Trial Summary

(Editor's Note: This is the second and last of two articles summarizing the recent murder trial of Michael Leroy Ross, 24, Sergeant Bluff, Iowa.)

The first article covered testimony involving the first day of testimony, Monday, Dec. 10, at the Wayne County Courthouse. This one covers the second day, attorney's summations and jury deliberation.)

The pathologist who examined Karen Sunderman, the shooting victim, was first to testify Tuesday, Dec. 11.

A staff member of St. Luke's Medical Center in Sioux City, Dr. John Scott said Karen had died of severe disruption to the liver and hemorrhaging of the chest. The bullet had entered just above her umbilicus (belly button) and exited in the upper left chest.

KELLY PILGER, a neighbor to the Elm Motel and a friend to both Ross and Sunderman, was the second to testify Tuesday.

Pilger, like Mrs. Daniels, the motel's owner, said she had seen Ross and Sunderman together frequently and knew of their love for one another. In addition, she testified she knew Karen had been seen with other men.

AT ONE POINT during the County Fair (July 26-29), Kelly said she asked Karen (in the presence of Ross) if Ross knew she was seeing other men. Pilger said Ross' only reaction was a frown, but no indication of anger or jealousy.

Under questioning from Albracht, the defense attorney, Pilger said she had been given no indication that Karen's conduct was in any way promiscuous, dirty or unvirtuous, in Albracht's words.

IT WAS TRUE, Pilger said, that Karen had other men friends besides Ross. Albracht termed this type of relationship healthy.

Pilger also testified she had seen Sunderman seated next to two men other than Ross and that Karen had been seen in the company of another man after Ross and Sunderman had exchanged rings.

Darin Daniels, son of the motel owner, was next to testify.

He corroborated Pilger's testimony in that he was unaware of any serious problems between Ross and Sunderman. He had not heard any angry voices or any inflections in voices prior to the shooting that would connote anger of anything out of the ordinary.

DANIELS SAID he and Ross had gone target shooting on occasion, a few times in the presence of Sunderman. On one instance, Daniels said he asked Ross to unload the pistol which he did.

Deputy Sheriff Scotty Thompson was next.

Thompson reviewed his involvement in the investigation of the shooting. This included taking a written statement from Ross about 2:00 p.m. Aug. 9, less than an hour after the shooting.

THOMPSON SAID it took about 20 minutes to write the statement which Ross then signed. The deputy said Ross told him he was "just looking around" with the gun when he aimed it at her and pulled the trigger. "I didn't realize that where were any bullets in the gun," Ross said in the statement. "We had not been fighting or anything and I was not mad at Karen." Ross had said in the statement.

BOB MAVIS, a special investigator with the Nebraska Highway Patrol, testified after Thompson.

HE, TOO, was involved in the investigation which included taking a statement from Ross. During the interview with Ross, Mavis said he had taken a variety of notes which attorney Albracht then entered into evidence.

Albracht pointed out to the jury that the notes did not contain any mention of Ross pulling back the hammer, as the other officials said.

THEMS HE included were of a minor nature such as Ross' background, his hometown, etc. Albracht said it was peculiar that Mavis had neglected to write down such an important matter such as if Ross had pulled back the hammer.

Mavis was the final prosecution witness to testify. The state rested its case about 1:15 p.m. Tuesday.

The defense's turn
Defense attorney Albracht called his first witness, Tom Staley, Sergeant Bluff, Iowa. Staley told the jury that he was a next door neighbor and former teacher and coach of Ross.

ROSS' GENERAL reputation was good, he said under questioning, and he had never known Ross to be involved with violence or any type of misbehavior.

Questioning of Staley by Bornhoff, prosecuting attorney, revealed he (Staley) had seen Ross only two or three times in the last few years.

The next witness was Ross himself.

ALBRACHT explained that because Ross did not project his voice well, he (Albracht) would move adjacent to the jury box so Ross was facing the jurors.

Ross reviewed his life story for the jury which included military and police school training, one day of qualification on a .45 caliber pistol and training on an M-16 rifle.

AFTER AN honorable discharge in August of 1978, Ross said he "went looking for a job as a cop." He found work as a part-time cop in Kinsley, Iowa, and in May of 1979 came to Wayne.

Ross testified he met Karen shortly after moving here, and they developed a relationship which involved into exchanging rings.

ALBRACHT ASKED him to relate events of the fateful day, and Ross explained his and Karen's plan to go to Stanton, check on a horse and then go target shooting.

Karen came to his apartment about 1 p.m. and the pair talked for about 20 minutes. Ross went to the closet to get his gun and testified that "as I was turning around, the gun accidentally went off and it hit her."

He had not used the gun for several weeks and had failed to examine it when he removed it from the closet, he said.

"IT WENT OFF immediately," he testified, "as I was taking it around. I didn't have time to look and see if it was loaded."

He then broke open the gun "because I couldn't believe it was loaded," he said. He emptied the gun and put it back in the case.

Ross said he called 911 emergency and then began down the stairs to get Mrs. Daniels. She was on her way up after hearing the gun shot. They both returned to Karen's side to comfort her until the ambulance arrived, he said.

ROSS SAID HE and Karen had never had any serious arguments and were, in fact, discussing marriage.

Prosecuting attorney Bornhoff began his cross examination by asking Ross if he would be offended if Karen had sex next to someone else such as those persons identified as her other male friends.

"No, not really," he said.

HE ALSO SAID he was unable to remember if he had been taught not to point a gun, loaded or unloaded, at anyone. He said he didn't recall receiving that kind of gun safety instruction from Lamb.

Ross admitted it was not smart to point a gun, loaded or unloaded, at a person unless he wanted to shoot that person.

IN A SURPRISE move, Bornhoff introduced notes written by Ross to Sunderman indicating the pair had been angry at one another on a couple of days before the shooting. In part, the note said: "Why are you made at me? If you see me on the street, let's talk. I love you, Mike."

Under further questioning, he told Bornhoff he didn't know if he had pulled back the hammer on the gun, and didn't know if he told Fairchild or Mavis or Thompson he had aimed or pointed the gun at her.

"I WAS CONFUSED at the time and didn't know," he told the jurors.

Under further questioning by Albracht, Ross read other notes that were introduced by Bornhoff. These consisted of Wayne Police Department warning tickets with notes scribbled on them. One said "I love you, Karen, Mike." And another read "Meet me at Elm Motel at 7:30 or a little later. Have to talk to you."

ROSS TOLD Albracht that the notes were a true reflection of his feelings toward Karen. He had not intended to hurt her and was still in love with her at the time of the shooting.

"You were using these official warning tickets as a means of a joke?" Bornhoff asked Ross. "Yes, I was using this as a way to communicate."

Ross was dismissed from the witness stand about 3:50 p.m. Tuesday. Called to testify then as character witnesses were Ross' father, Norman, and mother, Marina.

Deputy Thompson was recalled to the stand next.

THOMPSON SAID he had seen Fairchild taking notes at the kitchen table while interviewing Ross. Fairchild, Albracht noted, said earlier he had not been taking notes.

Further questioning revealed that Thompson had been taking pictures elsewhere in the apartment when Ross was interviewed and was unsure if Fairchild had taken any notes at all.

That concluded the defense's witnesses except for Donna M. Doeschler, Wayne, who testified briefly early Wednesday morning. Nothing new or of interest was entered at that time.

Santa Brings Good News, Good Cheer

Up by the stairway, click, click, click.
For a Yuletide visit, came old St. Nick.
But what to the Council's ears and eyes.
Did the jolly old fellow bring a surprise.
'Twas his annual report he gave, Thursday night,
And the Council was amused at his site.
He brought them, good news and hope and praise,
Saying 'Good Work' in a number of ways.
He filled his work a Progress Report,
And then out the door he went with a snort.
Mayor Marsh asked Santa to return next year,
And a bigger report he wanted to hear.

1979 Progress Report
Wayne, Neb.
by
S. Claus

Your town has certainly shown remarkable progress this year. I've been watching, you know.

You've all been doing a good job and I just wanted to stop by to tell you City Fathers so

I see you've got a new restaurant and two new fast food outlets—very important to us who are on the go. I also noticed that Ben Franklin, State National Bank and the Chamber of Commerce have updated their store fronts to help out your downtown improvements. And First National Bank even opened up a new branch.

NOT TO MENTION THE Keith Jech Agency, Phelps Insurance, Dale Stollenberg Realty, T & C Electronics and a renovated Wayne Book Store. And how 'bout Bill's GW expansion? Further east the Thies Brudigan International Harvester building is being constructed to help serve your area farmers even better. Not to mention the countless interior improvements being made by a lot of other businesses in your community.

I do hope that as City Fathers you're taking a personal interest in all those people and projects. They're all making a tremendous investment in your community. Why, you've even started an enclosed mall downtown. You're really the envy of all the towns around, I believe.

A lot of visitors to your community who many of you never get to meet are mighty impressed with your progress and I must say I am too!

My elves tell me you have completed a comprehensive plan new for 1979. That's very commendable and useful for a growing town. And the Chamber of Commerce has updated its Industrial Facts Booklet. Good for them!

AND, OH SAY—JUST LOOK at all the new housing you people have underway! New developments in all parts of town and even more chimneys to keep track of. Oh, my. To take care of all those new homes, I've gotten wind of plans for a lagoon expansion that will ensure your plans for future growth for years to come. Good for you—you folks think of everything.

And what's this? I see a change of address this Christmas for a young new doctor. Seems he moved here in July. Many kudos to you folks for working to bring people like him here. It may just be a coincidence, but your hospital patient load has significantly improved since he's started practice up here.

AND YOUR NEW INDUSTRY and business have brought an impressive number of other young couples to your community, too. I'm sure many will do their best to make a contribution to what is certainly a mighty fine town.

Mrs. Claus was watching Channel 7 last month and tells me that Wayne was on TV. She says that you folks have a new home grown industry by the name of Valley Engine! And that they bought that big building over on the east side of town. I'm glad to see it put to good use. We later heard from folks in Omaha, Lincoln, Columbus and Iowa who were suitably impressed with the show and town. Even the mayor wasn't bad. Imagine a whole town getting together to elect a write in candidate. Santa can't imagine a better sign of confidence or support for a man.

WELL, THAT'S PRETTY much my report. I've still got to get some new addresses for a few places in town. Doug Bereuter (Congressman) opened up a new district office in Wayne. I hear, and the bakery has reopened, too, and I can't find them in the phone book!

Oh, say My hat goes off to your phone company for digging up half the county to install those new private lines to all the farms. And Cablevision is offering satellite stations on what I hear to be greatly improved transmission lines.

AND I ALMOST SNAGGED my sleigh on that new tall tower west of town. That new radio station owner out there better leave an extra carrot for Rudolph. Guess you'll be reading about it in the papers soon—The Wayne Herald even did some improving this year with new typesetting equipment.

There's so many good things to talk about in this town—I can't imagine anyone wasting time being negative. Making the most of the best and the least of the worst is what it's all about, isn't it?

Merry Christmas to you, Wayne.

Keeping Kids Happy

SANTA CLAUS made his first visit of the Christmas season when he arrived by airplane at Wayne's Municipal Airport Sunday, Dec. 9. These youngsters were among those fortunate enough to sit on St. Nick's lap for a moment before Santa made his rounds through Wayne. His visit was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Ross' Attorney Seeking New Trial in Shooting

The attorney for Michael L. Ross, found guilty Dec. 12 of manslaughter in the shooting death of Karen Sunderman, has filed a motion for new trial.

S. J. (SY) ALBRACHT, Omaha, filed the motion Thursday in Wayne County District Court by mail. Albracht was Ross' attorney during the three-day ordeal Dec. 10-12.

The following reasons were listed by Albracht for seeking a new trial:

1.—FOR THE REASON that the court erred in failing to dismiss the complaint against the defendant (Ross) at the conclusion of the state's case in chief, or the alternative, in failing to direct the jury to return a verdict of not guilty.

2.—For the reason that the court erred in failing to sustain the defendant's motion for direct verdict at the conclusion of the state's case in chief and again at the end of the defendant's case in chief.

3.—For the reason that the evidence is not sufficient to sustain a verdict of guilty.

4.—For the reason that the state failed to prove either the commission of a crime and each and every element of the crime beyond a reasonable doubt.

5.—For the reason that the court erred in instructing the jury, and in particular in giving the instruction regarding the definition of reckless, and in failing to instruct on such definition in accordance with the Reissue of the Statutes of the State of Nebraska, as requested by the defendant.

6.—For the reason that the court erred in submitting the offense of murder in the first degree and murder in the second degree when the state had failed to produce any evidence or testimony of such offense.

7.—For the reason of misconduct of jurors.

Ross is scheduled to be sentenced on the manslaughter verdict by Judge Merrif C. Warren at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 2.

Council Votes Electric Rate Hike

Shaking their proverbial fists at that demon inflation, the City Council Thursday night approved a resolution implementing a 19 percent increase in electrical rates effective Jan. 1.

COUNCIL MEMBERS indicated the action was not much of a Christmas present to residents. The decision came on the heels of a 22.32 percent increase in the wholesale cost of electricity to the city announced recently by Nebraska Public Power District.
City Administrator Darrell Brewington said Friday morning the increase will result in the average electrical user in Wayne paying about 3.99 more per month.

PRIOR TO the decision, Brewington related the findings of an electric retail rate analysis completed recently by DeWitt, Grant Recker & Associates of Rock Rapids, Iowa.

Purpose of the study was to determine the retail rate requirement for the city as of Jan. 1 due to increased wholesale power costs from NPPD and due to increased costs of operating the municipal electric system—inflation.

AFTER A thorough study, the engineering firm concluded that revenue under the existing rate structure will be insufficient to maintain a proper financial condition for the electric municipal utility. As a result, it listed numerous conclusions and recommendations as follows:

Its first suggestion was that the city institute a rate increase of 19 percent Jan. 1. That action was taken by the Council.
It also recommended, and the Council is considering, another rate increase of about 19 percent as of Aug. 1 of next year.

OTHER suggestions were to establish a more formalized procedure for reporting kilowatt hours lost through line loss; to re-evaluate all unmetered loads and all loads presently estimated for accounting purposes; and to re-evaluate the present demand rate.

City Administrator Brewington said the last three points are relatively minor and will not be given as high a priority as the rate increase.

AS A RESULT of the NPPD wholesale rate hike, the city will have to pay an additional $15,622 just for January. For that month alone, the city will pay NPPD $81,058 rather than $65,436 under the old rate structure.

The same general percentage of increase applies for each month of next year, Brewington noted. The city will be paying about $15,000 more each month during 1980.

THE CITY Administrator pointed out that, like everyone else, NPPD's costs are going up. They are having to pay about twice as much for coal this year than two years ago, and the cost of diesel fuel has more than tripled over the years.

The city will be faced with about $700,000 in bond notes due in 1981, and the additional revenue generated by the rate increase will provide much of this, Brewington explained.

ON A BRIGHTER note, the rates paid by Wayne residents are about 12 percent less than retail rates charged to NPPD's retail customers. This is because of an agreement between the city and NPPD which leases the local electrical plant's capacity to NPPD.

If Wayne were to rely totally on the local electrical generating plant for power, rates would be far, far higher than those paid by

Corrections, Corrections

Gordon Nuerenberger was elected to the Wayne Golf Course board of directors recently, not Gordon Nedergaard as reported last week.

In a City Council story recently, the award of contract for renovation of the sanitary sewer system was incorrectly should have been Bruce Gilmore & Associates, not DeWild, Grant Reckert & Associates.

The Courthouse windows are not on the north side of the Courthouse as reported, but are on the west side.

Jury foreman Merton Hilton did not read the verdict in the Ross murder trial. It was read by District Court Clerk Joann Ostrander.

The jury deliberated only 8 1/2 hours, not nine days as reported, before reaching the manslaughter conclusion. That one was a typo.

*Twas one of those weeks, folks.

Ross Trial Summary

After the defense called its additional witness, both lawyers gave their closing arguments. Attorney Bornhoff began first and spoke for 27 minutes. Albracht was next and was limited to the same number of minutes. The prosecuting attorney was given a few additional minutes for rebuttal.

BORNHOFF ASKED the jury to consider what he felt was the most important question: did the shooting happen as an accident? Noting Ross had considerable experience in the U.S. Army's Military Police, and as a civilian policeman, the prosecuting attorney asked the jurors: Is this the kind of fellow that would make a mistake?

DEFENSE attorney Albracht told the jurors during his closing statement that Ross' confusion on the stand was normal under the circumstances.

Bornhoff also reminded the jurors of previous testimony from law enforcement officials regarding Ross' statement shortly after the shooting. Ross had told investigator Mavis that he had pulled back the hammer on the gun. This is something you do consciously, deliberately, Bornhoff said.

The jury was reminded that Ross had told both Deputy Sheriff Thompson and Police Chief Fairchild that he had aimed the gun at Sunderman and pulled the trigger.

ROSS HAD said under oath he had not had any quarrels with Sunderman, Bornhoff reminded the jury. But evidence entered during the trial showed they had a fight the day before the shooting.

Bornhoff also told the jurors Wednesday that "although his statement said he was playing with the gun, his testimony under oath was that it discharged while he was turning around."

ON THE OTHER hand, as Albracht maintained during his closing remarks, Ross' statement was given shortly after he had shot the girl he was planning to marry. This was a difficult time for Ross, Albracht said.

Do you think you could tell a story accurately after your husband or wife or family had just been killed?" he asked. "Don't hold this man responsible for the manner in which he conducted himself in the interview."

After the summations, Judge Warren gave the jurors a list of 18 instructions covering their responsibilities. They entered into deliberation shortly before noon Wednesday, Dec. 12, and returned to the Courtroom about 8:30 that night.

DISTRICT COURT Clerk Joann Ostrander read the verdict as Ross was seated between the defense and prosecuting attorneys.

JUDGE WARREN then explained the sentence that manslaughter carries: from 1 to 20 years in the state penitentiary and a fine of $25,000 or both. He ordered a pre-sentence investigation before the Jan. 2 sentencing date.

In the latest development, Albracht filed a motion for a new trial. See story elsewhere on this page.

(That concludes the three days of jury selection, the trial, the attorneys' summations and the deliberation. With Ross' attorney filing the new trial motion, there will be more of the murder trial to come.)

other NPPD retail users, Brewington explained.

"It's just a cost we're going to have to meet," he told the Council.

PROBABLY THE highlight of the evening was a surprise visit by old St. Nicholas himself, Santa Claus.

Santa broke into the meeting just prior to discussion on the electrical rate increase and provided his usual Christmas salutations. In addition, he provided Council members with a progress report for the past year.

See story elsewhere on this page for the complete report.

In other action, the Council approved the final plan for Marywood Subdivision. Developed by Pat Gross, the area will be located east of Tara Ridge Subdivision on the east edge of town.

In a related move, the Council approved an ordinance which annexes the area into the city and designates Bruce Gilmore & Associates as engineers for the project. Gilmore also will act as inspectors for work involving extension of the sanitary sewer to the area.

TWO RESOLUTIONS designating the First National Bank of Wayne and State National Bank as depositories for the city also were approved.

The Council instructed the city attorney to draw up a resolution rectifying a problem involving a street improvement assessment fee. Wall Moller had been assessed for five feet he did not own.

All members were present except Carolyn Filler and all actions were unanimous.

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

THE Dixon County Board of Supervisors and Lewis and Clark NRD were presented with the Marc Cox Agriculture Conservation program Community Conservation Award recently. The award is presented by the Sioux City Chamber of Commerce and Sioux City Journal.

THE students of District 9 rural school five miles south of Wisner were featured on "Prime Time Sunday," the national television magazine show, Sunday night, Dec. 23. NBC devoted about 15-20 minutes of the program to one-room schools and their future.

STATE Senator Erroy Hafner of Coleridge has announced that he will seek re-election in 1980 for the 19th Legislative District seat. Hafner, 56, was elected to his first term in the Nebraska Unicameral in 1976. He served as vice chairman of the Revenue Committee the past three years and has served on the Agriculture Committee and Constitution Revision and Recreation Committee.

PLANS have been completed for a building project in Pierce that could do much to alleviate the housing shortage. Gary Christensen, local Realtor, announced last week plans for a development of Town Homes to be located between Lucas and Fifth Streets and north of Highway 13. Present plans call for ultimate construction of 16 one-story, two-bedroom homes with work to begin early next spring on the first series.

A fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Heggemeyer of Madison resulted in the hospitalization of the couple and extensive fire, smoke and water damage to the contents of the house. Firemen were called to the Heggemeyer home at 10:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 16. Mrs. Heggemeyer was able to make her way to a neighbor to call for help.

THE highest award given to a volunteer by the Boy Scouts of America was presented to a Pilsger man recently. Tom Lambert was awarded the Silver Beaver Award at ceremonies during a Recognition dinner at Peony Park in Omaha Nov. 29. The award is given for distinguished service to boyhood.

Organized Labor Finds Another Solution to Our Unemployment

Organized labor has dusted off another of its hand-me-down solutions for the nation's unemployment—the 35-hour workweek.

Unfortunately, neither the labor unions nor a handful of congressmen who support the idea apparently bothered to consult American workers, who pretty much establish their own working patterns.

If they had done so, they would have found Americans are already working shorter workweeks on the average, by choice. Many simply prefer part-time jobs.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce, citing official government data, reports that while the number of full-time workers increased by 29.6 percent from 1963 to 1977, the number of part-time workers grew by 91 percent.

This is explained, in part, by working mothers. They prefer part-time work. On the average, according to the Department of Labor, they work 1.4 fewer hours each week for every child under 15 at home.

Still other workers prefer longer workweeks. That is why so many moonlight, or take a second or third job, and why others like working overtime at premium pay, especially if they are trying to buy their first house.

Under the House bill (H.R. 1784) introduced by Rep. John Conyers, Jr., (D-Mich), the workweek would be cut to 35 hours and double pay would replace time and a half as premium pay for overtime.

"The workweek has been shortening naturally in the fastest expanding part of our economy as a reflection of the changing demography of our country," says Dr. Richard S. Landry, deputy chief economist for the Chamber.

Spreading the work (jobs) by cutting workweeks is not as simple as its supporters believe. If the week is reduced, inflation must be taken into account. Workers will expect the same pay for roughly 12.5 percent less work. In the case of those now working 40 hours a week.

Moreover, unemployed workers would be exceedingly difficult to match up with the jobs that, in theory at least, would open up. Fully half the unemployed today are inexperienced or itinerant members of the work force.

"It is highly unlikely," says Dr. Landry, "that they could step into job openings that would be mainly in manufacturing where their skills would not match the job requirements. Moreover, a significant number are on temporary layoff waiting to be recalled to their present jobs."

If you believe the 40-hour, adopted by Congress in 1938, got us out of the 1930's recession, perhaps, then you may believe the 35-hour week would help solve today's unemployment. But don't bet on it. The fact is that in 1938 the average workweek for production workers, at 35.4 hours, was well below 40 hours, and the 40-hour-per-week limitation was completely superfluous.

MEET YOUR OTHER DEPENDENT

If you are wondering where your federal tax dollars are going—say, for example, how 50 percent of the federal budget is spent—the Chamber of Commerce of the United States has prepared a chart which should interest you.

Based on 1978 data, it shows one worker in the private sector is being taxed to support or help support one other person who receives a federal check under some government program.

There are 78.9 million persons working in the private sector, and 81,574,000 persons receiving government income payments of one kind or another, including some who receive more than one payment. The chart follows:

Federal civilian and military employees	4,887,000
State and local government employees	12,723,000
Federal civilian retirees	1,502,000
State and local government retirees	2,271,000
Military retirees	1,200,000
Railroad retirees	1,108,000
Veterans' benefits	4,911,000
Unemployment compensation benefits	2,359,000
Federal black lung benefits	440,000
General welfare benefits	790,000
Aid for Dependent Children	10,550,000
Social Security	34,587,000
Supplemental Social Security benefits	4,246,000
Total recipients of one or more government income payments	81,574,000

These are known as income transfer programs, a euphemism for income redistribution which is big business in the Nation's Capital. As noted on the table, however, these are not intended to be giveaway programs. People paying Social Security taxes today will share in future benefits. Just as people on Social Security today earned their benefits in the past.

Americans are quite generous in accepting responsibility for financing such programs, particularly those designed to help the less fortunate. The problem is to keep the costs of the programs within reasonable and affordable limits. Income transfer programs have been the fastest-growing part of the federal budget, rising sharply, for example, while defense spending has gradually declined.

In this connection it is well to remember that the top fifth of American taxpayers pay 71 percent of our federal income taxes. There is a limit on what they and other taxpayers can afford to pay in the massive income redistribution game politicians love to play.

A letter from Governor Charley Thone

Fugality Stretches Disaster Funds

"Frugality on the part of both the Nebraska legislature and the governor stretches the state's disaster funds and makes them go further.

The Nebraska unicameral has established a governor's emergency fund to help local governments in coping with natural disasters. Since the appropriation to this fund for the fiscal year that began July 1st is $300,000—or about 2 cents for each person in the state—it's obvious that this money can be used only for the most serious situations.

The state makes its disaster dollars go a long way by making them available to local governments only after they have strained their own financial resources.

The State won't help a city or village unless it has committed its own funds in contracted costs equal to the amount of money brought in by a 1/2 mill levy on the assessed valuation in the municipality. In the case of a county, the requirement is for expenditure equal to 1 mill.

The state's funds cannot be used unless the governor declares that a state of emergency does exist in a locality hit by flood, tornado, blizzard or other disaster. This declaration is made only after local civil defense officials have worked with the state civil defense office to determine the extent of the damage and the local ability to cope with the disaster.

"A local government might not obtain any of the state's disaster funds even after it declared that a state of emergency existed in that area. Sometimes the cost of recovery from a natural disaster isn't as expensive as first estimated. If the actual figures show that repairs can be made without exceeding the local minimum to trigger the aid, then no state funds are committed even though a state of emergency had been declared.

"Of course, when disasters occur that are beyond the scope of the annual appropriation to the governor's emergency fund, the state responds. When terrible snows brought the state to a halt early in 1979 and the spring brought flooding on the Platte, Blue and Elkhorn rivers, the legislature appropriated additional funds to meet needs beyond the financial abilities of the local governments. And when a calamity occurs such as the Omaha tornado, the federal government provides disaster funds.

"Even when a locality has serious problems, the state is tightfisted with its money. If the federal government had the same attitude, it could be debt-free like Nebraska, instead of being in hock for hundreds of billions of dollars of borrowed money."

Out of Old Nebraska

General John J. Pershing, commander of the American Expeditionary Force during World War I, was not a native Nebraskan but always considered the state his home. As a young military officer Pershing was assigned in 1890 to Fort Niobrara near Valentine. On August 11, 1891, he was appointed professor of military science and tactics at the University of Nebraska.

Following his return from France in 1919 after the close of World War I, he paid a holiday visit to his two sisters, Mae Pershing and Mrs. D.M. Butler, who still lived in the city. The Dec. 24, 1919, "Evening State Journal" (Lincoln), on file at the Nebraska State Historical Society, reports the hero's welcome given him by Lincolinites:

"The sidewalks along O Street to Sixteenth were banked with people while hundreds of the more impatient crowded into the ropes at the Burlington Station for a first hand view. To the shouts of greeting that came from all sides as his automobile passed through the streets, it was Pershing the general who responded. He sat erect. His salute was snappy. His short cropped hair bristled of the military. Even his smile upon his lips seemed almost to be measured by military rule. His immaculate uniform from shoe to cap spoke... of Pershing the general."

"These thousands along the downtown streets who thought they welcomed Pershing lost out on the finest picture. Pershing at the doorstep at 1745 R Street where his sisters, Mrs. D.M. Butler and Miss Mae Pershing live, was Pershing the neighbor and the citizen. He still wore the military uniform but the uniform was forgotten. Unmindful of the cold and the slippery walk and pavement, neighbors who came halting and coatless formed a great circle in front of the home and the straight military back curved and bent. The smile widened and both hands reached out in all directions. . . .

"General Pershing disregarded the ropes that were meant to separate him from the crowd and to give him a clear path from automobile to the porch. He plunged through the ropes and out into the snow. Those older friends and neighbors who were unable to fight their way to the general's side, were rewarded. The general came to them. He called them by name. He patted and he hugged the children of the neighborhood and it was with a degree of reluctance that he finally permitted himself to be ushered into the home. . . .

"I know more people and have more friends in Nebraska than in any other state. Four of the most valuable and interesting years of my life were spent at the state university as military instructor. I shall enjoy these ten days and hope to renew many old acquaintances," said the general when asked by newspapermen if he cared to make a statement.

"While neighbors and citizens exhibited pride in their general, probably the proudest one among them was Warren Pershing, ten year old son of the state's honored guest. Dressed in trim military uniform, Warren stood erect at one side of the door during the home reception. At the other side of the door stood a butler waiting to swing the door for the general's entrance. In addition to the friends and neighbors were a number of men who have seen military service. The general talked with Colonel J.H. McClay, Colonel Pratt and Colonel Frank Eger. General Pershing thanked the boy scouts for their excellent work (in holding back crowds) during the parade.

"General Pershing's sister, Mrs. D.M. Butler, was first to greet him at the station. Mayor (John E.) Miller, Governor (Samuel) McKelvie and others of the reception committee who met the general at the state line and escorted him to Lincoln were first to leave the car. The special car was at the rear of a very ordinary looking train. The rear platform of the special was even with the double reception line formed just south of the depot. Miss Mae Pershing and Warren Pershing were with the general.

"I'm glad to spend Christmas in Lincoln. It's fine to be back here again. . . .

"After greeting his sister, General Pershing made the rounds of the circle of men gathered about him. He shook hands with them all and his eyes lightened with pleasure when he was able to call some men by name and grasp a hand which he had grasped before. He was introduced to E.B. 'Jimmie' Chappell, commander-in-chief of the local order of the Loyal Legion. . . .

"As the general stepped from the train, the news flashed through the crowd like an electric charge. A mighty roar sounded and Pershing the general for a moment at least became Pershing the citizen. He lifted his cap and smiled. . . .

"When his eyes rested upon the uniform of the soldier, he once more became the general. His back stiffened and the salute which he offered was such a salute as only a general can give."

General Pershing's interest in Nebraska continued until his death. Many of his cherished trophies and souvenirs of service were turned over for preservation to the Nebraska State Historical Society. Pershing was inducted into the Nebraska Hall of Fame in the State Capitol in 1963-64. — Pat Gaster, Editorial Assistant Nebraska State Historical Society.

Santa Claus left an impression with the City Council Thursday night.

He has a way of being able to keep track of everything that goes on in Wayne, and he had a long, long list of accomplishments for last year.

Santa made a good point when he told the group "making the most of the best and the least of the worst is what it's all about."

That Santa has all kinds of things up his sleeve.

He praised the Council for its insight in helping attract new industry and helping local businesses expand or build.

"You've all been doing a good job and I just wanted to stop by to tell you 'City Fathers so,'" he said.

This year has been the worst of times for the area and the best of times. Yet in the end it's the positive things that prevail.

The area appears to be escaping the so-called recession affecting most metropolitan areas. Why? This is an agricultural area and, with a few exceptions, this has been a bumper year for crops.

Santa noted the many, many new businesses here in 1979. It has been quite an accomplishment for a small community to expand as it has with interest rates soaring, materials and labor rising, etc.

Gov. Robert Ray in Iowa used to (and probably still does) compliment Iowans for their perseverance in the face of adversity. Well, the same can be said for Nebraskans. I've been impressed with peoples' ability to face a challenge, move it aside and go on about life.

That attitude or ability to overcome life's little roadblocks apparently is a trait that has been nourished in the Midwest. So many of these basic American traditions, or ethics or morals or whatever have gone down the tubes long with American pride.

Santa, you've made us proud to be residents of Wayne. It is quite easy to criticize, yet always so difficult to praise. But, Santa, dear Santa, don't forget that for a system to be workable, it must have checks and balances. The media is one of those.

The community has its problems. No one will argue that. And turning our backs on those problems rather than working together to solve them can easily divide a community. What is needed is a total and well-guided effort. A little criticism for direction, perhaps, or a little kick in the fanny to get someone's attention.

There always will be those who refuse to help. The Chamber of Commerce has done a marvelous job, I understand, in bringing together local businesses and steering them in a straight line. In the past, apparently, there was some serious dissension among business people here, but the Chamber has pulled out the stops to build a coordinated and strong Chamber group.

We hope residents realize that a collective body such as the Chamber can accomplish much more than a few renegade merchants spouting irrationality. Support those who support you.

—And now on to one of my favorite subjects: Johnny "Catch Me If You Can" Rogers. Remember him, don't you. He's the Nebraska football hero that didn't let crime get in his way to football stardom and owning a gas station.

This is the athletic example of the decade (just ask the World Herald) who, between robbing gas stations and driving without a license, led the Huskers to a national championship in 1971.

He went on to bigger and better things in the Canadian Football League not because he couldn't be drafted into the American pro system but because he could get more money. A man of true character and direction.

He found the going a little tougher in our system, and ended up placed on waivers and the injured list. Someplace along in the chronology, he bought a gas station in California.

Wouldn't his Mother be proud? Going from a poor, hapless football player in Lincoln, Neb., having to rob gas stations to get by, to buying one with his millions because he was tired of waiting in line. Truly the American way, isn't it?

Well, now it seems he's running short on money. I think I'll sue the San Diego Chargers, he said to himself one day. I can blame them for neglecting my injury or mistreating my injury. I have to blame my failures on someone.

The great Johnny R. What an example he has been for those poor black children in Nebraska's blighted cities. What an athletic example he is.

I'm sure I speak for the rest of The Wayne Herald staff who aren't as fortunate as I am to be given space to babble on and on.

We wish you all a Merry Christmas and Happy Holidays. This is the season, you know, for good tidings and lots of good cheer.

Soybean Header To Help Cut Losses

Two researchers in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources in Lincoln have designed a new soybean header which should reduce harvest grain losses in the field.

J.D. Summers, assistant instructor, and M.A. Hanna, associate professor, both from the agricultural engineering department, presented their design at the winter meeting of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers in New Orleans recently.

The design uses conveyor belts for reducing lodged stalk and stubble loss, Summers said, and includes two types of belts — a positive drive belt and a wedge-grip belt.

He said the new units have an allowable vertical movement of 15 centimeters to accommodate soil surface contour and skid shoes are used to recover lodged stalks.

"When designing a gathering unit for soybeans, attention must be focused on reducing shatter, loose stalk, lodged stalk and stubble losses," Summers said.

Sickle frequency and knife pitch must also be considered when positive conveyance of the cut stalks induces loose stalk loss, he said. Lodged stalk loss results from the gathering unit not recovering a severely lodged crop, and stubble loss results from cutting above the lower nodes on the soybean plants. Shatter results from reel action on the standing plants.

After testing the new header, Summers said that no significant differences exist between it in shatter losses when compared to a floating cutterbar.

"However," Summers said, "the lodged stalk loss was 88.9 percent less for the new design than for the floating cutterbar."

Also, the new header showed a 15.3 percent reduction in loose stalk loss when compared to the floating cutterbar and the stubble loss was 100 percent less, Summers said.

He attributed the reduction in stubble loss to the independent acting cutterbars on the new header.

"Since the units on the new gathering unit are independent acting, the individual cutterbars were able to cut below the bottom plant nodes in all test samples," he said.

Summers said that when losses of the positive drive belt were compared with losses of the wedge-grip belt, the positive drive belt appeared better.

No significant differences existed when comparing the shatter losses of the two belts, but when considering the loose stalk loss, the positive drive belt had less loss.

"This reduction of loss can be attributed to the open channels of the positive drive belts compared to the diamond shaped grooves in the wedge-grip belt," Summers said.

Seek Entrants For 4-H Forum In Washington

Applications are now being taken by the State 4-H Department for participants in the 1980 National 4-H Leader Forum to be held in Washington, D.C., March 16-24, 1980.

National 4-H Leader Forum is an informative experience, providing 4-H leaders and their spouses an opportunity to spend five days in the nation's capital developing leadership skills, learning more about citizenship, getting acquainted with other 4-H leaders and sharing 4-H ideas and concerns.

The Leader Forum supplements 4-H leadership training at the county and state levels and is planned primarily for the experienced 4-H leader who wishes to know more about 4-H in other states and at the national level as well as for the leader who would be challenged and motivated by the new experience.

The Nebraska group will spend the weekend in New York City before returning to Nebraska.

The trip will cost approximately $510 for each person. Applications should be made through county extension offices, to be forwarded to the State 4-H Department by Jan. 1, 1980. A $10 deposit is required with each application.

Skucius said 20 scholarships of $100 each will be provided for 4-H leaders by the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben. Counties also may want to consider support from the county 4-H council, 4-H clubs and private donors.

Area Dairymen Are Recognized

Thirteen dairy operations have been recognized by the Nebraska State Dairymen's Association for producing an average of 600 pounds of butterfat or more a year.

The awards are being presented locally this year, departing from a long standing arrangement of recognizing top dairy producers and their herds at a state awards luncheon.

The Holstein herd owned by Carl Ossenkop and Sons of Lincoln again headed the list of those earning a place in the association's exclusive 600 Pound Club, starting in 1971 to recognize outstanding dairy herd production. The Ossenkop 27.29 cow herd produced 682 pounds of butterfat. Last year, the Ossenkop herd was tops with 677 pounds.

The club consisted exclusively of Holstein herds this year. Other dairymen whose Holstein herds earned 600-pound club recognition were: Charles Emanuel, North Bend, 639 pounds of butterfat produced; Kaups Elkhorn Dairy, Stuart, 633 pounds; Fred and Jan Epperle, Bennington, 627 pounds; Tom and Larry Connealy, Decatur, 626 pounds; Leo Knievel, West Point, 619 pounds; Robert E. Shutz, Fairbury, 614 pounds; Pfeiffer Dairy, Arlington, 613 pounds; Don Olson, Millard, 607 pounds; Shell Valley Dairy Farm, Platte Center, 606 pounds; Viview Farms, Inc., Hooper, 605 pounds; Daniel Drees, Daykin, 604 pounds; Father Flanagan, Boystown, 602 pounds.

Thirty-five herds, including the 13 members of the 600 Pound Club, received gold awards for producing 570 pounds of butterfat or more. Silver awards were given to 68 herds with averages of 529 to 569 pounds of butterfat, while bronze awards went to 107 herds averaging between 471 and 519 pounds of butterfat.

That compared to 43 gold, 81 silver and 89 bronze awards given a year ago. Holsteins dominated each of the three levels, capturing all but one of the gold awards, all but three of the silvers and all but 12 of the 107 bronze awards.

A complete list of award winners for 1978-79 and the pounds of butterfat produced by their herds follows. All herds are Holstein unless otherwise specified.

Those receiving silver awards were: Vernon Bauermeister, Wayne; Lawrence Sprouls, Wayne.

Those receiving bronze awards were: Jack Langemeler, Wayne; Wayne Lund, Laurel; Ronald Kille, Winside; Everett Janssen, Laurel; John R. Anderson, Wayne.

Future Role of Swine Additives of Interest

The future role and availability of feed additives that promote growth in swine is of high interest to swine producers because of continuing problems of drug residues in pork tissues.

This area of concern will be covered by an Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources swine nutrition researcher at the series of IANR sponsored Area Swine Days schedule in Nebraska in January. Dr. E.R. Peo, Jr., professor of animal science, will appear at all four Area Swine Day programs, slated at Laurel, Jan. 22; Waverly, Jan. 23; Davenport, Jan. 24 and North Platte, Jan. 25.

In preparing for his presentation at the swine day educational programs open to all producers, Dr. Peo had these comments on the problem facing swine raisers in their continued use of additives:

Feed additive growth promoters are classified into two broad groups — antibiotics (compounds produced by microorganisms which inhibit the growth of other microorganisms) and chemiobiotics (synthetic chemical compounds which inhibit the growth of microorganisms).

It is important to know the difference since the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has been concerned largely with the concept that microorganisms exposed to antibiotics used in animal feeds might develop resistance to the antibiotics and transfer that resistance to microorganisms infectious to man. Thus, antibiotics that are now used both for growth promotion in animal production and for treatment of infectious disease in man might eventually be ineffective for treating diseases of man.

It has been shown in the laboratory that transfer of resistance does occur but after 30 years of usage in animal feeds there is no concrete evidence, if any evidence at all, to indicate that the feeding of low levels of antibiotics to swine has resulted in antibiotic resistant disease microorganisms in man.

Chemiobiotics are used primarily in animal production although a few have common usage with both animals and man.

It does not appear at this point based on excellent research conducted at the Kentucky Experiment Station that transfer resistance from animal microorganisms to the infectious agents of man is of any consequence. It would seem that the reverse could also be true. However, animals still show about a 7 percent improvement in gains and feed efficiency which translates into about $200,000,000 of value to the swine industry even though antibiotics have been used in human medicine for 30-40 years.

One other critical question is of major concern to the swine industry and that is drug residue in pork tissue. Some people are allergic to antibiotics such as penicillin or the sulfas. The swine industry is working very hard to eliminate the drug residue problem. Withdrawal of drugs prior to slaughter according to the established guidelines will reduce the problem. However, some of the drug residue problems are not caused by failure of the swine producers to withdraw at proper intervals before slaughter but are caused by contaminated feeders, mixers, feed delivery equipment and feeding facilities.

All of us must work hard and diligently to reduce the residue problem to zero or as near zero as is practically possible.

Market Beef Weigh-in Set

More than 200 4-H market beefs are expected to be weighed at the Wayne Sale Barn Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., said Don C. Spitz, Wayne County Extension agent.

In addition to all cattle being weighed and ear tagged, each calf will be implanted to speed their growth. Weighing and tagging of 4-H market beef is an annual event, explained Mr. Spitz. The tags serve as identification and the weights are part of a county wide rate of gain contest which ends at County Fair time.

Farm Business Association Being Organized in County

A new organization to help farmers with the business side of farming is being organized in Wayne and some surrounding counties, announced Don C. Spitze, Wayne County Extension agent.

A Northeast Nebraska Farm Business Association is being organized. This non-profit organization will employ their own field man. The field man will set up the record, make periodic visits to the farm, recommend adjustments for tax planning, prepare analysis of records and comparisons with similar operations. Income tax preparation will be optional at extra cost. The Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service is assisting in establishing the Association.

Spitze said that he had experience with a similar farm business association in another area and participants reported to him that their joining a farm business association was a profitable decision.

A meeting to more fully explain the Northeast Nebraska Farm Business Association will be held at the USDA Service Center in Wayne on Monday, Jan. 7, at 1:30 p.m.—Gary Bredensteiner, fieldman for a similar organiza-

Ag Energy Alternatives Improvement Day Topic

"Agriculture Energy Alternatives for the '80s" will be one of the topics addressed during Crop Improvement Days Jan. 14-16 in North Platte.

Dr. Allan Rider, senior researcher for Sperry-New Holland, New Holland, Pa., will discuss potential alternative energy sources available to agricultural producers.

"Recent price increases and temporary shortages of crude petroleum products have caused farmers to search for alternative sources of energy," Rider said.

Formerly an extension agent in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, Rider's research centered on the use of ethanol as a means of stretching farm fuel supplies.

Rider is scheduled to discuss the potential use of ethanol, methane and biomass fuels during his address Jan. 14 at 2 p.m.

Crop Improvement Days is sponsored by the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association.

Commissioner District Elections Set

All registered voters in Commissioner District I will soon receive a ballot for election of two Wayne County Extension board members, announced Don C. Spitze, Wayne County Extension agent.

Candidates include Mrs. William Hansen, Mrs. Eldon Heinemann, Merlin Heinemann and Alan Thompson.

Board members who have one year yet to serve include Mrs. Norris Langenberg, Mrs. Larry Nichols, Fred Temme, and Ed Vahlkamp from Districts II and III. There also will be a board representative from the 4 H Council and Home Economics Council.

The purpose of the board is to give overall directions to the Wayne County Extension Service Program in Agriculture, Home Economics, 4-H and other related areas.

Workshop Set Near Concord

A 4 H "Group Dynamite" workshop for teenagers will be held at the North Station near Concord on Saturday, Jan. 26, starting at 9:30 a.m. through 8 p.m.

If you participate in any group — "Group Dynamite" is for you. The workshop will help you explore and experience the process by which a group of people move toward a common goal. It will help you understand yourself and how you can learn to work effectively in groups.

Participants will increase their awareness and understanding of:

- how groups operate;
- how to set group goals;
- how members' behavior affects groups;
- how his/her own behavior affects groups;
- how to effectively communicate in groups;
- how groups reach agreement, make decisions, solve problems, and evaluate outcomes;
- how power arises and affects a group.

Energy Is Topic at Swine Days

Alternative energy sources and energy conservation in swine operations will be among topics addressed during Area Swine Days Jan. 22, 23 and 24 at three locations across the state.

Methane production and solar energy will be the main points of interest in "Energy for Pork Production," to be presented by Dr. Dennis Schulte, extension agent in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources (IANR).

Schulte said topics to be discussed include ongoing demonstration projects and studies being conducted at IANR and other midwestern universities.

In a study near Wahoo, IANR researchers are investigating the economic feasibility of solar heating a modified open-front swine growing-finishing building.

In another project at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln East Campus, researchers are investigating the possibilities for on-farm methane production from livestock manure.

Schulte said he also plans to review research being conducted at Iowa State and Kansas State universities where scientists are using solar energy to pre-heat ventilation air in swine farrowing and nursing operations.

Area Swine Days will be held Jan. 22 at City Auditorium in Laurel; Jan. 23 at the United Methodist Church in Waverly; Jan. 24 at the Community Center in Davenport and Jan. 25 at the North Platte Elks Club. At the North Platte meeting, Arlan Benteman of Clifton, Kan., will discuss how he has put solar energy to work in his swine operation.

The programs are sponsored by the IANR animal science department and area pork producer groups.

Windbreaks Can Add Benefits

Did that cold northwest wind hit you in the face as you stepped outside this morning to do your chores? Now is the time of year that you realize just how effective that windbreak around your farmstead really is.

Go out and take a good look at those trees surrounding your farmstead. Are some dead or dying? Maybe there are some trees missing or not enough rows of trees to give you the wind and snow protection you would like?

Most people don't realize all the benefits of a well planned windbreak around their farmstead, reports Gary Johnson, soil conservationist from Hartington. Home heating costs are reduced, cattle and hogs in the feedlots have better gains, snow is less of a problem, natural beauty is added to the landscape, and wildlife habitat is provided. All these are good reasons why you should consider planting trees next spring, he said.

Trees are available through the Clark McNary tree program. For assistance in planning a windbreak and ordering trees contact the Soil Conservation Service Office. Cost-share assistance is available through ASCS.

The HERALD is heartily in accord with the Republican in that the Country north of the Elkhorn does not receive, or has not, the recognition it merits at the hands of those who have the appointing power in their hands, and especially when the magnificent gains made by the republicans in this section of the state is considered. The HERALD is in favor of any Wayne county republican, no matter who it is, that seeks recognition.

The funeral of Wm. Mellor was held at the home of his son Robert last Friday afternoon and was largely attended. The funeral sermon was delivered by Rev. Welden of the Baptist church and the services at the grave were conducted by the Grand Army of the Republic, of which deceased was a most honored and respected member. Those attending the funeral from abroad were, Geo. Mellor and family, Maivern, Iowa; Mrs. L. McCabe and sons, Bushnell, Ill.; G. F. McNight, Miss Houlihan, Chicago; and Mrs. Brent Yates, Hiawatha, Kans.

The HERALD this week contains an article from the pen of K. H. Gibson, which will be of much interest to the stock raisers in the county. The article is a reply to an article by the editor of the Iowa Homestead as to whether a full Short-horn cow, bred to a half and half Short-horn and Hereford bull would produce a three-fourths Short-horn calf. Mr. Gibson assumes that it does, following up his assumption with a demonstration to that effect. He is a very interesting writer, and undoubtedly knows what he is talking about as he has had considerable experience in that field.

The above is the total population of Wayne according to the recent census and she stands among the 24 cities of the state having a population of 2,000 and less than 25,000. In 1890 the writer took the census of the city which was at that time 1,178. During the decade just past Wayne has increased 91, or about 80 per cent. It is an excellent showing. THE 2 JOHNS ARE HAPPY.

We always wish at this season of the year that our financial conditions were such that we could give every one we know a Christmas present. We hope there will not be a person in Wayne county that will fail to receive a gift. We have done all in our power to make it possible for everyone to buy a present. We never ask fancy prices for Christmas goods. Making and receiving Christmas presents is the most pleasant thought that enters the human soul. We remember giving an old lady a pocket handkerchief for a Christmas present, and nearly twenty years afterwards, at the age of ninety-eight, she made her will and remembered us for giving her a Christmas present. Other thoughts may leave the human mind, but the pleasure of making or receiving of Christmas presents remains always. Make a present to every one of your friends. No matter what the cost of a present is, it will make them happy and you will enjoy life better for having made the gift. It is customary now to buy useful presents, and things to wear are considered proper articles to buy for presents. We have made a special effort this year to please our customers in purchasing all the latest novelties in the market. Our room is small and we cannot put on display all the goods we have, but if you will ask for Christmas presents we will show you many things that will please you. You will be surprised to see how many pretty things we have. We have so many things this year suitable for presents that to make a complete list would require more space than we have in an advertisement.

Food Gifts: A Bit of Yourself

This year, instead of rushing out to buy Christmas gifts for everyone, why not avoid the crowds and make food gifts instead?

Teresa Shaffer, extension foods specialist in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, says when we think of food gifts, we think only of the commercially prepared gift packs of cheese, nuts and fruit-cakes. These are very nice, she says, but they definitely lack the personal touch.

"We don't give ourselves enough credit for being able to come up with personalized gifts that are delicious too," she said. For instance, a new homemaker may appreciate a gift of a new utensil for her kitchen and a sample of the food that it can be used to prepare.

Many of us end up taking plates of cookies to the neighbors. Most people have enough temptations in the way of food at holiday time, and really don't need any more. "A friend of mine gives a thoughtful gift — cookies, strung and ready for hanging on the tree. I'm not tempted to eat them, and they really give a nice homey look to my tree," Shaffer explained.

Kitchen specialties that are family favorites would undoubtedly be a treat for friends, too. A gift of homemade cherry jelly made from your own cherries, or pickles from your garden vegetables would be a delight for someone not lucky enough to have their own garden.

Homemade nut bread baked in little loaf pans and wrapped is a good gift. Perhaps you have an old family recipe for strudel or stollen that could be shared.

"Share your cooking skills," she said. "That enables others to learn how to prepare their own food. It brings much satisfaction to the learner."

Label Culprits Putting Them to Use

WINSIDE ELEMENTARY STUDENTS are saving labels from several Campbell products, which they later plan to redeem for valuable equipment for the school. The program, which began Dec. 9, is scheduled to conclude Feb. 22. Area residents who would like to participate can send labels to the school or drop them in a container at the secretary's desk. Among students participating in the program are, from left, Tricia Harfman, Cindy Van Houten, Mace Kant and Steve Jorgensen. Also pictured is a globe which the school received in return for labels they saved last year.

Mothers in the Winside area who lately have noticed several cans in their cupboards minus the labels, have a heart!

The culprits most likely are students at the Winside Elementary School, who plan to put the labels to good use.

Earlier this month, the youngsters began a campaign to save labels as part of the Campbell Soup Company's "Labels for Education Program." The labels will later be redeemed for valuable equipment for the school.

The program began Dec. 9 and is scheduled to conclude Feb. 22. Last year the coupons were redeemed by the school for a globe in the library.

Mrs. Reba Mann and Lance

Bristol, who are heading up this year's program, said area residents are invited to save the labels from the soup cans and send them to the school.

Labels can be taken from cans of Campbell's Condensed Soups, Campbell's Chunky Soups, Campbell's Soup For One Soups, Campbell's Beans Products, Campbell's Tomato Juice, "V-8" Cocktail Vegetable Juice, Franco-American Gravies, Franco-American Pasta Products, and Swanson Canned Products.

Mrs. Mann said only the front portion of the labels can be used.

Residents can send the labels to the school or drop them in a container at the secretary's desk.

Wayne Girls Trip Laurel

Julia Dorcey and Jolene Bennett combined for 21 points to lead the Wayne Blue Devils past Laurel 49-31 Thursday in girls' basketball action.

The game remained close until the Bears had a disastrous second half that yielded only nine points to Wayne's 23.

The Blue Devils built a 3-2 lead into a 9-3 advantage late in the first quarter but the quarter ended with Wayne on top 11-7 after a free throw by Paula Chace.

With 5-10 junior center Lisa Peters sitting on the bench in foul trouble during much of the game, senior backup Jean Koll entered the game and rose to the occasion. She netted five points in the game but was more beneficial for her rebounding and blocked shots.

Julia Dorcey, Shelly Davis and Lynn Surber all scored four points apiece in the second quarter to pace the Blue Devils. The Bears were led in that period by Kay Anderson's eight points. Anderson finished as the game's leading scorer with 16 points, 10 at the free throw line.

Both teams were hurt by players in foul trouble. Wayne's Lisa Peters picked up her fourth foul with six seconds left in the half and Laurel's Paula Chace was benched with four fouls only a minute and a half into the second half.

The game was extremely physical with 41 fouls being commited by the two teams. Fifty-six free throws were attempted at the charity stripe.

Wayne coach Curt Frye said that he thought his team received a good effort from everyone and pointed out that Jean Koll did an excellent job for the Blue Devils. "She (Koll) had a ton of rebounds and did a nice job. Our reserves did a fine job," Frye said.

Laurel was plagued throughout the game by turnovers and unusually cold shooting from the floor. The Bears' record falls to 2-2. The Blue Devils are 2-1.

Jill Zeiss scored 14 points to lead the reserves to a 42-21 win over Laurel's reserves. Scoring: Wayne—Zeiss, 14; T. Johnson, 8; K. Proett, 6; T. Thomas, 5; T. Stollenberg, 5; A. Liska, 2; S. Emry, 2. Laurel—K. Sherry, 7; A. Schultz, 6; L. Nelson, 3; J. Hanson, 3; K. Johnson, 2.

Wayne is scheduled to play in the WSC Holiday Tourney at Wayne State College beginning Jan. 2. Laurel will host a holiday tournament Dec. 26 and 27.

The Bears will meet Decatur at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday (Dec. 26) in the opening round. Norfolk Catholic and Hartington will play in the other opening game. Consolation sets are set for 7 p.m. Thursday (Dec. 27) with finals following at approximately 8:30 p.m.

THE BASKETBALL gets tied up by Wayne's Lisa Peters (33) and Laurel's Deb Thompson (44) as Meg Owens (51) and Paula Chace (12) try to help their respective teammates.

The Trojans trailed 33-31 entering the heavyweight match but Witt pulled his teammates through with the narrow win, giving the host team three points.

Joedy Sherer and Mark Schopke scored major decisions to give Wakefield four points for each win. Sherer decided Jeff Gilliland in the 132 pound weight class 12-3 and Schopke decided Adam Beck 9-0 in the 185 pound class. Blaine Nelson was the other Wakefield wrestler to win by decision at 145. He decided Rich Jensen 17-12 in a high scoring affair.

In action against a powerful Pender team, Tuesday, the Trojans lost 57-9. Jon Stelling and Von Porwood won their matches for Wakefield in reserve action that evening. Wakefield's Mark Borg and Brent Vanderveen were victorious. George Monsalve

Wayne Whips Wisner

Sharpe Gets 200th Win

To Wayne basketball coach Bill Sharpe, the 64-4 triumph over Wisner-Pilger Thursday night was more than just another win. It was Sharpe's 200th career victory.

Tony Rezek came off the bench to lead the Blue Devils charge by scoring 14 points and raking the boards for half a dozen rebounds. Wayne's bench accounted for 37 points in the game. Starter Perry Nelson, who scored 11 points, was the other Blue Devil in double figures.

Sharpe is currently in his eighth year of coaching at Wayne. Before moving to Wayne, he coached for 12 years at Likin, Kan. He started the 1979-80 season with 197 victories in his coaching career.

The Devils were slow getting started in the first half but built a 12-8 advantage after the first quarter and held on to lead 26-23 at the half. The game was broken open in the third quarter when Wayne outscored the Gators 20-11.

"Tony (Rezek) really played well. It was the best game he's played on varsity since he moved here," said Sharpe about the 6-4 senior who transferred from Omaha last year. "He did a good job on the boards. All the people on the bench did a good job for us."

Wayne used a press to open up its lead in the third quarter and continued to play well in the final period. Behind Rezek and Nelson, the Blue Devil scoring was balanced. Jere Morris scored seven, Kevin Nissen and Tod Heiler scored six and Scott Wessel netted five. All 14 players on the bench saw playing time and 11 scored.

Leaders on the boards were Nelson with seven rebounds, Rezek with six and the Nissens (Stuart and Kevin) with six each. Wayne held a tremendous 40-20 edge in the rebound department. The victory upped the Blue Devils' record to 3-2.

Shooting percentages were similar but Wayne took many more shots from the floor. The Devils hit 41 percent while Wisner made 38 percent of its shots. Ryan Rathke and Tim Marx led Wisner with 13 and 10 points respectively.

The Gators won the reserve game 53-35. Mike Sladek paced Wayne with 12 points followed by Tim Pfeiffer and Pat McCright with six points apiece. The JV team's record now moves to 3-2.

The Wayne varsity is scheduled to play in the WSC Holiday Tour-namment at Wayne State College beginning Wednesday, Jan. 2. The Devils will open at 6:30 Wednesday against Winnebago.

Randy's Recap

According to Randy Hascall

FROM TIME TO TIME I meet graduates of area high schools who are now competing in athletics at the college level. On occasion, I receive press releases about an athlete from his or her respective college.

While watching the Wayne-Laurel basketball game last Thursday night, I met 1979 Laurel graduate Steve Anderson and chatted with him for a few minutes at half-time. Steve, who was athlete of the year at Laurel last year, received an athletic scholarship to Platte College in Columbus.

He broke into the starting lineup as a guard and is now the leading scorer on the basketball team, averaging 14.5 points per game. According to statistics released in the Omaha World Herald, Wednesday, Steve ranks as one of the top scorers in the Nebraska Community College Athletic Conference and is listed as the third leading free throw shooter in the NCCAC. He has hit 15 of 18 free throws.

Steve told me that his team has traveled about 3,500 miles in the last week. Anderson was at the game with his friend Don Dalton, another Laurel graduate, who is attending the University of Nebraska.

WAYNE HIGH GRADUATE Vic Sharpe also attended the game and I talked to him for awhile. He is still at York College where he was a leading baseball player last year. He will be playing basketball for York's team when he returns to college after the holiday break.

A PRESS RELEASE which reached my desk recently shows that a Hoskins native is doing well as an athlete at Westmar College. Bill Thomas of Hoskins, who is a sophomore at Westmar was selected to the All-District and All-Conference teams as a center on the football team. Westmar compiled a 7-3 record this past season.

A FALL SPORTS appreciation banquet was held for Wayne State athletes last Sunday evening in the Black Knight. Letter winners were announced in volleyball and football and seniors were awarded watches. The Second Guessers Club sponsored the banquet and some were on hand for the evening's proceedings.

EARLIER IN THE WEEK the Second Guessers held their weekly meeting. Coaches at the Thursday noon meeting announced quite a group of athletes of the week. Representing the wrestling team as top athlete was Dave Ulich. Deb Emmanuel and Lynn Brandt were named athletes of the week for the Lady Wildcats.

Also present were five members of the men's basketball team who were named athletes of the week: Joe Lindsey, Willie Summers, Wattie Rhoda, Zake Lorick and Jay Bellar represented the Wildcats. Because of the holiday season, the Second Guessers will not meet again until Thursday, Jan. 3.

MERRY CHRISTMAS EVERYONE!

Laurel Free Throws Can Emerson

The Laurel Bears held a commanding advantage at the free throw line to deflate Emerson

Hubbard 55-46 in Laurel, Friday night. Laurel was outshot 21-17 on the floor but free throws more than made up for that. The Bears connected on 21 of 28 free throws while Emerson hit only 4 of 24 charity shots.

"We did better at the free throw line against Emerson. We needed an aggressive and consistent effort to win and we got it," said Laurel coach Joel Parks. "We played very aggressively, very hard. It was a very good physical effort and the line was a lot of the game."

Both teams shot 33 percent from the field, hitting a cold streak in the third quarter. The Bears outscored Emerson 6-4 in that period.

Joe Olsen, Lon Swanson and Matt Johnson led the charge as Laurel opened leads of 16-12 after the first quarter and 29-23 at the half. Olsen finished the game with 14 points. Swanson hit 12 and Johnson added 11. Swanson and Johnson were the team's leaders on the boards, netting 11 and 10 rebounds respectively.

The Laurel varsity upped its record to 2-2 for the season. Next action is scheduled at 6:30 p.m. against Bloomfield in the Hartington Holiday Tournament on Friday, Dec. 28.

Laurel's reserves lost their game 54-23. Jeff Anderson scored six points for the Bears.

Winside Gals Nipped By Wynot in Overtime

For four quarters, the Winside girls' basketball team played undefeated Wynot to a standstill. But the Wildcats scored one point in an overtime period and lost 36-33, Thursday night in Wynot.

The Winside boys lost 61-25 to Wynot's undefeated boys' team in the nightcap. Statistics and information from that game were not available at press time.

Winside jumped ahead 8-3 after the first quarter and held on for a 14-11 half-time lead. They extended their lead to 22-16 at the end of the third period.

If took Wynot three quarters to score its first 16 points but the last 10 came within eight minutes. The Blue Devils outscored Winside 16-10 in the final period to force the game into overtime. The Wildcats scored only one point in that period and lost the game by three.

Winside used a balanced scoring attack and a good defense to threaten Wynot's three game win streak. Marci Thomas, Laurie Gallop and Deb Brockman netted eight points each and Kathy Thises added seven in the effort. "Our girls played very good defense," said Winside coach Kathy O'Connor. "We made mistakes in the fourth quarter and overtime that cost us the game."

Leading rebounders for the Wildcats were Gallop with nine and Thies with eight. Winside's record dropped to 1-1 for the season and 1-1 in conference play. Wynot is now 4-0. The Blue Devils were led by Deb Stratman with 13 points and Janet Becker with 11.

Winside will be in action on Jan. 4 at Osmond. Both boys and girls will play in doubleheader action that evening.

Three WSC Stars Named All-American

Wayne State College football players Bob Barry, Battle Creek; Tim Hurley, Omaha, and Kevin Savio, Seatonville, Ill., have all been named NAIA All-Americans, the NAIA National Office announced Thursday. The three seniors all received honorable mention recognition.

Barry joined the NAIA's national football playing elite for the third time in as many years. The 6-3, 200-pound fullback is the all-time WSC leader in career rushing yards, career total offense and single season rushing yards. The four year rushing and total offense total for the talented runner was 3,588 yards. In his four years at Wayne State the Battle Creek product received numerous awards for his efforts on the gridiron.

The Wildcat leader in quarterback sacks for the last two years, Hurley received national recognition for the first time. The 6-2, 210-pound defensive end was a walk-on at WSC in 1977 and played his first down of organized football in 1978. In high school, Hurley did not play football because of lack of size. When he entered Omaha's Rummel High School he was a 5-3, 95-pounder. Five years later a crash weightlifting program and a dose of self-confidence sent the Omaha product towards football success. In the 19 games Hurley played at WSC he sacked the opposition quarterback 21 times.

Savio, a 6-2, 230-pound center, was the leader of the Wildcat offensive line in 1979. Throughout the year WSC coaches continually praised Savio for his blocking technique. The Seatonville, Ill., product transferred to WSC for Illinois Valley Community College in 1978.

Doubleheader with Homer-

Allen Girls Win, Boys Lose

After a slow, low-scoring first half, the Allen Eagles broke away for a 36-24 win over Homer in girls' basketball action at Allen, Friday.

The Allen girls trailed 7-6 after the first period and fell behind by five points at one time in the second quarter before battling back for the win. Homer used a life in the second half with her outside shooting. A balanced at-fastbreak off of quick downcourt outlet passes to score most of its points on layups.

Field goals by Des Williams, Stacey Koester and Lisa Wood put Wayne on top 14-13 late in the first half and a last second free throw by Williams gave the Eagles a 15-13 advantage.

Lisa Erwin brought the Eagles Beth Stalling played well for the Eagles, pulling down key re-trucks opened Allen's lead to 26-17 at the end of the third quarter as

Homer Defense Hurts Eagles

An uncharitable man-to-man defense applied by Homer took its toll on the Allen Eagles and led to a 50-34 loss, Friday night in the Allen High School gym.

After falling behind 6-0, the Eagles rallied to pull within one point 10-9 at the end of the first quarter. Lee Hansen scored four points in the period including two free throws that gave Allen the lead momentarily at 9-8. That was the only lead the Eagles held in the game.

Homer took hold of the game again in the second quarter with six consecutive points. Allen's defense broke down on a couple occasions and the Eagles fell behind by seven. Pat Onderstahl and Duane Stolle made a couple of nice plays to keep Allen in the game but a basket at the buzzer gave the Knights a 26-17 lead at the half.

Homer put the game out of reach at 31-17 with five minutes remaining in the third quarter and the Eagles didn't get within 10 points again.

A four corner offense by Homer whittled away the minutes as Allen tried to get an offensive surge started. Frank Lanser and Robb Linafelter scored field goals in the fourth quarter to salvage some pride before Lanser fouled out with 2:50 left in the game. Terry Brewer also helped the Eagles by scoring eight points in the game.

Two free throws in the last second by Duane Stolle pulled the final score to 50-34. Homer attempted a full court inbound pass on the last play of the game in hopes of a final basket but Allen thwarted the pompous attempt. Mitch Kruse and Ron Corbin scored 19 and 11 points respectively for Homer.

The Eagles' record drops to 1-3. Next action is scheduled Jan. 4 when Allen will host powerful Ponca.

bounds, and applying a tight defense. Erwin led the Eagles with 12 total points followed by Wood with eight, Williams with seven, Koester with six and Stalling with three.

"We got away with a sloppy victory," said Allen coach Dale Jackson after the game. "Our defense played a good game, holding Homer to only 24 points but our offense didn't look that good."

The win pushed Allen's record to 3-0. Next action for the Eagles is scheduled for Jan. 3 at Ponca.

TERRY BREWER goes in for two points after he stole a pass from Homer. The Eagles lost the game 36-24, Friday night.

Trojans Lose Close One

Six consecutive points late in the game gave Hartington a 60-56 victory over the Wakefield Trojans, Friday night on Wakefield's home court. The game was a conference matchup in the Clark Division of the Lewis and Clark Conference.

Both teams put on exhibitions with red-hot shooting. The Trojans shot 60.3 percent from the floor while Hartington hit 61.7 percent.

Leading Wakefield were Scott Hallstrom with 22 points and Tom Preston with 14. The Trojans fell behind 18-10 after the first quarter and trailed until late in the game when they took a brief 56-54 lead. Three turnovers in the last 30 seconds eliminated any chances Wakefield had of winning.

"Our intensity was good. We came back and battled them real even. We had a chance to win but the poise got away from us," said Wakefield coach Ernie Kovar. "It was a real even game between two good ball clubs. It was a good game."

Kovar pointed out that Preston's contribution was much more than scoring. "He brought the ball through the press and made four assists and three steals," Kovar explained.

Preston was five for nine from the field. Jones was also essential to the Trojans defensively and added four steals of his own, Kovar added.

Undeafated Hartington was led by Joel Hansen with 20 points, Russ Heggert with 13 and Mark Hansen with 11. Both teams had 17 rebounds in the game. The loss dropped the Trojans' record to 2-1.

Wakefield won the reserve contest 53-42 behind the 19 point performance of Rod Nixon. The Trojans are scheduled to host Wauson Jan. 4.

Wayne Freshmen Win

Shaun Niemann pumped in 20 points and Tim Heier scored 12 to lead the Wayne freshman boys' basketball team to a narrow 51-50 win over Wisner-Pilger, Thursday in Wayne.

The freshman Blue Devils fell behind 20-8 after the first quarter but staged a tremendous comeback to pull out the victory. Wayne closed within three points 31-28 at the end of the first half and opened a lead in the fourth quarter.

The Devils led by three points during most of the final period. Six missed free throws gave Wisner an opportunity to take the lead late in the game but Wayne's defense held its ground. Niemann hit the home team's last basket to hang on for the win.

"We had a lot of work to do after we fell behind so far in the first quarter," said Wayne coach Duane Blomkamp. "And the kids worked hard to get the win." Wayne's freshmen are scheduled to host Madison Jan. 11 preceding the Wayne-Madison reserve and varsity games.

Wayne scoring: Shaun Niemann, 20; Tim Heier, 12; Jeff Jorgensen, 8; Jeff McCright, 6; Todd Schwartz, 5. Leading scorer for Wisner was Mark Bollmer with 18 points.

WINNERS & LOSERS

Some winners have helped make winners of us all: health and safety all over the world may have been improved by the winning ways of a number of people in Argentina.

Newborn babies and prospective diabetics may win longer, better lives, thanks to the work of 1970 Nobel Prize winner, Argentina's Luis Federico Leloir. This biochemist discovered fascinating facts about sugar that doctors say could lead to a way to predict and prevent diabetes and identify galactosemia—a disease in which infants have a fatal intolerance to milk.

The people of Argentina are also winning the battle for safer streets that is being waged in cities all over the world. With sufficient government support, the police there are able to go a long way toward encouraging terrorists to lose their interest in crime.

Another Nobel Prize winner from Argentina, Bernardo Houssay, won his award for work on problems of the pituitary gland—which controls human growth and reproductive functions. He is also known as the creator of the Argentine School of Physiology, which can turn out scientists that can help the whole world win the fight against suffering.

Santa's sure your Christmas celebration will be trimmed with all things bright and beautiful! Let our thanks decorate your holidays.

GOLD
facts and fancies
Among the earliest uses of gold were the sculpted figures of rams, frogs and apes worn by ancient Babylonians some 4,000 years ago to ward off illness and cancer.

One of the least-known uses of gold is in radioactive isotopes in biological research and the treatment of cancer.
One of the most unusual qualities of gold is that neither hydrochloric nor sulfuric acid alone can dissolve it.

Bereuter Says Small Business Growth Must Be Stimulated

The federal government must make every effort to "take small business off the back burner" and stimulate its growth and expansion by fostering a competitive market, Congressman Doug Bereuter said recently.

"Incentives must be established to assure that adequate capital and other resources at competitive prices are available to small business," Bereuter said. "Our free enterprise system depends to a large degree on a thriving small business community."

Bereuter commended the House for setting forth the principles of a national small business economic policy in authorization legislation passed Wednesday. By voice vote, the House adopted a House-Senate conference report on fiscal year 1980-82 authorizations for small business programs.

Bereuter is a member of the House Small Business Committee, where the legislation originated.

The legislation also provides for a study of small business credit needs by the federal government.

"For the first time small business credit needs will be accurately gauged," Bereuter said. "If those needs are not being met, then Congress and the executive branch can respond by providing appropriate incentives."

Bereuter noted that farmers would be eligible for disaster loan assistance from SBA (Small Business Administration) only if they could not meet eligibility requirements for emergency relief from the Farmers Home Administration. Farmers and businessmen who could not obtain credit elsewhere would be eligible for SBA disaster loans at a five percent rate, according to the new law.

The legislation also provides that employee-owned businesses be treated as small businesses and be eligible for SBA assistance.

"Included in the legislation is a requirement for the President to submit a yearly report to Congress on the status of small business and economic trends affecting it. The President would be responsible for making appropriate recommendations."

"The needs and concerns of small business must be taken off the back burner and given the highest priority by Congress and the Administration," Bereuter said.

The conference report authorizes program ceilings of $7 billion for FY 1980; $7.8 billion for FY 1981 and $8.5 billion for FY 1982.

Credit: A New Game

Credit is a whole new ballgame now. You can't be denied credit because you're a woman, because of your race, because of your age.

In a lot of ways it's fairer, but there's one catch: It's also more complicated.

The laws and regulations concerning credit have multiplied like the proverbial rabbits, creating a need for education of both borrowers and lenders. And this has led to a new Department of Consumer Affairs at the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City where Linda Nixon and two other attorneys are available to help both the general public and lenders with their questions.

"The credit protection laws have their roots in Regulation Z — Truth in Lending — which dates back 11 years," Mrs. Nixon said. "For the first time, creditors were required to state the cost of borrowing in common language so that the consumer could compare costs — in essence, shop for credit."

"Sometimes we're swamped with calls. We might have 50 to 60 a day in some cases the calls result from a change, such as an amendment to an existing regulation. Other times it can't be explained," she said laughing. "I'm convinced it has something to do with the moon."

But there is more to the job than just answering questions.

Wakefield Girls Lose To Hartington 44-37

Despite a 14 point output by Jolene Bartels, the Wakefield Trojans lost a 44-37 decision to Hartington, Thursday night in Hartington.

The Trojans stayed right with the undefeated hosts but fell behind 9-7 at the end of the first quarter. Hartington outscored Wakefield 15-10 in the second period for a 24-17 lead at the half.

Bartels bagged her 14 points on six field goals and two free throws. Kelly Murphy scored seven points while Donna Kieckhafer and Joan Miller added six points each.

The Trojans' biggest problem was ball handling according to head coach Dennis Wilbur. "We had too many turnovers and we didn't shoot very well," he stated. "Our defense was pretty respectable. We're coming around."

The Trojans shot 29 percent from the field compared to 42 percent for their opponents. Leading scorers for the Wildcats were Tami Bargstadt and Carla Waltz with 16 and 15 points respectively. The locals held the rebounding edge. The loss dropped Wakefield's record to 1-2.

Wakefield won the reserve game 20-17 with Teri Schwarten fopping charts with eight points. The reserves are now 2-1. The Trojans will play at Wausa on Jan. 3.

Holiday Plants Require Various Care Methods

What's red or white and appears just once a year?

The answer, besides Santa Claus, is traditional holiday plants, according to an Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources extension horticulturist.

Don Janssen said most of the plants identified with Christmas produce a red or white bloom during the holiday season that lasts for a few weeks to a few months. They exist as foliage plants the rest of the year.

The poinsettia and the Christmas cactus are probably the most popular holiday plants, he said. Other, less well-known plants include the kalanchoe and the cyclamen.

All require different care methods if they are to be at their "blooming best" over the holidays, Janssen said.

One of the most common problems with poinsettias is a drooping of lower leaves, caused by lack of fertilizer. "Poinsettias are highly fertilized to get them to grow and bloom for the holidays," he explained. "If you fertilize the plant two weeks after purchase and then fertilize again every month after that, the leaves shouldn't drop."

The horticulturist also said to water the plant whenever the soil is dry, watering thoroughly until water comes out of the hole in the bottom of the plant.

The Christmas cactus is a jungle cactus and needs a high organic soil mix, even moisture and full sunlight, Janssen said.

To force blooming for Christmas, both the Christmas cactus and the poinsettia need a daily dark period of 15 hours per day. To accomplish this, he suggested placing the plant in a closet or cover it with a black cloth from 5 p.m. to 8 a.m. daily. Begin doing this about three weeks prior to when you want the plant to bloom. The plant also should have temperatures of around 55 degree F (13 C) and reduced moisture, he said.

Like the Christmas cactus, the kalanchoe needs a high organic soil content and full sunlight, Janssen said. The soil should be allowed to dry before watering. To reflower the kalanchoe, he said to keep the plant actively growing and remove the flowers as they fade. Pinch back the new growth to keep the plant bushy.

The cyclamen is probably the most difficult plant to keep growing during the holidays. It needs a well-lighted location, cool night temperatures in the 50s and high humidity. "Keep the soil evenly moist and if you fertilize the plant once every two or three weeks with half the recommended concentration, it should keep well for the holidays," he said.

Honored in December

Larger Cars Better Involving Traction On Snow and Ice

Although small cars have an advantage when it comes to stopping on ice, large cars still pull their weight when starting on ice and snow-packed roads.

Rollie Schneider, an extension safety specialist in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, said tests conducted by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards showed that smaller, lighter cars have less traction ability than standard size cars.

However, he said, small cars require a shorter distance to stop on ice, which may reduce rear end collisions resulting from skids.

Schneider said the tests indicate that once the cars have made an initial start and the wheels are spinning, the size of the car makes little difference in traction capabilities.

He added that these tests show only the results of conventional rear drive vehicles, although in the future, front-drive vehicles may be included in the tests as the vehicles become more popular.

Schneider said that no matter what size car a person drives, there are ways to reduce winter driving hazards.

"Following other vehicles at a far greater distance than normal, reducing speeds drastically and using an easy touch when slowing, accelerating or steering will cut down on accidents," he said, "and will add to everyone's safety."

A driver's choice of tires for his car can also contribute to winter driving safety, Schneider said. The Council's tests indicated that reinforced fire chains are the best fire aids for stopping and starting, he said.

"Chains can reduce braking distances 50 percent on ice as compared to regular highway tires," Schneider said.

In addition, chains develop about seven times the traction of regular type tires on ice and four times the traction of regular tires on loosely packed snow, the tests showed.

Studded snow tires, where they can be used legally, can reduce braking distances about 19 percent over regular tires on ice, and can give three times the traction power of regular tires on ice.

Conventional snow tires can also be a big help in reducing winter driving hazards, Schneider said.

The tests showed that conventional snow tires offer 28 percent more traction ability than regular tires on ice, and twice as much on loosely packed snow.

Don't Do Anything Else This Thursday, December 27 from 9 to 9 But Come To Discount Furniture's Gigantic Sale

HERE WE GO AGAIN. This is the time of year that the people at DISCOUNT go a little crazy. This is really a chance to save a good sum of money and get a worthwhile investment with it. If you need furniture for any part of your home... and want to really save, now is the time and Discount Furniture Home Furnishings is the place! This special event is going to be for a limited time only... Thursday, Friday and Saturday Only.

We just took our inventory — we've got the biggest store in town — and did we find some goodies. Lots of cats and dogs, white elephants and discontinued items were found lurking behind posts and inside crates. Also, in the fall, factories introduce their new styles. An extra button is added to a chair, a slightly different finish is used on a bedroom set — this all creates Discos, discontinued numbers. Perfectly good merchandise, but no longer replaceable.

Well enough of this jabber. Let's get down to the nitty-gritty... OUR CRAZY UNBELIEVABLE SALES PRICES. Yes they are crazy, but we've got to move these items now!

OUCH!... It's great furniture and we've been selling this set for years, but designers wanted a change so out she goes. A family room sofa and chair with rich honey pine wood trim and rich nylon cover. This set bites the dust at only $589.88. We used to sell it at close to double this price!

Here's a real value $299.95. Your choice of styles. Swivel rocker in velvet covers for only $159.88 each. Amazing. Save $140.00.

Oh, Yes... everything is reduced. We've got a bunch of lamps and pictures. Take a look... if there's something you can use, you'll save 50 percent. Yes, just plain crazy prices.

Need a new dinette? All of our stock of dinette sets are on sale. For example, Chrome Craft 36" x 48" Table with one 12" leaf and 6 chairs, regularly $449.95. On Sale for $259.88. That's $190.00 off and the savings go-on and on and on.

When it comes to recliners, Kroehler and La-z-boy Recliners are our specialties... and boy, have we got them. Starting at $169.88.

SOFAS... LOVESEATS... CHAIRS... DRUMS DRUMS??? No, not really but we've got everything else you could want for your living room. At Discount Furniture we're drumming out prices like these: A Charles sofa in rich luxury velvet that was tagged $799.95 which we're giving away for $299.88. Or Mastercraft sofa regularly $770.00 but we will deliver it to your home for only $399.88. How about a sofa for your den, tagged to go for only $399.95. Charles Traditional Sofa — we have it but if you'd like to own it, you can for only $299.88. A $469.95 Early American Sofa with a rich luxurious nylon cover for only $299.88. Whoever gets this knows a bargain.

WE'VE GOT THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS WORTH OF FURNISHINGS THAT MUST GO NOW... Our display floors and warehouse are jammed packed and now is your chance to save on hundreds of items at give away prices... Some haven't been sold... some have been lost in the warehouse... some are discontinued... some left odd. We have to move them.

Of course not everything is half off... but in no way will you pay regular price for any item in the store... For 3 days you'll find the best bargains of the year... We must sell hundreds of items that tie up our space and money... prices are not just reduced... PRICES ARE DROPPED, SMASHED, SLASHED... TO GET RID OF THESE ODDS AND ENDS, DISCOS AND ONE-OF-A-KIND GEMS... HERE'S ANOTHER EXAMPLE — A Queen size Sleeper, regularly $439.95. On sale for only $288.88. Can you believe it? That's an incredible price for a queen sleeper.

Ever wish you could afford a queen size mattress and box spring? Well Thursday, Friday and Saturday you can at a price you won't believe. Both pieces are only $188.88. This is not a misprint so we'll print it again $188.88. Need a bedroom set to go with this bedding? We have all styles on sale. Solid oak, maple, pines we've got 'em as low as $459.88.

Reading this far, you will know that we are serious!... We have truckloads of fine furniture that we intend to sell (or should we say, give away) in 3 days.

Looking for a good regular or queen size Sofa-Sleeper? Choose from brand names you can trust for quality. Many in stock to choose from with sale prices as low as $288.88. Our building and warehouse is loaded with furniture so, of course, we can't possibly list all the items but we can assure you that our prices are right and the lowest in Northeast Nebraska.

We've found some odd and discontinued end tables... NOW SPECIALLY PRICED! Discontinued sofas worth $500.00 and $700.00 going for as much as half price... and rockers that are worth as much as $189.95 going for $129.88.

We got some real jewels in our bedding department. Some discontinued ticks — mismatched mattress and box springs. Take your pick of regular, queen and twin size, all reduced to clear out.

In our Bedroom department we have a terrific Oak Dresser and Mirror with a 4 drawer Chest and matching Headboard that was tagged at $679.00. Be sure and see this for only $449.88.

To sum it all up, we say there is no one that can beat our prices no matter how they try. We sell only quality merchandise for lowest prices anywhere. So take advantage of this crazy sale and enjoy a better looking home while saving money. We have any credit plan to fit your budget and free delivery and set up at no extra charge.

HOLD IT! If you haven't read this before you turn the page, you may have missed the savings of your life! Don't stop to think about it, be here 9 a.m. THURSDAY when the doors open.
