Council Tables Decision on Conflict Policy for Second Time, Opens Bids

Action on a proposed policy designed to prevent future instances of conflict of interest between the city and developers was postponed for a second time Tuesday night at the regular City Council meeting.

THE POLICY recommendation first surfaced at the Feb. 12 Council meeting, but confusion involving the policy's necessity and its development resulted in the Council's decision to table the matter until Tuesday's meeting.

Events leading to development of the proposal were of concern to the Council, which was informed at the Feb. 12 meeting of conflicts between an engineering firm and the city's administration.

THE COUNCIL took up a personnel matter Tuesday night in executive session which also involved the recommendation and which lasted almost 1 1/2 hours. After returning to regular session, the Council postponed action on the recommendation until similar policies at other communities were reviewed.

The policy, as proposed, is as follows:
1. The city retain a separate engineer for review and inspection when a builder, developer or subdivision presents plans and specifications produced by an engineering firm hired by and under the direction of the builder, developer or subdivision.

THE CITY administrator shall seek proposals for city engineering from three qualified engineering firms and present the proposals to the Mayor and City Council for selection.

2. In those instances where the city requires engineering and the engineer is hired by the city to provide plans and specifications under the direction of the city and in accordance with the city standard specifications, that an engineering firm producing required plans, not be precluded from submitting a proposal for city engineering.

THE CITY administrator shall seek proposals from three qualified engineering firms and present the proposals to the Mayor and City Council for selection.

In other action, the Council heard a request from Pat Gross that Wayne State College hold up construction of a sewer line from Claycomb Road to college maintenance building just west of his home.

GROSS SAID that according to his attorney the college is not empowered to construct a sewer line. The city must do the work, he said.

Gross asked that attorneys for the city and for the college review state statutes to determine the responsibility. City Attorney Ken Swartz declined comment on the matter as did WSC representatives Lyle Seymour and Irvin Brandt.

The Council decided to place the item on the next meeting's agenda.

THERE ALSO was some confusion involving one of the city's claims. The city received a $26 bill from the Chamber of Commerce involving the Birthday Bucks promotion.

Each Chamber member is billed for the promotion on a quarterly basis, but the city could find no record of any previous such payment.

Chamber executive Gary Van Meter said the city has participated previously, but City Administrator Darrell Brewington said there was no budget item on the fee.

This item, also, will be placed on the next meeting agenda.

BIDS WERE opened, but none officially accepted, on proposed sewer, water and street improvements in Marywood Subdivision.

There were a total of 11 bidders, but not all bid on all three phases of construction. Bidders were Hass Industries Inc., Fremont; Lind-Exco Ind., Vermillion, S.D.; Midlands Contracting Co., Kearney; Midwest Construction Co., York; Penro Construction Co., Pender; Thompson Construction Inc., Arlington; Albenesius Construction, Jackson; C.W. Albion, Oakland; M.E. Collins, Wahoo; Commercial Concrete Inc., Sioux Falls, S.D.; and Gill Construction Co., Jackson.

GILL WAS THE apparent low bidder on the street improvement project with a total bid of $78,050.40.

Hass Industries was the apparent low bidder on the sanitary sewer and water main projects, with total respective bids of $22,983.50 and $20,020.50.

Because there were so many bids, the city's engineering firm of Bruce Gilmore & Associates recommended, and the Council agreed, to take the bids under advisement.

BIDS ALSO were opened on agricultural land rental. The high bid of Bill Corbit, Wayne, was approved for 32.62 acres and 7.5 acres of land. Corbit's bid was $85 per acre. Other bids were Brian D. Nelson, $50.03 per acre, and Warren Chun, $80 per acre, or $5 more than anyone else. Chun was informed this was not a legal bid and it was thus rejected.

A burning permit for James Coan on W. Third Street was approved, an annual gross revenue check from People's Natural Gas in the amount of $7,950 was accepted, and a report on the city's finances was heard.

PHIL LORENZEN, fiscal agent for First Mid America of Omaha, told the Council that the city's debt is at a reasonable level, although it is at a higher level than normal.

Lorenzen said he wants the city to remain as conservative as possible in its financial outlook in order to continue dealing with the city's debt effectively and positively.

Pioneer Farm Families Sought

LeLand Herman, president, and Marilyn Koch, secretary, of the Wayne County Fair Board, are seeking the identity of local pioneer farm families. Those who qualify will receive the Nebraska Pioneer Farm Award during the Wayne County Fair.

The special award, now in its 25th year, was designed to pay tribute to pioneer farm families of Nebraska who have owned the same land for 100 years or more.

The program is a joint venture between Ak-Sar-Ben in Omaha, and the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers. Walnut and bronze plaques and handsome framed certificates will be presented to each family that qualifies.

Eligible families are urged to contact Koch, who will submit the nominations from this county to the state committee.

Deadline for receiving nominations is May 15.

Allen Farmer Announces Candidacy

Merle Von Minden, 53, Allen, announced his candidacy for State Senator this week, saying he believes "that common sense and background are the most important factors for serving in the Legislature."

VON MINDEN, a lifelong resident of Dixon County, will seek the 17th State District Legislative seat held by retiring Sen. John R. (Bob) Murphy of South Platte City.

Merle Von Minden

A farmer and livestock feeder, Von Minden currently is serving his sixth year on the Dixon County Board of Supervisors. Prior to that, he served six years on the Allen School Board and was president for four years.

"I HAVE watched government and the legislature closely over the years," he said, "and I firmly believe that good government at the state level requires a local background of broad interests. My approach would be one of common sense and fiscal restraint."

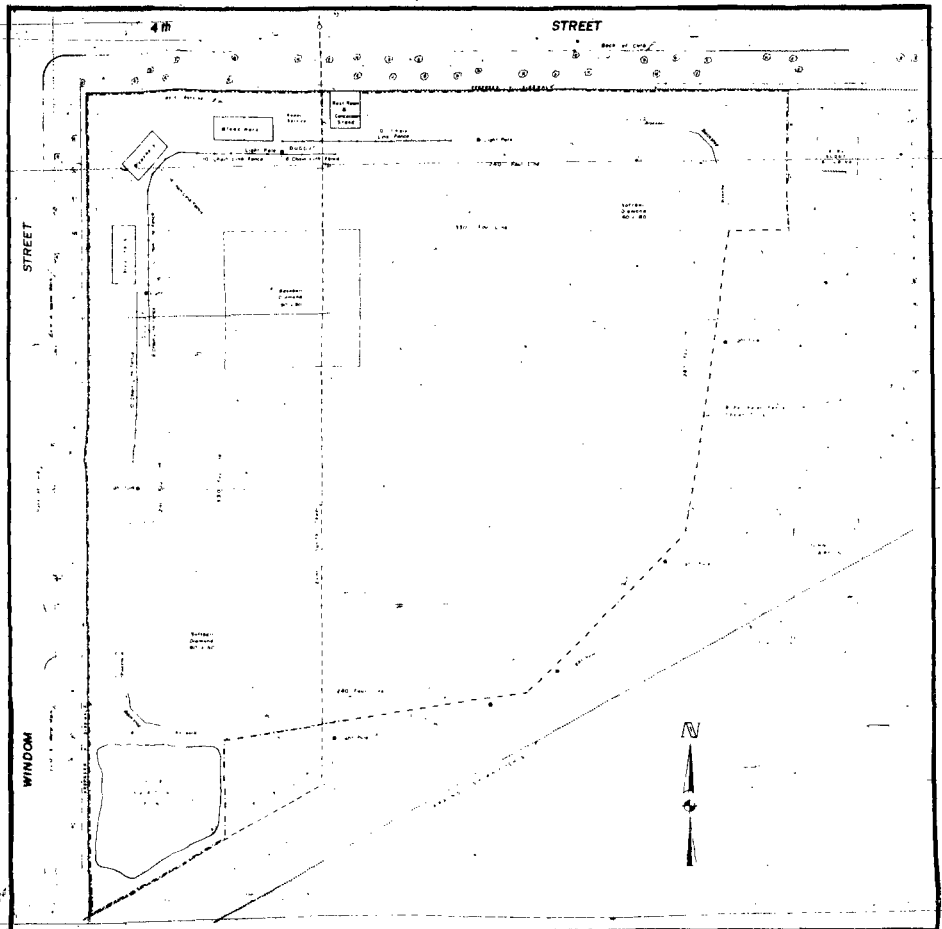

"Northeast Nebraska needs to continue with a strong voice in Lincoln," he added. "I will not be afraid to speak the opinions of our three-county area with conviction."

A KOREAN war veteran, Von Minden is a permanent member of the American Legion and the Disabled American Veterans. He has served as a District Commander and Area Vice Commander, and as Department Sergeant-at-Arms. He belongs to the Nebraska American Legion Press Association.

Von Minden serves on the County Veterans Service Board and represents Dixon County on the Region IV Mental Health Board and is a Farm Bureau member. He has been a director of the Farmers Coop Elevator in Allen for 10 years, four as chairman of the board. He also has been a small businessman in Allen, involved in the lumber and hardware business.

Von Minden and his wife Deenette have three children, Mrs. Bob (LeAnn) Russell of Dakota City; Scott, a graduate of Wayne State College now employed at the Lincoln Correctional Center; and Lori, a junior at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The Von Mindens are members of the Trinity Lutheran Church in Martinsburg.

THE PROPOSED ball park renovation plans are included in the blue print diagram (above) which was submitted to the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission. The project will include addition of two soft ball fields as well as renovation of the present city baseball field. Construction could begin within 60 days.

Recreation Grant Okayed

A federal grant for renovation of the Wayne city baseball park officially has been awarded to the city of Wayne. It was announced by Congressman Doug Bereuter's office Tuesday afternoon.

THE WAYNE City Council applied for the grant more than a year ago. The grant is designated for "renovation of a city baseball field, play fields, a winter sports facility and sports facilities," according to a Bereuter aide.

Renovation is planned at the present city ball park located at Third and Windom Streets.

The federal government will supply funds amounting to $72,250, half of the project ceiling. The state of Nebraska in turn has appropriated some $36,725 and the local community will supply an "in kind" contribution.

BECAUSE the city is unable financially to produce matching funds through tax dollars, the community will contribute through materials, volunteer labor, machinery and donations, according to City Administrator Darrell Brewington. No money has been budgeted for the project.

Specifically, the project includes the following:

- Lighting, two softball fields and one baseball field: $35,000.
- Fencing and two backstops: $31,500.
- Slight preparation (grading, removal of stands, etc.): $8,000.
- Bleachers (two sets for each softball field and one set for the baseball field): $22,000.
- Restroom and concession building: $31,500.
- Proposed gravel parking lot: $2,500.
- Ice skating pond: $1,000.
- Plaque: $200.
- Consulting fees and such: $12,800.

WAYNE RECREATION Director Hank Overin is coordinator of the project and has revised several sets of plans until they were suitable and acceptable.

"We are trying to supply facilities to accommodate a baseball diamond suitable for Midget and Legion teams, a regulation men's slow pitch softball diamond and a regulation women's slow pitch softball diamond," said Overin.

"THE PROJECT is going to beautify the ball park but won't satisfy the need for women's and men's softball diamonds. They won't be able to have slow pitch tournaments until August after recreation ball is over. The two diamonds will be used for women's and men's softball and Little League and Pony League baseball," he explained.

Construction of the sports facilities may begin within the next 60 days after final plans are submitted and okayed. Consultant is Bruce Gilmore and Associates of Wayne.

THE NEBRASKA Game and Parks Commission took the initial step toward the grant by obligating funds last spring. The project then met approval of the State Planning House and the Department of the Interior in Denver.

Specifications were planned and sent to the Game and Parks Commission, which will contact and direct the community in construction of the facilities.

ANYONE WISHING to express their views or to obtain more information should contact John Hill or Marty Sterkel at the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission in Lincoln. Those two will work directly with the community.

Census Takers Needed For Surrounding Area

Fulltime, temporary jobs as census takers in this area are still available, says Judy Backhaus, district manager of the Lincoln 1980 census office.

"WE'RE COUNTING on people who can work a 40-hour week visiting households and interviewing the residents," the manager said, adding that some evening and Saturday work will be required.

Census takers will begin work soon as part of the 1980 Census of Population and Housing. They will attend a training session for which they will be paid.

MOST CENSUS takers will be paid a piece rate for the number of household interviews completed.

In a few instances, pay will be by the hour. For all workers, pay will average $4 an hour or more.

Census takers must be able to follow printed instructions, do simple arithmetic and read maps for which they will be tested before hiring. They should be able to walk a considerable amount, climb stairs and ought to have good eyesight and hearing. They should have a home telephone and many will need a car, for which mileage will be paid when it is used in census work.

INTERESTED persons should come to U.S. Census District Office 3110, Lincoln Federal Building, Room 549, 100 Centennial Mall, Lincoln, 68508, or call 402-471-5209.

Property Appraisals Made

A major hurdle in the reconstruction of Nebraska 15 north of here was passed last week when a team of appraisers reached a determination as to potential damages to property owners.

ALTHOUGH several parcels of right of way are involved, only two involved condemnation proceedings filed by the Nebraska Department of Roads. All other parcels were settled without condemnation.

The state filed proceedings against property owners Carl Edward and Peggy Johnson and Roland and Marjorie Victor after an out-of-court settlement could not be reached. However, the court dismissed the proceedings against the Johnsons after a settlement was agreed to.

ALL PROPERTY involved is located on the west side of Nebraska 15 between the north entrance to Wayne State College and the Dixon-Concord spur. After several months of negotiations with the Wayne County Club and property owners, the project appears ready for bidding.

Reconstruction, including widening, grading and resurfacing, is slated to begin at the north city limits (also the north edge of the golf course) and run to the Dixon-Concord turnout. Work from the city limits back into town will involve resurfacing only. The present grade along the golf course will remain.

THE COURT-appointed appraisers, viewing the Victor land Thursday, Feb. 21, determined that damages to the property total $5,588. Both the Victors and the state have 10 days from the appraisal to appeal.

If neither party protests, then the state must pay the court the money which will be held 30 days before being paid to the Victors.

A spokesman from the Norfolk office of the Department of Roads said Tuesday that once the right of way has been acquired, and with the appraisers' determination this apparently has been completed, the state will continue the necessary paperwork prior to a bid letting.

THE SPOKESMAN said due to a lack of state road funds, bids probably will not be let until late July or sometime in August. Phase construction (staking, some grading, etc.) will begin next fall, with the remainder of the project completed in the spring of 1981.

Despite the late bid letting, the highway "definitely will not be closed next winter," he said.

From the onset of the proposed project, the Department of Roads said it was seeking "minimum infringement" on the Wayne Municipal Golf Course. Until an agreement was reached last fall, there was a difference of opinion between the state and architects for the golf course as to just how much of the course would be affected.

AFTER NUMEROUS meetings between golf course representatives and the state, it was agreed that Nebraska 15 from the north edge of the course (also the north city limits) to the north entrance to Wayne State College would only be resurfaced. From the golf course north to the Concord spur, the highway would be totally reconstructed and resurfaced.

Plans call for two 10-foot lanes of surface area, with shoulders to be 10 feet on each side. This would be 44 total feet. The actual highway surface width will not change, although slope of the shoulders outside the city limits will.

Total cost of widening and grading is estimated at $1.89 million, although the longer the delay the higher the cost will be. The city's cost involved work within the city limits, so expenses to local taxpayers will be less since the road will not be totally reconstructed.

Two or three concerts will be presented after Easter, reports John Grossman, director of the orchestra program at Sioux City Public Schools. The annual meeting of the group will be held at 2 p.m. March 16 at the Norfolk High School cafeteria.

Siren Tests Firday

The city of Wayne will conduct its monthly testing of Civil Defense sirens at 1 p.m. Friday. Sirens will be allowed to run only one minute with a three minute pause between each test, and will be tested in the following sequence:
—Alert (used for tornado or other natural disaster warning), both high and low siren on for one minute.
—Pause, three minutes.
—Attack, both high and low on for 10 seconds, off for 10 seconds, continuing for one minute.
Normal time sequence for each of the sirens in an emergency situation would be a full three minutes. Since this is for testing purposes only, the siren will be shut off after one minute each so the public can quickly determine the difference between test and an actual warning. If this were not a test, the public should immediately take shelter upon hearing either the alert or the attack signals given.

Business Notes

Fred Salmon of Wakefield was honored by the Nebraska Well Drillers Association of its 50th anniversary convention held in Lincoln Feb. 13-14. Salmon was honored during a banquet at the Hilton Hotel as a charter member of the association. Others recognized as charter members were Clifford Marks of Wisner and Jens Jensen of Blair. The three men were present at the association's first convention held in 1929 and have been continuous members since that time. The association, which began with about 60 members, has grown to over 400 members. Salmon, an active member of the association, served two years as president and one year as vice president. He has been a district chairman for many years, in addition to serving on various committees. Salmon, president of Salmon Well Co. has spent more than 50 years in the well drilling business and has operated the Wakefield office since 1934. His father and uncle founded the business at Concord in 1914. He plans to retire in the near future and turn the business over to his sons, James and Michael.

State's Spending Limit Law Under Attack

Capitol News
By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent.
The Nebraska Press Association
The law that permits voters to impose local spending limits has been under attack in the Legislature.

But members of the Government Committee have decided all the senators should be given an opportunity to debate the issue. During a recent executive session, the committee agreed to ask Unlincemeral Speaker Richard Marvel of Hastings to schedule two so-called lid bills so they could be debated at the same time.

Both measures would revise the 1978 statute that enables voters to impose a local lid that is more stringent or more liberal than the 7 percent limit on local government spending.

Last year voters in Omaha and Nebraska City utilized the law to freeze property tax support for their schools. Another southeastern Nebraska city, Falls City, will be asked to consider a similar ceiling on spending.

A bill sponsored by the Revenue Committee would make it easier for the removal of spending limits imposed by the voters.

Sen. Vard Johnson of Omaha has suggested an amendment under which voter-imposed lids would be good for just one year. Johnson's amendment would also change election dates and require signatures from 7 percent of a taxing district's registered voters to call a special lid election.

The Government Committee also advanced to the full Legislature Reiston Sen. Gerald Koch's bill that would increase from 5 to 15 percent the number of voters required to call a special lid election.

Koch's bill would also change election dates and would have a voter-imposed spending limit last only one year instead of until it is repealed by the voters, as is the situation now.

Refuse kill attempt
The Legislature recently refused to go along with a move to kill a bill that Bellwood Sen. Loran Schmitl says would help rehabilitation of prison inmates by encouraging private industry to provide employment opportunities for them.

Schmitl's legislation had reached the stage for a final vote when Sen. Gay Keyes of Springfield came up with a kill motion, which was easily defeated.

The lawmakers also turned down an amendment offered by Omaha Sen. Ernest Chambers who said he wanted to make sure inmates employed by private industry would be paid the prevailing wage for the work they were doing.

Keyes' line of reasoning was that private industry would hire what he called "cheap (prisoner) labor," which would result in the laying off of law-abiding citizens who would be forced to go on welfare. Keyes said it was all right to have the state hire inmates but he did not want private industry involved.

Schmitl said his legislation is designed to help rehabilitate people "who never learned to work in the first place." He added he believes his bill might help solve the crime problem.

The legislation would allow private industry to lease a building at the penitentiary and set up jobs for inmates. In addition, the correctional services director would be permitted to enter into contracts with private industry. Other provisions would permit the establishment of farms and the interstate movement of goods made by prisoners.

Schmitl said some of the wages paid inmates could be used to help support their families or pay some or all of the costs of their imprisonment.

Snow fire debate
It remains to be seen whether Nebraska's lawmakers will ban use of studded snow tires.

The first time the proposal came up for debate, a motion to kill the measure was rejected.

Among the legislators opposed to the ban was Sen. Elroy Hefner of Coleridge, who sells studded tires. Hefner said citizens have more than enough government regulations telling them what they can and cannot do. Other reasons for his objection to the bill, Hefner said, is that fewer people are buying the tires and manufacturers have developed a new compounded rubber that is proving very effective in helping drivers maneuver safely on icy streets and highways.

The bill would forbid sale of studded tires after Sept. 1 of this year. Such tires, however, could be used until April 15, 1982, when their use would be outlawed.

Some drivers would be exempted from the provisions. Included would be rural mail carriers, police officers, firemen and drivers of emergency vehicles.

The legislation also calls on the State Roads Department to report in three years on the effectiveness of the ban.

Sen. Dave Newell of Omaha argued the studded tires do much damage to streets and highways. His estimate was that prohibition of such tires would result in an annual saving to the state of $12 million.

Exemptions discussed
One of the biggest hearing crowds of the session turned out recently to present and listen to testimony on perhaps the major tax issue of the year — revising the personal property tax exemption law.

Many in the crowd represented farm and business interests who were the beneficiaries of a 1977 law that granted exemptions on farm equipment, business inventories and livestock.

The big question confronting the Legislature is how to write a bill that will be satisfactory from a legal standpoint and be feasible politically.

The formula in the 1977 law contained provisions for distributing $70 million in state funds to local governments to replace revenue previously generated by the personal property tax. The formula is constitutionally suspect because the state money is distributed according to the amount of personal property on the tax rolls in 1976.

The Nebraska State Education Association has gone to court to challenge the formula and there are some people who think the courts could block distribution of the $70 million.

Much of the testimony at the hearing dealt with a bill that proposes increasing the $70 million annually by an amount that would equal 10 percent of the total statewide property tax increase.

Comments on chain letter
Sen. John DeCamp of Neligh has indicated he's not as upset over a chain letter scheme known as the "business list" as is the state Justice Department.

In a letter to Attorney General Paul Douglas, DeCamp said he had received an "incredible" amount of mail from Nebraskans who say they have a right to be involved in the scheme because everyone "knows exactly what they're doing and nobody is forced to be involved."

Douglas recently filed action in Lancaster County District Court asking for an injunction against the scheme, alleging among other things the "business list" promotion was an illegal lottery.

DeCamp said the list, like Social Security, is based on the premise that people at the end of the line are putting money in while those at the other end are pulling money out.

At least, DeCamp said, the list program is voluntary but people have no choice when it comes to chipping into the Social Security program.

February 26, 1970: Joe Wilson, 61, a rural resident who has farmed in Wayne County south of Wakefield since 1935, filed Tuesday morning as a candidate for one of two offices of county commissioner in the primary election May 12. Signatures of just over 600 people on a petition proved to the city council that a good number of people in Wayne want the city to have no part in doing away with the city-baseball park and the Girl Scout cabin along East Fourth Street. Two Wayne residents, Earl E. Echtenkamp and Clifford T. Sherlock, were honored with pins and certificates for their 10 years of service with the Nebraska Department of Roads. Wayne State College has a new 1.75 million dollar look since the recent completion of the Ralph M. Carhart Science Hall, named for the late Ralph H. Carhart, former member of the State College Governing Board and a prominent Wayne businessman. Wayne Cub Scout Pack 375 held their annual Blue and Gold Banquet Tuesday at the Wayne Elementary School with about 157 Cub Scouts, parents and scout leaders in attendance. The transportation committee of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce is attempting to set up a meeting with a representative of the Arrow Stage Lines office in Wayne to discuss the recent curtailing of bus service to Wayne.

February 25, 1960: Twenty-six head of sheep and about a ton of feed were lost in a fire which destroyed a barn on the Dennis Carlson farm five miles south of Wakefield Monday. The loss included 18 ewes and eight lambs. Wakefield and Wayne firemen fought the blaze in zero weather until about 1 a.m. Tuesday. Sale of an old generating unit at the municipal light plant provided the main business for Wayne city councilmen at a meeting Tuesday night. The council sold the McIntosh unit to Wayne Auto Salvage for $1,650. The engine will be replaced by the Cooper-Bessemer engine recently purchased by the city.

Fed's Fertilizer Fiasco Fans Farm Fury: Thone

"The federal fertilizer fiasco is fanning farm fury.

"As I have stated in the past, shipments of grain from the United States to the Soviet Union should be embargoed only if all other trade with Russia is halted. It is absolutely incredible that the United States is considering continuing fertilizer shipments to the Soviets to aid them in producing more grain when it prohibits American grain from being sold to them.

"The federal government can act mightily fast to cut income to small farmers by disallowing sale of their crops to the Soviet Union. It seems, however, that if big business wants to sell to the Russians, the Administration finds so called 'red tape' hindering or preventing halting of those sales.

"What's even worse," the Carter Administration has either not told the truth or didn't know what was going on in the sale of fertilizer to Russia. Either the duplicity or the ignorance is shameful.

"Occidental Oil Company continued to ship phosphate fertilizer to Russia after the grain embargo. When this was discovered, the Secretary of Agriculture guaranteed that the shipments would be halted.

"Next, the Commerce Secretary indicated that the Administration was

Inflation More Dangerous Than Grain Embargo

Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation
By M.M. Van Kirk
Director of Information

Prospects for a continued spiral of inflation in 1980 with a resultant further surge in farm production expenses poses a greater threat to the average American farmer than does the embargo of grain shipments to the Soviet Union.

Some petroleum interests and farm economists are predicting that the price of diesel fuel for farm power may be as much as $1.35 per gallon by spring planting time and as high as $1.55 per gallon by next harvest time. And they indicate even those horrendous increases in fuel costs don't take into account what could happen if this turns out to be a dry year or one in which a long hot spell at the most critical point in the growing season forces farmers to run their irrigation pumps on a prolonged basis like they did in 1974 and 1976.

Crop and Livestock Reporting Service statisticians note that the nation's farm production costs in 1978 were $14 billion, which was an increase of $14 billion over 1977. And they report that the Index of Prices Paid by farmers on Jan. 15 of this year was 14 percent above the previous level of Jan. 15, 1979. At an index figure of 267 points, this year's figure means that it takes $267 of the farmer's money to get in goods and services what he would have paid $100 for in 1967.

At the same time, the Index of Prices Received by farmers was 234 points, down four points from December and only two points above the index total of Jan. 15, 1979. The spread of $33 between the $234 index figure the farmer gets for his products and the $267 index figure he pays out for production items is lengthening. It explains why farmers, the people who finance them and the USDA's economists have consistently been making pessimistic forecasts about net farm income prospects for 1980.

Representatives of the Nebraska Crop and Livestock Reporting Service have been interviewing Nebraska farmers and ranchers this month and will continue through March as part of a nationwide survey to determine 1979 production expenditures. The farmers' responses are confidential and only regional and national summaries will be published. But with the price of diesel fuel going from around 70 cents per gallon in the spring of 1979 to more than $1 now, look for the production expense factor to be most discouraging.

One University of Nebraska farm management specialist has predicted that electric rates for on farm and irrigation power use will increase 10 to 20 percent this year. He expects fertilizer prices in 1980 to show an average increase of 15 to 18 percent. Herbicide and insecticide products are probably going to be up 5 to 10 percent. And he predicts that in the coming year, farmers and ranchers will pay from 10 to 15 percent more than in 1979 for comparable size new tractors and machinery.

Most farmers are well aware already of the effects of higher taxes on their farmland and interest rates that are at state usury law limits. For those who must hire labor, they can expect to pay 7 to 15 percent more in wages for good employees than they paid last year. The reality of the annual rate of inflation says that must be expected.

Good farm and ranch managers this year, as they have in the past, will find ways and means of conserving and coping with these and other increased costs. But there is always a limit to what even the best management can achieve. Right now every sign says that the 1980's pose the greatest inflationary challenge that farmers and ranchers have had to face and there is nothing to be gained in minimizing the economic danger that exists for all of them.

our crop transportation system and assured record carryover stocks of all feed grains.

"Farmers are sick and tired of being treated like second class citizens. We in the Midwest must not stand for a government attitude that seems to think that it's alright to wound farmers in getting at the Soviets, but we mustn't take any anti-Russian action that might hurt the feelings or economics of big, big business."

Do We Bug Thee?

The Wayne Herald always has attempted to provide a product of reasonable quality for its readers, but we need your help.

Occasionally, readers will notice a "How Do We Bug Thee" clipping which provides space for comments on helping improve the newspaper. We are not asking that readers sign their names, nor will we print the criticisms in their entirety.

This service is similar to a suggestion box, and all suggestions will be considered and, if possible, be included in our planning. We want to bring you the news in a fair and factual manner, to publish a quality newspaper and to continue improving our product.

We appreciate and encourage constructive criticism so we can know what you are thinking.

We have received five such "Bug Thee" responses, and the comments have been useful. Suggestions range from criticism of an advertisement, to comments on our farm pages, to compliments on personal columns, to letters to the editor suggestions, to one complaint that our pictures were too big.

One suggestion we plan to implement in the near future is to increase the size of type used for our church notes. The type is smaller than normal and is difficult for persons with sight problems to read... something we didn't realize until we were told.

Let us hear what you have to say.

HOW DO WE BUG THEE??

Fernau-Fischer

Plan April Ceremony

Making plans for an April 19 wedding at the First United Methodist Church in Wayne are Monnie Fernau and Craig Fischer.

The engagement and approaching marriage have been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Fernau of Wayne.

Miss Fernau, a 1973 graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School, is employed at The Wayne Herald. Her fiancé, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fischer of Winside, was graduated from Niobrara High School in 1971 and is employed at Central Sand and Construction in Columbus.

Seniors Represented

Mrs. Jocile Bull, director of the Wayne Senior Citizens Center, was in Omaha Feb. 12 to attend a special meeting of the Nebraska Commission on Aging.

Purpose of the meeting was to discuss legislation pertaining to the elderly.

The Nebraska Commission on Aging went on record in support of LB 647, the Homestead Exemption Law to exempt from taxation a percentage of the first $40,000 of actual value of a home, instead of the first $25,000, based on age and income.

Persons are encouraged to write Senator Bob Murphy, State Capitol Bldg., Lincoln, to express their views concerning the bill.

Mrs. Bull also attended a meeting of the Mid-America Conference on Aging which was held in Omaha Feb. 12-15. Over 300 persons from a four-state area were in attendance.

Theme of the seventh annual conference was "The Older Persons Strengths and Needs." The keynote address was given by Monsignor Charles Fahey, director of Fordham University of Geratology in New York City. He also serves on the board of directors of the Federal Council on Aging.

Other speakers focused on the potentials of the elderly, their strengths and needs.

Several members of the Wayne Senior Citizens Center accompanied Mrs. Bull to the White House Conference Family Forum in Norfolk Feb. 16. They included Virgil Chambers, Larry Osnowier and Shirley Wagner.

Rich Coles Wed in Wayne

Laura Haase became the bride of Rich Cole during a ceremony Feb. 16 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne.

The Rev. Thomas McDermott of Wayne officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Emma Haase of Wayne. Parents of the bridegroom are Frank and Eula Cole of Wewela, S. D.

The bride is a 1977 graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School and attended Wayne State College for three years. The bridegroom, a 1971 graduate of Keya Pa High School in Springview, Neb., attended the University of South Dakota at Springfield and served in the U. S. Navy for four years.

The newlyweds are planning to farm near Wewela, S. D.

The 200 guests who attended the wedding and reception in St. Mary's Hall were registered by Colleen Cole of Brookings, S. D., and ushered into the church by George McMillan of Clay Center and Jeff Miedena of Minneapolis, Minn.

Kathy Haas of Hastings accompanied Sandy Barling of Villisca, Iowa, who sang "Charity," "The Wedding Song," and "Prayer of St. Francis."

A spiral candelabra and vases of light blue pompons and white mums decorated the church for the 2 o'clock ceremony. Candlelighters were Julie Palston of Plano, Texas and Ann Mueller of Wayne.

The bride's honor attendant was Kris Lober of Carroll, and bridesmaids were Sally Haase of Omaha, Teresa Cole of Wewela, S. D. and Margaret Nuss of Wayne.

David Cole of Willington, S. D. served his brother as best man

Dixon Wedding Rites

Anna Marie Kreifels of Concord and Paul White of Dixon were married Feb. 14 at St. Anne's Catholic Church in Dixon.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Marie Kreifels of Nebraska City and Mrs. Rda White of Allen.

The Rev. Jerome Spenner of Laurel officiated. Others taking part in the service were Melvin Puhmann of Concord and Danny White of Dixon. Organist was Mrs. LeRoy Creamer of Concord.

Honor attendants for the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Duane White of Dixon, and ushers were Kenneth White of South Sioux City and Merle White of Ponca.

The newlyweds are at home in Dixon.

Sullivan is General Manager

Gary Sullivan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sullivan of Wayne, has been promoted to general manager of the House of Kitchens, 312 S. Floyd Blvd., in Sioux City.

Sullivan has been with House of Kitchens for five years as sales manager. He has bachelor's and master's degrees from Wayne State College and formerly taught industrial arts at Sergeant Bluff-Luton Community High School. He also had his own remodeling business before joining House of Kitchens.

He is a member of St. Michael's Catholic Church, South Sioux City, and formerly served on the church's school board. He is active in the South Sioux City Knights of Columbus.

Sullivan and his wife, Myrna, and their two children live in South Sioux City.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Casal of Belden were hosts for a reception at the church following the ceremony.

The newlyweds are at home near Belden.

The bride was graduated from Randolph High School and Northeast Technical Community College, Norfolk, and is employed at the First National Bank of Belden. The bridegroom, a graduate of Coleridge High School and the University of Nebraska, farms and does construction work.

MR. AND MRS. RICH COLE

'Women in the Church' Seminar Slated March 8

Women from area churches and synagogues will gather at Mount Marty College in Yankton, S. D. Saturday, March 8, for an ecumenical seminar, entitled "Women in the Church."

The public is invited to attend the sessions, which will begin at 9:30 a.m. in Roncalli Center.

Keynote speaker Sister Helen Wright, SND, will discuss alternatives open to women as they accept new responsibilities within the churches today.

Sister Helen is professor of ecumenology at the Washington Theological Union, Washington, D. C. She is on the Executive Board of the Association of Case Teaching and a member of the American Academy of Religion.

As background for her presentation, preliminary speakers will examine the role of women in three major religious traditions. Eileen Burke, director of music and coordinator of worship for the Catholic Archdiocese of Omaha, will survey the role of women in the church in the Christian tradition.

Rabbi Albert Gordon, professor of religious studies at Morningstar College, Sioux City, also will be on hand to discuss women in the Jewish tradition. David Medlyn, president of the Yankton branch of the Mormon Church and professor of biology at Yankton College, will present the Mormon view of women in the church and family.

Ministers and churchwomen from the area will respond to the speakers in a panel presentation and will lead small group discussions.

The seminar is co-sponsored by the Benedictine Sisters of Sacred Heart Convent and the Church Women United of Yankton. It is funded in part by a grant from the South Dakota Committee on the Humanities.

No registration fee will be charged. Persons wishing to make luncheon reservations or secure additional information may do so by calling 668-1011 or writing to seminar director Sister Rosemarie Maly at Sacred Heart Convent.

Mary Schwartz February Bride of Bryan Heithold

The marriage of Mary Schwartz of Wayne to Bryan Heithold of Wakefield was solemnized in 6 p.m. rites Feb. 16 at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne.

Parents of the couple are Delilah and Don Geoden of Wayne and LaVerne and Edmond Heithold of Wakefield.

The Rev. Tom Mendenhall officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Ferris Meyer sang "The Wedding Song" and "Follow Me," accompanied by Mrs. Carl Rump. All are of Wayne.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a full length ivory gown of nylon lace, designed with long, full sleeves, a sweetheart neckline, lace bodice and full skirt with a short train. She also wore a pearl necklace, which was a gift of the bridegroom.

The bride's fingertip veil was attached to a high crown and she carried a nosegay of roses and white mums with baby's breath and forget-me-nots.

Maid of honor, Susan Schwartz of Lincoln wore a long nylon gown in apricot designed with spaghetti straps and a chiffon cape. She carried a long stemmed white rose with baby's breath and apricot streamers. The bridesmaids, Jodi Frevert and Ann Jensen, both of Wayne, were gowned identically as the maid of honor.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a full length ivory gown of nylon lace, designed with long, full sleeves, a sweetheart neckline, lace bodice and full skirt with a short train. She also wore a pearl necklace, which was a gift of the bridegroom.

Candles were lighted by Todd Schwartz of Wayne and Michael Heithold of Wakefield.

Doug Heithold of North Platte served as best man, and groomsmen were Mark Heithold of Wakefield and Monte Dowling of Wayne. The men in the wedding party wore gray tuxedos with apricot trimmed shirts.

The bride's mother chose a brown chiffon dress in full length designed with a nylon skirt. Mrs. Heithold chose a dusty rose full length dress with a lace jacket. Both mothers wore a corsage of sonja roses and white mums.

A reception for 175 guests was held at the church following the ceremony. Guests, who were registered by Jolene Bennett of Wayne, were greeted by Wilbur and Janet Heithold of Wakefield. Gifts were arranged by Sherri Anderson of Wayne and Lori Burbach of Carroll.

Theresa Heithold and Susan Hollman, both of Omaha, and Barbara Schwartz of Lincoln cut and served the cake. Linda and Charlene Heithold of Wakefield poured and Julia Dorsey and Lisa Daniels, both of Wayne, served punch.

Waitresses were Elizabeth Prather, Theresa Ginn and Trisha Frevert, all of Wayne.

The newlyweds took a wedding trip to Colorado and are making their first home at 315 E. Fifth St., in Wayne.

The bride will be a May 1980 graduate of Wayne Carroll High School. The bridegroom, a 1977 Wayne High graduate, is engaged in farming.

Footie Strikes Gold in State Wrestling Meet

When the smoke had cleared, five area wrestlers returned home with medals after competition in the State Wrestling Tournament came to a close, Saturday afternoon in Lincoln's Bob Devaney Sports Complex.

Winside's Brian Foote nabbed the top prize by winning a gold medal in the Class D 119 pound class. Senior Rick Bowers, another Winside wrestler, earned a third place medal in the 126 pound class.

Perhaps the nicest surprise in the area was Wakefield's Jon Stelling. The freshman got edged out in the consolation finals of the Class C 105 pound class and returned home with a fourth place medal.

Wayne's top finisher was heavyweight Dan Mitchell, who placed fifth in Class B. Winside's Mark Koch, also took fifth place in the 105 pound Class D competition.

In team competition, Elm Creek dethroned Winside as Class D champion. Wymore Southern rolled to the Class C title, Gering repeated in Class B and Columbus blasted Bellevue West to repeat as Class A champion.

Individual state summaries:

Brian Foote
Foote ran his record to 30-1 by winning Class D's gold medal at 119 pounds. Last year, he finished second at 112 pounds. Foote, a junior, won decisions over Keith Fisher of Davenport, Steve Yauney of Hyannis, John Irons of Weeping Water and Keith Imholte of Leigh 11-3, 10-3, 11-1 and 8-4 respectively.

Rick Bowers
Bowers was the only area wrestler to finish third, completing his senior season with a 27-5 record. He won over Randy Klein of Harvard 11-3 and defeated Dan Londowski of Stromsburg 15-6 before losing to Steve Cleveland of Hyannis 11-9 in the semifinals. Wins over Gregg O'Neil of Friend 8-2 and Brad Thompson of St. Edward 10-3 earned Bowers the bronze medal.

Jon Stelling
Stelling of Wakefield was one of three freshmen in the area to qualify for the state meet and the only one to win a medal. He defeated Shane Wagner of Burwell 12-7, edged Mike Pane of Fort Calhoun 5-3 and then lost by pin to Mike Howard of Fremont Bergan in the semifinals. A 2-1 decision over Mike Strokebrand of Tri-County advanced Stelling into the consolation finals. He wrestled to a 3-3 tie at the end of regulation sending the match into overtime. He led 1-0 on a stalling point but gave up an escape late in the match for a 1-1 tie. After a 30 second discussion between the judges, Harold Christiansen of Pender was awarded the win on judges decision. Stelling finished the season with a 19-11 record.

Dan Mitchell
Mitchell of Wayne came up short in his bid for a state championship but still earned a fifth place medal in the Class B heavyweight class. In his first two matches he pinned Don Lieske of Central City and won by default over Brad Liggett of Alliance after leading 2-0. Mitchell met huge, undefeated Ted Reehl of Crete in his next match and lost 15-4. Another loss to Carroll Alberry of Gretna knocked Mitchell out of the consolation finals but a 7-5 win over Mike Aksamit of Lincoln Plus, gave him fifth place and a 24-4 record to complete his career.

Mark Koch
Koch of Winside entered the state tournament ranked first in Class D's 105 pound class but had to settle for a fifth place medal. He defeated Tim Joe of Meridian 6-2, pinned Todd Holiday of Mullen and lost 9-2 to Steve Strobel of Clarks, dropping him out of the consolation. Koch lost 5-4 to Neal Hubbard of Elm Creek but rallied to pin Tim Joe of Meridian in an overtime rematch for fifth place. Koch ended his sophomore year with a 27-3 record.

Jon Jacobmeier
Jacobmeier of Wayne, a freshman, drew two-time state champion Willie Block of Gering in Class B's 98 pound opening round and was pinned. He then dethroned Mike Eberhardt of Grand Island Northwest 5-2 and lost 6-1 to Rod Armagust of Cozad.

Brett Frevert
Frevert of Wayne, lost his opening match to Jeff Smith of Ainsworth in the Class B 145 pound class and was eliminated from the competition when Smith lost his second match. Frevert finished his junior season with a 10-12 record.

Rick Johnson
Johnson of Wayne entered competition in the 155 pound class as one of Wayne's two favorites. He lost to Steve Radzyski of Gering 8-4 and was eliminated when Radzyski lost to Rod Simonson of Lexington. Both men had lost only two matches each this season. Johnson finished the final year of his career with a 19-6 record.

Aaron Schueff
Schueff was dethroned 1-0 in overtime of his first and only match by Kevin Sholes of O'Neill. Sholes lost 10-6 to Dan Barent of Ogallala in his next match, thus eliminating Schueff. The Wayne junior finished his season with a 21-10 record.

Dirk Carlson
Carlson of Wakefield lost 9-2 to Pat Dodson of North Platte St. Patrick, then defeated John Higgins of Bennington and lost 5-0 to Tim Bachenberg of Osceola. The sophomore finished with an 18-12-1 record at 112 pounds.

Blaine Nelson
Wakefield's Nelson was eliminated in the first round of competition when he lost 11-8 to Scott Snyder of Centennial in the first round. Snyder lost his next match and Nelson finished his final season with a 20-10 record.

Mark Schopke
Wakefield heavyweight Schopke was pinned

by Marty Vaughan of Omaha Holy Name in the first round and was eliminated when Vaughan lost his second match. Schopke, a senior, ended his season with a 20-9 record.

Curt Rhode
Freshman Rhode of Winside wrestled in the Class D 98 pound class and was pinned by Shane Folk of Mullen and Brad Harding of Beaver City to end his first season with a 6-15 record.

Doug Jaeger
Winside's Jaeger opened the 112 pound class with a 7-6 win over Bill Rowland of Friend, then was pinned by Scott Gardner of Kearney Catholic and dethroned 4-3 by Ben Allen of Arnold. The sophomore ended his season with a 13-14-1 record.

Barry Bowers
Sophomore Bowers pinned Mike Petersen of Cambridge in the opening round, lost 7-6 to Matt Meier of Elm Creek on a last second escape, defeated Mark Bors of Dorchester and lost to Gary Jensen of Wilcox. He finished with a 21-12 record.

Kent Glassmeyer
Glassmeyer, another Winside sophomore, was pinned by undefeated Randy Schroeder of Elm Creek and Larry Engel of Stromsburg to finish the year with a 10-13 record.

Final team standings
Class B: Wayne scored 14 points. Class C: Wakefield scored 15 points.
Class D: Winside scored 58 points to place eighth in state.

Lori Langenberg represented Class D champion Winside as one of four girls who awarded medals at the State Wrestling Tournament, Saturday. One girl was chosen from each defending championship school by the school administration.
John Torczon, teacher and coach at Wakefield High School, was one of 16 referees selected to work at the State Tournament, Thursday through Saturday.

Brian Excels

On the wall of the Winside multi-purpose room, where the Wildcat wrestlers practice, hangs a poster that says:

It's all in the state of mind.
If you think you're outclassed, you are.
You've got to think high to rise.
You've got to be sure of yourself before you can win a prize.
Life's battles don't always go to the stronger or faster man.
But sooner or later the man who wins is the man who thinks he can.

Winside 119 pounder Brian Foote is a believer.

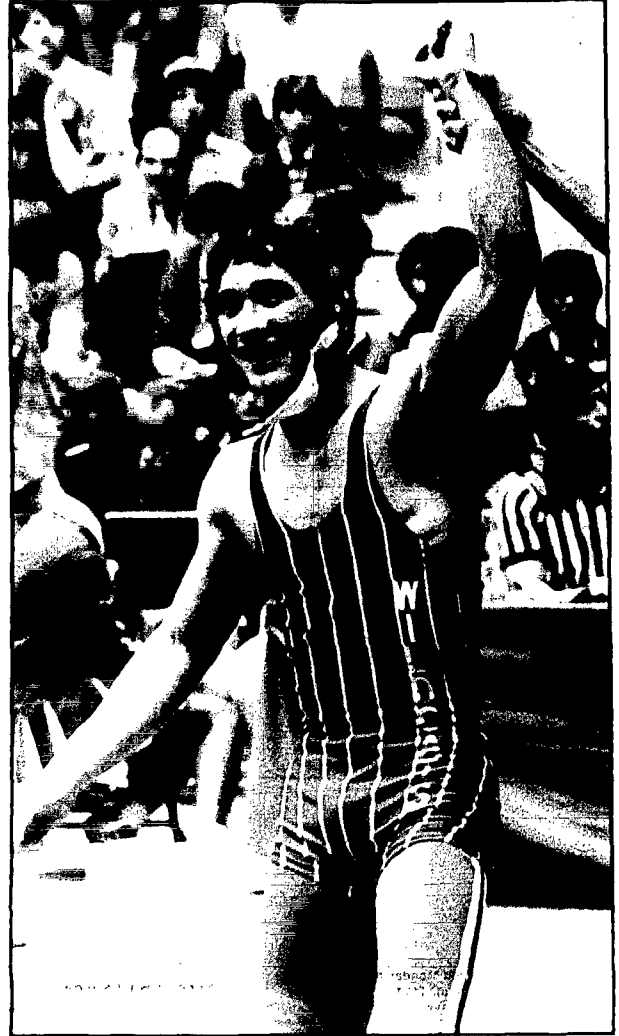

The song "We are the Champions" blared through the Bob Devaney Sports Complex as 96 wrestling finalists marched before a large diverse crowd, Saturday afternoon at the Nebraska State Wrestling Championships. In the next two hours, half of those 96 individuals prevailed as state champions. Foote was among them.

The Winside junior dethroned Keith Imholte of Leigh 8-4 to win the Class C 119 pound title. Foote scored three takedowns and a reversal to win his final match. The last wrestler to win an individual championship for Winside was Brian Svoboda in 1978.

Foote breezed to Saturday's finals by defeating Keith Fisher of Davenport 11-3. Steve Yauney of Hyannis 10-3 and John Irons of Weeping Water 11-1. Imholte had fallen victim to Foote 10-1 in district finals a little more than a week ago.

"He gave me a better match than I had planned on. It feels really great," Foote said after the championship match. His goals over the last two years were to reach the finals of every tournament, not to get beat by anyone younger than him and to go undefeated. He reached two of his three goals this year while compiling a 30-1 record.

Then Foote's thoughts turned to his friend and wrestling partner Rick Bowers, who had earlier placed third at 126 pounds. "I actually wanted to reach the finals along with Rick. Then, since he didn't reach his finals, I felt like I needed to give a little more effort for him. No one worked harder than Rick this year," Foote stated.

A JUBILANT Brian Foote gets his arm raised by the referee after winning the State Class D 119 pound wrestling championship in Lincoln, Saturday.

Bears Are Edged Out Of Districts by Wausa

The Laurel Bears played three quarters of good basketball but their season came to a close Tuesday night with a 66-64 loss to second seeded Wausa in Class C-5 boys' districts at Plainview.

The Bears started out in a hole when they fell behind 17-8 in the first quarter. They trailed 35-26 at the half but put together a strong second half rally when they applied a full court man-to-man defense.

Lon Swanson and Paul Guern scored 17 and 16 points respectively for Laurel, which finished the season with a 6-14 record. Swanson and Joe Olsen were leading rebounders with 9 and 6 respectively.

"If you can't win, you like to go out in style. We did," said Laurel coach Joel Parks. "Only four teams in the state win their last ball game. We played well but they hit the free throws when they had to."

Wausa did capitalize on free throws to win the game. Laurel outshot its opponents 27-20 from the floor but shot only 12 free throw attempts compared to 37 for Wausa, with 22 coming in the second half.

"We ran a full court man-to-man in the second half and it evened up the rebounding and caused them a lot of trouble. It got us back in the game," Parks said.

The Bears rallied behind their defensive play to take a one point lead with 1:50 remaining in the game but Wausa held on for the win. Doug Netz led Wausa with 23 points. Kevin Thierolf scored 15 and Ned Blankenship followed with 14.

Olsen led the Bears with 17 points, followed by Clark Maxon with 12 and Swanson with 11. Defensively, Matt Johnson played a fine game. The victory improved Laurel's record to 6-12.

Trojans Trim Wildcats In District Rematch

The Wakefield Trojans avenged an earlier loss by dumping Winside 66-47 Monday night in Class C-4 district action at Laurel. The win moves the Trojans into the semifinals at 6-30 tonight against top seeded Ponca.

Ernie Kovar's ball club took advantage of the game in the first quarter with a 14-6 lead and increased the difference in the next two quarters. Scott Hallstrom scored 16 points. Barry Jones made 15 and Jeff Hallstrom added another 13 points and 10 rebounds for the winners.

Winside was led by Bob Hawkins. Randy Ritze and Byron Schellenberg with 10 points each.

Wakefield's record now stands at 12-5 while Winside finishes its season with a 7-8 record.

WSC Track Team Opens Fourth

Paced by first place finishes in the long jump and 60-yard high hurdles the Wayne State College indoor track team opened its 1980 season with a fourth place finish in the Kearney State Invitational Saturday in Kearney.

Wildcat football quarterback Rick Lade surprised the field in his first track meet by capturing first place in the long jump. The junior's 22 feet 1/4 inch jump left him three quarters inch ahead of Kearney's Paul O'Connell.

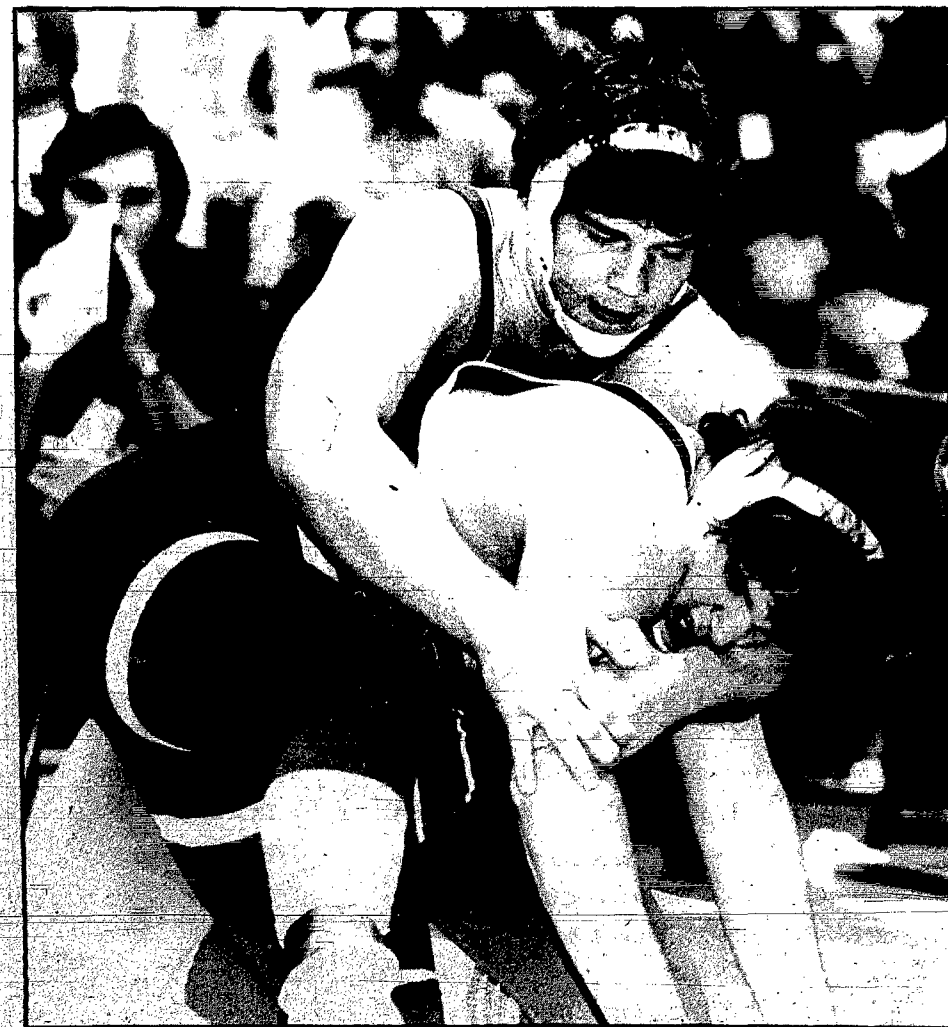

There was no surprise, however, in the 60-yard high hurdles as Central States Conference champion Ed Blackburn covered the distance in 7.76 seconds to capture first place for the Wildcats. In preliminary action Blackburn set a new school indoor record with a time of 7.5 seconds. The sophomore from Malvern, Iowa, placed second in the 220-yard intermediate hurdles with a time of 25 seconds.

Other Wildcats, who placed were: Jeff Heinold, fourth in the shot put; Joe Ortmeier, tied for fourth in the high jump; Dave McNeel, second in the pole vault; Arld Johnson, fifth in the 800-yard run; and the Wildcat two-mile relay team finished third. Team results for the meet were: Kearney State 111.5 points; Hastings College 28.5 points; Black Hills State 28 points; Wayne State 27.5 points; Chadron State 18.5 points; South Dakota Tech 18 points; and the University of South Dakota 8 points.

Regional Game Changed

The Class D girls' regional game between Allen and Humphrey has been changed to 6 p.m. Friday, instead of 7:30 p.m. as regularly scheduled.

The game will be played at Winside High School with the winner qualifying for the State Tournament March 6-8.

DANNY MITCHELL clamps a cross-face onto Mike Aksamit of Lincoln Plus in the fifth place Class B heavyweight match at Lincoln. The Wayne senior dethroned Aksamit 7-5 in the final match of his high school career.

Fleer Wins Raffle, $1,200 is Earned

Over $1,200 was earned for the Wayne State athletic training fund from a raffle held Saturday night at half-time of the Wayne State versus Kearney State basketball game.

Erwin Fleer of Wayne was winner of the half of beef given away in the drawing. The money was used to improve weight training facilities at Wayne State College. The WSC Athletic Training Organization, which sponsored the raffle, invites everyone to see the improvements in Rice Auditorium.

Third Graders Experience Jail

THIRD GRADERS AT the West Elementary School toured the Wayne Police Department, County Courthouse, Wayne County Sheriff's Department and County Jail Tuesday on a field trip.

Highlight, though, was the jail tour which included the youngsters being locked behind bars briefly. Deputy Sheriff Scotty Thompson provided a variety of information for the curious group.

By LaVon Beckman

For liberated American women, the calendar's most sexist holiday is Feb. 29. Not Valentine's Day or Mother's Day, but Leap Year Day, the one that suggests women need an extra edge to get their man.

In fact, many unmarried women say they feel offended throughout this entire leap year of 1980. According to legend, only for these 12 months do they have the right to pop the question to any eligible man.

The Wayne Herald this week spoke to several forthright women who confidentially told us artful ways they plan on making the husband-to-be think getting married was all his idea.

One Wayne State College student simply said she plans to "flirt" a little more than usual. "Jealousy is a sure fire bet to make a man feel he needs to lay permanent claim," she added.

Most women, however, said they would never pop the question to a man, "leap year or not." And many don't wait for anybody to ask. Last year there were at least 1,137,000 unmarried couples living together in the United States, a 117 percent increase since 1970. So says the Bureau of the Census.

Wanted or not, the "Leap Year Edge" has had the jump on unmarried men for 692 years, sometimes pouncing on the unwilling with the full weight of the law.

It was in the year 1288 that the Scottish Parliament laid down the law as follows: "It is statut and ordaint that for ilk year known as lepe year, ilk maiden ladie, of baith hiegh and lowe estait, shall haie libertie to bespeke ye man she likes."

The same sort of law was passed in France a few years later, and just before Columbus sailed for America, the Italian cities of Genoa and Florence added it to their books.

By 1600 English common law also decreed that "As off as lepe year doth return ye ladies have ye privileg of making love to ye men, which they doe either by wordes or by looks, as to them seemeth proper."

However they popped the question, the ladies were at least assured they would be taken seriously by the objects of their affection.

The Scottish law warned: "If he refuses to tak her to bee his wyf, he shall bee mulct in the sum of one hundredty pundis." He could escape being mulct only if he was already married.

In the England of 1860, Queen Victoria warned the bachelor holdouts of Her Majesty's Rifle Corps that if they didn't get married they would be persona non grata. The Queen was said to believe that the stability of married life would improve their marksmanship.

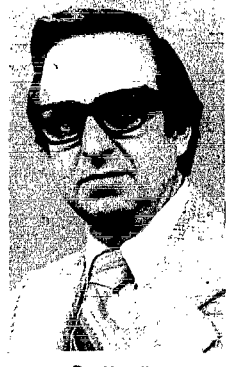

No one knows for sure who first suggested leap year as hunting season on bachelors. Some fables give credit to St. Patrick in the early fifth century when reportedly at least one admiring Irish colleen was awarded a silk gown by a reluctant admirer.

There will be 9,036 Americans born this Feb. 29, give or take a birth or two, according to the Natality Branch of the National Center for Health Statistics of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The new February 29thers will soon learn what it's like to watch the world pull ahead of them birthday by birthday. Says one son of leap year: "If I didn't celebrate my birthday early, on the 28th, I'd have to tell the kids that Daddy is only 9 years old."

People who get married on Feb. 29, however, may be rewarded by an advantage. They'll only have to buy an anniversary present every fourth year.

Pilot Parents Meet

The Wayne Laurel Pilot Parents met Friday in Wayne. Mr. and Mrs. Dick Carmichael explained Down's Syndrome to the group as a continuation of Pilot Parent training.

Down's Syndrome, which is caused by an extra chromosome in a person's genetic make up occurs once in every 640 live births. The characteristics at birth may include underweight, a small mouth and ears, little or no sucking reflex, and slanted eyes.

Intestinal and heart problems often accompany the syndrome, which is generally identified early in life through blood tests.

Pilot Parents also viewed the film "Sarah Has Down's Syndrome." Pilot Parents are parents of handicapped children organized and trained to help new parents of handicapped youngsters. Persons who would like more information are invited to call 375-2243 or 256-3127.

4-H Leader Training Set

Leader training for all 4-H home economics leaders, both project and organizational, will be held Thursday, March 6, at 7:30 p.m. at the Northeast Station, near Concord.

Leaders will be looking at state and county fair changes, new project manuals, improving the 4-H club meeting, keeping interest in the club, fun with recreation, and hints for helping the beginning 4-H'er.

Discussion also will center on upcoming home economics workshops and on questions regarding projects and activities which the leaders may have.

Dixon County 4-H parents and leaders are invited.

A Peaceful Nebraska Afternoon

NOT MUCH grain and stubble remains for area cattle to feed on, now that spring nears. What little feeding ground is left had been covered by a light layer of snow until warm temperatures recently melted the white blanket. This high contrast line shot above, shows some cattle lulling in a local field on a warm afternoon.

Care Is Key to Calves

The key to success in preparing feeder calves for sale is careful management through all stages of the operation, a Lexington, Neb. cattlemen told those attending a Beef Feeders Day Program here recently.

Herb Ringenberg, who rearies about 5,000 head of lightweight calves per year for sale to feedlots, outlined his new calf management procedures during the meeting sponsored by the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources animal science department and the Dodge and Buffalo County Extension Services. Beef Feeders Days were held Feb. 14 in Kearney and Feb. 15 in Fremont.

The first step in the process is, obviously, buying the young calves.

"Find an order buyer who thinks like you do," Ringenberg advised. It's important that the order buyer understands what the producer wants in the way of breeds and weights and how much he wants to spend. Ringenberg said. If these priorities aren't laid down, he said, the producer won't be satisfied when the calves arrive.

The next step in the process is "Get to know the trucker," he said. When cattle arrive with droopy ears and other signs of disease, Ringenberg said it's important to remember "It's not the fault of the trucker that cattle die. It's the fault of the guy who sent them."

When the shipment arrived, he said, "Have somebody there to receive the calves. Your first impression of the calves decides whether they'll live or die most of the time."

Ringenberg also said it's a good idea to get some background information on the new calves.

"Try to find out what the calves have eaten and what vaccinations they've had," he reminded the producers that calves treated with antibiotics may look deceptively healthy.

For himself, Ringenberg said

Englishmen were taxed from 1697 to 1851 for all windows in their houses over the number of six.

Nebraska Vets To Get Record In Dividends

A record $4.2 million in dividends will be paid during 1980 to 30,144 veterans in Nebraska holding GI life insurance policies, the Veterans Administration said Wednesday.

James C. Smith, director of the VA Regional Office in Lincoln, emphasized that no application is needed. Policyholders who have kept their GI insurance in force from World War I, World War II or the Korean conflict will receive payments automatically on the anniversary dates of their policies.

He said that 24,127 state veterans holding current World War II GI insurance policies will receive dividends totaling $3.8 million, an average payment of $149. A total $238,000 in dividends will go 781 World War I policyholders, an average of $298. The 3,951 Korean conflict veterans in Nebraska who kept their GI insurance policies in force will receive dividends totaling $234,000, a $62 average payment.

The $4.2 million dividend payout in Nebraska is part of a national record $566 million in 1980 dividends to 4.1 million veterans whose policies are still in force. Individual amounts will vary from the average, Smith explained, depending on the type of policy, amount of insurance, age at issue or renewal, and the time the policy has been in force.

He said the 1980 GI insurance dividends, like other insurance dividends, are higher in recent years because the funds on deposit have been earning higher interest. Dividends on VA insurance policies represent a return of funds not needed to pay the cost of the insurance.

Benefiting most from the higher interest rates, he said, are those veterans who converted their insurance plans to permanent type policies rather than continuing the original term policies.

What A Day for A Car Wash

WHAT A FINE DAY it was, too. Tuesday's mild temperatures con-jured thoughts of spring, and Wayne's car washes were busy all day long. Bob Kenny, Carroll, and Susie Proehl, a student at Wayne State College, found the weather perfect for scrubbing and polishing his car. Temperatures fell some Wednesday, though, and March is expected to come in like a lion as traditionally is the case.

11 Will Attend Leaders Forum

Eleven Nebraskans will attend the National 4-H Leaders Forum to be held at the National 4-H Center in Washington D.C. March 16-24, according to Roy Stohler, Concord, Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources district 4-H specialist.

Members of the group are Earl Pharris, Cozad, Mr. and Mrs. Betram Clark, Sumner, Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Rethwisch, Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kroff, David Clifty, Shirley Lingo, North Platte; Mr. and Mrs. Deryl Koopman, Piller and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stohler, Concord.

The Leaders Forum is designed to help 4-H leaders become more effective in working with 4-H members and other leaders, Stohler said. The theme of the Forum is "Expanding Horizons."

The leaders will learn new approaches to leadership development, increase their understanding of the legislative process, examine the American Heritage and its meaning for 4-H programs, develop skills in building citizenship and careers into 4-H projects, and exchange ideas with 4-H leaders from other states.

The trip will include a visit to Capitol Hill to see Congress in action, and a tour of national shrines in Washington, D.C. along with a two-day trip to New York City.

Partial scholarships for the volunteer 4-H leaders are being provided by the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben.

Club Reveals Secret Sisters

Valentine secret sisters were revealed Feb. 21 when That Club met in the home of Adelyn Magnuson. Games furnished the evening's entertainment.

The club voted to meet the second Thursday of each month. Bey Maben will be the March 13 hostess at 8 p.m.

BEEFERENDUM VOTE
Wayne County farmers voted against the Beeferendum which would set aside a certain amount of funds for promotion of their product. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service personnel said Wednesday that vote totals were 108 against and 70 in favor. The statewide outcome was not known early Wednesday since ballots were still being counted.

Farm Mexico Wants Grain

The Government of Mexico has invited suppliers to bid for the sale of up to 500,000 metric tons of U.S. corn and up to 500,000 metric tons of U.S. sorghum and/or corn for delivery to Mexico during the first half of 1980.

Tom Hughes, administrator of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Foreign Agricultural Service, said bids are to cover corn and sorghum to be delivered beginning in mid-February with shipments to be completed at the end of June.

"This purchase will be the first of the 1.7 million metric tons of corn and 1.0 million tons of sorghum included in the mid-January agreement between the two countries," said Hughes.

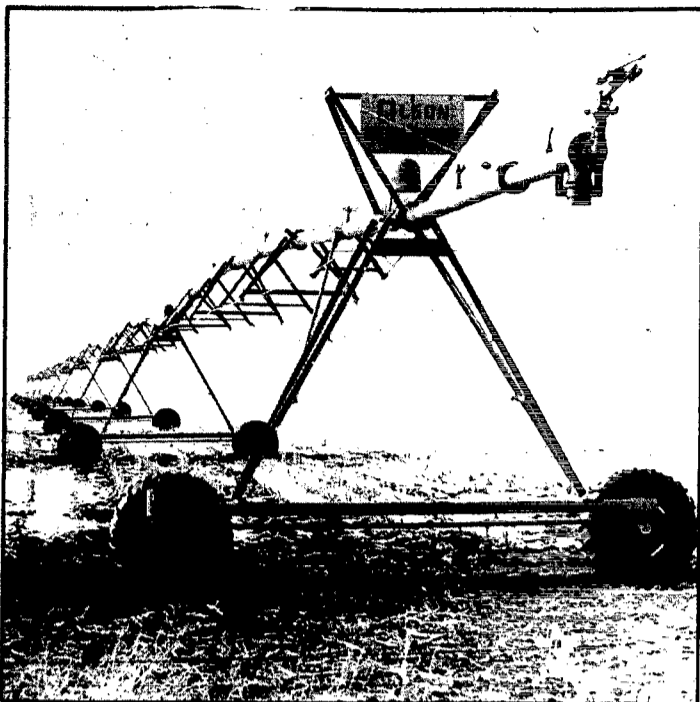

Agreements have been signed with three U.S. rail companies and the National Railways of Mexico to ship sizable portions of the corn and sorghum, using special unit trains, he said. The balance will move by ocean freight from the Gulf ports.

The USDA, through its Office of Transportation, will cooperate with Mexico in helping to coordinate the transportation logistics between the two countries.

These arrangements are in the context of the Jan. 16 agreement between the two countries.

Inquiries should be directed to Alfredo Gutierrez Kirchner, Trade Office, Embassy of Mexico, 1101 15th Street, NW, Suite 507, Washington, D.C., 20005, telephone 202-785-3214, or Glen R. Samson, deputy director for marketing, Grain and Feed Division of the Foreign Agriculture Service, USDA, telephone 202-447-4900.

Corporate Hog Factories, Investment Are Continuing

Low hog prices have not slowed the building of corporate hog factories in Nebraska nor the investment of non farm money in hog production, according to the Center for Rural Affairs of Walthill.

The center presented its 1979 research findings to a panel of farm organization leaders and those in attendance at the center's Feb. 16 annual meeting in Pender. The center found that 16 new corporate hog factories were built in Nebraska during 1979, with half or more of those units being owned primarily by non family farmers.

A panel discussion titled "The Hog Mortgage Burner or Tax Shelter? The future of hogs on the family farm" showed concern among farm leaders that small and moderate sized farmers will be forced out of hog production unless there is a reversal of tax laws which favor larger scale producers. University of Missouri Agricultural Economist V. James Rhodes warned that "If things continue as they are, the main part of the hog industry will be in large factory operations."

The only argument is whether it will be in 1987, 1990 or so forth, but it is clearly on the way of happening," Rhodes said that there is hope to stop the trend, but Congress must "begin to act like it believes what it says about family farms." Rhodes cited the successful effort to end Small Business Administration financing of large scale hog production. Absent of such policy changes, however, the Missouri economist suggested that even the family owned large scale hog factories may eventually fall under the control of agribusinesses, in the same manner as successful independent supermarkets are often purchased by chain stores. Rhodes also warned that five years down the road feed companies may integrate the hog industry as they have poultry production.

Tony Skutchan, a Dorchester, farmer and state director of the Pork Producers Association, said the hog industry could become corporate controlled much like the poultry industry. Stressing that he was speaking for himself and not necessarily the Pork Producers, Skutchan criticized tax subsidies which help large producers more than small and thereby help the giants force the small farmers out of business. "I'd just as soon throw the investment credit out the window."

That attitude was shared by Bill Sellhorst, a Dodge Nebraska farmer representing the National Farmer Organization (NFO). "We won't freeze the corporate integrators out with a low market," said Sellhorst, "the investment credit and capital gains (exemption) will keep them in hog production long after you and I are gone." Sellhorst also called for the Agricultural colleges, "especially the University of Nebraska", to reorient their programs to things productive for the small farm. The NFO leader reminded farmers not to be their own worst enemy. "We would all like to be like the 500 sow operation," said Sellhorst, "knowing that if we all got there it would be the worst thing that every happened."

Neil Oxton, president of the Farmers Union of Nebraska, said that farmers need to sit down together and determine where they want to be by the year 2000. Too often we listen to economists

Vote Indicates Most Want Research

Over 300 manufacturers of wheat based foods have registered to vote on whether they want to assess themselves to fund a nationally coordinated wheat research and nutrition education program.

AMS will conduct the referendum and will monitor the program if it is established.

SMITH SAID the proposed program will be established if it is approved by at least two-thirds of those voting or by a majority which represents at least two-thirds of the volume of processed wheat used by all voters in assessable end products.

The program would be developed and administered by a 20 member wheat industry council composed equally of wheat producers, processors, end product manufacturers and consumers. Financing would come from assessments on processed wheat purchased by certain manufacturers of products such as bread, cake, cookies, cereal or pasta.

THE ELIGIBILITY of any end product manufacturer to register and vote may be challenged by anyone. Any challenge of an end product manufacturer's eligibility must be made prior to the end of the voting period. Specific reasons for the challenge must be given.

Firms are eligible to vote if they registered with the U.S. Department of Agriculture during the Jan. 7-Feb. 1 registration period and if, in 1978, they used at least 2,000 hundredweights of processed wheat in the production and wholesaling of assessable end products.

USDA Offers Honey Program

Honey producers would continue to be eligible for government loans on their honey or would be able to sell it directly to the government, under a proposal announced today by Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Under the 1979 honey program, producers are offered loans and purchases on honey stored in bulk and other eligible containers, on or off farms. Producers have until March 31 to request loans that will mature on June 30. Eligible producers may sell their honey to the Commodity Credit Corporation by contacting their ASCS county office before June 30. Fitzgerald invited the public to make recommendations about the 1980 loan and purchase rates, program availability dates and general operating provisions.

The recommendations should be addressed to the Director, Production Adjustment Division, USDA ASCS, Room 3630, South Building, Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013, and should be received by April 14.

The comments will be available for public inspection in that office during regular business hours. Details of today's proposal will be in the Feb. 14 Federal Register.

DURING THE first two years, the assessments would be up to one cent per hundredweight of processed wheat purchased. After that, the council could recommend that assessments be increased up to a maximum of five cents per hundredweight. Those who do not wish to support the program could get refunds.

Referendum rules stipulate that a corporation, regardless of the number of its subsidiaries, has one vote. At least half of the registered end product manufacturers must vote for the referendum to be valid.

Research Shows Pre-weaned Calves Survive Better

Pre-weaned feeder calves fed milled grain before shipping tend to eat and survive better than their newly-weaned hay-fed counterparts, according to a Texas A & M University researcher.

"New calves fresh off cows don't seem to eat as much as pre-weaned calves," said Dr. Dave Hutcheson during Beef Feeders Day here Feb. 15.

Hog—
describe the trends and then try to follow them, said Oxton. He advised farmers to work within the system to reach their goals because "no one else will do it for us."

Everett Holstein, Blair, Nebraska hog producer representing the Grange, said there is growing concern that trends of today may not leave room for many family farmers. He said that the Grange may next year consider resolutions on tax law to challenge those trends.

by the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources animal science department and the Dodge and Buffalo County Extension Services, were held in Kearney Feb. 14 and in Fremont the following day.

The meetings included identical programs of information in the areas of beef nutrition, performance, husbandry and pest control.

Calves weaned 20 to 30 days before shipping and fed grain will eat about 10 percent more after arriving in a new environment, Hutcheson said. But in the long run their gain is not faster and their feed efficiency is generally lower than green calves fed hay, he added.

The pre-weaned, fed calves do have a marked advantage when it comes to surviving the first days in a new feedlot.

In a study at the Texas A & M Ag Research and Extension Center at Amarillo, death rates ranged between 2 and 4 percent for calves pre-weaned and fed grain while calves fresh off cows and fed hay showed death rates between 11 and 15 percent.

Heavily stressed calves that have been hauled for a long distance will start with less sickness if they are fed a concentrate ration, he said.

In 3 1/2 years of testing, calves fed hay have shown higher rates of sickness, Hutcheson said, and have required more time to shape up in the feedlot.

In one case, as many as 60 to 100 calves fed hay before and after shipping showed signs of disease and required an average of six days of antibiotic treatment, he said. Forty-seven of the grain-fed calves showed disease and required a little more than five days to snap back.

"It's very important to get the calves to eat," Hutcheson said. Many times mixed-load feeder calves are on the road for many days, he pointed out. "These calves in many cases do not get water and do not get fed."

Hutcheson said that when calves come into the lot after a long haul, their rumen function may be reduced to about 60 percent of normal.

For this reason, he said, it is very important to get the calves started as soon as possible to bring their digestive system back to working order.

Tests to show whether starting the calves on a high concentrate ration have shown no advantage over using a warm-up procedure, he said.

"You can start a concentrated ration immediately but it does not improve performance or health," he said.

Lactic acidosis may be a problem with heavier weight calves started on a high energy ration, he said, but calves off the cow for a month or less generally do not eat enough to cause a problem.

Studies to determine if adding B vitamins to the ration will improve performance have been inconclusive, Hutcheson said. He said the results are variable, with some trials showing a positive effect and others showing no effect.

"Different kinds of cattle may respond differently in different situations," he said.

Calves that have been stressed during transportation may show a potassium deficiency, Hutcheson said. If the amount of shrink is greater than about 6 percent, the calf probably has lost some intracellular water, including potassium.

"Potassium is needed for growth and very little is stored," he explained. "Potassium must be supplied on a daily basis."

Potassium recommendations are generally about 1 percent of the calf's total body weight. Hutcheson said feeding rates much higher than that can result in some intake problems.

Supplying clean water in adequate amounts also is important to get new calves started, he continued.

"Water is important and often overlooked," he said. "Water is different from location to location and should be cleaned on a daily basis" if good performance is expected.

The researchers in Texas also have examined the relation of bovine virus diarrhoea to recovery diets. When the incoming calves were sero-tested, about 20 to 30 percent were positive for the disease and 60 to 70 percent negative, Hutcheson said. After 21 days, the calves were tested again and it was found that 50 percent of the calves had sero-converted from negative to positive.

In the performance tests, Hutcheson said the cattle that were positive in the beginning and remained positive performed the best, while those that remained negative were the next best and those that had sero-converted registered the worst performance.

He said further study of the interaction of BVD and performance is needed.

He also said more work needs to be done on the relationship between the shipping fever complex and performance.

Land prices
For anyone that has priced land in this area recently this information will come as no surprise.

Farm real estate values in Nebraska on Nov. 1, 1979, were up 11 percent compared to Feb. 1, 1979, and 21 percent compared to Nov. 1, 1978, according to figures released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The average value per acre of land and buildings in Nebraska on Nov. 1, 1979, was $520, compared to $470 on Feb. 1, 1979, and $430 on Nov. 1, 1978. Nebraska is grouped by USDA for comparison purposes in the Northern Plains Region, with North and South Dakota and Kansas. Iowa and Missouri showed 12 percent increase in value of farm real estate from Feb. 1, 1979 to Nov. 1, 1979, and 19 percent increase for Nov. 1, 1978 to Nov. 1, 1979. The average value per acre of farmland for Iowa and Missouri on Nov. 1, 1979 was $1,646 and $757, respectively.

For the United States, farmland values increased on the average of 16 percent during the 12 months ending Nov. 1, 1979, compared with a 12 percent rise the year before. USDA reported

Diarrhea has made it the number one problem for the newborn, whether it is a beef or dairy calf.

Diarrhea, also known as scours, causes rapid dehydration from fluid loss. Poisons, may be picked up from the inflamed intestine and cause the weakened calf to have secondary problems. Diarrhea occurs shortly after birth during the next three to four weeks. As the calf grows older, its resistance to scours increases.

These management procedures can help reduce the incidence of calf diarrhea.

- 1 Dry and clean bedding for calving area.
- 2 Make sure the calf gets colostrum during the first few hours following birth.
- 3 Rota and corona viral scours can be prevented with vaccinations for either the calf or the cow, but these are only types for which vaccines have been very effective. Calves should immediately receive the oral vaccine at birth and cows should receive two shots a month apart, prior to calving, to build immunity which is then transferred to the calf in the colostrum.

Consult your veterinarian for further information concerning calf scours, its treatment and control.

Some Cold Helps Trees

The ice and snow that irritate people during the winter are a source of distress for trees as well, but a little cold weather care can help to prevent winter injury to trees.

According to Dennis Adams, district extension forester in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, frost cracks and salt injury are two common winter problems.

A frost crack is a serious trunk wound which eventually may lead to internal decay of affected trees. Trunks split and cracks form when unequal expansion or contraction of the wood occurs during rapid freezing and thawing, Adams explained.

When the trunk is quickly warmed after exposure to low temperatures, the sapwood (exterior) region expands more rapidly than the interior regions of the trees. This results in an internal split which eventually extends out through the bark.

Frost cracks usually form on the south or southwest side of the tree because of the warmer temperatures of these exposures. External frost cracks rarely heal completely, since they reopen the following winter," he said.

Recent research indicates frost cracks usually originate at an injury point or an old wound, he continued. Wounds are responsible for differences in wood structure, and therefore differences in expansion and contraction properties. "For example, frost cracks are common on pin oak trees which have been treated for iron chlorosis with trunk implantations of chemicals. Frost cracks originate from the drill holes used for apply the chemicals."

Hardwood trees more often are damaged by frost cracks than conifers. Oak and ash are particularly susceptible as are most fruit trees.

Little can be done to remedy a frost crack, Adams said, but wound prevention will help reduce the chance of frost cracks forming. Wrapping trees with commercial tree wrapping paper may help prevent this damage, he said, and tree-wrap maintained through the growing season will also prevent borer infestations. Maintaining the tree in a healthy condition will favor wound healing and decrease the likelihood of internal decay.

A second winter concern is salt injury, Adams said. "Extra care should be taken when using deicing salts on sidewalks and driveways." Sodium chloride (NaCl) and calcium chloride (CaCl2) are the chemicals most commonly used to melt ice and snow around homes and on highways. "If these chemicals are applied near the roots of evergreen or hardwood trees and shrubs, or if they are washed into the soil at the edge of driveways, sidewalks and roadways, serious damage to vegetation may result," the forester warned.

Road deicing salt which contacts the foliage or is absorbed through the roots will cause a browning of the tree foliage on the side facing the roadway. The affected foliage of conifers may fall off in the spring, Adams said, but new growth will make the tree appear healthy again.

However, these trees will grow more slowly and remain stunted, and eventually may die if the damage continues in successive years. Hardwoods generally show a progressive decline in vigor, early fall color of foliage and branch dieback in the upper crown during the growing season following salt injury.

Injury from salt can be prevented by keeping salt runoff and salt spray away from shrubs and trees whenever possible, he advised. "Use abrasives such as sand or cinders for deicing walks and driveways around your home. And if trees are growing near roadways where injury is likely, construct ditches to carry runoff away from the trees." Temporary screens of plywood or burlap will help deflect salt spray from passing traffic, he added.

Farm Accident Fatality Rate Jumps Sharply

The Nebraska farm accident fatality rate in 1980 is alarmingly ahead of a year ago, an Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources extension safety specialist said last week.

Rollin D. Schneider said that as of mid-February six farm-related fatalities had occurred in 1980, the first fatality was not registered until early March, and the sixth fatality did not occur until almost mid-April.

Accidents involving tractor power takeoffs have loomed as deadly statistics, Schneider said. This type of accident had gone on to decline, but this year, power takeoff mishaps already have taken two lives, the specialist reported.

The combination of snow, ice, heavy clothing and an unguarded power line drive can add up to an accident, Schneider explained, warning that several weeks of bad weather could add to the potential for more power takeoff tragedies in late winter and early spring.

Removal of the open line drive on a tractor is courted disaster, Schneider warned farmers. Power takeoff accidents are among the most horrible, Schneider said, because of inflicting permanent, crippling injuries, if the person lives through entanglement with the equipment.

Four of the six fatal accidents in Nebraska so far in 1980 related

Iowa Governor To Be Speaker At Luncheon

Wayne County Republican Party Chairman Faye Mann announced that Iowa Gov. Robert Ray will be featured speaker at the 44th annual Founders' Day noon luncheon to honor outstanding Republican volunteers March 8 in Grand Island.

And, in spite of double digit inflation, the Founders' Day Committee has reduced the ticket price 25 percent this year to $7.50 per person.

Mrs. Mann said the annual event to honor the outstanding precinct worker, outstanding county chairman, outstanding Republican Federation woman, outstanding State Central Committee member and outstanding Young Republican, will include a joint meeting of the State Central Committee beginning at 9 a.m.

A special candidates forum will be part of the morning Central Committee meeting. Gov. Charles Thone, Congresswoman Virginia Smith, Congressman Doug Bereuter, the all Republican Statehouse team and other GOP officials and candidates will be attending.

Chet Paxton of Thedford is the senior president of this year's Republican Founders' Day. Other officers are Velma Rounsley, Omaha, senior vice president; James Wefso, Lincoln, junior president; and Darlene Noble, Holdrege, junior vice president.

Governor Robert Ray was one of Iowa's youngest Governors when first elected in 1968. He was re-elected in 1970, 1972, 1974, and 1978 and is now the nation's senior Governor in length of continuous service.

Ray has served as Chairman of the National Governors' Association and the Midwestern Governors' Conference. Last year, he was Chairman of the Republican Governors' Association.

WAYNE COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS
Wayne, Nebraska
February 19, 1980

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners met per adjournment with members Belermann, Eddie and Pospisil present.
Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.
Advance notice of this meeting was published in The Wayne Herald, a legal newspaper, on February 14, 1980.

Loren Park, Wayne County Superintendent of Schools met with the Board to request permission for the construction of a book case in his office to replace the old shelves in the office that are inadequate for storage. After a visual inspection the Commissioners were in agreement with his request.

A Public Hearing was held at 10 a.m. regarding the issuance of a Bottle Club License to Daniel and Joanne Gardner, dba Logan Valley Golf Course. There being no one present to voice objections or protests and no written affidavits had been received the motion was made by Pospisil and seconded by Eddie to adopt the following Resolution:

WHEREAS, Daniel W. and Joanne Gardner dba LOGAN VALLEY GOLF COURSE, of Wakarusa, Nebraska, has made application for a Bottle Club License under the name of LOGAN VALLEY GOLF COURSE;

WHEREAS, a Public Hearing was held on February 19, 1980 at 10 a.m. in accordance with Section 33-134, Paragraph 7, Revised Statutes of the Nebraska Liquor Control Act;

WHEREAS, Notice of said Public Hearing was published in The Wayne Herald at a cost of $6.08;

WHEREAS, no evidence was received, either orally or by affidavit, bearing upon the propriety of the issuance of above license;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, the Wayne County Board of Commissioners recommends the issuance of said license.

Roll call vote resulted in 3 Ayes and no Nays
Daniel Gardner, Joanne Gardner and Terry Baker of Wakarusa were present at the Hearing.

LaVern Schroeder, Wayne County Surveyor, met with the Board to discuss plans on surveying for construction of new roads or alterations in existing roadways for next year.

The following locations were selected as sites for the polling places for the 1980 elections:

Coalition For Life Meeting Set

The Nebraska Coalition for Life will hold its convention April 19 and 20 in Columbus, reports President Jerry Dorcey of Wayne.

Topics of discussion will be recent District and Supreme Court rulings on abortion; the planned expansion of abortion services in Nebraska; federal and state legislation and current election campaigns.

Dorcey said that while the convention had been planned well in advance, recent court rulings which allow federal and state funds to be used for abortions should make people across the state more aware of the need to become better informed and more active in the fight to protect human life.

The convention will be held at the Columbus Holiday Inn and pre-registration forms can be obtained by writing to the Nebraska Coalition for Life Office, Box 94, Gretna, Neb. 68028, or by contacting the local Right to Life Organization.

"AND WE'LL GROW UP AND GET MARRIED AND LIVE HAPPILY EVER AFTER IN OUR OWN HOME TOWN."

Maybe! It never hurts to plan ahead but their thoughts are not the ones that count. It's what we do in our own Home Town right now that will decide whether this young couple's dreams will come true! First, we must trade at home to build a strong economy. Second, we must actively support worthwhile community activities, churches, schools, and other activities so that our community is a livelier, more prosperous community in which to live. In this way we will also "live happily ever after in our own Home Town!"

Allen Area Residents Invited To Participate in Gong Show

Allen area residents are being invited to get their acts together for a Gong Show slated March 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the Allen school auditorium.

Proceeds from the show will be used to help defray medical expenses for Brent Chase, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident Feb. 15. Chase remains a patient in the intensive care unit in St. Luke's Hospital, Sioux City.

Persons wishing to enter an act in the show are asked to contact Mrs. Dean (Sandy) Chase.

Tickets for the show may be purchased in advance for $1.50 at the Farmer's Cafe, Allen Drug Store, Security State Bank, Cash Store, or at the school.

and reminded persons to register to vote in the primary.

The lesson, entitled "Save Your Heart," was given by Carmen Stewart. Mrs. Alan Hagland became a new member of the club.

The March 13 meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. in the fire hall with hostess Pauline Kariberg. The lesson, entitled "Quick and Easy Nutrition," will be given by Norma Warner and Dorothy Kier.

Meeting Slated

The Springbank Township Library will hold its monthly business meeting Saturday, March 1, at 9 a.m. in the library.

Complete Course

Several Allen residents completed 15 hours of training Feb. 18 to become Nebraska Affiliated American Heart Association CPR instructors.

Completing the course were Jerry Schroeder, Sam Knepper, Gene Lauritsen, Joy Rethwisch, Paul Snyder, Pete Snyder and Pearl Snyder.

Senior Breakfast

Allen Senior Citizens are planning a Leap Year Day breakfast at the Senior Citizens Center Friday, Feb. 29, at 9 a.m.

The meal will be prepared by the Farmer's Cafe, with each person attending paying for his or her breakfast. Reservations are to be made with director Joanne Rahn.

Mrs. Rahn said Senior Citizens also are planning to meet for a card party on March 6 at 7 p.m. at the center.

10 Attend Club

Ten members of the Royal Bagettes Club met Feb. 11 in Wakefield.

Three cakes were decorated for nursing homes, and Jean Douplik demonstrated how to make molded candy rabbits for Easter. Mrs. Douplik received the door prize.

Lunch was served by Dee and Nancy Pedersen.

Next meeting of the club will be March 24. Each member is asked to bring five decorated sugar eggs, which will be judged, with prizes awarded. The eggs will be sent to area nursing homes. Each member also is asked to bring cookies or sandwiches for lunch.

The club is planning to visit the House of Creations in Bancroft on April 14.

Officers Elected

Newly elected officers of the Allen Waterbury rescue squad are Capt. Bob Noe, Lt. Paul Snyder, secretary Connie Johnson and treasurer Bill Kier.

It was reported that the unit has 25 certified EMTA Card holders and four taking the EMTA training course.

Some of the EMTA members are participating in a 30-hour 10-week refresher course currently being held each Wednesday evening at the Allen fire hall.

Pilot Refresher Course Set

On March 5, there will be a VFR Pilot Research Course sponsored by the Nebraska Department of Aeronautics at the North East Community College Community Conference Room, Norfolk, from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

This evening course has been developed to give pilots an opportunity to review some vital aspects pertinent to every day flying.

Catholic School Kids Are Essay Winners

Editor's Note: The following essays are those of winners in the St. Mary's Catholic School essay contest entitled "What I Want From a Catholic School" held in honor of National Catholic School Week Feb. 4-8.

What I Want From a Catholic School

I want to be holy and a follower of Jesus. I want everyone to have each other in school. I would like to be very smart. I want a nice school with people who stickup for it. I want my children to come to a Catholic school.

Danny Wurdinger

The things I want from a Catholic School are education. I want to learn about Jesus and the saints. When I growup I want to be a good Catholic. I want to bring my kids up to be Catholics. I want my kids to go to a Catholic school. I want them to learn some of the things I'm learning. I want my kids to have a good education like I'm having. That's what I want out of a Catholic school.

Ted McCright

What I want from a Catholic school is a good education. An education that will help me out when I have to go out on my own. An education that will help me decide the right thing to do when I have to make my own decision.

From a Catholic school I also want religion. A Catholic school offers alot in the study of God.

From a Catholic school I also want to make friends that will last forever. I've met alot of people in this school and all of them are my friends now and I hope they will go on being my friend. And that's what I want from a Catholic school.

Laura Keating

I want to learn about Jesus. I love all the teachers and pupils. I want to make new friends. At first when I came I missed all my friends. But then, I got to like it more. If I ever wanted to be a teacher I would teach at a Catholic school. The only thing I would teach is religion. Someday I hope I'll be in heaven because of this terrific school.

Several May Be Eligible For Payments

People 65 or over, or blind, or disabled, who have little or no income and limited resources, may be eligible for supplemental security income payments. Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk said recently.

The idea of the SSI program is to provide monthly checks when they are needed so that people are assured of a basic cash income. Currently, Federal SSI payments can be as much as $208.20 to an individual and $312.20 to a couple.

Not everyone gets that amount in his or her SSI check. Some get less because they have other income, while others get more because they live in a state that adds to the Federal payment.

A disabled or blind person can get SSI payments regardless of age. Even young children can get checks if they meet the other requirements.

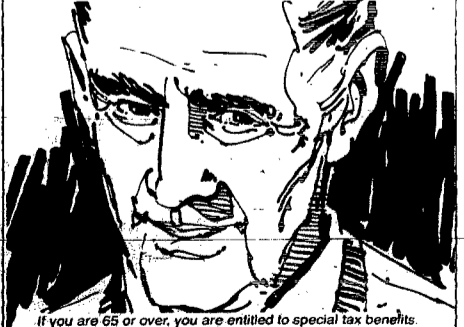

Eligibility based on blindness or disability depends on the severity of the person's condition.

SSI is not the same as social security, even though the program is run by the Social Security Administration. SSI money comes from general funds of the U.S. Treasury, not from social security taxes.

People who get social security checks can get SSI checks, too, if they are eligible for both.

More information about SSI can be obtained at the Norfolk social security office.

TEST OF REFILING ANNOUNCEMENT

On June 1, 1974, KWSC was granted a license by the Federal Communications Commission to serve the public interest as a public trustee. The KWSC license was renewed as of June 1, 1977 to broadcast until June 1, 1980.

Our license will expire on June 1, 1980. We must file an application for license renewal with the FCC at this time. When filed, a copy of this application will be available for public inspection during our regular business hours. The Public File contains information concerning this station's performance during the last three years and projections of our programming during the next three years.

Individuals who wish to advise the FCC of facts relating to our renewal application and to whether this station has operated in the public interest should file comments and petitions with the Commission by May 1, 1980.

Further information concerning the Commission's broadcast license renewal process is available at Room 14, 561 Peterson Fine Arts Center, Wayne State College, Wayne, Nebraska 68787, or may be obtained from the Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D.C. 20554.
