Judge Overrules New Trial Motion

Attorneys for Nebraska Public Power District have until Feb. 19 to file an appeal to a jury award of some $14,000 after a motion for a new trial was denied Wednesday.

IN WAYNE County District Court, Judge Merritt C. Warren overruled a new trial motion filed by Noyes Rogers, attorney for NPPD during the 2½ day trial last month.

Under state law, defense attorney Rogers has 10 days (unless the 10th day falls on a weekend or a holiday, then a grace period is provided) to file an appeal. He was out of town Thursday and Friday and could not be reached for comment.

REASONS cited by Rogers in filing for the new trial were as follows:

1. — Irregularity in proceedings of the court, jury and prevailing party, and in orders of the court and in the court of using its discretion, because the defendant was prevented from having a fair trial.
2. — Excessive damages appearing, to have been given under the influence of passion or prejudice.
3. — ERROR IN assessment of the amount of recovery, the same being too large.
4. — That the verdict is not sustained by sufficient evidence and is contrary to law.

5. — Error of law occurring at the trial and accepted to by the defendant.

6. — That, specifically, and in addition to the general reasons set forth above, the court erred in failing to follow the testimony of witness Dean Godberson, and further erred in not allowing the defendant's witness, Darrell Smith, to testify concerning sales of properties in close proximity to a 345-kilovolt transmission line.

7. — THAT THE court erred in not excluding the testimony of farmer witnesses called by the plaintiff after cross examination for the reason that the cross examination of these showed their opinion was not based upon the proper measure of damages as provided by law.

8. — In not granting a mistrial when asked for the reason that counsel for plaintiffs on numerous occasions made statements inflammatory to the jury not allowed by law and concerning items not admissible in the record.

JUDGE WARREN'S action Wednesday upholds the Jan. 17 award by a trial jury to Valarious and Bernice Damme, who live about 7½ miles south of Wayne. Their property is involved in NPPD's construction of a 345-kilovolt transmission line through Wayne County.

THE JURY'S verdict awarded the Dammes $14,375, as opposed to the County Court offer of $5,921. The Dammes appealed the lower court offer, maintaining the lower offer did not properly compensate them for potential damage to crops, property values and outbuildings.

In an attempt to secure right of way for the proposed power line, NPPD filed 47 condemnation proceedings several months ago involving 116 tracts of land.

AN ESTIMATED 59 percent of the cases were settled voluntarily, with tenants and property owners accepting NPPD's offers. The remaining 41 percent resulted in condemnation proceedings. In filing these, NPPD is exercising its right to eminent domain over which the line will run.

The line, from the Nucor substation near Norfolk to Salix, Iowa, passes through Stanton, Wayne, Thurston and Dakota counties.

IN A RELATED problem, the Winnebago Indian Tribe is awaiting a decision of the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis. The tribe has filed a suit which seeks an injunction to block construction of the line on grounds that NPPD failed to prepare an accurate environmental impact statement for the line which has yet to be built.

Looking for that Demon Cavity

"OPEN WIDE" says Debra Hutton, school nurse for the Wayne School District, as she examines the teeth of Julie Milliken. The examination was scheduled as one of the activities at West Elementary School during National Children's Dental Health Week (Feb. 3-9).

Nurse Hutton examined teeth, explained proper brushing methods, gave demonstrations and handed out free material to classes. Here, she visits with the kindergarten students in Mrs. Hartman's classroom.

School Board Agenda Items Are Numerous

Wayne-Carroll School District board of education will meet in regular session at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the high school.

Agenda items will include a report on the elementary science curriculum study, a report on the nutrition curriculum, a review of the Constitution of Local Vocational Advisory Council, selection of new band uniforms, a report on advanced driver education classes, an energy audit report.

Further discussion on a learning disabilities policy on teacher training, a report on a survey of teachers regarding learning disabilities classes, discussion of tuition, a request by the Wayne Education Association to negotiate with the board of education and any other such items that may come before the board.

Council Sets Regular Session

Wayne City Council will meet in regular session at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the City Hall.

Agenda items will include an ordinance involving annexation of the McCright Property, an appointment to the planning commission, an application for membership to the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department, manager application/liquor license for the Pizza Hut, policy recommendations by the city administrator and any other such business that may come before the Council.

Another Has Tread Before Them

And this note on the progress of our society:

With women -- at least some of them -- to be required to register for the draft, the latest additions to the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department should feel more at ease.

SANDY Kirsch and Marilyn Stroman, who joined the Fire Department several weeks ago and who were approved by the City Council Feb. 5, will be given the same considerations as any other member of the department.

Fire Chief Dick Korn says some members have special problems that prevent them from doing certain duties.

FOR INSTANCE, some members are afraid of heights and aren't asked to climb ladders or to the top of a building. Others, he explained, tend to have claustrophobia (fear of confined places) and don't use the breathing apparatus.

The same rules and regulations apply to the newest female members of the group, both employees of Region IV Office of Developmental Disabilities. If they are limited to certain tasks by a particular problem, then due consideration will be given, he said.

HOWEVER, notes Chief Korn, he doesn't anticipate any problems based on his experience of having women on the department.

Maureen Dorsey, believed to be the first female Fire Department member here, handled water hoses during fires. She performed her tasks dutifully, Korn said, and presented no particular problems.

WHILE a dispatcher with the Wayne Police Department about a year ago, she became a member of the Fire Department. Now, she is no longer with either. Bigger and better opportunities beckoned her to become a dispatcher with the Nebraska Highway Patrol.

"With the experience of working with Maureen while she was a member, everything worked out well," Korn noted. "No one on the department is asked to do anything they can't do."

So, Sandy and Marilyn are becoming more knowledgeable about fire equipment fires and other intricacies involved with fighting fires. They will observe for several weeks, and then assist at actual fires as a normal and qualified fireman . . . er, firewoman.

Good, But Not the Best

WAYNE-CARROLL High School one-act play, under direction of Ted Blendenman, didn't place in any of the top three spots at state competition Thursday in Kearney. However, the high school art and drama instructor said the students "did a fine job." Kearney and Alliance tied for first, with Lincoln Northeast taking the third position. Blendenman said 14 schools, representing the top talent in the state, were separated into three theaters. The top school from each went on to compete for the highest honor. The Wayne-Carroll crew was beaten by Kearney in its theater. In order to qualify for state competition, Wayne had to receive a superior at district. Wayne and Pierce represented District III, the Northeast quadrant of the state. Play members included from left: seniors Marvin Hansen and Dave Blendenman, juniors Suzanne Platner and Lisa Remer, and senior Jeff March.

Farm Costs to Increase

Increased costs are projected in almost every aspect of farming this year, according to an Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources extension economist from Lincoln.

LESLIE Sheffield, extension farm management specialist, said that most farmers in Nebraska find themselves caught in a "farm price-cost squeeze" with occasional "cash-flow" difficulties.

Nebraska has a substantial number of "paper millionaire" farmers, but most of them find the great bulk of their assets are tied up in land, grain, machinery and livestock inventories while their "liquid" assets are often times fairly limited, he said.

INCREASES in average production costs have been endured by farmers in Southeastern Nebraska during the past five years with little change in the bushels per acre output, he said. The economist noted that in 1975, dryland corn had a cost of $154.14 per acre and $1.81 per bushel with an 85 bushel per acre expected yield. This compares to the 1979 cost of $182.19 per acre and $2.14 per bushel, with the same expected 85 bushel per acre yield. In 1980, the projected cost per acre is $189.97 and $2.23 per bushel, again with no change in the expected yield, per bushel, Sheffield said.

DRYLAND soybeans had a production cost of $118.63 per acre and $3.39 per bushel with an expected yield of 30 bushels per acre in 1975; but rose to $126.26 per acre and $4.21 per bushel with the same expected yield in 1979. During 1980, predictions are that cost per acre will be $157.72 and cost per bushel at $5.26. Sheffield said the expected yield per acre probably won't rise above 30 bushels.

The same held true for continuous wheat, he said, which is expected to be at $158.32 per acre and $4.53 per bushel in 1980, a jump from the $125.55 cost per acre and $2.79 cost per bushel in 1975. The expected yield per acre in 1980 is down from 45 to 35 bushels also, Sheffield said.

"All signs at this time point to higher farm production costs with no assurance that farm commodity prices will rise sufficiently to offset these increased costs in 1980," Sheffield said.

DURING 1980, farmers can expect to pay from 10 to 15 percent more than in 1979 for comparable size new tractors and machinery. To help combat the rise in price, Sheffield suggested shopping around during the winter months for substantial savings.

"Several major manufacturers seek to expand their sales during the slower fall and winter months by offering interest-free periods ranging from three to as much as nine months," he said.

Replacement parts and service charges for repairing farm equipment have increased in the past two or three years, and the outlook for 1980 is the same, he added.

Petroleum-based fuels, such as diesel fuel and gasoline, are the biggest area of concern for farmers now, Sheffield said, both from the standpoint of ready availability and the price.

IN THE six-year period since the Arab oil embargo in 1973, prices paid by farmers have increased by 270 percent for gasoline, 380 percent for diesel fuel and 224 percent for LP gas. Sheffield said that there are so many uncertainties surrounding the availability and pricing of crude oil and the vital end products of diesel fuel and gasoline for on-farm use that it is almost impossible to predict what the prices of these fuels will be during the coming year.

Natural gas is still the lowest cost form of energy, Sheffield said. Present irrigation rates are likely to be increased in 1980 but no final determination has been made by the major natural gas supplier in Nebraska.

"They do have the right to pass on increased costs which they incur in purchasing additional natural gas supplies through a Gas Purchase Adjustment clause without filing formal rate increases," he said.

FERTILIZER, which is one major cost, is expected to rise also, Sheffield said. However, nitrogen fertilizers are expected to increase the least, primarily because of over-capacity in the nitrogen fertilizer industry and increased imports. Sheffield said that the different nitrogenous fertilizers probably will show price increases ranging from 8 to 15 percent in 1980, since natural gas is a feedstock in the production of anhydrous ammonia.

The only major exception in higher farm chemical prices is atrazine because of new producers and stiff competition following the expiration of the original patent rights about two years ago, he said. Between 1975 and 1979, the price of atrazine dropped from $3.69 per pound to $2.47 per pound.

Does Being President Mean Never Having To Say You're Sorry?

Richard L. Leshner, President Chamber of Commerce of the United States

The President deserves an Oscar. After solemnly announcing: "I believe current conditions argue for restraint," Carter proposed a budget in which federal spending will soar by at least $60 billion and taxes by $40 billion in the next fiscal year alone. That takes brass!

But let's not get carried away with those silly little statistics. After all, the President didn't. In fact, he never even mentioned them. What he did emphatically claim was this: His budget is both "prudent and responsible," because after allowing for inflation, it calls for virtually no real increase in federal spending.

Well, now, just think about that for a moment. When Mr. Carter arrived in the White House in 1977, the rate of inflation was increasing by less than five percent a year. Today, the rate of increase has almost tripled. It is close to 15 percent. So let's assume he could do as good a job fighting inflation during the next three years, as he has during the last three.

By 1982, the rate of inflation, having nearly tripled again, would be increasing by almost 50 percent a year. But, using his special "Carter logic," the President could once again address the nation and announce with a perfectly straight face: "Current conditions argue for restraint. Thus, I am submitting a very prudent, responsible budget. Federal spending will increase next year by only 45 percent, or about $500 billion, which, as you all know, is actually less than our present rate of inflation. Indeed, since my budget calls for no real increase in federal spending, it will not be an inflationary force in the economy."

Whewee! What fun! With tricks like that, the Administration could rocket our inflation rate all the way to 1,000 percent, without ever having to say it's sorry.

Could all this be pure fantasy? I do feel nervous when I remember Mr. Carter's promise of regulatory reform was followed by the creation of big new bureaucracies and huge spending increases for regulatory programs. Then I feel worse when I remember his pledge to never raise taxes on working Americans was followed by the biggest tax increases in post-war history. So now I am frankly terrified, because he has promised to make fighting inflation his number one priority. I wish he would make it number two... maybe then he would try harder!

There is one of those famous little idioms that says everything comes full circle. Take for example the chain letter scam.

There are scores of people in Wayne involved and all are convinced they will be the one's to make the $200,000. But, alas, that mean old state attorney general is going to put a stop to everybody's fun.

And I say, "Up about time. The Business List Concept Letter is a reasonably ingenious way for a few to get rich at the expense of many."

It's based on the pyramid theory, and mathematicians point out that by the 30th level of the pyramid, some 200 million persons would be involved. Obviously, unworkable.

Yet, many, many people are spending their $50 and $100 as if they were investing in gold or silver. Albeit a somewhat conservative vein of thinking, but I maintain that the money could have bought my little boy some awfully nice clothes, or put food on the table for a couple of weeks.

A lot of people I know are involved with the letter, and I'd hate for them to be hurt financially or legally. But this scam, to be a scam, needs to be ripped in the bud. We hope Iowa follows through with its end of the rope and files suit against Iowans who are promoting the letter.

And speaking of youngsters, here's another little bit of fascination which goes along with raising children.

Chris and his daddy were watching the tube when a farm chemical commercial came on. It's the one that lists five or six reasons for using the chemical, and a booming voice counts the reasons.

When the voice reached four, Chris said "five" and with a little help he was able to count to 10. Simply fascinating, since neither Kathy nor myself had worked with him past three.

Kathy says it is Sesame Street that is teaching him to count, since he watches it religiously twice each day.

He also is beginning to repeat all words that Mom and Dad happen to emit. Take for example when the pied typer was doing a little carpentry work in the basement and made a mistake. Ooops.

Our congratulations to the Wayne-Carroll High School one-act play cast. Although they didn't bring home any top honors from Kearney, the students did their best and represented the school district well.

The kids were eliminated in their particular theater by Kearney which went on to tie for first place. Now that has to say something for their talents and their coaching.

High school art and drama instructor Ted Blenderman gets much of the credit for getting them to state.

Where are all the women's libbers now that President Carter is seriously considering drafting women. I think it was the head of NOW (National Organization of Women) that was protesting the possibility of women being drafted.

I guess I'm a little confused. It was my understanding that women wanted equal rights. You know, equal pay for equal work? Women are equal to men, etc., etc., etc. Guess that doesn't apply to defending one's country.

Larger and Fewer Ranches to Continue

concentration of production, incomes and wealth among those associated with the larger farms.

Farms and ranches in the U.S. will continue to be fewer in number and larger in size and there isn't much that most of us can do about it, although the rate of such change may slow down a little.

That seems to be the gist of a summary analysis of the Structure of U.S. Farming published by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and titled "Another Revolution in U.S. Farming?" Most farmers and ranchers and people deeply interested in agriculture do not relish seeing the number of farm and ranch units decline each year nor to see the production of cattle, hogs, poultry, eggs and milk concentrated more and more in the hands of larger and larger operators.

Instinctively we recognize that there is a potential danger in such concentration, a point of no return, a loss of versatility and self reliance that has characterized the traditional image of the hardworking, resourceful American farmer and rancher who could find ways and means to beat the odds of adversity and come up a winner. But each recognizes too that there is a serious question about how size can be curbed without destroying incentive and opportunity that stimulates productivity.

No cattle producer wants to be corralled by a government-backed edict that says "You can have a 300 cow beef herd and no more." Few cattle feeders would say the rules should be changed to limit the number of head they could market from their feedlots each year, even though they might feel that 25,000 to 50,000 capacity lots are unnecessary and an environmental concern. The analysis singles out 7 specific forces which have contributed to the way U.S. farms and ranches are organized and managed, and by inference are responsible for the trend toward "bigness." These forces are:

— INFLATION: It strengthens the relative economic position of the wealthier people and leads to fewer farms and greater — CAPITAL-INTENSIVE NEW TECHNOLOGIES: The new technologies used in farming have helped individual operators to establish control over a large amount of production resources. In crop and livestock production, the adoption of modern machinery and techniques demands high volume production in order to lower per unit costs. In other words, you have to farm more acres to support $60,000 to $100,000 tractors and combines.

— NON-FARM EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES: Off-farm income now approaches and exceeds on-farm income for many farm operators, particularly in certain areas of the nation. It helps young farm couples get started and keep in business.

— AVAILABILITY OF CREDIT: The increased availability of institutional credit has had great impact on U.S. agriculture. The rules applied by lenders in responding to demands for credit and for servicing loans have a substantial influence on who survives in farming.

— COMMODITY PROGRAMS SUPPORTING FARM PRICES: U.S. commodity programs have accelerated the shift to large farms by supporting commodity prices and increased the confidence of people aggressively willing to invest in larger operations.

— TAX RULES: Income and estate tax rules in total increase the attractiveness of owning farm assets and lead to larger investments by non farm people; larger farms owned by farmers able to exploit tax opportunities, and more corporate farms.

When one looks at these factors, one can hardly imagine the average farmer and rancher really wishing to give up any of them except inflation. Yet admittedly, they all contribute to the trend to larger and fewer farm and ranch operations in some measure.

Williams Drama Opens at WSC

'THE NIGHT OF THE IGUANA,' a play by Tennessee Williams, opened Sunday at 2 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre on the Wayne State College campus. Other performances are scheduled tonight (Monday) and Tuesday at 8 p.m. The play, which is being presented by the Wayne State theatre department under the direction of Dr. Helen Russell, takes place in the broken-down environs of a cheap Mexican resort hotel. The characters include a tough, sex-starved widow who runs the hotel, a neurotic, defrocked minister, and a gentle maiden lady from New England, thrown together in the squalid setting of the hotel. Through their conflicts comes the realization that life must be endured and that the spirit will survive even beyond the limits of anguish. Blue Devils Lose Their Flame, Then Cedar Tops Madison in Finals

Any hopes that the Wayne Blue Devils had of a rematch with Hartington Cedar Catholic and a shot at the West Husker Tournament title were extinguished by the Madison Dragons, Wednesday night in the Wisner-Pilger High School gym. Madison defeated Wayne 66-62.

Perhaps the Blue Devils were weary and exhausted while playing their fourth game in six days. Whatever the case, Wayne didn't show the vitality that had carried the team to a 10-3 record entering the rematch with Madison.

Game Tied Early

Nissen and Randy Dunklau brought Wayne back once more in the second quarter and forced an 18-18 tie. The Dragons broke away again and led 29-22 at the half.

The Blue Devils fought back again and pulled within one point early in the second half when Tod Heier hit a jump shot. But Madison hit several outside shots while Wayne's shots bounced off the rim and the Dragons extended their lead to 10 points.

Another factor in the game was the play of 6-5 Madison center Ron Deets. Deets scored 18 points, grabbed several rebounds and occasionally intimidated a Wayne player.

The Devils could pull no closer than nine points until the final minute and a half. Baskets by Heier and Jeff Dion brought the score to 66-60 and Zeiss hit a 35 foot shot at the buzzer for a 66-62 loss.

Shooting percentages for the teams were nearly even with Wayne shooting 39 percent from the field and Madison hitting 40 percent. The Devils controlled the boards, outbounding the Dragons 47 to 33. Leading rebounders were Nelson with 13, Dunklau with 8 and Nissen with 7.

Wayne will continue to play tough competition this week when the Blue Devils travel to South Sioux City on Friday and Elkhorn on Saturday.

Dragons Get Even

Wayne defeated Madison 77-72 in double overtime on Jan. 11 in the Wayne High School gym. The Devils won games against West Point, Schuyler and Wisner-Pilger Friday, Saturday and Monday.

"We didn't play very well. If we had played average we would have won. I feel we are a far better team than Madison," said Wayne coach Bill Sharpe. "The kids might have been affected from playing four games in six days. We looked kind of flat out there."

Madison 6-1 junior Mike Weiss was the fire-breather for the Dragons and burned the Devils the most. He hit 32 points, 20 in the second half, to put an end to Wayne's championship hopes.

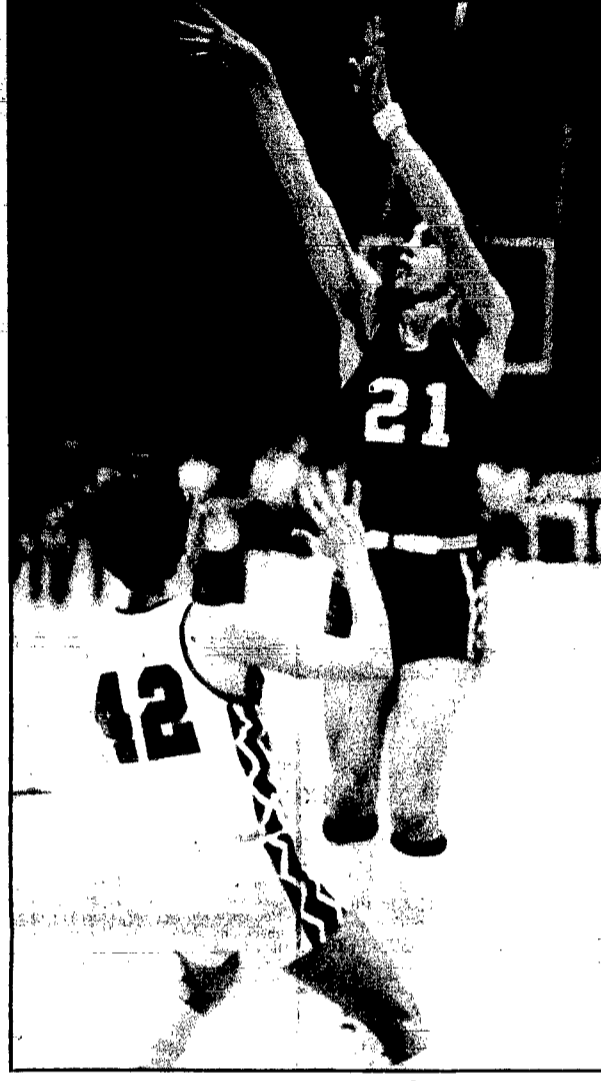

The Blue Devils scored the first basket of the game but found themselves behind when Madison scored the next eight points. Perry Nelson blocked two shots and Wayne knotted the game at 8-8 with a lay up by Kevin Nissen with 3:34 left in the first quarter. Scott Wessel tied the game at 10-10 moments later but the Devils fell behind 14-10 as the quarter ended.

C.C. Wins It All

In the finals of the West Husker Tournament played Friday, top seeded and undefeated Hartington Cedar Catholic dumped Madison 76-64 in the boys' division. Emerson-Hubbard, seeded second in the girls' division, defeated Lakeview 48-42 in the title game.

Cedar opened up to a big lead against Madison but faded in the second half as the Dragons began to rally behind 6-5 center Ron Deets. The Trojans put an end to the rally and kept their perfect record intact with a 76-64 win.

In the girls' bracket, fourth seeded Wayne was defeated 52-46 by Lakeview in the first round.

Cats Lose To Chadron 70-68 On Last Second Shot

By Willis Mahannah

Tim Stallings' 10-foot jump shot with two seconds remaining gave Chadron State a narrow 70-68 basketball victory over Nebraska College Conference opponent, Wayne State, in action Wednesday night in Chadron.

The game winning shot spoiled Wayne's 12 point comeback surge late in the second half, and dropped the Cats NCC record to 2-3. Chadron is now 3-1 in that conference, second only to Kearney's 5-0 mark.

Wayne's chances of a post season playoff spot now ride on its final three NCC games where the Cats will be in a must win situation. In order to make the playoffs, Wayne must finish in one of the top two positions in the NCC.

Down by 12 points, 61-49, with just under 10 minutes remaining in the game, the Cats put on a spurt that eventually tied the game at 68-68 with 2:12 remaining. Leon McRae was the main catalyst for Wayne during this time, hitting nine of his game total 17 points.

Joe Lindsay's free throw knotted the score at 68-68, but from that point on, Chadron controlled the ball, milking the clock down to the final seconds before calling time out to set up Stallings' shot in the closing seconds.

The first half of play was close with the lead changing hands nine times until Chadron pulled ahead to take a 44-36 halftime advantage. Waffle Rhoda scored 17 of his game high 21 points in the first 12 minutes of play to keep the Cats in contention.

Wayne's cause was hurt slightly when play making guard Willie Summers was forced to the bench with three fouls after only eight minutes of play in the first half.

The loss dropped Wayne's overall record to 5-13.

Wayne's game with Emporia State which had been scheduled for Friday night was postponed until Sunday night due to the recent storm in Kansas.

Teams 4, 6, 7 Win in C League Action

In Men's C League Recreation basketball action this week: Team Four gained its first win of the season 52-48 over Team Six in double overtime. Team Seven remained undefeated with a 61-50 win over Team Three and Team One trimmed Team Two 65-60.

First Victory

The game that was the talk of the town this week was the 52-48 double overtime win by Team Four over Team Six.

Both teams were missing regulars because the West Husker Basketball Tournament conflicted with Wednesday's action. Don Zeiss and Duane Blomenkamp were missing from Team Six and Ron Sladek and Dean Craun were missing from Team Four.

Tom Roberts failed to score in the first half but netted 18 points in the rest of the game for Team Four to finish as the game's leading scorer. Teammate Marlon Arneson added 11 points.

Team Six was paced by Darrell Doeschler with 12 points, Ron Wriedt with 11 points and Jack March with 10 points.

Team Four led 32-11 after the first quarter but fell behind 39-15 at the half. Roberts scored 12 points in the second half to tie the game as Team Four sent the action into overtime.

Fifth Straight Win

Team Seven won its fifth consecutive game of the season by topping Team Three 61-50.

Team Three got off to a slow start and trailed by 18 points before making an impressive comeback that was too little too late. Team Seven jumped in front 16-14 with balanced scoring from Dick Dittman, Ken Swartz and Gene Casey. Bill Corbit came on strong in the second quarter to score seven points.

Pat Gross did a fine job for Team Three in the first half but he was a one man team during that time. Gross scored 16 of his team's 18 first half points.

In the final period Randy Shaw scored 15 points and Don Sherman added 9 for Team Three but Team Seven had built up too big of a lead and coasted to the win.

Hallstrom Leads Trojans

JEFF ZEISS

Scott Hallstrom scored 26 points and three of his teammates hit double figures as the Wakefield Trojans marked up a 69-64 win over Coleridge, Friday night in Coleridge. "Good shooting kept us in it. Everything seemed to go up and in. They're not a bad ball club," said Wakefield coach Ernie Kovar. The win upped the Trojans' record to 8-5 and should put them in at least a tie for second place in the Clark Division of the Lewis and Clark Conference, Kovar said. Hallstrom hit 11 of 14 field goals and made seven assists to lead his team. Tom Preston, who is more valuable for his assists than his scoring, made nine assists and scored 12 points. Jeff Hallstrom followed with 11 points and eight rebounds and Brent Kahl added 10 points, eight in the first half. The Trojans shot 53 percent of the field compared to 47 percent for Coleridge as they gradually pulled in front and stayed there. Merlin Pappenhuis led the losers with 24 points. Wakefield also won the junior varsity action as Rod Nixon ran in 15 points. The Trojans are scheduled to host Homer Friday.

Wayne Freshmen Dump Norfolk

Norfolk's freshman boys' basketball team has a tradition of beating Wayne but that tradition was broken Tuesday night when the Blue Devils tagged the Panthers with a 63-60 loss.

Wayne sent another Norfolk team home winless when Norfolk Catholic invaded on Thursday. The Blue Devils won that game 60-49.

The freshmen from Wayne hadn't beaten Norfolk public in so many years that Wayne coaches weren't sure when the feat last happened. Wayne coach Duane Blomenkamp said that his team got off to a slow start but played better as the game progressed to earn the win.

Shaun Niemann blitzed Norfolk with 25 points. Tim Heier hit 14 and Jeff McCright added 10 to help pace the locals. Other scorers were Jeff Jorgensen with 6, Todd Schwartz with 4 and Mark Kubik with 4.

Allen Girls Place Third At Ponca

Led by Lisa Erwin and Stacey Koester, the Allen Eagles tore apart Newcastle 61-36, Friday night to place third in the Ponca Tournament.

Erwin hit nine field goals and eight of nine free throws to total 26 points. Koester, who has now recovered from a bout with the flu, followed with 14 points. Janet Peterson and Lisa Wood scored eight points each. In the rebounding department, Peterson and Erwin pulled down 13 and 12 rebounds respectively.

Allen opened up with a 16-8 first quarter lead and pulled out in front 32-16 at the half. Newcastle put together a second half comeback and closed within six points at one time in the third quarter.

"Our girls played well. We had a good team effort and Stacey Koester played a good game to take some of the load off of Lisa Erwin," said Allen coach Dale Jackson. "Newcastle came back and made a pretty good ball game out of it."

The Eagles shot 36 percent from the field to improve their record to 5-6. Next action is scheduled tomorrow (Tuesday) when Allen hosts Wakefield. The Eagles will travel to Coleridge Thursday.

Allen Falters

Good outside shooting by the Wynot girls stopped the Allen Eagles 56-41 in the first round of the Ponca Tournament, Thursday night.

Allen fell behind 23-9 at the end of the first quarter as Wynot shot 68 percent from the field for the first period of play.

"Wynot's shooting was unbelievable. I don't think I've ever seen a team shoot that well," said Allen coach Dale Jackson. "It was a good game and both teams played well. Most of Wynot's baskets in the first quarter were from 16 feet and out. They didn't shoot any layups."

After falling behind in the first quarter, the Eagles applied a man-to-man defense and full court press to make a good game out of it. Allen pulled back within six points in the third and fourth quarters but that was as close as they came.

Lisa Erwin scored 17 points and Stacey Koester added 8 for Allen. Janet Peterson and Des Williams had six and five points respectively. Deb Stralman and Carmen Wieseler led Wynot with 16 points each.

The Eagles will host Wakefield tomorrow (Tuesday) and travel to Coleridge Thursday as they complete their regular season.

D-3 District play will open Monday, Feb. 18 at Rosalie. Allen will meet Macy at 7 p.m. in the opening round. At 2 p.m., Decatur and Newcastle play, at 4 p.m., Coleridge meets Bancroft and at 9 p.m. Winnebago plays Walhall. The second round is scheduled for Tuesday and finals will be played Thursday.

Improving Bears Bomb Neligh

Three players scored in double figures as the Laurel Bears rolled over Neligh 66-41 Friday night in Laurel.

Lon Swanson led all scorers with 15 points but was followed closely by Joe Olsen with 14 and Clark Maxon with 13 in a finely balanced offensive effort.

The Bears were deadlocked at 7-7 at the end of the first quarter but improved as the game progressed and pulled away from the Warriors.

"It was probably the most consistent we've ever played this year. We seem to be getting more consistent each game. We shot better and executed better," said Laurel coach Joel Parks. "Clark Maxon had his second consecutive outstanding game and Lon Swanson played a real good game. It's good to see improvement. It was a rough and physical game."

Laurel actually started out in a hole as Neligh scored the first five points of the game. But consistent play in the last three quarters lifted the Bears to the victory.

Fifty percent field goal shooting and a 46-36 rebounding advantage were vital to the Bears as they built up a big lead. Clark Maxon was the leader on the boards with 13 rebounds. Kurt Escriff led Neligh with 13 points.

Next action for the Bears is scheduled tomorrow (Tuesday) at Coleridge and Friday at Madison.

Randy's Recap
According to Randy Hascall

IT'S ABOUT THAT time of year again when the Wayne Herald employees prepare for their annual benefit basketball game. This year's opponent will be State National Bank.

The benefit game is scheduled for 2:30 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 24 in the Wayne City Auditorium. The proceeds from this year's game will be used to establish a scholarship for a Wayne High athlete to attend Wayne State College. With a little bit of luck and a lot of work we hope to make this an annual scholarship that will grow from year to year.

More information will be released in an article prior to the game.

TO INSPIRE ITS ATHLETES Allen High School staged a special spirit rally last week. Narges of students were drawn from a hat and the individuals played an unusual basketball game.

New Insect May Fight Grain Fungus

A new insect that might help farmers fight a poisonous fungus in grain has been discovered in a Michigan wheat field.

Bisham P. Singh of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) said he found the new insect - a tiny, dark beetle - during a routine survey in St. Clare county for plant diseases of economic importance in Michigan crops.

James O. Lee, APHIS deputy administrator, said the new insect is one of an obscure specie of beetles never before detected or described in scientific literature anywhere in the world. He said the insect was found feeding on ergot, a common fungus of grain often fed to livestock.

Scientists of the USDA's Science and Education Administration now are taking steps to identify, describe and name the insect.

Ergot is a poison to warm-blooded animals, including people. Some of its components are said to be related to LSD, Lee said.

Ingestion of the fungus in great quantities, Lee said, can kill humans or livestock, frequently posing a problem for farmers. However, the newly discovered insect, in both immature and adult stages, appears to consume large quantities of the ergot components without any side effects.

Researchers will evaluate whether the insect helps spread the poisonous fungus as it moves from field to field or whether it could be developed as a parasite to control ergot. They also will look at the enzymes in the insect's digestive tract to learn what substances break down the poisonous compounds, a determination which could lead to a possible cure for ergot poisoning, Lee said.

Anticipated Plantings

The prospective plantings survey for Jan. 1, 1980, was made in 34 states. Response by farmers to the survey was centered around Jan. 1 with most questionnaires filled out and mailed prior to the announcement on Jan. 4 of the suspension of sales to the USSR.

The following is the expected 1980 planted acreage in 34 states:

Corn - 81.6 million acres (33 million hectares), up 4 percent; sorghum - 15.9 million acres (6.42 million hectares), up 5 percent; oats - 13.3 million acres (5.39 million hectares), down 5 percent; barley - 8.43 million acres (3.41 million hectares) up 11 percent.

Soybeans - 70.7 million acres (28.6 million hectares), virtually the same; upland cotton - 13.8 million acres (5.57 million hectares), virtually unchanged; flaxseed - 1.05 million acres (425 thousand hectares), down 2 percent; durum wheat - 4.85 million acres (1.96 million hectares), up 20 percent.

Other spring wheat - 15.7 million acres (6.37 million hectares), up 1 percent; sugarbeets - 1.07 million acres (433 thousand hectares), down 3 percent.

HEAP BIG BARGAINS ARE EVEN BIGGER WHEN YOU FIND THEM IN HOME-TOWN STORES ... AND HERE'S WHY

Our earliest Americans must have loved a bargain too, even though the supply was limited. That's not true today... Americans are still looking for bargains and sometimes drive miles to other towns just to shop. We'd like to suggest that the Big Bargains you find in Home Town Stores are even bigger than the ones you find out-of-town. You see, out-of-town businessmen do not support home-town schools, churches or civic projects or share in paying the local tax load. But when we shop at home we actually lighten our own tax load and help our community grow. Let's shop at home and build a stronger active community... together!

HELP BUILD YOUR OWN COMMUNITY... Shop at home!

Medicare Deductibles To Increase

The Medicare hospital insurance deductible - the amount a person with Medicare is responsible for in a benefit period - increases to $180 for benefit periods starting in 1980. Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk said recently. The 1979 deductible was $160.

Under the law, the deductible must be increased in reflect rising costs of health care.

A benefit period - the measure of use of services under Medicare - starts the first time a person enters a hospital after hospital insurance begins. A new benefit period begins when the person has been out of a hospital or other facility primarily providing skilled nursing or rehabilitation services for 60 days in a row.

There is no limit on the number of benefit periods a person may have. Also increased are certain per day amounts the person is responsible for under hospital insurance.

For the 61st through the 90th day of inpatient hospital care, hospital insurance pays for all covered services except for $45 a day in 1980. The 1979 figure was $40 a day.

For each of 60 reserve days of hospital inpatient care, hospital insurance pays all covered services except for $90 a day. The 1979 figure was $80.

For the 21st through the 80th day of care in a skilled nursing facility, hospital insurance pays for all covered services except for $22.50 in 1980. The 1979 figure was $20.

Other than the inpatient deductible, there is no charge for covered services for the first 30 days of inpatient hospital care and for the first 20 days of skilled nursing care in each benefit period; in addition, Branch said, there is no change in the Medicare medical insurance $60 annual deductible for 1980.

Grain Exports Run Ahead

Figures released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture this week show exports of U.S. grains and soybeans running substantially ahead of year-ago levels despite the suspension of grain shipments to the Soviet Union, said J. Dawson Ahalt, chairman of the World Food and Agricultural Outlook and Situation Board.

Since President Carter's Jan. 4 suspension of shipments to the Soviet Union, Ahalt said, inspections for export of grain and soybeans have been over one-third higher than for the same period a year ago, and corn exports are 45 percent higher than for the same three weeks in 1979.

"Despite the suspension of sales, total agricultural exports in 1979-80 are still expected to set records," Ahalt said. Department officials project total exports of $36.4 billion, compared to the 1978-79 record of $32 billion. He said officials also project total exports to reach a record volume of around 150 million tons, far exceeding last year's record 137.5 million tons.

Ahalt said wheat exports are still expected to surpass last year's by more than 10 percent.

and total 36.1 million tons. Feedgrain exports are projected at a record 45.9 million tons, compared to last year's 40.2 million tons. Soybean sales abroad are forecast at 22.2 million tons, up from last year's record 20.5 million tons.

The largest purchaser of U.S. grains and soybeans again will be Japan, with imports surpassing those of the USSR every year. Other leading markets for U.S. grains and soybeans this year are the European Community, Latin America and Eastern Europe. Based on current projections, Mexico, China, Egypt and Spain are expected to import more U.S. grains than had earlier been anticipated.

Survey of Employment Set Here

Local representative of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the work week of Feb. 18-22, 1980. Leo C. Schilling, director of the bureau's regional office in Denver, announced.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 84,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the Nation.

For example, in December the survey indicated that of the 104.0 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 97.9 million were employed. The jobless rate, at 5.9 percent in December, has fluctuated between 5.7 and 5.9 percent for more than a year.

Information supplied by people participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Upon graduation from the academy, cadets are commissioned second lieutenants and awarded a bachelor of science degree.

RANDY JANKE, Winside, sits atop his power-laden IHC at the Indy Super Pull Saturday at Indianapolis, Ind. His efforts brought him a second and seventh place.

Janke-Gamble Trio Places At Super Pull

After nearly a decade of toil and trouble, successes and failures, Butch and Randy Janke (cousins) and Keith Gamble (all of Winside) have made the big time.

AT THE Indy Super Pull in Indianapolis, Ind., Saturday, Feb. 2, Randy drove their triple-staged turbo-charged International Harvester tractor to a third place in the 12,000 pound class, and to seventh in the 9,000 pound class.

IHC tractor, maintaining as much of a tractor look as possible. It even burns diesel, with a particular water formula.

Nebraska is one of eight states (from Texas to Minnesota) in Region III. In order to qualify for the national pull in Indianapolis, the Jankes and Gamble had to place high in the region. They did, finishing second overall in point standings for 1979 in both the 9,000 and 12,000 pound classes.

a testing laboratory which specializes in high output engine components

THE BARRINGTON HILLS, Ill., expert is so successful that seven tractors with his parts made it to the Indy Super Pull.

Randy Janke said their tractor seldom was beaten in the region last year. Their refinements of the Hypermax system and their nine years of experience learned to bring them a variety of honors last year.

This is no small feat, mind you, for they competed against entrants from all over the United States. In fact, there were 23 tractors in the 12,000 pound class.

ESTIMATED at boasting some 1,500 horsepower, the Janke-Gamble machine is a modified

IN PULLING at the weekend contest, the Gamble-Janke tractor beat the 1979 Puller-of-the-Year, an accomplishment of which the trio is proud.

Most of the credit for their success, they maintain, goes to the owner of Hypermax Engineering, Except for modifications in length, the IHC is your typical IHC tractor. It carries specially-made tires, engine, transmission, clutch, etc., but on the surface is an IHC farm tractor.

Dear Chain Letter Participant: Remember when you first heard of the chain letter (also known as the Business List Concept Letter), and the person who wanted to sell it to you said "Ah, don't worry, it's legal?" We have some potentially unsettling news for you. Well, you see, it's like this. Now that you've invested your $100, your name is on the list. Yes, I know, we told you there's no problem with that. But we've run into something we didn't anticipate. A civil suit naming six alleged chain letter promoters and 1,000 "John and Mary Does" has been filed in Lancaster County District Court by the state attorney general's office.

The problem is, we're not sure yet who is among the 1,000 John and Mary Does. The suit says it primarily is aimed at persons who promote and actively recruit others to take part, organize meetings and print forms.

And, we're not real sure how far-reaching this will be. You know how things sometimes can snowball.

What we're trying to say is, that gee, we're sorry we may have misled you to believe this wasn't illegal. Our lawyers told us it wasn't illegal, but now the attorney general says it is. His office says promoting the letter constitutes gambling and is a public nuisance.

See, another problem is that we don't know yet what the state means by promoting. We're concerned that promoting could mean one chain letter participant trying to sell it to another.

At any rate, we thought we'd better let you know what was going on. We wish you luck and thanks for getting in the letter so we could make more money.

Yours in dollars,
Mary and John Doe

are people from Lincoln, Crete, Ainsworth and Sioux City.

The 1,000 "Does" are unknown at present, but will be named when their names and relationships with the letter are found out.

The attorney general's office worked with postal inspectors and the Nebraska State Patrol and the Douglas County Sheriff's Office in the investigation.

According to the suit, persons representing the chain letter falsely claim that participants could make $204,000 with no risk and would receive more than $200,000 in 12 days.

There are scores of Wayne and Wayne-area persons involved in the letter, and the extent of their involvement is not yet known.

Rabid Skunk Alert Sounded

A skunk that was confirmed as being rabid was killed in the Wayne area this past week, according to Wayne vet Dr. J. J. Liska.

As far as is known, nobody was bitten by the animal before it was destroyed.

Every year, some 50,000 people across the country are exposed to rabies as a result of bites by wild animals and uncontrolled stray pets. Rabid skunks, which are the reservoirs of the dread rabies virus, also bite domestic dogs and cats who may then spread the disease by biting other animals and people.

The Nebraska Veterinary Medical Association suggests that parents remind their children of the danger of approaching or playing with a skunk or other wild animal that appears to have lost its fear of people.

Home Health Services To Start Here Today

Home health services for the homebound were scheduled to begin in the Wayne area today (Monday).

UNDER auspices of The Home Health Care Agency of Lutheran Community Hospital, Norfolk, and Providence Medical Center, Wayne, the program initially will include skilled nursing services, physical therapy and speech therapy.

Home health services are intended for patients who are homebound and who require services of a registered nurse but do not need to be in a hospital or nursing home.

THE SERVICES must be ordered by a physician and must be medically necessary to qualify for payment under the Medicare program or other insurance programs.

Any billing for services to be paid by a patient will come from Lutheran Community Hospital since administration of the program and financial records will continue to be handled there.

ANN WITKOWSKI, a Wayne RN, will provide the services here and will be based out of PMC. The area to be served will include Wayne and an area within a 25-mile radius.

There are no local, state or federal tax monies involved in the program, with each patient paying for his or her services, or their insurance companies footing the bill.

For those unknowing, the suit seeks $2,000 in civil penalties from the defendants and asks that they be stopped from promoting the letter. Named in the
