Catching 40 Winks at the Fair

ACTIVITY AT THE Dale Thomas Shows at the Wayne County Fair Midway Thursday through Sunday was slow paced in the early hours of the day, so what better way to make up for lost sleep than to snooze near your concession. The Spook House operator (above) found the ground acceptable for a nap prior to opening his "business" for the afternoon. Unbeknownst to him, passersby smiled appreciatively while several youngsters contemplated a rude awakening for the "carney."

Administrator Resigns Tuesday

City Administration Darrell Brewington submitted his resignation effective immediately to the City Council Tuesday night at the end of its regular session.

Brewington's letter of resignation was accepted unanimously by the Council and was read by Mayor Wayne Marsh.

BREWINGTON will receive pay through August, and was given credit for two week's vacation beginning Wednesday (yesterday). His last official responsibility to the city was the Council meeting.

He came to Wayne in January of 1979 from California where he had been in a similar capacity. Over the years, he has served as administrator or city manager in several Midwest and West Coast communities.

Citing personal reasons for his resignation, Brewington said his plans are indefinite. He does, however, plan to stay in Wayne for the next several months. The former administrator said he plans a vacation soon, also.

City Clerk Norman Melton will be acting administrator until the position is filled.

BREWINGTON had been the object of recent closed Council sessions.

He was hired by the Council to fill the position vacated last year by the late Fredrick S. Brink.

In other action, the Council was informed of an increase in rates charged by Community Refuse Disposal, Inc., Norfolk, the firm that hauls Wayne's trash to a landfill near Norfolk.

The new rate, which will become effective Sept. 1, increases from $1.98 per cubic yard to $2.03 per cubic yard.

AT THE Council's request, City Attorney Kem Swartz will prepare paperwork to amend the city's recently approved stop sign ordinance. The Council adopted a city-wide stop sign removal program several weeks ago, but is reconsidering some intersections at the request of residents.

The ordinance, which first must be approved by the Council, will reinstate signs at 11th and Pearl Streets and on Logan Street between Eighth and Ninth Streets.

THE COUNCIL also approved an ordinance establishing speed zones in each direction on U.S. 35 and Nebraska 15 as follows:

*Thirty miles per hour on Main Street from the south line of Seventh Street north to the south line of 14th Street.

*Forty five miles per hour on Main Street from the south line of 14th Street north to a point 2,100 feet north of the Wayne Country Club road.

*Thirty miles per hour on South Main Street from the north line of Clark Street (as extended east) south to the corporate limits at Logan Creek.

*Thirty miles per hour on Seventh Street from the west line of Oak Drive (as extended north) east to a point 800 feet east of the east line of Pine Heights Road (as extended south).

*Forty-five miles per hour on West Seventh Street from the west line of Oak Drive (as extended north) to a point 1,200 feet west of the west line of Oak Drive (as extended North).

*Forty-five miles per hour on East Seventh Street from a point 800 feet east of the east line of Pine Heights Road (as extended south) east to a point 2,200 feet east of the east line of Pine Heights Road (as extended south).

*Thirty miles per hour on Grainland Road from the west line of Blaine Street (as extended south), west to the corporate limits.

THE COUNCIL sided with attorney Swartz in his recommendation not to accept a request to validate the conveyance of certain real estate. Duane Schroeder, attorney for Ronald and Joan Lage, was asking the Council to validate the conveyance of about 6 tenths of an acre.

City Attorney Swartz cited various potential legal problems if the city did accept the request. Among these was not applying the city's park and subdivision ordinances consistently and nullifying park and subdivision ordinances as well.

The vote was 6-1, with Councilman Darrel Fuebberth voting against and Darrel Heier abstaining.

Court Upholds Allen Board; Kennedy Out

District County Judge Francis Kneifis ruled Monday that the contract of former Allen Principal Dale Kennedy be terminated, thus upholding an Allen School District board of education decision to fire him.

THE ORDER is effective with the end of the 1979-80 school year. The order also requests that Kennedy pay all court costs.

The former principal was subject of a public hearing March 12 following which the board voted in closed session to terminate his contract. Prior to that, the board had notified Kennedy there might be just cause not to renew his contract.

Testimony was given on his behalf and against him at the public hearing. The grievances listed by the board against the former principal were as follows:

KENNEDY's failure to cooperate with school officials and law enforcement agencies concerning an incident involving damage to and theft of school property.

A disreputable course of conduct toward the superintendent and the teaching staff.

His failure to follow procedures set forth by the office of the superintendent and the board of education.

His failure at the board of education meeting on July 9, 1979, to advise the board that a school bus was in the process of being repaired at substantial cost when the board considered and took action to sell the bus.

HIS FAILURE to properly conduct his assignments as school bus supervisor. Unprofessional and insubordinate conduct.

According to the court document, evidence was offered at the March hearing from which the board could find unprofessional and insubordinate conduct by Kennedy as follows:

Kennedy did not cooperate with law enforcement officials on an incident involving the breaking and entering of the school building.

Kennedy failed to properly supervise, evaluate and work with teaching staff.

KENNEDY failed to discharge his duties as a school bus supervisor.

Kennedy's conduct with the students was not professional.

Kennedy exceeded his authority granted him by the board of education and the superintendent.

Kennedy failed to cooperate with the superintendent in the performance of his assigned duties.

Kennedy's conduct created an administrative problem.

Supt. Robert Heckathorn said Wednesday that he will assume the principal role in addition to his superintendent duties.

GLENN KUMM will assume Kennedy's role as transportation coordinator and will be in charge of federal programs in addition to his usual duties as activities director.

Celeste Torczon will become part-time guidance counselor and part-time art. Kennedy's duties were part-time principal, part-time guidance counselor and part-time transportation coordinator.

Kennedy's plans are indefinite.

School Board Adopts 80-81 Budget

A budget reflecting almost exactly the 7 percent limitation imposed by the state was approved Monday night during a regular Wayne-Carroll School District board of education meeting.

THERE WERE no objectors present at the public hearing which was held at the high school. The total budget for the coming fiscal year is estimated at about $1,962,030.

Supt. Francis Haun reviewed the budget item by item, indicating that most categories increased by 7 percent, while others were increased 10 percent. Overall, however, the portion of the budget which the district will operate on increased 6.9 percent.

"This comes within $1,267 of the 7 percent lid limitation," the superintendent explained. "Most of the programs are well under our budget."

THE TOTAL BUDGET excluding federal programs increased $1,706,186 from $1,594,963, up a total of $111,223. The total budget including federal programs rose from $1,748,038 to $1,820,355, or an increase of $72,317.

The 6.9 percent reflects an increase in anticipated receipts excluding exemptions for energy requirements and social security. With those included, the tax requirements are about 8 percent more than a year ago.

Superintendent Haun noted that figures for teacher salaries are an estimate since teacher negotiations are far from complete. He budgeted 10 percent — the maximum amount he could without pushing the budget over the 7 percent limit — and reminded board members that the board's final offer was for about 11 percent.

ONCE the negotiations are settled, the school district will be required to readjust the workings of the budget to allow for any increase in teacher salary-packages of more than 10 percent.

In a budget message prepared by Haun several weeks ago, the superintendent noted that "the proposed budget of expenditures is not a precise document. It was not known at the time of budget preparation what the dollar amount of salaries would be for the teaching staff."

"It is anticipated, however, that the final determination of salaries for teaching staff will exceed the dollars that can be raised within the 7 percent lid on tax revenue."

AS A RESULT, he said, the budget includes specific changes such as the elimination of four teacher aide positions; no bus purchase for the coming school year, the elimination of golf and baseball and part-time school nurse services to be shared with Educational Service Unit No. 1.

Sinking fund monies have been levied in the amount of $40,000 for the coming fiscal year. This will help provide replacement of gym floor in middle school, major roof repair on flat deck at middle school, minor roof repair around rain gutters at middle school, major paint/repair of roof cornice at middle school, build a reserve in sinking fund for future remodeling of shop area at the high school and roof insulation at the elementary school.

In other action, the board raised lunch meal ticket prices and at the same time provided students in grades 1-4 with break. New prices will be 80 cents for elementary students, 90 for middle and high school students and $1.10 for adults. This compares to 75 cents for students last year and 85 cents for adults.

THE NEW prices also will reflect a 5 cent per meal discount for meal tickets bought by the week. The increases were approved by a 4-1 vote, with board member Jim Hummel voting against.

A Hummel motion to increase ticket prices to 80 cents for elementary students, 85 cents for middle and high school and $1 for adults failed for lack of a second. Staff appointments for the coming year were approved. These include Judith Schafer for 9-10 English, Lonnie Ehrhardt for math, science, football and assistant wrestling, Russell Beckman for bus driver, Clifford Frye for custodian and Lu Ellingson for half time nurse.

THE BOARD also was informed that Al Ahlman is retiring as high school custodian after 12 years. He will be honored at the annual all school dinner Aug. 25.

The dinner is an annual event to recognize new teachers to the system. It will be held about 12 noon in the elementary school cafeteria for all teachers, staff, custodians, etc.

A contract with Region IV Office of Developmental Disabilities was accepted. It calls for an increase in the amount the district must pay Region IV for instruction of a student. The increase is from $2.96 per hour to $3.38 per hour.

AS A RESULT of a new federal rule, pop and candy will not be provided for sale in school district buildings until 1:30 p.m. The pop machine has been removed from the building.

The new rule became effective July 1 and prohibits the sale of four categories of food in schools from the beginning of the school day until the end of the lunch period.

These categories are soda water, water ices, chewing gum and certain candies (hard candies, jellies and gums, marshmallow candies, fondant, licorice, spun candy and candy coated popcorn).

A meeting involving the teacher salary negotiation fact finders is scheduled for next week. They will begin working out a compromise.

THE BOARD entered closed session to discuss litigation.

All members were present except Dorothy Ley and all actions were unanimous unless noted otherwise.

Region IV Board Reverses Action

By a vote of 14-2, the Region IV Office of Developmental Disabilities board of directors voted Friday in O'Neill to keep its Children's Developmental Center at Wayne open every other weekend.

BY DOING so, the board reversed its Feb. 28 decision to close the CDC here every weekend.

According to Barb VerLinden, public relations director for Region IV, the board decided to reverse its previous decision after Region IV Director John Corcoran received a letter from the Department of Education.

The letter indicated the DOE would pay the salaries of staff who work on weekends. That was a major consideration of the board in February when it voted to close the CDC on weekends. At the time, it was estimated a savings of some $16,000 would be realized by closing every weekend.

"OUR CONTENTION all along was that the responsibility for salaries should have fallen under the Nebraska Department of Education," VerLinden said. "Until recently, the DOE had not agreed to pay the salaries, she said.

The February decision to close was the subject of a lawsuit brought by Howard and Sandra Ernst of Columbus, the parents of a CDC client, 15-year-old Ellen. As a result of the suit, District Court Judge Richard P. Gorden issued a temporary restraining order July 16 blocking the closing. He later issued a temporary injunction.

In comments relating to the injunction Judge Gorden said several weeks ago that adequate staff was not available at the Norfolk Children's Developmental Center

"GREAT AND Irreparable Injury would result to her (Ellen) if she were to be transferred to the NCCDC at this time, and if weekend residential services were not furnished by the defendants," the judges' notes said.

Voting against the decision to reopen the CDC on weekends were Platte and Wayne Counties. Merlin Biermann, Wayne County board of commissioners' chairman, was the Wayne County representative.

In other action, she said, the board gave first-round approval to a continuation budget request of $3.58 million for 1981-82, which includes an anticipated $182,398 in property taxes from county boards in the 20-county region.

That compares with a property tax requirement in the current year of $170,465 and a total operating budget of $3.24 million.

Cigarette Causes Fire

Cause of a grass fire at the Merilound Lessmann farm east of here was a discarded cigarette. The fire, about three weeks ago, burned several hundred square feet of grass and some small cedar trees.

The cause was not unauthorized burning as many had been led to believe.

Paper Collection Saturday

Paper collection for the area will begin at 8 a.m. Saturday. Boy Scouts will pick up papers that are bundled and at the curbs during the morning.

The papers should be tied in bundles about 12 inches high. String for tying is available at Carhart Lumber Company or Gerald's Decorating Center.

Anyone needing assistance in getting papers out is asked to call 375-2976 for Bob Carhart. Rural residents who wish to leave papers may do so at Carhart Lumber.

Scholarship to Rick Guy

Wayne State College recently awarded Presidential Scholarships to 20 high school students from a four-state area including Wayne.

Those receiving the stipends included Rick Guy of Wakefield. The son of Mrs. Louis Guy, he is a 1980 graduate of Wakefield High School where he was active in baseball, basketball, football W-Club and class plays.

The scholarships are awarded to quality students not qualified for financial aid through WSC.

Northeast Feeders Association will crown its 1980-81 feeder queen at the Dixon County Fair at 5:45 p.m. Saturday.

Queen candidates include Lisa Greve, Wakefield; Kristin Kruse, Walthill; Sandra Knecht, Winnebago; and Vanessa Heltzman, Winnebago.

Winner of the queen contest will represent the Northeast Feeders at red meat promotion programs, banquets and meetings across Northeast Nebraska. She also will represent the Northeast Feeders at the state contest in December.

Grandson Takes Geologist Job

Steve Johnson, the grandson of Mrs. Robert Johnson of Wayne, has accepted a job with Core Laboratories, Inc., in Dallas, Texas.

Johnson is a four-year letterman as a defenseman in lacrosse and two years in football. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta and was the upperclass dorm counselor his senior year.

He also served as circulation manager of the school paper and was president of the Geology Club. Core Laboratories is an oil services company on contract for major oil company drilling projects. Johnson will be a geologist for the firm.

Police Report

Wayne Police Department reports an accident about 12:01 a.m. Sunday at West Seventh Street and Oak Street.

According to the report, drivers were Monty R. Sellon, 19, Randolph, and Dennis J. Anderson, 17, Wayne. Both cars received more than $250 in damages.

Accident Injures Four

FOUR PERSONS WERE injured in an accident about 1 p.m. Saturday four miles east and three miles south of the intersection of the two county roads, according to the State Highway Patrol. Taken to Providence Medical Center by the Rescue Unit were Kelly Baier, 16; her sister, Janine, 14; a brother, Tom, 10; and Robert Bates, 23, Wayne. The Baiers are children of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Baier, Wayne. Kelly was driver of the car involved and Bates was driver of the rendering truck involved. Kelly received a broken collar bone, Janine a dislocated kneecap, Tom various bumps and bruises and Bates lacerations. Bates was northbound and Bates eastbound when the two vehicles met at the intersection. The truck, owned by Crofton Rendering Co., and the car were considered a total loss. The Wayne Volunteer Fire Department used its Jaws of Life to free the injured persons. The Sheriff's Department also assisted. Trooper Bill Watson investigated.

Sheriff's Log

Wayne Sheriff's Department reports an accident about 9:15 p.m. one mile west and one mile south of Wayne on a county road. According to the report, a car driven by Brian S. Alleman, 20, Winside, went out of control, entered a ditch and landed on its side. There were no injuries and the car received more than $250 in damages.

Many Wait Too Long For Payments

Many people in the Northeast Nebraska area wait longer than necessary to receive payment from their Medicare medical insurance because they failed to submit itemized bills with their request for payment form, Dale Branch social security district manager in Norfolk, said recently.

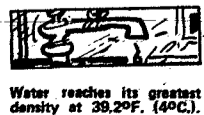

Medical insurance is the part of Medicare that helps pay for doctor bills, outpatient hospital bills, and other items and services not covered by hospital insurance.

To receive payment under medical insurance, a person generally submits a request for payment form and the doctor or other supplier completes part of the form or provides an itemized bill to send with the form.

The trouble, Branch said, is that often the bill does not provide a detailed description of the services provided and therefore, a decision cannot be made as to whether they are covered.

To prevent this delay, the person should be sure that each bill shows: - A description of each service provided; - The date the service was provided; - The place the service was provided; - The charge for each service provided; - The doctor or supplier who provided each service; and; - The person's name and health insurance claims number, exactly as they appear on the Medicare card.

It is helpful if the diagnosis is also shown, Branch said. For more information, ask for a free copy of the leaflet, "Payment under Medicare medical insurance." Copies are available at the Norfolk social security office, located at 1310 Norfolk Ave. The telephone number is 1-800-642-8310.

Annual Survey of Housing Is Planned By HUD for Area

The eighth annual survey of housing in the United States will begin in this area the week of Aug. 11.

The survey is conducted by the Bureau of the Census for the Department of Housing and Urban Development in response to the need for frequent and up-to-date information on the nation's housing inventory, considered a prime indicator of the nation's economic well-being.

For the 1980 survey, a sample of 90,000 housing units out of the nation's 86 million has been selected to represent a cross section of all housing in the United States. The sample was originally selected from 1970 census records and has been updated each year to include new construction, conversions and losses from the housing inventory.

Previously, information on the housing inventory came only from the decennial census of housing. Irregular sample surveys, and one-time special studies. With regular annual surveys it is possible to make year to year comparisons of the number and types of housing, changes in the total housing stock resulting from losses and new construction, and changes in housing cost and the cost of services and utilities. Timely information will be available for a wide variety of items related to housing, such as indicators of the structural characteristics of residential units, and the characteristics of the occupants and those who move over the years. Census Bureau representatives will begin interviewing households the middle of August and the work will continue for about four months. Households in the sample will be mailed an introductory letter prior to the interviewer's visit. For unoccupied units, information will be obtained from landlords, rental agents, or neighbors.

Joint HUD Census reports on the results of the survey are expected to be issued in late 1981. Statistics will be tabulated for the U.S., for each of the four census regions, for urban and rural areas, for Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas as a whole, both inside and outside central cities, and for the remainder of the country (nonmetropolitan areas).

SSI Retirement Checks Expected to Be Larger

People approaching 65 who have no retirement plans should be glad to know that their social security check will be larger when they finally do get it, Dale Branch social security district manager in Norfolk, said recently.

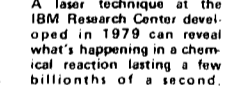

The reason, Branch said, is because of the "delayed retirement credit." This credit increases a person's retirement check for each month he or she does not get a benefit after 65 and before 72.

The credit adds 1/12 of 1 percent for each month - 1 percent for each full year - that a person does not get a check because of work. For people who reach 65 in 1982 and after, the credit will amount to 1/4 of 1 percent for each month, 3 percent for each whole year.

The worker's credit also applies to widow's and widower's benefits.

In addition to these credits, a person's earnings after 65 may also result in a larger check than would have been payable at 65 Branch said.

Of course, Branch said, a person who starts getting benefits at 65 can still work and have significant earnings before his or her checks are affected in 1980, a person 65 or older can earn $5,000

Reeg Families Have Gathering Wayne State Graduates United

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Don Miller of Hartington and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Kropp of Battle Creek.

Guests attending the 1 o'clock double ring ceremony were ushered to their seats by Kevin Hennessey of Long Island, Calif., Larry Habrock of Omaha and Tom Wacker of Battle Creek.

The Rev. Cyril Werner of Hartington officiated. Soloist was Mrs. Cheryl Kopperud of Wayne and organist was Jan Dickinson of Omaha. Wedding music included "The Love is Right," "Trumpet Voluntary," "Through the Eyes of Love," "To Have to Hold," which was written by the best man, Jim Koudelka of Lincoln, "Prelude and Fugue in C Major," and "One Hand, One Heart," sung by the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride appeared in a floor-length gown of white chiffonette designed with a Queen Anne neckline, full sleeves and an accordion pleated A-line skirt which ended in a flounce of crystal pleating. Alencon lace and pearls covered the bodice of the gown. The chapel-length train fell from a raised waistline.

The bride's fingertip veil fell from a headpiece covered with Alencon lace and she carried ivory silk roses, lily of the valley, Stephanotis and baby's breath.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Melody Patman of Plano, Texas, and bridesmaids were Teri Helkes and Sandy Kirby, both of Omaha, Mrs. Amy Menke of Norfolk, Lori Ludwig of Hawarden, Iowa, and Mrs. Denise Miller of Hartington.

Their floor-length gowns of matte jersey were light blue with hand painted flowers in burgundy, cinnamon, dusty rose and navy blue. The two-piece fashions were designed with spaghetti straps and removable capes. They wore a blue rose and baby's breath in their hair and carried lap bouquets in colors to match their gowns.

Flower girl and ring bearer were Amy Meisinger and Mark Meisinger, both of Norfolk. Steve Miller and Brad Arens, all of Hartington.

Jim Koudelka of Lincoln served as best man. Groomsman were Kevin Miller and Chris Miller, both of Hartington, Steve Axford and Scott Johnson, both of Lincoln, and Gordon Krenz of Omaha.

The men wore silver gray tuxedos with white pleated shirts and band bow ties.

Mrs. Miller wore a matte jersey dress in dewdrop blue, and the bridegroom's mother selected a burgundy chiffon fashion.

Nearly 400 guests, registered by Bonnie Kuhl of Council Bluffs, Iowa and Carmen Rosenthal of Davenport, Iowa, attended a reception in the VFW club room in Hartington following the wedding ceremony.

The guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bernhard of Hartington and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Wacker of Battle Creek. Gifts were arranged by Deb Geer of Wayne and Jeanie Baker of Seaside, Calif.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Lella Brummels of Randolph and Tilly Arens of Hartington. Mrs. Darla Moseman of Oakland and Mrs. Pam Janzen of Lincoln poured, and Jull Borney of Omaha and Betty Olson of Battle Creek served punch.

Waitresses were Brenda Arens, Tammi Arens, Shanna Arens, Kristi Arens and Angie Arens, all of Hartington, and Linda Schnitzler and Mary Schnitzler, both of Battle Creek.

The bride, a 1975 graduate of Hartington Public School and a 1979 graduate of Wayne State College, is employed in the Gretna Public Schools. The bridegroom, who teaches in the Omaha Public Schools, was graduated from Battle Creek Public School in 1974 and from Wayne State College in 1978.

The newlyweds are making their home at 3115 S. 69th Ave., No. 3, Omaha, Neb., 68106.

Carlson-Malm Rites

Nanci Carlson and Kent Malm, both of Central City, exchanged wedding vows July 26 at the Wakefield Evangelical Covenant Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Carlson of Allen and Mr. and Mrs. John Ellstrom of Central City.

The couple are at home in Central City following a wedding trip to Missouri and Arkansas.

The bride is a graduate of Wakefield High School and received her teaching degree from the University of Nebraska. She is employed as an elementary teacher in the Central City public schools. The bridegroom, a graduate of Central City High School, is employed at Herk's Welding Shop in Central City.

Dustin Rodger Allemann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodger Allemann of Wayne, was baptized during worship services Sunday at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne. The Rev. Tom Mendenhall officiated.

Dustin's godparents are Donna Black of Grand Island and Dan Carroll of Red Oak, Iowa.

Allemann hosted a dinner in the church basement following the baptism of their son.

Dinner guests included Dustin's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Carroll of Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. Les Allemann of Winside, and his great grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Ed Knapp Sr. of Madison and Mr. and Mrs. John Asmus of Hoskins. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Black and Joshua of Grand Island, Brian Allemann of Winside, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Carroll, Stacy and Chad of Red Oak, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Allemann, Doug, Dean and Dennis Carroll, Peg Pinkleman and the Rev. and Mrs. Tom Mendenhall. Wayne Tennis Tourney Over:

Winners Represent Four States

Tennis players from four states swept honors at the ninth annual Wayne Open Tennis Tournament completed Sunday at the Wayne State College tennis courts. Part one of the tournament was held a week ago and part two was held this past weekend.

Winners in the second half of the tournament represented Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota and New Mexico.

Gretchen Torres, a 13-year-old vacationer from Los Alamos,

N.M. who was visiting relatives in Wayne, captured the women's open singles title by defeating varsity college players in her final two matches.

Torres, an annual vacationer in Wayne, defeated Toni Opplinger of Norfolk 6-1, 6-1 in the finals. She used her two-handed form to out the tourney's top seeds.

Bob Flick of Sioux City was a double winner in the tourney. He defeated Merle Brand of Omaha 4-6, 6-2, 7-6(7-3) in an exciting even match in the men's 35 and over singles.

He then teamed up with Rick LaPointe of Vermillion, S.D. to win the 35 doubles over Brand and Tom Roberts of Wayne 6-2, 6-2.

South Dakota was also represented in the championships by Jim Russo and George Ekeren of Yankton who defeated John Waters and Humberto Ramirez of Lincoln 6-0, 6-4 in the finals of the 'A' doubles.

The men's 'A' singles division was won by John Waters of Fremont who topped Ekeren 6-2, 6-2. Waters was the only Nebraska player to place first in any event.

Wayne was represented by Roberts and Kent Blaser in the two day tournament. In addition to placing second in the 35 doubles, Roberts competed in the 35 singles. He was defeated 6-2, 6-3 by champion Flick. In 'A' singles, Roberts was defeated 10-8 by Ekeren in a pro set.

Blaser lost to Mark Sunderman of Norfolk 10-8 in the 'A' singles. He and partner Will Jnosold of Omaha received a bye in the 'A' doubles division and then lost to champions Russo and Ekeren 6-3, 6-1 in the semifinal round.

Results:

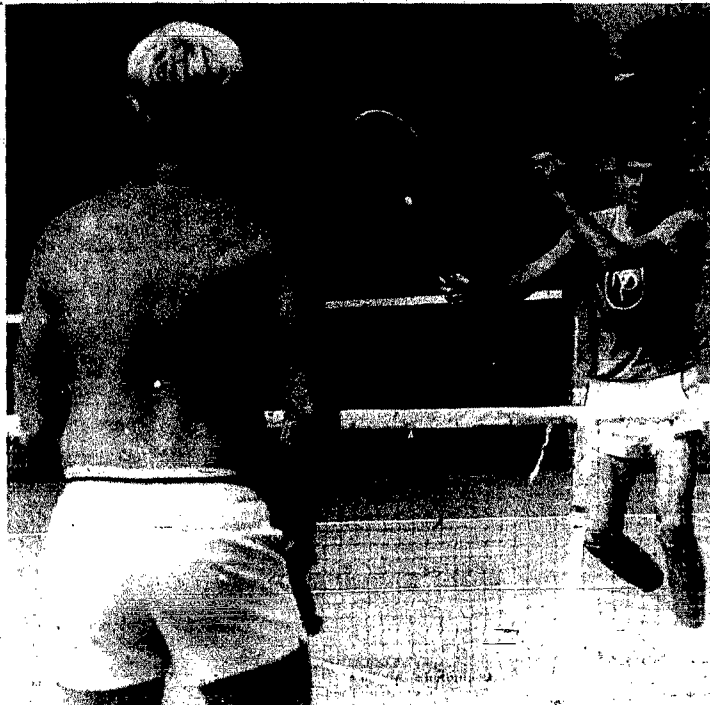

Men's 'A' Singles
John Waters, Fremont, def. George Ekeren, Yankton 6-2, 6-2.

Men's 35-Over Singles
Bob Flick, Sioux City, def. Merle Brand, Omaha 4-6, 6-2, 7-6(7-3).

Men's 'A' Doubles
Jim Russo-George Ekeren, Yankton def. John Waters-Humberto Ramirez, Lincoln 6-0, 6-4.

Men's 35-Over Doubles
Bob Flick-Rick LaPointe, Vermillion def. Merle Brand-Tom Roberts, Wayne 6-2, 6-2.

Women's Open Singles
Gretchen Torres, Los Alamos, N.M. def. Toni Opplinger, Norfolk 6-1, 6-1.

BOB FLICK of Sioux City slams the ball for a point as Merle Brand of Omaha defends. Flick and partner Rick LaPointe defeated Brande and Tom Roberts of Wayne to win the men's 35 doubles title at the Wayne Open, Sunday.

Wakefield Schedules Practice

Football practice at Wakefield High School is scheduled to begin Monday, Aug. 18, coach Dennis Wilbur announced last week. Practice will begin at 7 p.m. on opening day.

The first two days of practice will consist of conditioning and the rest of the week players will workout in full pads.

Physical examinations are required of every player.

Local Winner at Sodracs

Bill Henthorn's Midnight Jane won a five length decision in the stakes event in greyhound racing at Sodracs Park in North Sioux City. The dog is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Samuelson of rural Wayne.

Midnight Jane, the offspring of L.L. Zane and Jane Bolt, earned its seventh win of the season by winning the all-age spring championship.

Royals Camp Tomorrow

The Kansas City Royals are planning to sponsor a baseball tryout camp at Wakefield tomorrow (Friday), under the direction of scout Carl Blando. A similar camp was held by the Royals at Wakefield last year.

The tryouts are open to young men, ages 16-22, who have received permission of their baseball coaches to participate.

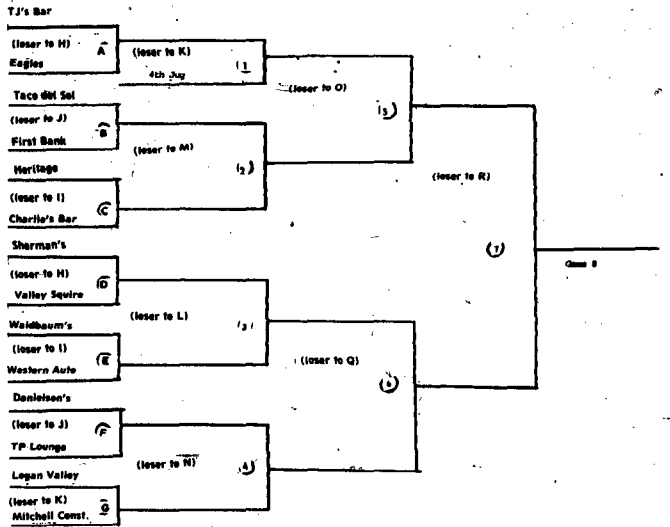

All interested players should meet at the Wakefield ball park at 1:30 p.m. in uniform and with necessary equipment. Athletes will be tested for quickness, arm strength, defensive ability and batting skills. Pitchers will be clocked on the mound.

After the players have been graded by Blando, the best prospects will be divided and will play a game.

GOLF FACTS and FANCIES

Golf handicaps are the great equalizers. They help ensure an exciting and enjoyable round of golf when a scratch amateur and a Sunday afternoon hack team on the links.

Dick Tiddy, head professional at the Bay Hill Club and Lodge in Orlando, Fla., credits the golf course rating system with maintaining the credibility of handicaps.

"An eight handicap on a 6,300-yard course with few bunkers will not hold up on a course like Bay Hill. Without the rating system," he said, "the eight handicapper would lose his shirt playing even against the eight handicapper from a course such as Bay Hill."

The Bay Hill course, Tiddy continued, is rated by the Florida State Golf Association at 73.7 or 2.7 strokes over the suggested par of 71. That means an eight handicapper from a course rated even with its suggested par would receive an additional two or three handicap strokes when playing Bay Hill.

State College Trustees OK Construction, Salary Hike

Wayne State College received approval of the final acceptance of two newly constructed facilities, the maintenance building and botany laboratory, at the August meeting of the Nebraska State College Board of Trustees held at WSC Saturday.

THE COLLEGE also was given approval to apply for non-state funds for Energy Conservation Measures, which will allow WSC to make alterations to buildings to make them more energy efficient. These funds are based upon the ability of the college to pay back with savings on utilities costs in the shortest possible time, while matching funds will be provided by the Department of Energy.

The firm Willcam, Mullins and Birge, Inc. of Omaha, received approval to prepare construction documents to go out for bid on the Education-Humanities Buildings Renovation Project. The college's intentions are to renovate these buildings during this upcoming winter, in order to have them available for occupancy in the fall of 1981.

A LOW contract bid amount of $189,500, by Christensen Construction Company of Pender, was approved in order to proceed with modifications on campus to make facilities and programs available for handicapped persons.

In other measures, the board approved the retail clerk contract, pending clarification of the payroll deduction process. The board also raised a motion to include a request in the 1981-82 budget for a 10.5 percent increase for salaries. Voting for the motion were Keith Kemper of Alliance, Anne Campbell of Lincoln, Muri Mauser of Big Springs and Dave Martin of Kearney; voting against the motions were J. Alan Cramer of Wayne and Ward H. Reasman of Falls City. Board chairman George Rebensdorf of Omaha, who is ill, was absent.

IT ALSO WAS decided during this general meeting of the board that the four state colleges will not participate in a study of teacher education as proposed by the board of regents. It was noted that the study as proposed could lead to a merger of the four state colleges with the University of Nebraska.

Rich Bringelson, executive officer for the trustees, said, "The board is willing to cooperate with any governmental agencies and endorse the concept of a teacher education study, but the trustees do not want to consider the idea of a merger."

The next meeting of the board will be Wednesday, Sept. 10, at a site to be determined.

Hundred-Plus Conditions Affect Corn Pollination

Hundred degree-plus temperatures have reduced pollination in much of the dryland corn around the state, and even in some irrigated corn, where irrigation water cannot offset the effects of overhead heat.

D.G. Hanway, Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources extension agronomist, said sustained high temperatures are affecting corn plants both directly and indirectly, ultimately resulting in earless stalks and ears with few or no kernels.

The problem, Hanway said, is that higher than normal temperature, even for corn, "a hot weather crop," is disrupting Mother Nature's synchronized process of pollen dropping from corn tassels onto emerging silks.

Under normal, favorable conditions, pollen shedding begins near the tip of the tassel two to three days after the tassel is fully emerged. Single cross hybrids shed pollen for only four or five days in hot weather. If stress from lack of water delays ear and silk development, the pollen may be gone. Greatly reduced or no grain yield results from full or partial pollination failure.

However, indirect effects of high temperature, through increased water loss from the plant, usually are more important than direct effects, Hanway explained.

"If water loss from the leaves exceeds the rate of uptake from the soil by the roots, water stress develops within the plant. When corn plants wilt, stress is already severe. And growth will be reduced or cease before the water shortage in tissues results in wilting.

"This stress affects the tassel less than the ear," the agronomist added. When the tassel emerges, it is almost fully developed, requiring little additional growth to carry it through pollination.

At tassel emergence, the small ear and silks are growing rapidly inside the husks. "Water stress will limit this growth, and severe stress will stop it," Hanway emphasized.

In its early developmental stages, the ear consists of many small cells, products of cell division, which determine the number of kernels and size of ear. Hanway continued. Normal, rapid growth of the ear and silk results from enlargement of the small cells, not an increase in numbers of cells, he said.

He cited two requirements for ear development:

Water or turgor pressure inside the small cells must provide the force to stretch and expand the cell walls.

Food materials developed by photosynthesis must be available to build permanent cell walls and the essential structure of the expanded cells.

Water stress in the plant, depending on its severity, may both limit or stop cell growth and slow photosynthesis, restricting food available for rapid growth of ear and silks.

High temperatures also affect the basic growth process of the corn plant, Hanway said. Corn growth is limited until temperatures exceed 50 degrees F, and with favorable water, nutrients and light, growth increases until temperatures reach 60 to 90 degrees F.

"Optimum conditions for high yields are temperatures reaching 65 to 90 degrees F in daytime and dropping to 60 to 65 degrees F at night," Hanway explained. Cool night temperatures are needed to reduce the rate of respiration by corn plant cells. When temperatures remain high through the night, the continued high rate of respiration burns up the products formed by photosynthesis and leaves little for growth or storage.

Lack of moisture also can affect germination even after a pollen grain has landed on a silk. Hanway stated. Time from pollination to fertilization of the corn kernel is usually about 24 hours. If high temperatures and rapid water loss make the silk dry at its surface, the pollen grain will not germinate and grow down and through the silk.

"This may be a bigger factor in the failure of the pollination process than the effect of heat on the pollen grain itself," Hanway speculated.

When temperatures exceed 100 degrees, another direct effect — the inactivation of enzymes in the cells — begin to show up and increase as the temperature continues to rise.

Enzymes, which carry out living processes in the cells are a form of protein. "An egg white also is protein, and everyone knows what happens when a little heat is applied," Hanway related.

"The effect of inactivating the enzymes becomes very important when leaf and tassel temperatures reach 110 to 115 degrees F," he said.

The drying up or "blasting" of the top of the tassel and scorching of top leaves by extremely hot, drying winds over several hours is familiar to corn farmers, Hanway said.

Extreme conditions cause this to happen even in irrigated fields, and commonly in non-irrigated fields as soil moisture declines and becomes less available to the plant, the crop specialist said.

The condition is most likely in sandy soils with a limited water holding capacity. "Extended periods of hot weather, as recently experienced over wide areas of Nebraska, cause evapotranspiration of one-fourth to one-third inch of water per day. This rate of loss without replenishment by rain or irrigation water takes most of the moisture out of the soil zone, and causes severe water stress.

Unfortunately, this highly visible condition, irreversible as far as grain yields are concerned, is a normal result of the hot weather conditions. The rate of evapotranspiration is usually about 0.25 inch per day, but can be as high as 0.5 inch per day in some areas.

USDA Issues Crop County Purchase Grain Loan Rates

County loan and purchase rates for 1980-crop corn, wheat, oats, soybeans, sorghum, barley, and rye were announced by Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

CORN — Rates for corn are based on the national average loan and purchase rate of $2.25 per bushel, 15 cents above the 1979-crop corn. Prices have strengthened significantly on the Atlantic coast, and in the Gulf states and Kansas, which warranted an increase in these states of one cent for a net increase of 78 cents, Fitzgerald said. County rates in Texas were increased two cents per bushel for a net increase of 17 cents to reflect the strong increase in corn prices there in relationships to other corn-producing areas. The schedule of premiums and discounts is unchanged from the 1979 crop, Fitzgerald said.

WHEAT — Rates for wheat grading No. 1 or better are based on the national average loan rate of $3 per bushel, 50 cents above the previously announced 1980 wheat loan rate. The relationship of the county rates remain the same as previously announced, Fitzgerald said.

Reduced Price Meal Prices Announced

F.R. Haun, superintendent, has announced its policy for determining eligibility of children who may receive free and reduced price meals served under the National School Lunch and Special Milk Programs.

Local school officials have adopted the following family size income criteria for determining eligibility.

Family Size	Free Meals	Reduced Price Meal-Lunch
1	$0 to $ 5,230	$ 5,231 to $ 6,150
2	$0 to $ 6,900	$ 6,901 to $10,760
3	$0 to $ 8,580	$ 8,581 to $13,380
4	$0 to $10,250	$10,251 to $15,990
5	$0 to $11,930	$11,931 to $18,600
6	$0 to $13,600	$13,601 to $21,220
7	$0 to $15,280	$15,281 to $23,830
8	$0 to $16,950	$16,951 to $26,440

Each additional child over 1,680

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free or reduced meals. In addition, families not meeting these criteria but with other unusual expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 percent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply.

Application forms are being sent to all homes in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year. A simple statement of income and family size is required, plus a signed certification by the parent or guardian that the information provided is correct.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals for them, they should contact the school.

Under the provisions of the policy principals will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, the parent may wish to discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis.

If a family wishes to make a formal appeal, they may make a request either orally or in writing to F.R. Haun, Supt., 611 West 7th Street, Wayne, Neb. 68787; phone number 375-3150, for a hearing to appeal the decision. The policy contains an outline of the hearing procedure.

If a family member becomes unemployed or if a family size of income changes, the family should contact the school to file a new application. Such changes may make the children of the family eligible for reduced price meals or for an additional benefit such as free meals if the family income falls at or below the levels shown above.

In the operation of school nutrition programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, color or national origin.

Each school and the office of the superintendent has a copy of the complete policy, which may be reviewed by any interested party.

For the past 10 weeks, the first Nebraska Army National Guard Infantry Platoon ever sent from this state has been making a name for itself at Ft. Benning, Ga. — home of the US Army Infantry School. Here, this group of young men from eastern Nebraska are undergoing their 12-week basic training cycle as Infantrymen.

Two members of the Recruiting and Retention staff at the Nebraska National Guard Headquarters in Lincoln recently visited the platoon at Ft. Benning. They were major Robert B. Robeson, State Recruiting and Retention Manager and SSG Tom R. Lovell, III, TV and Radio Coordinator. While there, they had an opportunity to interview the Commander of Company B, 7th Bn, 1st Infantry Training Bde, the 1st Platoon (Nebraska Platoon) Drill Instructor, observe the platoon training in the field, and visit with the Nebraskans.

The "Nebraska Infantry Platoon" is a group of 47 recent enlistees in the Nebraska Army National Guard who flew from Omaha to Ft. Benning for basic training on May 25, 1980. They are all members of the 1st and 2nd Battalions, 134th Infantry, Nebraska Army National Guard.

The 1st Battalion is made up of units in O'Neill, Wayne, Norfolk, Columbus, Wahoo and Omaha. The 2nd Battalion consists of units from Nebraska City, Crete, Hastings, Auburn, Beatrice, Fairbury and Falls City.

This special platoon is tentatively scheduled to complete its training, graduate and return to Nebraska on August 14th.

Courage, at Fort Benning, Ga. is the art of displaying faith you don't have — which you fervently hope you will have — by the time the next 12 mile forced march comes along. Or by Judgment Day. Whichever comes first.

Dennis Tullberg, Wakefield resident and member of Co. A (Det 1), 134th Inf. of the Nebraska Army National Guard in Wayne, knows the feeling well. He'll be returning home on Aug 14 with 46 other Nebraskans who are in the final stages of completing their 12-week stint as members of Nebraska's first-ever Infantry Platoon.

Tullberg, just returned from the live-fire assault course, was covered with camouflage paint and multiple layers of sweat and dust. In that condition, the 5'11, 152-pound, 18-year-old could probably go unrecognized by his own mother. Nobody told him basic training would be easy.

The blue-eyed young man with the light brown hair had just graduated from Wakefield High School a week before the platoon left Omaha for Fort Benning. He was a defensive nose guard on Wakefield's football team and also played the opposite way as an offensive guard and on the specialty teams.

"I joined the Guard because of the benefits," Tullberg said. "I went for the $1,500 bonus and the 75% tuition waiver at college. I think I'll use the bonus toward a new car when I get back," he added.

Dennis is the son of Myron and Donna Tullberg of RR 2 in Wakefield. His father farms and also is employed by the Milton G. Waldbaum Company.

"I think basic training has helped my confidence level," Tullberg said. "I feel as though I've grown up a bit in the 10 weeks I've been here. I think my attitude has changed a lot concerning life and doing things on my own," he added.

The Commander of Co. B, 7th Bn, 1st Infantry Training Bde at Fort Benning is ILT Wilto Helenius, a 1976 West Point graduate. "Personally, I think the platoon concept is an outstanding idea," he said. "The Nebraska platoon, overall, is probably my best platoon — you can see the closeness. The people know each other already and, as a result, I think they work together better," he added.

"If I had more platoons like this, it would definitely make my job easier." The Nebraska Platoon has won Honor Platoon seven out of the last eight weeks. ILT Helenius and 1st platoon (Nebraska Platoon) Drill Instructor SSG Albert Pellegrino both agree they have a good chance to be selected Honor platoon of the cycle.

"The platoon concept is good to have," Tullberg said. "We're all from Nebraska. Five other friends joined from Wakefield at the same time I did and my best friends are down here with me," he added. "We do our best because we want to put our state on top."

Tullberg intends to enter college at Norfolk Tech a year from this fall. He plans to study auto body repair and auto mechanics with a goal of being a high school teacher in these specialties.

This young man from Wakefield has discovered that the "coming to life" of basic training, just like anything new, is not easy. It's a slow, often torturous process. He's had an opportunity, after eighteen summers, to study himself and his emotions in the daily presence of competition. If this week was any indication, it's an experience that should stay with him for quite awhile.

Energy Seminar Planned

A Small Farm Energy Seminar will be held in Hartington on Aug 15 and 16.

Sponsored by the Small Farm Energy Project, this third annual seminar will allow the public to view the results of the project which has worked with 24 Cedar County farm families for three years.

More than half the energy used by the 24 project farms is in the form of liquid fuels for tractors and other vehicles. To lower the liquid fuel cost to the farmer, the project has recently undertaken the development of experimental farm alcohol fuel systems. The seminar will include a report on the progress of the alcohol work. The project's alcohol research differs from previous project activities which mainly emphasized demonstration of well known energy saving devices and techniques such as solar energy.

Seminar registration is $14 per day which includes bus transportation for the farm tours. For more information contact the Small Farm Energy Project, Box 736, Hartington, Neb. 68739, 402-254-6893.

Expenses Can Be Cut With Abundance

Cattle producers living in alfalfa-rich Nebraska can take advantage of the state's alfalfa abundance and lower their out-of-pocket expenses for supplementing growing rations, according to research conducted at the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Results of the study conducted at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's Northeast Station at Concord were presented here July 28 at the annual meeting of the American Society of Animal Science by Dr. Vernon E. Krause, assistant professor of animal science and district livestock specialist at the Concord station. Collaborating on the research was Dr. Robert A. Britton, associate professor of animal science at UNL.

Krause said 150 head of cattle were tested at three moisture levels to compare alfalfa silages and hay in corn silage rations. The studies used alfalfa harvested as hay (85 percent dry matter), haylage (60 percent dry matter) and silage (30 percent dry matter) to determine the value of alfalfa as a nitrogen source in corn silage rations.

This was particularly true, Krause said, when the cattle require higher amounts of preformed protein in the lower tracks.

"Compared to harvesting alfalfa as hay or haylage, wilted silage has the advantage of reduced dry matter loss in the field, decreased chance of storage losses, lessened dependence on dry weather during harvesting, faster removal of the crop from the field as well as improved feeding value of silage, compared to haylage or hay when fed in corn silage ration," Krause said.

When fed alone, alfalfa supplies more nitrogen than is needed by growing cattle, so nitrogen in the alfalfa could be more efficiently used when fed with lower protein feeds like corn silage.

The Nebraska producer, then, Krause said, can utilize feed he has on hand more efficiently by using alfalfa to supplement his growing rations. The same cost of gain is realized with alfalfa as the protein source as it is with soybean meal, Krause said.

The Commodity Credit Corporation has rejected all bids made to sell its corn under the latest purchase announcement and has concealed any future corn purchases under its Jan. 22 purchase invitation, Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland said recently.

As of June 24, CCC had purchased 159.7 million bushels (4,057,371 metric tons) of corn Bergland said.

The special purchase program was part of the overall continuing effort to isolate from the market a quantity of corn equal to that suspended from shipment to the Soviet Union under a presidential directive issued Jan. 4.

With a strengthening corn market there had been little incentive to sell to the CCC when better prices could be expected on the open market, Bergland said.

Also, on July 31, CCC completed its sale of corn contract rights that had been acquired as a result of the suspension of exports to the Soviet Union. This corn contract rendering process had been completed with no apparent adverse impact on market prices.

Therefore, current purchase plans for corn have been fulfilled and the purchase invitation from the Kansas City Commodity Office has been cancelled.

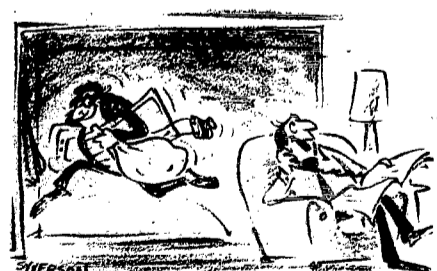

Following is a breakdown of the purchases:

STATE	QUANTITY (bu.)

Pork Outlook Both Good, Bad

There's both good and bad news in the economic outlook for pork producers the rest of this year and through 1981, according to an economist in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Larry Bitney, extension farm management specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, tells it this way: "The good news is hog prices are getting better. The bad news is feed costs are up."

The brightest spot in the outlook appears to be later in 1981, when hog prices could move into the $50 per hundredweight range. If farrowing predictions hold true and the economy improves.

An important indicator of future trends in the hog market, Bitney said, is the June 1, 1980, U.S. Department of Agriculture Hogs and Pigs Report which gave the first indication of liquidation of breeding animals. The report shows the breeding inventory as of June 1 down 8 percent and farrowing intentions for June through December down 8 percent.

The supply of hogs will go down if the intentions hold true, breaking a five-year increase in supply numbers. Since the 1975 low in hog numbers, Bitney said, "we've been building numbers ever since." In 1980, estimates put the number of hogs at 40 percent above the 1975 low.

Considering the number of hogs on hand, Bitney said, an 8 percent reduction is not considerable, but it is important if it points to a turnaround in the growth cycle.

News of the prospects of lower animal numbers and the reduced number of hogs brought to market in recent weeks have pushed the current price of hogs into the mid to low $40's, which should enable average and above-average producers to recover their production costs, Bitney said. Since mid-1979, producers have been unable to recover total costs of production.

Even though the number of breeding animals was down 8 percent June 1, Bitney said the number of market hogs expected to come to market this fall is about 5 percent above the number at market a year ago.

Hog prices could remain above year-ago levels this fall because the supply of competing meats is down, but the price will probably drop into the $30's.

In December and early 1981, Bitney said, prices may edge up into the low to mid $40's again, based on the June 1 farrowing intentions.

If the cutback in hog numbers continues into 1981 and if demand strengthens in terms of the economy, the price could move into the $50's later in 1981. That, however, depends on the prices of feed grains and soybeans and the effect weather has on those prices. High corn or soybean meal prices will likely cause a sharper cutback in hog production.

In a farrow-to-finish operation, Bitney said, the cost of producing market hogs increases roughly $1 per hundredweight for each 17-cent per bushel increase in the price of corn.

Production costs go up $1 per hundredweight for every $30 per ton price increase in soybean meal.

Nebraska producers, Bitney said, are cutting back more than the national average reported in the June 1 survey. While the breeding animals inventory is down 8 percent nationally, the cutback in Nebraska is 19 percent. And farrowing intentions, which are down 8 percent nationwide, are down 14 percent in Nebraska.

Nebraska producers, then, may experience some strength in the market in relation to other states, but the margin will not be great. The only other state that showed as much as 19 percent cutback in breeding animals numbers was Ohio.

The spring pig crop that will be marketed during the last quarter of this year was up on percent over 1979, while in Nebraska the number was down 10 percent.

"Generally," Bitney said, "Nebraska producers reacted to the low price situation and cut back more than producers in other states."

Mini-Rod Pull Results

Results of the Wayne County Fair Mini Rod Tractor Pull are as follows:

- 1,550 Class — Jeff Pribnow, Scribner, first; Joey Brehmer, Pender, second; Roger Williamsen, Craig, third; Larry Schulte, Newcastle, fourth.
- 1,750 Class — Clark Bettenhausen, Bancroft, first; Bob Dowling, Ravenna, second; Jim Pribnow, Scribner, third; Jon Williamsen, address unknown, fourth.

Corn Estimates Down

Corn production on Aug. 1 is forecast at 632.4 million bushels, down 17 percent from the July 1 forecast, according to the Nebraska Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Total production, if realized, would be 20 percent below last year's record crop. The yield is forecast at 93 bushels per acre, down 13 bushels from the previous month and 22 bushels below last year's record high yield. Acres intended for grain harvest totaled 6.8 million, a reduction of 350,000 acres from last month and down 1 percent from last year.

Dryland corn production is forecast at 78 million bushels, 58 percent below last year. Farmers intend to harvest 1.85 million acres of dryland corn for grain, down 14 percent from last year. Yield is forecast at 42.2 bushels per acre, down 44.1 bushels from 1979 and lowest since 1976. Condition of this year's dryland crop was the poorest in recent years dating back to 1976 and 1974.

Irrigated corn production is forecast at 554.4 million bushels, down 9 percent from a year ago. Farmers' intentions are to harvest 4.95 million acres, an increase of 4 percent over 1979. This acreage represents nearly three-fourths of the acres to be harvested for grain. Yield is forecast at 112 bushels per acre, 16 bushels less than last year.

Production of sorghum grain is forecast at 102.3 million bushels, down 29 percent from the 1979 crop. Forecast yield per acre stands at 53 bushels, 26 bushels below 1979. Acreage for harvest is up 5 percent from last year at 1.93 million.

Soybean production is forecast at 48.1 million bushels, down 12 percent from the 1979 crop. Expected yield is down 7 bushels from last year at 27 bushels per acre. Acreage for harvest is the largest on record, at 1.78 million, or 11 percent above last year.

The Nebraska wheat crop is estimated at 114.7 million bushels. This forecast remained the same as the previous month and is 32 percent above 1979's production. Yield per acre stands at 37 bushels, up 3 bushels from last year.

Oats production is estimated at 15.6 million bushels, 23 percent less than the 1979 crop. The average yield of 41 bushels per acre is down 12 bushels from last year.

Hay production in Nebraska is forecast at 5.97 million tons, down 22 percent from last year's crop.

The Zion Walther League met with their sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Clem Weich, on Aug. 6 at the church.

Changes in the constitution were discussed. The society will be called ZEY (Zion East Young People).

Volleyball furnished entertainment. President Roger Saegerbarth conducted the business meeting and Jackie Bargstad served lunch.

Next meeting will be Aug. 20.

Dorcas Society

Christine Lueker was hostess when the Dorcas Society of the Peace United Church of Christ met last Thursday afternoon. Guests were Mrs. Lena Ulrich and Mrs. Bill Fenske.

The Rev. John C. David opened the meeting with prayer. Roll call was a scripture verse. Mrs. Norris Langenberg read a report of last month's meeting and Mrs. George Langenberg Sr. gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Raymond Walker, president, conducted the business meeting. A cheer card was sent to Mrs. Vernon Behmer.

Mrs. Carl Wittler and Mrs. George Langenberg Sr. were honored with the birthday song, and the meeting closed with prayer.

Mrs. Norris Langenberg was program leader and opened with the hymn "Fairest Lord Jesus". She also led the Bible study on the conclusion of the topic, "Jesus, the Man".

Next meeting will be on Sept. 4. Mrs. Reuben Puls will be hostess and the Rev. John David will have the topic.

Lutheran Women

Members of the Zion Lutheran Ladies Aid met with president Mrs. Mel Freeman last Thursday afternoon at the church.

Mrs. Freeman opened with an article, entitled "Don't Stay Away From Church." She also had prayer.

For roll call, members donated three cents to the penny pot if they attended church the previous Sunday and five cents if they did not. The secretary and treasurer's reports were given by Mrs. Elaine Ehlers and Mrs. Ralph Kruger. A report also was given by the card committee.

Women are planning to meet at the church Aug. 18 to re-do hymnals. It was announced that the annual Mission Festival will be held Sunday, Aug. 24.

Mrs. Lester Koepke and Mrs. Darrell Kruger will serve on the flower committee for August. The Rev. Robin Fish was leader for the topic, "The Holy Scripture," with all members taking part. The meeting closed with prayer.

Mrs. Elaine Ehlers was honored with the birthday song. Hostesses were Mrs. Ralph Kruger and Mrs. Lester Koepke. Next meeting will be Sept. 4. Hostesses will be Mrs. Mel Freeman and Mrs. Don Walker.

Trinity Ladies Aid

The Ladies Aid of the Trinity Lutheran Church met last Thursday afternoon in the school basement. Guests were Mirlam and Michelle Koehler.

The meeting opened with a hymn and devotions by the Rev. Wesley Bruss. The topic, entitled "Adaphora and Giving Offense to the Weak," was given by Mrs. Alfred Mangels, with all members taking part.

Mrs. Orville Broekemeler, president, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Scott Deck read a report of last month's meeting and Mrs. Doug Deck gave the treasurer's report. Communications were read and committee reports heard.

Members were reminded of Teacher's Convention, which will be held Oct. 16 and 17.

Mrs. Leonard Marten reported on the LWMS officers meeting she attended in Stanton. She also reported on the Mission Festival held July 27.

Mrs. Scott Deck and Mrs. E. C. Fenske will serve on the visiting committee for August.

The birthday song was sung for Mrs. Gerald Bruggeman and Mrs. Kathryn Rieck, and the meeting closed with a hymn and prayer. Hostesses were Mrs. Leonard Marten and Mrs. Kathryn Rieck.

Guest Day will be observed at the next meeting, Sept. 4. Mrs. Leonard Marten, Mrs. Wesley Bruss and Mrs. Orville Broekemeler were named to the program committee.

The Bill Swiharts, Chicago, were Aug. 4 afternoon visitors in the Herman Opfer home.

Burglars Take Several Items

Wayne State College's Rice Auditorium was burglarized during early morning hours on Tuesday. The building was entered through a southwest window well. Windows and locks were broken and the supply room cabinets for football, basketball and track were ransacked.

Items taken from the supply room were: a black game jersey (number 36), four dozen gold short sleeve practice jerseys, two dozen white practice jerseys, one new football, one new pair of football shoes (size 11), and eight black track jackets.

The office of Dr. LeRoy Simpson, associate professor of physical education, was also burglarized. Taken were two .32 caliber starting pistols, two stop watches and one $20 bill.

Damage to windows and locks brought the total value of the burglary to $778.

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the work week of August 18-23. Leo C. Schilling, director of the bureau's regional office in Denver, announced the survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 84,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the Nation.

For example, in June the survey indicated that of the 104.5 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 96.5 million were employed. The Nation's unemployment rate was 7.7 percent, about the same as the 7.8 percent in May, but substantially higher than the 7.0 percent recorded in April.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

HERE'S A GREAT NEW WAY TO SAVE ON YOUR 1980 INCOME TAXES!

Did you pay too much money in taxes last year? If the answer is "yes" then it's time to think about G.I.F.T.™

G.I.F.T.—Guaranteed Income For Tomorrow—is a great new retirement annuity and tax deferral program for the not-so-rich. You don't pay any taxes on your growing cash value until you actually withdraw your money, usually at retirement. Then you'll probably be in a much lower tax bracket. Which means less taxes to pay!

What's more, the growth of G.I.F.T.'s cash values is based on the high interest rates of our Certificates of Deposit. You can add to your G.I.F.T. annuity in amounts as low as $1,000. Plus, at retirement, you may receive all of your money at once—or enjoy one of a variety of options that can provide a monthly income for as long as you live.

If it sounds too good to be true, call your nearest Columbus Federal location and find out about G.I.F.T. firsthand. If you'd find it more convenient, just mail the coupon for full details.

Record Crowd at the Fair

A COMBINATION OF the annual free barbecue feed of pork and beef and big-name country western entertainment helped draw the largest Wayne County Fair crowd ever recorded. An estimated 6,000 people, roughly 1,000 persons more than the population of Wayne, attended events at the fair Friday night. The feed line stretched well past the grandstand area for about an hour, while fairgoers partook of about one ton of meat along with potato chips, beans, ice cream and drink.

To Ride or Not to Ride

CAUTIONS ANTICIPATED: This little tyke seems to be summing up his forthcoming ride at the Wayne County Fair with uncertainty. With the support of his nearby Mother, the young fellow quickly overcame his unfounded fears, however, and enjoyed a lengthy and circular tour of the Midway Saturday afternoon.

State Guard Members Are Coming Home

Some 49 members of the Nebraska Army National Guard's Infantry Platoon have completed their basic and advanced individual training and are scheduled to return to Omaha today (Thursday).

The new enlistees are all members of various units of the 1st and 2nd Battalions, 134th Infantry, Nebraska Army National Guard, located in Eastern Nebraska. Transportation from Epply Airfield to their respective armories is provided by the guard.

The men all left May 25 for Fort Jackson, S.C., where they underwent eight weeks of basic training. They were then moved to Fort Benning, Ga., where they received their individual training as infantrymen.

Among those from the Wayne area who will be returning are Dennis Tullberg, Richard K. Wortman, Kevin Wurdeman, Alan Ruzicka, Roy Rewinkel, all Wakefield, and Thomas S. Sturges Jr., Allen. Several others will return as part of Co. A (Det), 1st Bn., 134th Inf., in Wayne. They are from Waterbury, Ainsworth, Newcastle and Mankato.

THE ALWAYS-popular demolition derby drew a standing-room-only crowd Sunday night as the final event of the Wayne County Fair. Sponsored by the Wayne Jaycees, the event included considerable action similar to that pictured above.

Demolition Derby Winners

Gary Suckstorf, Pierce, took top honors in the Demolition Derby by Sunday night at the final Wayne County Fair event. He took home $250 for his efforts. Also in the finals, Gary Cooper of Bancroft took second for $150 and Don Straight of Wayne was third for $100. In the consolation heat, Larry Creighton of Wayne was first. He received $100. Brian Denkiau of Wayne and Dennis Kratke of Pender tied for second and each received $50. Heat winners and their evening's winnings were as follows:

 First Heat — Gary Kay, first, $50. Jerry Bargman, second, $50.
 Second Heat — Ben Carmen, first, $50. Gary Cooper, second, $50.

Third Heat — Bob Wacker, first, $50. Delwin Herbolzheimer, second, $50.
 Fourth Heat — Don Straight, first, $100. Tom Meyer, second, $100.
 Fifth Heat — Gary Suckstorf, first, $250. Mike Sievers, second, $50.

Bereuter Wants State's Share Road Aid

Congressman Doug Bereuter said he will urge the U.S. Department of Transportation to redistribute highway aid so Nebraska and other states that have been "short-changed" receive their fair share of highway funds. In a letter to be sent to Transportation Secretary Neil Goldschmidt, Bereuter said that unfair cutbacks made by the administration resulted in Nebraska and several other states being "short-changed" in federal aid for highways for FY 1980. The administration's "first come, first served" funding formula meant that Maryland, for example, received more than 200 per cent of an anticipated highway aid, while Nebraska and other states suffered unreasonable cutbacks, Bereuter said. Bereuter urged Goldschmidt to follow the "expressed will of Congress" and allow states that were underfunded to have "first shot" at highway funds that are unobligated and available for redistribution Aug. 15. As much as $300 million may be redistributed. Nebraska is among nine states to have filed suit against the Federal government because of the unfair allocation formula administered by the Department of Transportation, Bereuter said. Nebraska stands to receive only 64 per cent of the $79 million the state originally expected for FY 1980, Bereuter said, citing figures supplied by the State Attorney General's office.
