ONE HUNDRED FOURTH YEAR NUMBER FORTY

W-C Board Puts Learning Disabilities Policy on Hold

Discussion of a proposed learning disabilities policy occupied the Wayne-Carroll School District board of directors for about an hour at their regular meeting Monday night.

THE PROPOSAL, presented by board member Dorothy Ley, is a revised version of a similar proposal presented several months ago. It would provide guidelines for the learning disability program in Wayne-Carroll schools.

After the discussion, the board decided to table action on the matter until another revised version was submitted by Mrs. Ley. Several changes were suggested, and Supt. Francis Haun will survey high school teachers as to their willingness to take additional college courses in the area of learning disabilities.

The proposed policy, after the board made its changes, is as follows:

"IN ORDER THAT every student may be better served in reaching his potential, all new teaching staff on the elementary and lower middle level school (K-6) will fulfill one of the following options:

- (1) "Before being employed, staff members will have taken eight hours or more of SLD (specific learning disabilities) training focused upon teaching techniques proved effective with youngsters who have specific learning disabilities; or
- (2) "In the SLD area, new staff members will accumulate four or more hours their first year in the Wayne system and a total of eight or more by the end of their second year.

"THEY WILL confer with the director of special education and their respective principals to work out a program which will be of most benefit to the 25 to 30 percent of their students who have differing learning styles and thereby need alternative teaching techniques; or

(3) "They will participate in a year of classroom training in which the SLD resource teacher will first demonstrate effective SLD teaching in the new staff member's classroom, then team teach with the new teacher, and finally act as a consultant to the new staff member."

THE BOARD deleted the following section:

"On the upper middle school and high school levels, the first two options apply except in the English area, where all three apply. The requirement of hours is reduced to four on the upper middle school and high school levels. English teachers, however, also are required to complete the summer practicum on the middle school and high school levels unless they have elected option 3."

The board also is considering incentives for current faculty to take learning disability courses.

"IN ENCOURAGING present staff to complete the training, I would suggest that an offer be made to pay the tuition for anyone completing the courses in 1980. If 30 teachers took advantage of the offer, it would cost $2,370—a small price to pay, in my opinion, for improved instruction, not only for the 250 to 300 youngsters who vitally need alternative techniques, but for the entire student body in our district.

"What I hear over and over from teachers who have had the SLD training is that they become better teachers of all youngsters because they learn to view each student as an individual with his own unique learning style," Mrs. Ley said in her proposal.

THE MONEY for the tuition would come from money already budgeted for a special education position which was not filled, she explained.

Mrs. Ley said the proposal involving K-6 currently is being done in the district. However, "what I would like to see before I leave this board is for the board to translate what has been the practice into policy so it can be a guidepost for faculty and administration," she said.

BOARD MEMBERS reiterated their concern about the lack of courses available on the college level for secondary level learning disabilities. Colleges have not caught up to the needs of secondary requirements in the SLD area, it was pointed out.

In addition, there would be some problem at the secondary levels getting teachers back to school to take these courses, Superintendent Haun said.

"I can accept the proposal from a philosophical point of view, but I can't from a practical point of view," Haun explained. "The courses are just not there for the secondary instructors."

MRS. LEY countered that "colleges are moving in that direction, but it's slow. I guess I'm impatient because I've seen so many excellent results on the elementary levels."

The board's decision to table the matter will provide Mrs. Ley a chance to revise the policy proposal to meet the board's suggestions.

Superintendent Haun also will complete his survey of high school instructors to see how many are interested in taking a 2 to 3-hour, SLD-related course if money is made available to them for tuition.

RICHARD AND Gail Korn installed a solar heating unit for their home three miles south of Wayne. The system pumps solar-heated air into the house and draws unheated air from the house into the unit for heating. At right is a diagram of how the unit functions. The only major drawback of the system is that it does not work efficiently when the sun is not shining and it is susceptible to high winds.

Solar Heat Unit Helps Korn's Keep Furnace Use Low

"Energy from the sun should be yours," reads the information sheet promoting Solar Pak. The Richard Korn's, and several others in the area, agree.

THE IDEA IS as simple and basic as one could imagine. We've all been in a hot house, more commonly referred to as a greenhouse; the idea is the same. Heat from the sun is trapped inside an area and used to our benefit.

By using four sheets of 8-mil plastic, with a "static air space" in between, the sun's heat is collected and then circulated into a house. Once the temperature inside the solar unit, which is similar to a ribbed plastic bag reaches 80 degrees, a thermostat kicks on a fan and the heat is pumped into the house.

MORE SPECIFICALLY explained, the sun's rays pass through the lens (two sheets of clear plastic ribbed for strength and wind resistance) and are trapped by the absorber unit which is the area between the four sheets of ribbed plastic. The back two sheets are black to enhance absorption of the sun's heat.

Static air in the lens unit acts as an insulator to prevent the absorbed heat from being lost.

Cool air is blown into the cold air inlet and travels the length of the absorber. En route, the air picks up energy absorbed by the thin, black plastic.

AFTER TRAVELING the full length of the absorber (about 140 linear feet in the 8 x 12' collector) it exits at the main valve.

The air then travels back across the top of the absorber unit and under the lens unit to the hot air outlet. During this time, the air is absorbing even more heat as turbulence is created by the high pressure, hot air agitators.

The warm air (up to 140 degrees F.) can be used for space heating, water heating through a heat exchanger, or to charge a rock storage battery.

ALTHOUGH the Korn's unit has been in use only about six weeks, they are convinced it is reducing their utility bills. "The furnace simply doesn't run when it's (the solar unit) on," Mrs. Korn explained.

A major drawback of Korn's unit is the lack of a storage system. The unit works only when the sun is shining, they explained, and, obviously, is more effective when temperatures are higher.

TEMPERATURES inside the solar unit peak around 140 degrees and air entering the house through long insulated tubes is nearly that high. As a result, the entire house is four to five degrees warmer.

The system is designed to reduce utility costs by about 30 percent, the Korn's explained, but the type of fuel used is a determining factor.

The units normally are installed on the south side of a house or building to ensure maximum heating absorption. The closer the unit is to the structure, the shorter the tubes which transfer the heat to the building and the more efficient the solar unit is.

ALSO, WINDS during the winter months are traditionally from the north/northwest. Wind can affect the efficiency of the unit, particularly if the wind is blowing against the unit.

However, the outside temperature has little effect on the temperature inside the unit. As long as the sun is shining, the temperature inside the unit remains warm enough to effectively warm a house or building.

AT A COST of $700, the unit should pay for itself in a few years, the Korn's predicted. "I'm sure there will be difference in the utility bills," Mrs. Korn said.

She also has talked with the Solar Energy Office in Lincoln, seeking their opinions and recommendations.

"He (a spokesman for the office) stressed that we shouldn't do something like this without doing everything else first," Mrs. Korn explained. A house or building should be thoroughly insulated and winterized before installing a solar unit. If not, the heated air escapes through the walls and cracks, thus reducing the unit's efficiency.

THE KORNS said the Solar Pak is double glazed with a double thickness of plastic. A dead air space averaging 4 inches thick acts as an effective insulator to contain the trapped heat. The air absorbs even more heat as it passes over the warm absorber on the second pass.

Absorbed energy quickly travels through the thin plastic to be picked up by the air stream. The static air, or pillow of dead air, effectively insulates the absorber unit from the mounting surface, they explained.

ALTHOUGH IT IS too early to tell results, friends and neighbors who are using the same type of system claim similar results. But in the meantime, this winter's unseasonable weather continues to help keep utility bills at a minimum. The Korn's haven't had a good opportunity to test their system, but they aren't complaining, either.

Mother Russia Can Be A Bear

A somewhat somber view of the Soviet Union was provided by Mrs. Helen James at the regular Kiwanis Club luncheon meeting Monday at the Black Knight.

MRS. JAMES and her husband, Ross, recently toured portions of the Soviet Union by bus.

One of the first warnings about the USSR was not to get sick there. Doctors had told them not to get sick in Russia. She was told that hospitals there are similar to what hospitals were like in the United States in the 1930's.

Medical and surgical procedures used there were abandoned in the U.S. some 30 years ago, she said. In fact, there were some reports of leeches still being used as a defense against infections.

"OUR TRIP there was more of an education than a vacation," she said.

Along the entire journey, tour guides and other tour experts reiterated a long list of do's and don'ts for those on the bus trip. Tourists were asked not to say anything that might jeopardize the safety of the tourists or the guides.

Mrs. James said she and her fellow passengers were continually intimidated by the Russians through a variety of methods.

THE BUS passengers were never allowed to get off the bus without permission of Russian officers, and passports were checked, rechecked and then checked again for authenticity. On several occasions, hotel or motel accommodations were altered at the last minute to provide for Russian officials.

None of the Russian authorities or guides ever smiled, adding to the feeling of forboding, she said.

IF PASSENGERS had questions, they had to be submitted in writing and then reviewed by Russian authorities. The Russians answered the questions they wanted, she explained.

When asked by tourists why they never smiled, several Russians said that "You Americans have never had a war in your front yard. You Americans have never had a war in your back yard."

Mrs. James noted that travel through the USSR by bus was far different than travel by plane. Bus tourists were ill treated, intimidated and made to feel unwelcome, while plane tourists were made to feel more welcome.

IN CLOSING, she quoted Pope John Paul's words as he was leaving the United States last fall: "God Bless America. God Bless America."

Fairchild Inducted As Eagle

JIM FAIRCHILD, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern D. Fairchild, was inducted into the Eagle Court of Honor Sunday at Wayne-Carroll High School. At the age of 8, he became a Cub Scout and moved through the ranks of Boy Scouts later. Troop offices he has held include assistant patrol leader, patrol leader, senior patrol leader, quartermaster and junior assistant scoutmaster. From left are Glenn Jansma, Troop 120 committeeman; Jim, his mother and father.

School Lunches To Be Topic Tuesday Night

Persons with questions concerning the school lunch program in the Wayne-Carroll School District are invited to a meeting of the Wayne Community Council Tuesday, Jan. 22.

The council, which serves as liaison between the community and school, will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the high school library.

Program speaker, Marjorie Summers, head of the school lunch program here, will review federal guidelines that schools must follow to get federal assistance for the school lunch program.

Becky Keidel, Community Council president, said Mrs. Summers also will be answering questions anyone might have concerning the program.

NPPD Trial Underway At Courthouse

Witnesses continued to testify Wednesday morning in the Damme vs. Nebraska Public Power District jury trial at Wayne County Courthouse.

Jurors were selected Tuesday morning, with three witnesses for the plaintiff called Tuesday afternoon. Defense witnesses were expected to be called Wednesday afternoon with the case possibly going to the jury late Wednesday afternoon.

Valerius H. and Bernice M. Damme, Route 1, Wayne, are the plaintiffs, with NPPD the defendant.

The suit involves construction of an NPPD 245-kilovolt transmission line to serve Northeast Nebraska. NPPD has filed condemnation proceedings in Wayne County involving some 116 tracts of land, one of which is owned by the Dammes.

Congregation Says Good-Bye to Minister of 37 Years

By LaVon Beckman

Someone once said, "There is nothing on earth as dangerous as a dedicated Christian." Persons subscribing to that philosophy have never met the Rev. S.K. deFreese — minister of the Redeemer Lutheran Church for the past 37 years.

Pastor deFreese retired last month at the age of 64, devoting over half of those years to the congregation at Redeemer Lutheran.

During his 37 years of ministry in the Wayne

THIRTY-SEVEN YEARS OF ministry at the Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wayne came to an end last month for the Rev. S.K. deFreese. Pastor deFreese retired after serving the Wayne congregation since 1942. At an open house reception Dec. 30, the minister and his wife Mary, photo at left, were presented a plaque from the congregation, commemorating their many years of service to the church. Among the 300 persons attending the reception in their honor were the Rev. and Mrs. Tom Mendenhall of Wayne, pictured above.

Among those speaking at the reception was the Rev. Paul Moeller of Wisner, district dean of the Lutheran Church in America, who recalled deFreese's years with Redeemer Lutheran, beginning in 1942 in the midst of World War II.

Pastor deFreese was born at Verdon, Nebraska, where his father served as minister of a rural Lutheran Church. He was one of four sons, including Paul and Louis, who also are ministers, and Luther, who recently retired as director of the YMCA in Kansas City, Kan.

Paul still serves as pastor of Kountze Memorial Lutheran Church in Omaha. Louis is a minister at the First Lutheran Church in Oklahoma City.

The Wayne minister, who had several uncles who also were clergymen, says his family was a great influence in his decision to become a minister.

That ministry began as a supply pastor in Columbus following his ordination. Shortly after, he was called to Redeemer Lutheran Church to follow the Rev. W.F. Most, who planned to return to school.

deFreese says he is proud of a great many things that have occurred since his ministry began at Redeemer Lutheran, including the fact that the church has seen four persons go into full-time ministry since he came.

Sister Sophie Damme went into the diaconate shortly after deFreese's arrival in Wayne. Other sons of the congregation choosing a life of ministry are Pastor Harlan Heier, ordained in 1955, and Pastor Robert Sleckman, ordained in 1961, now serving parishes in Beatrice and North Glenn, Colo. The Rev. William Koerber, who serves a parish in Gretna, was ordained in 1967.

In 1971, the congregation sent Pastor deFreese and his wife, Mary, on a trip to the Holy Land, a trip he fondly recalls as being another highlight during his years at Redeemer Lutheran.

The minister says he also is proud of the fact that Redeemer Lutheran has been served by so few ministers — only eight — since the church was organized in 1889.

"It is a tough decision to retire," says deFreese, adding that the church has been like a family. "I'll miss it, it's a part of me."

Reflecting on his years as a minister, deFreese said he faced many emotional tests. "A pastor's life is not really his own, because no matter when emergencies arise, you stay with it, sometimes all through the day and night."

"You gotta be healthy when you go into the ministry," laughs the pastor.

Beside him through all his years in ministry has been the pastor's wife, Mary. "Mary was there for me to talk to when I was feeling low," says deFreese lovingly. "She may even be more dedicated than I am." "She takes everything to heart."

Looking to the future of Redeemer Lutheran, deFreese says he would like to be a young fellow just coming out of seminary. "The church has such a history of steady growth," he says, adding the church has always tried to keep up with everything, and has done a pretty good job of it.

Pastor deFreese says he'll miss many things now that he's retired. "One thing I won't miss though is the people." "You can always find people," he says, adding that he and Mary still feel a part of many, many families.

Looking ahead, the pastor and his wife are planning to move soon to a home they purchased in Wayne. Mary will continue to teach at the local elementary school, and the pastor says he'd like to catch up on his sleep, reading and tennis, but maybe not in that order.

"Our future plans are just to enjoy ourselves," adds Mary. "Now we can go and visit our children at Christmas and Easter, when before, I couldn't go during the week and pastor couldn't go on the weekends."

The couple's family includes three daughters. Sue, the oldest, and her husband, Don Larsen, farm near Wayne and have two sons. She also teaches at the local elementary school. Another daughter, Mrs. Nancy Cox, resides with her husband Allen and two sons in Hattiesburg, Miss. Nancy owns a private kindergarten and her husband teaches at the University there. The couple's youngest daughter, Mary Beth, is married to Wayne native Glen Teeter. They reside in Stillwater, Okla., where Mary is working on her master's degree and Glen is earning his doctorate.

Winside Tops Beemer In Doubleheader

BOB HAWKINS ups Winside's lead with a steal and lay up in action against Beemer, Tuesday night.

It was double the action and double the fun as Winside's girls' and boys' basketball teams defeated Beemer in a doubleheader Monday night in the Winside High School gym.

Winside's lucky number was 48 as the girls defeated Beemer 48-35 in the evening's opener and the Winside boys won their game 48-32.

It was the first home game of the season for the boys and only the second for the girls.

Boys

Winside boys' basketball coach Dennis Gonnerman is going to get plenty of exercise this week, following a 48-32 win over Beemer.

Gonnerman made an agreement with his Wildcats that he would run five laps around the gym for every player who committed less than two turnovers in a game. The only stipulation was that each player must see action for two quarters of play to be eligible.

Against Beemer, the Wildcats committed only nine turnovers. Unofficial statistics showed four players with two quarters of action and less than two turnovers. That means Gonnerman would have to run 20 laps at practice this week.

But he's not complaining. "We only made nine turnovers while Beemer's 22 turnovers gave us 15 points," said Gonnerman following the victory. "It was nice to win two games in a row. We played a good game."

"We started out like a ball of fire," Gonnerman said about the first quarter action. His Wildcats jumped off to leads of 4-0 and 14-7 as Brad Roberts popped in outside shots.

Randy Ritze took over for Winside in the second quarter by gunning field goals from the right corner which led to a 23-18 half-time lead.

Bob Hawkins, Winside's 6-3 center, came alive in the second half, scoring easy baskets on in-bound passes and grabbing key rebounds on the defensive board.

The seven point third quarter lead blossomed in the final period despite Beemer's deliberate type of play. Byron Schellenberg added four field goals to Winside's total as the Cats put the game out of reach.

"Their slow-down game hurt our offense for awhile but we got good board play and kept them off balance with our press," said Gonnerman. "We broke their press well, especially with Randy Ritze hitting from the corner."

Girls

The Winside girls' shook a slow first quarter and got back on track for a 48-35 triumph over Beemer, Monday before a home crowd.

Eight of Winside's 17 turnovers were committed in the first quarter but the Wildcats still led 10-8 at the end of the period.

Kathy Thies and Marci Thomas directed the Winside offense with good outside shooting and ball handling enroute to the win. The Wildcats led 24-20 at the half and increased the lead in the final two quarters.

Thies, who finished with 16 points, and Thomas, who scored 14, continued their scoring spree in the third and fourth quarters. Deb Brockman complemented their attack by getting inside to score four field goals.

Defensively, Laurie Gallop and Joanie Bowers played well, frequently stealing Beemer passes and grabbing rebounds in the second half.

Leading rebounders for Winside were Thomas with 13, Thies with 11 and Gallop with 8. Pam Schlickbernd and Denise Hasenkamp led Beemer with 11 and 10 points respectively.

The win upped the Wildcats' record to 4-2. Both losses came at the hands of undefeated Wynot. Winside was scheduled to play at Hartington Tuesday but the game was postponed due to illness in Hartington High School. The Wildcats will travel to Battle Creek Saturday.

Old Man Wrestling

Who says wrestling is just for young people?

Some people in Winside have organized an "old man's" wrestling club and invite anyone who is not currently wrestling in high school or college to join the fun.

Next meeting for the wrestling club is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Sunday (Jan. 20) at the Royal Racquet Club in Winside. The club is located on Main Street (the old theater building).

Anyone who is interested should attend Sunday's practice and be prepared to wrestle at that time.

WSC Round Robin Wrestling Set Friday

Wayne State's annual round robin wrestling tournament begins Friday at 5 p.m. in Rice Auditorium with six teams from four states competing.

Chadron State, Fort Hays State (Kan.), The University of South Dakota/Springfield, Westmar (Iowa) and Kearney State along with the host Wildcats fill the field.

The tournament is designed so each school will meet every other school in dual competition in the two days of wrestling action. The team winning the most duals will be considered the champion of the tournament. Individual champions will also be determined from each weight class.

Winside will play at Stanton tonight (Thursday).

Trojan Girls Second In Emerson Tournament

The Wakefield girls' basketball team had to settle for second place in the Emerson Hubbard Tournament Saturday.

The Trojans found that the host team was every bit as tough as it was in an earlier confrontation this season. Emerson defeated Wakefield 55-33 in the finals this time as Paula Rager pumped in 24 points.

The first quarter set the tone for the game as Wakefield fell behind 12-4. The Trojans couldn't keep up with the hosts in the next two periods either.

Wakefield turned the ball over too many times against Emerson's tough man-to-man defense and was outrebounced 11-35. The Pirates hit 50 percent of their shots from the field compared to 30 percent for the Trojans.

"The difference in the game boiled down to rebounds and shooting," said Wakefield coach Dennis Wilbur. "We shot poorly and rebounded poorly."

Jolene Bartels scored 10 points to lead Wakefield. In addition to Rager's 24 points, Emerson's Lori Tuilberg also added 11.

Wakefield defeated Pender in the opening round of play to reach the finals. Homer dropped Pender 54-38 in the consolation finals to place third in the tourney.

Randy's Recap

According to Randy Mascoli

THE 1980 OLYMPICS seem to be making the headlines in every daily newspaper across the country. Many sports writers and politicians indicate that they feel the United States should withdraw from the Olympics. I tend to agree although I haven't made up my mind on the subject.

Other critics have asked that the Olympics be moved from Moscow to some other area of the world. That would be great but it's not hardly feasible. How many cities would agree to host the Olympics on such short notice and not knowing what political actions might result in the move.

Only a few cities are well enough equipped to handle the Olympics. One is Munich, Germany. But the International Olympic Committee and the countries involved in the spectacular sporting event would have to okay the move. That will never happen.

So it boils down to: 1. The U.S. withdraws from the event, or 2. The U.S. remains in the Olympics despite the Russian actions in Afghanistan.

ONE SPORTS WRITER has even recommended that the Olympics be cancelled. Forever. True, the Olympics have always been the playground for other countries—especially Communist countries—to take advantage of their lenient laws defining amateur athletics. But dissolve the Olympics? I hope not.

The actions taken at the 1980 Olympics may well determine the course of future Olympics. If teams protest Russia's military actions by declining to participate, it may be a step toward total disbandment of the Olympics. Not even a fortune-teller could know.

WHAT ABOUT POOR NBC which pumped hundreds of millions of dollars into Moscow for broadcasting rights? If the United States does not participate in the Olympics, NBC will not cover the event and Moscow will not return the money NBC paid in advance.

Typical Russian move—demand an incredible sum of money for coverage rights, then insist on advance payment in a contract and finally do not return the principal investment.

Fortunately for NBC, the major portion of the investment is insured with Lloyds of London. Should the United States corporation not carry coverage of the Olympics, it will be partially reimbursed.

PEG PINKELMAN, 1979 graduate of Wayne High School, and former standout for the Wayne Blue Devil volleyball and girls' basketball teams, is making it big on the Northeast Technical Community College team.

After a successful season of volleyball, Pinkelman is leading her basketball team to a fine season.

Pinkelman is averaging 15.5 points per game for the Lady Hawks and ranks third in the Nebraska Community College Conference in that department. She is also seventh in the conference with 71 percent free throw shooting accuracy.

The Lady Hawks have a 3-1 record and are 2-0 in conference play. Peg has made 22 of 58 field goal attempts and 50 total points.

Team Five Wins 2nd 'B' Game

Team Five won its second straight game while Teams Two and Seven earned their first victories of the Men's B League Recreation season, now in its second week of action.

Balanced Scoring

Four players scored in double figures as Team Five balanced its offensive attack and scoring in a 52-46 win over Team One.

Gary Leach led the winners with 12 points followed by Don Larson, Ted Ellis and Bob Kruger with 10 points each and Denny Stroh with eight.

Team One led by as much as 10 points in the first half and held leads of 15-12 and 26-24 at the end of each of the first two quarters. Rod and Tom Erwin netted 21 and 13 points respectively to lead the losing effort.

Team Five overcame the first half deficit by outscoring Team

One 10-4 in the third period and then held on for the win.

Team Five: D. Larson, 10; G. Leach, 12; T. Ellis, 10; D. Stroh, 8; B. Kruger, 10; B. Carlson, 2. Team One: T. Erwin, 13; R. Erwin, 21; L. Jones, 4; D. Olson, 4; D. Anderson, 2; D. Pankaskie, 2.

Two Rebounds To Win

After losing to Team Five last week, Team Two got on a winning track by dumping Team Four 68-58.

John Jorde and Bob Ridings carried most of the weight, scoring 18 and 17 points respectively in the victory. Mark Fleer added 10 points for the winners.

Team Four jumped out in front 14-11 after one quarter of play but a 23 point scoring spree by Team Two in the second quarter reversed the tempo of the game. Ridings scored nine points and Jorde added seven points as Team Two took the lead for good.

Team Four, which defeated Team Three last week, couldn't make up the difference in the final two quarters. Greg Hafer led all scorers with 20 points, Moe Green scored 15 and Pat Smith tallied 13 for the losers.

Team Four: G. Hafer, 20; M. Green, 15; P. Smith, 13; B. Nelson, 6; B. Bailey, 2; G. Waggoner, 2. Team Two: M. Fleer, 10; D. Sturm, 6; N. Wittler, 6; M. Boeckenhauer, 4; L. Konken, 7; B. Ridings, 17; J. Jorde, 18.

Lindau netted 19 of his 25 points in the second half and Johnson scored 18 points with consistent play to lead the second half rally.

Team Six led 15-12 after one period of play and both teams went into the locker at half tied 22-22. Brock Glese scored 14 points for Team Six, including eight in the first period and George Eynon and Brent Lessmann added 10 points each for Team Six.

Team Seven: R. Fink, 4; J. Lindau, 25; B. Johnson, 18; M. Daehnke, 4. Team Six: B. Glese, 14; G. Eynon, 10; L. Lessmann, 2; M. Malone, 3; M. Hansen, 5; B. Lessmann, 10.

Tuesday's Schedule (Jan. 22): 7 p.m. — Team 2 vs. Team 7; 8 p.m. — Team 3 vs. Team 6; 9:15 p.m. — Team 4 vs. Team 5; Bye — Team 1.

Doane Downs Wildcats In Second Meeting

Doane College blistered Wayne State's zone defense with 53 percent shooting en route to easily defeating the Wildcats 77-62 Monday night in Wayne.

The lead changed hands several times in the first half before Doane put together a five point rally in the final two minutes of the half to take a 35-29 lead at intermission.

The Tigers from Doane expanded the lead to 10 points in the first minute of the second half on a turn-around 10-foot jump shot by 6-9 center Jon Parker and a lay up by junior college transfer Shelly Tunson that gave the Tigers a 39-29 lead. Wayne State twice closed the gap to eight points but could get no closer.

Doane expanded the margin to 18 points, 63-45, with 7:50 left in the game on a lay up by guard Ray Montgomery. Montgomery and his backcourt counterpart Gary Stubblefield consistently stopped potential Wayne State rallies with a flurry of long range baskets. Stubblefield finished with 18 points while Montgomery had 16.

Wayne State, 4-5 overall, was paced by Leon McRae with 15. Zake Lorick and Waffle Rhoda each had 12. Doane captured its sixth win in seven games improving its overall record to 10-10.

Teams One, Seven, Four Win In A League

The second week of Men's A League Recreation basketball action was completed Monday with teams Four, One and Seven winning their games.

Team One Wins Again

Team One upped its record to 2-0 with a 79-72 triumph over Team Five Monday night. Despite 34 points by Jon Erwin, Team Five trailed for the entire game. Team One led 17-14 after the first quarter, 45-33 at the half and 64-53 after three quarters.

Bob Keating scored 24 points, Dave Schwartz scored 19, Dean Carroll hit 18 and Pat Dougherty tallied 13 for the winners. Brad Erwin and Mark Staffler added 17 and 14 points respectively to Team Five's total.

Team One: B. Keating, 24; R. Mitchell, 3; D. Schwartz, 19; P. Dougherty, 13; Dean Carroll, 18; Daniels, 2. Team Five: J. Erwin, 34; B. Erwin, 17; Dunklau, 5; Staffler, 14; Jerry Goeden, 2.

Overin, Hansen Ignite

Earle Overin and Marty Hansen were unstoppable as Team Seven rolled to an 81-70 win over Team Six Monday.

Overin poured in 35 points and Hansen netted 26 in the winning effort. Of their 61 total points, 36 were scored in the second half. Team Six had two fine individual performances of their own but still came up short on the scoreboard. Eric Christensen and Bill Schultz scored 23 and 22 points respectively in the losing cause. Jake Munter added 10 points.

Team Seven: M. Hansen, 26; E. Overin, 35; Rudebusch, 8; R. Mitchell, 9; J. Davie, 3. Team Six: Schultz, 22; Christensen, 23; D. Burke, 4; J. Munter, 10; S. Meyer, 3; Engler, 8.

Thrilling Fourth Quarter

In the closest game of the evening, Team Four trimmed Team Two 72-69.

Neil Blohm gunned 28 points and Bill Schwartz followed with 20 to lead the winners. Randy Workman was the other scorer in double figures with 12 points.

Team Four built a 20-17 first quarter lead to 38-29 at the half and held on for a 52-47 third quarter lead as Team Two began to rally.

Blohm scored 12 points in the fourth quarter to hold off the comeback attempt. Mike Meyer made 10 of his 18 points in the final period and Kim Baker added six of his 21 as Team Two made a final attempt to win.

Policy Put on Hold

Other board action was mostly routine, with annual reorganization taking place.

Elected president of the board for the coming year was Neil Sandahl. He assumes the post from Wilbur Glese who requested he not be considered this year.

Other officers include Dale Stofenbergh as vice president and Doris Daniels as board secretary-treasurer.

Superintendent Haun has been notified that the state board of education Dec. 7 appointed him to a three-year term on the state Advisory Council for Vocational Education effective Jan. 1. The committee meets seven times a year and is advisory to the state board of vocational education. The first meeting is Jan. 23.

Superintendent Haun was given a one-year extension of his three-year contract with salary to be determined later.

THE BOARD commended Haun for the fine work he has done for the school district.

Recommendations of Haun for principals and their assignments for 1980-81 also were approved. These include David Lutt, K-4, Title I director; Richard Metteer, 5-8 principal, special education director Title IV director; Donald Zeiss, 9-12 principal, activities director, vocational education director.

Board members Ley, Glese and Mill Owens were appointed to the Americanism Committee. For more information on this committee, see story elsewhere on this page.

THE BOARD was informed that a negotiations committee has been formed by the Wayne Education Association. No proposals for a salary schedule or benefits have been received, however.

The possibility of seeking bids for insurance rather than having several different companies handle the business was discussed briefly. No action was taken, but the board will consider that possibility in the near future.

A report will be given at the next meeting on the nutrition and physical fitness curriculum which arrived recently.

THE BOARD met Wednesday morning to inspect the new windows at Middle School. A motion to pay Marra Home Improvements the remaining $29,000 balance was approved subject to inspection.

The school calendar was adopted for the coming school year. Classes will begin Aug. 27 with workshops for all certified personnel Aug. 25 and 26. Classes will end May 28, 1981, with commencement scheduled May 24.

Vacation days will include Labor Day, Sept. 1; teacher's convention, Oct. 23-24; Thanksgiving, Nov. 27-28; Christmas-New Year, Dec. 19-Jan. 5; Easter, April 17-20. All actions were unanimous and all members were present.

Americanism Committee Responsibilities Many

Americanism, patriotism and the love for one's country may be on the wane in other states, but in Nebraska they are alive and well.

A state statute requires that school boards appoint an Americanism Committee each year. The committee is charged with a variety of responsibilities, although the Wayne-Carroll group basically is non-functional.

THE STATUTE reads in part as follows:

"An informed, loyal, just and patriotic citizenry is necessary to a strong, stable, just and prosperous America. Such a citizenry necessitates that every member be fully acquainted with the nation's history, that he be in full accord with our form of government and fully aware of the liberties, opportunities and advantages of which we are possessed and the sacrifices and struggles of those through whose efforts these benefits were gained.

"SINCE YOUTH is the time most susceptible to the acceptance of principles and doctrines that will influence men throughout their lives, it is one of the first duties of our educational system to so conduct its activities, choose its textbooks and arrange its curriculum in such a way that the love of liberty, justice, democracy and America will be instilled in the heart and mind of the youth of the state."

The committee is required to carefully examine, inspect and approve all textbooks used in the teaching of American history and civil government in the school.

THE COMMITTEE must assume itself as to the character of all teachers employed and their knowledge and acceptance of the American form of government.

All American history courses approved should stress contributions of all ethnic groups to the development and growth of America into a great nation, to art, music, education, medicine, literature, science, politics and government.

All grades of all public, private, denominational and parochial schools below the sixth grade shall devote at least one hour per week to exercises or teaching periods for the following purposes:

—The recital of stories having to do with American history, or the deeds and exploits of American heroes.

—The singing of patriotic songs and the insistence that every pupil shall memorize the "Star Spangled Banner" and "America."

—The development of reverence for the flag and instruction as to proper conduct in its presentation.

In at least two of the three grades from the fifth grade to the eighth grade, at least three periods per week shall be set aside to be devoted to the teaching of American history from approved textbooks, taught in such a way as to make the course interesting and attractive and to develop a love of country.

IN AT LEAST two grades of every high school, at least three periods per week shall be devoted to the teaching of civics. Specific attention shall be given to the following matters:

—The Constitution of the United States and the state of Nebraska;

—The benefits and advantages of our form of government and the dangers and fallacies of

Nazism, Communism and similar ideologies;

—The duties of citizenship. Appropriate patriotic exercises suitable to the occasion shall be held on Lincoln's birthday, Washington's birthday, Flag Day, Memorial Day and Veterans Day or on the day preceding or following such holiday, if the school is in session.

Every school board, the state board of education, each county superintendent of schools and the superintendent shall be held directly responsible, in the order named, for carrying out provisions of this section.

Exploding Batteries A Problem

A recent incident in Nebraska with an exploding battery in a tractor has reminded once again that there is a proper way to jump-start a battery. Rollin D. Schnieder, extension safety specialist in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, said this week.

"Jumping a battery improperly can lead to a battery explosion, spattering sulfuric acid onto the person attempting the activity," Schnieder warned.

A car or tractor battery is actually a latent hydrogen bomb of the non-nuclear variety, the IANR expert said. Small quantities of hydrogen gas are given off at the negative plate of a battery even when the cells are not being charged, he said.

When a battery is being charged, as it is when connected to another battery by jumper cables, more hydrogen gas is produced. As the amount of gas increases, so does the danger of explosion. A burning cigarette, a glowing pipe or even a spark from the jumper cables themselves is enough to ignite the hydrogen and cause an explosion.

There is a safe way to jump a battery, through, Schnieder said. If safety glasses are available, it's important to wear them while following these steps:

1. Turn off the ignition and all electrical accessories in both cars, including defroster, windshield wipers, lights and radio. This lessens the chance of stray electrical sparks and reduces the load on the booster battery. Cars should not be touching as this could establish a ground connection and counteract the benefits of the procedure.

2. Make sure both batteries are the same voltage. Most are 12 volts, but some older or smaller cars may have six-volt batteries. As a clue, 12 volt batteries have six filler caps and vents, while six-volt batteries have only three.

3. Shift both cars into neutral or park and set the parking brake.

4. Remove the caps from both batteries and make sure that the fluid level is at the full mark. Batteries that are discharged may have a low fluid level. Don't attempt to jump-start a car with a frozen battery because the battery may rupture or explode.

5. Place a piece of cloth over the uncapped vent holes of both batteries. The sudden surge of current when the battery is charged might cause bubbling and splashing.

6. Attach one end of one jumper cable to the booster battery's positive terminal, which most often is identified by a red "positive" indication or abbreviation on the case, post or clamp. When making connections to battery posts, twist clamps back and forth on the terminals to make sure of good metal-to-metal contacts. Attach the other end of the same cable to the positive terminal of the discharged battery.

7. Attach one end of the second cable to the negative terminal, which is indicated by a black "negative" indication of the booster battery. Be sure the clamps do not touch the clamps of the other cable.

8. Connect the other end of the negative cable to the engine block, the generator/alternator or any other accessible metallic part attached to the engine block that is not painted, chrome-plated, heavily rusted or covered with grease. This connection should be made as far from the dead battery as possible so that any sparking is away from the hydrogen produced by the battery. Now start the car with the discharged battery. If it doesn't start immediately, start the engine of the other car to avoid excessive drain on the booster battery.

When the car with the discharged battery is running normally, remove the cable connection at the engine block first, then the other end of the same cable from the booster battery.

Remove the second cable by disconnecting at the booster battery first.

Replace the caps and throw away the cover cloths, as they may be contaminated with corrosive acid.

The above steps are for vehicles with negative grounds. However, many European and Japanese cars and some older American and Canadian models have positive grounds. The cable from the positive battery terminal is the one connected to the engine block or metal body part.

If the car with a bad battery has a positive ground, the negative terminal should be connected first. Then the cable from the positive terminal of the booster battery is connected to the engine block of the car with the positive ground.

It may be helpful to draw the hookup diagram from both positive- and negative-ground vehicles on a card to keep in the glove compartment. The vehicle instruction manual may include such a diagram or description or a dealer, mechanic or battery seller may have the information available, Schnieder said.

If acid should contact eyes, skin or clothing, flush with large amounts of water. In case of eye contact, see a physician, Schnieder stressed.

CCC to Assume Obligations Involving Grain

Vice President Walter F. Mondale has announced the Commodity Credit Corporation is prepared to assume the contractual obligations for wheat, corn and soybeans previously committed for shipment to the Soviet Union. The CCC will offer to assume these contracts at the contract price minus any costs that have not already been paid.

"Our purpose is to protect against losses, not to guarantee profits," the Vice President said. The action is one of several being taken to stabilize farm product prices and to insure that the burden of the suspension on agricultural deliveries to the Soviet Union will not fall unfairly on farmers. It will assure that the quantities of grain that would have been shipped to the Soviet Union will be isolated from the market and that America's farmers will be in the same position as if the sales to the Soviet Union had gone forward.

"This action is necessary to avoid significant disruptions to the cash and futures markets, especially for corn and wheat, with consequent damage to the interests of farmers," the Vice President said.

None of the grain so purchased, the Vice President said, will be resold into the market until it can be done without adversely affecting market prices.

As already announced, the Department intends to use amounts of wheat equivalent to the quantity that would have gone to the Soviet Union for shipments of needy nations under the P.L. 480 program and for the Food Security Reserve that we have asked Congress to authorize. With respect to corn, our goal is to encourage farmers to place additional quantities in the farmer-owned reserve.

Soybean Association Asks USDA Action To Help Bean Growers

The American Soybean Association (ASA) has demanded that the U.S. Department of Agriculture take immediate action to provide soybean growers and consumers relief from the Soviet embargo without the need for costly soybean reserves or other government subsidies.

In a telegram to Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland, ASA recommended implementation of six programs to provide short and long-term relief from the effects of the Soviet embargo which could save U.S. taxpayers $15-$20 million for soybeans alone.

"As you know, ASA has consistently supported federal policies which allow farmers to receive their income from the marketplace rather than from federal subsidies," ASA President Allan Aves said in a telegram to Agricultural Secretary Bob Bergland. "We still oppose a federally-financed soybean reserve program. This embargo, however, has created a severe economic hardship on soybean growers and we therefore request immediate government action."

ASA recommended the following six programs:

1. Increase by at least $2.98 million in the current fiscal year Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) export credits to finance exports of soybean products to developing nations.

2. Increase Food for Peace (PL480) funding to allow increased export of soybean products to needy people in developing nations.

3. Implement the intermediate-term credit provisions of the Agricultural Trade Act of 1978 which would allow 3-10 year loans to foreign customers so they could construct processing and storage facilities for agricultural commodities.

4. Make CCC export credits available to the People's Republic of China so soybean exports to that nation can be maximized.

5. Request Congress to grant USDA authority to establish a $5 billion revolving fund for CCC export credits.

6. Increase soybean market development funding through USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service (FAS) by $1 million this year, $2 million in 1981 and $3 million in 1982 in order to help soybean growers develop new or expanded markets to replace the lost Soviet market.

During the current fiscal year, FAS investment in soybean market development activities totaled $2.8 million.

Announcement of the six point plan was one of several initiatives made by the American Soybean Association leaders last week in the wake of President Carter's announcement of the embargo of grain and soybean shipments to Russia. ASA immediately called on the Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC) to suspend trading for two days until important questions could be answered regarding government actions that would be taken to reduce the impact of the embargo on farmers.

In a telegram to the CFTC, ASA President Allan Aves said the action was necessary to "prevent mass confusion and panic reaction that would create havoc in agricultural markets and result in great economic hardships for farmers and others at home and abroad." The request to the CFTC was subsequently acted upon and trading was suspended at all regulated futures exchanges on Monday and Tuesday (Jan. 7 & 8).

"The loss of the Soviet market will cost the U.S. about $2 billion in agricultural sales in 1980," Aves says. "Agricultural exports are good for the U.S. economy and all Americans. We believe these six programs will save taxpayers millions of dollars in storage costs, will help U.S. soybean growers by re-selling the 45 million bushels originally sold to the Soviets, and help soybean growers in the long run by developing new or expanded soybean markets to replace the lost sales to the Soviets."

Aves said the government's announcement last Monday to purchase grain and soybeans from grain firms was a positive first step to provide relief from President Carter's embargo.

"The CCC purchases of grain and soybeans has helped the grain companies," he said. "But his huge quantity of grain and soybeans that will cost more than $200 million per year to store still hangs over the farm markets and will hurt all farmers by lowering their prices."

Laurel to Host Swine Days This Month

Rats and mice are expensive visitors to hog confinement facilities, but there is something pork producers can do to get rid of the rodents.

Bob Timm, extension vertebrate pest specialist in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, will outline practical ways to deal with the problem at Area Swine Days scheduled for January.

"Pork producers don't have to throw up their hands and let rodents chew up their buildings and eat their feed," Timm points out. Control measures include rodent-proof construction, proper sanitation, trapping, and use of rodenticides (poisons).

Timm will discuss success stories of pork producers in eastern Nebraska who've undertaken effective rat and mice control programs and will also suggest other sources of help for rodent control.

Area Swine Days are scheduled for four locations around the state including Jan. 22, Laurel City Auditorium.

24 Percent of Farms Comply With Programs

Twenty-four percent of U.S. farms with "normal crop acreage" (NCA) complied with the 1979 feed grain and wheat programs, according to a report issued recently by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The complying farms have 116.2 million acres of NCA, 41 percent of the U.S. total of 286.8 million acres, according to Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

"Normal crop acreage" is the total number of acres planted in 1977 to 14 specified crops. Those crops include barley, corn, dry edible beans, flax, grain sorghum, oats, rice, rye, soybeans, sugar beets, sugar cane, sunflower, upland cotton and wheat.

Signup for the 1979 programs was held Feb. 15 through April 30. Participating farmers certified they set-aside, diverted or hayed and grazed 12.8 million acres. Feed grain acreage includes corn, 1.7 million set-aside and 1.1 million diverted; sorghum, 0.8 million set-aside and 0.3 million diverted; barley, 0.7 million set-aside. Wheat acreage certified includes 7.2 million set-aside and 0.9 million under the special haying and grazing program.

About 21 percent (16.8 million acres) of the 1979 corn planted acreage is in compliance with the 1979 program. Sorghum compliance was about 25 percent or 8.4 million acres and barley compliance was 41 percent or 3.3 million acres.

Wheat acreage compliance was about 57 percent with 36.1 million acres of the 1979 wheat plantings in the program.

Let's Keep the Outsiders Out

My great grandparents settled this land over a hundred years ago. They fought prairie fires, drought, grasshoppers, blizzards...just about anything you could imagine. They settled this land because they had a dream. And hope for a better tomorrow.

Outsiders called this the Great American Desert. Through a lot of hard work, my family has made this "so-called" desert blossom.

Our local banker had a lot of faith in us, too. He always has been our silent partner. In good times and bad, we could count on him when the going got rough. Right now, our banker needs our help. Because there's a bill in front of the legislature that if adopted would give the go-ahead for the expansion of Multibank Holding Companies.

What does that mean to you? It means that a lot of small banks in this state would be in danger of being bought out by these huge holding companies. It means that your local bank might be bound by decisions made hundreds of miles away. Decisions on loans and credit would be made by an impersonal banker you've never met. And total control of your bank would be lost. Forever.

My banker has been with me all these years and I figure he needs my help. I say let's keep the outsiders out.

Write your legislator now. And tell him where you stand on L.B. 69, the Multibank Holding Company Bill. It could make quite a difference in your life. And mine.

School Food Comment Time Set for Feb. 1

The comment period on proposed regulations governing accountability for federal funds and meal quality in school food programs has been extended to February 1.

The extension was granted to make up for disruption of business during the holiday season, and to allow for close review of the many comments submitted, according to Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker Foreman. The rules were published in the Oct. 30 Federal Register.

The proposal requires states to review food programs in a specified number of schools every year, and to correct problems within 90 to 180 days of the review.

Departmental audits of state agencies between 1975 and 1978 revealed some schools had submitted excessive reimbursement claims for school lunches. The audits also showed that some meals served did not meet departmental nutrition standards. The new rules address both problems.

Comments should be sent to Stanley Garnett, School Programs Division, 201 14th St. S.W., Room 4122, Washington, D.C. 20250

Informal Education Movement Turned Corner: Extension

The Cooperative Extension Service nationwide has "been going through some trying times," but based on what he sees has happened in the past 18 months, the Informal educational movement "has turned the corner," a North Carolina educator said in Lincoln Thursday, Jan. 10.

Dr. Carlton Blalock, director of the Extension Service at North Carolina State University, Raleigh, spoke to Nebraska Cooperative Extension staff attending the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources biennial conference.

Blalock moved on to identify several possible corrective measures to be considered by Extension:

- Get behind a total extension program and total extension organization: "We can't afford the luxury of agriculture or 4-H or home economics giving off on its own for its own support." Efforts need to be made to recover lost "esprit de corps" or the extended family feeling among Extension workers.

- Some staff members have more loyalty to their profession and their professional organization than to the Extension Service.
- As programs are expanded and clientele audiences extended, support groups must be developed for these new thrusts. "We have not taken time to develop supporters to the extent that they are willing to fight for the program," in such instances as farm safety, small and part time farming, urban 4-H, urban gardening and rural development. The increased emphasis on and demand for accountability in all aspects of government makes it more important than ever to "sell" extension to the public. "One of the greatest challenges is going to be to document and quantify in a way appropriate to the public the benefits the public derives from our program. Every year they have to be convinced that the price they pay for Extension is a good investment in public funds."

- Extension must use new technologies if expanding clientele is to be served without diluting the depth and quality of programs for present audiences. "We must be willing to experiment rather than staying in our comfortable rut of information delivery systems."

- Extension must continue to maintain its technical base if it is to enjoy a bright future. It is predicted that skilled workers will have to attend school at least four times in their lives to be totally retrained. At the rate at which knowledge is growing, by the time the child born today graduates from college, the amount of knowledge in the world will be four times as great.

- To attract and hold technically competent people, Extension must make a greater differentiation in pay between the mediocre and outstanding individual. "I have seen a steady move towards treating everyone more nearly alike when it comes to salary, some people in university administration would prefer to see us move to a civil service classification-type salary schedule."

- Extension must involve its clientele in the determination, implementation and justification of its programs to a much greater extent than ever before. Citizens advisory groups need to be formed, "but unless we work at it continuously, there's a tendency to let the groups become sort of a rubber stamp."

- Blalock expressed hope for a "turnaround" in public opinion, back toward economic concerns, spurred by the energy crisis, the balance of payments deficits and declining productivity. "Without renewed emphasis on economic concerns, he contended, 'we will not be able to continue the great progress we've made in meeting social needs.'"

- The North Carolina educator said the same concept of productivity — the amount of output received in relation to the amount of inputs required — applies not only to industry but also to the expenditure of public funds "and thus to our organization."

Sharp Increase Reported by Credit Groups

Editor's Note: The following news releases were received Monday and indicate a growing problem being faced by farmers in the Midwest.

There was a sharp increase in the level of borrowing by Midwest farmers and ranchers during 1979, a totally unprecedented increase, according to D. L. Hovendick, president of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Omaha (FICB).

Eldon Peters, president of the Norfolk Production Credit Association, had similar comments. "Our lending is up dramatically from last year," he said.

Loan volume of the FICB increased steadily throughout the year and closed at nearly $2 billion, a figure which was surpassed during the second week of January. This was an annual growth of more than 17 percent.

The Credit Bank is a primary source of short term agricultural credit by providing loan funds to Production Credit Associations (PCAs) as well as some other local financing institutions. The PCA's account for over 20 percent of the commercial short term agricultural credit used in the four states of the Omaha Farm Credit District — Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming.

"There has never been a year of such dramatic increase in our lending," Hovendick said. "The most recent figures available for the commercial banking industry indicate a similar trend."

A number of factors have contributed to the rise in agricultural borrowing, he said. Continued inflation pushed the operating expenses of farmers higher along with their need for operating credit. Also, it was a good income year in most respects. There was considerable spending for capital investments which many operators had postponed in recent years when income prospects were not as good.

In 1979, the Norfolk PCA advanced some $106 million in short and intermediate term operating loans. This was a 36 percent increase over last year. Peters said in a report on lending activity of the Association.

The Norfolk PCA served 530 member borrower in a six-county area. Counties served by the Norfolk association are Antelope, Cuming, Madison, Pierce, Stanton and Wayne.

PCA's also increased their share of the agricultural lending market, he said. The number of borrowers doing business with PCA's increased by nearly 10 percent. It was in part an effort by the organization to further business development and also a lightening up of local ag credit sources in some areas. Hovendick said.

The cost of credit to farmers also increased substantially during the year. The interest rate charged by the Credit Bank is tied directly to the bonds which it sells in the money markets in order to gather loan funds. The bank's lending rate increased by 2.5 percentage points over the past year.

Hovendick said he does not view the sharply increased farm borrowing as a negative indicator of the farm economy, nor should it cause great concern in the industry. The key, said Hovendick, is the farmer's ability to use credit to increase profits rather than how much he uses.

We believe the agricultural economy is currently in a healthy situation, he said. "Income was good in 1979 although we don't expect it to be as good this year."

Recent developments in world affairs and the effects they have had on some farm commodities make it difficult to forecast this year with any reliability. Hovendick noted. For the most part, Midwest agriculture is entering 1980 in a good financial position, he said.

Jobless Insurance Rate Stays

State Labor Commissioner John Hanlon announced recently the unemployment insurance rate rule for 1980.

"The requirements for reduced rates during 1980 shall remain unchanged from those in effect in 1979," Hanlon stated.

Hanlon also explained that the standard contribution rate requires employers to pay a tax of 2.7 percent on each employee's wages up to $6,000. According to Hanlon, employers may qualify for a lower tax rate if their contribution account balance reaches certain levels when compared to their average annual taxable payroll.

"By offering steady employment and reducing labor turn over fewer individuals will be drawing unemployment insurance benefits on the employer's account," Hanlon emphasized.

Nearly 70 percent of the approximately 36,000 employers subject to unemployment insurance requirements are expected to be eligible for a rate below the 2.7 percent

YOU PROFIT TWICE WHEN YOU SPEND YOUR TAKE-HOME PAY IN YOUR OWN HOME TOWN!

It's really true! You profit twice when you spend your take-home pay at home. It doesn't make any difference how much you make or what kind of a job or business you have. What is important is that a community grows in relationship to the number of business transactions it makes, and about a third of these dollars help pay for community needs like hospitals, streets, schools and churches, police and fire departments and much more. So when you spend at home you strengthen the local economy so it is easier for everyone to pay taxes and support community projects. So you really profit twice when you spend your take-home pay at home. Why not buy something... TODAY!

Some Evidence Needed When Applying for SSI Number

People in Northeast Nebraska should remember they must submit evidence of their age, identity and citizenship status when they apply for a social security number. Date Branch, local SSI representative, said recently. In addition, a person 18 or over must apply in person. Branch said people should apply for a social security number well before it will be needed because it can take as much as six weeks for the card to be issued. A person who has lost his or her social security card must present evidence of identity when applying for a replacement card, Branch said. Anyone who needs a new social security card because of a name change must present evidence showing both the old and new names. The best evidence of a person's age is a birth certificate or a church "Charity is the spice of riches." Old Proverb record of birth or baptism recorded before his or her 5th birthday. Acceptable proofs of identity can include: driver's license, state identity card, voter's registration, school record, marriage record, work badge or building pass, U.S. passport, baby's hospital wrist band, newspaper birth announcement, baby book, court order, welfare case record, clinic or doctor's record, day care or nursery school record, membership card, or any other document showing data such as physical description, photograph or signature. If none of these is available, the social security office may be able to suggest other evidence that can be submitted. A leaflet, "Applying for a social security number," contains more information about applying for a number. Free copies can be obtained at the Norfolk social security office.

Bereuter Outlines Plan So Farmers Don't Bear Burden

Congressman Doug Bereuter (R-1st Dist.) outlined a five point plan Friday to ensure that farmers do not bear an undue burden as a result of the Carter grain embargo.

The Bereuter plan called for the Carter to take the following administrative steps:

1) Increase wheat and feed grain loan rates to market price levels in effect before the embargo and rumors of an impending embargo were felt.

2) Adopt a minimum 20 percent set aside nationwide for 1980 for both feed grains and wheat. "The winter wheat set aside payments must recognize and compensate for the fact that farmers already have made their investment in planting the winter wheat crops," Bereuter said.

3) Reduce interest rates in the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) grain storage and handling facilities construction program to relieve farmers asked to store more grain.

4) Provide temporary emergency credit for producers faced with loan payments due in the near future. "Without emergency credit, these producers would be forced to sell their grain at severely depressed prices. What I propose could be accomplished through the Farmers Home Administration loan guarantee program or through a special short-term CCC loan program for those farmers who did not participate in the 1979 farm program."

5) Increase funding for the Foreign Agricultural Service foreign market development program. "If legislative action is necessary to increase funding, then Congress should move quickly."

"Implementation of these steps would help the Administration achieve its stated goal of assuring that the American people as a whole share equitably in the sacrifices now being asked of the farmers," Bereuter said.

"President Carter is not going to roll back the grain embargo; therefore it is no longer relevant to call for a rollback. The embargo is an accomplished fact and a reversal would further complicate our foreign policy problems."

"Attention must now be focused on protecting farmers, agribusiness and agricultural states from an undue, inequitable burden resulting from Carter's action.

"I am very concerned with the continued and dramatic drop in grain prices resulting from the Carter embargo. This makes clear the inadequacy of the measures taken by the Administration to protect the farmer from the embargo's immediate effects.

"Perhaps the most pressing problem is that faced by farmers who have bank loans and land payments due in the near future and will be forced to sell at cut rate prices or seek loan extensions."

"In addition to these immediate problems, we must recognize that our basic agricultural policy has been reversed by the embargo. Our agricultural policy traditionally has been to produce all the grain we could and to increase our grain export sales as fast as we could to finance our mounting imports of oil," Bereuter said.

"The Carter grain embargo may raise additional questions in the minds of our foreign customers about our reliability as suppliers of grain. In the past, we have indicated that we would not use food as a weapon. Now that we have, we must reconsider our overall food strategy."

"The embargo also affects our overall transportation policy by disrupting the steady movement of grain and creating uncertainty in the industry which may retard future investment in transportation facilities and equipment."

"Unfortunately, the Administration has remained consistent in maintaining a cheap grain policy."

"We now have a tremendous supply of grain in storage. Unless this grain is used during the coming months, a considerable increase in grain storage facilities will be needed before the next harvest."

"Recent statements from the Agriculture Department indicate that officials there were surprised that grain prices have fallen so fast in spite of their countermeasures," Bereuter said.

"Obviously, more needs to be done quickly to avoid an even worsening situation."

IRS Warns Against Fly-By-Night Tax Consultant Tactics

If you're one of the millions of people who hires a tax consultant or will have a commercial tax preparer do your income tax return for you, the Internal Revenue Service reminds you to take time to choose an honest, reputable individual.

After all, no matter who advises you or fills out your tax return, you are legally responsible for what is on it and carefully selecting a consultant or preparer now could save you trouble later.

Tax consultants and returns preparers do not have to be licensed, and while most are honest and competent there is little to stop an unqualified or dishonest person from doing this work.

But, according to the IRS, these persons are recognized by some of the claims they make. Does the preparer's advertising guarantee you a refund? That should be a warning since no one can know whether you are entitled to a refund until he or she knows your income, filing status, withholding and dependents. Does the consultant promise that he will shave your last year's tax liability by one third or less, or that there are some special loopholes that he or she is going to share with you? Watch out for consultants or preparers who base their fees on the size of your refund or itemized deductions. They may inflate their profit by inflating your refund or deductions, or both.

Some preparers may claim "inside knowledge" of the IRS computer system or a "special relationship" which allows them to know the formula IRS uses to select returns for examination. Don't believe them. Very few people have this information and none of them are return preparers. Nor do any preparers have a special relationship with IRS.

Look for a preparer or consultant who's available year round to case your return is examined, you may want the preparer or consultant to answer questions about how the return was filed out. At the same time, remember that the preparer is not primarily responsible for the accuracy of the information on the return.

On a joint return, the election to designate or not designate is available to the husband as well as the wife. Both may choose to designate, both may elect not to designate, or one may elect to designate one dollar to the fund and the other decline.

A designation once made may not be revoked. However, a taxpayer who did not make a designation on a return for an earlier year may do so by filing an amended return.

"To reveal art and conceal the artist is art's aim." Oscar Wilde

Once you've found a preparer you can protect yourself by signing only a return which is complete, correct and permanent. Never sign a blank return or one made out in pencil and insist that the preparer sign the return in the space provided below your signature. Make sure that any refund due is mailed directly to you. That way you'll know the return was sent in the way you signed it, and that you're getting all of your refund.

When selecting a returns preparer or tax consultant, choose as wisely as you would were you selecting a family doctor or an auto mechanic.

Taxpayers Can Earmark $1 For Campaigns

Taxpayers again this year have the option of earmarking $1 each on their federal income tax returns for a general fund to meet campaign expenses of the 1980 presidential election. The Internal Revenue Service said.

Last year, $32 million was designated from general funds for this purpose. Since the refund was initiated in 1972, a total of $206.7 million has been credited to the fund.

The IRS said that marking the designation on a Federal income tax return will not increase the individual's tax or decrease the amount of refund.

On a joint return, the election to designate or not designate is available to the husband as well as the wife. Both may choose to designate, both may elect not to designate, or one may elect to designate one dollar to the fund and the other decline.

A designation once made may not be revoked. However, a taxpayer who did not make a designation on a return for an earlier year may do so by filing an amended return.

CROP Drive Nets $375

Contributions from a fast on the Wayne State College campus plus generous gifts from county residents pushed the 1979 CROP (Christian Rural Overseas Program) income total to $375.16, compared with only $135 received in 1978.

CROP Regional Director, Dick Staple noted that the response of Nebraskan's giving statewide totalled $328,189 — substantially over the 1978 total of $316,716. The figures are unaudited and reflect donations received through Dec. 31.

"The generous gifts of Nebraskans for the hungry and needy people in our world through CROP show that our state was not a part of the so-called 'me' decade of the seventies," Staple said. CROP giving increased every year during the seventies except for 1976. "Low grain prices were responsible for the 1976 decrease," Staple said.

A substantial portion of CROP income is derived from the exchange of commodity gifts, and included in this year's report is the cash value of some 49,000 bushels of corn, wheat, milo and soybeans.

CROP events are conducted in most Nebraska counties and towns as part of Church World Service fundraising efforts, and donations are used to assist hungry people in self-development work abroad and in the United States.

Fire Destroys Breitkreutz Country Tavern

Pleasant Hill Store, a country tavern located five miles southeast of Dorchester, burned to the ground Jan. 9.

The business had been owned and operated the past two years by Lee and Sandra Breitkreutz and daughters Leah, Jennifer and Audrey.

The Breitkreutz family moved from Wayne in 1976. Mrs. Breitkreutz is the daughter of the late Beulah Jones of Wayne.

The fire, which broke out in the attic, was caused by faulty wiring. The building, estimated to be 100 years old, was one of few still remaining in the community.

A new building, a block west of the original site, is under construction, and the business was to be moved there in a couple of months. The family does not know if they will be able to get in sooner.

NATO Nuclear Needs Should Be Expanded

Upgrading the nuclear arsenal of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and deployment of a quick-strike military force are essential to American defense for the 1980's, Congressman Doug Bereuter said Thursday.

Bereuter applauded the recent decision by NATO countries to install 572 new U.S.-made nuclear weapons capable of reaching the Soviet Union.

"This decision by NATO in its most critical in a decade," Bereuter said in a speech before Lincoln Optimists. "For the first time, NATO has approved the installation of nuclear-tipped medium-range missiles in Europe."

The arsenal includes 108 Pershing II ballistic missiles and 464 ground-launched cruise missiles. NATO currently has no land-based missiles to counter new Soviet SS-20 missiles, highly accurate weapons and with three warheads.

"The gap between NATO and Warsaw Pact capabilities is alarming. The need to redress that imbalance is urgent."

"Bereuter said a quick-strike or Rapid Deployment Force prepared to respond to crisis at a moment's notice was necessary to protect American interests, particularly in the Midwest."

The administration has outlined a five-year plan to spend $9 billion for a force to transport planes and cargo ships to permit rapid deployment of U.S. troops. Included in that plan is development of a completely new cargo plane that can carry the Army's largest combat equipment, including tanks. Three Marine Corps brigades would be stationed on cargo ships and ready to be airlifted to crisis spots.

"The Rapid Deployment Force, in my opinion, must become a fixture of our military preparedness. With it we can shorten from weeks to hours the time needed to respond to crisis," Bereuter said.

"Pentagon officials tell us that the Air Force now lacks the airlift capacity to move troops, artillery and tanks fast enough to react to a major crisis."

"The events in Iran and Afghanistan portend increasing strife. We must be prepared to respond with more than anxious wailing or prayers. Certainly there should be no doubt that the United States will respond decisively and effectively when our national security and that of other free nations is at stake."

"During these next few years, the West faces a critical period of risk. The Soviet Union will test our will and resolve."

"We must be prepared for that test — in whatever form it may take and from wherever it may come."

Bereuter Asks Carter To Repudiate Opinion

Congressman Doug Bereuter Monday called on President Carter to repudiate a "precedent-reversing" opinion on federal water rights recently issued by the Interior Department's top legal authority.

"The opinion answers the long-standing question of who controls the allocation and use of western water — the states or the federal government. The administration comes down solidly on the side of the federal government," Bereuter said.

"The President should immediately refute the position taken by the solicitor of the Interior Department."

"Lacking that, Congress should move swiftly to clarify its own intent by reaffirming the established doctrine of state control over all non-reserved water rights," Bereuter said.

"The solicitor argues in his opinion that federal agencies themselves have sufficient power, without further acts of Congress, to appropriate all of the water they deem to need for any purpose, whether or not that specific purpose has been authorized by Congress. And therein lies the administration's attack on valid state rights," he observed.

"Over the years it has become well established that the federal government would claim for itself only the water rights required for specifically mandated purposes spelled out by Congress. These were known as 'reserved water rights.'"

"But it became equally well established that the control and allocation of water not specifically reserved by Congress would be left to the states," Bereuter said.

Bereuter made his remarks in a speech before the Nebraska Association of Resources Districts at noon at the Hilton Hotel in Lincoln.

He warned that if the solicitor's opinion were implemented, state water rights would fall to the wayside in contested cases with Federal agencies. Such a conflict could arise with coal slurry pipelines, he said.

Allen Board Action

Allen Consolidated Schools board of education met in regular session Monday, Jan. 7, with acting Supt. Glenn Kumm on hand for his first official duties.

KUMM WAS named to that position at a special Dec. 31 meeting after Supt. Robert Heckathorn suffered a severe heart attack Dec. 28.

A variety of first-of-the-year business was taken care of. This included naming officers for the coming year as follows:

Chairman, Martin Blohm; vice president, Verlan Hingst; secretary, Richard Olesen; treasurer, Harlen Mates.

ON THE VOTE for chairman, Martin Blohm nominated Verlan Hingst, and Loren Carr nominated Blohm. On the first ballot, Blohm finished over Hingst by a vote of 32, with one vote invalid. On the second vote, Blohm was chosen by a 42 vote.

Chairman Blohm appointed Carr and Olesen to the Bus Committee. The entire board was named to the Americanism and to the Building and Grounds Committee.

CARR, JACKIE Williams and Mattes were named to the negotiations team for the coming year.

Mrs. John Torczon was hired for three additional periods a day beginning second semester to fill the positions vacated by Superintendent Heckathorn and acting Superintendent Kumm.

She will be given an additional $22.22 per day.

In other action, the board voted to allow the junior senior prom to be held out of town. However, if any instances of misconduct result, the privilege will be revoked.

STUDENTS who have met the requirements for graduation will be released from school for jobs they have acquired, the board decided. Written proof of the job must be cleared through the superintendent and principal.

Superintendent Kumm was directed to instruct Martin Gensler to get three thermostat controlled valves as a trial to improve the building's heating. The board also instructed Kumm to bring the National Honor Society constitution into compliance. The NHS charter has expired.

ALL NON-certified personnel will henceforth punch time-clocks before wages will be paid, the board decided. Bus drivers are not included in this action.

In the only split vote of the meeting, activity driver's licenses for Connie Roberts, Tom Wilmes and Gary Troth will be paid for by the school. Voting against the motion were Carr and Olesen, while voting in favor were Blohm, Hingst and Mattes.

A lengthy discussion on programs of the school's financial standing and obligations and a general discussion of the school was held with several persons present.
