ONE-HUNDRED FOURTH YEAR NUMBER SIXTY-SEVEN

Morris: A Man and His Community

By Dan Field

One of the first things Stan Morris will tell you about his shop is that it's a team effort — all the employees deserve equal credit.

BUT WHAT STAN talks of almost reluctantly are his numerous accolades he has received as a result of his business and civic contributions to the community of Wayne. The honors continue to grow. "It's almost embarrassing," he said the other day, his modesty growing as rapidly as his collection of plaques and certificates. Stan has been in business 32 years in Wayne, and his efforts to improve the community have been numerous. When he was presented the Chamber of Commerce Man of the Year Award earlier this year, the list of contributions was nearly endless.

BUT AGAIN, Stan is quick to remind that his efforts through his business are tied closely to his four employees. "All of the employees are experienced and are the most part of the business," he wrote recently.

The employees he speaks of are Lloyd Brown who has been with him for 24 years; Wes Beckenhour, a 16-year veteran; Vern Sievers, with nine years of experience with Morris; and his secretary of one year, Dawn Creamer.

WHEN MORRIS opened his welding, machine work and repair business in Wayne in 1948, he had 16 years of work experience to his credit. He began his career in 1933 with the C. T. Walsh Company in Minneapolis, Minn., as a dredge operator.

From there, he took jobs with several other companies over the years, working his way through positions as chief launchman, chief and master mechanic and chief engineer. He also held numerous licenses for navigation vessels and as a Grade A tankerman. These eventually led up to the highest designation of chief engineer.

WHAT STAN IS most known for, however, is his dedication to his community.

Above and beyond his business responsibilities, Morris planned and constructed several balling cages and backstops for the youth recreation and town ball teams; has maintained the ballpark lighting system for the past 15 years; erected a new lighting system on towers for the city ball park; furnished labor for improvements and maintenance for the ball park; fabricated and constructed a truck mounted snowplow for the Municipal Airport; and has donated all routine maintenance welding and repair on the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department trucks and equipment for some 25 years.

IN ADDITION TO all of this, Stan is a member of the Methodist Church, holding several board positions, trusteeships and several times has been chairman of the finance committee covering a total of 22 years in these positions.

If that doesn't seem to be enough, he is a 20-year member of the Wayne Baseball Association and three times president of the group.

Why his involvement in sports? "I've always been interested in sports for all the youth of Wayne, and have tried to help Hank Overin and the ball park in every way possible, he explained modestly.

MORRIS SERVED three, three-year terms on the board of directors of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce; served two three-year terms on the board of directors of Wayne Industries, Inc.; was past chairman and is present board member for the Wayne Airport Authority; and was campaign manager for Mayor Wayne Marsh in the 1978 elections.

Morris' work experience has taken him to California, Minnesota, Missouri, Illinois and, of course, Nebraska. He also built and installed several Holer automatic dredge valves on boats working the Mississippi River.

All of this experience, he said, was "valuable in starting the shop business."

THE HONORS BEGAN began to accumulate in 1978 when a surprise Chamber of Commerce coffee was held to help him mark 30 years in business. He received a Progress Award then for his contributions to the community.

Then in January, Morris received a double and highly unexpected honor — he received the Chamber Man of the Year and Small Business Administration District II Man of the Year awards.

In accepting the honors, he said he was "more than overwhelmed. I'm just trying to do a good job in this community we think so much of," he told the Chamber group.

HIS MOST recent honor is a plaque from the Elkhorn Valley Blacksmith, Welders and Machinists' Association congratulating him on being named the SBA Man of the Year.

But the accolades are not likely to stop for Morris, since he has dedicated the past 32 years to the betterment of the Wayne community.

His latest act of philanthropy for Wayne? In anticipation that the city's baseball softball diamond may be under re-construction this summer, he has donated use of a large section of land just west of his shop. It's graded and virtually ready for ball.

Wayne Youth Dies In Car Accident

Seventeen year-old Lyle Backstrom, a junior at Wayne-Carroll High School, was killed early Saturday morning in a one car accident southeast of Wayne according to the Wayne Police Department.

This is the second traffic fatality in Wayne County this year.

Backstrom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Backstrom, was passenger in a car driven by 19 year old Marly Calhoun of Laurel. The vehicle reportedly overturned at about 2:47 a.m. on a county road one mile south and 1 1/2 miles east shortly after pursuit by a Wayne police cruiser was called off.

Calhoun was taken to Providence Medical Center by the PMC rescue unit and was listed in stable condition Saturday morning.

Police pursuit began at the 100 block of Pearl Street when the car was seen speeding without headlights. According to the police spokesman, Calhoun ran two stop signs and chase began.

The pursuit continued one mile south on Highway 15 and one mile east on a county road when the officer said he halted the chase and watched for sometime as the vehicle proceeded. Brake lights were spotted by the officer and subsequent investigation found the accident.

When the police officer arrived, the car had overturned in the ditch and was on fire. It was reported that a tire had apparently blown off.

Calhoun was clear of the car but Backstrom was pinned inside. The Wayne Volunteer Fire Department arrived with the Jaws of Life and cut Backstrom from the car. The rescue squad arrived and administered aid for approximately half an hour. Dr. Bob Bentback pronounced Backstrom dead after attempts to revive him failed.

Funeral services are pending at Hiscox-Schumacher Funeral Home.

Herald Wins Four Awards

The Wayne Herald was the winner of four awards in the Nebraska Press Association's Better Newspaper Contest, it was announced at an awards banquet at the Omaha Hilton Hotel, Friday night.

Awards received were: Best Picture Page, second place; Best Sports Page, third place; Best Front Page, third place; Best Advertising Idea, third place. The Wayne Herald competed in Class C against all Nebraska weeklies with circulations greater than 2,500.

The Better newspaper contest entries were judged in 66 categories by publishers and editors of the Texas Press Association. A record number of newspapers entered this year's competition.

Dan Field, editor of The Wayne Herald, accepted the awards. Also on hand for the award ceremony and two-day press convention were publisher Al Cramer and business manager Jim Marsh.

Another awards highlight of the 106th annual convention of some 500 editors, publishers and staff personnel of Nebraska's 204 weekly and 15 daily newspapers was scheduled Saturday night at the annual Ak-Sar Ben awards banquet.

The banquet was sponsored by The Omaha World Herald and Northwestern Bell Telephone Company.

THE CONTRIBUTIONS ARE endless for machine shop owner Stan Morris, who has dedicated most of his spare time in the past 32 years to improving the community of Wayne. His efforts have involved the Wayne Municipal Airport, Volunteer Fire Department and most facets of sports, to name a few. But he is quick to point out that despite his many civic and business contributions, his employees are a major component of his success.

Court Action Doesn't Halt Line Construction

A temporary stay granted by the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis of its ruling refusing to prevent construction of a 345,000 volt transmission line across the Missouri River and the Winnebago Indian Reservation in Northeast Nebraska was merely procedural and does not prevent construction of the line, William Merrill, NPPD's director of transmission and distribution engineering, said last week.

IN GRANTING the stay to the Winnebago Indian Tribe, the court noted that the tribe's appeal of the ruling to the United States Supreme Court would be speeded up if the record goes directly from the 8th Circuit to the Supreme Court, rather than being sent back to Federal District Court where the case was originally heard.

The 8th Circuit agreed to stay the mandate, but it specifically dissolved the injunction preventing construction pending appeal, ruling that the injunction would not be appropriate since the court had found against the tribe on the merits of the case.

MERRILL SAID that NPPD attorneys interpreted the stay to mean that the 8th Circuit will hold on to its record of the original appeal of the case for 30 days while it awaits an application for a writ of certiorari — a request for the record of the case for review — before the U.S. Supreme Court. Merrill said that construction of the river crossing and condemnation of Winnebago reservation lands, leading to construction of the line in Thurston County, could now proceed.

The 345,000 volt transmission line is being constructed from the Iowa Public Service Near Generating Station near Raun, Iowa, to NPPD's Hoskins Substation near Hoskins. Completion of the high voltage line is necessary to adequately serve the growing electrical loads in Northeast Nebraska.

MERRILL SAID that construction of the transmission line across the Missouri River is continuing. He also said NPPD will resume required right-of-way acquisition procedures in Thurston County and completion of the line would be contingent on acquiring all necessary easements.

Construction was to have been completed this summer to bolster the transmission facilities in the area and Merrill said the delay could have an effect on that section of the state if there would be a failure of existing lines in the area.

Candidate Forum Tonight

A panel of five area persons and audience participation will highlight a candidate's forum set for 7:30 p.m. Monday (today) in the Wayne-Carroll High School Lecture Hall.

CANDIDATES for the state's 17th District Senatorial seat currently held by John R. Murphy will be quizzed on a variety of issues. Those seeking the seat include the following:

Fredrick Mann and Gerald Conway of Wayne; Merle Von Minden and Edwin Fahrenholz of Allen; and Eugene O'Neill of South Sioux City.

Panel members will include Wilmer Marra, Sharon Corbit, John Anderson of the Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association; John Anderson of the Farm Bureau; and media representatives Mark Baumerl and Dan Field.

THE FORUM is expected to open with brief statements from the candidates, followed by questions from panel members. Members of the audience then will be given a chance to ask questions of the candidates. Everyone is invited to attend including representatives of education, farm groups, businessmen, senior citizens, etc.

District Is 1 of 27 Chosen

School Learns of Nutrition Project

Students in Wayne-Carroll School District grades K-6 will approach the subject of nutrition from an entirely different perspective next fall as a result of a federally funded nutrition program.

THE BOARD OF education learned in February that the district had been selected as a pilot school for the program. There are 27 other schools in Nebraska using the program, also.

What is involved is a complete package of nutritional materials and instruction, all designed to provide students with a better understanding of eating habits and the school's hot lunch program.

DAVE LUTT, elementary principal, explained to the board at its regular meeting Monday that several teachers from the district attended an in-service workshop in Lincoln March 20. With the information learned, the faculty will be able to teach elementary students several facets of nutrition.

Those attending from Wayne were Donna Mallette, first grade teacher; Ruth Kerstine, kindergarten and first grade teacher at Carroll; JoAnn Benshoof, fourth grade teacher at Carroll; Don Koenig, fifth and sixth grade physical education teacher; Marjorie Summers, head cook; and Principal Lutt.

IN 1976, CONGRESS approved a bill creating the Nutrition Education and Training Act for two years. However, it was not until three years later that money was appropriated for the program. Wayne will participate only one year, since funding will run out on Sept. 30, 1980.

As explained by Lutt last week, there are three overall objectives of the program, as follows:

- Students will select foods not previously selected through exposure.
- Students will know why they eat and what they eat.
- Students will develop more positive feelings about school food service (hot lunch program).

THE PROGRAM will be geared to certain grade levels, Lutt continued. For instance, in York, where the program is in its second year, the following breakdown of curriculum is taught:

Fruits and snacks are taught in kindergarten and first grades, vegetables and breakfast in second grade, making meals at school in third grade, food safety and great school menus in fourth grade. Key nutrients and food habits in fifth grade, physical fitness (and how it relates to nutrition) to the fifth or sixth grades, and food aids to the sixth grade.

Lutt noted there will be no direct cost to the school district since the program is federally funded and materials from the school's hot lunch program can be used.

THE PRINCIPAL added that students in grades K-3 will be taught attitude and experience involving nutrition, and students in grades 4-6 cognitive (perception) and understanding.

Faculty members are looking forward to the program, Lutt explained, because it approaches nutrition and eating as a "fun type experience."

UNITS WITHIN the program are structured so they can be combined at any time with another activity. For example, the dental health unit can be taught during Dental Health Week, a unit on Mexican food can be discussed when students are studying American history, etc.

Developed by the federal government and put together by the Learning Resources Center in Red Oak, Iowa, the program can be adapted to the current nutritional curriculum provided by the National Dairy Council. Lutt stressed that the Dairy Council program will continue to be used.

THE SCHOOL district was notified last May that it had been chosen as one of the schools in Nebraska to use the program. Soon thereafter, large cardboard barrels of nutritional materials began arriving at the school.

The barrels represent each unit to be taught and include materials such as menu pads, measuring cups and spoons, pamphlets on food safety, a Mexican sombrero, puppets, etc.

Lutt said he believes Wayne was chosen because of its AA accreditation and because the Wayne school system has a quality reputation throughout the state.

A VARIETY OF MATERIALS are provided to the Wayne-Carroll School District elementary school for a nutrition program which will be used next fall. Displaying some of the items received in large cardboard barrels from left: Brian Lantz, a poster from the physical fitness unit; Brent Sherman, a sombrero from the vegetables unit; Steven Hansen, puppets from the key nutrients unit; and Troy Frey, a T-shirt from the key nutrients unit.

Firemen On Call Twice

FIREMEN RUSHED out to a grove fire seven miles south and 1 1/4 miles west of Wayne Thursday night and quickly distinguished the flames. Above, firemen put out the remaining sparks and wet down the area to prevent the fire from spreading. It was reported that the grove fire on the Jack Langemeier farm was started after flames from a burning silo pit spread to the grove. Wayne Volunteer Firemen also put out a chimney fire Thursday morning at the Mrs. Henry Schroeder house, six miles north, two miles west and 1/4 mile north of Wayne. Slight smoke damage was reported.

3 Students Arraigned On Assault Charges

Three Wayne State College students involved in a fracas several weeks ago were arraigned in Wayne County Court Wednesday morning on charges of third degree assault. Preliminary hearing for Maxwell, who also was charged with first degree assault, a felony, has been set for 9:30 a.m. May 8. All three pleaded not guilty Wednesday to the charges of third degree assault, a misdemeanor. Maxwell is expected to enter a plea to the felony charge at a later date. The incident occurred about 1:30 a.m. March 10 in the 200 block of E. Sixth Street. Students injured in the melee were Terry Meyer, Susan Terwilliger, Gary Krusemark, Bart Armitage and Mike DeBorde. Meyer was most seriously injured after Maxwell allegedly hit and kicked Meyer, causing cuts, bruises and a broken leg. Others injured received cuts, bruises and abrasions.

'The Crunch' — Everybody's Problems

Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation
By M.M. Van Kirk,
Director of Information

High interest rates, a credit crunch, inflated production costs and a decline in grain and livestock prices have combined to present U.S. and Nebraska farmers and ranchers with the most dismal outlook at the beginning of the planting season since the 1930's.

The seriousness of the present situation is underscored by the fact that such assessments are coming from farm and ranch operators who have successfully weathered many previous stress situations and are inclined to be optimistic on contrast to those who cry "wolf, wolf" even in the best of times.

They are concerned because they recognize that the nation's overall economy is under siege from inflated prices and production costs. They note that although cattle numbers are down, beef prices are slipping because consumers are resisting as they try to cope with inflation.

There are disturbing reports in the farm country of banks refusing to make new loans or extend old ones because they are already loaned to their limits. With interest rates at record highs, many farmers, particularly those who haven't had time to acquire large equity holdings and are forced to rely heavily on credit, are hesitant about their ventures, uncertain about prospects of even covering their interest costs.

It is really that costs of diesel fuel, fertilizer and virtually all of their production costs are up substantially this spring over last. Only good thing in that picture seems to be that supplies are more assured this spring than last.

There are isolated accounts of breaks in the land price spiral. For a good many years land values have continued to rise out of all proportion to what it would produce, pushed up by buyers using it as a speculative hedge against inflation and to expand operating units. But with interest rates at current levels and investment money tightening, land isn't selling as it was even a few months ago.

Urban dwellers who have watched the housing market fall off recently because potential buyers can't qualify for the loan payments, can well understand how the demand for farm and ranch land has slackened. One of the worst features of the Depression period was that good farms and houses wouldn't bring the price of the mortgages against them.

Is there any light at the end of the tunnel and some good news to relieve the bad? On the plus side, agricultural exports continue at relatively high levels despite loss of sales to the USSR because of the embargo. If Congress and the Administration will balance the federal ledger and keep it in balance, curtail costly government regulation, and take other hard steps to bring inflation under control, then things can improve. But the cure will take months and years.

U.S. agriculture has always shown surprising resilience and an ability to confound the experts. If inflation can actually be controlled, production costs would stabilize and interest rates could decline to more realistic figures.

Right now there are too many "ifs" and too much uncertainty in the big picture.

Many farmers are well aware that the entire economy is under great stress. One observed recently, "This time everybody, not just the farmer, is in this thing."

The nation's economy is not just a farm problem, it's everybody's problem. All workers can concentrate on being more productive. Union leaders can temper their demands and tell their members it is better to have a job than no railroad, no packing plant, or no auto factory to employ them. Baseball players could decide they could play for less in preference to going on strike and seriously damaging the sport. Politicians could start thinking in terms of what is best for their state and nation and less about the game of politics.

Everybody, not just farmers, has a stake in saving the economy of this country and putting it back on track.

The pied typer is taking a vacation, of sorts, from the daily routine this weekend. The Nebraska Press Association is having its annual press convention this weekend, and I'm stealing away for an update on what's going on in my profession.

We'll give a full report next week, but won't have much to offer until then. The convention began Thursday, with the pied typer getting away early Friday morning.

The Wayne Herald was to receive an award Friday night, but the type of award and what place will be unknown until the banquet.

This is an abbreviated column, written minutes before leaving for Omaha. Bear with us.

The convention included nationally known columnist Tom Wicker, Freedom of Information specialist Jack Landau, seminars on photography, the law and the press, layout and design, sports writing, and a talk by State Department specialist Hodding Carter.

There is, of course, some spare time for socializing. Oddly enough, more information oftentimes can be gathered during the bull sessions than at the seminars.

More later.

Vacation in Nebraska, Save and Savor: Thone

"With the price of gasoline as high as it is and with more steep increases on the way, Nebraskans in 1980 can save a bundle of money by vacationing in Nebraska within their home state.

Those who do take trips through Nebraska and savor its sights will find that our state offers great variety and some breathtaking scenery.

Last year the Thones vacationed at Fort Robinson State Park, so I speak from experience when I recommend with sincere enthusiasm the pleasures of getting away from it all here in our own state.

This year for the first time we expect four groups from Germany to be vacationing in Nebraska. Hopefully, at the same time, hundreds of thousands of Nebraskans will get to know their state better.

Last summer, gasoline was in particularly short supply in the months when most of the travel takes place in Nebraska. As a result, many of the motels, restaurants and attractions that depend heavily on tourists had their receipts down by about 30 percent last summer. I think I can safely predict that this year the operators of Nebraska tourist facilities will be unusually eager to serve and to please those who come to see them.

"If any kind of disruption would occur in any of the oil exporting nations, we would have a petroleum shortage in the United States within six weeks. Barring such an occurrence, gasoline supplies are expected to be adequate in 1980. The prices, however, will cause most folks to think at least twice before undertaking any cross-continent trips.

Each of us who vacations in Nebraska will save money, will help reduce our nation's over-dependence on foreign oil, will have a surprising amount of good fun and will gain a greater understanding and appreciation of our own state.

As the folks in the state tourist office say, vacationing in Nebraska is 'delightfully different.' We have many unique attractions and some of the most varied scenery to be found within the borders of a single state.

If you'd like information about Nebraska's attractions, its state parks and recreation areas or a calendar of events taking place in Cornhuskerland in 1980, just write: State Tourist Division, Box 94666, Lincoln, NE 68509."

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

STANTON County VFW Post 3602 will again host a Loyalty Day parade and program on May 1 in Stanton to promote patriotism and Americanism in the community. A poster contest on patriotism is also being planned for all youngsters of the county in grades K-8.

THE Beemer School Board and Beemer Education Association came to terms on a base salary of $10,000 for the 1980-81 school year as was approved by the board of education at their regular meeting April 7. Some final negotiations have yet to be completed.

ALAN and Lynette Risor have purchased the Village Bake Shop in Wisner from H & K Enterprises effective April 14. The business was established in the past year by the Tom Hoefs and Mike Kuzelka families. An open house is being planned in a couple of weeks.

CONGREGATION members held ground breaking services April 13 at the site of the new Assembly of God Church in Pender. Taking first scoops were church board members Chester Westerhold and Stan Rihaneck, Pastor Harvey Hansen, building chairman Frank Nelson, Kurt Otte of Otte Construction in Wayne, board members Gene Steinman and Rodger Smith. Construction cost for the 5,220-square-foot building will be about $152,000.

JEFF Hallstrom has been selected by American Legion Third District Commander Harvey Rellitz of Emerson to represent the district at the Junior Lawman Program in Lincoln. The event will be held at the Nebraska State Patrol Training Center at the Lincoln Air Park June 8-13.

THE Nebraska Supreme Court last week upheld a decision by Pierce County District Court that the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District acted properly in its procedures in planning and adopting the Willow Creek recreational project near Pierce. A couple of years ago a group of residents of the area where the project would be built filed suit against the LENRD, contending that certain expenditures made by the LENRD were improper.

APPOINTMENT of Mary Beacom as postmaster at Waterbury effective April 19 was announced recently by John Doran, Regional Postmaster General for the 13 state Central Region. Ms. Beacom has been employed as a leave replacement at the Waterbury Post Office since Dec. 6, 1975 and has served as officer in charge since Sept. 22, 1979.

Dear Editor: Great small town editors of the past have achieved a mark of greatness in their communities by taking an editorial stand, whether locally popular or not, on local issues, in their editorial columns.

They have not achieved this greatness by subtly editorializing through the front page banner headline, as you did when you stated "Family Planning is a Right." If you editorially feel that it is a "right," that is your privilege, but it remains a value, not a fact. I find it personally incompatible with my philosophy, that family planning is a personal responsibility, not a societal mandate. I find it in very poor taste to make this a front page feature story.

The concept that "everyone should have the right to and access to family planning," is really saying, "Since the government now will assume responsibility even before the cradle, now I am free of responsibility, and need not even worry very much if I get caught." Family planning information is readily available through most family physicians.

As a very grateful mother of 6 children born after I was 25, I feel that the Helen in your story, who doesn't know where to turn in her sixth pregnancy at age 25 has other problems far more overriding than her need for contraceptive knowledge. What has happened to the recommendations made more than a generation ago, that prenuptial planning should include not only the legally required blood tests, but should also include comprehensive physical examination to detect serious physical problems, including readily apparent fertility problems, provide up to date contraceptive information for those wishing this, allay any fears about sexual functioning, and oftentimes added some very personal, mature insights into the emotional relationships that lead to a sound marriage? It would seem that this would still be a much more appropriate function of the family physician than of the Dept. of HEW.

When I read one of your recent editorial columns concerning the anxieties surrounding the birth of your first born, my heart warmed at the thought of the privilege that parenthood really is. I believe that any couple seriously concerned about any potential infertility problems is going to seek help from the most highly skilled specialist available.

As a taxpayer, I resent very much being forced to pay $50 for every person who utilizes the services of Northeast Nebraska Family Health Services. Programs such as this, and free weatherization, and many others funded under the same umbrella have a great deal to do with why our taxes are high. It does not matter whether taxes are raised by a city sales tax, a property tax or an income tax. The more of these services that we demand and consider our "right," the more it is going to cost every taxpayer, but the name of the game seems to be to force someone else to assume financial responsibility. Tax money is going to be needed for those functions that can best be handled on a collective community basis, but sexual responsibility should rest with the individual. I am not sure how many people realize that this organization actually has gone out to new mothers to solicit their participation in this program. Several have indicated to me their anger, and said they were made to feel guilty and irresponsible when they refused to participate.

April 15

Dear Sir: I have been following with extreme interest the conflict and turmoil being generated in the Allen School District over the proposed zero percent budget limitation starting with the 1980-81 school year.

As an alumnus of the Allen high school, class of 1959, I would like to publicly state that I am extremely proud and thankful for the academic and athletic education which I received at Allen. The secondary education I received laid the cornerstone which has served as a basis for my life's work and has generated my continuing interest in the effect that the actions of people and government have on each other.

At the present time many other Allen graduates and I are very concerned about the future of the Allen school system if the proposed zero percent lid is voted in. Already the reputation for stability and progress which the Allen school system has enjoyed in the past among my colleagues in the teaching profession has been severely damaged. If this lid is voted in, what competent professional educator or administrator would even think of signing a contract with that district?

Proponents of the zero percent lid are concerned because the district has some funds in reserve. This makes excellent business sense. How long will these reserve funds hold out in the face of raging 18 percent inflation rates?

At the present time there is no guarantee that the lid would be in effect for only one year. School financial specialists have informed me that it is very possible that the Allen school system could be closed down within two years because of financial instability if this lid is passed. If it isn't closed down it may have serious difficulty in meeting state accreditation standards which means that the diploma earned would not be worth the paper it is written on.

The various charges in the media by the pro lid advocates with regard to trills in the school budget are of great interest to me. I served on a State Department of Education evaluation team a few years ago which studied the Allen school system. Trills certainly were not a problem then. In fact, many of the team members recommended substantially increased spending in some areas. The pro lid forces should be asked to list specifically what they have in mind with regard to trills. Is the football team a trill or is it the school buses? Is the hot lunch program a trill or is it vocational education such as FFA and Home Economics? Again exactly what do the pro lid forces mean by a trill?

I would urge the patrons of the Allen School district to keep the most important people in this conflict in mind — the students themselves. If a vote is cast in favor of the lid because of negative feelings against a school administrator, school board member or school teacher, then injustice will have been done against the persons who have the most to lose — the students of Allen Consolidated School. The patrons of the district should also remember that if the lid is voted in under present law it will take a 51 percent majority of all registered voters in the district to remove it. It is difficult these days to get 51 percent of the registered voters to the polls.

Thomas Jefferson said that the key to a strong democracy is a well-educated public. Therefore, money provided for education is not an expenditure on the present so much as an investment in the future for a free, vigorous, economically viable, democratic republic.

Health Care — A New Appraisal

By U.S. Chamber of Commerce

From one Presidential election campaign to the next, to the unfinished business of one Congress to the new business of the next Congress, countless proposals for federalizing the national health care system have been paraded before the American public.

Health care has been a matter of public concern for longer than most of us seem to realize. And certainly the nature of the debate has changed dramatically since eager colleagues argued the pros and cons of "socialized medicine" with youthful fervor back in the 1930's.

All the while, of course, the American health care system has made vast progress toward becoming the best in the world.

Far too many advocates of nationalized health care — basically, the notion that the federal government must guarantee everyone health care, regardless of cost — tend to be oblivious to this accomplishment.

Thus, it comes as a breath of fresh air that as Congress looks into the current flood of legislative health schemes, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce makes the point that "the debate on national health care requires fresh thinking as we begin in the 1980's."

Americans not only live longer and healthier lives than ever before under our system of private hospitals and doctors, augmented by public services, all but 3 percent of our citizens also enjoy some form of health insurance to protect them against burdensome costs.

Critics of the system are constrained to speak less and less of comprehensive national health insurance schemes. Instead, they use catastrophic illness — a highly emotional problem for a family when it strikes — as their main selling point. But here again they want the public to overlook the tremendous gains that have taken place to protect families from possible bankruptcy.

Protecting all Americans against financial ruin due to health care costs is a laudable goal. O.H. Delchamps, Jr., of Mobile, Ala., chief executive officer of a family-owned grocery chain throughout the Gulf Coast states, said as a witness for the U.S. Chamber recently before the Senate Health Committee subcommittee on health care, "However, such protection is already provided — mostly by employers — making a government-mandated program unnecessary."

From 1973 to 1978, the proportion of American workers covered against catastrophic medical cost of $100,000 or more rose from 24 percent to 88 percent. Over half of these have $1 million protection, and a third unlimited benefits. Overall, 95 percent of all Americans have some type of catastrophic insurance, and practically none of these have less than $10,000, according to data compiled by the Health Insurance Institute, the research arm of the health insurance industry.

How has this come about? In large part because employers are constantly improving benefits provided their employees. According to a widely respected analysis of employee benefits made for many years by the Chamber, employers between 1967 and 1978 increased their spending for insurance — mainly for hospital, surgical and medical care — from $4.02 a week per employee to $14.88 a week, or by 270 percent. Only outlays for workers' compensation — insurance protecting injured workers from loss of income — rose more sharply.

"An estimated $48 billion in 1979 was spent by employers for group health insurance premiums to cover employees and their dependents," said Delchamps. "Indeed, 90 percent of all group health insurance is bought through the workplace, with employers paying 70 percent of the cost." The federal government, meanwhile, will spend an estimated $62.4 billion in fiscal 1981 for health care — the major share to provide services for 23 million poor beneficiaries and for the aged and the disabled.

If behoves those still clamoring for catastrophic insurance — a foothold for those wanting greater federal involvement — to recognize the realities of today's circumstances.

It is time to discard the myths of the past and take note of the passing parade.

Keeping tab on regulatory costs

In a day of computer printouts that keep your pay stub up to the minute and snatch an overdrawn check out of mid-air, the Federal budget doesn't even bother to tally how much is spent in a year on regulation of the U.S. economy.

The "prudent" fiscal 1981 budget, revealed in January, again failed to make such a calculation, to the dismay of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Through its own efforts, the Chamber combed through different agency figures to conclude that regulatory spending would rise by 12 percent, compared with an overall budget increase of 9 percent.

In periods of high inflation, regulatory activity has a sharp impact on the cost of doing business and consumer prices.

"A true regulatory budget must recognize the total cost of regulation," writes Martin Lefkowitz, senior economist for the Chamber. "Unfortunately, the budgeting process in this regard has been woefully deficient."

In 1977, for example, the federal government budgeted $427 million to enforce pollution abatement and control but, in reality, total pollution control costs ran $37.5 billion, or 87 times the federal government regulatory expense.

Fortunately, the Office of Management and Budget, which has been working to curb overregulation by agencies, has now come forward with a legislation, according to a news report, would establish the government's first system to assess the costs of federal regulation, including compliance by business.

In times of double-digit inflation, such information is essential to help formulate policy. In fact, its absence helps explain why we are in deep trouble.

VFW Auxiliary Elects Officers

The VFW Auxiliary met last Monday night at the Wayne Vet's Club and elected new officers.

Francis Doring was elected president of the VFW for the upcoming year. Other newly elected officers are Ruth Korth, senior vice president; Verna Mae Baier, junior vice president; Lillian Granquist, treasurer; Faunell Hoffman, chaplain; Amy Lindsay, conductress; Winnie Kraft, guard; Darlene Draghu, one-year trustee; Eveline Thompson, two-year trustee; and Mabel Johnson, three-year trustee.

The new officers will be installed at the next meeting, on May 12 at the Vet's Club.

Nineteen members attended the April meeting, which was called to order by Neva Lorenzen.

General Orders No. 4 were read from department president Sylvia Hill. It was announced that the M and M pillow cleaning will be held June 20 at the Roy Sommerfeld residence in Wayne.

Safety chairman Arlene Watley read an article, entitled "Reach Out with the Service of Safety to All Americans." Eveline Thompson, rehabilitation chairman, reported that Easter cards were sent to shut-ins and persons who were hospitalized.

Faunell Hoffman, Americanism chairman, told members how to care for the flag. She announced that the auxiliary has donated a pamphlet on the flag to the Wayne Public Library. Francis Doring, hospital chairman, reported that the Veterans Hospital is in need of wheelchair pocket holders.

Ruth Korth, legislation chairman, told about the Political Action Program. Darlene Draghu announced that Loyalty Day will be observed in Wayne at a program May 1 at 8 p.m. at the Vets Club.

Plans were made for Memorial Day, on May 26.

Neva Lorenzen, Francis Doring, Amy Lindsay, Faunell Hoffman, Helen Stefken, Emma Soules, Lottie Longnecker and District III treasurer Eveline Thompson attended the District Convention at Elgin on April 13. New district officers include Eveline Thompson, treasurer; Neva Lorenzen, guard; and Helen Stefken, assistant guard. The next District III Convention will be at Hartington in October. Delegates from Wayne are Darlene Draghu, Emma Soules, Faunell Hoffman, Amy Lindsay and Winnie Kraft, and alternates include Helen Stefken, Eveline Thompson, Neva Lorenzen, Mabel Johnson and Verna Mae Baier.

Delegates chosen to attend the Department Convention, slated June 20-22 in Norfolk, were Eveline Thompson, Francis Doring and Helen Stefken. Alternates are Amy Lindsay, Dorothy Dangberg and Ruth Korth. Francis Doring and Eveline Thompson are delegates to the National Convention, which will be held Aug. 15-21 in Chicago, and alternates are Neva Lorenzen and Mabel Johnson.

The Wayne unit gave a $50 donation to the Wayne Rescue Unit and a $100 donation to the Wayne Vets Club to purchase a flag. Donations also were given to the political action committee and for Girls State at Lincoln in June.

On the serving committee were Mary Woehler, Irene Jeffrey and Leona Kluge.

Club Exchanging May Baskets

Pleasant Valley Club members will exchange May baskets at their next meeting, scheduled May 21 at 2 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Charles Nichols.

Co-hostess for the May meeting will be Mrs. Walt Pearson.

Fifteen members met in the home of Mrs. Ed Frevert Wednesday, answering roll call with a spring poem or saying. Mrs. Charles Heikes was co-hostess and Mrs. William Kinslow was a guest.

Mrs. Charles Nichols and Mrs. Dale Thompson were in charge of the entertainment, with prizes going to Mrs. Ervin Hagemann, Mrs. Don Pedersen, Mrs. Albert Damme, Mrs. Paul Baier and the guest.

Mrs. Raymond Larsen received the door prize.

Friday Meeting of Hospital Auxiliary

The April meeting of the Wayne Community Hospital Auxiliary was held Friday afternoon in the Woman's Club room. The thought for the day was given by Helen Echtenkamp.

Hostesses were Minnie Ulrich and Lola Bressler.

Helen Echtenkamp and Irene Reibold will be hostesses for the next meeting, at 2 p.m. May 16.

Workshop Teaches Management Of Stress Through Relaxation

"Self-mastery through muscle relaxation and breathing techniques can help when coping with stressful situations," according to Dr. Hermann Witte, Ph.D., University of Nebraska Medical Center, Omaha.

Dr. Witte conducted the second Stress Management Workshop for 22 men and women at the Northeast Station near Concord Tuesday.

The concept of self-mastery through "self-talks," or mindfully convincing oneself of his own capability to cope, was presented at the first workshop held in early March at the Northeast Station. Dr. Witte reviewed this concept, which he calls psychological self-mastery, at Tuesday's meeting.

At the workshop, Dr. Witte presented the concept of physical self-mastery. "The four phases of physical self-mastery," said Witte, "are diet, muscle tension, breath control and exercise." Techniques demonstrated at the workshop dealt mainly with muscle tension control and breathing techniques. Bio-feedback equipment was used to demonstrate the effects of muscle tension and breathing on the body. Persons attending participated in the relaxation and breathing exercises.

Dr. Witte is director of behavioral psychology at the Cardiovascular Center at the University of Nebraska Medical Center. He offers stress management workshops under the auspices of the International Stress Foundation.

Workshops held at the Northeast Station were arranged by Anna Marie White, area extension agent, as part of the Health Awareness Impact programs being promoted by the Cooperative Extension Service in 1980-81. Attending the April 15 workshop were Mr. and Mrs.

Cletus Temple, Helen and Verna Schweers, Frances Armstrong and the Rev. Nile Buch, all of Ponca, Diane Glassmeyer, Mavis Lull, Kathryn Lull, Karen Wiseman and Elsie Echtenkamp, all of Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Allan D. Anderson and Kate Lear of Norfolk, Mr. and Mrs. Don Sprick of Pilger, Lois Borg of Concord, Beverly Broderson of Coleridge, Mrs. Gerald Smith of Hartington, Eunice Leapley of Laurel, Sally Miller of Pender and Kay Peters of Plainview.

Historical Society Schedules Meeting At County Museum

A meeting of the Wayne County Historical Society is planned Tuesday, April 22, at 7:30 p.m. at the county museum in Wayne.

Mrs. Eucile Larson, a member of the Historical Society, said the group will discuss reprinting "The History of Wayne County" by Dorothy Huse Nyberg.

Mrs. Larson said landscaping is underway at the museum and several trees have been planted. Clothing donated to the society during the winter is being sorted and prepared for display. The museum, which has been closed during the winter months, will be open to the public in May.

Senior Citizens Model Spring Fashions

Members of the Wayne Senior Citizens Center were treated to a fashion show by Elaine's Fashions of Wayne Wednesday afternoon following the monthly potluck luncheon.

Mrs. Jocell Bull, director of the Senior Citizens Center, was narrator for the parade of fashions at the center, and models were Gladys Petersen, Mary E. Miller, Viola Lawrence, Mrs. August Dorman, Dorothy Thun, Emma Soules and Goldie Farney.

There were 53 present for the noon potluck luncheon. Susan Wert arranged the floral centerpiece and Irv Jones led in the invocation, followed with group singing of "The Doxology."

Randolph Couple United At St. John's Lutheran

Wedding bells rang at St. John's Lutheran Church in Randolph April 12 for the ceremony uniting in marriage Diane Lienemann and Keith Loberg of Randolph.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Don Lienemann and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Loberg, all of Randolph.

The Rev. Ivan Amman and the Rev. R. Peschel of Randolph officiated at the 6 p.m. double ring rite. The church was decorated with a spiral candelabra with yellow candles and yellow and green carnations and pompons.

Soloist was Mrs. Sharyl Brodersen and organist was Mrs. JoAnn Hokamp, both of Randolph. Wedding music included "Wedding Song," "If," "You Made Us For Each Other," "The Lord's Prayer" and "We've Only Just Begun."

MR. AND MRS. KEITH LOBERG

The bride, given in marriage by her father, appeared in a Diane gown of sheer organza, designed with a sheer yoke bodice accented with Venice lace and a Cluny lace ruffle. The mandarin collar was of Cluny lace, which also cuffed the long, full sleeves. The long, circular skirt and chapel-length train also were edged in Cluny lace. The bride's chapel-length mantilla, edged in lace, was attached to a lace cap, and she carried a cascade of gardenias, stephanotis, yellow sweetheart roses and baby's breath with white satin streamers.

Julie Kruse of Randolph served as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Jane Kaiser of Norfolk, Debbie Bargholz of Wayne, Verlene Loberg of Norfolk and Shelly Stratton of Randolph.

Their floor-length maize fashions were designed with blouson bodices, split cap sleeves and wide circular skirts. They wore yellow riple brim hats trimmed with ribbon and flowers and carried colonial bouquets of yellow pike carnations and mint green pompons with matching satin streamers.

The bride's personal attendant was Lori Peters of Norfolk.

Flower girl was Lori Lienemann of Doniphan and ring bearer was Dan Lienemann of Randolph. Julie Bargstadt and Mrs. Patti Gubbels, both of Norfolk, pinned on flowers.

Best man was Lester Loberg of Wayne. The groomsmen were Doug Lienemann of Randolph, Duane Bargholz of Wayne, Paul Loberg of Randolph and Loren Loberg of Madison.

The bridegroom was attired in white and his attendants wore forest green luredoes with white ruffled shirts.

Candles were lighted by Larry Lienemann of Doniphan and Brad Bargstadt of Randolph, and guests were ushered into the church by Terry Lienemann and Larry Lienemann, both of Doniphan, and Dale Loberg and Brad Bargstadt, both of Randolph.

Mrs. Lienemann selected a mint knit in floor length for her daughter's wedding, and Mrs. Loberg chose a floral knit, also in floor length. Both wore a gardenia corsage.

Nearly 325 guests attended a reception in the church fellowship hall following the wedding. Guests were registered by Sharon Illingworth of Lincoln and gifts were arranged by Joni Robinson and Barb and Jolene Nordhus of Randolph. The gifts were carried by Merlin Loberg and Darryl Loberg.

Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Ar

Janssen-Gunn Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Janssen of Platte Center announce the engagement of their daughter, Rita Fay, to Robert Eric Gunn of Lauderdale, Tasmania, Australia.

The couple is planning an April 26 wedding at St. Peter's Lutheran Church. They will visit the bride's family in Nebraska in May, returning to make their home at 71 Bayview Rd., Lauderdale, Tasmania.

Miss Janssen, a 1973 graduate of Lakeview High School and a 1977 graduate of Platte College, received her degree in community counseling in 1979 at Wayne State College. She spent several months last year working for a Social Welfare Agency in Hobart, Tasmania. Gunn, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Eric Gunn of Hobart, Tasmania, is production accountant for the Tasmanian Film Corp.

The bride-elect is presently visiting her sister and family, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Herr and Janssen of Hobart.

Mother's Day Kicks Off National MS Campaign

Mother's Day this year is May 11. It was first celebrated in Philadelphia in 1908 and, since then, has become a traditional international holiday.

Mother's Day also is the traditional opening date of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society's annual Hope Chest Campaign, which runs through Father's Day, June 15.

A spokesman for the National Multiple Sclerosis Society said those dates were chosen because it's young mothers and father's who are most frequently stricken with MS, the mysterious crippling of young adults, that attacks the central nervous system.

Linda Gamble of Wayne, chairman of the local drive, said Wayne area residents will be contacted April 21 through May 5 for their contributions. Mrs. Gamble added that 40 percent of all funds collected in Nebraska go to national research, with 60 percent staying in Nebraska for services for patients and their families.

Multiple sclerosis is one of the country's major health problems, shattering the serenity of the lives of hundreds of thousands of patients, affecting an estimated two million family members throughout the United States.

Residents Meet At Villa Wayne

Eleven residents of Villa Wayne and two guests, Ruth Fleer and the Rev. Jim Mote of the Laurel United Methodist Church, met in the Villa community room Tuesday afternoon.

Cards furnished the entertainment and lunch was served by the April committee.

Bible study at the Villa Wayne Wednesday morning was conducted by the Rev. Larry Ostercamp of the Evangelical Free Church in Wayne. The group studied the first chapter of James.

Minnie Heikes, a Villa resident, is hospitalized in Blair.

Devils Avenge Earlier Loss to Laurel 4-1

It wasn't easy but the Wayne Blue Devils got revenge over Laurel with a 4-1 baseball victory, Wednesday afternoon in Laurel.

Tim Pfeiffer pitched a one hitter, holding Laurel to one run in seven innings. Joe Olsen, Laurel's pitcher, held Wayne to only five hits but the Devils scored four runs to avenge an opening season 11-0 loss to the Bears.

Laurel scored first as Shannon Hopkins singled and later came home because of two Wayne errors. Pfeiffer only allowed two other base runners in the final six innings while striking out nine batters.

The Blue Devils scored one run in the third, one in the fifth and two in the seventh to gain the triumph. Jeff Sperry scored the first run in the third inning to tie the game. He walked, advanced on a single by Jeff Zeiss and scored on a base hit by Kevin Nissen.

Zeiss scored the go-ahead run in the fifth inning. Sperry and Zeiss added the final two insurance runs in the top of the seventh inning. Mitchell had an RBI.

The win evened Wayne's record at 2-2 while Laurel fell to 1-2. Wayne coach Mike Mallette commended Laurel for its quality baseball program and termed the Bears a much improved ball club.

Wayne's reserve team won a five inning contest 11-7. Jim Sperry went the distance to gain the win. Jeff McCright collected three hits in four plate appearances to lead the hitting attack.

Del Signs Rick and Dan

WAYNE HIGH athletes Rick Johnson (left) and Dan Mitchell sign letters of intent to play football at Wayne State College. The two West Husker All Conference players will be a fine addition to the Wayne State athletic program. WSC coach Del Stoffenberg (above) said, Johnson was a standout in football, wrestling and track and Mitchell was a football, wrestling and baseball standout.

BILLY IVEY, WSC basketball coach, submitted his resignation for the 1980-81 school year.

Ivey Resigns Position

Bill Ivey, head basketball coach at Wayne State College for the past two years, has submitted his resignation to be effective at the end of the present school year.

Ivey cited personal reasons for his decision to resign. No other details were available for publication.

Coach Ivey was appointed to the Wayne State post in March of 1978 to replace former coach Jim Seward. He came to Wayne from Fort Scott Community College in Kansas.

Other prior experience included coaching positions at Clyde A. Erwin High School in Asheville, N.C., Lumberton High School in Lumberton, N.C., Florida Air Academy in Melbourne, Fla. and Riverview High School in Sarasota, Fla.

The 39 year old Ivey is married and has one daughter.

Ball Park Renovation Meeting Set Thursday

An organizational meeting to discuss renovation of the Wayne City Baseball Park is scheduled at 7:30 p.m., Thursday (April 24) in the Wayne Chamber of Commerce office.

The meeting is open to all persons who attended the initial organizational meeting and to anyone else who is interested in the ball park renovation.

Several engineers and city officials will be on hand to answer questions and help plan the starting dates for various steps of the project. Among them will be two representatives of Gilmore and Associates, the engineers of the project; Darrell Brewington, city administrator; Norm Melton, city clerk; and Vern Schulz of the street department.

Teams One and Four to Clash

The Men's Recreation C League Basketball season is entering its final week and the top seeded team of playoffs will meet the Cinderella team for the league championship.

The title game is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m., Wednesday when Team Four (Arneson's) faces Team One (Matson's).

Team One rallied in the fourth quarter from a five point deficit to defeat Team Six 55-44 in Wednesday's opening semifinal round game. Team Four reached the finals by nipping Team Three, the tournament underdog, 51-48.

Final Period Comeback After opening the game with a dismal first quarter, Team One rallied late in the game to eliminate Team Six from playoffs with a 55-44 triumph. Team Six led by seven or eight points during most of the game and held on to a 38-33 advantage entering the final period. A 22-6 advantage in the fourth quarter gave Team One the win.

Only nine fouls were committed by the winners while Team Six committed 21 fouls, several in the final minutes of the game. Duane Blomkamp led the early scoring for Team Six and Don Zeiss did most of the scoring in the rest of the game but a flat fourth quarter proved to be disastrous. Zeiss finished with 15 points and Blomkamp followed with 14.

Team One suffered through its cold spell in the first quarter, managing only five points. Bill Blecke scored 10 points in the fourth quarter and his team scored 22 points to pull away.

Blecke led the winners with 19 points, Ric Wilson followed with 13 and Hank Overin added 12. Team One: Matson, 6; Overin, 12; Wilson, 13; Blecke, 19; Peterson, 3; Nichols, 2. Team Six: Zeiss, 15; Blomkamp, 14; March, 6; Wriedt, 3; Rise, 6.

Close to the End Team Four, which won only four games during the regular season, continued its title quest by reaching the playoff finals with a tough 51-48 victory over Team Three.

Team Three led by one point after the first quarter but Team Four rallied behind Ron Sladek's eight points to lead 22-22 at half-time. Don Sherman, Randy Pedersen and Dick Sorensen scored well for Team Three in the second half, but Marlon Arneson and Don Koeber caught fire to lead Team Four.

Arneson led the winners with 19 points followed by Sladek with 12 and Koeber with 11. For Team Three, Sorensen scored 15 and Sherman added 13.

Team Four: Arneson, 19; Ditman, 6; Sladek, 12; Schumacher, 3; Koeber, 11. Team Three: Gross, 4; Sorensen, 15; Sherman, 13; Bursi, 5; Pedersen, 9; Hammer, 2.

Playoff finals are scheduled to begin at 8 p.m., Wednesday in the city auditorium.

Wayne Stumbles 6-5

The difference between Wednesday and Thursday was like night and day for the Wayne Blue Devils as they lost 6-5 to Bancroft on the road after defeating Laurel a day earlier.

Jeff Zeiss collected three of Wayne's hits and Tim Pfeiffer added two others in a seven hit attack.

Bancroft scored three runs in the first inning off of starting pitcher Jeff Dion. Wayne regained the lead in the second inning as Dion, Tim Thomas and Zeiss scored. Zeiss blasted a triple to drive in the first two runs.

Bancroft tied the game in the bottom of the fifth but Dion tripped and scored on a single by Zeiss in the top of the sixth to take the lead again.

SPRING FOOTBALL practice rolled into full swing this past week at Wayne State College as temperatures increased making practice sessions livable. Here, the Wildcats work on offensive and defensive plays preparing for the fall season.

Wayne State Football

Cats Look to Offense

Wayne State College football coach Del Stollenberg hopes to pump some life into his offense in 1980. In 1979, the Wildcats spluttered on offense, averaging only a little over 10 points per game and 248 yards total offense.

The 1979 offensive totals were especially disappointing since the Wildcats returned almost all of their skill people from a 1978 offensive unit that averaged over 320 yards total offense per game and about 17 points per contest.

A combination of injuries, disappointing performances and an inexperienced offensive line all played a part in that lack of offensive punch. A stingy young defensive unit, however, kept Wayne State in several games and the Wildcats salvaged a 4-5-1 record.

This year 15 starters return, seven on offense and eight on defense and those 15 couples with some promising transfers and freshmen prospects could give the Wildcats a good shot at an upper division finish in the Central States Intercollegiate Conference.

The following is a position by position breakdown of the 1980 Wildcats:

Offensive Line: Four returning starters — Bill Milks, Bob Broome, Keven Johnson and Steve Zelinsky. Only All American center Kevin Savio does not return.

Ron Price, who backed up Savio last year, may replace him. Steve Hruby, a senior who has been a reserve defensive lineman, is another possible center. He gained over 10 pounds during the winter months and now is 6-2, 221 pounds. Also some possible position changes on the offensive line. Milks could move to center.

Top newcomers — Mark Bowder, 6-0, 215 pounds; Bob Cody, 6-3, 250 pounds; Paul Zelinsky, 6-2, 225 pounds; Keith Bryant, 6-2, 200 pounds; Rufus Childs, 6-3, 270 pounds; Ken Kohler, 6-1, 175 pounds and Byron Maynes, 6-4, 200 pounds.

Receivers: Three returning starters — wide receiver Jeff Ingrum, tight end Ed Blackburn and wingback Pat Maxwell. Ingrum, WSC's all-time single-season pass catcher returns from broken collarbone that sidelined him all of last season. His hard-ship ruling is still pending but should be accepted since he was injured on his first reception of 1980.

Steve Martin had some strong junior varsity performances last year and could see playing time at wide receiver. Blackburn had 17 catches last season as a sophomore. Depth is a problem at tight end with Joe Ortmeier, Tom Baumert and Jeff Heinold all possible reserves.

All three lack experience, however. Maxwell was the team's leading receiver with 27 catches last year. Transfer Donny Braticic could also see playing time at wingback along with last year's reserve Clark Benne. Top newcomers — Jim Ingrum, 6-3, 180 pounds; Donny Braticic, 5-7, 155 pounds; Joe Youngman, 5-11, 185 pounds; Brian Alderman, 6-0, 180 pounds and Doug Nodgaard, 6-3, 185 pounds.

Offensive Backs: One returning starter — quarterback Rick Lade. Lade is the Wildcat's career passing leader, however, the starting quarterback job is up for grabs after the Tekamah product's mediocre 1979 season. Either junior Kelly Neustrom or sophomore Mike Warren could take over the starting job. Both running back positions must be filled.

Fullback Bud Matthews and three-time All-American tailback Bob Barry graduated. Sophomore Larry Hinman is a contender for the tailback job, however, a broken hand sidelined him for the majority of spring drills. Tony Marinella, who saw considerable playing time as a freshman last year on the defensive side, could start at fullback.

Several freshmen will also compete for starting jobs. Top newcomers — Todd Pflanz, 5-9, 175 pounds; Wally Emerson, 6-1, 215 pounds; Pat McKeown, 5-10, 180 pounds; Dennis Garbella, 6-0, 210 pounds and Kirk Hutton, 5-8, 175 pounds.

Defensive Line: Three returning starters — Ron Berrie, Steve Hawkins and Bill Schwartz. The graduation of All American defensive end Tim Hurley is the biggest void that must be filled. Junior Philip Prusa might move into that position. Kirk Schroeder, a transfer from the University of Nebraska, could be a starting defensive tackle.

Berrie, Hawkins and Schwartz provide a solid nucleus to build around. Hawkins and Berrie were the team's number one and four tacklers respectively last year. Schwartz missed three games in 1979 with a knee injury but still had four quarterback sacks.

Top newcomers — Kirk Schroeder, 6-1, 195 pounds; Troy Theim, 6-1, 195 pounds; Doug Ptacnik, 6-1, 225 pounds; Jim Morgan, 6-1, 226 pounds and Jeff Steffen, 6-3, 190 pounds.

Linebackers: Two returning starters — Tony Scudder and Steve Dennis. Dennis and Scudder were top performers last year with 92 and 91 tackles respectively. Dennis has had knee problems but made it through the 1979 season without injury.

Scudder made a successful move from tackle to linebacker early in 1979 and displayed surprising quickness for his size (6-2, 240 pounds). Top newcomers — Kelvin Patrick, 6-0, 205 pounds; Mike Morgan, 6-1, 190 pounds and Mark Walker, 6-0, 200 pounds.

Defensive Backs: Three returning starters — Jay Sandy, Steve Atamian and Andy Neff. After a slow start in 1979 the defensive secondary molded into a consistent group led by Atamian. Atamian has a shot at All-American status in 1980. The Schaumburg, Ill., native has been a three year starter for the Wildcats.

Sandy and Neff, both newcomers last year, had strong seasons. Sandy was the team's seventh best tackler while Neff led the team in batted passes with 14. The fourth secondary position could be filled by transfer Mark Alderman.

He was a starter last year at Upper Iowa. Depth could be a problem unless some newcomers mature rapidly. Top newcomers — Mark Alderman, 6-1, 190 pounds; Frank Benedetto, 6-2, 190 pounds and Brad Wragge, 5-11, 172 pounds.

Kicking Game: The kicking game should show some improvement with the addition to transfer Gary Keckler. Keckler may take the place kicking job away from Bart Emanuel. Emanuel has had consistency problems and Keckler booted a 53 yard field goal in spring drills. Pat Maxwell returns to handle the punting. Speedster Donny Braticic could help the kick return game.

Diabetes Bike - A - Thon Scheduled for May 4

It's not everyday that a person can oil up that rusty old bike, get back in shape and raise money for a good cause, all at once.

But on Sunday, May 4, persons from six different communities are scheduled to participate in the American Diabetes Association Bike-A-Thon. The event is co-sponsored by the American Diabetes Association and the Wayne Jaycees. Communities participating include Wayne, Laurel, Wakefield, Allen, Emerson and Randolph.

THE RIDE will take place on Highway 15 from Henry Victor Park (located on the south edge of Wayne) to the nine mile corner south of Wayne and then back to the park. Five checkpoints will be set up along the route at the park and the three, five, seven and nine mile corners. Raindate for the event is Saturday, May 10.

Entrants may begin the trek at anytime between 12:30 and 6 p.m. and finish at anytime. Each rider will be asked to collect pledges from various sponsors. Sponsor sheets may be picked up at all local businesses who are helping sponsor the event or from Joanne Ekberg, chairman of the Bike-A-Thon.

PRIZES WILL be awarded to contestants who raise the most money. Grand Prize is a 10 speed bicycle, first prize is a clock radio, second prize is a carbon steel cutlery set, third prize is a pair of Nylan tennis shoes and fourth prize is a wind breaker jacket.

Prizes will also be given to the leading money makers in each age class. The event will be broken down into four age groups: ages 1-10; ages 11-14; ages 15-18 and ages 18 and up.

To be eligible for prizes, money must be turned in by May 23. Prizes will be awarded May 25. Riders may collect money from anyone who is willing to pledge a definite amount of money to the American Diabetes Association, Nebraska Affiliate.

PROCEEDS FROM the Bike A Thon will be used for: research of a cure for diabetes, patient and public education, detection of diabetes, and professional education.

Diabetes is the third leading cause of death in the United States. About 80,000 people affected by Diabetes live in the state of Nebraska. More details about the Bike-A-Thon will follow at a later date.

"WE HAVE a lot of backing from each community involved with the Bike-A-Thon and we're hoping for a great turnout," said Joanne Ekberg, chairman for the event. "We'd like to have a lot of people ride with us to help stamp out diabetes. Refreshments will be available at all check points and following the ride."

Ride for Diabetes

JOANNE EKBERG, chairman of the Diabetes Bike-A-Thon, oils a bicycle chain for Mayor Wayne Marsh. The Bike-A-Thon is scheduled from 12:30 to 6 p.m. Sunday, May 4 on a route nine miles south of Wayne. The Wayne Jaycees and the American Diabetes Association will co-sponsor the event in which everyone is welcome to participate.

Wayne Gals Trounce Wisner

The talented Wayne girls' track team applied its abilities to thrash Wisner Pilger 88-25 in a dual, Monday at Wisner.

The Blue Devils dominated by winning 12 events compared to two for the Gatorettes.

Junior Lisa Peters was the only double winner for Wayne. She won the 400 yard dash in 1:07.5 and the 220 yard dash in 28.7 seconds.

Other winners for the Devils were Tammie Thomas in the high jump (4.8), Jo Carlson in the shot put (32.5), Jill Mosley in the long jump (15.2), Jolene Bennett in the discus (100.4), Missy Stoltenberg in 100 yard dash (11.6), Lynn Surber in the mile run (6:01), Julie Wiener in the 880 yard run (2:46.2).

Wayne's relay teams were equally successful, winning the two mile relay in 10:38.2, the 400 yard relay in 54.7 and the mile relay in 4:31.4.

The two mile team is composed of Kris Proett, Julie Wiener, Lisa Peters and Lynn Surber. The 400 yard relay team is made up of Shelly Davis, Jill Mosley, Tracy Stoltenberg and Missy Stoltenberg. Runners on the mile relay team are: Missy Stoltenberg, Terry Johnson, Shelly Davis and Lisa Peters.

Second place Wayne winners were Bennett in the long jump (29.2), Kris Baier in the long jump (15.1), Tracy Stoltenberg in the 100 meter low hurdles (17.7), Mandy Peterson in the 100 yard dash (13.14), Missy Stoltenberg in the 440 (1:04.8), Tami Murray in the 880 (2:52.6), Jill Mosley in the 220 (29.38).

Third place winners were Tracy Stoltenberg in the high jump (4.0), Mandy Peterson in the long jump (13.7), Terry Johnson in the discus (70.9), Tami Murray in the 100 meter low hurdles (19.3), Kris Baier in the 100 yard dash (13.17) and the 220 (31.6), Michelle Kubik in the mile run (6:32.2).

Scouts Collect Newspapers

finishing touches on a pickup load. The Scouts plan another paper pickup in about six weeks. Dick Brown was in charge of the event this time.

When kept as pets, it's said, tarantula spiders learn to recognize their owners.

CONSERVATION TILLAGE CATCHING ON

Crop residue on the soil surface preserves soil moisture and prevents erosion.

Conservation tillage is known by several names including reduced tillage, no till, or even trash farming. Whatever you call it, a reduction in tillage operations for row crops seems to be catching on. The primary reason for its popularity is undoubtedly to reduce fuel costs, and it does that well. According to Cooperative Extension Service figures, a no till system can save .359 gallons of diesel fuel per acre over conventional tillage systems. A system which includes chiseling rather than mold board plowing saves .89 gallons of diesel per acre. A two year study by Iowa State University on a farm which has been minimum till farmed since 1966 showed an $18 per acre saving in fuel, time, and wear on machinery when compared to conventional tillage systems.

As good as these cost and fuel figures sound, these may be considered secondary benefits. Increased yields from moisture savings in dry years can be a major consideration. Each tillage operation exposes more soil to sun and wind, which causes increased evaporation. Less tillage means less evaporation, plus the residue from last years crop acts as a mulch to further reduce evaporation. In a dry year, the moisture saved by conservation tillage can mean the difference between a profit and a loss.

The benefit of soil conservation with conservation tillage should not be overlooked. Approximately 1/3 of existing cropland does not have adequate soil conservation treatment, which means it is subject to wind and water erosion. Terrace and dam construction is getting increasingly expensive, but conservation tillage can adequately treat some of this erodible land while it saves production costs. In many circumstances, conservation tillage may be the only land treatment necessary.

Conservation tillage cuts down the time you spend in the field, reduces wear on equipment, and may enable you to get your crop planted earlier. The ridges left from last years corn rows warm up earlier than flat ground. Planting into these ridges with a no till system can result in earlier germination.

For more information about conservation tillage contact your local Soil Conservation Service or Cooperative Extension Service offices.

APRIL 22, ARBOR DAY

Arbor Day, April 22, originated in Nebraska to remind people of the importance and beauty of trees. Arbor Day was the idea of J. Sterling Morton, a member of the State Board of Agriculture, and was first observed in 1872. Since that time, the observance of Arbor Day has spread nationwide, and Nebraska has been named "The Treeplanter State."

Plan to observe Arbor Day by planting a tree for your own enjoyment and for future generations.

TREE CARE AND PLANTING

Landowners will soon be receiving Clarke-McNary trees and shrubs which were ordered through local SCS, NRD, ASCS, or Extension offices. The seedlings are in excellent condition when they are sent out, but must be cared for until planting.

Open the box and check the seedlings for moisture. The roots are packed in peat moss which must be kept moist, but not submerged in water. The trees should be kept in a cool place until planting.

Ground preparation for machine planting trees should be fall plowing, if possible, and one or two diskings in the spring. After planting, the trees should be kept free of weeds by chemical or mechanical means for at least three years.

Caring for your trees in this manner will insure you of better survival and faster growth.

CONSERVATION TILLAGE DEMONSTRATION

If you are fighting rising production costs and are curious about how conservation tillage can help you, come to the Floyd Glassmeyer farm at 5:30 p.m. May 1.

Wayne County SCS and ASCS, Cooperative Extension Service, and Lower Elkhorn NRD are cooperating to bring you a demonstration of various conservation tillage systems and equipment. You will be able to see actual corn planting with various machines and learn the dollar savings and advantages of each system.

The Glassmeyer farm is located 4 miles south and 1/4 mile west of the highway 98 - 35 junction in Wayne. Field demonstrations will begin at 5:30 followed by lunch and discussion on advantages of conservation tillage.

For more information on the demonstration, contact the Cooperative Extension or Soil Conservation Service office in Wayne.

THE CITY SALES TAX ISSUE WILL BE ON THE BALLOT AT THE MAY PRIMARY ELECTION

VOTE

FOR A CITY SALES TAX TO REDUCE YOUR PROPERTY TAX

Would you like to reduce your property taxes?

- Your city council is aware of the need to reduce real property taxes while the demands to maintain the same quality of services persist.
- It costs money to maintain city services. Although some of the money comes from federal and state sources, most of the money to run city government is derived from property taxes.
- Your city's tax base has been narrowed by legislative action granting tax exemptions on various types of real and personal property.
- Your city has had to rely on real property taxes to offset the loss of revenue which resulted from the narrowed tax base.
- This increasing reliance on property tax has created financial hardship for all taxpayers, especially those on a fixed income.
- You as a property owner have virtually no control over the amount of your property tax assessment.
- You as a consumer decide which items you wish to purchase and therefore have more control over the amount of sales tax you have to pay.
- Adoption of a city sales tax will shift part, if not all, of the property tax burden to the sales tax.
- This reduction in property taxation due to adoption of a city sales tax is guaranteed because your city is required by state law to operate pursuant to a 7% lid.

Edwin Fahrtenhild, District 17 Legislative candidate, was present at the meeting to discuss a possible "Meet the Candidate Day." The Board will contact the Community Club and discuss this.

Ed Schroeder, Wayne County Public Power, attended the meeting to discuss the purchase of some customer lines the District has in the Village. An agreement was

Wakefield Ladies Aid Invited to Guest Day

The Ladies Aid of St Paul's Lutheran Church, Wakefield, has been invited to attend Guest Day on May 14 at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne.

Fourteen members of the Wakefield Ladies Aid met with hostess Mrs. Emil Tarnow April 10. The meeting opened with the LWML pledge and song.

The Rev. Paul Jackson led the discussion topic, entitled "I Believe in God's Son, My Redeemer."

President Mrs. Howard Greve conducted the business meeting and reminded members of the LWML Spring Zone Workshop to be held at St Paul's Lutheran Church, Carroll, on April 22. Registration is from 9 to 9:45 a.m.

The 20th biennial convention of the Nebraska District North Lutheran Womens Missionary League will be held June 9 to 11 at Christ Lutheran Church, Norfolk. Delegates from Wakefield are Mrs. Robert Hansen and Mrs. Ed Krusemark. Alternates are Mrs. Howard Greve and Mrs. Eugene Helgren.

The visitation committee reported and donations were made to the Bethesda Lutheran Home in Watertown, Wis. and to The Lutheran Hour.

The group observed the birthdays of Mrs. Clifford Baker and Mrs. Ed Krusemark and the anniversary of Mrs. Ronnie Krusemark.

Next meeting will be May 8 with hostess Mrs. Bill Hansen.

Guests in the Paul Henschke home April 10 to observe the birthday of the host included the Terry Henschkes and Jessica, the Tom Henschkes; Mrs. Doug Paulson and Jamie; Mrs. Verona Henschke and Damon, and the Jerry Andersons and Mindy.

The Robert Hansens attended the Midwest Spotted Swine Show and Sale in Waterloo, Iowa last Friday and Saturday.

Dinner guests April 13 in the Robert Hansen home were Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Thies of Mapleton, Iowa, Arnold Brudigam and the Dale Hansens. The Bill Hansens joined them in the afternoon.

Wayne County
Extension Agent

Editors Note: Trees have long been a part of the beauty of Wayne. The downtown improvement project has included the planting of trees in the Wayne business district. Because of the renewed interest in trees, Don Spitze, county extension agent, has provided the following in-depth information in planting and care for trees.

"I think I shall never see a poem as lovely as a tree" Joyce Kilmer. This statement by the famous poet brings visions of vigorous and beautiful shade trees that you too can have by following these eight tips for more beautiful trees.

It's especially important that trees be watered thoroughly in the fall to prevent winter injury.

American Linden

Purple Leaf Plum

Tip No. 1 — Prevent Sunscald

Sunscald can cause a canker which results in a dead area and sloughing off of bark. Sunscald is more apt to occur on the southwest side of the tree. Reflection of the sun off the snow contributes to the problem. Thin barked trees such as maple are especially susceptible in spring because the warm sun activates growth which kills the tender tissues during freezing nights. To protect against sunscald see Tip No. 2 — Wrap for Protection.

Tip No. 2 — Wrap for Protection

Wrap the trunk of the young trees to protect it from sunscald, insects, rodents and pets. Special tree wrapping paper, strips of burlap, kraft paper or aluminum foil can be used.

Wrap the trunk from ground level to the first branch. Secure the wrapping with string or stout twine. The wrap should be checked frequently, but left in place for two growing seasons. Retie if the twine or rope is cutting into the bark.

Tip No. 3 — Reducing Tree Injury

A lawn mower bumping into young tree trunks is a frequent cause of injury. Stake or cultivate an area around each tree to prevent mower injury.

Be careful with herbicides as they can kill your trees.

Storms are a frequent cause of tree injury. Remove damaged branches by making smooth, flush cuts on main stem but do not leave a stub.

Tip No. 4 — Water Properly

Trees often get too little water. Water for at least three years after planting. Watering after third year depends on rainfall.

A basin around the tree aids in watering. Thoroughly soak the area once a week. Light water produces shallow roots.

Figure 4

Tip No. 5 — Fertilizer Can Help

Use a complete fertilizer such as 10-6-4, 16-8-4 or 20-10-5. For small broadleaf trees of less than 6 inches trunk diameter, apply 1 pound of complete fertilizer for each inch of trunk diameter. Don't use fertilizer the first year after planting.

For larger broadleaf trees over 6 inches in trunk diameter, apply about 2 pounds of complete fertilizer for each inch of trunk diameter.

Evergreens require half the fertilizer of deciduous trees. Be sure to keep fertilizer away from tree trunk and spread uniformly as evergreens are sensitive to over concentrations of fertilizer.

You may broadcast the fertilizer under and beyond the spread of the branches. It is desirable to water the fertilizer "in" by sprinkling for several hours after applying fertilizer.

Large trees may require the fertilizer to be placed in numerous holes 2 inches in diameter and 12 to 18 inches deep. For location of holes see diagram.

Spring or fall are the best times to fertilize your trees.

Figure 5

Tip No. 6 — The Right Way to Prune

Correct pruning can do much to improve the appearance and vigor of your trees. Pruning should be done regularly so that drastic pruning will not be needed at a later date.

1. and 2. Prevent stripping of the bark by undercutting the branch first, then cut from above.
3. Cut branches flush with the trunk.

4. Prune sprouts on the base of the lower trunk.

5. Prune dead, dying or injured branches as well as crossed branches.

6. Keep the central leader dominant by removing competing branches. Side branches should be spaced at least 12 inches apart on the vertical stem. Remove sharp angled side branches.

7. Don't dehorn or top your tree leaving nothing but stubs as in this illustration. Vigorous upright shoots will sprout from stumps resulting in more susceptibility to insect and disease problems.

For complete information on pruning contact the Wayne County Extension Office for Pruning Shade Trees EC 78-1224 and Tree Injuries-Prevention and Care G 78-408.

When to Prune —

Pine — June 15 to July 20 — this season growth only.

Other Conifers — Spruce, fir, cedar, Juniper — anytime — best to prune off new growth only.

Birch, Maple, Dogwood, Walnut — when trees are in full leaf — to prevent "bleeding."

All others — Anytime of the year.

The American Heart Association, Nebraska Affiliate, reports that memorial gifts were received in the name of Willard Hammer of Wayne.

Heart Association memorials provide a gift to the living in the support of research and education to reduce the threat of heart disease, and to continue community service programs such as high blood pressure screenings and classes in cardiopulmonary resuscitation. Mrs. Carl Lentz, memorials chairman for Wayne County, said.

Anyone wishing to express their thoughts through a memorial to the Heart Association should send the name of the person to be honored, their own name and address and that of the person to be notified, together with their check or money order (payable to the American Heart Association) to Wayne County Memorial Chairman Mrs. Carl Lentz, 703 E. 10th St., Wayne, Neb., 68787.

Memorials to the Heart Association are fully tax deductible.

Club Planning Tour

The Star Home Extension Club is planning to tour the Blue Bird Nurseries in Clarkston for their May meeting. Hostess will be Mrs. Don Harmeyer. The club met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Milton Owens. The hostess gave the lesson on home furnishings. Members responded to roll call with their favorite spring flower. Mrs. Richard Longe club president, reported on the spring county council meeting that she attended recently. It was announced that Mrs. Longe and Mrs. Owens will furnish five dozen bars for the Home Extension Club Spring Tea at Hoskins on May 2.

Plants Exchanged
A plant exchange was held when the Social Neighbors Club met in the Arnold Junk home Wednesday.

Mrs. Kenneth Eddie was elected president and Mrs. Duane Creamer was named secretary treasurer. They will assume their duties in September.

Tea Discussed
Members of the Hillcrest Home Extension Club discussed the Spring Tea to be held at Hoskins when they met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Esther Batten.

The tea is scheduled May 2. Mrs. Ruth Jones opened Tuesday's meeting with the club creed and flag salute. Members answered roll call by naming a disease Mrs. Marian Jordan reported on the council meeting she attended April 1 in Hoskins.

Mrs. J. C. Woods read an article, entitled "Inoculation and Improvement on Treatment for Disease," and Mrs. Lloyd Morris read "The Way It Is." The lesson on energy was given by Mrs. Esther Batten.

Mrs. Robert I. Jones will be the May 20 hostess.

The Lester Bethunes spent the April 13 weekend in the Bob Bethune home at Storm Lake, Iowa and attended the confirmation of their granddaughter, Londa, daughter of the Bob Bethunes.

The Murray Leicys went to Lincoln Sunday to spend the day with her sister and family, Mr and Mrs. Wesley Williams.

The Perry Johnsons and Mrs. Robert Johnson went to Madison, S. D., and spent the April 13 weekend in the Lawrence Johnson home.

Von Minden Announces Committee

State Senate candidate Merle Von Minden has announced a three-county campaign steering committee to assist his race for the District 17 seat representing Dakota, Dixon and Wayne counties.

John Kingsbury, a Ponca banker active in political affairs, has been named chairman of the committee. He is chairman of the Dixon County Republican Party and is on the Nebraska Republican Speaker's Bureau.

Other Dixon County members of the steering committee include Doyle Hansen, a Democrat and chairman of the Dixon County board of supervisors from Newcastle; Clifford Gotch, an Allen businessman; Hermie Belt, REA supervisor from Emerson; and Wakefield cattle feeder Tom Gustafson.

Dakota County steering committee members are attorney Wayne Boyd; IBP general foreman Bob Russell of Dakota City; and South Sioux City businessmen Ray Mitchell, Al Thacker and Marvin Engel.

Representing Wayne County are contractor John Vakoc; Betty Addison, president of Wayne Federal Savings and Loan; Dr. LeRoy Simpson of Wayne State College; retired County Clerk Norris Weible; and Winside school Superintendent Don Leighton.

Von Minden said, "I believe the steering committee represents a cross section of leaders from throughout the three county district. I am very pleased to have such wide support assisting my candidacy."

"The steering committee reflects the type of representation I will offer northeast Nebraska," he added. "There are no special interests and it is a district wide representation I hope to serve."

Kingsbury called Von Minden "the type of hard nosed leader we need in Lincoln. So called 'outstate Nebraska' needs a strong voice to represent northeast Nebraska's concerns."

"I think everyone supporting Merle Von Minden likes his ability to speak out combined with his local government background on the school and county boards. The state needs strong leadership of common sense in the legislature and northeast Nebraska needs a voice that won't be ignored," Kingsbury concluded.

Speech Contest

The Timely Topics 4-H Speech Contest was held at Harlington April 14. Judges were Rev. Neu of Coleridge and Mrs. Stolpe of Wayne.

Winner of the senior division (ages 14-18) was Lisa Arens of Harlington. Her topic was "Teenage Alcoholism." The reserve winner was Brenda Anderson of Coleridge, who chose the topic "Teenage Suicide."

Eight year old Amy Adkins of Laurel was winner in the junior division (ages 8-13). Amy's topic was "4 H. More Than Food and Fun." The reserve winner was Sara Adkins of Laurel and her topic was "Television, To Use or Abuse."

Pitch Club

Mrs. John Bruns hosted the Friendly Pitch Club in her home April 10.

The eight members attending played pinocle, with prizes going to Nora Reitenrath, Mildred Swanson, Christine Loeb and Tony Lange.

There was a no host luncheon. Next meeting will be April 24.

Free Clinic

There will be a free immunization clinic at the new Laurel Medical Clinic on Wednesday, April 23, from 1 to 3 p.m. The Medical Clinic is located across from the Hillcrest Care Center.

The clinic is sponsored by the Goldenrod Hills Community Action Council to assure that each youngster receives the necessary childhood immunizations.

Youngsters attending the clinic must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. The immunizations include measles, mumps, rubella, DPT, oral polio vaccine and DT boosters.

Brownies Meet

Brownie Troop 255 and leader Ellie McBride went on a nature hike at their meeting Tuesday.

The girls played several games at the park and Amy Newton furnished treats. The girls are planning an overnight stay sometime in May.

Season Ends

Laurel bowlers ended their season last Monday and Tuesday. Men held their final meeting and lunch at the Country Club Monday evening, and the women met for their banquet and final meeting on Tuesday at the Wagon Wheel Steakhouse.

Open House

Wayne Volunteer Fire Department will hold an open house from 1 to about 4:30 p.m. Sunday, May 4, at the Fire Hall.

Plans are still being finalized, but all WVFD equipment will be on display and demonstrations of the equipment will be given. Water fights will be held later in the afternoon.

A color television and weather radio will be given away, also. The open house is being held to show area residents what the Fire Department has to offer and to raise money for the rescue equipment box which is expected to arrive in about three weeks.

More details will appear later.

Registration

Deadline Is May 2

With the primary election less than a month away, County Clerk Orretta Morris has reminded voters of registration requirements.

Voters must be registered to be eligible to vote in any election. The deadline to register for the primary is 4 p.m. May 2.

Residents may register at the County Clerk's Office in the Courthouse here, Farmers State Bank in Carroll, Village Clerk's Office in Winslow, Commercial State Bank in Hoskins or City Clerk's Office in Wakefield.

Residents must register or re-register if they have moved to another voting precinct or have changed their address, have changed their name by marriage or otherwise, or will become 18 years of age on or before election day, May 13.

Arts, Crafts Festival Plans Being Finalized

Among the many activities planned for the Spring Arts Festival April 26 are a bit of the '60's nostalgia, a "hootenanny" and a sing-a-long.

The annual festival is planned from 10 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. in downtown Wayne.

Individuals are invited to bring their guitars, banjos, autoharps or other folk instruments to join in the playing of old songs, folk songs and some pop standards.

Song sheets with words and relatively simple chords will be provided so the audience also can join in. Chords sheets may be obtained ahead of time by calling 375-2335 between 4 and 6 p.m. most afternoons.

Instruments may be tuned together beginning at 11 a.m. at the Stratton House and, weather permitting, the "hootenanny" will be held outside at noon. A sing-a-long, with piano accompaniment, will be held at 4 p.m. inside the City Auditorium.

Other activities for the festival will include art and craft showings, as well as puppet shows and many other events. The Spring Arts Festival is sponsored by the Wayne Regional Arts Council with support of the Nebraska Arts Council.

More details will appear in the Thursday issue of The Herald.
