IT WILL BE ONE YEAR Jan. 5 when Koinn James Rees, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Rees of Wayne, celebrates his birthday. Koinn was the first baby born at Providence Medical Center for 1980 and consequently the decade. As a result, he and his parents received several practical gifts from merchants who sponsored the annual baby contest. Details of this year's contest are located in an advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

'First Baby' Contest Set

The first baby born at Providence Medical Center after midnight Dec. 31 will be in store for a wide range of gifts from several sponsoring merchants.

TEN LOCAL businesses have announced they again will sponsor the annual baby contest. According to the rules, parents of the first child to be born at residents of Wayne, Dixon, Hoskins, Laurel, Emerson, Allen, Carroll, Concord, Wakefield, Winside or Belden.

There is no entry fee or entry blank required, of course, and the first baby must be born at PMC after midnight Dec. 31. The attending physician must certify the time and date of birth. In case of a tie, the winner will be determined by lot.

Gifts are to be picked up at the sponsoring stores by Feb. 1. Last year's first baby of the year winner was Koinn James Rees, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Rees of Wayne. He received a similar list of gifts.

SPONSORS AND their gifts are as follows: State National Bank has agreed to get the new baby off on the right foot financially by starting a $15 savings account.

An engraved pewter baby cup will be awarded to the youngster by The Diamond Center to add to his or her collection of trinketing cups.

Financial security is the concern of Kugler Electric as $5 will be awarded from there.

BLAKE STUDIO will provide an 8 x 10 full color portrait to remember the baby by. To help keep junior warm on these cold Northeast Nebraska nights, Kuhn's Department Store is offering a Teddy Time three way zipper quilt.

To help get the youngster off to a good start, Griess Rexall is giving three boxes of Pampers.

For a little entertainment, Joanie's Designs is offering a wooden Humpty Dumpty music box.

First National Bank also is concerned about financial security and is offering a $15 savings account.

FOR EFFORTS of the mother, and with the newborn in mind, Wayne Greenhouse is providing a dozen teddy roses.

To ensure secure sleeping, Sav-Mor Drug is giving $7.50 credit on a Kiddie Dover sleepwear set.

Loans Available Soon

Both local savings and loan associations are gearing up for receiving loan applications through the Nebraska Mortgage Finance Fund shortly after Jan. 1.

MIKE CARNEY of Columbus Federal Savings and Loan and a spokesman for Midwest Federal Savings and Loan said applications will be expected within a few days after the first of the year for the loan money. A total of $42.3 million will be lent on a first-come, first-served basis throughout the entire state by 79 banks and savings and loan associations.

The parent Columbus Federal S & L will have $830,000 available through its five locations — Columbus, Wayne, York, Seward and Fremont. The parent Midwest Federal S & L will have $475,000 available through its nine branches — Nebraska City, Wayne, Auburn, Crete, Plattsmouth, Weeping Water, Syracuse, Falls City and Humboldt.

The program is similar to an earlier lending program by the Mortgage Finance Fund which provided home buyers with loans at interest rates below the current market interest rates.

PERSONS WHO meet the requirements may buy a home with a 12.375 percent rate, 1.62 percent above an earlier program but still one to three percent below the current market rates.

The loans will be made to Nebraskans with gross adjusted incomes of $28,000 or less who want to buy a home for $60,000 or less. One-fifth (or 20 percent) of the money will be set aside for loans to people with incomes of $15,000 and below.

The interest rate the borrowers will pay is one-eighth of a percent below what Mortgage Fund directors had projected when they found there was a market for $50 million in housing fund bonds.

THE LOWER interest rate would reduce home payments about $3 a month on a 30-year, $30,000 loan compared to the earlier projected rate. The bonds were sold last week to investors at a rate 1.21 percent below the interest rate to be charged home buyers.

Proceeds from sale of the bonds are used to buy loans that are made by banks and savings and loan associations. Neither State National Bank or First National Bank will be involved in the loans.

The following regulations for making the loans also were established by the directors:

If lenders are unable to make 20 percent of their loans to those with incomes of $15,000 or less within four months, mortgage fund directors may order that portion of the money returned to the fund for reallocation to other lenders.

No borrower may have more than one loan from the fund at any time.
The loans can be used for purchase of new, rehabilitated or existing single-family housing. The regulations also allow for purchase of a condominium.

The loans are only for first mortgages and cannot be used to refinance an existing mortgage. They are limited to purchase of homes on deeded property and cannot be used for dwellings on leased land.

ALLOCATIONS TO lenders are based on the amount requested by each lender and on the firm's performance in the first program several months ago. More than half of the money was allocated to lenders in Omaha and Lincoln. Seventeen firms in Omaha were allocated $18 million and eight firms in Lincoln were allocated $5.9 million.

Here are some examples of the monthly payments which borrowers might pay:

A buyer with a $12,000 income buying a $24,000 home with a VA loan would pay $300 a month. Another person with a $20,000 income borrowing $39,000 to buy a $40,750 home would pay $500.50 a month with an FHA loan.

A NEBRASKAN with a $28,000 annual income who uses a conventional loan of $48,000 to buy a $60,000 home would pay $602 a month. The payments include taxes and insurance.

Wayne's Carney noted that closing costs will be different under this program. Before, the buyer paid 1 percent of the purchase price and the seller 1 1/2 percent. Under this program, the buyer will pay 1 percent again, and the seller 2 1/2 percent.

Give-A-Way of $1,000 Will Continue

The Christmas Edition of the Grand Give-A-Way ended on a happy note Dec. 21, and hopefully will get off to a similar positive note when it resumes Thursday night, Jan. 8.

THE GRAND Give-A-Way of $1,000 every Thursday night at 8 will begin its second six months next week. There will not be a name drawing this week since stores will be closed Thursday (New Year's Day) and will close at the regular time Friday.

A total of more than $10,400 was won from July through December, with the winnings spent at any of the 59 participating businesses which sponsored the giveaways. The rules will continue to be the same as long as the Give-A-Way continues. Names will be drawn shortly before 8 p.m. each Thursday from an estimated 8,000 names contained in a wire cage at The Herald. The name will be announced in the participating stores at 8 p.m. and the person whose name is drawn or his or her spouse must be in the store when the name is drawn.

THE FOLLOWING is a list of the participating stores:

Burger Barn, Fredrickson Oil Co., El Toro, Chrysler Center, Wayne Shoe Co., Arnie's Ford-Mercury, Black Knight, The Vets Club, Carhart Lumber Co., Eldon's Standard, Triangle Finance, Peoples Natural Gas Co., Kare's, The 4th Jug, Northeast Nebraska Insurance Agency, Jack Tomrdie-Kuhn's Carpet and Draperies, Surbers, Jeff's Cafe, Rich's Super Foods, Sav-Mor Drug,

Local Man Killed Sunday No Paper For Monday

Services for Larry E. Anderson, 21, Wayne, were held Tuesday from the United Methodist Church in Wayne, the Rev. Kenneth Edmonds officiating. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery here.

He was killed early Sunday morning when the pickup he was driving went out of control, left the road and rolled about three miles east of Norfolk on U.S. 35. The vehicle was northbound at the time. The accident happened about 4 a.m., according to the Nebraska Highway patrol.

Anderson was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Anderson of Wayne.

A passenger in the vehicle, 21-year-old Danny Ahlvers of Wayne, is listed in serious condition at University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha. He was transferred from the Lutheran Community Hospital in Norfolk. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Ahlvers.

Authorities said another passenger, Darren Proett, 21, also of Wayne, escaped injury.

Anderson was born Nov. 22, 1959, at Newton, Kan., to Maurice and Elaine Murray Anderson. He moved to Wayne with his parents in 1962, attending the Wayne schools and graduating from Wayne-Carroll High School in 1978. He worked for the Nebraska Department of Roads and was a member of the United Methodist Church in Wayne.

Palbearers were Darren Proett, Loren Haggemeyer, Ron Lippman, Kirk Echtenkamp, Dave Carlson and Gary Stoltenberg.

Survivors include his parents; two brothers, David Anderson of Bramerton, Wash. and Gregory Anderson of Lincoln; one sister, Mrs. Merlin (Maureen) Braadford of Amarillo, Texas; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Murray of Thurston.

Hiscox-Schumacher Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

No Paper For Monday

Due to the New Year's holiday, The Wayne Herald will not print a paper for Monday, Jan. 5. As a result, the office will be closed Saturday morning, Jan. 3. Regular advertising and news deadlines will be in effect for the next regular paper Jan. 8.

The Herald, as will most other businesses, will be open regular hours Wednesday, New Year's Eve. Stores will not be open late Friday and will close at the regular time. The Courthouse will close at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, however.

The City Hall and Courthouse will be open Friday, Jan. 2, but the County Court offices will be closed.

Many of the stores will be open New Year's Day. For more information, see advertisements elsewhere in this issue.

A Glance at the First Year of the Decade

(Editor's Note: The following is a brief compilation of news which has graced the front pages of The Wayne Herald over the past year. The first half (January through June) appears in this issue, with the remainder planned for the Jan. 8 edition.)

The first half of 1980 was eventful from a variety of standpoints for Wayne Herald readers. Whatever your pleasure, there was probably something which caught your eye and held your interest.

There was both good news and bad news for the Wayne area during January through June. Here follows what we consider to be the highlights of the period, in order of their occurrences.

JANUARY

The first baby of the decade and of the year was born to Mr. and Mrs. James Rees of Wayne. They named their son Koinn James.

The City Council began a series of development plan to revamp the city's water system. The aged system is plagued with dangerous low water pressure in some areas and is plagued with rusted and deteriorating water mains.

Although the local National Guard was only at 20 percent of its authorized strength, there was no significant commotion of closing the unit. Record numbers of appointments later in the year were to make the Wayne Guard one of the most respected in the state.

WITNESSES TO CAR accidents in District 4, Court cases involving a bill for right-of-way for the area.

Public Power District by Valerius H. and Bernice M. Dammie involving construction of a transmission line across their property about 7 1/2 miles south of Wayne. The Dammies sought more money for potential damage to their farmstead.

An expanded and detailed learning disabilities policy for Wayne-Carroll School District students was considered.

The Dammies were awarded $14,375 by District Court jurors involving the NPPD power line. Appraisers originally had awarded the Dammies $5,921.

The Rural Employability Service, which replaced the Nebraska Job Service Office here, was cited as superior for its performance.

WAYNE-CARROLL High School students received superior ratings at the District III One-Act Play competition at Wayne State College.

NPPD appealed the court's decision to award more money to the Val Dammies.

Stan Morris, local machinist, was given a double honor at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet. He was awarded the Chamber's Man of the Year distinction and the Small Business Administration's District II Man of the Year honor.

FEBRUARY

Hoskins Grocery closed its doors after more than 70 years in operation and several owners. It would be replaced by a steakhouse and meat market.

Two women — Marylyn Greenham and Sandy Kriest — joined the all-woman Wayne Volunteer Fire Department. Only one other female had ever been a dispatcher — had ever joined the department. A district judge overruled an appeal motion by NPPD for a new trial in the Dammie vs. NPPD jury trial. The award of some $14,000 was to stand.

Jean Hornbeck, Wayne, was winner of The Wayne Herald First Amendment Essay contest and received first place honors for the entire state as well.

THE COUNCIL began discussion of a policy that would help prevent potential conflict of interest between the city, its engineers and its developers. The school board compromised on the learning disabilities policy, setting guidelines for students through the eighth grade.

Allen Housing Authority received official word that a $449,500 loan for construction of low income elderly housing was approved. Construction would be completed by January of 1981.

The Wayne Jazz Band won second place honors in the Wayne State Jazz Band Festival. Middle School musicians were third in the junior high division and certificates of excellence for solo performances went to Elaine Johns, Greg Elliott, David Remer, Sarah Blevin and Bill Heist.

WAYNE STATE winter semester enrollment figures showed a slight decline from 2,409 to 2,225 from the previous semester.

Wayne hosted a one-day conference on economic development in the heart of Nebraska. The only meeting of its kind in the area. Philadelphus (Phil) Allen, School Principal, Wayne, presided, and before 300 people the subject was discussed. The Allen Board of Education voted to Fire Prize ed as a result of a restraining order issued by a district judge.

A federal grant for renovation of the Wayne city ball park was awarded by the state and federal government. The feds will pick up about $72,250 — half of the total — with state and local monies making up the remainder.

MARCH

Fredrick Brink II and Robert T. Zimmermann, both of Wayne, were bound over to District Court each on two counts of burglary. They were charged with stealing stereo equipment from The Joynt and The Wayne Country Club.

The city of Laurel began discussions on how to solve their garbage woes. Their landfill was found to be in violation of federal pollution requirements.

The state's first program to assist low and moderate income families in buying a home was started. Columbus Federal and Wayne Federal Savings & Loan Associations were the local sources for funds.

MERLE RING WAS named the Kiwanis Club Outstanding Farmer of the Year and the Kiwanis District Ia Outstanding Farmer.

Wayne State College proposed major cutbacks in athletic programs including the elimination of golf, men's track, women's track, men's tennis, wrestling, cross country, baseball and swimming. The economy, the energy crisis and the advent of equality in women's athletics were cited as reasons.

The Allen Board of Education voted to Fire Prize principal Dale Kennedy after a lengthy public hearing attended by about 300 persons. General insubordination and failure to cooperate with school and law officials were the primary reasons cited for his dismissal.

AMID CHARGES of misuse of budget money, a petition signed by 111 Allen School District residents asked that a no-growth school budget issue be placed on the primary election ballot in May.

Construction on a new Laurel Security National Bank began. It's official. Six sports at WSC will be eliminated. These will be golf, men's and women's tennis, cross country, wrestling and swimming. Wrestling and swimming were the two most successful sports at WSC the last 15 years.

Six violations of the state fire code were found at the Wayne County Courthouse.

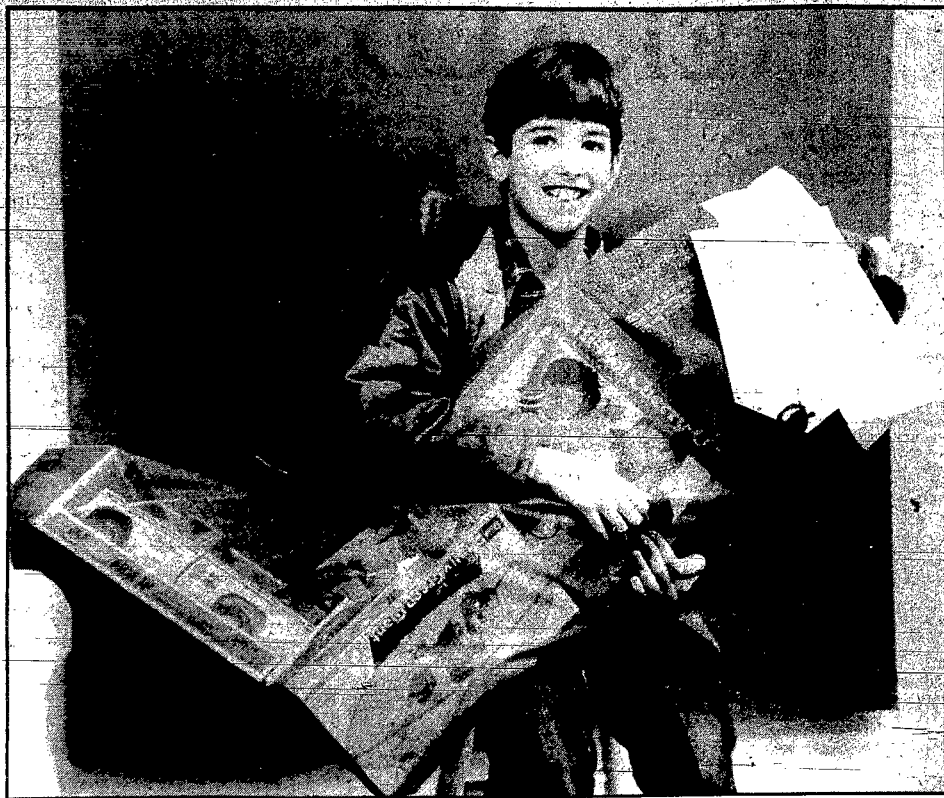

APRIL As a result of state legislation, Wayne-Carroll School District could get $240,000 in state aid for the year, up from $80,000. The district actually received $190,827.

A fund drive to buy a rescue equipment box for the Wayne Volunteer Fire Department was still $5,000 short of its goal.

A conflict policy was finally approved by the City Council, theoretically averting a conflict of interest between the city, the engineers and potential developers.

Honorary palbearers were Albert Miller, Fritz Gierapp, John Hansen, Darrell Hansen, Dan Pippitt, Ed Gadsden, Waltergaard Knudsen, Albert Huetig, Ray Dickey and Marlon Prudickson.
Burial was at the Laurel Cemetery with arrangements by Wilts Memorial.

County Farm News Update

The following update of Wayne County Farm Progress News has been prepared by the USDA Service Center, which monitors the 20th Census and SCS.
The national average market price for corn is $1.85 per bushel and Illinois is the highest. The $1.26 rate is the lowest. On Dec. 19, 11 counties in that state for five months had the same rate.
If the grain is not sold by the end of the year, it cannot be paid for and the farmer will be liable for the crop.
If 1980 crop prices in the reserve, then it becomes older corn and would not be eligible for a regular loan as 1980 corn.
The USDA Service Center says it is preparing to send a field and NCA National crop salvage notices. Farmers are asked to report any changes in ownership or operators, so notices and information can be sent to the right people.
The Service Center has received word that the NCA limitation will not be effective in 1981. Therefore anyone who accurately reports their planted acreage by the deadline could be eligible for feed grain program benefits. These benefits include loans on grains and disaster and deficiency payments.
Wheat, oats, barley and rye plantings are to be reported by June 1. Other grain crops are to be reported by Aug. 1.
If farmers are not sure of their acreage, the Service Center does have a measurement service available. Cost of the service is far less than the minimum penalty for not certifying accurately.
Some producers have had their disaster payments reduced due to not certifying accurately. Others are not eligible for any disaster or deficiency payments or loans due to missing acreages by more than the allowed tolerance.
The Wayne County ASC Convention was held Dec. 11. The delegates re-elected Erwin Morris to another three year term on the County Committee. They also re-elected Henry Arrp and Dean Owens as alternates to the COC.
They also determined that Alden Johnson would be chairman, Erwin Morris as vice chairman and Leo Voss as a regular member of the County Committee.

Pair Escape Injury

No injuries were reported in an accident about 4:30 p.m. Thursday two miles north and two miles east of Wayne on a county road.
According to the report, a car driven by Loren Erlanson, 18, Wakefield, went out of control, rolled and landed on its top. He and his passenger, Jeri Langston 16, Wayne, were taken to Providence Medical Center by private transportation and released.

According to Dave Headley of the Nebraska Highway Patrol, the car, owned by Roy Kewinick of Wakefield, was considerably damaged.

News Briefs

RES Places Second

From October of 1979 to October of 1980 the Rural Employability Service in the Chamber of Commerce office placed 162 people with jobs.
The accomplishment placed Wayne in second place of the 13 offices in Nebraska. It was topped only by July 23. At latest word, Wayne placed first during the month of November with 12 placements.

'Twas $20, Not $200

Through a typographical error, it was reported recently that David Hammer of Wayne had been charged with issuing a bad check in the amount of $200 to Mike Oswald. It should have been $20.
The case has been continued in Wayne County Court until Jan. 8.
Also, a criminal complaint of digging a hole in a permit against Lee Swinney was filed by the county. Wayne and the state of Nebraska as reported recently. The case has been dismissed.

Men interested in entering the contest should register at Ray's Boot'n Barber Shop.

Christmas Dinner
Dr. Milton G. Waldbaum, chairman of the board of the Milton G. Waldbaum Co., presented special gifts to Mrs. Meta Bariling and Weldon Karberg for 30 years continuous service to the company during a Christmas dinner, Dec. 18 at the Wakefield Legion Hall.

Nearly 300 persons attended the dinner.
Charles Sharp, Joyce Trevelts, Marcela Wurdeman and Lonnie Harder were selected Employees of the Year and House People of the Year respectively.
Dutch Allen, Mel Wiese, Bob Penn and Fred Kellogg received gold watches for 25 years with the company.

Dallas Roberts and Hilda Frey received diamonds for 20 years of service. Marilyn Spah and Mavis Penn blue sapphires for 15 years of service, and Sue Schroeder and Tom Turney rubies for five years of service. Lloyd Anderson and Short Kay received diamonds for 20 years, Mel Lovelace and Bob Appleby, 10 years, and Mike Hammer and Arvyn Neuhaus, five years.

Guests of Salem
Dr. and Mrs. Dennis A. Anderson were honored guests of Salem Lutheran Church Dec. 21 for the children's Christmas worship service and the Julesang Kaffe Kalas.

Dr. Anderson is Bishop of the Nebraska Synod of the Lutheran Church in America. He delivered a brief sermonette during the children's service. Accompanying the Andersons was his mother.

The Rev. and Mrs. Robert V. Johnson entertained Dr. and Mrs. Anderson and his mother at a dinner. Other guests were the Alvin Sundells and Sarilyn, Mr. and Mrs. Burnell Grosz, and the Emil Mullers and Marcella.

Sundell is vice chairman of the Salem Church Council and Grosz is a member of the executive board of the Nebraska Synod. Muller is a member of the Lutheran Family and Social Service Board of Omaha.

Kaffe Kalas Held
The fifth annual Julesang Kaffe Kalas was presented by the Salem Lutheran Church choir Dec. 21. Mrs. Marvin Mortenson is director and Mrs. Jack Kruger accompanied the groups.

Over 450 persons attended the events which began at 3 p.m. Three other sessions were held, with the last session at 8 p.m. Theme of this year's program was "Bells."

During each session guests were seated at individual tables decorated with silver spires containing crystal bells as centerpieces, silver placemats and pink napkins and candles. The church basement was decorated with poinsettias, pink and silver bells and lanterns.

Punch was served and members of the senior choir and bell choir poured coffee, served coffee rings, hors d'oeuvres, cupcakes and hints between selections by the choirs.

Alden Johnson sang a solo. The Gems, comprised of Gloria Oberg, Eleanor Johnson and Mardell Holm, also presented a number. Other selections were by the handbell ringers, Salem singers and men's chorus, with the audience joining in several Christmas carols. Prayer was by the Rev. Robert V. Johnson.

Members of the choir are Helen Anderson, Betty Bressler, Marian Christensen, Lorraine Hitz, Debbie Leonard, Kella Lund, Sylvia Magnuson, Janice Newton, Gloria Oberg, Teri Schwarzen, Denise Thomsen, Ruth Boeckenhauer, Rae Brown, Priscilla Eaton, Mardell Holm, Famy Johnson, Marge Johnson, Julie Lund, Coleen Neuhaus, Lori Utecht, Verle Carlson, Alden Johnson, Eleanor Johnson, Lowell Johnson, Charles Soderberg, Burnell Grosz, Kermit Johnson, Ray Lund, Norman Swanson, B. C. Thompson and Sam Utecht.

Handbell ringers were Kella Lund, Debbie Meyer, Amy Neuhaus, Marci Nixon, Michelle Rischmueller, Teri Schwarzen, Tom Schwarzen and David Thompson. David also played cymbals and tambourines.

Winners of Drawings
Winners in drawings sponsored by the Allen Keagle VFW Post on Dec. 20 were A. D. Brown, Art Barker, Tom Anderson of Laurel, Marvin Borg, David Sick, Ed Schenase, Ray Brudlgam and Mert Nixon.

Winners were able to select either a 12-lb. turkey or a 5-lb. canned ham.

Homes May Get Help

The Nebraska Low Income Energy Assistance Program (LIEAP) estimates 40,000 low income households may be eligible for financial assistance with their fuel costs this winter.

The $14.1 million federal program is being administered by the Department of Public Welfare through its network of County Welfare Offices across the state.

The 1970-80 program served 14,682 households, which are being notified by mail in January of this year's energy program under new federal guidelines. Recipients of public assistance will receive an application by mail before Jan. 1.

Other low income households desiring to participate in the energy assistance program should contact the local County Welfare Office for application information, or call the statewide toll free number of 800-742-7630.

Assistance payments under this winter's energy program are expected to begin about Feb. 1.

Energy assistance eligibility is based on the Bureau of Labor Statistics Lower Living Standard Income Level for families and on the Community Services Administration's 125 percent of poverty guidelines for one person households.

In addition to meeting the income test under federal guidelines, a household must be within resource maximums based on family size and must be responsible, at least in part, for its own energy costs.

The income guideline for a one person household is $4,738 annually, whether the household is located in the metropolitan area (designated as Douglas, Lancaster, Sarpy and Dakota Counties) or elsewhere in the state.

Income guidelines for larger households — with the metropolitan area figures shown in parenthesis — are as follows: household of two, $7,220 ($7,430); household of three, $9,910 ($10,210); household of four, $12,240 ($12,600); and household of five, $14,440 ($14,870).

Households with additional persons or whose income may be higher than the example guidelines should contact the energy assistance program for more information. There is a special deduction for households with persons who are 60 years of age or older or who are handicapped or disabled. Also a special earned income allowance may be deducted in eligibility determination.

Energy assistance payments are based on the size of the eligible household, the type of primary heating fuel used, and on the three "heating degree day" regions established for the state.

Payment will be made directly to the eligible household when utility costs are included in the rent, or when no back utility bills are owed for the percentage of the winter elapsed, or when the maximum eligible amount is $200 and no back bills are due, or when the fuel provider has no signed agreement with the program.

In all other cases, payment will be made directly to the fuel provider on behalf of the eligible household for outstanding utility bills and for future monthly payments within the total authorized amount.

All households with questions about the income guidelines or other special circumstances regarding eligibility should obtain more detailed information from the County Welfare Office, or call the toll free number of 800-742-7630.

Susan Schroeder-Randy Johnson Wed at Laurel Immanuel Lutheran

The Immanuel Lutheran Church in Laurel was the scene of a double ring rite Dec. 20 uniting in marriage Susan Schroeder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Schroeder of Laurel, and Randy Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Johnson of Norfolk.

The Rev. Frederick Cook Sr. of Laurel officiated at the 5:30 p.m. candlelight ceremony. The altar of the church was decorated with red and white poinsettias.

Wedding music included "1 Corinthians 13" and "One Hand, One Heart," sung by Ellen Kjos Heffernan of Oslo, Norway and accompanied by Mrs. L. J. Mallatt of Laurel.

Guests, registered by Mrs. Jerry Schroeder of Laurel, were ushered into the church by Jerry Schroeder and George Schroeder, both of Laurel and Randy Papenhausen of Coleridge.

Candies were lighted by Julie Schulte and John Schulte, both of Dixon. Flower girl was Tori Fischer of Omaha and ring bearer was Benjamin Schroeder of Coleridge.

The bride appeared at her father's side in a long, white gown of Chantilly lace and bridal taffeta, designed with a jeweled neckline, narrow lace sleeves with trumpet cuffs, and a full chapel train. The bodice was enhanced with Chantilly lace defined in a capelet effect. She wore her mother's cameo pendant and white lace gloves.

The bride wore a halo of white roses and white flocked baby's breath and carried white roses, holly and baby's breath with lace.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Randy Papenhausen of Coleridge, sister of the bride, and best man was Jerry Hammerlun of Omaha.

The matron of honor was gown-ed in a floor-length cranberry red crepe frock fashioned with a blouson bodice accented with a white Chantilly lace yoke and collar, with a plaid taffeta bow at the neckline. The long full sleeves ended in lace cuffs. She wore a halo of red roses and flocked white baby's breath in her hair and carried a hurricane lantern with greenery and white streamers.

The men wore black formal tuxedos with tails.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Schroeder chose a teal green knit. The bridegroom's mother selected a teal green velvet fashion. Both mothers wore red rose corsages.

Dr. and Mrs. John Schroeder of Coleridge and Mr. and Mrs. James Schroeder of Laurel greeted the 140 guests who attended a reception at Ron's Steakhouse in Carroll following the wedding ceremony.

Gifts were arranged by Mr. and Mrs. David Schulte of Dixon.

Mrs. Kenneth Wacker of Laurel and Mrs. Harvey Relitz of Emerson cut and served the cake. Mrs. Cleo Schroeder of Fremont and Mrs. Syd Haakenstad of Norfolk poured, and Mrs. John Shybut of Norfolk and Mrs. Randy Bargholz of Wayne served punch. The newlyweds traveled to Florida and will be making their first home at 754 27th Ave., Apt. B, in Columbus.

The bride, a 1974 graduate of Laurel Public School and a 1978 graduate of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, is a conservation and consumer education specialist with Nebraska Public Power District, Norfolk. The bridegroom was graduated from Norfolk Senior High School in 1971 and attended the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. He is employed at Bob Johnson Motors in Columbus.

4-H Alcohol Impact Team Reorganized

The Wayne County 4-H Alcohol Impact Team recently reorganized for the 1981 year.

A planning workshop was held in December at the Columbus Federal Savings and Loan meeting room in Wayne with Roy Stohler, district youth specialist. Assisting Stohler was Linda Huinker, Wayne County Home Extension Agent.

Valerie Bush was welcomed as a new member. Second year members are Marcia Refthwisch, Shaun Niemann, Turena Walde and Cynthia Walde.

The group received their own projects from 1980 as well as those from other counties in northeast Nebraska.

The Alcohol Impact Team was organized in 1979 by District 4-H Junior Leaders to present information to the public regarding alcohol abuse and associated problems.

Among projects planned for the upcoming year are poster and speech contests with special awards given to top participants, and presentations to 4-H and other youth groups.

A spokesman for the group said they are especially urging motorists to practice safety driving practices during this holiday season.

'Healthwise' Registrations Due

A Healthwise Series designed to motivate parents to handle some of their family's health concerns is scheduled to begin Wednesday, Jan. 14, from 1 to 4 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Chambers and Jocell Bull, director of the Wayne Senior Citizens Center, attended the White House Conference on Aging regional hearing Dec. 20 in Norfolk.

The meeting was conducted by Bruce Davis, state coordinator. Other hearings are scheduled for Beatrice, Kearney, Grand Island, North Platte, Alliance and Ainsworth.

Minister Resigns at Wakefield Meta Meyer Marks 89th

Greg Hafer resigned his position as minister of the Wakefield Christian Church Sunday, citing personal reasons for taking this step and conveying his love and appreciation for the leadership and the congregation.

"I have been having some unprecedent inner conflicts for some time now," said Hafer. "After much consideration and prayer I have reached this decision and am confident it is the very best course of action, although a very difficult step to take. It is difficult because I have no disappointment in the church or community."

"I greatly appreciate the church and this community and am grateful for the many blessings that our family has enjoyed here," said Hafer, adding, "To know the love and concern of the church family and community friends will be a source of encouragement to me as my journey through life takes a new turn."

Merle Ring, chairman of the church, said, "During Greg's ministry in Wakefield, the church has grown in every area. I think it not presumptuous to say that he and his family were loved and appreciated by the entire congregation. Greg's leaving will be felt a real loss by all families of the church as well as many in the community."

Joel Burkum, student associate minister from Nebraska Christian College, will serve as interim minister.

A number of families in the Wayne area regularly attend Wakefield Christian

Meta Meyer Marks 89th

Mrs. Meta Meyer of Wayne was honored for her 89th birthday Sunday.

Approximately 30 friends and relatives from Wakefield, Lincoln, Wayne, Omaha and Carroll spent the afternoon in her home.

Mrs. Meyer has resided in Wayne for the past 36 years, moving from a farm near Wakefield. She is a member of the Immanuel Lutheran Church, Wakefield, and a charter member of the Ladies Aid. Her husband Fred died in 1964.

She has four children: Mrs. Helen Echtenkamp of Wayne, Mrs. Gilmore "Erna" Sabs of Carroll, Reuben Meyer of Wakefield and Erwin Meyer of Reno, Nev. There are 13 grandchildren, 20 great grandchildren and six great great grandchildren.

Club Christmas Dinner in Damme Home

Happy Homemakers Home Extension Club members met Dec. 18 in the home of Mrs. Val Damme for a potluck Christmas dinner.

The brief business meeting was opened with the song "We Wish You a Merry Christmas." Ten members responded to roll call with their favorite Christmas carol. Mrs. Myrtle Splittgerber was a guest.

The afternoon was spent playing games and singing Christmas carols. Women held a homemade candy exchange and packed a box of homemade candy for a resident of Wayne Care Centre.

Next regular meeting will be at 1:30 p.m. Jan. 15 in the home of Mrs. Ed Grone.

Carlson-Doty Exchange Vows at Concord

Janie Carlson became the bride of Gary Doty in a 2 o'clock double ring ceremony Dec. 27 at the Evangelical Free Church, Concord.
The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Carlson of Laurel.
The church was decorated with two altar baskets of red miniature carnations and white pompons and two candelabras with white candles and evergreen. The Rev. John Westerholm of Concord officiated.
Singers were Dennis Carlson of Laurel, brother of the bride, and Barb Walker and Joene Boshart of Lincoln. Organist was Steve Linn of Laurel.
The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, fashioned her white floor-length gown of dotted swiss, designed with a square neckline, puffy sleeves fitted at the wrists, a fitted waistline and long train. Her waist-length veil was attached to a beaded headpiece, and she carried a nosegay of white roses and red miniature carnations accented with evergreen and satin bridal streamers.
The bride's honor attendant was her sister, Marlyce Carlson of Omaha. Bridesmaid was another sister, Marlyce Carlson of Omaha.
They wore red crepe dresses in floor length designed with square necklines and long, sheer sleeves. Each carried a white silk rose with satin streamers and evergreen.
Rhonda Carlson of Fremont was flower girl and Brian Soden of Wayne was ring bearer. Candelighters were Kirk Soden of Wayne and Michelle Fuss of Omaha.
Doug Boone of Lincoln served as best man and Jim Walker, also of Lincoln, was groomsmen. Guests were ushered to their seats by Verlyn Carlson of Fremont, a brother of the bride, Kenneth Soden of Wayne, Calvin Fuss of Omaha and Mark Guy of Lincoln.
The men in the wedding party wore dark brown suits. The bridegroom wore a red-rose boutonniere and his attendants wore boutonnieres of red and white flowers.
The bride's mother wore a winter white crepe dress.
Nearly 150 guests attended a reception in the Concord auditorium following the wedding ceremony. The guests were registered by Renae Carlson of Fremont, Kari Soden of Wayne and Mrs. Verlyn Carlson of Fremont. Gift carrier was Kevin Soden.
The gifts were arranged by Rhonda Bloom of Laurel, Donna Forsberg of Wayne and Kevin Soden of Carroll. Hosts were the bride's brother, Dennis Carlson of Laurel, and Linda Regier of Omaha.
The cake, which was baked by the bride's sister, Mrs. Kenneth Soden of Wayne, was cut and served by Mrs. Kenneth Kardell of Dixon and Mrs. Paul Kardell of Lincoln. Mrs. Harold Carlson of Laurel poured and Mrs. Melvin Carlson of North Bend served punch.
Waitresses were Susy and Lisa Ervin and Monica Hanson, all of Concord, Meloni Gunnerson of Wayne, and Kathy Kardell and Rochelle Dahlquist, both of Laurel.
The newlyweds are residing at 720 S. 19th, Apt. 1, in Lincoln.
The bride was graduated from Laurel High School in 1970 and attended Stewart's Beauty School and Orientation Center for Blind from 1971 to 1980. She is presently attending the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. The bride is a 1973 graduate of Lincoln high school and a 1979 graduate of the Orientation Center for Blind. He also is a student at the University of Nebraska.

Basket at Buzzer Nips Bears in Third Overtime

Chuck Hayes gunned a 30-foot jump shot as time expired in the third overtime to give Class C power Lyons a 36-34 win over Laurel in first round action of the Wayne State Holiday Tournament, Monday night.

The win advanced Lyons into the finals to face Wayne. Laurel dropped into the consolation finals against Randolph. All finals and consolation finals were scheduled Tuesday.

Hayes' game-winning shot followed a somewhat controversial call in the waning seconds.

With seven seconds remaining in the third overtime period, Laurel's Joe Olsen had an opportunity to give his team the lead but missed the front half of a one-and-one attempt. In a fumble for the rebound, the ball was knocked out of bounds.

The referee, right on the spot, pointed at a Lyons player and said that he knocked the ball out of bounds. However, he then signaled possession of the ball to Lyons. After a short discussion, the Lyons were awarded possession of the ball.

An accurate softball pass downcourt enabled Hayes to dribble once, set his sights on the rim and pump the winning basket.

The Bears had several opportunities to win the game but were cold from the field late in the game and had a poor night at the free throw line. Laurel outscored Lyons from the field but hit only 4 of 12 free throws compared to 8 of 12 for the winners.

The low scoring game was tied 30-30 at the end of regulation play and again after the first overtime.

Laurel had the last shot of the fourth quarter but missed at the buzzer. In the first overtime, Hayes took a shot for Lyons with seven seconds left but missed. After a Laurel rebound and a time-out, Olsen drove down court and put up a shot which went in and out of the hoop in the final second.

The game went into double overtime and Olsen put the Bears ahead 32-30 with a pair of free throws. Lyons tied the game at 32 all and the two teams were again deadlocked. Laurel missed a one and one situation setting up the third overtime.

Hayes put the Lyons up 34-32 but Bryan Buss hit the tying field goal. Lyons went for the final shot of the game but Hayes was called for an offensive foul on Olsen, setting up Laurel's final opportunity to win.

The underdog Bears played masterfully in the first half. Coach Joel Parks directed his team to use a deliberate offense and a quick defense. Laurel patiently worked for its shots, making sure of a high percentage opportunity. Using a man-to-man pressure defense and then dropping back into a zone, the Bears took a 13-10 lead at the end of the first quarter.

The two teams exchanged baskets throughout the second quarter as the Bears held onto a 23-20 advantage. Eventually, Laurel pulled out in front by eight points. Matt Johnson hit a basket with 2:00 left in the third period giving Laurel a 29-21 lead. Lyons pulled back within four at the end of the third quarter.

The Bears, who relied on hot shooting in the first half, cooled off considerably in the final quarter of the well-coached game and Lyons tied the game up.

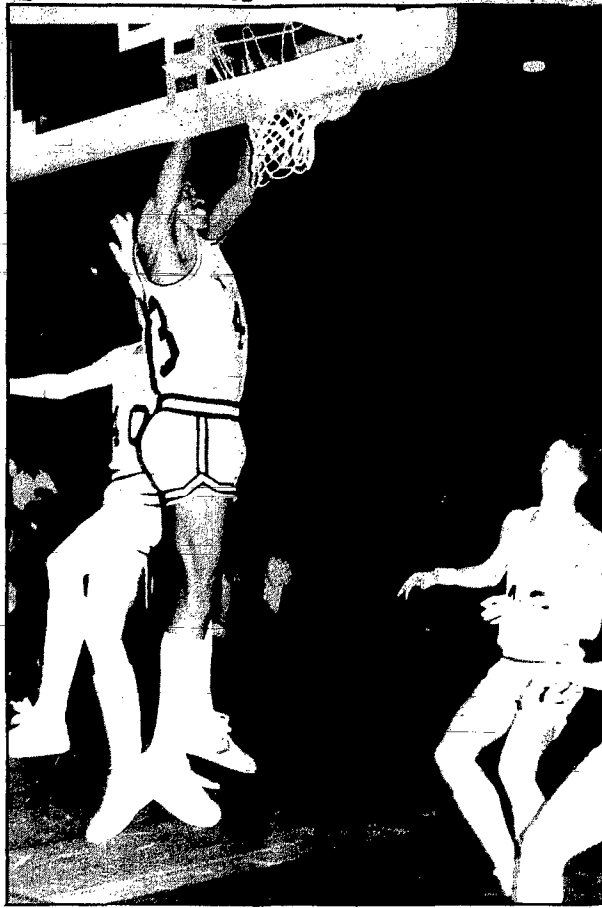

Leading scorers for Laurel were Kevin Erwin with 11 points, Olsen with seven and Matt Johnson with six. Buss and Kelly Robson scored four points each. The Lyons were led by Hayes with 19 points and Ray Hayes and Kelly Barada with six points apiece.

Laurel fell to 2-5 with the loss and was scheduled to play Randolph in Tuesday's consolation finals. Lyons was scheduled to play Wayne in Tuesday's championship game.

LEON McRAE jumps for the ball for easy points as Wayne State defeats Bellevue College 85-80 Monday.

Threesome Leads Wildcats' Comeback in Opening Win

At Jones, a 6-8 junior transfer, made his debut as a Wayne State basketball player a welcome one by helping lead the Wildcats to an 85-80 victory over Nebraska Wesleyan Monday in first round action at the Wayne State Holiday Tournament.

Jones had to sit out one semester of eligibility after transferring from Westmar College this fall. Now that the first semester at WSC has ended, Jones has joined the squad. He scored 16 points, grabbed six rebounds and made five assists in his debut.

Teammates Leon McRae and Grady Hansen were the other two players who were instrumental in the win. McRae pumped in 25 points and had nine rebounds. Hansen hit 19 points and pulled down six rebounds.

The matchup was an extremely physical game with considerable contact on the court. Jones was taken out of the game late in the first half with a gash just below his eye, which required stitches.

The Wayne State score book and official scorers book differed. The other book had Hansen credited with 23 points and McRae with 21. Regardless of which book is right, the three leading Wildcats had a fine game. Doug Hutchinson had five assists and Doug Lollman scored eight points for the winners.

"I thought we played much better in the second half. We always seemed to be about half a step behind in the first half and didn't execute well," WSC coach Rick Weaver stated. "In the second half, we scored a lot of fastbreak baskets and that turned us around. McRae, Hansen and Jones all did a good job. I'm always glad to win."

The victory improved Wayne State's record to 3-7 and advanced the Wildcats to Tuesday's championship finals against Bellevue College. Bellevue earlier defeated South Dakota State-Springfield 70-52.

Wesleyan led Wayne State throughout the first half as the Cats had troubles. WSC hit 38.9 percent of its shots from the field while Wesleyan made 48.5 percent of its shots.

Trailing 40-32 at the half, the Wildcats played much better in the second half and outscored the visitors 53-40 in front of a near capacity crowd.

The two teams exchanged the lead several times before McRae put the Cats on top to stay and brought the crowd to its feet with a dunk shot with 8:50 remaining in the game. McRae's stuff gave WSC a 64-62 advantage.

Hansen added a three point play for a 69-64 lead and then scored a final goal seconds later for a seven-point lead. The Cats maintained their lead for the remainder of the game and held off a late Wesleyan rally to clinch the win.

Wayne State shot 47.9 percent from the field in the entire game, and Wesleyan hit 42.1 percent. The Cats committed 27 fouls and 12 turnovers and made 17 assists. Wesleyan had 18 fouls, 10 turnovers and 5 assists.

Blue Devils to Meet Lyons for Title

A surprisingly easy triumph Monday retained Wayne's perfect record and advanced the Blue Devils into the finals of the 23rd annual Wayne State Holiday Tournament.

The Devils were scheduled to take a 65 record into Tuesday's championship finals against Lyons at 9 p.m. Wayne defeated Randolph 58-27.

Wayne was never challenged and scored the first 14 points of the game. The hosts led 16-4 after one quarter of play. Jack Morris, Mike Sladek and Tod Heier dominated the action in the first period. Morris and Sladek scored six points each and Heier added four.

Sladek continued his pace in the second quarter while Kevin Nissen and Tim Pfeiffer took over for Morris and Heier. Sladek and Nissen earned six points apiece and Pfeiffer added four. Four other Wayne players followed with two points each to give the Devils a half time lead of 40-10.

Randolph couldn't get its offense untracked. James Kruger and Conley Seyl had all 10 first quarter points for the Cardinals and finished with 10 and 12 points respectively.

Twelve Blue Devils saw action in the game and 10 scored. Sladek led the scoring with 16 points. Morris, Heier and Nissen scored eight points each and Perry Nelson, who was suffering from illness, added six points.

The second half was low scoring. Wayne cooled off in the third quarter and played its second and third team players through most of the fourth period.

The Blue Devils outscored Randolph 12-6 in the third quarter but were outscored 11-6 in the final quarter.

Randolph was scheduled to play Laurel Tuesday in the consolation finals.

Laurel Gals Succumb To Randolph's Height

Superior height was more than the Laurel girls could overcome as Randolph's fine girls team trampled the Bears 51-29 Monday in first round action of the Wayne State Holiday Tournament.

Randolph, with a 6-2 senior, a 5-10 junior and three 5-10 sophomores on the roster, simply held a height advantage and used its quickness to send Laurel into the consolation bracket against Wayne.

Randolph was led by Theresa Thies with 14 points. Tracy Borst with 13 and Shelly Strathman with 12. The 6-2 Borst dominated the inside.

The Bears fell behind from the outset and found themselves baffling a losing cause.

Kay Anderson scored 11 points to lead Laurel and Anne Schultz added six points. LaRae Nelson and Cyndi Jonas each scored four points. The loss evened Laurel's record at 3-3.

Randolph was scheduled to meet Stanton on Tuesday in the championship finals.

SENIOR CITIZENS LEAGUE

Nineteen bowlers competed in the Senior Citizens bowling Tuesday, December 23.

John Dall had high game of 211 and high series of 562. The winning team in close competition was Alvin Borgstad's team with a 4,856 pin team total. Art Brummond's team had a team total of 4,803.

Wayne Girls Edged by Stanton

The Wayne Blue Devils let Stanton's girls off the hook Monday and slipped into the consolation finals of the Wayne State Holiday Tournament.

The Devils lost the opening round game of the girls' division 38-35 and were scheduled to play Laurel in the consolation round, Tuesday.

Wayne led throughout the first half as Lynn Surber sparked the hosts. Surber scored six of Wayne's first eight points and led Wayne to a 10-6 lead after one quarter of play.

Led by Surber, The Blue Devils extended their lead in the second quarter and held on to a half time lead of 23-17.

Wayne maintained its six point lead for a couple of minutes but Stanton rallied to cut the deficit to one point, 29-28 after three quarters. Wayne's Tammie Thomas fouled out in the third quarter.

The Fillies tied the game at 29-29 with 6:15 left in the fourth period. Lisa Flood and Jenny Beeson hit from the floor. Jenni DeTurk did most of Wayne's damage in the second half.

The game was actually decided at the free throw line where Stanton hit 12 of 20 shots compared to 3 of 7 for Wayne. Only one Stanton player hit less than 50 percent from the free throw line.

Stanton pulled ahead and held on for a 38-35 win. Leading scorers for Wayne were Surber with 14 and DeTurk with 10. Tammie Murray added four points. Missy Stollenberg was the leading rebounder with 12 rebounds. Deb Prenger pulled down six rebounds.

Randy's Recap

According to Randy Hascall

BY THE TIME subscribers to The Wayne Herald read this column, the Wayne State Holiday Tournament will probably be over.

Because of Thursday's holiday, we went to press a day early this week (Tuesday instead of Wednesday) so subscribers would get their paper in the mail before the post office is closed.

Unfortunately, the WSC Tourney was played on Monday and Tuesday. It was possible to get Monday's results in this week's paper but obviously not Tuesday's.

The other bad news is that we won't have a weekend paper so basketball fans will have to wait for next week's paper to read about the games in the finals and consolation finals.

I think most of the Wayne Second Guessers and other people who donated their time to help with the tourney got their fill of basketball for awhile. Action began at 11 a.m. Monday and didn't get over until nearly 11 p.m. Tuesday's action followed a similar schedule.

The crowd for Monday night's game between Wayne State and Nebraska Wesleyan was a good one. The stands were nearly full and a fine performance by Wayne State in the second half kept everyone entertained.

The best was saved for last as Laurel and Lyons battled through three overtimes in boys' first round action.

WINSIDE ATHLETIC DIRECTOR Jim Winch is at it again. After compiling detailed statistics of the football season for the Lewis and Clark Conference, Winch has turned his attention to basketball.

A stack of statistics of the L & C teams was found on my desk Friday afternoon when I returned from a couple days of Christmas vacation.

Because I've been busy writing up Monday's Holiday Tournament games for Tuesday's paper, I don't have enough time to include a complete story in this paper. However, I would like to mention some of the area standouts in the Lewis and Clark Conference.

First the boys division:

Jeff Hallstrom of 4-2 Wakefield is listed as the second leading scorer in the conference with an average of 18.17 points per game. Hallstrom is also the fourth leading field goal shooter with an average of nearly 57 percent.

In the rebounding department, Jim Kraljick of Winside is listed fifth with an average of 12 rebounds per game. Brent Kahl of Wakefield and Byron Schellenberg of Winside rank among the leaders in assists. Kahl is averaging 3.33 assists a game and Schellenberg is averaging 3 per game.

In team statistics, Wakefield ranks third in scoring with an average of 56 points a game. The Trojans place second in field goal percentage at 44.85 percent and are fourth in free throw percentage at 60.

Now the girls division:

Laurie Gallop of Winside is ranked eighth among the scoring leaders with an average of 12 points a game. Gallop and Winch are both listed in the top eight of field goal percentage with totals of 46.51 percent and 48 percent respectively.

Statistics from Allen are not listed in either the girls or boys divisions.

Joan Miller of Wakefield is the fifth leading rebounder in the Lewis and Clark Conference with an average of 13.8 rebounds a game. Gallop is right behind with an average of 12.75.

In the free throw department, Winch is listed third with 66.67 percent accuracy. Tammie Thomas is eighth with a percentage of 58.33. Winch ranks second in assists with an average of 3.75 assists per game.

Miller of Wakefield and Penny Smith of Golderidge share the record in most free throws made in one game this season with 10 each.

Team statistics show that Wakefield had most free throws made by a team in one game. The Trojans hit 20 shots against Wausa.

Winside ranks third in scoring allowed, giving up an average of 37.75 points per game. The Wildcats are the leading defensive team statistically.

REGG SWANSON, former athletic trainer at Wayne State College, will get to see a little bit more of the world soon. I was informed that he will soon be journeying to New Zealand with the AAU Swim Team.

A Glance at 1980

The census roundup got under way with Marie Hagemann as the local census taker.

THE CITY began plans to develop short- and long-range plans for its electrical system, with DeWitt, Grant, Recker & Associates as the engineers. Lyle Backstrom, 17, a junior at Wayne-Carroll High School, was killed in a traffic accident southeast of Wayne. The Wayne Herald won four awards at the annual Nebraska Better Newspaper Contest. J. Alan Cramer, Herald publisher, won the annual Master Editor/Publisher Award at the Nebraska Press Association banquet in Lincoln. The State College board of trustees approved a 7 percent raise for faculty members and professors at Wayne State. Peru, Chadron and Kearney State Colleges.

MAY SEVERAL AREA vocal and instrumental students received outstanding ratings at the annual District III Music Competition at Wayne State. Students from Wayne, Allen, Winside, Wakefield and Laurel Concord were included. The City Council pledged a cut in property taxes if the city sales tax is approved. Outstanding Senior in Vocal Music Award went to Penny James at Wayne-Carroll High and the John Phillip Sousa Band Award went to Randy Fleer. The honors, along with several other music awards to other music students, were bestowed at the annual music banquet. The Council voted not to support reactivation of the Mid Elkhorn Valley Council of Governments. The decision was made when Mayor Wayne Marsh broke a split Council, with his vote.

THE COUNCIL approved an ordinance authorizing the city to begin negotiations with Laurel on use of Wayne's transfer station. Carol Brown was honored as the Chamber of Commerce Mother of the Year after her daughter, Cindy, submitted the winning entry.

Wayne and Allen voters overwhelmingly said no to proposed tax issues. Wayne said no to a 1 percent city sales tax to help avert a projected deficit, and Allen said no to drastic cuts in the school's budget.

Gerald Conway and Merle Von Minden emerged from five candidates as the top vote getters in the Primary Election for District 17 State Senate. Von Minden placed behind Conway only after a recount of the vote with challenger Edwin Fahrenholz.

THE WAYNE Carroll board of education began considering the elimination of baseball and golf to help ease a financial crunch within the school district. Net taxable retail sales fell behind the same period of a year ago, down 7 percent. David Wiener, Bob Liska and John Carhart were inducted as Eagle Scouts.

It was announced the state's first "Nebraska 2000" meeting would be held here. The event is the Governor's long range planning tool for use by future legislatures. Natasha Brooke Kardell adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Kardell of Laurel, was nationalized as an American citizen.

THE CHAMBER of Commerce Birthday Bucks was ended after six years and $13,000 in give away of bonus bucks. The Council voted a massive removal of stop signs after an extensive traffic study. The move was to bring numerous complaints, and several stop signs were reinstalled as a result. The Council approved issuance of a contract with the city of Laurel for Laurel's use of Wayne's transfer station.

JUNE Opening of the Wayne Municipal Swimming Pool was delayed because of several leaks. Dick Stoltenberg was named administrator of the Wayne Care Center, replacing Tim BOYLE. An increase in rabies reports spurred a warning by local veterinarians and doctors.

Swimming pool fees were hiked and out-of-town patrons were charged for the first time in recent memory. The move caused considerable consternation among pool users.

The Cal Ward home was destroyed by fire. The Wards were not home, but a resident of the basement apartment — Patty Sullens — escaped only in her underclothes, suffering some smoke inhalation.

THE FIRE Department rescue equipment box and chassis were in operation, but the fund drive was still about $4,000 short.

The Wayne-Carroll board of education voted to eliminate baseball but hedged on golf. The golf decision was postponed.

Teacher salary negotiations stalled, and a stalemate was declared. Provisions for choosing a fact finding committee were begun.

The local economy for February improved some, increasing to just 6 of a percent ahead of the same period of a year ago.

Ed Elliott was named vice president of Wayne State College under a new administrative structure.

A MANUFACTURING firm that had been considering Wayne as a location for a plant decided to pull in its horns due to the economic situation. LCN Closures of Princeton, Ill. decided to wait until the economy improves.

Robert Bierschenck of Randolph was killed in a traffic accident west of Wayne on U.S. 35.

Cablevision rates were increased and Home Box Office was promised by fall.

Local head shop owner Dennis Robinson said he will battle the new state ban on bong law. Robinson subsequently received considerable pressure to close his business which also included sale of records, tapes, magazines, etc.

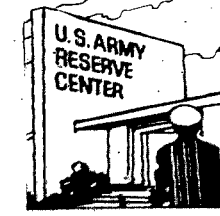

(The rest of the year in next week's Wayne Herald.)

Dads Helpers
Dads Helpers 4-H Club met Dec. 15 at the Northeast Station near Concord for a potluck supper for members and their families. Twenty-two members and 28 visitors were present. Seven members received perfect attendance awards. Leaders are Mr. and Mrs. Arden Olson. Games were played and a gift exchange followed. Next meeting will be Feb. 16 at 8 p.m. at the Northeast Station.

Regional Center Closing May Be Up to Legislature

CAPITOL NEWS
By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

It looks like a proposal to close the Norfolk Regional Center, a plan that angered several senators months ago, is going to come before the Nebraska Legislature in 1981.

Sen. Sam Cullan of Hemingford said he would offer such legislation by himself if his Public Health and Welfare Committee decides against recommending introduction of a bill to close the mental health facility.

The committee did decide during a recent meeting, however, to recommend statewide coordination of mental health services in Nebraska.

The issue was raised when an independent consultant concluded that various aspects of mental health services in Nebraska "don't even talk the same language."
Consultant Jackie Bailey proposed having a single state agency administer community mental health programs and Nebraska's mental health hospitals. Coordination seemed to be at the heart of her report.

Ms. Bailey offered various proposals, including one that would place the 11 community-controlled mental health programs in Nebraska under the state Department of Public Institutions.

Committee members seemed to like the idea, and indicated support for her proposal. Ms. Bailey noted that community programs currently are administered by individual governing boards. But under her plan, DPI would develop a coordinated system for mental health programs in Nebraska.

By having statewide coordination of community health programs and state hospitals, the needs of patients would be better met, Ms. Bailey said.

"Under the ultimate ideal system, the Legislature should broaden the authority of DPI to (allow it to) determine what facilities should be open and closed," she said.

Ms. Bailey's report also recommended closure of the Norfolk Regional Center, which she estimated would save the state between $500,000 and $3.5 million annually.

Several committee members said the "other side" should be given an opportunity to tell its side of the story before any committee decision is made on whether to introduce legislation.

It should be noted that any action or position taken by the committee in effect would be only advisory. Technically, the current committee will cease to exist at the end of this year. A new panel will be formed when the Legislature reorganizes in January.

In the meantime, the comprehensive report on mental health services will be closely scrutinized by interested parties, especially the lawmakers who plan to serve on the Public Health and Welfare Committee next year.

Regardless of what is ultimately proposed in 1981, if anything, it likely will generate considerable discussion. Some senators, especially those with a vested interest in the fate of the Norfolk Regional Center, still appear to be smarting over the way DPI handled its "surprise" announcement earlier this year that it planned to close the facility.

Although DPI backed off of its specific closure plan at the advice of the attorney general, steps nonetheless have been taken to reduce staff and transfer patients.

Some senators object to what they see as an indirect approach to closure by leaving the Legislature with nothing but a "shell" when it considers the issue in 1981. They object to the way things have been handled by state officials, and chances are they won't let the 1981 session get by without voicing their discontent.

DeCamp is challenged

Sen. Bill Barrett, a Lexington businessman and former state Republican chairman, apparently has decided to take on Neligh Sen. John DeCamp in 1981.

Barrett, who earlier hinted at his possible bid for chairmanship of the Unicameral's Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee, has finally decided to run. Barrett recently announced his intention to challenge DeCamp for the post that the Neligh lawmaker has held since 1976.

Barrett says he has advised his colleagues in writing that he would like their support in his attempt to unseat DeCamp. Already, he says he has support from industry leaders, a wide range of constituents and other state senators.

The Lexington businessman has credentials to back his candidacy. He came to the Legislature with experience in insurance, real estate and banking. He's a director of Farmers State Bank and Trust of Lexington.

DeCamp also has experience and interests in each of the types of businesses named in his committee's title — banking, commerce and insurance.

In the end, all members of the 1981 Legislature will determine the fate of the Banking Committee chairmanship, as well as other key committee posts, including chair of the important public health and Welfare Committee.

Sen. Sam Cullan of Hemingford, 1980 Public Health Committee chairman, recently announced his decision to seek re-election to head the panel.

Veteran lawmakers have said Cullan has proven himself to be an able debater, chairman and legislator. At this writing, many legislative observers believe Cullan is in a position to regain his chairmanship.

But the fate of other chairmanships, including that of the Banking Committee, appear less certain. What is certain, however, is that the opening days of the 1981 session, when leadership positions are filled, will offer an interesting mix of politicking, maneuvering, vote-trading and spirited organizing.

Onward and Upward

Another year in Wayne County is now history, chronicled on newsprint and recorded on tape. For better or for worse, the events are behind us.

Countians witnessed an economy that ushered in the year on an even keel, peaked in the early spring and plummeted to embarrassingly low levels. But nowhere was there a cry of abandon ship. Farmers, businessmen and residents tightened their belts and moved ahead undaunted by threats of record level interest rates.

The city faced seemingly insurmountable financial difficulty. Voters said no to a city sales tax that officials promised would help reduce property taxes. Experts projected deficits of nearly $200,000 and little relief in the year to come. The city suddenly found that its entire water system needed reconstructed, its electrical system needed a new direction, its wells were running dry and its sewage system fell short of federal regulations. Even with a change in personnel, the Council lowered its shoulders and moved confidently ahead.

Wayne State College, caught up in the same financial mess as the rest of us, was forced to curtail some of its athletic programs. It, too, trimmed costs, cut corners and took on a program of fiscal austerity to meet the economy of the 1980's. After the shock wore off, business returned as usual on campus.

Wayne Carroll School District found itself in need of funds, as well. As a result, the board of education trimmed its extra curricular activity offerings by eliminating financial sponsorship of baseball. Several other avenues were followed in cutting costs. Now with two new members, the board is tackling other similar problems.

Problems were not confined just to Wayne County and its communities. Allen Consolidated School had its share of controversy, heartache and headache as well. Its principal was fired and the subsequent public hearing and lawsuit dragged on for months, splitting the community like a rail. On its heels came a lid bill petition which caused even further strife among patrons, bringing further lost friendships and headache. But, again, residents and officials picked up the pieces, tossed them into a basket and mended fences as they set their sights on the future.

But in all of this "bad news" there was good. Iowa Gov. Robert Ray once commended the state's residents for their resiliency after a major setback. The same can be said for residents of this county and surrounding area.

Despite setbacks that might cripple communities of lesser quality, life moved along here confidently and assuredly. School district patrons, community residents and officials have exemplified the Midwestern spirit of fighting back. Though the odds may not be favorable, the spirit and desire for a good quality of life live on.

1981 looks to be just as challenging as 1980. We're confident that all of us will continue the battle. Dan Field, Editor

Season's Meaning Is Give to Others: Thone

Both the Christian celebration of Christmas and the Jewish observance of Hanukkah occur in December and have a tradition of gift giving.

But both religions stress not only giving to friends and family but also sharing with those less fortunate.

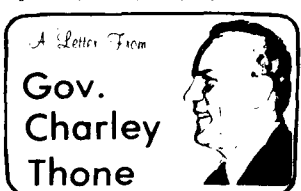

In the third chapter of the Old Testament, Leviticus, the commandment is given to "Love thy neighbor as thyself." And the Book of Proverbs states "He that hath pity upon the poor lendeth unto the Lord."

Similar messages are found throughout the New Testament. In the Book of Matthew are these words of Jesus: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

In today's society, government has a role to play in helping the unfortunate. In my opinion, anything that the government does to help the disadvantaged does not relieve the individual from his, or her, obligation to "Be thy brother's keeper."

Individual help, church related efforts and private charitable organizations have been more successful in helping the unfortunate to get back on their feet than have been the many governmental programs. In my judgment, "We as individuals need to remind ourselves that providing a Christmas meal or toys, however commendable, is not a means by which we can contribute to helping to escape from poverty.

"In this season for the spirit of giving, I'm hopeful that thousands of Nebraskans will dedicate themselves to doing more as individuals and more through nongovernmental agencies to give a hand to those who want to become self-sufficient. Such dedication would be in the spirit of Christmas and would do much to make 1981 a happy new year."

REJOICE!... THE TRADITIONAL LAME DUCK MIGRATION IS UPON US!

To the Citizens of Wayne:
Congratulations to the citizens of the city of Wayne who put forth the effort that brought special recognition to your city under the Nebraska Community Improvement Program.

You should be very proud as one of only twenty-three communities in Nebraska to be named an All-Nebraska Community. Almost half of those awards were earned by cities in the First Congressional District.

Again, please accept my personal best wishes and keep up the good work as this program enters its 18th year.

Sincerely,
Douglas Bereuter
Member of Congress

Farm Credit and Interest Costs Uncertain

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
By M.M. Van Kirk
Director of Information

The availability of credit for U.S. farmers and ranchers and the interest cost of that borrowing poses a great question mark in 1981 and beyond for the nation's farm economy.

With the prime interest rate soaring in recent weeks back to the 20 percent levels of last spring, farmers, ranchers and feeders are fearful of the "credit crunch" which plagued them earlier. One relieving factor is that spring planting expenses are still months away and interest rates and money supplies could be more stable and predictable by next March and April.

John E. Lee, director of the USDA's National Economic Division, at a recent symposium sponsored by the Federal Reserve Bank, said that farmers have become "heavily addicted" to relatively cheap and abundant money supplies since early in this century when federal financial aid programs first were started.

Lee said farm debts are about $158 billion this year and could be between $500 billion and $600 billion by 1990. He stated that farmers now "plop back" virtually none of their savings into their business, and in addition, increasing numbers of farmers are putting their money other places where it earns higher interest, which leaves the small rural banks in a bind. He added, "Some may go the way of small family farms."

Dale Stansbury, Food and Agriculture director for the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges, disagreed somewhat. He said that small rural banks will still be around but that they may have to stick to funding other community enterprises and leave agricultural lending to bigger city or regional institutions.

USDA statisticians have noted this past season that higher prices of energy based inputs such as fuels and fertilizer have hit farmers hard and that the interest on financing such inputs represents about 10 percent of their production costs.

Some economists see persistent credit availability problems ahead. Rising input prices, especially for energy, will continue to hold down net farm income and land prices will remain high, they predict. They say that interest rates may be hard to reduce much as long as the general economy is plagued with high inflation.

A recent article in the Drovers' Journal dramatized the effect of interest rates on production costs and income as follows:

"Consider the person who wants to buy feeder cattle. To buy one calf, weighing 600 pounds at $75 per cwt., the outlay will be $450. The cost of borrowing this $450 will vary according to the interest rate.

"At 12 percent interest per year, the cost to carry this calf will be $4.50 per month. At 20 percent, the cost will be $7.50 per month."
An accompanying chart provided added figures. On stock cows at $550 per head, the interest costs would be $5.50 per month at 12 percent and $9.17 per month at 20 percent. On feeder pigs at $41 per head, the interest cost would run at 41 cents per month at the 12 percent rate and 68 cents per month at the 20 percent rate. On corn at $3.40 per bushel, the monthly interest cost at 12 percent would be three cents per month but at 20 percent, the cost would double to six cents.

USDA economists point out that farmers with a large equity base — and those less dependent on purchased inputs — are faring best. Hurting most are the recent entrants into farming and ranching who have relatively higher capital costs for purchases of land, breeding stock, machinery and buildings. Most have a low equity base and require financing on a larger proportion of operating expenses.

But farm economists are quick to note that even well-established, larger operations, more likely to be heavily financed and less likely to have off-farm income, are feeling the credit pinch too.

Profits Should Return to Cattle

Profits will return to cattle feeding in 1981, not to the degree that feeders realized in 1978-79, but much better than in 1980 when they lost money.

Producers can't expect cattle prices to move up much until the second period of 1981, but a bright spot in the picture is that interest rates will moderate in 1981 — even though they probably won't drop below 12 percent.

These are the views of Larry Jones, an economist with Chase Econometrics of Philadelphia, Pa. He will be a speaker at the Nebraska Cattle Feeders' seminar "Money and Meat," scheduled for Jan. 6 at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education in Lincoln. The seminar is sponsored by the Nebraska Feedlot Council of the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association and the Animal Science Department in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources (IANR), University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The Tuesday, Jan. 6 session will feature a session on how the FDA policy on additives, antibiotics and implants will affect feedlots in the future. Addressing that topic will be Les Crawford, former director of the Bureau of Veterinary Medicine with the FDA in Washington, D.C. Also featured that day is a discussion on the potential value of changing beef grades with John Francis, of the National Livestock and Meat Board. Ray Brokken, an agricultural economist with the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Corvallis, Ore., will discuss how cattle will be fed in the future.

Brokken is co-author of a publication released in August, 1980, which reported on a study and analysis undertaken in response to a request by Congress to investigate the possibility of reducing feeding periods and market weights of beef cattle. The study looked at six alternative beef production systems that varied the time that animals were placed in the feedlot; their slaughter weights were analyzed at various levels of grain and forage prices.

Harold Cohen, president of Pawnee Beefbuilder of Larned, Kan., will talk about management strategy for operating a large feedlot. His talk will wind up the afternoon session on the first day.

The second day will include an update on implanting programs with Paul Guyer, IANR extension beef specialist. Stan Farlin, IANR beef nutritionist, will discuss feeding wet distillers grains, an alcohol byproduct. Gary Kuhl of Kansas State University will then discuss control of external parasites, including scabies, by injection.

Preston Hollis of Lawrence

Systems, Inc. of Amarillo, Texas, will talk about warehousing — its purpose and procedures, monitoring of collateral, inspection and audit procedures and collateral reports to the bank and borrower.

Chuck Harmon of American Agricultural Credit Corp. of Aurora, Colo., will discuss how to finance the cattle feeder, to wind up the morning session.

The afternoon session will feature a look at the cattle market through 1981 by Allen Wellman, IANR agricultural economist. The last speaker of the afternoon will be Larry Jones.

Kubik Receives Honor

DON KUBIK, district extension dairy specialist in the University of Nebraska Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources (right) received an Excellence in Extension Programming Award at a luncheon Tuesday, Dec. 16 from Dr. Leo Lucas, Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service dean and director. Kubik, whose offices are at the NU Northeast Station, Concord, was cited for his efforts in a comprehensive educational program aimed at controlling mastitis, one of the most stubborn and costly diseases of dairy cattle.

Integrated Program Could Reduce Weeds

An integrated weed control program would help control many problem weeds, including those that develop with reduced tillage systems.

Dr. Alex Martin, an extension weed control specialist with the University of Nebraska Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, cited this principle at a recent Ag Chemical Research Seminar in Lincoln. The program was held to inform ag chemical representatives and dealers of NU plant science research findings.

Weed control can become more of a problem for farmers shifting to reduced tillage because mechanical weed control systems are reduced or eliminated, Martin said.

Most weed control practices of the past, including herbicides, were developed under conventional tillage systems. With reduced tillage, we have to start looking for different methods that will work with that system," he said.

Our problem that increases with reduced tillage is perennial weeds, Martin said that conventional tillage operations helped control perennial weeds, but new control methods will be required to control these weeds under reduced tillage.

Researchers have found three techniques that offer potential for improved weed control. These involve the use of safeners, extenders and plant growth regulators with herbicides.

According to Martin, a safener is a chemical that is used to protect a crop from harmful effects of herbicide. A safener could be used in developing new herbicides or in expanding the use of existing herbicides to new crops.

The objective of extenders is to prolong the period during which the herbicide is effective, Martin said that this could increase the normal period of herbicide effectiveness from about four weeks to six or seven weeks.

The plant growth regulator, a compound which modifies plant growth, could be used to change the growth pattern of a weed, Martin noted that its effect could be twofold.

With perennial weeds, a growth regulator which permanently enforces root bud dormancy would prevent reproduction from their roots, thereby aiding control. But dormancy of perennial weeds causes reduced herbicide absorption and reduced control. Another growth regulator use could be to break bud dormancy, resulting in increased herbicide absorption and improved weed control.

Seed dormancy also leads to weed control problems. The reason some weeds are so difficult to eliminate is because the seeds lie dormant in the field for years without germinating. Dormant weed seeds are unaffected by herbicides, but until this dormancy is broken and the seeds germinate, the plant is protected from control efforts.

Seed dormancy is a major factor in velvetleaf control. Martin described the velvetleaf as a broadleaf weed that occurs mainly in row crops and is a problem in the eastern half of the state.

Velvetleaf has a large seed which can germinate from at least two inches below the soil surface. Because of this germination at a greater depth, herbicides applied to the soil surface are only partially effective against velvetleaf. He added that velvetleaf seed dormancy makes it a long lasting problem once it becomes established.

"Velvetleaf has been increasing because farmers are reluctant to change their weed control practices. Most stay with a weed control program that controls most of the weeds but misses others, including velvetleaf," he said.

Martin said the increase in this weed population indicates that farmers should consider changing their control program.

Relying on only one herbicide has started to make control of shattercane difficult too, he said.

"A few years ago we noticed a decline in shattercane control with Eradican. We discovered that on some soils where the herbicide had been used year after year, it lost its effectiveness," Martin said.

Further research indicated that a process in the soil was reducing the herbicide's effectiveness, but only on soil where the herbicide had been used for several years. He said this is one of few cases where rapid herbicide breakdown in the soil after repeated use has led to reduced weed control.

"We recommend that farmers rotate crops and use different herbicides to offset the problem. Extenders might restore some activity of the herbicide on the problem areas, but this concept is still in the research phase."

"Problems with shattercane and velvetleaf should point out the importance of not relying on one method or one herbicide to control weeds. Cases have developed where weeds have become resistant to the herbicide after years of application.

"Hopefully, this will give farmers a reason to switch their present weed control methods to more effective programs, involving cultural, chemical and mechanical weed control," he said.

Hog Numbers Down From 1979

Nebraska pork producers had an estimated 3.9 million hogs and pigs on hand Dec. 1, down 6 percent from a year ago. Hogs and pigs kept for breeding totaled 545,000, which was 3 percent below last year. Market hogs, at 3.36 million, were down 7 percent from a year ago. Market hogs by weight groups were as follows:

Under 60 pounds — 1,410,000 — down 1 percent; 60-119 pounds —

795,000 — down 15 percent; 120-179 pounds — 630,000 — down 12 percent; 180 pounds and over — 520,000 — unchanged.

During the September-October quarter, 215,000 sows produced a pig crop of 1.60 million pigs, down 7 percent from a year ago but 5 percent above two years earlier.

Nebraska pork producers plan to have 180,000 sows farrow during the December, 1980-February, 1981 quarter, down 10 percent from last year and 8 percent below two years ago. During the March-May quarter, they intend to have 240,000 sows farrow, down 4 percent from a year ago and 13 percent below two years ago. For the next six-month period, intended farrowings are 7 percent lower than a year ago.

Estrus in Sows Important

Sows should return to estrus within about six days following weaning. Those that don't exhibit estrus within as normal time period reduce production efficiency in the swine herd.

Duane E. Reese, graduate assistant in animal science in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, and Bobby Moser, IANR associate professor of swine nutrition, have obtained research results on "Energy During Lactation — Key to Rapid Return to Estrus." This and other topics will be presented during University of Nebraska Area Swine Days, to be held across Nebraska in January.

The four sessions will be held as follows: Jan. 20 — New Exhibit Building, Chase County Fairgrounds, Imperial; Jan. 21 — Midtown Holiday Inn, Grand Island; Jan. 22 — Legion Hall, Emerson; and Jan. 23 — Gage County 4-H Building, Beatrice.

Reese and Moser found in research at NU that several factors may be involved with delayed return to estrus. Energy intake of the sow may be one of the contributing factors. Results indicate that sows consuming a low energy diet during lactation weighed less and had less backfat at weaning than sows fed the high energy diet. Sows fed the low energy diet also weaned smaller and fewer pigs than sows fed the high energy diets.

Through four days after weaning, 67 percent of sows fed the high energy diet were in estrus compared to only eight percent of sows fed the low energy diet. A higher percentage of sows fed the high energy diet were also in estrus through six and eight days following weaning. At 14 days after weaning, 98 percent of the high-energy-diet sows were in estrus compared to 73 percent of the low-energy-diet sows.

Conservation Tillage Set

Four farmers from Iowa and Nebraska will tell how they do conservation tillage and describe the kind of equipment they use at the Tri State Conservation Tillage Conference on Thursday, Jan. 22, at the Marina Inn in South Sioux City.

Loren Schuett, Holstein, Iowa, will discuss his 10 years of experience with his Buffalo till and slot planters.

Paul Culbertson, Dakota City, has used conservation tillage since 1965. Culbertson uses an International planter with sweeps and has modified it with a special runner and press wheel.

Jim Offer, Walthill, has 12 years experience on 1,100 acres of corn and soybeans with a modified ten row International air planter that flexes in the center.

Marvin Vennick, Manilla, Iowa, uses several methods of seedbed preparations for conservation tillage and plants with a John Deere Max Emerge planter with fluted couler.

Other speakers on the daylong program include Extension and Research Specialists from Minnesota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa on soil compaction, weed control, energy conservation and the economics of conservation tillage.

Tickets are available at $5 each from local Soil Conservation Service and County Extension Offices in the Tri-State area.

Extension programs are available to all people regardless of race, color, sex or national origin. Anyone who feels discriminated against should send a complaint within 180 days to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Firemen Called to Emry Farm

Allen Waterbury volunteer firemen were called to the Norris Emry farm about 5:30 p.m. Christmas Day where a shed near the house and garage was burning. The shed was lost in the fire, however, firemen were able to prevent it from spreading. The fire is believed to have started from sparks in a nearby trash barrel.

Drawing Winners
Winners of the Security State Bank cash Christmas drawings were Robert Heckathorn, Irene Armour, Mary Ann Frerichs and George Sullivan Jr. The Cash Store also had cash drawings and winners were Jay Mattes, Loretta Jackson, Elizabeth Anderson, Francis Mattes, Linn Mattes, Cindy Chase, Jerry Schwartz, Kent Chase, Bud Black and Myrna Roebber.

Winners of a drawing at the Country Girl Dress and Bridal Salon were Joe Gill of Jackson, Arlene Schultz of Ponca, Pearl Walsh of Waterbury, Nancy Ellis of Allen, Mrs. D. F. Schorthinghus of Indianapolis, and Mrs. Al Walsh of Ponca.

Christmas Coffee
JoAnn Rahn, director of the Allen Senior Citizens Housing Project, held a Christmas coffee in the social room last week. Attending were Everett Carr, Alice Krause, Alta Holmes, Onie Gotch, Faye Geiger, Mabel Mitchell and Violet Foulks. Residents unable to attend were Bill Glese and Katherine Haglund. Vincent Richards of Ponca moved into a unit Dec 24.

Christmas Guests
Christmas Day guests in the Noe-Shorff home were Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Striyens, O'Neill, Marcella Shorff, Lincoln, Steve Shorff, Norfolk, the Marvin Greens, and Victor, the Arvin Noes and Andy and Megan of Downs, Ill., the Kenneth Hamms and Gwin of Fremont, and the Oliver Noes of Dixon.

Christmas Day guests in the Ken Linafelter home were the Fay Isoms, Sioux City, Ella Isom, the Walter Hales, Merrill Hale of Wayne, and Maggie Otto of Norfolk.

Ardith Linafelter spent Christmas with the Wendell Roths and daughters, Sioux City. Christmas Day guests in the Gaylen Jackson home were the Dale Jackson family, the Larry Boswell family, the Jim Staple family and Kim Jackson of Kearney and Mrs. Faye Geiger.

Christmas Eve guests of the Matt Stapletons and John were the Dale Jackson family, the Jim Stapleton family and June Stapleton of Brackettville, Texas.

The Bill Snyders were guests last Tuesday evening of the Larry Williams in South Sioux City for a pre-Christmas supper.

The Oscar Koesters spent the Christmas weekend with their children and families, the Norman Koesters of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Mrs. Janet Ellis of Papillion.

The Randall Bentons, Ainsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Jones, Joy, Steven and Candace, and Marty Benton, Dakota City, were Christmas Day supper guests of the Chester Bentons.

The Ernest Starks were Christmas Day guests in the LeRoy Stark home, South Sioux City. Other guests were the Monie Lundahls of Wakefield and the Kelly Schneider family of Waco, Texas.

Christmas Day guests of the Bud Mitchells and Bob were the Albert Potters, Omaha, the Jim Mitchells, Dennis Mitchell, Kathy Zielke and Adeline Sieger, all of Wayne, the Gary Mitchells, Dennis, Merrie and Angie, Wakefield, the Duane Mitchells, Jamie, Jason and Amanda, and Mrs. Mabel Mitchell.

Christmas supper guests of the Paul Koesters were the Gene Lundins, Jeff McAfee, the Stan McAfees and Tiffany, the Scott McAfees, Lincoln, the Duane Koesters, the Lindy Koesters, Joan Koester, Central City, Dan Koester, Doug Koester, Lincoln, the Larry Koesters, Bobby and Stacey, the Greg Busses, Lincoln, and the Jim Koesters, York.

Christmas Eve guests of the Ken Linafelters and Robb were the Bill Snyders and Paul, the Bill Klers, Joy Kjer and Susan Kjer of Lincoln, Brian Linafelter of South Sioux City, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Williams, Des and Shelly, and Janet Peterson.

Weekend guests of the Clarence Emrys were their grandchildren, Bob Kraemer and Diane Kraemer of Menomoni, Wis., and the Dave Kraemers of Rhode Island. They also visited other relatives in the area.

Wayne County Shows Reversal Of Population Gain of 1960's

Preliminary 1980 census figures indicate that the third fastest growing county in Nebraska is located in Northeast Nebraska.

Dakota County's population increased by 25.9 percent from 1970 to 1980 — a growth rate surpassed only by Box Butte (35.6 percent) and Sarpy (28.3 percent) counties.

According to Anne Raiston, research associate at the College of Business Administration's Bureau of Business Research, University of Nebraska Lincoln, preliminary 1980 census counts released by the U.S. Bureau of the Census revealed that during the 1970-1980 interval counties in Northeast Nebraska more than regained the population loss which occurred during the 1960's. While counties in Northeast Nebraska registered a loss of 1,745 people from 1960-1970 (a loss of 9 percent), during the 1970's the sixteen counties in this area gained 6,623 people (an increase of 3.6 percent).

Since 1970, six of the 16 counties in Northeast Nebraska increased in population, compared to only four counties having shown growth from 1960 to 1970. Four of the counties in this area that registered an increase in population for the decade, 1970-1980 grew faster than the state's 5.3 percent rate of growth during this period. These are Dakota (25.9 percent), Madison (14.7 percent), Stanton (13.4 percent) and Platte (8.7 percent). Other counties in this area which grew during the 1970's are Colfax (3.9 percent) and Thurston (3.6 percent).

While the 1970-1980 growth rate for Dakota and Madison counties was higher than the growth recorded for the 1960's decade, Platte County's growth for the 1970-1980 interval is less than the 10.6 percent increase recorded for 1960-1970. The growth in Colfax, Stanton and Thurston counties represents a significant reversal of the population decline recorded for these counties during the 1960's. The increase in population recorded for Madison and Stanton counties reflects the rapid growth in Norfolk, which grew 16.4 percent from 1970 to 1980.

Population declines from 1970 to 1980 occurred for 10 North eastern Nebraska counties. Nine of these counties — Antelope, Boone, Burl, Cedar, Cuming, Dixon, Knox, Nance and Pierce — recorded decreasing rates of decline for the 1970's in comparison to the losses which occurred for the 1960-1970 decade. Even though these counties are losing population they are exhibiting a slower rate of decline which indicates increasing population stability.

One county in the Northeast area — Wayne — recorded a 6.7 percent decrease in population for the 1970-1980 decade representing a reversal of the population gain (4.4 percent) recorded during the 1960's.

Winside Lists School Activities

Winside School District has announced several activities for January, including the following:

On Jan. 5, seniors and their parents are invited to attend a post high school planning night.

The meeting is designed to answer questions about figuring costs, scholarships applications and the financial assistance programs available.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. in Room 203.

A general meeting of the Fine Arts Booster Club will be held at 8 p.m. Jan. 5 at the high school.

Beginning Jan. 15, the school bus routes will reverse directions. Students now getting on first and getting off first will then be last on and last off and vice versa.

An adult ceramics class is being considered by the Winside School District. If there is a class, it will be held 10 consecutive weeks and would have a minimum of 17 people in the class.

Those interested in participating should call Norma Brockmoller at 286-4466 by Jan. 9. Enrollment will be limited to persons other than high school students.

In other scheduled events, the board of education will meet at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 8.

Scattered Neighbors Club Meets for Christmas Dinner

The Scattered Neighbors Club met Dec. 17 for a 12:30 p.m. no-host Christmas dinner in the home of Mrs. Arland Aurich.

Next meeting will be Jan. 21 with Mrs. Lyle Krueger. Mrs. Herb Jaeger will have the lesson on handicrafts.

Musical Program

Winside school students presented a Christmas musical program Dec. 22 in the elementary multi-purpose room.

The Girls Glee sang "On Come, Oh Come Emmanuel" as they entered the room carrying lighted candles. Steve Morse sang "Holy Night."

"Christmas Lullaby of Joy" and "Sleigh Ride" were sung by the Girls Glee. The Boys Glee sang two selections, entitled "Twelve Days of Christmas" and "Were You There On That Night?"

The combined chorus sang "Do You Hear What I Hear?" and "He Is Here." Kelly Leighton sang "Christmas Morn."

The program also included selections by the swing choir, entitled "Night of All Nights" and "Have a Merry Merry Christmas." Angela Thies sang "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town." The stage band played "Disco Christmas."

The Girls Trio, comprised of Sue Meterhenry, Darla Janke and Tammy Thomas, sang "Winter Wonderland." Judy Bauermeister sang "White Christmas," and Becky Westerhaus sang "No Room"

The band played several selections and closed the program by playing "Tribute of Carols," with the chorus and audience joining in singing.

Instrumental instructor is Curtis Jeffries and vocal instructor is Coleen Jeffries. Becky Westerhaus, Steve Morse and Coleen Jeffries accompanied the singers.

The Fine Arts Boosters held a bake sale following the program.

Turkey Winners

Winners of a turkey drawing sponsored by the Winside Community Club Dec. 20 were Dick Munter, Jack Luft, Bruce Wylie, Elmer Nielsen and Swede Kalin.

Candlelight Service

A candlelight service was held Christmas Eve at the Trinity Lutheran Church and included scripture reading and hymn singing preceding the sermon.

A candlelight ceremony followed the congregation sang "Silent Night" and Pastor DuBois had prayer and the benediction.

The singing of "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" closed the service.

Dedicate Sound System

The Trinity Lutheran Church had dedication of a new sound system during worship services Dec. 21. The Rev. Lon DuBois is pastor of the church.

The sound system was made possible through memorial gifts and other monetary donations. LeRoy Petersen, Mickey Topp, Ron Hansen and Leonard Anderson installed the new system.

Christmas Guests

The Milton Johnsons and Lisa of Norfolk, Mrs. Edna Dangberg, Mrs. LeRoy Topp and Dustin of Pilger, and Rhonda Topp of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln were Friday afternoon guests in the Mildred Dangberg home.

The Russell Hoffmanns hosted a pre-Christmas dinner Dec. 21 in their home. The dinner also was to observe the 85th birthday of Mrs. Herman Jaeger. SSI Now Taking Some Food Stamp Applications

Social Security Offices are now taking food stamp applications for certain people. Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk, said recently.

Included are persons who are receiving or applying for benefits under the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) Program, provided they live in a household where everyone else is either receiving or applying for SSI. People not in this category should apply at the local food stamp office.

A food stamp household generally is determined by the eating arrangements of its members. Branch said. A person who lives alone, or who usually purchases and prepares meals separately is considered to be a separate household. The same is true for a boarder living with others and paying "reasonable compensation" for meals. A group is considered a food stamp household if the members live together and purchase and prepare their meals together.

The use of social security personnel to take food stamp applications means that some people will be able to apply for food stamps and SSI at the same time instead of having to go to two different offices.

The use of social security offices to take food stamp applications, Branch said, was mandated by the Food Stamp Act of 1977. The legislation was designed to increase the number of aged, blind and disabled persons participating in the food stamp program by making it easier for them to apply.

This is just one more service that social security is happy to be able to provide.

The Norfolk social security office is located at 1310 Norfolk Ave. and the telephone number is 1-800-642-8310.

Out of the Old, Into the New

APPROXIMATELY $92,000 in one safe was moved from the old Laurel Security National Bank to the new facility, last Monday. In upper photo, workers are shown transporting the safe out of the old bank vault. In lower photo, the crew prepares to install the safe into the vault of the new building. Extra precautions were taken to insure the safety of the money and other supplies. Two state patrolmen, the Cedar County sheriff and deputy and city policeman were on hand to assist the bank employees throughout the day. The move from the old bank to the new began Saturday and Sunday. On Tuesday morning, the new facility was open for business. Bank officials reported that a grand opening probably will be held in March or April.

Elect New Board Members

The Wayne County Extension Service will be electing new board members next week. Ballots will be mailed to residents living in Commissioner Districts II and III on Monday, Dec. 29.

Candidates from District II are Mrs. Norris Langenberg, Mrs. Rodney Monk, Richard Longe and Don Liedman.

The four candidates from District III include Mrs. Larry Nichols, Mrs. Terry Janke, Leroy Damm and Dwayne Rethwisch.

One man and one woman will be chosen from Commissioner District II and III to serve a two year term on the Wayne County Extension Board.

Mrs. Eldon Heinemann and Al Thomsen are the board representatives from Commissioner District I and have one more year to serve on the board. Mrs. Verdel Backstrom is the Home Extension Council representative on the board and Larry Sievers is the 4-H Council representative.

The Extension Service has educational responsibilities in agriculture, home economics, youth, horticulture and related subjects for residents of Wayne County. It is the responsibility of the Wayne County Extension Board to direct these activities.
