Drug Arrest Nets Three Area Men

All three area men arrested early Friday morning and charged with possession of drugs are free on bond

CHARLES WEIBLE, 27, Winside, Dale Busskohl, 27, Winside, and Vernon Sahara, 30, Laurel, posted cash bonds before 6 p.m. Friday and were released. Weible posted $1,000 and Busskohl and Sahara $750 each as 10 percent of their bail.

Weible, the son of Wayne County Sheriff and Mrs. Don (Butch) Weible, has been charged with possession of cocaine with intent to deliver. The other two were charged with possession of more than one pound of marijuana with the intent to deliver.

The cocaine charge is a Class II felony and carries a penalty of from one to 50 years in the state penitentiary. The marijuana charge is a Class IV felony and is punishable by from 0 to 5 years in prison or $10,000 or a combination of the two.

PRELIMINARY hearing has been set by presiding Judge Stephen Finn for 1 p.m. Friday, Jan. 9, for all three suspects. At that time, it will be determined if there is reasonable cause that a crime has been committed and if there is reasonable cause that the persons charged did in fact commit the alleged act.

If there is reasonable cause that each of the men did commit the crime, then the trio will be bound over to District Court for further hearings.

Although officials at the Courthouse would not confirm these reports, it has been estimated that some 81 pounds of what is believed to be marijuana and about 4 1/2 ounces of what is believed to be cocaine were confiscated by members of the Nebraska Highway Patrol. A dollar value has not officially been affixed to the alleged drugs, although some estimates range as high as $125,000.

SAMPLES OF THE confiscated material have been sent to state laboratories for testing.

County Attorney Budd Bornhoff, who has disallowed himself as prosecuting attorney for the case, said the men were arrested about 2 a.m. at the Busskohl residence by members of the Nebraska Highway Patrol. Unconfirmed reports indicate the arrests culminated several months of investigation by law enforcement authorities.

Attorney Bornhoff asked that a special prosecutor be assigned the case since Bornhoff has a working acquaintance with Weible's father, the County Sheriff. District Judge Richard P. Gardner appointed Norfolk attorney Thomas H. DeLay as the prosecutor in the matter.

WEIBLE, OWNER of Charlie's Bar in Winside, acquired the services of Norfolk attorney Dick Stafford. The court appointed Wayne attorney Robert Enz to defend Busskohl and Judge Stephen Finn refused to appoint an attorney for Sahara based on Sahara's assets which were estimated at more than $1,000. Sahara also has an income from a used household items business in Laurel.

Because of the relationship between defendant Weible and the County Sheriff, all three men were jailed in Pierce County. Had they been unable to post bond, they would have been returned to Pierce County.

A Tinker Here and A Tinker There

There are traces of sawdust throughout the neatly-kept kitchen and living room of his two-story house, evidence that busy hands have been hard at work. The sawdust is more apparent in the kitchen where he works when outdoor weather does not permit.

WAGONS MECHANICALLY pulled by carefully sawn horses or donkeys, a wooden doll bed, an outdoor cedar cart and many wind-driven lawn ornaments are placed carefully throughout the house, further truth that the works are those of an accomplished craftsman.

To 82-year-old Eggert Lage, living on the south edge of Carroll, the items tell a story. They remind him of times past. They depict the joys of harvest by well-trained work horses pulling huge wagons through the corn fields. They tell of large wheat thrashings and friends and neighbors gathering for the work.

There was the family trip to Fort Robinson and the memorabilia of the outing. His favorites seem to include lots of horses, donkeys and, of course, people. There are lots of propeller-driven teams of horses that work harder as the summer winds blow harder.

CONSTRUCTION of the collection is just a hobby for Lage, who has been working on the miniatures with his weathered hands for about six years now. It has been 20 years since he and his wife, now dead, retired from the farm and moved to Carroll.

What about the sawdust? "If I had a woman in the house, she'd throw me out for sure," he laughed.

His father was a carpenter and his nephew is a carpenter in South Dakota. His brother, Arthur, now also dead, was the subject of a similar feature story four years ago in The Herald. More evidence that the Lage hands are hands of experience and of knowledge and of hard work.

Lage says there is something about doing what he does. "Once you get started on a project, you find another one to do later," he said.

HE SAYS HE makes the miniature mechanical marvels "just to pass time. I don't do it to make a business of it. I don't charge. People just give me what they want."

A table saw and other, more intricate saws and tools conveniently ring the kitchen, the center of his work area. A sled atop the refrigerator is going to a relative, a replica of a horse-drawn wagon on a nearby table went to three-year-old Scott Fredrickson, a neighbor boy who visits during the summer. Some are Christmas gifts, some are favors, others are for friends and neighbors.

He made the Fredrickson child a barn with sliding doors to house the small wooden horses. He also repairs windows, frames and furniture, but adds quickly that "I don't work that steady. The main thing is to have the pattern."

ONE OF HIS prides and joy is a model of his grade school, District 80 which is no longer standing. Complete with a fenced-in school yard, the school stands in front of an outhouse and shed. Inside the school are small, wooden pupils facing the teacher.

Lage recalls that he started to school there in 1904. He attended nine terms and later was on the board of education for 10 three-year terms. "That's 39 years I gave to that school," he muses.

ALL OF HIS projects are special to him. They are a part of his life during a time when trips to town were made in horse or donkey-drawn wagons; when crops were harvested by hand.

Things change as time moves on. Combines are now used to harvest grain, cars move people on vacations, machinery does what animals used to do.

"It's even getting harder to get good lumber. It's almost third grade now. I guess the good stuff goes for furniture," he says.

AGE IS NO hindrance to 82-year-old Eggert Lage of Carroll, who spends his idle moments constructing a variety of toys and ornaments in his kitchen.

Von Minden Outspends Conway

Merle Von Minden, successful candidate for District 17 State Senate, spent about $3,000 more than his opponent in the General Election campaign, post election campaign figures indicate.

THE ALLEN FARMER, who will become one of 49 state senators in Lincoln officially next month, spent some $9,833.52 to get himself elected to the seat held by retired Sen. John R. (Bob) Murphy of South Sioux City. Von Minden's challenger, Gerald Conway of Wayne, spent some $6,409.75 in his campaign effort.

Von Minden defeated Conway by less than 2 percent of the vote. Dec. 15 was the deadline for filing post election campaign contributions with the State Accountability and Disclosure Commission in Lincoln.

IN ALL, VON Minden received a total of $11,210 in campaign contributions compared to Conway's $6,180, a difference of about $5,030. Conway completed the campaign with a deficit of $229 while Von Minden emerged with a balance of $1,377, according to the Disclosure Commission.

The largest single contributor to the Von Minden campaign was the State Republican Central Committee which pumped in $2,450. Conway's most generous backer was the Nebraska State Education Association which provided his campaign with $2,531. NSEA had pledged $2,500 and the pledge was accepted by Conway sometime after a pre election reporting deadline of Oct. 15.

THE ONLY contributions of more than $100 received after Oct. 15 by Von Minden was $1,950 from the GOP Central Committee and an additional $100 from Business Agri Legislative Society for Involvement Council (BASIC) which had provided $400 previously.

Conway received $175 from the Omaha

National Corporation after the Oct. 15 reporting date and accepted the NSEA pledge.

There was not any reporting deadline from Oct. 15 until Dec. 15, which was the final date for accepting campaign money, according to the Disclosure Commission.

THE CONWAY-Von Minden race was billed as one of the more hotly contested ones in the state. Conway and Von Minden exchanged verbal and written charges and challenges involving campaign contributions and expenditures.

Based on information supplied by the Disclosure Commission, the candidates received the following contributions, not including those of $100 or less from individuals or committees:

CONWAY — Nebraska Political Action Committee, $250; Nebraska Realtors PAC, $200; O'Hara & Associates of Lincoln, $125; Tompkins

Land & Cattle Company, Wayne, $200; Consumer Credit PAC, $200; Nebraska Insurance Federation PAC, $200; the Committee on Responsibility and Truth, $200; Omaha National Corporation, $175; NSEA, $2,531.

In addition, Conway repaid a $1,000 loan he had borrowed with himself as the cosigner.

VON MINDEN — Iowa Beef Processor's Inc., Dakota City, $500; Nebraska Amoco PAC, $500; Nebraska Petroleum Council, $400; Life Underwriters PAC, $500; Nebraska Construction Industry PAC, $250; Nebraska Political Action Council, $750; Republican State Central Committee, $1,450; Nebraska Bankers' State PAC, $500; Dealer's PAC, $500; Nebraska Stock Growers Association, $250; Business Agri-Legislative Society for Involvement Council, $300; Nebraska Midwest Implement PAC, $750.

State to Assist Some Energy Bills

The Wayne County Welfare Department has been allocated about $62,000 to assist qualified residents in paying their heating bills this winter.

WELFARE DIRECTOR Thelma Moeller said the program is a variation of last year's plan. The allotment is part of $16,158,946 the state will receive from the federal government.

Entitled The Nebraska Low Income Energy Assistance Program, the project will provide financing to offset the rising costs of home energy that are excessive in relation to household income. Moeller explained. There will be a maximum amount of resources that an individual or family can own and still be eligible, she said.

To qualify for the program, a person must have energy needs and their income and resources must fall within the program guidelines. Resources requirements will not include the residence of the client nor the household or personal belongings. Items such as cash, savings, checking accounts, etc., will be counted.

MOELLER SAID those qualifying include the elderly, ill, bedridden, handicapped, families with young children and migrant workers.

they may be assisted by the following:

Payment directly to eligible households in certain circumstances.

Payment of energy bills to the utility company for primary heating source.

Payment of outstanding (overdue) heating bills under certain circumstances.

Payment for firewood and coal where they are the primary heating sources.

Payment for fuel oil delivery.

Payment to individuals who rent and the cost of rent includes utilities.

Payment for emergencies due to weather related situations that are a threat to the health and/or safety of the eligible household.

MOELLER SAID additional details are available by calling her office.

To apply for the assistance, persons are asked to take a copy of the following to the Welfare Office for verification of income:

Pay stubs, income tax Form 1040, self-employment bookkeeping records or sales and expenditures records. Persons also are asked to bring a copy of their utility bills showing their account number.

THE ENERGY assistance program will continue as long as federal funds are available or until April 30 for heating.

Why Don't We Try 'Yes We Will'?

Richard L. Lesker, President
Chamber of Commerce of the United States

Winter will soon arrive in the Nation's Capital. Already, the darkening days are covering Washington in a December chill. How strange that these somber skies now seem so perfect a setting for this lovely city. But they are, for the liberal establishment is very gloomy, and deeply worried about the world and the advent of the new conservative administration.

Against the background of growing Soviet threats against Poland — whose people persist in interfering in their own affairs — runaway interest rates, stubbornly high inflation and unemployment, and now the risk of a new plunge into recession, people here are pessimistic about Mr. Reagan's prospects for securing peace and prosperity. A common refrain making the rounds goes something like this: "He'll never pull it off. His policies won't work. The problems are much too complex and his solutions are far too simplistic. Reagan probably won't do any better than Carter. In fact, within a few months the euphoria will have dissipated, the bloom will be off the rose, and we're likely to be in even worse shape than before."

Keep in mind that many of these purveyors of the conventional wisdom are the very people who assured us the 1980 presidential election would be one of the closest in history. I hope you didn't place any bets based on their forecasts. Nevertheless, I can appreciate why they feel skeptical, if not downright cynical. After all, Mr. Carter made a lot of conservative noises — and promises — in the 1976 primaries, and we all remember how they turned out.

Remember his promise to balance the budget? Then there were the pledges to reduce inflation, reduce paperwork and get the bureaucracy under control. As it turned out, the only consistency of his administration was its inconsistency. But rather than cry over spilled milk, and indulge in needless criticism, let me explain why I believe Mr. Reagan might succeed.

Perhaps the biggest difference between the two men is that Governor Reagan knows who he is, where he is coming from and where he is going. In selecting the members of his cabinet, he is securing personal commitments from each to support the policy objectives of his administration above the interests of his or her respective bureaucracy. This was not done in the past.

All high level executive appointees will also receive intensive briefings on the structure and workings of the government before they assume their new positions. This will permit the new administration to hit the ground running right from inauguration day, rather than waste several months time dillydallying.

Then too, Mr. Reagan has already begun building bridges to key Republicans and Democrats in Congress whose support and/or cooperation will be vital to the successful passage of his programs. The bottom line should be clear-cut, coherent policies pursued with consistency. All of this will lead to a sense of purpose, cooperation and new direction that day by day should be shared by more and more. So while there is no question that our economic problems are deeply imbedded and will not be cured overnight, the first thing we need today is a renewed sense of confidence that America has effective leadership again. If the administration demonstrates that it does merit that confidence, it will win more patience and time to do its job.

I believe it will, for Governor Reagan, by nature, is not a man who believes in constraints, limits, complex, insoluble problems or failure. His vision is to resurrect in America a spirit of success — a recognition for all those who are doers, achievers and leaders because they will go the extra mile to do something extraordinary for their country, and in so doing, transform America into a nation of winners again.

Just in case you think 20 percent interest rates are too tough, and the people in Washington are right when they say our problems can't be licked, think of a nation that once faced a far greater challenge — Great Britain, which, early in World War II, was outmanned, outgunned and being blown to bits by German bombs. But the English fought on. And here is what Winston Churchill could say by December 30, 1941:

"When I warned them (the French Government) that Britain would fight on alone whatever they did, their Generals told their Prime Minister and his divided Cabinet: 'In three weeks England will have her neck wrung like a chicken.'"

"Some chicken! Some neck!"

So let's stop talking about dark days, and impossible days, and start talking about great days, and great opportunities. Rather than repeating "No he can't," why not start believing, "Yes he will!"

Earned Interest Means Less State Tax: Thone

If there is anything good about high interest rates, it is the fact that Nebraska state government last year received $34.7 million in interest earnings. This averaged $95,068.49 per day.

Since it is unconstitutional for the state of Nebraska to be in debt and since a reserve is required over anticipated expenditures, the state always has on hand considerable monies collected but not yet needed to pay for the state programs. We are trying to invest those funds so that we earn maximum interest on them until they are needed.

Each state agency that collects taxes, fees, tuition or other money is urged to get the funds to the state treasurer on the same day they're collected if possible.

The state treasurer reports how much money each agency takes in and how much interest is earned on those funds, and the state auditor criticizes any agency that doesn't invest its money quickly.

Investing for all state agencies, both those that are under the governor's control and independent entities, is administered by the Nebraska Investment Council. This group of five persons appointed by the governor makes investment policy. A state investment officer handles day-to-day execution of that policy.

The policy of the council is to put money only into short-term investments that are regarded as safe and non-speculative. If the state took bigger risks, it might earn more interest, but it also would probably sustain some losses.

The council also manages 13 of the state's trust funds with a value of approximately $250 million. The earned income last year was $18 million.

"These trusts include money being accumulated to pay retirement benefits for judges and for employees of schools and the state patrol. Other funds earn interest to benefit Nebraska veterans and public educational institutions.

The recent average amount of state funds loaned to Nebraska banks and savings and loan associations has been $130 million. Those institutions pay the state the going rate at the time of the deposit. In December, 1980 the rate the state is obtaining is 15 1/2 percent. The financial institutions, in turn, are loaning the state's money to help thousands of Nebraska businesses and families.

In some states, the money in the treasury is treated like a political plum. Financial institutions get the use of state money while paying little or no interest on it.

I pledge to all Nebraskans that the state will earn every last penny of interest it safely can on monies collected from the people but not yet needed. That's one of the policies that is making it possible to reduce the Nebraska personal income tax rate."

This will be the final column before Jan. 1 since we are not printing Dec. 29. This will be my last opportunity of 1980 to pass along some thanks to a variety of people.

Our readers get first billing. They have been faithful and patient and if it were not for them, there would be no Wayne Herald. They have put up with late editions, foul ups and boring editions. They also have been given the best that three of us (LaVon, Randy and myself) have been able to provide on a consistent basis.

Our advertisers are vitally important to us, as well. They use our medium as a means of telling the public about their products and services. The 30-second message on radio is lost forever; the notice in the throw-away shopper is lost in the shuffle.

The people that use their guaranteed freedom of expression through our Letters to the Editor format are to be thanked, as well. The communication between a newspaper and its readers, between a city and its taxpayers is vitally important. The city or school or businessman does not know what you think unless you tell them.

Personally, I welcome responses to Wayne Herald editorials and this column. We are not right or wrong, but we have an opinion. We believe in our right to express ourselves and will do so.

This week's Laying It On the Line Award goes to Ron Reagan, President-elect Ronald Reagan's son who said last week that President Carter has the morals of a snake. How that's what I call freedom of expression.

Loneliness: The 'Scrooge' of the Holidays

In Charles Dickens' story "A Christmas Carol," Ebenezer Scrooge was the destroyer of the season of joy and goodwill.

Today, the "Scrooge" of the holiday season is loneliness, according to Dr. Herbert G. Lingren, extension family life specialist at the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources at the University of Nebraska.

"HOLIDAYS are a very important time for friends and relatives to give support to those most susceptible to loneliness," he says.

According to research conducted by Dr. John Woodward, associate dean of the NU College of Home Economics, those groups most affected by loneliness include the elderly, teens, widowed or divorced persons and singles. "Everyone experiences loneliness at one time or another," says Woodward, "but because of their particular life situation, these people can experience a great deal of loneliness both during and after the holiday seasons."

"IN FACT, he points out, "there is a real possibility that there is a higher rate of suicide during this time of year."

Woodward's research indicates that the elderly, never-married and divorced people feel most lonely during the holidays when they spend time alone. But they feel less lonely after the holidays are over. Just the opposite, housewives experience a great deal of loneliness after the holidays. They generally feel let down after all the excitement and activity of having the family together.

LINGREN says college and high school students often experience loneliness during the holidays, particularly after they return to school. "Adolescents and college students — even those from happy homes — are the loneliest of all. It's a time of transition and change, they have one foot in the adult world and the other foot at home with the family," he says.

If college students are able to return to their family situation, it may cause all sorts of problems because they become nostalgic, notes Woodward. The college freshmen in particular are very lonely people.

According to Woodward's research, students may examine their parents' views even more critically when returning home for the holidays, "but that situation may be healthy," says Woodward. "It tends to cause more maturing in students and they start to look at parents in a more objective light."

DURING this time, Lingren cautions parents to listen with their heart as well as their head and not to be critical or argumentative when their young adult children have differing views.

Lingren says another seasonal problem concerns foreign students. Many don't have jobs or anything to do during the holidays and the university is a "pretty lonely place when it closes down between Dec. 24 and Jan. 5."

While some leave to visit friends in other parts of the country or have them visit here, others still are isolated and lonely. Nebraskans could help by inviting them into their homes and most likely their lives would be greatly enriched. Lingren says persons interested might contact the Dean of Student Affairs at their local college or university.

"PEOPLE with high self esteem are more able to cope with change and with loneliness than those with low self-esteem," says Lingren. This is one explanation of the great loneliness of high school students, college freshmen, recent divorcees and single-parents.

How can we cope with loneliness? "First," according to Woodward, "you have to admit you are lonely, then you must understand the difference between solitude and loneliness. Solitude is something we choose for ourselves, but loneliness is inside oneself and requires us to seek a solution."

Developing a positive attitude instead of playing "kick-me" is necessary. "We must reach out and touch someone," says Lingren. "We must risk ourselves and ask for help."

WOODWARD mentions some keys to fighting loneliness:

—Appraise yourself. Ask yourself, what is my payoff in being lonely? How is it profiting me?

—Take a chance. Tell someone "Gee, I am kind of lonely and I wish I had somebody to talk to."

—Don't expect too much. Go out just to have fun. Many lonely people go out with the motive of finding "the person." When they don't, they prefer to stay home and watch TV. They may drink too much and push themselves into depression.

—Depend upon yourself to feel right, to do what is necessary. If you keep looking for someone else to make you less lonely, you're in trouble.

—Rejoin your family. It is one group that can't kick you out. No one has ever had an "ex-daughter" or "ex-son." Families can be very helpful in coping with loneliness.

—Find an outside interest. Find something that really interests you, really excites you. Don't just sit at home. Get out and take some responsibility. Volunteer for things. Give of yourself — get involved.

—Find a community. Become involved in your family, your church or small circle of friends. Form a support group — one that would really miss you if you weren't there. It provides somebody who really cares about you.

"FINALLY, establish relationships with people wherever you are. Dialogue is the elixir of life. It doesn't have to be a dialogue of love, but plain old dialogue — a real human exchange," Woodward suggests.

Devils 'Great Team Effort' Upends South Sioux

There's an old saying that "When the going gets tough, the tough get going." So it was, Thursday night as Wayne's wrestling team gave itself an early Christmas present.

The Wayne Blue Devils won their third straight wrestling dual by upending Class A rival South Sioux City 37-21 on the home mat, Thursday.

Conversation among some individuals following the match brought up the belief that the win may have been the biggest dual victory in Wayne wrestling history.

Wayne won eight of the 12 individual matches and coach Don Koenig was elated with the win. "It was a great team effort just like our performance at the West Point Invitational," said Koenig, referring to his team's second place tournament finish last Saturday.

"The team worked hard and they deserve the win. It was really a nice surprise," Koenig stated. "We wanted it worse than they (South Sioux) did. This is a good way to go into Christmas vacation."

South Sioux, which lost a close 33-29 decision to Norfolk High School last Monday, gained three of its four wins in the lower weights.

Trailing 15-13, the Blue Devils came on strong to win five straight matches and clinch the win.

Three of the most critical matches occurred in the 138, 145 and 155 pound classes.

Kevin Echtenkamp gave the hosts the lead for keeps when he reversed his opponent Jeff Koch in the final minute of their 138-pound match for a 4-2 triumph.

John Anderson and Nick Sieler became the team's heroes when they pinned their opponents at 145 pounds and 155 pounds respectively to protect the Wayne lead.

The 145 pound match was close until Anderson put Steve Phelps on his back for near fall points in the second period for a 10-2 advantage. A third period pin gave his team a seven point lead at 22-15.

Sieler put Wayne in front 28-15 by following in Anderson's footsteps. After trailing 2-0, Sieler tied the match and then stuck Ron Barfo in the second period as Wayne's crowd gave its loud approval.

Brett Frevert wrapped up the team victory with a win at 167 and Aaron Schuett put the hosts farther ahead with a win at 185 pounds.

Eric Brink put up a good fight in the heavyweight division before falling victim to South Sioux's team leader Martin Hohenstein. Brink, with a definite weight disadvantage, was tied 2-2 before Hohenstein reversed him and won by pin. Hohenstein is 6-1 with all six wins coming on first period pins.

Another key win by Jon Jacobmeier's 16-12 come-from-behind decision over Walter Dawkins in the 112 pound class. Dawkins' twin brother wrestled in the 105 pound class.

Mike Schock continued his winning ways by winning a 9-0 major decision over Ed Thiele at 126 pounds. The major decision gave Wayne four team points.

Doug Doeschler accounted for the other six points when he won by forfeit at 98 pounds. The Blue Devils are now idle until they compete in the South Sioux City Invitational, Jan. 3. Koenig said that Lincoln Northeast, South Sioux City and several South Sioux City schools will clash in that tough tourney.

Tec Balance Fights Off Wisner

With their two... on the bench in foul trouble, the rest... Wayne basketball team picked up... Jack and survived a scare to defeat Wisner Pilger 65-59, Friday night on the road.

Wayne will now take a perfect 5-0 record into the Wayne State College Holiday Tournament, scheduled Dec. 29 and 30. The Blue Devils will meet Randolph at 5:30 p.m. Dec. 29. In the other bracket, Laurel and Lyons square off.

Wisner, which had scouted Wayne at least twice prior to Friday's game, played the Blue Devils well. Wayne led 3-14 after the first quarter and 36-34 at the half.

The Gators gained the lead in the third quarter but the turning point came with Wayne's tallest players Perry Nelson and Mike Sladek on the bench because of foul trouble.

"We were down by two points and had to go without our big kids but the others took it upon themselves and we pulled away," said

Wayne coach Bill Sharpe. "Todd Skokan had an excellent game and Tim Pfeiffer played real well. They all did except for part of the first half."

Despite running into foul trouble, Nelson scored 15 points and grabbed 16 rebounds. Kevin Nissen scored 12 points. Jere Morris scored 11 and Tod Heier scored 10.

"We didn't play with much intensity in the first half but played real well in the third quarter. Wisner played well and we were fortunate to win under the circumstances," said Sharpe.

Wayne beat Wisner pretty badly on the boards. The Devils had 35 rebounds compared to 20 for the hosts. Wayne committed 11 turnovers and Wisner made 16. The Blue Devils hit a successful 52 percent from the field and Wisner made 46 percent of its shots.

The Gators kept the game close with their free throw shooting. As a team, Wisner made 84 percent of its free throws, hitting 21 of 25 attempts. Wayne made only seven of 20 attempts. The Gators were led by Barry Grahlner with 14 points and Dennis Vollmer and Bernie Drieling with 11 points each.

Wisner won the junior varsity game 44-41. Shaun Niemann led all scorers with 19 and Mark Bolinkamp scored 10.

Nixon Free Throws Nip Wildcats

When Wakefield played Hartington in boys basketball action Friday night, Wakefield sophomore Rod Nixon had only two opportunities at the free throw line.

But, those two free throws couldn't have come at a better time and coach Ernie Kovar couldn't have asked for a more perfect end. Nixon sank both free throws with six seconds left in the game to give the Trojans a 49-48 win over Hartington, last year's Class C State runnerup.

The victory improved Wakefield's record to 4-1 and put the Trojans in the driver's seat of the Clark Division race with a 3-0 record.

"We had a real good effort teamwise," said Kovar. "Our sophomores (Nixon and Mike Clay) did an excellent job. Our seniors really played well and Vaughn Nixon grabbed some important rebounds."

Hartington held a rebounding edge of 26 to 19 and outshot Wakefield from the field. The Wildcats hit 55.8 percent from the field and the Trojans hit 44 percent. However, Wakefield had 15 steals. Vaughn Nixon had 10 rebounds for the winners.

"This win keeps us in the conference race and that's important," Kovar said.

The Trojans trailed throughout the game until late in the fourth quarter. A basket with 30 seconds remaining gave Wakefield a 47-46 advantage. Hartington took the lead right back at 48-47 on a basket seconds later.

With six seconds left, Rod Nixon was fouled and held up under pressure to give his team the lead again. Hartington had the last shot of the game but missed and the Trojans pulled down the rebound.

Leading scorers for Wakefield were Jeff Hallstrom with 19 points, Brent Kahf with 12 and Mike Clay with eight. Mark Hansen and Tod Fluett led Hartington with 18 and 14 points respectively.

Hartington won the reserve game 41-32. Next action for Wakefield is scheduled tonight. Monday will be a girls boys doubleheader at Wausa.

Olsen Leads Bears To Their First Win

When Joe Olsen steps up to the free throw line, Laurel coach Joel Parks can usually sit back and relax.

Olsen, an 82 percent free throw shooter last season, sank 10 of 12 charity shots Friday night as the Laurel Bears earned their first win of the season, a 60-51 triumph over Emerson-Hubbard in Emerson.

"If it is a close game, we like to have Joe get the ball. The percentages are in his favor if he gets fouled," Parks said about Olsen. "It feels good to get our first one on the left side of the column." The veteran coach said referring to his team's first mark in the win column.

Olsen was the game's leading scorer with 29 points. Bryan Buss scored 11 points and Scott Norvell scored 10. Leading rebounders were Buss and Norvell with six each. Emerson was led by Kevin Larkowski with 20 points and Jeff Heaney with 14.

"I put good pressure on them as they brought the ball downcourt. Our defense took away their inside game," Parks said. "We executed offensively much better than we had been. We did a pretty good job."

The Bears' first win in five outings and Laurel's previous four up games had clinched an 10-3 record after the Friday game.

Emerson won the junior varsity game 49-31. Laurel's scoring: Brian Marquardt, 9; Phil Martin, 9; Kelly Robson, 9; Tim Bloom, 8; Terry Kasirup, 4; Scott Kardell, 2. Emerson's leading scorers were Barry Daum with 17 points, Dan Bell with 10 and Duane Krusemark with 10.

The Bears hosted Coleridge Saturday and will compete in the Wayne State Holiday Tournament Dec. 29 and 30 at Wayne State College. Laurel will play Lyons at 8:30 p.m. in opening round play. Wayne will meet Randolph in the other bracket.

Randy's Recap

According to Randy Hascall

GOOD NEWS for Hank Aaron fans and bad news for Billy Martin fans. As you probably read elsewhere in the sports section of the last issue, Aaron has been signed to speak at Wayne State College, Wednesday, Jan. 14 in Rice Auditorium.

The engagement will begin at 8 p.m. Admission is $2 for the general public. The entertainment committee of the WSC Student Senate originally planned on bringing Aaron to WSC but had trouble finding a free date to sign him. Thus, they turned their search to controversial coach Billy Martin.

It appeared the committee nearly had Martin signed for an engagement and information from the committee indicated that Martin would be here second semester.

However, complications again arose concerning scheduling conflicts and somehow Aaron was signed to a contract.

WAYNE STATE COLLEGE basketball statistics released from the sports information office show accumulated stats of the first seven women's games and nine men's games.

Grady Hansen is leading the men's scoring charts with an average of 22.6 points per game. Leon McRae is right behind with an average of 17.9 points a game. Those two players also are the leading rebounders on the team.

Blue Devils Down Laurel 46-41

The search for a victory came to an end for the Wayne girls as they defeated Laurel 46-41 in basketball action, Thursday night in Laurel.

The win improved Wayne's record to 1-3 and dropped Laurel to 3-2.

The Blue Devils outscored the hosts 15-9 in the final quarter to gain the win. Wayne led 14-11 after one quarter of play and 23-18 at the half but the Bears rallied in the third quarter to take a 32-31 lead.

Wayne hit 32 percent from the field and Laurel shot 44 percent. The advantage was at the free throw line where the Devils hit 62 percent compared to 33 percent for Laurel.

"It was a total team effort. All seven girls contributed. It was hard to get our first win but we played real well except for the third quarter," Wayne coach Becky Kelley said. "The win will be a definite boost going into the holiday tournament. We really needed a win and the girls are now looking forward to the tourney."

Both Wayne and Laurel will compete in

The Wildcats have hit 52 percent of their shots from the field compared to 30 percent for their opponents. Wayne State has averaged 74.4 points per game while the opposition has averaged 78.5 points.

The women's team has outscored its opponents by an average of 70.6 points per game to 61.1 points. The Lady Wildcats have hit 43.8 percent from the field and their opponents have made 41.4 percent.

Senior Lori Koester, a graduate of Allen High School, is averaging 16.7 points per game. Lisa Draper is averaging 14.3 points and Julie Petronis is averaging 11.3 points. Deb Emanuel and Koester in that order are the leading rebounders on the squad.

NATIONALLY, some of the biggest news in the sports world gathers around the trades during Major League Baseball's winter meetings.

Team owners like George Steinbrenner, Ted Turner and Gene Autrey continue to purchase players for ungodly sums of money. A quality player like Dave Winfield can't really be faulted for signing a $13 million contract if people are stupid enough to pay that much money.

The motto of some of these owners seems to be "Take from the poor and give to the rich."

It seems the sky is the limit concerning payment of professional athletes. Several owners are content only with buying a winning team and championship.

Few teams still build winning tradition through smart trades and good farm clubs. When that aspect of baseball vanishes, so does the interest.

COMMENTS OF THE WEEK awards for reading between the lines go to Judge Jerry Young and State Senator Ernie Chambers.

Chambers, in his annual stab at Nebraska football, termed Tom Osborne a racist for pulling Jarvis Redwine from the starting lineup in the upcoming Sun Bowl game. Sure, and two plus two equals three.

Young, a provincial court judge in Ontario, freed Texas Rangers pitcher Ferguson Jenkins after the pitcher was found guilty of possession of cocaine. According to a report by the United Press International, a conviction would have probably resulted in Jenkins' suspension from Major League Baseball. His lawyer said, "He is 38, to get a suspension at this time when he is so close to 300 victories would deprive him of his place in the sun and his place among the legends of baseball."

That must have sounded convincing to the judge. I guess good pro athletes must be immune to the same standards as average individuals.

Laurel won the junior varsity game 45-15. Lynda Ebmeier scored nine points for the winners.

Wildcat Free Throws Top Osmond

Another game was won at the free throw line as Winside's girls outscored Osmond 11-2 at the charity strips to take a 45-40 triumph, Thursday night in Osmond.

Osmond outscored Winside 38-34 from the field but the Wildcats hit 11 of 18 free throws compared to only two of eight for Osmond. Laurie Gallop scored 16 points to lead the winners. Darla Janke celebrated her birthday by scoring 10 points. Winside coach Kathy O'Connor said it was Janke's "best performance ever".

Robyn Winch added nine points and O'Connor said she did a real good job of ball handling in the second half.

"We played really well defensively. Everyone had a good defensive ball game,"

O'Connor said.

The Wildcats put on a fine offensive showing from the field, hitting 53 percent of their field goal attempts. Osmond had a dismal first half, hitting only 11 percent from the floor and finished with 33 percent efficiency.

Winside led 6-3 after the first quarter and 18-8 at the half. The Wildcats outrebounded their opponents 42 to 30. Leading rebounders were Gallop with 11, Janke with seven, Sue Meierhenry with seven, Winch with five and Tammy Thomas with five. Winch had five assists and Thomas had two.

Leading scorers for Osmond were Sheri Crone with 12, Yvonne Edwards with 12 and Linda Koehler with 11.

Winside, which now has a 3-0 record, was scheduled to host Wynot in a girls-boys doubleheader, Friday night. The Wildcats will then be idle until Jan. 12 when they play at Beemer.

Wynot Holds off Winside Rally

Haunted by a miserable first half, the Winside Wildcats couldn't make up enough ground to catch Wynot, Friday night in Winside. The Blue Devils won the game 52-41.

The Wildcats were held to two points in the first quarter and eight in the second. Wynot held leads of 11-2 after the first period and 28-10 at the half.

Wynot controlled the boards in the first two quarters and the hosts ran into foul trouble early in the rough game.

Winside rallied in the second half but had too much ground to make up. The Cats pulled within 15 points at 39-24 after three quarters of play and cut at the lead in the final period.

Jim Krajicek's basket with more than four minutes left in the game brought the Cats within 10 points for the first time since early in the second quarter. Brad Roberts bagged two free throws to pull Winside within eight points at 45-37.

The hosts used a full court press to force some turnovers and took advantage of them to stay in the game. Joel Broekemeier hit two more free throws with 3:07 left in the game to make the score 45-39.

However, three Winside players fouled out in the final 3 1/2 minutes and Wynot took advantage of the free throw opportunities to put the game away. The winners were led by Terry Marx with 20 points and Mark Burbach with 19.

The Wildcats were paced by Jim Krajicek's 14 points and Byron Schellenberg's eight. Winside, which suffered its fifth straight loss, will be idle until Jan. 12 when the Cats travel to Beemer. Only five games and the Lewis and Clark Tournament remain during Winside's regular season schedule.

Wynot Surge Drops Winside Girls

A disastrous second half led to Winside's downfall as Wynot's girls defeated the locals 41-21 in a girls boys doubleheader at Winside Friday night.

The Wildcats held a 6-2 advantage at the end of the first quarter as the defense held Wynot to one basket. By half-time, Winside had fallen behind but was still within one point at 13-12.

The hosts tied the game at 15-all and appeared to be putting together a rally. However, six unanswered baskets put Wynot on top 27-15. The Blue Devils relied on good outside shooting and the inside play of 5-11 senior Janet Becker. Winside hit one bucket but trailed 27-17 after three periods of play. The fourth quarter belonged to Wynot which outscored Winside 14-4 for a final count of 41-21.

Robyn Winch was the leading scorer for Winside with six points. Sue Meierhenry scored five points and Laurie Gallop and Darla Janke added four points each.

The Wildcats are now idle through Christmas vacation. They will play at Beemer on Monday, Jan. 12.

Low Scoring Night

Wakefield is Stopped Cold

The going didn't get any easier for the Wakefield girls basketball team as the Trojans suffered their fourth loss 55-28 to Hartington, Thursday night.

Rita Wilson and Joan Miller combined to score 19 of Wakefield's 28 points. Wilson scored 10 and Miller scored 9. Coleen Neuhaus added six points.

Hartington, which was led by Carla Walz with 21 points, outscored the hosts 22-7 in the fourth quarter to stretch the final margin. The visitors hit 33 percent from the field and a fine 81 percent from the free throw line. The hosts made 24.5 percent of their field goals and 33 percent of their free throws.

"It was a pretty rough game and I think we came out on the short end," said Wakefield coach Dennis Wilbur. "The refs called the violations okay but didn't call many fouls. We were getting shoved around."

Wilbur also stated that his team needs to learn to play more aggressively and added that the girls missed too many inside shots.

The Trojans outrebounded Hartington 48-31 according to Wakefield statistics. Leading rebounders for the locals were Miller with 13, Neuhaus with eight, Wilson with seven, Renee Wendsstrand with seven, Kris Mitchell with four and Connie Tullberg with four.

Wakefield won the junior varsity game 18-13. Kelly Greve scored six points and Brenda Jones added four. Wilbur said the JV team played real well and controlled the tempo of the game.

Next action for the Trojans is scheduled tonight (Monday) in a girls-boys doubleheader at Wausau. Wakefield's girls will then be idle until Jan. 5 when they travel to Emerson.

How to Save A Friend and Your Party

This holiday season should be a time for making fond memories. It should be a time of unforgettable moments. You, as a concerned host or hostess, can enhance the opportunity for fond memories and avert the possibility of a tragic ending at your holiday gathering.

The United States Department of Transportation, National Highway Safety Administration, has outlined seven practical steps to aid a host or hostess in planning a party to avoid the possibility of a drunken driver leaving your party.

Consider these important points when planning your next party.

Always serve food with alcohol. Snacks are a delectable addition to any party. They are tasty, colorful and fairly inexpensive, but more importantly they can slow the rate at which the body absorbs alcohol. High-protein foods are especially good because they stay in the stomach longer. Meats, cheeses and eggs would be tasty high-protein snacks to include in your menu.

Always control liquor at the bar. If mixed drinks can be prepared, this is especially important. If guests may be mixing their own drinks, a jigger is handy. Guests might use it rather than pouring what seems to be the right amount.

If you serve an alcoholic punch, make it with a non-carbonated base. Alcohol is absorbed faster when combined with a carbonated mixer. Use fruit juice or tea for party punches.

Have a non-alcoholic beverage available for your guests. It is a strong possibility that not all guests will want to drink alcoholic beverages. Have coffee, soft drinks or non-alcoholic punch readily available.

Don't force drinks on your guests. Guests may accept drinks because they don't want to appear rude. A host/hostess should not rush to refill drinks. Remember that the body can absorb about one drink an hour, under normal circumstances.

Stop serving alcohol about an hour before the party is to end. Serve coffee or serve non-alcoholic beverages with a special food feature. This will not help sober up guests, but it will give guests extra time for their bodies to absorb the alcohol they have consumed.

If you observe a guest who is drinking too much, divert your guest's attention from drinking by talking to him/her to slow down consumption. Encourage him/her to eat food which will slow down the rate of absorption by the body. Offer to make the next drink and make it weak with a non-carbonated mixer.

Under any circumstances there is a possibility that someone may drink too much. If this happens, the person becomes a potential hazard to himself and others. If you have guests that have been drinking excessively, see that they do not drive. There are several things you can do:

Drive your guest home. His car can be driven home at a later date.

Invite him to stay overnight. Take his keys if he insists on driving.

Physically restrain him, if necessary.

Arrange for other transportation such as another sober guest or a bus or taxi, when available.

If all else fails, call the police. The sight of an authority may help him think rationally.

Remember, friends don't let friends drive drunk.

Regional Base of Sales Shifting

The regional base of Nebraska's net taxable retail sales appears to be moving toward the nonmetropolitan areas of the state.

Writing in the December 1980 issue of "Business in Nebraska," David Chinchin of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln College of Business Administration's Bureau of Business Research, noted that the share of the state's retail sales contributed by the metropolitan areas comprising Douglas, Lancaster, Dakota and Sarpy counties has fallen from 48.4 percent in 1970 to 45.0 percent in 1979.

The average yearly retail sales growth in current dollars for metropolitan areas for the 1970-79 period was 9.9 percent compared to 11.6 percent for the nonmetropolitan areas.

For the state as a whole, net taxable retail sales have increased 144 percent from $3,303 million in 1970 to $8,733 million in 1979. After accounting for an 83.6 percent increase in the commodities component of the Consumer Price Index, a 3.6 percent increase in population, and a 102 percent increase in per capita personal income, Chinchin noted that not only were more people buying goods at higher prices, but in general there was more income per person available for the purchase of more goods, thus the absolute level of goods purchased per person rose.

At the individual county level 14 counties achieved 200 percent or better increases in retail sales in the 1970 to 1979 period. These were Rock, 283 percent; Banner, Whippoorwill has been heard to give their call 1,088 times an hour.
