ONE-HUNDRED FOURTH YEAR NUMBER EIGHTY

Those Hazy, Crazy, Lazy Days of Spring

OPENING ABOUT A WEEK LATE, the Wayne Municipal Swimming Pool was in full operation as of Tuesday. Some 150 youngsters were on hand for the pool's opening with water temperatures about 66 degrees, and air temperatures about 84 degrees. Total attendance through Friday was 635 with the water temperature rising to about 74 degrees due to continued hot and humid conditions. Patrons of the pool are finding a new fee structure this season: new prices are 75 cents for resident youngsters 5 and under to the adult pool; $1.25 for resident singles general admission; $18 for resident single; and $40 for resident family; $1.75 for non-resident singles general admission; $25 for non-resident singles; and $50 for non-resident families. There is no charge for use of the toddler pool this year, but there is no lifeguard on duty.

Topsoil Loss Considerable

Last week's torrential rains in Western Wayne County, Pierce and Cedar Counties caused considerable damage to county roads, bridges, crops and primarily topsoil loss.

In Wayne County, damage was limited mostly to the extreme western areas, with some damage reported in the southeast corner also. Rainfall reports ranged from 1.52 inches in Wayne to more than six inches along the Wayne, Pierce and Cedar county lines.

PROBABLY THE most serious loss in this county was in topsoil, says Soil Conservation Service technician Arnold Marr. There was a "tremendous loss" of topsoil in the western one-third of the county, he reports. Although no total tonnage loss figure is available, Marr did say some farm fields lost between 10 and 15 tons of soil. Acceptable topsoil loss for an entire year is only about five tons, the SCS official said.

The loss of topsoil means farm fields have lost much of their fertility which, Marr says, will take about two years to replenish. The erosion also resulted in loss of pesticides, herbicides and corn and soybeans.

COUNTY EXTENSION Agent Don Spitzke said many farmers in the western part of the county will have to replant as a result of topsoil loss and because of silting in the low-lying areas.

In the silted areas, beans will be less likely to push through the extra layers of soil, while corn may be more successful in surviving, the county extension agent explains.

He agreed with Marr that the greatest loss in the county will be in topsoil. Spitzke said one report from a farmer who has been active in agriculture for some 40 years was that topsoil loss was the most the farmer had ever witnessed.

There was so much rain so fast that ditches and creeks were unable to handle the runoff, and areas that normally were not susceptible to erosion were damaged.

AGRICULTURAL Stabilization and Conservation Service Director Ray Butts had similar comments about the storm. After touring the area, the largest problem to him also was the loss of topsoil.

One observation he did have was that farmers who practiced minimum tillage this spring had less erosion than those who plowed, disked and then planted.

The rows of stalks left through the conservation tillage practices apparently acted to slow the flow of water, thus reducing the loss of topsoil, farm chemicals and beans and corn.

MARR SAID MOST of the damage in Wayne County was limited to west of Win side north to Randolph, including the Sholes and Hoskins areas.

Besides the loss to farmers, many county roads in that vicinity will have to be repaired. A few bridges were damaged, also. No dollar estimate to the county was available.

Pierce, Cedar and Dixon Counties experienced the most damage. About three miles south of Laurel, Nebraska 15 was underwater for several hours, and water still stands — more than a week later — in low lying areas.

Recreation Registration Open Today

The summer Park Recreation Program will be shortened this year from a six-week session to a four-week session. Park Recreation director Erna Karel has announced.

One main registration is scheduled from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Monday, June 9, at Bressler Park. The program will run through Thursday, July 3.

The program is open for students in kindergarten through eighth grades. Families who live outside the city limits are asked to pay a $10 donation to the Recreation Fund.

Any youngsters vacationing in Wayne are welcome to participate without paying any fee, Mrs. Karel said.

The Park Recreation Program offers crafts, singing, record listening and games for all youngsters involved.

MANDAN Project Set For Hearing on June 26

The utilities cooperating in planning the MANDAN Project have scheduled public meetings on June 26 at the Randolph House Cafe in Randolph from 1-3 p.m. and 6-9 p.m. in the cafe's meeting room.

THE PURPOSE of the meetings is to define several "alternate corridors" for the 500 kilovolt MANDAN line and to gain information from the public which will be used in selecting a "preferred" corridor. Following additional public meetings, a preferred route is expected to be selected by the end of the year.

Alternate corridors defined in the MANDAN Project study lie in six Nebraska counties: Knox, Cedar, Pierce, Wayne, Madison and Stanton. The alternate corridors range in width from about 6-12 miles.

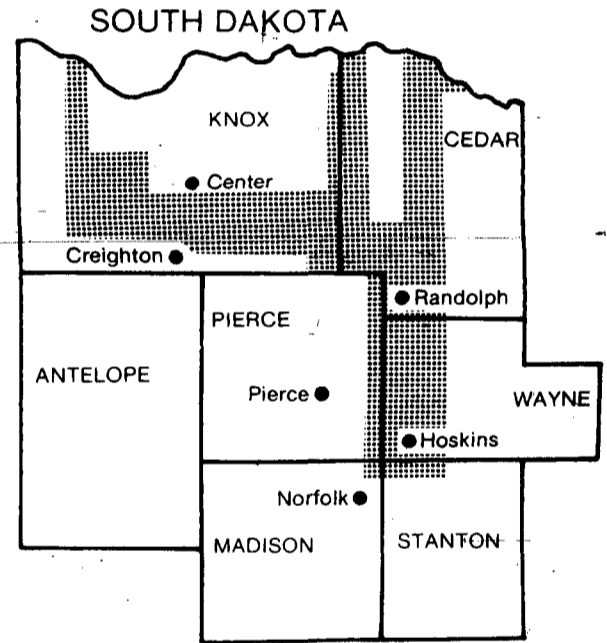

Representatives of several utilities will be at the meetings to explain the project and answer questions regarding engineering, right-of-way negotiation procedures, health and environmental concerns and criteria for corridor and route selection.

THE MANDAN line is designed to exchange power between Manitoba, North Dakota, South Dakota and Nebraska to meet seasonal energy demands. Utility interest in the project centers on the power exchange concept as being preferable to the construction of additional power generating facilities to meet peak demands.

Manitoba and the North Dakota electric systems are confronted with their highest peak demands during the winter, when additional power is needed for lighting and heating. Areas to the south, in parts of South Dakota and Nebraska and adjoining states, face high peak demands in the summer for irrigation, food processing and air conditioning. The line also will increase the region's power system reliability and provide additional opportunities for the sale and purchase of energy.

UTILITIES cooperating in the project planning include Otter Tail Power Co., Minkota Power Cooperative, the Manitoba Hydro Electric Board and Nebraska Public Power District. Some of the others which have expressed interest are Northwestern Public Service Co., Northern States Power Co., Missouri Basin Municipal Power Agency, Heartland Consumers Power District, Omaha Public Power District, Lincoln Electric System and Iowa Power and Light.

ALTERNATE corridors defined in the MANDAN Project study lie in six Nebraska counties: Knox, Cedar, Pierce, Wayne, Madison and Stanton. The alternate corridors range in width from about 6-12 miles. A "preferred" corridor will later be defined, followed by more international meetings, leading to the selection of a preferred route by the end of 1980.

WFD Rescue Equipment Truck in Operation Now

The Wayne Volunteer Fire Department has one of the most modern and best equipped rescue equipment trucks in the Wayne area now that the $25,000 unit is in full operation.

DELIVERED about May 1, the truck responds to all fires and personal injury accidents inside or outside of the city limits, reports Kenneth (Dutch) Sitzman, captain of the unit.

The bright yellow truck was purchased partly through a fund drive and with the assistance of Rural Fire District No. 2 which bought the cab and chassis.

While the total truck price was about $25,000, the Rural Fire District bought the chassis and cab for about $13,000, a winch for the front end and radio equipment.

THE EQUIPMENT box, manufactured by Luverne Manufacturing Co., Luverne, Minn., was specially made for the Wayne Fire Department. It cost about $9,000, of which $5,000 was raised through donations. The remainder was raised through various Fire Department activities.

The new unit is much larger, better constructed and more versatile than the old model which was "borrowed" from Nebraska Forest Service, Sitzman explained. The truck used prior to May 1 had an equipment box made from plywood.

"It has more room and more storage compartments for us to keep the equipment in order and make it more accessible," Sitzman said. The old truck, which now must be returned to the Forestry Service, had one large shell in which all equipment was stored.

THE NEW MODEL is a four-wheel drive vehicle, providing rescues to areas previously inaccessible. It is driven by a 350-cubic inch engine, the largest engine available in the model purchased by the department.

Equipment stored in the 8 by 12 foot box includes the following:

All Jaws of Life equipment, a floatable pump and hose, low expansion foam and smoke ejectors, a portable generator and lighting system, electric cords, salvage tarps, blankets, self-contained breathing apparatus, life ropes, miscellaneous tools, a chain saw, shovels, pike poles, Jaws of Life extension hoses, foam applicators, gas keys for shutting off gas leaks, stoak baskets for rescues, stretchers, oxygen administration kit and a large first aid kit.

THE OUTSIDE is equipped with a remote control spotlight, a federal alert system visibar (emergency lights) and ditch (or flood) lights on each corner of the equipment box. There also is a dual battery system.

An eight-man crew is on alert at all times for any fire or personal injury accident. Each is notified through a Plectron radio alert system.

Rescue personnel include Larry Creighton, Lynn Upton, Chris Lueders, Dennis Sgangler, Brooks Widner, Bob Stanley, Roger Njemann and Rick Elston.

Although the truck is paid for, the Fire Department still is accepting donations for purchase of additional equipment.

United Way Directors Name New Members

The Wayne United Way board of directors met Friday noon and appointed four new board members for three-year terms.

New to the board are Vaughn Benson, Sheryl Jordan, Loreh Ellis and Doug Sturm. Sturm has served on the board one year and was re-elected to serve for another three years.

The new board members replace Bill Dickey, Anna Mae Wessel and Doug Livermore, who completed their three-year terms following last fall's United Way fund drive.

Current members of the board of directors are Pat Gross, president; Wilma Moore, vice president; Ed Carroll, Merle Rise, Fred Webber, LaVon Beckman, Verneal Ellingson and Randy Pedersen.

Marilyn Carhart has served as United Way secretary for the past several years.

This year's fund drive is scheduled to get underway sometime in September. Last year's goal of $15,230 was exceeded by about $900.

The board of directors will meet sometime in July with representatives of agencies who receive funds from the annual drive to determine this year's goal. Last year's funds went to nine agencies, including the Wayne Recreation Program, Mid-America Boy Scout Council, Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council, Salvation Army, Arthritis Foundation, Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, Florence Crittenton Home, American Red Cross and Wayne Senior Citizens.

School Board Agenda To Include Budget Talk

Wayne-Carroll School District board of education will meet in regular session at 8 p.m. Monday at the high school with the following agenda items:

Discussion on the 1980-81 budget will include nursing services with the Educational Service Unit, a reduction of four teacher aides, no bus purchase, salary deductions for baseball with golf pending, a 20 to 25 percent increase for all energy sources and repair of the gym floor at Middle School.

A report from the teacher salary negotiation team, bids on roof repair at the Carroll Elementary School, setting of tuition rates, review of board policies for special education, a review of subdivisions, setting of salaries for employees other than teachers, an executive session to discuss litigation and any other such business that may come before the board.

WAYNE VOLUNTEER FIRE Department has been using its new rescue equipment truck since it arrived in early May. Captain Kenneth (Dutch) Sitzman (above) says the new unit is used for all fire and personal injury responses in the Wayne area. The cab and chassis were purchased by funds from Rural Fire District No. 2, while the equipment box was bought with donations and Fire Department activity funds. For a picture of one of the compartments, see picture elsewhere in this issue.

WSC Choir Finds European Tour Reception Warm

The 52 singers of the Wayne State College Concert Choir returned Thursday, May 29, from their 1980 spring European tour to southern Germany and Austria, the first tour ever by a musical group from a Nebraska state college.

Dr. Cornell Runestad, conductor, said the European audiences were pleased with the choir's performances.

"They were impressed with the amount of German repertory we sang," he said, "and our concluding group of spirituals was very warmly received." Runestad added that European audiences do not often hear spirituals because their choirs do not understand the style.

Runestad said that audiences paid the choir their ultimate compliment after several performances when the applause turned into rhythmic clapping, then foot stomping with the clapping and finally both of these with the audience standing.

In Haus, Austria, a small ski-oriented community in the Alps, the choir members stayed in homes and participated in a "Folk Evening" along with Austrian folk dancers and a local dance band. While there, Runestad presented a signed and framed picture of the WSC Choir to the village burgomeister (mayor) in appreciation of local hospitality.

Runestad said one of the highlight concerts was singing at the Mozarteum in Salzburg. "To concertize in one of the most distinguished schools of music in Europe, in a town that is Mozart's birthplace, for an audience that included both teachers and students in the conservatory — and all this in one of Europe's most prestigious concert halls was surely a thrill," he said.

The group also attended a performance at the world famous opera house in Vienna and visited Dachau, the World War II concentration camp near Munich.

Concerts also were presented in Schonbuehel, Vienna, Haus and Salzburg in Austria and in Dinkelsbuehel and Munich in Germany.

EPA Wants to Add Ammonia To List of Toxic Pollutants

Only two weeks remain for public comment on a proposed U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) action which would have substantial impact on American agriculture.

June 17 is the deadline for public comments on an EPA proposal to add ammonia to its list of toxic pollutants. Authority for the pollutant list is contained in the federal Clean Water Act as amended.

The effect of designating ammonia as a toxic pollutant would be to impose "stringent effluent standards." Those standards would strictly limit amounts of the chemical which could be released into the environment, particularly water.

The basis for designating a substance as a "toxic pollutant," according to the language of the Clean Water Act, is "the toxicity of the pollutant, its persistence, degradability, the usual or potential presence of the affected organisms in any waters, the importance of the affected organisms and the nature and extent of the effect of the toxic pollutant on such organisms."

The announcement cited several scientific studies documenting the toxic effects of ammonia on various aspects of fish.

"Ammonia is ubiquitous in the aquatic environment," according to the EPA notice. "It is present in most natural waters at low concentrations as a biological degradation product of naturally-occurring nitrogenous organic matter from both aquatic and terrestrial organisms. However, toxic concentrations of ammonia are introduced into the aquatic environment by man through municipal sewage effluents, industrial discharges, animal production for slaughtering and fertilizer application."

The announcement points out that "Most of U.S. ammonia production is used in the manufacture of fertilizer and other inorganic and organic chemicals. Ammonia also is used to treat drinking water to maintain effective residual chlorine levels."

Comments on the EPA proposal should be addressed to: Joseph A. Krivak, Acting Director, Criteria and Standards Division (WH-585), Office of Water Planning and Standards, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, 401 M Street, SW, Washington, D.C. 20460.

Brotherly Love

THE BEST WAY to beat the heat is to shed some clothes as brothers Nathan (left) and Aaron Wattier demonstrate. With temperatures reaching the 90's this past week, these two boys saw no need for shirts or pants while enjoying the rope swing in their yard in Laurel. Parents of the two boys are Steve and Pat Wattier. Nathan is three years old and Aaron is five.

High Night Crawler Population Is Concern for Area Landowners

Numerous requests for information on controlling night crawlers have been received, reports Stan Stirling, Dixon County Extension agent.

Growing conditions for these underground gardeners have been excellent this spring. Ordinarily, earthworms and night crawlers perform highly beneficial work by turning over the soil, increasing aeration and fertility, and creating numerous tunnels which allow water to penetrate deep into the soil.

Only rarely are their populations high enough to cause turf damage. The small piles of soil they bring to the surface, enriched by passing through their digestive tract, are called "castings." Occasionally, these castings may cause an uneven surface for the lawn which can be smoothed, somewhat by use of a rake or commercial dethatching machine.

Unfortunately, no chemical control methods are available. Compounds once used for effective control are among those which were taken off the market as hazards to the environment. So other than the proverbial "double-buck" method little can be suggested for reducing numbers. About your only hope is to locate neighborhood youngsters, hungry enough for spending money to rise very early and pick them up, at say a penny each, from your yard. If you're successful, go fishing and let us know if you have any luck! Aside from that effort, natural disease control can be expected to reduce numbers somewhat when populations become high.

Conferees Clear Way for Significant Rail Legislation

House and senate conferees have resolved their differences and cleared the way for major rail legislation affecting disposition of Rock Island rail lines, according to Congressman Doug Bereuter.

"The legislation, as reported by the conferees, will make the line through Nebraska more attractive to prospective buyers," Bereuter said. "The labor protection provisions should promote a fair and expedient resolution of labor problems."

Bereuter outlined major provisions of the legislation as follows:

— $75 million is provided for labor protection. "This assures that Rock Island employees can be retrained or relocated and will not face jobless futures."

— The Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) is required to order directed service where a lack of rail service exists, a grant of interim authority is not applicable, and agricultural products are ready to be shipped to market. The bill provides $15 million for directed service over a 90 day period.

— In emergency situations, the ICC can ensure continued transportation service by requiring a railroad to make its tracks and facilities available to another rail carrier. "This provision is particularly relevant insofar as allowing the utility plant in Hallam to continue to receive supplies of coal."

— At least $25 million in transactional assistance is made available to rail employee-shopper associations for the purpose of buying and maintaining portions of the line.

The compromise legislation also contains provisions relating to the Northeast Corridor passenger rail service. The full House and Senate are expected to take up the measure shortly, Bereuter said.

Small Grain Certification Deadline Set

The ASCS certification deadline for farms with small grains (oats, barley, wheat, rye) seeded is June 16, according to Alden Johnson, chairman of the Wayne County ASC committee.

Producers must certify their acreages to be eligible for any feed grain program benefits. The deadline to certify other grain crops is August 1.

Program benefits include disaster payments, deficiency payments and price support loans, Johnson said. Producers who do not certify will not be eligible for any of the benefits.

Deficiency payments are made when market prices are exceptionally low and disaster payments are made when a feed grain crop yield is low due to a natural disaster, Johnson explained. There is no set aside requirements for the 1980 program.

A farm that is certified will be eligible for disaster and deficiency payments based on either a high or low target price. If the grain crops planted on the farm are within the farm's Normal Crop Acreage (NCA), it would be in line for the high target price. If the NCA is exceeded, the low target price would be used and there would be no deficiency payment for corn, Johnson stated.

Producers are asked to certify their planted acreages as accurately as possible. An inaccurate report may cause penalties or noncompliance with the program.

Grain Rights Are Assigned

Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland said the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) has assigned contract rights for 508,620 metric tons (20 million bushels) of U.S. No. 3 or better yellow corn. The contract rights had been acquired by CCC as a result of the suspension of exports to the Soviet Union.

Nine companies submitted offers for a total of 1,775,800 tons (69.9 million bushels). There were five successful bidders on last night's tender.

The corn contracts sold were scheduled for delivery free on board (fob) vessel — which includes transportation and loading costs — during June, July, August and September from Gulf, Lakes and Atlantic ports. The weighted average price was $2.98 3/4 per bushel ($117.64 per ton). Thursday's reported Chicago spot market price for U.S. No. 2 yellow corn was $2.69 3/4 per bushel ($106.70 per ton).

A total of 2,183,880 metric tons (86 million bushels) of corn contracts have been sold by CCC since the invitation for offers was made April 30. On April 30 USDA held contract rights for port delivery of 351.7 million bushels (8.9 million metric tons) of corn.

Offers to purchase corn contract rights will continue to be received on Monday and Wednesday each week until the invitation is withdrawn, Bergland said. Successful offers will be notified by 10:30 a.m. EDT the day following the offer sale. Public announcement will be made after the commodity markets close.

Offers are to be submitted to the deputy administrator for commodity operations, USDA ASCS, room 218 W, Box 2415, Washington, D.C., 20013. Offers may also be submitted by TWX (710-822-0110) or by telex (89-2769).

A Sprinkle a Day...

NOT EVEN the most expensive toys seem to entertain youngsters as well as an ordinary garden sprinkler. Kathy, Chris and Mike (right) Pierce, children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pierce of Dixon, were caught by the camera as they ran through the sprinkler to cool down on a hot day. In a few short minutes of frolicking in the sprinkler, the children were totally soaked.
