THE NUMBER OF BUILDING permits recorded in Wayne this year is expected to top last year's total. However, the total volume of construction will be less than a year ago. Above is one of two apartment buildings under construction just south of El Toro. Total project cost of these is expected to be about $440,000, the largest project this year.

Owned by Jerome Green of St. Paul, Minn., one of the units is one story and is for elderly, while the other is two story for low income persons. Pelster Bros. of Norfolk is the main contractor with Ackerman & Associates of St. Paul, Minn., the architect.

Mixed Results for Building

With about 30 days left in the year, there have been slightly fewer building starts in Wayne this year compared to all of 1979.

FIGURES COMPILED by The Wayne Herald indicate there have been 75 building starts through Nov. 26 this year compared to 77 for all of last year.

However, more housing starts are anticipated this year and the total is expected to top last year's figure. The key statistic, officials note, is the total dollar volume of anticipated construction this year compared to last.

The total to date for 1980, keeping in mind there are 30 days left in the year, is $2,465,654.37. For 1979, the total in building permits was $2,964,753 a difference of $499,099.

CITY BUILDING Inspector Jim Holtgrew said construction was down considerably here until a few months ago when interest rates suddenly dropped. It was during the time when money rates were down to slightly above 12 percent that borrowing and construction suddenly increased, he explained. For example, there have been 29 housing starts in the final quarter of this year, again noting that the quarter is not over. There were nine housing starts from January through March, 16 during April through June and 23 in July through September.

Part of the increase also can be attributed to the better construction weather during the warm months.

THE LARGEST number of construction starts was recorded in September, October and November when a total of 40 permits were issued, more than half of the entire year.

In 1979, some 10 permits were issued in the first quarter, 29 in the second, 19 in the third and 17 in the final quarter. The starts then dropped to nine in the first quarter of 1980, some 16 in the second quarter, and so forth on upward.

The disappointing figure, however, was the total dollar volume of permits, about a half million dollars less this year than last, so far.

THE LARGEST permits issued this year have included $144,343 for construction of four condominiums in Marywood Subdivision, $440,000 for construction of apartment units south of El Toro, $82,000 for construction of a warehouse on East U.S. 35, $151,206 for construction of the Lisa Vets Clinic on East U.S. 35, $185,520 for remodeling the United Methodist Church and $118,841 for construction of a four-plex on East Sixth Street west of Pamida, Inc.

The largest in 1979 included $84,834 for construction of grain storage facilities for Wayne Grain & Feed Co., $125,000 for remodeling of the old Emphasis building for Valley Engine, Inc., $269,000 for construction of the Thies-Brudigan International Harvester building on East U.S. 35, $110,000 for construction of Scott's, $216,684 for the laundromat and game room at Bill's GW and $333,649 for remodeling of State National Bank.

Although the SNB permit is carried in January of 1979, the majority of it was completed in late 1978.

We'll Print Santa Letters

We told Santa we would be happy to collect his mail for him. To make sure he sees all the letters, we will print them in The Herald each week from now until Christmas.

The Wayne Herald once again is planning to collect letters to Santa Claus from youngsters in the Wayne area.

Per Capita Income Set at $6,385

The per capita income for residents of Wayne County in 1978 was $6,385, according to the annual Nebraska Department of Revenue report issued recently.

THE PER CAPITA figure ranks the county 76th among the state's 93 counties. Lowest income per person was in Loup County which had income of $3,809. Highest per capita income was in Perkins County at $10,795.

In 1978, Wayne County totaled $60 million in personal income compared to just $53 million in 1977, a net increase of 13.2 percent from year to year. Figures for 1979 and 1980 have not been compiled yet.

Other area counties, their per capita incomes, state rankings and percent of change are as follows:

DIXON COUNTY — $6,283 per capita, ranked 77th, 18.9 percent increase; Cedar County — $6,238 per capita, ranked 79th, 16.4 percent increase; Madison County — $8,508 per capita, ranked seventh, 15.1 percent increase; Stanton County — $6,915 per capita, ranked 55th, 23.5 percent increase.

The average income per capita statewide in 1978 was $7,544 for an average increase of 13.7 percent from the previous year.

According to the annual report, taxpayers in Wayne County paid total federal income tax of $6.4 million and state taxes of $1.02 million.

CEDAR COUNTY taxpayers handed over $6.16 million in federal taxes and $985,652 million in state taxes; Dixon County taxpayers paid $4.43 million in federal taxes and added $710,060 to state coffers; Madison County, $26,263,470 in federal and $4.2 million in state taxes; Stanton County, $2.7 million in federal and $445,355 million in state taxes.

The federal and state amounts are liabilities before federal credits and surcharges were applied.

There were a total of 3,588 tax returns filed in Wayne County, according to the report. The majority of the returns — 1,802 — were filed by persons with incomes of $5,000 or less. There were 1,119 persons with incomes of between $5,001 and $10,000 filing returns, 920 persons with incomes between $10,001 and $15,000 filing, 920 persons with incomes between $15,001 and $20,000 filing and 1,470 persons with incomes of more than $20,000 filing returns.

HOWEVER, persons with the largest incomes also paid the most in taxes — 67.9 percent, according to the report. Some 16.5 percent of the total taxes paid in the county were by persons with incomes between $15,001 and $20,000, and so forth on downward to 6 percent paid by persons with incomes less than $5,000.

Wayne County recorded total net taxable retail sales of $38,132,942 during 1979, the report concluded.

Wayne led the way with total net taxable sales of $35,746,287; Winslow had sales of $1,107,212; Hoskins had $658,722; and other communities added $620,721.

IN COMPARISON, Stanton County had a total of $7,841,210 in net taxable retail sales, Madison County $201,467,537 in sales, Cedar County $38,991,806 and Dixon County $12,503,779.

Ponca led Dixon County with sales of $4,761,647, while Wakefield was close behind with sales of $4,482,108. Cedar County was led by Hartington with sales of $18,025,756. Laurel was next with $8,848,000 in net taxable retail sales. Norfolk, of course, led Madison County with sales of $172,420,941.

Of Wayne County's total net taxable sales, retail sales made up the vast majority with $30 million. Transportation provided retail sales of $4.04 million, services $1.4 million, construction $749,412 and agriculture $299,430 in net taxable sales. Other categories were manufacturing, wholesale, banking, insurance, real estate and other.

THE ACTUAL value of agricultural real estate for 1979 in Wayne County was $99,161,358 for a total number of acres of 272,837.

According to the report, the actual value of dryland cropland in the county was $82,450,969 with 224,764 acres; the actual value of irrigated cropland was $7,337,358 million with $14,244 acres; 31,558 acres of pasture land was valued at $9,350,311; with wasteland, rangeland and meadow making up the remainder.

City Announces Annual Snow Removal Plans

Nearly seven inches of snow have fallen this year, a sure sign of what is to come. Wayne residents should keep in mind the city's policy on snow removal.

Schulz said illegally parked vehicles will be towed away when they impede snow removal.

"Snow plows must clear streets to their normal width, and detours around parked cars result in extra trips and added expense," he explained.

A CREW OF men and machines is on call at all times during the winter months. As soon as freezing rain or snow begins, a street sander goes into operation. When snowfall exceeds two inches, snow plows swing into action on the most heavily traveled streets and emergency routes.

SNOW PUSHED into streets from parking lots, driveways or off-street parking areas also causes more work and is prohibited by city ordinance, Schulz stressed.

From there, the crews go to the outlying areas. In the final phase, snow is removed from the business district and then residential streets are widened.

The exception to that rule is the business district where snow should be thrown into the street at least one foot from the curb as soon as possible so street crews can remove it.

Cooperation of the city's residents and businessmen is asked in order to speed the efficient removal of snow, asks Vern Schultz, public works director for the city.

The public works director also pointed out that by ordinance residents are required to clear their sidewalks within 24 hours of a snow. Those who fail to comply could receive a summons to appear in court and could be required to pay for labor hired by the city to do the job.

VEHICLES PARKED on streets hamper efficient snow removal and Schulz said it is helpful if as many cars as possible are parked off city streets when snow is expected. "No parking" regulations for specific hours are in effect in much of the city and ALREADY THIS year, there have been several persons fined for not removing snow within the 24-hour period.

Better Public Relations Sought By Elkhorn NRD

In an effort to squelch unsubstantiated rumors and to provide the public with more accurate information regarding projects, the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District approved a resolution spelling out staff responsibilities in those areas.

porting a request of $2.4 million for the Nebraska Water Conservation Fund.

NRD Executive Director Lee Orton outlined 10 proposals expected to be dealt with by the upcoming legislature. These included establishing interim groundwater control areas and plans regulating agricultural runoff and land use.

THE LOWER ELKHORN NRD board met Monday night at Wisner for its regular monthly meeting. The resolution re-affirmed an existing policy about informing the public.

In other action, several area farm families were recognized for their conservation efforts.

It authorizes personnel to provide residents of the district with accurate information concerning natural resources management programs that have been authorized by the board. Programs particularly involved concern soil and water usage.

These included Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hoffman of Piercra and Elcrest Farm of Creston, recognized as Marc Cox conservation award winners.

"It is emphasized with this policy that extra effort be made to do so (inform the public) when it is apparent that a certain segment of our constituency is making public comments and statements in regard to a given project or program that are not totally factual," the resolution stated.

RECEIVING PLAQUES, and aerial photos of their farms, through an NRD awards program, were Mr. and Mrs. Roland Rewinkel of Lyons; Mr. and Mrs. Elvins Olson of Wakefield; Milton (Jim) Offer Jr. of Pender; and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Bergquist of Hoopes.

The NRD each year selects eight winners of these awards based on the soil and water conservation practices used or constructed by these farmers on their land.

Move Afoot to Revamp Welfare

The preference of a state senator to have the state — not individual counties — administer welfare programs will be a step toward eliminating local control, according to Wayne County Welfare Director Thelma Moeller.

"People in the counties know the people who are applying better than persons on a regional or state basis," the Wayne County welfare director said.

many of them are not well administered. Several administrators are arbitrary and capricious in their decisions.

JOHNSON'S COMMENTS were in response to questions about his reaction to recent criticism by two food advocacy groups of the county welfare system. The representatives said that some county welfare workers treat food stamp applicants poorly.

"IT SEEMS to be me that one thing we need to do in the next decade is take this patchwork of programs, begin to reorganize them so that benefits are still delivered, but in a more humane and efficient manner," he is quoted as saying.

Johnson said it is his opinion that counties have too much latitude in how some programs are administered. County general assistance welfare programs date to the state's earliest history; the state senator pointed out.

Moeller says she believes that if the state begins to administer welfare programs, the state also would pick up the county's share of all medical bills of welfare clients. Current rates, counties pay 50 percent of each medical bill.

Chamber Looks For A Manager

Wayne Chamber of Commerce officials are continuing their search for a new Chamber manager.

Advertisements have been placed in trade journals as well as in some of the larger Midwest papers. A Chamber spokesman said the position is open to qualified applicants.

APPLICATIONS FOR the full-time position will be accepted until about mid-January with selection of someone by mid-February. The position should be filled by no later than March 1.

Persons interested in a job description should write Chamber Manager, Box 1117, Wayne, Neb., 68787.

"TO ACCOMPLISH this policy, numerous methods will be utilized; namely, news media, public information meetings, etc."

In other business, the board adopted three resolutions that will be submitted to the Nebraska Association of Resources Districts (NARD) convention Jan. 26 and 27 in Lincoln.

ALSO APPROVED was a resolution sup-

Business Notes

The 93rd consecutive annual meeting of the Midwest Federal Savings and Loan Association was held Monday, Nov. 24.

Association President Duane W. Hall reviewed some of the events that shaped the financial institutions during the past year and the highlights at Midwest Federal as well as forecast some of the important changes that will occur in the near future.

Expansion of office locations continued during the year with the opening of Weeping Water and Humboldt branches. One of the events was the filing and receiving approval from the Federal Home Loan Bank board for a merger with Wayne Federal Savings and Loan here.

With the merger, Midwest Federal's total assets are now $129,800,000, up from $104,500,000 of the previous year. This represents more than a 24 percent increase in our total assets from 1979.

Savings deposits are $110,000,000 and mortgage loans now exceed $113,700,000. We are now servicing more than 23,000 savings accounts and over 3,800 mortgage loans. During the year we paid just over $7.8 million to all of our savings account holders for the use of their money.

Net worth, which is additional protection for our depositors, increased to $6.5 million which is 5.91 percent of our total savings capital. In addition, during the year legislation was passed by the FSILIC increasing insurance coverage on our savings deposits to $100,000.

"We will be able to greatly expand our area of consumer lending which heretofore has been limited primarily to home improvement and education loans," an official reported.

Effective Jan. 1 we will be able to offer checking accounts which pay interest to our depositors, conduct trust operations, and issue credit cards, just to name a few. We have been authorized by the Federal Home Loan Bank to offer a viable renegotiable rate mortgage to help balance to some extent the continued flow of savings into variable rate savings instruments.

These are just a few of the changes that will allow us opportunities to develop and better serve our customers."

Terra Chemicals International, Inc. announces that Larry Skokan, location manager, and Burnie Baker, regional manager, at Wayne recently attended a credit seminar at Norfolk, covering credit procedures and policies.

The seminar was conducted by Carl Moberg, credit manager, and Rex Krebs, regional manager, of the Terra Western Division in Sioux City, Iowa, as part of the company's continuing educational program which can lead to professional certification of retail marketing managers. Terra has developed this certification program to enable each retail location manager to provide the best professional and technical service possible to farmer customers.

Terra Chemicals International, Inc. markets fertilizers, feed ingredients, crop protection chemicals and other farm supply products directly to farmers through more than 100 retail farm service centers in the Midwest, South and Southwest. The company also sells nitrogen products, phosphates and potash to wholesale customers.

Let's Take A New Look at the U.N.

Richard L. Leshner, President
Chamber of Commerce of the United States

The caption beneath her picture read: "La Quinzman is a simultaneous interpreter in Chinese and English who, unlike some United Nations Secretariat employees, works hard." The caption and picture were part of a recent article by Bernard D. Nossiter in "The New York Times Magazine" entitled "Parkinson's Law at the U.N."

It began: "An old saw on the the East River runs: 'How many people work at the Secretariat?' The answer: 'About half.' The U.N. contains more than a germ of truth. The United Nations Secretariat is a peculiar array of barely coordinated departments, offices and centers. Some perform obviously useful tasks, some engage in activities that might better be discarded and some keep busy at no discernible work at all."

Consider the case of one person, whom I will not name, and who works in the Peace and Security Studies Section of the Department of Political and Security Council Affairs. For an estimated $61,347 a year, this individual spends most of his hours compiling, digesting and analyzing decisions of U.N. bodies. But as Nossiter observed in his article: "The latest printed edition of his 'Repertory of Practice of United Nations Organs' only goes up to 1966. He hopes a successor will be off the press by early 1981. If it does arrive next year, it will be only seven years out of date."

The most visible characteristic of the United Nations Secretariat is its bureaucratic growth. In fact, critics contend the Secretariat has the ability to create new bureaucracies even faster than it welcomes new member states. During the last 30 years, its staff has more than tripled to 14,906 employees, and its budget has increased more than 12-fold to $24 billion.

Also spurring the growth of the Secretariat's bureaucratic power is the ability of departments to survive long after their reason for being has disappeared. For example, in 1945, no fewer than 11 territories were placed under the tutelage of the United Nations to be administered by members in trust for the global organization. These were countries like Togoland (now part of Ghana) and New Guinea. But today, with the exception of Micronesia, the Pacific Island group run by the United States, all have won their freedom. Even Micronesia itself will become "freely associated" with the United States sometime next year, and enjoy full control over its domestic affairs.

Nevertheless, this shrinkage will not bother the many people who work in the Department of Political Affairs, Trusteeship and Decolonization. Far from folding, this department will continue and even expand. "We are understaffed," complained one of the department's ranking officials, who happens to earn nearly $75,000 a year.

If these problems make the Secretariat seem like the international community's version of a CETA program run wild, they contain a dangerous element as well. As Nossiter noted: "The Russians and East Europeans...have never accepted the concept of an independent international civil service. Their nationals are attached to their home ministries and simply released for a few years duty at the United Nations." This practice, in turn, has heightened concerns about the potential for greater espionage activity.

Despite these difficulties, I would not go as far as some who believe the United Nations should be severed from the ground and allowed to slide into the East River. I have no doubt that many highly skilled people work at the U.N. who believe deeply in the principles of the U.N. Charter. What's more, the organization is an invaluable meeting place for the Super Powers in times of crisis. It has functioned effectively on occasion to defuse hostilities and carry out a peace-keeping role. It does provide tangible humanitarian and economic assistance to developing countries, and it even plows back revenues to New York City — another area that needs all the help it can get.

Still, with American taxpayers already contributing approximately 25 percent of the total U.N. budget, and with the incoming Reagan Administration inheriting a budget of its own that has been officially described as "hemorrhaging," I am sure the public would welcome a closer scrutiny on the expenditure of its funds at the U.N.

Our congratulations to Wayne's Rudy Froeschle for winning this year's Free Press essay contest. Besides the prestige of having his entry submitted to state competition, Rudy is $100 richer.

The cash came at a good time for him, no doubt, since Christmas is but a few weeks away. Rudy, being of sound conscience that he is, is expected to buy his wife, Alice, a little something special. We know he'd never spend it selfishly.

We were pleased with the quality of competition again this year. It was obvious all of the entrants are well educated and have definite feelings about the value of the First Amendment.

Our winner last year, Jean Hornbeck, went on to take top state honors. We're hoping Rudy has the same fortune.

1980 Farm Outlook Will Be Volatile

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
By M.M. Van Kirk,
Director of Information

The volatility of the agricultural economic situation has been a phenomenon of 1980 and the only thing that has remained relatively stable has been the 12 percent increase in farm production costs resulting from continued inflation.

New optimism is reported in farm country on the strength of prospects for increased world demand for U.S. wheat, feed grains and cotton after a poor crop year in the USSR, the People's Republic of China and the major exporting countries of the world.

Stories already have been in print quoting implement dealers whose business early in the year was in the doldrums as saying they are making sales and getting lots of inquiries about new equipment as farmers apparently anticipate a major upturn for them in 1981. If of course remains to be seen whether such optimism is justified in the face of rising interest rates and further increases in fuel, fertilizer and other major production costs.

But a great contrast exists in comparing present farm commodity prices and those of last winter following announcement of the embargo of grain sales to Soviet Russia above the minimum levels of the 5-year agreement. Then the Agriculture Department was busily urging farmers to put the embargoed 17 million metric tons of grain that had already been sold to the Soviets into the grain reserve.

Interest rates were high and banks were reporting that they and many of their farm customers were having credit problems. In March and April the outlook was gloomy and some farm groups and politicians were calling for the traditional remedies of higher loan rates, an increase in target prices and massive credit inputs from government financing agencies.

It is ironic that the heat and drought conditions which knocked a billion bushels off this year's corn crop and dropped annual production from the more than 7 billion bushels of 1978 and 1979 to the estimated 6.4 billion of 1980, has had more to do with the current outlook than government actions. Since June 1, the price of soybeans has climbed 47 percent, corn prices generally are 37 percent higher and wheat 34 percent higher than last spring. Some USDA economists recently said soybeans might reach $13 per bushel by next June, corn might go as high as $4.50 per bushel and wheat might reach $6.

Currently, all grains (with one exception) in the grain reserve program are either in "release" or "call" status. "Release" status means that the producer of the grain in the reserve program may repay the government loan on it without penalty and can then either continue to hold it or sell it. "Call" status means that the producer must repay the government loan within a certain period of time. He then can continue to hold it or market it.

Obviously this is designed to force the reserve grain out into the market and thus have a moderating effect on prices. Thus there is in reality both a "floor" and a "ceiling" on wheat and feed grain prices under the reserve program.

The "farmer-held" reserve program has some refinements but it actually differs very little in its concepts from the original "Triple A" program of 1933 which sought to maintain "an ever-normal granary." Right now cash grain and futures prices are running well above government loan rates and prospects appear that those conditions will continue for some time. Therein lies the real reason that the mood of farmers has shifted from pessimism to cautious optimism

HIGHWAY 81 one-half mile south of Madison was the scene of frenzied activity following a collision between two cars on Wednesday, Nov. 26. JOAN Burney of Hartington was given the "Individual Achievement Award" by the Nebraska Livestock Feeder's during a banquet in Omaha last week. It is not a yearly award, but one which is given at the discretion of the Livestock Feeder's Auxiliary. A spokesman for the auxiliary said Mrs. Burney received the award because of her personal achievements as a farmer/feeder's wife, especially in the fields of journalism and public speaking, and because her columns and her public speeches have done much toward the promotion and the understanding of livestock feeding in particular, and of the farming industry in general.

Dear Editor:
The University of Nebraska is considering elimination of the Lincoln Division College of Nursing. Elimination of the nursing program in Lincoln will affect not only nursing students but the entire state of Nebraska.

As students of the University of Nebraska, we stand behind the university's present nursing program; we firmly oppose the elimination of the Lincoln Division of Nursing for the following reasons:

Since many applicants for the College of Nursing have attended UNL prior to application, they tend to prefer to remain in Lincoln. The smaller number of spaces in Lincoln means that there is more competition for these spaces.

Lincoln offers students from rural areas the convenience of on-campus living (residence halls, Greek houses and cooperatives), smaller town atmosphere and opportunities for more campus activities than does Omaha.

Statistics from the 1979-80 graduating classes indicate that approximately 35 percent of Lincoln graduates work in out-state Nebraska compared to 7 percent from Omaha.

Clearly, the shortage of nurses would become even more acute through elimination of the Lincoln Division since the Omaha Division can't expand to accommodate all the Lincoln students.

The University of Nebraska board of regents will be deciding the fate of the Lincoln Division College of Nursing at their Jan. 17 meeting. We implore all Nebraskans to express their opinions on this issue to the regent and legislator of their district.

The name address of your regent is: Kermit Wagner, 1303 Colfax St., Schuyler, Neb., 68661.

It is interesting to see the county's rank in per capita income and what segment of the income strata pays the most taxes. The data is borderline out of date, but it still provides some useful information.

The item on building starts also provides some positive information, if you believe in statistics. Vern Russell, local garbage magnate, told the City Council this fall that "liars figure and figures lie." So, for what the stats are worth, give them a quick look-see.

What the figures seem to say most prominently is that there is construction here just bursting at the seams to get started. But with interest rates so prohibitive, the construction industry is stumped.

When interest rates were moderately low earlier this fall, construction took a leap forward. But as the rates edged higher and higher, construction starts dropped off, again.

It must be terribly frustrating for Bob Carhart, John Vakoc, etc. They know there is a need and a market for more housing here, yet their hands are tied. Vakoc has faked out several permits for construction of low-cost homes in Sunnyside Subdivision, but unreasonable interest rates more than likely will prevent all but the wealthy from buying.

We bought our house in Wayne in the spring of 1979 and signed a contract at 10 1/2 percent interest for 30 years. At the time, we tolled over the high interest rates but decided it was unlikely rates would be going down. At last check, rates were in the 14 percent range for the majority of banking customers.

We bought a car through Chrysler Corporation this fall under their low interest rate plan and paid 11 percent. Those now look to be two of the better financial decisions we've made in our five year's of marriage.

And speaking of marriage, our second bambino is due in six weeks. Since it will be born by Cesarean section, we know the exact date — Jan. 15.

As someone pointed out to us recently, that is a good example of planned parenthood. Of course, we set the date on a non-prime day.

With doctor permission, I hope to take color pictures of the events. Child's delivery in Red Oak was of an emergency nature and we had little chance to get but a few pictures in all the excitement.

First District Rep. Doug Bereuter must have a good pipeline to what's going on in the Reagan camp.

When he spoke here for Kiwanis several Monday's ago, he predicted John Block from Illinois, the state director of agriculture there, would be named the next Secretary of Agriculture.

I now read where the Illinois man is the front runner.

That certainly gives credibility to Bereuter's understanding of the political scene.

It looks, however, that Nebraska's Clayton Yeutter has a slim chance of being selected. His main opposition is Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas who seems to carry considerable weight with the Reagan group.

Family Histories Sought for Book

Families throughout Wayne County are reminded to begin work on their family history for the new Wayne County History. The Wayne County Historical Society, which is sponsoring the publication, said although some family histories have been received, many more are needed for the book. The book will contain between 300 and 500 pages and will be published by Taylor Publishing Co. of Texas. Publication consultant Bob Janson of Omaha met with the Wayne County History Book committee last Monday afternoon in Wayne to discuss progress on the book. Attending the meeting were Clete Sharer, John T. Bressler, Wilma Johnson, Marian Jordan, Eleanor Edwards, Bessie Baler, Donna Shuffell and Lucile Larson, all of Wayne, and Veryl Jackson, Irene Dittman and Bill Burris of Winside.

Committee members encourage residents of the county to turn in their family histories as soon as possible to avoid a flood of histories to edit and prepare by the Feb. 15 deadline. Persons preparing their family history are reminded to submit their own, personal family history, not the story of various couples from whom they descend. Histories should begin with the date and location of your own birth, your parents' names, and the surrounding circumstances. Information may include your childhood, including associations with your brothers and sisters, unusual happenings, visitors in your home, visits to grandparents, and relatives you remember. Family histories may also tell where you went to school, your best-remembered teachers, courses studied, and special activities. Mention your employment, your church or social club work, scouting, sports, or tasks at home. You may also want to tell how you met your spouse and about your married life. Give some background on your parents, grandparents, relatives who came to Wayne County, and from where they came, if known. Be sure to list your children, with full names, place and date of birth, schools, jobs, marriages, etc. The committee points out that stories should be written plainly. Think of the things you would like to have known about your ancestors — remembering that your great grandchildren will someday read this history. Volunteers are still needed to write about early courtship days, schools, churches, businesses, etc. The committee also needs topical histories, including accounts of grasshopper days, drought days, sleeping sickness among horses, the flu days of 1918 and 1919, box socials, square dances, early music, early celebrations of Christmas and other holidays, war days, big fires, tornadoes, blizzards, floods, early doctors, settlements of German, Welch, Scandinavian and other groups, sod houses, etc. Anyone interested in helping may write to the Wayne County History Book committee, 702 Lincoln, Wayne, or telephone Eleanor Edwards or Lucile Larson. Persons who have not received a letter outlining how to write their family history should also contact Miss Edwards or Mrs. Larson. Delivery of the book is expected in the late fall of 1981. The limited 9 x 12 edition will be bound in hardback leatherette with a gold stamped cover. Cost is $30 each plus sales tax, and postage and handling if mailed.

Bruce Linafelter Named To State Music Position

Bruce Linafelter, instrumental music director at the Albion Schools, was elected Chairman of Band Affairs of the Nebraska Music Educators Association during their annual meeting last month in Grand Island. There are about 700 members in the state-wide association. Linafelter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Linafelter of Allen, was graduated from Allen High School and received his BFAE degree from Wayne State College in 1973. He is currently a master's degree candidate in music education from the University of Northern Colorado in Greeley. He has taught instrumental music for the past eight years at Albion. The Albion band is one of the four charter bands at the Nebraska Marching Band Festival in Lincoln and has marched each year at Harvest of Harmony.

In 1974 and again in 1978 the Albion band received the Best Out of Town Band Award in the Sun Bowl Parade in El Paso, Texas. During the past eight years, instrumental participants from Albion have received over 85 percent superior ratings at district music contests. In his new position, which he will assume in January for a two-year term, Linafelter will be in charge of the annual All State Band at Grand Island.

Kevin Echtenkamp brought the team score to 27-12 as he pinned Jim Marxsen in 3:10 of the 138-pound match.

The Warriors added their final six points of the night when Mike Schlemmer and Steve Welsch decided Wayne's John Anderson and Nick Sieler 8-3 and 7-0 respectively.

With an insurmountable lead of 27-12, the Blue Devils relied on two veterans to put the match farther out of reach.

Brett Frevert gained 11 near fall points and held an 18-2 lead when he pinned Ed Stecki 4:47 into the 167-pound match. Aaron Schuett put the finishing touches on the dual by pinning Chuck Stevenson in 4:47. Schuett held a 10-2 advantage at the time.

Sladek-led Blue Devils Open Season in Fashion

Led by their towering big men, the Wayne Blue Devils opened their basketball season with an impressive 66-45 romp over Blair Friday night in Blair.

Mike Sladek broke into the starting lineup in true fashion. The senior, who is 6-7 and growing, dumped in 11 field goals to lead the Blue Devils with 22 points.

Wayne took advantage of its height by positioning both Sladek and 6-6 senior Perry Nelson inside during most of the game. Nelson responded with 14 points and a game high mark of 17 rebounds. Sladek had 10 rebounds.

The two tall men worked out on weights and conditioning most of the summer in preparation for basketball season. Nelson is a college recruit and several colleges are starting to take interest in Sladek as well.

Kevin Nissen added to the attack with 11 points. Tod Heier scored seven and Tim Pfeiffer scored six points. Blair's leading scorer was Mark Smith with 10 points.

The Blue Devils outrebounded Blair 49-33. Wayne had 10 turnovers and Blair committed 14. Todd Skokan and Nissen had five rebounds each.

Wayne shot 40 percent from the field and 50 percent at the line compared to 30 percent from the field and 69 percent from the free throw line for Blair.

Wayne's veteran coach Bill Sharpe was happy with the opening season win. "Mike played a super game. Everybody played well and our defense did a good job," Sharpe said. "We took care of things well." Sharpe pointed out that a few Blair players either missed the game or were slowed because of injuries.

The Bears used a zone defense against Wayne in the first half but switched to a man to man defense in the second half.

"I was impressed with the way we played. Our big players definitely helped us," said Sharpe. Blair won the junior varsity game 43-47 on a last second shot. Wayne held the lead with six seconds remaining but the Bears brought the ball down court and hit a desperation shot. Shaun Niemann led Wayne with 18 points and Tim Heier added eight points.

We fell behind early but came back well in the second and third quarters. We had a seven point lead at one time but threw it

SPECIAL REMINDER

To All Residents of the City of Wayne
With winter hanging over us, the Street Department again urges all residents to comply with city ordinances regarding snow removal on sidewalks, streets, off-street parking, gas station platforms, etc.

Ordinance No. 8-202 states that all sidewalks must be cleared of snow or ice to full width of sidewalk within twenty-four hours after the storm, or the city will hire personnel to remove it and bill the property owner. Also a summons to appear in court for violation of the ordinance will be issued by the Police Department. All ordinances will be strictly enforced.

In the business district, snow must be thrown into the street at least one foot from curb as soon as possible to permit removal by street crews. Only snow from sidewalk out to the street is permitted to be dumped into the street for city hauling. All snow behind sidewalks, stations, off-street parking, etc. will have to be removed by private operators.

Reminder to Private Snow Removers, when clearing snow from driveways, parking lots or sidewalks, snow is not permitted to be blown by snow blowers or pushed by machine back onto the city streets. This is also in violation of the City Ordinance and will be strictly enforced by the Police Department.
