Electric Rate Hike Matter of Time

With Council approval yet to come, it appears the city of Wayne and subsequently the residents of Wayne will be paying higher electric rates with their February bills.

WILLIS JONGGERIUS, a representative of the engineering firm DeWild, Grant, Reckert & Associates of Sioux City, Tuesday night detailed proposed increases in wholesale electric rates as anticipated by Nebraska Public Power District, the supplier of power for Wayne. He was at a special Council meeting called to review the electric distribution system and electric rates.

The Council was informed at its last regular meeting of November that NPPD would be raising its wholesale rates to Wayne despite an earlier projection that rates would remain stable at least for two years. Acting City Administrator Norm Melton told Council members that NPPD officials blame the needed rate hikes on problems with two electric generating plants and a resulting loss in revenue of $11 million. The utility argued that it, too, must meet its financial obligations and must raise rates.

AS A RESULT of the first of the year 11.85 percent increase in NPPD wholesale rates, Jonggerius recommended that the Council hike its retail rates to customers by 12 percent, also effective on that date. The increase will help eliminate a deficit of $168,000 that would result if the rates are not hiked, he said. Depreciation of equipment would help offset this somewhat, he added, although it would not provide the city with any additional cash.

In summarizing his remarks, Jonggerius made three recommendations as follows:

•Institute a rate increase of 12 percent to be applied to January and billed in February.

•Establish rates by calendar year rather than fiscal year since the power supplier (NPPD) is on the calendar year schedule and these costs constitute a major portion of operating expenses.

•Be prepared to re-evaluate rates in October or November of 1981 for the calendar year 1982.

ACTING Administrator Melton said the 12 percent increase is "a figure we can live with and still handle all the projected expenditures in 1981. We'll be able to hold the line on some of the other expenditures, as well."

Jonggerius noted that "there is no point in delaying the increase" since projections show an increase in rates of 16 percent for 1982 and 5 percent for 1983.

Melton said he recommends the retail rate increase now "instead of a piecemeal approach." Council member Keith Moseley added that "since we are in a holding pattern on expenses, I think we should go with it."

Formal action on the proposed rate hike is expected at the Dec. 30 regular Council meeting. When the matter was discussed Tuesday, there was not a quorum and Council members could only listen to the recommendations.

THE FUTURE OF electricity in Wayne also was the focal point of about 1 1/2 hours of review by a representative of DGR.

Dave DeVries reviewed projected needs of the city's electric system over the next 20 years, and provided the Council with a long-term plan that could cost the city as much as $3.1 million.

Based on past experience and electric use in Wayne, it looks as though the city's electric system will not be adequate to meet peak demands, DeVries explained. In fact, there are some isolated instances now where the electric system borders on Class B service, a type of service that is unacceptable, he said.

BASICALLY, as explained by DeVries, a dual voltage system should be built to provide the entire city with adequate electric coverage. Currently, there are isolated instances of an electric drop of 7 percent from the time the electricity arrives here from the power supplier until it reaches some homes. A power loss of 3 1/2 percent is considered borderline acceptable.

There are "only slight problems now," DeVries said, "but if we let the problem continue, you will be giving Class B (second rate) service."

Potential problems include toasters that toast slower, lights that are not quite as bright, televisions that have weak pictures, etc.

Ultimately, if electric growth continues at 5 percent annually as projected by the engineering firm, Wayne would need 12 1/3 kilovolt systems, six entering from the north and six from the south.

THE LONG-RANGE plan has been divided into four phases through the year 2000, according to DeVries. Total cost, based on today's dollars, is $3,117,840.

Phase I (to be done in about 1982) would include $764,310 for work on the distribution system and $50,000 for work on the existing substation. Phase II (1985) would include $756,000 on the distribution system.

Phase III (1989) would include construction of a new substation for $556,200 and additional transmission lines for $169,000.

The Interim Plan (1990 to 2000) calls for $761,000 in work on the distribution system and $50,000 on the substation.

DeVries said the amount of work needed will be based on how rapidly the electric demand in Wayne increases. If it is less than the projected 5 percent, then expansion of the system will be slower. If it is more than 5 percent, the need for a better system will increase.

The Council is in the early stages of reviewing the proposals and is not expected to take any action for several months.

IN OTHER ACTION, the Council reviewed an ordinance involving the replacement of old water meters with new ones. Again because there was not a quorum, no action could be taken.

The ordinance allows city crews to replace existing meters with remote meters as the old ones wear out. Previously, residents were charged for new meters but the city will pick up the tab on the new, remote meters.

It is estimated that the new meters will provide more efficient monitoring of water, thus increasing the water revenue and reducing the deficit.

ALL COUNCIL members except Darrel Heier, Darrel Fuelberth and Larry Johnson were present. Council member Carolyn Filler was about 30 minutes late.

No actions were taken.

Christmas Bonus Buck Give-A-Ways Near End

The special Christmas edition of the Grand Give-A-Way is nearing its end and is in dire need of another winner.

THE TOTAL FOR Wednesday was $1,050, for Thursday was the regular $1,000 and for Friday will be $1,150 if there was no winner Wednesday. One hundred dollars will be added each night or day there is not a winner, for a potential sum of $1,350 on Sunday.

There has not been a winner since the first day of the drawing when the name of Gilbert Dangberg of Wayne was picked. He was at Pamida, Inc. and received $250.

The regular Thursday night drawing for $1,000 did not have a winner. Robert Bower of rural Wayne was not in town. Friday night's name drawn was Harry Nelson of Carroll for $550. George Voller missed out on $650 Saturday. LeRoy Penlerick $750 Sunday, Viggo Kasrup $850 Monday and Oscar Peterson $950 Tuesday.

The total to be given away at 8 p.m. Wednesday was $1,050. If there was no winner, then the regular $1,000 was slated for 8 p.m. Thursday; $1,150 for 8 p.m. Friday, etc., etc.

THE GIVEAWAYS will be held each day through Sunday. Drawings on Saturday and Sunday will be at 3 p.m.

Rules are the same as for the regular Thursday Grand Give-A-Way. Names of persons who subscribe to The Wayne Herald, who receive The Marketer or who have registered at any of the participating stores are eligible. If the person or his or her spouse is in one of the stores when the name is drawn; then there is a winner. However, if there is a winner, the amount will start again at $250. This does not apply for Thursday night's drawing.

Officials of the giveaway remind winners that the bonus bucks must be redeemed by Dec. 31 when the contest ends.

The following is a list of the participating stores:

BURGER BARN, Fredrickson Oil Co., El Toro, Chrysler Center, Wayne Shoe Co., Arnie's Ford/Mercury, Black Knight, The Vets Club, Carhart Lumber Co., Eldon's Standard, Triangle Finance, Peoples' Natural Gas Co., Karel's, The 4th Jug, Northeast Nebraska Insurance Agency, Jack Tomrde-Kuhn's Carpet and Draperies, Surbers, Jeff's Cafe.

Wayne Grain and Feed, Doescher Appliance, Associated Insurance, TP Lounge, Thies-Bridgman, King's Carpets, Melodee Lanes and Logan Valley implement.

New, Young Housing Director Taking Interim Post in Stride

She prefers people to politics. Her age has not been a hindrance and her lack of a masters degree or doctorate has posed no problems.

TWENTY-FOUR year old Sue Hochstein, herself a graduate of Wayne State College, assumed duties as the interim director of resident life at WSC fewer than 30 days ago. Since then, she has weathered a mild controversy and has emerged into the full-time position with renewed confidence in herself and respect for the job.

The Wynot native stepped into the shoes previously filled by Dr. Marvin Beamer, who left Wayne State this fall after four years as housing director and then as director of resident life. Transition from the dominant attitudes and policies of Dr. Beamer to those of a young woman hardly older than most students has been of little concern, she said.

"It's been a pace I've really enjoyed," she explained.

HOCHSTEIN, IN an acting capacity through next spring, is bound by most of the policies developed by her predecessor. However, she explained, she is interpreting the rules not quite so literally as Dr. Beamer and is reviewing instances on a case by case basis.

Her tenure to date has been satisfying, she said, because she has been able to deal with students and their problems. Her primary responsibility is seeing that the overall operation of residence halls is run smoothly between the students, the dorm directors, resident assistants, etc. She also is charged with coordinating student requests with administration guidelines, she explained in summarizing two pages of her job description.

Before becoming interim housing director, Hochstein worked part-time and later full-time in the WSC admissions office. Through this exposure to students and college policies, she has been better able to adapt to her new responsibilities.

"MANY OF THE things that came up now came up through admissions while I worked in there," she noted.

The only real thorn in her side was a controversy that arose only a few days after she was on the job. The first inkling that something was amiss was a Letter to the Editor in the college newspaper "The Wayne Star."

After a minor flap, the issue boiled down to a conflict between the administration and students. The matter centered on the qualifications of Hochstein and has since been resolved, she explained.

"SOMEBODY ELSE can handle the politics. I'm more people oriented, more student oriented," she explained.

Her rapport with the students continues undaunted. She encourages students to come to her office with any type of complaint, suggestion or problem. If it cannot be handled there, she refers the student to the proper counselor.

An educational background in business administration has provided Hochstein with the knowledge to deal with many of the problems she has faced the past three weeks. She intends to expand her major and is considering graduate study in business or some type of human development program.

HOCHSTEIN WAS in the process of looking for a job when she was offered her current position. College officials said she fulfilled the qualifications for the position.

A 1974 graduate of Wynot High School, she chose Wayne State in the fall of that year because she was looking for the friendliness and involvement of a small town community. Hochstein began working in the admissions office during the summer of 1974 and spent the next two years going to school full time and working part time.

In August of 1976, she chose to start working full time in the admissions office and a year later decided to finish her schooling. By continuing with her classes part time, she was able to receive her degree in business administration in December, 1979.

SINCE THEN, she has taken some time off from the rigors of work and studying and seriously sought employment about September. It was soon thereafter that she learned of the open position in the housing office.

Hochstein said she has no regrets about taking 3 1/2 years to complete her degree. It was part of her five-year plan. Those years enabled her to work with the students, faculty and administration at every level. She was given many opportunities to deal with people and to absorb the functions of an organization such as WSC.

THE RIGORS OF overseeing activities involving housing on the Wayne State College campus are being accepted well by the interim director of resident life, Sue Hochstein. In the job less than a month, she is taking the reins held by former director Marvin Beamer.

Firemen Busy Again

MOST OF THE UPSTAIRS of an apartment at 521 Pearl St. owned by John Dorcey was heavily damaged by fire Saturday night. Wayne Volunteer Fire Department personnel were summoned about 10:05 and were on the scene for more than an hour fighting the blaze which started when a television caught fire. The fire spread to the attic, but was extinguished before spreading to other parts of the house. Firemen were called to 521 Wayside Lane about 4:15 p.m. where a chicken had burned while cooking. It was taken care of before firemen arrived.

Fewer Residents Live in the County

The 1980 Census has ended in 32 counties of Nebraska, including Wayne. The Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce announced preliminary tallies in several area counties after temporary district census offices in Lincoln closed recently.

ACCORDING TO a report in the Omaha World Herald Sunday, Wayne County lost 6.7 percent population from the 1970 level. The 1980 total is estimated at 9,706 and compares to 10,400 in 1970.

Population and housing figures for local and county governments have been sent to the highest elected official in each community, but a check with the Wayne City Hall Friday indicated no such records had been received.

Completed census questionnaires from the Lincoln office have been shipped to the Laguna Niguel, Calif., census processing facility where they will be fed through high-speed equipment which microfilms each page.

THE MICROFILM is then scanned electronically and the data from the census forms — excluding names and addresses — is transmitted directly to the Census Bureau's computers in Washington, D.C.

Once computer tabulation of the data has been completed, final population and housing counts will be released early in 1981 and will supersede the preliminary totals.

The initial totals indicate the city of Wayne lost about 300 persons and has a 1980 population of slightly more than 5,000.

PRELIMINARY totals for other area counties show Dixon County has an estimated population of 7,136 this year compared to 7,453 in 1970, a net loss of 4.3 percent; Cedar County has an estimated population of 11,357 this year compared to 12,192 in 1970 for a net loss of 11.3 percent; Dakota County has an estimated population of 13,137 in 1980 compared to the 1970 total of 16,542, a net gain of 23.9 percent.

Drawing Tuesday

As of today (Thursday), there are just seven shopping days left until Christmas, and Wayne merchants are continuing to offer a variety of savings on merchandise and the traditional gift give away Tuesday.

PARTICIPATING merchants are offering free registration for gift give-aways totaling more than $7,000. At present, there are an estimated 50 stores involved with more than 100 different prizes.

Each store will have a drawing Tuesday, Dec. 23, for the gifts in their store and the gigantic stocking stuffed with toys and candy for the youngsters. Only one member per family will be permitted to win. This is done to spread the benefits and goodwill that the give aways provide to as many different families as possible.

FOR THE convenience of the shopper, stores will remain open until 9 p.m. each week night through Tuesday, Dec. 23. Stores also will be open until 5:30 p.m. Saturday and from 7 to 9 p.m. Sunday.

The final free show for kids will be at the Gay Theatre beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday "Tammy and the Millionaire" will be shown.

Attends Session
Layne Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marlen Johnson of Concord, returned home Saturday from a Nebraska Outdoor Encounter session held Dec. 7-12 near Fort Robinson.

Three other Laurel-Concord school students and two students from Lincoln also attended the session.

The group backpacked through the hills of western Nebraska, cooking on small camp stoves. Students also learned to fend for themselves as they went off to an area alone for a designated time.

They also were taught techniques for caring for sick or injured campers.

The group said they especially enjoyed the wildlife, including mule deer.

Dinsmore Who's Who

THIRTY SEVEN students from Wayne State College have been selected for the 1981 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. These students were congratulated by Dr. Lyle Seymour, President of Wayne State College, at a reception held in their honor on Thursday, Dec. 11.

Light follows darkness and grief-grown clouds do vanish... but in a storm of sorrow who remembers? We do, your friends... let us lead you through this darkness. You can depend on us for support and consolation... we understand your needs.

You know us... our assistance is just a phone call away.

Wayne State: A Reflection

The excitement and enthusiasm are apparent as Dr. Lyle Seymour, president of Wayne State College, talks about some of the accomplishments of this past term.

Among the most significant described by President Seymour are the renovations of the Humanities and education buildings.

Some of the changes in these buildings will include elevators, air conditioning and a small theater. He added that space in the fourth floor of the Humanities building is expected to be used for classes for the new journalism major.

Seymour said he was encouraging with the enrollment stability this term. He said that while college enrollments around the country were dipping, Wayne State managed to remain about the same as last year. A significant reason for this, he said, was the increase in freshman enrollment.

He said he thought this increase reflected the recruitment efforts at the high school level and also student recognition of program quality.

He also cited the broadened program options such as the new criminal justice program as another reason for increase enrollment.

Another significant accomplishment noted by Seymour, was the five star award received by the Wayne State.

"The Midwest Review, A Journal of History and Culture of the Missouri Valley," which is published by the Social Science division received an award which was hailed by Seymour as an important achievement this term.

Wayne State has been involved at a national level as one of ten institutions around the country included in the Academic Program Evaluation, which evaluated the General Education program, according to Seymour. He said we also continue to be involved at the state level with the Nebraska Business Development Center through the business division.

Seymour expressed pride in the quality of special programs such as Whitmore and Liddy which was provided by the Student Activities Board this term.

at a national level as one of ten institutions around the country included in the Academic Program Evaluation, which evaluated the General Education program, according to Seymour. He said we also continue to be involved at the state level with the Nebraska Business Development Center through the business division.

Seymour expressed pride in the quality of special programs such as Whitmore and Liddy which was provided by the Student Activities Board this term.

In summarizing the past term, he said, "The college has attained a position of a well-balanced, well defined program for our size and type. I think the strength of any institution is in its academic programs and I'm proud of this institution and what it has to offer."

Of special interest next term, according to Seymour, will be the budget hearing for next year. He said that since the outcome of these hearings mandates what the college will be able to do financially, they are of chief importance.

He remarked that the college will continue to review the academic programs provided and to move ahead as an academic institution.

President Seymour's hope for the New Year is "that the institution continues to grow academically, that our graduates will be able to get good jobs, and that everybody has a successful and good academic year."

THE REV. AND MRS. JON VOGEL, at left, and the Rev. and Mrs. Tom Mendenhall pose beside quilts given to them as Christmas gifts from the Ladies Aid society of Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne.

The women spent five months working on the quilts, which feature each state flower.

Grace Lutheran Ladies Present Quilts to Pastors and Wives

The Ladies Aid of Grace Lutheran Church surprised Pastors Tom Mendenhall and Jon Vogel and their wives last week with Christmas gifts of handmade queen size quilts.

The lime green quilts, which are designed with each state flower, were presented Dec. 15 following a party in the church parlor at the church.

Mrs. Mendenhall, president of the Ladies Aid, said it took the women about five months to complete the quilts. Work was done secretly in various members' homes and at the church.

On the quilt committee were Mrs. Harold Ekberg, Mrs. Raymond Langemeier, Mrs. Warren Austin and Mrs. Ron Penierick.

Fifty Ladies Aid members and 24 guests were present for the 7:30 p.m. luncheon and program. Tables were decorated in the Christmas motif.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ernie Oswald, Mrs. Ron Penierick, Mrs. Agnes Pfeil and Mrs. Henry Reithuisch.

Mrs. Wallace Victor had opening devotions and prayer. She also gave the visitation report. It was announced that Mrs. Matilda Bareiman, Mrs. Don Sberbahn and Mrs. Marvin Victor packed 15 boxes of clothing for Lutheran World Relief and took them to Norfolk.

Mrs. Martha Bartels, Mrs. Ed Baker and Mrs. Ernest Groner were chosen to serve on the auditing committee.

World Relief Sewing will begin Jan. 27.

Mrs. Tom Mendenhall had the program entitled "Songs of the Nativity" with several other members taking part. The program also included group singing.

Honored with the birthday song were Mrs. Harold Ekberg, Mrs. Martha Bartels, Mrs. Bob Thomson, the Rev. Tom Mendenhall and guests with birthdays in December.

Hostesses for the next meeting, on Jan. 14, will be Mrs. George Reuter, Mrs. Otto Saul and Mrs. Don Sberbahn.

Bridal Fetes for Miss Ankeny

Margaret Ankeny of Dixon, January bride-elect of Scott Huetig, was honored recently with two bridal fetes.

About 60 guests attended a miscellaneous shower Saturday afternoon at the Dixon United Methodist Church. The guests came from Laurel, Wayne, Norfolk, Allen, Ponca, Concord and Dixon.

Decorations were in light and dark blue and white. The program included a meditation by the Rev. Vivian Hand and a humorous reading by Mrs. Garold Jewell. Mary Ankeny and Cheryl Abts assisted with the gifts.

Hostesses were Naomi Quist, Frances Berg, Frances Noe, Wilma Eckerl, Marilyn Abts, Mary Garvin, Florine Jewell, Mary Noe, Adeline Prascott, Martha Walton, Janice Hartman, Irene Hansen and Helen Abts.

Miss Ankeny also was honored at a bridal fete Friday evening at the Immanuel Lutheran Church in Laurel.

Thirty guests were present from Sioux City, Belden, Wayne, Laurel and Dixon. Decorations were in light and dark blue and white. Norma Ebmeler gave two readings and Marian Mallett sang a solo.

Assisting the bride-elect in opening her gifts were Mary Ankeny and Renee Jensen.

Hostesses were Mildred Jensen, LaVonne Smith, Doris Sohler, Norma Ebmeler, DeLoris Morton, Betty Olson, Gertrude Gadeken, Belinda Magdaaz, Marvalee Sudbeck, Carrie Dahl and Ginny Tuttle.

Miss Ankeny, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Ankeny of Dixon, and Scott Huetig, son of Mrs. Dorothy Huetig of Laurel, will be married Jan. 3 at the Dixon United Methodist Church.

Frank Marten Observes 89th Year at Hoskins

Frank Marten observed his 89th birthday last Thursday at his home in Hoskins.

Relatives, friends and neighbors called on him during the afternoon. Mrs. Leonard Marten baked and decorated the birthday cake.

Marten, a lifelong resident of the Hoskins vicinity, was born Dec. 11, 1891 on a farm south of Hoskins. He moved into Hoskins in 1949.

He resides alone and is active in his hobby of woodworking and making mirrors out of horse collars.

Annual Christmas Dinner at Redeemer

Redeemer Lutheran Church members and guests met in the church basement Dec. 10 for their annual Christmas potluck dinner.

Dorcas Circle was in charge of serving. Phyllis Rahn was in charge of a brief program following the meal. The group sang Christmas carols with Jan Stalling accompanying on the piano.

Taking part in a skit were Jeanie Butts, Mavis Luff, Jan Stalling and Marilyn Pierson.

The Rev. and Mrs. Daniel Monson were presented a gift from the group.

Ryan Allemann Baptized Sunday

Baptismal services for Ryan Dean Allemann, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Allemann, were held Sunday morning at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Hoskins.

The Rev. Wesley Bruss officiated and sponsors were Keith Bruggeman, Karen Bruggeman and Donna Black.

Allemann entertained at a dinner afterward in the Trinity Lutheran School basement. Thirty-five guests were present from Grand Island, Wakefield, Norfolk, Wayne, Carroll, Winside and Hoskins.

Miss Roberts Recipient of Grant-in-Aid

The selection committee for Psi chapter Delta Kappa Gamma has chosen Penny Roberts of rural Wakefield as the recipient of its $150 grant-in-aid for 1981.

Miss Roberts is a speech and English student at Wayne State College. A 1978 graduate of Wakefield High School, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Roberts.

Steven Rabe is Baptized

The Rev. Lon DuBois officiated at baptismal services Sunday at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Winside for Steven James Rabe. Steven is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Rabe of Winside. His godparents are Craig and Cheryl Tiller of Hoskins.

Dinner guests afterward in the home of Steven's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Art Rabe of Winside, were the James Rabe family, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Tillema of Neligh, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Rabe-Doug Bruggeman, Mrs. Alice Marquardt and Dale, and the Rev. and Mrs. Lon DuBois and daughters.

PAM SANNE OF TILDEN, Norfolk chapter Dairy Princess, offers a free cheese sample to Mrs. Gene Jensen of Winside, at left. Miss Sanne, along with Gloria Evans of Winside, center, was at Miller's Market in Winside Saturday to distribute free cheese samples to shoppers as part of a promotion aimed at recognizing the dairy farmers' contributions to consumers. Other women handing out these samples Saturday at Miller's Market were Arlene Wills, Mrs. Jack Brockman and Nellie Kittle.

Women Promoting Dairy Products

Christmas shoppers in Wayne and several other surrounding communities have been treated to free dairy samples, including cheese and egg nog, during the past two weeks by Nebraska Dairy Women.

Nellie Kittle of Winside, a spokesman for the Norfolk chapter of Nebraska Dairy Women, said the group's aim is to promote dairy products and bring recognition to the dairy farmers' contributions to consumers.

The group distributed free cheese samples earlier this month to shoppers at Bill's GW in Wayne. Women handing out the samples on Dec. 4 included Mrs. Kittle, Cheryl Furgerson, Michelle Kubic, Bonnie Sprouls, Margaret Korn, Julie Anderson and Rhonda Kittle.

Women at Miller's Market in Winside this past Saturday to distribute cheese samples to shoppers included Mrs. Kittle, Arlene Wills, Mrs. Jack Brockman and Gloria Evans. Joining them for part of the day was Pam Sanne of Tilden, Norfolk chapter Dairy Princess.

In addition to promoting dairy products, Nebraska Dairy Women each year sponsor a Dairy Princess Contest. Each chapter conducts its own contest, with winners eligible to compete in the state contest.

Last year's Norfolk chapter winner was Susan Coulter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Coulter of Wayne. Chapter winner this year was Pam Sanne of Tilden, and runner up was Sherie Maroz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lane Maroz of Hoskins.

Stame Dairy Princess is Lori Zimmerman of Center, who represented the Hartington chapter.

Mrs. Kittle said all area women interested in promoting dairy products are invited to attend the next meeting of the Norfolk chapter, scheduled at 1:30 p.m. Jan. 5 at the Cattle Shed in Norfolk.

Norfolk chapter officers are Mardell Schwarz of Humphrey, president; Ann Wendenkind of Humphrey, secretary; Lucille North of Battle Creek, treasurer; and Nellie Kittle of Winside, publicity.

Brandon Lynn Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hall of Carroll, was baptized Sunday at the United Methodist Church in Carroll.

The Rev. Kenneth Edmonds officiated and sponsors were Rick Davis and Mrs. Jerry Walsh.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall entertained about 45 guests at dinner in the church fellowship hall following the service. The guests were from Coleridge, Hubbard, Norfolk, Winside, South Sioux City and Carroll.

Club Reveals Secret Sisters

Progressive Homemakers Club revealed secret sisters when the group met Monday in the home of Mrs. Emma Franzen.

Ten members responded to roll call. Cards furnished entertainment, followed with an exchange of gifts.

Emma Dranselka will be the hostess for the next meeting, at 2 p.m. on Jan. 20.

Museum Closes After Sunday

Sunday, Dec. 21, will be the final opportunity for persons to visit the Wayne County Historical Museum before it closes for the remainder of the winter.

Local and area residents, as well as persons home for the holiday season, are encouraged to tour the museum between the hours of 2 and 4 p.m. Hosts Sunday will be Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Gilliland and Anne Lage.

Acme Party in Benthack Home

Members of Acme Club read a favorite Christmas poem for entertainment at a Christmas party Monday afternoon in the home of Jean Benthack.

The group also exchanged gifts. Priscilla Skov will be the hostess on Jan. 5 at 2 p.m.

Blue Devils Build Momentum for Holiday Tourney Lakeview Becomes 3rd Victim

The first three tests of the Wayne High boys basketball season have been passed with flying colors. Actually, the Blue Devils are still untested after three games and are making a bid for a position in the Class B rankings.

The Devils, playing somewhat ragged at times, disposed of the Columbus Lakeview Vikings 59-42 Saturday night in Wayne's conference and home opener.

Wayne has won its three games by a total margin of 53 points. The Blue Devils defeated Blair 66-45 and South Sioux City 72-57 in previous competition.

The Vikings gave Wayne a strong challenge in the first quarter but fell behind in the second period and never seriously challenged again.

Lakeview scored the first basket of the game but Mike Sladek countered with a bucket for the hosts. Both teams used a zone defense through most of the first half.

The fine outside shooting of Lakeview's Greg Asche gave the visitors a 10-8 lead. Asche scored 8 of his 12 total points with shots from the 20 to 25 foot range in the first quarter. Kevin Arndt added 11 points for the Vikings.

Then, the Blue Devils warmed up. Back to back baskets by Jere Morris and Kevin Nissen gave Wayne the lead at 16-12. They held on to a 16-14 lead after the first quarter and never lost that advantage.

The hosts caught fire in the second quarter and pulled to a 24-16 lead on baskets by Nissen, Morris and Sladek. Perry Nelson and Sladek controlled the boards and provided second and third shots on rebounds.

After posting a 31-21 lead at the half, Wayne came out in the third quarter running the ball and applying a man-to-man defense. Lakeview used a full court press hoping to force some turnovers but didn't have much success.

Nelson got stronger as the game progressed and Morris played well as the Devils built their lead to 14 points 47-33 after three quarters of play.

Baskets by Sladek and Steve Koll put Wayne out in front 59-40 in the final minutes. Lakeview added one final basket for a 59-42 final count.

Nelson finished the game with 18 points on nine field goals. Nissen scored 14 points. Sladek hit 12 and Morris added nine in the balanced attack.

Lakeview won the junior varsity game 56-29. Wayne scorers: Shaun Niemann, 9; Mark Bofenkamp, 10; Bob Liska, 6; Mark Hummel, 2; Tim Corbit, 2.

Wayne was scheduled to play at Laurel Tuesday and at Wisner tomorrow (Friday). Then, the Blue Devils will be idle until Dec. 29 and 30 in the Wayne State Holiday Tournament.

Wayne Shakes Laurel Delay Game

Looking for their fourth straight win, Coach Bill Sharpe's Wayne Blue Devils faced their toughest test Tuesday night against the Laurel Bears. Wayne came home with a 48-40 decision.

Laurel coach Joel Parks combatted the Bears' definite height disadvantage by running a slow down game. Laurel's quickness and some good outside shooting countered Wayne's height.

The Blue Devils led 10-4 after the first quarter but the Bears cut the advantage to 16-14 at the half. The visitors were on top 28-20 after three quarters of the low-scoring matchup. Both teams opened up in the final quarter to score 20 points apiece.

"This was a whole different ball game and it was good experience," said Wayne coach Bill Sharpe. "I'm sure we'll have to face this style of play again. We handled it well."

Sharpe also complimented the opponents. "Laurel held the ball and worked for their shots. They showed a lot of patience. The Laurel kids really hustled," he said. "We won and learned something."

The veteran Wayne coach said that Wisner Pilger coaches scouted the game and added that the Blue Devils may see a deliberate style of play again Friday at Wisner.

The Bears pulled within two points at one time but could get no closer. Perry Nelson's layup at the final buzzer made the final margin eight points.

Wayne hit 19 of 39 shots from the field for 48.7 percent while Laurel hit 16 of 41 for 39 percent. The Blue Devils outrebounded the Bears 23 to 13. Leading rebounders for Wayne were Perry Nelson with six, Mike Sladek with five and Tim Pfeiffer with four. Each team committed 11 turnovers.

The hosts powered their deliberate offense with the outside shooting of Joe Olsen. Olsen hit six field goals and added five of eight free throws for 17 total points. Kevin Erwin scored eight points and Dave Marquardt and Scott Norvell added six points each.

For Wayne, 6-6 Nelson was the driving force. He hit eight field goals and two free throws for 18 points. Kevin Nissen scored eight, Jere Morris scored seven, Tod Heier hit six, Tim Pfeiffer made five and Mike Sladek added four.

Sharpe reported that Pfeiffer came off the bench in the third and fourth quarters to spark the ball club. Mike Sladek was taken out of the game in the third period because it was too slow and not his type of game, Sharpe said.

Wayne started the game in a zone defense but switched to a man-to-man later, hoping to force the Bears out of their deliberate offense.

In junior varsity action, Laurel defeated Wayne 65-49. Brian Marquardt scored 14 points, Tim Bloom scored 12 and Kelly Robson scored 11 for the winners. Wayne was led by Mark Bofenkamp with 13 and Shaun Niemann with 11.

Wayne is scheduled to play at Wisner Friday and will then be idle until the Wayne State Holiday Tournament, Dec. 29 and 30. Laurel plays at Emerson-Hubbard on Friday and will host Coleridge on Saturday. The Bears also will compete in the Wayne State Holiday Tourney.

Taller Viqueens Defeat Wayne Girls

Lack of height was more of a disadvantage than the Wayne girls could overcome as they lost to Columbus Lakeview 61-40, Monday night in the Wayne High gym.

The tall Viqueens started four girls who were 5'10 or taller and took a first quarter lead of 14-6.

The Blue Devils fought back in both of the first two periods pulling back within striking distance but trailed 28-19 at the intermission.

"We really had a good first half. We ran our plays and did a good job," said Wayne coach Becky Kelsey. "But, in the second half we couldn't execute properly. We hurried and threw the ball away too much."

The second half belonged to Lakeview as the visitors outscored Wayne 33-21. LyNae Loske and Julie Schaf led the winners with 20 and 16 points respectively.

The Blue Devils shot 23 percent from the field and 59 percent from the free throw line. The hosts had 21 rebounds but committed 24 turnovers. Lynn Surber led the team with five rebounds.

Jill Zeiss was Wayne's leading scorer with 13 points. Jenni DeTurk scored eight and Missy Stoltenberg had five points. Three other players added four points each.

Wayne is scheduled to play at Laurel tonight (Thursday) and will then be off for Christmas vacation until the Wayne State Holiday Tournament Dec. 29 and 30.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Wakefield Starts Adult Basketball

An adult basketball program has been initiated at Wakefield Community schools. The sessions are scheduled from 5 to 7 p.m. on Sundays and from 7 to 9 p.m. on Wednesdays.

Anyone who wants to participate in the league can sign up at the gym when they arrive for practice.

There will be a fee of $10 for participation in the league or $1 a day. It is open to all Wakefield High School alumni or persons living in the school district. Alan Johnson will be in charge.

Mann Elected Wildlife Club Officer

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln Wildlife Club has elected new officers for 1981, according to Ron Case, co-advisor and professor of forestry, fisheries and wildlife.

Andrea Mann of Winslow was elected co-publicity chairman of the club. Other new officers are Chuck Wertz, president; Joe Brandl, vice president; Tom Christiansen, treasurer; Rachel Ondov, secretary; Jim Domeier, co-publicity chairman.

Case reported that approximately 75 Wildlife Club members participate in wildlife enhancement projects, canoe trips, ice fishing, trapshooting excursions and overnight campouts.

The members also volunteer their time to work on projects with the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission. Activities include wild game checks and fish data collections.

Hank Aaron to Speak at WSC

Baseball great Hank Aaron, the only player to break Babe Ruth's home run record, will speak at Wayne State College, Wednesday, Jan. 14, according to college sources.

The Wayne State Student Senate voted at a meeting earlier this month, to bring Aaron to Wayne at a cost of $2,900 plus expenses.

The entertainment committee had earlier voted to bring controversial coach Billy Martin to speak on campus. However, Martin and Wayne State could not reach agreement on an available date for the appearance.

Wayne State programming coordinator Rick Arbutnot reported that he was unable to get Martin but had received word that Aaron is available Jan. 14.

Arm Wrestling Winners

Champions were crowned in five divisions of the Monster Arm Wrestling contest at Big Al's Place last Tuesday. The winners are eligible to compete in the Nebraska State Championships at the 1981 State Fair or in the Monster Nationals Feb. 14 at Ames, Ia.

Flyweight division: 1. Kevin Kay of Wayne; 2. Gene Barnes of Norfolk; 3. Bill Newton of Wakefield.

Lightweight division: 1. Jerry Kreen of Wayne; 2. Jerry Dunning of Decatur; 3. Duane Kay of Wayne.

Middleweight division: 1. Dave Cunningham of Wayne; 2. Tom Henderson of Emerson; 3. Brad Peterson of Tekamah.

Left hand open division: 1. Randy Hise of Tekamah; 2. Steve Greve of Wakefield; 3. Dave Cunningham of Wayne.

Ladies open division: 1. Annie Walsh of West Point; 2. Marice Wurdeman of Wakefield.

Randy's Recap

According to Randy Hascell

I RECEIVED A LETTER in the mail a few weeks ago from former Winside wrestling coach Doug Reeves. Reeves and his wife Kristi are now teaching in Australia. "Go-day mate, oya goin'?" is the way the letter begins. Obviously, Aussie talk. Reeves reports that he is again wrestling and placed second in the State Titles wrestling competition and qualified for nationals in the super heavyweight (100 kilograms and up) class.

In the national meet, Reeves placed third. He said that a second place finish would have secured a position in the Pacific Wrestling Championship in New Zealand.

The team Reeves now coaches finished third in the State All-Technical School Championships and second in the State All-School Championships. Four of his wrestlers qualified for nationals, he said.

Next year, Reeves and his wife will be teaching on the Australian coast. He says that they will be only 20 minutes from the ocean and beach, 10 minutes from a lake and 30 minutes from the mountains.

According to Reeves, Australia is extremely modern and relatively crime-free. He seems to be enjoying it and says to tell everyone in this area, hello.

FOUR ATHLETES were recognized as athletes of the week, Thursday at the Second Guessers meeting. Perry Nelson and Mike Sladek of the Wayne basketball team and Leon McRae and Grady Hansen of the Wayne State basketball team were awarded certificates and treated to a meal.

FINAL STATISTICS of the volleyball season have been compiled by the Nebraska School Activities Association and I received a copy in the mail, Friday.

Among the state leaders at the end of the season are two area players. Lisa Peters of Wayne ranked ninth (tied with four other girls) in the Class B list of leading servers. Peters had 144 good serves in 152 attempts for 95 percent efficiency.

Jill Zeiss of Wayne was listed 11th in ace serve totals. She finished the year with 41 ace serves, 11 behind the state leader.

No other area girls were listed among the leaders in any class or any category.

I'VE DRAWN UP a rough schedule of sports events I'll be covering over the next two or three months. I usually don't decide more than two or three days in advance which event I will be covering but decided this year to look ahead a little farther.

Some teams won't get much coverage this month because their schedules sometimes conflict with mine or because they don't compete much at home.

However, looking over the full season schedule, I have things set up so that first hand coverage of every team will be divided as equal as possible. It looks like it will be an interesting season.

AMONG THE ENTRANTS in the Siouxland Tough Woman contest at the Sioux City Auditorium last week was a 1979 graduate of Wakefield High School.

Teresa Hattig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hattig of Wayne, entered the middleweight division but was forced to compete in the heavyweight class because she was the only entry. She said she plans to enter another contest scheduled in March.

Teresa won all three of her fights, each of which consisted of three two-minute rounds. Then, she declined to fight Gall Hines of Winnebago in the finals. It would have been her third fight in a row.

Hattig is employed as a cocktail waitress in Wayne.

Winside Edges Wakefield Girls

When it came down to the wire, free throws made the difference as Winside defeated Wakefield 39-35 in girls basketball action at Winside Tuesday night.

Darla Janke sank two free throws in the final 35 seconds to ice the win for the hosts. Winside missed three of four free throw attempts in the final two minutes.

After Winside posted a 33-26 advantage at the end of three quarters, neither team was able to score again until nearly halfway through the final period. A layup by Winside's Laurie Gallop with 4:24 remaining broke the drought.

A basket by Rita Wilson with 2:02 remaining brought Wakefield within three points at 37-34. The Trojans pulled within two points when Kris Mitchell hit a free throw in the final minute.

Winside came down court and passed the ball around trying to eat precious seconds off the clock. Wakefield was forced to foul and Darla Janke responded under pressure by canning two free throws for the final 39-35 margin.

The Wildcats had held the lead since midway through the third quarter. Wakefield tied the game at 22-22 on a bank shot by Rita Wilson and again at 24-24 when Joan Miller scored on a layup.

At that point, Sue Melerhenry gave the host team the lead for good by sinking a free throw. Robyn Winch broke under the basket for three consecutive layups and a 31-24 Winside lead.

The second quarter was close with the Wildcats maintaining a two or three point lead most of the time.

Winside was paced offensively by Laurie Gallop with 14 points and Winch with 10. Melerhenry scored seven points and Tammy Thomas added six.

Wakefield was led by Miller who pumped in 15 points and Rita Wilson with 10. Coleen Neuhaus added six points.

The hosts shot about 35 percent from the field and Wakefield hit about 24 percent. The Trojans held a slight rebounding edge of 48-46.

Leading rebounders for Winside were Gallop with 15, Melerhenry with 9, and Winch with 9. Thomas and Janke grabbed four rebounds each. Miller grabbed 15 rebounds to lead Wakefield.

"Sue Melerhenry kept us in the game the first half and Robyn Winch kept us ahead in the second," said Winside coach Kathy O'Connor. "We had a good aggressive defense and played well together. We had 11 assists as a team."

"Wakefield coach Dennis Wilbur said his team showed improvement. "We cut down on turnovers and played much better together. The girls showed confidence," said Wilbur.

Winside committed 16 turnovers and Wakefield committed 13. Winch had three assists and three steals. Melerhenry, Gallop and Kristi Benschoff each had two assists. For Wakefield, Neuhaus and Wilson each had two assists.

The junior varsity game was a thriller with Winside edging Wakefield 30-26 in double overtime.

Winside scoring: Kelly Leighton, 2; Lisa Jensen, 7; Kim Frederick, 5; Joni Jaeger, 6; Pam Frevert, 6; Karlene Benschoff, 2; Pam Peter, 2.

Wakefield scoring: Cristy Hingst, 2; Michele Meyer, 4; Brenda Jones, 4; Kelly Greve, 6; Rene Wendstrand, 2; Marci Nixon, 6; Teresa Biggerstaff, 2.

Winside will play at Osmond tonight (Thursday) and host Wynot tomorrow (Friday). Wakefield will host Hartington tonight and play at Wausa Monday.

WINSIDE'S Laurie Gallop pulls the ball in flight as Coleen Neuhaus (11) tries to tug the ball away. Joan Miller (35) also defends.

WSC Ladies Win Title

The Wayne State Lady Wildcats brought home the championship trophy this weekend from the Nebraska Wesleyan Pre-Christmas Tournament held over the weekend in Lincoln.

In the opening round Friday night, the Lady Cats had a tough time but pulled out a win over the Morningside College Chiefs.

In the opening minutes, the Chiefs built a six point lead which momentarily put a stun on the Lady Cats. The outside accuracy of sophomore guard Lisa Draper whittled the lead down to two and another outside shot by senior Lori Koester tied the game. From that point on, the first half belonged to the Lady Wildcats with a 32-26 lead at the half.

Second half action again saw the Chiefs drilling the hoop for unanswered points coming to within one point early in the half. It was combined outside shooting by Draper, Koester and senior Lynne Larson that kept the Lady Cats in the game. The Chiefs led once in the second half and tied the game twice.

With 26 seconds on the clock, Lisa Draper hit a free throw to put the Lady Cats up 67-66. Fouls were exchanged by both squads in the last 13 seconds but all free throws were missed. At the final buzzer, the Lady Wildcats had claimed a first round win 67-66 over Morningside. Lori Koester led the scoring and rebounding with 22 points and 8 rebounds.

The Lady Wildcats played McPherson College of McPherson, Kan. for the championship on Saturday. At the half, the Lady Cats led 34-18. All the players on the varsity squad saw playing time against McPherson.

Wayne State easily clinched the title 75-57. Leading scorers in the second contest were Koester with 14 and sophomore Deb Emanuel with 13. Leading rebounder was Julie Petronis with 12 followed by Deb Emanuel with 11.

The Lady Wildcat's next games will be during the second annual New Year's Tournament Jan. 6 and 7, hosted by Wayne State.

Wildcats Win Five Individual Medals

Five Winside wrestlers earned medals in competition at the North Bend Invitational, Saturday. The Wildcats placed sixth in the eight team field, far ahead of the seventh and eighth place teams.

Undeclared Brian Foote won a gold medal with an 8-1 decision over Tom Cerny of North Bend in the finals of the 126 pound class.

Barry Bowers placed second in the 167 pound class, losing 8-3 in the finals to Carl VonRein of North Bend.

Mark Koch placed third at 119 pounds, defeating Dean Bloom of North Bend on an overtime judges decision.

Curt Rohde placed fourth at 105 pounds, losing to Bob Portz of Millford by pin in the consolation finals.

Brian Bowers also finished fourth in the 138 pound class, losing to Brian Schuett of Elkhorn in the consolation finals.

Winside coach Paul Sok said he was somewhat disappointed with the sixth place team finish but added that it was a tough tournament and Winside had only seven wrestlers competing.

Sok pointed out that the 119 pound class is extremely tough this year. Koch's consolation win was over a wrestler who placed third in Class C last year. Koch also lost an overtime decision and Sok said the top four wrestlers in the tourney were nearly equal.

If a couple of wrestlers had come through better, Sok said his team could have easily finished fourth rather than sixth.

Team standings: 1. North Bend 173½; 2. Weeping Water 137; 3. Elkhorn 125½; 4. Wisner-Pilger 84; 5. Millford 80; 6. Winside 72; 7. Fremont 8 team 38½; 8. Waterloo 24.

Osmond Wins Dual

Two close decisions and three forfeits were the deciding factors as Osmond defeated Winside 42-24 in a wrestling dual, Monday night at Osmond.

Winside winners were Brian Foote at 126 pounds, Doug Jaeger at 132 pounds, Brian Bowers at 138 pounds, and Kent Glassmeyer at the heavyweight class.

Five members of Winside's team presently sport winning records. Foote is the team leader with a 7-0 record. Mark Koch is now 7-2, Jaeger is 6-3, Brian Bowers is 5-4 and Barry Bowers is 5-4.

Koch lost an 8-7 decision to John Schmit at 119 pounds and Barry Bowers lost 5-4 to Randy Gardner at 167 pounds. Victories at those two weights would have brought the final score to 36-30.

The Wildcats will compete in the Osmond Invitational Saturday and will then be idle until the Winside Invitational, Jan. 9 and 10.

98 pounds: John Thies of Winside was pinned by Paul Peterson of Osmond in 1:59.

105 pounds: Winside forfeited to Osmond's Kent Brunkhorst.

112 pounds: Curt Rohde of Winside was pinned by Harold Brunkhorst of Osmond in 1:19.

119 pounds: Mark Koch of Winside was defeated by John Schmit of Osmond 8-7.

126 pounds: Brian Foote of Winside pinned Rob Beacom of Osmond in :43.

132 pounds: Doug Jaeger of Winside pinned Neil Timmerman of Osmond in 3:22.

138 pounds: Brian Bowers of Winside pinned Neil Watler of Osmond in 3:16.

145 pounds: Kyle Miller of Winside was pinned by Rowan Johnson of Osmond.

155 pounds: Winside forfeited to Osmond's Tim Aschoff.

167 pounds: Barry Bowers of Winside was defeated by Randy Gardner of Osmond 5-4.

185 pounds: Winside forfeited to Osmond's David Bowling.

Heavyweight: Kent Glassmeyer of Winside won by forfeit.

SDS Dumps
Wildcats

The Wayne State Wildcats played their last of nine straight road trips with a jaunt north to South Dakota State University at Brookings.

The Jack Rabbits led throughout the entire game with an 18-point advantage 48-30 at the half. The tempo of the game never really got a chance to swing the Wildcats way and SDS held on for a 95-74 win.

Once again, sophomore Grady Hansen led the scoring for the Wildcats cashing in for 20 points. Freshman Shawn Kelley had a fine game scoring 18 points for the Wildcats.

The Wildcats bring their road show home for local supporters for their annual Holiday Tournament to be held Dec. 29 and 30 in Rich Auditorium.

Send Us the Santa Letters

In order for Santa Claus to read his letters by Christmas time, they must be at The Wayne Herald by Monday morning. We told Santa we would be happy to collect his mail for him. To make sure he sees all the letters, we are printing them in the next three issues. The last letters will be printed in the early edition Dec. 25.

Santa told us he and his elves are real busy now and will try to fill everyone's Christmas list. He added, however, that sometimes that is not possible.

Boys and girls are asked to mail their letters to Santa Claus, The Wayne Herald, 114 Main Street, Wayne, Neb., 68787, by Monday, Dec. 22.

Local Response to Death Of John Lennon Mixed

Residents of the Wayne community gave the worldwide vigil for Beate John Lennon Sunday little serious consideration.

were anything but abnormal. Dennis Robinson of The Joint said sales of Lennon albums were higher than usual, but were not outstanding. He sold a half dozen of Lennon's new album "Double Fantasy" and was sold out the morning after he was shot. There was a "rush" on Beate's albums, too, but Robinson says he still has some on his shelf.

AS FAR AS can be determined, there was no organized vigil at Wayne State College or any place else in town.

KEN SODEN, manager of Pamida, said there was nothing unusual about record sales there. In fact, he was surprised that the 45 rpm records did not sell. There are plenty of Lennon and Beate albums still for sale at Pamida, he said.

A CHECK with Wayne's two record outlets — The Joint and Pamida, Inc. — indicated sales of Lennon and Beate records

Police Report Fewer Arrests in November

The Wayne Police Department report for November shows there were a total of 32 arrests made for a variety of offenses, compared to 51 during November of 1979.

compared to 141 in November, 1979; a total of 38 warnings were issued compared to 68 in November of 1979.

Heading the list was speeding with 13 arrests. There were five for failure to dispose of parking tickets, four for expired inspection sticker, two each for no valid registration and no operator's license, and one each for stop sign violation, failure to dim lights, traffic signal violation, theft, driving while intoxicated and littering.

There were eight traffic accidents investigated on public streets compared to 11 for the same period a year ago; and two investigated on private property compared to three a year ago.

Some $346 in fines was collected with seven cases yet to be heard.

Three police cruisers were driven a total of 3,231 miles during November compared to 3,349 a year ago, and a total of 348 gallons of gasoline were used this year compared to 410 last year in November.

According to the report, there were 135 parking tickets issued

A Junior Police Patrol was conducted for sixth graders and one officer attended a latent fingerprint school in Grand Island.

Volunteers Sought

The Northern Nebraska Comprehensive Mental Health Center in Norfolk is seeking volunteers to act as crisis consultants for the "Hotline", a 24-hour toll-free telephone crisis line (1-800-672-8323).

Through the use of a telephone diverter system, "Hotline" calls are transferred to a volunteer's home telephone. Volunteers must have private telephone lines, as it is necessary that calls remain confidential. No prior experience in telephone helping is required.

A six-week training class for "Hotline" volunteers will begin the third week of January with classes to be held in Harlington. Mental health professionals will provide the volunteers with instruction in methods to improve their particular crisis line situations.

Professional assistance in handling difficult calls will always be available to the volunteer crisis line consultants. Those persons interested in obtaining more information concerning the "Hotline" training are urged to call 402-371-7530, or 1-800-672-8323 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays.

Medicare Enrollment

People who failed to sign up for medical insurance under Medicare, or who once had this protection but dropped it, will have a chance to obtain medical insurance during the 1981 general enrollment period, January through March, Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk, said recently.

Medical insurance is that part of Medicare that helps pay for doctor bills, outpatient hospital services, and many other medical items and services not covered under hospital insurance.

More information about the medical insurance general enrollment period can be obtained at the Norfolk social security office located at 1310 Norfolk Ave. The telephone number is 1-800-642-8310.

Bickering for Legislative Posts Mounting

CAPITOL NEWS
By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

A former state senator from Big Springs recently said what a lot of people probably have been thinking about. Considerable bickering has been going on as lawmakers vie for leadership posts in the 1981 Legislature.

Jack Mills, now executive director of the Nebraska Association of County Officials and a Lincoln resident, mentioned the bickering during a recent visit to Ogallala. And he said it has been more intense than he's seen during the six years he's been associated with the Legislature, including four as a senator.

The context of Mills' statement must be noted: he was issuing legislative redistricting will be a major issue during the upcoming session. He also speculated some central or western legislative districts might have to be sacrificed because of population shifts to more urban areas.

And he's probably right, at least to the extent that the issue likely will be "hot." Mills should be in a position to know — he's seen the Legislature from the inside and out, and he has ties to all levels of government. Plus, he's not the first person to indirectly warn ruralists to "watch out," so to speak, for what could be some intense legislative wheeling and dealing.

Although some may think Mills is talking from a "city" perspective, his roots are rural. Born in Hastings, Mills was president of the Big Springs School Board from 1971-74, when he was elected to the Legislature.

So, based on his familiarity with both urban and rural life, and with state, county and local governments, it would appear Mills is in a position to know what he's talking about when he talks about the upcoming session.

The recent legislative bickering and infighting crosses all layers of the sometimes complex legislative system. At times the split is partisan, but more often it seems to be urban-rural, or even rural-rural or urban-urban.

Take for example recent jockeying for positions on the powerful Legislative Council. The first two names to be mentioned seriously typified the urban-rural theme: Sens. Larry Stoney of Omaha and Howard Lamb of Anselmo. Other names have since been mentioned.

Then there's the recent leak to the press of Columbus Sen. Don Dworak's "confidential letter, in which he urged his colleagues to deny legislative leader John DeCamp of Neligh a leadership role in 1981. This could be viewed as rural-rural.

An urban-urban conflict of sorts arose when the Omaha-area delegation decided Sen. Ernest Chambers should be taken off the Executive Board of the Legislative Council.

But regardless of what Mills was referring to when he talked about legislative bickering, the infighting during this organizational effort has been more apparent than during either of the previous two organizational sessions.

There's always a chance that when sides are taken on the legislative reapportionment issue, some senator will be standing alone, knowing perhaps that his legislative seat is about to be dissolved. The question is who, if anyone, is targeted, and if anyone is, by whom.

That remains to be seen. But no doubt the picture will come into sharper focus less than a month from now when the Legislature is back in town.

Class begins

Learning the legislative ropes takes time, practice and good coaching. Nebraska's newest batch of state senators started that sometimes confusing process at a recent orientation in Lincoln.

On hand to get the class underway were a number of legislative experts and veteran lawmakers, including Speaker Richard Marvel of Hastings.

Marvel's course was on legislative protocol, a subject about which the sometimes-stern but always fair senator is well-versed. "The first thing you have to do is establish your word," Marvel said. "If (other senators) begin to question your word, you're in trouble."

The freshman senators also got some valuable insight into the legislative process from Pat O'Donnell, clerk of the Legislature. O'Donnell is good about not taking sides in legislative matters, which would put him in an awkward position since he comes into daily contact with almost every senator during the session.

But he offered the freshmen some advice and insight that will be invaluable. He advised them, for example, to look over the Legislature's rule book, but not to memorize it.

As O'Donnell is well aware, the rules are aimed at keeping the legislative machinery oiled and preventing it from bogging down. But not infrequently, at least not during the last session, the machinery does bog down — usually when rules themselves are the issue of the debate.

And O'Donnell correctly advised the newcomers that the rules themselves can be "suspended" or ignored by a legislative vote. Plus, he said, the new Legislature could come up with a whole new batch of its own rules.

"What you read isn't necessarily the way the rules are applied," O'Donnell said. "Their application or interpretation will vary depending on who is in the chair" and presiding over the Legislature, he added.

But the orientation session didn't teach the freshmen everything they'll need to know to get by and even survive the often-hectic pace of the Legislature. Their test will come in a matter of weeks, when the gavel calls the new session to order.

The Legislative impact

Of the hundreds of bills passed into law each year by Nebraska's 49 lawmakers, only a small portion have an obvious and ongoing impact on the entire state.

Perhaps that's why it sometimes seems citizen awareness of legislative matters is limited. Some people take for granted rules and policies that govern their daily lives. But sometimes a state statute is at the heart of those rules and policies, and that's why citizen awareness is so important.

One such state mandate that some Nebraskans may know little about is the state's new lodging tax. In July, a 1 percent lodging tax was applied statewide, and 10 counties joined the bandwagon by tacking a 2 percent local lodging levy onto the state tax.

On Jan. 1, two more counties — Adams and Scotts Bluff — will also begin imposing the 2 percent local lodging tax. And by the end of 1981, a number of other counties may have followed suit.

The 1980 Legislature mandated the state tax and gave counties the option of imposing a local levy — up to a 2 percent maximum. With the addition of two new counties to the lodging tax list in January, it would appear the new revenue-raising measure has merit.

The Legislature required the tax to be used for promotion of travel and tourism, figuring visitors to the state wouldn't mind paying a few cents more to help Nebraskans make their state more attractive to visitors.

But it's still too early to know whether the new lodging law is going to work. By the time the next tourist season rolls around, Nebraskans should have a better idea about whether this legislative enactment is doing what lawmakers hoped it would — encourage travel and tourism in the state and in turn bring in more money to the state and local coffers.

WAY BACK WHEN

30 Years Ago
Dec. 21, 1950: Wayne Chamber of Commerce Directors Monday evening elected Dr. William Koeber president for 1951, to succeed retiring president Elmer Meyer. Charles McDermott was elected vice-president. Paul Fenske, son of Walter Fenske, Hoskins, has been elected to Alpha Zeta, national agricultural fraternity at the University of Nebraska. Marie Johnson has been named chairman of the polio drive for Wakefield community. Hahn High girls' volleyball team won a victory over Collette girls volleyball team with a final score of 44-41 Thursday morning. Wayne County Clerk C.A. Bard was elected to president of County Clerks and Registrars of Deeds Association last week at the 56th annual convention of Nebraska county officials in Lincoln.

25 Years Ago
Dec. 22, 1955: Prize possession of Mrs. Edward Perry, Wayne, is a 40-year old Christmas cactus formerly owned by her mother. The plant blooms every Christmas and had about 20 blossoms this week. Clarence Timm bagged his 209-pound buck deer Dec. 9 just 4 1/2 miles north of Jackson. His buck was the second largest deer taken in Nebraska during the recent season. Work on the relocation of Highway 15 between Wayne and Wakefield will be started next month, it was announced this week by the Norfolk Highway Department office. Completion date for the entire project has been set at Nov. 24, 1956, unless extreme weather conditions cause a delay.

20 Years Ago
Dec. 22, 1960: Two northeast Nebraskans were among 10 new members inducted by the University of Nebraska Kappa Psi pharmaceutical fraternity recently. They were Phil Griess, Wayne, and Louis Allison, Wakefield. Mrs. Charles McDermott and Donald Reed, Wayne, attended an institute on Federal taxation in Omaha Friday and Saturday conducted by the Nebraska Bar Association. About 2,500 people viewed the new building of the First National Bank of Wayne during their open house Saturday.

Flowers filled the rooms as a background for the crowd that took a complete tour of the bank. Seven lots in Wayne's Hillcrest Addition belonging to the Bennett Viken estate was sold at a sheriff's sale last Monday in the Wayne courthouse.

15 Years Ago
Dec. 16, 1965: Raymond Kellton, son of Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Kellton, Wayne, is one of 17 outstanding University of Nebraska scholars named as new members of Phi Beta Kappa, scholastic honorary, the past week. Three places in Carroll were broken into Monday night or early Tuesday morning. One firm lost at least $800 in cash. A Wayne man was playing Santa Claus, quite effectively too. However, one little girl had her doubts. When she finished talking to him she said to her mother, "Santa Claus sure sounds a lot like Grandpa." Nothing wrong with her hearing. It was Grandpa. Another policeman for Wayne, bringing the force to five, was approved at the Tuesday night meeting of the city council. The board also accepted the resignation of W.L. Ellis from the Wayne Planning commission.

10 Years Ago
Well known Wayne resident Henry E. Ley Tuesday was named state banking director by Gov. Elect J.J. Exon. Ley, 67, will assume his state job the same one he held in the Frank Morrison administration when Exon is inaugurated Governor Jan. 7. Wanda Mackey of Brancroft and James Noecker of Crofton received the Cobb Olson Memorial Scholarship and James Noecker of Crofton received the Rollie W. Ley Memorial Scholarship to Wayne State College. Both students plan careers in teaching. An application has been received by the Federal Communication Commission for changing the assignment of the broadcasting license of radio station KTCH, Wayne, from the Gleason Brothers of York to Wyman N. and Willa M. Schnepf of Salina, Kan. About 50 Big Red fans have already signed up to have their names included as signers of the congratulatory telegram which will be given the University of Nebraska football team when it meets LSU in the Orange Bowl New Year's Night.

Land of Washington

Old myths die hard, if ever. All through the 1970's an important national debate centered to a significant degree, on the claim of business critics that consumers lose $80 billion a year due to lack of competition in the U.S. marketplace.

The $80 billion figure was repeated over and over again by antitrust activists who tried to break up certain national industries even though they were not monopolies.

Now, 10 years later, the author of the book that gave birth to the purported $80 billion loss acknowledges he was off base and that, in the use and re-use of the data over the period of a decade, "truth was not well served."

It all began innocently enough with Dr. Frederic M. Scherer, a professor of economics at Northwestern University and a former director of the Bureau of Economics of the Federal Trade Commission (FTC).

In 1970 he published a scholarly text entitled, "Industrial Market Structure and Economic Performance," which has been required reading for college juniors, for graduate students in business schools and by lawyers who specialize in the field of antitrust law.

In the course of the study, Dr. Scherer concluded that in so-called concentrated industries — where statistics show four major companies, for example, did a large share of the business — prices rise above their normal competitive level.

He estimated that, as a result, consumption in the nation was reduced by the equivalent of 6.2 percent of the Gross National Product (GNP). In other words, 6.2 percent of GNP represented higher prices rather than actual value of goods and services.

Antitrust activists, particularly in the Nation's Capitol, quickly pounced on the 6.2 percent estimate and calculated the annual losses at about $80 billion. Through constant repetition, the figure — frequently without attribution — gained credibility and was used time and again to justify legislation to break up the oil and auto industries, among others.

The figure was cited by such noted antitrust activists as the late Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.), who served as chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and by Thomas Kauper, a former assistant U.S. attorney general in charge of antitrust matters.

The story spread even after being exposed by "Barron's," a highly respected Dow Jones weekly, and by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, which kept stamping it out whenever it cropped up in Congressional legislative debate.

A reporter for "Barron's" in 1974 first became suspicious of the origin of the ubiquitous $80 billion figure and traced it to Dr. Scherer, who readily conceded that in arriving at his 6.2 percent estimate of losses, he "threw scholarly caution to the wind." The estimate, he acknowledges, was "iffy" and should be taken with a grain of salt.

Some time later the reporter found that the mythical rip-off figure was not only being repeated but updated. In 1976 it showed up in a new book on corporate charters by Ralph Nader and two co-authors who stated flatly, "Frederic Scherer put monopoly-related losses at $85 billion annually."

The author's apparently took 6.2 percent of the $1,406 trillion GNP for the year involved and thus updated the fable, reporter Shirley Sheibla wrote.

Recently, Paul W. MacAvoy, professor of Yale University, wrote an article for the "New York Times" (Sept. 29, 1980), pointing out that Dr. Scherer, in revising his book earlier this year, had dropped altogether his 6.2 percent estimate of consumer losses. The MacAvoy article said:

"On Page 470, he (Dr. Scherer) decides not to attempt any estimate of GNP losses from monopoly pricing. In addition to the caution which comes with age, he gives two reasons. 'The composite estimate in the first edition was surrounded by appropriate caveats, yet these were assiduously ignored by journalists and politicians seeking to entrench an article or speech with a seemingly precise magic number. Truth was not well served.'"

Although Dr. Scherer appeared (Oct. 12, 1980) in the "Times" article as a letter published in the "Times," he did not receive our defense.

the original 6.2 percent estimate. This question remains: Will the facts ever overtake the myth? Perhaps like an old soldier, the myth may never die but simply fade away.

Living it up

At taxpayers' expense

Most Americans are curious to see where they stand in relation to other families in income — whether above or below the middle income level, for example. From the autumn of 1978 to the autumn of 1979, according to the latest data of the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, here are the budgets needed to maintain an average urban family of four.

Lower income	$12,585
Intermediate income	$20,517
Higher income	$30,217

All three families share a problem which, as taxpayers, they should do something about. Their personal income taxes and Social Security taxes combined are going up faster than their family budgets overall.

OUT OF OLD NEBRASKA

The Christmas Bookshelf, 1891
Books, once a luxury in frontier Nebraska, became more easily obtainable as civilization advanced across the Great Plains. "The Christmas Bookshelf," an early book catalog issued by H.W. Brown, "druggist, bookseller and stationer" of Lincoln, includes descriptions and prices of books available for holiday purchase to Lincolinites and out state Nebraskans. The 1891 edition, on file at the Nebraska State Historical Society, praised books as the ideal gift. "Among all the tokens of affection and treasures of good will, which are given and cherished at the Christmas tide, there are none of such universal acceptance and perennial pleasure as books. They are especially appropriate to the season when the long nights bring the cold and darkness of winter, and warm fires and cheerful lights invite to cozy reading."

Bookshelf listings for 1891 highlight

"HI THERE — WE'RE A BUNCH OF SWINGIN' SPOOKS FROM 'WAY-BACK', 'RIGHT-NOW', AND 'FUTUREVILLE!'"

"Ben-Hur," by Civil War general Lew Wallace, as the "gift book of the year and one of the greatest books of modern times." Advertisements stressed the profuse illustrations "without precedent in the history of book making. One or more drawings appear on every page of the text." The novel, published in two volumes, was printed on "fine super-calendered plate paper, bound in silk and gold, and contained in specially designed Gladstone box, seven dollars."

The number and variety of illustrations and the costliness of book materials were stressed to Nebraska readers by most "Christmas Bookshelf" advertisements. Then as now, older books were republished specifically for holiday giving. "Messrs. G.P. Putnam's Sons have fallen into line with the widespread fancy of the season for illustrated editions of standard books. "The Alhambra," one of (Washington) Irving's earliest and most famous works, has been selected by them for embellishment. Each page is surrounded by a Moorish border in red and gold, the designs, 16 in number being carefully copied from the decorations of the palace. The illustrations, taken from photographs, are beautiful soft photogravures, over 30 in number, reproducing some of the most lovely surroundings of the palace." Even books published to sell "at a moderate price" were advertised as "profusely adorned."

A "Books for Young People" section lists a variety of books available for juvenile Nebraskans. Many are heavily didactic. "The Story of Mistress Polly Who Did Not Like To Shell Peas" by Lizbeth B. Comins was advertised as "a pleasant series of verses the moral of which teaches contentment with one's lot." "The Head of the Firm" by Edmund March Vitium, if read by young Nebraskans, would impress upon them "a telling lesson that young men entering the business world may take to heart. "Set-Free," by Mrs. Conklin, is rich in moral lessons for young girls, the scenes being laid in a quaint old farmhouse and in an hospital."

Young children were not forgotten. "The Christmas Bookshelf" announced the availability from L. Prang and Company of "some new shape booklets that are odd and original and very, very pretty. "The Old Farm Gate" contains a poem by Lurabel Harlow, and seven full-page illustrations in color. Fastened in a cover in shape of an old farm gate, "A Day's Fishing" is made up of humorous verses by Lucie A. Harlow. bound in a cover resembling a sportsman's basket; "Christmas Salad" is enveloped in a lettuce leaf; and "Bonnets and Hats" is in bonnet shape, the openings showing faces of every age."

One of the more popular volumes with Nebraska mothers must have been "Baby's Biography," "an album in which may be recorded the mother's story of the chief events of the baby's life. . . . In this volume — beautifully printed in colors, in Paris, by the most approved methods of photographic reproduction — may be given the little stranger's date of birth; its weight from month to month; the date of the appearing of its first tooth; the day upon which it uttered its first word; when it acquired its first pair of shoes; when it changed from long to short clothes; its first day at school — in fact the history of baby from birth to majority."

Conspicuously absent are the instructional "how-to" books, now popular with Nebraskans; the entire catalog lists only one — Mrs. Rorer's "Cook-Book," advertised as a suitable gift for "mother, wife, sister, aunt, cousin, sweetheart, friend." The literature available to Nebraskans and their reading tastes have changed since 1891 but the essential enjoyment afforded by the holiday gift of a well-loved book remains the same.

Pam Gester, Nebraska State Historical Society

Plant Your Roots

The Wayne County Historical Society invites you to leave your thumbprint in time. If you don't, they say, who will?

The group raises an interesting point. If you and I don't chronicle our family histories from this point on, then who will? Certainly not the guy down the street.

Members of the Historical Society have been sending envelopes to county residents requesting them to submit their family histories for a new county history book. It's a good idea, and a worthwhile project that needs the support of everyone involved.

Wayne County families and families who once lived in the county will receive a letter asking them to write their history for the book. Families who do not receive a letter should contact Historical Society members in their area.

There has been some confusion that families are being asked to dig-in to their files and provide past family history. If that information is easily available, Historical Society members say that is welcome, too. But current information on current families is being asked so historians and future family members will have a record of their ancestry.

One hundred years from today, what will people know about you? Probably little, unless you write it down, society members say. And unless that writing is preserved in a book, that, too, may be lost.

Once completed, the hard-bound book will contain between 300 and 500 pages. There is no fee for having your story and one picture published. Stories should be limited to 500 words, however.

Too little is known about ourselves and our heritage. The Historical Society is hoping to bind all of this information into a useful history book.

The deadline is Feb. 15. Persons not receiving information and wanting more should contact The Herald or Clete Sherer of Wayne. Dan Field.

New Businesses Open in Hoskins

A new building was recently completed in Hoskins and will be occupied by two new businesses. Craig Rice of Wisner has opened the Hoskins Body Shop and will offer complete auto body repair and windshield and glass work. Rice plans to move to Hoskins in the near future.

Leon Backstrom of Hoskins will operate an auto repair shop in the same building. His business will be known as Leon's Repair and Complete Automotive Service.

The building is located two blocks north of Highway 35 on Hoskins Main St.

Helping Hand Party
The Helping Hand Club held its Christmas party in the John Thielje home Dec. 10.

Cards furnished the entertainment, with prizes going to Harry Schwede and Mrs. Bill Wendt, high, John Thielje and Mrs. H. F. Mittelstaedt, low, and Robert Marshall and Mrs. John Thielje, traveling.

A gift exchange was held and a no-host luncheon was served at the close of the evening.

Next regular meeting will be on Jan. 14 in the Robert Marshall home.

Dinner at Laurel
Area pastors and teachers of the Lutheran Church-Wisconsin Synod met at the Wagon Wheel Steakhouse in Laurel for dinner Friday evening.

Program Set on Alcohol

Believing that alcohol is "everybody's business," a group of faculty, staff, students and community members from the Wayne State College region is attempting to do something about it.

The result - High Spirits Experience 1981. The program will be presented Jan. 28 and 29 at the Wayne State Student Center.

Included in the two-day program are a variety of sessions dealing with alcohol use and misuse, films and guest speakers. Some sessions planned are "What is an Alcoholic," "Alcohol Misuse Among the Elderly," "Alcohol Use in Gourmet Cooking," "Alcohol in the Workplace," "Alcohol and Domestic Violence" and "Native American Alcohol Use."

"Our goal is not to discourage the use of alcohol entirely, but to encourage the development of responsible drinking habits among those who do choose to drink," said David Martin, publicity coordinator for High Spirits and a residence hall director at WSC.

According to Martin, this is the second year WSC has presented High Spirits. "Last year the response from the students, faculty and the public to our program was very encouraging, so we decided to try to reach more of the public this year," Martin said.

He went on to say that a more widespread publicity campaign has been launched, with more target audiences in mind. "We want to reach everyone who comes in contact with alcohol, whether directly or indirectly.

Everyone, whether a drinker or not, has a stake in alcohol awareness," Martin said.

Beginning at 9 a.m. each day, sessions and films will run continuously throughout each day, with the activities ending each evening at 8 p.m. There is no admission charge. The public is encouraged to attend.

For further information contact: David Martin, 375-2200 Ext. 305 or Marguerite Platner, 375-2200, Ext. 236.

Higher Loan Levels Set For 1980 Reserve Grains

Producers placing 1980 crop grains in the farmer held reserve became eligible for special higher loan levels Dec. 3. Interest on those loans will be waived as a result of President Carter signing the Agricultural Act of 1980.

Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland said wheat producers placing this year's crop into reserve will receive a $3.30 per bushel loan, compared to the $3.00 loan level for wheat not in the reserve program. 1980 crop corn going into reserve will receive a $2.40 loan, compared to the $2.25 loan for non-reserve corn. Producers placing 1980 crop barley in reserve will receive a 17 cent premium above the $1.83 loan level for non-reserve barley.

Producers with 1980 crop wheat, corn and barley already in reserve may request the higher price supports at their local county ASCS office. Bergland said Reserve release and call prices are not affected by the Dec. 3 action.

The act also provides for a seven cent reserve premium to the current oat loan level of $1.16 per bushel and 14 cent premium to the $2.14 per-bushel loan for non-reserve sorghum. However, oats and sorghum have already been called from reserve.

Bergland said the new higher loan levels for reserve commodities will help strengthen the reserve program.

While crop prices are likely to remain very strong through this year, there will be years in the future when grain supplies will exceed current year needs. This measure will make the reserve an even more attractive marketing alternative to producers when it is needed, Bergland said.

Farm Subject Matter Is Key to Good Education of Foreign Students

Relevance of subject matter is the key to effective education of foreign graduate students as well as those from the United States.

As part of this guiding principle, relevance must be linked to the probable future career of the student, according to Joseph Metz Jr., Director of International Agricultural Development and professor of marketing at Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y. Metz spoke to a workshop on Improving Graduate Programs for Developing Country Nationals in Lincoln last month.

Instructors should keep in mind that American agriculture programs are different from the situation in developing countries, Metz said. "Many farmers in developing countries are using practices from 1,000 years ago. This makes it easy to see why the relevance of education is different for foreign students returning to their home countries than for U.S. students." U.S. students interested in foreign work also need to be familiar with the different situations in less developed countries, he added.

Expectations of students and sponsors should be examined as to the goals that are set by both, Metz told an audience of University of Nebraska faculty members involved in international programs.

"Students should know what is expected of them when they get home. This would make a program easier to adapt to the individual if they know what their goals are," he said.

Courses at universities are changing to accommodate students who are interested in the total international situation, not just their particular region. Metz said courses are being offered that deal with the tropics where many countries are less developed and the economics involved.

Standards must be maintained in all courses while giving students interested in less developed countries or in international careers a diversified education," Metz said.

Educators should be encouraging courses in other disciplines as well. He added that to solve a vast number of complex problems, an appreciation of other educational disciplines is valuable.

Coffell is presently offering 40 different courses related to international situations which cover all departments and several disciplines. Metz said these courses give students "a sense of what is happening in tropical and less developed areas."

Metz added that interdisciplinary studies offer students a chance to look at different situations in foreign countries from a variety of perspectives such as economics of the problem. However, programs such as these are costly both in money and time.

Graduate students are also being given an opportunity to do their thesis research in foreign countries. This gives the student, especially those from foreign countries, a chance to work on problems relevant to their country.

"This thesis program gets the individual prepared for going back home and doing the work there. It prevents underutilization of their talent when they reach home," Metz said. He explained that foreign country students attend graduate school at the U.S. universities, conduct research for their thesis in their home country and return to the U.S. to write their thesis.

"Those who go to foreign countries have a professor stay on the U.S. campus while a scientist from the institution they will be working at assists them with research. This provides a linkage for the students so they are not just dumped off," he said.

In addition, increasing relevance means increasing the commitment of time on the part of university faculty and administration. Metz said needs should be shifted and adjustments should be made so new courses can be developed.

Despite the efforts to revise education methods, Metz said, a main concern for many foreign graduate students has been the practical application of their education to their home situation or the small farmer.

"We have to develop human resources to get the education down through the system to where the small farmer can use it. This is where an interest in the whole farming approach of a country should be examined. We need to find out what the farmers do, how and why. We have to look at them in their family units and their whole decision-making process to try to get new technology to them," Metz said.

In all graduate programs, students must examine how much of what they learn can be realistically applied at home. Metz said through the transfer of information, they hope to reach the small farmer with technology, but this transfer of information depends on the government's policies in terms of organization structure.

"By knowing the situation in a less developed country, we can begin to establish guidelines and define the graduate training problem," he said.

SOLAR ENERGY

There has been a lot of interest in solar energy. But along with this interest has come a lot of misinformation on solar energy. I recently read a bulletin published by the Solar Energy Information Data Bank operated by the Solar Energy Research Institute for the U.S. Department of Energy.

Here are a few questions they suggest you ask yourself if you are considering adding solar to an existing building.

Is your home well insulated? Seal heat leaks. Insulate and install storm windows and doors. Don't waste money on collecting solar heat if you're just going to let it escape. An energy conserving home is a prerequisite for an effective solar system.

Does your roof or wall have enough southern exposure to accommodate collectors or additional windows or skylights? Make sure there's no potential shading problem.

Can you place collectors on your home? If you have to locate collectors or other parts of the system away from your house, remember that long pipes or ducts to the house can add expense and increase heat loss.

Is the roof strong enough to support solar collectors? Determining the total weight of the solar hardware and make sure your roof or wall can support it. Domestic water heaters use only two or three collectors, seldom presenting a weight problem. Is the building sturdy enough? Passive systems often require structural support to bear the weight of water, masonry, or other heavy materials for heat storage.

Do you have space for pipes, ducting and a water or rock container? Solar water heaters require smaller tanks and components than active space heating.

Is your present heating system compatible? Often solar heat from an air system can be channeled into an existing heat distribution system. Take a look at your present heating system to determine if this is a possible approach for you.

Will you increase the cost of your homeowner's insurance by adding a solar system? Check your policy or insurance agent.

Fleer, Horse Take Honors

CUSTUS SHI AND Edward Fleer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Haas, Wayne, were the second highest money winners among 32 horses at the Nebraska Pleasure Futurity in Grand Island recently. The pair competed in each of three go-rounds, with a different judge in each. Eddie and Custus also won the Amateur Pleasure Futurity the same day.

Cattle on Feed Inventory Stable

Nebraska cattle feeders had 1,580,000 cattle on feed on Dec. 1. This inventory was unchanged from last year, but down 13 percent from 1978.

Fed cattle marketings for the month of November totaled 310,000, an increase of 13 percent from 1979 but was 5 percent below November, 1978.

Placements of cattle into feedlots during November totaled 380,000 head. This was up 6 percent from both last year and two years ago. Cattle and calves on feed Dec. 1 for slaughter market in the seven states preparing monthly estimates totaled 7.96 million head, down 4 percent from a year ago and off 15 percent from Dec. 1, 1978. Marketings of fed cattle during November totaled 1.35 million, down 6 percent from last year and 21 percent below November, 1978.

Placements of cattle and calves on feed in the seven states during November were 1.65 million, off 11 percent from last year and 13 percent below November 1978. Net placements of 1.53 million were off 10 percent and 12 percent, respectively, from last year and two years ago.

Other disappearance totaled 127 thousand compared with 158 thousand in November 1979 and 160 thousand in 1978.

Soil Samples Needed

Fertilizer and other soil chemical recommendations are only as accurate as the soil samples, according to an Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources researcher.

This is part of the research presented by James Schepers, U.S. Department of Agriculture soil scientist stationed at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, at the American Society of Agronomy annual meeting Dec. 3. Working with him was John Doran, U.S. Department of Agriculture soil scientist. Schepers said good soil samples depend on when they are taken, locations within the field with respect to the row, and the depth of the samples, as well as other factors.

"With conventional tillage systems, soil is stirred up, creating a different atmosphere for the nitrogen metabolizing microorganisms to grow. The result of plowing is frequently a burst of nitrate released into the soil a short time after the decay process stabilizes, which could indicate a localized and erroneous nitrate content," he said.

Sudden nitrogen bursts also can occur after rainy weather. Some microorganisms flourish in the moist soil until it dries out or they deplete the source of energy. He pointed out that if the samples are taken immediately after the wet weather the nitrate content may be low because of leaching. In contrast, if the sample is taken two to three weeks after rain, the nitrate content could be high because of mineralization of organic nitrogen. "Both could bias a fertilizer recommendation," he said.

Samples should not be limited to one area of the field, he added. Several depths should be taken from different areas to make sure the samples are representative of the field. He added that in the spring, the ammonium-nitrogen level is generally higher than in the fall, another factor to consider.

"Planters used for reduced tillage systems may push the residue remaining on the surface between the rows which, after decomposition and mineralization, could increase the nitrate level five to eight times over that in the area where the seed is placed," Schepers noted.

However, reduced tillage planters may present a problem when the residue is pushed into the middle of the row. Because most pre-emergence herbicides must make contact with the soil before they are effective, rainfall is desirable to wash the chemical into the soil. Once there, some herbicides are not totally effective under more acidic soil conditions. This results from the surface application of nitrogen fertilizers and decomposition of organic matter common under till-plant systems, he said.

Farmers should be aware of various nitrate levels with both conventional and reduced tillage systems in order to get an accurate soil sample, Schepers concluded.

Wakefield Patriots Entertain At Covenant Women Luncheon

The Patriots of Wakefield High School entertained Wakefield Covenant Women during their annual Christmas luncheon Dec. 10 in the church fellowship hall.

The Patriots, accompanied by Mrs. Dianne Trullinger, sang "King, Tiny King" and "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear." The women were served punch by Mrs. Vera Rakow as they arrived and were seated at tables decorated with ball Christmas trees, red papers and gold garlands.

Mrs. Lola Erlandson welcomed the group and led in a prayer of Thanksgiving and praise.

Mrs. Jen Elmer and Mrs. Sharon Graham of South Sioux City presented the program in song and word. Mrs. Elmer's husband was killed three years ago in a plane crash. She is a nurse raising a small son. Mrs. Graham, her accompanist, is a farmer's wife.

The program closed with prayer.

Hostesses serving the cooperative dinner were Mrs. Melvin Myers, Mrs. Marvin Felt, Mrs. Joe Keagle, Mrs. Vera Rakow, Mrs. Ebba Holm, Mrs. Jerome Pearson and Mrs. Reynold Anderson.

A gift table added monies to be used for missionary support.

Hi League Carols
The Hi League of the Covenant Church entertained residents of the Wakefield Community Hospital and Health Care Center with several Christmas carols Sunday evening.

The group also visited several church members before returning to the church for a Christmas party.

Dilayne Byers, Leigh Crossdale and Kris Fredrickson gave devotions on "The Star of Christmas." They also served lunch.

The party ended with a gift exchange.

Presbyterian Circles
Eleven members of Mary Circle of the United Presbyterian Church met last Thursday morning for a Christmas brunch with Esther Turney. The Rev. Dana White was a guest. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Ed Paul and Mrs. D. P. Qimby.

Next meeting of Mary Circle will be March 12 at 2 p.m. with Mrs. Preston Turner.

Mrs. Robert Blatchford entertained eight members of Ruth Circle at a dessert luncheon last Thursday afternoon. Faith Nuernberger was co-hostess.

Next meeting of Ruth Circle will be at 1 p.m. on March 12.

Bible Study
Twelve members of the Bible study group of St. John's Lutheran Church met Friday noon for a potluck Christmas luncheon in the home of Mrs. Ronald Holling. Mrs. A. D. Brown gave the lesson.

Mrs. William Domsch will be the Jan. 9 hostess.

Breakfast Served
The Wakefield Centennial Committee served breakfast to nearly 100 persons Saturday at the Centennial Store. A free will donation was taken.

A bake sale held during the breakfast was sponsored by the Happy Homemakers Home Extension Club.

The group is again planning to serve breakfast this Saturday from 6:30 to 8:30 a.m. The public is welcome. The Future Homemakers of America (FHA) chapter at Wakefield High School will sponsor a bake sale beginning at 9 a.m.

Christmas Luncheon
Nine members of the Westside Home Extension Club met Dec. 10 with Leona Brit for a Christmas luncheon. Mrs. Earl McCaw and Eva Conner were co-hostesses. A gift exchange was held.

Christmas Tea
Seventeen members of the Kings Daughters of the Christian Church met at 2 p.m. Dec. 10 for a Christmas tea. The scripture and lesson were given by the Rev. Greg Hafer.

Hostesses were Mrs. Joe Coble and Mrs. Ron Jones. Next meeting will be at 2 p.m. Jan. 22.

Variety Club
Variety Club met with 10 members Dec. 10 for a Christmas luncheon and party in the home of Mrs. Robert Blatchford.

Mrs. A. L. Pospisil, Mrs. Marvin Mortenson and Mrs. Raymond Paulson were co-hostesses. Mrs. Charles Pierson will be the Jan. 28 hostess at 1:30 p.m.

Pleasant Dell
Seven members of Pleasant Dell Club answered roll call with a Christmas reading when they met last Thursday for a potluck Christmas luncheon.

Minnie Carlson and Mrs. Clifford Fredrickson had the Christmas program. There was a grab bag gift exchange. The women packed cookies for Linda Rewinkle and two shut ins.

Minnie Carlson will be the Jan. 8 hostess at 2 p.m.

Discoveries Boost Swine Breeding

Several research discoveries can aid the pork producer in improving breeding and reproductive efficiency in their herds, a University of Nebraska animal scientist told some 400 persons at a recent South Dakota State University swine field-day.

Dr. Dwayne Zimmerman, NU Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources swine genetics researcher, listed 11 facts about swine reproduction which have been uncovered by various universities and research stations.

Major breed differences exist

In the average age of puberty of swine, he said.

Zimmerman said scientists recognize that there is a lot of variation among the breeds in onset of puberty and there are strains among the breed that will mature differently. Age of puberty is nearly 50 percent heritable so this leaves room for improvement by selection.

Crossbreeding hastens puberty in both gilts and boars.

Early maturing breeds and crossbreeds will respond to environmental stimuli such as boar exposure and the transport phenomenon (mixing unfamiliar gilts, transporting them and relocation them to different surroundings) better than will later maturing breeds and lines.

Research hasn't as yet explained why gilts mature sooner when exposed to a boar and when transported, but "It is undoubtedly stimulating some hormonal change necessary for triggering that first ovulation," Zimmerman said.

Level of feeding in gilts and boars can be reduced by one-fourth to one-third full-fed intake after 175-pounds without delaying puberty. Breeding stock shouldn't be allowed to get too fat, he said.

Protein, vitamin and mineral intake should meet the daily National Research Council requirements for gilts and boars.

Confinement delays puberty and increases the incidence of behavioral anestrus in gilts. The specific causes remain to be determined. (In behavioral anestrus a gilt ovulates and may show signs of estrus but won't allow the boar to mount.)

Severe restriction of photoperiod (the amount of time an animal is exposed to light during a given day) delays puberty but the optimal regimen for early puberty is unknown.

Supplemental photoperiod (increasing the daylight time with light bulbs) during the shortest days of the year appears to accelerate sexual development in boars.

Exposure of gilts to boars during development will hasten puberty. Synchrony of estrus will also occur if gilts are nearing the onset of puberty.

Individual isolation of developing gilts and boars from contact with other pigs delays puberty in both gilts and boars.

Size of the rearing group during development may be an important consideration for the onset of puberty in the female. Groups too large can delay puberty. "I think you can say the same thing about boars," Zimmerman said.

Swine Building Is Different

The effects of different construction techniques and materials on improved energy efficiency were among the goals of an experimental swine confinement building constructed on the Vennie Kavan farm near Wahoo.

Gerald Bodman, associate professor of agricultural engineering, presented a paper on research involving this structure at the American Society of Agricultural Engineers Energy Symposium held recently in Kansas City, Mo. Co-authors were Dr. Dennis Schulte and Dr. James DeShazer, associate professors of agricultural engineering and Dr. Bobby Moser, associate professor of animal science. The study was conducted on a low energy growing and finishing 360-pig capacity confinement unit on the Saunders County farm.

Bodman said the insulation was cast between concrete along the walls, which reduced heat loss from the cold wall to the pigs and reduced dependence on feed to make up energy loss in pigs. This method not only increased the energy efficiency, but also prevented rodents from destroying the insulation.

"Allowing rodents into a confinement building defeats the purpose of total confinement," Bodman said. "The problem can be prevented with rodent proof construction, maintaining a clean farm and, if necessary, baiting and trapping rodents."

However, rodent control was only one part of the energy efficient building's function.

An open gutter flushing system was used for carrying manure out of the building. Bodman noted. A lagoon was designed specifically for waste decomposition.

"About 60 to 80 percent of the nitrogen is lost in the lagoon. The phosphate is tied up in settled sludge and potash is retained in the liquid. Some nutrients are lost but this system has the advantage of ending up with an easily handled end product. This discolored water is easily pumped through most irrigation systems," he said.

According to Bodman, the purchase cost of a vacuum tank to empty manure pits is about $10,000 to $12,000, which the investment in equipment to remove liquids from a lagoon adds up to only $5,000. There also are more nutrients in the lagoon water than water found in a well or pond so use of the lagoon water for irrigation is beneficial in several ways.

A storage area was established for the solar heated floor, Bodman added. This made heat available 24 hours a day, which slightly improved feed conversion and daily gain. The heat was distributed throughout the building by passing warm air from the solar collectors through concrete blocks placed beneath the floor. The concrete blocks, concrete floor and underlying soil was used for carrying manure out of the building. Bodman noted. A lagoon was designed specifically for waste decomposition.

Need A Gift Idea?

Having trouble coming up with Christmas gift ideas for a friend or relative in the nursing home? Here are a few suggestions that might help, says Dee Stollenberg of Wayne Care Centre.

Stationary - envelopes, stamps, an assortment of cards, pens, lap boards, address book.

Favorite foods - candy and cookies (stored in airtight containers), jams and jellies, fresh fruit, cheese, wine, beer, homemade breads.

Plants - be sure to check with the florist to be certain leaves or berries are not toxic. Hanging baskets of plants are nice, too.

Subscriptions to newspapers or magazines.

Favorite possessions - pictures, afghans, television, radio, small furniture items.

Large clocks and calendars.

Children's art work - grandchildren or great-grandchildren by making or drawing items or pictures. Add to this a bulletin board and you have a perfect gift!

Toiletries for both men and women - perfume or after shave, body lotion, powders, makeup, nail care items, brushes, combs, mirror, electric razor.

Clothing - be sure clothing is washable and serviceable. Clothing can be modified to meet certain needs. Please ask director of nurses for suggestions of this nature. Items such as sweaters, shawls, dresses, night gowns or pajamas, robes, slip pers, socks or stockings, underwear, shirts and slacks.

Jewelry - pins, rings, earrings, watch, necklace, beads.

Leisure time items such as books, crafts, records, tape recorder games, cards.

A visit from a friend or relative. This is considered the best gift. When a person takes time to show how much they care, it means more than any material gift ever could.

Winside School Program Slated

Grades seven through 12 of Winside High School will present a Christmas musical Monday evening, Dec. 22, in the Elementary multi-purpose room.

The public is invited to attend the program at 7:30 p.m. Admission is free.

Curtis Jeffries is instrumental instructor and Coleen Jeffries is vocal director.

The Fine Arts Boosters are sponsoring a bake sale following the program. A spokesman for the boosters said food donations will be appreciated.

Neighboring Circle
Thirteen members and a guest, Mrs. Arlene Zoffka, responded to roll call by wearing something red. Secret pals were revealed and a grab bag gift exchange was held. New names were drawn for secret pals in 1981.

Bingo furnished entertainment. The group sang Christmas carols and closed the afternoon with a lunch of cookies, candy and coffee.

Church Entertains
Several members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church entertained at a Christmas party recently at the Regional Center in Norfolk.

Christmas carols were sung and each person received a gift. New Testament Bibles were given to persons requesting them.

Attending the party were the Rev. John Hafermann, Dean Janke, Mrs. Melvin Meierhenry, the Cyril Hansens, the Ron Sebades, Mrs. Dennis Greunke, Mrs. Adolph Meyer and the James Jensens.

Furnishing food in addition to those attending were Mrs. George Jaeger, Mrs. Ernie Jaeger, Mrs. Leo Hansen, Mrs. Arlin Thies and Mrs. Cliff Burris. The church is planning to visit the Regional Center again on Jan. 11.

Meet for Bridge

Lyle E. Nelson Named 'Fellow'

Lyle E. Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivil Nelson of Wayne, has been named a Fellow of the Society of Actuaries (FSA).

To be named a fellow, Nelson successfully completed nine examinations administered by the society on the mathematical basis of insurance and its specific applications to life and health insurance, pension, and other private and governmental benefit plans. Achieving fellowship is comparable to receiving a Ph.D. degree in mathematics.

Actuaries are mathematicians who study and evaluate contingencies which affect human beings, like birth, marriage, sickness, accidents, retirement and death. By mathematically calculating the chances of these contingencies occurring, actuaries then design and price insurance, pension and employee benefit programs which provide financial protection for people.

The Society of Actuaries, the largest professional actuarial organization, advances knowledge of actuarial science, maintains high standards of competence and professionalism, and conducts actuarial education and research programs.

Nelson is a supervisor and assistant actuary with American Fidelity Assurance Company, Oklahoma City, Okla. He graduated from Wayne-Carroll High School in 1970 and received bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Nelson now lives at 6834 N.W. 16th St., Oklahoma City.

Methodist Women Party, Gift Exchange

Sixteen members and guests Mrs. Ed Simpson and Mrs. Gene Rethwisch were present Dec. 10 when United Methodist Women met for their annual Christmas party and gift exchange.

Mrs. Louise Boyce was devotional leader and read a Christmas poem.

Mrs. Merlin Kenny conducted the business meeting, including a report by treasurer Mrs. Walt Lage. The group discussed basement rental.

The lesson, entitled "Christmas Service," was given by Mrs. Merlin Kenny, Mrs. Ed Simpson and Mrs. Gene Rethwisch. The Rev. Kenneth Edmonds joined the group in a Christmas song accompanied by Mrs. Wayne Hankins.

Christmas scripture was read by Mrs. Perry Johnson, Mrs. Walt Lage, Mrs. J. C. Woods and Mrs. Louise Boyce. Mrs. Merlin Kenny was program narrator. All members brought food to pack in Christmas boxes for the golden age and shut-ins of the Carroll community.

Mrs. Faye Hurlbert and Mrs. Wayne Hankins served.

Christmas Supper
All eight members of Social Neighbors Club and their husbands attended a cooperative Christmas supper Saturday at the Belden Bank parlors.

There was a grab bag gift exchange. Prizes at cards went to the Marvin Haselhorsts and the Duane Creamers.

Next regular meeting will be Jan. 21 with Mrs. Kenneth Eddie

Honors Father
Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Roberts entertained at dinner Sunday to honor the 86th birthday of his father, Levi Roberts.

Attending were the honoree and Mrs. Robert Johnson, both of Carroll, the Dick Tuckers of Sioux City and Brad Roberts of Norfolk.

The Don Romans and Mrs. Doris Hansen of Norfolk were afternoon guests.

Party Planned
Senior Citizens of the Carroll community are planning to meet this Friday for a Christmas party and $1 to $1.50 gift exchange.

Kay Giffert assisted with painting last Friday at the center. The group met Thursday to make Santa Claus craft gifts to give to shut-ins with their Christmas boxes.

Bingo was played at the center on Dec. 9, with prizes going to Mrs. Bertha Isom, Mrs. Louie Ambroz and Mrs. Emil Hank.

Mrs. Emil Hank and Mrs. Irene Harmer were winners at cards Dec. 8. Mrs. Clarence Morris was a guest.

Fellowship Carols
The Adult Fellowship met Sunday evening at the Presbyterian Church to go Christmas caroling.

Afterward they returned to the church for a chili supper with Mr. and Mrs. Dean Owens and Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Morris in charge of serving.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Owens were in charge of the Christmas devotions. Officers, who were elected during the meeting, are Mrs. Milton Owens, president.

Mrs. Robert I. Jones, vice president; Mrs. Esther Batten, secretary; and Mrs. Erwin Morris, treasurer.

Next meeting will be Jan. 4 at the Congregational Church.

Birthday Coffee
Mrs. Clarence Morris entertained Friday at a coffee in her home to honor the birthday of Mrs. Maurice Hansen.

Guests were Mrs. Hansen, Mrs. Lynn Roberts, Mrs. Stan Morris, Mrs. John Rethwisch, Mrs. Perry Johnson and Elizabeth Grone.

Birthday Supper
The Doug Hansens and daughters of Omaha and the Charles Jorgensons were supper guests Friday in the Mrs. Maurice Hansen home to help the hostess observe her birthday.

The Gary Bradens joined the group in the evening.

The Doug Hansens were weekend guests. Joining them for dinner on Sunday were the Dennis Hansen family, Bloomfield

Job Registrants Show Decrease

At the end of November, there were 861 persons registered for employment with the Norfolk Job Service Office, and 151 with the O'Neill Office for a total of 1,012 registered applicants.

This compares with 1,016 last month and 611 at the close of November, 1979. The 1,012 total includes 495 females and 154 veterans, but does not include 103 individuals seeking only part time work.

New applications filed during November totaled 297 compared with 332 last month and 288 for November of last year.

Nonagricultural job openings received from employers numbered 199 compared with 346 in October and 351 for November 1979.

Non-agricultural placements made by our office during November totaled 173. This compares with 271 last month and 246 during November of last year.

The Norfolk Job Service office wishes you a joyous holiday season and a prosperous and happy new year.

For all employment needs, contact Nebraska Job Service at 371-4384 in Norfolk, and 336-3636 in O'Neill.
