Exchange of 'Moccasins' Proves Interesting to Crowd

Nationally Known Author Talks At WSC on 'Liberation' of Men

by LaVon Beckman

Remember the old Indian proverb, "Don't judge me until you've walked a mile in my moccasins?"

Several men of the Wayne community and Wayne State College campus may be looking at women in a different perspective after "treading" in their moccasins for nearly four hours Monday evening.

THE ROLE REVERSAL took place in Ramsey Theatre of the Fine Arts Center at Wayne State during a lecture by Warren Farrell.

Farrell, who is author of the book "The Liberated Man," involved the nearly 100 men and women attending Monday night's free lecture with real-life illustrations of how men can see women's liberation as a freeing agent in their lives rather than a threat.

Farrell demonstrated areas where significant changes can and cannot be made in male-female relationships, including height. To illustrate this, women in the audience were asked to choose a partner (preferably of the opposite sex) and dance with them.

THAT'S NOT SO odd you say? The men and women taking part in the demonstration unquestionably felt differently. For those brave enough to follow Farrell's request, the experience was "an experience." Farrell asked the women to stand on their chairs, grasp their partners intimately, look into their eyes, and lead them on the dance floor.

Farrell's purpose for making such a strange request became clear after questioning the partners on their reactions following the dance.

WHILE MOST of the men said they felt awkward looking up to the girl, and even went so far as to call them domineering, one "liberated" young woman said she enjoyed the feeling of power.

Farrell has formed more than 300 conscious raising groups in the country and believes that men and women receive

"divorce training" all through their lives. "Men and women are trained to be as opposite as possible," said Farrell, adding that the preparation for traditional sex roles is evident everywhere we watch a football or basketball game.

"WHILE THE PLAYERS are expected to be rough and tough, the cheerleader stands on the sidelines pressuring them to perform. Consequently, men grow up to feel that if they are 'tough enough,' their reward will be someone like a cheerleader (supportive, enthusiastic and bouncy). Men, however, are then expected to perform throughout their lifetime."

"For the five percent of the males involved in sports, that's fine," said Farrell. But, he questioned, what about the other 95 percent who are not "jocks?"

By the time men reach college age, said Farrell, they already have learned that if they are not outstanding on the sports field they should drop out and learn success in a different sphere to attract the opposite sex.

TO ILLUSTRATE this point, Farrell told about Ralph, who spent his lifetime growing up to be what "society" wanted him to be and discovering at the age of 45 that he didn't like himself very much. Farrell asked men and women in the audience if they felt their lives were falling into the same pattern.

The lecturer pointed out that Ralph's situation emphasizes the traditional male-female value situation. "Many men feel

Science Program Okayed

Wayne-Carroll School District board of education moved swiftly through its agenda Monday night in regular session, reviewing some items, acting on others and deferring action on others.

The board did move into executive session shortly before 9 p.m., adjourning for the evening about 10:30 with no action taken on negotiations or litigation.

DAVE LUTT, elementary school principal, reviewed an elementary science curriculum which elementary teachers have selected for the coming year. After his comments, the board voted to adopt the curriculum for which funds have been budgeted.

Silver-Burdette Co. of Glenview, Ill., was the science program chosen over Addison-Wesley and Holt, Reinhardt and Winston. Each was thoroughly reviewed by the Wayne-Carroll faculty who also had personal interviews with salesmen from each company and made on-school visits where the programs are being used.

LUTT SAID THE cost per pupil is about $7, and is less than the cost of other curriculums such as math and reading because existing science materials are adequate.

A nutrition curriculum, for which the school district is a pilot project, also was reviewed by Lutt.

THE BOARD will review a proposed policy on advisory committees as submitted by Supt. Francis Haun. Haun said there is a trend by school districts to adopt such policies.

The draft policy is as follows: "An advisory committee's main function will be to advise the board of education, or its representatives, on school policies and procedures. Such committees shall represent a link between the community and the school on issues of concern to the school community."

"A functional advisory committee is important to all school programs through review and development of curriculum; publicizing and promoting programs; advising on the adequacy and appropriateness of facilities, equipment and instructional needs; assisting with organizational activities; and determining community situations and needs."

"Any advisory committee may be created by the board of education with its organization, name and function tailored to specific needs. The board of education may dissolve any such committee when the committee ceases to function, or its reason to exist is no longer valid. Advisory committees will have one limitation: they cannot assume administrative nor board policy responsibility."

THE BOARD DECIDED to take action on the policy at a later meeting.

Ninth grade orientation is set for 7 p.m. Thursday at the Wayne-Carroll High School, the board learned.

An estimated 80 students will report as freshmen, with 20 expected from the rural schools and 60 from the eighth grade in Wayne.

Classes that ninth graders will be required to take are science, math, physical education/health and English.

BELLS WILL ring on a schedule to allow parents and students to visit as many different teachers and classes as possible to assist them in the process of deciding which elective courses they wish to register for.

For additional information on freshmen orientation, see story elsewhere on this page.

The board accepted the resignations of Brent Gulick, high school social studies instructor, and Marie Reidelbach, high school librarian. Gulick plans to enter private business and Reidelbach will be moving to Omaha where her husband will work for the University of Nebraska at Omaha.

SUPERINTENDENT Haun noted that May 26 is Memorial Day and will be a required legal holiday for the school district. The original school calendar carried May 30 as Memorial Day rather than May 26, he explained. As a result, the final day of school this spring will be Thursday, May 29, rather than Wednesday, May 28.

Arts, Crafts Application For District Is Rejected

Well, you win a few, and you lose a few. The Wayne-Carroll School District's application for the project "Native American Arts and Crafts" has been denied.

The board of education learned Monday night that the grant application, which would have been funded through Title IV State Advisory Council, had been rejected.

THE BOARD'S permission to apply for the grant last October was given reluctantly, with final approval given on a 3-1 vote. At the time, Richard Metteer, Middle School principal, said there was no guarantee the project would be funded since there was "considerable competition."

If the grant had been approved, various Indian reservations would have been visited

In other action, the board viewed a sample of new band uniforms. Some 115 will be delivered by about Aug. 1 at a cost of some $18,000. The money has been raised through efforts by band members, parents and through appropriations by the board of education.

THE CLOSED session, which lasted about 1 1/2 hours, was held to discuss negotiations strategy involving faculty contracts for next year, and litigation involving a U.S. Department of Labor suit against the school district for wage discrimination.

No progress has been made on either subject.

All board members except Dale Stoltenberg were present and all actions were unanimous.

and detailed information gathered regarding the arts and crafts of native Americans.

THAT INFORMATION would have been developed into a package program which could have been worked into the Wayne-Carroll curriculum and possibly used by other Nebraska school systems.

Metteer said the skills of most Indians are being lost as the tribes and their people are assimilated into the American society. The idea of the project was to capture some of these skills and provide them as educational tools for students.

There are no plans to resubmit the application.

The project would have been without cost to the school district.

Public Forum Monday For Senate Candidates

Five candidates seeking the 17th District State Senatorial seat will participate in an open forum at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Wayne-Carroll High School Lecture Hall.

SPONSORED BY the Wayne County Monday Mrs. Extension Club, the forum will include a panel representing the media, parents and farmers.

In addition, voters in District 17 will be given the opportunity to ask questions on any subject with which the Legislature deals. Everyone is invited to attend including representatives of education, farm groups, businessmen, senior citizens, etc.

SHARON CORBIT, who is co-chairman of the project with Wilma Moore of Wayne, said the Extension club hopes to provide a public service so voters in the area will have a better understanding of how the candidates stand on various issues.

Dean Craun from Wayne Radio KTCH will be moderator with panel members to include Dan Field from The Wayne Herald; John Anderson, rural Wayne, from the Farm Bureau; Mark Baumert from KTCH and Mrs. Corbit.

THE FORUM WILL open with questions from panel members followed by audience participation.

Candidates for the Senatorial seat held by retiring Sen. John Murphy of South Sioux City include Fredrick Mann and Gerald Conway of Wayne; Merle Von Mindeq and Edwin Fahrenholz of Allen; and Eugene O'Neill of South Sioux City. All are expected to participate.

HOLIDAY TUESDAY
Wayne County Courthouse and Wayne city offices will be closed all day Tuesday in observance of Arbor Day.

men, in a sense, must become rapists by overcoming these conditions, usually either by getting the woman drunk enough or high enough. "Men must do the overcoming and women must be overcome."

"WHEN DO WE (men) know when to take 'yes for no,' 'yes for yes,' or 'yes for maybe'?" Farrell asked.

The lecturer pointed out that men's egos are always on the line. "The importance of that," he said, "is that every man defends against that vulnerability by learning intuitively that if they turn a woman into a sex object it hurts less to be rejected than if they think of her as a full human being."

It's the same in the service, where military personnel learn that before they bomb the enemy they must first "objectify" the target, said Farrell.

"THE REAL POWER of this, as most every advertiser knows," said Farrell, "is that to sell a product to men it must be associated with an attractive female. The hidden message, he added, is that a man feels that if he becomes successful enough to buy the product, he also gets the sex object. So, he concluded, when a man becomes successful at the age of 45, he feels he has the right to be sexually attracted to a 20-year-old woman."

"The problem is that he usually loses the woman he really loves," said Farrell.

The lecturer pointed out that this process usually builds up in every man and woman deep-seated feelings of anger, frustration and contempt.

MONDAY NIGHT'S lecture climaxed with a beauty pageant in which men of the audience were forced to parade in front of the women, amid shouts of approval, disapproval and lust. Women were then asked to comment as they felt a man would in a reversed situation.

The beauty pageant was staged to demonstrate to men the feelings of women, who for the most part, are part of a beauty contest every day of their lives. Laughter reached a climax as the blushing winners, who were again forced to display their bodies in front of the women, included a variety of impromptu and off-color nicknames.

Most of the men attending the lecture agreed that it was embarrassing to be viewed as a "piece" as well as ego-deflating for those who were among the rejects.

HOWEVER, ALMOST all of the participants agreed they learned a great deal after "walking a mile in each other's moccasins."

Farrell, who has appeared nationally on the "Today," the "Tomorrow," the "Mike Douglas" and the "Phil Donahue" shows, holds a doctorate and has taught at Rutgers University, Georgetown University, American University and in San Diego State University's Department of Women's Studies. He was chosen by President Johnson in 1965 as one of the country's outstanding young educators.

JEFF BRANDT, a member of Wayne's golf team, sinks a routine putt on the 12th hole. Brandt shot a 47 on the back nine holes as the Blue Devils finished fourth in a quadrangular, Tuesday at the Wayne Country Club.

Golfers Falter In Home Meet

It was an ideal day for golf, but Wayne's golf wasn't ideal as the Blue Devils finished last in a quadrangular at the Wayne Country Club, Tuesday.

Oakland-Craig won the meet with 157 total strokes. Norfolk placed second with 163. South Sioux City finished third at 164 and Wayne ballooned to 187 strokes.

South Sioux golfers Rob and Nick Lott took advantage of temperatures in the 60's and still wind to record a 36 and 37 respectively on Wayne's back nine. Oakland's golfers placed third and fourth at 38 and Norfolk had a pair of golfers shoot 39's.

Doug Rose was the leading golfer for the Blue Devils. He turned in a score of 41, which Wayne coach Harold Maciejewski said was a good score. John Melena shot a 45, Jeff Brandt recorded 47 and Chip Carr tallied a 54.

The Wayne varsity will travel to Albion to compete in the Albion Invitational, tomorrow (Friday).

In B team action, Wayne placed third with 176 strokes. Norfolk won the B team meet with 173 strokes. Oakland turned in a 177 and South Sioux finished fourth with a 202. Reserve action was played on the front nine holes of the course.

Wayne Girls Second

The second meeting between David City Aquinas and Wayne in invitational girls' track meets, wasn't nearly as successful for the Blue Devils.

In a season opening invitational at Columbus Lakeview, Wayne defeated Aquinas by about 30 points to win the team championship. This time Aquinas was the winner by 33 points in the West Point Invitational, Friday. Wayne settled for the second place trophy.

"We ran well but the events were too close together," Wayne coach Darrell Heier said after the journey. "David City Aquinas had too many good people."

Team standings: 1-Aquinas 120; 2-Wayne 87; 3-Schuyler 50; 4-Fremont Bergan 48; 5-Howell 36; 6-Tekamah-Herman 31; 7-West Point 28; 8-Logan View 22; 9-West Point CC 10; 10-Wisner-Pilger 9; 11-Oakland-Craig 1; 12-Clarkson 0; 12-Scribner 0.

The top individual for Wayne was Lisa Peters. She won the 880 yard run in 2:34.1, and placed sixth in the 400 yard dash in 1:07.4. The two mile relay team won its event in 10:53.5. Wayne's 400 yard relay team placed second behind Aquinas with a time of 54.6.

Lynn Surber placed second in the two mile run in 12:46.6 and the mile run with a time of 6:06.3. Missy Stoltenberg finished second in the 100 yard dash in 11.6 seconds and the 200 yard dash in 27.4.

Jo Carlson placed third in the shot put with a mark of 32.9', and third in the discus. Tracy Stoltenberg finished third in the high jump with a leap of 5'0 and fourth in the 80 yard hurdles with a time of 12.3 seconds.

Jolene Bennett was runner up in the discus with a mark of 98.11. Kris Proett finished fifth in the 800 yard run in 2:42.5 to round out the scoring for the Blue Devils.

WSC Places 4th at UNL

Junior Lynne Larson helped the Wayne State College softball team to fourth place in the Husker Invitational Softball tournament Saturday and Sunday in Lincoln. Larson earned three victories in the two-day tournament pitching the Lady Cats to a 6-0 win over Northwest Missouri, a 4-3 win over Iowa State and a 2-2 victory over the University of Northern Iowa.

The Irwin, Iowa product also suffered a loss in a 3-0 decision to Creighton. Overall, her record is now 5-2. Cindy Stella got the only other decision of the tournament for the Lady Cats in a 4-0 loss to the host Lady Huskers.

The Wayne State women are now 6-4.

The softball team will meet Nebraska Wesleyan at 2:30 p.m. Friday in Wayne. The double header is a make-up of an earlier contest that was rained out. Tournament action continues for the Lady Wildcats when they travel to the Kearney State Invitational Sunday.

NSAA Game Officials' Clinic at Wayne State

The Nebraska School Activities Association will embark on a game officials' recruiting drive this week with the first of a series of clinics.

Five colleges are cooperating with the NSAA in the venture, which is designed to introduce would-be game officials and referees in any NSAA sponsored sport to the requirements to become active.

Each clinic also will have a session in football officiating mechanics for the recruits who plan to be football officials and for any interested football officials.

All the clinics are free. They are scheduled as follows: Saturday, April 19 — Kearney State College Coliseum; Nebraska Wesleyan University in Lincoln (Callen Hall in Smith Curtis Building).

Saturday, April 26 — Wayne State College; University of Nebraska-Omaha Field House.

Saturday, May 3 — Nebraska Western College in Scottsbluff.

Each clinic will have a 10 a.m. session for the persons considering becoming officials and a 1 p.m. session in football mechanics for whomsoever that attracts. In addition to this at Kearney, a mechanics session will be held at 10 a.m., as well as in the afternoon, in connection with an Antelope in-line-squad scrimmage.

NSAA Supervisor of Officials Rex Jones and Executive Secretary James Riley will conduct the meetings for would-be officials. Experienced game officials in the various locations will provide the expertise for the football mechanics sessions.

"We believe there are any number of persons who are interested in becoming a football official, a basketball referee, a volleyball official or a wrestling referee, and maybe they don't know how to go about it," Jones said. "We've set up these meetings across the state in the hopes they'll come out and see what it takes. Our schools always seem to be looking for more and better game officials. Officials who register year in and year out and work high school games do seem to receive a certain reward for their efforts. It's a challenging business, but it can be a rewarding one," Jones said.

Swim Club Banquet Held

Some 32 members of the Wayne Swim Club and their families, totaling about 100 persons, attended a banquet Sunday night at the Presbyterian Church in their behalf.

Ralph Barclay, Wayne State College swimming coach, was guest speaker. His topic, of course, was swimming.

Each member of the swim club was presented with a Wayne Swim Club insignia. Gift certificates were presented to coaches Karen Watson and Sid Hillier, and Kevin Jech received a monetary gift for being a coach.

Entertainment was provided by a group of mothers.

Randy's Recap

According to Randy Hascall

DID ANYONE NOTICE the article about Brian Poldberg in Sunday's Omaha World-Herald? Perhaps the name sounded familiar.

Poldberg, who finished his college career at Emporia State, was originally a Wayne State baseball player. That was not mentioned in the article.

According to Al Alexander, who wrote the story, Poldberg has signed a minor league contract with the New York Yankees' Class A affiliate in Greensboro, N.C. He was one of five players to sign with New York after a week-long tryout camp that drew 160 hopefuls to the Yankees' spring training facility in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

As a Wayne State star, Poldberg was a third baseman and a darned good one. At Emporia, Brian switched from third base to catcher and made the change in style. He's only been catching for a year and a half yet was signed to the minor leagues.

The Council Bluffs Thomas Jefferson graduate has always dreamed of playing pro ball, he said and added that the Yankees were his favorite team. Poldberg had planned on earning a tryout with the Philadelphia Phillies but was turned away.

The Emporia State graduate, who batted .396 in his senior season to set an all time Emporia record, was originally destined to begin the season with the Yankees' Double A affiliate in Nashville but was later sent to Greensboro of the South Atlantic League.

As a college athlete, Poldberg earned NAIA All District honors and honorable mention status on the NAIA All America team.

The 6-4, 190 pounder is well known for his strong arm and good hitting. He played semipro ball last summer at Clarinda, Ia. Although getting a late start as a catcher, Brian feels he has an advantage in the long run because his knees are still in good shape.

It's a long shot but maybe someday, Poldberg will be wearing a Yankee uniform and be behind the plate catching pitches from Ron Guldry.

SPORTS ILLUSTRATED (that's right) gave me a call on the telephone last week, informing me that a Wayne State athlete had been selected for their "Faces in the Crowd" article in the April 21 issue.

The column is a regular feature in the national magazine and I was excited to learn that a WSC student was being recognized for an athletic achievement. I then received a call the next day informing me that the "Sports Illustrated" office had erred. The girl, whose name was totally unfamiliar to me, was actually a student at Wayne State University in Michigan, NOT Wayne State COLLEGE in WAYNE, Nebraska.

They discovered their mistake just in time. They were sending me a trophy so I could make a presentation to the girl, they said. It would have been pretty embarrassing to find out that no such person exists at Wayne State (Nebraska) after the trophy had arrived.

'A' Playoffs Progress

Four teams remain after the opening round of A League Recreation basketball playoffs Monday night. Team One will meet Team Five and Team Six will face Team Seven in second round action Monday.

Team One defeated Team Three 74-69. Team Five dumped Team Four 85-52 and Team Six topped Team Two 63-53 in Monday's opening round play. Team Seven received a first round bye.

Hot Third Quarter
Red hot shooting in the third quarter lifted Team One to a 74-69 win over Team Three in the opening round of A League playoffs, Monday.

Team One, which fled for the regular season title, will now face Team Five in the semifinals at 8:45 p.m. Monday.

Team Three, the tournament underdog, led throughout the first half as Tim Koll hit 15 points. Trailing 35-28 at the half, Team One rallied behind the shooting of Bob and John Keating and Rick Mitchell to gain the lead. A 27-13 advantage accounted for a 55-48 lead at the end of the third quarter.

Mike Test had the hot hand for Team Three in the second half with 17 points but Bob Keating scored 17 points for the winners to offset the individual performance.

Wayne Records Fall

The Wayne boys finished on the bottom at a track triangular at Wisner-Pilger Monday night. Wisner won the meet with 69 points over runner-up Pierce with 63 points and Wayne with 46.

Despite the loss, two school records fell in the meet and one other was nearly broken.

Kurt Powers won the 800 yard run in 2:03.4, breaking the school record by half a second. The old record of 2:03.9 was set by Don Hansen in 1973.

The other record that fell was the 440 yard relay race. The team of Hugh Jager, Mark Hummel, Al Lindsay and Jeff Allen placed second in 48.0 seconds. The old record was held by a team of freshmen.

Wayne's mile relay team placed first in 3:36.4, only three tenths of a second behind the school record of 3:36.1, set in 1975. The team is composed of Tod Heier, Paul Sutherland, Rick Johnson and Kurt Powers.

The always' strong two-mile relay team was also a winner, covering the two miles in 9:18.2. Doug Proett, Rich Glass, Kevin Bartolomaus and Rick Johnson make up that team.

Second place performances were turned in by Kurt Powers in the mile run (5:02.5); Doug Proett in the two mile (11:06.5); Jeff Allen in the 100 yard dash (10.9) and 220 (24.6); Tod Heier in the 440 (53.9) and Rick Johnson in the 300 intermediate low hurdles (42.5).

Eric Brink placed third in the 300 int. hurdles in 43.7 seconds. Paul Sutherland placed third in the 440 with a time of 54.7. Al Lindsay finished fourth in the 220 in 24.9 and Marvin Hansen placed fourth in the 120 yard high hurdles with a time of 16.8.

WSC Winning Streak

Extended to Eight Games

Wayne State's red hot baseball team, currently on an eight game winning streak and winners of 13 of 15, met Briar Cliff in a double-header Friday in Wakefield and finish the week with two victories.

The Wildcats carried the streak to five victories last week. Wayne State dumped Chadron 17-13 in the opening game of a double-header April 8 before the second game was rained out. Saturday the Wildcats downed Bellevue twice 8-7 and 8-1. Peru State was no contest for WSC Tuesday, falling 11-1 and 14-4.

During the week Wayne State raised its team batting average to .272, a jump of over 30 percentage points. The five victories raised the Wildcats' overall record to 14-16.

The Wildcats have now made it through the first half of the Nebraska College Conference (NCC) schedule with only one loss. Currently the Wildcats are 8-1 in the NCC.

Friday's opponent, Briar Cliff, is now heading into a Tuesday double header against Westmar. Earlier in the year Wayne State swept a pair from the Chargers in Sioux City winning 8-5 and 9-1.

Cats Blast Peru

The Wildcats smashed Peru State 11-1 and 14-4 in a doubleheader, Tuesday afternoon in Wayne. Both games were called in the fifth inning because of the 10 run rule.

Mark Larson fired a two-hitter in the first game to gain the win. Tom Carden was the offensive leader for the Cats, slashing two home runs. He drove in two runs in the first inning with a homer and brought in two more in the fourth inning with another homer.

Other leading hitters were Mark Glatler, who tripled and doubled and Mike Test and Ken Murcek who doubled.

In the nightcap, Wayne State bombed Peru 14-4 in five innings. Starter Dewey Edgar gained the victory and received relief help from Don Hames in the fifth inning. Catcher was Rich Neely.

With all substitutes in the game, WSC scored nine runs in the first inning. Five Wayne hits and four Peru errors put the game out of reach in the opening inning. Al Voigt blasted a home run and Bart Emanuel drove in three runs to lead the Cats.

Tom Todd, Mark Glatler, Bill Schwartz, Emanuel and Neely all hit doubles in the game.

The two wins improved WSC's record to 8-1 in the NCC and 14-16 overall. Kearney State is presently 1-2 games behind the Cats in conference play with a 5-1 record. Peru dropped to 1-9 for the season.

Procedures Planned if Stamp Program Folds

Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland has disclosed the major features of regulations to be used to suspend or reduce food stamp benefits, if the program runs out of money.

Bergland said the regulations, which spell out the procedures states must follow to reduce or cut off benefits, may be needed soon. Funds for the food stamp program will be depleted by the end of May, and legislation to provide additional money for this fiscal year still must clear a number of hurdles. If funds are not provided by May 15, Bergland must notify states to suspend June benefits.

"I sincerely hope we will not need to use these procedures,"

Bergland said. "An interruption or reduction in food stamp benefits would be extremely serious for the poor families and elderly people who depend on this program."

Under the new regulations, a reduction in monthly food stamp benefits would affect the poorest food stamp households proportionately less than those with more income. In addition, a minimum food stamp allotment of $10 a month would be provided to all households unless benefits are completely suspended or must be reduced by more than 90 percent.

The $10 minimum benefit, Bergland said, would principally help those elderly and disabled people who now receive monthly food stamp allotments of close to $10 as a supplement to Social Security or Supplemental Security Income. Bergland said USDA did not adopt special procedures for reducing benefits for the elderly and disabled because state officials said such procedures would create serious administrative problems.

"A cut in food stamp benefits would pose a nutritional threat to these people," he emphasized. "Studies show the food stamp program has improved the diets of the poor over the last 10 years, even though food consumption surveys have found that households spending consistently at the level of the Thrifty Food Plan — on which food stamp benefits are based — did not get nutritionally adequate diets."

"We are talking about households with an average income of $3,600 a year," he said. "These people can least afford to absorb a reduction in purchasing power. The pressure to provide emergency help will be great for state and local governments and private agencies that are also strapped for funds."

Bergland said the food stamp program is running out of money because annual spending ceilings set in 1977 were not high enough to accommodate recent food price inflation, projected increases in unemployment, increased participation, and the fact that a large number of new participants are poorer than expected and qualify for larger benefits.

The initial food stamp appropriation for this year was limited to $6.2 billion, according to Bergland, although the administration and lawmakers knew that amount would not be sufficient. He said additional funds cannot be provided until the $6.2 billion ceiling is removed or raised.

USDA is requesting a supplemental appropriation of $2.65 billion to fund the program for the last four months of the fiscal year, Bergland said.

Regulations authorizing a suspension or reduction of food stamp benefits were published in the April 2 Federal Register.

Grain Reserve List

"There were 1.191 million bushels of barley, corn, oats, sorghum and wheat in the farmer owned grain reserve as of April 4," Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of the USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said recently.

Crop	Total quantity in the farmer-owned reserve (bu.)	Metric tons
Barley	24,473,000	532,837
Corn	804,186,846	20,427,424
Oats	33,627,493	486,029
Sorghum	72,188,900	1,833,695
Wheat	(40,425,784 cwt.)	6,982,255
TOTAL	256,553,872	30,264,200

The following table obtained by a telephone survey shows new entries of corn, oats, sorghum and wheat since January 7, 1980.

Crop	Amount entered in Farmer owned reserve (bu.)	Metric tons
Corn	189,403,846	4,811,112
Oats	3,398,493	49,329
Sorghum	16,012,114	406,729
Wheat	(8,966,784 cwt.)	8,354,592
TOTAL	31,400,872	6,121,762

The grain reserve takes grains off the market for a period of up to three years or until market prices reach stated levels.

CCC Contracts On Soybeans

Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland recently said the Commodity Credit Corporation has assigned contract rights for 764,304 bushels (20,800 metric tons) of U.S. No. 2 or better yellow soybeans. The contract rights had been acquired by CCC as a result of the suspension of exports to the Soviet Union.

In addition, Bergland announced CCC would buy an amount of soybeans equal to the contract quantity sold today. This action is being taken to further support domestic market prices for soybeans, Bergland said.

The soybean contracts sold were scheduled for delivery FOB shipment during April from Gulf ports. The successful bid price was $6.04-1/4 per bushel. Yesterday's reported Chicago spot market price for U.S. No. 1 soybeans was $5.70-1/2.

A total of 14.2 million bushels (387,080 tons) of soybean contracts have been sold by CCC since the invitation for offers was made March 20.

Offers will continue to be received for soybeans on Monday and Thursday each week until the invitation (SB-1) is withdrawn, Bergland said. Successful offers will be notified by 10:30 a.m. the third day following the offer date. Public announcement will be made after the commodity markets close.

Offers are to be submitted to the deputy administrator for commodity operations, USDA-ASCS, room 218-W, Box 2415, Washington, D.C., 20013.

Feeding cows after calving

The calving and rebreeding period is probably the most critical time of year for nutrition of the beef cow. The cow's work load peaks at 2-6 weeks after calving, yet normal feed may not be that good.

After she calves, her nutrient needs soar. Her total daily feed intake should be about 26 pounds or more, and it should include 2-2.5 pounds of crude protein and 14-15 pounds of total digestible nutrients. Her phosphorus level goes to 23 grams a day. Her calcium and vitamin needs nearly double.

Why does this happen? She must produce milk for the calf and rebuild her reproductive tract back to normal so that she will be in condition to cycle and conceive. Hopefully, this won't take longer than 90 days from calving.

Feeding about 10 pounds of alfalfa hay per day should provide enough supplemental protein and energy until grass is available.

Weeds and more weeds

Just a few scattered weeds in a field can result in a big infestation the next year. It's done by seeds.

Lambquarters has an average of more than 72,000 seeds per plant. Kochia has more than 14,000 seeds per plant. That means just one lambquarter or six kochia per acre could theoretically produce enough seed to leave almost two of each weed per square foot the next year. One or two shattercane plants can produce enough seed to plant an acre if needed at rates used for planting milo.

Fortunately, some seeds don't live and some don't become established. Because weeds are such prolific seed producers, it is easy to see why nearly total control is needed to reduce the full seed supply.

Crabgrass control

There is still plenty of time for preemergence control of crabgrass and foxtail. Preemergence chemicals used late in the spring are most likely to give effective control of crabgrass and foxtail during late July and August. Materials applied extra early could be reduced in effectiveness when needed most.

Proper lawn preparation and application are just as important as chemical choice for effective preemergence lawn weed control. Start by removing all excess dead grass, trash and leaves from the lawn. Next, apply the preemergence product as directed. Distribute evenly. Double coverage at half rate in two directions assures more uniform distribution than a full rate applied in one direction. Finally, water the chemical into the soil. Watering moves the material down where it can perform the intended job on germinating weed seeds.

New pumpkins for home gardens

For homemade pies and breads next winter, grow pumpkins in your garden this year. If properly cured, they will keep all winter. In the past it was impractical to grow pumpkins in most gardens because of the large vines. Now varieties with a smaller vine or bush vine habit are available. Howden's Field (115 days), Funny Face (100 days) and Cinderella (95 days) are three such varieties.

Howden's Field is a large Connecticut field type with a deep, rich color. Funny Face is a hybrid with a smaller vine than Howden's Field. Fruit are of high quality and large enough for jack-o-lanterns. Cinderella is a bush type. Fruits are of high quality, but too small for jack-o-lanterns.

Dandelion control

Many homeowners soon will be greeted with bright yellow blooms in their lawns. If you treated for dandelions last fall, you probably won't be hosts to the uninvited guests.

Questions About Water Sometimes Are Revealing

The questions being asked about water problems in Nebraska are at times about as revealing as some of the proposed answers put forward.

Some significant questions were raised at the 1980 Nebraska Water Conference in March. The conference was sponsored by the Nebraska Conference Council and the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources in cooperation with the Division of Continuing Studies, University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

"What are you going to do about the water problem?" is a frequent question addressed to him by constituents of his 43rd Legislative District, according to Sen. Howard Lamb of Anselmo. Sometimes, he added, citizens of the 10 counties in his district tend to forget that local water problems fall under the jurisdiction of the state's natural resources districts.

"What are we going to do about water policies in the 1980s?" asked Gov. Charles Thone in a major address on water. "The decisions we make in the 1980s will determine the success or failures of many future generations. Our water is that important."

"Should we do anything at all?" is the question the state legislator will ask, according to State Senator Peter Hoagland of Omaha. He indicated that if the present legislature refuses to act on important water legislation, that option will be passed along to a legislature which by 1982 or 1983 will have a majority of urban legislators, following the restructuring required by the 1980 census. The power to decide water policies for the entire state may then become an increasing concern for urban legislators.

"What should be done about water issues? And how should we work it out?" These were two of the spoken and unspoken questions frequently raised by participants in the 1980 Nebraska

Water Conference. This approach started with the what and how questions, leapfrogging the question of whether something ought to be done about water problems in the state.

"How do we get enough water where we need it and what do we do when we have too much water where we don't want it?" asked Sen. Tom Vickers of Farnam. Assuming that something needs to be done, he moved quickly into practical questions about water distribution.

"What are we going to do about the correlation of groundwater and surface water supplies," asked Sen. Vickers and many other participants. This seemed to be an idea whose time has come in Nebraska. Many thorny legislative issues depend upon a prior answer to this question.

"It is time to establish a priority for instream flows? And if so, what order on the priority list should it be given?" was another specific question raised by Gov. Thone. He said that to many this was an unanswerable question. He added, "But let me emphasize that the federal government is out there doing more than just thinking about this concept. Maybe it's time we started some serious discussion about preserving streamflows for selected and high valued streams."

Other specific questions raised by more than one conference included the following: "How do we stop mining our groundwater?" "How do we protect the quality of our water?" "How do we stem the tide of declining groundwater levels in certain local areas?" "How do we evaluate the effectiveness of a groundwater control area?"

Was it significant that the question of transbasin diversion did not loom large in the general questions asked by conference participants? Or does that simply indicate this is a question of the future whose time has not yet arrived?

Mrs. Alice Hamilton, chairman of the Water Resources Committee of the League of Women Voters and panel chairman of a session on "Views on Water Management," raised these questions: "How do we go about managing our water resources in Nebraska? Who decides... and how?"

It remained to Sen. Maurice A. Kremer of Aurora, chairman of the Public Works Committee, to pour oil on troubled waters. He did so with the ease and grace that comes from being intimately associated with water problems in the state legislature for years. The parking questions he left with the conference were these: "Can't we approach our water problems like a family? Can't we sit down together and talk some sense? The quiet dignity he brought to these questions reassured conferees that the most effective form of water diplomacy in Nebraska, at least as long as Sen. Kremer is in the state legislature — is most likely to be common sense and good will toward one's neighbors."
