ONE-HUNDRED FOURTH YEAR NUMBER NINETY-ONE

Livestock Bonus Guides Told by Committee

With the 1980 Wayne County Fair just weeks away, interest is being given to the annual 4-H Livestock Bonus Auction Aug. 10.

Bill Dickey and Galen Wisner, co-chairmen of the Livestock Bonus Auction Committee, have announced guidelines for this year's auction.

"WE ALL KNOW that livestock is the largest and most important industry in Wayne County. So anything businessmen can do to promote livestock in Wayne County can be of benefit for all. A 4-H Livestock Bonus sale can help promote this vital industry," they said.

The ground rules are as follows:
The sale will be held at the Livestock Show Arena at the County Fairgrounds at 4 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 10.

EACH 4-H'ER who exhibits livestock at the County Fair is entitled to auction one pen of three beef, or one market beef, or one market hog or one market sheep.

A businessman may bid a bonus on any animal going through the auction. Last year, bids on single beeves averaged $93.67. Pens of Three beef bids averaged $110; hogs $71.83 and lambs $72.50.

The bonus bid will be the amount the 4-H'er receives. The 4-H'er retains ownership of the animal and will pick up the bonus check on a business day following the fair.

A POOL HAS been established that will be pro-rated among breeding swine, beef, dairy and dairy goat exhibitors who do not have a market animal going through the ring. The contribution to this pool is a minimum of $10. This will be a special bonus to these 4-H'ers, but they will not take their animal through the auction. Businessmen may give this pool money to the person who contacts them.

THE BID on Pens of Three beef will be for the entire pen and not multiplied by three. For example, the bid is $70 on a pen of three. That will be the total paid for the entire pen.

Members of the Livestock Sale Committee include the following:

Amber Waves of Grain

WHEAT IS NOT ONE OF the more prevalent crops in Northeast Nebraska, but Allen Splitfgerber of rural Wayne has 30 acres to his claim. Despite a dry and virtually snowless winter, Splitfgerber says this year's harvest is one of the best in recent memory. His son, Darin, 14, and helper, Tim Heier, 14, labored Thursday to combine the wheat which figured out at 11 percent moisture and 60 pounds to the acre. Splitfgerber said the harvest brought well more than 40 bushels per acre. Describing wheat as a hit and miss crop, Splitfgerber said he expects to get a good crop about once every eight years. The nearest market for wheat is Schuyler where he was to haul his reaping last week. A farmer who uses manure rather than chemicals for fertilizer, Splitfgerber said he was "tired of going to town and hearing people say there wasn't any wheat around here."

Chamber Endorses Plan For Energy Efficiency

Infra-Red Scan, Energy Alert Set

In action taken at last week's Chamber of Commerce board of directors' meeting, approval was given to an energy audit program through the Nebraska Department of Energy.

The program is the same one given approval by the City Council at its regular meeting earlier this month.

DEAN METZ, assistant professor of physics at Wayne State College, will head up the project designed to encourage energy conservation in Wayne homes and businesses, reports Chamber Manager Gary Van Meter.

The program is a two-part project. One phase will use an infra-red scan of the city, with the second phase involving an energy alert program.

Metz has proposed a new approach to using the scan by taking before and after aerial pictures of the city during the winter months to determine the effectiveness of insulating techniques.

RESIDENTS would be able to see their homes and businessmen their buildings in the first photograph. With the help of a qualified interpreter residents would determine what insulating would best serve their needs. The second infra-red scan would show the results of insulating.

The second phase of the program would involve the energy alert program. If successful, it would significantly decrease power use during peak demand periods in Wayne. When peak demand in the community reaches a predetermined point, information would be relayed to the local radio stations.

THE STATIONS would in turn broadcast pre-recorded "Energy Alert" messages every 15 minutes. The messages warn of approaching peak demand and request consumers to voluntarily curtail use of electrical appliances until peak time has passed. This program has been implemented successfully in Beatrice.

The Chamber will be responsible for coordinating the project through direction of Metz.

In other business Wednesday, the board was introduced to Adrie Nab, WSC's new college relations director. He was appointed by WSC President Lyle Seymour to the post of College Liaison to the Chamber, filling the vacated post held by former director Rick Pomerville.

Wayne Honored For Its Safety

The American Automobile Association has honored the State of Nebraska and 20 of its cities in its 41st annual pedestrian safety inventory program.

FIFTEEN Nebraska cities earned pedestrian safety citations for recording no pedestrian fatalities during 1979.

The Cornhusker Motor Club said Wayne, Fairbury, and York qualified for Achievement Awards for their prevention of pedestrian fatalities during the past decade.

NEBRASKA recorded the lowest pedestrian traffic death rate — 1.2 per 100,000 people — of any of the 26 states that provide information for last year.

Judge Enjoins Region IV

At least for the present, the Region IV Children's Developmental Center (CDC) will remain open on alternate weekends, contrary to a February board of directors decision.

DISTRICT Judge Richard P. Garden of Norfolk Wednesday issued a temporary restraining order preventing defendant Region IV Office of Developmental Disabilities from ending or altering educational or residential services to clients in its

CDC. The injunction request also prevents Region IV services from being different in any manner from the services provided to CDC clients prior to July 1.

The injunction was sought by Howard and Sandra Ernst, Columbus, on behalf of their daughter, Ellen Catherine, 15, a client of Region IV. David Domina of Norfolk is attorney for the plaintiffs.

THE BOARD of directors Feb. 28 voted to change the children's residential program from an alternating five day/seven day program to a five day set up effective with the first of this month. Prior to July 1, the residence was closed one weekend with children going home, and was open the next weekend with children remaining in Wayne.

The decision to end this type of program was based on economics, board minutes indicate, with an estimated annual savings of $16,500.

The restraining order requires the defendant to provide residential care for Ellen on alternating weekends beginning this past weekend (July 19 and 20).

Bigger Barbecue Planned

Been wondering about the Wayne County Fair barbecue?

Fair officials say the annual event is planned for 6 p.m. Aug. 8. Some 2,000 pounds for one ton of beef and pork will be served to all fair goers.

CHAIRMAN of the event are making many of the necessary preparations and it is hoped area residents will continue their support and cooperation involving the event. It takes many willing workers to make the serving go quickly and smoothly, officials said. Persons wishing to make donations should mail them to Wayne County Fair and Agricultural Society, Marilyn Koch, 914 Nebraska St., Wayne, 68787, or leave it at The State National Bank, David Ley, treasurer.

DONATIONS are asked as soon as possible so they can be listed in The Wayne Herald the first time. Those donating are asked to specify how they wish to be listed. The fair will open Aug. 7 and close Aug. 10.

ACCORDING to the suit, Ellen is "developmentally disabled and multi-handicapped, requiring an educational program which includes residential care and training." In addition, the suit alleges that closing the CDC on alternate weekends will cause her "grave, permanent damage and her (Ellen's) educational program will be irreparably injured."

Closing of the CDC on weekends, the suit contends, "is inconsistent with the individual program plan of Ellen as approved by the Nebraska Department of Education, and threatens to deprive her of her rights to training and education which includes residential care."

ACCORDING to the suit, the Department of Education has approved and implemented an individual program plan for training and education which does, in fact, include residential care on a full-time basis except for alternating weekends.

Also, plaintiffs Howard and Sandra Ernst maintain that the board of directors' decision to close the CDC was taken without the advice, approval or consent of the majority of the directors and is therefore void.

With six of 20 county representatives abstaining at the February meeting, the board approved by a 5-4 vote the CDC closing. According to board member Merlin Belermann — who also is chairman of the Wayne County Commissioners — the vote came after Gov. Charles Thone urged governmental agencies to cut back expenditures wherever possible.

IT COSTS Region IV $700 in staff time alone to keep the center open on weekends, not including food, utilities or rent.

Prior to issuing the restraining order against Region IV, Judge Gardner met in chambers with the Ernsts and attorney Domina, and with staff members and administrators of Region IV, along with their legal representative Bob Enz of Wayne.

Another hearing is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, July 30, at which time the restraining order will be reexamined.

Crops Begin Showing Stress; Little Relief in the Forecast

Chances were only 1 in 5 over the weekend that rain would bring relief and comfort to the area which is experiencing one of the worst heat spells in memory.

SPARSE rain showers around the area Thursday night provided few if any benefits. Estimates in Wayne were about 15 hundredths of an inch, while south of town about seven miles rain only settled the dust. East of town, reports were somewhat better with up to one-half inch recorded.

But County Ag Agent Don Spitze says dryland crops in the county are beginning to show serious signs of stress.

"Crops are suffering a great deal from a lack of moisture," the local ag expert explained. "It's becoming particularly critical in the corn that is tasseling. Corn that was planted early is just tasseling and may not produce ears due to the moisture stress," he said.

SOYBEANS are in somewhat better condition, however. The critical stage for beans is not until the blooming stage, and only a few acres around the county are showing blooms, he noted.

Beans need moisture when they are two-thirds into the blooming stage. A few farmers have reported blooming, but most is a few weeks away.

"Pasture is getting into pretty poor condition, too," he said. "There are a lot of brown spots showing up."

THE HEAT also continues to take its toll on livestock. Although there have not been any reports of livestock deaths due to the heat, Spitze said the rate of gain is being affected by the scorching temperatures.

But a bright spot in the grain picture involves insects.

His office has received several calls on grasshoppers, but most of the damaging insects are small and are confined to gardens. Other insect problems have been less than normal.

Sukup's Claim $1,000

THE GRAND Give-A-Way of $1,000 in bonus bucks had its second consecutive winner Thursday night as Connie Sukup was in town when her husband's (Dan) name was drawn. State National Bank Vice President Bob Jordan drew the name from among subscribers to The Wayne Herald and persons who receive The Marketer each week. Mrs. Sukup was in Pamida, Inc., when her husband's name was chosen. Under the rules, either spouse is eligible to win as long as one of the other or both is in a participating store when the name is called. Pictured from left are Pamida Manager Ken Soden, Mrs. Sukup and children, Jeff, 15, and Cheryl, 14. The next giveaway drawing will be at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Another House Fire

INVESTIGATION into a fire Thursday morning at 913 Pearl Street continues, according to Wayne Volunteer Fire Department Chief Dick Korn. Firemen were called to the scene about 6:48 a.m. and the smoldering living room was extinguished shortly after 7. Korn said damage to the contents of the house is estimated at $1,200, but total damage is not yet known. Fire damage was confined to the living room, with smoke, heat and water damage to other parts of the house. Tenant Rick Olson was awakened by the smoke and escaped uninjured with some smoke inhalation reported. The house was owned by Wayne Care Centre. There is no official cause listed as yet.

WSC Music Camp This Week

The 36th annual Wayne State College High School Summer Music Camp will be held through Sunday, with an estimated 300 persons registered.

There will be three bands, two choirs, an orchestra, four swing choirs, four stage bands and a number of elective classes.

In conjunction with the camp, Dominic Spera, nationally known jazz band director, arranger and clinician from Indiana University, will offer a five-day Stage Band Workshop for music directors. He also will conduct a select stage band at camp. Area high school students participating will include the following:

Wayne: Mary Pat Dolata, Dawn Droscher, Randy Fleer, Tom Fletcher, Kara Kugler, Pam Maler, Jill Mosley, Mandy Peterson, Lisa Reemer, Deena Sharer and Nick Steler.

Winside: Michele Brockmoller, Allen: Linda Wood, Laurel: Debbie Gathje and Steve Linn. The week's schedule is as follows: Monday (today), July 21 — faculty-staff recital, 8:15 p.m.;

Tuesday, July 22 — student recital, 8:15 p.m.; Wednesday — free evening; Thursday, Camp Capers, 8:15 p.m.; Friday — honors group concert; Saturday — piano recital 4 p.m., stage band, swing choir ensembles, 6 p.m.; Sunday — Grand Finale Concert, 1 p.m. and 3 p.m., Ramsey Auditorium. There will be an admission.

Police Report

Wayne Police Department reports two accidents recently:

A hit-and-run was reported about 12 noon Wednesday at the Wayne Municipal Swimming Pool. According to the report, a parked car owned by Ernest or Florence Geewe, Wayne, was struck by an unknown vehicle. Damage was reported at about $250.

The other mishap was reported about 1:18 p.m. Thursday in the 100 block of West First Street. Vehicles were driven by Louise E. Larson, 72, Wayne, and Lydia E. Weierheuser, 72, Wayne. Damage to both was considered minor.

News Briefs

Dental Degree to Korn

One Step Forward, Two Steps Backward

Richard L. Leshner, President
Chamber of Commerce of the United States

Ever get the feeling that, no matter what you may do, someone from the government will always be waiting to pounce on you and say: "Gotcha!" This seems especially true in the area of regulation, where, under the guise of protecting the public, the government is constantly forcing the public into a position of heads-I win, tails-you lose. For example:

Hospitals in Baltimore were required by city law to keep hot water coming from the taps in patients' rooms at 110 degrees or more; but federal regulations required them to keep the same water at 110 degrees or less.

One federal agency ordered hospitals to use liners in waste containers to protect hospital workers from contamination; but another agency prohibited the use of liners, calling them a fire hazard.

Operators of a meat-packing plant were told by one federal agency to wash the floor several times for cleanliness; but then they were told by another agency to keep the floors dry so employees would not slip and fall.

OSHA ordered builders to put beepers on construction vehicles; but then they were fined by EPA for making too much noise.

The government ordered children's pajamas treated with a flame retardant; but then the government decided the same retardant causes cancer.

One company invested a small fortune in an internal exhaust system to keep the air in its factory clean enough to meet OSHA standards; but then EPA charged the company's exhaust system was polluting the outside air.

Utility companies were told to convert from coal generation to gas; but then the government told them to convert from gas to coal. Utility bills keep going higher.

These are merely a few of the ways the federal government has been forcing the private sector to spend more than $100 billion a year to comply with regulations, so many of which are both unnecessary and counter-productive. Yet people in Washington still shake their heads in disbelief and wonder, "My heavens, just what is it that is grinding the American economy into the ground, and contributing to the spiraling inflation and unemployment that are steadily eroding the standard of living of every American. We should appoint a task-force to conduct an in-depth study right away."

For a while, many of us looked to President Carter for leadership after he promised in 1978 that one of his Administration's major goals would be to free Americans from the burden of overregulation. But as we have all learned, Mr. Carter made many, many promises, and we would have been wise to have heeded the 253-year-old advice from English poet Alexander Pope who said: "Blessed is he who expects nothing, for he shall never be disappointed."

To dramatize this lack of progress, the U.S. Chamber's July regulatory newsletter, "Washington Watch," has invented "The Carter Administration Regulatory Game," played on a game board and replete with dice, wheel of fortune, and "Joker Deck." The game has a "Start" square, labeled "Promise Regulatory Reform," but no "Finish" square, and programmed steps call for more retreats than forward progress by players.

For example:

- Issue Executive order for Regulatory Reform — Advance 4 Spaces.
- Announce 12 percent-15 percent increase in Regulatory Budgets — Go Back 7 Spaces.
- Claim Reduction in Paperwork Requirements — Advance 4 Spaces.
- SBA Says Paperwork Costs Small Business $12.7 billion — Go Back 5 Spaces.
- Promise to Heed Recommendations of White House Small Business Conference — Advance 3 Spaces.
- Reject Small Business Group's Recommendation for Legislative Veto — Go Back 6 Spaces.
- Forget about promise to consolidate 2,000 Federal Agencies and Programs into 200 Units — Go Back 15 Spaces.

The President's stonewalling on regulatory reform is the latest in a long series of Presidential flip-flops on critical national issues. However, it does adhere to the pattern which can be seen in so many of his Administration's policies — a pattern which might best be described as, "One Step Forward, Two Steps Backward; Heads We Win, Tails You Lose... Gotcha!"

For those who believe we make special considerations in printing names in our Court House News: watch Thursday's Record Page.

Maybe some of you self-proclaimed psychologists can explain this to me:

In the past week, we have had more requests to leave names out of our Court House News than we have for the year I've been here. We've had phone calls at the office, calls at home, written requests and personal requests.

But we tell them all the same. Sorry, we have a policy not to leave anyone's name out of the court news.

There are exceptions to this, of course. For instance, we don't print juveniles' names when the juvenile is charged in juvenile court. We do so only when the juvenile is charged with an adult count in adult court. That was the case recently. In fact, we don't even see the records of juveniles.

We don't print other names until the case has officially been filed by the County Attorney. That means each complaint must be signed by the CA and must have the County Court seal attached before we consider it news.

Many, many times someone is charged with a complaint which subsequently is dismissed for lack of evidence or is reduced in stature. Our policy is to give the defendant the benefit of the doubt — but once the charge has been filed, it's news and there is no way it will be left out of The Wayne Herald.

We have many, many people say: But I know a friend of a friend of a friend of a friend whose son was caught speeding and never had his name printed. We'd like to know about it if this truly is the case.

WRITE A LETTER TO THE EDITOR

OUT OF OLD NEBRASKA

by the
Nebraska State Historical Society

Mother Nature seems to be teasing us a bit. The skies darken, but only a trickle of rain. Just enough to tickle our taste buds, but not enough to do much good. It seems a bit cruel.

Commodity markets always fascinate me. Here we are in one of the hottest and driest summers on record. Prospects for a good crop are dim, yet grain prices are climbing. With the threat of rain — rain which is badly needed for a successful crop — the markets fall.

There seems to be a lack of incentive here. If Mr. Farmer works his fanny off in the spring and weather conditions are just right, the markets are down and he's lucky to break even.

If Mr. Farmer works his fanny off in the spring and it's too dry, there isn't much of a crop, but prices are high. Isn't there something wrong somewhere?

Personally, we've tried every trick in the book to get it to rain. You know, like wash the car when it's cloudy. Leave the windows rolled down at night. Leave the clothes on the line all night. Water the lawn.

We were responsible for bringing a near-perfect summer with us last June when we arrived. Rain came at the proper moments and it never reached 100 degrees. We let a little hail slip in and do some damage, but we all make mistakes.

Fall was nearly ideal for harvesting, although we did have a little early snow to stir up a few problems.

Winter was mild, and early spring was moist. But something went wrong somewhere. Our influence with the weather has dried up.

Guess I'll just keep leaving my windows down at night.

My vote would have gone for a Reagan-Ford ticket at the GOP Convention. But so much for my influence.

I thoroughly enjoyed watching the national news commentators make donkeys of themselves in predicting Ford would be chosen. Wasn't it the Chicago Tribune that had banner headlines of Reagan and Ford?

The public generally gives the national media low marks in respectability. I tend to agree. The Ford for vice president miscue was a prime example.

The commentators were so eager to scoop one another, they seemed to lose sight of reality. Every congressman and his aide was predicting Ford would be chosen, yet none of them really knew.

The media did an excellent job of keeping us informed, but tended to step outside their responsibilities when they tried to shape the news with leading questions. For days ahead of Reagan's announcement on George Bush, the media literally hounded poor Ronnie and his aides and his family and probably his thunderer on who would be vice president.

I truly believe the media abuses its power sometimes.

George Bush and Ronald Reagan will make a powerful team next fall, but my how we longed for a Reagan-Ford ticket. Former Governor Reagan has me concerned on several matters. That is copy for future comments.

I missed Reagan's moving speech Thursday night. From what the speech experts said and from what I've heard around town, it was a touching and motivating talk.

Keeping foremost in mind that Reagan is a politician seeking the Presidency, I found in reading his comments that he was very serious about returning this nation to the best in the world.

If only he could do that.

SCHOOL DISCIPLINE, FURNAS COUNTY, 1870'S

Discipline in school has changed considerably in the last century — for the better in some areas, though some areas continue to be troubled by delinquent pupils. Edwin R. Keyes, a pupil in the 1870's, related an example of "keeping order" in a Furnas County rural school for a research project some years ago. His manuscript is on file at the Nebraska State Historical Society:

"In the year 1874 my father (S.K. Keyes), organized School District No. 21, which consisted of all the precinct north of the Republican River.

"The first school was held in a log and dugout building one-half mile east of Cambridge. Minnie Finch was the first teacher. I did not attend that school. The first school in Cambridge was in the Hi Doing log house, and we sat on hewed logs without any backs, and without any desk. Alice Tompkins was the teacher.

"The next school was in a log and dugout building on the Minnick farm north of Cambridge, and I would say it was about a mile from Cambridge. Mary McLease was the next teacher. She was red-headed. We had two terms in that log house, and then they build a sod school house 80 rods west of that, and my aunt, Miss Mattie Edom, taught that school for, I think, three terms.

"Then they hired a man by the name of J.F. Birdsell. He was quite a large man, but the big boys ran him out. I.A. Hanning arrived here, and so they hired him to take the school. My father drew up the contract, and in this contract was a clause that if he did not keep order he was not to get any pay. Mr. Hanning looked at my father and asked, 'Will the board stay with me?' 'Yes, sir' my father said. Mr. Hanning said, 'All right, I will sign the contract,' which he did.

"Things went along very peaceably for a couple of weeks, then he had to punish two boys by the name of Jones. There were two brothers of them, about 18 and 19 years old. Quite husky lads. The teacher told one of them to come forward, and in about as impudent and sassy a manner as he could say it he said, 'I don't have to.'

"Then Mr. Hanning started right down after him. The boy called... (his) brother to come on, but before he could get there Mr. Hanning had grabbed the first boy and flung him to the floor. Then he grabbed the other boy and flung him on top of the first one, and flumped on them until they hollered 'Enough!' The second boy was ready to go back to his seat and stay there.

"The teacher then used a rawhide whip on the one he had started to punish. He told my father that he hated to punish a child but he had to do. The boys stayed out of school for a few days, but finally they came back. The father objected at first and threatened to shoot Hanning on sight, but he finally said it was the best thing that ever happened to the boys. Mr. Hanning was one of the best teachers that I ever went to. I think he taught up to '83." Sherill Daniels Nebraska State Historical Society

Vows Exchanged

OWEN PRESTON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jason Preston of Wayne, and Randy Davis, son of Sharon Davis of Crofton, were married June 28 at the United Methodist Church in Wayne. The newlyweds are at home in Wayne. Both are graduates of Wayne-Carroll High School. The bride is employed at Feeder's Elevator in Wayne and the bridegroom farms for Alvin Sundell of Wakefield.

WINNERS OF AN "Alcoholism Impact" poster contest sponsored last spring by 4-H Junior Leaders in Wayne County are, kneeling from left, Steven Luff (second place, junior division), Matthew Wilke (first place, junior division), Susy Luff (second place, senior division), and Judith Mohlfeld (first place, senior division). Winners were announced last week and received $5 for first place and $2 for second place. The contest was for all youngsters in rural Wayne County schools to emphasize the prevention, symptoms and treatment of alcoholism. Members of the alcoholism impact team from Wayne County, who sponsored the contest are, back row from left, Sherri Marotz, Turena Walde, Cynthia Walde, Marcia Rethwisch and Shaun Niemann.

Four-H's Speaking Out on Alcohol

Thanks to a group of 4-H'ers in Wayne County, young persons in the area are being made aware of the effects of alcoholism, its prevention, symptoms and treatment.

For the past two years, 4-H Junior Leaders in northeast Nebraska have selected an alcoholism impact program to educate persons of the disease. Title of this year's program is "Reflections in a Glass."

Members of the alcoholism impact team in Wayne County are Marcia Rethwisch, Sherri Marotz, Turena Walde, Cynthia Walde and Shaun Niemann. Adult advisors are Mrs. Stanley Walde and Mrs. Herbert Niemann.

Members of the group are available to speak about their program to area clubs and organizations, particularly young persons.

During the past year, members of the impact team have spoken in several rural schools and to extensions clubs and 4-H groups. In addition, they sponsored a display at the Kiwanis pancake feed held in Wayne last March and plan another display during a Wayne-Dixon County Community Health Fair at the Wayne city auditorium on Sept. 19.

Last spring the impact team sponsored a poster contest for rural Wayne County school students to emphasize the excessive use of alcohol among school age children.

Nineteen poster entries were received and winners were divided into a senior and junior division.

First place winner in the junior division (K-4th grades) was nine-year old Matthew Wilke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Wilke. Matthew will be a fourth grade student this fall at School District 57. Second place winner in the junior division was 11-year old Steven Luff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Denny Luff. Steven also is a student in District 57 and will be a sixth grader in the fall.

In the senior division (5-8 grades), the winner was 14-year old Judith Mohlfeld. Judith, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Mohlfeld, was an eighth grader last year at District 5 and will be a freshman in the fall. Placing second in the senior division was Susy Luff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denny Luff. Susy, who is nine years old, will be a fifth grader at School District 57.

First place winners in the contest received $5 and second place winners were awarded $2.

HOW TO HELP FAMILY LIVE LONGER, HEALTHIER

Want to help your family live longer and healthier?

You can, if you understand that both you and your family have the responsibility for your own health.

It comes down to this, says the Health Insurance Institute:

Most of us are born healthy and often become sick as a result of personal behavior and environmental conditions. It's our lifestyle — basically our failure to exercise enough, eat properly, take care of ourselves intelligently — that is the cause of many health problems.

Yet, there are some basic habits that can turn the odds of good health in your favor, such as proper diet, exercise and common sense, the Institute points out.

Let's take exercise. You can manage this conveniently by making time — on a regular basis — for brisk walks, swimming, jumping rope, bicycling, or calisthenics.

You can even find ways to exercise in your daily routine. For instance:

- Take the stairs, when appropriate, instead of the elevator.
- If you can live or work in a high rise, walk a few flights of stairs before taking the elevator.
- Park your car a couple of blocks from your destination.
- Wash your car. Work in your garden.

To improve your diet, nutritionists suggest that when you snack, munch fresh fruits and vegetables.

To cut the risk of logging your arteries, reduce fats in your diet. That means substituting lean meats, chicken, fish and skimmed milk for fatty meats or whole-milk products.

Cut down on your consumption of sugar and salt. No matter how little you think you consume, the experts tell us it is probably more than necessary.

And "common sense" habits should include these:

- Accommodate yourself to life's challenges.
- Avoid prolonged stress.
- Develop outside interests.
- Eat and drink sparingly, with enjoyment.
- Continue to work later in life, either at part time or volunteer outside activities.

Tenants Meet During Week

The Rev. Bernie Cowgill of the Wesleyan Church in Wayne was at Villa Wayne Wednesday morning to conduct the weekly Bible study.

Eleven residents of the Villa attended the Bible study taken from 2 Peter, chapters two and three.

There were 14 members and four guests at the weekly meeting Tuesday afternoon. Cards furnished the entertainment and the July committee served the no-host luncheon.

Wayne Senior Citizens Center Marks Its 11th Year

Gary Van Meter, executive director of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, spoke at the Senior Citizens Center Thursday afternoon following a luncheon marking the 11th anniversary of the local center. Van Meter explained what the Chamber of Commerce is and how it serves the community.

The Chamber executive distributed brochures explaining areas served by the Chamber of Commerce, including agri-business, conventions, hospitality and tourism, legislative affairs, medical affairs, retail-business, and promotion of the college and city.

"The Chamber of Commerce does more than throw turkeys off the roof at Thanksgiving," laughed Van Meter. "Everyone should ask what can be done to help change this community and what they can do to make Wayne a better place to live," he added.

The anniversary luncheon, which was sponsored by the Northeast Nebraska Area Agency on Aging and prepared by Providence Medical Center, also included recognition of individuals and organizations who have volunteered their services during the 11 years that the Senior Citizens Center has been in Wayne.

Business and organizations receiving certificates of service from Mrs. Joceli Bull, center director, were the City of Wayne, the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, Wayne Cablevision, Wayne Community Chest, Wayne Greenhouse, Wayne State College, Wayne Radio KTCH, Wayne Herald, First National and State National Banks, Northeast Nebraska Area Agency on Aging, Providence Medical Center, Nebraska Commission on Aging, Goldenrod Hills Community Action Agency Inc. and Wayne Public Library.

Several individuals also received certificates, including Tama Krause, dietician, Mary Nichols, R.N., Gene Levine, hearing aid specialist, Beverly Schrieber, paint instructor, Joy Heim, bridge instructor, and Mary Tiegs, Wayne State College practicum student.

Volunteer meal deliverers receiving certificates included Marilyn Carhart, Doris Walker, Arlen Peterson, Emma Haase, Carol Wiltse, Marilyn Anderson, Marie Lansing, Dale and Wilma Gutshall and Fran Poehman.

Certificates also were presented to local ministers who conduct Bible studies and sermons at the center and to the center's oldest living member, 102 year old Maude Auker, a resident of Wayne Care Center.

Also recognized were volunteers who are members of the Senior Citizens Center.

Mayor Wayne Marsh presented a certificate to Mrs. Bull, who has been director of the center since it was organized on July 1, 1969.

Approximately 120 persons toured the center during open house held throughout the afternoon and evening. Winner of the free door prize, a lawn chair, was Mrs. Irv Jones.

The guests were registered by Edith Sundell, Mabel Sundell, Larry Osnowar and Cordella Chambers.

"Pouring at the refreshment table were Gale Balhke and Lucille Wert. Gladys Petersen was chairman of the kitchen committee, and fresh floral arrangements were provided by Viola Lawrence.

The Senior Citizens Center is located in the basement of Wayne City Hall and is open each week day from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. for persons who want to play cards or pool, work on crafts or visit. The center has a variety of educational and recreational programs and referral services.

Weekly events include a bridge class, a knitting, crochet and tatting class, an Artex painting class, a current event session and bowling during the season.

Monthly events include Bible study, a sermonette and sing a long, library hour, a poultry luncheon and card party. Also conducted monthly are free blood pressure checks and visits from an area hearing aid specialist and social security representative. Services of the Legal Aid Society also are provided once a month.

Mrs. Bull said the center also strives to work with organizations in the community, including the school and college.

A congregational luncheon is served daily at the center for persons who wish to eat there. The meals, which are prepared by Providence Medical Center, also are delivered to homebound elderly persons.

Mrs. Bull said the center has hundreds of pamphlets to let senior citizens know what services are available to them. There also are talking book machines for persons who are hard of seeing.

For elderly persons who live alone, the Senior Citizens Center provides mini bus transportation and a telephone reassurance program.

Mrs. Bull said all area persons 55 years of age or older are invited to join in activities at the Senior Center.

ABOUT 120 PERSONS TOURED the Wayne Senior Citizens Center during open house Thursday afternoon marking the 11th anniversary of the local center. The Northeast Nebraska Area Agency on Aging sponsored a noon recognition luncheon at the center to honor businesses, organizations and individuals who have volunteered their services to the Senior Citizens Center since its organization on July 1, 1969. Luncheon speaker was Gary Van Meter, executive director of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. Winner of a door prize given during the day was Mrs. Irv Jones of Wayne.

VFW Auxiliary Meets at Wayne Vets Club

Seventeen members of the VFW Auxiliary met with president Frances Doring last Monday evening at the Wayne Vet's Club. The group received a letter from department secretary Evelyn Horn concerning the state convention. Letters also were read from resolution committee chairman Dorothy Dendinger, concerning the new resolution for the year, and department president Lenice Franks, who announced that the theme for the year is "A Time for Togetherness With Pride in America."

Mrs. Franks also announced that a council meeting will be held July 26-27 at the Airport Inn in Omaha. The local auxiliary is to take along one dozen cookies for the Omaha Veteran's Hospital.

The local auxiliary received a thank you from Virginia Grimm, volunteer service director at the Norfolk Veteran's Home, thanking the group for the wheelchair covers they received. Other thank you notes were received from the Loyal Lassies 4 H Club for the flag they received and from Cordelia Chambers for remembering her during her hospitalization.

A get well card was sent to Sylvia Beeks, Americanism chairman. Faunel Hoffman read an article, entitled "Let the Shining Stars Shine."

Rehabilitation chairman

Eveline Thompson announced that a bingo party will be held July 30 at 2 p.m. at the Norfolk Veteran's Home. Planning to attend from the local unit are Mabel Johnson, Winnie Thompson, Helen Sietken, Emma Soules, Lottie Longnecker, Eveline Thompson, Lillian Granquist, Neva Lorenzen and Faunel Hoffman.

A report was given by membership chairman Lillian Granquist. Eveline Thompson, cancer aid research chairman, reported that $2 per member for the 1981 cancer quota should be sent to the department as soon as possible.

Verna Mae Baier announced that program books are ready. The trustees report was given by Helen Sietken.

Eveline Thompson, Neva Lorenzen and Helen Sietken reported on the state convention held in June at Norfolk. On the serving committee for the July meeting were Margaret Kay and Lorraine Denklaue. Next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Aug. 11 at the Vet's Club.

Easy Wins Help Boost Wayne Legion's Victory Column

The Wayne Legion baseball team handed South Sioux City a pair of defeats in baseball action Wednesday night at the Wayne city ball park.

First game results tallied Wayne over Sioux City 7-2. Wayne went on to win in the second game by a score of 15-5 after six innings.

A pair of doubles by Wayne's Proett and Fleming in the first game's second inning was enough incentive to spur the reserves on to the win in five innings.

The Juniors put seven runs on the board led off by Fleming's double. Heier and Nelson walked to get on. Nelson's walk brought in Fleming.

Wayne's Proett smacked a double to bring in Heier and McCright and was followed by Morris who reached first on a walk.

Carroll got hold of a pitch and turned it into a strong single scoring Nelson and Proett. Carroll made it around the bases before the side was retired.

South Sioux's Johnson provided one of the runs after hitting a double to get on. Reed brought Johnson in with a single and later scored.

Wayne Junior Carroll was credited with the win while Mogens took the loss for South Sioux City.

Wayne Juniors captured the win in the nightcap also rolling over South Sioux City 15-5. Nissen was the winning pitcher and South Sioux City's Colwell suffered the loss. Their record moves up a notch in the win column at 18-4.

The third and sixth-inning were the strong spots in the Juniors' night as they scored six runs in both the third and sixth inning. A double by Mitchell and singles by Nissen, Sperry and Skokan set up the third inning scores. Sperry's single collected two RBIs for him. Zeiss, Pfeiffer, Nissen, Mitchell, Dion and Sperry got home for the Juniors.

Wayne took control again in the sixth inning with five well-placed singles that kept the bases full. Final tally had Wayne over So. Sioux 15-5.

SOUTH SIOUX City's Reed stretches for the throw at first to get Wayne's Dan Mitchell in a double play South Sioux was too slow for Mitchell as he was safe on first.

Norfolk Legion

Another Victim

The Wayne Legion baseball kept turning the numbers in the win column with a 7-1 victory over Norfolk in Thursday night action at the Wayne city ball park.

Jeff Zeiss took the win with Norfolk's Postal claiming the loss. Single hits were the ones that registered the most often in the Wayne lineup but they provided too much for Norfolk to handle.

Jeff Sperry took to the bases with a walk that started off the Juniors scoring. Singles by Zeiss and Dennis Carroll kept the drive alive as they went on to score for Wayne bringing the inning score to Wayne 3 and Norfolk 0.

Wayne picked up another run in the fifth inning after Mitchell's double brought in Kervin Nissen who had walked to first. The Juniors came up with two more tallies in the sixth inning that put it out of reach for the Norfolk team.

13 and under
Wayne 9, Pender 7: Longe was the winning pitcher and Miller the loser in girl's softball action in Wayne Wednesday night.

Wayne defeated the Pender girls by a score of 9-7.

Longe walloped a grand slam home run in the fourth inning that brought in three other runs which the Pender girls couldn't match.

Longe's scoring came from Higgins, Brehmen, Vogt, Hittle and Miller. Higgins and Brehmen each scored twice for Pender.

15 and under
Pender 14, Wayne 8: The older girls took revenge on the Wayne team as they defeated them 14-8 after five innings.

Pender was the winning pitcher and Nissen the loser from Wayne. A number of singles and several walks passed Wayne's scoring. Jacobsen made it home three-times, Nissen twice, Gross, Stoltenberg and Murray all scored once for Wayne. Jacobsen was Wayne's leading hitter going three for four at the bat.

Pender socked several singles to come up with the victory over Wayne. Leading scorers were Reber and Schroeder with four runs each.

18 and under
Wayne 23, Pender 16: The final game of the night saw Wayne capture a victory over the Pender girls 23-16. Nissen was the winning pitcher and Schroeder the loser in the game.

Wayne was led in hitting by Ginn who smacked a double in the second inning and a triple in the third. Several girls made it home with Surber and Nuss tallying the most runs. Surber got home five times and Surber rounded home plate four times in the outing.

Most of the Pender runs came in the first two innings when Pender put 11 runs on the board. Pender was led in hitting by Schroeder who popped a home run in the first inning and a double in the second. She also scored four times for the night.

Benefit Game Set in Winside

Organizers of a benefit softball game in Winside Aug. 1, 2 and 3 have announced several changes.

The three-day tournament, planned to help raise funds for Dean Krueger and Dennis Delp of Winside, will be held at the Winside Baseball Park. Teams will be made up of five men and five

Juniors Reach Win No. 20

Twenty is considered a nice, round number, and the Wayne Legion baseball team recorded its 20th win Friday night in a match up with Pender's Legion team.

The squad has lost just four contests this year.

The entire game was never in doubt, as Wayne jumped to a 3-0 lead and never relinquished the advantage. The statistic columns verified Wayne's prowess on the field, as the winners collected nine hits while Pender managed only four, two doubles and two singles.

The first and third innings proved to be the downfall to the host Pender team, as Wayne posted three hits the first inning — a triple by Tim Pfeiffer, and singles by Jerry Morris and Dan Mitchell — and two hits in the third — a triple by Todd Heier and a double by Pat McCright.

Other hits for the winners were singles by Dennis Carroll, Pfeiffer, Mitchell and McCright. Pfeiffer's first-inning triple scored Jeff Zeiss and Carroll who each had been walked by Pender's hurler Mundeloh. Mitchell's single next brought in Pfeiffer for the other first-inning run.

In the third, Pfeiffer again reached base on a walk, with women players. KTIV Channel 4 Super Sluggers will play the tournament winner at 4 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 3, rather than at 2 p.m. as planned previously.

The tourney will be followed by a pork barbecue luncheon which is sponsored by the Aid Association for Lutherans. There will not be any prizes given away, and on a free will offering is asked for admission.

Krueger is in Omaha with multiple sclerosis and Delp is in a Sioux City hospital suffering from an aneurysm in his head.

Kervin Nissen getting to first after being hit by a wild pitch, and Morris leading the bases after being walked. It was then that McCright smacked a two-run double and Heier followed with a two-run triple. Heier scored for the inning's final run.

Pender's runs came in the fourth and fifth innings. In the fourth, the long run came after a walk and double. In the fifth, the run was recorded after a runner was safe on an error, and advanced on a pair of fly balls.

Wayne's Carroll was given the win as he was relieved in the seventh by Doug Brandt.

Wayne Little League, Pony Teams Winners

The Wayne Little League and Pony League teams stole a pair of wins over Laurel boys in baseball action at Laurel Thursday morning. Little League beat Laurel 17-3 and the Pony League took the win by a score of 20-3.

Pony League
Wayne 20, Laurel 3: Overin was the winning pitcher and Hanson the loser in the Pony League play.

Koenig's triple in the first inning which brought in three runs got the Ponies off to a fine start against Laurel. Six runs in the second inning and seven runs in the third put the game out of reach for the Laurel Pones. The Wayne Ponies accumulated 14 hits for the day.

Top hitters for Laurel were Halsch with a triple, and singles by Hanson and Daberkow. Hanson, Daberkow and Chase scored for Laurel.

Little League
Wayne, 17, Laurel 3: Little Leaguer Jorgensen belted a home run in the fourth inning of play to seal a Wayne victory over Laurel. Pick took the win for Wayne and Jones was the loser for Laurel.

Top hitters for Wayne were Jorgensen and Fleming with home runs each in the fourth inning. Laurel's top slugger was Halsch who collected a double in the third inning.

Applicants For

Jobs On Decline

At the end of June there were 891 persons registered for employment with the Norfolk Job Service Office, and 209 with the O'Neill Office for a total of 1,100 registered applicants. This compares with 1091 last month and 724 at the close of June 1979. The 1,100 total includes 484 females and 143 veterans but does not include 96 individuals seeking only part time work.

New applications filed during June totaled 395 compared with 516 last month and 463 for June of last year.

Job openings received from employers numbered 239 compared with 227 in May and 482 for June 1979. Nonagricultural placements made by our office during June totaled 215. This compares with 176 last month and 396 during June of last year.

We wish to remind employers that our office still has a sufficient supply of youth eager to accept summer employment.

For all your employment needs be sure to contact Nebraska Job Service at 371-4384, in Norfolk, or 336-3636, in O'Neill.

Exchange Families Needed

Dr. Richard Sherman, director of Foreign Exchange for the Educational Resource Development Trust (ERDT), announced recently that families are being sought throughout Nebraska to host foreign exchange students.

Approximately 100 high school students will be placed throughout the United States. The students, from Argentina, Brazil, and Spain, will be in the United States for one semester or the entire school year.

ERDT, a non-profit organization based in Los Angeles, believes that cross-cultural understanding is the fundamental first step in promoting better friendship and world peace. The foreign exchange student program for high school students is only one of four such programs for ERDT.

SHOPPERS WERE bustling about Thursday evening in the business community of Wayne, hoping their name would be drawn as the $1,000 Grand Give-A-Way winner. The Farmers Market was much improved this week, with several more stands set up for shoppers' convenience. There was produce for sale this week, and Jessica, Rachel and Sarah Cutshall, children of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cutshall of Wayne, helped their mom and dad Thursday.

45 Participate in County In Home Ec Judging Contest

Forty five 4-H'ers participated in the Wayne County home economics judging contest held at Wayne State College on July 11.

All contestants judged classes in home environment, foods and clothing. Twenty four contestants were in the junior division, under age 12; and 21 in the senior division, age 12 and over.

Mrs. Steven Embeier, Laurel, listened to oral reasons given by each 4-H'er on selected questions. She scored contestants on the facts stated to justify their choice of answer their ability to organize and present the facts, and their appearance and pose.

Ribbon placings in the junior division are as follows: Purple: Jodi Broderson, Lori Sorensen, Cindy Berg, Valerie Rahn.

Blue: Kristi Craun, Vini Johar, Maria Sandahl, Shelli Schroeder, Wendy Wriedt, Kodi Nelson, Tracy Prenger, Margo Sandahl, Darin Greunke, Eunice Wacker and Sally Burmester.

Though third-class mail dates back to 1863, it wasn't widely used for mass free paper circulation until bulk third class rates were instituted in 1928.

White: Dean Fuelberth, Heidi Wriedt, Kim Backstrom, June Heydon, and Craig Evans.

White: Terri Gebner and Lisa Janke.

Placings in the senior division were: Purple: Annette Finn, Karen Sandahl, Anne Sorensen, Shelley Emry, Michelle Kubik and Joan Loberg.

Blue: Sherill Burmester, Judy Bauermeister, Ruth Loberg, Valerie Bush, Turena Walde, Marcia Rethwisch, Mayvonne Isom.

Red: Leah Jensen, Jill Tompkins, Lisa Jensen, Jill Clausen, Cynthia Walde, Jassi Johar and Susan Burmester.

White: Dean Fuelberth. Contestants selected for the state 4-H home economics judging contest are:

Home Environment: Anne Sorensen, Wayne Winners Girls Club, Shelley Emry, Gingham Gals, alternate, Valerie Bush, Deer Creek Valley.

Foods: Ruth Loberg, Deer Creek Valley, Michelle Kubik, Hi Raters, alternate, Karen Sandahl, Gingham Gals.

Clothing: Annette Finn and Joan Loberg, Deer Creek Valley, alternate, Karen Sandahl, Gingham Gals.

The state Judging Contest will be held on Monday, Sept. 1 at the Sports Complex, State Fairgrounds.

Grasshopper Control Efforts Planned in 10 Midwest States

Cooperative state and federal efforts to control the rangeland grasshopper are being carried out on 53 million acres in 10 western states, including Nebraska, an official of the U.S. Department of Agriculture said recently.
William Helms, head of pest programs development for USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, said the acreage treated this summer is substantially less than officials had anticipated earlier.
"Even though this year's rangeland grasshopper control effort is the second largest in history program, it is much less than we expected after the massive infestations we experienced in 1979, requiring treatment of 7.2 million in 17 states," Helms said.
Helms said weather conditions this spring inhibited grasshopper development in many areas where massive numbers of eggs were expected to hatch. Some of the factors were a long, cool spring in the western states, a drought on the plains and volcanic dust from Mount St. Helens in Washington.

States with the most serious grasshopper infestations were New Mexico, Nebraska, Texas, Wyoming and Montana, Helms said. Other states requiring treatment were Arizona, Colorado, Idaho (against the Mormon cricket), Oklahoma and Oregon.
Treatments in 1980 began in June on early developing infestations in Arizona, Nebraska, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Wyoming. Control efforts against late developing grasshoppers will be completed by the end of July in New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Wyoming, Montana, Oregon and Colorado.
Cooperative state and federal grasshopper control programs have been in effect since 1934, when landowners and plant protection officials recognized that large-scale infestations of grasshoppers on rangelands were beyond the ability of individual landowners to control by themselves, especially when the insects became migratory. Agreements are in effect with 17 western states, Helms said.
Federal funds support one-third of the treatment costs on non-federal rangelands, with the balance paid by the states and private landowners. Federal funds pay the full cost of treatments on federally owned lands.
Grasshopper control programs are undertaken to suppress the insects while they are still in their immature stage, before they consume large amounts of forage needed by livestock and before they lay eggs that will bring renewed infestations the following year, Helms said. Treatment is by Environmental Protection Agency registered pesticides, which are safe and effective for use in the environment, he said.
