Beware of Those Lightning Storms

Observing safety measures during an electrical storm can prevent severe, or even fatal accidents, a Nebraska Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources safety specialist warned this week.

Rollin Schnieder said seeking shelter in a building equipped with a lightning protection system is probably the best method of avoiding injury in a storm, adding that often this is impossible.

Five situations have been identified in which most lightning casualties occur, Schnieder said. These are under trees, open water, tractors, golf courses and the telephone.

"If a farmer is on a tractor, he is relatively safe because of the rubber tires which tend to insulate an electrical shock. However, if trailing equipment is still in the ground, the chances of being injured by lightning are much greater," he said.

Lightning occurs when the differences of the positive and negative charges between the earth and its atmosphere becomes large enough to overcome the resistance of the insulating air, forcing a conductive path for current to flow. Electrical energy transmitted can be as much as 100 million volts.

"The best refuges are lightning protected buildings, steel framed buildings and automobiles and buses with metal tops and closed windows," Schnieder said.

People in the open are warned not to stand under a single tree, since lightning is attracted to an object isolated or with some height. However, he said shelter under a grove of trees or in a ditch might provide adequate protection.

"If you're caught out in the open," Schnieder advised, "crouch as low as possible with only knees and toes touching the ground. Put your hands on your knees for minimum contact with the earth."

The crouching maneuver must be done quickly, especially if a person's hair begins to stand on end or his skin tingles, which are signs that lightning is about to strike. Also discard metal objects immediately.

Groups of people in the open provide more attraction than individuals, so scatter and lie on the ground during a thunderstorm, he added.

Although being indoors is safer, Schnieder recommended staying away from open doors and windows, fireplaces, radiators, stoves, metal pipes, sinks, bathtubs, shower stalls and plugged in appliances. Lethal electrical charges can enter a home not only by a direct strike, but also by side flashes from a tree, pipe lines, wiring and other objects.

Persons struck by lightning receive a severe electrical shock and may be burned, he said, but they carry no electrical charge and can be handled safely. Even someone who seems dead can be revived by prompt action, such as cardiopulmonary resuscitation.

Avoiding tall tops, conductive elevated objects, flammable materials in open containers and steel structures during an electrical storm are additional measures that help reduce the possibility of severe injury, Schnieder said.

Heritage Homes Begins Rebound In Construction

Heritage Homes of Nebraska, Inc. Wayne, announced last week that they have finalized negotiations on a 84 house order for homes to be built and delivered to the mining regions of Wyoming and Colorado.

The homes for the $3 million project will be built and delivered within the next six months.

Rod Tompkins, president of Heritage Homes, said this type of order was just the thing Heritage Homes needed to increase production from two homes per week, to probably four homes per week.

The modular home manufacturing company had slowed production to two homes per week since the March building slowdown.

Heritage also has sold seven houses through builders in tornado stricken Grand Island.

Chamber Moves to Help Consumers

Like daffodils, halter tops and violent weather, a sudden increase in fraudulent salesmen and solicitors is a sure sign of spring in Wayne.

With the economy continuing its unhealthy ways, more people are looking for methods of making an extra fast buck, and more people are looking for ways to save that extra buck.

BUT THE Chamber of Commerce here warns area residents to be cautious in signing any kind of contract for any kind of work or merchandise without first checking out the seller. You could be left with shoddy workmanship, unwanted or useless merchandise, or without this summer's vacation money.

"There has been considerable interest generated by the increased solicitor traffic in Wayne recently," reports Chamber Executive Vice President Gary Van Meter. "With the recession upon us, more of the so-called 'fly-by-night' schemes are cropping up and smaller communities are prime targets of them."

AS A RESULT, the Chamber board of directors last week approved a system which is designed to discourage this element in Wayne, Van Meter said.

The Blue Card Program involves the simple procedure of verifying the credibility of the salesman and his company, the Chamber executive explained.

For a salesman to obtain a Blue Card, the Chamber makes inquiries with the Better Business Bureau and Chamber in the town where the firm is located. In addition, Van Meter explained, the Chamber asks for names of the last five communities in which the salesman worked along with names of the salesman's immediate supervisor and bonding company, if any.

OTHER ITEMS such as drivers' license number and verification that the salesman has registered with the Police Department also would be recorded.

A waiting period of up to 10 days from the time the card is applied for and the time it is issued also will be included in the program.

Haven House Services

Outlet for Domestic Abuse Here

Persons suffering from various forms of domestic violence now have available to them the Haven House Family Services Center which has been designed to lessen and reduce the trauma of family crisis situations and domestic violence.

JAN STALLING, director of the agency, said funding began just six months ago through the State Department of Public Welfare. However, as early as April, 1978, informal work sessions were being held.

Haven House began serving clients March 1, with referrals to the agency coming from doctors, police department officials, hospital personnel, counselors, lawyers, welfare and planning directors and ministers.

FOR EXAMPLE, a 60 year old woman, mother of 13, who has a victim of domestic violence for 35 years was referred to Haven House by her husband's alcoholism counselor. She was referred to another agency which provided 72 hours in a motel and then was unable to provide more help.

She subsequently was referred to Haven House by the alcoholism counselor. Two of the Haven House directors have since helped her find shelter, get a job, go to a lawyer, get professional counseling and provide peer counseling.

The board of directors, formed in December of 1978, consists of 11 directors including a former battered woman, college professors and students, a minister, a lawyer, a bank official, a mental health center worker, a director of a family health services agency and a welfare worker.

IN ADDITION, Mrs. Stalling explained, there are more than 40 volunteers who have expressed interest and willingness to work with the group. Volunteers are called as needed.

History
In March, 1978, Northeast Nebraska Family Health Services, Wayne County Mental Health Association and the Association of American University Women sponsored a spouse abuse workshop at Wayne State College to determine if there was enough community interest regarding the problem of domestic violence.

Soon afterward, local concerned citizens became involved with the Domestic Violence Task Force under the auspices of the Nebraska Governor's Commission on the Status of Women and with the Norfolk Task Force on Domestic Violence.

IN APRIL OF last year, shelter services were available through a local home and additional shelter arrangements were made with a local motel, Mrs. Stalling said.

Through talks with high school classes on family living, county extension groups, classes at Wayne State College, church groups of men and women, the Wayne Police Department, staffs of various community agencies, etc., the public gained awareness of what services were available, she explained.

Also in 1978, a grant through the Goldenrod Hills Community Action Agency was sought so the Wayne project could obtain funding under the Nebraska Department of Public Welfare's Domestic Violence Project which was created as a result of Nebraska legislation. The grant became effective Jan. 1 of this year and expires next month.

The main goal of Haven House is to provide a supportive, non-threatening shelter to victims of domestic violence, Mrs. Stalling explained. Including in this service are the following:

- ATTENTION TO the individual's total needs - food, clothing, medical counseling and other services. Clients can be referred to the Mental Health Satellite Clinic, Legal Aid, Ministerial Association, local hospital, four doctors and the County Welfare Office.
- Protection of the individual's right to privacy through strict adherence to confidentiality.
- Provision of services in a setting which is safe and protected, warm and home-like and adequately equipped and furnished.
- Direction, coordination and intervention of professional, para-professional and volunteer staff who have participated in pre-service and on-going in-service training which qualifies them to competently handle crisis intervention situations.

• THE SERVICE plan for each client will be determined on an individual basis according to an assessment of needs. The level and duration of services will vary according to needs.

• Around the clock availability. Four volunteer staff members who are certified as crisis line para-professionals and who are working on a hotline in this capacity are available.

THE GRANT is the major support of funds for the program, but the Omaha Magic Theatre production of "Goono Goona" here June 22 will help raise revenue for Haven House.

The agency is sponsoring the Magic Theatre beginning at 8 p.m. at the Wayne Carroll High School Auditorium. The event is in cooperation with the Nebraska Arts Council.

Tickets for the performance are $2 for adults and $1 for students and may be purchased in advance by calling Haven House at 375-4633. Tickets also may be purchased at the door.

"Goono Goona" is a musical, slapstick comedy extravaganza about modern American family violence. To portray the family in conflict, the actors gymnastically tumble, roll and fall throughout the two-act play - recalling the style of the masters of slapstick, The Marx Brothers, Charlie Chaplin, Keaton and The Punch and Judy Puppets.

Definitely A Dead End

TWENTY-ONE-YEAR-old Tim Loutzenhiser, of O'Neill, obviously a stranger to some of Wayne's side streets, is free on $500 bond after being arrested early Friday morning by local authorities. Loutzenhiser was seen running a couple of stop signs and pursued by law enforcement officials began. Headed west on Fourth Street, the O'Neill resident apparently was unaware that the street was a dead end. Skid marks from the bottom of the picture (above) to the middle of the photo show that he skidded nearly a block before bottoming out in a construction area and ending up on the high school football practice field (top of photo). Officers were close behind and arrested Loutzenhiser, charging him with reckless driving. He was not injured, but the undercarriage of his car was. In addition, barricades were damaged as was the fence surrounding the football field and track.

Wayne's Economy Improves Some

The level of economic activity rose slightly in Wayne in February, while over the rest of the state it remained unchanged, a report from the College of Business Administration's Bureau of Business Research indicates.

NET TAXABLE retail sales in Wayne were up just six tenths of one percent over the same period (February) of a year ago.

However, economic activity in Region 11, which includes Norfolk, was down about 4.6 percent for February, 1980, compared to February, 1979. The city of Norfolk also reported a drop during February of about 3.9 percent, according to the University of Nebraska at Lincoln Research Bureau.

Two of the five sectors reported increases, even though the economy as a whole was unchanged. According to the report, activity in the agricultural sector increased 8.7 percent, while non-ag output fell 1 percent.

GOVERNMENT, with an increase of 6 tenths of a percent, was the only nonagricultural sector registering an increase in February, the report stated. The January-to-February decreases for the remaining sectors were manufacturing, down 4 tenths of a percent; distributive, down 1.3 percent; and construction, down 6.9 percent.

A spokesman for the Bureau of Business Research indicated that the indecisive movement of the Nebraska economy during 1979 carried over into the first two months of 1980. The index of activity for Nebraska peaked in November, 1978. Since then the index has leveled off.

RECENTLY released estimates of personal income also indicate a leveling off in the state economy, the report added. Since the fourth quarter of 1978, there has been little, if any, increase in real personal income.

The report added that despite recent increases in the index of agricultural activity, declines in prices received have limited the stimulus by this sector to the rest of the state economy.

The report noted that the level of employment in Nebraska increased 1.5 percent in February when compared to February, 1979. But net taxable retail sales, after adjustments for price changes, were 1.8 percent below the sales of last year.

RELATIVE TO February, 1978, some 19 of the state's 26 reporting cities showed losses in overall business activity. The city business indexes fell an average of 9 tenths of a percent.

On a more positive note for Wayne, net taxable retail sales in 1979 compared to 1979 showed a marked increase.

In 1978, net taxable retail sales were $37,407,000 and were $44,567,000 in 1979 for an increase of 19.1 percent. However, after dollar sales were adjusted (deflated) for price changes using commodity prices the percent of change for Wayne was only 7 percent.

In the region as a whole, the percent of change before price adjustments was 15 percent and after the adjustments was 3.3 percent.

Elliott Named Wayne State Vice President

Dr. Ed Elliott, vice president of academic affairs at Wayne State College since 1975, has been appointed vice president of WSC under a new administrative structure outlined by Dr. Lyle Seymour, president of Wayne State.

As vice president, Dr. Elliott will coordinate all educational and related administrative areas at Wayne State, under the overall direction of President Seymour. Previously, three vice presidents at WSC - the vice president of academic affairs, the vice president of student services and the vice president of administration and planning - all reported directly to the college president. Under the new structure, the vice president of student services (Max Lundstrom) and the vice president of administration and planning (Irvin Brandt) will report directly to Dr. Elliott, as overall vice president. Elliott will report directly to Dr. Seymour.

"The student services area and the administrative and planning areas both provide support to educational programs at Wayne State," Dr. Seymour said. "But I felt more coordination of the three areas was needed. The new position of vice president will help to better coordinate our programs and the role and mission requirements of the institution."

Seymour said the new structure will be effective immediately.

Registrants for Area Jobs Show Increase

At the end of May, there were 910 persons registered for employment with the Norfolk Job Service office, and 181 with the O'Neill office for a total of 1,091 registered applicants.

This compares with 972 last month and 681 at the close of May, 1979. The 1,091 total includes 493 females and 115 veterans but does not include 91 individuals seeking part-time work or 183 youth seeking summer employment.

New applications filed during May totaled 516 compared with 417 last month and 412 for May of last year, the Job Service of Nebraska reported.

Job openings received from employers numbered 435 compared with 365 in April and 475 for May, 1979. Job openings filled by the Norfolk office during May totaled 179. This compares with 325 last month and 333 during May of last year.

There were only 30 job openings left unfilled at the end of the month, compared with 138 at the end of May, 1979.

Wayne no longer has a full-time Job Service Office, but rather a rural employment service. Those wishing more information on employment opportunities in the area should contact Mable Tietgen at the Chamber of Commerce office.

An interviewer for the Job Service will be at the Chamber from 10 to 11 a.m. July 8. Chuck Parks will be the job interviewer.

Wakefield Shuts Down Winside Teams for Sweep

SCOTT HALLSTROM of Wakefield slides safely back to first base as Winside attempts an abrupt halt. Wakefield won the Legion game 10-0 at the Wakefield city ball park Friday night. First baseman Bill George puts on the routine tag as Hallstrom comes to day night.

Friday the 13th is a traditionally unlucky day and the tradition held up for Winside's Midget and Legion baseball teams Friday night.

Wakefield's Tom Preston threw a no-hit shutout against Winside's Juniors and Mark Starzl threw a one-hit shutout against the Midgets. The hosts swept the Ralph Bishop League doubleheader 5-0 and 10-0 at the Wakefield city ball park.

Wakefield had little trouble winning the Legion game. Winside managed only five base runners in the nightcap and was not successful in moving any to third base.

Offensively, the hosts took control by scoring in every inning. Scott Hallstrom smashed a triple and an in the park home run to spark the winners.

Rick Guy scored the first run when he singled and Hallstrom followed with his triple. Larry Soderberg, Dale Phipps and Jeff Hallstrom scored three more runs in the second inning.

Guy, Hallstrom, Starzl and Rod Nixon crossed the plate for the hosts in the third inning to put the game away. Guy walked in the bottom of the fourth, and Hallstrom poked his homer to the left center field fence.

Wakefield's defense held Winside scoreless in the top of the fifth to end the game by virtue of the 10-run rule.

WAKEFIELD 5, Winside 0
Wakefield managed only four hits but that was good enough for five runs and a 5-4 win over Winside in Midget action Friday night.
Barry Bowers collected Winside's only hit, a single in the fourth inning but was forced out at second base on a fielder's choice. Winside lost its only scoring opportunity in the bottom of the fifth inning when Jon Hawkins tried to score from third base but failed.
Mark Starzl was the winning pitcher, striking out 12 batters in the six-inning game. He also scored two of Wakefield's five runs.
Starzl reached base on an error for, stole second and third and then scored when Rod Nixon blasted a triple in the bottom of the first inning. Nixon scored on a ground ball by Mike Clay.

In the second inning, Keith Roberts led off with a double and moved to third on a passed ball. With two outs, Starzl singled and Nixon doubled bringing in two more runs. Five walks in the fifth inning brought Brian Soderberg home for the final run.

Both Wakefield and Winside will be in action tonight (Monday). Wakefield will host Emerson's Midgets and Legion and Winside will play at Laurel. Midget games will begin at 6:30 p.m. and Legion games will follow at approximately 8:15.

Legion Drops South Sioux Twice As Herman Returns to Lineup

Dennis "Herman" Carroll made his return to the lineup of the Wayne Legion team a grand one by pounding two singles, driving in three runs and scoring two more runs as Wayne swept South Sioux City, Friday night in Wayne.

Carroll, who injured his knee in the final game of the Chuck Ellis Tournament at Wakefield on June 1, returned to action in Friday's varsity game. Tim Pfeiffer held South Sioux scoreless on three hits and fanned 11 batters. He also aided the team's defense by snagging a line shot and firing the ball to first baseman Bruce Schafer for a double play. Offensively, Carroll, Pfeiffer and Jere Morris were the leading hitters with two hits each. Catcher Dan Mitchell doubled in the second inning, Schafer singled, Pat McCright walked and Morris drove in one run in the second inning. Jeff Zeiss, who scored three of Wayne's 10 runs, reached base on a fielder's choice and Carroll pasted a two-run single. Carroll scored on a delay steal by Pfeiffer.

The fourth inning was nearly as prosperous for the hosts. McCright, Zeiss and Carroll crossed the plate in that inning. The key hit was a two-run single by Kevin Nissen. An RBI single by Carroll scored Morris and an RBI double by Pfeiffer brought Zeiss home as Wayne added its final blow in the bottom of the fifth inning to win by the 10-run rule.

Randy's Recap

According to Randy Hascall

HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL

in our state Nebraska may soon be a thing of the past, a conversation piece to be tossed around over coffee and rolls.

The recent Wayne-Carroll board of education's decision to eliminate baseball from the school curriculum could well be the knife in the back of baseball as an organized high school sport.

Of the five Northeast Nebraska high schools which competed in baseball this past year, Wayne and Ponca were both consoling dropping the sport. Wayne, the largest school in the league, has reached its decision and Ponca will surely follow suit. What alternative does that leave Laurel, Wakefield and Bancroft?

Even if Ponca should continue its baseball program, only four teams would remain in this area. That is hardly enough for a competitive schedule in the Northeast portion of the state. And I'm sure budgets wouldn't allow these remaining teams to travel to Lincoln and Omaha to complete their schedules.

Baseball is now, in its own way, being termed a rich man's sport. Only the elite schools in Nebraska's two largest cities will endure and continue to participate. Baseball is, sadly enough, a dying sport that one day will probably be eliminated from all high school programs in this state.

It's disappointing that Wayne has to be the sparkplug in the steamroller that is flattening baseball. One year ago, I never would have dreamed that Wayne would decide to drop baseball. I expected Ponca or possibly Bancroft to take the initiative. But, instead the largest school in the league took the first step.

BASEBALL, if officially eliminated, will not be forgotten. Teams from Wayne and Wakefield have been perennial powers and participants in the state finals nearly every year. Laurel has also developed a good baseball program.

Die-hard baseball fans will remember the good times and occasionally the bad. People won't forget the names of the all state athletes or the state finalist teams. And Wakefield fans will certainly remember their greatest thrill of all—the 1980 Class B state championship.

NEBRASKA SCHOOL Activities Association officials this week officially announced the site for the 1981 boys' and girls' state track and field meets that will be combined.

The big event will be held at Omaha Burke Stadium. The change was reportedly backed by a large majority of Nebraska's high schools but was still a controversial item.

Some western schools are upset that another state tournament is moving to the eastern part of the state. Past girls' state track meets have been held in North Platte. That city lost out when the NSAA decided to combine the boys and girls meets. North Platte is not capable of supporting a four-nation state meet.

NSAA officials will have their hands full, running this enlarged two-day tournament. In fact, I don't really know how they'll be able to do it. But I wish them all the luck in the world. I guess if 30 other states can host boys and girls combined meets, Nebraska should also be able to handle the combination.

Softball Tourney Slated July 4 & 5

A Brent Chase benefit slow pitch softball tournament has been scheduled for July 4 and 5 at Allen. The tournament is being sponsored by Milton G. Waldbaum Company of Wakefield.

Entry fee for the two day tourney is $40 per team. In addition, each team will be required to furnish two regulation soft-balls.

Entry fees are due by Friday, June 20. Checks should be made payable to: Brent Chase Fund, Cash Store, in care of Kevin Hill, P.O. Box 70, Allen, Nebraska 68710.

The tournament will match the first 16 teams registered. For more information call (402) 635-2325 or 494-3515.

Combined Track Meet Set at Burke

Male and female track and field athletes who qualify for the 1981 state tournament will compete together in a two day tournament, May 22 and 23 at Omaha Burke High School.

That decision was reached Tuesday at a Nebraska School Activities Association meeting in Lincoln. The boys and girls track and field state championship meet will be combined for the first time.

In past years, Omaha Burke hosted the boys state meet and North Platte hosted the girls state meet.

Burke Stadium, with a permanent seating capacity of 7,700 and a banked end to accommodate more spectators, was selected over the University of Nebraska's Ed Weir Stadium after considerable debate.

"The main reason for the decision was the fact that Omaha has done such an outstanding job of running the meet over the past nine years," NSAA Executive Secretary Jim Riley said. "There were no overriding reasons to move it. The decision was, however, a very difficult one for the Board to make."

"We know the university track, one the construction is completed, will probably be one of the best facilities in the nation," Riley said. "And the use of the dormitories for athlete housing was very attractive to us. The prime reason against the university facility was the fact we would have to move in additional bleachers at our cost—a cost we considered very high."

Some 30 other states already have combined boys and girls meets. The move was made as an energy-saving proposal and favored by a 2-1 margin of 84 percent of the schools, NSAA officials indicated.

In other business, the NSAA approved Kearney State College as

Improving Basketball Skills

"MANDAN" PROJECT PUBLIC MEETINGS

The environmental study program for the MANDAN Project has progressed to the point of identification of alternate corridors. Specific information on routes has not been determined at this stage. Some of the corridor selection considerations include dryland agriculture; irrigation; terrestrial and aquatic biological systems; water resources; Federal or State designated resource conservation and management areas; shelterbelts, hardwood draws, wetlands; communities; proximity to farmhouses, rural residences and businesses; Federal or State designated recreational, historical and archaeological areas; and transmission line integrity, reliability and economics.

Specific information is solicited from those people who are familiar with local conditions and concerns and from representatives of local, state, and federal government bodies at the public meetings listed above.

The information obtained at these public meetings will be used along with other available information to select a preferred corridor. The preferred corridor will be selected through a comparative analysis of the alternate corridors. It is anticipated that the preferred corridor will be selected during the summer of 1980.

A process similar to that utilized in corridor selection will be applied to selection of a line route. Alternate line routes will be selected on the basis of available information. The routes will be reviewed with the general public and representatives of the local, state, and federal government bodies before a preferred route is selected. At this stage, public meetings will again be held in various places along the proposed line route to gain additional public input. These meetings and the identification of a preferred route are expected to occur in the winter of 1980.

In circumstances where applicable law contains requirements that differ from the outlined process, the applicable law will be followed in the transmission line corridor/route selection process. Due to the preliminary nature of the environmental study program at this time and the possibility that further adjustments may be necessary after input from the public and government bodies, it cannot be assured that the ultimate line route will be contained within the identified alternate corridors at all locations. Comment is welcomed and solicited from the general public and from representatives of government bodies at the public meetings listed above.

You will have an opportunity to ask questions and discuss concerns in an informal atmosphere. Coffee will be served.

Card of Thanks

WE SINCERELY thank all our relatives, friends and neighbors for their many expressions of kindness, including memorials to be donated to the American Cancer Society, visits, food, flowers and cards of sympathy sent during Floyd's illness and at the time of our loss. A special thanks to Rev. and Mrs. Haas, Dr. Wiseman, Dr. Lindau, Sister Gertrude and the Providence Medical Center staff, the ladies of the church and the Hiscoc-Schumacher Funeral Home. It is a comfort to know so many people share our loss. May the Lord bless you all. Helen Hupp and family. [16]

I WOULD like to thank friends, relatives and neighbors for the cards and visits. Dr. Bob Bentback and the Providence Medical staff for their fine care while I was at Providence Medical Center. To Pastor Peterson for his prayers and visits while at Providence Medical Center and St. Joseph Hospital. Thanks also to the doctors and St. Joseph Medical staff for their fine care and those who visited me while I was there. To the William Vahlkampfs for bringing me home and those who have visited me and helped since I have returned home. Mrs. Ethel Nuernberger. [16]

Major Effort Underway To Get U.S. Head Count

A major new effort by the Bureau of the Census and top officials of the nation's local communities is underway to help assure the most accurate and complete count possible in the 1980 Census of Population and Housing.

Census Bureau Director Vincent P. Barabba announced the start of the innovative Local Review Program at a press conference in the bureau's Maryland headquarters.

The program will enable local officials to check the accuracy and completeness of housing and population counts provided to them by the Census Bureau. Local governments then will have the opportunity to point out possible problems for review and correction, as needed, before the 409 temporary census district offices close.

Barabba said the program was initiated "in the belief that the review by local officials before census officials close will contribute significantly to the accuracy and success of the census."

"We have been working closely with these officials since early last year in preparing for this program. Technical manuals have been sent to the nation's 39,500 local governments (cities, counties and townships) and bureau staff people have conducted workshops for local officials."

In late April and early May details instruction booklets and packages of census maps were sent to the highest elected official of each of the nation's 39,500 cities, counties and townships. The officials will use these materials as a basis for summarizing their own population and housing unit estimates so that they can be compared with the Census Bureau's counts. Most local governments will receive these counts this month.

"The Local Review Program is a massive undertaking which has not been attempted formally in any previous census," Barabba said. "While its success will ultimately depend on the cooperation of local officials, the Census Bureau is committed to reviewing potential problems uncovered by the local officials' reviews of our counts."

In order for the bureau to review the areas where there are problems, detailed supportive evidence must be provided to the bureau by the local governments. This documentation will be required before any detailed rechecking can be done. It will not be possible for the bureau to recheck an area solely on a personal feeling that a count is too low or too high.

Among the types of evidence local officials are expected to use to support their estimates are:

- Residential building and demolition permits.
- Residential electricity, telephone, water connections.
- Aerial photos, field surveys and land-use maps, and
- Tax assessor records.

The local governments will have an average of four weeks to get ready for the review and two weeks to comment on the bureau's counts. The temporary census offices will remain open up to six weeks in order to complete the checking of these local counts.

During the last census in 1970, some local government complaints about the counts could not be investigated fully because local governments often did not have clear evidence of alleged mistakes, and the concerns were raised after the temporary census offices had already closed.

Local officials are vitally concerned with the accuracy of the census of their communities for several reasons:

- Congressional apportionment is based on the census under the Constitution (Article 1, Section 2). In the last several decades, courts have ruled that election districts for state and local representation must be based on the one-person, one-vote principle. Census statistics provide the basis for redrawing these State and local electoral district boundaries.
- The importance of census results to state and local government budgets has grown in recent years. Over 100 federal government aid programs — including the general revenue sharing program — use (in whole or in part) census statistics as the basis for distribution of approximately $50 billion a year to state and local governments. An accurate census count is essential for a fair distribution of these funds on the basis of population and other factors.

Census statistics — particularly those for small geographic areas such as neighborhoods, census tracts and city blocks — play a vital role in State and local government planning activities. Community improvements such as new water and sewer lines, schools, health clinics, child care centers, mass transit systems, senior citizen centers and police and fire stations often are planned on the basis of census data.

Following completion of the local review process this summer, the temporary District Offices will complete their work and begin closing. Official preliminary population and housing results will be released at that time. Following the processing of census questionnaires, official final results are scheduled to be released on a state-by-state basis beginning this fall.

More Scholarships to Wayne State Awarded

Presidential Scholarships for 1980 attendance at Wayne State College recently were awarded to 12 high school seniors for fall semester. More than 80 Presidential Scholarships have been awarded since January by WSC and more are expected to be presented during the summer months.

Thursday, June 19: Theophilus Ladies Aid; Helping Hands 4-H Club.

Friday, June 20: Royal Neighbors of America, Gladys Reichert; SOS.

The Howard Iversons attended the wedding of Jerry Bleich and Marysa Opaten at Wausau June 7. Others attending from Winside were the Warren Holtgrens, the Ray Jacobsens, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Evans, the Ed Heitholds and the Otto Kochs.

Dale and Mary Bowler, Lincoln, visited in the Howard Iverson and Lester Grubbs homes last weekend.

History of Winside Planned

The Madison County Genealogical Society is sponsoring the reprinting of "The History of Winside 1942."

The book not only covers the complete history of why and how Winside was developed, but also includes a lot of historical information on Nebraska, Wayne County, La Porte, Northside and other communities, and hundreds of pioneers.

The society is completely indexing this book, listing alphabetically all surnames, points of interest, railroads, churches, etc. It is estimated there will be more than 800 names when the indexing is complete. The book also contains many, many pictures of early pioneers, homesteads, places of business, groups and organizations.

The society decided to sponsor the reprinting because it is very hard to obtain any of the original 500 copies and many people have commented they would like to have one. The committee chairperson for the project is Mrs. Dianne Jaeger, a rural route resident of Winside, who had been searching for the book over a year.

The society is indebted to Mrs. Ammanda Dimmel of Winside for lending them her only copy to send to the publisher, Mrs. Dimmel's late husband, F.J. Dimmel, was an associate author and the publisher of the original book. The author was the late F.M. Jones. Also the society is indebted to Mr. Jacob "Jake" Miller of Winside for lending them his copy-to index.

Anyone interested in this book should contact Mrs. Dianne Jaeger, Rt. 1, Box 55, Winside, 68790 or Mrs. Joyce Borgelt, 408 North Fifth St., Baffle Creek, 68715.

'Thief in Night' Shown Sunday

"A Thief in the Night," a new color film, was shown at Christ-Har-Life Assembly, 901 Circle Drive, Wayne, Sunday, June 15 at 7:30 p.m.

"A Thief in the Night" is a mighty motion picture about Bible prophecy. It shows what can happen when Jesus Christ returns. This exciting story centers around Patly, an average girl caught up in living for the present, with little concern about the future. What happens when this thinking finally catches up with her provides an action-packed, unforgettable drama.

Scholarship to Craig Johnson

Craig Johnson, Wilcox, recently was awarded a $100 Lillian Whitmore Scholarship for fall semester, 1980, at Wayne State College.

The scholarship was established through the Wayne State Foundation by Mrs. S.B. Whitmore in memory of her daughter, Lillian, who was a graduate of WSC and a child psychologist. The scholarship is awarded annually to an outstanding WSC junior or senior education major with a special interest in exceptional children.

Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Johnson, Wilcox, is a 1977 graduate of Wilcox High School and a junior at Wayne State.
