1970-1980

That Was The Decade That Was

Yes, Mathilda, another decade has come and gone. The 1970's in the Wayne area included a number of major changes and key news events.

TIMES HAVE changed, certainly, and the most significant impact on the area has to be inflation. That factor alone has caused major changes in the lifestyles of Midwesterners.

A glimpse backwards shows prices have increased drastically. Information gathered from the 1970 edition of The Herald provided these comparisons:

CHICKENS WERE 99 cents each, regardless of weight, and three pounds of ground beef cost $1.79—total. A Whirlpool washer sold for $199 and a dryer for $139. Goodyear nylon cord snowflakes went for $40 a pair, and coffee was listed in a grocery ad at $1.53 for a 2-pound can.

Wayne sported a Safeway Store then, and "How the West Was Won" was featured at the Gay Theatre. The rock group "The Smoke Ring" was scheduled at the City Auditorium. Scott's Turf Builder sold for $8.95 (covering 10,000 square feet) and a two-year certificate of deposit generated 5% percent while a 6-month CD 5 percent.

These are highlights of news events over the past 10 years as compiled from issues of The Herald:

A legal battle was underway surrounding the level of tuition set for students who were non-residents of Wayne-Carroll School District. The issue was whether a school district has the right to set the tuition rate at a level at least as high as the per pupil cost of the preceding year.

The city was successful in obtaining low-income elderly housing for Wayne. Subsequently, the Dahl Retirement Center, later renamed the Wayne Care Centre, was constructed.

RICHARD HAMILTON, 18, Allen, was sentenced to 10 years to life in prison in the shooting death of John Smith, 16, Allen. Work was begun by the Wayne Hospital Foundation to form a hospital district.

Several incumbents were defeated in general elections. These included Leona Bahde, county treasurer; John T. Bressler, district court clerk; Roy Davis and John Surber, county commissioners.

A SUCCESSFUL fund drive was completed to obtain an artificial kidney machine initially for Pete Haberger.

Cash giveaways sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce totaled $2,800.

Educational Service Unit No. 1 board of directors voted to move the ESU offices from the old grade school building in Wakefield to the former Federal Land Bank building on Main Street. The board had considered moving the offices to Wayne, but available office space in Wayne was inadequate.

Ending a one-month trial period, the Wayne-Carroll School District board voted to adopt a new dress code permitting any "acceptable" dress or grooming by students.

WAYNE STATE College earned its first National Distinguished Achievement Award for International Education programs presented by the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education.

Flood damage was estimated at nearly $300,000 after Logan Creek flooded in the county.

The Nebraska Supreme Court upheld a Wayne County District Court decision which found the non-resident high school tuition property tax levy law to be constitutional.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS voted to place the issue of a proposed hospital district on the ballot, but later removed the special election issue from the ballot citing a waste of taxpayers' money.

Nebraska 15 between Laurel and Wayne was to be completely redone at a cost of some $2 million within the next six years.

The County Commissioners voted to establish three new districts, as required by law, embracing an equal division of population.

1972

A fund drive was started to help raise funds for construction of a new hospital, later to be called Providence Medical Center. The goal of $500,000 was topped, with total project cost estimated at about $1 million.

The Dahl Retirement Center was completed at a cost of some $220,000.

PLANS FOR construction of a new motel, The Amber Inn, were announced.

Torrential rains resulted in the collapse of a new bridge near the county's sanitary landfill east of town.

A Taxpayers' Forum was formed to discuss city finances, hospital growth and the school board.

A fire destroyed the Wakefield Grain and Feed Co.

Pay increases were granted to the Mayor from $750 to $1,500 and for Council members from $500 to $1,000 annually.

1973

Nebraska Public Power District board voted to build a 56-mile transmission line from near Dakota City to near Norfolk.

W.A. BRANDENBERG, Wayne State College president since 1956, resigned.

The Wayne-Carroll School district's Project Success was chosen as one of seven top federally funded projects in the nation.

Groundbreaking ceremonies were held for construction of Providence Medical Center.

Police Chief Vern Fairchild was fired by Mayor Kent Hall for several reasons including insubordination and improper treatment of the public.

CARROLL'S ONLY Catholic Church, Our Lady of Sorrows, was closed after 70 years in existence.

The city of Wayne bought 55 acres of land for establishment of an industrial site east of Wayne.

A fuel shortage precipitated a city decision to install a $100,000 substation so the city could link up with another electrical utility. The Council also voted to buy a 300,000 gallon tank for fuel storage.

1974

Voters in Wayne, Winslow, Hoskins, Carroll, Wakefield, Concord, Dixon and Laurel voted on the issue of fluoridating water supplies. Only Wayne and Laurel voted in favor of fluoridation.

A CONTRACT between NPPD and the city of Wayne for the purchase of electricity from NPPD was approved.

A dispute between Police Chief Fairchild and the city of Wayne was resolved. The city was ordered to reinstate him after decisions by the court and by the Civil Service Commission.

The Council approved Sunday beer sales in Wayne.

EMPHASIS, INC., manufacturer of fiberglass bathtubs and shower stalls, announced it would build a satellite plant here. Some $150,000 was raised locally to help make the plant a reality.

A plan to renovate the downtown business district was unveiled. It called for elimination of parking along Main Street, planting of trees and shrubs, closing some alleys and remodeling many business fronts.

A fund drive raised an estimated $11,000 for Danny Koester who was suffering from a rare blood disease.

Providence Medical Center opened with Archbishop Daniel Sheehan presiding.

PROPOSED DESIGN improvements on Nebraska 15 north of Wayne generated some controversy.

Chicago & Northwestern Railroad held a public hearing on the proposed abandonment of 40 miles of track between Dakota City and Wayne. Despite several objections, the track later was abandoned.

Bids were let for construction of an athletic complex south of the West Elementary School. Project cost was $100,000.

VOTERS APPROVED liquor by the drink in Wayne at a special election.

Seven rural school districts merged into what is known now as District 57.

There were an unusually large number of severe blizzards.

1976

Communities of the area celebrated the nation's 200th anniversary with Bicentennial activities.

CROP LOSSES were estimated at $20 million due to a severe drought.

Major changes in the electrical system of the city were in the offing. The city agreed to buy power from NPPD and to lease the local plant's capacity. A rate study was initiated and a new rate structure adopted.

Law enforcement in Wayne County was consolidated. This included the addition of three deputies for Winslow, Carroll and Hoskins plus rural Wayne County.

RON DALTON, Wayne-Carroll high band instructor, was named Outstanding Young Band Director of the Year.

A County Joint Planning Commission conducted a public hearing on a comprehensive plan for the county. It was designed to provide a guideline for development within the county for the next 20 years.

National Fiberglass announced it would locate here.

Other Cases Scheduled

Ross Sentencing Set Wednesday

Sentencing of Michael Leroy Ross, 24, is set for 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in Wayne County District Court. He was found guilty on Dec. 12 of manslaughter in the shooting death of Karen Sunderman, 18.

District Court Judge Merritt C. Warren ordered a pre-sentence investigation after the jury of eight women and four men returned the manslaughter verdict. Ross originally had been charged with first degree murder.

The jurors considered the first degree verdict, then second degree and finally manslaughter. The final option was not guilty.

Ross' attorney, S. J. (Sy) Albracht, Omaha, has since filed a motion for new trial. He listed seven reasons in doing so. These included the following:

•For the reason that the court erred in failing to dismiss the complaint against the defendant at the conclusion of the state's case in chief, or the alternative, in failing to direct the jury to return a verdict of not guilty.

•For the reason that the court erred in failing to sustain the defendant's motion for direct verdict at the conclusion of the state's case in chief and again at the end of the defendant's case in chief.

•For the reason that the evidence is not sufficient to sustain a verdict of guilty.

•For the reason that the state failed to prove either the commission of a crime and each and every element of the crime beyond a reasonable doubt.

•For the reason that the court erred in instructing the jury, and in particular in giving the instruction regarding definition of reckless, and in failing to instruct on such definition in accordance with the Reissue of the Statutes of the state of Nebraska, as requested by the defendant.

•For the reason that the court erred in submitting the offense of murder in the first degree and murder in the second degree when the state had failed to produce any evidence or testimony of such offense.

•And finally, for the reason of misconduct of jurors.

Judge Warren is expected to rule on the motion prior to sentencing.

The verdict came after some 8½ hours of deliberation behind closed doors. The trial began Monday, Dec. 10, with jury selection and moved into testimony of witnesses that afternoon. Final arguments by the defense and prosecuting attorneys were given Wednesday morning, Dec. 12, and deliberation began shortly before noon.

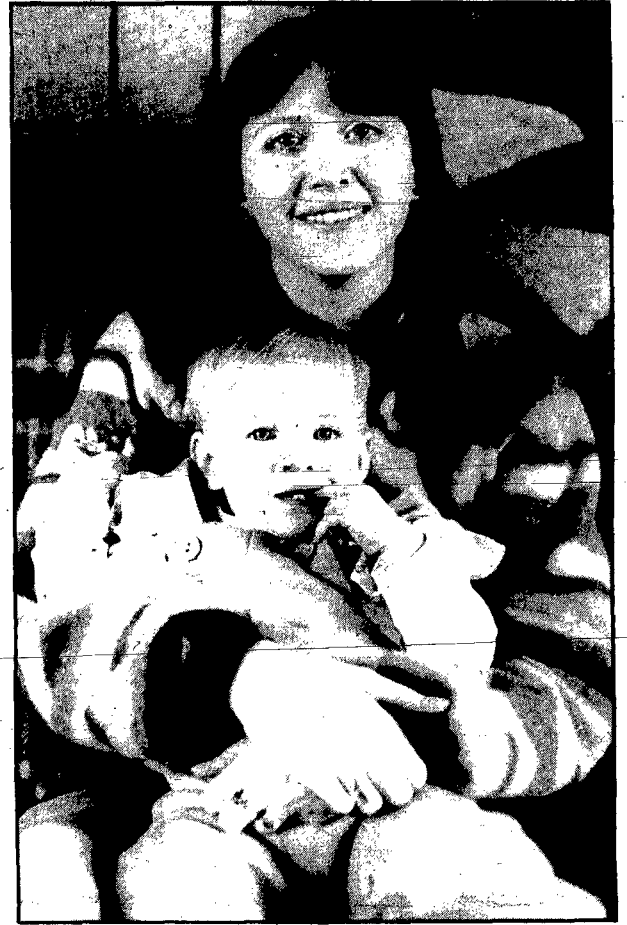

Other cases to be heard Wednesday include the following:

Daniel King, 24, Norfolk, will be sentenced at 9:30 a.m. by Judge Warren after pleading guilty earlier this month to two counts of receiving stolen property.

King originally had been charged with two counts of burglary involving thefts at Charlie's Bar in Winslow and Danny's Place in Hoskins March 26. As a result of plea bargaining, the initial charges were dropped by County Attorney Budd Bornhoff in lieu of the stolen property charges. Class JJ misdemeanors.

Judge Warren also will hold a hearing on a demurrer (a form of legal objection) involving a suit brought by the city of Wayne against Mid West Bridge & Construction Co. and Universal Surety Co., Norfolk.

The hearing will be at 11 a.m. in District Court. The city maintains the construction firm did not comply with terms of its contract when constructing a sanitary sewer interceptor several months ago.

A Year Later

MELLISSA JO Bates and her mother, Nancy, have enjoyed Melissa's first year after she was the first baby born in 1979. As a result, she won a number of valuable prizes. Several merchants again are sponsoring the annual baby contest. For more details, see advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

Baby Contest Rules Announced

The first baby born at Providence Medical Center after midnight Dec. 31 will be in store for a wide range of gifts from several sponsoring merchants.

TEN LOCAL businesses have announced they again will sponsor the annual baby contest. According to the rules, parents of the first child must be bonafide residents of Wayne, Dixon, Hoskins, Laurel, Emerson, Allen, Carroll, Concord, Wakefield, Winslow or Belden.

There is no entry fee or entry blank required, of course, and the first baby must be born at PMC after midnight Dec. 31. The attending physician must certify the time and date of birth. In case of a tie, the winner will be determined by lot.

GIFTS ARE TO be picked up at the sponsoring stores by Feb. 1.

Sponsors and their gifts are as follows: State National Bank has agreed to get the new baby off on the right foot financially by starting a $15 savings account.

An engraved pewter baby cup will be awarded to the youngster by The Diamond Center to add to his or her collection of drinking cups.

FINANCIAL security is the concern of Kugler Electric as five silver dollars will be awarded from there.

Western Auto will provide a rocker/baby carrier to add to the comfort of both the baby and the mother.

To help keep junior warm on these cold Northeast Nebraska nights, Kuhn's Department Store is offering a Teddy Time three-way zipper quilt.

LOOKING TOWARD the future, Wayne Shoe Co. is providing $5 credit on Red Goose shoes.

For light-hearted entertainment, Sherry Bros. is offering a stuffed musical teddy bear.

First National Bank also is concerned about financial security and is offering a $15 savings account.

For efforts of the Mother; and with the newborn in mind, Wayne Greenhouse is providing a dozen red roses.

TO ENSURE secure sleeping, Sav-Mor Drug is giving $7.50 credit on a Kiddie Kover sleepwear set.

Last year's first-baby-of-the-year winner was Melissa Jo Bates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bates. She received a similar list of gifts.

Melissa was born at PMC about 5:30 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 2, 1979, and weighed 6 pounds, 3 ounces.

Allen School Board Sets Special Meet

Allen Consolidated School District board of education will meet in emergency special session at 1 p.m. today (Monday) at the board room in the high school.

Purpose of the meeting is to establish guidelines the board will follow during the absence of Supt. Robert Heckathorne due to illness, with the possibility of appointing an acting superintendent to fill in during his absence.

Heckathorne suffered a heart attack Friday afternoon.

A Far Cry From Last Year

DESPITE A brief visit by Old Man Winter Saturday morning, weather of late has been exceptional. Temperatures have been in the 40's and 50's and many outdoor chores and activities are continuing. Above, these three youngsters take advantage of the warm December days by roller skating. From left are Jennifer Wessel, 10, Julie Wessel, 9, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Wayne Wessel; and Ann Perry, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Perry. The weekend snow was expected to be temporary, with warm weather ushering in the new year.

American Legion Conference

The Nebraska American Legion will hold its annual Mid-Year Conference on Jan. 12-13, at the Holiday Inn, North Platte, with 500 or more Legionnaires and Auxiliary members expected to attend. National Legion Vice Commander Keith Kreul of Fenimore, Wis., will be keynote speaker at a joint banquet of The American Legion and its Auxiliary on Sunday, concluding the two-day educational conference. Included in the sessions will be reports on Americanism, American Legion Baseball, membership, rehabilitation, children and youth programs and internal operations.

Herat Programs Planned

Details about risk factors and preventive measures will be discussed at Home Extension Club leader training sessions in January. Heart attacks are common risk factors that everyone should be aware of, a spokesman said. The lessons are entitled "Save Your Heart," and will be held as follows: Jan. 22, 9:30 a.m., Northeast Station near Concord; Jan. 24, 9:30 a.m., Fire Hall, Hoskins. Other organized groups wishing to send leaders to these meetings are asked to notify Anna Marie Kretfels, area Extension agent, at the Northeast Station.

Nutrition Sessions Set

The leader training lesson "Quick and Easy Nutrition" will be held in two area locations during February. The sessions will include suggestions for planning nutritious menus that are quick, easy and satisfying. Meetings will be held Feb. 21, 1:30 p.m., at Northeast Station near Concord; Feb. 22, at the Pender Fire Hall; and Feb. 25 at Villa Wayne in Wayne. The lesson is open to representatives from groups who can then take the information back to their organizations. Contact Joyceelyn Moody, area Extension agent for Thurston County, for more information.

Health Board Nixes Clean Air Rules

CAPITOL NEWS
By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The state board of health recently voted not to accept proposed regulations for implementing the Nebraska Clean Indoor Air Act and regulations that would govern smoking in factories, warehouses and similar places of employment.

The board said it needed more information before it could proceed with approval of regulations for the act, which was passed by the 1979 Legislature and which will go into effect Jan. 1.

The board's deliberations are expected to be resumed in January.

Rejection of the suggested regulations was viewed as a victory for restaurant and industry representatives who have been lobbying against the proposals.

One industry spokesman, Paul Weist of Eaton Corp. in Kearney, said compliance with the regulations would prove to be a burden to business and industry. Weist said he was particularly concerned about one section of the regulations that would have required six air exchanges each hour within factories, warehouses and similar places of employment. He said Eaton has two to three changes of air hourly in its offices and providing equipment for six exchanges would cost the company $120,000 to $150,000 and double the cost of its energy.

A Lincoln attorney speaking for the Nebraska Association of Commerce and Industry, Ted Frazier, said he wondered whether the regulations went beyond the limits of the law. He also raised the point of air exchanges and noted the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare requires only two air exchanges hourly for general hospital areas.

Jack Daniels of the state Health Department said the number of air exchanges was patterned after a similar regulation in Minnesota, which has had a clean indoor air act for several years.

Even though the new Nebraska law will go into effect Jan. 1, it will be more difficult to enforce without rules and regulations, according to Garry Snowden, legal counsel for the Health Department.

Urges revision of law

Prosecutors in the Erwin Charles Simants case have asked the Legislature to rewrite the state's law on insanity pleadings in murder trials.

During an informal meeting of the Judiciary Committee, Lincoln County Attorney George Clough and his deputy, Marvin Holscher, said current law gives an unfair advantage to the defense.

The two attorneys said their request was not prompted by the result of the second Simants trial in which he was found innocent by reason of insanity.

In his first trial in 1976, Simants was found guilty of murdering six members of the Henry Kellie family of Sutherland. After that verdict was overturned by the Nebraska Supreme Court, Simants was retried and found innocent. He was later committed to the Lincoln Regional Center as a mentally ill, dangerous person.

Clough and Holscher told the committee the burden of proof for showing a person was insane when he killed someone should be shifted from the prosecution to the defense.

The attorneys were invited by Sen. Carol Pirsch of Omaha to appear before the committee on which she serves.

Mrs. Pirsch and another Omaha member of the committee, Sen. Patrick Venditte, have been attempting to get the committee to sponsor legislation that would provide for shifting the burden of proof to the defense when insanity pleas are entered in murder cases.

It appears, however, that Pirsch and Venditte will probably have to sponsor the bill by themselves.

Pre-trial diversion rejected

Lancaster County Attorney Ron Lahners of Lincoln, has ruled out pre-trial diversion for a former Nebraska Supreme Court reporter accused of bribery.

The former reporter, Marvin L. Green, 44, was charged after he allegedly promised to guarantee a continued contract with the court in exchange for payments to himself, according to police.

Green had arranged publication and release of Supreme Court opinions until he resigned. That was after he was charged with bribery in October.

When someone is enrolled in a pre-trial diversion program, charges against him are dropped if the accused agrees to work with a diversion counselor and to perform an assigned amount of community work.

In explaining why he denied diversion for Green, Lahners said he believed there had been "a gross breach of the public trust by the applicant for his own individual gain in violation of the law and to the detriment of the public."

Lahners also noted the Supreme Court in previous cases "has indicated that it is professionally proper to hold a person with professional status to a higher standard of conduct than one who is not schooled in the law."

Will try again

State Sen. Ralph Kelly of Grand Island says he will sponsor legislation next year that would deal with liquor industry criticisms of his bill to raise the drinking age to 21.

Despite Kelly's strong effort, a bill to raise the drinking age couldn't be worked through the legislative machinery earlier this year. The measure, LB221, was not killed, however, and will be awaiting first-round debate when the 1980 session convenes.

But Kelly said recently he decided to sponsor a new bill so he could be in position to address many criticisms of LB221.

Among features in his new bill, Kelly said, will be a "dram shop" provision.

He explained that the dram shop act is intended to cause a civil liability for licensed liquor dealers who "would assist in intoxication by selling too much alcohol to a person.

Should that person do damage of some kind, the licensee could be sued for damages, the same as an intoxicated person could."

Water regulation

A survey by the Bureau of Sociological Research at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln showed an overwhelming number of Nebraskans favor regulation of water for agricultural use but have differences of opinions on who should do the regulating.

A report, co-authored by professors Susan Welch and Gordon Kissel of the UNL political science department, was the second in a series of studies of Nebraskans toward water use and regulation.

A total of 900 Nebraskans were surveyed for the report.

The survey showed that when it comes to agricultural use, two-thirds of Nebraskans favor some kind of regulation. Less than a quarter were opposed and the remainder were undecided.

More than 60 percent favored natural resources districts or local government to do the regulating. Slightly fewer than 20 percent believed the regulation should be done by the individual irrigator and about the same percentage said the state should be the regulator. Only two percent favored federal regulation.

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

A group of farmers met with the Pierce county board of commissioners and told the board, "A full time real-estate appraiser is not needed." This came after County Assessor Harlan Herbolzheimer had asked the board to consider such a position. The visitors said the duly elected assessor should do the appraising and if office help is needed, hire some part-time help.

ROBERT Colligan was named winner in the Wisner News-Chronicle/Pilger Herald "What the First Amendment Means to Me" contest. For his winning entry, he received a check in the amount of $100. His entry will also compete in the Nebraska Press Association contest. Should his entry win there, it will compete nationally.

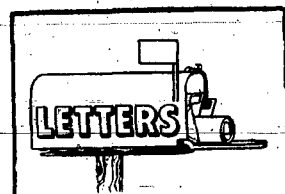

THREE Cuming County dairy herds are among those recognized as the state's top herd in respective breeds by the Nebraska

Dairyman's Association. Herds owned by one Wisner producer and two from West Point were among those recognized. Bob and Betty Jacobsen of Wisner had the state's top Red and White herd, with Clinton and Leslie Smith of West Point having the best Ayrshire herd, and Henry Duke of West Point the top Brown Swiss herd.

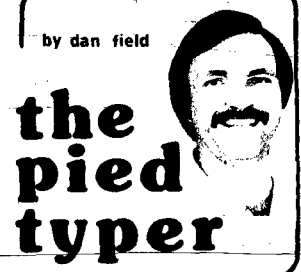

A large dairy barn at the Paul Steuter farm three miles southeast of West Point burned early Christmas morning, unbeknown to members of the Steuter family asleep in their nearby house. Steuter said the family had not retired until about 2:30 a.m. following Christmas Eve services at St. Mary's Church. "When we got up about 5:45 the next morning it was gone," Steuter said. "We never heard a thing."

Shelly Lynn Allen, 10, of rural Newcastle has been given the Nebraska Funeral Directors Association Hero Award. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Allen, Shelly is credited with saving the lives of her parents and younger brother, Robbin, when fire broke out in the upper story of the Allen farm home sometime before 3 a.m. May 2.

JERRY and Marlene Dendinger have purchased Summers Service in Hartington from Harvey and Dolores Summers. The business will begin operation under the name of Jerry's Service on Jan. 1, 1980.

Another year, and another decade, have rolled around. How time flies when you're having fun.

The next few weeks will be a time when everyone reminisces about their lives 10 years ago. Pardon the cliché, but we've come a long way, baby.

At the turn of the decade in 1970, I was a fumbling 19 year old attending Tarkio College, Tarkio, Mo., wondering just what in the heck my life was going to provide me.

My sights were set on a spring transfer to the University of Missouri to study journalism. As I recall, that event couldn't come any sooner because life on campus at Tarkio (affectionately referred to as the University of Tarkio at Tarkio) wasn't fulfilling my needs or desires.

Don't get me wrong, Tarkio is a fine prep school, but the institution has undergone some serious transition over the years.

Tarkio was unofficially known as the school where everyone who couldn't go anyplace else went. Follow that? In other words, it tended to accept students with a lower grade point average.

The school's enrollment was some 500 to 700 students at the time, most of whom were from Kansas City, St. Louis and the East Coast. There were many, many students from Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York.

While the rest of the nation's universities and colleges were fighting the Vietnam War on their campuses and in their administration buildings, good ol' Tarkio bustled along virtually oblivious to the outside world. The school did have a few minor racial tiffs, but I suspect that was to show the rest of the academic world that Tarkio, too, was hipp.

As a church-related school (Presbyterian), Tarkio still held several of the rigid private ideals—Vespers were required weekly, and Sunday dinner in the cafeteria was to be in sport coat and tie. We solved that easy enough by wearing our grubby blue jeans with our sport coats. Real class, huh?

Unable to afford the responsibility of a car, I was on foot while at Tarkio. That certainly limited my extra-curricular activities, but friends did have cars and numerous trips were made to nearby Kansas for a little of the brew. Missouri was, and still is I think, a 21 state. Kansas was 18 or 19 at the time.

A small school such as Tarkio was perfect for preparing me for a larger university. At the time, I was unsure about waiting two years before moving onward and upward, but looking back I'm convinced it was a good decision.

Transferring to Missouri was like walking from darkness into light. I still respect Tarkio for the education, both academic and social, it provided me. But after two years there, 'twas time for a change.

I'll never forget going to my first football game as a student at Missouri. The spectacle of 55,000 people (the stadium is now expanded to about 76,000) is awesome. That truly was a mark of the big times.

Although the academic atmosphere was less personal at the larger school, I found it easier to involve myself in learning. There were, naturally, weekends for "social life," but learning and getting good grades didn't seem to be too difficult.

All a matter of attitude, I'm sure.

Looking through college-time pictures of myself and fellow compatriots, I now can understand why my parents made me walk behind them several yards. My, my. What hair and what whiskers.

Oh, well, as my Dad says, there are compensations for growing older and one of those is looking back at how foolish a person can be. The oft-used sayings of "older but wiser" and "learning by our mistakes" certainly can be applicable here.

Here's to ya, May you all have a super year and an even better decade.

The Wisdom of Big Brother

Richard L. Leshner, President Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

"The Wall Street Journal" recently described a letter one of its reporters had received from a Michigan lawyer relating his experience with an existing federal energy program. It seems the individual wanted to know if his client could obtain a grant from a $10-million fund operated by ERDA, the Energy Research and Development Administration.

Sorry, replied ERDA, only $1 million was left; the other $9 million had been all used up for "administrative expenses." Of course that was only one tiny program. Just imagine how much more "administration" we can buy if Congress passes the Administration's proposals for more than $200 billion in new energy taxes.

The taxman taketh

The Tax Foundation recently reported that the median income of our typical American family will reach $18,467 in 1979, up 66 percent from 1972. That seemed like good news, until I heard the rest.

During the same period, prices rose more rapidly — up 75 percent, but taxes really went through the roof. Federal income taxes rose 82 percent, Social Security taxes 142 percent, while state and local taxes climbed fastest of all. They are now four times as high as a decade ago.

Perhaps that explains why there are now 78.9 million persons working in the private economy, but 81.6 receiving government payments of one kind or another. If we want to be taxed less, we've got to stop asking for more.

No sweat

Did you know the Treasury Department makes double payments on more than 100,000 checks a year, and generally makes no attempt to recover the money? In fact, some $73 million has been erroneously paid out during the last three years alone.

The typical case: An intended recipient notifies the Treasury his or her check never arrived, or was lost. If the department can verify the check has not been cashed, it sends out a second check. But then it does not stop payment on the original check which it claims it cannot legally do. The result is both checks get cashed, often by deliberate fraud. Wouldn't it be nice if you could write as many checks as you wanted, without ever having to worry about having enough money to back them up?

Watch what they do

One of the least reported stories in America is the failure of government to do as good a job in any given situation as private industry.

Take energy conservation. Since 1972, business and industry have voluntarily reduced their energy consumption by 16.8 percent. But the federal government, the nation's largest single energy consumer, has failed to curb its own energy use. And guess who has the worst record of all? A House Government Operations Committee report recently blasted the Energy Department for its "abysmal record in saving energy." The department ranks second in energy consumption, 12th in energy conservation.

Oh, well, no one's perfect. After all, Big Brother does have the responsibility of running our lives. We should expect he'll waste a little energy.

Dis-san-cion-ing

That's what the Department of Health, Education and Welfare calls one of its favorite activities — spending your tax dollars so its paper pushers can dream up terms like "dairy products deliverer" as a substitute for that old sexist bugaboo — milkman.

Just thought you might like to know.

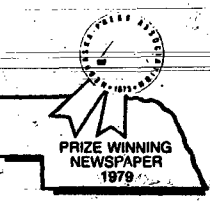

Who's who, what's what?

Tooker-Wittstruck Exchange Vows

The United Presbyterian Church in Wayne was the scene of the Dec. 15 ceremony uniting in marriage Lisa Tooker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tooker of Wayne, to Daryl Wittstruck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Wittstruck of Martell.

The Rev. Robert Haas of Wayne officiated at the service. Wedding music included "Sunrise, Sunset," "God, a Woman and a Man," and "It's Time to Say I Love You," sung by Cheryl and Keith Kopperud of Wayne. Organist was Robyn Bornhoff of Lincoln.

Ushers were Paul Lindner of Wayne and Brad Wittstruck of Martell.

The couple's attendants were Laura Lindner of Wayne and Mike Parks of Wahoo. The bride's personal attendant was Diane Bals of Omaha.

A Christmas tree, red poinsettias and a candelabra with greenery decorated the church for the 4:30 p.m. double ring ceremony. Candles were lit by Andrea Tooker of Wayne.

The bride chose a white floor-length gown of warp knit satin crepe designed with a blouse bodice and softly gathered waistline. Venice lace and pearls accented both the round neckline and the long, semi-fitted sleeves. Panels of lace trim and appliques decorated the skirt front, extending to the chapel-length train. Her three-quarter sheer lace veil was held in place by a Juliet cap trimmed in lace appliques and pearls.

Both the gown and veil were designed by the bride's mother. The bride's attendant was gowned in a softly gathered blouse of frosty green pin dot and a long emerald green velvet skirt accented with a gold belt.

The men in the wedding were attired in gray stroller suit jackets with white tucked shirts. Their boutonnières were red and white carnations and cedar sprigs.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Tooker selected a navy knit with a burgundy and white carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a red knit and a red and white carnation corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Powers of Wayne served as hosts to a reception held in the church fellowship hall following the ceremony. Gifts were arranged by Raneé Dion and Laura Blendenman of Wayne. Julie Overlin, also of Wayne, registered the 150 guests.

Mrs. Sandra Metz and Mrs. Judy Blendenman cut and served the cake and Mrs. Ginnie Phifer poured. Punch was served by Julie Overlin. All are of Wayne.

The newlyweds went skiing at Steamboat Springs, Colo. and will make their home in Ft. Calhoun.

The bride, a 1976 Wayne-Carroll High School graduate and a December 1979 graduate of Wayne State College, is working in Omaha. The bridegroom was graduated from Crete High School in 1975 and Wayne State College in 1979. He is a teacher at the Ft. Calhoun High School.

Villa Residents Mark Birthdays

The birthdays of Villa Wayne residents Alaine Heikes, Ella Biecke, Julie Surber and Ed Kluge were observed during a potluck supper at the Villa Dec. 21.

Thirty-one attended the supper and entertainment which followed, including pencil games and Christmas carols, accompanied by Mrs. Mary the Frayer.

Hostesses were Elaine Kluge, Emma Franzen and Hattie Christensen.

The Rev. Larry Ostercamp of the Evangelical Free Church in Wayne conducted Bible study at the Villa on Dec. 19.

Favorite Bible Passages Told

The Happy Homemakers Home Extension Club met in the home of Mrs. Forrest Hansen for a 12:30 covered dish luncheon Dec. 20. Roll call was a favorite Christmas Bible passage.

Poems were read by Mrs. Delvin Mikkelsen, entitled "Christmas is for Everybody," and Mrs. Alvin Mohlfeld, entitled "One Wish for Christmas."

The afternoon was spent playing games, singing Christmas carols and exchanging homemade gifts. The club purchased a gift for a resident of the Wayne Care Centre.

Next meeting will be at 1:30 p.m. Jan. 17 in the home of Mrs. Mildred Jones.

Senior Citizens Invited to Bowl

Senior Citizens who bowled Dec. 18 in Wayne included Otto Baier, Herman Luglan, Carl Mellick, Floyd Sullivan, Erwin Longe, John Dall, Carl Lentz, Gordon Nuernberger and Clarence May.

Nuernberger rolled the high game (202).

Daughter Baptized At Concordia

The Rev. David Newman officiated at baptismal services Dec. 23 for Tavia Amber Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Burns of Colorado Springs, Colo.

Tavia was baptized at the Concordia Lutheran Church in Concord. Her godparents are Duane and Jean Pearson.

A dinner was held in the Dale Pearson home following the service. Attending were Mrs. Larry Burns, Tavia and Camilia of Colorado, the Duane Pearsons and Eric of Lincoln, and Richard Fishers, Valerie and Jason of Wakefield.

Mrs. Burris and daughters spent Dec. 19-25 in the Dale Pearson home.

Born 102 Years Ago

WAYNE COUNTY'S oldest resident, 102-year-old Mrs. C.H. (Mary) Morris, was honored Dec. 21 by Carroll Senior Citizens, who gathered in the fire hall to mark her birthday. Cakes were baked by Mrs. Jay Drake and Mrs. Kenneth Eddie. Earlier this month, the Congregational Church near Carroll sponsored a dinner honoring Mrs. Morris, who was born Dec. 17, 1877. She came to the Carroll community at the age of 75, attended Teachers College in Wayne, and taught school for nearly seven years prior to her marriage in 1904. Mr. Morris died in 1944. An active church member, Mrs. Morris also attends many potluck dinners at the Senior Citizens center. She resides in Carroll with her son and his wife, Mrs. and Mr. Harold Morris. Another son, Don, resides at the Randolph Manor, and a daughter, Wilva Brewer, lives in Patis Church, Va.

German Christmas Traditions Recalled

Wayne Senior Citizens met with 65 members Dec. 19 for a potluck Christmas luncheon.

Shirley Wagner arranged the floral centerpiece, and the invocation was given by Wilma O'Harra. Tables were decorated with Christmas tablecloths, snowmen and miniature Christmas trees.

Edith Zahniser, who teaches German at Northeast Technical Community College in Norfolk, was a guest and presented the afternoon program, entitled "Christmas in Germany." Mrs. Zahniser read the Christmas story from a German Bible belonging to her grandmother. She also shared German Christmas traditions with the group and led German and English carols with German student Chuck Bentzer, accompanied by guitarist Bob Gulickson.

A volunteer Christmas gift exchange followed the program.

Serving on volunteer committees for the luncheon were Gladys Petersen, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Chambers, Mrs. Harry Wert, Goldie Farney, Mildred Wacker, Mary E. Miller, Mrs. Erwin Midgendorf, and Shirley Wagner. The next potluck luncheon will be at noon Wednesday, Jan. 16.

Allen Seniors Plan Reception

Members of the Senior Citizens Center in Allen are planning to hold an open house reception at the Center today (Monday), honoring Mr. and Mrs. Bill Anderson and family. Andersons will be visiting in Allen that day.

Anderson was active in work at the Senior Citizens Center while he served as pastor of the Allen and Dixon United Methodist Churches. He also was instrumental in helping secure a federal grant which is being used to remodel the Senior Citizens Center.

All area residents are invited to stop by the Center during the afternoon and visit with the Anderson family, who now reside in Illinois, where he is attending seminary.

Coffee and cookies will be served.

Club Tells Nice Deeds

Mrs. Louis Lutt Jr. had charge of the entertainment at the Wednesday afternoon meeting of Club 15, held in the home of Mrs. Roger Lutt.

Nine members answered roll call by telling the nicest thing anyone ever did for them. The hostess received a birthday gift. The club conducted a grab bag gift exchange by playing bingo. Mrs. Fred Janke and Mrs. Larry Nichols received door prizes.

The Jan. 16 meeting, at 1:30 p.m., will be in the home of Mrs. Alvin Meyer.

Set Lamaze Classes Here

Lamaze classes at Providence Medical Center in Wayne will begin Thursday, Jan. 3, and are scheduled to run for six consecutive Thursday evenings.

The classes, which are from 7 to 9 p.m., will be held in the emergency waiting room. Cost is $8 per couple or $4 per mother. No pre-registration is necessary.

Frances Groth, instructor, said persons attending the class are asked to bring two pillows.

Persons who would like more information are asked to call Mrs. Louise Jenness at Providence Medical Center, 375-3800.

Winter Driving Tips Given

When it comes to an update on safe winter driving techniques, the National Safety Council has some suggestions.

"You can't stop winter," says Raymond Prince, an executive with the council. "But there are new techniques that will help you keep winter from stopping you."

PRINCE REFERRED to changes over the years in recommended techniques in pumping brakes on slippery road surfaces.

"Previously, hard fast jabs at the brake pedal were the proper way to slow or stop on ice-slickened roads, he said. This was when cars had drum brakes on all four wheels.

A GOOD share of today's cars, however, have disk brakes on the front and drum brakes on the rear. The "fast and hard as you can" pumping does not allow the front disk brakes to release completely. With the front wheels still locked and sliding, steering is never regained—the basic objective of pumping brakes in the first place, Prince explained.

"Instead," he emphasized, "skid testers recommend a slower, intermittent braking action—fully on and then fully off long enough to let disk brakes release so that all wheels are rolling again."

THE TECHNIQUE should be practiced, according to Prince, until it comes naturally and you can feel when the wheels are locked or rolling. Apply the brakes until you feel that a skid is about to start, then release, steer and pump again.

Another problem arises with late model vehicles which have high idling speeds, particularly when the engine is cold—such as leaving a private driveway to enter a street.

"WHAT HAPPENS," Prince explains, "is that the degree of braking required to slow down to make the turn may lock the front wheels while the fast idle speed of the motor is still turning the rear wheels.

"As a result, your car is moving forward but you're lost steering control and continue moving straight ahead even though your steering wheel is turned.

"IN INVESTIGATING this peculiar phenomenon with an automatic drive vehicle at the council's Wisconsin test site, we found that the best technique is to shift into neutral when making this type of maneuver."

After the car has steered around into its new course, the gear can be returned to "drive" and power applied gently.

Prince added this note of caution: "In some jurisdictions, it is illegal to drive in neutral gear. This prohibition probably stems from the days before automatic transmissions and high idling speeds."

IN ADDITION to these new findings, Prince urged motorists to heed the committee's not-so-new recommendations for safer winter driving:

—Get the "feel" of the road by accelerating carefully to see if wheels spin; or brake gently to see if they skid. Reduce speed accordingly.

—Have good tires with good treads. Better yet, use snow tires which provide half again as much pulling power in snow as regular tires. Studded snow tires (where permitted) offer still more help on icy surfaces.

—Always carry reinforced tire chains in the trunk of your car for use during severe snow and ice conditions. They provide four to seven times as much traction on snow or ice as regular tires.

—Keep your windshield and windows clear at all times. Replace streaking wiper blades once dead from exposure to sun, wind and oily road films. Be sure that your windshield washer solution contains adequate anti-freeze.

Small cars

While downsizing of cars can have important implications in fuel economy, compact or sub-compact cars can make an important difference in stopping and starting on ice-slick winter roads, the NSC said.

THE COUNCIL cited findings from test programs that have been conducted by NSC's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards over a number of years.

"The heavier the vehicle, the longer the distance required to slide to a stop on ice," an NSC spokesman said. "This relationship between vehicle weight and locked-wheel stopping distances on ice is at odds with the reported behavior of vehicles on either wet or dry pavements."

HE COMMENTED that once the wheels are locked, vehicle weight shouldn't make a difference. But in the case of vehicles on glare ice, a difference has been well established.

Stopping distances on ice for compact and sub-compact cars can be as much as 25 percent shorter than for a full-size vehicle, a plus for drivers of these cars, according to the spokesman, who then turned the coin to the minus side.

"ONCE STOPPED, however, the smaller, lighter cars have notable difficulty getting back into motion again. This is particularly true at warmer ice temperatures or when ice has become highly polished, such as at intersections."

The tires used in NSC tests of the three different sized cars were original equipment as provided by the manufacturer. Different tires, with different treads and compounds, could affect stopping and traction ability appreciably, regardless of the size of the vehicle.

IN THIS connection, NSC reviewed the following skid-test recommendations relating to traction aids:

- Reinforced tire chains—tops for severe snow and ice conditions, four to seven times as much traction as regular highway tires on glare ice and deep snow.
- Studded snow tires (where permitted)—next best for ice. New studs provide about three times the pull of regular tires.
- Regular snow tires—half again as much pulling power as regular tires in loose snow; but only 28 percent improvement on glare ice.
- Radial tires—the traction performance of radial tires in snow varies widely and is dependent on the tread configuration; that is, a radial tire with a snow tread will provide better traction than one with a regular tread.

NSC concluded with two common-sense suggestions for coping with adverse conditions—regardless of the size of car you drive:

Slow down and stay well back of traffic ahead on ice and snow-slickened roads; regardless of efforts to improve traction, in no instance is the way you can stop and maneuver your car close to that of conventional highway tires on either a dry or wet pavement.

Always buckle up. Use the safety restraints in your car for yourself and your passengers. If you have children, equip your car with the proper type of restraints recommended for your child's age and weight.

Extra Help This Winter With Utilities

Approximately 12,229 Nebraska residents who get federal-supplemental security income (SSI) payments will receive an extra $222 in early January to help pay higher oil, gas or electric bills this winter.

The extra check is in addition to the regular monthly SSI payment, according to Dale Branch, social security manager in Norfolk. Social Security administrators the SSI program.

MOST SSI recipients who received SSI checks for December are eligible for the special energy check. SSI recipients living in institutions where Medicaid pays the majority of the cost will not receive a special energy assistance check since it is unlikely they will have to pay for any increased energy cost.

People who received a December SSI check but do not get a special energy assistance check by Jan. 15 should contact social security. This is especially true for SSI recipients who use direct deposit and may not have kept social security informed of their current mailing address. All special energy checks are being mailed to the homes of SSI recipients, including those using direct deposit.

SPECIAL energy assistance checks are being sent to SSI recipients by the Social Security Administration and to other low income people through State and local agencies. Low income

Nebraska residents facing an energy related emergency should contact their local county public welfare office.

The total cost of the special energy assistance payments program throughout the country, including the special checks to SSI recipients and grants to the States to help people with special emergency fuel or other energy related situations, is $1.6 billion. Of that, $400 million is being sent to SSI recipients, $440 million is allocated to the Community Service Administration, including $250 million previously allocated, for the Energy Crisis Assistance Program, and $800 million is being given the states in block grants. Nebraska's grant is $6.84 million.

THE SPECIAL energy check for each SSI recipient in Nebraska will be the same. The amounts vary from state-to-state, however, ranging from $34 in Hawaii to $250 in 11 states. The individual state amounts are determined by a three-part formula which takes into account local weather conditions, the number of SSI recipients in the state and certain energy consumption statistics for the state.

WSC Tournament Slated Jan. 2-5

When the 22nd annual Wayne State College Holiday Basketball Tournament begins Wednesday, Jan. 2 in WSC's Rice Auditorium, college women's teams will be part of the 12 team field for the first time in the yearly classic's history.

Started in 1958, the WSC Holiday Tournament featured only college men's teams until 1968 when boys' high school squads first participated. High school girls first entered the scene in 1976 and, with the college men absent for the second straight year, Wayne State's Lady Wildcats and three other women's college teams will fill the void.

The field of 12 is rounded out this year with four high school boys' teams and four high school girls' teams including last year's champions in both high school divisions. Walhill captured the boy's title last year while Wayne will return to defend its title in the girls' division.

- First round pairings for the tournament are:
- BOY'S HIGH SCHOOL (Jan. 2) WSC's Rice Auditorium
6:30 p.m. — Wayne vs. Winnebago
8:30 p.m. — Stanton vs. Walhill
 - GIRL'S HIGH SCHOOL (Jan. 3) WSC's Rice Auditorium
6:30 p.m. — South Sioux City vs. Walhill
8:30 p.m. — Wayne vs. Howells
 - WOMEN'S COLLEGE (Jan. 4) WSC's Rice Auditorium
6:30 p.m. — Wayne State vs. Briar Cliff
8:30 p.m. — Augustana College (Ill.) vs. College of St. Mary (Omaha)

All championship and consolation round games will be played Jan. 5 with the championship contests in WSC's Rice Auditorium and the consolation events in the Wayne High School Gymnasium. Both championship and consolation rounds will begin at 4 p.m.

Sports Schedule (Week of Jan. 1-7)

State Housing Starts Down

New housing construction in Nebraska was down sharply during the third quarter (July-September) of 1979, according to building permit data analyzed by the Nebraska Department of Economic Development.

During the third quarter of this year, a total of 2,565 new housing units were authorized for construction in the state — a 29.2 percent drop from the third quarter of 1978. This decline brought the year-to-date total down to 15.9 percent below the first nine months of 1978. This rate of decline exceeds the national average. Nationally, authorized new housing units were down just 6.8 percent from the third quarter of 1978, but 11.8 percent for the first 9 months of 1979 compared to the same period in 1978.

A breakdown of construction permit data by type of housing reveals that single family housing in the third quarter of 1979 was down from third quarter of 1978 by 24.5 percent in Nebraska, compared to an 11.8 percent decline nationwide. For the first 9 months of 1979, 5,708 permits for single family houses were issued in Nebraska — a decline of 16.4 percent from the same period in 1978. While nationally single family home permits were down by 14.6 percent.

Third quarter construction permits for multiple family units in Nebraska dropped off 43.5 percent — to 516 from the third quarter of 1978. But for the year to date the decline in multiple unit permits is less severe — down 14 percent from the first 9 months of 1978. Still, this is more than double the national decrease of 6.7 percent in multiple-unit permits for the first 9 months.

The number of mobile homes shipped to Nebraska during the third quarter of 1979 was 380 — just under the 382 imported during the same period in 1978. The cumulative total for 1979, however, is down by 15.3 percent — to 1,109 new mobile homes — from the first 9 months of 1978.

Despite the notable drop-off in new home construction permit figures from the Federal Home Loan Bank in Topeka show that the total amount of mortgage money loaned by the 36 federally insured savings and loan associations in Nebraska during the third quarter of 1979 was 11.1 percent greater than the third quarter of 1978. In the first nine months of 1979, mortgage lending was up 12.6 percent over the same period in 1978 — to $775 million. However, the net amount of money in new savings at savings and loan associations during the third quarter was down by 37 percent, to $55.5 million, from the third quarter of 1978.

Red Cross Plans Year's Fund Drive

Calling its financial situation precarious and grim, the American Red Cross announced recently it is taking the unusual step of launching a $15 million nationwide fund drive to bolster depleted reserves needed for disaster relief. The nation's largest volunteer relief organization said it already has exhausted the amount budgeted for disasters this fiscal year, which runs from July 1, 1979, to June 30, 1980. In a letter to President Carter, the agency's honorary chairman, Red Cross National Chairman Jerome H. Holland cited relief and preparedness expenditures and commitments thus far of more than $23 million. The total budgeted for the year, including contributions, was $18 million. "In effect," Dr. Holland stated, "this means we are operating on disaster reserve funds, which already have been reduced to a little over $2 million. "Basing its figure on past experience, the Red Cross expects additional relief expenditures in the neighborhood of $16.5 million through next June 30," he said. "Obviously, we must depend on the public's continued generosity to enable us to respond to major disasters during the remainder of the fiscal year," Dr. Holland reported to the President. In launching the special $15 million campaign for funds, the Red Cross has advised its chapters that each will be assigned a quota amount to meet and that they should work closely with their local United Way of America organizations in explaining the situation. Major reason for the financial crisis was placed on heavy relief expenditures to help hurricane and flood victims this past summer in this country, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. The Red Cross said there have been a total of 21 national disaster operations since June 1. Its funds were spent to provide shelter and food to 453,331 victims and emergency workers and assistance to 70,488 families. Red Cross services are designed to meet the emergency needs of victims and to provide additional assistance to individual families with "urgent and verified disaster-caused needs for which government programs are not available." All assistance is in the form of outright grants. Red Cross help to individual families can include food, clothing, essential furnishings, rent and health needs. Approximately $13.4 million of the more than $23 million spent thus far by the Red Cross were expended on operations to help victims of Hurricanes David and Frederic this summer. In addition to these two hurricanes, Tropical Storm Claudette was responsible for expenditures of over $2.6 million in Texas and Red Cross volunteers and staff also were busy helping victims of various floods in areas of California, Indiana, Florida, Maryland, Louisiana, Virginia and Connecticut.

Decade in Review

Further discussions involving improvement in the downtown business area were held. This included new sidewalks, curbs and gutters, plumbing and electrical conduits.

NEW BUSINESS fronts included Swan-McLean, Wayne Shoe Co., Midwest Land Co., Gerald's Decorating, The Black Knight. The following businesses were soon to be under construction: Wittig's, Columbus Federal Savings & Loan Association, State National Bank and Heritage Homes.

Controversy continued to surround construction of an NPPD powerline.

A sex education film shown at Wayne-Carroll High School brought national attention and considerable controversy.

Balfon again was named Outstanding Young Band Director, a national award.

WINSIDE veterinarian N. L. Dittman retired after 44 years.

Laurel's first Vietnamese doctor, Nguyen Hua Tien, began practice.

1978

Work was begun on the Mineshaft Mall.

Lower Elkhorn Rural Water

Resources District expressed concern about the broad use of ground water for agriculture purposes.

Proposed construction of a transfer station was given final approval.

WAYNE-CARROLL School District board assured patrons that the Carroll school would remain despite a citizen's group recommendation that it be closed.

NPPD began easement talks for the new transmission line.

Providence Medical Center, which showed an operating loss for 1977, made a strong rally at the six-month mark of 1978.

WAYNE COUNTY Planning Commission approved zoning regulations which had been three years in the making.

Preliminary plans were heard for construction of a parking ramp downtown.

Council began long battle over proposed ordinance to establish park areas in new subdivisions.

Wayne County District Court affirmed a Wayne Federal Savings & Loan Association bid for purchase of the building previously owned by Emphasis, Inc.

A drive was started to save the Job Service of Nebraska of place here. A brief reprieve was given before the office finally was closed this fall. Job Service personnel from Norfolk cited a statewide reduction in offices as the reason for the cutback.

The proposed park ordinance which had generated considerable controversy finally was amended and approved by the Council.

THE CONOCO station in Windsor was extensively damaged by fire which resulted when a gasoline pump exploded. No one was injured.

Educational Service Unit No. 1 began looking for a new home again, considering several offers within the county. The ESU board decided late this fall to locate all three offices in Wakefield, thus closing the office located on the Wayne State campus.

The Wayne County Courthouse was named a National Show Place.

MICHAEL LEROY Ross, 24, was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury of eight women and four men in the shooting death of his 18-year-old girlfriend, Karen Sunderman.

This marked the first murder trial in Wayne County in recent memory. Sentencing is scheduled Jan. 2, with Ross' attorney having filed a motion for new trial.

A Norfolk man and a Pierce man were sentenced to from 3 to 5 years in the state penitentiary for robbing the Hoskins Commercial State Bank earlier this fall. The attorney for one of the men has appealed the sentence for his client.

AN AGREEMENT was reached between the Department of Roads and the city of Wayne involving reconstruction of Nebraska 15 north to the Concord turnoff. Members of the Wayne Country Club protested the proposal, saying damage to the course would cost more than $200,000. The highway will be left at the present width and grade to the city limits and then widened and completely renovated from there north.

The transfer station became an albatross for city, posting a first-year loss of some $25,000. As a result, rates were raised in hopes of offsetting at least part of the deficit. Also given consideration was an alternative method of trash collection for Wayne which would help save the city some dollars.

The county's population began to rebound after a low of 8,789 in 1975 to a high of 9,426 in 1978.

THE COUNTY'S valuation also jumped appreciably. From $47,839,290 last year, the assessed valuation was $72,844,790 this year. Likewise, the city's valuation rose, increasing from $12,722,885 to $19,431,040 this year.

A proposal to dedicate the city in the name of John Wayne was shot down by the City Council after several weeks of discussion.

An estimated half-million dollars is in the Wayne County Improvement Fund, set aside for construction of a new Courthouse. A levy was placed on the tax rolls several years ago to raise money specifically for Courthouse improvements.

WAYNE CABLEVISION expanded by adding two stations to its selection. An Atlanta, Ga., station and a Chicago station now provide subscribers with added viewing.

The city of Wayne began to realize a financial pinch which started undetected several years ago. Officials anticipate a deficit of $100,000 next year and the Council has voted to place a one-cent sales tax option before voters next spring. Two major reasons for the anticipated deficit are inflation at 15 percent and a state-imposed 7 percent limit on budgets.

RN Refresher Course Planned

A refresher course for professional nurses (RN), currently in active for more than five years, will be discussed at St. Luke's Medical Center Tuesday, Jan. 9, at 7 p.m. in the Nebraska Room. Information will be presented regarding the new six week nurse refresher course scheduled to begin on Feb. 4.

Representatives from hospital administration, nursing service, personnel and education will discuss the purpose and content of the course, as well as employment opportunities in nursing at St. Luke's Medical Center. Information will be available on both a group and individual basis, by calling James C. Hamilton, director of education, 279 3148, for information.

Essay Contest Winners Told

WHY I LIKE OLD PEOPLE
by Kristi Blecke

I like old people because they know almost everything. The women know how to cook, sew, do macrame and millions of other things. The men know how to play checkers and build things. They know how to do so many things they wouldn't all fit on this piece of paper.

I like old people because they always understand what you're saying. If you're having trouble with something, ask an old person and they will try to help you.

St. Luke's Sets Prenatal Classes

Regular monthly prenatal classes are beginning again at St. Luke's Medical Center on Thursday, Jan. 3, for four weeks. Identical class sessions will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and from 7:30 to 10:00 p.m.

Class content will include instruction in anatomy, prenatal care, mechanism of labor and delivery and extensive baby care information. Ample educational brochures distributed.

The class is provided free of charge and no preregistration is necessary. Husbands and supporting others are welcome to attend. Participants should meet in the main hospital lobby.

If the weather is bad, listen to the 6 p.m. news for cancellation. For further information, contact St. Luke's OB Department at 279 3237.

Cheryl Roeber Will Compete In Pageant

Cheryl Roeber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Roeber, Wayne, will represent the Northeast Nebraska Pork Producers in the 1980 Nebraska Pork Queen pageant Jan. 4 and 5 in Kearney at the Holiday Inn.

The pageant is being held in conjunction with the annual meeting and banquet of the Nebraska Pork Producers and Porkettes.

Pork queens from 24 area groups will compete for the title to succeed Sheri Vollmar of Crete, the 1979 winner.

Each contestant will be judged on the basis of a five minute consumer oriented oral presentation, a personal interview by a panel of judges, her general knowledge of the pork industry, her ease of expression and personal poise.

Coronation of the new queen will be held at the annual banquet Jan. 5. She will represent Nebraska Pork Producers at promotional events and selected functions across the state. At the end of her reign she will travel to the 1981 American Pork Congress to compete for the title of 1981 National Pork Queen.

Capacity Crowd Attends Allen Christmas Concert

A capacity crowd of more than 600 persons attended a Christmas concert presented by music students in grades kindergarten through 12 of the Allen School Dec. 18.

The program was under the direction of Helen Mogen and Mrs. Jeanne Carlson.

The program included square dancers, cookie-decorated elementary students, special lighting, and a manger scene featuring Mindy Plueger as baby Jesus.

Also highlighting the program were the new concert band uniforms and choir robes.

The audience joined in several Christmas carols and a moment of silence for the hostages in Iran.

Golden Rule

Golden Rule Lodge No. 236 AF and AM met Dec. 19 and elected officers for the coming year.

New officers are Ken Linafelter, worshipful master; Ed Fahrholz, senior warden; Dick Oleson, junior warden; Irvin Durant, secretary; and Bill Kjer, treasurer.

McAfee Capped

Marcia McAfee of Allen was capped during ceremonies Dec. 21 at the First Lutheran Church in Sioux City.

Marcia is a student at Western Iowa Tech in Sioux City, studying for a degree in licensed practical nursing.

Attending the capping ceremony were the Paul Koesters, Gene Lundin, the Scott McAfees of Lincoln, the Stan McAfees, Jeff McAfee, the Larry Koesters and the Duane Koesters.

Drawing Winners

Winners of a drawing Dec. 22 sponsored by merchants of Allen were Mary Magnuson, Forrest Trewett, Peggy Kliver and Julie Sullivan for the Security State Bank; Doug Ellis for Schroeder Propane; S.E. Whitford for Farmers Coop; and Scott Morgan, Violet Jackson, Patricia Malcom, Lori Jackson, Sheryl Boyle, Marlene Smith, Marilyn Creamer, Ed Fahrholz, Jackie Rahn and Margaret Onderstal for the Cash Store.

Auction Held

Nearly $298 was raised following an auction of new and used items Dec. 22 on Allen's main street.

The auction was sponsored by the Senior Citizens Fund Raising Board, with all proceeds earmarked for the remodeling of the Senior Citizens Center in Allen.

The new center will be located in the back of the cafe. The building is owned by the Allen American Legion.

Services Changed

Services at the Allen and Dixon United Methodist Churches will change times beginning Sunday, Jan. 6.

Let's Keep the Outsiders Out

My great grandparents settled this land over a hundred years ago. They fought prairie fires, drought, grasshoppers, blizzards... just about anything you could imagine. They settled this land because they had a dream. And hope for a better tomorrow.

Outsiders called this the Great American Desert. Through a lot of hard work, my family has made this "so-called" desert blossom.

Our local banker had a lot of faith in us, too. He always has been our silent partner. In good times and bad, we could count on him when the going got rough. Right now, our banker needs our help. Because there's a bill in front of the legislature that if adopted would give the go-ahead for the expansion of Multibank Holding Companies.

What does that mean to you? It means that a lot of small banks in this state would be in danger of being bought out by these huge holding companies. It means that your local bank might be bound by decisions made hundreds of miles away. Decisions on loans and credit would be made by an impersonal banker you've never met. And local control of your bank would be lost. Forever.

My banker has been with me all these years and I figure he needs my help. I say let's keep the outsiders out.

Write your legislator now. And tell him where you stand on L.B. 69, the Multibank Holding Company Bill. It could make quite a difference in your life. And mine.

World Ag Output Slight Drop

For the first time in seven years, world agricultural output declined in 1979. Global output of agricultural commodities this year, excluding the People's Republic of China (PRC), dropped about two percent from 1978, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

In a summary of the World Agricultural Situation, released recently by the Economics, Statistics and Cooperatives Service (ESCS), USDA economists reported that production in the developed countries, including the USSR and Eastern Europe, fell almost 3 percent in 1979, while output in the developing countries held nearly steady. Agricultural output fell in all major industrialized countries, except in the United States. The USSR's reduced grain crop cut their overall agricultural production by 12 percent in 1979. U.S. agricultural output was up by five percent. Among the developing countries, output increases in East Asia, Latin America and Pakistan offset declines in India and West Asia.

Total 1979 world food production declined 2.5 percent. The output of developed countries dropped approximately 3.5 percent while production in the developing countries held almost stable. Per capita food production decreased by 3.3 percent. The 1979 declines in food output, on a per capita basis, were approximately equal in both the developed and developing countries. Population continues to grow about two percent annually in the developing countries while remaining constant or increasing minimally in the developed countries.

Economic activity worldwide in 1980 is expected to slacken. Growth in major developed countries may slow to two percent with higher inflation and unemployment anticipated. This slowdown in the developed countries may influence the developing countries. Rising oil prices and general inflation will be major factors impacting global economic activity.

World grain production for 1979/80 (wheat, coarse grains and milled rice) totaled 1.38 billion tons, four percent below the previous year. As a result of record carry in stocks, supplies this marketing year will be down less than two percent from 1978/79. World consumption is likely to hold near last year's record level. To maintain consumption will require a 31-million-ton drawdown in global stocks to 195 million tons and a 10 percent increase in world grain trade. Virtually all the increased trade will be with the Soviet Union.

World production of protein meals, fats and oils in 1979/80 is expected to continue increasing. U.S. soybean production was up 20 percent in 1979. The South American crop, which will be harvested in early 1980, is currently forecast to increase sharply from the last two year's drought-reduced level.

World cotton production will be up seven percent in 1978/80 to a record 64.2 million bales. Slowing gains in consumption will probably lead to a stock buildup of 0.8 billion bales.

Beef and veal production in major producing countries has declined in recent years and will probably continue to decrease in 1980. However, larger pork and poultry production will continue to offset this decline. Global milk production has continued upward this year, although a sharp drop in the USSR's output limited the overall 1979 gain. World milk output in 1980 will continue to exceed use, and dairy surpluses are expected to remain in major producing nations.

Sugar output worldwide is expected to decrease this year. Rising consumption will contribute to reduced stocks and stronger prices. Coffee output in 1979/80 is up somewhat, but consumption is rising and stocks may be reduced during this year. The freezer earlier this year is having little impact on 1979/80 production; it may, however, reduce 1980/81's potential crop.

Limited supplies and transportation difficulties in some exporting countries will probably result in the United States providing much of the increased grain trade for 1979/80. The U.S. will remain the only major supplier of soybeans and meal in the world until March 1980, when new-crop Southern Hemisphere soybeans and products reach the market.

These factors indicate another strong export year for U.S. agriculture. Exports of farm products in fiscal 1980 are expected to reach about $38 billion, up a fifth from a year ago. Although price increases will account for some of the gain, export volume is anticipated to increase 16 percent. Agricultural exports in fiscal 1980 could total between $35 and $40 billion, depending on weather, demand conditions, and transportation developments.

U.S. agricultural exports to Iran have virtually ceased. Given the situation in that country, the International Longshoremen's Union has refused to load ships destined for Iran. In recent years, Iran has purchased from the United States roughly 25 percent of its total agricultural imports, including the bulk of its grains, oil meals and vegetable oils. However, some imports from the United States slowed this summer as a result of Iran's efforts to diversify its supplies. Iran's wheat and rice supplies may be sufficient for the short term, but any slowing or stoppage of imported vegetable oils, feed grains, and soymeal would have an immediate effect. The loss of imported feed grains and meals would adversely impact Iran's poultry industry.

State's Hog Numbers Show Slight Increase

Nebraska pork producers had an estimated 4.15 million hogs and pigs on hand Dec. 1, up 14 percent from a year ago. Hogs and pigs kept for breeding totaled 560,000 which was 2 percent below last year. Market hogs; at 3.59 million, were up 17 percent from a year ago.

Market hog weight groups are as follows:

Under 60 pounds	1,418,000, up 9 percent;
60 to 119 pounds	933,000, up 19 percent;
120 to 179 pounds	718,000, up 30 percent;
180 pounds and over	521,000, up 17 percent.

During the September-November quarter, 235,000 sows produced a pig crop of 1.72 million pigs, up 12 percent from a year ago and 29 percent above two years ago.

Nebraska pork producers plan to have 210,000 sows farrow during the December-February quarter, up 8 percent from last year and 45 percent above two years ago. During the March-May quarter, they intend to have 260,000 sows farrow, down 5 percent from a year ago but 24 percent above two years ago. For the next six-month period, intended farrowings are at the same level as a year ago.

ASA Boards Sets Goal For Membership Drive

The American Soybean Association (ASA) board of directors has set a goal of 20 percent net increase in membership for 1980.

To initiate the 1980 membership campaign, members of the ASA Board of Directors attending the recent meeting in St. Louis joined in a Japanese ceremonial tradition of painting one eye of a Japanese Daruma-doll symbolizing good luck in achieving a goal. The doll will be on display at ASA World Headquarters in St. Louis until the association reaches its membership goal. When the goal is reached, state leaders will follow Japanese custom by painting the other eye of the doll.

ASA members will have a special incentive to increase membership this year as a result of an incentive program sponsored by Mobby Chemical Corporation. The membership incentive program will provide an expense paid trip for 20 ASA members and their spouses to view ASA market development activities in Mexico.

The program is designed as an incentive, both to current members in signing new members and to prospective members joining ASA for the first time as ten trips will be provided to those who sign the most new members and ten trips will be provided to randomly selected new members.

"We are confident that this incentive program, combined with the Association's renewed effort in membership development, will help us achieve our goal of 20 percent net increase in membership by June 1, 1980," says ASA Membership Chairman B.B. Sprattling Jr., a soybean producer from Roba, Alabama. "The Mobby incentive program is an excellent opportunity for members to benefit from their special efforts to bring new members into the association."

"Certainly anyone who is serious about producing soybeans and making a profit should be part of ASA," he says, explaining, "the weekly market newsletter, Soybean Update, produced by the association is just one of the services that comes to every member. In addition, members can keep abreast of developments in Washington, D.C. which have a tremendous effect on our prices. Keeping tabs on the ever increasing role of government in our business of farming is perhaps one of the most important aspects of membership services provided by ASA."

The establishment of a membership goal is the second time ASA Board of Directors has adopted this Japanese custom of goal setting by painting the eye of a Daruma doll. The first Daruma doll was to mark the growth of Japanese soybean imports from the two million tons in 1970 to 3 1/2 million tons in 1976. Today, Japan is the largest single importer of U.S. soybeans.

Joining in the ceremonies set the membership goal and paint the eye of the Daruma doll, was Mr. Sumio Tsunara of Mitsui and Company, a Japanese firm that imports soybeans. A graduate of Tokyo University, Tsunara joined Mitsui eight years ago. He is on a one-year assignment to the U.S. to learn the infrastructure of the U.S. soybean industry. He is attached to Mitsui's Memphis headquarters but is currently assigned to Peoria, Ill. where he is working with Golt Coast Grain.

Winter Wheat Seedings Rise

Nebraska winter wheat seedlings for the 1980 crop totaled 3.1 million acres, three percent above the preceding year and seven percent above 1978. Seeding progressed at a near normal pace. However, germination and development were slowed until much of the crop received adequate precipitation during late October. Late fall crop growth was good; however, overall development lagged behind normal as the crop entered winter dormancy.

Based on condition of seeded acreage as of Dec. 1, the 1980 production is forecast at 93 million bushels, up seven percent from the 1979 crop.

Nebraska rye seedlings for the 1980 crop totaled 90,000 acres, ten percent less than the previous year and five percent below 1978.

Farmers in the U.S. seeded 56.8 million acres of winter wheat in the fall of 1979 for the 1980 crop. This is nine percent more than last year's 51.9 million acres and 19 percent more than the acreage planted two years ago.

Winter wheat production for 1980, based on condition of the crop on Dec. 1, 1979, is forecast at 1.57 billion bushels. This is three percent less than the production in 1979. Seeded yield is forecast at 27.6 bushels per acre. In comparison, last year's average was 31 bushels per planted acre.

Growers seeded 2.65 million acres of rye for all purposes in the fall of 1979. This is 14 percent less than the 1979 crop plantings of 3.08 million acres and 11 percent below 1978 crop seedings.

The great Duomo Cathedral of Milan, begun in 1386, contains the world's largest stained glass windows.

Exports Show Record

U.S. farm exports hit a record $32 billion in fiscal 1979, improving the country's agricultural balance of trade by 18 percent.

Wheat Growers Yield Increase

Nebraska wheat growers produced 86.7 million bushels of wheat in 1979, 6 percent above last year, according to the Nebraska Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. The final yield of 34 bushels per acre was up two bushels from last year. Harvested acres for 1979 were estimated at 2,550,000, unchanged from 1978.

Production of oats in 1979 totaled 20.1 million bushels, 5 percent below the 1978 crop of 21.2 million bushels. This was the smallest oat crop since 1972. The yield at 53 bushels per acre was six bushels above last year's yield. Harvested acres at 380,000 were 16 percent below 1978, and the lowest since 1881.

Growers produced 1.2 million bushels of barley in 1979, nine percent above 1978's crop of 1.1 million bushels. The final yield at 43 bushels per acre was five bushels above 1978. Acres harvested, at 28,000 acres, were down 1,000 from 1978.

Production of rye in Nebraska during 1979 totaled 1.1 million bushels, nine percent above last year. The average yield per acre was 22 bushels, 3 bushels higher than 1978. An estimated 50,000 acres were harvested, down six percent from 1978.

Department of Agriculture economists reported recently.

This was a 17 percent jump over the cash value of exports for the previous year — also a record-breaker.

Robert Tontz and Thomas Warden, economists for the department's Economics, Statistics, and Cooperatives Service, said the exports gained mostly in feedgrains, wheat, wheat products, soybeans, hides and skins, protein meal and cotton. The 1979 fiscal year ended Sept. 30.

In volume, the nation's farm exports rose nearly 4 percent over the year — to 137 million metric tons.

Agricultural products coming into the country also gained, up 16 percent in dollar value to $16 billion. There were increases in all major noncompetitive products — cocoa powder was an exception — and in all competitive products as well, except poultry and sugar.

Noncompetitive imports such as coffee, bananas and cocoa beans were valued at $7 billion, an 8 percent increase over the previous fiscal year. Imported meat products jumped 25 percent to more than $9 billion.

The U.S. farm trade surplus — exports minus imports — hit an all time high of $15.8 billion, exceeding the 1978 total by 18 percent.

For details, call Tontz or Warden at 202-447-8926.

Area Students UNL Grads

More than 900 baccalaureate, graduate and professional degrees were awarded at Commencement Exercises held Saturday in the Bob Devaney Sports Center of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Chancellor Roy A. Young presided at the commencement exercises, at which deans of each of the university's various colleges presented diplomas to graduates from their colleges as they passed across the stage.

The Rev. Gale R. Baldrige, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Lincoln, acted as chaplain at the exercises.

Wayne area graduates included the following:

Master of Arts — Laurel, Robert, George, Gaden; Wakefield, Ernest, Leonard Kovar.

College of Agriculture — Wakefield, Charles Howard Leonard.

Bachelor of Arts — Dixon, Sandra K. George.

LOWER ELKHORN NATURAL RESOURCES DISTRICT

LENRD INCREASING LANDOWNER HABITAT PAYMENTS

The Lower Elkhorn NRD has just approved new rates for the Wildlife Habitat Program, which will pay landowners up to $35 per acre annually for establishing habitat on their land. This private lands program is actually one of a three part program, which is funded by the $7.50 habitat stamp sold with each hunting license. Wildlife Land Acquisition and Public Land Habitat Improvement make up the rest of the program.

1. Wildlife Land Acquisition: Selected good habitat lands are purchased by the Game & Parks Commission and are managed for Wildlife. This insures that at least some habitat will be maintained permanently. Fourteen tracts have been purchased totaling 3,749 acres. Tracts in or near the Lower Elkhorn NRD are:

- 1) Red Wing Wildlife Management Area — 160 acres along the Elkhorn River near Neligh.
- 2) Oak Valley Wildlife Management Area — 480 acres along Battle Creek near the village of Battle Creek.
- 3) Red Fox Wildlife Management Area — 200 acres along the Elkhorn River near Pilger.

These and other Wildlife Management Areas are Open to the Public.

2. Public Land Habitat Improvement: Provides seed, trees and fencing to improve habitat on existing public lands. These lands may be owned by state, local or national government entities. Most significantly, this includes state and county road ditches, which already provide a large percentage of the available nesting cover in Nebraska. Grass seed mixtures are made available free and have already been used for 6,080 acres of seeding along 1240 miles of county roads in Nebraska.

3. Private Lands Habitat: A cooperative program of the Game and Parks Commission and the NRD's, which pays landowners for establishing habitat or protecting existing habitat on their land. This portion of the program has been funded 75 percent by the habitat stamp. However, the Game Commission has been unwilling to increase rates paid to landowners. Therefore, by increasing payments for establishing habitat and public access, LENRD will be paying 41 percent of the cost. Over 30,000 acres of private land are now enrolled in the program statewide.

The Lower Elkhorn NRD offers three of the four available practices plus a public access option and reimbursement for seed and trees.

Practice II — Protection of Existing Habitat

(1) Five year contract between landowner and Natural Resources District. (2) A minimum of three acres and three acres per plot with a maximum of 40 acres in 4 plots. (3) Cover types may be grasses, legumes, or woody species that are existing at the time of application. (4) Payment to landowner is $7.50 per acre annually.

Practice III — Sweet Clover Planting with Oats

(1) Two year contract between landowner and Natural Resources District. (2) A minimum of 10 acres per plot and a maximum total of 50 acres annually. (3) Yellow sweet clover is to be planted as a companion crop with oats. Following the harvest of the oats crop, the clover is to remain undisturbed through the second February following seeding. (4) Only the oats heads may be harvested, with the stubble to be left standing. (5) A payment of $30 per acre will be paid at the end of the two year contract period.

Practice IVa — Grassland Habitat

(1) Three year contract between landowner and Natural Resources District. (2) A minimum of 10 acres with a minimum of 5 acres per plot. A maximum of four plots with a total of 80 acres. (3) Priority will be given to mixtures of sweet clover, red clover, alfalfa, native prairie grasses, or cool season grass. Cool season grass mixtures must contain at least 25 percent legumes. Seeding rates will be established according to SCS standards. (4) Payment to the landowner is $30 per acre annually.

Public Access Option

Cooperators in any of the above Practices may receive an additional $2.50 per acre annually for Practice II or $3 for Practices III or IVa for agreeing to permit public access on contracted land, by foot traffic only. This access may be for the purpose of hunting, fishing, hiking and trapping. Public access is not required if this option is not used. Land under this option must be 200 yards from inhabited dwellings and feedlots. Contracts including this option will have first priority.

Seed and Tree Payment

Landowners applying for Wildlife Habitat contracts may be eligible to be reimbursed for the cost of the seed or trees planted on contract areas. Mixtures and seeding rates must conform to SCS recommendations with applications approved before seed is purchased. Tree plantings may be for improving existing stands or to obtain a good balance of woody and grassy habitat.

Payment will be for 100 percent of cost of grass seed or the current cost of trees under the Clarke-McNary Program. No payment is made for land preparation or planting.

Public Access has been established as a high priority by the NRD. Applications which include public access and meet all requirements will be approved as they are received. Those applications which do not include public access will not be approved until April 1, and only then if the program limit has not been reached.

Landowners may apply for the Wildlife Habitat Program in January, February, and March at their local Soil Conservation Service office.

Order Clarke-McNary Trees Soon

Landowners are reminded of the seedlings available at low cost from the Clarke-McNary program. Twenty-three species of hardwoods, conifers and shrubs are available at a cost of $17.95 per hundred trees delivered. Orders must be in lots of 100 for each species, except in Dodge and Cumming Counties. In those counties, orders may be placed with Lee Landholm, the NRD tree planter at the same price, but with a minimum of 25 trees per species.

Some species of trees have been sold out and anyone wishing to get the more desirable species or a certain combination of species should order as soon as possible.

This ten year old red cedar windbreak provides a substantial insulating effect for a farmstead plus wildlife cover and beauty.

Soil Conservation Service personnel in local offices are available to assist in designing plantings and ordering trees.

Species sold out are: Rocky Mountain Juniper, Choke Cherry, Hackberry, and Russian Olive.

In short supply are: Honey Locust, Siberian Elm, Lilac and Skunkbush Sumac.

Guide for Firewood Plantations

A new Nebguide is available at local Extension offices which tells landowners how to profitably manage land for firewood production. The publication, entitled Firewood Plantations, rates several species of trees for quality of firewood, rate of growth and where it can be grown. It also shows desirable planting rates and a schedule of harvesting firewood. This publication could be an asset to landowners in utilizing small irregular plots, cutting heating costs and an extra source of income.

With proper management small areas can produce a continuous supply of firewood.

Golf in December? In Nebraska?

Wayne Country Club Course just before Christmas. Golf in late December — that should be something for these enthusiasts to tell their great grandchildren.
