Council Pledges Tax Cut

If the proposed one-cent city sales tax proposal is approved by voters May 13, the city's share of property taxes will be reduced by 40 percent.

Meeting in regular session Tuesday night, the Council adopted a resolution to that effect.

"IT IS THE desire of the City Council and of the city of Wayne that if the city sales tax is adopted, there will be a reduction in the real property taxes levied for general revenue purposes," the resolution stated.

The city sales tax is needed to help offset an anticipated city budget deficit of about $185,000 next year. Councilmen, Mayor Wayne Marsh and other city officials say the only effective alternative to the sales tax is a reduction in services and programs provided by the city.

BY A VOTE OF 6-1, the Council instructed City Attorney Bob Enz to draft a resolution which would indicate the city's willingness to have the Mid-Elkhorn Valley Council of Governments reactivated.

The resolution would be acted upon at the next regular Council meeting and the city's participation would become effective then.

The MEV COG was disbanded last July after participating communities decided dues were too high for the amount of advantages provided by the COG. At the last regular Council meeting, Bob Wedge, administrator of the Tri-County COG in Hartington, explained the proposal.

WAYNE WOULD BE headquarters for the MEV COG, rather than Norfolk as was the case when the previous agency functioned. The $1,256.85 annual dues would be traded for use of office space in the city hall. In other words, there would be no actual cash expenditure by the city and COG would not be charged rent.

Councilman Larry Johnson indicated he was not sure the city should participate, primarily because "I don't like the theory of centralized government. Basically, I'm against it."

Johnson added that he was unconvinced that the central purchasing feature of MEV

COG was in fact an advantage. It appears, he said, that trade would be restricted by centralizing the purchasing power.

WAYNE AND THE surrounding smaller communities would be served by the COG, with participating counties to include Wayne, Antelope, Madison, Pierce and Stanton. All would be served out of the Wayne office, with administration of the office provided from Hartington.

The COG would provide assistance in obtaining financing for or expertise in community development, water and sewer construction, general administration, grantsmanship, planning and zoning, central purchasing, budgeting and finance, rural transportation, county-federal liaison, solid waste, economic development, transportation administration, etc.

THE COUNCIL ALSO approved a motion allowing the city's attorneys to begin contract negotiations with the city of Laurel on use of Wayne's transfer station.

The city of Laurel is seeking a solution to its garbage woes, and has contacted Wayne about using its transfer station. Only "wet" or "household" garbage would be brought here, not lumber, furniture, branches, leaves, etc.

Although nothing has been finalized, Wayne is considering a fee of $3 1/2 for each cubic yard of garbage that is brought here by Laurel. Public Works Director Vern Schultz estimates Laurel will bring about 80 yards of refuse here each week.

THE CONTRACT with Laurel would be for three years, but would be renegotiable at any time and could be cancelled at any time.

City Administrator Darrell Brewington said the additional revenue from Laurel's use of the facility would help offset a deficit situation at the transfer station.

The Council also approved a resolution giving the administrator authority to apply for a grant which would help subsidize the city's mini bus operation. The application seeks renewal of last year's federal support.

THE POSSIBILITY of a farmer's market was discussed briefly. Under the proposal, area gardeners would bring home grown and homemade produce to town each Thursday night for several hours for sale on Main Street.

The item will be discussed again at the next regular meeting.

A fiscal agent agreement between the city and First Mid America, a bonding firm, was approved. The agency's fee will be one half of 1 percent of the par value of bonds issued. This is up from four tenths of 1 percent. Bonds issued in excess of $750,000 will be charged at the old rate.

PROPOSALS FOR a special city engineer were heard. The city is seeking such an engineer to help remove the possibility of any conflict of interest between developers, engineers and the city.

Action on accepting one of the engineering firms was tabled until the next meeting.

Plans and specifications for renovation of the city's ball park also were approved. The city administrator was given the authority to advertise for bids on the project.

In other action, the Council:

— Approved an application by Wayne Peck to the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department.

— Heard plans by the Fire Department to hold an open house Sunday. The Council gave its approval to close streets in the area of the Fire Station, but noted a request by owners of The Stratton House to leave Second Street open between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. so parking is not restricted in front of their business.

— INFORMED representatives of the Episcopal Church that a conditional use permit application had already been approved. A public hearing had been set Tuesday for the permit, but officials discovered that approval of the permit by the Planning Commission was binding and the Council did not have authority to act.

— Entered into executive session to discuss a suit by the city against Midwest Bridge Company. The suit involves a dispute of completion of a project.

'So He Huffed, And He Puffed....'

Two Constitutional Amendments to Be Included on May Primary Ballot

In addition to choosing from a wide variety of candidates on the May 13 primary ballot, voters will be deciding the fate of two amendments to the Nebraska Constitution.

THE FIRST proposed amendment is to Article IV of the Constitution. Voters will be required to vote for or against each amendment proposal.

A vote for the first proposal will allow the governor to fill by appointment a vacancy in the office of the lieutenant governor. This is the same method used in filling the vacancy of any other elected state office, but the office of lieutenant governor currently is an exception to that law.

A vote against the proposal will retain the present system which authorizes the governor to fill by appointment vacancies in all elected state offices (excluding judges) except the office of lieutenant governor.

THE SECOND proposed amendment is to Articles III and XV of the state Constitution.

A vote for the proposal will create a Compensation Review Commission which would have the authority to recommend changes in salaries and allowable expenses for members of the Legislature, the judiciary, the governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, secretary of state, auditor and treasurer.

The review would come before each odd-year regular legislative session. Recommendations would be made to the Legislature on salary or expense adjustments and would not be effective until approved by the Legislature.

APPROVAL of the proposed amendment also would remove the provisions setting the salary of Legislators at $400 per month and preventing them from receiving any additional pay other than actual expenses for one trip to and from each legislative session.

A vote against the proposal would retain the present system under which judges and elected officials would receive compensation as determined solely by the Legislature in enactment of salary bills.

It also would retain the present system under which each member of the Legislature receives a salary of $400 per month as provided in the Constitution and travel expenses for one trip to and from each legislative session.

THE Compensation Review Commission would be appointed by the governor and would be subject to approval by the Legislature.

Two members from each Congressional district and one at large member would be selected. The members would serve four years, but one of the members from each Congressional District would be chosen for just two years, providing staggered terms.

Register to Vote

Prospective voters must be registered to vote in the May 13 primary election. Deadline for registering for the primary is 6 p.m. Friday.

Persons must register if they have moved to another voting precinct or have changed their address, have changed their name by marriage or otherwise, or will become 18 years old on or before election day, May 13.

Television Helps Create An Image

Television is a medium used to create an image for politicians, and political consultants have been successful in manipulating TV to suit their own ends.

WAYNE STATE College political science instructor Allen O'Donnell told Kiwanians during their regular luncheon meeting Monday that television is being used more and more to get the image of a candidate, not the issue, across to the public.

Admitting a strong bias against television, O'Donnell said political consultants have found that voters (or viewers) can be taught a certain image about a candidate.

Experts in television can use the media to teach students, and "it is a definite success story," the political science instructor explained.

"IF A FELLOW wants to get elected to Congress or as President, he uses television," O'Donnell said. "It's tragic to its own respect."

Political consultants use issues to attract attention, but through manipulation of television, they are creating an image of the candidate which is appealing to the voter, he said.

If a person decides to run for Congress or for President, the first thing he does is hire a political consultant and have a political poll taken. What is determined, he explained, is what exactly people want in a leader.

FOR EXAMPLE, when Jimmy Carter first began his campaign for the White House, his pollsters determined that voters wanted a president to look like the late John Kennedy. As a result, Carter's hair style was redone to match that of Kennedy.

O'Donnell said the polls also are used to determine the safe stands on an issue. Once these are found, the candidate's campaign is centered around them.

A computer then is used to target the 52 percent of the voters that are expected to vote in the next election. Will most voters cast their ballots for the Midwest, South, Atlantic Coast states? What do the American people want from a candidate?

POLITICAL consultants are among the highest paid people in the country, and they are paid to package a product and sell it to the public, O'Donnell explained.

"They tell us what to buy on television commercials, and these are the same people who are telling us who to vote for," the WSC instructor said.

One minute of television time will reach 70 million people. A political candidate's image, not the issues, can be conveyed to the public in two minutes, O'Donnell said.

But despite this ability to persuade the public, the politician is in a predicament, O'Donnell noted that the politician is competing for air time with such highly intellectual programs as "Charlie's Angels," which features three stimulating lasses bouncing over crooks.

"AND LET'S FACE it. Which would you rather watch," he asked rhetorically?

What about television itself, he queried? "Until they change their ways, I think they should be closed down. It's just good old fashioned garbage."

"By the time a student reaches his 17th birthday, he has seen 18,000 murders and 350,000 commercials. Between the ages of 2 and 65, a person spends 3,000 days watching television, the political science instructor said.

"And all of that time is being taken away from something else," he reminded the listeners. Americans read less than almost any other civilized nation, O'Donnell added. "We observe (by watching television), we don't read."

TELEVISION has "tremendous power" to influence the public, O'Donnell said, since in most homes it is on an average of 9 hours and 37 minutes each day. "And the thing is that it works. Most Americans believe it (what they see on TV) and accept it."

On the resignation of Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, O'Donnell said he did not think it would have much effect on President Carter's image or his campaign.

"Carter's image is one of a blunderer and this just adds to it," he said of Vance's resignation and aborted Iranian hostage rescue effort.

"WE ALREADY know it will be Jimmy and Ronnie running this fall," he predicted. As for who will be the next president, O'Donnell said he believes Carter will be re-elected because most people registered to vote are Democrats.

He believes former California Gov. Ronald Reagan will make some political mistakes over the next few months that will cost him the election.

CARTER IS a master of playing the center of the road (between conservative and liberal), while Ronnie has been leaning to the conservative side to win his party's nomination, O'Donnell said. Once that is secured, O'Donnell said, Reagan will have to swing toward the middle ground in order to pick up more of the vote.

"But if it will be close, probably as close as the 1976 election," he concluded.

Wildcats Prevail Golfers To Nationals

Talk about going out in style! The Wayne State College golf team, in its last year of existence, proved that although the golf program is nearly dead, the golfers are alive and doing better than ever.

The Wildcats qualified for the National NAIA Golf Championships by winning the NAIA District 11 finals at the Wayne Country Club Monday and Tuesday.

Host Wayne State edged Kearney State by two strokes to win the team title.

WSC coach Del Stollenberg was using his head when he scheduled four matches last week. He said he was hoping the extra practice would prepare his team for district play. The Wildcats met Stollenberg's approval by firing a 287-310-597 team total in the two day tourney.

"I'm really pleased. I thought all along they had the ability to score better than they did last week. Those meets prepared them for districts," Stollenberg said.

Golf is one of six sports to be discontinued for the 1980-81 season because of major cutbacks in the Wayne State athletic program.

The national NAIA Golf Championships are scheduled May 27-30 in Saganaw, Michigan.

The Wildcats held a 10 stroke lead after the first day's action. Steve Erwin led Wayne State to its best performance in years by carding a 69-76-145. Steve Samuelson of Kearney was medalist with a 73-71-144 total.

Two WSC golfers finished in a tie for third place. Tony Michael turned in a 76-70-146 score and Jeff Erwin shot 71-75-146.

Rounding out the scoring for the champions were Ross Udey with a 77-83-160 and Jay Bachenberg with an 80-85-165.

Blue Devils Stage Rally To Sweep Boys Town

Dan Mitchell scored the winning run in the top of the seventh inning of the second game as the Wayne Blue Devils swept a doubleheader from Boys Town on the road Monday.

Tim Pfeiffer threw a four-hitter and Wayne scored five runs in the sixth inning to win the opening game 8-2.

A five run sixth inning rally sent the second game into extra innings, and Mitchell scored on a squeeze bunt by Jere Morris in the seventh for an 8-7 win.

"It was a good comeback win in extra innings," Wayne coach Mike Mallette said. "Freshmen Todd Pfeiffer and Jeff McCright had big pinch hits."

In the first game, Boys Town had only five base runners. Pfeiffer struck out eight batters and walked none. Three singles in the fourth inning led to the only two Boys Town runs.

The Devils scored three runs in the top of the second inning. Pat McCright reached base on a fielder's choice, Mitchell walked and Tim Thomas walked to load the bases. Jeff Sperry became the hero when he slugged a single which cleared the bases.

Four consecutive walks to Mitchell, Thomas, Sperry and Jeff Zeiss scored one run. Kevin Nissen brought in two more runs with a base hit and the final run scored on a Boys Town error.

Wayne scored the first two runs of the second game on an error and an RBI single by Todd Skokan.

Boys Town retaliated with a run in the bottom of the second, two in the third and four in the fifth to take a 7-2 lead.

Trailing by five runs, the Blue Devils played to true form in the top of the sixth to send the game into an extra inning.

Wayne reached base on an error. The Pfeiffer singled and Mitchell walked to load up the bases. A two run single by Thomas, one run singles by Todd Pfeiffer and Pat McCright and a run scoring sacrifice by winning pitcher Zeiss knotted the game up at 7-7.

In the seventh inning of the scheduled six inning game, Mitchell reached first base on an error. He reached second on a fielder's choice, stole third base and scored when Morris beat out a squeeze bunt.

Wayne, now 5-3 on the season, will host Lincoln and Lincoln East at 1 and 3 p.m., tomorrow (Friday) at the city ball park.

The two Lincoln schools will also play at Wakefield Friday.

CSIC Track To Open

The Wayne State College men's and women's track squads hope to improve on last year's identical fifth place finishes when they travel to the Central States Intercollegiate Conference Track and Field Championships Saturday in Kearney.

Only one Wildcat will be defending a championship. Ed Blackburn, Malvern, Iowa, who won last year's 110-meter high hurdles with a time of 14.75 seconds, has been a consistent winner in that event this year. Blackburn established a new Wayne State record at the Midland College Relays April 12. The sophomore covered the 110-meter distance in a time of 14.3 seconds.

The top Wayne State woman contender may be Deb Deitering, Missouri Valley, Iowa. The freshman has established new WSC records in both the 400- and 800-meter runs this year. Her 400-meter time is 59.9 seconds while the freshman's best 800-meter performance is 2:23.2.

WSC Finishes 2nd In NCC Standings

It was a rough week for the Wayne State baseball team. The Wildcats were defeated by Kearney State 2-1 and 2-0, Saturday in Kearney.

The Kearney sweep knocked the Wildcats out of the Central States Intercollegiate Conference playoffs. The victories also allowed the Antelopes to claim the championship of the Nebraska College Conference and a spot in the NAIA District 11 playoffs that begin in mid-May.

Wayne State's record fell to 16-22 and 6-3 in the NCC. The Wildcats should still qualify for a second playoff berth in District 11 but will probably have to face the Nebraska Intercollegiate Athletic Conference champion in the first round.

With final exams in progress on the Wayne State campus, the Wildcat baseball squad faces its lightest week of competition in over a month. The Wildcats will travel to Lincoln Friday for a double-header against Nebraska Wesleyan, the only game scheduled this week.

Laurel Drops Bancroft 'Nine' For Vital Conference Triumph

Mark McCorkindale cracked a three-run homer in the bottom of the sixth inning and Joe Olsen fired a two-hit shutout as Laurel shelved Bancroft 11-0, Monday in Laurel.

The win improved the Bears' record to 3-5 overall and 3-3 in Northeast Nebraska High School Baseball League action.

"Joe Olsen pitched outstanding," said Laurel coach Bob Weisenberg. "His pitching performance was as good as any I've seen this spring."

Olsen gave up only two hits, struck out eight batters and didn't walk anyone. He was backed by a strong Laurel defense which committed only one error.

The Bears scored one run in the bottom of the second inning, added two in the third and blew the game open with five runs in the fifth.

McCorkindale brought in the final three runs with his homer in the bottom of the sixth, giving the hosts the victory by the 10-run rule. Anh Nguyen and Scott Norvell were on base at the time.

Leading hitters for the winners were McCorkindale, Brian Marquardt, Doug Lute, Shannon Hopkins and Nguyen.

McCorkindale finished the day with a double, a home run and four runs batted in. Marquardt had a double and three RBIs and Lute rapped a double and brought home three runs. Dave Marquardt was responsible for the other RBI.

Laurel is scheduled to host Ponca today at 2 p.m., followed by a reserve game. The Bears will host Boys Town Saturday in a doubleheader beginning at 1 p.m.

Spring Football Game Is Tight Defensive Battle

By Kevin Weisberg
Wayne State SID

If spring football practice is supposed to reduce the number of question marks a football coach has about his squad then Wayne State College mentor Del Stollenberg must have had a bundle of questions when spring drills opened about a month ago.

The Wildcat offense was a complete puzzle to everyone but the alumni defense Saturday in Memorial Stadium as Wayne State concluded spring football drills with a 7-0 victory over the alumni in the annual spring game.

Freshman quarterback Mike Warren scored the game's only touchdown late in the second period when he dashed five yards around right end for the score. Garry Keckler added the extra point and the day's scoring was complete. Warren's run capped a four-play 18-yard drive that followed an alumni fumble.

The varsity threatened only twice after that and both threats ended when transfer kicker Keckler's field goal tries sailed wide to the right. Overall it was a frustrating day for the varsity of defensive unit that took its lumps throughout much of the 1979 season.

It was an even worse day for the alumni offense. An aggressive varsity defensive unit totally shut down the alumni scoring attack holding the alumni to minus seven yards total of fense and intercepting nine passes.

Transfer Mark Alderman grabbed four of those interceptions and made impressive returns of 22 and 43 yards on two of them. The alumni's only scoring threat was ended on one of two Steve Ataman interceptions, this one coming after the alumni had driven to the varsity nine-yard line.

It was a day of experimentation for the varsity offense. Several of last year's top offensive performers were noticeably absent. Rick Lade, the Wildcats' starting quarterback last year, didn't play in this year's spring game because he is a member of the track squad.

Wingback Pat Maxwell, last year's top receiver, is not enrolled at Wayne State this semester, but is expected back in the fall. Jeff Ingram, the Wildcats' all-time single season reception leader, saw limited action because of a bout with the flu.

The Wildcats open the 1980 season against Chadron State Sept. 13 in Wayne.

Randy's Recap

According to Randy Hascall

SPORTS WRITERS USUALLY write, think, eat and dream sports about 24 hours a day and seven days a week. So what do I do to get away from sports for a short three-day vacation? Go watch a Major League baseball game, of course.

My wife Barb and I joined Galen, Kathy, Emily and Damon Wiser on a weekend trip to Kansas City. We took in Worlds of Fun for one full day and watched the Royals and Baltimore Orioles play the next.

Although I am fond of the Wayne area, it was great to get away for a few days. This was my second trip to Kansas City and I found Worlds of Fun as incredible as ever. What a selection of rides and entertainment!

This was also the second Major League baseball game I've witnessed. Being an Oriole fan since I was too young to pronounce Earl Weaver's name, I was out numbered considerably by a stadium full of loyal and well-behaved Royals fans.

The game was great. Dennis Martinez and Dave Ford pitched well for Baltimore but Paul Splittorff earned the win for the speedy Royals, who took advantage of their five hits to score three runs.

The weather was ideal and everything went near perfect during the three days. It's nice to have a vacation area like KC within about six hours of Wayne.

SPECIAL CONGRATULATIONS to the Wayne State golf and softball teams. The WSC softballers won the NAIAW tournament in Omaha over the weekend and the golfers won the District 11 golf tourney at the Wayne Country Club Monday and Tuesday.

Those were two of the finest accomplishments in Wayne State athletics this year.

I ATTENDED Wakefield's athletic banquet Tuesday night in Wakefield High School gym, courtesy of athletic director Lyle Trullinger.

Carol Frost, women's track coach at the University of Nebraska was the featured speaker. Robin Mills, a Wakefield graduate, who is enjoying a super year in track at UNL, was a special guest.

You may be reading more about Mills later as she may qualify for nationals.

WSC'S VARSITY football team goes to work offensively against the Wayne State Alumni, above. The varsity won the game 7-0 Saturday.

Dams Won't Solve Flooding: MCCA

"Building 28 dams in Colfax, Stanton, Platte and Cuming counties will not solve flooding problems in Dodge County," Michael

A. Sindelar, vice president of Maple Creek Concerned Citizen Association, said last week.

He based his statement on a study conducted by MCCA of 20 bridges in Dodge County. "The decreasing capacity of the bridges going downstream and the obstructions overgrowing the channel will continue to cause flooding in Dodge County," Sindelar said.

"You can't pour five gallons of water in a three gallon bucket without having a spill," he said. "As long as the channel is choked with debris and the inadequate bridges remain, the land adjacent to Maple Creek in Dodge County will be subject to flooding. Dams in upstream Counties will not solve these problems."

MCCA presented their study of bridges on Maple Creek in Dodge County to the Directors of the LENRD at their regular meeting Thursday. The presentation included slides of each bridge and an estimate of the obstructed and unobstructed capacity of each bridge.

MCCA is a group of farmers and businesses living in the Maple Creek Watershed opposed to construction of 28 dams and committed to a voluntary soil conservation program.

College Paper Wins Award

The Wayne Stater, the student newspaper of Wayne State College, earned an All-American rating for the spring term of 1979, the Associated Collegiate Press (ACP) announced this week.

Editors of the Stater were Mark Reinders of Curlew, Iowa, and Mike Korkuz, formerly of Blair and now of Springfield, Ill., and the sports editor was Willis Mahannah of Butte.

Dick Manley, Stater adviser, said the newspaper received Marks of Distinction in four of the ACP's five categories of judging: coverage and content, writing and editing, editorial leadership and physical appearance.

The Associated Collegiate Press, a national organization based at the University of Minnesota, rates several hundred collegiate newspapers and yearbooks annually. All-American is the highest rating it bestows.

Von Minden Named to Mortar Board

The Black Masque Chapter of Mortar Board of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln held its annual Ivy Day Ceremony Saturday in the Sheldon Gardens at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln. Gov. Charles Thone presented the address.

Lori Von Minden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Von Minden of Allen, was among the seven teen students selected for membership in Mortar Board, a national honor society. She was elected vice president of the 1980 Mortar Board.

Selection of new Mortar Boards is based on the qualities of service, leadership and outstanding scholarship.

Von Minden is a political science major, an ASUN (Associated Students of the University of Nebraska) Senator and has worked with ASUN Commissions on student fees and educational quality. She served this year as a lobbyist assistant at the Nebraska Legislature and will serve as a Congressional Intern in Washington, D.C. this summer.

Census Takers Easy to See With Tags

Census takers for the 1980 Census of Population and Housing are easy to identify, according to Census District manager, Judy Backhaus.

They wear red, white and blue cards with the U.S. Department of Commerce seal and "Census Enumerator... Official Credential" printed on them. Their cards also have their signatures, certifying that they have sworn to keep confidential all information they collect for the census. Any Census Bureau worker who breaks this oath faces a fine or imprisonment or both, but the bureau's record on this is spotless, the manager said.

Census takers have started making their rounds here, calling at residences from which householders have not mailed back their census questionnaires. They are using the telephone to reach most of the householders who have mailed back questionnaires inadequately filled out.

People Should Take Their Time

People who want to get the most out of their social security protection should take the time to learn how to use social security effectively. Dale Branch, social security District manager in Norfolk said recently. Branch suggested that people learn the five basic times when they can expect to contact social security. They are: 1) when you are ready to retire; 2) when somebody in the family dies; 3) when somebody in the family becomes disabled; 4) when you need a social security number, and 5) whenever you have a question about social security or need to report a change that will affect your monthly benefits.

Most social security business can now be handled by phone, Branch said. And it's important to know that the best times to call to avoid peak traffic and busy phones is during the latter part of the month, the latter part of the week and in the afternoon.

People should be prepared with the necessary proofs when they apply for benefits in order to speed up their claim, he said. If you call first, we can tell you exactly what proofs you need, Branch said.

Be sure to have your social security card handy when applying for a job or when you have any business with social security. Branch also noted that a large percentage of the wage reports social security receives each year from employers have erroneous social security numbers and require special treatment.

He also pointed out that the best place to get accurate, up to date information on social security is the social security office.

Nebraskans Fail As Hucksters

Nebraskans just aren't very good hucksters when it comes to international marketing of their own agricultural products, Gov. Charles Thone told faculty members of the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources Wednesday, April 23.

Speaking to a Nebraska Agricultural Experiment Station seminar in the Nebraska East Union, Thone said, "we're out to hustle anything we can hustle, but some of those other countries do a much more sophisticated job."

The governor related most of his remarks to a recent trade mission he led to Germany and other European countries. Likening the Missouri River to Germany's Rhine River, he said he sees the Missouri as a potential highway for Nebraska. He said he plans to promote the idea and is seeking a quarter million dollar grant to establish an office in Omaha which could find cargoes to eliminate the "backhaul" problem.

Prior to the trade mission, Nebraska did not have a comprehensive international marketing plan, he said. Such a plan has since been written, he added. He noted that Nebraska's participation in an international trade fair in Frankfurt, Germany, produced $1.8 million in direct sales of the state's products. Recent international sales by Nebraska firms have included liver, sausage and some dairy and a small number of feeder cattle.

He said he sees potential in the red meat area but such trade is restricted by a $600 import tax per animal, which makes shipping heavier beef almost a requirement.

Thone related international trade to the embargo on grain sales to the Soviet Union, saying that farm exports have been "tremendously chilled" by the embargo. Given government policy on the embargo, Nebraska must do a better job of what is allowed in international trade, he said. He reminded the audience that Nebraska heads marketing for the Old West Regional Commission and has an office in Frankfurt, Germany.

When he asked for audience suggestions on how to improve the relationship between state government and the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources in regard to marketing, faculty members noted the need for commitment and funding of long-term research in the area that would have payoffs down the road, rather than in the immediate future. Thone said he agreed with that sentiment, and although he congratulated the Institute for its contributions to production agriculture, he said he sees a need to shift some of the emphasis to marketing of what is produced.

Ag Exports Continue Up

U.S. agricultural exports continued at a record pace in February, reaching a total of $17.6 billion for the first five months of fiscal year 1980, Thomas R. Hughes, administrator of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Foreign Agricultural Service, reported today. The five-month total was up 36 percent from the same period a year earlier.

Export values were above fiscal 1979 for all commodity categories except tobacco, according to Hughes. Corn export values soared 76 percent to $3.3 billion, soybean shipments were up 16 percent to $3.2 billion, and wheat and flour were up 63 percent to $2.7 billion. Cotton shipments for the period were valued at $1.3 billion, an increase of 75 percent from a year earlier. Soybean meal exports also totaled $1.3 billion, a gain of 31 percent.

Trade data for October 1979 February 1980 showed a 31 percent gain in the volume of farm shipments, Hughes said. Exports of cotton and lint, at 686,000 tons, were up 64 percent, while grains and feeds totaled nearly 50 million metric tons, up 40 percent from fiscal 1979. Exports of oilseeds and products, at 17 1/17 million metric tons, were up 15 percent.

Hughes said that the value of agricultural imports for the first five months of fiscal 1980 rose by about 13 percent to $7.4 billion, leaving the United States with an agricultural trade surplus of $10.2 billion. That was nearly 60 percent ahead of the same point in fiscal 1979.

Grain May Go 'Out of Condition'

Nebraska grain producers face the distinct possibility of thousands of bushels of grain in on-farm storage going "out of condition," resulting in stiff economic losses from discounts when the grain is sold.

This warning was sounded this week by the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources extension grain storage task force. The group is composed of IANR specialists and researchers, along with representatives of the grain industry.

Nebraska leads the nation in the amount of grain in the reserve, with 350 million bushels in grain reserve storage as of Jan. 1. And 75 to 80 percent of this total is on farms, according to Duane Foote, IANR extension agronomist and task force chairman. The Nebraska Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said 1.1 billion bushels of grain were in storage in all positions on Jan. 1 in Nebraska, the equivalent of the 1979 harvested crop.

There was general agreement among committee members that because of the depressed grain market, very little grain is being moved from storage.

Some grain is in storage facilities not set up for aeration because owners had anticipated selling it early this spring. As a rule of thumb, grain experts say stored grain must be no higher than 14 percent moisture, depending on the type of grain, going into May and June to remain in condition.

Two surveys reported to the committee indicated there may be trouble in many grain bins.

A Nebraska ASCS random sampling of grain storage bins on farms in Butler County showed 12 of 31 bins had damaged grain, showing either the presence of insects or mustiness. None of the bins inspected in a Wayne County Extension office survey passed quality requirements on all counts, with many showing high moisture content.

The committee cited several factors leading to concern with maintaining the quality of millions of bushels of grain stored on farms.

— Movement of grain from current stocks in Nebraska is not likely to reach the 400 million bushel "disappearance" figure posted between January and June, 1979. This will put increasing pressure on storage going into the 1980 crop season, and result in grains being held longer, especially if farmers who did not comply with the 1979 federal farm program are allowed to put grain in the reserve. Del Dagley of Lincoln Grain Company said farmers "are hanging on (to their grain) ... very little grain is selling now." Jack Aschwege of the Nebraska Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said "we're in trouble unless we up the disappearance" of grain from current stocks. One committee member said many farmers with grain in the three-year reserve "are going to get burned."

— While grain exports nationally are holding up reasonably well, most of the grain for export is coming from eastern Corn Belt states such as Iowa and Illinois. Nebraska, "at the end of the line" transportation-wise, suffers from higher freight rates. Dagley predicted that the price on feed grains may go up soon, but said when farmers get in the field they will not be selling much grain.

— While the mild winter of 1979-80 was good on conserving fuel, it was not considered a good period for maintaining crops in storage. Widely fluctuating temperatures caused moisture to "migrate" through piles of grain. Some grain went into storage at a high moisture level, and IANR extension engineer Gerald Bodman said many farmers "turned off their fans (in aeration systems) too soon." With grain going into storage last fall at the maximum of 18 percent moisture to assure safety, "fans should have been run continuously," according to Bodman, to bring moisture down to a safe level entering the critical period for stored grain in April and May.

— While farmers are rightfully attempting to cut corners in the face of spiraling production costs and low prices for commodities, the "costliest savings" could be the failure to take steps to preserve the quality of grain already in the bin, warned IANR extension agronomist Don Hanway.

Farmers are urged to probe grain for moisture content and evidence of insects and molds. In many instances there will be problems, the committee was told, because some grain bins are too full, making it difficult to probe, let alone handle grain. Some flat storage structures may allow rodent and bird damage and contamination, although this type of damage is not thought to be major compared to the potential of excessive moisture levels.

In urging farmers to check grain periodically — perhaps as often as every two weeks this time of year — the committee advised them to write down the date and what they found. Farmers also were urged to not hesitate in asking for help if they have a problem with stored grain.

Despite pessimistic overtones, the committee acknowledged the percentage of grain coming in with problems no greater than past years. Major problems continue to develop in grain stored on the ground, with on farm facilities in general better than they were 5-10 years ago.

Hanway pointed out that Nebraska's increasing grain storage capacity on farms is making farmers "managers of stored grain," a demanding role to which many are not accustomed. He said the educational program needed to help farmers maintain grain quality in storage portends "a big job ahead for the Cooperative Extension Service."

With the pressure for farmers to get into the field — especially this year with early spring storms — management of stored grain "goes down," Hanway said.

Rollin Schnieder, IANR extension safety specialist, warned of the dangers of dust and molds from grain sorghum to human health, which he said, makes it necessary for handlers to wear a cartridge type dust filter.

Farmers and grain handlers are reluctant to adopt this type of protective device, he said, because it cuts their ability to work to 75 percent of potential. He said augers continue to be the most dangerous piece of equipment in the grain area. Schnieder said "sour" milk, which has deteriorated because of excessive moisture, is not feasible for ethanol production, because it yields only one gallon per bushel, while the theoretical yield is 2.6 gallons per bushel.

Kubik Receives Service Award

Two Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources staff members received Livestock Awards from Walnut Grove Products, a division of W.R. Grace Co., of Atlantic, Iowa, at a recognition luncheon in Lincoln last Monday.

Cited for significant contributions to development of Nebraska's livestock industry were Don J. Kubik, extension dairy specialist, University of Nebraska Northeast Station, Concord, and Dr. Earl W. Gleaves, extension poultry specialist, Department of Animal Science, Lincoln. The fifth annual awards of a plaque and $450 to each recipient were presented by R.L. Crom, director of marketing for Walnut Grove Products.

Kubik has been a Nebraska extension staff member since 1959. He was the leader in organizing a series of 25 two-day area dairy day programs in Nebraska in 1979, which resulted in reaching more than one-third of the state's dairy producers in regard to mastitis prevention and treatment. Kubik developed and coordinated the interdisciplinary effort, which included innovative use of teaching techniques and teleconference hookups to link primary meeting sites with satellite gatherings of dairymen.

A native of Omaha and recipient of two degrees from the University of Nebraska, Kubik helped plan the first Nebraska Dairy Expo at the NU Field Laboratory near Mead, and was instrumental in organizing Dairy Women of Nebraska, an industry promotional group. It now includes 11 chapters in the state, with a total of 400 members.

Kubik has been active in work with Dairy Herd Improvement Associations (DHIA's), particularly in the formation of computerized ration formulations and cost data. He worked with DHIA supervisors in establishing a central testing laboratory, now in operation in Nebraska.

He also has been working on a better design for calf hutches and their increased use. The specialist has been active in university affairs. He is past president of the Nebraska Cooperative Extension Association, has served in the UNL faculty senate, and is a member of Gamma Sigma Delta, an honorary

Wayne Residents Don't Take A Step Backwards!

Much has been done in the past to promote Farm-City relations in the Wayne area. Farmer man and wife appreciation dinners, Chamber promoted ag events, etc. — all have had a part in recognizing the communities most important industry. As a result a very favorable business climate currently exists.

A former Mayor of North Platte where a sales tax has been in effect for several months tells of attending a meeting in a small town near North Platte this past week. Bitterness toward North Platte and reports of business trends to other larger towns in the area still persist.

The course is an outgrowth of a pilot program used by the school district during the year. Because Wayne County has a particularly high rate of country accidents, school districts in the county were given the opportunity to offer an advanced driver's education course.

The district volunteered for the program last summer and for the fall semester. As a result, the program again will be offered this summer, Carnes announced.

Only those students who have completed driver's education are qualified to participate in the advanced course. Students must

A CROWD OF MORE than 2,000 people turned out for the Sunday commencement ceremonies held in the Willow Bowl at Wayne State College. The mid-60's weather made conditions ideal for the first spring college graduation outdoors at Wayne State since 1977.

Honor Students WSC Grads

W.H. Johnson was presented a Distinguished Service Award and Wayne State College Associate Professor Carl Rump was selected "Outstanding Professor" for 1979-80 at WSC commencement ceremonies held here Sunday. WSC graduated 192 students, including five Summa Cum Laude, nine Magna Cum Laude and 14 Cum Laude. Another 27 received honorable mention at the ceremonies.

Johnson, currently superintendent of the Wausa Public School System, was presented his award for outstanding service to education in Nebraska. A 1937 graduate of WSC, Johnson has served in education for over 42 years. He holds the longest continuous tenure record as a superintendent in the state of Nebraska. Johnson was the guest speaker at the Sunday ceremonies at WSC.

He is a member of the Nebraska Schoolmaster's Club, the Northeast Nebraska Superintendent's Association, a past member of the State Accreditation Committee and has served on a variety of Nebraska educational committees. He has been superintendent of the Wausa Schools for the past 28 years.

Rump, an associate professor of science at WSC, has been with the college since 1967. He has been the Dale Planetarium director for more than 10 years. He received his master's degree in 1967 from Ball State University and a bachelor of science degree in 1966 from Ball State. He received the Outstanding Professor Award, sponsored by the WSC Chapter of the National Blue Key Honorary, for his overall contribution to the quality of education at Wayne State.

Regarding those graduating with honors Sunday, Summa Cum Laude graduates must have attained an overall grade point average of 3.90 or above (on a 4-point scale).

An area student who graduated Summa Cum Laude was Merrill Hale of Wakefield, 3.95 grade average.

Area Magna Cum Laude graduate who attained an overall grade point average of 3.80-3.89 or Magna Cum Laude included Lisa Anderson, Laurel, 3.85 grade average.

Fertilizer Supply May Decline Slightly

U.S. fertilizer use may decline by 3 to 7 percent during the fertilizer year ending this June 30.

According to a supplement to the Fertilizer Situation to be issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, greater-than-expected increases in prices farmers pay for fertilizer, energy and interest relative to crop prices, combined with tight farm credit, will discourage fertilizer use this spring. Most forecasts made in late 1979, including USDA's, had called for a moderate increase in use this fertilizer year.

Net domestic supplies of fertilizers are expected to be about 14 percent higher this year. So, if the usual strong spring demand for fertilizer fails to materialize, prices could level off and possibly begin to decline, especially phosphates, before the planting season is finished.

The supplement, prepared by USDA's Economics, Statistics, and Cooperatives Service, notes that use of phosphate fertilizer is expected to decline most severely, perhaps by 7 to 13 percent. Potash consumption may fall by 3 to 7 percent while nitrogen use may equal last year's level or fall by as much as 3 percent. Current increases in farm prices for fertilizer are the largest since the 1974-75 fertilizer year, when use of the three primary nutrients declined about 9 percent, with nitrogen down 6 percent and phosphate and potash each down 12 percent.

After early optimism and a brisk fall season, the current fertilizer year has recently begun looking much like 1974-75. Although March 1980 fertilizer prices had not increased as much as in 1975, and 1980 grain prices have not declined as in 1975, other negative factors influencing fertilizer demand are more severe. Net farm income prospects are down from a year earlier due to a 12 percent annual increase in the overall cost of production inputs measured in March 1980, versus 9 percent in 1975. Cost increases have been especially high for energy, up 61 percent, and fertilizer, up 29 percent. Interest rates on producing loans are up sharply from a year ago and credit supplies are tight, particularly in several Midwestern states.

Current economic conditions indicate the reduction in fertilizer use this spring will be at least as severe as in the spring of 1975. However, since many farmers who anticipated higher spring prices bought more fertilizer than usual in the fall and winter, consumption of plant nutrients for the first 7 months of the fertilizer year was up substantially. This strong early movement will probably prevent the decline in consumption for the entire fertilizer year from repeating the record decline of 1974-75, when use began decreasing during the fall and winter months.

May 1980 farm level prices for fertilizer could average about 24-26 percent higher than a year earlier. These increases stem from improved domestic demand in the early months of the fertilizer year, strong export demand and rapidly rising production, transportation and retailing costs. The expected decline in fertilizer use will probably cause a leveling off of prices and possibly some declines, especially for phosphates, before the end of the current fertilizer year.

Nitrogen prices in May are likely to average 20 to 22 percent over May 1979, reflecting strong world demand and the pass-through of rising production costs, especially for natural gas, in the United States and worldwide. Prices of phosphate fertilizers were up the most in the first 9 months of the current fertilizer year, and May 1980 prices will probably average 36-38 percent above a year earlier. However, the rapid price increase experienced through March probably will not continue through May. Wholesale prices have already begun to weaken. Potash prices in May are likely to be 19 to 21 percent higher than a year earlier.

Supplies of fertilizer materials this spring are expected to be ample relative to use. Production of all three nutrients during the 1979-80 fertilizer year are expected to exceed year-earlier levels, and producer inventories may increase during the last half of the year.

Production of nitrogen fertilizer materials during July-December 1979 was ahead of the year earlier pace, with anhydrous ammonia production up 10 percent, and output of urea and nitrogen solutions up 28 and 13 percent, respectively. Increased production of phosphate fertilizer materials compensated for generally lower inventories. July-December 1979 output of phosphoric acid and diammonium phosphate was up 8 and 11 percent. Combined U.S. and Canadian potash production from July 1979 through February 1980 was 12 percent over a year earlier. Inventories were down, but from higher than normal levels.

On Feb. 5, the Secretary of Commerce announced the suspension of phosphate exports to the Soviet Union, an action taken in the interests of U.S. foreign policy. On March 20, the International Trade Commission determined that anhydrous ammonia imported from the Soviet Union was not causing disruptions in the U.S. market, and no quotas were recommended to restrict Russian ammonia imports.

The phosphate export suspension will modestly increase supplies of phosphate materials in the U.S. market, thus slowing the upward movement of prices in 1980. Thus far the Soviet Union has been willing to continue shipping ammonia to the United States despite the embargo on phosphate shipments to Russia. Although actions by longshoremen could still restrict the future arrival of Russian ammonia, court injunctions have ordered the International Longshoremen's Association to unload ammonia vessels. Arrival of the Russian ammonia should cause ammonia spot prices to stabilize now that some of the uncertainty about its availability has diminished. Unrestricted arrival of this ammonia will enable Florida and North Carolina ammoniated phosphate producers to resume full production, and prices for these products should be more stable as a result.

Copies of the supplement to the Fertilizer Situation, approved by the World Food and Agricultural Outlook and Situation Board, will be available in a week to 10 days. For further information, contact Richard Rortvedt or Paul Andrienas (202) 447-7340.

Oats, Barley, Wheat Need to Be Treated

Before planting oats, barley and spring wheat this month, farmers should treat the seed with an appropriate seed protectant fungicide to prevent smuts and reduce losses from root and crown rots, an Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources extension plant pathologist said this week. John E. Watkins said the spores of the fungi that cause covered and semi loose smut of barley, covered smut of oats, and common bunt of wheat occur on the surface of the seed coat.

"These smut diseases are effectively controlled by several seed protectant fungicides," Watkins said. The pathogens causing loose smuts of barley, oats, and wheat can be controlled only with Vitavax, a systemic seed treatment fungicide, he advised. The wettable powder formulations of Vitavax can be used on oats, wheat and barley, but the flowable formulations cannot be used on oats. Vitavax controls other smuts and, when combined with thiram, gives broad-spectrum protection against several other seed borne diseases. Watkins said barley growers can have their seed tested for presence of the loose smut organism (Ustilago-nuda) by sending samples to the following locations:

The State Seed Laboratory, State University Station, Fargo, North Dakota, 58516; Plant Science Diagnostic Clinic, Plant Science Department, South Dakota State University, Brookings, South Dakota, 57007.

Those interested in the embryo test should send one pint of barley seed, randomly selected and properly labeled as to variety and source (crop year), to either of the above locations, the plant disease specialist said. "This must be done immediately to allow time to arrange for a fungicide treatment if necessary," he stressed.

"Yield losses from loose smut of barley generally will be in direct proportion to the percentage of infected seed planted. A seed lot showing a 10 percent infection will result in about a 10 percent yield loss," Watkins pointed out.

"If your barley seed carries over a 4 or 5 percent infection of loose smut, it will pay to obtain new seed or treat with Vitavax," he concluded.

Alcohol Impact Poster Contest

Members of the Dixon County Alcohol Impact group are currently sponsoring a poster contest in two Dixon County schools. Participating in the contest are over 75 youths from third to sixth grades at Allen and sixth grade in Wakefield. The contest is divided into two age divisions: third and fourth grades and fifth and sixth grades.

Students can pick from three categories: reasons why people drink; early warning signs of alcoholism; and physical effect of alcohol on one's body. Prizes will be awarded to the top winners in each division. Ribbons will be awarded to the top five winners in each division. All other entries will receive recognition following the contest. Posters will be displayed in store windows in each of the school's respective towns for one week during May.

Dixon County 4-H'ers organizing and conducting the contest include David Stelling from Wakefield and Lisa Wood and Robb Linafelter from Allen.

Tillage Demo This Thursday

A conservation tillage field demonstration is being held at the Floyd Glassmeyer farm Thursday. The demonstration will begin at 5:30 p.m. on the farm 4 miles south and one-fourth mile west of Wayne, according to Wayne County ASCS director Ray Butts.

The Lower Elkhorn NRD, Soil Conservation Service, County Extension Service and ASCS are cooperating to allow all area producers the opportunity to see how conservation tillage planters and systems work.

Those attending will also learn about herbicide and fertilizer useage on these systems. Northeast Nebraska Extension specialists will be on hand to explain these programs and answer questions. Butts stated.

A free lunch will be provided by the LENRD for all attending the demonstration. Rain date for the affair will be one week later on May 8th.

The first settlement at San Francisco, called Yerba Buena ("good herb") was established in 1776.

LEGAL NOTICE OF BIDDERS TO BE VOTED UPON MAY 13, 1980. BALLOT TITLES AND TEXTS OF CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS PROPOSED BY THE EIGHTY-SIXTH LEGISLATURE, FIRST SESSION, 1979.

Proposed Amendment No. 2
A vote FOR this proposal would (1) create a Compensation Review Commission of seven members appointed by the Governor with legislative approval to review salaries and expenses for members of the Legislature, the judiciary, and the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, Secretary of State, Auditor, and Treasurer prior to each odd-year regular legislative session, and recommend to the Legislature any compensation adjustments, which adjustments could not go into effect until approved by the Legislature; (2) remove the provisions setting the salary of members of the Legislature at four hundred dollars per month and prohibiting them from receiving any additional pay other than actual expenses for one trip to and from each legislative session.

Proposed Amendment No. 1
A vote FOR this proposal will allow the Governor to fill by appointment a vacancy occurring in the office of the Lieutenant Governor the same as he is now authorized to do in case of a vacancy in any other elected state office (excluding judges), which appointee would serve until a successor was elected; thus, a vote for will remove the single exception in the constitution to the authority of the Governor to fill by appointment vacancies in all elected state offices (excluding judges).

Proposed Amendment No. 2
A vote AGAINST this proposal would retain the present system under which the Governor and the above-listed elected state officials would receive compensation as determined solely by the Legislature in the enactment of salary bills from time to time, and would retain the present system under which each member of the Legislature receives a salary of four hundred dollars per month as provided in the Constitution and travel expenses for one trip to and from each legislative session.

Proposed Amendment No. 1
A vote AGAINST this proposal will result in retaining the present provision which authorizes the Governor to fill by appointment vacancies in all elected state offices (excluding judges) except for the office of Lieutenant Governor.

Proposed Amendment No. 2

Farmers Can Place Limited Amounts of Corn in Reserve

Corn farmers who did not participate in the 1979 feed grain program will be allowed to place a limited quantity of corn in the farmer-owned grain reserve, according to Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland.

Bergland, who took the action following the April 11 signing of authorizing legislation by President Carter, said he did so to help farmers isolate additional corn stocks from the marketplace and strengthen market prices.

BERGLAND said this option for previously ineligible corn farmers will be available on a first-come, first-served basis until approximately 295 million bushels (7.5 million metric tons) of previously ineligible corn have been placed in the reserve, or May 15, whichever comes first.

This offer may be terminated at any time, Bergland said.

Bergland said farmers who did participate in the 1979 feed grain program and who currently have corn under a regular nine-month price support loan will continue to be eligible to enter their grain into the reserve, regardless of how many bushels of previously ineligible corn go into the reserve.

FARMERS who wish to take advantage of this change should contact their local county office of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Program non-participants will receive the same reserve loan rate for their corn ($2.10 per bushel) as do program participants, but will not be eligible for the waiver of first-year interest charges. Non-participants will remain ineligible for USDA's regular nine-month price support loans, Bergland said.

USDA has been purchasing corn to help support prices, following the January 4 announcement by the President to suspend grain shipments to the Soviet Union in excess of 8 million metric tons per year. Since that announcement, the Department has purchased approximately 59 million bushels (1.5 million tons) of corn and accepted into the farmer-owned grain reserve 197 million bushels (5 million tons) of corn. The total quantity of corn now in the reserve is approximately 812 million bushels (20.6 million tons).

Rootworm control
It soon will be time for planting corn, and rootworm control will be an important part of good corn crop management.

Here are seven important points to be considered in your corn rootworm control program.

1. Insecticides proved best control if applied at cultivation before June 10th.
2. Some problems are caused by mistaken calibration.
3. Applying more insecticide than is labeled is usually just a waste of money.
4. Counter and Dyfonate have provided more consistent results over the past three years as planting time treatments.
5. Leave a check strip. It's the sure way to check your insecticides performance.
6. First-year corn will usually not need a soil insecticide unless there was volunteer corn or weedy grasses in the field the previous year.
7. Cutworm control with soil insecticides has been too inconsistent for the University to recommend their use. Choose a soil insecticide primarily for rootworm control. It's better to scout regularly for cutworms and apply a rescue treatment if necessary.

Moldy corn for swine
Here is some information from Mike Brumm on feeding moldy corn to swine.

Fleer Is Fourth At Horse Event

For the second consecutive year, Golden Cherokee, owned by Jim Hayes, Bennington, won the all-around horse championship at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln Block and Bridle Quarter

Horse Show at the State Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Winning fourth place in the Youth Reining class was Edward Fleer, Wayne, riding Skipsweet.

Cutworm Damage Reported

Reports of cutworm damage to alfalfa have been received from central and northeast Nebraska, an Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources extension entomologist has revealed.

Robert E. Roselle said Friday that the army cutworm is one of the earliest damaging insects to crops in Nebraska, characteristically feeding primarily on alfalfa and wheat.

Moths of these insects lay eggs in the fall, small "worms" overwinter and are ready to feed just as soon as spring temperatures are warm enough for them to become active. While cutworms may occur anywhere in the state, they are the greatest problem in central and western counties most years, Roselle said.

The most important damage is to alfalfa fields seeded last summer or fall, the IANR insect specialist explained. These plants may not be strong enough to withstand cutworm feeding, and stands may be thinned by killing of plants. Light to moderate infestations in wheat rarely are important, Roselle stated, as wheat generally outgrows the damage and yields normally.

He advised farmers to check for cutworms if newly seeded alfalfa looked all right a week ago, but now appears to be faltering or portions disappearing.

"Since they feed at night, examine the soil, or under debris in the area that appears to be in trouble," he said. The worm is dirty-grey in color, with indistinct lines along the sides. They feed at night above the soil.

Control of army cutworms in newly seeded alfalfa fields is difficult, as most materials do not work well under low temperatures, Roselle said. Farmers can apply Sevin, Dyltox or diazinon sprays in ground equipment, or use the 5 percent Sevin bait if infested areas are not large.

"Bait is expensive, and large areas would require an investment generally considered excessive," Roselle said. "Spray in the afternoon or evening for best results, but do not expect 100 percent control."

Cutworms in established alfalfa stands will delay the first cutting, but will not cause permanent damage in a normal spring, he concluded.

A Choice of Price Options

All farmers are eligible to participate in the 1980 wheat and feed grain program and may choose between two price support options, according to Alden Johnson, chairperson of the Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASCS) Committee.

THE PROGRAM contains higher target prices for feed grains and wheat for all farmers who file an accurate acreage report and plant within their normal crop acreage (NCA). Farmers who plant in excess of their NCA and accurately report their acreages will also be eligible for program benefits based on lower target prices for these crops.

The Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1980, recently signed by President Carter, establishes the two-level target price for corn, grain sorghum, barley and wheat. The lower target price level for wheat is $3.08 per bushel, and the higher rate is $3.63 per bushel. For corn, the lower target level is $2.05 per bushel and the higher, $2.35 per bushel. The bi-level target prices are $2.45 and $2.50; for sorghum and $2.29 and $2.55 per bushel for barley.

"THESE RATES will be used to determine any deficiency payments made," Johnson said.

The new act also extends disaster protection for corn, barley, sorghum, wheat, cotton and rice through the 1980 crop year. Combined payments made on these crops are limited to $100,000 per person.

The ASCS official said no set-aside or diversion is required for 1980 to be eligible for program benefits.

A VOTE FOR A CITY SALES TAX

IS NOT A VOTE FOR INCREASED GOVERNMENT SPENDING!

BUT A VOTE TO REDUCE PROPERTY TAX!

Without A City Sales Tax

All cities must operate under a 7% lid. This means that a city council can not budget more than a 7% increase over the previous year's budget. Consequently, there is a limit on the amount of money a city can ask for in taxes or receive from other sources. The above graphic illustrates the present relationship between property tax and other sources of revenue stabilized by the 7% lid.

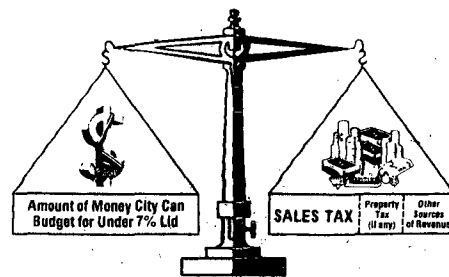

Do you fear that a vote for a city sales tax will only result in an additional tax?

Do you fear that a vote for a city sales tax will just produce more money for your city to spend?

Do you fear that a vote for a city sales tax will not result in a reduction in your property tax?

With A City Sales Tax

The above graphic illustrates the relationship between the sales tax, property tax and other sources of revenue as stabilized by the 7% lid IF A CITY SALES TAX IS ADOPTED. All cities must operate under a 7% lid. This means that a city council can not budget more than a 7% increase over the previous year's budget. Consequently, there is a limit on the amount of money a city can ask for in taxes or receive from other sources. Therefore, when a city sales tax brings in more money, the property tax must be reduced. The more revenue a sales tax generates, the more property taxes must be reduced.
