Employment Survey Here

A sample of households in this area will be visited by Bureau of the Census interviewers during the work week of April 14-19 to conduct the bureau's monthly survey of employment and unemployment.

Leo C. Schilling, director of the bureau's Regional Office in Denver, said households in this area are part of a sample of 84,000 across the country scientifically selected to represent a cross section of all U.S. households.

The monthly survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor and provides a continuous record of activity in the labor force. The February survey indicated that of the 104.3 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 98.0 million were employed. The Nation's unemployment rate was 6.0 percent, compared to 6.2 percent in January.

Wanted: Funds to Buy Rescue Box

WAYNE VOLUNTEER FIRE Department is still in need of funds to help purchase an emergency rescue equipment box similar to the one pictured above used by the Spencer Fire Department. Officials of the Wayne Fire Department say about $4,500 has been raised, but another $5,000 is needed. The chassis for the truck has been purchased with funds supplied by Rural Fire District No. 2. The special emergency box is being fitted to the chassis by a firm in Minnesota and the entire vehicle is expected to arrive any day. The unit will be equipped with emergency rescue equipment and will respond on every fire and accident call. It will not, however, act as a rescue unit since that responsibility will remain with Providence Medical Center. Those wishing to donate to the fund can contact Sitman or send a check payable to Emergency Truck Fund in care of Dennis Spangler, Wayne Volunteer Fire Department.

U.S. Economy To Be Subject Of Local Talk

The current status of the U.S. economy will be examined in a talk on the subject by economist Dr. Craig MacPhee scheduled for 1 p.m., Wednesday, April 9, at Wayne State College.

MacPhee, a professor of economics at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln (UNL), will examine the effects of inflation on the average citizen and will answer questions citizens may have on current economic trends.

Cliff Ginn, WSC associate professor of political science, said the event, sponsored by the WSC Public Affairs Institute, is designed to provide easy to understand answers to difficult questions on the economy.

"With the inflation rate running in double figures and with the deteriorating situation, it is hard for people to understand what is really happening," Ginn said. "The talk is designed to help area citizens gain answers to questions they may have and to make them more knowledgeable on our current economic status."

The event will be held in the Birch Room of the WSC Student Center and is open free for public participation.

Sales Tax Group Possible

A committee which would provide factual information regarding the proposed one percent sales tax option to be voted on May 13 is in the process of being formed.

AN INFORMAL meeting of several community leaders and one Council member met Thursday night at the City Hall to discuss plans. Although no committee was formally established, another meeting is scheduled tonight (Monday).

Council members volunteering their input at the last Council meeting were Cliff Ginn, Keith Mosley and Sam Hopburn. Only Mosley attended Thursday's meeting, with the other two missing because of conflicts. Pros and cons of the sales tax, which would generate an additional $300,000 and would be used to offset an anticipated budget deficit of $184,000 next fiscal year, were discussed.

CITY ADMINISTRATOR Darrell Brewington said the additional revenue will allow the city to decrease property taxes about 40 percent the first year. And as the sales tax continues to generate revenue year after year, the city will be able to reduce property taxes in subsequent years, he said.

Based on projections of 15 percent inflation and continuation of the 7 percent lid bill, Brewington says the city's deficit will be some $185,562 next fiscal year.

Estimated revenues for the same period are figured at $775,095, while estimated expenditures for the period will be about $949,239. This leaves a deficit of $174,144 but does not include a loss of $11,118 in revenue sharing funds.

THE MAJOR REASON for this problem, he said, is inflation combined with a state imposed budget restriction of 7 percent.

Inflation compounds year after year. If $200,000 is cut from the budget this year, and inflation continues at 15 to 20 percent, then the budget will have to be pared another $200,000 the next year in order to maintain the same level of services, he explained.

"It will cost more next year just to buy the same manpower and material that we had this year," he noted. The city as a business is no different than those downtown, he said in addition, "the lid bill will not allow the city to increase property taxes above 7 percent of last year's tax. This means we must have additional revenue if the city is going to provide the citizens with the normal services."

IF THE SALES tax does not pass, man power and services will have to be cut. Every department would be reduced somewhat, but the non-essential departments will most likely suffer the most, he explained.

Non-essential departments, as listed on a hand-out sheet at the Thursday meeting, include recreation, swimming pool, parks, senior citizens, library and donations.

"But all departments would be reduced," he explained.

BASED ON 1977 Internal Revenue Service sales tax tables, an average family of four will save more money with a 40 percent deduction of city property tax than they will pay out in a year for a one percent sales tax, the city administrator noted.

He added that the Mayor and Council are pledged to reduce the property tax by the 40 percent amount if the sales tax referendum passes. Also, the seven percent annual increase in the property tax, allowed under the lid bill, will not be added on, he said.

THE MARKET value of the average Wayne home is listed as $40,000 and after ad

Several Cities Will Vote on Sales Tax Issue

The city of Wayne is not the only community in Nebraska to be considering a sales tax option. Others facing financial bites because of runaway inflation and the lid bill are the following:

- May 13 Primary Election - Alliance, Arselmo, Ansley, Arnold, Ashland, Beatrice, Broken Bow, Chadron, Comstock, Cozad, Gordon, Gothenburg, Kimball, Lewellen, Lexington, Mason City, Merina, McCook, Nebraska City, Ogallala, Oshkosh, Ralston, Sargeant, Scotts Bluff, Sidney, Wahoo, Waverly, Wayne
- Nov. 4 General Election - Norfolk

justment for tax purposes is $14,000 (35 percent of $40,000 as per state law requirements).

The city property tax at 10.5 mills, based on the $14,000, is $147. If the sales tax issue passes, the property tax will be reduced by 40 percent or $58.80, leaving a balance of $89.20 and a net savings of $58.80.

On the other hand, an annual one percent sales tax impact on a Wayne family of four would result in the following expenditures:

Income	Sales Tax
Under $8,000	$37.00
$8,001-$10,000	$43.00
$10,001-$12,000	$48.00
$12,001-$14,000	$53.00
$14,001-$16,000	$58.00

Council Will Tackle Conflict Policy Again

For possibly the final time, the City Council Tuesday night will consider a recommendation by Mayor Wayne Marsh involving potential conflict of interest among the city, its engineer and area developers.

THE COUNCIL will meet in regular session at 7:30 p.m., at the City Hall with a resolution on engineering services to be considered.

A resolution carrying the recommendation of City Administrator Darrell Brewington was considered several months ago, but Council members tabled any action citing legal reasons. The recommendation has been considered and rejected in various forms at subsequent Council meetings.

A RESOLUTION submitted at the last regular Council meeting in March was tabled again after City Attorney Kem Swartz informed the Council that the resolution, in effect, called for restraint of trade among engineers. He is to have corrected the error, and redrafted the resolution for Tuesday's meeting.

Other agenda items will include consideration of an ordinance involving a quitclaim-conveyance, a resolution citing Earth Day 1980, discussion on a comprehensive study involving the electric distribution system master plan contract; a presentation by the Mid-Elkhorn Council of Governments, appointment of a member to the board of adjustments, a maintenance agreement with the Nebraska Department of Roads, discussion of city stop and handicapped parking signs and any other such items that may come before the Council.

Public Forum Is Planned For Senate Candidates

Five candidates seeking the 17th District State Senatorial seat will participate in an open forum at 7:30 p.m. Monday, April 21, in the Wayne Carroll High School Lecture Hall.

SPONSORED BY the Wayne County Monday Mrs. Extension Club, the forum will include a panel representing the media, parents and farmers.

In addition, voters of District 17 will be given the opportunity to ask questions on any subject with which the Legislature deals. Everyone is invited to attend including representatives of education, farm groups, businessmen, senior citizens, etc.

SHARON CORBIT, who is co-chairman of the project with Wilma Moore of Wayne, said the Extension club hopes to provide a public service so voters in the area will have a better understanding of how the candidates stand on various issues.

Dean Craun from Wayne Radio KTCH will be moderator with panel members to include Dan Field from The Wayne Herald; John Anderson, rural Wayne, from the Farm Bureau; Sharon Corbit and Mark Bomert from KTCH. Others may be added later, Mrs. Corbit explained.

THE FORUM WILL open with questions from panel members followed by audience participation.

Candidates for the Senatorial seat held by retiring Sen. John Murphy of South Sioux City include Fredrick Mann and Gerald Conway of Wayne; Merle Von Minden and Edwin Fahrenholz of Allen; and Eugene O'Neill of South Sioux City. All are expected to participate.

Gardeners Should Plan A Defense for Demon Weeds

by Don Spitze
County Ag Agent
(Editor's Note: This material is adapted from information published in the "Weed Science Newsletter" and from an article by John Furrer, Extension agronomist, University of Nebraska at Lincoln.)

The final flurry of snow hopefully is behind us, the grass is beginning to green up, tulips and daffodils are pushing through the moist earth and thoughts are beginning to turn to gardening.

BUT WITH gardening and hot weather come weeds, the most bothersome aspect of having a garden. Here follow a few tips which may help area gardeners control the pesky weeds.

There are three main methods of weed control in home gardens — mechanical, mulch and chemical.

THE FIRST method, an old one and still a good one, is mechanical. This involves using a hoe or some push-type cultivator with an undercutting blade, Spitze said.

Mechanical weed control doesn't have to be performed at great depths. Tilling one or two inches deep is sufficient.

MULCH IS another effective method of controlling weeds. It not only prevents weeds but also conserves moisture and provides winter protection.

The most common mulches are straw, old hay and straw manure. Grass clippings, plastic and newspapers also often are used. Spitze recommends that grass clippings are free of herbicides.

Clippings should not be used for mulch for two cuttings after lawns are treated with commonly used broadleaf weed killers. Black plastic should be used instead of clear plastic, he added.

ASPARAGUS, rhubarb, tomatoes, potatoes and brambles are garden plants most adaptable to mulching. However, he added, if properly applied, mulches can be effectively used on almost any garden crop.

The County Ag Agent also provides a word of caution: using straw or hay that has weed seeds in it can cause a future problem. Try to use straw or hay that is relatively weed free.

CHEMICALS CAN control weed problems which mechanical and mulch methods do not.

Spitze has provided a list of chemicals to use for garden weed control. These were selected because of their availability, potential and usefulness on a wide variety of crops and maximum safety to the user.

PRODUCT: DCPA — Dacthal 75W (planting time application): Can be used on asparagus, dry or snap beans, broccolli, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, greens such as collard, kale, mustard and turnips, onions, potatoes and strawberries.

Amount of product: For proper control, about three quarters of a cup of Dacthal 75W should be used in a sufficient amount of water to cover 1,000 square feet, or 3 1/2 level teaspoonful in a sufficient amount of water to cover 100 square feet (2 feet by 50 feet of row.)

Remarks: Apply at seeding time to a weed-free soil or directly over transplants. Follow directions on label for use of granular products. Apply one half inch of water by sprinkler irrigation after application for best results.

PRODUCT: DCPA — Dacthal 75W (after plant establishment):

Crop: Crops that can be treated after they have been established include cantaloupe, cucumber, eggplant, head lettuce, pepper, squash, sweet potatoes, tomatoes and watermelon.

Amount of Product: Same as for Dacthal 75W applied when seeds are planted as discussed above.

Remarks: Apply four to six weeks after transplanting or seeding. Plants should be well established and weather should be favorable for growing. Vine crops should have four to five true leaves. About one-half inch of water should be applied by sprinkler irrigation after application for best results.

PRODUCT: Trifluralin — Treflan ED or granular.

Crop: This chemical can be used on dry, lima or snap beans, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, carrots, collard, kale, mustard or turnip greens, okra, peas, potatoes after planting, tomatoes, most vine crops such as cucumbers, melons and squash after emergence.

Amount of product: one half to three quarters of an ounce in sufficient water to cover 1,000 square feet.

Remarks: For most crops, immediately incorporate in the soil before planting. On potatoes, apply and incorporate after planting. On vine crops, work into soil after emergence. Do not apply near waters which contain fish. Follow label directions for use of granules.

PRODUCT: Bensulfon Prefar 4E. Crop: Carrots, cucumbers, melons, onions, peppers, squash, cole crops such as broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower and tomatoes.

Amount of product: 4 1/2 ounces in sufficient water to cover 1,000 square feet. Remarks: Preplant and incorporate immediately.

PRODUCT: Chloramben — Amiben (A) and Vegiben (V)

Crop: Asparagus (A), lima beans (A), pumpkin (A), squash (A), sweet potatoes (A), cantaloupe, (V), cucumber (V) and snap beans (V).

Remarks: Pre-emergence. Apply one half inch of water by sprinkler irrigation after application for best results.

PRODUCT: Simazine — Princep. Crop: Asparagus, sweet corn.

Amount of Product: Six level tablespoons in sufficient amount to cover 1,000 square feet. Remarks: Before crop emerges or in fall on asparagus.

ON SWEET CORN, commonly used field corn herbicides such as AAtrex, Atrazine, Sutan plus, Lasso and Simazine (Princep) can be applied. Bladex is registered for use on field corn only.

On potatoes, Sencor/Lexone is used among the most readily available herbicides. Use either pre-emergence or post-emergence, use one half ounce per 1,000 square feet. This rate controls grass and broadleaf weeds. Dacthal, Treflan one Eptam are also registered for weed control in potatoes. The Eptam rate is 1 1/2 ounces per 1,000 square feet. Eptam and Treflan are most effective on grass weeds.

SPITZE SAID that regardless of whether a gardener chooses to use mechanical, mulch, or chemical weed control methods, or some combination, it is important that weeds be controlled throughout the garden season.

Has Spring Finally Sprung?

A SURE SIGN OF SPRING? One would think so when Gordon (Jug) Jorgensen of the 4th Jug breaks out the window washing equipment and under takes the pleasant task in a short sleeved shirt. After a brief reminder of winter Wednesday and Thursday, temperatures returned to normal ranges of 50's and 60's over the weekend. Although some rain showers were predicted sometime Sunday, it was believed neither Jug nor the Easter Bunny would get their feet wet.

A Look At the Soviet Grain Embargo

Richard L. Lesh, President
Chamber of Commerce of the United States

Congress has declared that a sound agricultural sector requires a minimization of restrictions on exports of agricultural commodities and products. However, it has cited three situations in which export controls on commodities can be applied: Reasons of national security, foreign policy and short supply.

Responding to the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan and citing reasons of national security and foreign policy, President Carter directed on Jan. 4, 1980, that United States shipment of wheat and corn to the Soviet Union be limited to eight million tons during the 12-month period ending Sept. 30, 1980. The President also directed that exports of other agricultural commodities to the Soviet Union be suspended.

What has been the impact of his decision? Let me share some information with you provided to me by Clarence Palmy, former assistant secretary of agriculture for international affairs under President Nixon, and currently vice president of public affairs for the Continental Grain Company.

I should note that under the terms of a five-year bilateral agreement between the United States and the USSR, we are committed to ship eight million tons of wheat and corn to the Soviets each year. Additional amounts can be shipped after consultations between the two governments. As of Jan. 4, the date of the President's announcement, about five million tons had been shipped, and we had authorized the Soviets to purchase up to 25 million tons of corn and wheat for shipment during the current 12-month period.

That said, let's look at the effectiveness of the embargo. First, no other grain exporting country has agreed to embargo grain exports to the Soviet Union. Some major exporting nations have agreed to not increase their exports to that destination. Other mafor exporting countries have announced that price will determine the destination of their grain and oilseed exports.

Second, according to official and private estimates, the Soviets will import from other origins about 50 percent of the grain not allowed to be shipped from the United States. This availability of other grain will coincide with their short-run seasonal requirements, and will go far in filling the gap prior to their own new crop harvest. Also the United States will increase its exports of grain to other destinations, and it will be difficult to prevent those countries from then shipping our grain to the Soviets.

Third, the Soviets will likely increase their importation of soybean meal and soy beans as a supplement to grain for livestock rations, thereby improving feeding efficiencies for their livestock and further minimizing the impact of the embargo.

One way to verify these developments is to monitor prices. For example, following the President's decision to embargo exports, a two-tier world market price has developed for corn: One, the United States price which has traditionally been the world price; and two, a higher price for corn or other origins eligible for destination to the Soviet Union. This means that an additional volume of world grain is now being traded in the world market isolated from the United States price system, which has traditionally functioned as a global system.

The administration estimates the cost to taxpayers of the grain embargo could run as high as $3 billion. That is what the government will have to pay to keep domestic prices from dropping lower than they were before the embargo. Other estimates predict the costs will be much higher than $3 billion. Thus, one must at least question the effectiveness of a decision that, to date, has resulted in lost markets for farmers, higher costs to taxpayers, but apparently little, if any, reduction in the total quantity of grain arriving in the USSR.

Trade relationships offer great possibilities for long term cooperation. They are not easy to establish and maintain, hence they should not be turned on and off to suit current political whim. But it's even worse to penalize the American farmer, and the American taxpayer while accomplishing so little with the Soviets.

One of Wayne County's Extension Clubs, the Monday Mrs. group, has taken upon itself the task of providing voters with as much information as possible about Senatorial candidates for District 17.

Sen. John Murphy is retiring from that office and five Northeast Nebraskans have filed as a replacement.

The Monday Mrs. Club is sponsoring an open forum for candidates, all of whom will be questioned on several issues by panel members and by the audience. A story on Page One provides more information about the forum.

We would hope for a good turnout at the event, which is scheduled April 21. The audience will have as much time to ask questions as is required. Everyone will get a chance to ask questions, Extension Club members said.

By sponsoring the event, voters will have the chance for a one-on-one relationship with the candidates. There won't be any reason for anyone not knowing a particular candidate's positions.

More than likely, however, the turnout will be poor and voters will find a rash of topics to complain about after the election. That is human nature. Let's hope I'm proven wrong.

"As a rule, we believe the people of Wayne County appreciate the efforts put forth by the paper published at the county seat to give them not only as good, but a little better than the average country paper. But once in a while there is a kicker who finds fault and says there is nothing in it and that the publishers are lazy, careless, or don't know how to get up good readable papers."

"Of course, the kicker could do much better; his own career in life is usually a living demonstration of the marked ability he possessed for the doing of everything else. Oftentimes we are led to wish some of these smart ones could be given just a month's try at the newspaper business and were compelled to face the result of their work for the six months following; the probabilities are that after they had one experience of this kind they would have much greater respect for the fellows who are compelled to go through the grind fifty two weeks a year."

"It is not a snip to get up a good country paper every week. It means sick or well you must push, quiz, coax and beg for news, look out for delinquent subscribers, keep your advertising columns filled with pay stuff, have copy for the compositor and money to pay the bills Saturday night."

"It is not a path strewn with roses, neither is it one where thorns are always pricking the traveler, but simply a business proposition and like all other lines of business is a success or failure just as the man behind the pencil and the business management make it."

The preceding is reprinted from the Jan. 26, 1905 edition of The Wayne Herald.

My Dad moved up in the world of rototillers last year, and the Field Family of Wayne, inherited the used model. It was in need of some repair, so small engine expert Jim Granquist gave it the once over and it purrs like a sewing machine (a three-horsepower one, at that).

The weather seems to be cooperating and we've picked a nice variety of produce with which to stuff our faces and freezer this summer. But we need some garden space. Any offers?

We were chatting with Airport Manager Al Robinson briefly last week, and learned some interesting facts.

General aviation, the use of private and non-commercial aircraft, is fast becoming an efficient and practical mode of transportation.

In addition to being more economical than the automobile, it is far less time consuming. For instance, it takes a minimum of six hours to drive to Kansas City. You can fly there and back in about four hours.

The flight of several Pioneer Seed Co. personnel to Iowa from the Wayne airport last week was a good example. How else could Pioneer transport 34 of its dealers and customers across an entire state for a seminar and back in one day?

Users of general aviation are charged by the air hour, not the total number of hours a plane is gone from its destination. In other words, if a plane trip is two hours and the plane sits six hours, the charge is for two hours.

Robinson maintains through facts and figures that general aviation is the transportation of the future.

Now if we could just talk our bosses into giving us huge discounts on air transportation, we'd seriously consider using it in the future.

Dear Editor:
I think the WSC (Wayne State College) students should be thanked publicly for the dance they sponsored Saturday night at Rice Auditorium. It was for the community. They had Eddie Haddad's orchestra with all the music of the "Big Bands." It was great! They served popcorn and punch and it was all free.
Thanks to all of you students. We really enjoyed it.

I was reading your article about the spelling bee Monday. In the last paragraph you told how the words were spelled and how they were misspelled by the spellers. You had the correct spelling of linesse wrong. It is spelled L I N E S S E. You spelled it F I N E S S.

I was disappointed to see that only the Wayne boys who won medals in the Jaycee kids' wrestling tournament were pictured and named in The Wayne Herald.
I know pictures of all would be impossible, but would like to have seen the names of the medal winners from surrounding communities mentioned. They worked hard for any recognition they might receive.

Dear Editor:
I am writing this letter to all the patrons of the Allen school district in defense of our bid petition under the local option tax control act LB2.
Let it be known that everyone who signed this petition now full well what he was signing and read the petition before he signed it. To circulate a petition without explaining it and having the potential signer read it is against the law. Only after the petition was certified by the Dixon County Clerk and served on the school board secretary did people suddenly claim they didn't know what they were signing. Why? What happened to change their minds only after the petition was certified?
Another item of interest is why wouldn't the Dixon County Clerk furnish me with the number of registered voters in the school district, break them down by township and finally wouldn't give me the number of signers needed for our petition to be successful and place the issue on the ballot? Also why did I have to obtain the correct information from the budget for the petition from the state auditor's office?
This petition is a local effort with only a copy of Nebraska City's petition to go on. No one has furnished one red cent to support us and no one from anywhere else has been to this town to back us. This is an entirely local effort. Can the people of Wayne, Laurel, Newcastle, Falls City, Lincoln, Broken Bow, Valentine, Nebraska City and Omaha be wrong if we're all wrong which we are not. There are lid petition drives reported under way or soon to be underway in these school districts. Also Falls City is holding an election May 13 and Omaha and Nebraska City are already under a local lid.
A local lid can easily be removed by election if the people so desire.
If some people are so worried about costs and wasting money in our school let them explain why they always back up the huge spending and unneeded items in the school budget. Also let them explain who carries all the school insurance policies and how much they cost the school. Can they explain why the school has over $233,000 in a passbook savings account at 5 1/4 percent in interest instead of drawing 10 to 15 percent in interest. How can they justify the huge surpluses carried over each year by the school? Can they justify the unneeded spending for items such as carpeting going on now in the school?
Why is it also the people who yell hardest to leave the school taxes and spending as is or yell for more frills despite the cost have either contracts with the school, relatives on the payroll or finally some owe back personal taxes or pay little or no taxes?
Yes, taxes are a burden for everyone who pays them but it's time for self tightening on the government's part not the taxpayer. This can be done by eliminating extra staff and trills and by just doing some good managing.
Finally with interest rates for borrowing at nearly 20 percent and another revaluation of over 10 percent or more, how do those who support the present situation explain when the money to pay these taxes is going to come from?

Also, let them explain this with a school valuation of over 11 million dollars and another 30 percent or over 3 million dollars being added will the taxes and spending go down? The answer is no, the spending will be even higher. On 160 acres at the present mill levy and the new valuation, taxes will jump $200 or more. On 320 acres it may be as much as $400-$500 higher. If the mill levy goes up it will be even higher.
Finally let those who hold these so called public anti lid rallies know if they are held in public buildings under the open meetings law the public can attend, not just a selected few by invitation only.

A Windfall What? Take Another Look

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
By M.M. Van Kirk,
Director of Information

Those who think government controls and bureaucracy can provide the answers to the nation's problems of inflation, energy shortages, etc., should look at what is coming from Congress in the way of the "Windfall Profits Tax Act."

The majority of Americans probably agree with the concept of taxing the profits of the oil corporations because politically a "windfall profit tax" has a good sound to the voters. Unfortunately, the bill (H.R. 3919) as passed is not a simple matter of taxing oil company profits. It has been made extremely complicated and will create a bureaucracy that will devour much of the revenues it is supposed to capture.

The windfall profit tax is an excise, or severance, tax on domestically produced crude oil. Taxable oil is to be taxed in one of three "tiers." Tier 1 consists essentially of oil which would have been lower or upper tier oil had previous price controls been continued. Tier 2 consists of oil which is stripper oil or production from a National Petroleum Reserve. Tier 3 oil consists of newly discovered oil, certain heavy oil and incremental tertiary oil.

For each tier, the taxable windfall profit will be the difference between the selling price of the oil and the adjusted base price, minus an adjustment for the state severance tax on the windfall profit.

Retreat at St. Mary's

NEARLY 50 YOUNGSTERS OF ST. MARY'S Catholic School in Wayne, the Wakefield Elementary School, and Rural School Districts 51 and 57, attended a children's retreat Wednesday at St. Mary's School. The youngsters, who are all members of St. Mary's Parish, spent the day viewing a film, singing, reading and presenting plays, all designed to help them learn to follow Jesus. The youngsters also made handmade symbols representing actions they can do to help them become more giving and loving. In the photo at right, little Assisting her were teachers from St. Mary's School and volunteers, including Mary Kay Otte and Ellen Wrieder, both of Wakefield, and Cheryl Hall, Joan Sieler and Margaret VonSeggern, all of Wayne.

Enjoys Easter Lily for Years

Easter lilies are usually thrown away after they have finished blooming. However, with proper care and a little luck, Easter lilies can be enjoyed for years.

Don Steinegger, extension horticulture specialist at the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, says the bloom of an Easter lily can be prolonged by keeping it in a cool, draft-free spot that gets lots of bright light. Night temperatures of around 60 degrees F. are best.

Keep the soil moist, especially if temperatures are high. Dry soil and high temperatures shorten the blooming period.

"When you first get your lily, be sure to punch a drainage hole in the bottom of the pot," says Steinegger. "Then when the top soil gets dry, water thoroughly so water drains out the bottom of the pot, but do not leave it in standing water."

The specialist said that after the bloom opens, remove the anthers—the yellow pollen sacks in the middle of the flower—to help prolong the life of the flower.

Continue to feed and water the plant after it blooms, Steinegger says. The leaves make food for the bulb to use to make next year's flowers. When the foliage turns yellow, stop watering and store the pot in a cool, dark place.

After the danger of frost is past, Steinegger says to knock the soil ball loose from its pot and plant it in a well drained, sunny area in the garden. "The bulb should be covered with six to eight inches of soil from the top of the bulb to the surface," Steinegger says. "It will rest until mid summer, when it will send up new growing shoots. If the fall frost is late, it will normally rebloom in September and again the following June."

Steinegger says not to forget to use a mulch on the lily during the growing season to keep the ground cool and it will also protect it over the winter.

If you want to rebloom your lily for the following Easter, dig the bulb up in the fall and place it in a plastic bag filled with peat moss. Refrigerate it for at least six weeks before potting. The specialist says.

Then pot the lily for forcing in a porous, well drained soil mix. When you pot depends on when you want the plants to flower, he says. Potting around Thanksgiving gives blooms around mid February. For flowers in mid March, pot around New Year. If you want blossoms in mid April, wait until Feb. 1 to pot the bulbs.

When shoots begin to appear, place the pot in a brightly lit spot and fertilize with a liquid nitrogen fertilizer according to label directions. Fertilize again in 10 days. Continue to fertilize with a complete houseplant fertilizer, Steinegger says.

Cats Sweep Briar Cliff

Wayne State's baseball trip to Sioux City was a successful one as the Wildcats earned their fourth and fifth wins in the last six outings by sweeping a doubleheader 8-5 and 9-1 over Briar Cliff, Wednesday.

The Cats fell behind 2-0 in the first inning but came back with one run in the second inning, two in the third, four in the fourth and one in the seventh.

Mark Larson pitched the first four innings before receiving relief help from Don Hames in the fifth. Hames pitched 2 1/2 innings of shutout baseball to earn his first win of the season.

The fourth inning was the productive one for WSC. The Cats scored four runs on an RBI single by Ron Kreber, two walks with bases loaded and a wild pitch. Bill Schwartz blasted his third home run of the year and Tony Piscioia added a double to lead Wayne State at the plate.

Six Runs in Third Inning
Wayne State completed its sweep against Briar Cliff with an easy 9-1 triumph. The Cats erupted for six runs in the top of the third inning to put the game out of reach.

Freshman Randy Haying, who sports the lowest earned run average on the team, pitched the first six innings and held Briar Cliff to a solo home run and four singles. His ERA dropped to 2.40 as he picked up his second win in three decisions. Wayne native Doug Carroll gave Haying relief help for the final three outs.

Leading batters for the Cats were Mark Glatzer and two other Wayne natives Bill Schwartz and Mike Meyer. Glatzer poked a two run homer in the third inning, his third of the year.

Schwartz drove home two runs with a double and Meyer pounded his third home run of the season to add the finishing blows to the victory. Tom Carden also added a

Softballers Sharp In Romp Over UNO

Weather finally enabled the Wayne State softball team to open its schedule and coach Sue Kovar liked what she saw in her team's season opener.

The Lady Wildcats blasted the University of Nebraska at Omaha 10-0 after six innings, Wednesday in Omaha. The game was shortened because of the 10-run rule.

Lynne Larson pitched a two-hitter and collected a double and single in four trips to the plate to lead WSC's win. Sophomore Sue Plumb was the leading offensive player, pounding a triple and two singles in four at bats.

Defensively, Wayne State played errorless ball while UNO committed six errors. The Lady Cats exploded for five runs in the first inning.

Wayne State is scheduled to open its home schedule at 2 p.m. Wednesday against Peru State. The Lady Wildcats will then travel to Lincoln to compete in the University of Nebraska Tournament Friday and Saturday.

Three Names Omitted

Names of three members of the Winside wrestling team were inadvertently omitted from the Wayne Herald All-Area wrestling team announced in the March 27 paper.
Curt Rhode, Doug Jaeger and Kent Glassmeyer should have been included on the honorable mention list. Qualifications for the honors included winning at least half of an individual's matches or qualifying for the state tournament. All three wrestlers competed at the state level.
The error was discovered while All-Area certificates were being prepared for winter sports double.

The Wayne State win was the fifth in its last six games. The Wildcats were scheduled to host Kearney State in a doubleheader beginning at 1 p.m. Saturday. However, the WSC field was not dry and officials were attempting to move the site of the games to Norfolk. No confirmation was received at press time.
Chadron will invade the area today and tomorrow for two doubleheaders against the Cats. The action is scheduled to begin at 5 p.m. today (Monday) in Wakefield. The second doubleheader is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. tomorrow (Tuesday) at the Wayne State field.

Track Dual vs. Westmar

WSC Men Win; Women Set Records

Competing on their home track for the first time this season, Wayne State's men's and women's track teams split decisions against their counterparts from Westmar College, Wednesday afternoon.

Both Wayne teams were originally scheduled to participate in the Kearney State Invitational but snow put an end to that competition. Wayne men's coach LeRoy Simpson arranged the dual on short notice to take advantage of the free date.

The WSC men blasted Westmar 107 1/2 to 50 1/2 in their division. The WSC women were trimmed 60 to 47 in the other division.

Men Win Easily

Wayne claimed 11 individual championships and three first place finishes in the relay events to run away from Westmar's men.

Dave Hauser and Ed Blackburn were double winners for the hosts. Hauser won the 1,500 meter run in 1:16 and the 5,000 meter run in 16:20.

Blackburn won the 110 meter hurdles in 14.9 seconds and the 400 meter hurdles in 56.4 seconds.

Other first place winners were Joe Orlmeier in the high jump, Jeff Heindol in the shot put, Dan Warnke in the 400 meter dash, Arid Johnson in the 800 meter run, John Frick in the pole vault, Merlin Lahm in the long jump, Kevin McNichols in the triple jump.

Women Set School Records

Wayne State's women lost their dual with Westmar but set five school records in the meet.
Freshman Deb Litz set records in the 1,500 meter run with a time of 5:36.6 and the 5,000 meter run with a time of 19:41. She took second place in both events.

Deb Deitering, another freshman, set a new record in the 800 meter run, winning the race in 2:29.1. She also won the 400 meter race in 1:01.3.

Freshman Sandra Schnitzler won the discus with a school record mark of 107 feet, three and three eighths inches. She also placed third in the shot put. The 4x400 relay team set the final school record in the dual, winning the race in 4:15.3. Members of the team are Marlan Borgman, Diane Johnson, Valerie Eschenbacher and Deb Deitering.

Other first place winners for WSC were Sue Fricke in the shot put with a loss of 38-4 1/2, Marlan Borgman in the 200 meter dash with a time of 26.7 seconds and Lori Ann Goslar in the javelin with a mark of 109.7 1/2.

Coach Helen Carroll said she was pleased with her team's performance despite the fact the loss.

School Aid Legislation to Be Heard Wednesday

An appropriation bill that could bring an additional $175,000 into Wayne Carroll School District coffers is expected to be considered in final form Wednesday.

A Legislative Newsletter prepared by the Nebraska State School Boards Association indicated Friday that the appropriations bill advanced to final reading carrying two amendments increasing state aid to public schools.

THE BILL, in its present form, would provide an increase in state aid from the present $55 million to $130 million. Wayne Carroll Supt. Francis Haun said recently the increase would result in a substantial boost in aid to the local school district. Figures provided by Haun indicating that if the bill is fully funded it will provide the school district with about $260,000 in state aid. This compares to just $85,000 received last fiscal year and is an increase of about $175,000.

THE NEWSLETTER said that one of the two amendments is virtually certain to be removed but before that can happen, the bill will have to be returned from final reading to select file (there is no debate, and no amendments can be made on final reading).

The first amendment would increase state aid to public schools to the $130,000 figure. The other would appropriate any balance that may be available in the state treasury at the end of the July 1-June 30 fiscal year (after deducting a four-percent cash reserve) for the purpose of increasing state aid - with a maximum increase of $37 million.

BUT ACCORDING to the newsletter, the amendment offered last week in increased state aid by $75 million appears to be in trouble. Several senators have backed off from supporting this level of increase because of the attitude of the Governor in opposition to breaking the present state income and sales tax rates, the newsletter stated.

The NSBA periodical added that although the Governor stated he would veto the proposed $75 million increase if it reached his desk, he clearly recognizes the need to add at least a substantial amount to the present $55 million in order to prevent additional property tax increases next year.

IT HAS BEEN discussed on the Legislature floor that without any increase in state aid, property taxes would increase across the state by an average of nine percent next year.

With the $75 million increase in state aid, however, there would be an average school property tax decrease of about 10 percent, the newsletter said.

The amendment to add $75 million in state aid was adopted by only a 25-13 vote, and in case of a line item veto by the Governor, 30 affirmative votes will be required to override the veto.

Superintendent Haun said he was concerned about the future of the bill because several senators, including Sen. John Murphy of South Sioux City, were present but did not vote.

HAUN NOTED THAT if the bill is approved and is fully funded it would result in a reduction of the school district's mill levy by at least 7 mills. The additional money received through state aid would be placed in the school district's general fund for reduction of property taxes. Haun explained
