ONE HUNDRED FOURTH YEAR NUMBER FIFTY-FIVE

Sales Tax Vote Two Months Away

In slightly more than two months, voters will have a deciding hand in the financial direction of the city of Wayne.

A 1-CENT CITY sales tax option will be on the May 13 primary ballot — a tax option which City Administrator Darrell Brewington said in an interview Friday is needed to help offset an anticipated $184,000 city deficit for fiscal year 1980-81.

The City Council has given its approval to the tax option being placed on the primary ballot. The group voted several months ago after it became clear to them that some type of alternate financing was needed.

ACCORDING TO figures made available by Brewington, the city will face a deficit of approximately $185,562 next year.

Estimated revenues for next year are figured at $775,095, while estimated expenditures for the same period will be about $949,239, the figures show. This leaves a deficit of $174,144, but does not include a loss of $11,418 in revenue sharing funds. Total deficit: $185,562.

The major reason for this problem, he said, is inflation.

COMPARING THIS year's city revenues with next year's anticipated income, the city administrator provided the following figures:

Tax revenues for this year were $198,962 and will increase only about $14,000 next year as a result of the seven percent lid bill restriction. Other local taxes will generate $206,000 next year compared with $203,825 this year.

However, the city will lose some $5,000 from state revenue sharing coffers. In addition, the city will be without a $38,375 reserve which was depleted this year. Also, the cash balance will be only $5,216 next year compared to $39,000 this year.

After all of the additions and deductions are completed, the net result is a loss of $61,749 for fiscal year 1980-81 revenues.

EXPENDITURES for next year shape up as follows:

Salaries and benefits automatically will increase by 11.5 percent (4.5 percent merit raise and 7 percent cost of living raise) for a total requirement of $455,070 compared to just $406,985 this year.

Expenditures for contractual requirements (in the general fund) will show an increase of $12,868, commodities (items needed to maintain services) will increase $26,168 and capital outlay costs will jump $6,445 for a subtotal increase of $73,920 over fiscal year 1979-80.

THIS, COUPLED with a reserve requirement of $25,000, brings the total increase in required expenditures for next year to $112,350.

So, while estimated revenues for next year will fall some $61,794, expenditures will increase $112,350 for a total difference (or deficit) of $174,144. This does not include, as noted, the $11,000 loss of revenue sharing funds.

IF APPROVED, the sales tax will generate about $300,000 the first year as opposed to $200,000 through personal property tax, Brewington explained.

"That will allow us to decrease property taxes about 40 percent the first year," the City Administrator said. "The first full 12 months we'll be able to combine the sales tax and property tax, but after that it comes under the 7 percent lid bill."

AND AS THE sales tax continues to generate more revenue, the city will be able to reduce property taxes in subsequent years, he added.

"The key to me," Brewington said, "is that property tax is so regressive for government to use for a means of support. Hopefully, we'll get out of property tax, not only as a state but as a nation, eventually."

WITH THE SALES tax revenue, the city would be moving its funding requirements away from property tax and into sales tax, Brewington explained. "With the present 7 percent lid bill restriction, coupled with the inflation rate, it is impossible to continue the present level of services without additional revenue," he reiterated. Several steps already have been taken this year to maintain this year's level of services. Brewington said some items needed this year were deferred until next in order to provide a larger cash carryover from this fiscal year to next.

CITY EMPLOYEES have cut back on the number of meetings and seminars they attend, and have cut back on purchases and other expenditures. "With everyone taking part in the reduction, the city should fall short of the anticipated expenditures of $836,000 for this year, the city administrator noted.

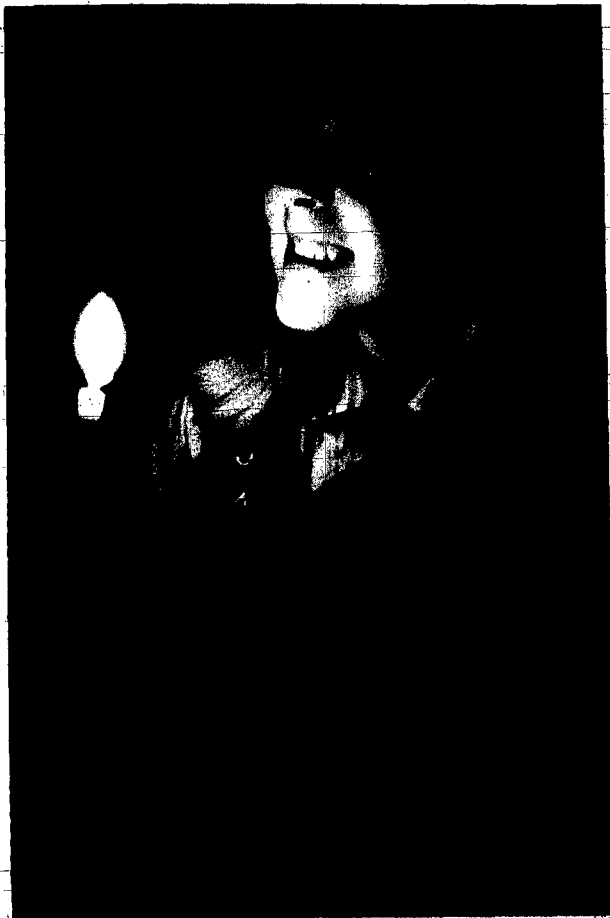

"This will give us a little more to start with next year," he explained.

ALL OF THESE problems are based on an inflation rate of 15 percent, but inflation is just galloping along," he reminded. Most recent estimates on some supplies the city needs is an inflation level of 18 to 20 percent.

The outcome of any voter rejection of the sales tax is a reduction in services and personnel, he reiterated. This would mean the city could get by on a limited budget for fiscal year 1980-81, but "we're going to have to do the same the following year because inflation is a compounding problem."

THE CITY administrator said that because inflation continues at an unabated rate, the budget will have to be reduced even more the next year. Each year, the city will have to reduce its services, if the tax option fails, to fill the money available, he said.

As to which services and personnel will be cut first, Brewington said the Council will have to make those decisions.

Salute to Girl Scouts

MARCH 9-15 is Girl Scout Week nationally, marking the founding of Girl Scouting on March 12, 1912. Area Girl Scouts join some 500 adult volunteers in Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council in celebrating their birthday. Theme for the week is "Girl Scouting: Where the Future Begins." Pictured holding a candle significant of the Girl Scout birthday is Wendy Korih, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Korih. She is a member of local Troop 304.

Wayne Not Only City Having Money Woes

The city of Wayne is not the only Nebraska community facing major financial problems in the coming years.

ACCORDING TO an article in the World Herald recently, mayors and other city officials attending the League of Municipalities meeting recently in Lincoln said finances — namely the 7 percent lid bill — were a major problem.

City Administrator Darrell Brewington said his ideas on Wayne's financial problems are quite similar to those discussed by other Nebraska city officials.

FOR EXAMPLE, the Blair city clerk said the 7 percent lid bill "eventually will show up in tax-supported functions because we are going to have a hard time meeting operational costs."

The North Platte city administrator said a combination of the lid and continuing inflation eventually will have to be reflected in the city's budget.

He also said that his city's sales tax option has helped keep the citizens from complaining. The city's bite on the homeowner for tax dollars has lessened while that of the county and school has risen, he said.

IN ADDITION to cutting the property tax, the sales tax provides a steady cash flow, he said.

City Manager Brewington said the following question and answer should help explain the city sales tax should it be approved in Wayne:

—How much will a one-percent city sales tax cost the per year?

LESS THAN YOU think. With the reduced property tax outlay, you will actually save money. Estimates of what your family's annual contribution will be to the one percent sale tax, based on authoritative 1977 IRS sales tax tables for a family of four are shown as follows:

Annual Income	What Your Family Would Contribute
$7,000-7,999	$39.47
$8,000-8,999	$42.67
$9,000-9,999	$45.67
$10,000-10,999	$48.33
$11,000-11,999	$51.00
$12,000-12,999	$53.47
$13,000-13,999	$56.00
$14,000-14,999	$58.33
$15,000-15,999	$60.67
$16,000-16,999	$63.00
$17,000-17,999	$65.00
$18,000-18,999	$67.00
$19,000-19,999	$69.00

Controversial Policy Issue On City Council Agenda

Engineering services and a policy recommendation involving potential conflict of interest will be one of the agenda items when the City Council meets at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the City Hall.

THE POLICY recommendation has generated some controversy among Council members, with some feeling City Administrator Darrell Brewington acted improperly in developing the policy.

Action on the policy, which is concerned with possible conflict between the city, its engineers and area developers, has been postponed twice. Council members have entered into executive session twice to discuss personnel matters connected with the policy.

OTHER AGENDA items will include discussion about a sewer line near Tara Ridge Subdivision, resolutions on awarding bids for a street improvement district, water extension district, sanitary sewer extension district, warrants on each of those, a resolution on the Nebraska Community Improvement Program and Community Recognition Program, a resolution amendment involving the baseball park and any other such business that may come before the Council.

College Board Hikes Fees

THE COST of attending school at the four state colleges will go up in 1980-81. The State College Board of Trustees, meeting in Lincoln Saturday, approved increases of between 6 and 12.4 percent in room and board fees for next year at the state colleges. These increases are in addition to tuition increases approved by the board at its last meeting.

WAYNE STATE students will pay between 5.8 and 12.4 percent more next year for room and board depending on the living options they choose.

John Struve, WSC director of finance, said the increases are necessary because of rising costs at the colleges.

"We have attempted to keep our costs to the students as low as possible and today's improved increases were kept to a minimum," Struve said. "We have to be realistic when looking at increasing costs today."

STRUVE SAID that when all increases approved this year by the board are examined, the typical resident student at Wayne State, enrolled for 15 hours, taking a 10-meal per week plan, and staying in a double room on campus will pay $654 per semester next year, up 8.5 percent from the current $603.

Combining that figure with required health, facilities and activities fees, which will also increase, WSC students will pay $997 total per semester next year, up about 7.3 percent overall from $929 this year. Similar increases have been approved for all four state colleges.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the board also approved leave of absences for two WSC faculty members. Music instructor Michael Palumbo will be allowed to continue working in 1980-81 on a doctorate degree and Dr. Neil Swanson, chairman of the business division, will be allowed to do advanced work during the summer of 1981.

The board also approved several measures regarding Wayne State grant applications including:

—The receipt of a $31,000 student incentive grant. The grant is to provide financial support to needy students attending WSC.

—A request allowing WSC to apply for $19,788 from the Nebraska Coordination Commission. The funds would be used for a program to assist Northeast Nebraska citizens in overcoming educational barriers.

—An application to the Nebraska Art Council for $62,500 to continue the Northeast Nebraska arts in the schools and communities program through WSC.

—An application to the Nebraska Art Council for about $7,500 for a new artist-in-school and communities program.

—An application to the National Endowment for the Arts for $7,600 for a residence writers program for Northeast Nebraska.

—An application for $2,000 to the Nebraska Committee for the Humanities for a program entitled "Food as a weapon: a moral implication for America." Pending approval of the grant, the program will be held at WSC later this year and will examine America's self image and its changing international role.

THE BOARD also voted to continue a contract with the Nebraska Book Company through March 1982 to provide bookstore facilities to WSC students. The next Board of Trustees meeting will be held in April at Chadron State College.

Allen Hearing Set

On the third try, and possibly last, Allen Waterbury High School Principal Dale Kennedy will have his forum.

THE BOARD OF education has set 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the high school as time, date and place for a public hearing requested by Kennedy several months ago. Kennedy, principal at Allen for about five years now, was notified after a December board meeting that his contract might not be renewed at the end of this contract year.

THE FIRST hearing was set for early January but was postponed after attorneys for both Kennedy and the board agreed to a delay. At the Feb. 11 board meeting, according to board of education minutes, Kennedy made an official request for a public hearing to be held Feb. 21.

However, a restraining order issued by Dixon County Judge Francis Knief Tuesday, Feb. 19, prevented the board from holding that meeting as well. Kennedy's attorney, George Hirschbach of South Sioux City, told the judge several witnesses for the defense would have to be subpoenaed.

IN THE LATEST developments, Kennedy told The Wayne Herald that teachers have been reluctant to testify in his defense and that a public hearing has no subpoena powers. In other words, according to Kennedy, no one can be forced to testify at his hearing Wednesday.

In addition, Kennedy said the board failed to consult him about the new hearing date and learned of the meeting "by the grapevine." He was concerned, he said last week, that the board chose Wednesday night which traditionally is church night in Allen.

NRD to Vote Next Month On New District Director

Due to the resignation of Val Peterson, formerly of Wayne, as Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District director at large, several applications for the post have been announced.

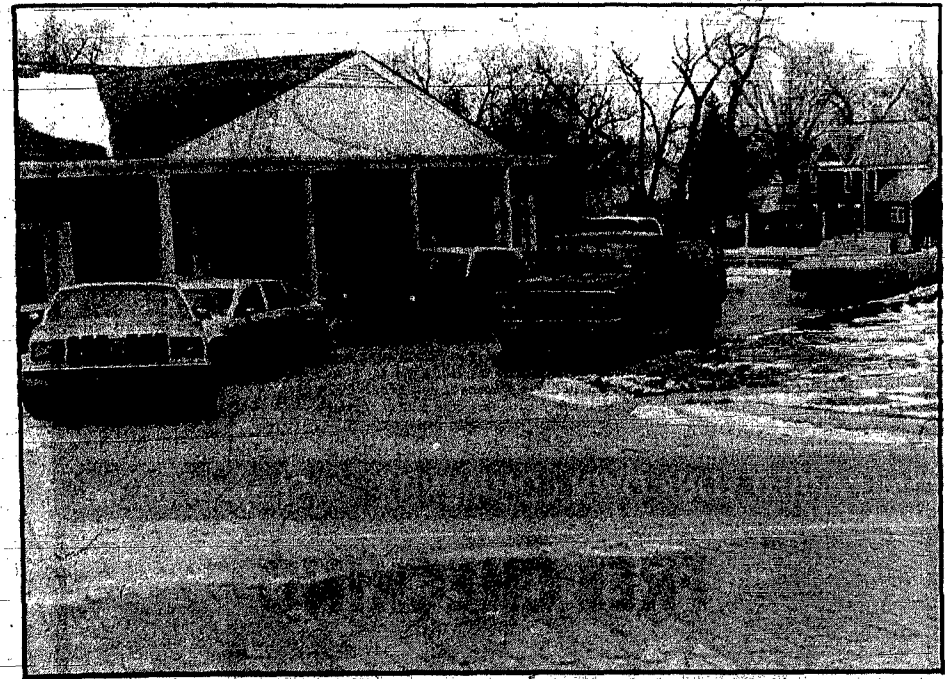

TWELVE PERSONS have indicated interest in serving the remaining three years of Peterson's four-year term. The applicants will be considered by the LENRD board at their April 24 meeting in West Point. They are as follows:

Lowell Hale, Meadow Grove; Robert Warwick, Meadow Grove; Tom Anderson,

Wakarusa; Timothy J. Boyle, Wayne; David Cooley, Wayne; Ornd Unkel, Battle Creek; David Zach, Wayne; Mark Sueper, Lindsey; Robert German, Pierce; Arthur Grove, Wakefield; Louis Sindelar, Howells; and Rose Ann Gall, Clarkson.

ONE APPLICANT must receive a majority vote of the LENRD directors present at the April meeting.

NRD directors across the state are elected to a four-year term by local voters in general elections. If a vacancy occurs, state statutes provide for appointment by the remaining directors of the board.

The Buck Starts Here

THE LINE AT Columbus Federal Savings and Loan Association here began to form well before 9 a.m. Friday in anticipation of getting a piece of some $190-million through Nebraska's Mortgage Finance Fund. Columbus Federal's Mike Carney said about $500,000 in loans had been applied for by mid-afternoon Friday. Betty Addison of Wayne Federal Savings & Loan Association said Friday was a busy one for her employees as well. No actual dollar amount was available from her Friday, although Mrs. Addison said she had received considerable amount of interest in the program. Wayne Federal allocated about $500,000, and five branches of Columbus Federal allocated some $1.94 million, say they will have limited funds available for several days. The finance fund was established to assist low and moderate income families in purchasing a home. Interest rate on the money was 10.75 percent.

Sudbeck Appointed To Region IV Office

John Corcoran, executive director of the Region IV Office of Developmental Disabilities in Wayne, recently announced that David G. Sudbeck has been appointed as the director of special services.

Sudbeck carries much valuable experience to his new position, as he has been employed by Region IV for five and one-half years. In 1974, he was hired as an instructor at the Bloomfield Adult Developmental Center (ADC), and was promoted to ADC coordinator in July of 1975. In November of 1975, he again advanced to become the Area Director of Region IV Services — Bloomfield.

In his new position, Sudbeck will serve as the coordinator of in-service training for Region IV staff members, and will serve as the behavior management specialist for Region IV Services, providing consultation services to the seven area programs. He also will serve as coordinator of several regional committees. His direct working experience with clients and his management experience on many levels make him a valuable asset to the Region IV Service programs.

About his transition within the regional system, Sudbeck commented, "One of the things I found most stimulating and rewarding as an Area Director was building the program to a point where 27 staff members were working cohesively as a group, and I would expect some continuity in that my experiences as an area director will overlap into this position. I will attempt to create a cohesive unit among the seven area programs and staff persons with whom I will be working."

The Region IV Office of Developmental Disabilities is one of six regional offices in Nebraska providing community based services for mentally retarded individuals. Region IV service agencies are located in Wayne, South Sioux City, Bloomfield, Columbus, Norfolk, Lyons and O'Neill. The Region IV central administrative offices are located in Wayne.

THE WAYNE HERALD

Editorial

Just to Set the Record Straight. . . .

Richard L. Leshner, President
Chamber of Commerce of the United States

In 1976, while campaigning for the presidency, Jimmy Carter was asked what his economic priorities would be. In a startling and most revealing response he said: "I'd . . . take my chances with inflation if I had to." He did. Today, four years later, the rate of inflation has nearly tripled, and the latest Consumer Price Index shows inflation rising at an annual rate of 18 percent.

Carter admits this disastrous situation has reached the "crisis stage." But he claims "The basic policies that we have espoused suit me fine." Rather than get involved in any second guessing, let me simply present Mr. Carter's own arguments, followed by what most economists agree are the facts. Then you be the judge.

Carter on inflation: "This is a world wide, awful basic problem," due largely to skyrocketing oil prices. The U.S. is "caught up in circumstances over which we have very little control."

Item: The U.S. imports less than half its oil, with, as noted, a rate of inflation currently increasing at an 18 percent clip. But West Germany and Japan, which must import nearly 100 percent of their oil, both have inflation rates of less than 7 percent. Switzerland, which imports all of its oil, actually saw its January inflation rate drop from 5.2 to 5.1 percent.

Carter on spending: "We have had a tightly restrained budget," and "there is no waste in it that we could possibly eliminate."

Item: Federal spending during the last three fiscal years has shot up by 40 percent. It will increase this fiscal year by nearly 15 percent, a rate exceeded only once, (1967), in the past 25 years.

The President's proposed budget for fiscal 1981 shows an increase in federal spending of 16 percent from his originally proposed 1980 budget of $532 billion. Joseph Pechman, a respected liberal economist from the Brookings Institute, labels it "fiscally irresponsible." A top official from the Congressional Budget Office finds "very little evidence" of any constraint.

Item: A recent report by the General Accounting Office concludes total dollar losses from fraud and abuse could go as high as 10 percent of all programs — i.e. approximately $50 billion. GAO even admits: "Opportunity for defrauding the government is virtually limitless."

Carter on the size of the federal bureaucracy: ". . . we have lowered the number of federal employees 20,000 below what they were when I came here."

Item: Official figures from the Department of Labor show the number of federal employees has increased by 58,000.

Carter on the deficit: "We have slashed the deficit down substantially."

Item: Carter's estimate excludes federal borrowings which are officially classified "off budget," but which are still directly financed by the Treasury. It includes assumed budget reductions that are nonexistent. In reality, economists believe the deficits for fiscal 1980 and 1981 could be at least $35 billion higher than the Administration publicly admits. Significantly, these high deficits have been occurring in a period of peace, relative prosperity and high employment — a time when, historically, budgets should be in surplus, or at least in balance.

Carter on taxes: "We've been successful in reducing income taxes since I've been in office."

Item: Tax receipts in 1979 increased by approximately $400 per return. Overall, individual income taxes during the past three years increased at one of the fastest rates in post war history. Since 1977, receipts from personal income taxes have jumped over 50 percent — a rate of increase far exceeding that of either wages or prices.

Item: In other areas, Social Security and oil excise taxes, Mr. Carter has proposed and won approval for bigger tax increases than any President in peacetime history. He has opposed efforts to: Reduce individual tax rates, index tax rates, reduce taxes on savings, reduce taxes on investment, reduce taxes on capital gains and reduce inheritance taxes on family businesses.

So, it would seem that there is either an inability or an unwillingness of the President and his advisors to understand inflation. The President has been fed bad policy and false rhetoric. It now appears that Congress is going to try to come to grips with the real source of inflation — federal spending — with or without participation by this administration. If this happens, consumers, taxpayers, labor and business will all benefit.

In Wayne, Pierce, Cedar, Dixon, Thurston, Cuming, Stanton and Madison Counties: $10.79 per year, $7.99 for six months, $4.16 for three months. Outside counties mentioned: $13.00 per year, $10.00 for six months, $8.50 for three months. Single copies 15 cents.

We must be gluttons for punishment. The "How Do We Bug Thee" comments have been coming in piecemeal, and what they've had to say is anything but casual. Since we are bound by our promise not to print them in their entirety, we'll provide a few excerpts to give readers an idea what other readers don't like about The Wayne Herald.

One was critical of an ad that appeared on the Sports Page some time ago selling underwear that's funtawear, while another felt we were being negligent in covering the goings on in city government.

Three were related to the Senior Citizen Center and were quite critical of its management and our coverage of the group, saying we were not telling the true facts.

One asked why we didn't print maiden names of brides in our wedding accounts, while another said we treated our criminal news unfairly, playing favorites and managing the news rather than reporting it.

A couple of readers felt there was too much sports, one was unhappy because we print letters to the editor without signatures, another was critical of our farm page and farm-related articles, while yet another was critical of the editor picking up gossip items after formal meetings are over.

One person provided several good feature and general news suggestions for stories.

The pied typer is 1 for 1 on the battlefield through all of this, too. One person said rah, rah for the pied typer, while another said I should go back to Missouri because that's where all the jackasses live.

Well, so much for having friends, I guess. And now a few responses, not as a defense of what we do but as an explanation.

The policy of the paper on letters to the editor is that we will print a letter with the author's name withheld by request. The letters have to be, and they all have been, signed to me, however.

There have been a few letters sent that were unsigned. After a congenial waiting period to see if the author would call and wonder what happened, they ended up in the wastebasket.

Personally, I prefer that the letters be printed only with the name attached. However, we must recognize a person's right to free speech and his or her right to express opinions without threat of reprisal.

Besides, we might never get letters to the editor if they had to carry signatures in the paper.

Good point about the farm news, but the vast majority of the information on farming is sent to us by The University of Nebraska or Iowa State University agricultural departments.

We trust they are far more knowledgeable about such matters than we. "For farm related articles, you come out sounding pretty dumb," one person said. We don't do the farm articles, so we're unsure what the gentleman wants.

We were a little surprised about criticisms of criminal proceedings and city hall. The complainants did not specify which instances they referred to, so we're going to review our news over the last nine months.

One of our readers was concerned because we don't print bankruptcy proceedings. That is a problem, because such filings must be in federal court and the closest federal court for Nebraska, as I understand it, is Omaha.

We have no way of accurately knowing who files bankruptcy without calling federal court each week. Of course, there are always rumors about different businesses in financial trouble, and we have called Omaha on numerous occasions to verify these reports. Not one has been true as yet.

All in all, the "How Do We Bug Thee" comments have been helpful. We have picked up a few good ideas, have implemented one (larger church notes) and are considering others.

Since most of the complaints were not specific, we'll try to take an overall look at what we have done and are doing and possibly make some changes. At any rate, we thank you for your concern.

We call your attention to a story on today's front page dealing with a city sales tax issue voters will decide May 13.

It is an important issue and should be given careful and rational consideration. All signs point to a city deficit of some $185,000 next fiscal year, and voters will be given a choice.

The alternatives are clear: Choice No. 1 — the sales tax, which will help reduce city property taxes by between 35 to 40 percent; or Choice No. 2 — a reduction in services and personnel, with Council members deciding where to make the first cuts.

The Wayne Herald has not taken a stand on the issue as yet, although we're sure some readers will think we have. We are obligated to present the facts and will do so. Our ears are open to anyone who is in support of or in opposition to the sales tax.

An ancient remedy for toothache was to eat a mouse.

The longest throw in baseball history was the achievement of one Sheldon Lefebvre, who on Oct. 12, 1910, threw a baseball a distance of 426 feet, 9 1/2 inches. This is well over the average distance from the center field fence to home plate.

LORI BURBACH

Miss Burbach is an honor roll student at Wayne High, where she participates in the choir and is a flag girl for the marching band. She has played high school volleyball for three years, participated in track two years, and has been a member of the basketball team for one year.

Her hobbies include dancing, water skiing, camping and horseback riding.

She is being sponsored by several Carroll businesses, including the Farmer's State Bank, Howard McClain Oil Co., Kavanaugh Feed and Trucking, Contestants will be judged on scholastic achievement, leadership, citizenship, poise, personality and personal appearance. There is no swimsuit or talent competition. In addition, each contestant will recite a 100 word essay on the subject, "What's Right About America."

Mrs. Baier prepared a luncheon of stuffed ham rolls and cheddar cheese soup, which was served by the hostess, along with a sherbet dessert.

President Mrs. Gilbert Krallman conducted the March business meeting, which opened in unison with the Nebraska Home Extension Club Creed and the hymn "Were You There?" The birthdays of Mrs. Irene Geeve and Mrs. Orville Nelson were observed in song.

Workshop Focuses on Stress

Residents of Wayne, Dixon, Cedar, Stanton and Madison Counties were among the 35 persons who attended a one day workshop on coping effectively with stress, conducted Tuesday at the Northeast Station, near Concord.

Presenting the workshop was Hermann Witte, Ph.D., director of behavioral psychology at the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha.

"Stress management is basically self-mastery," stated Dr. Witte, adding that it is done through identifying and changing self defeating and self destructive thinking.

Throughout the workshop, Dr.

Witte emphasized the difference between "stressors," which are stress causing events and situations, and "stress," which is the emotion or feeling resulting from stressors. Stress management then is the ability of a person to control the manner in which stressors affect his emotions or feelings, said Dr. Witte, assuring workshop participants that through practice persons can learn to control how life's events affect them.

Dr. Witte also made reference to "thin skinned" and "thick skinned" persons. Thin skinned are those who have difficulty coping with life's situations, while thick skinned are those who have good coping abilities, he explained.

Attending the workshop were Carol Baier, Mary Nichols, Diane Glassmeyer, Becky Wilson, Marie Hagemann, Irene Mohlfeld, Karen Wiseman, Mavis Luff and Kathryn Luff, all of Wayne. Bonnie Hirschert and Helen Dalton, both of Dixon, Janet Yost of Hartington, Pat Meierhenry of Hoskins, Sharyn Baldwin of Sioux City, Mr. and Mrs. Don Sprick and Nancy Reinhardt, all of Pilger, Edna Rieck of Newcastle, Beverly Broderson of Coleridge, James Larson of Stanton; Mr. and Mrs. Allan Anderson of Norfolk, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Borg, Teckla Johnson, Irene Magnuson and Nicki Newman, all of Concord, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Armstrong, Mrs. John Schweers, Linda Kasning, Marilyn Temple and the Rev. and Mrs. Nile Buch, all of Ponca, and Anna Marie White, Area Extension Agent.

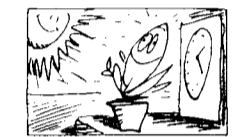

The workshop was conducted under the auspices of the International Stress Foundation. Arrangements were made by Anna Marie White, Area Extension Agent, Northeast Station, Concord, as a part of the Home Economics Extension Program.

Auxiliary Hosting Government Day

The Wayne American Legion Auxiliary will host County Government Day, scheduled April 3 at the courthouse in Wayne.

Students from Wayne and Winside High Schools will be visiting county officials that day for a working insight into county government.

Date for the annual County Government Day was announced when 12 members of the Auxiliary met last Monday evening with President Shirley Wagner at the local Vet's Club.

The meeting opened with the advancing of the colors by Marguerite Hofeldt and Emma Soules. Chaplain Marie Brugger read the opening prayer, honoring the 61st birthday anniversary of the American Legion.

Americanism chairman Marie Brugger read an article, entitled "Women in Uniform for Service." Communications chairman Mary Kruger reported that several members of the auxiliary met at the Vet's Club Feb. 25 to make St. Patrick's Day centerpieces and trays for the Norfolk Veterans' Home, along with 160 napkins and eight lap robes.

Women helping make the centerpieces and favors were Shirley Wagner, Mrs. Glen Ellingson, Marguerite Hofeldt, Linda Grubb, Marie Brugger, Louise Kahler, Helen Siefken, Mary Kruger and Eveline Thompson.

Eveline Thompson, community service chairman, announced that a bingo party will be held at the Norfolk Veterans Home at 2 p.m. April 11.

It also was announced that the District III convention will be held March 16 at the high school in Emershon.

Leadership development chairman Helen Siefken gave a reading, entitled "The Birth and Growth of the American Legion and Auxiliary."

A letter was received from Mrs. Eldon Shores, department veterans affairs chairman, reminding auxiliary members to keep track of their home service hours. The local auxiliary received literature and materials for Poppy Day, slated in May. Department children and youth chairman Delia Spolstein encouraged the auxiliary to send in its report on local children and youth programs.

A donation was made to Carvill magazine.

Chaplain Marie Brugger read the prayer for peace, followed with the singing of "America," accompanied by Evelyn Carlson. Shirley Wagner closed the meeting with the retiring of the colors.

The group sang the "Birth Day" song in honor of the American Legion. The birthday cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Arnold Junck. Women on the serving committee were Mrs. Eveline Thompson, Mrs. Merton Hillton, Mary Christensen and Helen Sommerfeld.

Next meeting will be April 7 at 8 p.m. at the Vet's Club.

Weaving Workshop Slated

Instructors will be Gail Korn of Wayne, who has produced award-winning off loom weaving; Bev Henkel of Norfolk, also accomplished on the loom; and Karen Tutty of South Sioux City, who has taught on and off loom weaving for 17 years and has entered and won national competitions across the country.

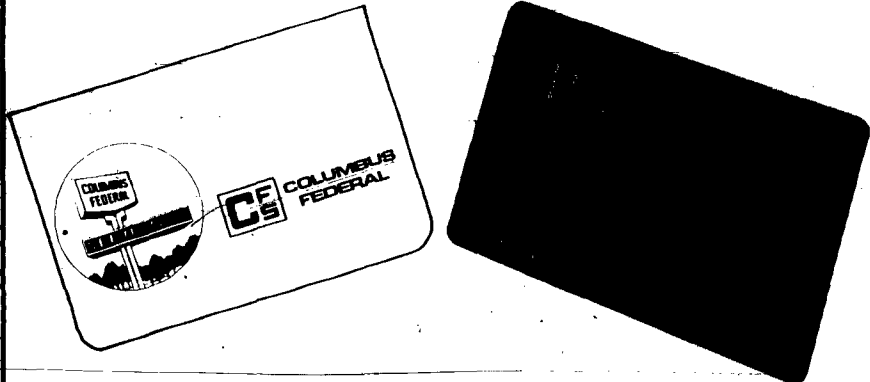

A spokesman for the Arts Council said persons taking part in the class will be offered the widest possible exposure to all types of weaving.

Pre-registration is required by March 15 by calling the Wayne Regional Arts Council, 375-2335, or 375-3615. Location of the classes will be announced when participants pre-register.

Record Setting Sumner Dismantles Eagle Machine

Any strangers who happened to wander into the village of Allen Thursday would have thought the normally quiet community was a ghost town.

That's because most of the 309 proud residents had evacuated their homes to watch the Allen girls make their second state tournament appearance in three seasons. Unfortunately for the avid basketball fans, their vacation in Lincoln lasted only one day.

Sumner-Eddyville-Miller, top seeded team in the Class D tournament and ranked fourth in the state, gave the normally potent Eagles a lesson on the Lincoln High court by whipping the Northeast Nebraskans 76-39. In addition to the landslide victory, the Mustangs also broke two state records.

In the waning seconds of the game, sophomore Colleen O'Neill dribbled across the half court line and let fly a wild two handed shot that proved to be more than a final blow to Allen's ego. The shot banked in as the horn sounded and set a new state record for most points scored by a team in one game.

Sumner's 76 points nipped the old all class record of 75 set last year by Plattview and shattered the Class D mark of 60 set by Adams last season. The combined two team scoring of 103 points set another record.

The 18-0 Mustangs looked like state champions against Allen, outrebounding the Eagles 35-16 and scoring 26 of their 34 baskets inside the eight foot range. They completely dominated the offensive boards. Allen coach Dale Jackson was definitely impressed with the Mustangs.

"They have state championship material there. They're by far the toughest team we've seen this year," said Jackson. "Sumner was hot today and their rebounding never gave us a chance to get going offensively." Then after reevaluating the situation, Jackson added, "We had a pretty successful season just to get here."

The Eagles had upended previously unbeaten and top ranked Decatur in districts and reached the state tournament by defeating Humphrey in regional playoffs. Their win streak came to an end against Sumner, completing Allen's season with a 10-8 record.

Allen had its fate sealed early as Sumner scored the final nine points of the first quarter and the first six of the second period to take a 23-4 lead at one time. The long dry spell was broken when Des Williams connected on an 18 foot jumper.

Michelle Anderson, Nancy Wiseman and Tammy Barth—all 5-9—led the offensive boards and scored 19, 17 and 14 points respectively for the winners. Stacey Koester led scoring honors for the Eagles by hitting 13 points.

Lisa Erwin, who entered the tournament as the fifth leading scorer among the 32 teams, managed only 10 points, eight below her average. She also ranked 14th in the rebounding department entering the game.

Even when Allen improved in the third quarter, the Mustangs just doubled their output to pull away further. Freshman Pam Kavanaugh gave Allen fans an optimistic preview of what to expect in future years when she entered the game and scored two quick baskets.

Randy's Recap

According to Randy Hascall

PEOPLE WHO CALL about "too much sports" will soon be much happier. The long winter sports season is officially ended in The Wayne Herald's coverage area. The Wayne boys' basketball team was defeated in district play and the Allen girls lost in the first round of state competition last week.

I've often wondered why people don't complain to their school board about "too much sports". After all, I don't make the sports; I only cover them. But then I suppose some of these people would rather read local gossip than learn how the young people of their community are growing and progressing as human beings.

FOR THE FIRST time in over four months, high school coaches and athletes will have a chance to spend some time with their family. Free rights should come more often than once a week to parents, athletes and coaches now that the longest sports season has ended.

The rest period between seasons won't last long however. Spring sports season is (to repeat an already overused saying) "just around the corner". Soon students and coaches will be outdoors competing in track, baseball and golf.

Practice for those sports has already begun in some high schools and has been underway at Wayne State College for a long time. In fact, the WSC track team has competed in several meets and the baseball team has played seven games on its southern tour.

If Mother Nature is willing, actual competition at the high school level will begin during the last week of March and continue for the remainder of the school year. Let's hope the spring weather is much nicer than it was last year.

In between seasons, winter sports "wrap-ups," all area team selections and spring sports previews will fine the sports pages.

WITH THE EXPANDED fields in the NCAA and NIT basketball tournaments this season, no respectable basketball team should be forced to stay home. The NCAA tourney expanded to include 48 teams and the NIT includes 32 teams.

Theoretically the top 80 major college teams in the country are invited to a post season tournament. Who does that leave at home?

I like to watch good college and high school basketball games but don't enjoy many professional games. The new cable station from Atlanta is a blessing for a true fan of collegiate basketball. The station televises games from the Atlantic Coast Conference and Southeastern Conference and the brand of basketball in those leagues is super.

When I wasn't out covering basketball games or wrestling meets this past four months, I often watched Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, North Carolina State, Virginia, Kentucky, LSU or even Alabama on the tube.

With teams presently active in the NCAA tournament, I look for Duke, DePaul, Louisville, Kentucky, LSU and Indiana to fight for the national championship. I'll pick Kentucky to surprise the other teams in the field by emerging as the winner over favored DePaul.

WSC Jump Rope-A-Thon Wednesday

Wayne students will get the jump on heart health during their Jump Rope-A-Thon for Heart, being conducted throughout Nebraska during March 1980.

Wayne students from Wayne State College will participate in the Jump Rope-A-Thon (March 12) at the Wayne Auditorium according to the following school coordinators:

Students from over 150 Nebraska schools will be making jump ropes to improve their heart health and aid the American Heart Association. Nebraska Affiliate's programs of research, education and community service.

Jumpers will form six member teams who will secure pledges for each minute jumped by the team during the maximum three hour period. Each member will jump until firing and then pass the rope to another member.

The Jump Rope-A-Thon is designed to encourage young people to start health habits like exercise early which will hopefully result in a healthier adult life.

The event is sponsored by the Nebraska Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation (NAHPER) and is endorsed by the Governor's Council on Health and Fitness.

For more information, contact the Heart Association or the coordinator at your participating school.

Apply for Youth Conservation Corp

Applications for enrollment in the 1980 Nebraska Youth Conservation Corps (YCC) are now available from local sources according to the Game and Parks Commission's Linda Schrock, YCC State Administrator.

Applications and recruiting brochures have been mailed to all high schools, Nebraska Job Service offices, minority organizations, and offices of the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission. But, applicants should first seek applications and information from their schools, Schrock said.

The program, sponsored jointly by the Departments of Agriculture and Interior, will employ young people ages 15 through 18 for 8 weeks during the summer to do conservation-related work on public lands throughout Nebraska. Camps and projects in the 1980 program will be operated by federal, state and local agencies offering approximately 300 positions statewide.

Federal camps will be located at Chadron, Scottsbluff, McCook, and Valentine. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service will operate a non-residential camp at DeSoto National Wildlife Refuge near Missouri Valley, Iowa, and by special agreement with the State of Iowa, half of the enrollees for that camp will be recruited from the state of Nebraska. In addition, camps are under consideration for Macy, Santee, and Winnebago under the sponsorship of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

The Nebraska Game and Parks Commission will operate camps and projects at Beatrice, Chadron, Kearney, Lexington, Lincoln, Omaha, and Schramm State Recreation Area near Gretna; and the City of Lincoln Parks and Recreation will conduct a seven-week session on parks in Lincoln. Schrock said the program will consist of 50 percent females and 50 percent males and will pay $3.10 per hour.

YCC members will receive the federal minimum wage for 30 hours work per week. Another 10 hours each week are devoted to environmental awareness training for which the students will receive no pay. For the education portion of YCC, corps members will be recommended by the Nebraska State Department of Education for consideration of granting academic credit from their school.

Since the number of applications exceeds the number of available positions, all applications will be forwarded directly to the National YCC Computer Selection System where participants will be selected by random process. Selection will be made in early April and all applicants will be notified of their status.

Applications must be postmarked by March 15, 1980.

Wildlife Week March 16-22

"Save A Place For Wildlife," is the National Wildlife Week theme for 1980, scheduled for March 16-22. Governor Thone officially proclaimed Wildlife Week in Nebraska by signing the 1980 Wildlife Week Proclamation.

An estimated 40,000 or more students, teachers, and youth group members are expected to take part in Wildlife Week activities in Nebraska, while over 15 million are expected to participate nationwide.

Information kits are available to school instructors and youth leaders. The kits contain a theme poster of two red foxes, a 16 picture poster featuring and describing other animals, a teacher's guide full class activities, discussion topics, word games and other interesting involvement activities.

Information kits are free to anyone interested by writing Wildlife Week, P.O. Box 30370, Lincoln, Nebraska 68503, or call (402) 464-0641 (ext. 175) and ask for a free National Wildlife Education Kit.

Blackburn Leads Cats to Fifth Place

Ed Blackburn sprinted to first place in the 60 yard hurdles and followed that up with a second place finish in the 220 yard intermediate hurdles as he led Wayne State's track team to a fifth place finish in the NAIA District 11 meet, Saturday (March 1).

Blackburn won the 60 hurdles in a time of 7.8 seconds to edge out Nisley of Doane College. Nisley, in turn, nipped Blackburn by one tenth of a second in the 220 hurdles, winning in 25 seconds flat.

Joe Ormeier was the next highest finisher for the Wildcats, placing third in the high jump with a leap of 6.2. Dave McNeil finished fourth in the pole vault with a height of 14.0 and Arid Johnson placed fifth in the 800 yard run with a time of 1:59.0.

Wayne State placed fourth in the two mile relay and fifth in the one mile relay to round out the scoring. Kearney State won the seven team meet.

Team scoring: Kearney 87 1/2, Doane 72 1/2, Chadron 30 1/2, Concordia 19 1/2, Wayne 19, Midland 15 1/2, Hastings 11 1/2.

Beat the Energy Crunch

Vacation in Nebraska and Save

by Jim MacAllister
Nebraska Game and Parks Commission

Everyone looks forward to that annual vacation when it's off to that favorite hideaway, or to somewhere new and exciting. And, on most vacations, getting there can be half the fun... but not when getting there means spending the money you wanted to spend when you got there!!!

This year, consider a conservation vacation! Conserve energy and save money by seeing Nebraska, and still enjoy the vacation time you earn and deserve. There are any number of first rate leisure time opportunities within a tankful of gas, of your home, right here in Nebraska!

Last year, Nebraska's ninety plus state parklands received over seven million visitations, equivalent to each resident Nebraskan spending nearly five days in a state park or recreation area. And that's easy to do, for Nebraska's natural and recreational resources offer many diverse adventures for vacation fun.

History

Historic Nebraska is rich, and varied in themes. You can follow the pioneer trails west from Rock Creek Station to Fort Kearny and Ask Hollow State Historical Parks, and on to Chimney Rock and Scotts Bluff National Monument. Discover our military heritage at Forts Atkinson, Hart sulf, Niobrara, and on to Fort Robinson State Park and the great Pine Ridge vacationland.

Trees - Water - Wildlife

Trees of Nebraska, from Arbor Lodge to Halsey's manplanted national forest on the prairie, and the autumn splendor of the Missouri River forests from Indian Cave State Park to Lewis and Clark Lake, play an important and beautiful role in Nebraska's ever changing scenery and geography. Water has often been called Nebraska's most valuable recreational resource, and there's over 280,000 acres of natural or impounded lakes and ponds, and nearly 24,000 miles of rivers and streams in the state.

Canoeing in Nebraska is a popular family pastime on many rivers, including the Niobrara, Elkhorn, Big Blue and Platte. Even this month, the largest concentrations of sandhill cranes and white-fronted geese in North America can be found in Nebraska's central Platte River Valley, stopping for several weeks on their annual spring migrations northward.

Over 1,400 Turkey Permits Still Remain

More than 1,400 spring shotgun turkey permits remained after the first round of applications and will be available for the second round beginning March 1, according to the Game and Parks Commission.

About 200 permits will be available in the Niobrara Unit, 1,185 in the Round Top area, and 63 in the Wildcat Unit. Applications for the Verdigris and Southwest units exceeded the number authorized for those areas, and a February 22 drawing will decide which applicants get the permits.

The second round of applications is open to all Nebraskans over 16, and those over 14 who will be accompanied by someone 21 or older when hunting. The shotgun season runs from April 19 through May 11, while the archer season runs April 1 through May 11.

Information on turkey permits and application forms are available from Game and Parks Commission offices in Lincoln, Omaha, Norfolk, Bassett, Alliance, and North Platte, as well as from some 1,200 permit vendors across the state.

Fish Available To Stock Ponds

Landowners with newly built or renovated ponds may be eligible to receive largemouth bass and bluegill fingerlings free of charge if their ponds meet certain basic requirements, according to reports from the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission.

The fish are made available each year on a first-come, first-served basis after all needs of the state's public waters have been supplied. Applications for the fish must be received by the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission by June 1 to be considered for stocking during this year.

Ponds that have suffered extreme winterkill may also be considered for restocking. If landowners observe large numbers of dead fish in the spring, they should fill out an application and fisheries personnel will make an on-site inspection to determine whether the lake needs to be restocked and if it still meets guidelines necessary for fish survival.

To be eligible to receive the fish, ponds must be one-half acre in size or more, with at least one-quarter of the pond having water 10 or more feet deep. At the time of stocking, there must be no other fish present, and ponds smaller than four acres a portion should be fenced to keep out livestock. Acceptance of the fish doesn't mean the lake is automatically open to the public however, and landowners still maintain control over who may fish the pond. Fisheries personnel stress that adequate harvest is necessary to maintain good populations.

Pond owners may get more information and necessary forms from the Fisheries Division of the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, 2200 North 33rd Street, Box 30370, Lincoln, Neb. 68503.

Boaters are Needed To Instruct Programs

Competent boaters are needed to serve as voluntary instructors in the Game and Parks Commission's boating safety program, according to Andy Nielsen, the Commission's boating law administrator.

All class material will be provided, including films, slides and instructor manuals. After instructors are certified, they will receive certificates suitable for framing, stating that they are qualified to participate in the boating safety program, according to Nielsen.

This is an opportunity to help people learn to operate a boat legally and safely and thus reduce needless boating accidents," he says. Hunter safety instructors with knowledge of boating could easily double as boating safety instructors.

Nielsen suggested anyone interested in becoming a volunteer instructor should contact Nielsen at the Game and Parks Commission headquarters, 2200 North 33rd St., Lincoln, Nebraska 68503 or phone (402) 464-0641.

USDA to Purchase Some Wheat, Grain

Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland announced the U.S. Department of Agriculture will buy wheat and corn suspended from shipment to the Soviet Union.

"Friday, the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) began offering to buy wheat. Purchases will continue until a quantity equal to that suspended from shipment to the USSR has been removed from the market," Bergland said.

The classes of wheat purchased will be based on P. L. 480 program needs. Offers will be accepted at prevailing market prices.

"Our plan is to use the wheat bought by CCC for overseas food assistance programs. To this end it is essential Congress approve legislation requested by the administration to establish a food security reserve so the quantities acquired can be transferred to that special food reserve," Bergland said.

Bergland said a direct purchase program would also be implemented for corn. This will complement the incentives already announced to encourage increased participation in the farmer-owned reserve, he said.

"Since Jan. 7, an additional 3.3 million tons of corn have entered our farmer-owned reserve program and thereby have been isolated from the market. We are continuing to encourage farmers to place additional quantities of corn in the reserve program."

"However, to achieve our goal of removing all of the corn once destined for the USSR from the market, we will begin making offers to directly purchase corn. The first offer will be made by the middle of this month and bids will continue on a regular basis. Acceptances will be made based on prevailing market prices," Bergland said.

"These actions will help fulfill the commitments we made to producers to offset the impacts associated with the suspension of sales to the USSR," Bergland said.

Offers to buy the grain will be made by the Kansas City Commodity Office of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The Journal has a special commitment to covering the news in and about Southeast Nebraska.
From across the nation and around the world, the Journal brings you news and pictures via Associated Press, United Press International, New York Times Service and a variety of other news and feature services.
Nebraska sports — from the Cornhuskers to the high schools over the State — come to you in the Journal from writers regularly at the games and in the locker room. A full menu of feature articles is presented in the impact section of the Journal, dealing with youth, consumer interests, food, home-making, entertainment and leisure activities.
And on the Journal's widely-acclaimed editorial pages, you'll get an offering of provocative opinions from Journal readers, a large pool of syndicated columnists of all political hues, and the Journal's own analysis and commentary on State, National and International issues affecting Nebraskans.
Along with all this are an abundance of such wide-ranging features as Sylvia Porter and Ann Landers, Mike Royko and Art Buchwald, James Kilpatrick and Max Lerner, and Peanuts. In the Sunday issue, add nationally-distributed Parade Magazine and staff-produced Focus, including the weekly TV program preview section.
By-mail offer in Nebraska and Northern Kansas outside Lancaster County 5 weeks $4.00 Daily; 3 weeks Sunday $2.50; a year $41.00 Daily; Sunday $25.00.

Where the Future Begins

To be a Girl Scout does not mean just another activity sandwiched in between school and clubs for the girls of our community. Active membership in the Girl Scout organization can be a springboard to a significant involvement with people, with the community, and with the world of the future.

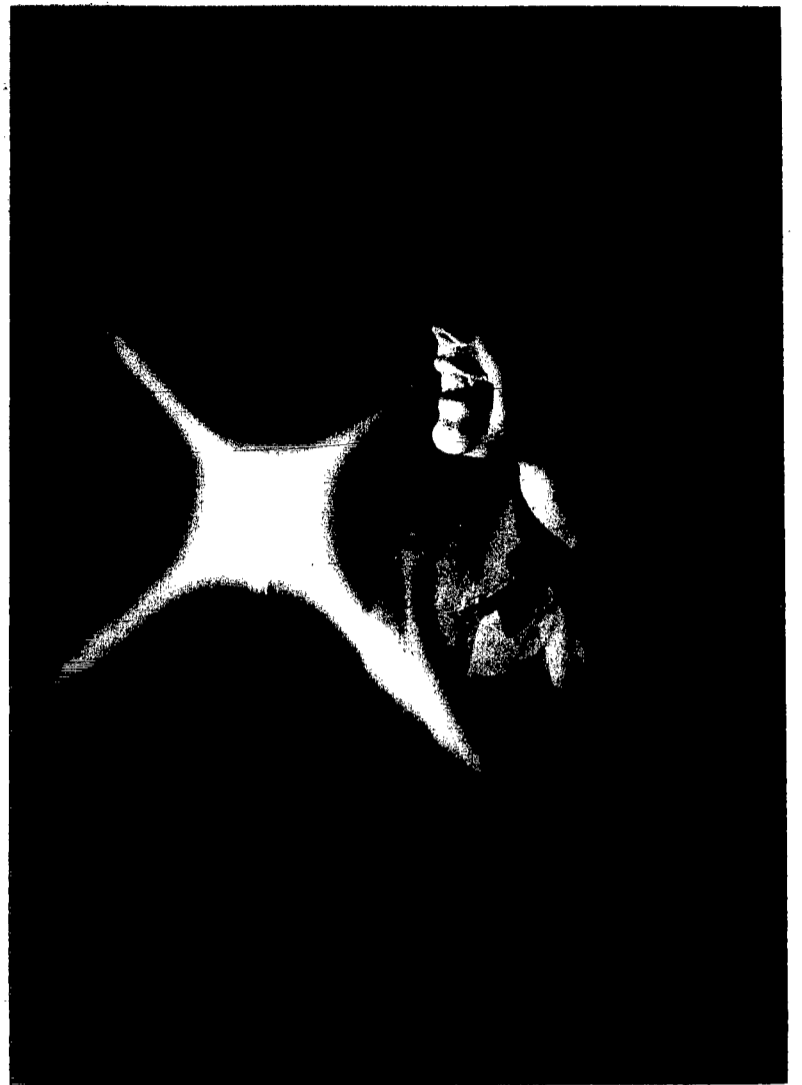

Girl Scouting's contemporary program is built on a foundation of proven values and is designed to help a girl make intelligent choices for herself, her career, her future. What her future can be is up to her: she can be an astronaut, a plumber, a dockworker, a home manager — anything is possible. Strengthened by the program itself, Girl Scouting brings to each girl an awareness of her own personal worth and a chance to grow as an individual.

March 9-15, 1980 is Girl Scout Week, and more than three million Girl Scouts and adult volunteers will be celebrating the 68th anniversary of Girl Scouting in the United States. We congratulate the Girl Scouts of our community on this occasion and wish them well. Their contributions, past and future, to the well-being of this community are sincerely appreciated.

We urge you to join with our local Girl Scouts in this celebration.

Girl Scouting works to achieve a future as bright as the faces of the girls themselves.

Truly, Girl Scouting is "Where the Future Begins."
