Grand Give-A-Way Fails To Find A Winner Again

The Grand Give-A-Way Thursday night failed for the second straight week to have a winner in town or in one of the participating stores when the name was drawn.

THE NAME OF Rudy Vlasak of Carroll was drawn, but apparently he or his wife was not around when the name was called about 8 p.m. Thursday.

As a result, the Give-A-Way will look for a winner this Thursday at 8 p.m. The rules are easy. There is no purchase necessary in order to win. Persons who are Wayne Herald subscribers or who receive The Marketer automatically are registered to win. Those wishing to become registered should call 375-2600.

THE NAME of the winner will be announced only in the stores that participate in the Give-A-Way. If the person whose name is called or their spouse is in the store at that time, then he or she will receive $1,000 in script money redeemable at any of the participating stores.

There are 55 stores involved. Watch for the complete list in Thursday's Wayne Herald.

Class of '30 Reunion Set

Wayne State College's Golden Anniversary Reunion for the Class of 1930 will be held Friday, Aug. 8, on the WSC campus.

Participants will have the chance to attend summer commencement ceremonies in the Willow Bowl and several other events such as a special reception in the Student Center, a Danish Smorgasbord buffet, bus tours of the campus and the city of Wayne, and an ice cream social in the Willow Bowl. There will also be a social hour for the Class of 1930, and a Class of '30 recognition dinner.

For more information, call the Alumni Office at 375-4411.

Shed Damaged

FIREMEN FROM Wayne and Wakefield answered an alarm about 1:40 p.m. Thursday on the Melvin Brudigam farm southeast of here. The firemen arrived in the nick of time as the brushfire was lapping at the edges of the house. In its wake, the fire damaged a shed and several hundred square feet of grass. Cause of the fire was burning peat bags.

Mr. President, Would You Answer Some Questions Please?

Richard L. Leher, President Chamber of Commerce of the United States. When Treasury Secretary William Miller recently appeared before the House Ways and Means Committee, he opposed any tax reduction this year and even refused to specify what tax proposals his Administration might favor next year.

Congressman Willis Gradison of Ohio was moved to ask Miller why, after four years, the treasury is still incapable of presenting Congress a tax proposal. Miller replied: "It would be like putting red meat in front of hungry dogs and saying, 'Sit.'"

Miller's rather insulting put down illustrates why this Administration has so often not enjoyed political support from a Democratic Congress. But, even more importantly, it proves that the Administration really has no policy to deal with some of the most dangerous economic problems this nation has ever faced. To wit:

— The Gross National Product has just suffered its second worst single-quarter decline since the Great Depression.

— Taxes are rising by the greatest amount in history.

— The purchasing power of the average American family has taken its most precipitous plunge in more than 30 years.

— Indeed, 1980 could go down in the history books as a unique moment when the American economy was hit by triple digit inflation, double digit interest rates, and double digit unemployment. Yet, the Administration keeps insisting that now is not the right time to reduce taxes on the American people. Will there ever be an appropriate time?

For the better part of three and a half years, the Administration opposed reasonable tax rate reductions under the guise of fighting inflation and during that same period the rate of inflation nearly tripled. Now inflation has ebbed, if ever so slightly, so the Administration opposes tax reductions to prevent inflation from heading back up. Heads they win; tails we lose.

The Administration has consistently fought tax reductions because, as Mr. Miller puts it, everyone understands that "tax cuts increase deficits and deficits increase inflation." Strange then, isn't it, that while successfully heading off tax reduction, this Administration has nevertheless, piled up the biggest deficits in our history and increased the size of the federal budget more than 50 percent above the level it took all our previous history to reach?

The ultimate irony is this: While trying to protect the public from the alleged dangers of tax reduction, the Administration has succeeded in clobbering us with the worst of both worlds: The biggest tax increases in history coupled with rocketing rates of inflation.

Why not tell it like it really is? When tax rates are not cut in a period of inflation, taxes paid by individuals and companies automatically rise, because inflation shoves individuals into higher tax brackets, overstates taxable corporate profits, and taxes phantom capital gains. The Administration knows this, but it persists in misleading the media and the public by pretending we are actually facing a choice between a tax cut and no tax cut. In reality, the only choice is between a massive tax increase and a somewhat lesser tax increase.

In fact, rather than criticize as irresponsible all attempts to reduce this ruinous tax burden, the President should provide the American public with specific and straightforward answers to these questions:

How does he justify as responsible the nearly $90 billion tax increase on individuals and businesses in the next fiscal year alone?

How does he justify as responsible the over $500 billion tax increase on individuals and businesses between fiscal year 1980 and 1985?

How does he justify his unwillingness to allow American working people to keep more of the money they earn — money which rightfully belongs to them?

And, finally, how does his Administration justify its total lack of faith in incentives and the American people themselves, when it was precisely our tradition of rewarding anyone willing to work, save and invest that made this country the most exciting and successful the world has ever known?

Many of us would like an answer.

Some musings of topics past. Despite little support from local taxpayers, the City Council, department heads and the administration have averted — temporarily at least — a major deficit for the coming fiscal year.

In the wake of budget cuts, one policeman lost his job as well as someone in the Street Department. And, city employees who were looking forward to receiving an 8 percent raise received only a 6 percent raise.

Department heads particularly should be commended for holding the line on spending during the just-completed fiscal year and for paring their needs for the current 1980-81 fiscal year. If all estimates are reasonably accurate, the city will be saving taxpayers in the neighborhood of $180,000.

Cuts in the budget are what the majority of voters wanted — apparently. The controversial 1-cent sales tax, defeated last May, would have boosted the city from a deficit situation into the black. The extra revenue would have provided a cushion for the city until (and if) voters felt the equitable tax no longer was needed.

But taxpayers ultimately will suffer. Obviously, there will be additional strain on each of the departments for cutting their expenses. There probably was some fat to trim, but cutting $180,000 from any budget is bound to be felt somewhere. In addition, losing one policeman and one member in the street department are similar to cutting off your nose to spite your face. Services here will be reduced.

Purchases of equipment and the construction of some projects have been deferred to future years. This solution is strictly short-term and ultimately will cost the city more. Inflation continues to push the costs of materials and labor upwards.

Actions taken by the administration at the request of the Council are the result of local taxpayers' failure to examine the future of the community. Rather than considering what is best for the entire community for the 1980's, most taxpayers concerned themselves with immediate and selfish problems.

Businessmen feared rural customers would "boycott" their stores if the sales tax option passes. Pshaw! That is purely blackmail. Taxpayers could only see "another tax" but failed to realize that their city property taxes would decline by some 40 percent and eventually would be phased out completely.

So rather than approving the sales tax option which would have reduced the city's share of property taxes, taxpayers now face a 10.5 percent increase in property taxes. And there is little hope for relief.

Inflation, although running at a slower pace, remains in double digit figures. Costs are going up at a faster rate than the city is allowed to increase its budget.

The state is doing its part in reducing its budget. For example, the amount of money received by the city of Wayne from the state actually declined by a few hundred dollars this fiscal year. It becomes quickly obvious that if one source of income shows signs of withering; then another will have to become more healthy in order to maintain the same level of existence. And how does a municipality do this? By raising taxes.

The budget for the coming fiscal year is austere. City officials have called it a "bare bones" budget and point to future years when there will be nothing left to cut from the budget but the meal.

The city has saved hundreds of dollars during the last and the current fiscal years by tightening reins on purchases. It was not until 12 to 18 months ago that a stringent purchase order system was started here. Before an item can be purchased, it must meet the approval of a purchasing agent and there must be money in the budget.

In past years, however, employees took their purchasing books, on shopping trips, giving little consideration to budget matters or approval from authorities that be. Consequently, a once-healthy reserve account slowly deteriorated.

In a difficult economic time, department heads have taken steps to cut the fat from their already lean budgets. They should be slapped on the back and told "good work, keep it up."

The Council has had to make difficult decisions involving personnel and salaries. Employees of the city are employees of the taxpayers. In effect, but should be given due consideration when the inflation rate far outpaces their income.

When the budget was approved at last week's Council meeting, not one objector was present. None of the persons spearheading the anti-sales tax drive last spring was there to make suggestions on budget cuts.

Only one taxpayer — through a recent letter to the editor — publicly showed any concern at all about how the city would be run during the next 365 days.

News of Note around Northeast Nebraska

FIVE Wisner girls are candidates this year for the title of the Cuming County Livestock Feeder Queen. Queen candidates are Tami Kander, Susan Borgelt, Brenda Lelsy, Shelly Hess and Linda Heller. The new queen will be crowned in coronation ceremonies following the third annual noon luncheon event sponsored by the county feeders auxiliary at the Indian Trails Country Club Friday, Aug. 8.

PENDER pharmacist Rich Norgard has purchased Wisner Pharmacy from Gerald Hornback, owner of that business for the past 15 years. Norgard, who will leave his positions as employee of Ken Rihanek and pharmacy service director for Pender Community Hospital and Valley View Nursing Home of Pender, said he planned to take over at the Wisner business Sept. 1.

INSTALLATION services were held July 27 at Trinity Lutheran Church in Madison for the Rev. James L. Hoke Jr., formerly of Lincoln.

DR. Carlos Prendes of Lincoln is now serving in the Ponca Medical Clinic. Prendes and his wife, Pattie, and their two children moved to Ponca from New Orleans, La. Prendes was the Senior Assistant Surgeon at a hospital in New Orleans while completing a rotating internship. He will be in Ponca at least one year. He is fulfilling his second year of obligation to the Public Health Service.

ACCORDING to preliminary census figures released by the U. S. Census Bureau, Pierce is now the largest town in Pierce County with a population of 1,494. This is an increase of 9.9 percent in 10 years from the 1970 population figure of 1,360.

NEBRASKA Governor Charles Thone, former Governor Dwight Burney, Nebraska Public Power District Director Jules Burbach and State Senator Elroy Helmer of Coleridge were among more than 300 persons who toured the Cedar County Historical Museum during open house July 27.

$50 Million Saved by Nebraskans Says Thone

"All Nebraskans, and particularly state employees, deserve a good pat on the back because of the gasoline they're saving.

"During the first five months of 1980, Nebraskans used nearly 11 percent less gasoline than in the same months of 1979, according to preliminary gasoline tax records from the Nebraska Department of Revenue.

"The January-May, 1980 gallons were 323,499,000, or 38,852,000 gallons less than the total of 362,351,000 used in the first five months of 1979.

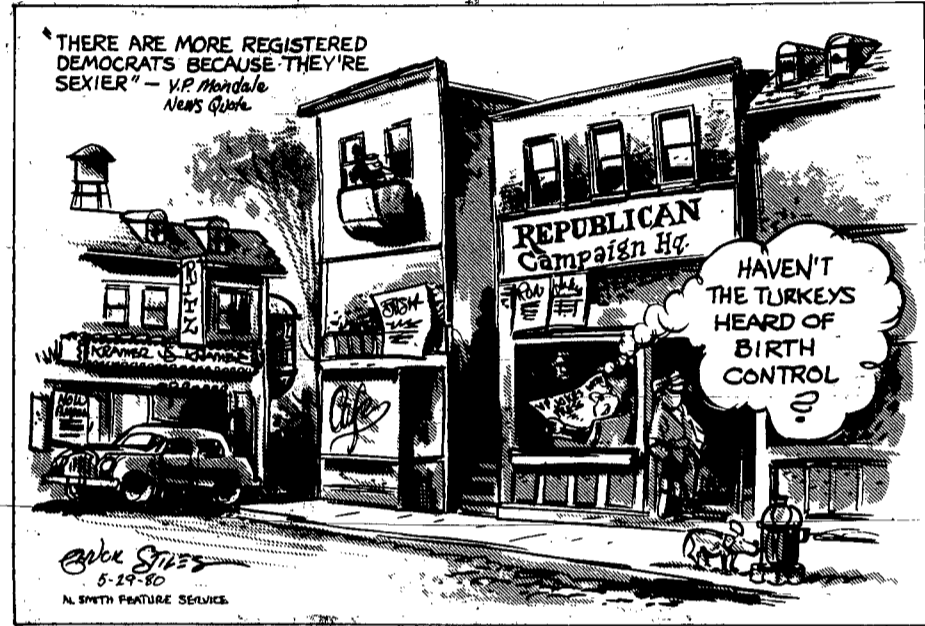

"By not using that gas, Nebraskans kept about $48 1/2 million in their pockets, based on the average July cost of $1.25 for a gallon of unleaded gasoline in Nebraska, according to a Cornhusker Motor Club survey. The gasoline savings will reduce our dependence on foreign oil. The money saved will be used to stimulate our own Nebraska economy, rather than to overflow the coffers of the foreign oil barons.

"A remarkable 40 percent reduction in the use of gasoline was achieved by the cars of the state's Transportation Service Bureau during the same first five months of 1980!

"This outstanding reduction came about because of a number of factors. First, employees were ordered to drive fewer miles and have done so.

"Second, almost every new car that the state purchases results in an economy car replacing a gas hog. During the first five months of 1979, the average miles per gallon of these state cars was only 14.3. For the same months of 1980, the state fleet averaged 22.5 miles per gallon, a 57 percent improvement.

A Letter From

"Thirdly, it appears that my order that state cars use only Gasohol wherever it is available is resulting in more miles to the gallon.

"Although gasoline is far more costly now than a year ago, last year's scarcity has been replaced by today's abundant supply. It is my hope that the people of Nebraska will continue to conserve and to contribute to a reduction in our national dependency on foreign oil."

Omaha Indian Remembers 1835 Appearance Of Halley's Comet

Halley's Comet, named for English astronomer Sir Edmund Halley, who predicted its periodic return, was last seen in Nebraska in 1910. Its 1835 appearance was recalled by elderly Omaha Indian Turning Hawk of Walthill for the May 7, 1910, "Nebraska State Journal," on file at the Nebraska State Historical Society.

Without doubt, Turning Hawk is the oldest Indian on the Omaha Indian reservation. Although there is no authentic record of his age, he believes that he has passed through 115 summers and an equal number of winters. Speaking English fairly well, he gives a glowing account of the visit of Halley's comet seventy-five years ago and the impression it made upon the Indians at the time.

"In 1835 that branch of the Omaha tribe of which Turning Hawk was a member, claimed the lands along the Elkhorn, west of the present city of Omaha and it was here that Turning Hawk secured his first squint of the comet, which by the Indians was immediately named the 'star that wears a tail.'"

"There were no astronomers among the Omaha Indians and in 1835 there were no agents or missionaries to inform them of the freaky movements of the travelers of the solar system, so that when a star with a tail appeared, it brought consternation, fear and apprehension to their camps. Speaking of the comet, Turning Hawk, after gazing at it a few mornings ago said:

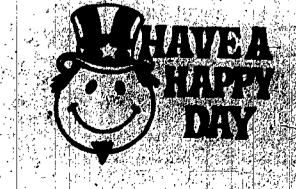

"'It is the same old star and the same old fall. I saw it seventy-five years ago when a young man, but it has changed. At that time its tail was much longer and brighter and spread out until it covered the night sky. It came in the late summer when the corn was ripe and kept coming until the snow fell in the winter. Summer nights when we were sitting around the camp fire, after returning from the chase, this star would throw off showers of sparks and flames of fire until the heavens would be as light as day.' Of course we were afraid, for our medicine men could not tell us what was the cause of this one star taking on a long tail and dropping fire, when all of the others were moving along in their regular way."

"Late in the fall of the year, the tail of the star broke up and scattered itself over the country. It had been a warm day, and soon after the sun went down the air became filled with fire. In all directions the stars were falling, and this continued until morning. For three nights the same thing happened and we believed the Great Father was angry at his people and was going to burn them to death. The medicine man of the tribe used all of his charms and after three days, drove the star away and it has never shown its face until now. Now we learn from the white man that this star with a tail comes once every seventy-five years, but it means trouble. The Indian knows this, but the white man, with all of his books and his schools, does not."

"When the star with the tail was here before, it meant the next year was a bad one for the Indians. They planted their corn that spring, but it did not grow. Dry weather, without any rains came the same as this year and the ground was covered with snow in the middle of the summer. [Other informants recall that the summer of 1835 was abnormally cool.] The grass dried up and fires passed over the prairie in the summer. The buffalo and the deer and the horses starved and died. The rivers dried up and the leaves fell from the trees.

"The Indians had been very bad and they had displeased the Great Spirit. The same has happened now and this time the white men will have to suffer along with the Indians. We hear that far away in the east where the rich men live, they have been cheating and robbing the people and we know that their children have been cheating the Indians and trying to steal their land from them. The Indian can no longer take care of himself and I do not believe the star with the tail is going to burn up the earth. I do think it will destroy all of the white men who wronged the Indian and have taken his property from him."

Weekly Health Tip
If you or members of your family are taking prescribed medicine, be sure you have an ample supply before leaving on your vacation trip. A long distance call to your doctor or pharmacist is expensive and awkward if you run out of medication away from home. It is wise to also pack an emergency first-aid kit for the car, and boat if you have one. We will be pleased to help you select the essential first-aid items.

Allen Girl Selected Semi-Finalist

SONYA ELLIS, who will be a senior this fall at Allen High School, displays the plaque she received as first runner-up winner of an essay contest conducted as part of the 1980 Miss United Teenager Pageant held July 28 at Doane College in Crete. Her 100 word essay was on the subject "My Country." In addition to receiving first place runner-up honors for her essay, Miss Ellis was selected a semi-finalist during the pageant at Doane, which was the official state wide finals for the Miss United Teenager Pageant to be held in December. Miss Ellis was one of 15 semi-finalists selected from among the 60 contestants entered from across the state of Nebraska.

A 15-year-old Allen girl was chosen a semi-finalist in the 1980 Miss United Teenager Pageant held Monday, July 28 at Doane College in Crete.

Sonya Ellis, who will be a senior this fall at Allen High School, was one of 15 semi-finalists selected from a group of 60 contestants between the ages of 14 and 18.

Miss Ellis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Ellis. In addition to being named semi-finalist, Miss Ellis was first runner-up winner and received a plaque for a 100-word essay she wrote on the subject, "My Country." Contestants were required to recite their essays in front of a panel of five judges prior to the pageant. The top 10 winners read their essays again during the pageant Monday night.

The pageant at Doane was the official state wide finals for the Miss United Teenager Pageant a three phase pageant to be held in December in Hollywood, Calif., Waikiki Beach, Hawaii, and Washington, D.C.

Contestants in the pageant at Doane were judged on scholastic and civic achievements, beauty, poise and personality. In addition, each contestant was requested to participate in a volunteer community service.

A part of the Volunteer Community Service Program Miss Ellis was Dixon County's youth representative for March of Dimes.

Miss Ellis is active in her school, church and community. She will be treasurer of her senior class next year at Allen High School, where she plays saxophone in the school band, sings in the chorus, serves as FHA officer and is a member of the Eagle Club.

In addition, she served as cheerleader for three years, played basketball two years and will play volleyball for the fourth consecutive year when she returns to school this fall. She has lettered in volleyball, band, cheerleading and chorus.

As a junior last year, Miss Ellis served as mistress of ceremonies at the FHA Sweetheart Dance and as a usher at Homecoming. She took part in speech contests and was a member of the cast in the junior senior class play.

A member of the First Trinity Lutheran Church of Allen, she sings in the church choir, is a member of the Luther League and has taught Bible school for the past two years.

In 1977, she received the First Class Award in Girl Scouting, the highest award any Girl Scout can receive.

Miss Ellis' trip to the pageant at Doane was sponsored by The Cash Store, The Security State Bank and Ellis Electric in Allen.

Milk Price Support Comment Is Sought
The public has until Aug. 18 to comment on the level of price support for milk for the 1980-81 marketing year which begins Oct. 1, said Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Jim Williams.
Williams said USDA also is asking for public comment on the prices and terms of purchase by Commodity Credit Corporation of butter, cheese and nonfat dry milk.
"Current law requires the milk price support be established at between 80 and 90 percent of parity on Oct. 1 each year. USDA officials estimate the minimum level of support (80 percent of parity) will be $12.73 per hundredweight on Oct. 1 for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content. This would be an increase of 66 cents over the support price which became effective on April 1. It could result in a 5 to 6 cent-per-gallon increase in milk prices at the retail level.

Other matters pertaining to the milk support program on which USDA may make decisions and on which the public may comment are: the manufacturing margins used in calculating the purchase prices of cheese, butter and nonfat dry milk; the allocation of any change in the support price for milk affecting the purchase prices set for butter and nonfat dry milk; and the level of the sales prices of CCC-owned dairy products.

Midgets, Juniors to State

Overin's Teams Win Double Area Title

Hank Overin is a busy man these days and his scheduled is becoming even more hectic. But he's not complaining.

Friday night, Hank was even seen cracking an occasional smile. And for good reason. His Junior Legion ball club whalloped Hartington 14-0 in five innings to qualify for the state tournament. Hank's Midgets had earlier qualified for their state tournament by defeating Wakefield 8-3 on Wednesday, making Wayne a double qualifier.

"We got aggressive tonight. We were a new ball club out there," Overin said referring to his team's offensive attack. "We (Juniors) hit our peak five or six games too soon. We were in a slump so we took a rest and now we're trying to hit our peak again."

Wayne broke out of its hitting slump against Hartington, cracking 12 base hits in the four innings of battling. Tod Heier, Kevin Nissen, Jeff Dion and Jeff Zeiss recorded two hits each in the balanced attack.

The Juniors' offense was the thunder before the storm. Within 15 minutes of the trophy presentation, rain poured down in the Wakefield area.

The victory improved Wayne's season record to 23-5, entering state tournament action. The Juniors will compete at 1 p.m. Friday in the Class B Tournament at Wakefield. It was believed at press time that Wayne would play either Beatrice or Plattsburgh in the first round.

For the fourth time in the area tourney, Wayne won the coin toss and elected to be the home team. A four-run second inning relaxed the top seeded team somewhat.

Jeff Dion, Kevin Nissen and Tod Heier rapped consecutive singles to load the bases. Jere Morris earned an RBI when he drew a walk and Jeff Zeiss brought in another run on a fielder's choice. Herman Carroll singled in another run and Zeiss scored on a throwing error giving Wayne a 4-0 advantage.

Starting pitcher Tim Pfeiffer took over at that point, holding Hartington scoreless as he notched his 11th win in 13 decisions. Pfeiffer fired a two-hitter and struckout seven batters in five innings.

Hartington nearly wrecked Pfeiffer's shutout but a fine defensive play by right fielder Tod Heier preserved the scoreless prize. Heier caught a fly ball and fired the ball home as Hartington runner Gerald Wieseler tagged up at third base. Catcher Dan Mitchell grabbed the ball on a hop and tagged Wieseler for the third out.

Pinch runner Steve Sorensen scored an insurance run in the third inning when he replaced Mitchell, who drew a walk. A single by Dion moved Sorensen to third and he scored on a wild pitch.

Hartington, which proved itself a worthy contender for the area title by eliminating Wakefield Thursday evening, was embarrassed in the fourth inning as Wayne ignited for a nine-run attack.

Key hits in the inning were a two-run single by Heier, a two-run single by Zeiss and RBI singles by Mitchell, Zeiss and Nissen.

Wayne was originally scheduled to play Hartington in the losers' bracket, Thursday. However, tournament officials said that Wayne and Wakefield had both received byes and Hartington had not. Thus, Hartington was given a day of rest and Wayne played Wakefield instead.

In previous tournament play, Hartington won by forfeit over South Sioux City in a preliminary game. Wayne nipped Hartington 7-6 in first round action and Wakefield clobbered Randolph 19-0 in first round action.

Hartington eliminated Randolph 10-3 in the losers' bracket and Wakefield topped Wayne 9-6 in the winners' bracket. Then, came Thursday's unexpected schedule change.

JEFF DION of Wayne slides safely into third base as the throw to Wakefield third baseman Mark Starzl is late. Dion scored on the next play for Wayne's final run in a 10-7 victory over Wakefield, Wednesday night.

Schedule Change

According to the pairings in the Area 3 Class B Tournament at Wakefield, Wayne was scheduled to play Hartington in the loser's bracket at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday. The tourney schedule was changed Wednesday, matching Wayne and Wakefield in the 5:30 p.m. game. Sources reported that the change was made because Wayne and Wakefield had both received byes in the tourney but Hartington hadn't. Wayne defeated Wakefield Wednesday and by virtue of a coin toss received a bye Thursday. Wakefield and Hartington were forced to play an elimination game on Thursday with the winner advancing to play Wayne on Friday.

Wayne Avenges Only Loss

Wayne Stays Alive

Fighting for their lives in the double-elimination tournament, Wayne's Juniors handed Wakefield its first loss 10-7.

By a flip of a coin, Wakefield was paired against Hartington in Thursday's elimination game and Wayne was given a bye.

Wayne, which hasn't lost a flip of the coin in the tourney, was home team and struck early to counter Wakefield's attack.

The hosts scored four quick runs in the first inning on a walk, a double and three singles. Larry Soderberg walked, Barry Jones singled and Mark Starzl doubled in the first run. A base hit by Dale Phipps brought in two more runs. Rod Nixon singled to load the bases and Jeff Hallstrom drew a walk for the fourth run.

Wayne's Legion team rallied with six runs in the bottom of the inning. Jeff Zeiss walked, Herman Carroll singled, Tim Pfeiffer reached base on an error and Dan Mitchell reached base on an error bringing in a run. Carroll scored on a sacrifice fly by Pat McCright.

Consecutive walks by Tod Heier, Jeff Dion and Kevin Nissen brought in two more runs. Jeff Sperry drove in another run with a sacrifice bunt. Zeiss was hit by a pitch and another run scored when Carroll walked. A fielder's choice got Wakefield out of the inning.

Wakefield tied the game with two runs in the second inning. Soderberg and Starzl reached base with singles and Blairie Nelson drove both players in with a ground ball that caused Wayne to commit an error.

Again Wayne scored and again Wakefield tied the game up. Zeiss scored for the top seeds and Dean Miller scored for the host team.

Tod Heier and Jeff Dion established themselves as two of the game's most valuable players. Heier reached base three times in four at bats and scored all three times. Dion went 2-for-3 and scored two runs.

With the score tied in the fourth inning, Heier drew a walk, took third base on a hit and run as Dion singled and scored on a wild pitch. The hit and run worked again in the sixth inning. Heier reached first on a Wakefield error and made it to third base on another base hit by Dion. Jere Morris rapped a single to score Heier and Zeiss drove home Dion with another hit.

Wayne's 10-7 lead held up through the bottom of the seventh inning, pushing the locals into Friday's finals.

Zeiss, Nissen and Pfeiffer all pitched for the winners. Pfeiffer notched the victory. Jeff Hallstrom, Brian Soderberg and Wayne Guy all saw pitching action for the losing team.

Lee & Rosie's Finishes 2nd in Softball Tourney

Lee & Rosie's of Winside placed second in the Elkhorn Valley Softball League men's tourney, last week. Wolverton Hay Co slipped past Lee & Rosie's 14-13 in a nine inning final game.

The Winside team defeated Wolverton's 6-2 in the first game of finals, setting up the championship game in the double elimination tourney.

Lee & Rosie's finished the tournament with a 6-2 record. They defeated ReS Electric 4-1, Ken's Auto 7-6, Strudy's 13-3, Sultzer Chiffenden 27-10, Lueder's Oil 14-4 and Wolverton's 6-2. Both losses came at the hands of Wolverton's 12-11 and 13-14.

Lee & Rosie's improved their season record to 27-24.

Rod Bowder led the team in batting with a .714 average in 21 at bats. He also had two homers, a triple and a double. Randy Jacobsen cracked three homers, one triple and one double. Dennis Gonnerman had two homers, a triple and three doubles and Dennis Bowers hit two doubles and two triples to pace the team in extra base hits.

Other leading batting averages: Dale Topp, .533 (30 AB); Bob Krueger, .600 (10 AB); Dean Mann, .556 (9 AB); Tyler Frevort, .448 (29 AB); Dennis Gonnerman, .452 (31 AB); Randy Jacobsen, .448 (29 AB).

Wakefield Eliminated But Hosts Still Seek Title

If the Wakefield Juniors are to win the Class B State Tournament, they'll have to do it in much the same manner as they won the Class C title last year.

Hartington, the sleeper of the Area 3 Tournament at Wakefield, rallied to eliminate the hosts with a 4-3 eighth inning win, Thursday night. The victory advanced Hartington into Friday night's finals against top seeded Wayne.

Despite the loss, Wakefield will still compete in the State Tournament. Because they will host the Class B Tourney next week, the locals will begin the quest for their third consecutive state Legion title.

Wakefield won the Class C Tournament two years ago and repeated as champions in the state tournament at Wakefield last year. The two-time champions were eliminated in the area play last year but qualified for state as hosts and dominated the tourney. Last year, the locals defeated Tecumseh 13-4 and 14-0, shutoff Battle Creek 9-0 and topped Gothenburg 6-1.

This year, Wakefield has moved up to Class B and will try to win that title on its home field. Ace pitcher Rick Guy isn't expected to pitch in the classic due to an elbow injury. The winner of the Area 3 tournament will join Wakefield in the state final.

Hartington Upsets Hosts

Due to a change in schedule, Hartington and Wakefield played each other in Thursday's only game. Hartington stunned Wakefield 4-3, earning a finals berth against Wayne and eliminating Wakefield from the tourney.

The Trojans, who were the visiting team in every game they played in the tournament, scored first in the first inning. Barry Jones singled, stole second and raced home when Mark Starzl pounded a two-out single.

Hartington threatened to score in the second inning but instead stranded two runners on base. Wakefield put out Chris Walz in a rundown for the big out of the inning.

The two teams engaged in a fierce pitching battle until the eighth-inning. Tom Feilmeler held the hosts to four base hits and three runs, while going the distance. Meanwhile, Wayne Guy and Mark Starzl limited Hartington to seven hits and four runs.

Hartington scored its first run in the third inning to tie the game. Feilmeler singled, stole second base, reached third on a wild pitch and scored on a sacrifice by Dean Milander.

Eighteen of Wakefield's 19 batters in the middle six innings were retired as Hartington's defense tightened up. Wakefield was nearly as successful in detangling their opponents hitters.

The hosts appeared to win the game in the top of the eighth, striking for two runs. With one out, Wayne Guy singled and Tom Preston sacrificed him to second base.

Hartington issued an intentional walk to Larry Soderberg but pinch hitter Rick Guy came through with a two-run single. Guy's pop-up was lost in the lights and dropped in shallow center field as both runners charged home.

Wakefield's two-run lead didn't last long, however.

The Cedar County team pulled the game out of its hat like magic. With one out, Feilmeler and Dean Milander reached base. Mark Burbach blasted a ground rule triple past the left field fence off of relief pitcher Mark Starzl to score both runners and knot the score.

Then, after an intentional walk to Walz, a pop fly by Tim Bonertz was lost in the lights and dropped over the infield to bring in the winning run.

Wayne Wins Area Title

Midgets Bound for York

A gutsy performance carried Wayne's Midgets to an 8-3 win over Wakefield in the finals of the Area 3 Class B Tournament at Wakefield, Wednesday night.

The victory advanced Wayne into state tournament play at York.

The Midgets played on guts alone. They don't have a great deal of talent on the team but they play as a unit," said coach Hank Overin. "At the beginning of the season I was hoping this team would break .500. Now, they're going to state and anything can happen."

Host Wakefield drew first blood by scoring three runs in the first inning. RBI singles by Troy Harder, Keith Roberts and Kent Roberts resulted in the runs. Robb Linafelter, Mike Clay and Harder crossed the plate. Harder finished the game with a double and two singles in three at bats. Keith Roberts went 2 for 4.

Wayne starter Jim Sperry held Wakefield scoreless in the second, third, fourth and seventh innings. Sperry and relief pitcher

Steve Overin teamed up to hold the hosts scoreless in the fifth and sixth.

Wayne cut back at the lead in the bottom of the third inning with one run. Todd Pfeiffer reached base on a fielder's choice and scored on an RBI single by Jeff Allen.

The home team took the lead for the first time in the fifth inning. Pfeiffer, Sperry, Allen and Jeff McCright were responsible for four runs and a 5-3 advantage. McCright drove in two runs and Allen and Overin brought in the other runs.

The bottom of the sixth inning all but put the game out of reach. Allen, who had four hits in four plate appearances, cracked a two run single to bring in Jeff Moore and Pfeiffer. Sperry scored the final run when Al Lindsay drew a walk with bases loaded.

Sperry gained the victory while Linafelter was tagged for the loss.

THE AREA 3 Class B Baseball Tournament held at Wakefield this past week was a pretty smoothly run tournament. The ball park over there is terrific. Every time I set foot on the field, new improvements have been made.

A tip of the hat to the community of Wakefield and the staff of workers who donated time and labor to help make the field grade A.

CONGRATULATIONS AND GOOD LUCK to the Wayne Midgets and Juniors. The two teams qualified for state by winning their respective tournaments at Wakefield this week. The Juniors will open state play in Wakefield, Friday and the Midgets will begin their state bid, in York, Saturday.

The situation presents a happy problem for Wayne coach Hank Overin. Hank indicated he will probably coach at the Legion game in Wakefield, Friday, then travel to York to coach at Saturday's Midget game. After that, he will have to play it by ear. It's pretty tough to be in two places at one time.

IT APPEARED that a few people's names might appear in the obituary column or the county courthouse news after Wednesday's Legion game between Wayne and Hartington. A few drivers trucked along the highway at 65 or 70 miles per hour, passing up hill and swerving across the center line. Things like that don't take too many brains. In the past day, I learned that at least one of the reckless drivers wasn't returning from the game but just happened to be on that highway. I know of at least three or four drivers (including me) who wish he wouldn't have joined our caravan home.

I PLAYED in my second golf tournament of the year, last Sunday. A friend from Hartington (Tom Burney) called me up and asked me to be his partner in a progressive two some tournament at Hartington CC. We combined our handicaps for a two man total of 18 for 18 holes (his handicap is 17, mine is 6 and 80 percent of 23 is slightly over 18).

It was the kind of tournament I enjoy. Each player hits a tee shot and the best one is selected. Then, each partner hits a second shot and the best one is chosen. This continues onto the green until the hole is completed.

We played well as a team, shooting a scratch 35. Our handicap knocked our net score down to 26, the best score after nine holes.

We were sailing along again on the second nine, shooting even par after four holes and setting our sites on first place. When I made a bad shot, he made up for it with a good one and vice versa. Then, came our fatal mistake. We carded a double bogie six on the fifth hole and finished with a 39. Our net score of 36 was tied for fourth place when I left to come home.

AS THE MAJOR LEAGUE season progresses into its final months, Kansas City seems to have the American League Western title wrapped up. Their star outfielder Willie Wilson should be a top contender for the AL Most Valuable Player award along with veteran Reggie Jackson of the Yankees. I'll give Wilson the nod at this time.

Steve Stone of Baltimore and Tommy John of the New York will also be fighting for the Cy Young award with Kansas City's Gura a solid third choice. Stone could become the third Cy Young winner on the Orioles pitching staff joining Jim Palmer and Mike Flanagan. In the National League, Steve Carlton should be the choice to win the Cy Young now that J.R. Richard is having his problems.

Chances are that club success will play an important role in the selection of MVP and Cy Young decisions. Players on teams that win the pennant are more likely to win the honors.

Dry Weather Causes High Nitrate Concerns

Nitrates in Feeds

Don C. Spilze
Wayne County Extension Agent

The recent drought has caused farmers to be concerned about possible high concentrations of nitrate in weather damaged crops fed to livestock, reports Don Spilze, Wayne County Extension Agent.

High nitrate concentration, which may cause livestock deaths, can be caused by a number of different things, but the most frequent cause is hot, dry weather over a period of time. So present conditions are such that there may be a potential nitrate problem.

It is important that farmers understand the nitrate problem and how to combat it because drought corn silage has 80 percent or better of the feeding value of normal corn silage (see the article by Vernon Krause in the This and That Column of the Aug. 1 edition of the Wayne Herald) and should be utilized to its fullest.

Here are some facts about nitrates that will help the reader understand the problem better.

FACT 1: Alfalfa, broomgrass and broomgrass hay and pasture normally have low amounts of nitrates. On the other hand, corn, oat hay and sudangrass are more apt to be a problem. The lowly pigweed usually has the most nitrates of any plants found in this area. The grain of crops such as corn and oats are low in nitrate.

OBSERVATION — This fact means that feeds such as grains, broomgrass hay and alfalfa can be safely fed. These feeds also can be used to dilute high nitrate feeds so they can be fed.

FACT 2: There must be enough moisture in the soil for the plants to draw up the nitrates from the soil but this also increases the chance of higher nitrate concentrations after we do get some moisture and the plants start growing again.

OBSERVATION — Nitrate may be more of a problem after a rain.

FACT 3: One half or more of the nitrates are lost in the ensiling process.

OBSERVATION — Ensiling would reduce most high nitrate feeds to useable levels.

FACT 4: Most of the nitrates are found in the bottom 8 to 12 inches of the stalk. Nitrate concentrations are apt to lower as the plant matures.

OBSERVATION — This means if the corn stalks are cut high enough the chance of nitrates are reduced. The percentage of nitrates in the plant is lower if left to mature as much as possible.

FACT 5: There is no way to be sure that a crop has unsafe levels of nitrate without a laboratory test. High levels of nitrogen fertilizer used on crop doesn't necessarily mean that there will be a nitrate problem.

OBSERVATION — A farmer may bring into the Wayne County Extension office one pound sample of corn stalks. This sample would be preferably taken from a sample run through a field chopper. The sample should be wrapped in a bread wrapper or other plastic material. This sample will be dried at Northeast Station and then sent into the University of Nebraska laboratory at Lincoln. It will take 7 to 10 days before the sample is completed and information returned to the farmer. The cost is $6 per sample.

Here are some management tips that can help a farmer safely feed forages with high amounts of nitrate.

1. Dilute the forage with low nitrate feeds. (See FACT 1)
2. Feed small amounts of grain along with the forage.
3. Feed at frequent intervals small amounts of high nitrate feed instead of all at one time.
4. Feed a balanced ration.
5. Adjust livestock slowly to feeds with suspected high amounts of nitrates.
6. Feed green chop the same day it is cut. Letting the green chop stand overnight encourages the nitrate to change to a more toxic form of nitrate (nitrite).

If a farmer follows these management tips as well as understand the above facts and observations there should be no problem with nitrate poisoning.

Health Systems Agency Will Talk About Health Education

The Greater Nebraska Health Systems Agency's Northern Subarea Committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday, August 11. Thirty committee member representing 21 counties in Northeast and North Central Nebraska are expected to attend the meeting at Commercial Federal Savings and Loan Community Room at 7th and Norfolk Avenue.

Louise Jenness, director of nursing at Providence Medical Center, is Wayne County's provider representative. Irene Jeffrey, co-owner of Jeff's Cafe, holds the consumer position on the committee.

On Monday, the committee will hear a report on a health education proposal totaling $16,372 submitted by Pierce Osmond Wellness. This is a health education type grant.

Dr. William Long of the University of Nebraska Medical Center will speak on physician recruitment. Dr. Long is the new rural health coordinator for the center and is also a faculty member in the department of family practice.

His interest in the counties of Northeast and North Central Nebraska will be crucial for future physician recruitment in the area. Dr. Long is a former primary care physician who practiced in Lexington, Nebraska before accepting the position at the Medical Center.

Dr. Long will address the need for communities to plan to have long term standing committees for recruitment of physicians and explain med center plans to work with the Health Systems Agency and small communities interested in recruitment.

Other items on the health groups agenda include business related to appropriateness review of neonatal intensive care and endstage renal disease, the committee's selection process, and the agency's three year designation application.

The public is welcome to attend the meeting and meet Dr. Long.

Bereuter Asks Halt To Fund Stockpiling

Termining the practice "a unique form of political social security," Congressman Doug Bereuter has urged a House task force to take favorable action on his bill to eliminate a privilege permitting stockpiled campaign funds to be used for personal purposes by incumbent members of the House. Bereuter told a special Task Force on Enforcement created by the Committee on House Administration that while legislation enacted in January, 1980, prohibits such a conversion on the part of future House members, it does not for incumbents.

"To set different rules for ourselves is simply a self-serving, unfair incumbent reward plan, and it is recognized as such by the American people," said Bereuter.

"Why should the American people permit us to take legitimately raised campaign funds, and then stockpile them for possible future use in personal expenses and investments?"

Bereuter told the task force that in order for incumbent members to convert stockpiled campaign funds to their own use, all they needed to do was pay income taxes on the amount upon their retirement. While future members cannot participate in this privilege, they can dispose of stockpiled campaign funds to other campaigns or political parties, charities, or other lawful purposes.

Bereuter said his bill would also prohibit members of the Senate from using campaign funds, or any other contributions, to supplement their official office accounts — a practice already prohibited in the House of Representatives.

"The more we persist in carrying out inappropriate privileges for ourselves, the more suspicions are raised in the mind of the public," said Bereuter. "It matters little to the public which body of Congress happens to be the offending one. Their message is clear — Get your House ... or Senate ... in order."

Bereuter, whose bill currently carries 32 co-sponsors, said the task force also heard two other bills that would also eliminate the incumbent's privilege in the House.

Moeller Gets Scholarship

Cathy Moeller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Moeller of Pender, was recently awarded the First National Bank Scholarship for the fall semester at Wayne State College. The scholarship is awarded to a student majoring in business, on the basis of scholastic record, character, and promise as a college representative.

Moeller is a 1978 graduate of Pender High School and a junior business administration major at WSC.
