout American industry the potential for increased energy conservation would be tremendous.

Business has come up with a better idea. Will government listen? Business leaders are not asking for special favors; they're asking for common sense, for the basic recognition that they are the employers and providers of America, and finally, for the understanding that they can only meet those responsibilities if their firms are not pushed over the financial brink by runaway regulations?

There are indications that EPA is moving in this direction and would like to regulate. We intend to follow up and will keep you informed.

OUT OF OLD NEBRASKA

Residents of Grand Island in the 1870's could drink beer brewed in their own home town. The editor of the "Grand Island Times" in the April 12, 1877, edition of his newspaper, on file at the State Historical Society reported on the location of the city's State Central Brewery. He and his companions "through the kindness of the proprietor, George Boehm, were shown through the entire establishment. Mr. Boehm acting as guide.

"We first went into the Cellar, which is 22 1/2 feet deep, where we stored we inspected with a capacity of 250 barrels, nearly all full of the creamy liquid undergoing the different stages of fermentation. Every thing was arranged systematically, and kept scrupulously neat and clean. In order to keep the temperature of the cellar up to the desired point during the summer months, a rack has been built in the center calculated to hold twenty tons of ice. A glance at the thermometer, which Mr. Boehm watches carefully, showed the mercury to be down to almost freezing in which temperature it is expected to keep it. If 850 tons of ice he has on hand will do it. The last hoghead that we inspected, and which was almost large enough for a dwelling house, contained Bock Beer, which is about twice as strong as the ordinary article, and much older, the quality of which the boys will have an opportunity of testing on Bock Beer day, May 1st. Near the ice rack were piles of kegs of beer that had gone through the mill and were ready for market.

"Thinking that it might be interesting to the many who drink this healthful beverage to know how it is manufactured, we asked Mr. Boehm to tell us the modus operandi, a sketch of which, as he told it, we jotted down hastily.

"The instructions for cooking a duck, before you cook him you must first get the duck, the first thing to do is to get the best of barley, as light colored as possible, which is put into a steep tub where it stands two or three days. It is then taken out of the tub and spread on a floor, where the seeds sprout and grow. This mass of green sprouts is then turned over every 6 or 8 hours. After a certain stage of growth has been reached, it is then put into a kiln and dried from 24 to 30 hours, then spread out again and left standing from 20 to 30 days; then put into a mill and ground. This process makes malt of it.

"The malt is put into what is termed a 'mash tub' and warm water first and boiling water added afterwards. The liquid is then run off, strained, and carried to the furnace and put into the kettle — capacity 15 barrels — where it is boiled; then again boiled the second time and hopped. It is then pumped out of the kettle into the cooler — 15x22 feet, lined with tin, where it stands several hours, during the winter to become cool enough to be put into fermenting tubs. In the summer it is run out from the cooler and over a Baudet beer cooler, — on the outside of copper pipes, through the inside of which ice water is kept pouring continually. Once into the fermenting tubs it stands from 17 to 20 days, after which time it is racked off into kegs and is ready for use.

"The main building is about 30x60 feet, two stories high, with a large addition on the west side, devoted to horse power used in grinding malt and running large force pumps. In the main part is the furnace and kettle, mash tubs and cooler, and the hoisting apparatus for raising kegs from the cellar. Mr. Boehm informed us that he is increasing to such an extent that he would be compelled to order more shortly. At present he has at least 10,000 gallons of beer on hand, and during the coming summer, will be better prepared to furnish first class beer and to do a larger business than ever before. In bringing the establishment to its present state of perfection, he has expended about $12,000, and will continue to improve as time progresses. He superintends every department himself and his reputation is that of one of the best brewers in the state. It will repay any one to visit the brewery and "take it in," as we did, and we guarantee them a pleasant time and courteous treatment."

WAY BACK WHEN

30 Years Ago
October 13, 1949: Gov. Val Peterson will be featured speaker at the guest night of the Wayne Women's Club. Tuesday afternoon the senior sociology class at Wayne Prep took a trip to Norfolk to tour the state hospital for the mentally ill. Two student teachers, Don Means and Joyce Root, and supervisor C. V. ## OBSERVATIONS

Board Views Are Narrow

Wayne-Carroll High School seniors, faculty, the administration and parents of the students have something to be proud of — the results of last year's ACT tests.

Males and females scored well above the national average and somewhat above the state average in all of four areas except one. Females fell below the state average in mathematics.

On a composite basis, Wayne's 1978-79 Juniors (this year's seniors) scored 23.3 while the state average was 20.1 and the national average was 19.5.

While the females were just four tenths of a percent below the state average in math, they were above the state in English, social studies and natural sciences. All groups scored best in natural sciences.

One board member felt the lower score in math by the females was "nothing to be proud of." We have to disagree. It's nothing to be ashamed of.

Results of the ACT tests indicate the quality of education at Wayne-Carroll School District is better than the average across the state and nation. This indicates a quality education from the kindergarten level through the 11th grade, a transition that not every school district is able to equal.

Teachers at Wayne-Carroll have shown initiative in instructing their students over the years and such dedication has paid off. But some members of the board of education nearly faltered in allowing innovative education to continue here.

On a 3-1 vote, the board approved a motion allowing Middle School Principal Dick Metteer to apply for a federal grant which would let local educators develop a curriculum unequalled in the state and possibly in the nation.

If approved, the grant will allow development of a course designed to preserve the arts and crafts of Indians in the state of Nebraska and the United States.

Metteer explained to the board that the process of developing these arts and crafts among the American Indian is rapidly being assimilated into the American society. The proposed program will help preserve these talents.

But approval of the grant application wasn't without considerable hesitancy on the part of the board of education.

Although there will be no cost to the school district, some board members were hesitant to vote their approval. Some questioned the value or lack of value of such a program. Some remarks showed a narrow view of the American Indian, and other comments foreshadowed shortsighted thinking which is not helpful in a progressive and successful school system.

As one of the board members said, "there is a lot to gain in appreciation of the arts and crafts. No one has pushed for the basic harder than we, but there are other things in life."

Well said, and we hope the board broadens its view.

Area Delegates Attend State LCW Convention

Women from Concord, Wakefield, Wayne and Winslow represented the Northeast District Assembly at the 18th annual convention of the Nebraska Lutheran Churchwomen, held Oct. 8-10 in Lincoln.

Delegates from the area include Ardye Johnson, Concord Lutheran Church; Concord, Emma Harding, Salem Lutheran, Wakefield; Phyllis Rahn, Redeemer Lutheran, Wayne; Helen Weible, St. Paul's Lutheran, Wayne; and Ann Behmer, Trinity Lutheran, Win side.

Other women attending from the area were Mrs. Iner Peterson, Mrs. Glenn Magnuson, Mrs. Verdel Erwin and Mrs. Marjorie Johnson, all of Concord; Mrs. Alden Johnson of Wakefield; and Mrs. Arlen Peterson of Wayne.

Over 380 women, officers, delegates, board members and visitors gathered for the three day meeting at Grace Lutheran Church in Lincoln. The theme, "God's Children Love One Another," was emphasized throughout the convention.

Highlights of the convention included messages from Dr. Dennis Anderson, Omaha, President of the Nebraska Synod Lutheran Church in America; and Dr. Kathryn Kopf, Executive Director of Lutheran Churchwomen, Philadelphia, Penn.

Madison Church Scene of Brockhaus-Stingley Rites

St. Leonard's Catholic Church in Madison was the scene of the wedding ceremony Sept. 29 uniting in marriage Shirley Brockhaus and Randall Stingley. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Brockhaus of Madison and Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Stingley of Dixon.

The Rev. Ralph Steffensmeier of Madison officiated at the 2 o'clock double ring ceremony. Teresa Mazuch of Madison sang "Through the Eyes of Love" and "Wedding Song," and Clayton Hartman of Dixon sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Ave Maria." They were accompanied by Bonnie Eismann of Madison.

For her wedding day, the bride chose a long, white gown of jersey knit designed with a cameo yoke of net, lace embroidery, seed pearls and Venice lace. Matching lace and seed pearls edged the long sleeves. Her train flowed from a back yoke, and her waltz-length veil, edged in lace flowers, was held in place by a Camelot cap styled with Venice lace and seed pearls.

Maid of honor was Teresa Schaecher of Madison, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Michael Schulz of Norfolk, sister of the bridegroom, and Diane Greider of Columbus and Lori Schroeder of Lincoln.

MR. AND MRS. RANDALL STINGLEY

Wakefield NHS Has Tapping

The Wakefield National Honor Society conducted a tapping ceremony Oct. 11 in the school auditorium.

Sponsors are Mrs. Mary Ellen Sundell and Joseph Coble. The organization's motto is "Noblesse Oblige." The colors are blue and gold, and the flower is a yellow rose.

Members are Jolene Bartels, Kathy Gustafson, Barry Jones, Jackie Lueh, Lori Meier, Julie Munson and Rhonda Wilson. Honorary members include Mrs. Mary Ellen Sundell (1969), Mrs. Hazel Rolston (1970), Katherine Rebbe (1971), Mrs. Alice Swanson (1972), Dennis Crippen (1973), Mrs. Alice Johnson (1974), Merlin "Lefty" Olson (1975), Derwin Hartman (1976), Fred Harrison (1977), B.C. Thompson (1978), and Mrs. Betty Heier (1979).

The Patriots sang "If I Had a Hammer." Jackie Lueh read new members their obligations to the National Honor Society. Members were signed by Jolene Bartels, Barry Jones read "The Master's Touch."

New members, with parents' names in parenthesis, are Juniors Ardith Barker (Arthur) and Donna Kleckhafer (Doloy Benne); and seniors Kathy Dolph (Dan), Hayley Greve (Arthur), Brent Kahl (Willis), Joan Miller (Elton) and Heidi Munson (Con).

A supper honoring the new members was held that evening at The Black Knight in Wayne. Guest speaker was Mrs. Sharon Shaw, second grade teacher at Wakefield.

Officers of the National Honor Society for the 1977-80 school year are Jackie Lueh, president; Joan Miller, vice president; Julie Munson, secretary; Jodi Greve, treasurer; and Brent Kahl, historian.

The Rev. Dale Holt was moderator for a panel discussion of Family, Food, Fuel and Future. Panelists included specialists from the University of Nebraska.

A love offering of $4,364.68 was received. Goals of the convention included understanding family roles and responsibilities in a changing society and to deepen understanding of the scriptures, faith and heritage through Bible study.

Pastor and Mrs. Ray Hagberg, Missionaries in Tanzania, presented a program about their work and the cultural shock they experienced upon returning to this country.

Nebraska Lutheran Church women President Louise Van Zago of Omaha conducted the business sessions. Newly elected officers include June Watson, Omaha, treasurer, and Executive Board Members Blanche Beckenbauer, West Point, Lois Blinde, Johnson, Florence Minrich, Glenvil, and Mary Joan Steenberg, Bellevue.

Delegates elected to attend the 19th National Convention in Atlanta, Ga. in 1980 from the Northeast District Assembly include Mrs. Arlen Peterson of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Wayne, and Mrs. Bettie Miller of Winer.

Trinity Women Invite Guests

The Womens Missionary League of the First Trinity Lutheran Church, Attona, held its annual guest day meeting Oct. 3.

The Rev. Paul Jackson, pastor of the Attona Church, presented devotions based on the Reformation, followed with group singing of the hymn "A Mighty Fortress is Our God." Pastor Jackson sang a solo, "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Don Siekfen.

Mrs. Delvin Mikkelsen, president, welcomed the group. Guest speaker was Mrs. Terry Timm of Pender. Her topic was "The Christian Mission of the Indians in Northeast Nebraska."

Mrs. Paul Hilpert received the door prize. Other prizes of gospel literature were received by Gertrude Utech, Mrs. Val Damme, Mrs. Robert Greenwald, Mrs. Don Siekfen, Mrs. Arnold Siekfen and Mrs. Paul Jackson.

All women observing birthdays in October were honored with the birthday song. Pastor Jackson closed the meeting with prayer.

Election of officers will be held at the next regular meeting, on Nov. 7 at 1:30 p.m.

Doane Freshman Helping Design Fall Production

Carla Berg of Winslow, a freshman at Doane College in Crete, is one of several students selected to work with Mrs. Elaine Williams in set design for the Oct. 18, 19 and 20 Doane Players' production of "The Threeppany Opera."

Mrs. Williams is a nationally known artist and sculptor whose commissions have included applied surface design for the City and County Buildings of Lincoln, the Hastings Public Library, and many other buildings throughout the Midwest.

The bridegroom was graduated from Laurel High School in 1976 and from Northeast Technical Community College in Norfolk in 1978. He works for the City of Armour Food Co. in Madison, Norfolk's Water Pollution Control Dept.

For her wedding day, the bride chose a long, white gown of jersey knit designed with a cameo yoke of net, lace embroidery, seed pearls and Venice lace. Matching lace and seed pearls edged the long sleeves. Her train flowed from a back yoke, and her waltz-length veil, edged in lace flowers, was held in place by a Camelot cap styled with Venice lace and seed pearls.

Maid of honor was Teresa Schaecher of Madison, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Michael Schulz of Norfolk, sister of the bridegroom, and Diane Greider of Columbus and Lori Schroeder of Lincoln.

Their halter style gowns were of ice blue knit designed with organza cover-ups and long, full skirts accented with front splits. They wore garden hats and carried posy roses with blue baby's breath.

Flower girl was Anita Brockhaus of Madison, sister of the bride. Candles were lighted by the bride's brothers, Pat Brockhaus and Mike Brockhaus, both of Madison.

Attendants for the bridegroom were Duane Stingley of Laurel, best man, and Mark McCoy of Laurel, Scott Johnson of Wayne and the bride's brother Bob Brockhaus of Madison.

Ring bearer was Jeremy Quist of Dixon and ushers were Kenny Schuster of Cornelia, Ray Lindhorst of Lindsay, Doug Schriber of Thurston and Dave Schumacher of Norfolk.

The men in the wedding party wore light blue tuxedos with peach shirts.

The bride's mother wore a blue knit gown and the bridegroom's mother chose a pink knit.

Mrs. John Geary of Madison registered the 400 guests who attended a reception at the Madison city auditorium following the wedding ceremony.

Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Schaecher of Madison and Mr. and Mrs. Don Schumacher of Norfolk.

Mrs. Dave Schnitzler of Cornelia and Mrs. Floyd Stingley of Norfolk cut and served the cake. Punch was served by Mrs. Duane Stingley of Laurel.

Waitresses were Joyce, Janet and Emily Schaecher, Mary Wetland and Julie Schlender, all of Madison, Mary Brunken of Sioux Falls, S.D., Pam Pinger of Norfolk, and Jane Pinger and Cindy Lindhorst, both of Lindsay.

The newlyweds are at home in Norfolk. The bride, a 1978

The Enthusiastics Coming to Wayne

The Enthusiastics of the Nebraska Christian College in Norfolk will appear at the First Church of Christ in Wayne Friday, Oct. 19.

The Rev. Mark Weber, pastor of the Wayne church, said the public is invited to attend the 7:30 p.m. program. A free will offering will be received.

The Enthusiastics are a select, 12-voice vocal ensemble specializing in contemporary gospel music. Professor Lowell A. Burkum is director of the group. Orchestral accompaniment for the ensemble is provided on pre-recorded tracks.

Since the first Enthusiastics were organized by Prof. Burkum in 1967, the group has become increasingly in demand for church, school and civic programs. They have appeared in concert with such notable personalities as Astronaut Col. James Irwin; former Miss America, Vonda Kay Van Dyke; and Tom Netherton, vocalist on the Lawrence Welk Television Show.

Frequent tours have been made by the Enthusiastics throughout Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Kansas, Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota, Montana and Oklahoma.

They have appeared in many state and national convention programs, including the North American Christian Convention.

Auxiliary Meets At Vet's Club

The World War I Auxiliary met with 10 members Monday night at the Vet's Club in Wayne. Mrs. Robert Gormley was a guest.

A newspaper article, titled "Senate Passes Bill Allowing Vets to Sue VA," was read by legislative chairman Cordelia Chambers. The bill gives veterans the right to appeal, in the Federal courts, cases decided against them by the Veterans Administration.

At present, veterans do not have access to the courts to appeal unfavorable decisions on eligibility for disability and pension benefits, educational assistance and access to VA medical care.

Linda Grubb, Americanism chairman, read "Bill Boosts Recreation," explaining a bill, which must go to the Senate floor for approval, to provide $359 million in aid to pay about half the cost of parks, swimming pools, golf courses, tennis courts and other recreation facilities.

Following the business meeting, the auxiliary joined the Barracks for lunch. Hostess was Linda Grubb.

Next meeting will be at 6 o'clock potluck supper on Nov. 19 at the Vet's Club.

Six Attend Club

Sunny Homemakers Club met with six members Oct. 11 in the home of Mrs. Albert Gamble. Pitch furnished entertainment, with Dorothy Dangberg receiving a prize.

Next meeting will be election of officers on Nov. 8 in the home of Mrs. Emil Vahkamp.

Wisner Pastor Speaking For Mission Sunday

The Rev. Allen Goebbert of Wisner will be guest speaker for the annual Fall Mission Sunday on Oct. 21 at the First Trinity Lutheran Church, Altona.

Sunday school, for nursery through eighth grade students, will begin at 9:15 a.m. Special music during the 10:30 a.m. worship service will include a selection by the Sunday school students and a pipe organ solo by Pastor Goebbert.

The public is welcome to attend.

engaged

Peggy Bruns, both of Norfolk, announce their engagement and approaching marriage.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Willis Johnston of Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Menke of Carroll.

The couple plans a Dec. 8 wedding at Christ Lutheran Church, Norfolk.

Public Invited to Right to Life Meeting

The Wayne County Right to Life chapter will meet in the home of Barbara DeWald on Nov. 1 at 1:30 p.m. Theme for the meeting will be "Child Abuse in American Homes."

A tape will be presented by the Rev. James Robinson which deals with the lack of spiritual guidance in the home. Pastor Robinson has appeared on prime time television. The public is invited to attend the meeting. For more information, call 375-1941.

Members of the local Right to Life organization sponsored a merchandise party Oct. 8 at the Women's Club room in Wayne. The organization received 15 percent of the total sales and auctioned off a gift item for $15. The total amount of money earned for Right to Life was $149.80.

Right to Life members met recently in the Jerry Dorcy home for an organizational meeting and program. Members were updated on the results of two lawsuits directed against Nebraska criminal statutes on abortions.

The Nebraska Legislature recently passed LB316, which implements a 48 hour waiting period between the first consultation of a pregnant woman and the actual abortion. The bill also calls for parental consent for a minor seeking an abortion.

The Wayne County Right to Life chapter is planning to prepare a booth for a seminar in South Sioux City on Oct. 25.

Grace Ladies Meet

Mrs. George Reuter, Mrs. Otto Sawl and Mrs. Don Shierbatt were hostesses for the Oct. 10 meeting of Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid.

Forty-two members and guests Mrs. Arnold Roebber and Mrs. Betty Lessmann were present for the October meeting.

Mrs. Tom Mandenhall and Mrs. Alan Thomsen had opening devotions, entitled "Sow the Seed."

The visitation report was given by Mrs. Erwin Oswald. New members on the visiting committee for October, November and December are Mrs. Minna Ote, Mrs. Ron Penlicker and Mrs. Henry Rethwick. New members of the funeral committee are Mrs. Mallida Barelman and Mrs. Amos Echtenkamp.

Mrs. Ray Langemeier is chairman of the next group visiting the Wayne Care Centre.

It was announced that Mission Sunday will be observed at Grace Lutheran Church on Oct. 28. Guest speaker will be the Rev. Ken Greinke, who is doing mission work in Nigeria.

Christmas cards have arrived and can be purchased from any member of the committee.

Mrs. Robert Thomsen had the topic from the Quarterly, entitled "Children in the Congregation." Seated at the birth table were Mrs. Marvin Victor, Mrs. Ed Baker, Mrs. Carl Frevert and Jennifer Thomsen.

Mrs. Esther Staltenberg, Mrs. Alvin Temme and Mrs. Fritz Temme will be hostesses for the November meeting.

Daughter Baptized At Hoskins Church

Sarah Elizabeth Wockman was baptized during worship services Oct. 7 at the Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Hoskins.

Sarah is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kennard Wockman of Hoskins. Her godparents are Mrs. Dan Hill, Ellen Wockman and Robert Fuhrman. The Rev. Wesley Brus officiated.

Dinner guests in the Wockman home following the baptism were Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hill of Pueblo, Colo., Mrs. Ann Alderman and Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Wockman and family of Norfolk, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wockman of Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brudigan and family of Wayne, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fuhrman and Robert of Hoskins.

Methodist Women Meet

United Methodist Women of Wayne met in the church fellowship hall Oct. 10 for a 12:30 p.m. casserole luncheon and program.

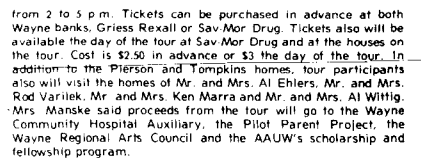

Lydia Sutherland and Norma Ehlers presented several books which have been purchased in honor of the late Betty Dugan. The books will be placed in the United Methodist Women's library.

It was announced that the district meeting will be held in Bloomfield Oct. 30. Reservations must be in by Oct. 21. New officers were especially encouraged to attend the meeting, where a memorial service will be conducted in honor of the late Inez Boeckenhauer.

Eleven corsages for missions were presented to women observing birthdays in August, September or October.

Mrs. Joyce Niemann encouraged women to attend World Community Day on Friday, Nov. 2, at the First Baptist Church in Wayne. Special music will be presented by the Rev. Edward Carter, pastor at the Baptist Church, and his wife.

Mari Porter and Norma Ehlers presented the program, entitled "Prayer is a Venture of

JOLENE BENNETT taps the ball over the net for a point against Hartington team, Tuesday night at home this Cedar Catholic player. Wayne topped the undefeated

Blue Devils First Team To Defeat Cedar Catholic

The Wayne Blue Devils, overlooked by state volleyball raters and probably underrated by the only northeast Nebraska volleyball rater, opened a few eyes, Tuesday night.

The Devils excited a large crowd in the Wayne High School gym by trimming previously undefeated and highly rated Hartington Cedar Catholic 15-6, 2-15, 15-11. Cedar Catholic entered the match with a 9-0 record and ranked number five in the Class B ratings. The Lady Trojans were also tabbed second in the Norfolk Daily News volleyball ratings, three notches ahead of Wayne.

Wayne's team has lost three matches this season in 12 decisions. The Blue Devils lost to Beemer (Class D's number two team) early in the season and then fell to Norfolk and South Sioux City, both Class A schools.

The win over Cedar Catholic gave Wayne a boost in recognition. The Devils will play at Pierce tonight hoping to continue their winning ways.

THE BIG TEST for the Blue Devils is scheduled Monday and Tuesday in the West Husker Tournament at Madison. Cedar Catholic and Madison have been tabbed the top two seeds in the tourney. Wayne, Lakeview and Emerson Hubbard are also expected to be top contenders. Also expected to be top contenders are Wisner Pilger and West Point CC. Wayne will play Wisner in first round action at 6:30 p.m., Monday in the Madison City Auditorium. Pairings are included elsewhere in the sports section.

THE BLUE DEVILS opened the contest with Cedar in an impressive fashion, dominating against the tall Lady Trojans. Lynn Surber led the team with fine serving. Julia Dorsey set the ball with near-perfect accuracy and Jolene Bennett spiked the ball with power.

Cedar Catholic showed its true color in the second game by rallying for a 15-7 win. Lisa Peters, Stacy Jacobson, Lisa Daniels and Dorsey made some fine plays but the Blue Devils played inconsistently and lost their composure.

With the match knotted at one game each, the two teams put on a good show for the cheering crowd. Surber put Wayne ahead 4-2 with serves that proved hard to handle. The Devils kept their lead although 5-11 Joan Becker and 5-9 Sue McGregor, both juniors, spiked and dinked the ball well for the Lady Trojans. Deb Hochstein is the only senior on the Cedar squad.

THE GAME WAS TIED at 9-9 as the referee overruled both line judges on a close call of a Hartington spike. Wayne got the lead back at 10-9 and the two teams battled back and forth at that score for several good volleys.

Finally, substitute Sandy Utecht put Wayne on top 13-9 with three key serves. Both teams fought hard as the score stood at 13-11 for many exchanges, but the Blue Devils refused to yield any ground. Jolene Bennett came through in the clutch, serving the final two points as her team mates played well on the floor for a 15-11 clinching win.

Substitutes Jill Zeiss, Jennifer DeTurk and Tammie Thomas came off the bench to spark the Devils in the win.

"I'm happy. We played pretty well," said relieved Wayne coach Deb Bodenstedt. "The play was inconsistent but the team made some good digs and plays off the ceiling. We've been working for this one for a week and the hard work paid off."

Jolene Bennett had one of her best games. Lisa Daniels did a good job in the back row and the substitutes did a fine job. We got good play from quality people. Bodenstedt added, "Lynn Surber was our leading server and Julia Dorsey had 46 good sets. When she's on, the team's on. Now, we have to worry about Pierce."

Two Wayne players, Julia Dorsey and Lisa Peters, are among the State leaders in special categories. Dorsey has set the ball successfully more than anyone in Class B and is one of the leaders in successful setting percentage. Peters ranks among the leaders in serving and spiking percentages.

The Wayne reserves lost their match 10-15, 5-15, but the freshmen won 15-11, 15-11. Leading players were Deb Prenger, Tammie Murray, Pam Nissen and Missie Stoltenberg.

Volleyball Tourneys Scheduled On This Week's Sports Slate

Two volleyball tournaments will highlight this week's sports slate. The first tourney on the schedule is the Wakefield Invitational which will be played Saturday.

The other tourney is the West Husker Tournament in Madison which will match the seven conference schools including five of northeast Nebraska's rated teams. Wayne, Hartington C.C., Columbus, Lakeview, Emerson Hubbard, Madison, West Point C.C. and Wisner. Pilger will compete for the title in the single elimination competition at Madison's City Auditorium. Action is scheduled Monday and Tuesday.

According to the Norfolk Daily News ratings of Tuesday, Oct. 16, Hartington CC was ranked second in Class B followed by Lakeview in the fourth position and Wayne holding down the fifth spot. These ratings were published prior to the Wayne victory over Cedar Catholic Tuesday.

In the Class C Top 5 rankings were Emerson Hubbard in the number four position and Madison listed as honorable mention. Wayne has not played Madison or Lakeview but has defeated all of the other teams in the tourney. The Blue Devils are seeded third behind Cedar Catholic and Madison.

The Wakefield Tourney matches Ponca, Wakefield, Allen, Laurel and Bancroft in competition at the Wakefield High School gym. Bancroft is the top seed.

West Husker Pairings
Monday: 5 p.m. — Lakeview vs Emerson-Hubbard; 6:30 p.m. — Wayne vs Wisner Pilger; 8 p.m. — West Point CC vs Madison.

Tuesday: 3 p.m. — Hartington CC vs Lakeview; Emerson winner; 6:30 —

Wayne Wisner winner vs West Point Madison winner; 8:30 — Tourney finals (no consolation)

Wakefield Tourney Pairings
Saturday: 4 p.m. — Ponca vs Wakefield; 5 p.m. — Allen vs Laurel; 6 p.m. — Bancroft vs Ponca-Wakefield winner. Consolation and finals are scheduled later in the evening.

Bob Barry Breaks WSC Total Offense Record

All-American Tailback Bob Barry, Battle Creek, established a new WSC career total offense record in Saturday's 7-6 win over Washburn.

The talented senior running back rushed 28 times for 152 yards against the Ichabods, raising his career rushing and total offense record to 3,355 yards. The old total offense record was held by Sam Singleton who accumulated 3,219 yards from 1967-70. Earlier this year Barry passed Singleton in career rushing yards.

Allen Tops Newcastle

The Allen Eagles got back on the winning track with a 15-9, 15-11 victory over Newcastle in volleyball action at Allen, Tuesday.

Janet Peterson, making her first start, led Allen with "a tremendous game" according to coach Gary Troth. She especially did a fine job at the net with 10 kill spikes. The rest of the team played consistently.

"We played everyone in the match and they all did a fine job," said Troth. "We played much better and didn't make as many mental lapses. I hope this picks us up."

The Eagles, who are 8-4 for the season and 2-2 in the Lewis Division of the Lewis and Clark Conference, are scheduled to play in the Wakefield Invitational, Saturday. Allen lost to Bancroft 15-9, 4-15, 8-15 in conference action, last Tuesday.

Allen's B team, which was missing a couple of players due to illness, used C team substitutes to defeat Newcastle's B team 11-6, 13-11. The Allen C team also won its match 11-7, 11-8.

LAUREL'S BEARS rejoice after Mark McCorkindale scores a win over Hartington, Saturday touchdown. He added a two-point conversion to give Laurel an 8-7

Bears Nip Hartington To Up Win Streak To Three; 8-7

By Willis Mahannah
Wayne State Sports Editor

As far as Laurel players and fans are concerned, Saturday was a cold night for football. At least for the first three quarters. But the Bears put a bit of warmth in the air in the fourth period, scoring a touchdown and adding a two-point conversion to defeat Hartington 8-7.

The cold temperature may have been a factor in the low score, but Laurel head coach Nick Danze stated, "We're glad about the victory, but it was one of those games you feel guilty about winning. We really didn't play all that well."

Danze may have been referring to first half action when Laurel came away empty handed from four golden scoring opportunities.

The Bears fumbled away their first possession and later had a pass intercepted, both inside Wildcat territory. Two other Laurel offensive drives were halted deep inside Hartington turf, once at the nine yard line and again at the 20.

Hartington had trouble moving the ball against the Bears in the first half, but scored the only points in that half on a 66 yard scoring strike from Russ Heggert to Dan Leise. Heggert kicked the PAT to give the hosts a 7-0 half time lead.

Laurel's defense was put to the test in second half play as Hartington controlled the field position war. Three times the Bear defense turned back Hartington scoring threats. The Bears held twice on fourth down plays, and forced a fumble on another occasion.

After halting a Hartington drive on their own 25 yard line, the Bears took the ball from that point and marched 75 yards for the score.

Senior Mark McCorkindale was Laurel's main threat offensively as he consistently broke tackles and picked up good yardage through the middle of Hartington's defense. As coach Danze put it, "McCorkindale got us going in the second half."

Laurel's scoring drive started in the third quarter, and ended in the fourth quarter with McCorkindale going over from four yards out. Laurel decided to go for the two point conversion, and the decision paid off as it turned out to be the winning margin. McCorkindale was the ball carrier on the successful conversion attempt.

Laurel's record now stands at 3-3 and the Bears will try to maintain 4-3 this Friday as they travel to Pender for the 7:30 p.m. contest.

Win Number Three Wildcats Rally To Win

By Kevin Weiberg
Wayne State SID

Wayne State's NAIA All-American tailback Bob Barry, who rushed for 152 yards in three quarters, and a stingy Wildcat defense produced a 7-6 come from behind victory over Washburn University Saturday night in Topeka, Kan.

The Wildcats dominated the statistical sheets but had to rely on a third quarter touchdown pass from Rick Lade to Tim Dahl for the victory. WSC tallied 21 first downs to Washburn's eight and repeatedly moved into scoring position only to be stopped by costly turnovers.

Turnovers also set up Washburn's two first quarter field goals. Following a Washburn punt, wingback Pat Maxwell, Tekamah, fumbled on the return and the Ichabods took over on the WSC 20 yard line.

Washburn drove to the 8 yard line but had to settle for a 25-yard field goal by Kevin Cummings to take a 3-0 lead with 10:21 left in the first quarter. On the Wildcats' next possession quarterback Lade, Tekamah, fumbled and the Ichabods took over at the WSC 39 yard line.

Wayne State's defense then came up with what turned out to be the game saving goal line stand after Washburn had driven to the Wildcat 2 yard line. Again, the Ichabods settled for the field goal and led 6-0 with 5:27 left in the opening period.

Following the ensuing kickoff, the Wildcats began the first of four drives that were halted inside the Ichabod 30-yard line.

WSC drove to the Ichabod 29 yard line before failing on a fourth and 13. Early in the second quarter, WSC moved from their own 49 yard line to the Washburn 4 yard line before Lade fumbled for the second time.

Two possessions later the Wildcats moved to the Washburn 24 yard line before Lade threw the first of two interceptions on the night. Early in the fourth quarter the Wildcats failed on a fourth down 6 at the Washburn 10-yard line.

Wayne State did manage to piece together the winning drive, however, early in the third quarter. After driving from their own 40 yard line to the Washburn 5 yard line, Lade spotted reserve fullback Tim Dahl in the end zone for a 5 yard scoring pass. Bart Emanuel's PAT capped the 40-yard drive and gave the Wildcats the winning 7-6 margin.

The 152 yards rushing by Barry was a season high for the senior from Battle Creek. The talented tailback suffered a minor back injury late in the third quarter and was rested the remainder of the game.

Head coach Del Stollenberg said much of Barry's running success was due to the strong play of the offensive line.

"Our offensive line appeared to really come around and really do the things we thought they could do all year," he said. "I think Kevin Savio may be one of the better centers in the conference. We had the feeling that he probably was last year but he was a newcomer and nobody really knew about him. That's one of the problems you have when you're a transfer."

The win moved WSC's season record to 3-2-1 and left the Wildcats tied for second place in the Central States Intercollegiate Conference with a 2-1 record.

Wildcats' CC Team Home Friday

Hoping to rebound from a disappointing performance at the Westmar Invitational last Saturday, the Wayne State College cross country squad hosts Chadron State College in a dual set to start at 1 p.m. Friday on the football practice field located just to the east of Memorial Stadium.

Wayne State and Chadron State have met one other time in 1979 at the Chadron State Invitational held Sept. 8. The Wildcats nudged past the Eagles and finished fifth in that meet.

Dave Hauser, a junior has led the Cats in every meet this year. Hauser's 10th place finish and time of 26 minutes at the University of South Dakota at Springfield Invitational two weeks ago was a personal best.

Wayne 8th Grade Loses Final Game

The Wayne eighth grade football team ended its season on a sour note in a 26-14 loss to West Point CC's junior high team, Tuesday at West Point.

Central Catholic scored on the first play from scrimmage — a 55 yard end run. Trailing 6-0, Wayne put together a 65 yard drive to tie the score. Layne Lueders scored on an eight yard run. The PAT failed.

A blocked punt gave West Point the ball in Wayne territory two series later and the Blue Jays scored on a 30 yard reverse play. Again the PAT failed. The Blue Devils received the following kickoff and drove the ball for a second touchdown. Jim Poehman ran the ball in from 22 yards out on a reverse play. Quarterback Brendon Dorcey passed to Layne Marsh for the two-point conversion and the half ended with Wayne leading 14-12.

The second half belonged to the fired up West Point team as Wayne played sluggishly. The Blue Jays scored two touch downs to put the game away 26-14. Wayne completed its season with a 1-2-1 record.

Offensive leaders in the West Point CC game were Poehman with 131 yards on 18 carries. Lueders with three carries for 17 yards. Doug Doescher with four carries for 20 yards and Marsh with two pass receptions from Dorcey for 12 yards.

Leading tacklers were: Poehman, 13; David Longe, 8; Ted DeTurk, 6; Dorcey, 6; Lueders, 5; Malena, 4.

Neff and Zelinsky Earn Athlete of Week Honors

Defensive back Andy Neff and offensive tackle Steve Zelinsky have been named Wayne State College "players of the week" by Wildcat head football coach Del Stollenberg.

Neff, a transfer from Iver Hills Community College, has been a leader in the Wildcat secondary. Against Washburn University last Saturday the Fairbault, Minn., product recorded two tackles and had two batted passes raising his season totals to 27 tackles and nine batted passes. The nine batted passes is a team leading figure.

Offensive tackle Zelinsky helped the Wildcats accumulate 317 yards total offense against Washburn. The 6-3, 210-pounder from Wheaton, Ill., is a two-year starter. Stollenberg had praise for the entire offensive line.

"Our offensive line appeared to really come around and really do the things we thought they could do all year," he said.

Other Top WSC Athletes

ATHLETES OF THE WEEK in cross country and volleyball at Wayne State last week were: Dave Hauser, Mark Baumert and Cheryl Abts. Hauser has led the cross country team all season and Baumert, who has continued to improve is the number two runner. Baumert was unavailable for a picture at the Second Guessers meeting. Abts is the leading volleyball player with 618 total points.

Trojans Trim Walthill

The Wakefield Trojans rallied after losing the first game to defeat Walthill in volleyball action Tuesday night on Wakefield's home court. The Trojans won the match 11-15, 15-3, 15-7.

Ardie Barker led the team with 21 serving points followed by Julene Barlets with 11. Kathy Gustafson and Barlets were the leaders at the net, collecting three down spikes. Joan Miller added two down spikes as Wakefield upped its record to 4-5.

The Wakefield B team raised its record to 7-1 with an 8-15, 15-3, 15-10 win. Next action for the Trojans is a conference match scheduled for Thursday at Winstide. Wakefield's varsity is 3-1 in Clark Division play.

Debate Teams

At Tourney

The beginning Wayne State College (WSC) debate team of Gerald Ladd and John Toof took third place, Beginning Division, at a college debate tournament, held at North Dakota State, Fargo, N.D., Friday, Oct. 5.

The WSC junior debate team of Robert Kelly and Carl Gaerder also competed in the tourney, but finished with a 1-5 record and did not place. The Ladd and Toof team entered the Beginning Division semi-finals with a 3-3 record, but was defeated in that round.

"WSC Debate Coach Jay Verlinden said he was happy with the individual performances in that tournament, the first for WSC this year.

"I though they did well for this stage of the season," he said. "It's just a matter of preparing for the rest of the season."

Other colleges and universities participating in the Fargo tournament were Macalester College, St. Paul, Minn.; Concordia of Minnesota; Winona State, Minn.; Mankato State, Minn., and North Dakota State.

WSC will compete again Oct. 19-20 at the University of Nebraska, Omaha, and Feb. 22-23 at Metro State College, Denver, Colo.

Gaerder is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gaerder, Wayne. He is a 1976 graduate of Riggs High School, Pierre, S.D., and is a senior WSC math major.

Construction Class Pours Driveway

THE WAYNE High School building construction class completed one of its first projects of the year on the school grounds. The class poured a concrete driveway for the track storage building above.

student Steve Sorensen are pictured near the shed. The class received instruction from two professional Wayne businessmen. Larry Test gave a wiring demonstration and a tour of the Mine-shaft Mall on a field trip. Ludwig Thos sent two employees to demonstrate masonry construction and blockwork.

La Leche Group Meeting Oct. 27

Parents and children are invited to the Nebraska La Leche League (LLL) Area Conference Oct. 27 at the Holiday Inn and Holiday Home in Kearney. The theme will be: "A Family — A Choice, A Commitment and A Challenge."

Panelists and guest speakers will discuss a variety of topics related to pregnancy, childbirth, breastfeeding and childcare. Some of the sessions include: "Love Partners Nurturing Parents" (how to keep a marriage alive while raising a family); "Mothers in the Kitchen" (nourishing your family naturally); "Do Babies and Children Need Full Time Mothering? Or Can Father Do As Well?" "What is a Smart Woman Like You Doing at Home?" (a view of wife and mother as happy and rewarding roles in life); "I'm Loveable — Most of the Time!" (normal development of children 6-12); "Teen Tempo"; "But I Do Like a Clean House" (efficient home making which allows us to keep our focus on mothering) and many others. There will also be

Wayne Loses JV Game

Norfolk's sophomores capitalized on a break to score one touchdown and defeat Wayne's junior varsity football team 6-0, Monday on Wayne's field.

The two teams engaged in a defensive battle moving the ball near the center of the field but never threatening to score. The loss dropped Wayne to 1-2 in the season.

Leading tacklers for the junior Blue Devils were John Anderson, Brett Frevert, John Kluge and Jeff Allen. Wayne will host South Sioux City on Tuesday, Oct. 30 for its next and final game.

Nebraska Listed As A Pioneer in Mental Services

If you think there are no longer any pioneers in Nebraska, you may be wrong.

According to the recently released 1978-79 staff report of the President's Committee on Mental Retardation, Nebraska is a pioneer in providing services to mentally retarded persons. In both community based services programs and family services, Nebraska is cited as a leader.

Mentioned in the report are the 14 state laws passed between 1967 and 1969 which guaranteed various rights of mentally retarded Nebraskans and organized six Community Based Mental Retardation (CBMR) service regions. In 20 counties of Northeastern and North Central Nebraska, CBMR services are provided through the Region IV area programs in Bloomfield, Columbus, Lyons, Norfolk, O'Neill, South Sioux City, and Wayne.

Nebraska is praised for creating a workable alternative to segregated institutions for mentally retarded persons. Barbara VerLinden, director of public information said, in Region IV and in other regional programs, many clients have been "deinstitutionalized", or moved to the community from the Beatrice State Development Center or the state regional centers. CBMR programs, according to the report, provide clients with the opportunity to live in the least restrictive environment while receiving instruction in basic skills, independent living, and training for employment.

The Pilot Parent project is also praised in the report, she said. Through this organization, parents of a developmentally disabled child can call for various types of support from other parents with developmentally disabled children.

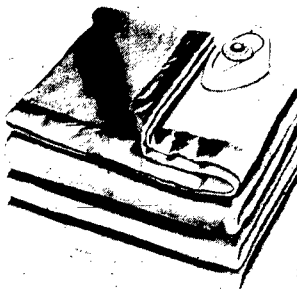

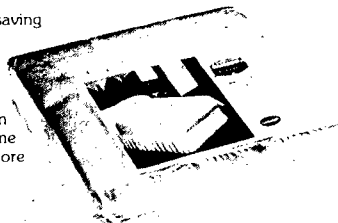

The report includes a letter from HEW Chairman Joseph A. Califano to President Carter. Califano comments that "...mentally retarded persons and their families are working with representatives of business, industry, government, and community organizations in an effort to respond to the total range of programs associated with mental retardation... from prevention to employment and independent living."

Nebraska is one of only 12 pioneer states mentioned in the report, VerLinden said.

Fairchild Honored With Awards at Scout Event

Vern Fairchild, Scoutmaster of Wayne Troop 175, and his wife, Lucile, attended the Boy Scout Diamond Dick District Awards dinner in Norfolk Tuesday.

Fairchild was presented with a District Coffee Mug for his work with the District Camp Committee; a statue for his work in hosting the 1979 Winter Sports Spectacular; and was presented with the District Award of Merit for his work in Scouting.

Other highlights of the evening included a slide presentation by members of Boy Scout Troop 174 of Wayne on their summer trip to Philmont Scout Ranch near Cimmaron, N.M.

Club Meets in Krallman Home

Krallman Home Extension Club met with seven members Oct. 3. Hostess was Mrs. Gilbert Krallman.

For roll call, members named a substitute ingredient they use in cooking.

Mrs. Orville Nelson, president, opened the meeting with the collect, which was read in unison. Members sang "Polly Wolly Doodle." Minutes of the September meeting were read.

Mrs. Roy Day, health leader, read "Electricity Can Be Deadly," and Mrs. Chris Tietgen, citizenship leader, gave a short talk on cultural arts. The lesson, entitled "Food for Life," was given by Mrs. Julius Baier.

Mrs. Baier will be the next hostess, on Nov. 7 at 1:30 p.m.

Certain Info On SSI Claims

Workers who have a severe mental or physical impairment and plan to apply for social security disability benefits can help speed the processing of their claim if they have certain information before they apply, Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk, said recently.

Having this information available when applying will help speed the interview and enable social security to process the claim in a more efficient manner.

The information needed includes: social security number; date last worked; date sickness began or injury occurred; nature of the illness or injury; if no longer disabled, date of recovery or return to work; dates and places of treatment, including name, addresses and telephone numbers of doctors, hospitals, institutions or clinics; service serial number and VA claim number if medical care was received in a service or VA hospital; the kinds of jobs worked at most in the 10 years before disability began; names, social security numbers, and dates of birth of spouse and children; the compensation number if he or she filed a claim for worker's compensation; telephone number.

Firemen Cool Transport

MEMBERS OF the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department faced a potentially volatile situation late Saturday morning on Seventh Street near Logan Street. Brakes on a gasoline transport locked and became overheated. Firemen were called to cool the underside of the transport.

Cleveland Receives Cash

CHIEF Warrant Officer Gary D. Cleveland (right) receives congratulations and a check for his suggestion from Maj. Gen. Edward C. Binder, Adjutant General for Nebraska. The award was made through a National Guard Incentive Program.

Fourteen Nebraska National Guard Technicians, including one with ties to Wayne, were recently presented cash awards in recognition of their suggestions to improve certain job tasks or for their outstanding job performance.

The awards were made through the Nebraska National Guard Incentive Awards Program which provides an opportunity for full-time guard employees to be recognized and rewarded for their skills, suggestions or job performance.

Cited for his suggestion was CW2 Gary D. Cleveland, 43, the son of the Lyle Cleavelands of Wayne. Cleveland is employed as a Senior Electronics Technician at the Combined Maintenance Shop by the Nebraska Army National Guard in Lincoln.

He helped develop an ignition simulator test set.

Farm Hog Lice, Mange Problem in Fall

Hog lice and mange may be problems all year, but are more common to fall to early spring. Hog lice are large, and easy to observe moving on the skin of animals. Mange is caused by a microscopic mite.

Symptoms of either parasite are scratching and rubbing on any handy object due to the irritation both cause. If unusual rubbing occurs, it is wise to examine hogs for these pests.

Mange causes the skin to appear dry and scaly, and scabs develop over the infested areas. Positive identification of mange mites is made from skin scrapings under the microscope.

Lice are among the largest of animal lice — grey and flattened. They may be concentrated inside the upper portion of the legs, around the ears, neck or tail. Heavy infestations cause a mottled appearance on the skin.

Uncontrolled infestations will slow gains, and severe infestations on young pigs can be very serious.

If an infestation of either pest is found in a herd, all animals should be treated, preferably in the fall before weather becomes cold. Pesticides that can be used include lindane, toxaphene, malathion, Co-Ral, cloidol, Delnav, and methoxychlor as sprays for control of lice.

Toxaphene or lindane should be used if mange is present. If the problem is only lice, oters can be used to treat animals themselves, using the same materials that are suggested for sprays. Most of these are available in preparations for oters.

If temperatures are below freezing, dusts or malathion or Rabon can be substituted for sprays. Korlan five percent granules are also effective against lice. Use dusts or Korlan granules in the bedding. The treatments are primarily effective for control of lice.

All chemicals must be used strictly according to the labeled directions. Failure to follow the labels could result in poor control, injury to the animals, or illegal use.

Reserve Corn Is Released Again

Corn in the farmer-owned reserve is released for redemption for the second time, effective immediately, Weldon Denny, acting executive vice president of the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) has announced. Farmers may sell their reserve corn after repaying their CCC price support loans.

Release of the reserve does not require farmers to redeem or sell their corn at this time. Denny said the national average market price on corn has reached $2.52 per bushel. The price level at which the commodity is released from the reserve is 125 percent of the $2 National loan rate of $2.50 per bushel. Approximately $40 million bushels of corn are in the reserve.

Farmers with corn in the reserve receive storage payments from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Use of payments of the loan, farmers can keep the storage payments earned through the date of repayment.

Data used by CCC in determining the release level include five-day average prices as reported by the Department's Agricultural Marketing Service which show prices bid by buyers at selected markets and a month-end report of prices received by farmers issued by the Department's Economics, Statistics and Cooperatives Service. This report shows the previous month's average price and the current mid-month price.

HOSKINS HONEYS 4-H CLUB

Members are Teresa McDonald, Holly Neitzke, Kathy Schwede and Garmy Behmer. Officers are Kathy Schwede, president; Holly Neitzke, vice president; Garmy Behmer, secretary; and Teresa McDonald, news reporter.

The Club worked on yearbooks and discussed projects for the year.

Mrs. Larry Neitzke and Holly served lunch.

Next meeting will be Nov. 13. Teresa McDonald, news reporter.

This and That... from YOUR COUNTY AGENT

AMARYLLIS

The amaryllis is the most striking of all the flowering bulbs that are forced indoors. The blossom size and color are very appealing during the drab days of winter.

If you would like to have one of these flowers blooming during Christmas or later, now is the time to make preparations.

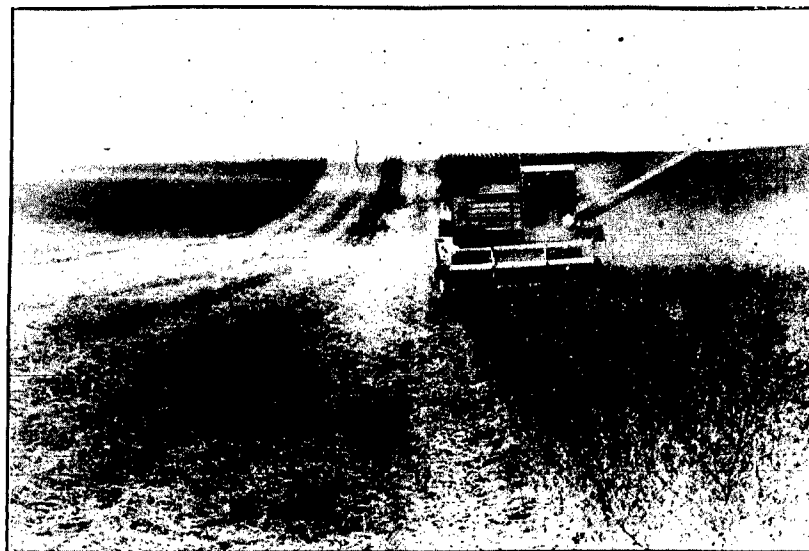

A new amaryllis bulb should be potted eight to 12 weeks before you want it to bloom. For a continuous display, stagger the blooming by potting several bulbs over two-week intervals. Store the new bulbs in a dry place that stays approximately 60-67 degrees F.

When you pot amaryllis, use a standard pot that leaves an inch of room all around the bulb. A three-inch wide bulb will require a five-inch pot.

Position the neck of the bulb so it sticks above the rim of the pot. Cover the widest part of the bulb with potting soil and leave the top third of the bulb exposed. Water thoroughly. Use a potting soil that consists of equal parts of potting soil, peat moss and perlite.

When you are ready to start the bulb with potting soil, heat to heat of 70-75 degrees. Give the bulb this warm treatment for about three weeks. After the three week warm period, reduce the temperature to 65 degrees F to promote foliage growth. If you are unable to reduce the temperature the bulb will bloom anyway.

After the amaryllis begin growth, it will require added sunlight and moisture. Place the plant in an east or west window. Water whenever the soil surface is dry. Within two months after potting, the amaryllis should be blooming.

Bean Harvest Nearly Completed

HARVESTING of soybeans in Wayne County is virtually complete with average yield running about 40 bushels per acre. Cheryl Luft, Route 2, took over combining duties from her husband, Duane, last week on their farm about four miles south of Wayne and a half mile east. Average moisture content has been in the low teens with some reported as low as nine percent.

Farmers Should Price Products

Farmers should think in terms of "pricing" their products rather than simply "selling" them when working with market outlook information, according to Allen C. Wellman, extension economist in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

"Selling" implies delivery of the product at the same time it's priced. If we talk about pricing products instead, we include the options of using the futures market or direct contracts," Wellman said.

"Marketing specialists have long tried to tell us we could 'forward price' our products through the futures market or direct contracts," the economist said. "Most producers have not yet adopted these tools. We need to get into the habit of asking

'have you priced your cattle yet' instead of 'have you sold yet'." That way we take into account the fact that delivery time can be quite different than the time at which we make a price agreement."

What about forward pricing for fall, 1979? "It appears there are not good forward pricing opportunities for cattle and hogs on the selling side. On the buying side, however, it's a good time to price feeder cattle that may not be moved into the lot for several months," according to Wellman.

Talking in terms of securing the highest "profit" rather than the highest "price" would also be beneficial to producers, he said. For instance, there are several costs involved with holding crops or livestock for better prices. For crops, it costs about one percent of the bushel value to cover interest and shrink for each month it's held in farm storage (7 cents per month on $7 beans, 35 cents on $3.50 wheat).

For livestock, feed costs and interest rates are especially high when you hold animals beyond normal marketing weights. Interest rates alone add $1.50 a week for each market weight steer worth $700.

"It's human nature to refrain from selling on a declining market," Wellman points out. "This price oriented management response results in discounts on overweight animals, an increase in the total meat supply, and a decrease in the sellers' bargaining positions."

In other words, a producer can make best use of outlook information by taking into account the costs of different selling options as well as the prices received.

Two other goals often in conflict are maximizing price and minimizing risk. Deciding how much of the production should be held for a better price depends on the producer's financial condition. Wellman suggested asking, "How much do you need to sell in order to cover your cash flow costs? Perhaps you should accept an 'average' price expectation (based on outlook information) on enough livestock to cover cash flow expenses. Once these are paid, you can afford to risk a downturn should it occur while you wait for a better price."

The producer who wants minimal risk should price his livestock at levels equal to or slightly above the average outlook price for the marketing period. The price maximizing producer, on the other hand, should price supplies in increments only as the market moves above the average outlook price. By following this principle most of the 1979 cattle production would have been priced by mid-April. Much of the 1979 crop production would have been priced by late June. The seller should always remember that the higher the market climbs, the greater are the odds for a drop, Wellman concluded.

Greenbugs, Hoppers Weaken And Kill

Greenbugs are sometimes a problem in the fall on newly planted winter wheat fields. They not only weaken and kill plants in the fall, but their feeding can predispose the plants to winterkilling. This warning comes from Dr. David Keith, Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources extension entomologist.

Greenbugs have been reported on newly seeded wheat in south central South Dakota where they are prevalent on many sorghum fields and volunteer wheat fields from which they are moving to newly seeded wheat, Keith reported.

"Nebraska farmers should watch their fields until cold weather because greenbugs will persist through cold spells. Temperatures must be below zero for a week or more to completely kill greenbugs. Although it may be freezing at night, if daytime temperatures range from 40 to 50 degrees, greenbug feeding will continue," Keith stated.

If greenbugs are present and there is visible yellowing of plants, fields should be treated usually 30 to 50 aphis per linear foot of drill row will cause yellowing. Sprays of Cygon, Defend or Di-Syston 15 to be applied by aerial applicators only. Parathion is not recommended during fall months because it is not effective at lower temperatures, the UNL insect specialist said.

Grasshoppers also are causing problems in some areas on winter wheat field borders. In some cases the hoppers may completely kill the young wheat seedlings for a block or so into the field. This can be prevented by early border treatments with foliar sprays. Treatments such as two pounds actual of Toxaphene or four to six ounces actual of Cygon or Defend or one fourth pound Furadan are recommended. Furadan should be applied by certified commercial applicators only. See labels for user precautions and other restrictions. Keith concluded.

4-H Has Elections

The election for Wayne County 4-H Council has just been completed with Michelle Kubik and Shaun Niemann elected as new Junior 4-H Council members and Mrs. Sandra Wriedt and Melvin Wilson elected as Senior 4-H Council members.

Other members of the 4-H Council include Kila Witter, Marvin Hansen, Mrs. Joan Jensen and Terry Janke.

4-H'ers Planning Haunted House

Dixon County 4-H Junior Leaders will carry out the Halloween spirit by having a haunted house this year in Allen. The spook house, open to the public, will be located at the Tri-County Insurance Company on Main Street in Allen from 7 to 10 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 31.

A 50 cent fee will be charged to enter, with half of all proceeds going to the March of Dimes.

WINTERIZING ROSES

Roses can be winterized any time after most leaves have fallen off and before the ground freezes, or about mid-October to mid-November.

Tea roses and floribandas should have the crown of the plant covered with soil to a depth of about 12 inches. Try not to dig up any soil from around the plant when doing this. In order to give the roses added protection, use straw or leaves on top of the soil and surround the plant with chicken wire.

For climbing roses, use some type of insulation around the rose as high as possible. Build insulation or burlap stuffed with straw should be wrapped around the rose trellis.

Soviets Plan Expansion of Grain

The Soviet Union has a plan to increase its grain production by 28 million metric tons, agronomists and students were told Oct. 17 by a Russian deputy minister of agriculture.

Dr. Anatoly Goltsov and two other ministry officials visited the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources on the University of Nebraska-Lincoln East Campus for a brief tour and a seminar presentation called "An Overview of Russian Agriculture and Agriculture Research."

Speaking through an interpreter, Goltsov sketched the Soviet government and Communist Party's plan for agriculture for the next five years. New, efficient crop varieties are expected to account for 20 percent of the planned increase, Goltsov said. Fertilizer use also is scheduled to increase, from 30 million tons this year to more than 48 million in 1980, he said.

The Soviet Union also plans to greatly increase its use of irrigation, he said, although it already has more than 28 million hectares under irrigation and drainage.

By 1980, the Soviets expect to produce one metric ton of grain per person, he added.

Land reclamation is not expected to play a significant role in the increased production, Goltsov told the agronomists, although his government has made great strides in that area. The USSR has more than 20 percent more agricultural land than the U.S., he said, but the contrasted American and Soviet rainfall, temperature and location to show that growing conditions are much more favorable in the U.S. Droughts occur nearly three times in four years, he said, and two-thirds of the Soviet crop is grown under deficient moisture levels.

Because of the lack of moisture — only one percent of agricultural lands there receive more than 28 inches of rainfall annually, compared to 60 percent in the U.S. — Soviet researchers are investigating ways to increase availability of water and cut down on erosion. Russian scientists are studying the possibility of reversing river flows as one means to supply water to deficient areas, he said. Other research is investigating no till or very minimum tillage systems to reduce erosion. Currently, he explained, regulatory measures provide punitive actions for persons permitting erosion to happen.

Goltsov and his aides were in Nebraska for five days under the sponsorship of the Agriculture Conference of America. The Soviet team came to Nebraska partly because of the excellent cooperation between their government and Nebraska scientists on soybean research and demonstration projects, Goltsov said. The USSR wants to increase its soybean production to supplement protein available for livestock feeding, he said.

Seek to Better Farming Info

Nebraska has been selected as one of four states to participate in a survey to improve statistics on hired farm workers, Jack Aschwege of the Nebraska Crop and Livestock Reporting Service has announced. The other states participating are Florida, Ohio and Oregon.

Farmers' Union Seeking Lower Interest Rates

Stanton County Farmers' Union is seeking lower interest rates to help its members get started, and is supporting gasohol and lower property taxes.

These items were adopted by resolution at the quarterly meeting of the Stanton County Farmers' Union Sept. 24 at the Stanton Fire National Bank community room.

Improved statistics on the overall levels of employment and income for hired farm workers are needed to better assess the impact of legislation and proposed legislation on farm workers.

Aschwege said, field representatives working for the Crop and Livestock Reporting Service will be contacting a small sample in both rural and urban households throughout Nebraska during the last three weeks in October.

For further information concerning the survey call Jack L. Aschwege, State Statistician, 402 471-5541.

New Pneumonia Infects Swine

Recent reports from Iowa have indicated a new type of pneumonia caused by a bacterial agent (haemophilus para hemolyticus HPP) is being diagnosed. This agent (HPP) is considered a primary source of pneumonia in swine in Europe and has been reported from most of the European countries. Reports from Denmark indicate that during one 2 year period, 25 percent of the cases of pneumonia brought to the diagnostic laboratory were caused by HPP.

Clinically, the disease is characterized by a peracute or an acute course. The onset is generally sudden with clinical signs of high fever, respiratory distress, cyanosis (bluish color of the mucous membranes and skin), labored breathing, loss of appetite, and a blood stained frothy exudate from the nostrils. Death may occur as early as 24 hours after appearance of clinical signs.

In Denmark, in infected herds the morbidity rate varied from 8.40 percent and the mortality rate from .4 to 40 percent. In these studies pigs from 2.5 months of age were generally affected, however, there were reports of the disease in sucking piglets 1-30 days of age. In the younger pigs the mortality rate was near 100 percent.

On necropsy a sero fibrinous pleuritis and fibrinous pneumonia was generally seen in the diaphragmatic lobes. Pericarditis and peritonitis was seen in some of the pigs.

European researchers feel the disease is spread by direct contact (droplet infection) and that chronically infected pigs are the reservoir and carrier animals are fairly common. Other studies indicate that sub-clinical infections may also be common. Pigs nursing immune sows were resistant to intranasal inoculation with virulent HPP.

At the present time there have not been any treatments which have been uniformly successful. However, in the fact of an outbreak, medications used should be continued at a therapeutic level until a reasonable treatment has been completed.

The Europeans have developed a complement fixation test which will detect antibody levels to HPP in recovered pigs. This test will not detect carrier animals.

Swine producers should keep a close watch on their pigs for clinical signs of this disease. Management practices to prevent drafts, chilling, wetness, and poor ventilation should be introduced. Sick animals should be removed to a separate area to prevent further spread of the disease.

Also during the meeting, a report on interim studies being conducted by the Nebraska Legislature was given by Gail Pierce, Nebraska Farmers' Union legislative representative.

Progress on building a local gasohol plant was reported to be moving slowly but "definitely ahead." Dave Goeller told the group about meeting with the vice president of an international company that builds gasohol plants.

Delegates to the Farmers' Union state convention in Lincoln will be Don Frank, John Goeller and Harley Volbrich, with Pete Claussen as an alternate. The legislative committee man will be Goeller with Bob Chicago Jr. as the alternate.

A report on the membership drive held earlier this year showed 80 members currently paid for 1979 and many paid for future years. Barbara Jensen wrote a thank you and a report on the FU senior youth camp at Hasley.

One "client" of a New York City delicatessen that caters to top dogs among the city's $70,000 canine population is reported to have 78 dogs, including a red satin-lined pearl-encrusted cloak, and thimble-trimmed sunglasses. He dines in one of the private dining rooms for pets and rides up to the front door in a chauffeured limousine.

A Glimpse of Winter's Beauty

REMEMBER last week when the temperature dipped below 20 degrees? Well, sir, someone at the Municipal Golf Course left some sprinklers on all night and what resulted was a beautiful example of what the area has to look forward to this winter. Blades of grass, weeds, trees and even the sprinklers themselves were coated with thick ice that glistened in the morning sunlight. As the sun gradually warmed the air and the earth, the beauty slowly seeped into the soil.

Corn production on Oct. 1 is forecast at a record 763.8 million bushels, up 1 percent from the Sept. estimate. Total production, if realized, would be 3 percent above last year's record crop of 740.15 million bushels. Yield is forecast at 114 bushels per acre, up 1 bushel from last year's record. This compares with the 1974-78 average yield of 90.4 bushels. The acreage intended for grain at 6.7 million acres is unchanged from last month but is 2 percent above last year's harvested acreage.

Dryland corn production is expected to total 165.3 million bushels, nearly the same as last year. Yield is forecast at 84.8 bushels per acre, slightly above last year's 84.7. The 1974-78 average was 53.3 bushels per acre and the record high was the 85.4 bushels for 1972. Farmers are expected to harvest 1.95 million acres of dryland corn for grain, unchanged from last year.

Irrigated corn production is forecast at 598.5 million bushels, 4 percent above last year. Yield is estimated at 126 bushels per acre, up 1 bushel from last year's record yield and compares with the 1974-78 average yield of 113.9 bushels. The acreage intended for grain harvest remains at 4.75 million acres, 3 percent above last year. Sorghum grain production is forecast at 137.75 million bushels, the same as a month earlier and last year. Yield per acre is estimated at 75 bushels, equal to last year's record high and compares with the 1974-78 average of 58.2 bushels. Acreage for harvest at 1.83 million is the same as last year.

Production of soybeans is estimated at 56 million bushels, 3 percent above the September 1 estimate and 32 percent higher than last year's crop. Yield is forecast at 38 bushels per acre, 1 bushel above a month earlier and last year. The 1974-78 average yield was 28.3 bushels per acre.

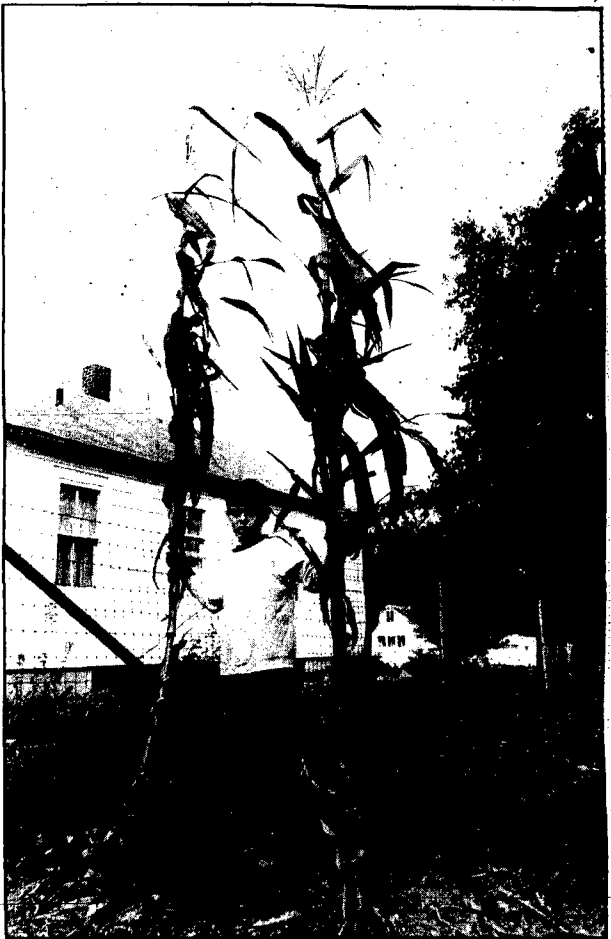

Dry bean production is estimated at 2.11 million cwt., up 8 percent from last year. Sugar beet production is forecast at 1.42 million tons, 4 percent higher than last year. Fall potato production is estimated at 1.5 million cwt., 17 percent below 1978. Hay production is forecast at 7.5 million tons, slightly above last year.

Music Recital By Deb Bowen

Debra Bowen, a music major at Wayne State College, will present a senior recital at 8 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 18, in Ramsey Theatre of the WSC Fine Arts Building.

Bowen, daughter of Bob and Vicki Bowen of Wymore, is a 1976 graduate of Wymore Southern High School. She will be working for Henry Purcell, Giuseppe Verdi, Richard Strauss, Franz Schubert, Johannes Brahms, Hugo Wolf, Sven Lekberg, John Beck, R. Huntington Woodman, Leonard Bernstein and George Gerstwin.

Extra Tall Field Corn

TEN YEAR-OLD David Ahlman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ahlman of 314 East Third Street in Wayne, had a green thumb this summer. The two stalks of regular field corn pictured here are David's tallest stalks and he claims they stand about 13 feet tall.

Honorary Inducts 7 In Alpha-Rho

The Wayne State Alpha Rho Chapter of the Pi Omega Pi National Business Education Honorary recently initiated seven new members. The group serves to promote fellowship among business teachers and to promote scholarship in business education.

Initiates must have taken 12 semester hours of business, three semester hours of education and must maintain a 2.5 overall grade point average (GPA) and a 3.0 GPA in business (on a 4-point scale).

Recent initiates include Becky Bruckner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bruckner, Osmond. She is a 1977 graduate of Osmond High School and is a junior business education major at WSC.

Vicki Carsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis R. Carsey, Fremont. She is a 1976 graduate of Fremont Senior High and is a senior physical education major at WSC.

Mike Herman, son of Charles and Helen Herman, Missouri Valley, Iowa. He is a 1976 graduate of Missouri Valley High School and is a business education major at WSC.

Sue Homan, daughter of Jerry and Shirley Homan, Creighton. She is a 1976 graduate of Creighton Community High School and is a business and physical education major at WSC.

Michael Straka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Straka, Atkinson. He is a 1976 graduate of Atkinson West High and is a junior business education major at WSC.

Marlene Mogensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry K. Mogensen, Cedar Rapids, Neb. She is a 1977 graduate of Cedar Rapids Public High School and is a junior business and physical education major at WSC.
