Jury Selection Begins Tuesday In Power Case

Jury selection will begin at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in the Damme vs. state of Nebraska Public Power District case.

VALARIUS H. and Bernice M. Damme, Route 1, Wayne, are plaintiffs in the case in-volving construction of a major NPPD transmission line through Northeast reassnission line in rough Normeast Nebraska.

The Damme case is the first of several expected to be considered over the next several months. Some seven appeals have been received in District Court, three of which were filed by tenants after property owners: decided the original offer was satisfactory. The remainder are appeals by property owners.

property owners.

IN AN ATTEMPT to secure right-of-way for the proposed 345-kilovolt line to serve this part of the state. NPPD filled 47 condemnations in Wayne County several months: ago involving some 116 tracts of land.

In Alling the proceedings, NPPD is exercising its right to entinent domain. It is seeking the right-of-way to land over which a line will run from Hoskins east to a sub-station near Raun, lowa.

Total project cost infittally was estimated at $3.438,000, but a delay of several months due to condemnations has inflated that figure somewhat, an NPPD spokesman sold.

TRANSMISSION line construction is vir-tually complete in Dakota, Stanton and Wayne counties where NPPD has been granted easements.

In addition to the seven cases appealed by property owners and tenants, eight cases were appealed from County Court by NPPD. The appeals were filled by both sides with the feeling that settlements reached in the lower court were either too low (as for property owners), or too high (as for NPPD)

Local Guard Strength Up Slightly, But Still Lagging

-- ACCORDING TO information-released in an Omaha World Herald study recently, Wayne's Co. A (-Det. I) 1st. Bat., Mechanized 134th Inf. had actual manpower of 22 for 28 percent of its authorized strength of 80 persons.

persons.
However, Spangler sald Friday, Wayne has added two recruits since then to bring the total actual strength to 24 for 30 percent of its authorized manpower.

AT THE TIME the survey was printed (Jan. 8), Wayne showed the lowest percentage of authorized manpower and the lowest number of actual manpower. Unless other nulls have expanded also, Wayne now ranks ahead of the O'Neill unit and is fied with the Sidney unit.

The upward frend should continue into the 1980's, and carries over from a similar trend in 1979. Nebraska rose from its all-time low of 68 percent in October, 1978, to 79 percent at the end of December, 1979.

There are now assigned to the Nebraska Guard about 3,629 persons of the 4,574 authorized Strength.

WAYNE IS not the only unit in the region which is well below its authorized strength, Spangler pointed out. The Norfolk unit is at 58 percent of its capacity while the Columbus unit is a little higher at 57 percent of "EFFECTIVE immediately, the U.S. Increase the wheat loan price to $2.50 a bushel; increase the corn loan price to $2.10 a bushel; with comparable increases.

FOR EXAMPLE, he noted that Fairbury, with an estimated population of 5,265, has an authorized strength of 73 and is at 49 percent capacity; Crete, population 4,444, has an authorized strength of 77 and is a 51 percent capacity; Holdredge, population 5,635, has an authorized strength of 52 for 90 percent. Sidney, population of 6,092, has an authorized strength of 52 for 95 percent. One of the reasons for the increase in strength statewide is implementation of a Command Strength Management Program Jan. 1, 1978.

The program mainly is one of increasing public awareness through the participation of its on-board members, getting the word out about what the guard has to offer. Now, men and women who have no prior service join the guard, in exchange for-field-four-year commitment, the state gives them a 75 percent fultion, waiter to any state supported school of higher education to be used anytime while they're in the Guard.

SPANGLER said Wayne State College and Northeast Technical School at Norfolk quality as schools of higher education.

Spangler also noted that enlistees choose from one of two federal incentives: a $1,500.

cash bonus paid in increments during the first three years, and a $2,000 education benefit paid $500 a year for two years of a degree-producing program.

Because of the education benefits, the guard is concentrating on high schools, having visited just about every one in the state during 1979. Spangler noted, however, that some high schools in his recruiting area do not allow military personnel to make strong pitches to high school seniors.

terest in the split option where a student can go through his or her basic training at an active army post one summer, and his or her basic job training the next summer. On the other hand, Spangler sald, a non-prior service person can be in and back from all active duty in 12½ weeks. This helps gradualing high school seniors complete their basic training over the summer and still have time to register for fall classes in college.

THE FIRST Sergeant also said a non-prior service person must enlist for six years to get the two federal incentive pro-grams. A non-prior enlistee can enlist four years in the Guard and still get the 75 per-cent fulfion plus a $300 bonus. The bonus is made in two installments-not later than one year from the date of enlistment.

In addition, Guardsmen also attend drills.

SPANGLER said prior-service people also receive a $300 bonus when entisting.

On the local tevelf, Spangler said there is very little support' for the Guard as far as enlistees are concerned. Since 1971, he'said, only one Wayne Carroll High School senior has enlisted.

Winter's Simplicity

OLD MAN WINTER has been kind to us in Northeast Nebraska this year, even to the point of providing residents with some of his best scenic efforts, Recent snow, high humidity and frost conditions combined with everything from barn yards, power lines and creeks to fence posts to result in simplistic beauty.

The Slouxland Blood Bank will be accept-ing donations at Providence Medical Genter from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Thursday, Jan.

DONORS MUST be in generally good health, be between the ages of 17 and 66 (lowa and South Dakota requer 17 year old to have written parental consent), eat an adequate meal before donation, never had hepatitis, jaundice or cancer and undergo a mini-physical exam prior to donation.

The last six donors will be screened at 2:30 p. ft.

p.m. President Carter has joined with the American Association of Blood Banks in designating January as National Volunteer Blood Donor Month.

"EYEN THOUGH this nation has the finest blood banking system in the world, critical shortages exist every, day," the President said in a release. "We continue to rely on the willingness of our citizens to fulfill our traditional compassion for others. "During this month, I ask every American who possibly can to donate a pint of blood."

Middle Age Not Too Late

A Constant Urge to Learn

Fifty-year-old Doris Gaunt has an in-saflable drive to expand her knowledge, so she's ye. He midst of studying for her high school equivalency degree. What makes this even more unique is that this desire for more education is slowly becoming a family affair of sorts.

NOT ONLY IS Doris working toward her diplome, but an older sister and a nephew are taking the GED (general education degree) course through Northeast Technical College in Norfolk. One of her three daughters received a GED degree, the

"I don't want to live through my children," she explained. "I want to be prepared and educated" and be able to experience and appreciate things in life.

Although she agrees higher education is not for everyone, "everyone should be educated," she's aid. "My grandfather carried the Bittle agit the dictionary with him."

her hands and a continuing need for know-ing more about-life.

"I feel better about myself now," she ex-plained. Most people who have completed their education only through the eighth grade think they're dumb, Mrs. Gaunt said. But she found that is not true at all.

main knowledgeable about things over the years, she has read newspapers and watched TV and "has become aware of some things." The GED classes help put it all together for her, she explained.

Getting the GED diploma is 'just something I thought I could do,' she explained. "I've told my children and my nieces and nephews that you can do what you want to do in life, and I decided to practice what I've been preaching."

WHILE GROWING up, Mrs. Gaunt read

SHE FIRST learned of the GED classes through the newspaper a couple of years ago. At the time, she was occupied elsewhere. Now, with children gone (except for a senior at Wayne-Carroll) she is able to continue her learning.

Graduation exercises are scheduled in June. In. Norfolk, and "even my grand-children want to go," she smiled. After that? "Maybe not college, but 1'd like to take some classes at NE Tech," she said.

"I'M INTERESTED in fashion and in aidesire-to complete his education, and Mrs. Gaunt continues to encourage him as well. She is all for the GED classes and hopes to encourage others to seek their diplomas. Mrs. Gaunt feels' that by convincing her relatives and friends to take the course, others who lack the confidence will complete their high school education.

For ter, It's been a highly worthwhile experience. "When 1943 was the last year was in school, times have changed. But I'm going to pass it (the course)."

Police Report

Wayne Police Department has announced its monthly report for December, recording-a total of 124 complaints and requests for service. This compares to 156 for the same period a year ago.

There were 21 criminal complaints made during the month, eight criminal cases were cleared or unfounded and there were four criminal arrests made. Speeding topped arrests made with 25 recorded. There were six no valid registration tickets, six no valid registration tickets, six failure to dispose of parking tickets, five consuming alcohol on a public way, four traffic

America's Biggest Job Belongs to Small Business

Richard L. Lesher, President Chamber of Commerce of the United States

Ouestion: What will happen in the 1989's if we heed the in-growth zealots who want Washington to enforce a lower standard of living, by taxing, redistributing and raftoning away the nation's resources?

Answer: The possible devastation of our economy, and end to the longest and most successful experiment in Individual freedom the world has ever known.

Many people might judge that prediction extreme. They would probably add that with only 6 percent of the world's population, America should feel guilfy about consuming more than 30 percent of the world's energy. But wait a minute. The United States produces a tremendous amount of the world's noted: "While the United States may represent a little less than 6 percent of the world's population, it does not use 30 percent of the world's energy. It does not use 30 percent of the world's energy. It does not use 30 percent of the world's sun, wind, moving water, oxen, donkeys and human backs. That Is what the world meant by energy until the inventiveness released by democratic capitalism 200 years ago changed the meaning of the word."

When we think of energy today, we think of oil, electricity, gas and nuclear power, but we often forget that it was we Americans — the 6 percenters — who developed these modern forms. Indeed, Novak insists: "Six percent of the world's population has invented 100 percent of the we walk away from this problem, we will be inviting worldwide chaos that could engulf us all.

Clearly then, America's greatest challenge in the 1980's lies in renewing powerful economic growth. It is especially important that all those who consider themselves idealists, with a mission to save the world, understand this point. Second, we must also realize that much of this awesome responsibility belongs to small businesse. The some 13 million small businesses in America already form the backbone of our economy. They represent 97 percent of all individual firms, employ more than half the labor force, provide the livelihood for 100 million.Americans and create half our gross national product.

that have earned America her reputation as the country of the future.

But as we look to small business to provide the quality of leadership it has in the past, we must recognize how vulnerable it has become to our economic problems. Inflation puts small business in a bind, since it must pay higher prices for raw materials and supplies) then risk the wrath of consumers if it raises prices. Capital is difficult to obtain because small business, by definition, is so risky. Yet inflation comples firms to borrow more, even as tirncreases the cost of borrowed capital while devaluing the purchasing power of funds ultimately spent. Firms that do take risks, and succeed, face excessive taxes. Finally, regulations and paperwork are especially discriminatory because small business usually cannot at ford the experts meeded to interpret bureaucratic demands.

The Administration, cognizant of these growing difficultiles, plans to host a White House Conference on Small Business, beginning January 13. I anticipate it will be the most intensive examination of small business in our nation's history. The U.S. Chamber has made a major effort helping to organize the Conference and it has prepared a special report to the President, "The State of Small Business."

I am profoundly hopeful the Conference will be productive and issue directives of real substance. The Chamber, so broadly-based with its 90,000 members, of which more than 80 percent are members of small businesses, offers an Ideal vehicle to carry them out. But given the magnitude of the problems we face in the 1980's, an even greater, commitment is needed. We challenge all Americans to become involved in this vital effort.

Favorable Signs in Cattle Market

Director of Information
All signs point toward more enthusiasm on the part of cattle producers and cattle feeders for approval of the Beef Research and Information Act in the "Beeferendum" voting to be conducted Feb. 19-22 through local ASCS offices.

Tyo yeërs ago the majority of eligible cattle people. Voted for implementation of the self-help national beef commodify checkoff or the people with the the they without the self-help national beef commodify checkoff program but not the two-thirds pariety re-program but not the two-thirds majority required at that time. Since the 1977 vote, the law has been changed so that a simple ma-iority will be sufficient to get the program underway. The assessment rate has been changed from three lenths of one percent to two tenths of one percent to two tenths of one percent to two tenths of one percent of the value of the cattle sold for at least the first two years. That translates to 20 cents deduction out of every $100 of recipits from cattle sales. Based on the latest cattle slaughter prices, the two tenths percent rate will generate from $30 to $40 million each year. Beet producers may request refunds on their assessments it not satisfied with the program.

Cattle Industry leaders who this fait launched their "Beeferendum 1980" support program in Denver listed six specific reasons why the beef research and information program is needed. They are as follows:

To right anti-beet propaganda that has been spreading from many sources, even including some government agency reports and programs.

To promote the good nutrition facts about beef. Beef nutritionists note that antimeat booklets and other propaganda are showing up in the nation's schools as well as in the marketplace and must be answered.

To combet beef substitutes. Beef people note that in difficult economic limes consumers shift from beef to poultry and pork because of price differences and beet producers must strive to maintain the cycle. At the Denver meeting, a representative of the National Cattlemen's Association voiced this challenging question, "Where would you be if the next cattle-cycle is as severe as the last-one — would you make it?"

To counter the extremes of the cattle

— To expand foreign markets. A representative of the U.S. Meat Export Federation has stated that passage of the "Beeferendum" will show foreign countries that the U.S. is serious about its foreign market development program and will be a reliable supplier of quality meat products.

— To increase demand for beef and overcome the resistance to the higher beef prices that are needed it cattle producers and feeders are to cope with inflationary costs and continue a high level of production.

Under the current provisions of the Act, all funds and programs will be administered by a national Beef Board made up of cattlemen from across the nation. The number of board members from a given state will be determined by the cattle population of that state, with the intitial board having-60

We don't like to get into the habit of using other people's works to fill our columns, but this time we couldn't pass it up.

It.comes to us compliments of Merlin Wright, who still has some of the newspaper ink pumping through his veins. He got it from the Niobrara newspaper. The tale has been passed along through several sets of hands, apparently, originating in Arizona or Oklahoma or Texas or all three. We're not sure, but here follows the story:

My friend is a rather old fashloned lady, always quite delicate and elegant, especially in her language. She and her husband were planning a week's vacation in Florida, so she wrote to a particular campground and asked for a reservation.

She wanted to make sure the campground was fully equipped, but didn't know quite how to ask about the toilet facilities. She just couldn't bring herself to write the word "toilet" in her letter.

Atter much deliberation, she finally came up with the old-fashloned term "bathroom commode."

But when she wrote that down, she still ter, and referred to the bathroom merety asthe B.C.

"Does the campground have jits own B.C.?" Is what the proper lady actually wrote, so goes the yarn.
Well, the campground owner wasn't old fashioned at all, and when-he go the letter, he just couldn't figure out what the woman was talking about. That "B.C." really stumped him.

After worrying about if for a while, he showed the letter to several campers, who likewise couldn't imagine what the lady meant.
So, the campground owner, finally coming to the conclusion that the lady must be asking about the location of the Baptist Church, sait down and wrote the following repty.

Dear Madam:

I regret very much the delay in answering your letter, but I now take the pleasure of informing you that a, B. C. is located nine miles morth or the campground and is capable of seating 250 people at one time.

I admit it is quite a distance away if you are in a habit of going regularly, but no doubt you will be pleased to know what a great number of people take their lunches along and make a day of it.

They usually arrive early and stay late.

The last time my wife and I went was six years ago, and it was so crowded we had to stand up-the whole time we were there. It may interest you-to know that right now there is a supper planned to raise money to buy more seats. They're going to hold it in the basement of the B.C.

I would like to say it pains me very much not to be able to go more regularly, but it surely is no lack of desire on my part.

As we grow older, it seems to be more of an effort, particularly in cold weather. It you decide to come down to the campground, perhaps I could go with you the first time you go, sit with you, and introduce you to all the other folks.

Remember, this is a friendly community.

Sounds like maybe it could have originated in Texas, since the state is known for its tall hals and tall tales. We can thank Merlin for making our day a little brighter.

And this week's item of triviata:
If you think Adelle Davis brewed up a storm over nutrition, you should have been around when Sylvester Graham, father of the graham cracker, was stirring up the country with his lectures and books in the 1830's-1840's.
He antagonized thousands by opposing such standard commodifies as tea, coffee, tobacco, alquor, meat, corsets and featherbeds. He also persuaded thousands to follow his diet. Tals included bread made of coarse flour, since known as Graham flour.

The number of Grahamites became so great that, to accommodate them, scores of Graham boarding houses were established and restaurants set apart special Graham

Jon Jacobomeler started Wayne on its winning frack by shutting out, his opponent in the 89 pound class. Jacobmeler raised his individual record to 10-5 by scoring on a takedown in the first period and on a reversal and penalty point in the third.

The Blue Devils broke the match open with three consecutive pins in the 112, 119 and 126 pound classed. Mike Lutt pinned his opponent in the first period, Schock pinned his opponent in the first period, Schock pinned his opponent in the third period with a 12-1 lead and Doescher pinned his opponent in the third period with a 12-1 lead and Doescher pinned his opponent in the third period or a 7-5 come from behind win in the 132 pound class, upping his record to 12-4.

After Wayne lost the next two matches, Johnson put his team back in the driver's seat with a pin in the third period. He started out slowly falling behind 2-0 but added a reversal and near pin late in the first period for a 5-2 lead. Wisner's Jim Rathke offered strong resistance to Johnson but the Wayne senior ended his match after building a 13-4 lead.

Agron Schuett took a 4-0 lead over his opponent and held on for a 6-2 win in the 167 pound class giving the Blue Devils a 33-9 lead. The night's finale ended as it so often has in the past two years—with Dan Mit-

"It seems obvious that all these administrative measures will not only help, wheat producers but will also benefit the nation as a whole. These steps are necessary to affect the negative impact of the lost export earnings," concludes Sullivan.

'Footsteps' to Show System

The planetarium show "Footsteps," which examines the formation of the solar system, will be shown at 3:30 p.m., Sundays, Jan. 20 — Fob. 24, at the Wayne State College (WSC) Dale Planetarium. The shows are open free to the public.

The show explores the reasons why the Earth and Moon are radically-different worlds. The program follows the Apolto astronauts to the surface of the Moon, with a look at what the future may hold as men and women become citizens of the Universe.

The Dale Planetarium, located in the Carhart Science Building

Missing Tooth Awards

The state Health Department's Division of Emergency Medical Services says that knowing the right felephone number to call can save lives in an emergency. Experience has shown that accidents or other medical emergencies occur most frequently in the home, at work, or traveiling to and from work. Important felephone numbers to have posted near the felephone include police, fire, ambulance, physician and poison control center.

Of the many emergencies that can happen in the home, acciden-tal poisoning can be the most tragic as it most often affects young children. The Division of Emergency Medical Services recommends that in addition to storing household chemical pro-ducts and medicines under lock and key that every household have the toll-free telephone number of Nebraska's Polson Control Center next to the telephone. The statewide toll-free number is: 800-642-999. In the Omaha metro-area, the Polson Control Center number is: 533-5400.

The knowledge of how to obtain help in an emergency is only one facet of Nebraska's Emergency Medical Services Systems. The EMS System includes prevention, detection, notification, dispatch, on-scene treatment, transportation, care in the hospital emergency department.

Billions in Food Bought

Shoppers bought more than $6.4 billion worth of food with food stamps this year, according to Carol Tucker Foreman, assistant secretary of agriculture for food and consumer services.

The poor spent $2 billion more on food in 1979 than they would have without the food stamp program, she said.

Food stamp dollars benefit U.S. food retailers and farmers, while helping to feed the nation's hungry. Foreman said.

A department report on the economic effects of food stamps showed that spending for food as a result of the stamps increased the income of food processors and
