United Way Again Tops Goal; Raises More Than $15,600 Here

Residents of Wayne can be proud of the fact that once again they have helped the Wayne Community Chest meet its goal.

Drive officials met Friday noon and learned that the $15,500 goal set by the Community Chest this year was not only met, but surpassed. Secretary Marilyn Carhart said as of Friday noon early $15,600 in donations had been received, with still more donations to come in.

COMMUNITY Chest president Pat Gross said he was extremely happy with the results considering the current economic situation. Gross said that several groups active in the city and area will be benefited.

FROM THE monies received, the city recreation program, which provides a variety of recreational activities for both youths and adults, will receive $4,325, the largest share of the total.

Sports programs supported by the Wayne Recreation Association include football for boys, basketball for boys, girls and men, baseball for pee wee through midget boys, softball for girls, golf, tennis, swimming, wrestling and volleyball.

There also is the Middle Center for Middle School youngsters. Hank Overin directs most of the sports activities, with many volunteers providing leadership in all activities, including the Summer Park Recreation program which yearly attracts scores of children.

RECEIVING $3,600 will be the Mid-America Council of Boys Scouts, which benefits some 100 boys and leaders in the city. The Prairie Hills Council of Girl Scouts has requested $3,000. The Girl Scout Council, like the Boy Scout professional staff, provides the trained leadership necessary to keep the volunteer local program active. Wayne troops have some 80 girls and leaders.

THE WAYNE Senior Citizens Center, a purely local organization, will receive $800. About 400 Wayne residents participate in the Center's numerous activities under the direction of Mrs. Jociell Bull.

The Salvation Army will receive $850 and the Arthritis Foundation has requested $1,150.

Other allocations from this year's Wayne Community Chest fund drive will be $300 to the Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation; $275 to the Florence Crittenton Home in Sioux City; and $200 to the American Red Cross.

GROSS said many persons deserve special thanks for the time and effort they put forth to make the drive a success.

Drive chairman this year was Grant Ellington. Assistant drive chairman was Dan Field.

CITY RESIDENTS were kept informed on the progress of the Community Chest fund drive by watching the rising contributions on a thermometer located at Seventh and Main Sts.

Gross added that this year's goal was met with the help of Wayne-Carroll High School students who attended an all-school disco dance Nov. 14 to involve the students in the campaign. Students Lisa Remer and Perry Nelson were instrumental in organizing the dance.

Proceeds from the dance amounted to nearly $175.

IN SPEAKING to board members Friday, Gross thanked them for the many hours they spent soliciting funds. He especially thanked Marilyn Carhart for all her leg work as secretary of the Wayne Community Chest.

Working on this year's board under the direction of Gross were Doug Sturm, Cap Peterson, Verneal Ellington, Merle Rise, LaVon Beckman, Sheryl Jordan, Vaughn Benson, Randy Pederson, Fred Webber, Ed Carroll and Wilma Moore.

New Honor Students

Ex-Student Causes Disturbance

A 29 year old former Wayne State College student who Thursday morning held several law enforcement officials at bay with various weapons and threats is expected to remain in County Jail at least until his arraignment Dec. 4.

TERRY OBERST, a student here briefly from 1975-1977, was handcuffed and arrested after five law enforcement personnel wrestled him to the stage floor in Ramsey Theatre about 11:30 a.m. He was escorted by a Highway Patrol trooper to one of seven police cars outside the Val Peterson Fine Arts Building.

Oberst was later charged by County Attorney Budd Bornhoff with criminal mischief for "intentionally damaging a piano and drum" in excess of $100 belonging to the state of Nebraska. He is being held on a cash bond of $300 and has indicated he plans to remain in jail "to straighten himself out."

The fracas began on the theater stage shortly before 10 a.m. when Oberst reportedly became abusive and threatening to James Day, professor of music at WSC and Dr. Jay O'Leary, head of the Fire Arts Division.

According to Capt. Derald Soden, WSC security chief, Day was going to clean a concert piano on the Ramsey stage in preparation for an upcoming recital when he heard Oberst banging/playing the piano.

WHEN THE FORMER student was asked to stop, he apparently became abusive and threatened violence. Day then summoned Dr. O'Leary who similarly was threatened when requesting that Oberst leave the piano alone. Oberst continued his incoherent outburst and allegedly threw something believed to be a rock — at them. He then threw a drum off the stage. O'Leary called campus security.

Captain Soden arrived about 10:15 and met with similar jibberish from Oberst about violence. Oberst reportedly pulled a 10 inch kitchen knife from under his loose fitting clothing, warning Soden not to come on stage.

As more law enforcement officials arrived, Oberst became increasingly abusive and threatening, but at the same time requesting the presence of some local acquaintances and his attorney from Omaha.

ONE OF THE persons requested, former WSC student Sam Hepburn, arrived and sat in the front row of the auditorium, beginning a dialogue of sorts with the disturbed Oberst. All the while, however, Oberst continued to pace back and forth on stage, waving the knife and tossing a fist sized rock in to the air and then catching it.

At one point, raising the knife to his chest, he threatened suicide, saying that "if Jim Jones can do it, so can I." However, he went on with his non-sensical antics.

Oberst, who reportedly has been institutionalized on several occasions, requested such things as "a joint", a "Coca Cola", a "drink of water" and "a sexy blonde to take notes."

Only a can of Pepsi and a cigarette were given to him.

ANOTHER OF THE persons requested was Dr. Bob Johnson, WSC professor of speech, who had known Oberst as a student here. When Johnson arrived, he briskly walked down the auditorium aisle, called "Terry!" in a sharp voice and walked onto the stage, not knowing Oberst had the knife.

Oberst, in a gesture that stunned the dozen persons in the auditorium, knelt to the floor, bowed his head in a servile like manner and handed the knife handless first to the surprised Johnson. Oberst briefly held out his wrists, but rose to his feet and talked quietly with Johnson for a few minutes.

After a short while, Johnson left the stage and later Hepburn arrived. Oberst and Hepburn sat alone on a bench toward the back of the stage, talking between themselves, with Oberst shouting occasional threats at the officers.

IT WAS DURING the time when Hepburn and Oberst were talking a minute to get me a drink of water or this rock goes at the head of a pig.

Oberst, who came to Wayne State in 1975 after attending Brown University back East, had a troubled tenure here. He was placed on disciplinary probation for violating campus rules and left college in 1977.

He arrived back in Wayne Tuesday night and caused a mild disturbance during a program on religious cults Wednesday night at Ramsey Theatre.

DESPITE HIS beleaguered past, several of his poetic works were published nationally. Four of these are reprinted elsewhere on this page.

WITH HIGHWAY Patrol Trooper Dave Headley (above, left) rapidly approaching, Trooper Terry Rogers begins to subdue Terry Oberst who had threatened officers and bystanders with bodily harm for more than an hour Thursday morning. He was quickly wrestled down, handcuffed and led away. At right, one of the other troopers stands with a handcuffed Oberst before he was placed inside one of seven police cars outside Ramsey Theatre.

Ag Society Elects Its Officers for This Year

The first new president since 1957 was elected to the Wayne County Agricultural Society at its annual meeting Thursday, Nov. 13.

RICHARD SORENSEN, an area hog producer, was elected to head the group, replacing Leland Herman who decided not to seek re-election. Herman was elected president 23 years ago, and has been a member of the board of directors since 1946.

Sorensen has been on the board since 1969. Re-elected vice president was Marty Willers; treasurer, David Ley; and secretary-manager, Marilyn Koch.

LELAND WAS re-elected for three years on the board of directors, along with Robert Schulthies, Don Peters and Albert Topp. Terry Janke, Winside, was named to the board, replacing his father, Warner, who has been on the board since 1969.

Also at their regular meeting, Wayne County Fair dates for next summer were announced. They will be Aug. 6 through Aug. 9. Fair Manager Koch says the same basic format with pickup pull, demolition derby, mini-tractor, pull, barbecue, etc., scheduled.

Jailed Man's Poems Reflect His Outburst

(Editor's Note: Terry Oberst, arrested by local authorities after an incident at Wayne State College Thursday, has shown some literary talent over the years.

In fact, some of his works have been published nationally. A few of his poems, believed to be written between 1963 and 1977, are printed here.)

Political Change To Provide Some Impact

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
By M.M. Van Kirk,
Director of Information.

Congress must do a rewrite on farm program legislation in 1981 to succeed the Food and Agriculture Act of 1977 which will expire next year, and the change from a Democratic to a Republican Administration is sure to have an impact on the kind of law which is written.

Commodities to be affected include wheat, feed grains, upland cotton, rice, soybeans, dairy products, wool and peanuts. Before the Nov. 4 election results which trimmed the margin of Democratic Party control of the House and turned control of the Senate over to the Republicans with a new chairman to head the Senate Agriculture Committee (Sen. Jesse Helms (Rep.-N.C.)), prospects indicated a move further toward a more restrictive supply management-type farm program based on acreage restrictions and marketing quotas.

This may now change toward a swing back to a more "market-oriented" agriculture, but those who are predicting that government support programs will be scrapped and the farmers cast out to "go it alone" are not being realistic and probably employing some "scare tactics." At the agricultural hearings conducted across the nation last fall and winter by Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland, no group or organization advocated elimination of a necessary and prudent role of Government in the future well-being of agriculture.

The decade of the 1970's saw farm programs with significantly less government interference in individual producer production and marketing decisions but with a continuation of "supply-management" objectives established by the government. Protecting consumers from higher grain and livestock prices became an integral part of the government farm program management process.

Programs were designed to provide producers with the freedom to choose to participate, or not, based upon individual economic circumstances and to provide the Secretary of Agriculture with broad administrative "tools" to manage grain supplies and prices within ranges established by USDA. The farm program has been operated to give farmers some protection from "low" prices and consumers protection from "high" farm prices.

The major elements of the present farm programs include target prices, price support loans, "farmer-held" reserves and substantial discretionary authority to the Secretary of Agriculture for implementing programs for wheat and feed grains. The basic objective is to use these elements to manage supply in order to hold prices within a price "corridor" established by the USDA. Price support loans are used to provide a floor under commodity prices and the "farmer-held" reserve is used to put an upper limit on prices. The farmer-held reserve, set-asides and diversion programs are used by USDA to manage supply and force grain prices to average for the year close to the target price established by USDA.

The tendency for government (both under Democratic and Republican Administrations) to impose farm product export embargoes to manipulate domestic supplies and influence foreign policy had angered and disillusioned farmers. The embargo of grain sales to Russia over and above the 5 year trade agreement total, imposed last January, is the latest example.

The widespread drought of 1980 which reduced feed grain supplies, coupled with weather-induced reduction of world wheat and feed grain crops, is leading crop and market experts to be very optimistic concerning wheat and feed grain prices this year and next. With a continued surge in the world population, many agricultural economic forecasters are predicting expanded demand and strong prices for U.S. farm exports well into the future.

That coupled with actual control of inflation if it can be achieved, would be the best break farmers and ranchers and the new Reagan Administration could hope for in dealing with farm problems. If they have a choice, farmers would much rather sell their products to eager domestic and foreign buyers than to depend on government programs for their income.

The two days off that son Chris and I took last week bring my total vacation days away from official newspaper duties to four, since moving to Wayne in early June of 1979. (Kathy and I took a couple of days to Kansas City for our fifth anniversary last June.) As always happens when I'm to be gone on a Thursday for whatever reason, some type of major event threatens to spoil the day.

Last year, when the shop was unattended for a Thursday, a former Wayne policeman shot and killed his girlfriend. Of course, I was 60 miles away and no one in Wayne to handle it.

This past spring, while attending the annual press convention in Omaha, a local youth was killed in a car wreck after a high speed chase by local police. It was a delicate matter, and required several long-distance phone calls between The Herald staffers and Omaha to handle it.

And then last Thursday (Nov. 13) when my vacation was to begin, the phone shattered my carefree sleep to bring the news that a major fire was threatening in downtown Laurel. Let me tell you: It's dark and cold at 5 a.m. in the middle of November, especially when you are supposed to be "off duty."

My faithful sidekick and your favorite local sports writer came to the rescue with additional film about an hour and a half later. He stayed on the scene after I left about 7:30 to restart my vacation.

With Kathy now in her seventh month of pregnancy, taking Chris to visit his grandparents in Hamburg, Iowa, was a chance for her to get some badly needed rest and time to herself. In two months, there will be four Fields to take care of one another.

Attempting to be encouraging, many have said that our lives won't be normal again for 20 years. What a pleasant thought. I'll be 50 then.

My father says there are compensations for growing older and one of those has to be sleeping past 7:30 more often than just on Sundays.

While in the Hawkeye state, we had a chance to view the Des Moines Register, the paper it says Iowa depends on.

Its staff writers are award winners, and two of them — maybe just one — are Pulitzer Prize winners. In its circle of competition, it's a good paper, but doesn't represent the people of Iowa.

Ethically speaking, newspapers are not supposed to grind any axes, except on the editorial pages. The Register uses its opinion pages to its own ends quite effectively, but allows its influence to slip onto its front pages.

For example, The Register has always felt that former Iowa Gov. and later U.S. Sen. Harold Hughes was the state's savior. He was recognized by most as a strong liberal. They touted the philosophies of liberal Sens. Dick Clark and John Culver. Clark was ousted two years ago by disgruntled Iowa voters and Culver was put out of a job this year.

Yet The Register continues its tirade against the Republicans, particularly President-elect Ronald Reagan. Said one of its columnists, approximately: I knew Reagan wasn't very smart when he had trouble peeing M&M's.

The Register has as its major causes the ills of the poor and deprived; disarmament and the hazards of nuclear power. All of the concerns are valid, but pushing those causes on the front page isn't kosher.

Just 11 days after the General Election, The Register already was blowing its horn, waving a red flag and bellowing that social programs would suffer if Ronald Reagan's policies are implemented.

Take these front-page headlines, for example: "Winter heating bill aid for poor in jeopardy." "Welfare cuts would cancel U.S. money." "Foster care program reaches 'crisis stage.'"

The cartoon on the front page shows a grotesquely fat U.S. General, with the printing on his side: $1.25 trillion 5-year military budget. Nearby stands an obviously poor and frightened woman holding her baby. A professor-type is talking to her, saying: "In an election, somebody has to win and somebody has to lose."

Now is that fair? So much for objective journalism.

And as long as I have your attention, give this tid-bit some thought.

In the December issue of "Parents" magazine, there is an article entitled: "Going for Broke: The Bankruptcy Option. Here's how this ultimate financial solution can work for the consumer."

The article rationalizes the benefits of bankruptcy by saying "after all, it was good enough for such household-name corporations as Penn Central and W.T. Grant."

Sports Editor Hascall and I witnessed most of the goings-on at Ramsay Theatre Thursday morning when the former Wayne State student held policeman and others at bay with a knife and later a rock and deer antler.

We both extend our compliments to the law enforcement personnel. They handled themselves admirably under trying circumstances, never threatening harm to anyone and never putwardly considering use of their own weapons.

They used calm, intelligent thinking to bring the unfortunate situation to a satisfactory end.

Say, Big Brother, Can You Spare $50,000?

Richard L. Leshner, President
Chamber of Commerce of the United States

The chances are you haven't heard about this because the event received very little publicity. Nevertheless, a recent meeting of the Quadrennial Commission on Federal Executive Compensation, which reviewed pay scales of members of Congress, federal judges and top appointed federal executives, demonstrated the tremendous obstacles President-elect Reagan will face in trying to cut the cost of government.

The meeting was attended by our chief economist, Dr. Richard Rahn, and two members of his staff, who went to testify on behalf of the U.S. Chamber. While awaiting their turn, they witnessed a scene that almost brought tears to their eyes. Here, briefly, is a bit of the sad tale they heard.

Groups of federal judges, whose pay is now in the $50-$60,000 range, rose to give emotional and eloquent accounts of the deprivations they are having to endure just to scrape by on their paltry salaries. Some of the sacrifices seem mind-boggling, even unconscionable. For example, they include not being able to send their children to Harvard, having to drive cars with 110,000 miles on them and not being able to afford having their basements pumped out. Watch out Mother Teresa, you've got competition!

To remedy the squalid living conditions, the judges recommended a new salary of $97,000 for district judges, and warned that $90,000 should be considered an absolute bare minimum. These heart-throbbing stories evoked much sympathy from us. And yet, and yet. We were constantly jarred back to reality by two nagging facts: First, the average attorney maintaining an office makes slightly more than $20,000 a year after meeting all his or her expenses and risks of self employment! Second, these judges who were pleading poverty already earn more than three times the average American family's income, which, incidentally, in many cases includes the earnings of a wife.

When it came time for the Chamber to testify, we bravely presented our case, but it was received by — how should I best describe it — perhaps a certain lack of warmth? Why, you ask? Well, we said, for example, that since many people seek to become members of Congress, and since our Congressmen are now well remunerated and, indeed, enjoy outside benefits, the Chamber could recommend only a modest increase in pay. As for judges, since many people also seek those positions, and since federal judgeships generally pay significantly more than state judgeships, compensation for that group should not be increased at all. We did recommend, however, that pay for top federal executives be increased substantially from the present $60-$70,000 range, since those jobs do entail very great executive responsibilities. But we recommended that mid-level executive positions not be raised significantly since they are already at competitive levels.

When it came time for questioning, Dr. Rahn was immediately challenged on his statement that members of Congress enjoy outside benefits. He pointed out that Congressmen do get a tax-free housing allowance, and a travel allowance, and that Martha Griffiths, one of the members of the Quadrennial Commission, had noted that the pension benefits accrued by Congressmen have a cash value of approximately $20,000 a year.

Dr. Rahn was then asked how he could make a recommendation of no pay increase for federal judges. He explained that on the basis of general Chamber policy we could not consider the large, requested pay increase for judges as consistent with sound management principles. That did it! At this point, the tone of the questioning turned hostile.

It might interest you to know that based on the list of witnesses appearing before the Commission, the Chamber appeared to be the only group that did not go to ask for more money. For its part, the Commission seemed most interested in orchestrating a sympathetic forum for the desperate plight of federal employees earning $50-$60,000 and more. Were not many of these people the very ones who cheered loudest when President John F. Kennedy once said:

"Ask not what your country can do for you.
"Ask what you can do for your country."

Theresa Heithold-Raymond Jensen Exchange Vows at Grace Lutheran

Altar vases of white pompons and huckleberry carnations, two spiral candelabras with greenery, and window candles decorated Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne for the Nov. 15 wedding ceremony uniting in marriage Theresa Jean Heithold and Raymond Duane Jensen.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Heithold and Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Jensen, all of Wakefield.

The Rev. Thomas Mendenhall of Wayne and the Rev. Ronald Helling of Wakefield officiated at the 6 o'clock double ring rite. Wedding music included "The Wedding Song," "Follow Me" and "The Lord's Prayer," sung by Mrs. Gwen Davie of Wayne. Organist was Mrs. Elaine Rump and guitarist was Vernon Krause, also of Wayne.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory tulle and organza gown designed with a jewel neckline and enhanced with a sheer inset and Cluny lace. The leg of mutton sleeves were cuffed with a self lace ruffle. Re-embroidered lace motifs trimmed the empire waistline and skirt, which was edged in a self fabric flounce and matching Cluny lace draping into a full chapel train. A bridal illusion tiered and scalloped veil enhanced with appliques and attached to a Juliet cap with hand clipped motifs completed her ensemble.

The bride carried a bouquet of ivory orchids, huckleberry roses accented with huckleberry stephanotis, and huckleberry and white baby's breath. Her hair and long huckleberry and ivory, bridal streamers.

Mad of honor was Renee Milligan of San Mateo, Calif., and bridesmaids were Joy Rethwisch of Allen, Marjorie Dostal of Omaha, and the bride's sisters, Linda and Charlene Heithold, both of Wakefield.

They wore matching huckleberry gowns with ivory embroidered lace collars and yokes. Matching lace cuffed the long, fitted sleeves. Their full skirts fell from blouson bodices accented at the waists with tie belts. They wore hair clips of ivory daisies and baby's breath and carried a single ivory rose and baby's breath with ivory streamers.

Flower girls were Melissa Haglund of Wakefield and Alecia Hollman of St. Joseph, Mo. Jordan Jensen of Humboldt, Iowa served as ring bearer.

Loren Victor of Emerson was best man. Groomsmen were the bridegroom's brother, Alan Jensen of Wakefield, and Keith Woodward of Wakefield, Steve Luhr of Sioux Falls, S. D., and Dave Hiltz of Wakefield.

The bridegroom was attired in an ivory tuxedo with ivory satin lapels and an ivory ruffled shirt and bow tie. His boutonniere was a huckleberry rose and stephanotis with dried baby's breath. His attendants wore silver gray tuxedos with white shirts trimmed in black. They wore boutonnières of tinted-orchid carnations.

Guests attending the ceremony were ushered into the church by the bridegroom's brother, Jerry Jensen of Humboldt, Iowa, and the bride's brothers, Douglas Heithold of McCook, Bryan Heithold of Wayne and Michael Heithold of Wakefield.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Heithold selected a dark dusty rose full-length dress with a pleated skirt and long sleeve lace jacket. Mrs. Jensen chose a rose full-length dress with an A line skirt, long, fitted sleeves and matching floor-length vest. Both mothers wore corsages of ivory rosebuds and orchid daisies.

A reception for 250 guests was held in the church basement following the ceremony. A wedding dance followed the reception at the American Legion Club in Wakefield.

The guests were registered by Deb Nelson of Omaha and were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Heithold of Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Buss of Laurel. Gift carriers were Rod Haglund of Wakefield and Rick Hollman of St. Joseph, Mo.

The wedding cake was cut and served by Mrs. Wes Pflueger, Mrs. Ken Frevert and Mrs. Orville Nelson, all of Wayne, and Mrs. Dean Wobig of Newman Grove. Deb Allemann of Wayne and Barbara Daniels of Omaha poured. Punch was served by Sandra Ekberg of Norfolk.

Waitresses were Trisha Frevert and Jeanne Heithold, both of Wayne, and Shell Meyer of Wakefield. The Ladies Aid had charge of the kitchen.

The newlyweds are residing near Wakefield.

The bride, a graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School and Wayne State College, had worked as a staff secretary at the University of Nebraska-Omaha for the past three and a half years. The bridegroom was graduated from Wakefield High School and attended the University of Nebraska for two years. He is engaged in farming.

MR. AND MRS. RAYMOND JENSEN

Monday Mrs. Lose 75 Pounds

Nine members of the Monday Mrs. Home Extension Club attended a meeting Nov. 17 in the home of Wilma Moore.

For roll call, members told how much weight they have lost so far this year. The club goal is 100 pounds by the end of the year. To date, clubwomen have lost a total of 75 pounds. Becky Wilson gave the lesson, "Winning Ways With Water."

Plans were made for a Christmas party at 8 p.m. Dec. 4 at the Wagon Wheel Steakhouse in Laurel. There will be a gift exchange of handmade Christmas ornaments or other small decorations.

First Trinity LWML Names New Officers

The Lutheran Women's Missionary League of the First Trinity Lutheran Church, Allona, held election of officers when it met earlier this month in the church school basement. Thirteen members attended the meeting. Officers for the coming year are Darlene Frevert, president; Mardelle Mikkeisen, vice president; Deb Youngmeyer, secretary; and Eileen Mohlsted, treasurer.

Lutheran Family and Social Service representatives are Bernice Damme and Leona Daum. The November lesson, given by Clara Heinemann, focused on the theme of Seminar 80, "You Are God's Gift." Darlene Frevert and Leona Daum reported on Seminar '80 held last month in Norfolk and explained several projects which may be done as a group or individually.

A report on last month's Zone Rally was given by Bernice Damme. Other Aid members attending were Leona Daum, Darlene Frevert, Erna Greenwald and Clara Heinemann. Pick up for Lutheran World Relief was held Nov. 12. Mardelle Mikkeisen and Eileen Mohlsted were in charge of taking the boxes to the pick up site.

Clara Heinemann was chosen to complete a Bible display at the church for Bible Sunday, held Nov. 23.

The meeting concluded with the table prayer and the Lord's Prayer. Hostesses were Doris Pflueger and Darlene Frevert.

Next meeting will be a Christmas party at 12:30 p.m. Dec. 4. Hostesses will be Bonnie Siefken and Helen Sietken. Each member is asked to bring their husband or another guest. There will be a $1.50 to $2 gift exchange.

Country Club Plans Holiday Dinner, Dance

Wayne Country Club members are invited to attend a Christmas holiday dinner and dance on Saturday, Dec. 6, beginning with cocktails at 6 p.m.

Chairmen for the event said dinner, with all the trimmings, will be served at 7 p.m., followed with dancing from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Door prizes will be given away during the evening. Persons planning to attend are asked to phone in their reservations to Judy Sorensen, 375-1498, Loreene Gildersleeve, 375-3484, Linda Carr, 375-4905, Donna Luff, 375-2252, or Essie Katholi, 375-3475. Deadline for reservations is Dec. 4.

Anniversary Supper For Albert Nelsons

Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Nelson of Wakefield observed their 55th wedding anniversary Nov. 15 during a family supper at the Wagon Wheel Steakhouse in Laurel.

Supper guests included Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Nelson and family of Wakefield, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Frevert and Pam, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Miller and family and Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Frevert, all of Winside, Mo., and Mrs. Kevin Frevert of Norfolk, David Christian and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Christian and family of Ute, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hageman of Charter Oak, Iowa.

Also attending was Mrs. Amelia Nelson, a resident of the Hillcrest Nursing Home in Laurel, who observed her 94th birthday.

Following supper, they all were guests in the Glen Frevert home in Winside. Mrs. Russell Prince baked and decorated a cake.

Nelsons were married Nov. 15, 1925 in Omaha and have resided near Wakefield since 1948.

They are the parents of three children: Albert, Jr., of Wakefield, Merle Nelson of Augusta, Kan., and Mrs. Glen (Bonnie) Frevert of Winside. Two children are deceased. There are 21 grandchildren and 20 great grandchildren.

Corsages were presented to the honorees by their children.

Gardeners Elect Officers

Mrs. Russell Luff is the newly elected president of the Roving Gardeners Club.

She was elected during a meeting Nov. 13 in the home of Mrs. Fred Gildersleeve. Also named to offices were Mrs. George Biermann, vice president and Mrs. Gildersleeve, secretary and treasurer.

The meeting opened with a Thanksgiving prayer by the hostess. Members gave a Thanksgiving menu for roll call, and Mrs. Bernard Barelman read a poem entitled "Thanksgiving Heritage." The comprehensive study on flowering trees was given by Mrs. Chris Tielgen. Mrs. Harry Hiedemann had the lesson on dried flowers.

The next meeting will be a noon Christmas dinner on Dec. 11 in the home of Mrs. Bernard Barelman.

Kavanaughs Observe Silver Year

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kavanaugh of Carroll were honored last weekend for their 25th wedding anniversary.

On Thursday, Nov. 13, about 30 Northeast Nebraska Postmasters and their spouses gathered at Ron's Steakhouse in Carroll to honor the Kavanaughs. They were presented an engraved silver tray by chairman Clarence Jeffries, who serves as Postmaster at Allen.

Charlotte Ekeroth, Postmaster at Wakefield, read a poem she had written of the couple's life together.

Kavanaughs' children, Mr. and Mrs. Tam (Judy) Bauer of Sholes and John Kavanaugh of Carroll, hosted a cooperative supper honoring their parents at the Carroll auditorium last Saturday evening. Dancing followed, the meal and music was provided by the "Step and Half" dance band. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Serven of Carroll assisted with hosting the supper and dance. Serven is a nephew of the Kavanaughs and served as ring bearer at their wedding 25 years ago.

Mrs. Tom Bauer registered the approximate 500 guests, Mrs. Vincent Kavanaugh and daughters Jan, Tam and Pam, of Dixon, and Mrs. Merle Kavanaugh of Belden were in charge of cards and gifts.

Mrs. Evelyn Ruback of Carroll baked the anniversary cake, which was cut and served by Mrs. Agnes Serven of Concord and Mrs. Albert Linquist of Chicago poured and Mrs. Pat Heidy of Fort Worth, Texas served punch.

Mrs. Phil Olason of Carroll was in charge of the serving table.

Women assisting in the kitchen included Mrs. Harry Nelson, Mrs. Willis Lage, Mrs. Merlin Kenny, Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mrs. Kearney Lackas, Mrs. Gene Rethwisch, Mrs. Don Winklebauer, Mrs. George Monk and Mrs. Dennis Oberhelman, all of Carroll, Mrs. Richard Wurdinger of Wayne and Mrs. Don Bauer of Sholes.

Bartenders for the evening were Don Bauer and Tom Bauer of Sholes, Don Winklebauer, Delmar Eddie and Cliff Burback, all of Carroll, Don Roeder of Dixon and Larry Alderson of Belden.

Lunch was served following the dance and cakes were baked by Mrs. Wilson Maskel of Newcastle and Mrs. Vincent Kavanaugh of Dixon.

Jack and Betty Kavanaugh were married at St. Anne's Catholic Church in Dixon on Nov.

15, 1955. They lived in Wayne one year and then near Randolph until 1964 when they moved to Carroll, where he owns and operates Kavanaugh Feed and Trucking. Mrs. Kavanaugh has been Postmaster in Carroll since 1977.

They are the parents of two children, Mrs. Judy Bauer of Sholes and John of Carroll. There are two grandsons, Jim and John Bauer of Sholes.

Guests attending their silver anniversary observance came from Chicago, Ill., Fort Worth, Texas; Sioux City, Mason City, Carroll and Craig-Iowa; Tobias, Holdrege, Lincoln, Norfolk, Pender, Pilger, West Point, Newcastle, South Sioux City, Dixon, Concord, Ponca, Laurel, Carroll, Belden, Wayne, Allen, Plainview, Randolph, Coleridge, Winfield, Hoskins, Pierce, Wakefield and Hubbard.

Wayne State Students Directing 'Tonight at Eight' Production

"Tonight at Eight," two one-act plays directed by Wayne State College theatre students, was scheduled to open Sunday night, Nov. 23, at 8 p.m. in the Menagerie Theatre in the Wayne State Student Center.

The final performance is tonight (Monday) at 8 p.m. in the Menagerie Theatre. Admission is $2.50 for adults, Wayne State students with identification will be admitted free.

Plays being presented this year are "Crawling Arnold," directed by Denise Lee, and "Pillar of Fire," under the direction of David Sindelar.

Both directors are members of Alpha Psi Omega, a National Honorary Theatre Fraternity, which is sponsoring the one-acts this year.

Miss Lee, a senior majoring in theatre and speech, is from Ralston. While at Wayne State she has appeared in several plays, including "The Bald Soprano," "Waiting for the Bus," "Alice in Wonderland" and "Beauty and the Beast." She has also been involved in behind the scenes work with various crews for 12 productions.

Miss Lee also participated in the Wayne Community Theatre's fall production of "Fiddler on the Roof."

DENISE LEE

DAVID SINDELAR

Sindelar, who is directing "Pillar of Fire," is a senior at Wayne State pursuing a double major in theatre and mathematics. A native of Columbus, he is best remembered for his roles in "Absurd Person Singular," "The Shack of Recognition," "The Miser," "Rama and the Tigers," "Hot L Baltimore," "The Night of the Iguana," "Alice in Wonderland" and "The Little Foxes."

Sindelar is vice president of Alpha Psi Omega.

"Crawling Arnold," set in the year 1961, takes place in the Enterprise household where Arnold, the youngest son, has decided to regress back to childhood and begin crawling again.

The cast includes Diane Lauer as Miss Sympathy; Kathy Riedmann as Grace Enterprise; Chris Hennig as Millie; Jeff Clem as Arnold Enterprise; Dan Springer as Barry Enterprise; and John Saunders as the voice on the radio. Assistant director is Mina Tuzzio.

Corinne George is the assistant director of "Pillar of Fire," which takes place in the year 2274. It tells the story of William Lantry, who died in 2093 and rises from the dead.

Cast members include Ron Foxhoven as Lantry; Jeannie Robinson as Smith; James Foulk as Harry; Chris Smith as the young man; Jeff Carstens as the old man; Pam Elbracht as the librarian; Michele Brockmoller as the attendant; and Doug Petersen as McClure.

Supervising director for both plays is Dr. Helen J. Russell. The production staff includes Arthur Dirks, technical advisor; Dale Cuffel, stage design and supervision; Pat Mels, set crew; Don Green and Jim Craun, sound; Bart Reed and Jim Craun, lights; Jeff Carstens, Corinne George, Mina Tuzzio, John Saunders and Pam Elbracht, properties; Karen Achor and Chris Smith, costumes; and Jeannie Robinson and Doyle Anderson, publicity.

Leaders' Banquet Honors Several

Ingrum Contribution at WSC will be Remembered

By Randy Hascall

Jeff Ingrum came to Wayne State College 4 1/2 years ago as a highly recruited football player.

Now, after a successful college career, Ingrum plans to move on, turning his attentions to his family and a career as a teacher and coach.

Ingrum, a speech and physical education major, is presently student teaching at Laurel-Concord High School and plans to graduate from Wayne State in December. He enrolled at WSC in fall of 1976.

Starter is redshirted

As a Wayne State student, Ingrum was a starter on the college football team in 1977, '78 and '80. He broke his right collar bone in the first game of the 1979 season and was redshirted that year, making him eligible for one more season of football.

The 6-3, 195-pound receiver completed his football career in style. He had 29 receptions for 307 yards and an average of 55.6 yards receiving per game this past season. He was the team's leading scorer with nine touchdowns for 54 points. His longest catch covered 71 yards.

"I'm glad I came to Wayne State and I'm proud of this school and the football program," Ingrum said.

Ingrum earned first team honors on the CSIC All-Conference team and District 11 All-Star team in 1978 and repeated on those teams this year.

Donates time and labor

Looking back on his college days, Ingrum stated, "I respect Coach Stollenberg very much. He is a super gentleman and a fine coach. He helped line up my student teaching, helped me set up my class schedules, lined up a job and did a lot of other things for me."

Most Wayne State football fans know of Ingrum's contribution on the field but few know of his contribution off the field.

He has helped the Wayne State coaching staff with recruiting and played an important role in attracting players from Sioux City Heelan (his alma mater) to Wayne State. Ingrum also cut and painted lettering in the end zones, painted some of the stadium bleachers, helped lay carpet in the WSC weight room and set up the sprinkler system on the football every night this summer.

An area of the football field was referred to as "Jeff's office" this summer. The 22-year-old Ingrum said that before he graduates he would also like to put up concrete blocks under the scoreboard so a Wildcat could be painted as an added attraction.

Ingrum did all of this work free of charge. For his dedication and hard work he was presented a nice black and gold jacket from the Second Guessers about midway through the season.

Ingrum stated that the Second Guessers have good ideas, get along well and offer good support of Wayne State athletics. His dad recently joined the Second Guessers, he added. Jeff's freshman brother Jim was also a receiver on the WSC team.

Wife offers support

Jeff is one of four married players on this past season's football roster. He also is one of three fathers on the team. Jeff has been married to wife Terri for two years. They have an eight-month old son Jason and live in the Anderson apartments on campus.

"My wife helped me work on my projects," Ingrum said. "She attended all of our home games and also the games at Missouri Western and Midland College. She's always given me support."

Ingrum was a member of Sioux City Heelan's 1975 state championship football team. Other members of the high school national power continued their careers at such major universities as Iowa University and Notre Dame, Ingrum pointed out.

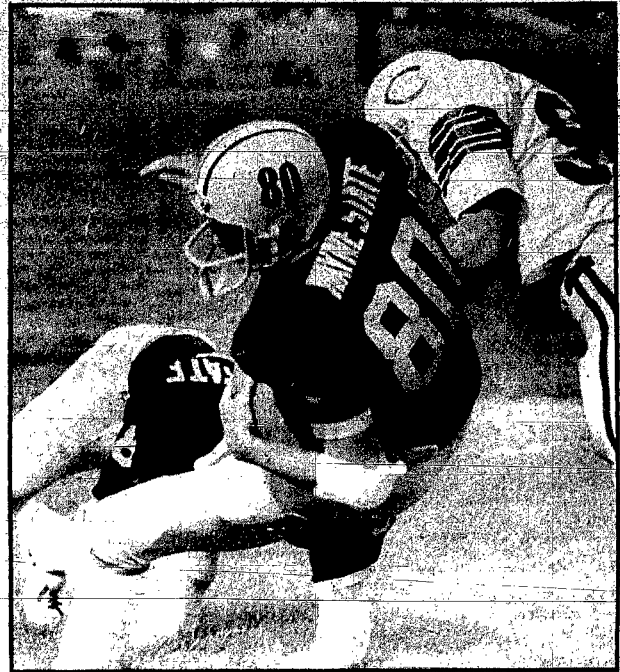

Before moving to Sioux City, the Ingrum family lived in Grand Island and Jeff attended school at Grand Island Central Catholic. He earned 10 letters at Heelan in three years and four at Grand Island CC.

Ingrum said that seven schools offered him football scholarships and eight offered him basketball scholarships. He chose Wayne State for a variety of reasons.

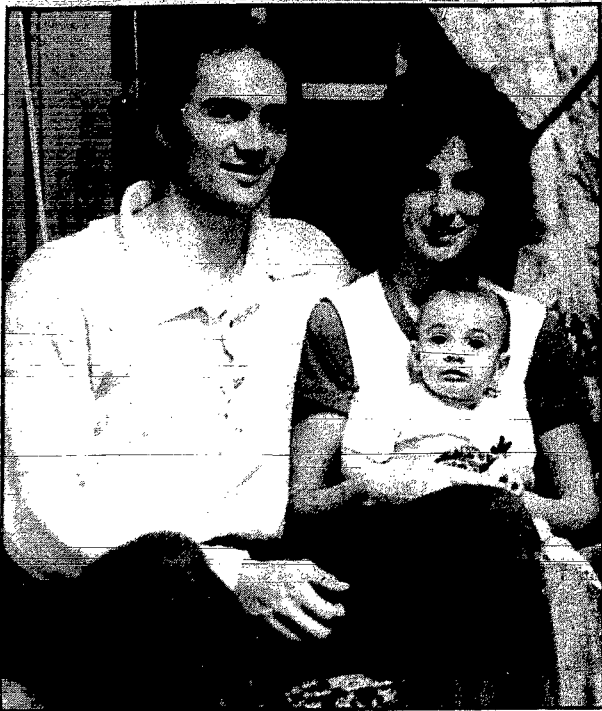

"Wayne State was the only college that said I could play both football and basketball. It was inexpensive, close to home, has a nice campus and I liked the coaches," Ingrum said. "I broke my arm as a freshman on the junior varsity football team and couldn't go out for basketball."

Instead Ingrum played baseball his sophomore season and was earned a starting position as first baseman.

Jeff's college career is rapidly coming to a close. After graduation in December, Ingrum said he hopes to pursue a career teaching and coaching (preferably football).

JEFF CATCHES a pass for a good gain in action on the home turf earlier this season.

JEFF, TERRI and Jason Ingrum enjoy a quiet evening at home in their apartment at Anderson Hall on the Wayne State campus. Jeff's younger brother Jim hopes to follow in Jeff's footsteps now that the older Ingrum has completed his football career at Wayne State College.

Mitchell is Named to WSC List

The Wayne State College football team held a meeting to elect most valuable players for the 1980 football season.

A most valuable player vote was taken by the team at large for four positions. Most valuable players on the offensive line were Bill Milks and Steve Zelinsky. In the defensive line, most valuable player was Ron Berrie; at defensive back was Steve Atamian; and most valuable offensive back was Pat Maxwell.

Newcomers were also honored by their teammates. Most outstanding defensive newcomer was 6-1, 175-pound defensive back Ken Kohlhoff from Merville, Iowa.

Most offensive newcomer was 5-11, 230-pound guard Dan Mitchell from Wayne, Nebraska.

The most improved overall player was 6-0, 165-pound junior quarterback, Kelly Neustrom from Merville, Iowa.

The team captains selected were Steve Atamian, Bill Milks and Jeff Ingrum.

Randy's Recap

According to Randy Hascall

IT'S ON TO NATIONALS for two Wayne cross country runners. Wayne High School seniors Doug Proett and Steve Monson, who won medals in the Nebraska State High School Cross Country Meet, are on to bigger and better things.

The two will run in a national meet at Cheyenne, Wyo. on Saturday, Dec. 13. Both runners qualified for the national meet at a regional meet at Rochester, Minn.

Proett placed 11th in regionals and Monson's team won the team title. The top 17 individuals and top two teams qualify for the national meet. Monson competes with the Fremont Track Club and Proett with the Cornhusker Flyers of Omaha.

The two local runners qualified for the regional meet by placing high in state competition. Proett placed fifth and Monson 10th at a state meet in Hastings. They compete in the senior division (age 17 and 18).

WHO CARES WHO SHOT J.R.? There's one advantage to working every Friday night. I don't watch all the junk on television.

For months and months people have been asking, "who shot J.R.?" And I can honestly say that I don't care who the heck shot him. I have never watched the TV show "Dallas" and don't know if it's a good show or not.

However, while TV maniacs have been glued to their tube watching "Dallas" religiously, I have been watching the youth of the area compete in athletic events on a weekly basis. And I have no doubt in my mind that the youths' activities are much more important than any television serial regardless which receives greater attention from the national media.

THE FALL SPORTS season ended a couple of weeks ago and it will be a couple of weeks before the winter sports season starts at the high school level.

There's really not much of a break for the coaches or athletes. One sport ends and another one begins.

Over the past week, I've been interviewing coaches about their basketball and wrestling teams. It looks like a few teams should be pretty strong while others may struggle through the season.

All previews will be published in a winter sports guide in the near future. This is the first winter sports guide I have done in my position as sports editor and I hope it will be a handy guide for fans, players and coaches.

WELL, AS SPACE becomes more difficult to fill in this sports section, space also becomes more difficult to fill in this column. At the time I'm writing this column, it's time to finish up and head home to enjoy (hopefully) the Nebraska-Oklahoma game. I hope my prediction of Nebraska 24, Oklahoma 21 comes true.

Cats Scare Hastings in Opener

Rick Weaver's debut as head coach of the Wayne State varsity basketball team was nearly an exceptionally happy one.

His Wildcats had perennial power Hastings on the ropes before falling 78-74 Thursday night in the first ever NAIA District 11 Cage Classic at Kearney State College.

Wayne State, hoping to improve on last year's 8-17 record, led most of the way, at times by as much as nine points. The Cats held a half-time edge of 42-35.

Hastings, paced by the shooting of Tony Hobson, rallied for the win.

WSC sophomore forward Grady Hansen pumped in 22 points for the locals. Leon McRae also hit 17 points to complement Hansen's attack.

"The difference in the game was about a five-minute span in the second half when Hastings really crashed the boards and we didn't adjust," Weaver said. "We may have tired a little."

The three day event, which continued Friday and Saturday, matched Nebraska Intercollegiate Athletic Conference teams against members of the Nebraska College Conference. The NIAC schools won four of five games on Thursday.

In other action, Midland defeated Chadron State 90-83 in overtime, Concordia defeated Bellevue 79-77, Doane defeated Peru State 71-64 and Kearney State defeated Dana 105-69.

Wayne State lost a close contest against Doane. Friday and was scheduled to play Midland Saturday. Details of the Doane game were not available at press time.

Tech College Sets Masonry Course Jan. 6

Northeast Technical Community College currently is accepting applications for the masonry program which begins Jan. 6.

In the 15-week masonry program, students will learn the fundamentals for a thorough understanding of the trade, develop skills in the care and use of essential tools of the trade and receive the opportunity to practice and apply those skills to the trade.

Upon successful completion of the program, students will be awarded diplomas qualifying them for full-time employment as beginning masons. Most employment opportunities in the masonry trade are with contractors in new building construction; however, a substantial number of masons are self-employed and sub-contract to general contractors.

Pre-registration for the second semester program is scheduled for Monday, Dec. 1 at 9 a.m. Tuition and fees for the program are $213 plus the cost of required tools. A $10 admissions fee is necessary for first-time students. Charles Mahler will be the instructor.

For more information or to make application, interested persons may contact the NTCC Admissions Office, 801 East Benjamin Ave., Norfolk, 402-371-2020, Ext. 223.

Senior Citizens Observe Birthdays

Thirteen Winside Senior Citizens met Tuesday at the Stop Inn for their monthly meeting. Mrs. Gottfried Jaeger was a guest and pitch furnished the afternoon's entertainment.

A thank you card was read from Hubert McClary. Mrs. Ida Fenske and Mrs. Minnie Weible treated the group to cake in honor of their birthdays.

Next meeting will be a 12:30 p.m. dinner Nov. 25 at the Stop Inn.

Meat in Pierce Neighboring Circle met Nov. 13 in the home of Mrs. Eldon Herbolshelmer of Pierce, with 10 members present.

A bake sale among the members was used for roll call. Pitch furnished entertainment, with prizes going to Mrs. Ernest Muehlmeier, Mrs. Robert Koll and Mrs. Leo Voss.

Next meeting will be a Christmas dinner and gift exchange Dec. 11 in the home of Mrs. Ernest Muehlmeier.

Meet for Pitch Tuesday Night Pitch Club met Nov. 18 in the Cliff Burris home. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Imel were guests and Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Krenke were prize winners.

The club plans to dine out in December.

Busy Bee Club Busy Bee Club members made

Christmas wreaths from coast hangers and yarn when they met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Charlotte Wylie. All members were present.

Plans were made for a Christmas dinner Dec. 17 in the home of Mrs. Robert Cleveland.

Special Service Trinity Lutheran and United Methodist Churches will hold a combined Thanksgiving service Wednesday, Nov. 26, at 7:30 p.m. at Trinity Lutheran.

The Rev. Lon DuBois is pastor at Trinity Lutheran and the Rev. Shirley Carpenter is pastor at the United Methodist Church.

An offering will be taken for CROP.

Belmehrs Hosts The Lloyd Belmehrs entertained the Jolly Couples Card Club Tuesday evening.

Harvey Anderson of Norfolk was a guest, and prizes were won by Mrs. Carl Trouman and Clarence Pfeiffer.

There will be no meeting in December. Next meeting will be Jan. 20 in the Dale Krueger home.

Play Presented Winside High School students presented the play "Your Guests Are Ghosts" on Tuesday evening in the elementary multi-purpose room.

A matinee performance for school children and senior citizens was given Monday afternoon.

Directing the production was Belinda Jones, assisted by Darla Janke and Shawn Boldt. The cast consisted of 18 students.

Mrs. Yleen Cowan, Rogers, Ark., arrived last Monday to spend the holidays with her sisters, Mrs. Twila Kahn, Gladys Gaebler and Mrs. Rosemary Mintz of Laurel.

A group of women helped Mrs. Ben Benschoot celebrate her birthday Wednesday in her home. Mrs. Yleen Cowan of Rogers, Ark. was an out-of-town guest.

Mrs. Lloyd Behmer spent last weekend with the John Zinnecker family in Lincoln. On Friday evening she attended the musical "The Wheels" at Millard Lefler Junior High School. Granddaughter Gretchen Zinnecker was cast in the lead role. On Monday evening, Gretchen received her First Class Girl Scout Award, the highest honor in the Girl Scouting program.

Dinner guests Nov. 16 in the Don Wacker home were the Elmer Wacker family, Mrs. Marcella Wacker and Jean and the Robert Wacker family. They observed the birthdays of Elmer Wacker and granddaughter Jennifer Wacker.

The George Vosses and Timmy, and Mrs. Minnie Graef were Tuesday evening guests in the Ben Benschoot home to honor the hostess' birthday. Cards were played and cake and ice cream were served at the close of the evening.

The Robert Wackers entertained grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Carl Trouman and Mr. and Mrs. Don Wacker in their home last Monday evening to honor the eighth birthday of their daughter, Jennifer.

CHIEF your best building buy!

See your Chief dealer and compare Chief quality with pole, conventional and other steel buildings. You'll find Chief is your best buy. Our doors are big enough to handle the largest equipment. Yet they're easy to handle. Our Clear-Span interiors have no poles or obstructions, no trusses to cut overhead space. Chief gives you premium 26-gauge wallsheeting with paint so tough it goes on before we roll form it. Not 29-gauge steel and ordinary paint. Chief buildings are easy to erect and expand. So easy, you can do it yourself for greater savings. See your Chief dealer and compare. You'll agree that Chief is your best building buy. Do it today.

MARC COX CONSERVATION AWARDS

Landowners and conservationists from Lower Elkhorn NRD and the Stouland area were honored at the Marc Cox award banquet, November 13, at the Marina Inn, South Sioux City. A record crowd of 730 saw winners from four states receive their awards.

The Marc Cox Conservation Award Program, now in its 34th year, honors people in seven categories for their contributions to the conservation of our natural resources. The program is sponsored by the Sioux City Chamber of Commerce and Sioux City Journal.

In the Lower Elkhorn NRD, nominations for awards are made by local Soil Conservation Service personnel with judging by the NRD. Lower Elkhorn NRD winners are:

- AREA
Leonard Hoffman, Pierce
El-Crest Farms, Creston
- DISTRICT
Jim Offer, Jr., Pender
Robert Travnicek, Clarkson
Adolph Kreikemeier, Jr., West Point
- PROGRESS
Kenneth Porter, Norfolk
- WILDLIFE HABITAT
Otto Schroeter, Madison
- COMMUNITY CONSERVATION
Pierce

SHORT COURSE

George Bingham, Dixon

Only one short course award is given in each of the four states. It consists of a two day course of study on resources conservation which is held at Iowa State University. Other award winners receive plaques or certificates and metal gate signs.

PLAN NOW FOR TREE PLANTING

Landowners planning to plant trees next spring should be making preparations now.

1) Contact your local Soil Conservation Service office for help with designing your planting, selecting tree species and ordering trees. (Tree price — $19.50/100 trees)

2) Soil Conservation Service can also arrange to have trees planted by NRD planters, if you desire. Planting and weed spray cost —

$27.00/100 trees with a minimum charge of $50.

3) Fall plowing should be done where trees are to be planted in medium to heavy soils. On sandy soils, where there is a danger of wind erosion, no fall ground preparation should be done.

Following these steps now, will ensure you a better selection of tree species, better tree survival and a high quality tree planting next spring.

FALL TREE CARE

The past summer has been very hard on trees — especially first-year plantings. The extremely hot, dry summer caused severe stress conditions, even for older trees. Trees had to use most of their energy reserves just to survive. If not cared for this fall, many could succumb this winter or next spring.

Tree care recommendations for this fall:
1. Remove rank weeds/grass from tree plantings. Tall weeds and grass provide excellent winter cover for rodents. Rabbits, mice or other rodents can severely damage young tree plantings.

2. If herbicides are used to control weeds in the young tree planting, apply pre-emergent herbicide (Princop) directly over the tree row in a 4 foot band for next season's weed control.

3. Water trees after mid-October through ground freeze if possible. Trees also need water in winter and adequate soil moisture is important.

FUELWOOD HEAT VALUES

Species	Weight / Cord (lbs)	Head / Cord (BTU's)	weight woods:	2880	17-20 million
1. Extremely heavy woods:	3800-4400	22-27 million	elm, soft maple, cherry, hackberry, walnut, sycamore
2. Moderate:	3400	20-22 million	4. Lightweight woods: aspen, cottonwood, basswood, willow, pine, spruce, poplar	2100	12-17 million

Aid Association for Lutherans Sponsors Annual Ham Supper at Carroll

The Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL) Branch 3019 hosted their annual ham supper last Monday at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Carroll.

Approximately 50 branch members, their families, and members of the congregation attended. Out-of-town guests included the Rev. and Mrs. Robin Fish, Robin Jr., and Ryan, of Pierce, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Schroeder of Laurel. Schroeder is AAL district representative.

Following the meal, Arnold Hansen, Mrs. Dennis Rohde and Mrs. Robert Hall, who have completed CPR training, presented an educational film on "Care of the Heart." They demonstrated what steps to take in the event someone has a heart attack and what to do for someone who is choking.

Officers in charge of planning the supper were Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore Sahn, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Fork and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fork.

7 at Meeting Seven members of Star Home Extension Club met in the home of Mrs. John Rees Nov. 10.

Mrs. Richard Longe conducted the business meeting and Mrs. Don Harmeler reported on the last meeting. All clubwomen reported voting in the general election.

The women spent the afternoon making Christmas spice wreaths. The annual Christmas supper and party will be held at Ron's Steakhouse in Carroll on Dec. 9.

Happy Workers Mrs. Cliff Rohde entertained the Happy Workers Social Club Wednesday. Nine members were present.

The annual Christmas supper, with husbands as guests, will be held Dec. 17 at 7:30 p.m. at Ron's Steakhouse in Carroll. Each member is asked to bring a half dozen cookies to be served at the close of the evening. There will be a $1.25 gift exchange for both men and women.

Cards furnished entertainment at the November meeting, with prizes going to Mrs. Lena Rethwisch, high, Mrs. Harry Nelson, low, and Mrs. Adolph Rohlf, traveling.

Next regular meeting will be Jan. 21 with Mrs. Russell Hall.

Larsen Honored Guests in the Myron Larsen home Nov. 14 to honor the host's birthday included the Clarence Morrises, the Kenneth Eddies and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Stephens.

Guests Nov. 16 in honor of the occasion included the Marion Larsens and the Dave Spences and Derek, all of Norfolk, Mrs. Norman Anderson and Bill of Winside, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Magdanz of Wayne, and Mr. and Mrs. Terry Magdanz, Chad and Tarrah, of Laurel.

Plan Party Social Neighbors Club made plans for its annual Christmas party when it met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Duane Creamer.

Five members responded to roll call by telling what they want for Christmas.

Husbands will be guests at the Christmas party, scheduled Dec. 17 at the Betden-Bank parlors. There will be a grab bag gift exchange.

Mrs. Kenneth Eddie conducted the November business meeting and Mrs. Duane Creamer reported on the last meeting.

Postmaster and Mrs. Ellery Bartels of Tobias, postmaster and Mrs. Myron Woythalen of Holdrege and Mr. and Mrs. John Lowe of Newcastle were guests last weekend in the John Rethwisch home. They came to attend the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kavanaugh.

Mrs. Arnold Junck, Mrs. Jerry Junck and Misty and Ryan Junck went to Omaha Wednesday to visit Carrie Junck at the University Hospital. Arnold Junck and Jerry Junck visited Carrie Thursday. Carrie, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Junck, underwent surgery last Monday and was expected to return home Saturday, Nov. 22.

The Don Nettletons and Mrs. Bessie Nettleton went to Aurora last Sunday to visit Mrs. Luella Friedrichsen at the Larsen Pioneer Nursing Home. Mrs. Friedrichsen is the mother of Mrs. Don Nettleton.

The Harold Morrises went to Lincoln Nov. 6 to attend funeral services for Henry Mitchell. Mrs. C. H. Morris stayed in the home of Mrs. Merleona Rowland of Norfolk while they were gone.

The Harold Morrises took Mrs. C. H. Morris to Sioux City Nov. 10 to see an eye specialist. Mrs. Robert Johnson went to North Platte Nov. 12 and was an overnight guest in the Mike Creighton home. Mrs. Creighton and Sarah came home with Mrs. Johnson on Nov. 13 to spend the weekend. Mike Creighton came to get his family Saturday.

The Gordon Kudra family, Osmond, and the Melvin Dowlings, went to Sioux City last Saturday evening to attend the wedding of Julie Rose and David Burger.

The Melvin Dowlings went to Neligh last Sunday to visit her mother, Mrs. Susan Nagel.

Mrs. Don Volwiler was honored for her birthday Nov. 14. Guests in the Volwiler home included the Alvin Niemanns and the Larry Niemanns and Sara of Winside. The LeRoy Nelsons, Curt, Cory, Dana and Danielle, moved recently into the new home they built on an acreage north of Carroll.
