Accident Rate High in County

Students Learn About Driving

Because Wayne County has a particularly high rate of country accidents, school districts in the county were given the opportunity to offer an advanced driver's education course.

RON CARNES, Wayne Carroll High School social studies teacher and driver's education instructor, said teachers in schools within these high accident rate counties were asked to volunteer

The course, given last summer and last semester, offered a variety of subjects not normally offered through standard driver's education classes.

CLASSROOM topics included car maintenance and energy, alcohol and its relationship to the driver, personality factors related to the driver, legal responsibilities of the driver and perception training.

Driving experiences included off road recovery, evasive actions, braking and brake failure, manual clutch driving with a pickup and parking of all kinds.

CARNES SAID the state's Department of Education was sponsor of the advanced course which was devised by the Nebraska Safety Center, Kearney State College and the DOE.

A DOE representative gave instruction to Carnes who in turn became qualified to pass along the information in a classroom situation. The idea of the course was to hit upon problems in driving that involve most accidents, and areas about which the public has the least amount of knowledge

IN ADDITION to the DOE courses, Carnes said he added a unit on car maintenance and energy "because of the serious nature of the energy problem."

The state stressed the unit on alcohol, which the students found to be interesting, and the unit on legal responsibilities. Col. Saxton from the Nebraska Highway Patrol provided considerable detail in these two areas, Carnes explained.

SOME OF THE items covered by Colonel Saxton were right of ways at intersections, the responsibilities of drivers in case of an accident, breath tests, the use of radar and speed limits.

Carnes said although the course was only offered here two sessions, there is some hope it will be included in the curriculum in coming years.

THE STUDENTS found the course to be meaningful. "It was a course they could get something out of that was of a practical nature," he explained.

One student commented that the course "was a very good class. I am a much better driver and can handle unpredictable situations better because of the class."

ANOTHER said "I feel that the class is good for everyone to take. We learned how to control the car in an emergency, how to bring the car back safely after going off the road, how to react when coming across an accident, and how to control skidding. Some of these things we actually practiced. We also discussed traffic laws and were given the opportunity to question a state trooper. We learned a great deal about the maintenance of the car."

Carnes said students experienced actual problems involved with driving that few people ever experience. These included how to handle a car when the brakes lock up and how to recover from off the road emergencies.

ANOTHER student said "the class is one of the best courses Wayne High has ever offered. It prepares teenagers for driving experiences they might encounter. I feel it should be taught the entire year. Instead of a semester to allow for more driving time."

One of the more sobering moments during the course, Carnes explained, was a tape prepared at Kearney State College which demonstrated the effects of alcohol.

A DRIVER was given small amounts of alcohol and then progressively larger amounts with various driving skills tested. The results, Carnes said, showed students how even small amounts of alcohol can affect driving.

Hokey Pokey

TO ADD VARIETY and interest, the Carroll Elementary school held a rhythmic demonstration called "I've Got the Beat" Monday night at the Carroll Auditorium. The new concept combined a number of rhythmic activities common to both music and physical education. The demonstration was designed to show that many activities in music and phys ed are closely related and complement one another. The program combined a full music program and spring physical education program to show parents what is included in the students' daily routine. Above, the youngsters participate in doing the Hokey Pokey which included identification of body parts and the movement of these parts. At left, the students participate in another of several activities to improve coordination, timing and rhythm.

Send An Athlete to WSC

The Wayne Herald and The State National Bank are concerned about keeping local talent here and improving athletics at Wayne State College.

The two businesses have combined their talents to sponsor benefit basketball games at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the Wayne City Auditorium. Proceeds will be used to form a scholarship for a Wayne

Carroll High School athlete to attend WSC.

Employees of The Herald and the State Bank have pulled together a pair of interesting teams, relying heavily on local talent and some recruiting.

Tickets may be purchased from the bank, The Herald, employees of either or at the door.

Enrollment Figures Show Slight Decline

Preliminary enrollment figures for 1979-80 winter semester at Wayne State College show about 2,052 students enrolled as of Feb. 15. That figure is expected to reach to about 2,225 when Extended Campus enrollment closes in April.

The anticipated figure of 2,225 is based on past enrollment trends for on-campus and the Extended Campus Division, for which enrollment continues throughout the semester. The final enrollment for 1978-79 winter semester at WSC was 2,409.

The final figures for fall semester, 1979-80 also were released this week. As of Dec. 31, 1979, 2,419 students were enrolled in on-campus and Extended Campus courses, down about 6.5 percent from the 2,589 of Dec. 31, 1978.

The number of fall semester, 1979-80, credit hours in which students enrolled was the second highest in eight years (for which figures were available), despite the decline in total headcount. WSC students enrolled for 30,296 credit hours for fall semester, 1979-80, second to only the 31,264 for fall semester, 1978-79.

Year	Headcount	Student Credit Hours
1979	2,419	30,296
1978	2,589	31,264
1977	2,579	30,029
1976	2,274	28,069
1975	2,232	26,549
1974	2,033	25,117
1973	1,983	25,959
1972	2,177	29,508

Financial Associations Tell Merger

Wayne Federal Savings and Loan Association and Midwest Federal Savings and Loan Association have agreed upon a merger of the two associations, subject to approval of the Federal Home Loan Bank board, Betty Addison, president of Wayne Federal Savings and Loan, has announced.

The merger will benefit area customers and savers through expanded home financing, additional savings programs and customer services, she said.

Wayne Federal Savings and Loan was founded in 1935 and has served the Wayne area continuously. Midwest Federal Savings and Loan is one of Nebraska's oldest and fastest growing savings and loans. It was founded in 1887 in Nebraska City, 50 miles south of Omaha. Midwest Federal has offices in Nebraska City, Auburn Plainsmouth, Syracuse, Falls City, Crete and Weeping Water.

The merger will make Midwest Federal and Wayne Federal the state's eighth largest savings and loan with assets of $120 million. Midwest Federal is also the state's largest rural-based savings and loan, with all offices in towns of less than 10,000 population.

Duane W. Hall, present president of Midwest Federal, will continue as president. Betty Addison will be a member of the board of directors and vice president of Midwest Federal and manager of the Wayne office.

School Chosen for Pilot Program

The teachers in our cap continue to be numerous.

Wayne Carroll School District received word it has been chosen as a pilot school for a nutrition curriculum program called Educational Experience.

AT NO COST to the district, the program will be implemented in grades K-12 and will provide extensive information on the importance of nutrition in the daily lives of students.

Dave Luff, West Elementary principal, said the state Department of Education notified the school district last May that it had been selected to participate. There were several other schools around the Midwest chosen in a variety of classes.

ALTHOUGH extensive information on the project is not known as yet, Luff said he believes the program will be geared to certain grade levels. In other words, he expects that kindergartners will study breakfast and its importance to the daily routine, the higher grades the more advanced material, and so forth.

The district received confirmation in November that it had been selected and suddenly in January, large tubs of nutrition material began to arrive.

OUT OF curiosity and concern, Luff said he contacted the Department of Education for more details on the matter. He then was informed that a workshop in Lincoln Feb. 28 will help explain the program.

Several from the Wayne-Carroll district will attend, including himself, Ruth Kerstine, kindergarten and first grade teacher at Carroll; Donna Matlette, first grade teacher at West Elementary; JoAnn Benshoof, fourth grade teacher at West Elementary; Marjorie Summers, food service specialist with the district; and Don Koenig, middle school physical education instructor.

THESE PERSONS will receive training at the workshop, and will return provide leadership in the local school district, Luff said.

The nutrition program will include breakfast, meals at school, snacks, food habits, key nutrients, fruits, vegetables, great school menus, food safety and nutrition and physical education.

The elementary principal said the project, originating from the Learning Resources Center in Red Oak, Iowa, will include an evaluation tool to help determine the value and success of the program.

Friendship Bridges Gap

Friendship can travel over many a mile, and Kent and Lois Hall, owners and operators of Wayne Greenhouse, have shown just how far that can be.

THE HALLS, as a wedding present, paid transportation costs for Eagon Guzman and his December bride Manlita from Santiago, Chile. They are honeymooning in Wayne, but will return to their native land around the first of March.

Guzman and the Halls became acquainted some 10 years ago while he (Guzman) was an American Field Service (AFS) exchange student at Wayne High School.

EAGON WAS a house guest of Kent and Lois then. They became his "Mother and Father" of America, and he still affectionately refers to them as such. Since returning to Santiago 10 years ago, Eagon has studied to be a gynecologist. He entered the University of Chile Medical School after graduating from high school in Chile in 1970. Seven years later, he received his degree.

HE HAS SPENT the remaining time in residency at Sotero del Rio Hospital, and in May will travel to a town in Southern Chile for further practice. The next three years will be spent in the town of 60,000 to pay back the government which supported him through medical school.

Eagon earns just enough to live on, he explained, while the remainder goes to the government for repayment of his schooling. If it had not been for the Halls' generosity in Chile, they are honeymooning in Wayne, but will return to their native land around the first of March.

THE HONEYMOON trip to Wayne was a gift from the Halls since they were unable to attend the wedding.

In his 10-year absence, the people of Wayne have changed little, Eagon said. His classmates of 1968-69 have changed little, although he has not been able to locate as many as he had hoped. The word should spread through the area over the next few days, and his American high school friendships should be renewed, he said.

PHYSICALLY, the community of Wayne has changed considerably what with new stores, new store fronts, new businesses and manufacturing interests, Eagon related.

His wife, 21 years old, spoke no English upon arrival here, but has managed to pick up some through visits with the Halls and former classmates of Eagon. She, also, is in the medical field, studying to be a physical therapist.

EAGON SAID he feels as though he is in his own home. The Halls are like a Mother and Father to him, he explained, and it's "a spiritual kind of thing."

Manlita says she finds Wayne "really beautiful" although she knows little about the state. She is having a "lot of fun" trying to learn English, she said through Eagon's interpretation.

THE PEOPLE here are friendly, lovely, warm and sociable, she said.

While here, the Guzmans hope to tour Providence Medical Center for a look at American medical facilities. But, Hall said, they will have plenty of time to visit with Eagon's old classmates.

The greenhouse proprietor said anyone wishing to visit Eagon or who knows of someone who might want to rekindle old acquaintances should call the greenhouse or the Hall residence.

IT WILL BE a long time until Eagon and his bride return to America, and Hall says his visit provides an opportunity to catch up on a decade of change.

Thought for Today

By Brian McBride

"Beauty lies in the eyes of the beholder..."
Lewis Wallace

We are surrounded by beauty, if we will only learn to notice it. The sound of a child's laughter or a bird's song; the feel of a spring rain or a kitten's fur; the sight of a rainbow or a bird on the wing. Their beauty is ours if we are merely aware of it.

It is said "two men looked through bars... one saw mud, the other stars." Beauty may be overlooked unless we develop an attitude which looks for it everywhere. With such an attitude our lives are certain to be enriched for beauty perceived and appreciated leads to beauty in actions and personal relationships.

We believe that a beautiful memorial service should prepare the bereaved for adjustment to loss.

Homestead Exemptions, Tax Credits Considered

Capitol News
By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The Legislature has passed and Gov. Charles Thone has said he will sign a bill that will raise the state's legal drinking age from 19 to 20, effective 90 days after final adjournment of the Unicameral this spring.

Sen. Ralph Kelly of Grand Island tried for three years to raise the drinking age and finally got his wish when his colleagues voted 31-13 to put his proposal into the statutes.

Kelly had to make some compromises, including one to make the age 20 instead of 21 as the Grand Island lawmaker originally proposed.

The legislation also has a "grandfather" clause which means those 19 when it officially becomes law can continue to consume alcoholic beverages. Only those who turn 19 after the effective date of the act will be affected by its provisions.

Nineteen-year-olds will be allowed to serve or sell liquor as part of their jobs.

Kelly said what prompted his bill was his interest in reducing alcohol-related teen-age traffic accidents and fatalities. Another benefit, he said, is the law would take care of the "trickle-down" effect that occurs when 19-year-olds give liquor to younger teens.

During earlier debate of the bill, it became obvious that some of the lawmakers do not believe raising the drinking age will accomplish Kelly's objectives.

Convincing youths through education of what alcohol is and how its abuse can lead to a multitude of serious consequences would be a more effective way of dealing with alcohol-related problems, some of the senators said.

While the bill was being worked through the legislative process, the Legislature adopted — but later deleted — a provision that would have permitted 19-year-olds to buy liquor by the drink but not by the package.

Homestead exemptions studied
Just what the Revenue Committee will present to the Legislature in proposed changes in the homestead exemption law is not known at this writing.

The committee recently spent a long afternoon listening to testimony on a variety of suggestions but did not act immediately on any of them.

It became apparent during the hearing, however, there was not much enthusiasm for Gov. Charles Thone's proposal, which would expand benefits to the low-income of all ages, create a new class of exemptions for those over 75 and continue the standard exemption.

The committee's own bill would provide relief to the aged and disabled homeowners and renters with the amount of relief based on their incomes. That bill would also eliminate the standard exemption to which all homeowners are entitled and which amounts to about $20 annually. Also in the measure is a section under which all spending income would be used to determine eligibility, rather than federally adjusted gross income.

Omaha Sen. Patrick Venditte and Bernice Labez each sponsored a bill calling for somewhat expanded homestead exemption benefits.

Tax credit expanded
Members of the Legislature recently voted 42-4 final approval of a bill to raise the state's food sales tax credit from $20 to $28.

That's the amount Gov. Charles Thone has said he now favors.

As readers of this column know, the legislators spent much time debating the food tax credit. Some of them felt strongly the tax should be wiped off the books but that idea never could generate enough support for approval by the majority.

Those originally proposed a $26 credit but after listening to the Senators debate the legislation, agreed to up the figure to $28, but he made it plain he would veto any bill proposing more than that.

Insanity plea discussed
Making it more difficult to use insanity as a defense in criminal cases is the aim of a bill on which the Judiciary Committee conducted a public hearing recently.

Under the legislation, sponsored by Sen. Carol Pirsch of Omaha, the burden of proof would be shifted to the defense when insanity pleas are made. Current law forces prosecutors to prove a defendant sane beyond a reasonable doubt.

Mrs. Pirsch said after experts testify on a defendant's sanity, a juror in almost every case will have a "reasonable doubt" on the issue. According to Mrs. Pirsch, insanity defenses are successful in 90 percent of the cases.

Attorneys testifying against the measure included spokesmen for the Douglas County and Lancaster County public defenders' offices.

Ronald Frank of the Douglas County public defender's staff said the Bill was an outgrowth of the sensationalism of the Erwin Charles Simants case. Last fall, a Lancaster County District Court jury found Simants innocent by reason of insanity in the slaying of six members of the Henry Kellie family of Sutherland.

After Frank noted the bill's provisions do not cover first-degree murder cases, Mrs. Pirsch said the exemption was made to strengthen the measure against court challenges.

Those supporting the proposal included representatives of the county attorneys' offices in Lancaster and Douglas counties.

A similar bill, introduced by Sen. Patrick

Venditte of Omaha, includes first-degree murder trials. That bill had a Feb. 20 hearing date.

Tax limits debated
The Revenue Committee has indicated it won't support limiting property taxes on homes unless limits are also established for farm and business real estate.

The indication of what the majority of the committee members were thinking was revealed in the rejection of an amendment to a bill that would restrict taxes on all real property to 1.5 percent of actual value. The amendment would have excluded farm and business real estate from the bill's provisions.

Omaha Sens. David Newell and Vard Johnson proposed the amendment. They said business and agriculture have been given generous tax exemptions while homeowners have had to suffer because of higher taxes.

The committee didn't ballot on sending the bill to the floor for discussion by the full Legislature, but it did approve an amendment to delay the effective date of the bill to Jan. 1, 1982.

Eating Suggestions: Are They Helpful or Meddling?

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION

By M.M. Van Kirk, Director of Information
Seven key recommendations on what the nation's eating habits should be have just been released by the Department of Agriculture and Health, Education and Welfare and they can't help raising the question about whether this is a proper function of government or just plain old meddling.

The recommendations represent a major victory for Sen. George McGovern and his Select Committee on Nutrition which issued a very similar, though more drastic, set of "Dietary Goals" in January 1977. Anticipating some adverse reaction like that which greeted the McGovern committee's report, Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland and his assistant secretary, Carol Tucker Foreman, hastened to say that the latest recommendations are "purely advisory." Some scientists have felt that one of the hottest issues — whether fats and cholesterol in foods help cause heart and blood vessel disease — remains unresolved. The seven key statements in the guideline report from the USDA and HEW departments are as follows:

— Eat a variety of foods daily, from selections of fruits, vegetables, whole grain and enriched breads, cereals and grain products, milk, cheese and yogurt, meats, poultry, fish, eggs and legumes (dry peas and beans).

— Maintain ideal weight since obesity is linked to high blood pressure, diabetes and increased risk of heart attacks and strokes.

— Avoid too much fat, saturated fat and cholesterol by eating in moderation foods like eggs, organ meats and butter, cream and solid margarines.

— Eat foods with adequate starch and fiber — starch for carbohydrates which provide energy and are low in calories unless flooded by fats, and fiber (in fruits, vegetables, whole grain breads and cereals) for healthy intestines.

— Avoid too much sugar — in frequent snacks, jams, jellies, candies, cookies, soft drinks, breakfast cereals, etc.

— Avoid too much sodium (salt), which is in processed foods, sauces, pickled foods, snacks and sandwich meats, as well as the saltshaker.

— If you drink alcohol, do so in moderation, because alcoholic drinks tend to be high in calories and more than one or two a day can be dangerous.

One really can't find great fault with these recommendations. Good nutritionists were advising much the same thing 40 or 50 years ago; long before it took millions of dollars worth of Senate Committee hearings and consumer activist members of the U.S. Department of Agriculture to arrive at the same conclusions. Whether the rank and file of Americans pay any attention to them is another matter. They have been eating too much, drinking too much and smoking too much in the face of all kinds of dire warnings and admonitions for many years.

Government officials say they are only guidelines, but pressure is put on through choice of government subsidies to the school lunch program, welfare, meals for the elderly, etc. And there will be great educational efforts directed toward influencing doctors, nutritionists and school teachers to join a propaganda campaign.

What it really says is that here is another example of the great paternal arms of government reaching out to wrap around us because somebody up there wants to hire more people to look after our welfare and to justify their jobs and paperwork. The U.S. Department of Agriculture was established more than a century ago to help farmers help themselves to do a better job.

Now it has become "consumer-oriented" because as Secretary Bergland said at the hearings on the structure of agriculture, if the department didn't get into all these things, the USDA couldn't justify its cabinet status since it no longer represents that many farmer-rancher votes.

WAY BACK WHEN

30 Years Ago
February 16, 1950: A. L. McPherran has signed a new three year contract as superintendent of the Battle Creek school. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam McPherran, Wayne. John Sals, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Sals, Carroll, has been named to head the banquet committee for Engineers Week at the University of Nebraska. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Beeman and John were in Omaha Friday where John had a checkup and was fitted for a brace. The child had polio some time ago.

25 Years Ago
February 17, 1955: Work on WSTC's new $600,000 library is expected to start next week. It was announced today by President John D. Rice. The structure will be erected on the spot where the old president's residence stood. Donald S. Wightman was named acting postmaster at Wayne Monday. News of the appointment came through a telegram from Rep. R. D. Harrison. Wightman succeeds J. J. Steele, who will retire Feb. 28. Damage estimated at $20,000 was caused Saturday night in a fire at the Raymond Hansen farm four and a half miles northeast of Emerson. A barn was completely destroyed as were the stock in the building. Origin of the blaze is unknown.

February 18, 1960: George E. Wittler, Hoskins, left Wayne Tuesday morning for induction into the Army at Omaha. Wayne County Public Power District was named recipient of a 1959 Safety Award as being one of the districts which had no employee accidents resulting in loss of time during the year. Linda C. Kessler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Yale Kessler, Wayne, was graduated with distinction in mid year commencement exercises at the University of Michigan. She received a bachelor of music degree. Sally Hallig, Laurel, won first place in a speech contest sponsored by area WCTU chapters last Monday night at the Wayne Baptist Church. Her topic was "Whiz and Spitter." Second prize went to Linda Martindale, Concord.

Almost a foot of snow fell in the Wayne area the middle of last week. The Wayne post office will start accepting applications for the position of substitute clerk and substitute carrier Monday, Feb. 15. Mrs. Max Lundstrom was elected neighborhood chairman for Girl Scouts Tuesday at a meeting at Morrison Hotel. Roland L. Victor was elected president of the Wayne County NFO at a meeting Saturday in the ASC office. Winside's month jubilee celebration is five months away but whisks are not going overnight so the Winside Whisker Club has been organized by that community's civic club to promote and publicize the celebration in conjunction with the Old Settlers Reunion.

February 19, 1970: Roy V. Davis of Winside, county commissioner of District III, has filed for a second term in office, according to Norris Weible, county clerk. The Wayne Hospital Foundation, founded in August 1963, is continuing to make preliminary plans for what they hope will result in the formation of a hospital district in the immediate area. In spite of snow which fell Saturday morning, Scouts in Wakefield, Laurel and Wayne set a new record in the total number of tons of old newspapers they picked up from front porches of cooperating residents in each of the communities. Rowan Wiltsie, Scoutmaster of Troop 175, reports a collective total of 34 tons of newspapers were turned in for shipment to the Midwest Newspaper Salvage Company in Omaha. Laurel resident Melvin Poledna, 55, was honored for 40 years of service with the Nebraska Department of Roads during a luncheon in Lincoln Tuesday. Six articles, including a letter from former Wayne State economics professor James Maynard and a highly critical book review by Dr. T.H. Stevenson, are included in the second issue of the Wayne State College Social Science Review.

LETTERS

February 19, 1980
Dear Editor:
Many of us have recently read about and discussed with friends the revival of one of the oldest "scams" in the world: the "Business Concept List," whereby an initiator talks two friends (?) into buying a list containing twelve names and addresses. Current going price paid for the list: $50.

The two buyers then each become sellers to two more new buyers. The number of persons involved in the transactions then totals four, not counting the initiator. These four then each sell to two more, then the eight each sell to two more, and so on.

A mathematician I'm not, but doubling numbers is relatively easy. Assuming there is but one initiator and assuming that one receives (buys) a list of twelve names, it seems apparent that at least 12 transactions (doublings) have already occurred. To recoup the "investment" the new individual buyer must then engage in transaction No. 13. The number then doubled (1, 2, 4, 8, 16, ...) 13 times equals 8,192, the number of persons theoretically involved in the series of transactions, assuming no one has "broken" the chain and that no one has been approached more than once.

Twenty eight transactions would involve a number exceeding the population of the United States. And just five more transactions (a total of 33) would involve more people than there are now living in the whole world. Now that would be a real marketing exercise, wouldn't it? And all that action with just one initial "business list." Does anyone know just how many there are floating around by now?

A couple of things have bothered me since my first exposure to the "concept" and one or two of its variations, years ago and several times since then. Are there really so many people (those engaged in this activity) possessed with such "faith" in humankind that they actually believe so many others will so eagerly part with fifty dollars? Or is their motivation simply that of selfishly hoping to profit by the gullibility and loss of many others?

It is statistically provable, I understand, that less than half of the participants in any "pyramiding" scheme will even break even. A tiny proportion may profit handsomely. And we occasionally hear about or read about a few of these hucksters; we might actually meet one personally in our lifetime — if we're so unfortunate.

The "business list" is, in my opinion, a general rip-off based on either neurotic false hopes or pure exploitative greed. It is a slur on legitimate business enterprise and is the antithesis to the true concept and definition of work. I don't need it. My family doesn't need it. And I don't think my community needs to tolerate such a cancerous infection.

To those who have "profited" by the scheme, I hope you don't bother to tell me how much you have "earned" — go tell the IRS. To those many others who bought into this ancient idea, my empathy is extended to you but not my sympathy. Odds are great that you'll not be telling too many about your "success."

Someone said, "There's a sucker born every minute." But I know of no one who ever insisted that you have to stay that way. Spend the fifty bucks on a good friend, or your kids, or your grand kids. Or drop it in the collection plate next Sunday. You'll feel a lot better and so will the recipients!

Deryl Lawrence, Wayne

Feb. 18, 1980
Dear Editor:
I, too, am confused by some of your editorials but, even though I'm a woman, I'm not talking about your remarks about "women's libbers."

In Monday's editorial you praised the school board's decision to veto the use of $7,000 for teachers in the local system to take additional LD courses, saying "Congress has been spending crazy over the last decade and the nation's deficit has become awesome. Why not be a little more conservative when it comes to spending money?"

Mr. Editor, I back you 100 percent on this. But, Mr. Editor I remember not too many months ago when a little program on "Indian Arts and Crafts" came before the school board and you ran an editorial wondering how certain school board members would even dare think of questioning the applying for this money as no money from the school district would be used.

I can't remember if it was state or federal funded but I'm sure it wasn't manna from heaven! I for one would like to see the program down on the "Indian Arts and Crafts" break. How will those that proposed it benefit from it money and travel wise?

I also see in last weeks paper the board applied for a mini grant of $5,000 for career education courses. Again there is no cost to the district ("some other school would get it if Wayne declined") seemed to be the only explanation listed in the paper for applying for this grant.

Well Mr. Field and other taxpayers, let's remember we not only belong to the district but also to the state and federal government when 25 percent of our weekly paychecks are gone before we even see it.

State Wrestling Opens Today

Cats To Defend Title

Coach Doug Reeves of defending Class D champion Winside said he was hoping to send between five and seven wrestlers to the State Tournament. His wish came true at the Class D-2 district tournament in Elgin, Friday and Saturday.

Seven of the nine wrestlers on Winside's team qualified for state by placing in the top four positions at districts. The Wildcats have been open at 167 and 185 pounds all season and were also open at 145 for districts because Tom Willis underwent hand surgery.

Of the seven state qualifiers, six competed in last year's meet and three won medals. Last season, Brian Foote placed second at 112, Mark Koch finished at third at 98 and Rick Bowers placed fourth at 119.

Coach Reeves, who promised to have his head with a first or second place team finish in districts of state, still has a full head of hair. Winside finished in a tie with Sargent for third place with 124 points. St. Edward won the meet with 166 points and Palmer placed second with 131 points.

The seven qualifiers are: Kurt Rhode at 98 pounds, Mark Koch at 105, Doug Jaeger at 112; Brian Foote at 119; Rick Bowers at 126, Barry Bowers at 155 and Kent Glassmeyer in the heavyweight division. Jaeger, Barry Bowers and Glassmeyer qualified for last year's tourney but didn't win medals.

"I was real pleased with third place. With a couple more wins we could have been right up there in second place," said Reeves. "It doesn't bother me that we weren't first or second. We were tied with St. Ed with number of finalists. Seven qualifiers out of nine wrestlers isn't bad. Our people must come through at state if we're going to repeat.

Freshman Rhode placed fourth at 98 pounds. He was pinned by Doezer of Elgin, pinned Groszode of Scribner was pinned by Pinski of St. Ed.

Sophomore Mark Koch improved his season record to 24-1 and avenged his only loss by winning his weight class. He pinned Rode of Sargent, dethroned Humpal of Butte 2-1 and dethroned Gause of Palmer 2-0. Humpal is the only wrestler who has defeated Koch this season.

At 112 pounds, sophomore Doug Jaeger placed third. He lost 4-3 to top seeded Muse of Leigh, dethroned Caldwell of Butte, dethroned Buehner of St. Ed 7-4 and dethroned Schnoer of Scribner 7-1.

Junior Brian Foote won the 119 pound class by pinning Guegan of Greeley and Bomelster of Butte and then dethroning Enhoff of Leigh 10-1. His record now stands at 26-1.

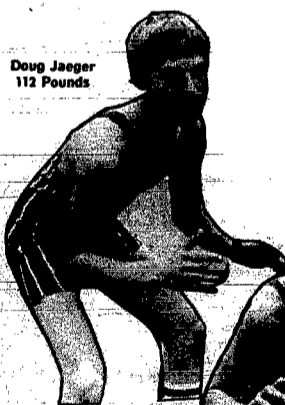

Senior Rick Bowers placed second at 126 pounds and extended his record to 23-4. He dethroned Koperski of Elgin, pinned Gabriel of Sargent (second in state last year at 119), and was pinned by Thompson of St. Ed, the state's top ranked 126 pounder.

Sophomore Barry Bowers pinned Edwards of Elba, dethroned Munn of St. Ed and dethroned Rankin of Spalding Academy 10-1 to win the 155 pound class.

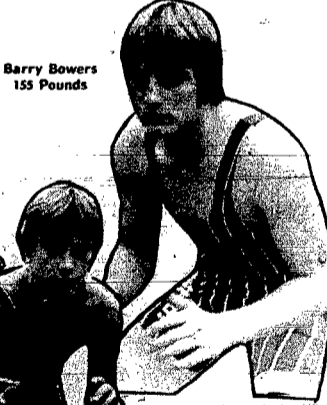

In the heavyweight division, sophomore Kent Glassmeyer qualified by finishing fourth. He lost to Reisinger of Palmer, pinned Gissinger of Spalding and was pinned by White of Sargent in the consolation finals.

Reeves said that Foote is wrestling the best he has ever seen him wrestle in the past two years and feels he can win the state title. "He is real aggressive, looks real strong and is not over confident," said Reeves.

Team Standings: St. Ed, 166-8; Palmer, 131-6; Winside, 124-7; Sargent, 124-5; Scribner, 116-6; Elgin, 106-5; Leigh, 56 1/2-2; Greeley, 56-3; Spalding, 51-3; Butte, 41-2; Elba, 31 1/2-1; Clearwater, 9 1/2-0.

The Wayne Herald coverage area will be represented at the Nebraska State Wrestling Tournament in Lincoln again this year. The tourney opens today (Thursday) and continues through Saturday in the Bob Dooney Sports Complex.

The three area wrestling teams, Wayne, Wakefield and Winside, will send 16 wrestlers into the state tourney. Nine athletes will be making a return trip after participating in last year's event.

The Wayne Herald was able to obtain individual first round pairings from tournament director Conde Sargent of the Nebraska School Activities Association. Individuals were seeded according to district finishes.

Class B Wayne High is represented by Jon Jacobmeier at 98 pounds, Brett Frevert at 145, Rick Johnson at 155, Aaron Schuett at 167 and Danny Mitchell in the heavyweight class.

Seniors Johnson and Mitchell earned fifth place medals in the 145 and heavyweight classes respectively last year. This year the state ranked wrestlers are hoping to finish even higher. Freshman Jacobmeier and Juniors Frevert and Schuett are making their first appearance in the state meet.

First round competition in Class B will begin at 10 a.m. Opening matches for the Wayne wrestlers are as follows. Individual records are listed in parentheses.

98 pounds — Jon Jacobmeier (17-10) vs. defending state champion Willie Block of Gering (25-0).

145 — Brett Frevert (10-11) vs. Jeff Smith of Ainsworth (20-5).

155 — Rick Johnson (19-5) vs. Steve Redzyski of Gering (23-2).

167 — Aaron Schuett (21-9) vs. Kevin Sholes of O'Neill (23-7).

Heavyweight — Danny Mitchell (21-2) vs. Don Leiske of Central City (24-6).

Class C Wakefield has qualified four wrestlers for the state tourney. Seniors Mark Schopke and Blaine Nelson qualified for state last year when Wakefield was in Class D. Nelson wrestled at 138 and Schopke placed fifth at 167 pounds.

Joining the two seniors will be sophomore Dirk Carlson at 112 pounds and freshman Jon Stelling at 105.

Class C's opening round will begin at 10 a.m. Wakefield's first round matches:

105 — Jon Stelling (16-9) vs. Shane Wagner of Burwell (16-9).

112 — Dirk Carlson (17-10-1) vs. Pat Dodson of North Platte St. Patrick (17-1).

145 — Blaine Nelson (20-9) vs. Scott Snyder of Centennial (16-4).

Heavyweight — Mark Schopke (20-8) vs. Marty Vaughn of Omaha Holy Name (15-3).

Winside will return to the Class D state tournament as defending state champion and with seven qualifiers this season, the Wildcats have a good chance of a repeat title.

Six of those seven individuals are returners from last year's tournament. Three won medals.

Rick Bowers is the only senior on the squad. Last year, he placed fourth in the 119 pound class. Junior Brian Foote and sophomore Mark Koch finished second at 112 and third at 98 respectively in last year's tourney. Others who competed at state are Doug Jaeger, Barry Bowers and Kent Glassmeyer, all sophomores. Freshman Curt Rhode is the only newcomer.

First round action in Class D begins at 1:30 p.m. today. Winside opening matches:

98 — Curt Rhode (6-13) vs. Shane Folk of Mullen (21-1).

Four Trojan Wrestlers Bound for Class C

The sudden move this season from Class D to Class C didn't seem to bother four Wakefield wrestlers this season. The four individuals qualified for the Nebraska State Wrestling Tournament by placing in the Class C district meet at West Point Friday and Saturday.

Only team champion Pender (6) and Elgin Pope John (5) qualified more wrestlers for the state tournament than did Wakefield. The Trojans joined six other teams with four qualifiers.

Seniors Mark Schopke and Blaine Nelson will lead the Trojans into the State Tournament. They both qualified for the tourney last year and Schopke placed fifth. Sophomore Dirk Carlson and freshman Jon Stelling will be the other two representatives making their first state appearance.

Nelson, who wrestled at 138 pounds last season, stepped up to 145 pounds this year and compiled a 20-9 record. Schopke, a 167 pounder last year, wrestled in the 185 pound class this season before settling into the unlimited weight class. He has accumulated 20 wins and 8 losses. Stelling and Carlson enter state competition with 16-9 and 17-10 records respectively.

Wakefield placed 10th in the 14 team district final.

Stelling dethroned Kauri of Plainview 4-1, dethroned Fox of Atkinson West Holt 5-4 and then lost to Christiansen of Pender 5-3 in the finals to place second at 105 pounds.

Nelson also placed second in the competition at 145 pounds. He dethroned Stover of Norfolk Catholic 7-5, dethroned Hamilton of Plainview 6-4 and was edged 8-7 in the finals by French of West Point.

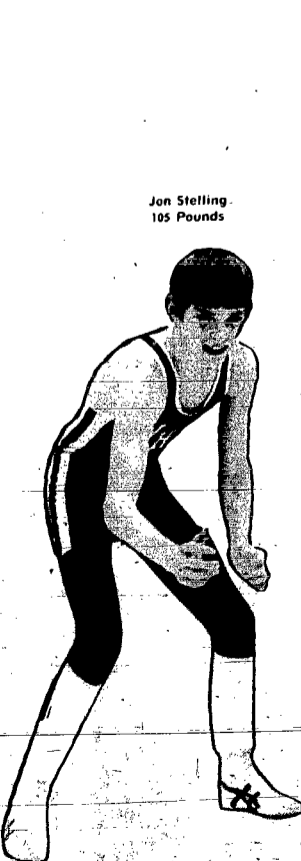

Heavyweight Schopke placed third. He pinned Borer of Elgin Pope John in 1:26, was dethroned 5-4 by Schumacher of Plainview, pinned Schmederer of West Holt in 4:42 and then dethroned Borer 8-0 in the consolation finals.

Carlson settled for fourth place at 112 pounds. He pinned Baum of Pope John in 1:09, lost to Keating of West Holt 10-6, dethroned Hensen of Newman Grove, pinned Rissler of Randolph in 3:46 and then lost to Keating in the consolation finals.

Nelson, Carlson and Stelling all defeated higher seeded wrestlers to earn the state berth. Wakefield coach Lyle Trullinger said he was encouraged by the effort of his team.

Team Standings: Pender, 139 1/2-6; Creighton, 138 1/2-4; West Point, 124 1/2-4; Plainview, 114-4; Elgin Pope John, 113-5; Randolph, 90 1/2-4; Neligh, 80 1/2-3; Norfolk Catholic, 79 1/2-4; Atkinson West Holt, 79 1/2-4; Wakefield, 71 1/2-4; Osmond, 57-3; Stanton, 57-2; Newman Grove, 36-1; Howells, 18 1/2-0.

Trojans Blast Oakland

Most basketball teams get their warm-ups out of the way in the allotted 15 or so minutes before each game.

The Wakefield Trojans however, expanded that warm-up period to include the entire first half. They then exploded for 42 second half points to breeze past Oakland-Craig 71-54, in non-conference action Tuesday night in Wakefield.

Even though Wakefield held a slim 29-25 advantage at intermission, the first half was primarily a tune-up for the Trojan scoring machine that started to churn late in the third stanza.

By the end of that period, Wakefield had expanded its lead to eight points, 47-39. And then the Trojans' reeled off 24 fourth quarter points to seal the victory.

There were two main reasons for Wakefield's successful second half showing. Number one being a defensive switch employed by Wakefield. Number two being the Trojans' success from the free throw line.

Commenting on the latter reason, coach Ernie Kovar stated, "We shot about as well from the line as anyone can shoot."

An understatement maybe since the Trojans connected on all 15 free throw attempts, all but one coming in second half action. Oakland was 6 for 13 from the line for 46 percent.

In the second half, coach Kovar switched his team into a 2-3 zone since, as he put it, "We had trouble in our man to man defense in the first half."

Most of that trouble came from Oakland's Paul Anderson who scored 12 early points to keep his Knights in contention. He finished with 19 points — tops for Oakland.

Wakefield had a counter punch though, in the form of Scott Hallstrom. Hallstrom tallied 11 first half points then added 14 more in the final two periods to take game scoring honors with 25 markers.

Jeff Hallstrom was the leader under the boards for Wakefield, pulling down nine rebounds. Rick Guy added six saves and 14 points.

Wakefield ends regular season play with a home contest tomorrow (Friday) evening against Ponca.

WSC Wrestlers Place Ninth

The Wayne State College wrestling squad placed ninth in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) Regional Wrestling Tournament Friday and Saturday in Yankton, S.D. Wayne State scored 26.5 points in the two-day event.

Doh Schernikau (126-pound division) was Wayne State's top finisher. The junior placed fourth losing to Steve Olson of Huron College 8-6 in the third place match. Schernikau just missed an opportunity to wrestle for the championship when he lost to Jed Dobberstein of Kearney State by criterion points. Schernikau and Dobberstein were tied 1-1 at the end of overtime and the Kearney wrestler was awarded the victory on the basis of his overall aggressiveness and wrestling style.

Other Wayne State wrestlers who placed in the tournament were: Rich Todd (150-pound division) in fifth place; Mike Braun, sixth in the 158-pound division; Todd Porter, sixth in the 177-pound division and heavyweight Ron Berrle, also sixth.

Farm Well Group President Chides State on Items

Robert L. Strasser, president of the National Water Well Association, Wednesday, Feb. 13, gently chided Nebraska for having no licensing program for water well contractors and only scanty regulation of well drilling practices.

STRASSER delivered the keynote address at the opening of the annual conference of the Nebraska Well Drillers Association meeting in Exhibition Hall on the State Fairgrounds, Feb. 13 and 14. The annual conference and short course is sponsored by the Conservation and Survey Division, Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, University of Nebraska-Lincoln. This year's meeting marks the 50th anniversary of the organization. Strasser reported that his native state of Oregon has required the licensing of well drilling contractors since 1955, required their bonding since 1961, and for decades has required well construction standards. Such controls have proved effective, he said, and have ensured proper well construction and water quality.

"I PREACH to each state to institute its own groundwater regulation, which can be completed with less cost than those imposed from a federal level," he stated.

Identifying himself as a native of Portland, Ore., the land of green and rain, Strasser wryly observed that the only way Oregonians can tell it's summer is that the rain gets warmer. In a Texas convention last week, he said he told his hosts that Oregonians have more water running through their basements than Texans have in their rivers. "In Oregon, we never tan," he said, "we rust."

STRASSER later spoke on the effect of inflation in depressing the housing industry, which in turn affects the well drilling industry. "Almost 90 percent of the wells drilled in this country are domestic wells, so we ride the economy with the home builders," he said.

"During the decade ahead," said Strasser, "an estimated 41 million Americans will reach age 30 as the postwar baby boom children mature to the age of family formation and home buying. This record family formation will require more than 2 million

Cattle-on-feed Inventory Down

Nebraska cattle feeders had 1,540,000 cattle on feed on Feb. 1. This inventory was down 9 percent from both last year and two years ago.

Fed cattle marketings for the month of January totaled a record high 390,000, an increase of 3 percent from 1979 and 7 percent from 1978.

Placements of cattle into feedlots during January totaled 270,000. This was down 14 percent from last year and 30 percent below the January, 1978, placement.

Cattle and calves on feed Feb. 1 for slaughter market in the seven states preparing monthly estimates totaled 7.96 million head, down 9 percent from a year ago and 8 percent less than Feb. 1, 1978. Marketings on fed cattle during January totaled 1.70 million, down 9 percent from last year and 3 percent less than January, 1978.

Placements of cattle and calves on feed in the seven states during January were 1.37 million, down 13 percent from a year ago and off 17 percent from January, 1978. Net placements of 1.20 million were down 13 percent from last year and 16 percent from two years ago.

Other disappearance totaled 166,000 compared with 198,000 in January, 1979 and 212,000 in 1978.

Feeding beef cows

Cows wintered on cornstalks need a vitamin A supplement in their feed or a vitamin A injection beginning about 60-70 days before calving. The hay that will normally be fed just before and after calving will carry some vitamin A value but should not be depended upon to provide the vitamin A needs.

It is suggested that cows and heifers be fed approximately 20,000 IU of vitamin A daily before calving and about 50,000 IU of vitamin A after calving until grass is available. Or if an injection is used, inject about 2 1/2 million units.

Stabilized vitamin A supplement can be added to a protein supplement fed to provide the recommended level or stabilized vitamin A can be added to a salt or salt-mineral mixture to furnish about one million units of vitamin A per pound of salt before calving or 2 1/2 million units per pound of salt after calving. Keep the vitamin A salt-mineral mixture dry until it's fed and place about a week's supply before the cattle at a time.

Fertilizer

This comment from George Rehm, District Extension Agronomist: "Is there any difference between liquid and dry fertilizers?" This seems to be a common question of farmers looking ahead to spring planting. Research throughout the Corn Belt has shown that, if rate of applied nutrient is the same, there will be no difference between liquid and dry fertilizers in their effect on crop production. The chemistry of the soil, not the type of fertilizer, determines the availability of plant nutrients in any and all fertilizers. This is true for fertilizer sold by the gallon or by the ton.

Wood stoves

Wood stoves are becoming increasingly popular. Here are some comments about wood heat from Dick Gavitt, District Extension Forester.

1. Wood burns at a higher temperature than gas or oil.
2. Firebox temperatures can approach 2,000 degrees F.
3. Most wood stoves do not have automatic controls.
4. Wood requires a chimney that can resist the high temperature and a possible chimney fire.
5. Wood stoves are very hot; children are exposed to hot surfaces (and so are nearby combustibles).
6. Wood produces creosote, which causes chimney fires.
7. Wood heat requires a lot of attention.
8. Wood ashes require safe handling and disposal.

Role of County Vet Changes

The role of the county veterinarian is changing, largely because of the increasing global needs for food, according to Dr. John Herrick of the Iowa State University School of Veterinary Medicine.

HERRICK, an Iowa State extension veterinarian, educator and author, said there is a "tremendous responsibility for veterinary medicine" in the current world, where food has become a weapon for war and a tool for peace.

He spoke at a news conference prior to the opening session of the Nebraska Stock Growers Association Feedlot Council Animal Health and Marketing Conference last week in North Platte.

THE CONFERENCE was scheduled by members of the newly formed statewide Committee For The Old West Regional College of Veterinary Medicine and Research, which hopes to raise $2 million in private funds for the college of veterinary medicine located on the University of Nebraska campus in Lincoln.

Herrick, whose school is among the four remaining vet schools who still contract with Nebraska for the education of a limited number of Nebraska veterinary students, remained neutral on the subject of the veterinary medicine college in Nebraska, but he said he sees the emphasis of veterinary medicine swinging away from individual treatment of farm animals to a system of preventive medicine and treating animals under a "herd health concept."

THIS NEED will increase the economic advantages of increasing numbers of veterinarians in our food producing states. Dr. Herrick also said that now the "food animal" veterinarian must become a partner of the livestock producer "to maximize the amount of food that can come out of those units."

The construction of the regional vet medicine college has broad based support from livestock associations and producers and associations throughout the state. They cite the need for more veterinarians trained and working with large animals in the food producing areas of the Old West Region, which produces 37 percent of America's cattle, 11 percent of the nation's swine, 25 percent of the sheep but has only 4 percent of the nation's veterinarians.

THESE producers are concerned that Nebraska youngsters who want to become large animal veterinarians and work in the food producing areas of Nebraska state are not being trained, mainly because of limited access to a few out-of-state schools, training not designed to meet Nebraska's needs, and the need to move away from Nebraska to receive their schooling.

Hearings Set on Water Bills

Hearings on six major bills related to water resources have been scheduled before Legislative Committees during the last 10 days of February.

Dave Aiken, extension water law specialist in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, said diverse subjects covered in the proposed legislation range from establishment of a Protected River System to municipal and domestic ground water transfers to location of irrigation reuse pits and formation of reclamation districts.

LB 653 is scheduled for hearing on Feb. 21, beginning at 1:30 p.m. in the East Chambers in the State Capitol. LB 984 and 985 will be heard at 1:30 in Room 1517.

LB 653, introduced by Senators Barry Reutz of Fremont and Steve Fowler, Lincoln, would adopt procedures to establish a Nebraska Protected Rivers System. The Nebraska Game and Parks Commission would be authorized to identify and recommend to the Legislature rivers or river segments for inclusion in such a system, protecting "the scenic, recreational, environmental and related character" of undeveloped rivers. This bill was referred to the Constitutional Revision and Recreation Committee.

LB 984 and LB 985 were introduced by Senator Loran Schmit of Bellwood. LB 984, now in the Public Works Committee, would propose significant changes in current law which holds that "landowners have the right to use ground water reasonably." Private rights to use ground water have been defined in part by court decision and in part by statute. Currently, conflicts in ground water use which occur between parties using ground water for different purposes, are resolved by following ground water preferences, with domestic water use first priority. Proposed changes in LB 984, among other provisions, would dictate that users share the available water supply without Members discussed projects for 1980 and chose "Home Living," "Get Set and Go with Design," "First Aid" and "Arc Welding." They also held a Valentine trade exchange, and refreshments were served by John and Joanne Brudigan. Russel Puls will speak on parliamentary procedure at the next meeting, March 10.

provision would spell out criteria allowing landowners to sell ground water.

LB 985 relates to municipal and domestic ground water transfers. Ground water transfers for these purposes are currently authorized if a Department of Water Resources permit has been obtained. Proposed changes would prevent agricultural water users from being forced, under certain conditions, to reduce their ground water use for the benefit of domestic users.

Legislative bills (LB's) 887, 908 and 931 are scheduled for hearing on Feb. 28 at 1:30 p.m. in Room 1517.

LB 887 would exempt a natural resources district's first ground water control area mill levy from spending limitation requirements. It was introduced by the Public Works Committee on behalf of the Little Blue NRD.

Two other bills in the Public Works Committee are LB 908, relating to location of irrigation reuse pits, introduced by Senator Tom Vickers of Farnam and LB 931, relating to Legislative bills (LB's) 887, 908 and 931 are scheduled for hearing on Feb. 28 at 1:30 p.m. in Room 1517.

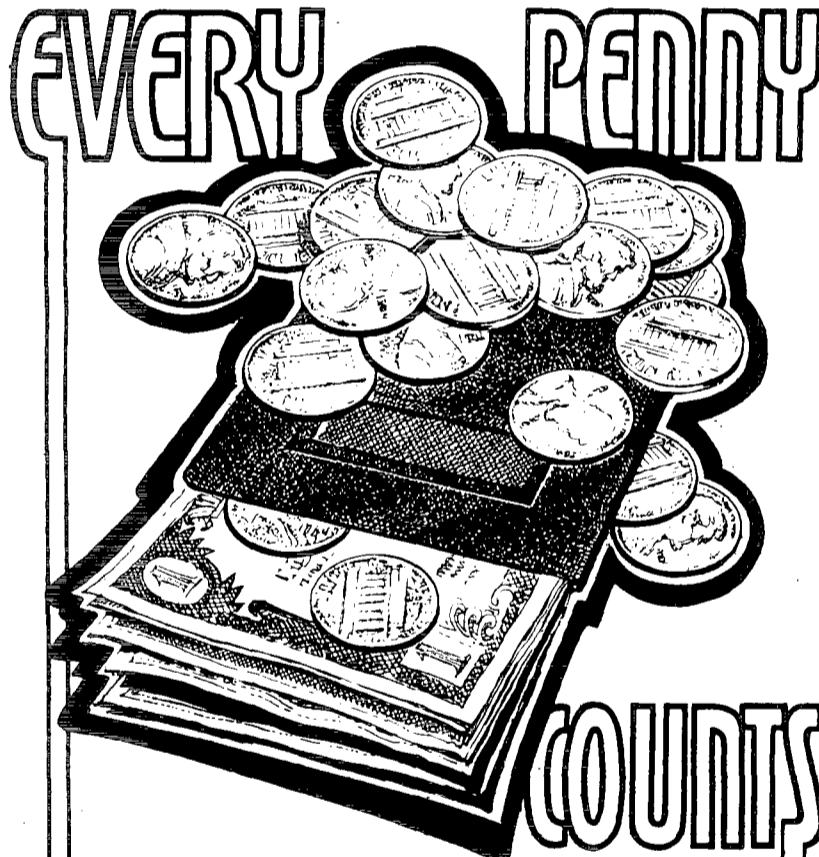

LB 887 would exempt a natural resources district's first ground water control area mill levy from spending limitation requirements. It was introduced by the Public Works Committee on behalf of the Little Blue NRD. Two other bills in the Public Works Committee are LB 908, relating to location of irrigation reuse pits, introduced by Senator Tom Vickers of Farnam and LB 931, relating to the formation of reclamation districts, introduced by Senator Don Wesley of Lincoln.

Under current law, persons wishing to withdraw water from a natural stream are required to get an appropriate water right from the Department of Water Resources. A DWR permit also is required before a person can pump water from a pit located within 50 feet from the bank of a natural stream. The intent of LB 908 is to clarify possible confusion as to which permit is required in the case of an irrigation water reuse pit located near or in a stream or streambed.

LB 931 is considered a major bill in relation to the formation of reclamation districts such as the North Loup and O'Neill units. Under current law, decisions relating to reclamation districts are limited to persons benefiting from a project. Persons living in areas adversely affected by reclamation district operations are excluded from reclamation affairs and decision making.

Under the proposed bill, persons being adversely affected by reclamation district operation would be made eligible to vote regarding present and future operations, whether or not they are part of the existing district. Another provision would call for a referendum to continue a district if construction of irrigation works had not commenced within 10 years of the district's organization.

Bereuter Announces He'll Seek Term 2

In a series of news conferences Friday, First District Congressman Doug Bereuter announced he will seek a second term to the U.S. House of Representatives.

At scheduled stops in Lincoln, Norfolk and Fremont, Bereuter said, "...because I like my job, because the challenges facing America are indeed grave, and because I believe I have the background and experience to represent the common sense views of Nebraskans in Washington — I am announcing that I am a candidate for reelection to the United States House of Representatives."

Accompanied by his wife, Louise, Bereuter commented on the importance of his family support: "It is not enough for me simply to like my life as your Congressman — it has to be accepted and supported by my wife and family, and I am very fortunate to have a wife and children who give me the support and encouragement which makes my involvement in public service possible," Bereuter said.

Bereuter's campaign remarks focused on the issues he discussed in his first announcement speech in 1977. In focusing on two issues from that speech, Bereuter quoted from the speech in which he stated that he was "unequivocally committed to a strong, cost-effective national defense effort that protects this nation from peril." I still am, and my voting record totally reflects that fact."

Concerning ethics in government, Bereuter also referred to the points he made in his 1977 speech. "In 1977, I stated that the reputation of Congress was at a low point. Tragically, the events of the last few weeks have lowered the public's esteem for Congress even further. I continue to believe that it is possible to serve in office without moral compromise, to resist undue pressure, and to influence action with diligence, rational arguments, and gentlemanly conduct."

In looking towards his upcoming campaign, Bereuter promised to "run a vigorous, honest, open campaign that emphasizes the work of dedicated volunteers throughout the district. Volunteers, Nebraskans from every part of the district, Nebraskans young, old, Republicans, Democrats and Independents all will play a part in this campaign."

Bereuter was elected to his first term in Congress in 1978, after serving one four-year term in the Nebraska Legislature. The 40-year-old Utica native has two sons Eric, age 8, and Kirk, age 4.

NATIONAL FLOOD INSURANCE PROGRAM

AGENCY: Federal Insurance Administration, FEMA.
ACTION: Proposed Rule.
SUMMARY: Technical information or comments are solicited on the proposed base (100-year) flood elevations listed below for selected locations in the nation. These base (100-year) flood elevations are the basis for the flood plain management measures that the community is required to either adopt or show evidence of being already in effect in order to qualify or remain qualified for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP).
DATES: The period for comment will be ninety (90) days following the second publication of this proposed rule in a newspaper of local circulation in each community.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:
The Federal Insurance Administrator gives notice of the proposed determinations of base (100-year) flood elevations for selected locations in the nation, in accordance with section 110 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (Pub. L. 93-234), 87 Stat. 980, which amended section 1303 to the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 (Pub. L. 90-448), 42 U.S.C. 4001-4128, and 44 CFR Part 67.4 (a).
These elevations, together with the flood plain management measures required by section 60.3 of the program regulations, are the minimum that are required. They should not be construed to mean the community must change any existing ordinances that are more stringent in their flood plain management requirements. The community must meet the requirements on its own or pursuant to policies established by other Federal, State or Regional entities. These proposed elevations will also be used to calculate the appropriate flood insurance premium rates for new buildings and their contents and for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and their contents.
