Trial Summary

(Mike Ross, 24, now of Sergeant Bluff, Iowa, and a former member of the Wayne Police Department, was found guilty of manslaughter a week ago by a Wayne County District Court jury.

The verdict, coming after some 8 1/2 hours of deliberation, ended some two days of testimony by various witnesses and a half-day of jury selection.

The following is the first of two articles providing a synopsis of the events of the trial from Monday morning, Dec. 10, through the evening of Dec. 19 when the verdict was read.)

Day 1

The Wayne County Courtroom began filling well before the scheduled start of jury selection at 9:30 a.m.

Most of the more than 60 persons there by the appointed hour were prospective jurors, but others were members of the news media, courthouse employees and spectators.

THIS WAS THE first murder trial in Wayne for some 40 years. Area news media had given brief notice of the forthcoming trial, but Nebraska law prevented the prospective jurors from being told directly which case they would determine.

As is the case with most court proceedings, the day's events were slow in getting underway. It was just after 10 a.m. when everyone rose from their seats for Judge Merrit C. Warren. "Please, be seated," he told the anxious gallery.

THE DEFENDANT, charged with first degree murder in the shooting death of Karen Sunderman, 18, Aug. 9, was seated first at the end of the counsel table. He was sharply dressed in a three-piece brown suit, his hair had grown considerably since his arrest that fateful day and he sat with hands clasped.

Later, however, defendant Ross would move to the defense side of the table to confer on several points with his attorneys, S. J. (Sy) Albracht and David Lathrop Jr., both of Omaha. Ross would remain there through the remainder of the trial.

THE NAMES OF 34 prospective jurors were called by District Court Clerk Joann Osterlander. Each took a chair in and near the jury box. Although there were only 12 actual juror chairs, additional and temporary chairs were added for jury selection.

After Judge Warren and the attorneys questioned each juror on a number of subjects, each attorney (the defense attorney and prosecuting attorney Budd Bornhoff, Wayne) were allowed to strike a total of 22 jurors. The prosecution eliminated 10, while the defense threw out 12.

Jury selection ended shortly after noon, and Judge Warren recessed slightly more than an hour for lunch.

When proceedings began that afternoon, the Courtroom was quiet but for the sound of a strong north wind which ruffled window shades in the room.

THE GALLERY was quiet, too, with only a handful of people there. The parents and other relatives of Sunderman and of defendant Ross were on hand.

Prosecuting attorney Bornhoff, also Wayne County attorney, began the proceedings with an opening statement. It would be his contention, he said, to introduce evidence that would show Ross did, in fact, intentionally shoot Sunderman.

THE STATE would contend that the shooting was of a caliber to result in a first degree murder verdict. The defense, he theorized, would contend the shooting was an accident.

Next, it was the defense's chance. Sy Albracht reminded the jury that the "bold, cold facts" would come from the witness stand. "They (Ross and Sunderman) were lovers," he said. "You don't shoot the one you're considering marrying."

NEXT, IT WAS the judge's turn. Judge Warren gave the jurors their initial instructions, reminding them they were not allowed to take notes or ask questions during the trial. They would not be able to see transcripts of the trial, but would be allowed to view the evidence while deliberating.

The prosecution called its first witness by mid-afternoon—Richard (Rick) Reed, a dispatcher with the Wayne Police Department.

He testified he was on duty at the time of a 911 emergency call from Ross. Reed said he could hear someone crying loudly in the background as Ross said "get the ambulance down to my apartment right away. I just shot Karen. I accidentally shot her."

THE SECOND witness called was Luella Daniels, owner-operator of the Elm Motel where Sunderman was shot. Ross was living in Apartment 37 there at the time of the shooting and Sunderman was visiting him.

Mrs. Daniels said Karen came to the motel's office about 1 p.m. for a pass key to Ross' apartment. She had knocked, but the stereo apparently had drowned out her attempts to get Ross to answer the door. Sunderman let herself into Ross' apartment, as she had done on other occasions, Mrs. Daniels said. It was about 20 minutes later she heard the fateful shot which eventually killed Karen.

Mrs. Daniels said she immediately ran upstairs, since her living room is directly underneath the living room in Ross' apartment. Ross was coming down the stairs to get help, Mrs. Daniels said, and had already called an ambulance.

AS THE TWO returned to the apartment, Mrs. Daniels said Karen was sitting against the two steps which lead to the bedroom. Karen kept repeating that "it hurts, help me." Several times she said she didn't want to die.

Law enforcement officials and medical personnel arrived shortly thereafter and transported Sunderman to the hospital.

In further testimony, Mrs. Daniels said she had been given no indication that the shooting was anything but accidental, and Karen did not say anything to the contrary as she lay bleeding on the floor.

THE RELATIONSHIP between Ross and Sunderman appeared to be normal in every way, she told attorney Albracht. The voices heard prior to the shooting were in a normal tone, she said, and were not loud or boisterous.

The next witness called was Mifon Jenness, ambulance driver and trained emergency medical technician.

HE DID NOT know either Ross or Sunderman at the time of the shooting. When he arrived he found a girl on the floor in a shocked state. The registered nurse accompanying him administered the standard IV solution (intravenous), a normal procedure in the case of shock.

In briefly examining her, Jenness said he saw a hole in her abdomen about the size of his little finger and a larger exit higher on her back. He assisted in transferring her to Providence Medical Center where efforts to save her failed. She died about 2:13 p.m.

THE FOURTH witness was Vern Fairchild, Wayne Police Department Chief.

After being notified of the shooting, Fairchild said he called Deputy Sheriff Scooby Thompson and arrived at the motel about 1:28 p.m. Karen was on the floor and Ross and Mrs. Daniels were kneeling beside her, he said.

After reading Ross his rights, the two sat at the kitchen table and Fairchild said he began the interview. At that time, Ross gave an oral statement concerning the mishap. Fairchild said Ross told him he was "just playing around," pointed the gun at Karen and pulled the trigger. Fairchild said Ross told him he did not realize the gun was loaded. The slug was later found under the bottom step leading to the bedroom.

ALSO DURING his testimony, Fairchild said he had talked to Ross during the County Fair (July 26-29). At the time, Fairchild said, Ross appeared to be upset and angry, that Karen had been seen out with another man.

Under cross examination by Albracht, Fairchild was handed the .357 magnum which was introduced into evidence as being the gun used in the shooting. Under questioning, Fairchild examined the gun from various angles.

ATTORNEY Albracht quickly pointed out that Fairchild, supposedly trained extensively in gun safety and gun handling, had failed to check to see if the gun was loaded. Fairchild admitted that his training required him to check a gun each time it was handled.

Albracht told the jury that the gun could have been loaded.

The defense attorney also related a hunting incident involving Fairchild during which a shotgun fired, scattering pebbles and pellets. Albracht said Fairchild was reprimanded by his fellow hunters, but Fairchild maintained the gun's firing was intentional.

UNDER FURTHER questioning, Fairchild said Ross had made no mention that he shot Sunderman deliberately. In addition, he told the jury he had taken Ross' statement from memory and had not taken notes at the time of the interview. It was several hours later (about 7 p.m.) that Fairchild transcribed the statement from memory to paper, he told the jurors.

Fairchild also reviewed reasons for Ross' dismissal from the police force just two days before the fatal shooting. These included instances of sleeping on duty, reckless driving, a disturbance at the hospital early one morning and drinking beer while off duty.

THE FIFTH witness was Sgt. Melvin Lamb of the WPD. He testified about the gun safety training which Ross had received from him.

Lamb said his instructions to Ross included not to point a gun "at anything you don't intend to shoot. Always check to see if the gun is loaded," he related.

UNDER cross examination by Albracht, it was pointed out that Ross had failed the test initially, and was given the test a second time before he qualified.

This ends the first day of testimony. The article in Monday's edition of The Herald will conclude the trial.

Fire Levels Kardell Barn

A BARN ON the Virgil Kardell Sr. farm one mile east and a half-mile north was destroyed by fire shortly before noon Wednesday. The barn was engulfed in flames when the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department arrived. Members of the WVF were able to save a nearby grain bin and some farm equipment by keeping them watered down (above) until the blaze subsided.

Fire Chief Dick Korn said the fire was caused by a nearby trash fire spread by a north wind. Contents of the barn included miscellaneous farm equipment and some small electric motors. WVF personnel stayed on the scene until other area buildings were out of danger. No damage estimate was available early Wednesday afternoon.

County Jobless Lowest

Wayne County had the second lowest unemployment rate in a 14-county area last September, the Norfolk Job Service Office announced.

The only other area county with a lower jobless rate was Rock County with 1.5 percent of the work force unemployed. As noted in an article published in The Herald a few weeks ago, Wayne County's jobless rate was 1.6 percent for September.

Other counties served by the Norfolk office and their unemployment rates for that month were as follows: Stanton, 2.2 percent; Cedar, 2.5 percent; Dixon, 2.6 percent; Pierce, 2.7 percent; Knox, 2.8 percent; Madison, 3.0 percent; Antelope, 3.6 percent; Holt, 3.7 percent; Boyd, 4.0 percent.

Coloring Event Deadline Set

The Wayne Herald is again sponsoring its annual Christmas coloring contest.

The contest is limited to boys and girls up to and including eighth graders. Coloring must be done entirely by the contestant.

Those wishing to enter are asked to select one of the GREENING advertisements in the next issue and color it. Have your parents look through the issue with you to aid in selecting the proper ad to color.

All entries must be received in The Wayne Herald office on or before Saturday, Dec. 29, to be eligible for prizes.

There will be two divisions: kindergarten through third grade; and fourth through eighth grade.

First place winners in each division will be awarded $8 in cash. Second and third prize winners will receive $5 and $3 respectively in each division.

County Jobless Council Will Meet Tonight

Wayne City Council will meet in regular session at 7:30 p.m. Thursday (today) at the City Hall. The Council is meeting tonight since the regular meeting date falls on Christmas.

Agenda items will include final plan approval of Marywood subdivision, consideration of an ordinance on annexation, consideration of a resolution involving city engineer plans and specifications, designation of State National Bank and First National Bank as depositories for the city, a resolution involving electric rates and any other such business that may come before the Council.

State Agencies Request Millions More

Capitol News
By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The budget office of the state Department of Administrative Services revealed recently state agencies have requested an additional $7.6 million to meet current expenses.

The deficit requests compare with last year's total of $10.4 million, according to Budget Administrator Don Leuenberger. He noted nearly $6.7 million of the deficit requests stem from the special education program.

The manner in which Nebraska reimburses school districts for special education results in a deficit every year for that program, Leuenberger said.

State law provides local school districts are to be paid by the state for 90 percent of the additional cost of educating the handicapped. This year's payments are based on the actual costs of the previous fiscal year.

Under the system now in use, it is not possible to budget properly for the special education program, Leuenberger said. He added state officials have been examining different ways of providing state support but the alternatives also have problems.

Leuenberger said if the state changed to a plan under which the schools would be paid in the same fiscal year in which they spend for special education, the transition would be expensive.

He explained with such a program, the state would have to double the payments in one year in order to pay for past expenses and provide for future expenses.

It would be unfair, Leuenberger said, to change the financing abruptly because schools are midway through this school year.

Among other deficit requests was one for nearly $200,000 from the State Patrol. That request is a reflection on the increase in gasoline costs during the year, Leuenberger said.

He said the figures do not include up to $2 million that may be needed for the state grasshopper spraying program. The amount that will be required will depend on the number of acres in the program,

Leuenberger said.

Energy officials puzzled

State energy officials are attempting to find out exactly how much gasoline federal energy officials want Nebraska residents to conserve next year.

The federal Department of Energy recently circulated consumption targets for all the states. Those targets were based on a formula involving this year's gasoline usage.

The federal target figure proposed for Nebraska was a 9 percent reduction.

However, when state Energy Office officials applied the federal formula to 1979 gasoline used, they arrived at figures that were much different, Gov. Charles Thone said.

In a letter to DOE Deputy Secretary John C. Sawhill, the governor said, "The consumption targets suggested in your letter would require the people of Nebraska to reduce their consumption in Jan. 1980 by 13.1 percent" of what it was the previous January.

Thone said February and March consumption would have to be reduced 17.5 and 11.6 percent, respectively, from the corresponding months in 1979.

The governor also criticized the federal officials for releasing the figures before checking with the state.

"Hereafter, we would appreciate discussions well in advance of any public announcement relative to Nebraska," Thone told Sawhill.

Buck Balok, deputy director of the state Energy Office, said, "Those figures were supposed to be for review and comment, but they popped out before we could review and comment on them."

Vitek is back

Joe Vitek, former state director of corrections, has been named head of the Douglas County Department of Corrections at an annual salary of $35,000.

Vitek, 46, was appointed director of the state Department of Correctional Services by former Gov. J. James Exon in June, 1974. Gov. Charles Thone did not reappoint him.

While he was director, Vitek supervised the planning for replacement of all men's prison facilities.

He said he was anxious to get back to Nebraska after spending a year in Washington, D.C., where he was a consultant with Analogs Inc.

Spending resolutions approved

Two more University of Nebraska-Lincoln faculty groups have gone on record with resolutions about financial problems of the university.

The UNL Faculty Senate gave unanimous approval to a statement asking the regents to consider elimination of part of the systems level administration as a money-saving move.

The College of Business Administration passed a resolution strongly supporting a 15 percent hike in state support for the university. That resolution also asked that utilities be funded separately so rapidly rising price increases would not damage educational programs.

Four separate resolutions dealing with faculty morale and frustration have been passed at UNL during the past four to five weeks.

Major areas of concern in the resolutions are budget problems and the amount of control faculty members and UNL administrators have in university decisions.

The arts and science faculty and the teachers' college faculty went on record in favor of 15 percent budget increases. The Arts and Science resolution also called for more participation at the campus level in university-wide decisions.

The UNL Faculty Senate resolution said, "One way in which major savings can be accomplished without damage to the production of the resources allocated to administration. The current two-level administrative organization at NU is inefficient and cannot be afforded with the present and projected funding."

The College of Business Administration resolution noted more than 1,500 student requests for spring semester classes have been turned down and that another 350 qualified students could not enroll in the college because of an inadequate budget.

Something New - Now You Can Sue Uncle Sam

Richard L. Leshar,
President
Chamber of Commerce
of the United States

The Department of Energy is charged with illegally using taxpayers' funds to pay for consumer groups who testify against business in agency proceedings.

The Environmental Protection Agency is challenged after issuing regulations on solid waste which may force firms nationwide to immediately close their waste facilities without any prior notice or hearing.

The State Attorney General in Oklahoma is accused of illegally forbidding non-American corporations from owning land in his state—a decision that could significantly jeopardize foreign investment, jobs and economic growth in other states.

What's going on here? On the surface, you might answer, "Nothing much, because nothing changes." True, big government's juggernaut rolls on, gradually eliminating the remaining freedoms and opportunities in the private economy. And true, there seems to be no limit to its increases in spending, taxes and regulations. Still, something fundamental really is changing — a subtle shift in momentum has begun. As more and more Americans become angry enough to fight back, big government is finally being thrown on the defensive. Victory is not yet in sight, but the potential to achieve it is.

Consider: Thanks to growing pressure from the grass roots, it is now the initiatives to reduce spending and taxes that are proliferating in congress. The spenders can still prevail, but they are weary and embarrassed at constantly having to explain why they refuse to give taxpayers a break. The activities of the regulatory agencies are also being more closely scrutinized, even reined-in. One of the most important weapons in this entire counteroffensive is that of litigation; and as evidenced by the legal challenges listed earlier, the cutting edge of the litigation effort is developing right here in the U.S. Chamber.

The National Chamber Litigation Center, Inc. was established in February 1977, to represent the business community before the courts and regulatory agencies. Rather than simply roll over and play dead every time a government bureaucrat or no-growth group threatens lengthy, expensive legal action, NCLC provides the possibility for any business, no matter how small, to fight back and win. Among its goals, the Center has pledged to challenge unconstitutional and irresponsible laws and regulations that harm the business community and our national economy; to counter restrictive anti-business forces affecting labor relations, business' constitutional rights and federal rule-making activities, and to act as a rational legal advocate for business on major public policy issues — environmental matters, consumer affairs and trade negotiations.

The Center employs its own staff of attorneys to initiate or join legal actions and the staff does not accept fees for its services. The sole source of financial support for its litigation program comes from membership dues and special contributions. Any U.S. business firm, corporation, trade association or individual can become a member.

Obviously, the Center's resources are not unlimited, so its participation in a case is normally based on certain major criteria:

- The case must involve an issue of direct importance to a broad cross-section of the business community.
- The case should have substantial regional or national significance.

- No other party is presenting the broad business perspective before the court or agency.
- The business community has a need for the expertise and assistance NCLC can provide.
- The issue fits within NCLC's overall priorities and resources.

That said, the Center has already established an impressive record — 14 victories in the past two years.

For too long, extremists within regulatory agencies and certain self-designated consumer and environmental groups have used, and abused, the courts to by-pass Congress and create public policy. The mountains of resulting regulations, requiring inordinate amounts of time, money and paperwork, have drastically curtailed business operations at home and harmed our ability to compete abroad.

In seeking a more balanced approach to the establishment of national priorities, the National Chamber Litigation Center is making an important contribution to those who believe in individual opportunity and economic growth for all Americans. For that reason, I believe the Center is worthy of support.

OBSERVATIONS

'Tis the Season

'Tis the season to be jolly, etc., etc., etc.

It's the time of year when families open their hearts and homes to others. A time of year when troubles should be set aside, differences of opinion should be swept under the rug and the spirit of Christmas should prevail.

The true meaning of the holiday season is too often lost in the hustle and bustle of buy, buy, buy. The Yuletide has become, unfortunately, an opportunity to capitalize on the birth of Christ.

That occurrence probably is the most significant in modern history. Yet over the years, the meaning of the celebration has gone astray. With a troubled world, we need faith in ourselves, our goals and our fellow man.

We wish everyone a Merry Christmas. We hope you take time to consider the hopes and wishes of your friends, neighbors and others around you—in the true spirit of Christmas.

This is the one time of year when words and thoughts of love and compassion should be foremost on our minds. Let us not be overcome by the commercialization of Christ's birth. Remember his mission of love and understanding. Dan Field, Editor.

Shift to Off-Farm Work Is Dramatic Change for Ag

Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation
By M.M. Van Kirk
Director of Information

The shift toward more off-farm work by farm families is one of the most dramatic changes taking place in U.S. agriculture with farm operators and members of their households increasingly combining farm work with full or part-time off-farm employment.

This statement is taken from an assemblage of information in booklet form, "Issues in Agriculture," compiled by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in advance of Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland's current regional hearings across the nation. Some may fault Bergland's hearings as politically inspired for the Carter Administration. But anyone wishing to chart a new course knows that first he should know where he has been, where he is now, and how he got there. If the Bergland hearings provide even that much information, they will have served their purpose.

According to the USDA summary, prior to World War II, about 6 percent of all farm operators worked off the farm 200 or more days each year. Since then, the proportion has increased until, in 1974, about 30 percent of all farm operators reported 200 or more days of off-farm work. An additional 10 percent worked at least 50 or more days off the farm.

Between 1954 and 1974, the total number of U.S. farms decreased by 52 percent. The number of farms where the operator reported working 200 or more days off farm declined by 36 percent during the 20-year period, while the number of farms where the operator reported working off farm less than 200 days declined by 56 percent. More than 80 percent of the decrease in farm numbers over the period was in the group where the operator worked off farm less than 200 days. What these figures say is that off-farm employment helps a great many small operators stay in farming.

One might add something else about the job increase in off-farm employment since World War II. During the 1930's, off-farm employment opportunities were few and far between and lucky was the man who could bolster his family's income and help pay the interest and taxes on his farm from outside employment income. Had off-farm employment opportunities existed, many more farming operations could have been saved then, and could be saved now.

Off-farm employment is more common in some regions than in others. Farming is least likely to be the principal occupation of farmers in the south with slightly over 50 percent of the operators reporting farming as their principal occupation, as compared with 62.6 percent for all U.S. farmers. Here in the North Central region which includes Nebraska, farming is the principal occupation for over 70 percent of the operators. Modern farm mechanization enables many young farmers to get their farm work done and at the same time supplement their income. For many, this income enables them to get ahead faster, to acquire more land and equipment and eventually go to fulltime farming. Since World War II, off-farm income has increased steadily as a proportion of the total per capita income of the farm population — from 26 percent in 1945 to 50 percent in 1975.

Only about 8 percent of all farm families have income from farming as their sole source of income. The remaining 92 percent have at least one other source of income, with most of it coming from wages and earnings from off-farm sources.

It is logical to say that there would be fewer farms, particularly small farms, were it not for off-farm employment income on the part of operators, their wives and other family members. Some farmers may say this is bad and complain that one has to hold two jobs to stay in farming. In answer to that, in this time of inflation, most families have to have two wage earners at least, to survive and get ahead. Rural area job opportunities are helping to save family farming, and that is not bad for either the families or the nation.

Dear Editor:

I read something in the Wayne School Board report that really turned me off — "Heard one of its fellow board members indicate concern about the win-loss record of Wayne's football and basketball teams. Reflecting on previous coaches who had success here, the member indicated he was displeased with the current situation."

Is this schoolboard member also a parent or one of the players?

I never could understand why it's always the coaches' fault when the athletic teams do not win all their games. After all — maybe the teams weren't as good this year — maybe they were not following the coaches instructions as they should! I just do not believe in this "get rid of the coach" attitude. No team can expect a winning season every year. Someone has to lose.

This comment looked especially out of place when it was followed immediately by praise for the band instructor. (Yes, Mr. Dalton deserves lots of praise because he earned it.) Just remember coaches are good for more than just winning games.

Dixon Residents Marking Silver Year

Mr. and Mrs. Harbid George of Dixon will be honored for their silver wedding anniversary Sunday, Dec. 30. All friends and relatives are invited to attend an open house reception at the United Methodist Church in Laurel from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. There will be a short program at 2:45. The couple requests no gifts. Hosts are the couple's children, Lyle, Sandra and Vern of Lincoln, and Alice, Carolyn and Allen, at home.

WHS Students in 'Who's Who'

A total of 22 students from Wayne-Carroll High School have been included in the 13th annual edition of "Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1978-79."

"Who's Who," published by Educational Communications, Inc., Northbrook, Ill., is the largest high school recognition program in the country.

Students are selected for inclusion in the book by high school principals and guidance counselors, national youth groups, churches, or by the publishing company based upon students' performance in scholarship award contests or extra-curricular activities.

Final selection is determined on a basis of criteria which include high achievement in academics and leadership in school activities, athletics or community service. Traditionally, 99 percent of "Who's Who" students have a grade point average of B or better, and 97 percent are college-bound.

Included in the 1978-79 edition, with parents' names in parenthesis, are Wayne High seniors Tim Thomas (Jim), Stacy Jacobmeier (Vern), Janice Butts (Ray), Jeff Zeiss (Don), Randy Fleer (Harold), Bill Haas (Rev. Robert), Marvin Hansen (Lester), Jodi Isom (Mrs. Dorothy), Brenda Lindsay (Larry), Doug Marr (Arnold), and Terri Melena (John).

Also included in the book are 1979 Wayne High graduates Tom Ginn (Clifton), Brad Emry (Arnold), Laura Lessmann (Merlound), Lori Lessmann (Dale), Bob Bornhoff (Budd), Rick Luft (Duane), Peg Pinkelman (Cliff), Shauna Roberts (Lynn), Anita Sandahl (Neil), Chris Vakoc (John), and Myra Victor (Rolland).

The 13th edition of "Who's Who," published in eight regional volumes, features 355,000 students, or 5 percent of the nation's 6,500,000 high school juniors and seniors. Students listed in the book compete for over $50,000 in scholarship awards and participate in the publication's annual opinion poll of teen attitudes.

Community Holiday Concert

The 40-voice Wayne Community Choir will present a special holiday concert this Friday evening in the lecture hall at Wayne High School.

The program, scheduled to begin at 8 p.m., will feature a variety of Christmas songs designed to delight the entire family. Selections include "Jingle Bells," "Let It Snow, Let It Snow, Let It Snow," and "Halleluia Chorus," from Handel's "Messiah."

Director is Matthew D. Smith. Friday night's performance is sponsored free by the Wayne Regional Arts Council.

There will be a short program by the couple's children and grandchildren at 2 p.m. All friends and relatives are invited to attend.

The couple's children and families, who are hosting the event, are Everett Schuetz of Stanton, Mrs. Vernon (Doris) Bohl of Washington, D.C., Virgil Schuetz of Loveland, Colo., George Schuetz of Overland, Mo., Howard Schuetz of Stanton, Larry Schuetz of Berthoud, Colo., and Lyle Schuetz of Loveland, Colo. There are 22 grandchildren.

Pecks, Schutte Wed

Bethany Lutheran Church in Spencer, Iowa was the scene of a wedding ceremony Dec. 7 uniting in marriage Kathy Pecks, daughter of Mrs. Betty Hauschild of LeMars, Iowa, and Jerry Schutte, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schutte of Laurel.

The Rev. Stuebendick of Spencer officiated at the 7 p.m. double ring ceremony.

For her wedding day, the bride wore an ivory mid-length silk dress. Her attendant was Rhonda Hank of Spencer. Best man was Jim Hank, also of Spencer.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the bride and bridegroom's new home, 925 E. 8th, Spencer.

The bride, a 1976 graduate of LeMars High School, is employed by Mary Kay Cosmetics, Inc. The bridegroom, a 1973 Laurel High School graduate, attended Wayne State College and works at Singletree Clothing in Spencer.

Oberlin Morris, resides at Harvard, Ill. There are seven grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren.

Evening Circle Fares Potluck

The Evening Circle of Grace Lutheran Church met for a potluck Christmas supper Dec. 11 at the church.

Table grace was by the Rev. Thomas Mendenhall. Eighteen members and their families attended. Devotions were by Dee Stoltenberg.

The Circle presented a gift certificate to Pastor Mendenhall and family, who showed a film about the Bethesda Home. Circle members are reminded to bring handkerchiefs for the Sunday school tree to be sent to Bethesda. The program also included a talk by Charles Maier on the origin of bells. Several bells were on display.

Next meeting of the Evening Circle will be Jan. 8 at 8 p.m.

Gather For 102nd Birthday

Carroll's oldest resident, 102-year-old Mrs. C.H. (Mary) Morris, was honored Sunday with a cooperative birthday dinner at the Congregational Church west of Carroll.

About 60 friends and relatives turned out to honor Mrs. Morris, coming from Harvard, Ill.; Arlington, Norfolk, Randolph, Wayne and Carroll.

Mrs. Morris was born Dec. 17, 1877, in a dugout near Blair. She moved to Carroll with her family when she was about 13 years old, and was united in marriage to C.H. Morris of Carroll in 1904. Mr. Morris died in 1966.

Sunday afternoon's program included introductions and prayer by the Rev. Gail Axen. Mrs. Robert I. Jones read two poems commemorating the life of Mrs. Morris.

Mrs. Morris lives in Carroll with a son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Morris. Another son, Don Morris, is a resident of the Randolph Manor, and a daughter, Mrs. Virgil (Wilva) Brewer, lives at Falls Church, Vir. A daughter-in-law, Mrs.

Oberlin Morris, resides at Harvard, Ill.

There are seven grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren.

ETV Presenting 'Joy of Bach' Sunday Evening

"The Joy of Bach" will be shown on the Nebraska Educational Television network Sunday evening, Dec. 23.

Johann Sebastian Bach, the 18th-century composer featured in the film, is one of the most famous Lutherans in history, composing music "for the delight of the Spirit."

Beyond the predictable music of the "Christmas Oratorio" and "The St. John Passion," Sunday night's program also will include such offbeat sights and sounds as Virgil Fox's "Heavy Organ and Light Show," a Trinidad steel band, the jazz beat of the Swingle Singers, a flamenco dancer ornamenting a fugue, and disco dancers twirling to a contemporary excerpt of a concerto.

The filming for "The Joy of Bach" was done in the USA, Canada, England, France and East Germany. Some filming was done in the 700-year-old St. Thomas Church, where Bach was music director for 27 years.

Gardeners Meet For Dinner and Gift Exchange

A Christmas gift exchange and games furnished entertainment at the Dec. 13 meeting of the Rov-ing Gardeners Club.

Eight members attended the noon dinner meeting in the home of Mrs. Chris Tietgen. Following prayer by the hostess, members responded to roll call by telling where they would like to spend the winter. Christmas charades and brown bag bingo were played.

The club has purchased a Christmas gift for a resident of the Wayne Care Centre.

Next meeting will be at 1 p.m., Jan. 10 in the home of Mrs. Fred Gilder sleeve to make yearbooks.

Merry Mixers Reveal 'Sisters'

Members of the Merry Mixers Club revealed secret sisters when they met Dec. 11 in the home of Mrs. Leo Hansen for a cooperative dinner.

Nine members attended and sang "Silent Night, Holy Night." The secretary and treasurer's reports were read.

Programs for the upcoming year were discussed and new names were drawn for secret sisters. Club members also exchanged gifts.

Mrs. Kenneth Haller will be the Jan. 8 hostess.

New Officers, who will assume their duties in January, are Mrs. Fred Mann, president; Mrs. Lawrence Thoman, vice president; Mrs. Werner Mann, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Harvey Reggs, music; Mrs. Herman Vahlkamp, news reporter; Mrs. Don Luft, social leader; and Mrs. Lawrence Backstrom, health and citizenship.

Thought for Today

By Rowan Wiltse

"A wise man turns chance into good fortune..."
Chinese Proverb

A chance turn of events can often be utilized to good advantage. Occasionally, as we go about our everyday business, something totally unexpected will pop up. It may even be a temporary obstacle which must be removed or bypassed.

No matter what happens, the wise man, with vision, courage and spirit of adventure, will try to turn each whim of chance into good fortune. He will succeed often enough to make his efforts well worth while.

Spare your family the need for making painful decisions. Arrangements made prior to need will permit you to make all decisions in exact accordance with your desires.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Greve of Wakefield announce the engagement of their daughter, Deborah Fay, to Roger B. Leonard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leonard of Emerson. Miss Greve is a 1978 graduate of Wakefield High School and a graduate of Norfolk Beauty College. She is operating Jane's Beauty Shop in Wayne. Her fiancé, who was graduated from Wakefield High School in 1977, will graduate in May from Northeast Technical Community College, Norfolk, where he is studying auto mechanics. The couple plans a June 7 wedding at the Salem Lutheran Church, Wakefield.

Spirit of Christmas Captured At Aid

Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid met at the church Dec. 12 for a carry-in dinner, with 51 members and 31 guests. Decorations were in the Christmas motif and hostesses were Mrs. Gus Stuthmann, Mrs. Alan Thomsen, Mrs. Robert Thomsen and Mrs. Melvin Utecht. The Rev. Thomas Mendenhall had devotions taken from the hymn, "O Come, O Come Emmanuel." It was announced that a committee has delivered cookies and lap robes to several shut-ins. Appointed to the auditing committee were Mrs. William Eynon, Mrs. Robert Meyer and Mrs. Herb Echtenkamp. Mrs. Ron Penlerick gave the visitation report and the group sang the birthday song for Mrs. Harold Ekberg, Mrs. Martha Bartels, Mrs. Bob Thomsen, Pastor Mendenhall, and guests celebrating birthdays in December.

Daughter Baptized

Desiree Elaine Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Anderson of Hoskins, was baptized during worship services Sunday morning at the Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Hoskins. The Rev. Wesley Bruss officiated and sponsors were Rick Anderson and Mrs. Dave Papslein. Dinner guests afterward in the Orville Anderson home, Hoskins, were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Anderson and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Anderson of Randolph, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Papslein, Darren and Darcy, Mrs. Elsie Pettif and Mrs. Nora Wink, all of Norfolk, Mr. and Mrs. Arlin Kille of Winside, and the Rev. and Mrs. Wesley Bruss, Wendy, Tammy and Jason.

WWI Meets

World War I Auxiliary met at the Vet's Club in Wayne Monday evening. Articles during the evening included "Legislature Will Start Later," by legislative chairman Cordelia Chambers, and "Japan's Auto Makers Show the U.S. How," by Americanism chairman Linda Grubb. Mrs. Marie Brugger announced that five lap robes and 50 ditty bags have been sent to the Norfolk annex. Gifts have been purchased for two residents of the Wayne Care Centre at Christmas time. Hostess was Laurine Beckman. The barracks joined the auxiliary later in the evening for lunch and cards.

Rural Students Give Program

Students of School District 32 and teacher Mrs. Nancy Ahlvers presented an old-fashioned Christmas program Friday afternoon for members of the Wayne Federated Woman's Club. The youngsters sang several songs and performed skits. Thirty-nine members and two guests attended the meeting in the Woman's Club room. Hostesses were Mrs. Eldon Bull, Mrs. Virgil Chambers, Mrs. Alvin Ehlers, Mrs. Sheryl Marra and Leona Bahde. Special music was provided by Mrs. Dorothy Kabisch, who whistled several tunes. The group sang Christmas carols. Next regular meeting has been set for Jan. 11. Mrs. Henry Rethwisch is chairman of the hostess committee.

Florence Meyer Next Hostess

Florence Meyer will be hostess for the next meeting of T and C Club, at 2 p.m. Jan. 10. Mrs. Russell Lindsay Sr. entertained the club Dec. 13. Receiving high scores in cards were Edna Baier and Frances Nichols.

Bruns-Menke Wed Dec. 8

Now at home in Norfolk are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Menke, who were married Dec. 8 at Christ Lutheran Church, Norfolk. Mrs. Menke is the former Peggy Bruns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Johnson of Wayne. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Menke of Carroll. The bride had been employed at Sherwood Medical Industries, Inc., in Norfolk, and the bridegroom is manager of Nebcor Rental and Equipment Co., Norfolk. The 150 guests who attended the wedding and reception in the church fellowship hall, were registered by Pat Pojar of Lincoln and ushered into the church by David Johnson of Norfolk, Gary Kirch of Blair and Tim Van Busch of Lincoln. The Rev. Karl R. Davies officiated at the 7 o'clock double ring rites. Sheryl Brodersen of Randolph sang "He Made Us For Each Other Lord" and "The Lord's Prayer." Organist was Kurtis Bomar of Norfolk. The bride, who was escorted down the aisle by her father, appeared in a sheer organza floor-length wedding gown. The skirt and cathedral train were edged with a deep ruffle of Nottingham lace. Pearl studded motifs decorated the sheer skirt. The gown was designed with a mandarin collar of Venice lace, long tapered sleeves, and a satin sash and bow at the waistline. The bride's derby hat, covered with nylon illusion scattered with white daisies, featured an attached fingertip veil. Her cascading bridal bouquet was of white roses, red pixie carnations, Christmas greens, pine cones, baby's breath and holly. Mrs. Gary Kirch of Blair served her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaid was another sister, Mrs. Harry Fox of Hoskins. Junior bridesmaid was the bride's daughter, April Bruns of Norfolk. The attendants wore matching red satin knit gowns in floor length and carried single candles accented with red carnations and Christmas greens. They all wore red carnations in their hair. Doug Lienemann of Randolph served as best man, and groomsmen was the bridegroom's brother, Byron Menke. The bridegroom wore a white tuxedo with a white rose boutonniere, and his attendants wore white tuxedos trimmed in black, with white ruffled shirts trimmed in red. Their boutonnieres were red carnation centered with a white rose. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Johnson wore a red polyester knit in street length. Mrs. Menke chose a beige knit, also in street length. Mr. and Mrs. Burnie Koehne of Lincoln greeted guests at the reception. Mrs. Otto Test Jr. and Mrs. Ted Schult, both of Norfolk, cut and served the cake. Mrs. Warren Austin of Wayne poured and Mrs. Tim Van Busch of Lincoln served punch. The Ladies Aid assisted in the kitchen. Waitresses were Ann Clark, Gina O'Gorman, Nancy Gubbies and Lucy Done.

Touring Hospital

Click and Klatter Home Extension Club will meet Jan. 8 at Providence Medical Center for a 1 o'clock luncheon and tour. Hostess for the January meeting is Mrs. Marvin Victor. Thirteen members of the club met in the home of Mrs. James Corbit Dec. 11 for a 12:30 p.m. cooperative dinner. Mrs. Earl Larson and Mrs. Mary Alice Hollman were guests. Mrs. Marvin Victor conducted the business meeting in the absence of Mrs. Lou Luff. The meeting opened with the collect and singing of "Silent Night," led by Mrs. Harvey Beck. The minutes and treasurer's reports were read and approved. The club has purchased a Christmas gift for a resident of the Wayne Care Centre. Mrs. Joe Corbit read a poem for citizenship, entitled "Just a Homemaker's Disgust," and Mrs. Alex Liska, reading chairman, encouraged the women to support "The Rape Offense Law," preventing an accused rapist to post bond. Mrs. Paul Sievers told how to save money by purchasing a wood stove. The club reviewed the 1980 yearbook. Mrs. Fred Gildersleeve received the hostess prize and the meeting adjourned with a gift exchange. New officers of the club, who will assume their duties in January, are Mrs. Marvin Victor, president; Mrs. James Corbit, vice president; Mrs. Harvey Larsen, secretary; and Mrs. Fred Gildersleeve, treasurer.

Late Surge Leads To Devils' Win

Nine unanswered points in the final 2 1/2 minutes broke a 47-47 deadlock and lifted the Wayne Blue Devils to a 56-49 victory over the neighboring Laurel Bears, Tuesday night in Wayne.

Both teams played sluggishly at times as they engaged in a tight low-scoring contest during the first half. The Bears took the lead 10-5 as the Blue Devils seemed to hurry too much in the first quarter. Laurel held on for a 14-10 lead at the end of the period.

Laurel holds lead

The Laurel lead diminished in the second quarter and Wayne took over 15-14 on a shot by Randy Dunklau. Matt Johnson put the Bears back on top 16-15. Jeff Dion gave Wayne the lead at 17-16 and Scott Norvell stole the lead back for the Bears at 18-17 as the advantage jumped back and forth in a short time. The Blue Devils held a 23-22 edge at the half on a layup by Jere Morris.

Laurel's defense took its toll on Jeff Zeiss, Wayne's leading scorer, who is averaging 20 points per game. Zeiss, who had committed only one foul in three games, was called for three fouls on charging calls in the first half and made only two points on free throws.

Devils apply second half zone

Wayne's second half zone seemed to riddle the shorter Bears and the hosts built up a 31-22 lead. Matt Johnson, who played an aggressive first half for the Bears, picked up his fourth foul with 44 seconds remaining in the third period. Wayne led 37-30 at the break.

Laurel rallied and cut the deficit to 43-39 as 6-5 Perry Nelson committed his fourth foul. Good outside shooting by Lon Swanson, Laurel's tallest player at 6-2, kept the Bears in the thick of things. Swanson hit three baskets from 15-22 feet in the final five minutes and Paul Guern added eight points in the fourth quarter to keep the Bears alive.

A 14 foot jump shot by Guern tied the game at 45-45 with 3:31 remaining. The two teams exchanged leads once more before Morris put Wayne ahead for good 49-47 with an 18 foot shot.

Kevrin Nissen took over with two key buckets in the final two minutes and Zeiss threaded the needle on a pass to Dion under the basket for a layup and a three-point play. A final basket by Guern put Laurel within seven in a 56-49 loss.

The win upped Wayne's record to 2-2 while Laurel fell to 1-2. The Blue Devils hit 22 of 50 shots from the field for 44 percent and the Bears shot 22 of 45 attempts for 49 percent. Wayne held the scoring edge at the free throw line.

"Anytime we play Laurel it's a hard played game. Both teams played hard but weren't very smooth," said Wayne coach Bill Sharpe. "I thought Laurel played us very well defensively and forced us to make a lot of adjustments. Kevrin Nissen and Jere Morris did a good job for us but the team didn't play smart."

Leading scorers for Wayne were Kevrin Nissen with 15 points, Perry Nelson with 10, Morris with nine and Zeiss with eight. Laurel was led by Swanson and Guern with 14 points each and Matt Johnson with eight.

The Blue Devils will host Wisner-Pilger tonight and will play in the WSC Holiday Tournament Jan. 2-5 at Wayne State College. The Bears will host Emerson-Hubbard Friday and are scheduled to play in the Hartington Holiday Tournament Dec. 28-29.

Wayne Nets Team Title

A wrestling tournament couldn't have a more exciting ending than the West Point Invitational did Saturday. Wayne heavyweight Dan Mitchell decisively defeated David City Aquinas 6-4 in overtime to give the Blue Devils a tie for the team championship, their first since 1976.

A lot of weight was resting on Mitchell's shoulders in the final match. His team trailed Aquinas in the team race and needed a victory to tie for the team title. A loss and the Devils would have gone home as second best.

Mitchell and Hotovy struggled through six minutes of tough wrestling only to be tied. So it all came down to a three minute overtime match. Mitchell won the match 6-4 and brought a share of the team title home to Wayne.

Team Shows Balance

Although Mitchell's match was the deciding factor in the team race, it was a well-balanced team performance that netted the championship for the Blue Devils.

Rick Johnson joined Mitchell as champion by winning a 10-3 decision over Roger Lindstrom of Oakland-Craig in the 155 pound class. In addition to two championships, Wayne's team also brought home two third place medals and six fourths.

DAN MITCHELL

Fort Calhoun 6-1 in the 98 pound consolation finals to place third and 112 pound Mike Luff decisively defeated Brad From of Aquinas 7-0 in his consolation finals.

Fourth place finishers were: Steve Pospisil at 105, Mike Shock at 119, David Doeschler at 126, Kevin Echtenkamp at 132, Nick Sieler at 138 and Aaron Schuett at 167.

Using an effective fastbreak in the first half, the Wayne Blue Devils built up a 10-point lead and held on during the second half to earn their first win of the season 67-57 over Columbus Lakeview, Saturday.

After losing its first two games against strong teams from Blair and South Sioux City, Wayne broke into the win column by handling Lakeview on the road. The Devils led 18-14 after the first quarter and broke the game open in the second quarter.

Wayne's tallest and shortest regular players did most of the scoring. Jeff Zeiss, a quick 5-6 guard, scored 18 points on nine field goals and accounted for 10 or 12 assists in the game. He also broke Lakeview's defensive press with his fine ball handling.

Center Perry Nelson, a foot taller than Zeiss at 6-5, tallied 14 points for the Blue Devils and pulled down some key rebounds. Coach Bill Sharpe also cited Kevrin Nissen and Jeff Dion for playing well in the game. Nissen scored eight points and Dion added seven.

Wayne didn't play as well in the second half but all 15 players listed on the varsity roster saw playing time in the 10-point victory. Ten players scored.

The Blue Devils shot 59 percent from the field in 51 attempts while Lakeview made 34 percent of its shots. Wayne also led the rebounding department 34-25. Kevin Arndt and Ryan Went led Lakeview with 17 and 13 points respectively.

Lakeview won the junior varsity game 41-35. Mike Sladek scored 13 and Tim Pfeiffer added 11 points for Wayne's B team.

Wayne Freshmen Nip Laurel At Home

Led by Jeff McCright and Shaun Niemann, the Wayne freshman basketball team edged Laurel's freshmen 47-44 in Wayne Monday afternoon. In eighth grade action, Laurel won 36-29.

The freshman Bears scored the first nine points of the game but Wayne rallied to lead 16-13 after the first quarter. The hosts increased their lead to 30-20 at the half but the momentum jumped back and forth throughout the game.

Laurel kept cutting at the Blue Devil lead but came up three points short in the end. "It looked like a first game of the season," said Wayne coach Duane Blomenkamp. "We did do some things well, though."

McCright and Niemann led the Devils with 12 points each. Tim Heier scored 8, Todd Schwartz hit seven and Jeff Jorgensen and Mark Kubik added three points apiece. For Laurel, Kartrup was the leading scorer with 18 points. Robson scored 10, Marquardt scored 8, Jonas hit four and Hayden added four.

Laurel's eighth graders won the opening game of the afternoon by seven points. Paul Lofquist scored 12 points to lead the Bears. Wayne was paced by Elaine Johs with 10, Jim Poehlman with five and Tod DeTurk, Layne Marsh and Bradan Dorsey with four. Randy Gamble added one basket.

The Wayne freshmen will play at 3 p.m. today (Thursday) against Wisner-Pilger, preceding the varsity boys' game. Next home action for the freshmen following tonight's game is scheduled for Jan. 11 against Madison. The eighth and ninth graders will host Schuyler on Jan. 24.

Portwood Leads Trojans To Fourth Place Finish

VON PORTWOOD

By placing seven wrestlers in the top four positions, the Wakefield Trojans placed fourth in the Stanton Invitational, Saturday. Von Portwood led the effort with a first place finish in the 167 pound-weight class.

Three Trojans reached the finals while four others wrestled in the consolation finals. Joey Sherer finished second at 132, losing by a pin to Tom Dozier of Elgin in the finals. Mark Schopke also placed second when he was pinned by Alan Hitchcock of West Holt in the 185 pound class. Portwood won a gold medal in his weight by pinning Kelly Isom of Randolph in 4:34.

A third place medal was won by Jon Stelling in the 105 pound class. He defeated Dale Pelster of Elgin 9-5 in the consolation finals. Fourth place medals were earned by 112 pound Dirk Carlson, 145 pound Doug Verplank and heavyweight Duane Wille.

Carlson was beaten out of third place 4-2 by Randy Hansen of Newman Grove. Verplank was pinned by Rick Daniel of Stanton and Wille was pinned by Pete Schmaderer of West Holt.

Wakefield finished fourth behind champion Pender, Atkinson West Holt and Elgin. The Trojans finished ahead of Stanton, Newman Grove, Randolph and Leigh. Seven of Wakefield's 11 wrestlers returned with medals.

Next action for the Trojans is scheduled for tonight (Thursday) against Lyons on Wakefield's home mat. The Trojans traveled to Pender for a dual Tuesday and will compete in the Elgin Tournament Saturday.

Standings
Pender	160 1/2
Atk. West Holt	127 1/2
Elgin	95
Wakefield	70 1/2
Stanton	56 1/2
Newman Grove	56
Randolph	49
Leigh	32

Wildcats Defeat Osmond at Home

Three undefeated wrestlers paved the way as Winside edged Osmond 33-30 in a dual meet, Monday night in Winside.

The Wildcats who remain undefeated are Mark Koch, Brian Foote and Rick Bowers. Koch and Foote won by pins and Bowers won his match by a decision.

Suffering from illness and small numbers, Winside was forced to forfeit two matches. Regular 112 pound wrestler Doug Jaeger missed the dual because of illness. Mark Koch, who normally wrestles 105, was overweight and moved up to fill Jaeger's weight class. The Wildcats also had to forfeit at 185 but received a forfeit from Osmond in the heavyweight class.

"We wrestled fairly well. Some of our middleweights got some good experience and built up some confidence," said Winside coach Doug Reeves. "Osmond has improved and should have a good team in the next couple of years. Willis did a good job for us."

Trailing 12-0, Koch put Winside on the scoreboard with a pin in 1:32. Foote followed with a pin in 2:11 to tie the match and Bowers put the Cats on top with a 13-2 decision.

Other winners for the hosts were Dirk Jaeger at 145 and Tom Willis at 155. In the most exciting match of the evening, freshman Brian Bowers wrestled to a 4-4 draw with Scott Beacom in the 138 pound class. Bowers trailed 3-0 but rallied for the draw which prevented the two teams from tying the match.

Individual results (Winside wrestlers listed first):

- 98-Curt Rhode was pinned by Junior Brunchhorst
- 105-Winside forfeited to John Schmit
- 112-Mark Koch pinned Robbie Beacom in 1:32
- 119-Brian Foote pinned Joe Thomson in 2:11
- 126-Rick Bowers won a 13-2 decision over Paul Oltjenbruns
- 132-Duane Sueli lost a 10-0 decision to Roland Johnson
- 138-Brian Bowers wrestled to a 4-4 draw with Scott Beacom
- 145-Dirk Jaeger pinned Mark Scott in 1:25
- 155-Tom Willis won an 8-5 decision over Jim Aschpff
- 167-Barry Bowers was pinned in 4:3 by Randy Gardner
- 185-Winside forfeited to Dave Bowling
- Heavyweight-Brad Janke won by forfeit

Winside loses to Pender. Winside's wrestling team had a discouraging night, losing 48-9 to Pender on the home mat last Thursday.

Dirk Jaeger, 145 pounder, was ill so all of the other wrestlers were moved up one weight class to fill the hole. Brian Foote, Rick Bowers and Barry Bowers were the lone winners for the Wildcats. Mark Koch failed to make weight and Winside also forfeited at 185.

Three Champions

Winside Places Fifth

Although Winside's wrestlers placed only fifth in the North-Bend Invitational wrestling tournament, Saturday, the Wildcats

Who Is That Masked Man?

NO, THIS masked man isn't Super Destroyer of "all-star rasslin'" fame. Behind the protective mask is Winside's Tom Willis as he decides Osmond's Jim Aschoff 8-5. Willis injured his nose earlier in the season.

had three individual champions, more than any other team.

Mark Koch at 105 pounds, Brian Foote at 119 and Rick Bowers at 126 all finished the tournament undefeated by winning gold medals.

Koch won a 10-9 come-from-behind decision over Scott Hansen of Valley to win his title. He trailed 8-1 at one point. Foote pinned Dean Bloom of North Bend in 5:07 to place first and Bowers decisively Roy Linfeld of Elkhorn 7-4 to win his gold.

Barry Bowers placed fourth in the 155 pound class, losing to Rathke of Wisner-Pilger 6-4 in the consolation finals and heavyweight Brad Janke finished fourth in the tourney, losing to Willie Ryan of Blair by a pin in the consolation finals.

"A lot of people will look at our team's finish and think we did badly but we had more champions than any other team. Four of the teams were in Class B and two were tough Class C teams. It was a darn good tournament," said Winside coach Doug Reeves. "Some of the schools were four deep at each weight class while we have 11 kids left on the team. We didn't do too badly considering that."

Reeves said that his team could have scored four more points in the team race if Koch and Foote would have wrestled instead of receiving byes in the first round. "We didn't do very well at three or four weights. We need to work on our mistakes," he stated. Then he commended newcomer Curt Rhode for a "real fine job" in the tournament.

Winside will take to the mats Saturday in the Logan View tournament at Hooper.

Team results:

Elkhorn	152 1/2
North Bend	151 1/2
Milford	127
Valley	121
Winside	116
Weeping Water	111
Wisner-Pilger	109
Blair Reserves	47

Hawkins Top Newcomer

The Wayne State College football squad has voted freshman middle guard Steve Hawkins "Newcomer of the Year" according to Wildcat head football coach Del Stollenberg.

Hawkins moved into the Wildcat starting line up three games into the season and started every game after that. The 5-11, 190-pounder led the Wildcats in total tackles in 1979 with 95. He finished the season with 51 solo tackles, 44 assists, a fumble recovery, a batted pass, five quarterback sacks and a tackle for a safety.

Stollenberg indicated that Hawkins' achievements in 1979 were a pleasant surprise for the Wildcats who finished with an overall 4-5-1 record.

"Steve did an exceptional job throughout the year which is evidenced by being the leading tackler from the nose position in our defense," Stollenberg said. "A lot of times our nose man has to wait and make a couple of reads before he can go after someone, especially in passing situations. A lot of people don't realize what Steve did this year."

Winside Wrestler Of The Week

BRIAN FOOTE

Brian Foote
Junior co-captain
119 pound class

Brian won the 119-pound class division at the North Bend Invitational Saturday to win his second gold medal of the season. He received a bye in the first round, then won a 10-0 decision in the second round and won by a pin in the finals. A victory against Osmond upped his record to 7-0.

Coach Doug Reeves' comments: "Brian is starting to wrestle much more aggressively. He's using his head instead of trying to muscle his opponents. We always knew he had the strength, now he's using his head and working on his moves. He hasn't had to worry about weight this year and that helps. I'm sure his biggest goal on his mind is to stay undefeated and if he continues to wrestle to his potential he can do it."

WSC Idle On Holiday Break

Wayne State's Wildcat basketball team is 3-2 heading into the Christmas break. The Wildcats are currently riding a two-game winning streak having defeated Missouri Western 65-58 and Briar Cliff 81-72. The men return to action Jan. 7 against Doane College in Crete.

The Lady Wildcats are now 4-6 and have dropped four straight games. The women return to action Jan. 4 in the WSC Holiday Tournament. The tourney will feature four high school boys' teams, four high school girls' teams and four college women's teams. In addition to WSC, other colleges participating will be: Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill.; College of St. Mary, Omaha; and Briar Cliff.

The WSC wrestlers are 1-2 in dual action thus far in 1979-80. The grapplers return to action Jan. 15 at Northwest Missouri State in dual competition. The swim team owns a 1-2 dual record and Ralph Barclay's squad returns to action Jan. 11 in a triangular meet with Buena Vista and Concordia.

Wayne State Ladies Ousted At Midland

Wayne State's Lady Wildcats blew a 37-30 halftime lead and lost to Nebraska Wesleyan 77-65 in the first round of the Midland Lutheran College Pre-Christmas Tournament last Friday in Fremont. Northeast Missouri State University downed the Lady Cats in the consolation game 59-54 Saturday.

The Plainswomen from Nebraska Wesleyan rallied in the second half behind the shooting of Pam Samuelson and Sherri Storz. Samuelson and Storz each had 21 points in the game. Wayne State was paced by Lisa Draper with 14 points.

In the consolation contest the lead changed hands several times before WSC and Northeast Missouri settled for a 26-26 halftime tie. The Bulldogs, however, scored the first four points of the second half and never trailed after that.

Trailing 56-48 with 4:01 left WSC staged a furious rally behind the play of freshman guard Lisa Draper. Draper dumped in six points and fed Deb Emanuel for a layup to give WSC eight straight talties and a 56-56 tie with 2:03 remaining. Northeast Missouri got the winning basket with 30 seconds left and when WSC was assessed a lane violation on a one and one free throw opportunity with 12 seconds remaining, the win was secured for the Lady Bulldogs.

Auction Saturday

New, used and antique items will be auctioned off in Allen this Saturday at 2 p.m. to raise funds for the new Senior Citizens Center.

A spokesman for the Allen Senior Citizens Board said the auction is being held to correspond with Santa's visit to the Allen community at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

The auction will be held on Main Street. Persons who have items to contribute to the sale may contact JoAnn Rahn or Paul Koester. Items may be left at the Koester building on Main St. prior to the auction Saturday.

Christmas Vacation
Classes at the Allen Public School will dismiss at the regular time Friday for Christmas vacation.

Classes will resume at the regular time Jan. 2.

Christmas Program Set At Dixon Public School

Students of the Dixon Public School will present a Christmas program tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m. at the school.

Youngsters in grades kindergarten through seven will participate in the program, under the direction of Mrs. Lorraine Taylor and Mrs. Betty Dahlquist.

Following the program, there will be refreshments and a visit from Santa.

School will dismiss for Christmas vacation on Dec. 21 at 1 p.m. Classes will resume Jan. 2.

Sunshine Club
Mrs. Oliver Noe entertained the Sunshine Club Dec. 12. Ten members were present.

Games and a gift exchange furnished afternoon entertainment. Mrs. Alvin Stingley received the door prize.

"God Save the King" was played nonstop 16 or 17 times by a German military band at a Brandenburg, Germany, railroad station in 1909. Why? Because visiting English King Edward VII was inside the train struggling to get into his German field-marshal uniform before he could emerge.

The Jan. 16 meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Clarence McCav.

Over 50 Club
The Dixon-Concord Over 50 Club met Friday for a Christmas dinner and party at Ron's Steakhouse in Carroll. There were 22 present.

The afternoon was spent playing cards and bingo. Oliver Noe received the traveling prize.

The next meeting will be Jan. 11 at 1 p.m. at St. Anne's Parish Hall in Dixon.

The Dixon County Fair Board appreciation dinner was held Sunday evening at the Northeast Station near Concord. About 70 persons attended.

Mrs. Jack Hintz and daughters attended the Tangeman family dinner at Maskell Lutheran Church Sunday.

The Roy Ankenys, Sioux City, were Dec. 9 dinner guests in the Russell Ankeny home. The Wally Bulls, Debbie and Kristie, were evening guests. Mrs. Harry Gries, Norfolk, spent Monday with her parents.

Mrs. Ray Crawford, Waldorf, Md., and Mary Hickey, Norfolk, were Dec. 9-10 guests in the Laurence Fox home.

Mrs. Robert Freeman, Jason and Melissa, arrived Dec. 9 from Germantown, Md., and are spending some time in the Norman Jensen home. Mr. Freeman will join them in a few weeks and the family will make their home in Omaha.

The Paul Borgs were Sunday dinner guests in the Larry Witt home for Cory's fourth birthday. The Sterling Borgs and other relatives joined them in the evening.

The Don Oxleys were Saturday evening guests of the Wayne Lunds at a Sioux City restaurant to observe Mrs. Oxley's birthday.

The Duane Prescotts and sons, Stromborgs, spent the weekend in the Allen Prescott home. On Sunday they all visited Mrs. Matilda Anderson at the Our Lady of Lourdes Hospital in Norfolk.

Mrs. Rich Kraemer is a surgical patient at the Pender Community Hospital.

The Bob McNews and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lorenzen, Ft. Calhoun, Mrs. Alvin Anderson and the Jim Linnis had dinner Sunday at a Wayne cafe and were afternoon guests in the Dave Graverhoff home.

Mrs. Paul Thomas and Elsie Patton took Mary Grady to the Omaha airport Friday. Mrs. Grady returned to her home in Burbank, Calif., after visiting her father, Tony Mills. En route home, Mrs. Patton and Mrs. Thomas visited Mrs. Patton's sister, Mrs. Leon Tount, at the Missouri Valley Hospital. On Saturday, Mrs. Patton visited the Delmar Wackers of Pella, Iowa in the Gerhard Wacker home, Winside.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Fox were Sunday dinner guests in the home of Elsie Patton. Mrs. Gerhard Wacker and Mrs. Delmar Wacker were afternoon guests.

'Hands-On' Experience

Roger Walker, Wayne State College senior, will complete his student teaching duties at Southeast Community College's Milford Campus this month.

In addition to the four-year degree from Wayne State, Walker will bring to his vocational teaching position, the practical skills obtained from a two-year associate degree program in Building Construction Technology at Northeastern Nebraska Technical College at Norfolk, completed in 1977.

So, along with the technical teaching skills gained at Milford Campus, under program chairman Larry Kness' direction, Walker will be prepared for any vocational teaching responsibility he may encounter, at both the secondary and postsecondary level.

The first half of his student teaching duties were completed at Milford High School under the supervision of Dwayne Brettman. At Milford Campus, in addition to his classroom duties, construction of the second phase of Pioneer Hall on campus provided excellent "hands on" instructional responsibilities for Walker also.

A 1975 graduate of Winside High School, Walker identifies his home as Hoskins, where his mother still resides.

New Rules Help People Qualify For SSI Money

New rules now in effect should make it easier for people to qualify for supplemental security income (SSI) payments than in the past, Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk said recently.

SSI makes payments to people 65 and over, or disabled, or blind, with limited income and resources.

The new rules: increase the allowed value of a car; change the way the value of resources is figured to take account of any money owed; permit more household goods to be owned.

Before, a car valued at $1,200 or less did not count as a resource. Now, a car valued at $4,500 or less will not count at all. Any excess value counts as a resource.

In the past, all resources were figured at their fair market value and any money owed was not taken into account. Now, money owed on a resource will be deducted when the value is figured, except for a car.

Before, household goods and personal property valued at $1,500 or less did not count. Now, the limit has been raised to $2,000. Any excess value counts as a resource.

The new rules did not change the basic requirements for SSI payments, Branch said: As before, an individual can get SSI only if he or she has resources that count valued at $1,500 or less. The limit for a couple is $2,250.

More information about SSI can be obtained at the Norfolk social security office, located at 1310 Norfolk avenue. The telephone number is 1-800-642-8310.

Carroll Woman's Club Has Christmas Meeting

Carroll Woman's Club met Dec. 13 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church with 19 members and a guest, Mrs. Mary Anderson of West Point.

Mrs. Robert I. Jones led group singing of Christmas carols, accompanied by Mrs. Marian Jordan. The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Lynn Roberts. Mrs. John Swanson read the secretary's report and Mrs. Merlin Kenny gave the treasurer's report.

Members held a gift exchange and packed 25 Christmas boxes with goodies for shut-ins and the golden age of the Carroll community.

Mrs. Irven Wittler was in charge of "grab bag" and conducted a contest. Mrs. Merlin Kenny received the prize. Mrs. Wittler read two poems, entitled "I Know Something Good About You" and "Little Bird," followed with a cooperative lunch.

Women in charge of the Christmas boxes were Mrs. Ruth Jones, Mrs. Mary Roberts and Mrs. Enos Williams.

Next meeting will be a soup and sandwich luncheon at 1 p.m. Jan. 15 at the Lutheran Church fellowship hall. Hostesses will be Mrs. Lem Jones, Mrs. Esther Batten, Mrs. Arnold Junck and Mrs. Lynn Roberts.

Senior Citizens

Senior Citizens of the Carroll community met recently and made and filled 65 nut cups, which were delivered to the Park View Haven in Coleridge for use at the Christmas dinner.

The nut cups were delivered by Mrs. Kenneth Eddie, director of the Carroll Senior Citizens, and were won by Mrs. Emil Hank and Mrs. Irene Harmer.

Mrs. Anna Hansen. The women visited Mrs. Anna Paulsen of Carroll, who resides at the Manor, and presented her with a Christmas box.

Senior Citizens also made Christmas boxes for William Swanson and Mrs. Jessie Shufeldt of Carroll, residents of the Wayne Care Centre, and a lap robe for Mrs. Agnes Duffy, who has been ill.

Senior Citizens are planning a Christmas party Friday, Dec. 21. The group also will observe the 102nd birthday of Mrs. C.H. Morris of Carroll.

Senior Citizens met for painting last Friday and for crafts on Thursday. Bingo winners Tuesday, Dec. 11, were Mrs. Anna Hansen, Mrs. Irene Harmer and Mrs. Ruby Duncan.

Senior Citizens met Monday, Dec. 10, to play cards. Prizes

Birthday Supper
Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Eddie hosted a supper out Dec. 10 to honor the birthday of Henry Harmeier of Los Angeles, Calif. Other guests were the Perry Johnsons of Carroll and the Don Harmeler's of Winslow. The evening was spent in the Eddie home.

In New Home
The Jim Fredricksens, Jamie, Chris and Nicole, moved recently into their new home in Carroll. The family had been living in a trailer home.

Stack Burns
Carroll Volunteer Firemen answered a call to the Melvin Jenkins farm three miles south and three and a half miles west of Carroll Dec. 12 about 4 p.m. Jenkins were hauling hay and it is believed a spark from the tractor ignited a hay stack in the field. The fire was contained to one stack.

Nut Tree Seed Still Available

The Nebraska Nut Growers Association (NNGA) still has nut tree seed packets available, according to Dennis Adams, extension forester in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

"People may have been misled by a statement in the program brochure which said seed packets would be shipped during November for fall planting or winter stratifications," Adams said. "The nut seed packets can be ordered now and will be shipped until the supply is exhausted." Fall planting may be impractical now, but the seeds can be stored or stratified over winter and planted next spring, he added.

The nut growers are sponsoring the Nut and Fruit Tree Seed Program to encourage and promote interest in nut and small fruit bearing plants in rural and urban Nebraska, Adams continued. Cooperating agencies include the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, Nebraska State and Extension Forestry, IANR Horticulture Department, and the Nebraska Statewide Arboretum System.

Seed packets sell for $5. The price includes packaging, sales tax and shipment by parcel post. Each packet contains about 30 seeds. Species available include black cherry, chokecherry, Chinese chestnut, shagbark hickory, pecan, butternut, buffaloberry, sand cherry, heartnut, American chestnut and white oak.

Distribution is limited to one seed packet per individual. Adams explained. Applications will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis until the supply of packets is exhausted.

To help prospective nut tree growers, a "how to" pamphlet is included with each seed packet. It explains how to grow trees and shrubs from seed, including an explanation of fall planting, cold storage stratification, and spring planting, the forester said.

For additional information and application forms, contact your local county extension, Soil Conservation Service or Natural Resources District office or write directly to the Nebraska Nut Growers Association, Box 2815, Lincoln, Neb., 68502.

Fuel Alcohol Production May Have World Effect

Increased emphasis on fuel alcohol production is raising questions about its impact on the world fuel supply and U.S. fuel tanks.

The growing controversy over the process of producing alcohol from feed grains has prompted two Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources agricultural engineers to draft a report on the prospects for ethanol production and use.

According to Allen R. Rider, extension engineer headquartered in Lincoln and David P. Shelton, extension engineer at the Northeast Station, Concord, proponents say ethanol production decreases U.S. dependence on imported oil and provides a stable market for surplus agricultural products.

"Opponents contend production and conversion of agricultural crops into ethanol requires more fossil fuel than is replaced and that agricultural prices would increase dramatically, raising the price of fuel," they said. According to the engineers, Nebraska farmers considering building ethanol plants are concerned with the future of alcohol production and support in the form of state and federal government subsidies.

Nebraska burns about 1 billion gallons of gasoline and more than 150 million gallons of diesel fuel annually. To replace these fuels with ethanol would require nearly one half of the state's yearly production of grain, potatoes, sugar beets, hay, crop residues and wood, plus half the whey and urban solid organic waste, Shelton said.

This estimate assumes that energy from coal, electricity, crop residues and solar energy would be used for ethanol plants and would not require gasoline or diesel fuel.

"Nationally, the substitution of ethanol from agricultural products for gasoline and diesel fuel offers even less potential,"

Shelton said. To provide ethanol for a 10 percent ethanol-90 percent mix, he said, more than 3.8 billion bushels of grain would be needed annually.

"A nationwide plan of providing sufficient ethanol for a 10 percent blend with gasoline would annually require a quantity of grain roughly equivalent to five years of Nebraska's corn production," Shelton said.

Considering current world food demands, he said, committing these levels of agricultural crops to ethanol production is impractical. "The sources of fuel to operate ethanol plants without requiring significant consumption of gasoline and diesel fuel are not readily available.

"Collection and transportation of crop residues and mining and transportation of coal for widespread ethanol production will require significant energy."

Though the alcohol production process is not new, Shelton said, "the future of fuel ethanol depends on technological improvements to reduce process energy demands.

"A fuel ethanol program also would be enhanced with genetically produced crops that produce high yields of fermentable sugars."

He said these new crops would alleviate some of the criticism from persons concerned with the world food supply.

In addition, Department of Energy research indicates that cereal grains cannot compete with crops that produce high levels of sugar, such as sugar cane and sugar beets.

"The long-term future of fuel ethanol production from cereal grains appears bleak," according to Shelton and the DOE.

"As the nation becomes more dependent on agriculture for both food and energy, the high quality cereal grains will be used primarily for human and livestock consumption and high energy

Use of Ethanol Not New

The use of ethanol as a fuel is not new.

Henry Ford designed the Model T to burn alcohol as well as gasoline. Ethanol occasionally fueled engines during the Depression. And in World War II, GI's reportedly used cognac to stretch their supplies of gasoline.

But for the first time in the United States, feed grains are being considered for the manufacture of ethanol for fuel.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has placed emphasis and incentives on crop residues for ethanol production. This was done to reduce the impact on corn and sugar commodities, used for food and feed.

Proposed national legislation would require a five percent ethanol blend in all fuels by 1985 and 10 percent by 1990.

According to Dr. Glen Vollmar, head of ag economics in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, legislative proposals are for a 1985 blend which would require about two billion bushels of corn and the 1990 about 4 billion.

Because about two-fifths of this corn would be recovered in high protein supplement, Vollmar said, the next requirement would be 1.2 billion bushels in 1985 and 2.4 billion in 1990.

USDA opposes use of large amounts of corn for ethanol production, he said, because it would have major food and feed cost impacts. Rather, USDA proposes a one percent blend by 1982 with larger commitments considered beyond that time.

"It is difficult to quantify the impact of directing relatively large amounts of corn out of the usual channels of usage into alcohol production because we haven't had past experience with such a change," Vollmar said.

But, he said, "A 10 percent reduction in the corn supply will result in a 20 percent increase in the price per bushel if other supply-demand factors do not change.

"Using this example, $2 per bushel corn would increase to about $2.40 a bushel," he explained.

Corn for ethanol estimates vary on a national basis, he said, and predicting the price impact of on-farm production would be a guess. He said national estimates vary, depending upon the optimism or pessimism of the prognosticator regarding the future of ethanol as a fuel.

A 1977 study, which assumed that 500 million bushels of corn would be used to produce ethanol, indicated a 30 to 35 percent per bushel increase in the price of corn and a 13 cent per gallon increase in the cost of ethanol.

This study reported that the price of soybeans would decrease, Vollmar said, since a byproduct of ethanol production is distillers grain, a high protein livestock feed supplement.

A one percent increase in the protein feedstuff supply would cause about a two percent decrease in the price of soybeans, Vollmar said.

If another four to five million tons of distillers grain were added to the protein supplement supply, soybean prices would decrease dramatically, he predicted. He estimated the price decrease at about 50 to 75 cents per bushel or more to the producer.

A shift in corn use in the ethanol industry would have important impacts on the livestock industry as well, he said.

"Corn prices would be higher and protein sources lower," he said. Cattle and dairy producers would probably shift to higher roughage rations. And swine and poultry farmers would be faced with greater costs if higher corn costs exceeded decreased protein supplement prices.

If corn prices increase and soybeans decrease, Vollmar predicted farms would plant more corn, at least in the short run.

But, he noted, "other factors such as higher energy costs or in-rigation water restraints might still favor soybean production over corn production on some farms." He said a shift from soybeans to corn would increase the total farm energy requirement for crop production.

Also, "higher corn production could push corn into land that is marginal for row crop production on some farms. This would result in land and water conservation problems," he said.

Increased ethanol production also would have an effect on the costs of meat and other food items, he continued.

A 250 million gallon production level would have little effect, Vollmar said, but the 2 billion bushel goal discussed for 1985 could have a substantial impact.

"There is international concern in regard to using food crops and feedstuffs for energy," he said.

World feed and food demands are projected to increase in the years ahead, he said. "If this need closes the gap between the United States' overcapacity to produce and world demand and if food needs are met first, a declining amount of grain will be available for ethanol production."

Starlings Cause Feedlot Problem

Starlings never have been a favorite backyard bird and they're not winning any popularity contests these days in feedlots and other confined livestock operations. Ron J. Johnson, extension wildlife specialist in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, says the birds can be a real problem for the livestock producer.

Starlings may also carry diseases between feedlots. This is of special concern to swine farrowing operators, Johnson said.

"Starlings flying from one swine facility to another is one way that TGE (transmissible gastroenteritis) or baby pig disease might be transmitted." Last winter, TGE was severe in Gage and surrounding counties and resulted in losses of more than 10,000 young pigs in Gage County alone. Researchers in other states have isolated the TGE virus in digestive tracts of starlings, he added.

In addition to problems in livestock operations, starlings are a real nuisance when they roost near homes. From late summer through winter, the birds roost together in large numbers and the odor, droppings and other filth can be very unpleasant, Johnson explained. And during the nesting season, starlings compete with native North American hole-nesting birds for next places. Birds such as flickers, bluebirds, woodpeckers and purple martins are often driven away from nest cavities by starlings.

Because starlings aren't native to our country, they're not a natural part of the ecosystem here, Johnson said. Starlings came to America in the 1890s when a fellow who wanted to introduce into the U.S. all the birds mentioned in Shakespeare's works released them in New York. Since that time, they have spread from coast to coast and have caused a lot of problems all the way across, Johnson said. Starlings do eat some insects, including grubs in home lawns, but the damage problem they cause far outweighs any good they do, he added.

The best control for starlings is to build them out where possible. Close all holes or openings in buildings to prevent entry, Johnson advised. Frightening the birds may work well when a roost is in an undesirable location. But if the roost isn't causing a problem where it is, it's better not to frighten the birds since they might move to a more troublesome location, he said.

In livestock confinement situations where starlings are a problem, a pelleted bait called Starlicide Complete can be used, Johnson said, adding that it is effective and safe when used according to directions. Pre-baiting should be done by first placing a non-toxic pellet that looks like Starlicide Complete in feeding areas, he advised. "Starlings get used to eating the non-toxic pre-bait pellets and then accept the Starlicide Complete pellets much more readily." It's important to follow label directions carefully, Johnson emphasized.

Exports Set Five-Week Record

American grain exports have set a new five-week volume record, proving that the country's grain elevators can move huge amounts of grain safely, a U.S. Department of Agriculture spokesman said.

Leland E. Bartlett, administrator of the department's Federal Grain Inspection Service, said from the week ending Oct. 18 through the week ending Nov. 15, more than 100 million bushels of grain were exported each week.

"This was the first time on record weekly grain exports exceeded 100 million bushels for five weeks in a row," Bartlett said. "Each week also was a substantial increase over the corresponding week for last year, and we also set a new record of 119,051,000 bushels exported in a single week."

The exact export figures in bushels for the period are:

Week ending	1978	1977
Nov. 15	89,304,000	115,272,000
Nov. 8	76,757,000	119,051,000
Nov. 1	87,001,000	106,735,000
Oct. 25	91,480,000	107,851,000
Oct. 18	82,353,000	110,102,000

Bartlett said these export figures show that U.S. elevators are not being unduly hampered by the new requirements that all export grain be officially inspected and weighed before it is shipped to foreign buyers.

"We are pleased to have been a part of this record, and we are especially pleased that these records are being set in an atmosphere of improved safety."

Beef Producers Will Vote on Plan

Beef producers will vote early in 1980 on whether they want a nationally coordinated beef research and information program.

The upcoming referendum was announced recently by Assistant Secretary of Agriculture P.R. Smith. He said beef producers will be asked to register for the referendum between Jan. 28 and Feb. 6.

The order issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture authorizing the program provides for a beef board of up to 68 producers to administer the program. There would be as many as five non-voting consumer advisors to the board.

Each state or geographic area would be represented on the board in proportion to its share of the U.S. cattle industry.

The program would be funded by assessments based on the value of cattle sold. During the first two years of the program, assessments could be up to two-tenths of one percent of the value of cattle sold (20 cents per $100). After two years, the board could recommend an increase up to five-tenths of one percent.

All sellers in the marketing chain would be assessed. The buyer at the point of slaughter would deduct the total assessment and forward it to the board. Any producer could request and receive a refund of the assessment paid.

Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of the department's Agricultural and Conservation Service, said his agency will conduct the referendum. The department's Agricultural Marketing Service would monitor the program.

Rules for registering and voting in referendums have changed, noted Fitzgerald. He said the department determined that 10 days (8 working days) would be sufficient for all producers to register and that the four-day voting period would result in a more efficient voting procedure and reduce administrative costs.

A similar order, issued in 1977, although favored by 56.4 percent of voting producers, did not receive the required two-thirds approval. Since that time, the Beef Research and Information Act has been amended by Congress so that a majority of producers will be sufficient for approval of the order.

Following the change in legislation, beef industry organizations proposed a new order. A public hearing has been held in five locations. Based on the hearing testimony, the department issued a recommended decision and order in September.

Comments were accepted for 45 days and were considered in developing the order announced today.

Producers may register and vote at local ASCS offices. Registration and voting can be completed by mail if information and ballots are requested in advance.

The order and notice of referendum is scheduled for publication in the Federal Register Dec. 14.

Copies of the order can be obtained from the Livestock, Poultry, Grain and Seed Division, AMS, Room 2610-S, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Referendum rules can be obtained from local ASCS offices or from the Emergency and Indemnity Programs Division.

Hefner Seeks Re-Election to State Senate

State Sen. Elroy Hefner of Coleridge announced that he will seek re-election in 1980 for the 19th Legislative District seat.

Hefner, 56, was elected to his first term in the Nebraska Unicameral in 1976. He served as vice chairman of the Revenue Committee the past three years and has served on the Agriculture Revision and Recreation Committee.

Hefner said, "I will continue to fight and strive for less government instead of more here in the state of Nebraska. People are tired of being over-regulated by excessive and unnecessary legislation."

Hefner was active in local politics before he began serving in the Legislature. He was a member of the Coleridge Village Board and was mayor for two terms. He also was a member of the Coleridge board of education. He is a World War II Navy veteran and a member of the American Legion and VFW.

Hefner is an agri-businessman and is part owner of the Hefner Oil and Feed Company, retailing petroleum products, feed and fertilizer.

Hefner and his wife, the former Carol Williams of Coleridge, are members of the Lutheran Church. They have three children.

The 19th Legislative District includes all of Knox and Cedar counties and parts of Pierce and Wayne counties.

Producers may register and vote at local ASCS offices. Registration and voting can be completed by mail if information and ballots are requested in advance.

The order and notice of referendum is scheduled for publication in the Federal Register Dec. 14.

Copies of the order can be obtained from the Livestock, Poultry, Grain and Seed Division, AMS, Room 2610-S, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Referendum rules can be obtained from local ASCS offices or from the Emergency and Indemnity Programs Division.

'Important' Vote Made In House, Says Bereuter

Congressman Doug Bereuter called House action taken this week to repeal carryover basis tax provisions "the single most important vote by the House this year on behalf of agriculture and small business."

By a 326-77 margin, the House voted to instruct House conferees on windfall profits tax legislation to support a Senate amendment to repeal the carryover basis tax provisions of the Tax Reform Act of 1976.

The carryover basis tax provisions, set to go into effect Jan. 1, would levy steep capital gains and estate taxes on those who inherit property.

Speaking on the House floor, Bereuter said carryover basis taxes would have a "devastating impact on rural America and small business."

"In many instances, heirs would find themselves in a 'Catch 22' situation of being forced to sell assets to meet higher estate taxes, only then to be hit with higher capital gains taxes on what was sold," Bereuter said.

Under the new tax provisions, heirs would have to pay capital gains taxes on inherited assets, based on the value of property when the deceased originally purchased it or at December, 1976, prices, if purchased prior to that date.

"Taxes may be so high and paperwork so thick that family farms and small businesses may be all but confiscated. The continuation of family farms and small businesses by the next generation would be placed in jeopardy by this burdensome, unreasonable tax.

"No responsible Congress could let this happen. The family farm and small business help form the moral and economic backbone of this nation," Bereuter said.

"Today's action gives the House conferees clear instructions to keep intact the Senate amendment to repeal the carryover basis provisions."

House-Sen conferees on the windfall profits tax bill are expected to meet for the first time later this week.

"The first bill I co-sponsored after taking office was a bill (H.R. 13) to repeal the carryover basis provisions. Despite the fact that the bill has drawn bipartisan support from 177 Congressmen, it has been stalled in the House Ways and Means Committee. We therefore have been forced to take this circuitous route — amending the windfall profits tax bill — to repeal the carryover basis tax."

18-108 OF THE MUNICIPAL CODE PERTAINING TO THE RENEWAL OF LIQUOR LICENSES

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CHAIRMAN AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE VILLAGE OF ALLEN, NEBRASKA:

Section 1. That Chapter 18, Article 1, Section 108 of the Municipal Code of Allen, Nebraska, be amended to read as follows:

ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES; LIQUOR LICENSE RENEWAL. Retail liquor licenses issued by the Commission and outstanding may be automatically renewed in the absence of a request by the Governing Body to require the said licensee to issue an application for renewal. The Municipal Clerk, upon notice from the Commission before the expiration of the license, shall then file with the Commission proof of publication of said notice on or before February tenth (10th) of each year or August tenth (10th) of each year, shall cause to be published in a legal newspaper in, or of general circulation in the Municipality, one (1) time, a notice in the form prescribed by law of the right of automatic renewal of each retail liquor and beer license within the Municipality; Provided, Class C license renewal notices shall be published between the dates of each year. The Municipal Clerk shall then file with the Commission proof of publication of said notice on or before February tenth (10th) of each year or August tenth (10th) of each year for class C licenses. In the event that written protests are filed by three (3) or more residents of the Municipality against said license renewal, the Municipal Clerk shall deliver the protest to the Governing Body who shall thereupon proceed to notify the Commission that they are to require the said licensee to submit an application. (Reg. 53-123, 53-123.01, R.S. Neb.)

Section 2. That the original Section 10-108 and Section 10-108.1 of the Municipal Code be amended to read as follows:

Passed and approved this 3rd day of December, 1979.

Kurt Johnson, Chairman

Motion was made by Thompson and seconded by Burt to approve the claims and warrants were ordered drawn.

Roll call: yes — Burt, Thompson, Jacobson, Jackson, Nay — none. Motion carried.

It was decided by the Board, that the money from the sale of the M tractor be placed in the Fire and Library funds to help these funds financially. It was also decided by the Board to allow the firemen to purchase and have installed two new doors for the firehall.

Trustee Thompson introduced an ordinance entitled: AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION 10-108 OF THE MUNICIPAL CODE PERTAINING TO THE RENEWAL OF LIQUOR LICENSES. Said ordinance was fully and distinctly read. Trustee Burt moved that the statutory rule requiring ordinances to be fully and distinctly read on three different days be dispensed with, which motion was duly seconded by Trustee Jacobson and the yeas and nays being called on the passage of said motion: The following trustees voted "Yes" — Burt, Jacobson, Thompson, Jackson, Nay — none. The motion to suspend the statutory rule having been concurred in by three-fourths of all members elected to the Board of Trustees was by the Chairman declared passed and adopted. Thereupon said Ordinance No. 208 was read by title a second time and then read at large and put upon final passage. The Chairman stated that the question is: "Shall said Ordinance No. 208 be passed and adopted?" The yeas and nays were called and the following trustees voted "Yes" — Burt, Jacobson, Thompson, Jackson, Nay — none. The passage and adoption of said ordinance having been concurred by a majority of all members elected to the Board of Trustees was by the Chairman declared passed and adopted and the Chairman in the presence of the Board of Trustees signed and approved said ordinance and the Clerk attested the passage and approval of the same and affixed her signature and the seal of the Village thereto. It was moved by Trustee be preserved and kept in a separate and distinct volume known as "Ordinance Record, Village of Winside, Nebraska" and that said separate and distinct volume be incorporated in and made a part of these proceedings, the same as though it were spread at large herein. The Chairman instructed the Clerk to call the roll. The Clerk called the roll and on roll call the following was the vote on this motion, Yes — Burt, Thompson, Jacobson, Jackson, Nay — none. Motion declared carried.

Thompson and seconded by Trustee Jacobson that the minutes of the proceedings of the Chairman and Board of Trustees of the Village of Winside, Nebraska in the matter of passing and approving Ordinance No. 208

A discussion was held concerning the use of the auditorium on weekends to play basketball. The decision was to allow people to use the auditorium if enough interest was shown.

It has been brought to the attention of the Board that there are some sidewalks not being cleared. The Clerk was instructed to inquire several parties with the Code regarding such sidewalks and ask their cooperation in clearing them. The Clerk was also instructed to send new residents in the village copies of the ordinances the Board felt they should be aware of.

Correspondence was read and discussed. Motion was made by Burt and seconded by Thompson to adjourn at 9:35 p.m. Roll call: Yes — Burt, Thompson, Jacobson, Jackson, Nay — none. Motion carried.

The Board of Trustees of the Village of Winside, Nebraska will meet in regular session at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, January 7, 1980 at the Village clerk's office, which meeting will be open to the public. An agenda for such meeting, kept continuously current, is available for public inspection at the office of the Village clerk of said Village.

Nebraskans Favor Water Regulation for Agriculture

An overwhelming large proportion of Nebraskans favor regulation of water for agricultural use but there are some differences of opinion as to who should do the regulating.

This was the conclusion drawn by the Bureau of Sociological Research from responses of 900 Nebraskans surveyed last spring in the Nebraska Annual Social Indicators Survey (NASIS).

The NASIS Report released recently, co-authored by Professors Susan Welch and Gordon Kissel of the UNL Political Science Department, was the second report dealing with attitudes of Nebraskans toward water use and regulation. The latest report deals specifically with attitudes toward agricultural use.

The first report, released two weeks ago, found that most Nebraskans believe that we have a shortage of water now or will within the next 20 years, favor regulations of water for business and household use, and favor government controls or standards for water use rather than higher prices or taxation.

When it comes to agricultural use, the NASIS survey reveals that two-thirds of Nebraskans favor some kind of regulation of water. Less than a quarter oppose regulation and the rest are undecided.

While most people would appear to favor regulation, there is less consensus on who should do the regulating. More than 60 percent favor either Natural Resource Districts or local government. Slightly less than 20 percent believe the regulation should be done by the individual irrigator and about the same percent said the state should do the regulating. Only two percent favored federal regulation.

If there is to be regulation, those who oppose it in the first place said they would prefer it to

WPD Tells November Statistics

Wayne Police Department received 128 complaints and/or requests for service during November compared with 146 for the same-month a year ago.

Criminal complaints for November numbered 17 compared with 14 a year ago; criminal cases cleared or unfounded were eight compared to three a year ago; and criminal arrests were five for November compared with none a year ago.

In addition, there were 11 traffic accidents investigated on public streets, compared to 16 a year ago.

WPD made 22 arrests for speeding, five for theft, five for expired inspection stickers, five for traffic signal violations, four for consuming alcohol on a public way, three for no valid registration, two for failure to dispose of a parking ticket within 15 days, two for assault, one for operating a vehicle without lights, one for leaving the scene of an accident and one for stop sign violation.

These arrests total $490 in fines, two jail sentences, one case dismissed, one case resulting in a not guilty verdict; one case not filed and 14 to be heard.

There were 141 parking tickets issued, four parking warnings issued, 60 traffic warnings issued, four miscellaneous warnings (no lid on garbage cans and unlicensed vehicle on property) and seven violation cards issued.

WPD cruisers were driven a total of 3,349 miles during November compared with 4,650 a year ago, and used 410.4 gallons of gasoline this November compared to 624.8 a year ago.

"Talk sense to a fool, and he calls you foolish," Euripides be by individual irrigators (32 percent) followed by Natural Resource Districts (26 percent) and local government (24 percent).

Farmers are the ones who most favor self-regulation according to the NASIS researchers, while rural non-farmers are most likely to favor local government regulation. Larger communities, such as Lincoln and Omaha, favor regulation by Natural Resource Districts first and local governments second.

Residents of the Southwest and South Central regions of the state are almost twice as likely to favor individual regulation than are Nebraskans in other parts of the state, while people in the north and the Panhandle are more likely to favor local government regulation.

The NASIS survey also probed the attitudes of Nebraskans toward various types of regulatory activity and found that a vast majority of Nebraskans favor limiting the number of irrigation wells in a given area. A similar two-thirds of the sample also favors limiting the amount of water drawn from a well each year. A majority of Nebraskans, however, oppose simply stopping the drilling of new wells in water-short areas, and approximately two-thirds of Nebraskans oppose taxing water from wells or streams.

Nebraskans surveyed were also asked if they favored transbasin diversion as a possible partial solution to our water problems. Most respondents, 77 percent, had never heard of the procedure, which would transport water from one river basin to another where water is in short supply. Of those who had heard of it, only 29 percent favored it and 39 percent were opposed.

Researchers Welch and Kissel concluded that "it would appear that in the area of water use, the public is out in front of its elected officials in not only being aware that a problem exists, but being willing to do something about it."

"Some opposition to water regulation will always exist, especially on the part of those being regulated, but our data would seem to show that a reservoir of support for regulation of this scarce resource does exist," they said.

Army Adds Enlistment Incentives

The Department of the Army will soon add two incentive programs to its available enlistment options.

Beginning Dec. 4, qualified high school graduates can enlist for two years as well as for the conventional three or four-year Army enlistments. In addition, individuals enlisting for two, three or four years will be eligible for $2,000, $4,000 or $6,000 educational bonuses, respectively.

The educational bonuses also are limited to high school graduates and are contingent upon membership in the Veterans Educational Assistance Program (VEAP).

The VEAP is an Army-matching, two-for-one savings program. A new recruit who saves between $50 and $75 monthly during his enlistment and earmarks these savings for college will have the Army contribute double the amount he has saved for college.

For example, a recruit saves a maximum of $75 monthly for three years during his four-year enlistment, totaling $2,700. The Army matches it with an additional $5,400. The Army then adds the incentive of $6,000 giving the veteran a total of $14,000 for college.

The new programs, together with existing Army cash bonuses of up to $3,000 for training in certain critical skill areas, make it possible for a soldier to earn up to $17,000 in cash and educational bonuses.

Full details of the program will be available through local Army Recruiters.

Peoples Safety Record Honored

Peoples Natural Gas has received the National Fleet Safety Award in recognition of their vehicle safety record.

Co-sponsored by the American Gas Association (AGA) and the National Safety Council, the honor goes to companies which have maintained low motor vehicle accident rates per million miles driven.

The award was presented at the AGA's recent annual meeting and cited Peoples as the leader among 30 very large-sized natural gas distribution companies, with more than five million miles driven annually. Peoples' accident rate of 5.12 per million miles driven was under the 12.03 average rate for comparable companies.

In the past, Peoples has placed among the top five companies in vehicle safety — including first place in 1969 and second in 1974, according to Keith Mostey, district manager for Peoples in Wayne. He said the company emphasizes high safety performance standards, including training programs, vehicles and personal employee safety.

Peoples Natural Gas, a division of Northern Natural Gas, provides retail natural gas service to over 276,000 customers in 319 communities.

EMT Training

An emergency medical technician ambulance refresher course will be held at the Allen Fire Hall from 7 to 10 p.m. for 10 weeks beginning Wednesday, Jan. 30.

The 30-hour EMT-A course is for rescue squad personnel and will end April 2. Course instructor will be Miron Jenness, EMT, of Wayne. Tuition is $24 and will be paid by the Nebraska Department of Health for persons who hold certificates of competency from the Department of Health.

All others will pay their own fee. Maximum enrollment is limited to 25 persons. Registration will be at the first session.

It is sponsored by the Nebraska Department of Health, Division of Emergency Health-Medical Services and Northeast Technical Community College.

An EMT-A 81 hour course for rescue squad personnel will be held at the Ponca Fire Hall from 7 to 10 p.m., Tuesday, Jan. 8.

Classes will be held every Tuesday for 24 weeks, ending June 17. Tuition cost will be $58 and instructor will be Lyle DeFord, EMT, Bloomfield. Tuition will be paid for persons who will be active rescue squad members on a licensed rescue service.

Textbook charges will be $18.97 purchased by the student. Maximum enrollment is limited to 25 persons, with registration taken at the first session.

Pretoria for Eggs, Coffee in Mexico; Steak in Tokyo?

By Joy Aschenbach
National Geographic News Service

On the first Tuesday of every other month, U.S. agricultural attaches in 17 world capitals go grocery shopping.

Whether they are in Paris, Rome, Tokyo or Buenos Aires, they put the same 21 items on their official shopping lists and head for supermarkets and small food stores. They are looking for everything from sirloin and sugar to pork chops and potatoes—but unlike the average housewife, they don't actually buy anything.

They walk up and down the aisles with their lists, jotting down and checking out prices. Then they cable their grocery bills to the Department of Agriculture, one of the agencies that keeps us up to date on how much it is costing to fill our stomachs.

Pretoria for eggs

A pound of steak, for example, was selling for a high of $13.83 in Tokyo (most recent figures) on the same day it was going for a low of $1.55 a pound in Brasilia. A dozen eggs cost $1.08 in Stockholm and only 68 cents in Pretoria, South Africa. And a pound of ground roast coffee was quoted at $9.77 in Canberra, Australia, and $1.66 in Mexico City.

In this decade, the attaches have reported that worldwide food prices have risen steadily. Here at home, the '70s was the worst decade for increases in the retail food price index since the World War II years, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The Agricultural Department, which has been collecting world food prices bi-monthly since 1973, says that the cost of each item is based on the average price from three representative food stores in each capital city, including Washington, D.C.

"This is an informational survey designed to satisfy people's appetites for continuing food price information," a department spokesman explained. "It is not a scientific study."

Among the world capitals recently surveyed, Tokyo and Stockholm ranked as the most expensive per mouthful, and Brasilia and Mexico City among the least costly.

The food figures for the Consumer Price Index in the United States are tabulated monthly, comparing prices in 85 areas of the country, including 28 large metropolitan areas. Data collectors check the prices in chain stores and small markets three times a month.

Topped by war years

The food price index increased an average of 7.7 percent in the 1970s, topped only by the war years in the 1940s and the years 1913 to 1920, when it climbed an average of more than 8 percent, a spokesman for the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

The biggest bite in food budgets in the '70s occurred when the index jumped more than 10 percent in a single year—in 1973 and 1974, and again from mid-June, 1978, through this year, all periods of inflation. The 13 percent rise in the index earlier this year was the largest 12-month percentage change since 1974.

From April, 1973, until January, 1975, the food price index increased by more than 10 percent over the previous year in every month but one, reaching highs of more than 20 percent.

CALORIC EXPENDITURES

Scientists at the Human Nutrition Center, U.S. Department of Agriculture, state that when you engage in strenuous activity such as running, swimming or playing tennis, you can burn up 105 calories in about 20 minutes. That's the number of calories in two tablespoons of peanuts.

It would take you more than an hour, however, to burn those 150 calories if you were sitting, relaxed in front of a television set.

Such estimates are based on the amount of energy, expressed as calories, required by the body to perform different activities. Even at rest or sleeping, your body needs calories just to keep functioning.

You need additional calories for all physical activities. The amount you need depends on the type of activity and how hard and long you work at it.

Actual caloric expenditures will vary considerably within a range, for each individual. The low end of the range is probably a fair estimate for small persons — small frame and low weight — while the upper end is probably more accurate for large persons — big frame and heavy weight.

Men usually require more calories per pound of weight than women, partly because they have more muscular bodies.

The term "caloric costs" refers to approximate numbers of calories used to perform various activities ranging from sedentary to strenuous.

Calorie costs range from 80 to 100 calories per hour while a person is performing sedentary activities such as reading, writing, watching TV, or sewing or typing.

— from 100 to 160 per hour for light activities such as walking slowly, ironing or doing dishes;

— from 170 to 240 an hour for moderate activities such as walking fairly fast or playing table tennis;

— from 250 to 350 an hour for vigorous activities such as walking fast or gardening;

— from 350 or more an hour for strenuous activities, such as swimming, playing tennis or football, running, dancing or skiing.

You can plan your caloric expenditures according to your activity levels, using a food calorie chart to compare activities to caloric intake.

Many experts say it's wiser to increase your activity rather than to reduce calories drastically. Some people need to both increase activity and decrease calories.

Before you make any radical changes, however, check with your physician about the level of exercise best for you.
