Task Force Suggests Testing Stay Localized

(Editor's Note: Wayne-Carroll School District Supt. Francis Haun was a member of a Nebraska Task Force on Education Quality which recently announced recommendations regarding state-mandated minimum competency tests as a requirement for graduation.)

Members of the Task Force are recognized leaders in their various fields and have volunteered their time and knowledge.

A state Task Force on Educational Quality has recommended against adoption of a mandated statewide competency test to be used as a requirement for high school graduation.

RESULTS OF the two-month study were submitted to the Nebraska Board of Education for its review. It will in turn make COMPETENCY testing is already taking place in Nebraska.

"Nebraska, through the school approval standard, already requires all schools to assess the degree to which students have mastered essential skills in the areas of reading, writing and mathematics.

"The DOE has developed the Nebraska Assessment Battery of Essential Learning Skills to assist schools with this task. Other schools are developing competency testing programs to assess designated knowledge and skills," the Task Force said.

EXPERIENCE of other states provides inconclusive evidence.

"A study of testing programs in states which have mandated minimum competency testing as a requirement for graduation provides no conclusive evidence there has recommendations to the Nebraska Legislature.

"We recommend that local schools be encouraged to continue developing and using competency assessment to determine need for remediation and to assure that students are acquiring the necessary skills," the Task Force study said.

WE BELIEVE that local determination and control have proven to be quite effective in responding to problems and concerns which can be corrected at the local level.

"In many ways, state and federally mandated programs and regulations impede the logical resolution of even simple problems.

been any improvement in the performance of students or any improvement in the overall quality of education," it was reported.

LINKING competency testing to graduation has many detrimental effects for students.

"Testing students in the 11th and 12th grades leaves little time for remediation. Students failing the test may be denied a diploma without being given a reasonable opportunity for improvement.

"Granting diplomas to students who have attended school through the 12th grade does

"A state-mandated testing program is contrary to the philosophy of local control of schools and would be an infringement on local determination."

A new state mandate with unknown benefit or effect would not be appropriate," the group explained.

The following "rationale" was provided by the Task Force for its recommendations:

NEBRASKANS strongly believe in the concept of local control of schools.

"The state has a long history and a strong belief in the concept of local control. A state-mandated testing program is contrary to the philosophy of local control of schools and not assure jobs and success; but denial of diplomas is punitive and potentially devastating both personally and economically—a label of incompetence.

"EVIDENCE indicates that competency-based graduation requirements influence some students to drop out earlier than they would have without the new hurdle.

"Experience in other states is that litigation frequently accompanies implementation of such programs. Equality of educawould be an infringement on local determination," the group said.

"IT IS significant to note that those states which have mandated competency testing for graduation are those which have strong control of education as evidenced by state-mandated curriculum, course requirements and textbooks," the Task Force noted.

"ONE OF THE criticisms directed at the schools nationally is the poor performance of high school students on the American College Test (ACT). In the school year 1977-78, Nebraska students ranked fourth in the nation on ACT scores," the group noted.

Also, only two states have a higher literacy rate than Nebraska, a fact that certainly speaks well for the effectiveness of the state system of education, the group said.

tional opportunity and appropriateness of the curriculum are points often raised in such suits," the group pointed out.

"Additionally, there is a growing concern that through attending school, a student begins to build a property right to a diploma," the Task Force said.

MANDATED competency testing will require additional expense.

A state-developed and state-administered minimum competency testing program will be extremely costly, probably exceeding $3 million.

"Even if the bill is amended so responsibility is placed at the local level, the state cost still would be about $1 million annually. Because of spending limits imposed on schools, it would be impossible for them to assume the cost of administering this new program without eliminating some portion of their present program.

"The cost of operating a state-mandated testing program would have to be supported by an appropriation from the legislature," the Task Force concluded.

And Locally.....

Wayne-Carroll School District uses the state Assessment Battery of Essential Learning Skills (ABELS) as a measure of its students, says Supt. Francis Haun.

"We do not use competency tests as a criteria for graduation," he explained.

These are distributed over a variety of fields, with 110 hours required in English, social sciences, mathematics and fine arts. The remainder of the hours are electives, he explained.

SUPERINTENDENT Haun, a member of the Task force on Education Quality, served on a subcommittee which dealt with qualifications of personnel. Other subcommittees were graduation requirements and time on task.

IN ADDITION to the ABELS program, Superintendent Haun said the school district relies on a student's successful completion of 180 class hours as a basis for graduation.

Crop Insurance Ends Today

Farmers who have insured their corn for 1979 with the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation are being informed that the end of the insurance period is today, Dec. 10.

Farmers who have not completed harvesting their 1979 corn crop and believe that their production will be less than their guarantee should immediately notify the office for their county so that we can provide them with the full benefits of their insurance," reports Robert Rieger, FCIC district director.

The final date for giving a notice of loss is today and the claims can then be completed after the crop is harvested, he said.

Decision Is by 6-4 Vote

ESU Votes Move to Wakefield

For the second time in recent months, Wayne has lost a facility or service to another community.

Educational Service Unit No. 1 will move into new headquarters in Wakefield after its board of directors Tuesday night in effect rejected a proposal to maintain an office in Wayne.

WAYNE ALSO LOST its Job Service Office to Nortolk recently after the state ordered several such offices closed statewide.

The ESU board voted 6-4 in regular session in Laurel to buy the vacant Up Town Cafe buildings which include the old Wakefield bank for $55,000. As a result, two offices now used in Wakefield and a third in Wayne will be consolidated.

THOSE VOTING to accept the Wakefield proposal, subject to improvements, were Bill Norvell, Laurel; Berneal Gustafson, Wakefield; Dave Hey, Belden; Leo Kramper, Dakota City; Claire Hansen, Coleridge; Darrell Merry, Thurston.

Those voting against the Wakefield proposal included Gene Bigelow, Wayne; Bill Weise, Wausau; Ken Olds, Wayne; and Dr. Veryl Waistrom, Verdigré.

DR HARRY Mills, ESU administrator, said Friday afternoon that the buildings will need a minimum of $17,000 for renovation of the first floor. The second floor, which contains an apartment, will need little remodeling. All the space, including the basement, eventually will be used and renovated. Bids will be sought in about two weeks, Mills said.

"I tried to make it clear (to the board) that this was just a rough estimate," Mills said.

THE WAYNE proposals, one of which was considered Tuesday, included the following: A proposal by the city of Wayne to buy the

...And to All a Good Night

A MERRY Christmas to all, and to all a good night! Wayne State College held its annual Tree Lighting ceremony Thursday night at the Willow Bowl on the WSC campus. College President Lyle Seymour gave a brief welcome and the lights were turned on to the cheer of more than 100 students and faculty. The students then sang Christmas carols as representatives of each dormitory, and adjourned to a warmer locale for refreshments. The Santa Claus scene and lighted tree will be lighted each night through Christmas.

old Thies-Brudigan International Harvester building on South Main Street. Thies-Brudigan is moving to a new facility east of Wayne on U.S. 35.

HOWEVER, this offer was rejected because of an $89,000 purchase price and an estimate that it would cost some $125,000 to renovate the building, Mills said.

Previously rejected was an offer from Wayne State College which had agreed to donate land on the campus. That proposal would have meant construction of a new building, estimated to cost in excess of $300,000, Mills explained.

HE SAID about 10 employees will move into the new headquarters from Wayne. There will be office space for audiologists, psychologists, visually handicapped, pre-school instructors, nurses, a special education director and administration. There also will be a large media center for films.

Currently, much of this is located in the Education Building on the WSC campus.

In explaining the board's decision to locate in Wakefield, Mills said "it was difficult for the board to justify to the taxpayers" the anticipated expense of either buying a building in Wayne or building there.

The board was concerned about paying some $300,000 for a new building in Wayne when they could get a building in Wakefield for "a whole lot less," he said.

An original proposal to the board was to consider purchasing or leasing a building in Wayne or Wakefield if the board decided not to build a new structure. Offers from Laurel, Coleridge and Randolph were rejected also because of cost considerations.

ALTHOUGH the agreed-on purchase price for the two Wakefield buildings was $55,000, the Community Club there has about $15,000 in escrow that will be donated toward the cause. This leaves a net cost of approximately $40,000.

Prior to the vote, each board member was given a chance to express his opinions. Some of these are as follows:

Norvell—although he personally preferred the ESU Unit in Wayne, he said he felt an obligation to the taxpayers. "It's no more than a matter of money," he said.

Gustafson—said he felt small towns should "get some of these things." He felt Wakefield would lose its identity if the ESU

Unit was moved, also citing an obligation to the taxpayers.

Hey—said he was uncertain if the college connection was all that advantageous. To date, he has not seen any benefits in being related to WSC. He said by putting the unit in Wakefield, rural areas would be better served. Hey also feels small towns need more recognition.

Merry—said although he had no favoritism to either town, he felt a new

A minimum of $17,000 will be required for renovation before the facility is ready for occupation in July. Potential problems involving the use of the three-story buildings by handicapped persons are yet to be resolved.

Let's Take Profit Out of Doing Nothing

President
Chamber of Commerce of the United States

With a touch of brilliance, former President Calvin Coolidge once observed: "When more and more people are thrown out of work, unemployment results." Were he alive today, he might add that when unemployment compensation is sufficiently generous, many recipients lose their incentive to work.

Unemployment compensation was not meant to become a giant giveaway program. It was designed as a needed safety net during the 1930's to protect the millions of people who were plunging toward financial disaster, or who had already been wiped out. Regular unemployment checks helped families pay their bills until the crisis subsided and the breadwinners could return to work. That, at least, is the way the system used to work.

Times have changed. Today, unemployment compensation is no longer just a financial safety net. For more and more Americans it has become a semi-permanent way of life. Some of the abuses even seem commonplace.

— There is the young college graduate who could work, but who would rather stay home and play the guitar while collecting unemployment compensation.

— Or what about the man who is weary of his work, wants a change and doesn't mind the public picking up his tab while he decides what to do?

— And, of course, let's not forget all those who head south each winter to frolic in the surf while pretending to look for jobs.

The point is not that Americans, by nature, are dishonest. Certainly some people do deliberately cheat, but the majority are still honest. The real problem is with the unemployment compensation program itself. People tend to respond rationally whenever they are given incentives to work more — or less. The message the unemployment compensation program now sends is clear for anyone willing to listen. In so many words it is saying: "Do not be concerned about substituting subsidized leisure for taxed work. In fact, be our guest!"

The General Accounting Office, Congress's official watchdog agency, recently issued a report explaining how this problem developed, why it is so serious and how it can be corrected. The GAO notes that the program's benefits were originally set at 50 percent of gross wages back in the 1930's — a time when little or no difference existed between gross and net wages. The interim years have witnessed huge increases in federal, state and local income taxes as well as Social Security taxes. So today, a tax-free check amounting to 50 percent of one's gross pay does not represent nearly as big a loss as it did when the program began.

Result? GAO interviews with 3,000 unemployment recipients nationwide established that, on average, people can expect the program will replace almost two-thirds of their former weekly net pay. Fully seven percent of the recipients actually received more money from unemployment compensation than they took home from their former jobs. GAO investigators also reported "the absence of work-related expenses during unemployment increases and net value of unemployment compensation. Such expenses as transportation (and) child care are quite substantial while working and cease during periods of unemployment."

That's not all. The GAO survey demonstrated just how well individuals respond when the government makes it profitable not to work. The survey found that the closer a person could come to replacing a prior salary, the more apt he or she would be to voluntarily quit a present job, to collect unemployment compensation relatively longer than other workers, and to refuse new jobs that are available. During the first 42 years, the program paid out $51.2 billion in benefits; during the last nine, it has paid out $84.2 billion. Get the picture?

The report urged strong measures to rid the program of its existing inequities and disincentives. These include making unemployment compensation subject to the personal income tax and reducing benefits by the amount of retirement income an individual is receiving.

Two years ago, I warned that while we need a short-term jobless program to assist those in need, we cannot afford permanent subsidies to create a new leisure class. Congress has still not grasped that distinction. Until it does, those who work will be hit with higher taxes and inflation to support those who seek a profit for doing nothing.

Did you see where a leading manufacturer of wall posters (Sylvester Stone, Buck Rogers, Cheryl Ladd, etc.) says journalists are the sex symbols of the 1970's and 1980's?

Now he tells me. I've gone 10 years in the business and didn't even know I had the potential. Oh, well, at least I have 10 good years left, yet.

Had a pleasant telephone chat with the head honcho of cablevision here. Seems someone from Wayne anonymously sent him a copy of my column on cablevision from a week ago.

All the way from Hayes, Kan., he talked with me about the company's problems here, most of which he explained were acts of nature.

For example, he said one outage was caused by that horrendous wind we had last summer. Another, he explained, was due to a brush fire in a rural ditch which melted the overhead coaxial cable. Yet another was when a truck snapped a telephone pole on E. U.S. 35 some months ago, causing power outages and cable TV outages.

He indicated the problems are "99 percent" repaired and subscribers should be returning to normal reception soon.

We, along with others here, are pleased the outfit is making an honest and rapid effort to upgrade its service. As we noted before, the Council has the final word on rate increases and should scrutinize the operation closely when that time rolls around.

The Hayes, Kan., gentleman was cordial and said he felt I was fair in my comments. I hope he is similarly fair in his desire to provide quality reception here.

Most of you know by now that Wayne is losing its Educational Service Unit No. 1 facility to Wakefield.

The vote came Tuesday night in Laurel and some of the votes appear to have been cast along town lines rather than by using good, common sense and open minded thinking.

Some of the rationale for having the office in Wakefield seems to lack a little foresight. We have to agree that at the outset, the Wayne proposals would have been more costly.

But when planning for educational services, it is the future that must be examined. We know the ESU is providing valuable services to schools in a six-county area today. What we find ourselves concerned with now is the quality of education for youngsters 20 years down the road.

We have yet to personally examine the buildings in Wakefield. But from what we've been told by our usually reliable sources, there is virtually no room for expansion.

Also, there is considerable concern about handicapped persons being able to use all facilities in the three-story buildings. There are two handicapped entrances to the main floor through the rear of the buildings. However, how will the handicapped negotiate the flights of stairs to the upper floors?

Nebraska law says facilities such as an ESU must be easily accessible to the handicapped. Yet the ESU board accepted the Wakefield proposals without thoroughly researching the potential problems relating to those buildings.

In fact, my sources tell me the board had only a few minutes to study information regarding the Wakefield proposal while the Wayne information was available for review a week ago. Tsk, tsk.

Preliminary and very unofficial estimates (made by a licensed electrician not an architect or engineer) indicate about $17,000 will be needed for renovation of the main floor of the Wakefield facility. Our question is this:

How can the board, in good conscience, justify spending the $17,000 for renovation, plus $55,000 for purchase of the buildings and not have the slightest idea what else will be required for the handicapped.

One official at Wayne State College, whose opinion we hold as unbiased and in high regard, says his experience tells him elevators cost about $20,000 per floor to install. It doesn't take much of a mathematician to figure the potential cost in a three-story building with basement:

Our neighbors in Wakefield are no doubt laughing about us crybabies down here. Well, they can keep right on laughing each year their taxes go up because the board overlooked a little $60,000 matter such as elevators, or when in 10 years we find the ESU has run out of room.

My instincts tell me the issue will not play dead and roll over.

On the brighter side, we're tickled to death of Mizou is going to a bowl game. My only fear, however, is that South Carolina will catch them in one of their down moods and the Tigers will get their tails kicked.

Don't you imagine Oklahoma State, although it is on probation by the NCAA, is fuming over that one? If only lost to Nebraska and Oklahoma in the Big Eight and beat Missouri!

Again, tsk, tsk, tsk.

We also see, and I hope this doesn't turn out to be an omen, that Missouri is picked by some to win the Big Eight basketball crown this year.

Who's who, what's what?

2. WHO recently decorated a tree and the entire Wayne County Historical Museum?
3. WHEN was Santa scheduled to arrive in Wayne?
4. WHO was the winner of a nutrition quiz sponsored recently by a subcommittee of the Wayne Community Council?

6. HOW much did the Nebraska State Department of Roads agree to pay Wayne State College for a 30-foot strip of land extending from 14th Street to the end of the Wayne State College property line along Nebraska 15?

ANSWERS: 1. Wayne Livestock Auction, Inc. 2. German Club students at Wayne High School. 3. Sunday, Dec. 9 at about 1 p.m. 4. Marsha Foote, Wayne. 5. Tuesday, Dec. 4, 6. $5,000.

Christmas Memories

Everyone has special Christmas memories, many of which have been recorded and can be found in the library of the Nebraska State Historical Society. These accounts not only show how Christmas has changed across the years, but how it varied from home to home.

During the grasshopper years of the middle 1870's, families in Eastern Nebraska, particularly in the cities, celebrated with grand dinners, elegant decorations and elaborate gifts, while families on the frontier were grateful for wild game and cornmeal mush. The same disparity was found during the Great Depression, when thousands were thankful to have a roof over their heads and to feast on government commodities.

What makes a special Christmas memory? Quite often it is not only the times — but hard times. There are countless versions of the story of the Nebraska homestead family too poor to buy gifts or special goodies for the children; of the sacrificing mother sitting up far into the night, while remaking an old garment into something special for her child; of the hard-working, desperate father, making some simple toy out of scraps of wood. Variations on this story are of the "Guardian Angel" — the kindly stranger or storekeeper who takes pity on the family — or the unexpected arrival of a barrel from Back East, containing clothing, gifts and food, always seeming to include apples.

Other memories are of food, special foods and smells that remind one of the holiday season: traditional foods, such as turkey, scalloped corn and oysters; plum puddings, branched fruitcakes and spice cookies; special ethnic dishes served only at Christmas — Danish cookies, Czech and German roast goose and so on.

And there are those memories of family gatherings covering several generations of a family, memories of school and church programs, of caroling and sleighing.

Whatever your special Christmas memory might be, the Nebraska State Historical Society is interested in recording it and placing a copy in its library. As this holiday season approaches, we hope you will take the time to write your Christmas story. It need not be a long story, but should be a detailed account of some special Christmas. When preparing your account, keep these thoughts in mind: give the names of the people involved, give an approximate date, and try to tell exactly where you lived at the time — town or percent as well as county. Traditional family recipes are also wanted, along with its history. Don't say, "Grandmother's Christmas Cookies"; tell us her name and her history, when she came to Nebraska, where she lived, etc.

Send your Christmas Memory to: Nebraska State Historical Society, 1500 R St., Lincoln, Neb., 68508. Let your story be preserved for future generations.

Don't Let Fire Spoil Holiday Plans

Trees, lights, candles, a warm fire and all the trimmings can make Christmas a little too bright for some persons.

All pose potential fire hazards, according to Rollin Schneider, extension safety specialist in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Schneider offers the following safety checklist for prevention of unwanted Yuletide flames:

Trees:
— A fresh tree is always less of a fire hazard than a dry one. While the tree is up, it should be green and springy. Be sure to water frequently.

— Don't rely on chemical coatings or sprays to flame-proof a tree.
— Place the tree away from fireplaces, radiators and other heat sources.

Lights:
— Use only lights that have the "UL" safety label.

— Check new and old sets of lights for broken or cracked sockets, frayed or bare wires and loose connections. Discard damaged sets or repair them before using.

— Outdoor lights should be weatherproof. Don't use indoor lights outside or vice versa. Fasten outdoor lights securely to trees or house walls to protect from wind damage.

— Use no more than three sets of lights per single extension cord.

— Turn off all lights on trees and other decorations before going to bed or leaving the house.

— Never use electric lights on a metallic tree. Metallic trees can pick up the electric charge from faulty lights, electrocuting anyone who touches the tree. Instead, use colored spotlights above or beside a tree.

Candles:
— Keep lighted candles away from Christmas trees, evergreen or paper decorations and wrapping paper.

— Always use non-flammable holders for candles.

— Place candles where they can't be knocked down or blown over.

— Use artificial boughs, not real ones, around candles.

Fires:
— Don't burn greens, boughs, papers or other decorations in the fireplace.

— Keep a screen in front of the fireplace during use.

— Before closing the flue, be sure the fire is completely out.

— Be careful with "fire salts" which produce colorful flames when thrown on wood fires. Keep them away from children as they contain heavy metals and cause stomach problems if swallowed.

Trimnings:
— Spin glass or "angel hair" is flame-proof, but if sprayed with non-flammable artificial snow, the dried combination will burn rapidly.

Blue Devils Can't Control Blair

Making their season debut before a home crowd in the Wayne High School gym, the Blue Devils ran up against the talented and tall Blair Bears and suffered an opening loss 66-57, Friday night.

Wayne received a strong performance from its own dynamic duo as Jeff Zeiss and Perry Nelson combined for 37 points. Zeiss, bothered by two sprained ankles, didn't drive the basket much and scored most of his yield with deadly outside shooting. Nelson, a 6-5 junior, did his damage on the inside against the equally tall defenders.

Unfortunately for the Blue Devils, Blair also had its fine individual performers. Sophomore Paul Seevers, who was quarterback for Blair's football team, hurt Wayne with 14 points in the first half and 19 for the game. Most of his scoring was done from the outside. Joe Peterson matched Seevers' 19 point performance and Mark Orte hit 11 points from the outside to balance the attack.

"I was disappointed we lost. The team made a good effort and played well defensively in the second half," said Wayne coach Bill Sharpe. "I think we made a mistake starting in the zone defense. They had some good shooters and got ahead of us. Our defense was not good in the first half."

The Devils fell behind 5-0 in the opening minutes of the game and could never catch the Bears, although they came close at times. Three field goals by Zeiss helped cut the Blair lead to 17-14 at the end of the first quarter.

Seevers came alive in the second period and put the Bears out in front by 10 or 11 points with outside shooting that never seemed to miss its mark. Zeiss converted five of seven free throws and Nelson hit three field goals to keep Wayne within reach. The Devils trailed 40-29 at half-time.

"We had a lot of inconsistency on offense. We just didn't put together a full game," coach Sharpe stated. "We had a lot of illness this past week which also hurt. It will take some time to get everything together but I think we'll have a real good ball club."

The Blue Devils fought back in the second half and closed within three points at 44-41 on a jump shot by Jerry Morris with 3:25 remaining in the third quarter. That was the last bucket for Wayne in the third period as Blair streaked for nine straight points and a 53-41 lead.

Free throws became a key factor in the fourth quarter as the Bears hit 16 of 19 shots from the charity stripe while Wayne was two-for-two. Zeiss highlighted the action when he connected on a 22-foot jump shot and was fouled on the follow through.

He was awarded two shots at the free throw line and made both to convert a four-point play and pull his team within nine points. Two baskets each by Kevin Nissen and Nelson and a 25-footer by Zeiss kept Wayne in the game but Blair retaliated at the free throw line. Two free throws in the final two seconds put the final touches on a 66-57 win for the Bears.

Wayne's reserve team won its game 52-44 to open the evening's action. Tim Pfeiffer and Todd Skokan each netted 13 points to lead the team and junior transfer 6-4 Mike Sladek added 11. Scoring: Pfeiffer, 13; Skokan, 13; Sladek, 11; Pat McCright, 9; Steve Koll, 4; Al Lindsay, 2.

Late Clutch Free Throws Clinch Laurel Triumph Over Norfolk Catholic

Two last second free throws by Scott Norvell secured a 48-45 win for the Laurel Bears over visiting Norfolk Catholic, Friday night as both teams opened their basketball seasons.

Norfolk Catholic, touted as one of the powers in Northeast Nebraska, saw its season opener go up in smoke, as the Bears twice came from behind for the victory.

"We had some people come through in spurts. One player would score for us early and then another one would come through to score for us late," said Laurel coach Joel Parks. "Everyone who played contributed. It was a real pleasing win."

Laurel fell behind 12-8 in the first quarter but came back behind Lon Swanson to take a 22-21 lead at the half. Swanson scored nine points, all in the first half. Norfolk Catholic regained the lead in the third quarter but Paul Guern brought the Bears back with all 10 of his points in the second half.

While the field goal shooting for both teams was pretty equal-

Laurel with 18 baskets in 50 attempts for 36 percent and Catholic with 19 field goals in 48 attempts for 40 percent the Bears held a definite edge at the charity stripe.

Laurel converted 12 of 20 free throws compared to 7 of 23 for the Norfolk team. Joe Olsen was also a key figure in the win, scoring 10 points for the Bears. Guard Matt Johnson and Guern led Laurel's rebounding chart with nine and eight rebounds each respectively.

Leading scorers for Norfolk Catholic were Tod Sock with 17 points, Bruce Merchant with 12 and Greg Dostal who scored 10. The Knights won the junior varsity game 38-37. Scorers for Laurel were: Jamie Johnson with 5, Norvell with 12, Kevin Erwin with 12, Phil Martin with 2 and Kraig Lofquist with 6.

The Bears are scheduled to host Hartington Cedar Catholic next Friday.

Wayne Tops Madison In Girls' Home Opener

With 15-point performances from each of their tall starters, the Wayne Blue Devils dumped Madison's girls basketball team, 52-47 in the Wayne-Carroll High School gym, Thursday night.

Jolene Bennett, a 5-10 senior forward, and Lisa Peters, a 5-10 junior center, combined for 30 points to send Madison home with a loss in the season opener for both schools.

Peters played aggressively adding 14 rebounds to her 15 points for a fine individual performance. Early baskets by Julla Dorsey, Shelly Davis and Jolene Bennett gave Wayne a 6-4 lead that held up for the rest of the game. The Devils saw their lead trimmed to 12-11 at the end of the first period but applied a good defensive zone and press in the second quarter to hold the visitors to six points.

"The girls had a good effort and worked real hard," said Wayne coach Curt Frye about the victory.

SHELLY DAVIS handles this rebound for the Wayne Blue Devils and prepares to take the ball down court. Wayne defeated Madison 52-47, Thursday.

THE TWO TEAMS engaged in a free throw shooting contest during much of the second quarter with Wayne coming out on top. Two free throws by Jean Koll and baskets by Bennett and Stacy Jacobmeier put the Devils ahead 25-17 at the midway mark.

Pressing improved for the Blue Devils in the third quarter and long baskets by Dorsey and Bennett built the Wayne lead to 14 points at one time. Led by Terry Nathan, Madison stayed within 10 points, 41-31 after the third period.

WAYNE'S LEAD continued to diminish in the final stanza and Madison eventually tied the score at 41-41 with 5:05 remaining in the game. Peters put the Blue Devils back in the lead with a much needed bucket and good defense by Jacobmeier forced a Madison turnover. Shelly Davis converted one of two free throws for a three point lead and Wayne shifted into a man-to-man defense.

In the final 2:30, Wayne scored eight points. Davis scored four, Jacobmeier scored two and Bennett and Peters each made one free throw. Two important rebounds by Peters put the game out of reach for a 52-47 victory.

Wayne's reserves won their game handily 45-25. Terry Johnson scored 15 points, Jill Zeiss hit 11 points and Jenny DeTurk followed with eight points in the winning cause. Johnson and Tammie Thomas were the leading rebounders.

Shelley Emry hit a basket at the buzzer to give the Wayne freshmen a 22-21 win over the Madison freshmen. Tammie Murray was the leading scorer with 10 points followed by Emry with six.

Allen Eagle Rally Dies In 50-44 Overtime Loss

Whoever said that close only counts in horse shoes would surely feel sorry for the Allen Eagles. The Eagles opened their season Thursday losing to Winside 47-45 in the waning seconds and then lost their second game of the season in overtime 50-44 to Coleridge Friday night.

"We gained the lead with three minutes left and worked hard in the third and fourth quarters," said Allen coach Bart Kneiff. "The team worked hard enough to win after a cold first half. I hope they can come back and win the next ones."

For Allen the first half was disastrous. Coleridge took a 12-7 lead at the end of the first quarter and outscored the Eagles 15-4 in the second period.

Trailing 27-13, the Eagles made a super comeback, cutting the Coleridge lead to four points after three quarters and eventually taking the lead in the final period. The two teams were tied at the end of regulation play and Coleridge outscored Allen 6-0 in the overtime period to win the game. The Eagles shot 24 percent from the field compared to 31 percent for Coleridge but turned the ball over 17 times while forcing only 10 turnovers. Steve Stewart scored 15 points and pulled down 11 rebounds and Robb Linafelter came off the bench to score 10 points. Frank Lanser was the leading rebounder with 13.

For Coleridge, Martin Tapenhausner led the way with 18 points and George Heiner added 10. Allen won the junior varsity game 24-22 with Pat Onderstal scoring nine points.

The Eagles will be in action against Bancroft, Friday. That game will be played in Allen but Bancroft will be designated the home team because the game was originally scheduled at Bancroft.

Cats Hold Off Allen For Two-Point Win

The 1979-80 boys basketball season got off to an exciting start in the area as the Winside Wildcats nipped the rival Allen Eagles 47-45 in Allen, Thursday night.

Winside's Bob Hawkins scored 16 points to offset 13 points by Frank Lanser and 12 by Steve Stewart for the Eagles. The Wildcats led 10-8 after the first quarter and 22-18 at the half and then held on for the final two quarters to edge the Eagles by two points.

Late Free Throws Key
Last second free throws by Hawkins put the finishing touches on the Winside triumph. Trailing 34-29, Allen closed in on the Wildcats in the final period but couldn't grab the lead. Winside used a balanced attack to gain the win.

"We started awfully slow and fell behind by five points at the half," said Allen coach Bart Kniff. "We were sluggish in the first half and that killed us. Hawkins is a real good player and did a good job against us." Kniff also credited his own player Lanser with a good all around game and said that Bob Stewart played well defensively and hustled on the court.

Allen had three players in double figures: Lanser with 13, Stewart with 12 and Lee Hansen with 10 points. Besides Hawkins' 16 points, Winside used balanced scoring from Lonnie Carstens, Randy Ritze, Brad Roberts and Byron Schellenberg. Carstens scored seven points while the other three players scored eight points each.

Quick Laurel Girls Dominate Crofton 43-20

A 16 point performance by junior Kay Anderson and 11 points by Paula Chace lifted Laurel's girls' basketball team to an easy 43-20 season opening victory over Crofton, on the home court Thursday.

After opening to an 8-5 first quarter lead, the Bears poured it on during the final three quarters to win the game going away. Laurel led 18-10 at the half and outscored Crofton 25-10 in the second half.

"The team really hustled. We pressed a little, played a man-to-man defense a little and played a zone defense part of the time," said Laurel coach Ev Jensen. "Our team got off to a slow start but got stronger as the game progressed. This is the quickest I've ever put on the court and our depth is good."

Anderson, the game's leading scorer, hit six field goals and four of five free throws while pulling down six rebounds in a fine individual effort. Chace made three field goals and five of seven free throws.

Laurel's junior varsity team won its game 25-14 in the evening's opener. LaRae Nelson led the JV Bears with 10 points.

Trojans Hot In Easy Win

A 31-point team effort in the third quarter sent the Wakefield Trojans to an 85-48 landslide victory over visiting Pender, Thursday night.

Scott Hallstrom and Tom Preston gunned 21 points each to pace the Trojans. Wakefield opened to an 8-6 first quarter lead and held on for a 13-point advantage at the half. A blistering third quarter put the Trojans way out of reach in their season opener.

For Every Success, There's Failure

BASIC DESIGN Class 101 at Wayne State College undertook an unusual project recently. Members of the class were asked to design, build and float a structure for $20. The test was to propel the "boat" the length of the pool in Rice Auditorium and back—successfully. The three young ladies above are off to a good start.

AS IS THE case all too often, what looks so easy can so quickly turn foul. As the ladies prepare to launch their craft, the wood "paddles" are readied for the cruise, again above. A steady hand, a little balance, and.....

AVAST, YE mariners, ladies overboard. Although this particular model was seen to sail successfully earlier, the winds of change turned unfavorable. All students in the class researched from books, periodicals and gathered information from professionals. In groups of four, the students were responsible for designing the model, refining the model, purchasing materials and finding a location for construction. A true team effort.

building was not feasible. Education of the students is first in mind for him.

Kramper—said he didn't think Wayne would suffer by losing the unit, noting that if the buildings can be renovated to suit the means, then the board should vote to stay in Wakefield. He, too, would like to see a smaller town grow.

Hansen—no one can guarantee the future of the ESU. There is no way a contractor can build a new building by July. If a contractor swore on a stack of Bibles, "I'd say he was a liar. I've built several myself and know better."

Olds—the old buildings give no opportunity for expansion. "I feel I am as conservative as anyone on the board and feel we can be too much so in some instances. The college has provided land, and heating and cooling is available. It makes sense to me to utilize the campus facilities since it is an educational center in the first place."

Weise—there is an obligation to set up programs for the young people, he said. "If 10 to 15 years down the road we don't meet the needs, we haven't met our obligation."

Bigelow—said ESU will grow, and the staff will double. Facilities that can accommodate this type of growth are needed. A building at WSC makes it easier to use the facilities. There is an advantage to having all the services in one location.

Walsstrom—said he was asked by his constituents not to favor any location further than Laurel

Gary Van Meter, Chamber of Commerce executive here, said it no longer is a question of a loss.

"It is a potentially extraordinary burden to the taxpayer for the board to vote on an ambiguous selection," he said.

Engineering reports and the costs of renovating the Wakefield buildings were presented to the board that evening. Information regarding the Wayne proposals was sent to the board about a week ago for their study, Van Meter noted.

He said there is some question about the availability of the buildings to handicapped. He cited a state law which requires the installation of elevators when other facilities for handicapped are unavailable.

Some persons questioning the board's decision pointed out the problem of handicapped persons using the stairs to get to the upper levels.

One estimate was that elevators cost about $20,000 per floor to install. Since there are three floors in one of the buildings, that cost would be an additional $60,000.
