ONE-HUNDRED FOURTH YEAR NUMBER EIGHTY-FOUR

Economy Alters Industry's Plans

A company that has been considering expansion plans since August of last year has cancelled those efforts, according to Gary Van Meter, Wayne Industries executive vice president.

LCN-CLOSERS of Princeton, Ill., a division of Schlage Lock Co., originally had chosen Nebraska and Wayne after a three-month selection study covering four states and more than 60 communities. A decision to select Wayne was made in October by the firm and negotiations on sites and buildings continued until mid-April.

LCN, a major manufacturer of door closing devices, called off expansion efforts following the recent slump in the economy. Tom Lasser, president of LCN and chief contact for the firm's project, confirmed in correspondence this week that the project will not go forward this year or at any other future date.

HE DID, however, assure local contacts that the community continually lived up to LCN's original impressions throughout the project's duration. He said cancellation in no way reflected on Wayne's performance as a selection site.

"Wayne came to the top of our list after an investigation of all the factors and we continue to be favorably impressed with your people, the town and its facilities, and the receptive atmosphere we found in Wayne," Lasser commented in the text of his correspondence.

Bob Jordan, spokesman for Wayne Industries, the local development organization, said that it was rare for a project to mature as far as this one had and then cancel.

"TEST BORES at the site had been made and bids for a building had been submitted," he said. "Naturally, we are disappointed, but with continued local teamwork and cooperation as we had on this project, we feel confident of landing additional industry in Wayne in the not-too-distant future, as the economic situation improves."

He added a "thank you" to all those who had been involved locally with the project including the Wayne Industries, Inc. board of directors, city officials and local contractors who bid on the project.

WSC Teacher Grads Rate High As Group

Wayne State College teacher education graduates teaching for the first time in 1979-80 rates high as a group, according to Deryl Lawrence, WSC's Director of Placement.

ONE-HUNDRED rating sheets were sent in May to superintendents, principals or supervisors of WSC's first-year teachers. Ninety-six rating sheets were returned from 81 school systems in five states.

Revealed were ratings of performance on nine separate items: knowledge of subject; initiative/resourcefulness; teacher-pupil relationships; discipline; loyalty/cooperation; attitude toward out-of-class duties; use of English (oral and written); personal grooming and punctuality.

As a group, the 96 neophyte teachers rated "Very Good" to "Excellent" in all areas except "discipline," which on the popular ABCDF "grading scale" rated a "B."

"THE DISCIPLINE area has consistently been the toughest aspect of teaching for the first-year teachers and developing effective techniques in this area can take years," said Lawrence, "so we're not surprised that it ranked ninth of the nine factors evaluated.

Any group of first-year teachers who can average "B-" in discipline and "B" or "A" in the other areas will eventually earn a great deal of respect."

Lawrence went on to add that the demand for teachers in some areas is growing as the number of teacher education graduates continues to decline. Excellent opportunities exist in math, physical sciences, special education and industrial arts. Competition remains quite keen for teaching positions in physical education, history, social sciences, elementary, communication arts and foreign languages.

OTHER TEACHING areas appear to have a "rough balance" between current supply and demand. Wayne State has consistently placed over 90 percent of its teacher education graduates in teaching positions.

The proportion of Wayne State's graduates entering the teaching profession has been around 50 percent for the past four years. Other graduates earn degrees in a variety of academic areas, the largest number being in business administration. "The current picture is quite different than fifteen years ago," Lawrence commented, "when 94 percent of WSC's graduates were in teacher education programs."

ENTRANTS must be dressed in their most maddening moonlight sleepwear. The parade will form in front of Wittig'sIGA-Griess Rexall area at 7:20 p.m. The parade will begin at 7:30 p.m. down Main Street to First Street.

Crude, But Effective

RUBE GOLDBERG WOULD appreciate a setup like this one. Anita Eckert (far right) and Wendy Lubberstedt, both of rural Dixon, began the unenviable task of painting the home of Anita's father, Earl, last week. Scaffolding is too scarce and too expensive, they decided, so with the help of a neighbor's Allis Chalmers tractor and front-end loader, and Earl's grain elevator, the painting routine was started last Monday. The elevator is used as a ladder to get onto the tractor's loader which serves as a make-shift scaffold. For entertainment, the pair watches soap operas on a television rigged specially for the painting operation. And when the "soaps" are off the air, a stereo provides a musical backdrop. Wendy's brother, Stuart, has lended a helping hand and is responsible for the more precarious duties such as painting trim and eaves of the house.

Gasohol Use Termed 'Pretty Fair'

The use of gasohol is still in its infancy in Wayne, but early indications are that it is being accepted fairly readily.

ONLY THREE service stations offer the product - Bob's Derby Retail Inc. Frederickson Oil Co. and Carl's Conoco. Derby was the first to introduce gasohol to the Wayne market, with the other two only a few months behind.

Bob Clarkson of Derby said he has seen "real good acceptance" of gasohol at his station on East Seventh Street. "It's been selling better than ethyl," he noted.

The petroleum based fuel is comprised of 10 percent grain alcohol (also known as ethyl alcohol or ethanol) and 90 percent unleaded gasoline. Ethanol generally is distilled from resources such as corn, wheat, milt, sugar, beets, potatoes, cheese whey and other agricultural commodities.

WHEN THESE two components are combined, they produce benefits not possible with gasoline alone. The Nebraska Corn Development, Utilization and Marketing Board explained. In addition, because ethanol is derived from renewable resources, new supplies can be grown year after year.

The distributor of ethanol for this area is Norco Feed Co. in Norfolk, which gets its supply from an outlet in Kansas.

Clarkson said he decided to carry gasohol because of two factors: one, his fuel suppliers were phasing out premium gasoline, and two, to help out with the energy crunch.

CUSTOMERS using gasohol generally have lauded its effects, saying their vehicles perform better and get more miles to the gallon. When ethanol and unleaded fuel are mixed, the resulting octane is higher than with just unleaded.

Swede Frederickson, owner and operator of Frederickson Oil Co. north of Wayne on Nebraska 15, said he, too, has received "pretty fair" response to gasohol. "Some have tried it, some have stayed with it, but some have left it," he noted.

State and federal gasoline taxes are exempted on gasohol, making the fuel more competitive with regular and unleaded. Frederickson said without the exemption of taxes, gasohol would not be popular.

AS OF FRIDAY, the prices of gasohol ranged from $1.30 to $1.32 per gallon, full service. By comparison, full service unleaded was from $1.30 to $1.31 per gallon, and full service regular ranged from $1.25 to $1.26 per gallon.

Only one station offers self service prices. Those were $1.25 for gasohol, $1.21 for regular and $1.17 for unleaded.

Is there a future in gasohol? Frederickson thinks there is, but "it is down the road some." Carl Haas of Carl's Conoco on Main Street had similar thoughts, saying that "there is going to have to be some sort of alternative fuel."

HAAS SAID HE sells about 100 gallons of gasohol each day, and says the acceptance has been fair.

All three stations receive their ethanol through Norco and mix it with unleaded at each individual station. They do not receive the gasohol pre-mixed.

The service station owners agreed that performance and gas mileage is said to be better with gasohol.

A 2 MILLION mile gasohol test in Nebraska found that the average fuel economy of gasohol was reported to be from 3 to 4 percent better than that of just gasoline.

At temperatures below about 67 degrees, gasohol-fueled vehicles obtained more miles per gallon than control vehicles using unleaded gasoline.

According also to the Corn Development Utilization Market Board, vehicles fueled with gasohol generally achieve increased mileage. Gasohol has a higher octane rating than its no lead component.

THE INCREASED octane will cause the car's engine to run smoother, with less "knock", less engine "ping" and less dieseling. This provides for better overall performance in hot and cold weather, the agency said. Gasohol also acts as an antifreeze and will help prevent gas line freeze ups.

The chemical properties of gasohol act as a solvent, helping to cut through dirt and deposits and keep the engine running cleaner, the Market Board report said.

There is no special automotive equipment required. Gasohol can be used safely in all vehicles.

Teacher 'Fact Finding' Nearer

The teacher salary negotiations process has moved somewhat closer since a Wayne Carroll School District board of education meeting June 9, but probably will not get underway for several weeks yet.

Supt. of Schools Francis Haun said Friday that a fact finder representative for the board has not been located, although several attempts have been made.

THE BOARD voted an impasse in negotiations at its June meeting, with the process of fact finding now planned in July. Representatives of the Wayne Education Association and of the board have met several times in the last four months, but have failed to reach an amicable agreement.

The stalemate officially was declared by the board June 9. The standoff now goes to a fact finding committee consisting of a board rep, a WEA rep and a third and independent member. Once these are chosen, they have 10 days to chose the third member before the State Department of Education (DOE) becomes involved.

THE WEA representative for the fact finding discussions will be Jerry Kriha, an employee of the Nebraska State Education Association in Lincoln.

A list of five candidates is provided by the DOE, with the board rep and WEA rep each eliminating two. The final candidate then serves as the third fact finder.

SUPERINTENDENT Haun said salary negotiations reached the fact finding stage once before, in 1974. Negotiations were settled in August that year.

If the board and WEA fail to agree on the fact finding report, then the issue is appealed to the Court of Industrial Relations which could take up to 18 months to make any decision. Its findings are binding and are retroactive to Sept. 1 of this year, the superintendent explained.

If a settlement has not been reached by Sept. 1, all certified staff who are teachers will be placed on the salary schedule in effect for the school year just completed. That schedule would be in effect until a mutual agreement is reached.

HAUN SAID the board's offering to the teachers - which includes a raise in base pay from $9,450 to $10,350 - reflects an increase of about 11.25 percent. However, the WEA, asking - which includes a raise in base pay from $9,450 to $10,600 - comes to an increase of about 18.5 percent.

Cost of the board's package would run about $102,000. The WEA package figure would be far beyond what the board could afford, the superintendent explained.

THE TWO SIDES are negotiating eight items, with some of these already settled.

Directories Available

A Wayne County Directory, compiled by the Wayne County Mental Health Advisory Committee with contributions from Wayne County Home Extension Clubs and Wayne Kiwanis Club, is now ready for distribution to residents of the county. The directory contains a list of recreation, clubs, organizations and community services in the county. Presidents or chairmen of church, community and civic groups are invited to request quantities of copies for membership distribution. Requests of quantities may be made with Linda Baddorf, 375-2715 or 375-3401. Copies also may be picked up at the Wayne County Extension Office in the lower level of the courthouse.

Siren Test This Friday

The city of Wayne will conduct its monthly testing of Civil Defense sirens at 1 p.m. Friday. Sirens will be allowed to run only one minute with a three minute pause between each test, and will be tested in the following sequence: —Alert (used for tornado or other natural disaster warning), both high and low siren on for one minute. —Pause, three minutes. —Attack, both high and low on for 10 seconds, off for 10 seconds, continuing for one minute. Normal time sequence for each of the sirens in an emergency situation would be a full three minutes. Since this is for testing purposes only, the siren will be shut off after one minute each so the public can quickly determine the difference between test and an actual warning. If this were not a test, the public should immediately take shelter upon hearing either the alert or the attack signals given.

Melee Brings Sentences

Three Wayne State College students involved in a fracas March 10 were sentenced in County Court Thursday to varying terms. Jay Bellar, Walthill, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and was placed on two years' probation. Steve Dennis, Magnet, and Pat Maxwell, Tekamah, were sentenced to 15 days in jail and were placed on 18 months' probation. Bellar's sentence was more severe after a pre-sentence investigation revealed previous trouble with the law. In addition, medical costs involving Mike DeBorde, Gary Krusemark and Terry Meyer will be paid by the defendants. Bellar, Dennis and Maxwell were found guilty recently of misdemeanor charges of assault.

Why Spread Washington's Problems?

by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce
 Back in the early 1970's the most a worker injured on the job in Washington, D.C. could receive in workers' compensation was $70 a week. But in 1972 Congress decided to improve matters. It raised benefits.
 Benefits went up, and up, and up. Up to $26 a week, tax free.
 Workers' claims shot through the roof like Mount St. Helens. During construction of Washington's multibillion-dollar subway system, for example, workers filed claims at a rate of $1.7 million per mile of construction. Today, the system has 6,000 employees running it — and 3,000 pending claims for injuries on the job.
 Out of desperation officials considered offering free TV sets and other prizes — topped by a drawing for a new car — to discourage workers from filing spurious claims.
 Meanwhile, of course, employers' insurance costs to pay for the benefits also went up, and up, and up, rising six times faster than wages. Average rate increases totaled 503 percent!

 From 1970 through 1976, the District of Columbia — the capital city — lost 108 firms and approximately 15,000 jobs, with a yearly $180 million payroll. One major reason, of course, was the higher compensation insurance costs paid by employers. A construction company that faced a $228,000 insurance premium to cover its workers in Washington; for example, would pay only $192,000 in neighboring Virginia or Maryland. Countless similar discrepancies abounded.
 The business community, and finally the City Council, rebelled. Over vehement opposition of organized labor, the Council recently invoked its home rule authority to make sweeping changes, beginning with the exorbitant benefits. Under the new legislation, the weekly maximum benefit will be rolled back to $396 for persons injured after the law takes effect. But even the version of the bill passed by the Council falls short of the reforms urged by the Washington business community.

 Despite the reservations of employers, the Council's rejection of the current program may have far-reaching repercussions on Capitol Hill, where organized labor is making another of its perennial attempts to have Congress do for the 50 states what Congress did in 1972 for the District of Columbia. Legislation is being pushed to federalize the state workers' compensation systems.
 The law that led to the skyrocketing benefits and claims in Washington long had been cited by labor spokesmen as a "model" plan for the 50 states, which currently have their own systems.
 Obviously, the states do not need the kind of problems that a federal system created for Washington. Compensation claims across the country doubled in the 1970's, and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce's yearly survey of employee benefits shows that the largest single jump in such benefits occurred in workers' compensation. From 1976 through 1978, these benefits rose by 333 percent, compared with a rise of 209 percent for Social Security benefits.

 Commenting on one aspect of the problem, Dr. Richard L. Leshner, president of the U.S. Chamber, recently observed on a national television program. "It's Your Business."
 "Our analysis shows that the higher the benefits the longer the duration of the job. There is a direct correlation there.... I think we have to put the word 'work' back into the system and remember that it's workers' compensation. It's not a welfare system."
 Congress should not forget that fact.

year increases in the federal budget.
 2. Inflation, which pushes millions of Americans into higher tax brackets, where pay raises to offset higher prices simply earmark a larger share of their income for taxes.
 3. Inflation, which has pushed the economy into a serious recession, creating unemployment conditions that require greater outlays for jobless pay benefits, welfare and other anti-recession measures.
 Despite all the talk of balancing the federal budget in 1981, there is no serious effort in the Nation's Capital to reduce spending, and thus help dampen inflation. Instead, if the budget is balanced at all, it will be through increased tax revenues which the U.S. Chamber estimates will reach $85 to $95 billion.
 Isn't it time to cut both taxes and federal spending? And reduce inflation, inflation, inflation.

 Much like the Hunchback of Notre Dame, Jack Nicholson in "The Shining" slinks down the halls of Overlook Hotel, dragging a pick-axe in search of his wife and son.
 Nicholson, crazed by the legend of the Colorado hotel, sought revenge in their deaths. They were to blame, he was convinced, for his failure to be a successful novelist. The teacher-turned-writer, mysteriously had taken on the personality of the hotel, which contained the memory of a previous caretaker who had taken the lives of his family.
 But if it weren't for Nicholson's superb performance, "The Shining" probably would fall short of its effectiveness. With the former Academy Award winner, however, the movie is a heart stopper.
 Although the film employs many of the clichés of contemporary horror films, (possessed child, hallucinations, etc.), it goes beyond what recent scare stories have offered. Stanley Kubrick, who directed "2001," was near his best in bringing to the audience a masterful attempt at scaring the pants off the audience.
 Saturday of last week provided me a good opportunity to see what Newsweek calls "the first epic horror film." The rest of my family was in Shenandoah visiting for a week.
 If you'll recall, last Saturday evening was marked by typical Midwest weather — winds, some hail, rain and lots of thunder and lightning. A perfect night to view what was purported to be one of the best horror films ever.
 A long line formed outside the Morningside Cinema in Sioux City about 9:15 for the 9:45 showing. Rain peppered down, with the sky streaked almost continually by lightning. A classic night for a film filled with surprise, intrigue, suspense and a little violence.
 The movie didn't start until about 10 p.m., but excellent camera work by film crews in the Rocky Mountains provided viewers with an eerie trip up the mountainside to the hotel where Nicholson and his wife and son were to live for the winter.
 Nicholson would be the caretaker of the mammoth facility while it was closed for the winter. He had been told of the multiple murder there years ago, but scoffed at the idea the event would have any effect on his stay there.
 While most contemporary horror films tend to use blood for effect, this technique was used only sparingly in "The Shining." Director Kubrick was able to transform a normally happy family into one that collapsed much like the Norfolk family last week.
 The movie also tended to be somewhat weak technically. There were times when the photography faltered, whether it was from equipment at the theater or from poor work in the darkroom. But those moments were few and far between and had little bearing on the plot of the film.
 Kubrick successfully used the cameras to pull the audience through the movie with Nicholson's wife, who was portrayed as a rather "dumb housewife" type, never really grasping the reality of the situation until it was nearly too late.
 There was suspense at every corner of the hotel, with the camera following Kubrick's possessed son on his Hotwheels up and down the halls and into the forbidden Room 237 which provides for a little thrill in itself.
 Through Nicholson's uncanny ability to use facial expressions, the film moved gradually from the serene family life in the mountains, to a gasping, screaming race for survival.
 I've never seen grown men in a theater so instantly frightened that they virtually jump from their seats to the row behind them. It was a white-knuckled movie, with Kubrick keeping the skin tingling in anticipation and fright for most of the second half of the movie.
 The film is slow to start, setting the audience up for what transpires later. The final 90 minutes are worth waiting for.
 The showing ended at 12:22 a.m. Sunday. Lightning still streaked the sky, with thunder echoing through the city making the evening even more spooky. The hour drive to Wayne in the dark of the night all alone after a truly frightening film is not recommended for the weak-hearted.
 It's not recommended for children under 17 without a parent — I can understand why. Don't go alone, particularly if you tend to have nightmares. Don't go on a night that lends itself to horror.
 It's for the horror buff who likes movies that are not mindless. There is some mystery employed and some exercises in using the imagination and some suspense.
 On a scale of 1 to 10, we'll give it a 7.8. Technically, it rates a 6. There are parts that rely on cliché too much, and times when an unusual mix of humor and horror confuse the audience. Should we laugh or be swayed by Nicholson's antics?
 The photography sets an 8 for its ability to put the viewer on the scene and for its eerie effects.
 It is definitely worth seeing.

Crops, Livestock Are Interdependent

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
 By M.M. Van Kirk,
 Director of Information

The economic health of the state's livestock and grain producers are interdependent upon each other and those who prescribe remedies often seem to forget that fact.

Of late, casual observers of farm and ranch problems have been inclined to concentrate blame on the embargo on wheat and feed grain shipments to the Soviet Union, and certainly that is a primary factor for cash grain and soybean producers. They become so busy worrying about the crop producers, however, that they overlook the fact that in most years, cash receipts from farm marketings in this state are dependent on livestock for 60 to 70 percent of the returns.

The present combination of both cattle and hogs being in economic trouble at the same time contrasts to the mid-1970's when cattle inventories reached record highs with attendant losing price ratios, but hog producers continued to show good profits and kept numbers in balance for several years beyond what could be expected in the normal hog cycle.

Most cattle going to market since last fall have been showing losses, mainly because feeders paid too much for their feeder cattle and slaughter cattle prices failed to hold up. Prices for Choice fed steers at Omaha declined from about $67-$68 per cwt. in mid-March to about $61 in early April.

The May Livestock and Meat Situation

Report noted that yearling feeder steers at Kansas City averaged in the low-$80's during early March but as interest rates increased and fed cattle prices declined in late March and early April, feeder cattle prices declined to the upper-$60's to low-$70's. Such declines are felt by the state's feeder cattle producers who are struggling with inflated production costs.

Total cattle numbers are down and feedlot placements are considerably below a year ago in the cattle feeding states, but consumers are buying lower priced pork and poultry which are in large supply. In April, farmers received the lowest prices for their hogs since June 1974, as record hog slaughter pushed prices below $30 per cwt. Current hog inventories indicate to most forecasters that hog slaughter will continue at record levels through the fourth quarter of this year.

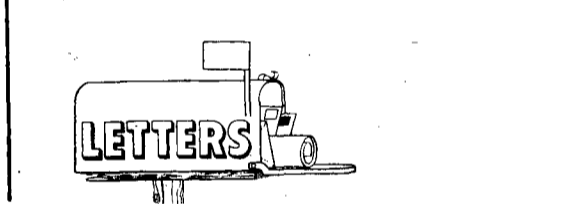

Total feed grain production in the state has risen dramatically with the expansion of irrigation and has been accompanied by a big increase in livestock numbers. At one time a much larger percentage of the state's feeder cattle production ended up in Iowa and Illinois feedlots for finishing. Now record numbers of hogs and cattle are carried to slaughter weights in our own state because of the greater availability of feed grains and crop residue roughage.

In 1967, Nebraska's total cash farm marketings amounted to $1.7 billion of which 67 percent came from livestock receipts. In 1972, the year of the first big grain export sales to Russia, total marketings were $2.8 billion of which 70 percent came from livestock.

It is highly interesting that with big grain exports in the years 1974 to 1976 when wheat and feed grain prices were unusually good, the livestock portion of the total marketings dropped to 54 percent in 1974, 55 percent in 1975 and 56 percent in 1976. Preliminary figures for 1979 indicate the state's total cash farm marketings at $5.5 billion of which 63 percent came from livestock receipts. That's quite a fluctuation and indicates a return to greater reliance on livestock.

The point to be made is that prescriptions to help the farmer and rancher through government "price fixing" and "price propping" on grains must give consideration to the effect such moves may have on livestock producers and feeders who have all the trouble they can handle right now without adding any more.

Dear Editor:
 This is just another in the continuing series of letters concerning the municipal pool's admission prices. I realize the financial woes the city is now experiencing and let's face it, who isn't having money problems?
 Still, I don't think the tremendous raise in admission prices is fair (60 percent for residents, 133 percent for non residents from last year). The city didn't get its blessed 1 percent city sales tax, which hurt, but the making up of this revenue shouldn't be placed on the kids who can't vote (which includes me) and who are the large majority of pool patrons. We didn't have a vote, but we got stuck with the consequences.

 I also am lucky enough to live in the country which means a higher fee for me than an in-city resident. I can't see why farm residents should pay more — what would Wayne's economy be like without us?
 It's too late to change rates now, but I hope rates don't jump again like this next year. All I know is I won't be going to the pool. I guess I'll do like everyone else my age — go to a beer party — they're cheaper.
 I am withholding my name because I've found that the people who are brave enough to sign their names are looked down upon by the community for expressing an opinion. This is sad, but I know from first hand experience that it's true.

Laurel Takes Two from Winside

A five-run second inning propelled Laurel's Juniors to a 7-1 triumph over Winside, Friday night at the Laurel city ball park. Brian Buss drove in two runs and two more scored on an error of Lon Swanson's grounder in Laurel's big inning. In the second inning, Olsen, Shannon Hopkins, Buss, Paul Guern and Matt Johnson all managed to score.

Winside broke up the shutout in the fourth when Robbie Harmeier scored on Mark Koch's sacrifice. Neither team had a good night at the plate. Winside managed three hits, one each from Rick Bowers, Paul Roberts and Brad Roberts. Joe Olsen and Brian Buss were responsible for Laurel's two hits.

Winside got its leadoff batter on base in four of the seven innings but managed only one run. Eight runners were left stranded for the visitors.

The biggest scoring threat fizzled in the fifth inning. With bases loaded and only one out, a fielder's choice and a strikeout ended Winside's hopes. Runners were also stranded on third base in the second and third innings.

Laurel opened the scoring in the first inning when Winside walked six batters. Joe Olsen scored the lone run. The five run second inning put the hosts in front 6-0. With two hits and four walks, it appeared Laurel was enroute to a win by virtue of the 10-run rule.

A pitching change in the second inning worked to Winside's advantage in the final four innings. Lonnie Carstens held Laurel hitless for the remainder of the game.

All-state catcher Shannon Hopkins scored the final run of the game by virtue of two errors and a sacrifice by Buss.

Paul Guern started the game for Laurel and earned the victory. Lon Swanson pitched the final two innings in relief and struckout six of the eight batters he faced.

Laurel Midgets Roll

Paul Martin fired a no-hit shutout and Jamie Johnson scored four runs as Laurel dumped Winside 10-0, Friday night at Laurel's city ball park.

Martin allowed only two Winside runners to reach base in the game.

The hosts had three tallies in the first inning as Jamie Johnson, Brian Marquardt and Ron Hirschman scored. Four more runs in the second inning pretty well put the game out of reach. Johnson, Brian and Dave Marquardt, Hirschman and Randy Martinson did the damage in the second.

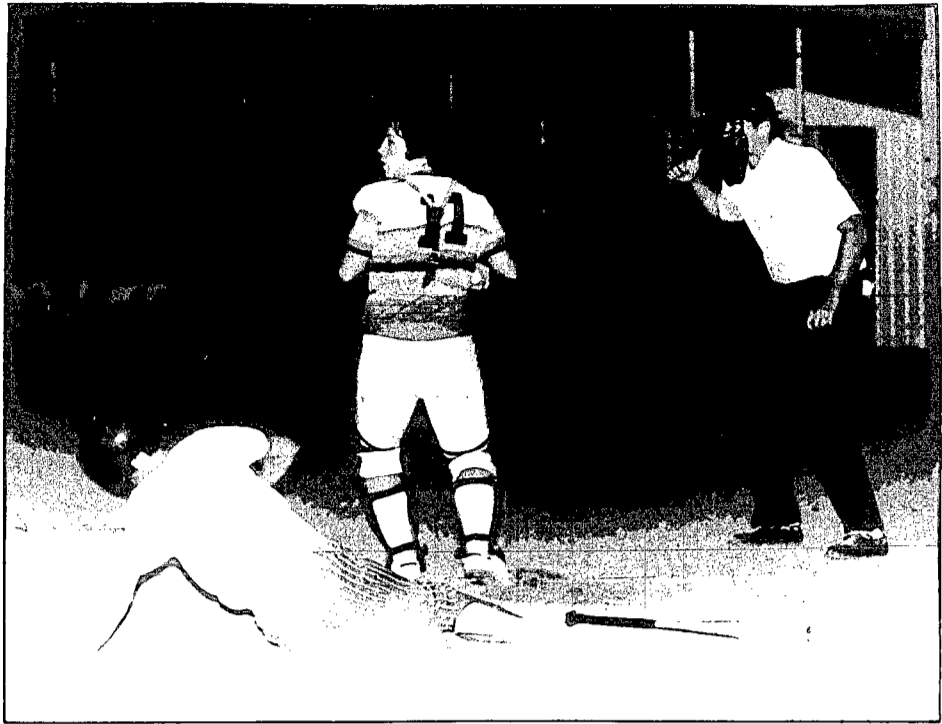

Johnson scored another run in the third and one in the fifth to put the game away because of the 10-run rule.

Brian Marquardt was Laurel's leading hitter with a pair of singles. Dave Marquardt, Hirschman, Martin and Anh Nguyen each added one hit.

SHANNON HOPKINS, Laurel's All State catcher, steps on home plate to force out Winside's Rick Bowers in Friday's Legion game. Winside had bases loaded with one out but failed to take advantage of the opportunity. Umpire Nick Danze gives the out signal as Hopkins keeps an eye on the other runners.

Four Player Softball Team to Play in Wayne

"Softball Fever" is in the air and will soon be invading the community of Wayne.

Not the same softball fever that has possessed so many active people in recent years, but a zany, four player softball team that has accepted a challenge to play a group of local stars.

"Softball Fever", has scheduled a game Sunday, July 13 against a group of all-stars from the Wayne Men's Slow Pitch Softball League. The fast pitch game will be played at 7:30 p.m. at the Wayne city ball park.

Team captain Gary West played shortstop with Eddie Feigner's famous "The King and His Court" for 10 years before starting his own group.

The softball exhibition will include pitching behind the back, between the legs, from second base and from center field from Bob Edgar, West, Edgar and two other players will share the shortstop, first base and catching duties. One of the players is a girl.

The group bills itself as a cross between "The King and His Court" and the "Harlem Globetrotters".

Advance tickets will sell for $1.50 for adults and $1 for persons age 12 and up. Persons under 12 years of age will be admitted free of charge.

Wayne Tennis Lessons Open

An instructional tennis program, sponsored by the Wayne City Parks and Recreation Department will begin in July. More information on the program and pre-registration will be published in the next two editions of The Wayne Herald.

Spring All-Area Squads Announced

The second annual Wayne Herald All-Area Spring Sports team is finally announced. Athletes from Wayne, Allen, Laurel, Wakefield and Winside are represented on the spring list which includes a five school area.

An experimental point system to decide members of the All-Area track team was caused some of the delay in selections. Individuals were given points for placing in invitationals and for best times and distances in their events. The drawn out method invoiced reevaluation of results compiled by The Wayne Herald.

The baseball team is composed of athletes according to their season statistics. Most of the players are All Conference selections and some were named All State players. Only one individual was chosen in golf, since Wayne was the only school to field a team this past season.

An Explosive Evening

Wayne Hammers Both Opponents

Wayne's Legion played its own version of musical chairs as four pitchers teamed up to throw a two-hitter in an 11-1 win over Pender-Bancroft Friday night at the Wayne city ball park.

Herman Carroll started and pitched 2 1/2 innings before giving way to Tim Pfeiffer, who got the final two outs of the inning. Jeff Zeiss opened the fourth inning and earned two outs. Pfeiffer re-entered to retire the final batter. Zeiss re-entered in the fifth inning and retired the first three batters, aiding his cause by turning a double play. Kevin Nissen completed the game by retiring three of four batters in the sixth.

Offensively, the hosts were sharp, scattering 14 hits to win by the 10-run rule. Zeiss and Pfeiffer each had three-for-three performances at the plate to pace Wayne.

A three-run first inning gave the winners early security. Zeiss, Pfeiffer and Nissen all scored in the opening inning. Jeff Dion had a run scoring single and Carroll had a sacrifice. Pender scored one run in the second but Bruce Schafer came back to score in the bottom of the inning and give Wayne a 4-1 advantage.

The winners struck again in the fourth inning with four runs. Zeiss and Pfeiffer drove in three runs. Schafer added a sacrifice bunt. Steve Sorensen, Todd Heier, Jere Morris and Zeiss crossed the plate to push Wayne in front 8-1.

Todd Skokan drove in Dan Mitchell in the fifth inning for a 9-1 advantage. Perry Nelson and Doug Proett scored in the sixth to end the game on the 10-run rule. Proett and Mitchell had RBI singles.

Midgets 17, Walthill 3

Wayne's Midgets got plenty of base running practice as they demolished Walthill 17-3 Friday night at the Wayne city ball park.

Because Pender no longer has a Midget team, Wayne coach Hank Overin scheduled Walthill in the first half of Friday's doubleheader.

The locals slashed 10 hits in the 4 1/2 inning contest that was called by the 10-run rule. Jeff McCright had three hits and Todd Pfeiffer, Jeff Allen and Todd Schwartz collected two hits each.

Pfeiffer, Jim Sperry, Allen, McCright, Schwartz and Steve Overin accounted for six first inning runs. Ten more runs in the second inning put the game well out of reach.

Allen, Lindsay and McCright scored two runs apiece in the second. Pfeiffer, Schwartz, Overin and Jeff Moore added the other runs. McCright scored his fourth run of the ball game in the fourth inning for the final count of 17-3.

Winning pitcher Sperry teamed up with Schwartz to hold Walthill to three hits. RBI leaders for the winners were Pfeiffer with four, McCright with five and Schwartz with three.

Winside Gals Compete

The Winside girls' softball teams got one win when they opened Ralph Bishop League play this past week. In the 18 years and under division, Winside blasted Pender 19-8.

Kelly Leighton was the winning pitcher. Leading hitters were Meyer and Jensen with three hits each. Pender won the 15 and under game 16-0 and the 13 and under game 13-2. Schlueter suffered the loss in the 15 and under game and Warnemunde was tagged for the loss in the 13 and under game.

In other action, Winside lost to Osmond 15-14 and to Carroll 12-7 in 18 and under play. Carroll also won the 15 and under game by a score of 7-5.

Leighton and Jensen collected three hits apiece against Osmond but Laurie Gallop suffered the loss on the mound. Against Carroll, losing pitcher Leighton had three hits. Carroll was paced by Schmale and Eddie with two hits each. Shelly Davis was the winning pitcher.

In the 15 and under game, Carroll's Pam Monk made three hits. Schlueter, the losing pitcher, collected two hits for Winside. Oberhelman was the winning pitcher.

Recreation Baseball, Softball

Wayne's Little League and Pony League teams had a successful week of baseball, sweeping Emerson on Tuesday and Laurel on Thursday.

The local Little League's defeated Emerson 12-2 and Laurel 16-2. The Pony League dropped Emerson 8-2 and 17-0.

Wayne 12, Emerson 2

Rod Gilliland collected two base hits and scored three runs to lead Wayne's Little League to a 12-2 win over Emerson, Tuesday afternoon at the Wayne city ball park.

The game was called in the fifth inning because of the 10 run rule.

Jorgensen cracked doubles and Shannon Dorcay, Tom Perry and Pick singled to lead the first inning attack.

One run in the second and seven more in the third put the game out of reach. A two run single by Dan Gross and a two run double by Casey Nichols were the key hits in the third inning.

Lindsay and Haisch scored Laurel's two runs in the fourth inning. Blachford singled in that inning to break up the no hitter.

Wayne Ponies 17, Laurel 0

Steve Overin fired a no hit shutout and Wayne's bats did the talking as the Ponies defeated Laurel 17-0, Thursday.

Overin was also the game's leading hitter, pounding a triple and two singles in three at bats to drive in three runs. Randy Gamble added two hits and two runs and Smith had two singles and two RBIs.

Other players who scored or collected hits: Meteer, Warne, Moore, Metena, Leseberg, Metena, McCright, Dorcay, Sherrer, Longe, Dorcay, Maly, Peterson, Wieseler.

The Wayne girls' Recreation softball teams opened their season in mid June and have competed in Ralph Bishop League action the past two Wednesdays.

Wayne 10, Carroll 0

Karen Longe fired a one-hit shutout and Wayne collected eight hits to win its season opener. Carroll's only hit was made by the team's first batter, Schluns.

Longe allowed only two other batters to reach base, one on an error and one on a fielder's choice. To aid her cause, Longe smacked two home runs.

Lisa Jacobsen was the team's second leading hitter, going two for two at the plate and scoring two runs. Tammie Murray, Paula Koplin, Sonia Smith and Jonie Baier collected the other base hits for the winners.

WAYNE'S GIRLS softball teams opened their season last week against Laurel and Carroll. Here Tiffany Wilke scores a run as an unidentified Laurel catcher watches the action. Results of the girls games will be published weekly in The Wayne Herald.

The bride's attendants wore long, mint green princess style frocks designed with spaghetti straps and sheer illusion jackets trimmed with daisy lace. They carried yellow and white daisy rings.

The feast in the wedding party were attired in forest green tuxedos.

Candlelighters were Amy Jackson of Kansas City and Bob Erwin of Sioux City. Stephanie Erwin of Sioux City was flower girl, and Jay Jackson of Allen

A Day in the Life of an Area Scout

After considerable instruction and lots of experimentation, the final product looked as good as it smelled

Add a pinch of Bubblicious, a heap of Superstars, and a bit of Ladybugs. Mix well and you have three Scout units having a cool morning cookout.

Some 40 area Brownies and Girl Scouts from Wayne and Winside gathered last week at the Girl Scout Cabin in the city baseball park for the annual Brownie Day Camp.

The Scouts broke into three units (aptly named above) and spent the week learning outdoor cooking skills, how to build fires and participating in water fights, a field trip to Sievers' Hatchery and an overnight stay in the park for the third grade Brownies.

Troop leaders and volunteer mothers provided the needed instruction and supervision during the week.

Boyfriends, beware. These gals really know how to get things cooking!

Wendy Korth gives a big smile as she prepares to dig into her foilburger. At left is unit leader Jean Peters.

Lunch can't be had until the coals are good and hot. Shontell Spangler surveys the pit right before the foilburgers go on the fire.

The scholarships may be applied to agricultural curriculums of University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Northeast Technical Community College or University of Nebraska-Curtis.

Bruce Grant of Meadow Grove, recipient of Lower Elkhorn NRD scholarship will attend Northeast Technical Community College.

TREE PLANTING IN NEBRASKA

Tree planting in the NRD and the state has been completed for 1980. The Clarke-McNary program continues to increase in size and quality. In 1980, more than 3.7 million seedlings were shipped to about 5,000 landowners across the state. This is an increase of 300,000 over 1979 and the trees were in excellent condition.

Natural Resources Districts across the state provide machine planting service to landowners as well as weed control spraying. Within the Lower Elkhorn NRD, landowners maintained their 1979 rate of around 120,000 trees. The seedlings are planted primarily for windbreaks, but can also be obtained for wildlife habitat and general forestry purposes.

Landowners who ordered too late this year, should apply for trees by early November, 1980.
