ONE-HUNDRED FOURTH YEAR— NUMBER SEVENTY-TWO

Candidates Speak

In light of the public's need to know, The Wayne Herald publishes elsewhere in this issue the statements of three candidates for the District 17 State Senatorial seat. Statements of Frederick Mann, Wayne; Merle Von Minden, Allen; and Edwin Fahrenholz, Allen, are printed in their entirety for benefit of District 17 voters. These are the first statements received by The Herald which solicited statements from each of the five State Senate candidates. Statements from Gerald Conway, Wayne, and Eugene O'Neill, South Sioux City, will be printed in Monday's issue if they are received.

Wayne Voters Face Big Decisions

Voters in Wayne will have several important decisions to make when they go to the polls Tuesday in the primary election.

PROBABLY THE most important issue will be the proposed city sales tax issue which calls for a one-cent city sales tax beginning with the next fiscal year.

A detailed story on the proposal will appear in Monday's issue of The Herald.

Two amendments to the Nebraska Constitution also will be on the ballot. One involves allowing the Governor to fill by appointment a vacancy in the office of the lieutenant governor.

This is the same method used in filling the vacancy of any other elected state office, but the office of lieutenant governor currently is an exception to that law.

THE OTHER amendment would create a Compensation Review Commission which would have the authority to recommend changes in salaries and allowable expenses for members of the Legislature, the judiciary, the governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, secretary of state, auditor and treasurer.

Wayne voters also will vote for one candidate for the District 17 State Senate. The top two-vote getters will vie for the seat in the November general election. Candidates include Gerald Conway, Frederick Mann, both of Wayne; Merle Von Minden and Edwin Fahrenholz, both of Allen; and Eugene O'Neill of South Sioux City.

VOTERS IN WAYNE will elect a member to the State Board of Education. Walter M. Thompson is the candidate and is unopposed. Voters will choose at-large and first district members for the Northeast Technical Community College board of governors. Richard Corke is the first district candidate and Allen P. Burkhardt the at-large candidate. Both are unopposed.

Also on the non-political ballot will be the names of Wayne County Noxious Control Weed Board candidates Enos G. Williams, Lester Menke and Dwayne Rethwisch. They, too, are unopposed.

ON THE Republican ballot, voters will have seven presidential candidates to choose from: Robert Dole, Ben Fernandez, Ronald Reagan, Harold E. Stassen, John B. Anderson, George Bush and Phillip Crane.

GOP voters will have the option of voting for the First District Congressman seat now held by Rep. Doug Bereuter. He is unopposed.

Kenneth Eddie is the GOP candidate for the Second District Wayne County Commissioners. He, also, is unopposed. Republicans voting will have a wide variety of delegates to the National Convention from which to choose.

ON THE DEMOCRATIC ballot, there will be four Presidential candidates from which to choose — Edmond G. Brown Jr., Jimmy Carter, Edward Kennedy and Lyndon H. LaRouche.

Rex S. Story is the First District Congressman candidate. No one has filed for the Second District County Commissioners seat on the Democratic ticket.

Voters in the Third Ward will have several delegates from which to choose to the County Convention. These are Robert D. Jordan, Sylvia Eynon, Kenneth Olds, Ann O'Donnell, Allen O'Donnell, Sandra L. Lyman and David R. Ley.

In the Fourth Ward, delegate candidates to the County Convention are Jogindar Johar, Charles Bentjen, Robert Ensz and Frank Prather.

High School Students Honored By Kiwanis

It is primarily a failure by adults that prohibits today's young people from achieving high goals, the Kiwanis Club Scholastic Achievement Banquet speaker said Monday night.

SPEAKING BEFORE Kiwanians, their wives, honor students and their parents, Webb McNally, Norfolk Kiwanis Club first vice president, said "If adults performed the way they should," then more youth would be excelling.

McNally was featured speaker at the achievement banquet which is held each year to honor top students in grades 7 through 12. This year, 31 students were honored.

McNally, president and general manager of Western Typewriter & Office Supply in Norfolk, said that "by recognizing, helping and encouraging youth, we are helping the world we live in."

"I HEAR SO much that young people are going down hill. But I don't believe that," he told those gathered at the Wayne State College Student Union. It is mainly a failure to adults to provide the proper guidance and leadership that youth are not the achievers they should be, he said.

McNally said that job applicants at his business who have "A" grade point averages show they are achievers and are capable of excelling.

"But 100 years from now, it won't make any difference what kind of house you owned, or what kind of car you drove. What will be important is whether you were important in the lives of young persons," he concluded.

'White Spot' Group Meeting This Friday

The White Spot Committee of Nebraska will hold a meeting at 8 p.m. Friday, May 9, at the Wayne City Hall.

The committee was established to amend the Nebraska Constitution, enforcing the 10th Amendment which limits the power and activities of the federal government within the state to those expressly authorized by the U.S. Constitution.

THE MEETING, open to the public, is one of several proposed around the state. Ray Muhlbach, spokesman for the Grand Island based group, will present a color slide program followed by a question and answer session.

If the amendment is adopted, it will restore the government to the people and the states, retaining the power to them as designed and intended by the Constitution, Muhlbach explained.

MEMBERS OF THE White Spot Committee assert that federal government involvement and mismanagement of the economy are the major cause of our economic inflation and recession, and will lead to the destruction of the free enterprise system, independent agriculture and the family farm.

The group claims that 1980 is a critical year for the future of the United States and predicts it to be another year of further decline.

The White Spot Committee, so named in historical recognition of Nebraska's former tax-free status, opposes government managed inflation, overwhelming taxes, deficit spending, excessive government and dictatorial bureaucrats.

MUHLBACH SAID the backbone of the committee is the words of Edmund Burke: "The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is for good people to do nothing."

A minimum of 35,000 signatures of registered Nebraska voters is required by June 15 to place the proposed amendment on the November ballot.

More information on the White Spot Committee, the Wayne meeting or about future meetings may be obtained by calling toll free 1-800-452-1017.

Tuesday, election day, will mark a significant day in the history of the Allen Consolidated School District.

Voters will decide whether it wants the board of education to place a limit on the budget beginning with the Sept. 1 fiscal year.

THE LIMIT, if approved, would apply to the general fund and the site and building fund (capital construction). These funds generate $354,669 based on mill levies of 30.52 and .92 respectively.

According to a petition submitted to the board of education in March, approval of the issue would not affect the special retirement fund nor the bonded indebtedness fund. It also does not involve the balance of the budget funded from other state, federal or miscellaneous sources.

Voters will vote on the "hold the line" limitation on the ad valorem taxes portion of the budget.

THE PETITION calling for the freeze on the taxes portion of the budget was filed with the Dixon County Clerk in mid-March, and a few days later with the Allen board of education. The petition was signed by 111 persons in the school district.

Allen farmer George Emmons has been the primary backer of the budget limitation issue. He has maintained that there are several areas in the budget that must be cut back, and that the administration has been careless with its spending.

Emmons says the board has squandered away a surplus of some $200,000. Supt. of Schools Robert Heckathorn admits there is a surplus of funds in the bank, but notes that this money must carry the district through the remainder of the fiscal year.

BILLS MUST BE paid; teachers' salaries paid and other general operation of the budget maintained throughout the summer months, Heckathorn said.

Voters also will have some 16 names to choose from in the race for board of education. The following persons have filed for the primary election Tuesday:

George Emmons, Frank Blauger, Vincent Kavanagh, Daniel Nise, Marilyn Creamer, Bob Noe, Paul Stewart, Larry Boswell, Matt Stapleton, Karen Knepper, Dale Kennedy and incumbents Richard Olson and Verlan Hings. There will be three positions open, and the top six vote getters Tuesday will appear on the November general election ballot.

Some board members feel the future of the school district would be adversely affected if the limitation is approved. Kennedy maintains, however, that he warned the district two years ago of impending financial problems.

SUPERINTENDENT Heckathorn has said that cutbacks, if the proposal is approved,

Major Changes Proposed in County Court System

CAPITOL NEWS
By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The decision on whether to retain the current sales and income tax rates will have been made when this column appears in print.

Members of the state board of equalization, which will have made the decision, was recently supplied with considerable data and the thinking of experts on what the state might expect the rest of this fiscal year, which ends June 30, and the fiscal year ahead.

Chase Econometrics Inc., which furnishes the state its projections and predictions, advised the board the "reluctant recession" has arrived and will be "considerably worse than a very mild downturn."

The firm said the national economy deteriorated rapidly in February and March and added the early economic indicators for April pointed to a further weakening.

The outlook for the state of Nebraska was less pessimistic. Even so, Gov. Charles Thone said he was "terribly concerned about what is going to happen to the Nebraska economy in the next few months." Among causes for worry, Thone said, was that the agricultural sector was caught in a serious "cost-price squeeze."

State Tax Commissioner, who frequently refers to himself as a pessimist, said the state, barring any disturbance in income, could get through the balance of this year without increasing the state tax rates, currently 3 percent on sales and 17 percent of an individual's federal income tax liability. But Herrington added the state would end up with what he called "a very skinny balance."

The all-Republican Board of Equalization consists of Thone, Herrington, Secretary of State Allen Beerman, Treasurer Frank Marsh and Auditor Ray A.C. Johnson.

The board, under Nebraska law, must meet within 15 days after final adjournment of the Legislature, which Herrington believes is too soon. He said he may ask the Legislature next year to delay the meeting until July.

The tax commissioner noted projections made by the Revenue Department are based on sales tax receipts that are not current.

If Nebraska were to be seriously affected by the national recession, the fact would not become apparent in tax receipts for several months, Herrington said.

The board's tax rate decisions, of necessity, are heavily influenced by state and national predictions, along with the state Revenue Department projections.

Proposes major change
Chief Justice Norman Krivosha of the Nebraska Supreme Court has suggested a major change in the state's county court system.

The change he proposes would have several objectives including uniformity of operations and insurance that only lawyer judges would handle contested matters.

Forty-three judges serve 21 county court districts. In each county, except Lancaster and Douglas counties, there is an associate judge-clerk. Almost all of the associates are not lawyers.

Krivosha said the authority of the non-lawyer associates is largely up to the views of the judges under whom they operate.

As an example, Krivosha noted in some counties the associates can deal with contested criminal or civil cases but their counterparts in other counties cannot.

The chief justice would restrict the non-lawyer jurists to such duties as issuing marriage licenses, setting bonds, appointing counsel for indigent defendants and assessing fines in cases that are not contested.

Krivosha would also give the non-lawyer associates the title of magistrates with each county court district having a chief magistrate who would be the administrative head generally in charge of the daily operations of the courts of all counties within the district.

If his recommendations were implemented, Krivosha said, a county judge could devote himself to contested matters that warrant the attention of someone with legal training.

The chief justice said the details of his proposal would have to be worked out, "But this is what we would like to happen."

It would require legislative action to implement most of the changes Krivosha recommended.

Not using funds
Twelve of the 112 financial institutions that went after low-interest mortgage funds issued by a state-supported agency have made little or even no use of them.

The Nebraska Mortgage Finance Fund has decided that if a lender given loan funds in early March is denying applications or has some of the money left on June 1, the money probably will be shifted to more active lenders.

The executive director of the fund, Charles Rasmussen, said his staff contacted about 100 of the lenders and found there was at least $16.9 million in uncommitted mortgage money.

The financial institutions that had made little or no use of the funds were found in all parts of the state.

Praise Beatrice Center

The House of Delegates of the Nebraska Medical Association has approved a resolution praising the Beatrice State Development Center for its "outstanding program" for treatment of the profoundly and severely retarded.

Also commended were community-based programs under proper supervision which treat mildly and moderately retarded persons.

Dr. Charles Landgraf Jr. of Hastings, president of the association, said an increased number of retarded people are being admitted to regional mental health centers because of inappropriate placement of retarded persons in communities.

But Landgraf, the medical director of the state Department of Public Institutions, said the resolution was not to be considered a recommendation for the Legislature to reduce or curtail community-based programs.

The delegates gave the association board for study a second resolution that endorsed community-based programs for the retarded that meet the standards of medical treatment as those at the Beatrice facility.

Dr. Warren Bosley of Grand Island said there has been a lessening of much of the emotion that made rational discussion of services for the mentally retarded nearly impossible for several years.

Working with retarded persons frequently requires a team of professionals that is unavailable in some communities, said Dr. J. Whitney Kelley of Omaha. He added he believes the trend is away from community placement and that more retarded persons will be going back to larger centers.

Recession Sting Eased By Jobs Variety: Thone

"Nebraska's most varied economy is protecting it from all of the sting of America's current major recession."

"Any Nebraska employee who is laid off from his or her job can take no comfort from the fact that the March, 1980 unemployment rate in the state was 4.5 percent lower than the national rate. Any layoff in Nebraska concerns me deeply, but I am thankful that our state's jobless rate in March was only 3.4 percent compared with 7.4 percent in the United States."

"Agriculture is the backbone of Nebraska's economy, and right now almost every segment of our ranching and farming community is hurting badly. Yet, even in agriculture, Nebraska is diversified; and I'm cautiously optimistic that some segments of our state's agriculture will have improved prospects by fall. Let's hope and pray so!"

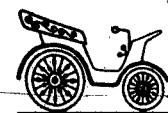

"The agriculture-related industry of processing food and like products is the largest classification of manufacturing in Nebraska, but it accounts for only 27 1/2 percent of the manufacturing jobs in the state.

"Producing non-electric machinery is the second largest category, accounting for 14 percent of the manufacturing jobs in the state, followed by electric-electronic manufacturing with 11 percent. The six broad classifications of manufacturing with the largest number of employees in Nebraska together account for only 73 percent of the manufacturing jobs in the state."

"The week of May 11-17 has been proclaimed by me as 'Industry Recognition Week' in Nebraska. We Cornhuskers should be proud of our nearly 2,000 manufacturing plants providing about 90,000 jobs for our citizens."

"These jobs provide about $900 million in income for the people of our state and are responsible for about $450 million in retail sales in Nebraska."

Sales Tax Is Pledged to Reduce Property Taxes

Some 28 communities across the state are facing financial strains similar to those Wayne expects to experience next year. And they, too, are turning to the city sales tax for relief.

The sales tax in Wayne, if approved Tuesday, is expected to help offset an anticipated city deficit of about $185,000 next year. The deficit is a product of 15 to 18 percent inflation, a 7 percent limitation on the city's tax collections and a depleted reserve account.

The City Council and Mayor have pledged that the money raised through the sales tax will help reduce the city's share of property tax. The overall property tax will not be reduced by 40 percent, as some believe. Rather, it will be the portion of property taxes collected by the city that will be cut.

Figures compiled by the County Assessor's Office indicate that the city's share of the total property tax collection is 22 percent. The remainder of property tax is collected for schools (59 percent), the county (14 percent), Northeast Technical College (2 percent), Natural Resources District (1 1/2 percent), Educational Service Unit No. 1 (1 percent) and Wayne County Agricultural Society or Fair Board (1/2 percent) for a total of 100 percent.

So what does that mean for the homeowner in the city of Wayne?

County Assessor figures show that owners of a home valued at 30,000 for tax purposes in 1979 would have paid about $161.91 for the city's share of taxes. Based on the projected 40 percent reduction in the city's share of property taxes, that figure will be $97.12 for next year — a savings of $64.79.

The city's 1979 levy was 15.42 mills. A 40 percent reduction in that figure results in the mill levy of about 9.25 mills, or a drop of 6 mills. All rather confusing, but important to the city property owner.

For owners of a home valued for tax purposes at $40,000, the city's share of property taxes in 1979 would have been about $218.55; but, after a 40 percent reduction for next year and based on the 9.25 mill levy, the tax would be $129.50 — a reduction of $89.05.

Based on the IRS-1979 sales tax tables, a family of four will contribute the following amounts to the one cent sales tax:

Annual Income	What Your Family Would Contribute
$8,001-$10,000	$37.00
$10,001-$12,000	$43.00
$12,001-$14,000	$53.33
$14,001-$16,000	$58.00

Opponents of the sales tax argue that the difference between savings and reductions in property taxes is not significant. Nothing is being gained, they claim, on the part of the taxpayer.

We disagree. Firstly, the reduction in property tax is a significant step in eliminating an inequitable tax. Property owners pay so that everyone — college students, renters, farmers, and visitors — benefit. Property owners carry the burden so others benefit. But a sales tax is far more equitable. Everyone pays to help support the community, not just the property owner.

Out of Old Nebraska

White settlers to central Nebraska found themselves in a grass-growing, grain-producing country, far from supplies of coal and without much timber. After a long series of experiments a Nebraskan, Daniel Bradley, in 1886, perfected what he thought would be the fuel of the future, according to Nebraska State Historical Society WPA records. He constructed a mill in which he ground rank prairie grass with corn stalks very fine. He then moistened this mixture, and with the aid of a huge press, formed it into blocks for convenient handling. He claimed that one block 4 inches thick and 1 foot long would give a hot and steady fire for an hour, and that one ton of his product would last as long as two tons of the best soft coal. Bradley named this fuel "Cornocopia." He said he could prepare it for market at a cost of $2.00 per ton. Eight years later Franklin Kersting, another Nebraskan, perfected and patented a similar process for making fuel from such coarse refuse as coal screenings, corn cobs and stalks, sawdust, fanberk, sagebrush, straw, and coarse manure. Among early settlers in Nebraska were groups of Mennonites, most of them German-speaking people who had lived a century or so in Russia. Nebraska was in many ways like the country they had left in southern Russia: that is, lacking forest therefore it was natural for these people to erect in their new homes an apparatus for heating and cooking which had proved its worth in the old country, an apparatus more oven than stove, which used heat-producing expedients. Built of brick, it utilized straw and other vegetable matter for fuel. It was shaped much like a large ice box, generally being from 6 to 8 feet high, about 6 feet long and 3 feet wide. The furnace ran full length and was arched with brick, the doors and grate being of iron. A correspondent of the "Lincoln State Journal," said in December of 1874 that he had spent several days in many of the Mennonite homes of Clay County, and he was certain that three good-sized rooms could be heated for an entire day by burning from 10 to 12 pounds of straw. It cost from $15 to $40 to build one of these ovens. A modification of this is a cast iron stove in the Society collections which includes cylinders to be filled with hay to feed into the fuel box.

Conference, School Records Fall

Wayne Boys Track Team Excels

In a year when many schools are having a difficult time fielding teams in two boys spring sports, Wayne High School fields teams for three boys spring sports (track, baseball and golf) and has no trouble filling all three teams.

The varsity track team has been enjoying a successful year and recently turned in their finest performance of the season. The Blue Devils added a trophy to the Wayne trophy case by placing second in the West Husker Track and Field Tournament, held Friday in Wayne.

The Blue Devils racked up 106 1/2 points in the running events to finish ahead of Columbus Lakeview in the race for second. Wayne gave Wisner Pilger a strong challenge after the Gators tallied 92 points in the field events.

Wisner won the meet with 126 points followed by Wayne with 107 1/2. Lakeview with 90, Emerson-Hubbard with 75, Madison with 66 1/2, Hartington Cedar Catholic with 37 and West Point Central Catholic with 25.

Eight conference records fell in the tough competition. Three of those records were broken by Wayne runners. In addition, the Devils also broke seven school records.

Senior Kurt Powers, who was also a cross country standout, was the team leader in the competition. He set a conference and school record of 8:19.7 in the 3,200 meter run and a school record of 2:02.0 in the 800 meter run, winning both events. His time of 4:45.3 in the 1,600 meter run was good for third place.

Powers also ran a leg for the 3,200 meter relay team which set a school and conference record of 8:19.7. Tod Heier, Paul Sutherland and Rick Johnson are the other team members. The old record of 8:25.5 was set last year by Heier, Johnson, Powers and Mike Luff.

The former 400 meter school record of 51.2 seconds was set by Leon Jorgensen in 1966. Powers' time of 50.7 is the fourth fastest time in Class B this year. His time of 2:02.0 in the 800 broke the previous record of 2:02.7 which he set earlier this year.

Rick Johnson set another conference and school record by winning the 300 meter intermediate low hurdles with a time of 42.3. The race is a new event this year.

The 1,600 meter relay team set a school record of 3:32.4, placing second in that event. Rick Johnson, Jeff Baier, Paul Sutherland and Tod Heier compose that team. The old record of 3:36.1 was held by the team of Ken Daniels, Pat Dorsey, Marly Hansen and Jack Froehlich in 1975.

Doug Proett neared the 10 minute mark in the 3,200 meter run. He placed third in 10:04.85, breaking the school record of 10:10.6 set by Dave Hamm in 1978. Proett also placed fourth in the 1,600 meter run with a time of 4:47.4.

The other school record was set by the 400 meter relay team. Hugh Jager, Stuart Nissen, Alan Lindsay and Jeff Allen broke the record they set earlier this season. The 400 meter relay is a new event this year.

In addition to running on two relay teams, Heier placed second in the 800 meter run with a time of 2:06.1 and fourth in the 400 meter dash in :52.92.

Marvin Hansen ran the 110 meter high hurdles in :16.4 to place second.

Jeff Allen finished third in the 200 meter dash (:23.8) and fourth in the 100 meter dash (:11.4).

Lindsay placed fifth in the 200 meter dash with a time of 24.0.

Eric Brink and Stuart Nissen finished fifth and sixth respectively in the 300 meter hurdles, which was won by Johnson. Brink's time was 42.9 and Nissen's time was 43.0.

Other finishers were Jeff Baier who took fifth in the 800 meter run (2:09.1) and Mark Kubik who finished sixth in the pole vault (9.0).

The Wayne boys are competing in the Wisner Invitational today (Thursday) and will prepare for districts which are scheduled next Thursday (May 15).

Hornbeck Sets Course Record at Wayne CC

Bill Hornbeck toured the Wayne Country Club in 67 strokes Sunday to trim one stroke off the previous 18-hole record for the course.

Hornbeck, playing with Chuck McHarg, carded a 34 on the front nine and a 33 on the back with five birdies and 13 pars. The previous record of 68 had been shot by Hornbeck, Bob Reeg and Rudy Froeschle.

In 1978, Renne Sasse shot a 33-32-65, but that is not recognized as an official record since summer rules were not in effect at that time.

Girls Track Today

Some of the best track and field athletes in the state will be on hand when the Class B-4 district girls track meet opens this afternoon (Thursday) at the Wayne State College track.

Top performers will qualify for the State Tournament, scheduled Friday and Saturday, May 16 and 17 in North Platte.

Among the top athletes scheduled to compete are several from Wayne. Lisa Peters, Lynn Surber and Missy Stoltenberg are three Blue Devils expected to do well in districts.

Peters has the fourth fastest Class B time in the 400 meter dash (1:29.4) and the fifth fastest time in the 800 meter run (2:22.4). Surber has the fifth fastest time in the 3,200 meter run (12:17). Only four times in the 100 meter dash was faster, than Stoltenberg's 12.7. She is only one tenth of a second behind the top six performances in the 200 meter dash (1:24.8).

Wayne also has two top relay teams in the 1,600 meter and 3,200 meter races. The Blue Devils' well balanced team should be a contender for the team title.

Top individuals from other schools, who will compete in the event, include: Ann Tisthammer and Sue Lind of Albion and Diane Ulrich of O'Neill.

Tisthammer is first in the Class B 100 meter hurdles, third in the shot put and second in the discus. Ulrich is second in the shot put and first in the discus. Lind is first in the long jump by more than a foot and in the high jump.

Ortmeier Patterns Stones

By Kevin Weiberg
Wayne State SID

When Wayne State College track coach LeRoy Simpson attended the 1976 Summer Olympic Games in Montreal he took a series of photographs of United States high jumper Dwight Stones in action.

Four years later, the photographs of Stones are taped to the dorm room wall of current WSC high jumper Joe Ortmeier. The 6-3, 180-pound West Point native said the pictures have helped him improve his technique, a style that has been good enough to qualify Ortmeier for the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) National Track Meet May 22-24 in Abilene, Tex.

"Coach Simpson gave me this frame by frame of Dwight Stones and I have really studied it," Ortmeier said. "I taped it up on my wall in my dorm room and I kind of started jumping like he does it."

Ortmeier first began to high jump in a junior high physical education class and competed in track for three years at West Point Junior-Senior High School. During his first year of competition Ortmeier's best jump was only 5 feet 4 inches, however, by the time he graduated he was consistently clearing 6 feet 2 inches.

At Wayne State the freshman started the year slowly with his best early jump 6 feet 2 inches. When the Wayne State College Invitational Track Meet rolled around on April 17 Ortmeier began to improve and won the meet with a jump of 6 feet 6 inches, a leap that tied a Wayne State record.

Five days later at the South Dakota/Springfield Relays Ortmeier set a new Wayne State record when he jumped 6 feet 8 inches. The freshman did not miss until 6 feet 10 inches and nearly cleared that height on his second attempt.

Ortmeier said that he was surprised by his record setting performance because "we were jumping off cement and I was wearing tennis shoes instead of track shoes. I even had to glue them (the tennis shoes) together before I jumped."

A few days before the Wayne State meet Ortmeier was distracted by an automobile accident that seriously injured his brother and took the lives of three of his West Point friends.

"I was in Omaha for about a week when my brother was in that car accident and I had my mind on a lot of other things and I wasn't really thinking about jumping," he said.

Despite the distractions track coach Simpson said he was not that surprised by Ortmeier's jumping success.

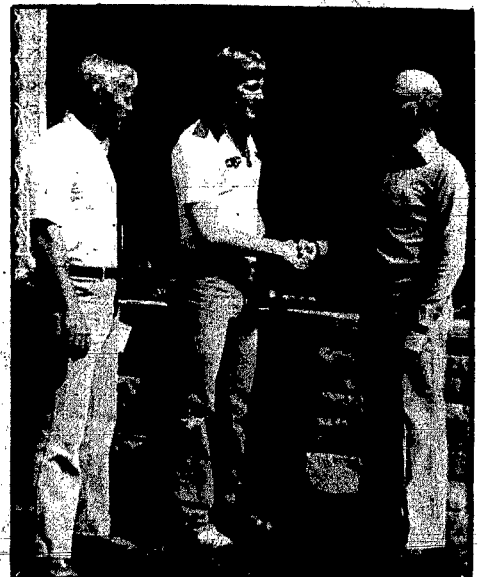

"High jumpers are kind of like distance runners," Simpson indicated. "If they have a base to build upon they are going to be successful. Joe built that base over the winter months."

Though Ortmeier is not expected to place in the national meet Simpson said that "he is always better when he has some good athletes to compete against. He thrives on competition."

Dana Splits

Dana tied the game 3-3 in the bottom of the fifth and the score remained deadlocked through the scheduled seven innings.

WSC scored the possible winning run in the top of the 10th inning for a 4-3 advantage but Dana bounced back to tie the game in the bottom of the inning. The Wildcats put the game away in the 11th.

The two teams combined for 36 hits in the game. Glatter was the big stick for WSC, going 5 for 6 at the plate with two triples and a double.

The split brought Wayne's record to 19-23. Dana was 19-17 following the double-header.

In the opening game, Dana scored three runs in the bottom of the fifth inning to defeat the Cats 5-2. Randy Heying pitched a seven hitler for WSC but his teammates were limited to six hits.

Dana scored one run in the first inning but Wayne State took a temporary lead with two runs in the second. Tom Carden reached first base on an error, Mike Meyer singled him home, Bill Schwartz singled and Tony Pisciola smacked a sacrifice fly for WSC's two runs.

Dana added one run in the third and won the game with three more in the fifth inning.

Dear Editor: My letter will be a little different. I am writing something good about somebody. Sunday afternoon there was a Bike-a-thon for Cystic Fibrosis in town. Thank You Bikers. On Monday a local club distributed the 'Vial of Life' to every household in Winside. This service was free. Thank You Ladies. On Thursday, May 1, was 'Clean Up' day. We deposited our trash and discarded next to the curb. The pickup and the driver were volunteered, I'm sure and the helpers were Winside students. This service was free. Thank You all Helpers. After school on May Day, Brownie Troop 167 delivered May Baskets to the elderly and shut-ins. Thank You Kiddies. This was really and truly good deed week. 'One of the ole folk'

Dear Editor: I again must pick up the golden quill and defend myself and other lid backers in response to Mr. Ladd's FITE Committee, and the Hoffman letter appearing in area papers. First of all, Mr. Ladd, where do you work and are you an NSEA lobbyist? Do you live in the Allen district and do you pay taxes there? If not, are you a teacher? How can you know what is needed and not needed in Allen without being part of it. Also, Mr. Ladd, if you are trying to use the national and state politics to compare to the Allen school they have nothing to do with it. If you wish to complain about them write the proper authorities. You had better read the National Spotlight and get real concerned about how the war powers act has been revised to virtually assure the President powers to practically suspend the Constitution and quit getting so concerned about a school and town where you don't even live. If you do read the above Mr. Ladd your hair will stand on end. Also, Mr. Ladd I can assure you many lay people are very capable teachers and in some schools are invited to help teach or demonstrate skills. Now in response to the FITE Committee, who are they and in their survey of possible cuts in school programs, why did they list speech and special needs together? These are different areas and taught by different people. Also why doesn't FITE get a proposed class schedule and have it published as proposed by the Superintendent. Finally, in response to the Hoffman letter why doesn't she state, the depression, teachers were paid in script many times, taxes went unpaid, farms and houses sold for $1, because no one could pay taxes and farmer owner rallies scared off buyers at tax sales and they paid off the taxes for $1, and if she cares to look in Dixon County records, the taxes finally were forgiven in many cases because no one could pay them.

This may, soon be again. She implies it is one's duty to pay taxes no matter how hard times are. This is not so. It is one's duty to oversee tax levying and spending to make sure they don't get too outrageous and every penny levied is spent wisely and needed. George Emmons Emerson

Dear Mr. Editor: A tribute to Ed Smith: Years ago, Mr. Bigg said to me, "you people in the Fourth Ward should get rid of him, he is against everything. (This was spoken in a severe manner worthy of John Knox). 'It's up to you.' Not a recommendation, a verdict pronounced in fervent moral rectitude. Ed, it seems, belonged to a race of public officials perhaps now banished. The need for a purchase from public funds had to be clear before he would vote for it. It was not enough for it to be the opinion of an engineer hired to agree with Mr. Bigg. We have more enlightened attitudes today. Stimulate the economy by spending, spending, spending. That is why state and local governmental indebtedness now is only $291,000,000,000. Add to that the federal debt of $612 billion and even ordinary people can see why $1 has lost lots of its former value, which is exactly what inflation is. Obviously, we need these legislators who increase these debts and proclaim their efforts to control inflation. Yes, this is a tribute to Ed Smith. And don't think Mr. Bigg is crazy. He's crazy like a fox. I wrote the above in 1978, but did not deliver it to The Herald. Seems (excepting for altered numbers) if all applies today. And may I add information for the lady from Dixon who wrote in your pages that she was 'not a taxpayer in Wayne, merely a shopper?' Economists teach that whenever a shopper buys any item in any retail shop, that shopper is paying a tax, not only the standard sales tax, but also a markup in price for that item to help defray every cost levied by every governmental agency upon that shop. The buyer of any item in any town is paying a small tax in that town. Yours truly, John Violet

Dear Editor: Lately, in the furor over the optional city sales tax that certain factions would like to see instituted in Wayne, we've seen bits and pieces come out pro and con about the tax. Perhaps it would be good to look at the total picture to see how the tax would affect each individual in and around Wayne. The Farmer: At present, the people of the United States enjoy paying less than 17 percent of their income for food. The people of Japan pay over 40 percent of their income for food and the Indo-Chinese pay more than 80 percent. Yet, the American farmer is getting 9 percent less for his produce than a year ago and is paying 11 percent more for the goods he needs to produce YOUR food. In short, the American Farmer is taking a 20 percent cut in "profit" just because he is efficient. The farmer has heard a lot about how the optional city sales tax won't affect him when the truth of the matter is that goods needed for farming will have the tax on it unless it is sold and delivered outside the city limits. The Wayne area farmer brings a good deal of income into Wayne; yet, he does not have a say in whether he should be taxed or not. This is truly taxation without representation, the very premise for which Americans fought and died in the Revolutionary War. For the farmer, the optional city sales tax is another nail in the economic coffin. The Wayne Businessman: Nobody needs to tell you what a 1 percent tax in a trade area as competitive as yours is going to do to your business. Already you are having a bad year. Runaway inflation coupled with astronomical interest rates is making a good business day the exception rather than the rule. You don't need to be told how tough it is; your banker has probably already talked to you. You don't need to have a picture drawn to figure out what the optional city sales tax will do for you. The Wayne City Dweller: You are probably the most important link in this situation. In your hands lies the very fate of this issue: You stand to benefit the most or to lose the most. You've been hearing a lot about how your property taxes are going to be cut by 40 percent with the adoption of this sales tax. No argument there. But have you considered how long that 40 percent is going to last with double digit inflation nipping at our heels? The Wayne City Government: It seems amazing, how, once a person is placed in a position of responsibility, he starts creating problems, so that it looks as if he is accomplishing something. Perhaps the blame isn't really yours. The optional city sales tax was probably presented to you with enough rhetorical balderdash to make it sound as if it were the thing to do. But like the little boy who ate too much, don't let your eyes get bigger than your stomach, or you might have bigger problems than you can handle. Here is an example: According to the law, the city sales tax is administered by the state, not by the city which will mean one more pair of bureaucratic eyes looking over your shoulders. Also, a time of recession is traditionally a time to cut back on expenses, not a time to find more money to spend. It seems as if it might be a good time to emulate the national government by trying to operate within a balanced budget. A Final Note: The optional city sales tax destroys the tax base of our state. Right now many other municipalities are looking to Wayne to see what is going to happen. Let Wayne be exemplary by showing them that it can operate within its means and not have to resort to taking the easy way out. Clarke Kai and Sons Pender

Dear Editor: The upcoming city election for a city sales tax is frustrating to us rural people who spend many dollars in Wayne stores. Your proposed addition of a city sales tax is taxation without representation to rural Wayne citizens. If this additional revenue is needed let's consider a county sales tax wherein rural and city people would share alike in the reduction of real estate taxes. Many believe (and we concur) the city's promise to reduce city real estate taxes by 40 percent is misleading. We appreciate Mark Baumer's (KTCH) clarifications and hopefully enough people understand the reality of this issue. It appears any savings on real estate taxes will be offset by the city sales tax. If this be true, can the city of Wayne afford to vote for this tax at a cost of alienating its rural friends. Bob Jones Wayne County Farm Bureau

Dear Editor:

This article is in response to the various incidents which involves the Allen School District 70-70A. What measures can be taken to correct this disgusting chain of events? First of all, I live at the far eastern end of Allen School District 70-70A. There are some real big taxpayers in this area who funnel large sums of revenue into this school district. I would imagine that many people within the town of Allen or the surrounding area don't realize there is money coming into your district from this area. It appears that the people at this end of the district serve as unanswered patrons. Many people from the Allen area or in the town fail to realize that these are Dakota County land owners who are in support of this school district. Now for the Lid Bill which would curtail unnecessary spending. I've talked to several patrons around the intermediate area within the last week or two concerning LB2. It seems these people are definitely interested in slapping a lid on the budget. Matter of fact, one party stated that several departments within the school could be phased out because he felt it was a waste of time for many students, along with unnecessary spending of taxpayer's dollars. Several students also felt that the instructors knew less than what some students knew. It always seems that the people within the town are always abused the worst as far as paying taxes. In a recent letter to your paper, one person stated all about the taxes he was paying but he better realize and think it's the landowner who puts the gears into motion. Many of these individuals want to enjoy the fruits of victory at the real landowners defeat. As far as the Allen School situation goes, it would be much better if the whole school board would step down or be pressured to the sidelines for the best interest of the whole school district. I believe it would be much better to start over with a new slate but it is highly unlikely, however these school board personnel are too concerned about their own welfare and many items which perhaps have very little significance to many people. Also, people should realize that if a particular project can't be worked out for the best interest of the community, why go against the grain and create detrimental problems which could injure the whole community later on? Another area which I believe should be thought or talked about is the bus route procedure. I know for a fact that many buses are traveling miles upon miles while picking up very few students or none at all. With the price of fuel on the up and up and no relief in sight, this is nothing but total waste of taxpayer's hard earned dollars. Come on people, wake up and work out a solution whereby a designated meeting point can be mapped out so this wasteful spending can be curtailed. I don't see any reason why some idea can't work if people really want to put the shoulder to the wheel and sacrifice for the benefit of everyone. It has worked before and it can work again. There is also some comment about the future of the Allen School System. I realize that no one wants to see his school go down the tube but let's be realistic about the matter. Whenever wild reckless spending and poor management on the part of school board personnel takes place, it's going to create difficult problems in time. These matters don't happen over night but usually over a period of years. Let's look back at the Waterbury School situation several years ago. This school system closed its doors because of poor school board management along with a manipulation of funds. This could be traced back many, many years ago. Many people in the Waterbury School District couldn't wait to get out of the district. Various families even transferred their land into the Allen School District long before Waterbury closed. Now I wonder how they like getting into a bigger pressure cooker. If you honest quality people aren't elected to run a school system, there's going to be serious difficulties and consequences in the years ahead. There are many good solid small school systems located throughout the state of Nebraska that seem to run an effective pattern of school government. Some of these systems are found within a stones throw of this area. In summary, it's not going to be easy to find a solution to eliminate these nagging problems that have occurred. Again may I emphasize it's really disheartening when people can't trust those who are elected to manage our school government. Gordon Hansen Waterbury

Dear Editor: Again I must write about the lid election in the Allen school district. Ask the school board about the ballot wording. Let them explain the Douglas County District court ruling of last year in a similar situation. The election result is in jeopardy but people are smart enough to realize they are voting on a budget limitation of 100 percent and a 100 percent limitation on all future budgets till altered, amended or revoked as provided by law. This limits all future budgets for general and building levy to the current level funded by ad valorem taxes with the exception of the bond fund. A vote for a budget limit will still result in a lid but much confusion shall result from the ballot wording. If the lid loses let it be fair play and then let the board deliver a conservative school budget or face another lid vote in six months along with many other petitions and/or elections. I must also inform everyone the Emmons farm is an integral part of District 70A and never was part of Emerson District 61 RA transferred to Allen. It was in District 70A long before many of the present board members land was. Let them check the Beacon School dissolution petition along with the Dixon County Clerk if they are still curious. My brother and sister both attended Allen I attended Emerson when our district was a

I personally wrote any and all letters signed by me since early September, 1979, to the editor and no one else with no other help and also two name withheld ones about the school in September concerning the little flower garden and quietness of the school. If I am considered a radical why is it two county officials consult with me on my farm and by phone when they have problems arise and need advice and also why am I on a steering committee for valuation protests in Dixon County. It's time people tell all elected officials, superintendent and teachers that they work for them and are accountable to them. Let them look up the words "writ of mandemoreus" (sic) if they do not perform their duties or refuse to do so. Also let them reveal that 90.95 percent of personal property tax revenue lost is being replaced by the state. Also let them know valuation increases decrease state school aid by the amount of valuation rise. State school aid and personal property tax relief money are two separate items and apportioned differently. No cut in taxes can be expected as long as spending is not curtailed. I urge everyone to vote against any and all proposals to exceed the 7 percent state lid and demand the purse strings be drawn tight. Thank you for the space and cooperation Mr. Editor

RECREATION BASKETBALL CHAMPIONS

WSC Softball Team Third in CSIC

The Lady Wildcat softball team earned a third place finish in the Central States Conference at a tournament held May 2-3 at Emporia, Kan. WSC opened Saturday with a surprising 7-5 loss to Ft. Hays — a team which had not won a game all season and was 0-13 going into the WSC game. WSC came back, however, to defeat Missouri Southern 8-1 and Kearney State 2-1.

In action Saturday, the Lady Wildcats kept their hopes alive by defeating Washburn 13-5. Those hopes were short lived, however, as Pittsburg State defeated WSC, 3-1. Emporia (3-0 in CSIC) went on to win the championship, followed by Pittsburg (3-1) and Wayne (3-2). Washburn (2-2) finished in fourth place, followed by Kearney and Ft. Hays tied for fifth (1-2) and Missouri Western and Missouri Southern tied for seventh (0-2).

The Lady Wildcats finished their regular season with a 20-12 record. Wayne State is seeded second in the Region VI Tournament out of 14 teams. The Lady Cats drew a bye for the first round, which begins today (Thursday). Emporia is seeded first and also drew a bye. WSC opens at 8:30 p.m. against the winner of the Univ. of Northern Iowa and Augustana. S.D. WSC previously defeated UNI 3-2 at the UNL Tourney. Despite finishing third in the CSIC tournament, coach Sue Kovar is encouraged by the WSC hitting (35 hits in five games). She said Emporia will definitely be the team to beat.

Statements by Candidates

The 17th District Senate Seat currently is held by Sen. John R. Murphy of South Sioux City. He is retiring at the end of this session.

Edwin Fahrenholz, 63, Allen

I have lived my entire life in Northeast Nebraska. I was reared on a farm and after my graduation from high school became a farmer. I have spent about 40 years in the occupation.

I have been a 4-H leader, Sunday School Superintendent and teacher, and chairman of the Lutheran Church Council at Allen. I am past president of the Dixon County Feeders Association and state board member of that group.

I am at present a township officer and chairman of the board of the 13-county Northeast Nebraska Experiment Station complex at Concord.

I am a member of the State Legislative Committee of the Nebraska Farm Bureau and in that capacity have appeared before the Legislature and its committees on various bills of interest to agriculture.

I recognize the home and family as the basic unit of our Democratic society. Out this unit develops our moral, religious, social, political and cultural values. These contribute to a healthy background in forwarding the principles upon which we develop our democratic attitudes. I shall do my utmost to protect this institution.

I also am intensely aware of the contribution our women make in our farm and business enterprise. We must reconsider our inheritance and estate planning to give them the equal credit they have so long deserved.

A simple survivorship should be all that is necessary to pass property to the surviving spouse with no inheritance or estate taxes until termination of the existing person. Let's let our women have the respect and dignity to end their lives without the usual hassle over legal red tape of estate garble.

Even though it is not a state issue, Social Security should be given the same consideration. A farmer's wife contributes equally even though she never held a job outside the farm enterprise. The same is true of the small businessman's wife.

Education is essential to our democratic society. It should always be our primary concern. Comprehension is man's limitation.

The conservation of our natural resources is of utmost importance to us and future generations. We must not squander them. District 17, which is made up of most of Wayne County, all of Dixon and Dakota Counties, has an abundance of fertile soil. Our productive agriculture contributes much to our state and national economy.

We need better Nebraska Educational TV reception. Dakota County and two thirds of Dixon County are almost totally without it.

Why do we need a state sales tax on food in Nebraska? Many states do not have a food tax. Surely there must be a way.

Inflation shall remain with us until we recognize that productivity is absolutely essential in the formula. Each time there is a raise of any kind there must be an equal raise in productivity. We can no longer tolerate it as an excuse.

Everyone is unhappy with their real property taxes. The valuations keep going up as do the taxes. New valuations come out every year or two. Ideally, taxes ought to be based on earning capacity not valuation times mill levy without regard to ability to pay.

Bill 882 passed by the Legislature should give a bit of tax relief. This bill provides some sales and income tax money back to the counties. This is in place of the personal property taxes we once collected in each county.

I believe we ought to back up a bit in history and explore some philosophy that surely could be applicable today. Look at Lincoln's Gettysburg address in which he said "This government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth." If we kept this perspective our Democracy would not fail.

He did not say "for the people" first, but last. He emphasized two thirds of the input should come from the people. How? By voting and by sharing your philosophy with your representative. I respect each person's contribution to good thinking. No one has a monopoly. Your sharing can be done with a short note to your representative which is a record he can evaluate in making decisions that affect us all.

Representation as it was originally conceived in the early days of our history, meant sharing of ideas and practical philosophy that all might benefit as being participants in good government.

Representation also means sharing. I want to be your representative.

Remember "The Salvation of the State Lies in the Watchfulness of the Citizen."

Edwin Fahrenholz and wife Mildred, have seven children: Mrs. Milo Birkley of Hubbard, E. Keith Fahrenholz, a cattle order buyer of Britton, S.D.; Truman Fahrenholz, a farmer near Allen; Mrs. Fred Saunders of Jackson; Mrs. Terry Cosier of Dubuque, Iowa; Mrs. Boyd Georgeson of Hubbard; and Mrs. Don Mohr III of Ponca

Legislative Council for The American Legion, The American Legion Press Association, am a permanent member of The American Legion and the Disabled American Veterans and have held many District and Department offices in The American Legion.

In the past I have served on the following: Allen Consolidated School Board, six years, chairman four years; Farmers Home Administration Board, two years; Co-op Elevator Board, 10 years, chairman four years; was part owner of the lumber yard in Allen for 17 years, and belonged to the Volunteer Fire Department.

Because I am not financed by or endorsed by any special interest groups I can fairly represent each individual in this district. My three county committee is composed of individuals from every occupation and both major political parties. It reflects the type of representation I will offer.

I consider myself a "progressive conservative." I am conservative and favor fiscal restraint, but I realize that we must continue to progress.

Being interested in politics, I have been active in a major political party for many years and am currently a county officer and precinct committeeman.

My wife, Deenette, and I farm and feed livestock near Allen. We have three children: Mrs. Bob (LeAnn) Russell of Dakota City, mother of our four grand daughters; Scott, a graduate of Wayne State College, now recreational director at the Lincoln Correctional Center; and Lori, a junior at the University of Nebraska Lincoln. We are members of Trinity Lutheran Church in Martinsburg.

I have lived my entire life in Dixon County, farming and feeding livestock for 31 years at Martinsburg and Allen. I spent two years in the Armed Forces, one in Korea, and worked as a laborer in a Sioux City, Iowa, packing plant for several winters.

I am working very hard to become your next senator and will continue to work diligently for your interests if I am elected. As your senator I will remain in close contact with all areas of this district, be responsive to your needs, and directly answer each and every question.

taxed for the support of these programs. Realizing there is a need for certain social programs, there is a need to eliminate the abuses within these programs. I also feel there are too many bills introduced in any one legislative session.

Priority issues facing the state and Legislature include:

— State funding of subdivisions of government, which requires more than one half of all funds (sales, income and other) collected by the state.

— Continuing problems of inequitable tax base.

— Legislation in the area of water — trans-basin diversion, ground water and surface water.

My wife and I own and operate a 640 acre grain and livestock farm southwest of Wayne.

We have four children. Layne, a graduate of University of Nebraska and the Nebraska College of Law, presently employed with a firm in Lincoln; Lila, a graduate of University of Nebraska School of Technical Agriculture, presently employed in Tucson, Ariz.; Kenley, attending Northwestern College in Watertown, Wisc.; and Kerl Jean, at home and in the eighth grade.

Food Stamp Program Nearly Broke

The food stamp program is on the brink of a funding crisis that could cause serious deprivation for millions of low income Americans who depend on it, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The food stamp program has funds to run only through May. Unless the Congress approves additional funds by May 15, it will be legally obligated to issue an order on that date requiring all states to suspend all food stamp benefits, effective June 1. Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland said.

The administration submitted legislation to Congress nearly one year ago to resolve this matter and I have repeatedly warned that the time for Congress to provide additional food stamp funding is running out. Less than two weeks remain before I must order the program to be shut down," he said.

He went on to say that "I am contacting all Governors to warn them that it is likely Congress will not complete action in time. All states must have appropriate mechanisms to halt the provision of food stamp benefits on June 1."

The President has expressed to me his deep concern about this matter. He has written today to the Congressional leaders of both parties urging prompt action, and stating that the suspension of food stamp benefits would work severe and undeserved hardship on millions of low income Americans and their families.

"I fully share that view. The food stamp program is of vital importance to millions of our fellow Americans — the elderly and disabled, poor children, the unemployed, and working families who earn low wages. The program has had dramatic success over the past decade in easing the blight of hunger and malnutrition that not so many years ago was exacting a cruel toll on our nation's poor.

Just 10 years ago, private and government researchers uncovered shocking rates of nutritional deficiency among the poor in some areas of the U.S. — these were similar to rates of malnutrition in underdeveloped countries. The food stamp program has done as much as or more than any other domestic program in recent years to improve the health and well being of the least fortunate among us," he concluded.

It would be unconscionable for the food stamp program to shut down on June 1. However, I will have no alternative but to order the suspension of food stamp benefits unless Congress acts by May 15 to do three things:

— Adopt a third concurrent budget resolution for fiscal year 1980.

— Pass legislation increasing the food stamp authorization, and then — Approve a supplemental appropriation.

None of these actions has been completed at this time.

The President and I are working with Congressional leaders on this critical matter. This year, as we have worked to balance the budget, President Carter has emphasized that the federal government must show concern for those Americans in the greatest need. Prompt Congressional action will be a clear demonstration of that concern. I appeal to the Congress to act expeditiously.

Edwin Fahrenholz

Merte Von Minden, 53, Allen

I believe that common sense and background are the most important factors for serving in the Legislature. I have watched government and the Legislature closely over the years and I believe that good government of the state level requires a local background of broad interests. My approach would be one of common sense and fiscal restraint.

This district contains diversified interests ranging from the Missouri River and Ponca State Park to Iowa Beef Processors to Milfon G. Waldbaum Company, and from small businesses and agriculture to Wayne State College.

My background and interests are also diversified, enabling me to be better informed on the issues facing a senator. Having served as a county supervisor for six years has familiarized me with laws which the state legislature has mandated and the counties must implement with their tax money.

I am opposed to the increase in laws that create an imposition on our everyday lives and strongly feel that when it is possible for people to govern themselves at the local or county level, the state should give them that opportunity.

My areas of concern at this time include the serious situation facing agriculture, the increase in government spending and domination of our lives along with too much legislation which in turn creates more taxes; river and water conservation; and the abuse and misuse of the social service programs.

I would favor legislation to aid and encourage the research and production of gasoline from corn, but not with state funding. (I was in favor of LB637, through which the state would guarantee the bonds for gasoline plants, which was voted down this year.) With Nebraska's surplus of corn and Wyoming's abundance of coal, legislation could be effectively implemented to help solve the energy crisis in addition to aiding farmers.

I am very interested and concerned about water rights, the river, navigation and barge transportation. Since serving as county supervisor I have built, in cooperation with the Natural Resources District, six road structure dams in my district. The cost of these structures is less than one-third the amount of replacing bridges. They conserve water, beautify the area and prevent downstream flood damage.

The river is a great asset to our area and should be utilized more for barge transportation. Working through the federal government, the NRD, the Games and Parks Commission and other relevant agencies, I would like to promote more navigation and barge transportation.

Additionally, I would focus on social service programs. These services are almost completely governed by the federal government, but some areas should be returned to state or county government. I would be in favor of scrutinizing the abuse and misuse of these services.

Through my involvement with local government I feel that I have acquired the qualifications and knowledge that this office demands. I am currently involved in the following: Dixon County Supervisor, six years; Region IV Mental Health Board, six years; Dixon County Veterans Service Board; Dixon County Farm Bureau; Na-

Frederick Mann, 54, Wayne

I've been actively involved with legislation for well more than 20 years, and as a result am familiar with the process of the Nebraska Legislature.

I have served approximately 20 years on the board of education for District 51 and am presently secretary on the board.

Other qualifications which I feel would be helpful if elected include serving on the Wayne County Planning and Zoning Commission until it became inactive, serving as chairman of the Wayne County School Reorganization Committee for several years, have been active in Lions Club International, am a past 4-H leader, and past member of the Federal Land Bank Association board of directors, and am an active member in the Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne.

In addition, I currently serve on the board of directors for the LCMS Nebraska District.

I am concerned about intrusion of federal and state government into local government and our personal lives, and in an attempt to balance the federal budget if appears many programs that are presently financed with federal tax dollars will become the obligation of the state.

It will take sound judgement on the part of the Legislature as well as constituency involvement to determine what the wants and needs of the state are within our ability to be

VOTE NO City Sales Tax

DID YOU KNOW?

The city tax is only about 15% of your total property tax and that a 40% reduction in the city's 10.5 mill levy could reduce the property tax on a $35,000 home by only $51.

Total tax added on a 1% City Sales Tax on a family of four with an income of $12,000 to $14,000 is approximately $53.

We believe that a City Sales Tax would drive business from Wayne and cause a decline in business during a difficult economic period.

If the City Sales Tax will save you money why are city officials proposing that it will make up their budget deficit plus give them a surplus of funds.

IS THIS REALLY SAVING YOU TAX DOLLARS?

— Or is this merely an additional tax.

Half Sisters Finally Meet

IMAGINE FOR A MOMENT HOW YOU would feel if you were an only child and suddenly discovered at the age of 74 that you have a half sister and lots of nieces and nephews. Mrs. Arlowyne Wingett of Wayne was at first confused, then surprised and elated when she discovered recently that she has a half-sister living in Longmont, Colo. It all began around Christmastime when Mrs. Wingett, who resides seven miles west and one and a half north of Wayne with her husband, Glenn, received a telephone call from Mrs. Ethel Pepper of Longmont, Colo. Mrs. Wingett, whose parents were divorced when she was a baby, had never heard from her father and had no idea that he had remarried. Mrs. Pepper, a child of that second marriage, was told at a very young age by her paternal grandmother that she had a half sister, however it wasn't until recently that she decided to look her up. Mrs. Pepper and her husband recently made a trip to Wayne to visit her newly discovered relation. Pictured gathered around the Wingett dining room table are, from left, Mr. Wingett, Arlowyne, Mrs. Pepper, and her husband, Webster

Loyalty Day Sees Several Donations

Donations by several groups, brief talks by the Boys' and Girls' Staters and a flag presentation highlighted the annual Loyalty Day here May 1 at the VFW Club. Donations for purchase of a flag to be placed on the front of the Vets Club included $100 from the VFW Auxiliary, $20 from the American Legion Auxiliary, and $10 from the World War I Bar and Auxiliary. House Committee Chairman Cleo Shaver accepted the donations. Donations for the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department rescue equipment vehicle included $50 from the VFW Auxiliary and $25 from the Disabled American Veterans of Wayne. Dennis Spangler accepted on behalf of the Fire Department. Boys' Stater Perry Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Nelson, told of his plans for the summer and fall, while Girls' State Lisa Remer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee L. Remer, explained similar plans. Nelson is sponsored by the American Legion here, and Remer by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, American Legion Auxiliary and American Women's Club. The DIAMOND CENTER

Plant Now to Help Winter Wildlife

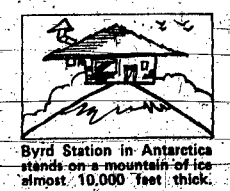

Spring is the time to take action to make next winter a little easier for birds and other species which winter in Nebraska. Young people can have a special role in helping wildlife because of a cooperative program between the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission and the Extension Service. This program provides free seeds for youth to plant for wildlife cover and food. Seeds are free and may be obtained from the Wayne County Extension Office.

MANN

For Legislature

Each bag of seed contains enough milo, millet and sunflower seed to plant a quarter-acre food patch. Seed from the bags must be used only for planting and not for direct feeding, because the seed may have been treated with chemicals such as insecticides. Having a natural food supply for wildlife is much better than providing for artificial feeding when weather is bad. Many wildlife areas are inaccessible during bad weather. Young people should plant their food patches fairly close to good winter wildlife cover, so wildlife will not have to travel very far to feed. Complete planting instructions are provided with each bag of seed.

This food for wildlife planting makes an excellent school or youth group project. It's an opportunity for outdoor learning in the relationships between plants and animals, wildlife use, plant care and growth, or wildlife behavior. If the food patch is in a fairly good area, such as near good cover, observant youngsters can see all sorts of wildlife activity, especially songbirds, as the plants grow and seeds mature. Youngsters can photograph or sketch the planting process, observe the wildlife that use the food or perhaps make posters.

Contract Offers Are Rejected

All offers received April 24 to purchase the contract rights of soybeans for June delivery were rejected by the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC), Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland said recently. The offers were for 111,152 metric tons (4,084,325 bushels).

The weighted average price offered for contract rights for June delivery was $6.38-1/2 per bushel ($234.62 per metric ton).

A total of 510,166 metric tons (18,746,254 bushels) of soybean contracts have been sold by CCC since the invitation for offers was issued March 20.

Offers will continue to be received for soybeans on Monday and Thursday each week until the invitation (SB-1) is withdrawn, Bergland said. Successful offerers will be notified by 10:30 a.m. EST following the offer date. Public announcement will be made after the commodity markets close.

Where Peddlers are Welcome

Some 54 riders from Wayne, Laurel, Wakefield, Allen, Emerson and Randolph soothed sore, tired muscles and blistered feet after riding in the American Diabetes Association Bike-A-Thon, Sunday afternoon. The ride took place on the shoulder of Highway 15, nine miles south of Wayne and back. Most of the riders completed the full 18 mile trek.

Sponsors of the event were the Nebraska Affiliate of the Diabetes Association and the Wayne Jaycees. Many area businesses donated prizes and refreshments for the riders.

The bike-a-thon began shortly before 1 p.m. and continued until the final rider finished at about 4:30. The first rider completed the 18 miles in about one hour. The Wayne Jaycees set up check points every two miles with water and first aid kits.

Bike A Thon chairman Joanne Ekberg said that approximately $3,000 was raised to help fight diabetes. Sponsors pledged money for each mile completed by an individual. Individual winners will be announced after pledges are collected and final tabulations completed.

APPROXIMATELY $3,000 was raised for the American Diabetes Association, Nebraska Affiliate at the Bike-A-Thon, Sunday afternoon south of Wayne. Mayor Wayne Marsh (top left photo) started the Bike-A-Thon on his motorized "bicycle" as about 40 other riders of all ages took off on their bikes. "Everyone in this race is a winner," he said. In the top right photo, five girls prefer pushing their bicycles up one of the many hills they encountered along the route. A cup of ice cold water (center left) is a badly needed thirst quencher at one of the many checkpoints set up along the route. Above, (center) determined Billy Sperry peddles with all his strength to reach the top of a hill. At lower left, troubles with a bicycle chain are being attended to along the route. At lower right, three riders take a short break with only three miles remaining to the finish.

Crossbreeding in Small Herds Is Now Becoming More Practical

"We believe we can extend the advantages of crossbreeding to small beef herds where complex crossbreeding systems are not now practical," says geneticist Keith E. Gregory of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. "We also believe we can genetically match production traits in cattle to the climate and available feeds where they are raised, a limitation of rotation crossbreeding systems."

Sheep Group Meeting Set

The Northeast Nebraska Sheep Producers Association is having its next business meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 13 at the Harlington Auditorium (north of the courthouse). Featured speakers for the evening will be Dominick Costello, chief of the marketing division of Nebraska's Department of Agriculture, who will speak on marketing; and Leslie Koll, representative of Mid-State Wool Cooperation, who will speak on wool marketing. A report will be given on the NENSPA's 4-H Club Lamb Sale held on Sunday, April 27, and the upcoming Carcass Contest to be held in June.

Gregory says. He is with the department's Science and Education Administration at the Roman L. Hruska U.S. Meat Animal Research Center here.

Presently used rotational crossbreeding is difficult and frequently inefficient with fewer than 80 to 90 cows in the breeding herd, Gregory points out. And 80 percent of U.S. farms and ranches with beef cows have 50 or fewer cows.

Gregory and associates are evaluating a new breeding system, in a long-term study, that should produce cattle with the benefits of crossbreeding already built-in. These cattle would then be managed like straightbreds of a single breed.

The production advantage of crossbreds results from heterosis, or hybrid vigor, when genetically different animals are mated, the SEA Agricultural Research scientist explains.

Gregory says the effects of heterosis will increase calf weaning weight per cow at least 20 percent, in comparison with straightbreds, under a three-breed rotational crossbreeding system. And crossbred cows have longer productive lines.

If genetic responses prove to be similar under the new breeding system, Gregory believes the increase in calf weaning weight per cow exposed to breeding can approach the increase observed for three-breed rotational crossing.

He is forming genetic "pools" by crossing breeds that provide a balance of traits closest to the performance characteristics most desired for specific production situations. Then composites are developed by selective intermating within the resulting population, while maintaining a low rate of inbreeding.

Three experimental composites are being developed at Clay Center:

MARC I, a general-purpose composite with a moderate degree of excellence in paternal performance traits, is based on a five breed foundation: One-fourth each Charolais, Brown Swiss and Limousin, and one-eighth each Hereford and Angus.

MARC II, a general-purpose composite suited to good environmental conditions, is one-fourth each Hereford, Angus, Simmental and Gelbvieh.

MARC III, adapted to a less-favorable feed environment and with a moderate degree of excellence in maternal characteristics, is one-fourth each Hereford, Angus, Pinzgauer and Red Poll.

Six more years will be needed to complete foundation matings and to determine the percentage of the initial heterosis retained. Selection within the resulting composite and contributing foundation purebred populations extend perhaps two or three generations.

Grain Drying By Computer Is Big News

The hot news in grain drying these days is drying scheduling by computer, according to Dr. Tom Thompson, who addressed the 1980 Grain Drying and Storage Workshop in Lincoln Tuesday, April 29.

Thompson, professor of agricultural engineering in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, said drying scheduling is similar to irrigation scheduling, with many of the same benefits for producers.

Several programs related to grain drying are available on the AGNET computer system, Thompson said. The Fan Model program estimates the fan size required to deliver air at a prescribed air flow rate through a specified grain for a given duct and bin size. Corn, sorghum, soy beans and wheat are the commodities covered by the program. "This gives you a ballpark idea of the horsepower you need for a certain kind of job," Thompson said.

The Fan Match program matches a fan's performance characteristics and generates a table specifying the fan's performance at various grain depths, Thompson explained. He noted that manufacturer's data for nearly 100 fan models are contained in the AGNET programs, so if a grain producer only knows the fan's model number, he still can use the programs.

The computer model to assist in grain drying scheduling is called "Dry," Thompson said, and is designed for corn and sorghum data and for high and low temperature drying. Crossflow, concurrent, counterflow and natural air systems can be accounted for in the study.

Initial moisture content of the corn or sorghum, the final moisture content desired, temperature of the drying air, air flow rate, fan diameter, duct size and similar data.

The computer will analyze how many bushels per hour the unit described by the producer will dry. The producer can "play with" the variables he enters to find the most energy efficient drying schedule, Thompson said. AGNET programs assume a full perforated floor under the grain because uniformity of air flow is important, he said.

IANR extension engineer Gerald Bodman noted that varietal differences are not currently accounted for in the AGNET programs or other similar programs now available. "However, this could become more important because of different water release rates of varieties," he said.

Thompson pointed out that farmers can use the AGNET grain drying programs with the terminals located at the University of Nebraska district stations and in many county extension offices. The words "help" and "stop" are the only commands producers need to be able to enter the terminal to use the programs. The computer will take users through the programs step by step, offering very complete explanations when the word "help" is typed. Costs for using the AGNET program are about $8 per full hour plus telephone costs, Thompson noted.

In another session, Bodman cautioned the county agents, grain dryer equipment dealers and salesmen attending to be wary of claims made for solar grain dryers. "Some manufacturers claim their system can capture more energy than falls on the face of the earth. You can't collect and use 100 percent of the sunlight," he said. Some manufacturers calculate the sun's energy at solar noon and multiply by 10 hours a day in making claims for the efficiency of their dryers, he warned. Solar noon occurs between 1 and 2 p.m.

DST, and the peak energy only is available at that time, he said.

Bodman suggested that solar dealers plan on 40 to 45 percent efficiency with 1,000 to 1,200 Btu per square foot per day, or "about 500 Btu per square foot per day. If you can justify a solar grain dryer on that basis, go ahead with it," he said.

The two-day workshop was sponsored by the IANR department of ag engineering and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Division of Continuing Studies.

Crop Reporting Dates Are Told

New crop reporting dates were announced by USDA last week. The new dates are June 1 for all small grains and Aug. 1 for other crops, according to Aiden

Johnson, chairman, Wayne County ASC Committee.

Producers who desire to be eligible for program benefits must report their planted acreages by these dates, Johnson stated. The June 1 date applies to all farms with any small grains seeded. If producers have wheat, oats, rye or barley seeded must report these seedings by June 1.

Corn, grain sorghum and soy bean acreages are to be reported by Aug. 1. Johnson explained that producers cannot report their seeded or planted acreage until after it is planted.

Reporting the acreages timely and accurately will make the farm eligible for program benefits. If the farm stays within the Normal Crop Acreage (NCA) it will be eligible for the high target price on any disaster or deficiency payments. Johnson said those who exceed their NCA will have a lower target price. The other program benefit is eligibility for CCC grain loans. All who report their acreages will be eligible for grain loans on all their production.

Farm Management Is Necessary For Decade

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of several articles developed by the Cooperative Extension Service in Lincoln. The articles provide some practical advice for making the best of a bad situation. The articles will deal with farm management practices, cropping decisions, marketing and financing.

Farm Management Strategies for 1980

The 1980 production and marketing year will be a most difficult time for Nebraska farmers. Increased costs for almost all production inputs such as fertilizer, chemicals, fuels, repairs, interest and taxes are projected to increase total costs as much as 25 percent.

At the same time, almost all commodity prices are relatively low or are decreasing — on many farms, production costs will exceed returns. Large or increasing supplies of crops and livestock point to bearish markets for most commodities for the year.

Many farmers are discouraged. It is a year when there will be economic stresses on farmers and their families, on agri-business and the credit and on other institutions that work directly with Nebraskan agriculture.

Most will be concerned with economic survival during a difficult time. A first thought for a farmer might be to "give up" or "throw in the towel." However, in view of a more optimistic economic situation beyond the 1980's, most will want to "hang in there" and adopt a management psychology that will carry their operations through this most difficult period.

Such a period requires the best in management and financial planning. It is not the year to do a "shabby job" of production and marketing. Along with doing the best management job possible, general philosophies that are best described by farmers as "belt tightening" or "make do" take in order.

But, you should force yourself to evaluate each decision objectively. Decisions based on emotion, fear, or undue pessimism may cost $10 in lost income in an effort to save one.

Several articles follow that offer farm management suggestions and strategies that might be considered in your farming operation during 1980. There are no easy answers.

Since farming operations and financial situations differ, you will need to consider this information in terms of how it applies to your operation.

And since economic conditions on farms will continue to change as changes take place in the national economy, you need to be on your toes and react to these changes when feasible. Hopefully, this information will help you cope with on-farm economic stress during 1980.

WAYNE COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT

Cutworms

Cutworms are always a problem with corn and this year will probably not be an exception. For this reason, I'm going to pass along some information on cutworms that was in the Insect Newsletter written by Keith Jarvi, extension pest management scout supervisor.

All fields are candidates for cutworm attack, but certain factors are more favorable for a cutworm problem. Fields with late season weed problems, or following sod, soybeans, small grain stubble, or fields with heavy crop residues are most likely to be damaged by cutworms.

Black cutworm moths were captured in the Dixon County light trap on April 22 but have yet to reach peak populations. The moths will lay eggs on weedy, low lying areas for the most part.

Early detection is critical because the worms do not cut plants until the later stages of their growth. Walk your fields and determine percentage of cut and/or plants with leaf feeding damage. Count in at least five different places in the field, 20 plants in each place. The cutworms will be found within three inches of the plant, usually where the soil becomes moist. Determine percentage of cut and/or damaged plants and average the length of the worms found. Treatment may be justified if five percent of the plants show injury and the cutworms are less than 1 1/4 inch long.

Recommended insecticides Lorsban 4 E Broadcast at 1 lb. AI/acre and follow immediately by a rotary hoe. Crusting, or dry surface soil will reduce efficacy of control, therefore rotary hoeing is recommended.

Use 15 to 20 gallons of water when ground applied or two three gallons when aerially applied for better coverage and control. Late evening application will enhance efficacy because the cutworms will come out to feed at night.

Sod Webworm

Sod Webworm damage will frequently be found in corn following sod or in slot planting in grass. These worms cause damage similar to that of cutworms. They are short, thick bodied worms, usually spotted and coarsely haired as opposed to the smooth shinned cutworms. They will be found within short, silk lined tunnels in the ground at the base of the plant.

Use toxaphene 2.5 lbs. AI/acre. Use at least 20 gallons of water per acre. NOTE: Toxaphene treated forage can not be fed to dairy animals or animals being finished for slaughter.

Moisture, Insects Causing Grain to Go Out of Condition

A great deal of grain in storage on Nebraska farms may be going out of condition because of moisture and/or insect problems. Area farmers need to be aware of the seasonal threat of insects damaging stored grain.

Robert E. Roselle, Extension entomologist, said stored grain insects depend upon the right combination of temperature and moisture to survive and increase in numbers.

As grain temperatures rise at the bin walls and on top of the pile, moisture may increase due to condensation, creating an environment favorable to insect development, Roselle stated.

"Insects can reproduce and live comfortably at moisture contents about 10 percent — the higher the moisture, the more they are likely to increase. Temperatures of 60 degrees F. and above also favor rapid insect development," he said.

Sample grain, now, using a standard grain probe, and have moisture calculated on samples, Roselle advised farmers. "Take temperatures with a thermometer attached to a pole. Watch for insect development each week.

"If insects are found to be on the increase, reduce moisture by aeration. It's a good idea to gradually increase grain temperature to reduce moisture. If the primary grain insects — weevils or grain borers — are beginning to develop, the only choice is fumigation, preferably by commercial fumigators. This approach is safer, more effective and no more costly," the insect specialist said.

Roselle said if the Indian meal moth, a surface feeder, is present, two treatments can be used: Dipel on the surface, and/or hanging Vapona strips over the grain. Use one strip for each 1,000 cubic feet of space over the grain.

"Vapona produces a vapor that kills adults, but it will not kill larvae already presented in the grain. Dipel kills larvae, but they must feed on the material. It has no effect on adults or other insects," he concluded.

Pleasure and Profit 4-H Club

The Pleasure and Profit 4-H Club held its April meeting in Allen. Derwin Roberts called the meeting to order. Roll call was answered with a project that has been started for the coming year.

The flag salute and 4-H Pledge were given. The secretary's report was read and approved, and Craig Noe gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Dartene Roberts presented a game to acquaint members with various projects. Members decided to add or drop projects. Clayton, Ronald and Teresa Obermeyer served lunch.

Cottonwood Coyote 4-H Club

The Cottonwood Coyote 4-H Club meeting was called to order recently by Brad Stewart. Not present for the meeting were Shane, Elliott, Chona and Jason Fahrenholz.

It was announced that calf grooming will be held July 9 at the fairgrounds at Concord.

Sarah Hansen gave a demonstration with German hot chocolate and Mike Ellis talked about fishing. A game demonstrated members' skill and knowledge of cattle and horses.

Doug Ellis made a motion to adjourn and Kirk Hansen seconded.

IS IT REALLY WORTH IT?

★ The proposed city sales tax may not accumulate as much money as anticipated. The State Sales Tax is unavoidable, the City Sales Tax untires, for example: we understand it can be avoided by delivery to rural buyers. Other examples could be pointed out.

★ As a result of the above, patterns of trade would change. More items would be delivered to rural buyers, is this efficient merchandising?

★ Some Wayne businesses within the city limits have competitors just outside the city limits who would be unaffected by the proposed tax.

★ These are but a few of the possible problems with a city sales tax.

★ To a farmer, a city sales tax is taxation without representation.

Farm Families Sought

The Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben and the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers have announced that for the 25 straight year they will continue their program to discover and recognize Nebraska Pioneer Farm families whose land has been owned by the same family for 100 years or more.

Marlyn Koch, Wayne, president of the association, pointed out that 1,911 farm families have been honored at 66 county fairs during the first 24 years of the project.

President Koch and Orville Koch, Otoe County secretary treasurer, said that again this year the honored families will receive an engraved walnut plaque and an aluminum galepost marker for each farm from the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben plus a special framed citation from the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers.

In addition, Ak Sar Ben will host the honored families at an annual banquet during the organization's 53rd Livestock Exposition and Rodeo, Sept. 19 through 28.

All nominations must be submitted by May 15 to the secretary of the local County Fair Board. President Koch said.

A BAD DAY FOR AMERICA...

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES:

The ten cent per gallon fee you intend to impose on gasoline on May 15 will result in disastrous economic repercussions for all Americans. The impact will be felt most severely in rural America, in the nation's farming communities and among small businesses—that segment of Americans who can least afford it.

We believe the negative impacts of the program on all Americans far outweigh any possible reduction in crude oil imports and energy conservation. Specifically, your ten cent per gallon gasoline fee will:

- Result in supply shortages in rural America and in agricultural communities
- Drastically affect 1980 farm crop output and raise food prices for American consumers
- Add $10.3 billion to the cost of gasoline during the first year of the program and unnecessarily increase the price of all other petroleum products
- Place a disproportionate economic burden on low income families, rural areas and small businesses
- Increase nationwide inflation the first year by at least 1% overnight increase of 8% in gasoline product cost
- Make it impossible for small businesses to assimilate the increase of 8% in gasoline product cost
- Bring about disastrous effects on American farms, businesses and consumers; no economic impact analysis of these effects has been prepared
- Constitute taxation without Congressional representation

For these reasons we ask you withdraw the Petroleum Import Adjustment Program and the Gasoline Conservation Fee prior to its scheduled implementation on May 15, 1980. Absent Presidential action we further request that the U.S. Congress take appropriate and swift action to spare all Americans by halting this inflationary program.

Respectfully,

PAMIDA

NRD to Recognize Soil Week

The Lower Elkhorn Natural Resource District will join in the nationwide celebration of Soil Stewardship Week to take place on May 11-18, according to an announcement by Steven Oltmans, LENRD manager.

The theme of this year's celebration is "The Judgment of Nature." Its focus is especially appropriate as the United States considers the current condition of its soil, water and related resources, Oltmans said.

"Through nature, we are linked with the past and committed to the future," it is said in the 16-page "Judgment of Nature" reference booklet, which presents thoughts for consideration not only during Soil Stewardship Week, but throughout the year. Nature is defined in the publication as the continuing system of life created by God.

"Nature is neither fixed nor static; it is a continuing process and inherently dynamic... it rewards care and constructive attention, even as it penalizes negligence and deliberate damage," the booklet states.

"The loss of some 3 million acres of productive agricultural land each year through urbanization and other uses, the decline in productivity of the topsoil as the result of destructive erosion, and continuing pollution of the na-

Bond Sales Near Mid Point

During December, 1979, Nebraska citizens bought $3,449,097 worth of Series E and H U.S. Savings Bonds, bringing sales for the year 1979 to $47,900,522. John F. O'Neill, volunteer state chairman for Nebraska, announced recently.

These 1979 sales represent 79.7 percent of the assigned 1979 dollar goal of $60,100,000.

Citizens of Wayne County bought Savings Bonds totaling $2,743 during December 1979 for $82,330 during the year 1979, said Beverly Etter, volunteer county chairman, for 44.5 percent of their assigned goal of $185,000.

Nationally, sales of $6,988 million in Series E and H Savings Bonds by Americans during 1979 were 12 percent below the previous year's sales. Series E sales alone were $6,783 million. While sales declined, payroll savings purchases held fairly firm in spite of rising interest rates and adverse economic conditions. Cash value of holdings of Savings Bonds were $79.8 billion.

Loss of Productive Land A Concern

"The loss of some 3 million acres of productive agricultural land each year through urbanization and other uses, the decline in productivity of the topsoil as the result of destructive erosion, and continuing pollution of the nation's waters is serious cause for everyone's concern," according to National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD) officials.

Vienne, France, set aside several days a time to express thanks for the soil, water, air and sunshine "which make all living things possible." Earlier this century, a few churches in the southern U.S. began to commemorate the fifth Sunday following Easter as Soil and Sand Sunday. In 1946 "Farm and Ranch" magazine officials changed this to Soil Stewardship Sunday and suggested that churches set aside one Sunday each year as a reminder of the personal responsibility of people to serve as stewards of the land.

continuing through the sixth Sunday. Soil Conservation Service State Conservationist, Benny Marlin, and Nebraska Association of Resources Districts Executive Director, Lee Orton, said the theme for 1980's Soil Stewardship Week is "The Judgment of Nature." This theme was chosen, according to Orton, "because it illustrates the fact that nature must be treated with care in order to maintain continued productivity."

for the careful stewardship of these precious resources. "More than three million acres of our nation's agricultural land is lost to urbanization annually," said Marlin. In addition, we are losing the productive equivalent of another three million acres of good topsoil each year through erosion. Observation to Soil Stewardship Week will, hopefully, bring attention to the need for conservation of our resources for the not too distant future.

LEGAL NOTICE OF MEASURES TO BE VOTED UPON MAY 13, 1980

Also Included Are Statements Of Explanation In Italian Prepared By The Executive Board Of The Legislative Council.

PROPOSED BY THE 1979 LEGISLATURE

Proposed Amendment No. 1

A vote FOR this proposal will allow the Governor to fill by appointment a vacancy occurring in the office of the Lieutenant Governor the same as he is now authorized to do in case of a vacancy in any other elected state office (excluding judges), which appointee would serve until a successor was elected; thus, a vote for will remove the single exception in the constitution to the authority of the Governor to fill by appointment vacancies in all elected state offices (excluding judges).

A vote AGAINST this proposal will result in retaining the present provision which authorizes the Governor to fill by appointment vacancies in all elected state offices (excluding judges) except for the office of Lieutenant Governor.

TEXT OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Now, therefore, be it enacted by the members of the Eighty-Sixth Legislature of Nebraska, First Session:

Section 1. That at the primary election of 1980, there shall be submitted to the voters of the State of Nebraska for approval the following amendment to Article IV, section 11, of the Constitution of Nebraska, which is hereby proposed by the Legislature:

Sec. 11. If any elected office created by this Constitution, except offices provided for in Article V of this Constitution, or the office of Lieutenant Governor, shall be vacated by death, resignation or otherwise, it shall be filled by the Governor until the office is filled by appointment. The appointee shall be elected at the next regular session of the Legislature.

Proposed Amendment No. 2

A vote FOR this proposal would (1) create a Compensation Review Commission of seven members appointed by the Governor with legislative approval to review salaries and expenses for members of the Legislature, the judiciary, and the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, Secretary of State, Auditor, and Treasurer prior to each odd-year regular legislative session, and recommend to the Legislature any compensation adjustments, which adjustments could not go into effect until approved by the Legislature; (2) remove the provisions setting the salary of members of the Legislature at four hundred dollars per month and prohibiting them from receiving any additional pay for one trip to and from each legislative session.

A vote AGAINST this proposal would retain the present system under which the judges and the above-listed elected state officials would receive compensation as determined solely by the Legislature in the enactment of salary bills from time to time, and would retain the present system under which each member of the Legislature receives a salary of four hundred dollars per month as provided in the Constitution and travel expenses for one trip to and from each legislative session.

"Constitutional amendment to create a Compensation Review Commission which shall have the authority to recommend changes in salaries and allowable expenses for members of the Legislature, certain officers of the executive branch, and members of the judicial branch, and to provide when such recommendations become effective.

TEXT OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

"Article III Sec. 7. At the general election to be held in November, 1964, one half the members of the Legislature or as nearly thereto as may be practicable shall be elected for a term of four years, and the remainder for a term of two years, and thereafter all members shall be elected for a term of four years, which election shall be determined by the Legislature.

Provided, that when the Legislature is redistricted the members elected prior to the redistricting shall continue in office, and the law providing for such redistricting shall where necessary specify the newly established district which they shall represent for the balance of their term. Each member shall be nominated and elected in a nonpartisan manner and without any indication on the ballot that he is affiliated with or endorsed by any political party or organization. In addition to his salary, each member shall receive an amount equal to his actual expense in traveling by the most usual route once to and returning from each regular or special session of the Legislature. Members of the Legislature shall receive no pay nor perquisites other than said salary and expenses, and employees of the Legislature shall receive no compensation other than their salary or per diem.

Article III Sec. 19: The Legislature shall never grant any extra compensation to any public officer, agent, or servant after the services have been rendered nor to any contractor after the contract has been entered into, except that retirement benefits of retired public officers and employees may be adjusted to reflect changes in the cost of living and wage levels that have occurred subsequent to the date of retirement. Except as provided in Article XV, section 19, no shall the compensation of any public officer, including any officer whose compensation is fixed by the Legislature, shall not be increased or diminished during his term of office; Provided, except that, when there are members elected or appointed to the Legislature or officers elected or appointed to a court, board, or commission having more than one member, and the terms of one or more members commence and end at different times, the compensation of all members of the Legislature or of such court, board, or commission, may be increased or diminished at the beginning of the full term of any member thereof. Nothing in this section shall prevent local governing bodies from reviewing and adjusting vested pension benefits periodically as prescribed by ordinance.

The surviving spouse of any retired public officer, agent, or servant, who has retired under a pension plan or system, shall be considered as having pensionable status and shall be entitled to the same benefits which may, at any time, be provided for or available to spouses of other public officers, agents, or servants who have retired under such pension plan or system, at a later date, and such benefits shall not be prohibited by the restrictions of this section or of Article XIII, section 3 of the Constitution of Nebraska.

Article XV Sec. 19. There is hereby created a commission to be known as the Compensation Review Commission. The members of the commission shall be appointed by the Governor and shall be subject to the approval of the Legislature. There shall be two members appointed from each congressional district and one member shall be appointed from the citizenry at large. Members shall serve for terms of four years, except that of the members first appointed, one member from each congressional district shall be appointed for a term of two years. If the number of congressional districts changes the Governor shall, within sixty days after such change, appoint two members from each congressional district for staggered terms and one member from the citizenry at large. The terms of all existing members shall terminate on the date the new members are appointed, but existing members may be reappointed. The members of such commission shall receive no compensation for the performance of their duties, but may be reimbursed for their actual and necessary expenses. The commission shall review salaries and expenses for members of the Legislature, members of the judiciary, the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, Secretary of State, Auditor of Public Accounts and Treasurer and before the beginning of each regular session of the Legislature held in an odd-numbered year recommend to the Legislature any adjustments in compensation it deems appropriate. The Legislature may approve, reject, or reduce any recommendation of the commission. Compensation recommended by the commission shall not become effective until approved by the Legislature and when so approved shall become effective at the beginning of the next regular session of the Legislature following the session in which such compensation was approved.

Fuel Hot Line Now Available

Travelers in Nebraska may once again call toll-free "hotline" telephone numbers for information about fuel availability in the state.

Rich Gartrell, director of the Nebraska Department of Economic Development travel division and William Palmer, director of the Nebraska Energy Office announced that their agencies will co-sponsor the hotline.

"These telephone lines will connect the caller with a 60-second message which will be updated each Friday morning. The information will help travelers plan for their fuel needs during their trip through the state. Updated messages will also include information about Nebraska attractions and coming events," Gartrell said.

Palmer added, "Nebraska is one of only 21 states to have such a number available to travelers. These hotlines will be especially helpful in some parts of the country suffer energy shortages similar to last summer."

Gartrell also noted that the Nebraska Vacation guides, stationed at Interstate-80 rest areas across the state will have lists of service stations which offer Gasohol to customers. This list is being compiled and published by the travel division and the Nebraska Gasohol Committee.

The Nebraska fuel hotline numbers are: 800-228-4307 for out-of-state callers and 800-742-7595 for in-state callers.
