Tax Law, Regional Center Challenged

CAPITOL NEWS
By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent

The Nebraska Press Association
State officials have announced the closing of the Norfolk Regional Center.

Gov. Charles Thone, who approved the shutdown, said two major factors influenced the decision. One, he said, was that the estimated saving could be as much as $2.5 million annually. Equally important, he said, was that the Norfolk patients will receive perhaps better care in other state institutions.

Ralph Michener, director of the state Department of Institutions, said the first group will be moved out the first week in July but that a facility for long-term care patients will remain open during the transition period.

Michener said the two remaining centers at Lincoln and Hastings can, without expansion, provide quality care and treatment for the additional patients.

He said the Governor's Advisory Committee to the departments of Public Institutions, Welfare and Correctional Services concurred in the decision to close the Norfolk Center.

The institutions director said also included in his recommendation was the transfer of the savings and strengthening of community mental health programs across the state.

By replacing about $2 million of federal staffing grants that will end during the next four years, Michener said, the state will be able — without increasing costs to Nebraska taxpayers — continue funding for community mental health programs in North Platte, Grand Island, Lancaster County, Douglas County, Scottsbluff, Kearney and Norfolk.

The 145 patients at Norfolk and their families will be consulted about transfers several weeks ahead of moves, and alternate care will be arranged to suit the patients and their families insofar as possible, Michener said.

He added it is expected some will go to the Lincoln Regional Center but a majority will go to the Hastings Regional Center, with some going to nursing homes.

The payroll for the Norfolk Center, which has 340 employees, accounts for $4,495,000 of its annual budget of $5.7 million.

Michener said the DPI will offer alternate employment to Norfolk employees at the veterans homes in Norfolk and Omaha, the Beatrice State Developmental Center and the Lincoln and Hastings regional centers. Efforts will also be made to find jobs for those who wish to remain in the Norfolk area, he said.

Storage fees debated
The Nebraska Public Service Commission has taken under advisement a proposal to increase minimum and maximum handling fees and grain storage rates for grain warehouses licensed by the state.

During a recent hearing before the commission, the Nebraska Agriculture Council urged that the proposed revisions be rejected.

The commission must determine "reasonable" storage rates by July 1.

Robert Anderson told the commission inflation is having a serious impact on grain warehouses. Anderson, executive vice president of the Nebraska Grain and Feed Dealers Association, testified ever-increasing inflationary costs are "coming close to forcing the small grain elevator out of business."

State Sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood was among those speaking against the proposed increases. He argued the higher rates would not be equitable at this time.

The minimum storage rate for corn, wheat, barley and sorghum is about 22 cents per bushel annually. The new minimum would be about 25.55 cents. The present maximum rate is about 34.6 cents per bushel, which would be raised to 38.325 cents if the new rates were adopted.

Schmit said grain is produced for the market and not for storage.

Before the commission meeting, the Legislature's Agriculture Committee, of which Schmit is chairman, voted 5-0 to oppose the proposed rates.

Sen. Richard Maresh of Milligan said he could not understand why the elevators were asking for so large a hike, and Imperial Sen. Rex Haberman said the suggested charges were not justified.

Sen. John DeCamp of Neligh said elevators are forgetting that the farmer is "their lifeblood in good times as well as bad," and Sen. William Nichol of Scottsbluff, noting the depressed grain market with which farmers are faced, added it didn't seem fair to "kick them (farmers) in the teeth."

Tax law challenged
The state Supreme Court has agreed to bypass lower courts to accept "original jurisdiction" in a constitutional challenge of a new personal property tax law.

Attorney General Paul Douglas has said he has serious doubts about the validity of the new law's formula for the distribution of money to counties for revenue lost through personal property tax exemptions.

Douglas says the formula is based upon "an unreasonable classification and provides for frozen classes."

Enacted by the 1980 Legislature, the measure LB882, ups to $70 million the state's fiscal 1980-81 reimbursement to the counties. The law provides further that in following years each county will receive the same amount as in the fiscal year plus 10 percent of the increase in taxes in that county.

The legislation provides for the 1980-81 distribution to be based on the 1979-80 formula that was included in a 1977 law the attorney general also believed unconstitutional.

In asking the Supreme Court to take original jurisdiction, Douglas asked for quick action on LB882, which calls for the first distribution to the counties to be made in December.

If those payments are not prevented by the court, Douglas said, "it may be necessary for the counties and the taxing agencies in the counties to refund such distributions to the state treasurer."

The attorney said a temporary injunction to prevent the distribution while the issue is being litigated "would be very disruptive of the fiscal affairs of all of the taxing agencies in the state."

Defendants in the suit are state Treasurer Frank Marsh, Tax Commissioner Fred Herrington, and Department of Administrative Services Director Brent Stevenson.

A spokesman for the state Justice Department said letters will be sent to the counties telling them about the pending litigation.

No action on plan
The University of Nebraska Board of Regents did not act on that controversial five-year plan a subcommittee proposed for consideration in charting the institution's course. Administrators of the school have, however, been directed to come up with guidelines on how best to proceed in handling the matter.

During their most recent meeting, the regents did approve the serving of alcoholic beverages, on a controlled basis, to people attending seminars and other organizational meetings at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education in Lincoln and the Peter Kiewit Conference Center at the University of Nebraska-Omaha.

Being able to provide the alcoholic beverages, campus administrators said, will make it easier to entice organizations to use the facilities.

$34 Million in Taxes Saved by Veto: Thone

"Nebraska voters will be spared paying almost $34 million in taxes by my vetoes of spending bills which were upheld by the 1980 legislature.

"Thirteen of the unicameral's spending bills were vetoed by me. The legislature upheld 10 of those vetoes, thus reducing state expenditures for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1980 by about $34 million.

"That's a lot of money. The present state personal income tax rate is 17 percent of a taxpayer's federal income tax liability. The Nebraska rate was lowered from 18 to 17 percent effective January 1, 1980 by action of the State Board of Equalization and Assessment, of which I serve as chairman. It is estimated that each 1 percent of state income tax will bring in nearly $15 million in the coming year. Thus, the $34 million is more than double the revenue produced by 1 percent of state income tax.

"Moreover, we were able to reduce the impact of the state sales tax because I signed into law the 1980 legislature's bill to increase the food sales credit from 20 to 28 percent.

"It is projected that in the coming year the net revenue from a half cent tax per dollar of sales will be about $35 million. Thus, the $34 million in spending which I vetoed and unicameral sustained would have used up almost a half cent of sales tax revenue.

"The state income and sales taxes are the principal sources of revenue for general purposes in Nebraska. As you know, the state has not received any money from taxes on Nebraska property for many years now.

"The $34 million in money which I successfully vetoed will provide much more benefit to many more Nebraskans by being left in taxpayer's pockets than it would have if provided to state agencies. That's especially true in this time of national economic uncertainty."

Fund Drive Underway

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
By M.M. Van Kirk,
Director of Information

Participants in Nebraska's $3 billion livestock industry are being asked to raise $2 million in private support for a proposed Old West "Region College of Veterinary Medicine" to be located at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The fund raising campaign is underway, sponsored by the Nebraska Committee for Regional Veterinary College headed by Pat McGinley of Oshkosh and Rowland McClymont of Holdrege as co-chairmen. The immediate goal is to get $500,000 contributed in the next 1 1/2 months for a show of local support to assist Nebraska's congressional delegation to get the necessary federal allocations.

Fifty percent of the estimated $30 million in capital construction costs must come from the federal government and three of the five states in the Old West Region must agree to participate in the project for it to be given the go-ahead. Nebraska's total share is estimated at $7 million including the private funds.

The Old West Region is comprised of the states of Nebraska, Montana, Wyoming and North and South Dakota, which collectively produce 17 percent of the nation's cattle, 11 percent of its hogs and 25 percent of the sheep. Yet the five states have only four percent of the nation's practicing veterinarians. None of the five has a veterinary college and all contract with other states for the education of their veterinary students.

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents presently contracts with Iowa State University, Kansas State University and the University of Minnesota for acceptance of Nebraska students into their programs of veterinary medicine at a total cost to the taxpayers of about $1 million per year. There is also a reciprocal agreement with the University of Missouri for exchange of students in certain programs.

The University of Nebraska in the 1970's completed new facilities for its Animal Health Research Center and Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory and these are seen as a great asset to location of the proposed veterinary college at Lincoln. Animal health research scientists at the University of Nebraska have developed over the years disease control vaccines which have been worth millions of dollars to the state's cattle and hog producers.

A veterinary college to serve 64 to 94 students is projected, with about 35 to come from Nebraska and the remainder to come from the other participating states on a contractual basis. Currently about 25 Nebraska students are sent to other states under contractual agreements but there is no assurance that these agreements will continue indefinitely. For example, contracts with Colorado State and Oklahoma State universities for receiving Nebraska veterinary students were terminated several years ago.

Backers of the Old West Region Veterinary College point out that it would stress the large animal practice needed by the livestock producing realities of the region. Forty percent of Nebraska veterinary graduates now return to their home state to practice where they are familiar with area conditions and the needs of their farmer and rancher livestock producers. There is a tendency for veterinary graduates in other states to locate and serve the small animal practices in and around the large population centers.

Nebraska is currently ranked third in the nation in red meat production and the other Old West Region states are also highly dependent on their livestock industries.

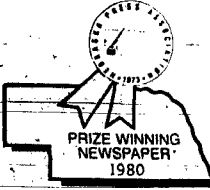

No one has ever contended that Nebraska should depend on other states to train its medical doctors, lawyers, dentists, journalists, pharmacists, etc. Why should Old West Region states with billions invested in their livestock industry go "hat in hand" to other states asking them how many Nebraska veterinary students they are willing to accept?

Are You A Right-Wing Extremist?

Richard L. Lester, President
Chamber of Commerce of the United States

I don't mind admitting that I have always considered myself a reasonable fellow. I'm agine then my shock upon learning recently that some of Washington's most trusted experts might consider my views extremely dangerous. I pass along this information not to bore you with my personal problems, but to suggest that you also analyze yourselves to root out any subversive tendencies which could threaten your communities, or worse, (and I shudder to even consider it) slow the growth of the federal government.

Let me assure you straight off that if you can answer yes to the following three questions you have nothing to worry about: First, while the population of the U.S. was increasing by just 10 percent between 1947 and 1978, was it not perfectly reasonable for the cost of government to increase by 212 percent? Second, were not Congress and the Administration acting in our best interests when they tried to "balance" next year's budget by passing up spending cuts in favor of the largest one-year tax increase in our history — nearly $100 billion? And finally, are not the experts who fashion and defend these policies right on the mark when they claim that, dollar for dollar, the government spends our money more effectively than we do?

Unless you honestly answered all three questions with a resounding "Yes Sir, Big Brother!", than I fear that you, like me, may be infected with that dreadful disease Washingtonians love to call: Right-Wing Extremism. Although the experts here don't seem to know or care too much about what causes this disease, they do talk a lot about its symptoms, pointing out that those afflicted suffer from extreme views on a whole variety of subjects.

They say some of us, for example, grow almost violently ill over those harmless little niceties enjoyed exclusively by most federal employees — salaries averaging 42 percent higher than in the private sector, indexed pensions, and the ability to qualify for Social Security taxes.

They note that other right-wing extremists have become almost paranoid about cutting federal spending. Some members of this group — obviously the lunatic fringe — even endorse "The Meat-Ax Approach," a truly terrifying idea which might require blindly cutting the budget by as much as five percent across the board!

However, the experts probably save their bitterest barbs for a relatively new, but highly dangerous group of extremists who call themselves Supply Siders. These people actually believe individual behavior is influenced by incentives. Imagine that! Thus, they claim tax rate reductions could generate economic growth without inflation, because, if given the chance to keep more of their earnings, Americans would produce more goods and be able to save and invest more of their after-tax income.

The experts reject supply-side arguments, labeling them preposterous heresy. As the Congressional Budget Office, (CBO), the official economic forecasting agency for the Congress, has tried so patiently, and so often, to explain, the best way to stimulate the economy and create new jobs is not through tax reduction, but more government spending. Indeed, although later denying it, the director of the CBO was recently reported to have complained that the supply-side critics who object to the agency's forecasts "are an extreme right-wing clique who should not be given an audience, lest it legitimize their views."

So there you have it. Perhaps many of you have already been thinking: "Hey, wait a minute. I want to cut government spending, and reduce tax rates, and eliminate inequities favoring government employees, but that doesn't make me an extremist. I'm a sensible person!" Indeed you are, and you have lots of company.

Most national surveys show the majority of Americans now support your ideas. A

Area Athletes Win Medals in Four Events

Kurt Powers earned a third place medal in the 400 meter dash and anchored Wayne's 3,200 meter relay team to a third place finish to lead all area qualifiers at the Boys' State Track and Field Meet, Friday and Saturday at Omaha Burke High School.

Powers ran the 800 in 1:59.3 to finish behind Shaw Bovill of Aurora and Jim Parrish of Falls City in the fast heat. Those three individuals won the top three medals. Tim Mommens of Central City was disqualified in the race.

Wayne's 3,200 meter relay team of Powers, Paul Sutherland, Rick Johnson and Todd Heier placed third with a time of 8:08.8, the third fastest time in Class B this year. Aurora won the race and Falls City placed second.

Those two third place finishes gave the Blue Devils 12 total points, good for 16th place in Class B.

Powers also competed in the Class B 400 meter dash and qualified for finals with a time of :50.8 but failed to win a medal. Wayne participated in the 1,600 meter relay but failed to place. Powers, Sutherland, Johnson and Heier also make up that team.

Wayne's other state entry was Doug Proff. Proff competed in the 1,600 meter run and the 3,200 meter run but didn't place in either event.

In Class D, Allen's 400 meter relay team scored eight team points. The team of Greg Carr, Scott Carr, Lee Hansen and Robb Linafelter placed second in its heat with a time of :45.4, the second fastest time in Class D.

The Eagles were named as a late entry in the state meet after placing third in districts. Their district time was good enough to qualify them for state. Five of the six medal winners competed in Allen's heat, which was won by Beemer.

Greg Carr, who placed sixth in Class D's long jump last year, qualified again this year but failed to place.

Laurel scored one point in Class C when Dennis Anderson placed sixth in the 3,200 meter run. Anderson ran the distance in 10:00.2 in the race won by Mark Gokle of Imperial. Gokle's time of 9:29.8 set a new Class C state record.

Anderson also competed in the 1,600 meter run but didn't place. Other Laurel entries were Todd Twiford who competed in the shot put and Matt Johnson who participated in the long jump. Both athletes failed to place.

It was a long day for Winside's team which failed to score in the two-day competition. Randy Ritze failed to clear the opening height of 6-0 in the high jump. Brian Foote missed at opening height of 12-6 in Class C's pole vault and then ran into tough luck in the 300 meter hurdles when he tripped over a hurdle.

DENNIS ANDERSON of Laurel pushes toward the finish line in the State Meet. He placed sixth in the 3,200 meter run to earn a medal.

KURT POWERS finishes the 400 meter dash here, at the Boys' State Track and Field Meet. Powers placed third in the 800 meter run and anchored Wayne's 3,200 meter relay team to a third place finish.

RANDY RITZE, one of Winside's two state qualifiers, falls here to clear opening height in the Class C long jump. Brian Foote was the other Winside qualifier.

Girl Softball Players Needed

Several players are needed to join the Wayne Recreation softball league for ages 14-18. Practice sessions will begin this Saturday from 3 p.m. to 4:30. Anyone who is interested in playing is invited to attend the practice. If unable to attend Saturday's practice, call Hank Overin.

The season will open Thursday, June 5 when Wayne travels to Carroll. Overin said that about 40 girls are signed up to play in the age 13 and under division but that more players are needed in the older age group.

Erwin Leads Cat Golfers

Steve Erwin shot a 76 over 18 holes to pace Wayne State's golf team in the opening day of the NAIA national championships at Bee Valley Country Club in Saginaw, Mich. Tuesday.

The Wildcats were scheduled to play the second round on Wednesday. After the first round of play, Wayne State had a team total of 321 strokes.

Stephen Austin College of Austin, Tex. was the team leader with a 299 total. Host school Saginaw Valley State College is second at 292 and Ferris State of Bee Rapids, Mich. is third with a 293.

Other individual scores for WSC are: Jeff Erwin, 76; Jay Bachenberg, 81; Tony Michael, 82 and Ross Udey, 91.

Baseball Association Discusses Rec Program and Ball Park Plans

The Wayne Baseball Association voted to remain active during the ball park renovation this summer, at its first meeting of the year, Thursday night in the Boys Club room.

The association also voted unanimously to back the Wayne Recreation Board on budgets for the fiscal year. It was pointed out that because of the vote against a city sales tax, cuts in the city's budget would be necessary.

In a statement, the Baseball Association said, "We feel that recreation in the city of Wayne has been one of the biggest growths in 25 years. We will give full support as an organization to the Recreation Department and if any help is ever needed, one of the following members may be contacted: Sam Schroeder, Stan

Morris, Randy Shaw, Clele Sharer, Jean Nuss, John Melena and Randy Hascall."

The association members indicated that they will all agree on a percentage cut in the recreation department but feel that no area should be cut out. "We want to keep the recreation department going for the future of Wayne and feel that the Rec Board is more than capable of working out the situation," a spokesman said.

In other business, the WBA discussed plans for fielding a baseball town team next summer after the ball park is renovated. One of the members emphasized that interest has been shown by Legion players and adults to participate in town team ball.

Wayne's town team program was eliminated last year because of a lack of interest caused by the slow pitch softball trend.

Last year, the Baseball Association purchased a baseball and softball machine for ages seven through adult, bought two new tires to repair the old pitching machine, purchased Recreation softball shirts and bought materials to reinforce the batting cage.

WSC's Blackburn Fifth in Nation

Ed Blackburn, Wayne State's 110 meter high hurdle record holder, broke his WSC record and finished fifth at the NAIA National Men's Outdoor Track Meet held May 22-24 at Abilene, Texas.

Blackburn ran the event in 14.195 seconds, hitting six hurdles in the process, but bettering his 14.3 record set earlier this year. He had qualified for the event May 22 with another 14.3 run. The winning time in the event was 13.85 run by an Abilene Christian College runner. Blackburn is a sophomore from Malvern, Iowa.

The only other WSC competitor at the meet, high jumper Joe Ortmeier of West Point, did not place.

Chuck Ellis Tourney

Juniors Reach Semifinals

Hank Overlin's Junior Legion baseball team shot down two Sioux City teams Monday and Tuesday to reach the semifinals of the ninth annual Chuck Ellis Memorial Tournament in Wakefield.

Wayne thumped Sioux City North 9-1 in opening round play and then came back with an identical 9-1 win over Sioux City West on Tuesday. West defeated Hartington 7-4 in first round action, Monday.

The locals will return to Wakefield tomorrow (Friday) at 7:30 p.m. to play the winner of the 5:30 game. Sioux Falls and Council Bluffs T.J. will clash in the earlier game.

Although Wayne won both games handily, Overlin said he is concerned about the number of strikeouts made by his team. A total of 24 Wayne batters were retired on strikes in the two games. Overlin said the players would work on their swings to prepare for Friday's game.

Dennis "Herman" Carroll made his return to Legion ball a grand one by pitching a four-hitter in Tuesday's win over West and aided his cause with two doubles, two RBIs and three runs. Carroll graduated in 1979 but has one year of eligibility remaining with the Juniors.

Kevin Nissen and Tim Pfeiffer each collected two hits to help the Wayne attack. The Juniors struck early when Carroll doubled and Nissen singled in the first inning. Pfeiffer brought in one run with a double and newcomer Bruce Schafer drove in the other two runs with a single. Schafer, a former Wayne resident, recently returned to this area from Minnesota.

Jeff Zeiss and Carroll added two more runs in the bottom of the second inning. Nissen brought in one run with a single. Schafer scored Wayne's sixth run on a passed ball in the third inning. West broke the shutout in the top of the fourth when Denny Blake blasted a solo home run over the right center field fence about 360 feet from home plate.

The final three runs were scored in the bottom of the sixth. Jere Morris led off the inning with a single and Zeiss drew a walk. Carroll pounded his second double of the evening bringing in both runs. Pfeiffer drove in Carroll with a single to bring the final score to 9-1.

Zeiss Homer Paces Wayne

Tim Pfeiffer fired a two-hitter and Jeff Zeiss belted a two-run homer in the third inning as Wayne defeated North 9-1 to open play in the Chuck Ellis Tourney, Monday.

Pfeiffer recorded 13 strikeouts and fanned the last five North batters to end the game. Zeiss, who scored three runs, was hit by a pitch in the first inning, stole second and third bases and came home on an error by the catcher for the first run. Then, with Steve Sorensen on first base, Zeiss ripped a homer over the center field fence for a 3-0 lead.

Wayne put the game away in the fourth with five runs on five walks, singles by Nissen and McCright and a double by Schafer. North scored its lone run in the bottom of the inning on two walks and a two-base throwing error.

Schafer scored the last Wayne run in the fifth for the final 9-1 count. The Juniors managed only four hits but took advantage of their scoring opportunities.

Wayne will play Bertrand-Loomis Saturday (May 31) at Wisner in its first non-conference post-tournament game.

The Midlands will open their season tonight (Thursday) in a doubleheader against Homer at the Wayne ball park. The first game (reserves) will start at 6:15 and the nightcap (starters) will follow at 8 p.m.

Randy's Recap

According to Randy Hascall

TRACK SEASON is over, school is out and it appears Wayne will again support two adult men's tennis leagues, Memorial Day has passed and swimmers of all ages will soon be taking advantage of the area swimming pools.

The Legion baseball season opened this week in Wakefield with the Chuck Ellis Memorial Tournament. Midget action will begin within the next week.

Although Wayne has no town team this year, many players from the area are competing with Randolph or Hartington this summer. Laurel also has a Tri-County team.

Youngsters who have been attending school for the past nine months will now be participating in Recreation baseball, softball, tennis and golf. The Wayne Recreation program is an important part of many people's lives and a fine program.

Slow pitch softball has grown again this year. With 16 ladies teams and 15 mens teams competing in Wayne leagues, it's a busy time of the year.

Weekly golf leagues are competing again and it appears Wayne will again support two adult men's tennis leagues. Memorial Day has passed and swimmers of all ages will soon be taking advantage of the area swimming pools.

Those are the major organized sports in the area. Unorganized, informal competition in all sports involves an even greater number of participants.

WAYNE STATE'S GOLF TEAM competed in the NAIA national championships at Saginaw, Mich. Tuesday and Wednesday. The Wildcats qualified in district play at the Wayne Country Club. Sounds like a nice vacation.

STATE BASEBALL FINALS on television? According to Nebraska School Activities Association officials who worked at the State Track and Field Meet, NBC-TV had contacted the NSAA in hopes of televising the finals because of the Major League baseball strike.

As everyone knows, the Major League strike fell through and NBC will not televise the state championships. Just think, we might have been able to sit back in our easy chairs and watch the high school finals on the tube.

Wakefield will represent Northeast Nebraska tonight in Class B's championship game against Omaha Ryan. Omaha Roncalli and Millard will square off in the Class A finals. Lincoln East, a loser to Wakefield and Wayne in regular season, nearly reached the state finals but was eliminated 6-5 by Roncalli in nine innings Tuesday night.

CONGRATULATIONS to the medal winners in the State Boys' Track and Field Meet, Friday and Saturday at Omaha Burke.

Kurt Powers of Wayne, Dennis Anderson of Laurel, Wayne's 3,200 meter relay team and Allen's 400 meter relay team all brought home medals.

Six Teams Left in Title Race

The field has been cut to less than half in the ninth annual Chuck Ellis Memorial Baseball Tournament in Wakefield and the field will be narrowed to only four teams tonight (Thursday).

Host Wakefield, the 1979 runner-up will play defending champion Omaha Creighton Prep at 5:30 p.m. The winner will face Sioux City Heelan at 8 p.m. for a berth in Sunday night's finals.

Prep, Wakefield, Sioux Falls and Council Bluffs T.J. received first round byes. In action last Sunday, Norfolk nipped Creighton 7-5 and Wisner edged Emerson 3-2 in the preliminary round.

Wayne, a semifinalist in last year's tourney, blasted Sioux City North 9-1 and Sioux City West bounced Hartington 7-4 in Monday's other opening round games. Heelan trimmed Norfolk 11-6 in eight innings in Monday's only quarterfinal matchup.

In Tuesday's only game, Wayne defeated Sioux City West to reach the semifinals. The locals will meet the winner of the Sioux Falls Council Bluffs T.J.

game at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow (Friday).

Tourney results: Norfolk 7, Creighton 5

Wisner 3, Emerson 2; Heelan 10, Wisner 9; Wayne 9, S.C. North 1; S.C. West 7, Hartington 4; Heelan 11, Norfolk 6

Danielson-Pflanz Win

Darrell Danielson and Dick Pflanz teamed up to win the Memorial Day two-man best ball golf tournament at Wayne Country Club, Monday. The team shot a best ball total of 88. Three teams tied for second place in the competition. The team of Grant Ellingson and Jim Lindau of Wayne, the team of Ron Stanfield and Lowell Olson of Carroll and the team of Ted VonSeggern and Harold Schroeder of Pender were tied at 90.

Marv Kubik and Bill VonSeggern of Pender took fifth place with a 61 total.

All high school girls age 14 through 18 are eligible to play in this league. Girls should bring gloves along when they register.

Recreation director Hank Overlin said that girls with summer jobs will not be required to practice during week days. Games will be played from about 2 to 5 p.m. on Wednesdays.

GROUND RULES FOR QUARRERING AROUND KIDS

Quarreling in families is a somewhat normal happening - that is if it happens only occasionally and not constantly. Conflicts between parents are par for the marital course, and these conflicts cannot be hidden entirely from the children's view. In their book, "A Child's Journey: Forces That Shape the Lives of Our Young," authors Julius Segal and Herbert Yahrees suggest five steps to reduce the impact of parental quarreling on children. They include:

- 1) Don't enmesh your children in your quarrels.
- 2) Make sure your children don't feel guilty of having caused the fight.
- 3) Don't try to hide quarrels altogether.
- 4) When the storm is over, clear the air.
- 5) Don't allow quarrels to cause dramatic shifts in your relationships with your children.

Quarrels and conflicts should not be hidden entirely from the children. There is growing evidence that a childhood completely without stress may not be the best preparation for life. Some early rough times seem to prepare children for the adversities that are surely to come their way later in life.

Separate courses entitled The 20th Century and Poetry Workshop will be offered through the program. The courses are each worth three graduate or undergraduate college credits and will consist of lectures and readings by various poets. Sessions for the 20th Century Poetry course will run daily from 10:20 a.m. to 12:10 p.m. The Poetry Workshop sessions will be 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday. WORLDS OF FUN has more rides than the Middle East has oil wells. Anything ranging from the smallest, tamest merry-go-round to the largest, wildest roller coaster in the world. And the amazing thing about the amusement park is that it is extremely clean and well managed. Above, a coaster train dives into a sharp, downward barrel roll at the Kamikaze Kurve of the Orient Express, the world's largest steel roller coaster. This ride is 3,470 feet long, reaches 65 mph, and is 12 stories high.

KC's Worlds of Fun Found To Be Frightening and Fun

Entertainment By
Randy Hascall

It's always been my belief that all humans enjoy being frightened. And the rides at Kansas City's Worlds of Fun just strengthen my theory.

Less than a six hour drive from Wayne, KC is a popular vacation land for Nebraskans. That naturally makes Worlds of Fun one of the most successful "playgrounds" in the Midwest.

Now I'm certainly not the bravest soul in the world. In fact, I remember walking around looking at exhibits and watching lose their money at gambling booths at the county fairs during my youth. Most of my "normal" friends would be screaming their lungs out on the octopus, but not me. I always alibied that I didn't want to waste my money on a two minute ride.

But Worlds of Fun changed all of that. I enjoy being frightened—as long as I feel I'm safe.

Those masochistic engineers at KC weren't satisfied with the scary rides they already had. They had to go and create a ride that would make Dr. Frankenstein faint. The Orient Express, the world's largest steel roller coaster, was erected this past year. I swear the people at Worlds of Fun thrive on hearing others scream.

Now, I'm not your typical roller coaster addict. Most of those crazy fools plop down in the seat, hold both hands above their heads for the entire ride and mix screaming and laughter over every curve and drop.

Not this kid. I strap myself in fill my blood circulation stops. Then I clamp onto the handles like a pair of vice grips on a piece of metal. One extremely deep breath and I'm ready to go.

Around and around slowly as we climb to the top of the Zambeze Zinger, the second largest coaster at KC. Then, all of a sudden it feels like the bottom drops out like a jar of pickles in a wet paper sack.

The string of coaster cars heads downward at an exaggerated angle and a velocity that breaks the national speed limit laws. After the first drop, my spleen detaches from my tonsils and things are nearly back to normal.

Before I can catch a full breath of air, we encounter curves that would make Bo Derek jealous. First we curve left, then right, then up, then down.

I don't know how you spell relief but I spell IT THE END. But as soon as the ride is over I'm ready to rush back to the end of the line to ride it again just like everyone else.

There once was a time when I would get intimidated riding one of those wild and crazy coasters and seeing a two year old kid get on the ride at the same time.

I would strap myself in and say to myself: "Self, if a two year old kid can ride this monster, you can ride it and take it like a man."

Wrong. I soon learned to not be intimidated by the two year old brats. They don't ever get scared. You could drop one of them off of the Empire State Building and he wouldn't let off a muted scream. They don't know what fright is.

Major Public Works Projects for Area

A House Appropriations Subcommittee has approved funding for three major public works projects in the first Congressional District, Congressman Doug Bereuter announced last week.

The Subcommittee on Energy and Water Development has earmarked $1.7 million for fiscal year 1981 for construction costs for the Missouri River Bank Stabilization and Recreation Project. Bereuter said funds would go toward purchase and development of recreational areas and scenic easements.

At the same time, the subcommittee approved $160,000 for operation and maintenance costs for the project, as requested by Bereuter.

Earlier this year, Bereuter testified before the subcommittee, asking for federal support for the Missouri River project.

"Besides making substantial progress to bring severe erosion under control, the project has increased the river's potential for recreational use," he said.

"Continued federal support for this model project is essential."

The subcommittee also recommended $50,000 be spent to complete a feasibility study for the proposed Cass-Otoe project. Enlarging an on-going effort, the study would focus on diverting water from the Missouri River for municipal use in the Nemaha Valley area. The subcommittee action followed a request by Bereuter for funding of the study.

Finally, the subcommittee authorized $100,000 for a previously authorized study of the Nemaha River basin system by the Army Corps of Engineers.

"After personally inspecting the area and conferring with local Natural Resource District officials, I have concluded that the soil erosion problems in the basin are worse than anywhere else in Nebraska," Bereuter earlier told the subcommittee.

"I am pleased the subcommittee has followed my suggestions with respect to funding of the projects along the Missouri and Nemaha rivers," he said. "These projects are critical to the economic well-being and progress of our state."

The full Appropriations Committee how must consider the fiscal year 1981 funding recommendations made by the subcommittee.
