1981 Baby Waits Nine Days

A VARIETY OF GIFTS were won by Adam Casey Junck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Junck of Carroll, when he was born the first baby of the year Friday afternoon at Providence Medical Center. Born at 4:10 p.m., Adam Casey weighed 7 lbs., 10 ounces and was 20 inches long and joined a brother, Danny, who is 8. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Junck of Carroll; maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sherer of Wayne; paternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brader of Wayne; and maternal great-grandparent is Mrs. Charles Junck Sr. of Carroll. Among the gifts offered by the participating merchants are a $15 savings account from State National Bank, an engraved pewter baby cup from The Diamond Center, $5 from Kugler Electric, an 8 x 10 color portrait from Blake Studio, a Teddy Time zipper quilt from Kuhn's Department Store, three boxes of disposable diapers from Griess Rexall, a wooden Humpty Dumpty music box from Joanie Design, a $15 savings account from First National Bank, a dozen roses from Wayne Greenhouse and $7.50 credit on a Kiddle Kover sleepwear set from Sav-Mor Drug.

$1,000 to Be Given Away Thursday

The latest edition of the Grand Give Away enters its second week with the drawing set Thursday (today), with $1,000 in bonus bucks slated to be given away.

THE GIVEAWAY OF $1,000 every Thursday night at 8 will continue indefinitely.

A total of more than $10,400 was won from July through December, with the winnings spent at any of the 59 participating businesses which sponsored the giveaways. Last Thursday's winner — Marvin Reuter of Allen — was not in any of the participating stores when his name was announced.

The rules will continue to be the same as before. Names will be drawn shortly before 8 p.m. each Thursday from an estimated 8,000 names contained in a wire cage at The Herald. The name will be announced in the participating stores at 8 p.m. and the person whose name is drawn or his or her spouse must be in the store when the name is drawn.

The money will be delivered that night and can be spent immediately if desired.

THE FOLLOWING is a list of the participating stores:
Burger Barn, Fredrickson Oil Co., El Toro, Wayne Shoe Co., Arnie's Ford Mercury, Black Knight, The Vets Club, Carhart Lumber Co., Triangle Finance, Karel's, The 4th Jug, Northeast Nebraska Insurance Agency, Jack Tomrdie-Kuhn's Carpet and Draperies, Surbers, Jeff's Cafe, Rich's Super Foods, Sav-Mor Drug, Wayne Grain and Feed, Doeschers Application, Associated Insurance, TP Lounge, Thies-Brudigen, King's Carpets, Melodee Lanes and Logan Valley Implement.

More Charges Filed in Recent Drug Arrests

Three area men charged after a drug bust Dec. 19 now face additional complaints.

SPECIAL PROSECUTING Attorney Thomas DeLay of Norfolk Monday filed amended complaints against Dale Busskohl, 27, Winside, Charles Weible, 27, Winside and Vernon Saha, 30, Laurel. All three were arrested last month by members of the Nebraska State Highway Patrol.

The amended charges are as follows:
Busskohl — possession of cocaine and marijuana and possession with the intent to deliver. Count I — possession of marijuana of more than one pound; Count II — possession of cocaine with the intent to deliver; Count III — possession of cocaine; Count IV — possession of marijuana with the intent to deliver.

Originally, he had been charged with possession of marijuana of more than one pound.

WEIBLE — possession of cocaine and marijuana with intent to deliver. Count I — possession of cocaine with the intent to deliver; Count II — possession of marijuana with the intent to deliver. Count III — possession of cocaine; Count IV — possession of marijuana.

Originally, he had been charged with possession of cocaine with the intent to deliver.

Saha — possession of marijuana of more than one pound with the intent to deliver. Count I — possession of marijuana of more than one pound; Count II — possession of marijuana with the intent to deliver.

Originally, he had been charged with possession of marijuana of more than one pound.

AS A RESULT of information gathered by the prosecuting attorney, Diane Coyle, 24, Winside, was arrested Jan. 8 and charged with three drug-related complaints. She is charged with possession of cocaine with the intent to deliver, possession of marijuana with the intent to deliver and possession of marijuana of less than one ounce.

Preliminary hearing for all four has been set for 10 a.m. Thursday, Feb. 5 in Wayne County Court. The hearing was set for Jan. 8 but was continued at the request of the attorneys.

Winside Board Offers Contracts to Officials

Dean Janke
Elected President

Election of officers, a resignation and a new employee were highlights of the Winside School District board of education meeting Wednesday night, Jan. 7.

ELECTED PRESIDENT for the coming school year was Dean Janke. Vice President will be Lynn Lessmann, Secretary will be Harlin Brugger and Treasurer will be Ray Roberts.

The resignation of Terry Munter, trades and industries instructor at Winside, was accepted effective with the end of the 1980-81 school year. A contract to Jill Stenwall for assistant girls' track coach for 1980-81 was approved.

IN OTHER action, the board offered a three-year contract to Supt. Don Leighton and a one-year contract to Principal Ron Leasley with details to be released at the completion of teacher negotiations.

Walks Top Council Meeting

The condition of many Wayne sidewalks was the topic of discussion at Tuesday night's regular City Council meeting.

COUNCIL ATTORNEY Ken Swartz, in answer to some council members' questions, said repairs could be forced on lots owned by individuals. "The city could do the repairs and then assess the cost to the lot owners or the owners could have the work done themselves," said Swartz.

Councilman Keith Mostey questioned whether the city could put sidewalks in where there are none now. Swartz said this probably could not be done without a city ordinance.

Repairing city sidewalks to make them accessible to the handicapped was a question brought before the council by Jim Craun. Council attorney Swartz said that such repairs, for the handicapped, could not be forced on individual property owners.

COUNCILMAN Gary Vopalensky asked to see the study done by the City Planning Commission 4½ years ago. City Clerk Norm Melton said that he has been unable to locate that particular study but would try to have it by the next Council meeting.

In other action, the Council approved a resolution accepting work for Water Extension District 80-2 and accepted the engineer's plat and schedule of assessments. The proposal dealt with rates involving the new apartment complex south of the El Toro Lounge. A hearing date of Jan. 27 was set for a levy of special assessments.

A resolution setting water and sewer rates at Muhs Acres equal to the city rates was approved.

PRELIMINARY PLAT for the Papenburg Second Subdivision was withdrawn by city engineers Bruce Gilmore and Associates. The proposal was withdrawn because it did not meet specific guidelines set down by a city ordinance.

Two bids for a new police cruiser were considered by the Council. Wayne Chrysler Center submitted a bid for a 1981 Dodge Diplomat 4-door sedan. With a trade-in and radial tires, the cost for the Diplomat is $7,434.27; without trade, the bid stands at $7,734.27.

Mike Perry Chevrolet submitted a bid for a 1981 Chevrolet Malibu with trade at $7,595.00. Without a trade-in, the Malibu sells for $8,245.95. Neither bidder could guarantee periodic service checks every 30 days.

THE COUNCIL voted to have the city engineers check into the bids and present their findings at the next Council meeting. The motion carried with Councilman Vopalensky voting no.

After the meeting, Vopalensky stated that he felt the Council should be responsible enough to check into the bids themselves instead of relying on the city engineers for such matters. All Council members were present.

Minimum Wage Regulation Faces Local Opposition and Compliance

Several Wayne businessmen working under the federal guidelines for minimum wage said they do not feel the Jan. 1 increase of 25 cents will have much bearing on their businesses.

FOUR BUSINESSES contacted said they feel in the long run that federal law regarding minimum wage works against the employees and the customer.

Beginning Jan. 1, minimum wage rose from $3.10 to $3.35 an hour. Many Wayne area businessmen use the minimum wage scale to determine their own pay schedules along with others across the country.

Pamida general manager Ken Soden says he does not think this particular wage increase will affect prices on products in the store but, ultimately, he foresees manufacturers raising their prices.

"Manufacturers will have to make up the loss somewhere along the line and they will raise prices to adjust. Our prices will then go up and the salary boost doesn't help much. It's a vicious circle that minimum wage increases will not help," Soden said. Pamida employs 19 people affected by the minimum wage increase, but pays a nickel above that figure to most employees, according to Soden.

IGA OWNER Bob Wellman would like to see revisions of the federal law. "I feel that politics should stay out of management and allow us to give raises to those who earn them instead of a pay raise straight across the board," he said.

Wellman thinks that the wage increase will affect prices in the long run but as of now it will not force prices to go up. Wellman's IGA employs 19 people under minimum wage guidelines.

Rich's Super Foods has 15 people affected by the minimum wage increase. Sandy Anderson, co-owner of Rich's Super Foods, says they have no immediate plans in regard to the wage increase except to tighten the belt and work a little harder.

"WE DIDN'T rush out and fire anyone or cut back on hours because of the wage increase. But in the future I imagine it will affect some aspects of our store," said Anderson. "We do plan to make better use of our help, cut back on energy waste and choose our selection more carefully," she said.

Fifty-one people working at Bill's GW received pay increases on Jan. 1. Owner Bill Luenders said "I don't agree or like the law, but I comply with it. I feel without the regulation Bill's could hire more people at a lower pay rate. I know there are a lot of high school students who would be happy to work, but I can't afford to hire and pay them minimum wage."

Board Re-Elects Sandahl

Newly elected school board members were sworn in and new officers were elected Monday at the first Wayne-Carroll Board of Education meeting of the year.

ELECTED MEMBERS Jim Hummel, Becky Keldel and Neil Sandahl were sworn into office as board member Dale Stoltenberg administered the oath of office. Stoltenberg was acting as outgoing vice president.

Following the swearing-in ceremony, nominations were accepted for the election of officers. Neil Sandahl was re-elected to serve another term as president of the board.

Milton Owens was elected vice president and Doris Daniels was re-appointed secretary-treasurer. All offices were filled by unanimous choice.

AFTER COMPLETING the election, the board approved the minutes of the last meeting, reviewed financial reports and turned its attention to the audiences.

The board voted unanimously to allow the Charles Rutenbeck family to send its children to the Wayne school system.

Rutenbeck had asked the board's approval to be accepted into the school district. The Rutenbecks live four miles south, two miles west and one-half mile south of Wayne.

In other business, the board of education named committees for the 1980 year, discussed insulation, appointed a member to serve on the Nebraska State School Board Association, set tuition rates for a drivers education class and discussed a property tax relief bill.

SUPERINTENDENT Francis Hahn reported to the board that District 17 could lose some $76,000 because of a Supreme Court ruling on personal property tax relief.

Hahn explained that 1977 legislation exempted farmland, livestock and business property from property taxation. The Supreme Court recently decided that this bill may be unconstitutional.

Wayne-Carroll schools were budgeted $76,000 in personal property relief for their general operation. Hahn reported that the money is now tied up until the Supreme Court makes a ruling on the legislation.

Should the Supreme Court decide the bill is unconstitutional, all schools provided relief under the bill will lose their budgeted monies unless the legislature takes other action.

MEMBERS OF the board volunteered their services to three committees. The Sensitivity Issues Committee will be composed of Becky Keldel and Neil Sandahl.

The Americanism Committee was formed with members Milton Owens, Jim Hummel and Wilbur Giese. Owens and Dale Stoltenberg volunteered to form the Negotiations Committee.

Owens volunteered to represent the Wayne Board of Education by serving on the Nebraska State School Boards Association Legislative Relations Network.

THE BOARD set fees for a summer drivers education program at $25 per person, up $5 from last summer. Ron Carnes will teach the class.

In other business, it was announced that insulation work at Wayne's elementary school and middle school is near completion.

At 8:35, the board convoked into executive session to discuss litigation. The executive session lasted approximately 45 minutes.

Coffee at Gutshalls

This week's Chamber of Commerce coffee will be held Friday in the basement of the Dale Gutshall home, 510 Crescent Dr.

The high school industrial arts class remodeled his basement last year, and Chamber members will be given a tour.

All members are urged to attend the 10 to 11 a.m. event.

Bell Telephone Seeks Rate Hike

Northwestern Bell Telephone Company in Omaha has applied for authority to adjust its rates and charges for telephone service.

Interested persons may protest the application on or before Jan. 19.

Northwestern Bell hopes to increase its rates and charges to produce additional annual revenue of $16,000,000.

CPR Courses Required

The halfway point of the Statewide Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation program has been reached and is ahead of schedule.

In this area, Wayne Carroll High, Allen Consolidated High, Laurel High and Winside High Schools all have CPR courses required. Wakefield did not respond to the questionnaire sent out by the Statewide CPR Campaign.

Major goals of the program are to reduce prehospital death from heart attack by 30 percent and to install CPR in the high schools so students will have the opportunity to complete the courses.

Right to Life Is Program Topic

The second lecture in the Consumer Economics Course organized by Marie Hoyt is scheduled at 1 p.m. Tuesday in the Benthack Hall, lecture room 103 (Wayne State College). Guest speaker will be Linda Dorcay, representative of Right to Life of Wayne.

The title of her lecture is "Issues in Government Funding of Family Planning/Abortions."

The Consumer Economics Course is dealing with contemporary issues in consumer economics that affect the individual, family and larger social systems.

The lecture is free and open to the public. Doors to lecture room 103 will close promptly at 1 p.m. For additional information contact Marie Hoyt, 375-2200, Ext. 254 or 256.

Biography Appearing

Dr. T. H. Stevenson of Wayne has been notified that his biography and photo will appear in the 1981 eighth edition of "Men of Achievement" — the only illustrated work of its kind devoted exclusively to the recognition of the achievements of men of all nations, whether at regional, national or international level.

In the publication Dr. Stevenson is recognized for his achievements as a historian, political scientist, author, editor, translator and lecturer.

His biography also appears in "Directory of American Scholars," "Contemporary Authors," "Who's Who in the Midwest," "Dictionary of International Biography," "International Who's Who in Education" and other publications.

"Men of Achievement," published in Cambridge, England, is a reference work recognized by leading libraries throughout the world. More than 45,000 men of contemporary achievement are honored in the eighth edition.

Keep A Smal Notebook

Good Records May Save You on Taxes

The secret to avoid paying extra taxes is good record keeping according to area tax examiners.

A complete record of travel and entertainment expenses will help recall deductible costs and properly claim deductions, according to the Nebraska Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Keeping a diary — a small notebook — in your car will help keep track of business travel expenses for gas, tolls and parking. It is proof of expenditure and a reminder of what was spent during the year, so that legitimate deductions will not be overlooked.

When a car is used solely for business purposes, the operating expenses, such as repairs, insurance, garage rent and depreciation are deductible. If the car is also used for personal use, operating costs and depreciation must be divided between personal use and business use. (Lease payments may be deducted to the extent that the car is used for business.)

If the actual cost of running your car for business use, claim the standard mileage rate, which increased this year to 20 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles and 11 cents a mile for additional mileage or for fully depreciated cars. If more than one car is used for work, you can use the standard mileage rate but it applies to the total business mileage, as if they were one, CPA's say.

CPA's suggest that you keep a diary in the glove compartment of each car used for business and record the odometer readings at the beginning and end of the year. Also, keep track of when the business trip took place and how many miles were covered in each trip.

Label diary columns "date," "item," "place," "amount" and "business purposes/relationships" to keep track of travel and entertainment expenses. This gives an organization plan to use when entries are made. Make one diary entry each day for such incidental expenses as tips or phone calls, rather than record each expense separately.

In addition to your notes, keep receipts for all lodging costs while traveling and any other expenses of $25 or more. (If receipts for taxi fares are unavailable, a diary entry will serve as proof of the expense.) File credit card slips and other receipts in files or envelopes, either by category or in chronological order. A pocket diary allows the filing of papers in the same location as the notations about the expense. CPA's suggest that when bills are paid by check, note the check number on the bill or receipt. When the cancelled check is returned, file it with the corresponding bill or receipt. A cancelled check by itself won't support a business expenditure.

Deduct domestic business travel expenses when away from home overnight. This would include meals and lodging (both en route and at your destination); air, rail and bus fares; the cost of transporting sample cases or display materials, and cleaning and laundry costs. For each trip, record the amount of all expenditures, dates of departure and return. Also make a note of the business benefit derived or expected from the travel.

The portion of expenses incurred by spouses when he or she goes along on a business trip is not deductible unless the spouse served as a real business purpose on the trip, which doesn't include taking notes or companionship for social functions. Even if the additional costs for a spouse can't be deducted, claims can still be made for your own expenses. For example, staying in a hotel for five nights. The single room rate is $50 and the double room rate is $75. You can deduct five nights at a single room rate, or $250.

More leeway is also given when the spouse joins one for dinner with a client. A deduction for the cost of the meal for the spouse and the client's spouse, too can also be claimed.

Record the amount of money spent, the name and address of the restaurant or wherever the entertainment took place and the date. Note the name, title and business of each person entertained as well as the business activity that took place.

You may deduct the business portion of dues and fees for a golf or country club, CPA's say but only if more than 50 percent of the use of the club is business related.

Keep a record of every time the club is used, whether business or personal. For business days (where the club was used primarily for a business purpose, like a meeting), record any expenditures, the date and time of the business usage, the business purpose and who participated in the activity. Without such records, the IRS will consider all uses of the club as personal and will disallow deductions.

OBITUARIES

John Barnes

Services were held Monday at the First Baptist Church in Wayne for John W. Barnes, 89, of Emerson. The Rev. Edward Carter officiated and burial was at Rosehill Cemetery in Emerson.

John Wesley Barnes was born Sept. 23, 1891 at Waterbury to George and Abigail May Barnes and died Jan. 10 at Emerson. He married Elva Beeks on Nov. 24, 1915 at Dakota City. The couple farmed south of Waterbury one year before moving to Laurel where he was a rural mail carrier for two years. They moved to Wayne in 1918 where he worked in the City Light Plant, Gambles, and was a self-employed carpenter. He was a member of the First Baptist Church in Wayne.

He was preceded in death by his parents, three sisters and four brothers.

Survivors include his wife, Elva, four daughters, Mrs. Lawrence (Amy Pearl) Morris of Hastings, Mrs. Howard (Lueven) Townsend of Columbus, Mrs. Howard (Reva) Tribble of Grovespring, Mo. and Mrs. Clarence (Doris) Jeffrey of Allen; 12 grandchildren and 22 great grandchildren.

Palbearers were Earl Beeks, Ivan Beeks, I. J. Beeks, Allen Ahlman, Robert Beeks and Steven Dinsmore. Honorary Palbearers were John Ream, Frank Asbury and Mahlon Stewart.

Ankeny-Huetig Marry at Dixon Methodist Church

Margaret Ankeny became the bride of Scott Huetig in a Jan. 3 ceremony at the United Methodist Church in Dixon. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Ankeny of Dixon and Mrs. Dorothy Huetig of Laurel.

The Rev. Vivian Hand of Allen officiated at the 7 o'clock double ring rites. Decorations included candelabras entwined with greenery and blue bows. Lori Hartman of Omaha sang "Through the Eyes of Love," "Whither Thou Goest" and "Hand in Hand We'll Walk Together." Organist was Naomi Quist of Dixon.

The bride appeared at her father's side in a long white bishop style gown designed with a lace yoke, collar and cuffs. She wore a hat decorated with white and blue daisies and lace and carried a hand bouquet of white daisies and blue pompons.

The 110 guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ankeny of Dixon. Maid of honor, Cheryl Abts of Wayne, wore a long heather blue skirt and light blue blouse. Her hand bouquet contained white daisies and blue pompons. Larry Jensen of Wayne served as best man.

Guests, registered by Audrey Paulman of Albion, were ushered into the church by Don Ankeny of Des Plaines, Ill. and Gerald Herrick of Armour, S. D. Candles were lighted by LaShawn Herrick of Armour, S. D.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ankeny selected a blue polyester print. Mrs. Huetig chose a brown blazer and skirt. Renee Jensen of Wayne and Deb Thiele and Jo Zoubek of Clearwater arranged gifts at a reception in the church basement following the wedding ceremony.

Waitresses were Marilyn Abts of Dixon and Nancy Abts of Laurel. The bride, a graduate of Allen High School, attended Wayne State College and is employed as a secretary for the Allen and Dixon United Methodist Churches. The bridegroom, a Laurel High School graduate, attended the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. He is employed at P & W Sales in Laurel.

The newlyweds are making their home at Concord.

Card Shower For Former Winside Woman

Mrs. Matilda Nelson, a former Winside resident for many years, will observe her 99th birthday on Tuesday, Jan. 20. Friends and relatives are asked to remember her with a card that day. Mrs. Nelson now resides at the Wakefield Health Care Center. Cards will reach her if addressed to Mrs. Matilda Nelson, Wakefield Health Care Center, Wakefield, Neb., 68784.

Kirchner Marks 80th Birthday at Concord Center

Edward Kirchner of Concord was honored for his 80th birthday Sunday afternoon during a reception at the Senior Citizens Center in Concord.

Nearly 100 relatives and friends were present for the event hosted by his children, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kirchner of South Sioux City, Mr. and Mrs. Dick (Janette) Dolph of Geneva and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard (Joann) Hattig of Wakefield. Grandchildren assisted with the serving.

Mrs. Elray Hank baked and decorated the birthday cake. The guests attended from Lincoln, Geneva, Bellevue, Dakota City, South Sioux City, Wakefield, Wayne, Winside, Pilger, Coleridge and Concord.

Pro-Life Breakfast

The Wayne County Right to Life chapter invites the public to attend a pro-life prayer breakfast at the Windmill Restaurant Saturday, Jan. 17, at 8:30 a.m. The breakfast will commemorate the eighth anniversary of the Supreme Court ruling legalizing abortion in the United States. The ruling was handed down on Jan. 22, 1973. Featured speaker at the breakfast will be Mrs. Linda Kerkman of Elgin, regional director for the state organization. Music will be sung by the Rev. and Mrs. Eddie Carter of the First Baptist Church. There also will be a three-minute slide presentation. Admission is $1.25. Tickets may be purchased at the door or in advance from any Right to Life member.

Luncheon in Baier Home

Six members of the Sunshine Home Extension Club and their husbands met Jan. 7 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Baier. A carry-in luncheon was served by the hostess. The meeting was conducted by the new officers and committees. It opened with the Club Collect, followed by roll call. Clara Echtenkamp, health leader, reported on the 1980-81 "Health Awareness" program. Irene Geeve reminded members of the necessity of "Taking Time to Count Your Change" when shopping. The group discussed plans for a home extension club tour to the Schmeckfest in Freeman, S. D. Next meeting will be Feb. 4 in the Thelma Day home. Each member is asked to bring a Valentine for her secret sister.

Monthly Meeting At Villa Wayne

The Villa Wayne Tenants Club held its monthly meeting Jan. 5 with 18 members attending. Following the meeting, the Christmas tree was taken down and cookies and coffee were served. Twelve Villa residents attended the regular weekly meeting Jan. 6. Mrs. Minnie Heikes and her daughter from Blair joined the group for cards and lunch. Mrs. Henrietta Frost, who was recently transferred to Wayne Care Centre, was taken to Providence Medical Center Jan. 5 suffering from pneumonia. Mrs. Thelma Odegaard is receiving x-rays and tests at Providence Medical Center.

Cookie Time Again!

IT'S GIRL SCOUT COOKIE time again and girls in Wayne will be joining other girls of Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council when they sell the cookies door to door Friday, Jan. 16 through Feb. 5. Along with the old favorites, such as Thin Mints and Savannahs, there are two new varieties. One is a spice cookie called Dutch 'N Such and the other is a snack cracker made from real cheddar cheese named Golden Yangles. All boxes sell for $1.50, with delivery expected around March 20. Pictured sampling some of the goodies are several members of Brownie Troop 276, including, from left with parents' names in parenthesis, Shannon Fletcher (Bill), Karl Lutt (Terry), Lisa Ewing (Dave), and Lori Eckhoff (Bob). Money earned from the sale of cookies helps support Camp Crossed Arrows, gives needed funds to individual troops, provides money for Wider Opportunities and Council operations. Persons who are not contacted for cookies can call Mrs. Donna Eckhoff, chairman, 375-1264.

Adele Giambone-Kenneth Denesio Exchange Vows in New York City

St. Jan of Arc Church, New York City, was the scene of the double ring rites Jan. 3 uniting in marriage Adele Giambone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Giambone of New York City, and Kenneth Denesio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Denesio of Wayne.

The Rev. Martin Geraghty of Cathedral College officiated at the 11 a.m. Nuptial Mass and candlelight service. The altar of the church was decorated with red poinsettias, carnations and gladioli.

Wedding music included Ave Maria and other songs sung by Professor Loefel of Julliard School of Music.

Guests were ushered into the church by Frank Giambone, brother of the bride of New York City, Capt. Thomas Denesio, brother of the bridegroom of Albuquerque, N. M., and Thomas Knowler of Boston, Mass. Junior usher was Joseph Burgio of New York City.

Altar boys were Danny Meade and Peter Schumann of New York City.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Gary Meade of New York City, and bridesmaids were Pat Sheridan and Lenore Kelika.

The bride appeared at her father's side in a long white silk organza gown designed by Priscilla of Boston. The gown was fashioned with an illusion neckline, narrow laced sleeves and full-length train. The bodice was enhanced with lace, defined in a capelet effect. She wore her grandmother's diamond earrings and a sapphire.

The bride wore a lace Derby hat with a full-length veil and carried roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

The matron of honor was gowned in a full-length wine colored dress fashioned by Mildy, accented with an illusion neckline. She wore a matching Derby hat with an extended veil.

Roger Denesio of Omaha served his brother as best man. The men wore morning formal tuxedos by Lord West with tails.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Giambone chose a mauve color floor-length dress. The bridegroom's mother also wore a mauve floor-length dress. Each had an orchid corsage.

The bride and groom were escorted to the reception following the wedding in a chauffeur driven Rolls Royce followed by the bridal party in a chauffeur driven black limousine.

The reception was held in Terrace on The Park, division of Continental Hosts, Ltd. 1964 Worlds

Fair, overlooking New York City, Long Island Sound and the Atlantic Ocean.

The 123 guests were entertained by the Steven Scott Orchestra. Cocktails and hors d'oeuvres were served from noon to 2 p.m. followed by dinner.

The newlyweds traveled to Paris for their honeymoon. They were guests for one night of Princess Garmar along the famous avenue des Champs Elysees Avenue in Paris.

The bride, a 1963 graduate of Cathedral High School of St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York City, attended the City University of New York. She is employed by United Air Lines.

The bridegroom was graduated from Wayne-Carroll High School in 1963, Wayne State College in 1968, Long Island University in 1971, Harvard University in 1973, Columbia University in 1977, and received his Postal Doctoral Degree in 1979. He is employed by the U.S. Department of Defense, Pentagon, as an economist in Washington, D. C.

PEO Meeting Slated

PEO will meet Tuesday, Jan. 20, in the home of Mrs. Robert Carhart, 1111 Sunset Dr. Meeting time is 2 p.m.

Holly Mallette is January Bride

St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne was the scene of the wedding ceremony Jan. 3 uniting in marriage Holly Ann Mallette and Aaron Nissen.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Mallette of Wayne, was graduated from Wayne-Carroll High School in 1979 and attended Wayne State College. She is presently a student at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Nissen of Wayne and a 1977 graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School. He also attended Wayne State College and is a student at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. He is employed with the Omaha Public Power District.

Spiral candelabras, with greenery and red flowers, and red poinsettias decorated the altar for the 2 o'clock double ring rites. The Rev. Thomas McDermott of Wayne officiated.

Wedding music included "Always and Forever" and "The Lord's Prayer," sung by Sue Gast of Lincoln and accompanied by Mrs. Donna Nuss of Wayne.

Guests were registered by Anita Sandahl of Wayne and were ushered into the church by Mark Brandt and Doug Carroll, both of Wayne, and Dan Byers and Mike Portwood, both of Wakefield.

Candlelighters were Lesa Barclay of Wayne and Laurie Stessman of Omaha. Flower girl and ring bearer were Robin Barrera and B. J. Barrera, both of El Campo, Texas.

The bride, who was escorted down the aisle by her father, fashioned her gown of crepe-back satin designed with a high neckline edged in Chantilly lace. The blouson bodice was enhanced with lace inlays and tucks. The sleeves also were of lace inlays ending in wide tapering cuffs edged with lace ruffle. The waistline was designed with front and back descending tucks draping into a full chapel-train edged in scalloped Chantilly lace.

The bride's headpiece, which she also fashioned, was a pillbox hat enhanced with handclipped motifs of Chantilly lace. Tulle netting was gathered on the hat and draped down the back, with French veiling covering her face. She carried a cascade of gardenias, stephanotis, holly and frothy evergreen.

Maid of honor was Sue Gast of Lincoln, and bridesmaids were Shauna Roberts of Carroll, Myra Victor of Wayne, Vicky Ferris of Auburn and Dawn Kuzelka of Grand Island.

They wore matching red gowns of Quana designed with jewel necklines featuring front and back pin tucks. The long, gathered sleeves ended with pin tucked cuffs. The long, full skirts fell from blouson bodices accented at the waistlines with front and back descending pin tucks and tie belts. They wore matching red pillbox hats with gathered red tulle draping down the back and carried casual arrangements of white French carnations, holly, and red berries tied with red velvet and white satin ribbon.

Scott Nissen of El Campo, Texas served as best man. Groomsman were Paul Mallette, Alan Nissen, Stuart Nissen and Kevin Nissen, all of Wayne.

The bridegroom wore a white classic tuxedo with a three-quarter length tailcoat, white pleated shirt and white satin bow tie. His boutonniere was of stephanotis and holly. His attendants were attired in black tuxedos with white pleated shirts and black satin bow ties. Each wore a red French carnation boutonniere.

For her daughter's wedding,

Mrs. Mallette selected a silver gray full-length suit dress. Mrs. Nissen chose an aqua full-length dress designed with a pleated skirt and lace jacket.

Nearly 250 guests attended a reception at the Black Knight in Wayne following the wedding ceremony. Gifts were arranged by Tammy Henschke and Colleen Hamer of Wayne.

The wedding cake was cut and served by Mrs. Bonnie Larsen and Diane Larsen, both of Oakland. Mrs. Lylas Guthrie of Hooper poured, and punch was served by Cindy Baker of Sromsburg and Carol Gast of Grinnell, Iowa.

The newlyweds traveled to Kansas City following their wedding and are making their home in Lincoln.

Texas Wedding Rites Unite Susan Griffith-Larry Hamley

United in marriage Jan. 10 in Garland, Texas were Susan Griffith, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Griffith III, and Larry Hamley, son of Mrs. Evelyn Hamley of Wayne, and the late Ben Hamley.

The Rev. Nichols of Richardson, Texas officiated at the double ring ceremony in the home of the bridegroom's sister and husband, Mike and Nancy Quan. Baskets of flowers and garland adorned the fireplace.

Pianist was Mrs. Quan. Given in marriage by her brother, Richard Griffith III, the bride appeared in a street-length ivory gown fashioned with a front tucked bodice of semi-sheer polyester crepe. Ecru floral lace trimmed the neckline and cuffs of the long sleeves. She wore a garland of baby's breath in her hair and carried peach roses and white carnations accented with azaleas.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Wally Ferris of Plano, Texas, and best man was Duane Shell of Lincoln.

Mrs. Ferris wore a mauve street-length gown of polyester knit accented with lace. Mrs. F. L. Wilson of Meadow Grove, grandmother of the bridegroom, registered the 25 guests and arranged gifts at a reception in the Quan home following the wedding.

Mrs. Richard Griffith of Fort Worth, Texas cut and served the cake. Punch was served by Carol Hamley of Kearney.

The newlyweds are residing in Houston, Texas.

The bride was graduated from Bell High School in Hurst, Texas in 1969 and from North Texas State University in 1975. She is employed with Social Security in Houston. The bridegroom, a 1967 graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School and a 1978 graduate of the University of Nebraska, is employed with Social Security in Pasadena, Texas.

Footie Wins Weight Class

Plainview Edges Stanton in Winside Title Race

MARK KOCH (top), 119 pound Winside wrestler, clinches third place in the Winside Invitational by defeating Garry Eacker of Norfolk Catholic. Eacker defeated Koch 14-3 in an earlier match but the Winside junior came back to edge Eacker 5-1 in Saturday's consolation finals.

Plainview's wrestling team, ranked 10th in Class C, trimmed Cinderella Stanton to win the championship trophy in the 12th annual Winside Invitational Wrestling Tourney, Friday and Saturday.

The team championship was decided when Plainview's Chad Schumacker pinned Stanton's Tom Settlemyer in the heavyweight finals.

Bennington and Pender placed third and fourth respectively in the 12-team field.

Team standings:

Plainview	126½	Winside	68
Stanton	122	Norfolk C.	49½
Bennington	112½	Osmond	47
Pender	101½	Norfolk JV	39
Oakland	96½	Wakefield	39
Randolph	95	Logan View	38

Area teams Winside and Wakefield finished seventh and 11th respectively.

The Winside Invitational has built itself into one of the state's largest wrestling tournaments and drew numerous state-rated wrestlers from 12 Class C and Class D teams.

All but three weight classes contained at least one wrestler rated in the state rankings released this week.

The best matchup of the tourney, talent-wise, probably occurred in the 126 pound finals. Winside's Brian Foote, undefeated and returning 119 pound Class D champion, was paired against Pender's Rich McQuistan, who placed third at 126 pounds in Class C last year.

Foote, who is ranked first in Class D's 126 pound class defeated McQuistan 12-2 in a dual in December. This time, the third ranked 126 pounder in Class C was prepared.

Saturday's match was evenly matched and exciting. Each wrestler held the lead and appeared to have the advantage at least once in the third period.

Foote worked for a near pin in the final 20 seconds of the match to build an 8-6 lead. McQuistan scored an escape but was unable to take down his opponent before the match ended 8-7.

Other area wrestlers who won medals in the competition were Dave Stelling of Wakefield, fourth at 105 pounds; Mark Koch of Winside, third at 119 pounds; Joedy Sherer of Wakefield, fourth at 138 pounds; Barry Bowers of Winside, third at 167 pounds; Kent Glassmeyer, fourth in the heavyweight class.

Winside Results

98 pounds: John Thies won a 5-4 decision over Lonnie Heelan of Norfolk reserves.

was pinned by Marly Chevney of Stanton. 105 pounds: Curt Rhode lost a 3-0 decision to Dave Stelling of Wakefield.

119 pounds: Mark Koch pinned Craig Johnson of Oakland-Craig in 1:10; lost a 14-3 decision to Garry Eacker of Norfolk Catholic; won a 2-1 decision over Jon Stelling of Wakefield; won a 4-1 decision over Rob Christensen of Plainview; won a 5-1 decision over Eacker to place third.

126 pounds: Brian Foote pinned Doug Laaker of Bennington in 1:21; won a 7-1 decision over Dirk Carlson of Wakefield; won an 8-7 decision over Rich McQuistan of Pender to place first.

132 pounds: Doug Jaeger was pinned by Clint Pendergast of Plainview; defeated Jon Pretzer of Wakefield; won a 3-2 decision over Mark Petersen of Norfolk reserves; lost an 8-5 decision to Jeff Ward of Logan View.

138 pounds: Brian Bowers won by default over Wade Stenvers of Logan View; was pinned by Kevin Kenny of Plainview; was pinned by Joedy Sherer of Wakefield.

155 pounds: Tom Wills of Winside was pinned by Doug Verplank of Wakefield.

167 pounds: Barry Bowers was pinned by Cole Hammond of Randolph; pinned Greg Bohm of Bennington in 4:04; won a 9-2 decision over Brian Sweet of Logan View; won a 4-0 decision over Randy Gardner of Osmond to place third.

Heavyweight: Kent Glassmeyer won a 7-3 decision over Jeff Johnson of Norfolk reserves; was pinned by Chad Schumacker of Plainview; was pinned by Jim Goebel of Logan View to place fourth.

Wakefield Results

98 pounds: Brian Obermeyer was pinned by Jack Johnson of Oakland-Craig; pinned Dave Oberberding of Randolph in 2:25; lost a 4-2 decision to Joel Bessmer of Plainview.

105 pounds: Dave Stelling won a 3-0 decision over Curt Rhode of Winside; lost a 1-0 decision to Dave Redding of Logan View; won a 2-1 decision over Kurt Lehmkuh of Pender; won a 2-0 decision over Jerry Dennis of Osmond; lost a 5-0 decision to Don Ahl of Oakland-Craig to place fourth.

119 pounds: Jon Stelling pinned Chris Misfeldt of Bennington in 1:01; lost an 8-2 decision to Brett Rissler of Randolph; lost a 2-1 decision to Mark Koch of Winside.

126 pounds: Dirk Carlson won a 5-2 decision over Dave Brookhouser of Plainview; lost a 7-1 decision to Brian Foote of Winside; was pinned by Doug Cook of Oakland-Craig.

132 pounds: Jon Pretzer lost to Clint Pendergast of Plainview; lost to Doug Jaeger of Winside.

138 pounds: Joedy Sherer lost an 11-4 decision to Gary Prokop of Pender; pinned Brian Bowers of Winside in :32; pinned Tony Gubbels of Randolph in 2:11; lost a 6-4 decision to Prokop to place fourth.

155 pounds: Doug Verplank pinned Tom Wills of Winside in 2:54; lost to Steve Titman of Norfolk reserves.

167 pounds: Paul Schopke pinned Rick Newlin of Norfolk reserves in 3:12; was pinned by Roger Lindstrom of Oakland-Craig; was pinned by Randy Gardner of Osmond.

185 pounds: Duane Witt was pinned by Mike Ferdig of Bennington; lost to Mertlin Loberg of Randolph.

Note: Two Wakefield wrestlers are on a six week suspension and did not participate in the Winside Tournament.

Area Wrestlers Ranked

The initial Class C and D wrestling ratings were released by the Nebraska Scholastic Wrestling Coaches Association this week.

Among the rated wrestlers are several from Winside and Wakefield.

In Class C, Jon Stelling of Wakefield is ranked third at 105 pounds.

In Class D, Winside's Brian Foote is ranked first at 126 pounds. Teammate Barry Bowers is rated third at 167 pounds.

Wildcats Win Two at Home

The WSC Wildcats evened both their District 11 and CSIC records to 1-1 with victories this past weekend over Peru State 74-58 and Missouri Western 85-58.

The Cats jumped out in front of Peru State 10-8 at the 15 minute mark in the first half and never trailed from that point on. Jim Reinders, a 6-4 sophomore forward from Omaha, came off the bench early in the first half to hit his first five shots and gave the Cats the spark needed to take a 36-25 half-time lead.

WSC opened up its biggest lead of the game as Mike Webb hit a 15-foot jumper to put the Wildcats up 62-43. The Cats were led in scoring by Leon McRae with 18 points. Grady Hansen of Omaha with 16 points and Reinders added 12. Hansen also pulled down a game high 9 rebounds.

With the two wins this past weekend the Cats remained undefeated at home with a perfect 5-0 record.

WSC next entertains District 11 power Kearney State tomorrow (Friday) and Fort Hays State, the NAIA's number one rated team in the nation, Saturday.

Allen Upset Clinches Own Tourney

Allen basketball coach Dan Looft reached deep into his bag of tricks and pulled out a championship for his basketball team in the Allen Tournament, played Friday and Saturday.

It was the first title for the Eagles in the history of the tourney and probably will be the last. In order to make room for new Lewis and Clark Conference rival Emerson Hubbard on Allen's schedule, the tournament is not scheduled next year.

In order to win the championship, the Eagles had to do something that no one had done before this season—defeat Newcastle. The Raiders entered Saturday night's final with a 5-0 record and ranked fourth in Class D.

Allen won the championship game 54-49. The Eagles had defeated Bancroft 57-56 in Friday's first round game. Newcastle reached the finals by punishing Santee 68-28 on Friday.

New Player Added

Looft made one surprise move in the tournament. During his noon hour at Allen High School, Looft ventured into the gym and happened to stumble across Allen student Bruce Malcom playing basketball.

The 6-2 junior nearly stuffed the ball through the basket. Looft gave the youngster a second look and by the time the tournament started, Malcom was a member of Allen's squad.

The junior, who had never before played high school basketball, was one of the keys to victory for the hosts. Malcom pulled down eight rebounds and scored five points in his first game. He was moved into the starting lineup for Saturday's championship game and came through, grabbing 11 rebounds and scoring four points.

"We're real happy with the win. We had good teamwork and good defense against Newcastle. Rebounding, defense and free throw shooting were the key," Looft said. "We're getting a winning attitude and playing with desire."

First Loss for Newcastle

In the championship game against Newcastle, the Eagles got off to a slow start, scoring only 14 points in the first half. However, Allen topped that total in each of the final two quarters.

Robb Linafelter hit four consecutive baskets to open the third quarter and the rest of the team warmed up their shooting touches as well.

After gaining an eight point lead, the Eagles went to a slow down game and forced Newcastle to foul. The hosts committed only 12 turnovers.

Allen had two fewer field goals but managed to sink 21 free throws compared to 10 for Newcastle. Terry Brewer, had a perfect night at the line, hitting 13 consecutive free throws including eight in the

Final stanza

Brewer was the game's leading scorer with 19 points. Frank Lanser and Linafelter scored 10 points each. Lanser had 13 rebounds. Newcastle was led by Vaughn Zerbe with 15 points.

The 4-4 Eagles will host Newcastle in a rematch tomorrow (Friday). Next action will pit Allen against Ponca on the road Tuesday and against Decatur at home, next Thursday.

Previous Loss Avenged

In first round competition of the Allen Tournament, the host Eagles nipped Bancroft 57-56 to reach Saturday's finals. Bancroft won a previous meeting 21-58 on Dec. 12.

Four players scored in double figures for the winners. Rick Gotch led the scoring with 15 points followed by Terry Brewer with 13 and Frank Lanser and Terry Linafelter with 12 points each.

Allen led by five points after one quarter trailed by one at the half and regained the lead 43-41 entering the final period of play.

Other Games

Bancroft demolished Santee 83-26 to earn consolation honors in the Allen Tournament. The winners were led by Jeff Knuppel with 12, Bill Gardes with 12 and Jim Browning, with 10. Santee's Wyatt Thomas led all scorers with 24.

Newcastle defeated Santee 68-28 in Friday's other first round game. Scoff Chase and Gene Day paced the winners with 18 and 12 points, respectively. Wyatt Thomas led Santee with 14.

Trojans Finish Third in Homer Tournament

A pair of sophomores teamed up with a veteran to lead Wakefield to third place in the Homer Tournament Saturday.

The Trojans, who were defeated 65-51 by Homer on Friday, topped Pender 68-51 in Saturday's consolation finals. The consolation win avenged an earlier 59-48 loss in the season opener.

In a pre game discussion, the Wakefield team decided that if needed to decrease its turnovers and increase its rebounds, the game plan seemed to work as the Trojans committed only nine turnovers and grabbed 24 rebounds.

Sophomores Rod Nixon and Mike Clay pulled through for the Trojans, hitting 21 and 14 points respectively. Clay had eight assists. Senior Jeff Hallstrom pumped in 18 points and pulled down 11 rebounds against Pender. Vaughn Nixon also had eight rebounds.

"This was one of our better last games. It was a better team effort," Wakefield coach Bruce Malcom said. "Just had an outstanding game. This was the last rebounding party we had and this was up the back for us."

Wakefield was hot from the floor hitting 58.1 percent of its field goals while improving its record to 5-3.

Pender was led by Marlin Gathge with 11 points and Kent Moeller with 10.

The Trojans held a two-point lead after one quarter of play and opened up to a nine point advantage by half time. The second half of action was run-and-gun.

Wakefield Loses 'Shooting Contest'

Homer Handles Trojans

In the opening round game against Homer, the locals had another good shooting night but ran into better shooting from their opponents.

"It was a good shooting contest. When we hit 51.8 percent of our shots and get beat this bad, they (Homer), have to be shooting well," said coach Ernie Kovar.

Team leader Jeff Hallstrom pumped in 22 points and sophomore Mike Clay had 16. Brent Kohl scored 10.

The Trojans led 7-6 at the end of the first quarter but Homer gained the lead in the second period with several unanswered baskets.

Trailing, Wakefield tried to play catch up ball but couldn't catch the hot shots. Tom Swerman scored 22 points for Homer, which hit 67.3 percent from the field.

Leading rebounder for the Trojans was Vaughn Nixon with eight. Tom Wakefield players began serving a six week suspension.

tion during the Homer game.

The Trojans are scheduled to host Walthill tomorrow (Friday), Emerson-Hubbard on Tuesday and Wynot next Thursday.

Queens of the Mat

THESE THREE young ladies were voted queens of the Winside Invitational Wrestling Tournament, Saturday. The presentation was made prior to the finals. From bottom to top: Jean Goreske, Oakland-Craig; Tammy McManiga, Logan View; Marci Wetler, Randolph. Wrestlers elected the three queens from girls of the 12 schools which competed in the invitational.

Conference, District Stats Released

McRae Named CSIC Player of Week

Conference and district statistics and standings have been released by the Central States Intercollegiate Conference and District 11 offices. Wayne State College is a member of both groups.

WSC forward Leon McRae has been selected CSIC player of the week for his efforts in Wildcat victories over Missouri Western and Peru State last weekend.

The 6-4, 190 pound senior from Durham, N.C. scored 21 points against Western while hitting 10 of 12 shots from the field and added 18 points the following night against Peru. During the week he increased his field goal percentage from .510 to .575.

The two weekend victories raised Wayne State's record to 6-8.

Women's Information

The Lady Wildcats have won half of their first 10 games and are averaging 69.3 points per game. WSC has hit 43.6 percent from the field but only 50 percent from the free throw line.

The Lady Cats rank third in team offense, second in field goal percentage and second in team defense in the CSIC. They have allowed an average of 60.6 points per game and have outscored their opponents by an average margin of 8.7 points.

Several individuals are among the conference leaders. Lori Koester of Concord is the fourth leading scorer with an average of 16.3 points per game. Lisa Draper is eighth with an average of 14.2 and Julie Petronis is among the top 20 with a 10.4 average.

In the rebounding department, Petronis is second in the conference. She has pulled down an average of 11.5 rebounds per game. Deb Emanuel and Koester also are averaging 7.2 and 6.2 rebounds per game respectively.

Draper and Koester rank third and fifth respectively in field goal percentage. Draper has hit 49.5 percent of her shots and Koester has made 47.6 percent.

In the District 11 stats, WSC ranks second behind Midland in both team offense and defense. Koester is the leading scorer and Petronis the leading rebounder in the district. In free throw percentage, Koester is listed as the best with a mark of 90 percent.

Men's Information

In District 11 men's statistics, Wayne State ranks in the middle of the pack in team offense and fourth in team defense.

Three Wildcats are among the scoring leaders. Grady Hansen is second in scoring with an average of 20.3 points per game. Leon McRae is fifth at 18 points and Doug Lollman ranks seventh with a 17.2 average.

McRae is listed fourth in field goal percentage at .575 and second in free throw percentage with 84.7 percent success.

CSIC statistics place the Wildcats third in team offense with a 74.3 scoring average. Wayne State has hit 58.2 percent of its field goal attempts, tops in the league.

At the free throw line, WSC has hit 68.9 percent to rank second in the conference. A rebound margin of 4.7 rebounds per game more than the opposition places the Cats first in that category.

Individually, Hansen and McRae rank first and third respectively in scoring. Both also are listed in rebounding and field goal percentage. McRae is third in field goal percentage and first in free throw percentage at 84.7 percent.

Hays, Kearney Coming to Town

By Clark Coco
Wayne State SID

Anyone looking for a couple of outstanding basketball games to watch this weekend won't have to travel far.

The Wayne State Wildcats entertain perennial District 11 power Kearney State tomorrow (Friday) and Fort Hays State, the NAIA's number one rated team in the nation, on Saturday.

Kearney State, 7-3 so far this season, lost five lettermen from last season's 27-4 squad but don't feel sorry for them. The Antelopes still come at their opponents with a fast and well balanced attack as they presently have four starters in double figures. Leading the way is 6-4 junior forward Doug Holtmeier with 16.7 points and 6.1 rebounds per outing. Following Holtmeier is guard Jeff Veerhusen and forwards Dick Johnson and Pete Anderson who are averaging 15, 13 and 12 points per game respectively.

The Lopers will come into Friday night's action averaging just over 90 points a game while allowing their opponents 80 points per contest.

Fort Hays State will start this week's play with a perfect 15-0 record and a number one national ranking as it prepares for Missouri Western on Friday and Wayne State Saturday.

Fort Hays features an offensive attack that has five players scoring in double figures and as a team is averaging over 90 points per game. Leading the way for the Tigers are their tandem guards Max Hamblin and Mark Wilson averaging 16 and 15 points per game respectively.

Wilson, after a good junior season, sat out last year with a knee injury and appears to be back taking up right where he left off. Adding to the Hays offense are a trio of 6-4 forwards in Dino Larry, 15 points per game and Lionel Hamer and Cesar Fantauzzi with 14 and 13 points per contest.

Wayne State, 4-1 since Christmas break, will counter these two teams with its scrappy defense. The Wildcats have limited their last two opponents to 58 points per contest. One of the key factors in the Cats' defense seems to be their hustle and willingness to work together according to head coach Rick Weaver.

Weaver said he feels that this will be the toughest weekend of basketball that his young team will have played up to date and his squad will have to play very well if they are to play with these two teams.

Lady Wildcats Lose on Road

The Wayne State Lady Wildcats traveled to Missouri Western Saturday where they dropped a 70-57 decision to the Golden Grifons.

The Lady Cats were again led by sophomore guard Lisa Draper of Council Bluffs as she hit on 9 of 10 shots from the floor and added six free throws to give her a total of 22 points for the contest. Lori Koester of Concord also came up with another fine performance as she contributed 15 points to the Wildcats' cause.

Jillie Petronis of Sioux City, the District 11 leading rebounder, again had a good night on the boards as she grabbed up 11 caroms, 10 of which were on the defensive end of the court.

The Lady Wildcats next see action as they host Kearney State College and Fort Hays State University tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday.

Winside Nipped

Laurie Gallop put together the best performance of her basketball career Monday but it wasn't enough as Beemer defeated the Wildcats 55-50 in Beemer.

Gallop hit 11 of 16 field goals and added six of nine free throws for 28 points. She also pulled down 11 rebounds and added three assists.

"This was probably the best game Laurie ever had," said Winside coach Kathy O'Connor. "We got off to a real slow start in the first half but played real well in the second half, especially the fourth quarter. But, we just couldn't catch up."

Gallop's attack was complemented by Robyn Winch who had 13 points, five steals and four assists. Sue Melner had seven rebounds and Tammie Thomas had seven points and three assists.

The Wildcats hit 41 percent from the field and 57 percent from the free throw line. Beemer made 45 percent of its field goals.

Winside will play on the road twice in four days, travelling to Hartington tomorrow (Friday) and to Allen Monday. They are scheduled to host Wausa next Friday.

Freshman Blue Devils Are Beaten in Two Games

The Wayne freshmen lost a pair of games during the past week of basketball action. Hartington Cedar Catholic defeated the Blue Devils 45-34 in Wayne Tuesday afternoon and Madison topped Wayne 46-21 last Friday.

Against Cedar, Wayne coach Duane Blomenkamp said his team played better than it had in its previous outings but got off to a slow start.

The Blue Devils fell behind by eight points as the first quarter came to a close and couldn't ever get back in the game despite cutting the deficit to seven points in the third period.

Leading player was Jim Poehlman with 10 points and six rebounds. Other scoring: Randy Gamble, 8; R. J. Mettler, 6; Jeff Stratton, 6; Ted DeTurk, 2; Blaine Johs, 2.

In last Friday's game, the Devils played poorly according to coach Blomenkamp and were never really close.

Wayne scoring: Blaine Johs, 6; Jim Poehlman, 4; Randy Gamble, 4; Brendan Dorcy, 2; Leif Olson, 2; Wayne Marsh, 2; Ted DeTurk, 1.

Next action for the Wayne freshmen is scheduled next Thursday (Jan. 22) at Schuyler.

Eighth Grade Rolls To Easy Triumph

Wayne's eighth grade basketball team won its second consecutive game of the season Tuesday with an easy 48-19 win over Hartington Trinity.

Steve Overin led all scorers with 20 points and Kevin May hit 12. Rick Nelson scored six, Kevin Koenig scored four, Brad Moore scored four and Chris Wieseler added two.

Wayne coach Darrell Moore said his team played hard and got ahead early. The hosts held a 13 point lead after one quarter of play and outscored the opponents in every quarter.

Wakefield Girls Downed

The Ponca girls took control early and then poured it on in a 68-28 win over Wakefield, Monday night in Ponca.

Wakefield coach Dennis Wilbur later expressed his displeasure with Ponca's game plan. He accused Ponca's coach of running up the score by leaving the starters in the game until the score had gotten well out of hand.

"One starter played until the end of the game and the others were left in until late in the fourth quarter. Ponca had reserves who didn't play," Wilbur said.

Ponca jumped out to a 24-point lead at the half and continued to use a full-court press in the second half according to Wilbur. The Trojan coach said he had pulled all of his starters out of the game at the start of the final period.

"Our starters sat on the bench watching Ponca's starters play against our junior varsity team," Wilbur stated.

Wakefield was led in scoring by Rita Wilson with eight points, Joan Miller with six and Kris Mitchell and Connie Tullberg with four apiece. Top rebounders were Celeen Neuhaus with four and Miller, Rene Weendstrand and Michelle Meyer with three each. Leading scorers for Ponca were Diana Herfort with 22, Susan Armstrong with 14, Susan Woodford with 13 and Kim Puehl with 10.

Wilbur said that Tullberg and Miller had good performances in the losing effort. The coach cited poor officiating both ways and pointed out that a ball handler could run into another player and travelling would be called.

Wakefield will play at Walthill tonight (Thursday) and is scheduled to host Wynot next Thursday.

Lead Wakefield Bowling Meet

Roger Johnson of Lyons has taken over the singles event lead in the seventh annual Wakefield Lions Club bowling tournament with a score of 663. He leads Pat Bennett of Sioux City by 11 pins. Last week's leader, Duane Tappe of Wakefield has fallen to third with a 642.

Two Wakefield teams, Don's Electric with 3,201 and Mill's Bunch, 3,113, have taken over the top two spots in the team event supplanting the Farmers and Merchants team of Oakland.

Three Oakland doubles dominate that division. Larry Landholm and Gary Peterson are setting the pace with 1,319. Peterson and Harold Krohn are second at 1,283, and third place belongs to Ervin Freed and Krohn with 1,255.

In the tournament's fourth event, mixed doubles, Edith Taylor and Gary Peterson, 1253, have a wide advantage over Alice and Don Wennkamp of Thurston, 1,167, and the rest of the field.

The tournament will continue at the Wakefield-Recreation Center for two more weeks, beginning tomorrow (Friday) evening.

Randy's Recap

According to Randy Huscoll

FORMER WAYNE STATE COLLEGE students seem to be popping up in the news lately.

Kevin Savio, a former WSC football great who moved on to bigger and better things, has gained another honor.

Savio, an All Pro center for the Shreveport Steamer, was selected to play in the East West All-Star Game for the Minor Professional Football Association. The game is scheduled at Municipal Stadium in New Orleans on Saturday, Jan. 24, a day before the NFL Super Bowl.

The WSC grad was chosen from a list of 217 minor league and semi pro squads from throughout the United States. Three of his teammates at Shreveport also were named to the West team.

It is reported that a number of NFL scouts and directors of player personnel will be on hand and Savio said he feels it probably will be the best and most important look he'll get at this time.

"Players selected for the game often get signed to a free agent contract," Savio said. "I am just going to go down there and give it a shot and see what happens. I would like a chance at the NFL level right now."

Shreveport finished among the top four teams in the American Football Association last season, losing 21-17 in the playoff semifinals to eventual champion West Virginia.

Savio, who now works for the City of Chicago, said he will return to play in Shreveport if he isn't given a tryout with an NFL team. He has a two-year contract with the Steamer.

IF YOU HAPPEN to be out on the East coast anytime soon and drop into a Mac Donald's to grab a bite to eat, you may see a familiar face.

Take a good look at the place mats while you're munching on that quarter pounder. Brian Poldberg, one of Wayne State's most successful baseball players, is pictured beween the golden arches with his typical big Poldberg grin and a hamburger in his hand. Two other baseball players also are pictured on the place mats.

Poldberg, who played for WSC a few years ago and then transferred to Emporia State College, is now playing for Nashville, Tenn., a minor league team. Nashville is a Class AA affiliate of the New York Yankees.

The former honorable mention All-American candidate stopped in Wayne a few weeks ago. He dropped in to say hello to Mom Welte of Morey Hall and left off a copy of one of the place mats.

ANOTHER FORMER WSC student, Doug Radtke will be assistant coach in the Nebraska Shrine Bowl game. Radtke is presently head coach at Omaha Roncalli High School.

Radtke earned his bachelors degree and masters at Wayne State.

Card of Thanks

I WISH TO thank my dear friends and relatives for the thoughtfulness and good wishes and kindness shown to me to make my 90th birthday such a delightful day in my life. Special thanks to Pastor Petersen for his encouraging words and to the ladies of St. Paul Lutheran for helping my girls with the arrangements and for serving the prepared refreshments. It was indeed a surprise until that Sunday morning. How I do enjoy going over the many, many cards with the photos that you gave reminding me of our friendships. Many, many thanks. It all means so very much to me. God bless you always. Minnie Heikes. 115

I WOULD LIKE to thank the friends and relatives who remembered me with cards, visits, flowers and gifts while I was hospitalized. To the relatives and neighbors who helped with chores at home. To Rev. Axen for his visits and prayers, also for the excellent care given me at Providence Medical Center, to Sister Gertrude and Dr. Walter Benhack and Gary West, also the ambulance driver and nurses. God bless you all for your kindness. Melvin Coulter. 115

I AM GRATEFUL to everyone who remembered me with cards, flowers, phone calls and visits during my stay at the hospital. Special thanks to Pastor Fish and Dr. Becker for their calls. Your thoughtfulness will be remembered. Fred Barsgadt. 115

MY SINCERE thanks to Rise's Hallmark Shop for the beautiful roll-top desk I won during the holiday promotion. It was greatly appreciated. Mrs. Dale Stuckenschmidt, Wisner. 115

THANK YOU Allen Fire Department for such a quick response to our fire call. A special thanks to Dave Ellis, Chuck Carlson, Randy Geiger and Dale Strivens. We are very grateful. Duke and Mary Johnson. 115

I WISH to thank our neighbors, relatives and friends for the help, visits, cards and phone calls while in the hospital. Dr. Wiseman, Rev. Monson and the entire staff of Providence Medical Center for their wonderful care. Thanks, Bill Vahkamp. 115

WE WOULD like to express our sincere thanks to all friends and relatives for memorials, flowers, cards and food brought in. God bless you all for your thoughtfulness. The families of Jessie Shufelt. 115

LILLIAN, DAVID and Karen Nordstrand express heartfelt thanks to our neighbors and all our other friends for their sympathy and kindness during our recent loss. 115

He was graduated from US Military Police Training at Fort McClellan, Ala. in 1979 and from the Nebraska Law Enforcement Training Center in Grand Island in 1980.

Important Changes Mark Social Security Programs: Manager

Many important changes in the social security disability insurance and supplemental security income (SSI) disability programs took effect in December, Dale Branch, social security district manager in Norfolk, said recently.

Many of the changes are intended to encourage people who receive social security or SSI disability payments to return to work. The changes are:

If a person who is still disabled becomes unable to work within a year after his or her benefits were stopped because of work, payments can be automatically reinstated. A new application is not necessary, but the person must notify social security.

If a worker starts receiving social security disability benefits within 5 years after they stopped and he or she has Medicare before, Medicare can begin immediately. The person will not have to serve another 24-month waiting period.

This provision also applies to disabled widows and widowers and adults disabled before age 22 whose benefits start again within 7 years.

A person who did not complete the 24-month waiting period during the first period of disability can count the months he or she did get benefits toward the waiting period in the second period of disability.

Impairment related work expenses can be deducted from a person's earnings in deciding whether he or she is able to do substantial gainful work even if these expenses also apply to daily living needs. Expenses for such things as medical devices and equipment, attendant care, required drugs, and services are included. These deductions also apply in figuring the amount of the SSI payment.

Disabled widows and widowers are now eligible for a trial work period which permits them to test their ability to work and still get benefits.

Social security will pay a reasonable charge for any medical reports it needs and requests.

Get Tax Forms Together

Taxpayers, especially those who itemize, should begin getting their receipts and other records together to support claims on their Federal income tax returns. The Internal Revenue Service says. Taxpayers may use any form of recordkeeping they prefer, as long as they have proper records to verify the income, deductions, credits and other items shown on the tax return. Good records can also enable the taxpayer to quickly and accurately list his or her deductions.

It would be a good idea to sort records into the same categories listed on Schedule A of the Form 1040 — medical or dental expenses, state or local taxes, interest payments, contributions to charity, casualty or theft losses and miscellaneous deductions.

Good records and supporting documents can be in the form of cancelled checks, paid bills, pay stubs, receipts or, in some cases, a diary of daily expenses. Generally, cancelled checks or receipts should not be attached to the return for an individual but explanatory documentation is required for a contribution of property.

Good Diet Advice, Size of Servings Clue to Good Diet

Many people have weight control problems even though they follow good dietary advice to the letter. The problem, Joan Werblow, director of the Dairy Council of Central States, says, may be a lack of understanding of serving sizes.

The dietitian says to look at the four food groups approach to food selection a bit more carefully. This concept is outlined on a colorful, easy to use refrigerator poster called "The Guide To Good Eating."

Adults should have two servings from the milk group each day. One serving is an eight ounce glass of milk or one and a half slices (1 1/2 ounce cube) of cheese.

A serving of meat is just two ounces. Adults should have two servings from the meat group which also includes fish, eggs, dried nuts and dried peas.

Four servings from the fruit vegetable group provide vitamins A and C. Dairy Council of Central States recommends getting a calorie counter booklet with typical serving sizes in this group for better clarification.

The same applies to the grain group, including breads, cereals, rice and pasta. "The Guide To Good Eating" recommends that adults eat four daily servings for energy and enough B vitamins. But remember that one slice of bread is a serving. A sandwich, then, provides two servings.

Many foods today have nutrition labels listing serving sizes, the number of servings per container, and the number of calories per serving. Mrs. Werblow recommends getting into the habit of reading those labels. But remember, the serving sizes from the manufacturer may not be the same as the recommended serving sizes for each food group.

The four food groups can be a convenient way to good nutrition. Following the serving sizes, one can get by for as little as 1200 calories from choosing two servings of the milk group, two servings of the meat group and four servings each from the fruit vegetable and grain groups.

Major Defeat for Urban Lawmaker

CAPITOL NEWS
By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

When the 87th Legislature convened, Sen. Howard Lamb of Anselmo scored what a number of senators privately said was a major victory over an urban lawmaker.

Lamb defeated Omaha Sen. Larry Stoney in the race for chairman of the Legislature's Executive Board, a position that was held last year by ousted Sen. Frank Lewis of Bellevue.

For months, lawmakers and legislative observers have been discussing the vacancy that was created when Lewis was defeated in the general election and therefore denied an opportunity to seek re-election to the Executive Board post.

No one seemed confident in trying to predict the outcome of the Lamb-Stoney race, which was the one contest that received the most attention in the days, weeks and months before the 1981 session. But everyone was talking about it. And when it was time for the deciding vote, everyone sat anxiously and watched as the results were revealed on the Legislature's chalk board.

In the end, Lamb was the victor — by two votes. He admitted after the balloting that he had campaigned long and hard for the position, and he pledged to do his best to be a fair, honest and responsible Executive Board chairman.

Lamb, a soft-spoken man with full head of wavy white hair, also had kind words for the man he had just defeated: he said he has been, and will still be, Stoney's friend. Lamb said he hopes the Legislature's decision was based on the belief that he could do a fair and responsible job. The close vote would indicate Stoney's colleagues felt the same way about him.

Election of Executive Board chairman was one of the many organizational tasks that faced the lawmakers when they convened the 1981 session. Although the Lamb-Stoney race was up in the air until the final votes were counted, there was little, if any, doubt about who would be the 1981-82 speaker of the Legislature.

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings was honored by unanimously being re-elected to his second consecutive term as speaker. The veteran lawmaker, who has almost set a record in the Legislature for the number of years served, had no opposition.

Waverly Sen. Jerome Warner, himself a respected veteran, nominated Marvel in a speech that was probably one of Warner's best. He talked about tradition, and how it would take something "unique" to convince him that setting a precedent was warranted. And Warner said Marvel was worth breaking what he called a 125-year tradition.

Marvel humbly accepted the honor, which was accompanied by an obviously sincere round of applause. The Hastings educator gave a brief acceptance speech in which he said he would continue enforcing one rule — the rule of fairness. He started to go on, but stopped, suggesting he should quit before he got too sentimental. Marvel, after all, is known as a stern but compassionate man who doesn't smile often, although he respects — and is respected by — probably everyone with whom he works.

About the only other time in recent memory that Marvel has stopped short of saying all that probably was on his mind was at the end of the last session, when his colleagues warmly thanked him for a job well done.

Other key positions handed out when the lawmakers organized were Agriculture Committee chairman, to Sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood, who was re-elected; and Budget Committee chief, to Warner, who also was re-elected.

Among the other veterans who were re-elected to chairmanships were Gerald Koch of Ralston, Education, Maurice Kremer of Aurora, Public Works, Sam Cullen of Hemingford, Public Health and Welfare, and John DeCamp of Neligh, Banking.

Chaplain controversy continues
U.S. District Judge Warren Urbom's decision that the chaplain of the Legislature cannot be paid with public funds has not necessarily settled the controversy surrounding the legislative chaplain.

The state Justice Department recently announced it would appeal Urbom's ruling to the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis.

The Justice Department represented the state in Urbom's court, and apparently is seeking a ruling that there is nothing unconstitutional about paying a chaplain to open each legislative day with prayer.

On the other side of the issue is state Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha, who for some time has complained about the practice of having a legislative chaplain, let alone paying him.

An attorney with the Denver American Civil Liberties Union, who worked with Chambers on his suit, said the appeals court also would be receiving a cross appeal aimed at doing away with the practice altogether.

The issue likely will be tied up in the courts for some time, but it didn't cause any confrontations during the opening day of the 87th Legislature. The Rev. Robert Palmer of Lincoln, longtime legislative chaplain, opened the legislative meeting as usual with a prayer. Chambers was missing at the time, but that wasn't necessarily unusual. He didn't sit through the chaplain's prayers last year either.

How A Proposal Becomes A Law

"With the unicameral beginning its new session on Jan. 7, it would be well for us as good citizens to review the steps involved in passing a state law.

"Although Nebraska is the only one of our 50 states to have a one-house legislature, many nations have similar systems, as do nearly all the cities and counties in the United States.

"Sometimes even a two-house legislative body passes bills that haven't been given enough consideration, but the unicameral has the process for thorough review, if its members will provide it.

"Nebraska's state senators have the assistance of bill drafters who give technical advice on how an idea should be worded to amend, or fit in, with existing state law.

"The 49 senators elect 9 of their members as an executive committee. One of the duties of this committee is to refer each bill to a specific committee. Sometimes this process affects a bill's fate. A bill might have subject matter that is in the jurisdiction of two of the legislature's standing committees. One of those committees might be likely to recommend the bill to the full legislature and the other might be likely to kill it.

"A legislative fiscal analyst determines what the cost of each proposed bill will be. No committee, nor the full legislature, can consider a proposal without such a cost estimate attached.

"Each committee is to hold a public hearing on a bill before taking action on it. Any citizen can testify at such hearings. The committee can then kill the bill or send it to the full body as originally introduced.

"General file is the term used to describe a bill that has just been advanced from a committee. When such a bill is considered by the full unicameral, the first subjects addressed are any amendments recommended by the committee that considered it and any by the introducer or introducers. The debate on a bill while it is in general file is usually the most thorough consideration given by the full unicameral.

"If at least 25 of the 49 senators vote to advance a bill from general file, it goes to enrollment and review in final. This term means that the legislative staff looks it over again for technical mistakes.

"After this review the full legislature considers a bill on select file, where again at least 25 votes are necessary for advancement. The next step is enrollment and review engrossing, which means a final technical review by legislative staff.

"Nebraska's constitution requires that at least one day pass and normally two, after engrossing before final reading. Again on final reading, at least 25 members must vote for a bill in order for it to be sent to the governor.

"The governor has five days, excluding Sunday, to consider a bill. If he vetoes a bill, it is sent back to the legislature, where 30 votes are necessary to enact a law over a governor's objections.

"Each bill that provides for new state spending must be accompanied by a companion bill that appropriates money for the new function, although the legislature has been known to give state agencies additional duties without any, or sufficient, additional money to carry out those responsibilities.

"The appropriations committee of the legislature prepares bills to appropriate funds for existing state duties. Nebraska's constitution gives the governor the power to veto one spending item in an appropriation bill sent to him without killing the other parts.

"It has been 46 years now since Nebraskans voted for a unicameral. I think it has served its citizens well."

Inaugural Items Occupy Official Washington

by Doug Bereuter

The New Year in Washington
Official Washington for the moment is preoccupied with the inaugural events which go to what ball, what to wear when (mourning suits are the suggested attire for some at the swearing in ceremony). But the serious business of governing doesn't wait.

New members of Congress, including Hal Daub from Nebraska's 2nd Congressional District, undoubtedly will bring to the institution a fresh spirit and firm commitment to making the legislative process work. At the top of the agenda for Congress and the nation will be setting a new course for the economy. In fact, the fate of President Reagan's budget and tax proposals for his term as President will largely be decided in the next few months, in all likelihood.

The new President does have the advantage of a Senate in his party's control for the first time in a quarter century. He also may have a working majority in the House, with fiscally conservative Democrats aligned with Republicans. Nevertheless, the going inevitably will get tough. The battleground for economic and tax policies will be mainly in the tax writing committees. Democrats have a 23-12 majority (compared to a 24-12 margin during the last Congress) on the House Ways and Means Committee, now chaired by Dan Rostenkowski, a liberal from Illinois. This ratio is incredibly unbalanced considering the fact that Republicans comprise 44 percent of the House membership as a whole. Given the committee representation, endorsement of the Reagan economic program won't come easily.

However, the President elect has in his favor the chief executive's prerogative to consult, cajole and coerce cooperation from the Congress. So far, Governor Reagan has made himself highly accessible to members of Congress, and gives every indication he will remain that way. During a recent visit, for example, Governor Reagan said he will resume a 19th Century practice of holding some bill signing ceremonies in the Presidential Room off the Senate chamber to symbolize the partnership between the executive and legislative branches.

Hopefully, Congress will get off to a running start. Besides revitalizing the economy, Congress must fashion a new farm bill to renew and possibly restructure the nation's farm programs. Comprehensive regulatory reform is due to make government more efficient and responsive, and to relieve the unreasonable regulatory burden now placed on virtually every segment of our society.

The Social Security System is crumbling at the foundation, with the number of elderly recipients increasing in proportion to wage earners contributing to the fund. An uneasy peace requires a strengthened military. Problems of the all-volunteer forces must be examined and changes made to attract and retain qualified personnel. Weapons systems must be upgraded along with our ability to move equipment and forces on short notice.

All of these issues touching on our domestic welfare and national security require innovative thinking and a willingness to sacrifice purely parochial or narrow interests.

This is a time of good beginnings and cooperation. The expectation for change is high among the American people, whose patience has grown short. If the President and Congress do not produce, the people responsible will face the consequences at the polls just two short years from now.

OUT OF OLD NEBRASKA

The Keifers of Nuckolls County 1880's-1890's

In the 1890's the Joseph Warren Keifers — senior and junior — "owned and controlled about 5,000 acres of good tillable land, most of it bottom lands on the Republican River" in Nuckolls County. But, before coming to Nebraska, the name Keifer was well known in military circles and the halls of Congress. (Memoirs, Adams, Clay, Webster and Nuckolls Counties, 1890, in the Nebraska State Historical Society Library.)

The father (1836-1932), an Ohioan educated at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, became an officer in the Civil War and speaker of the US House of Representatives in the 1870-1880's.

When President James Garfield was assassinated in 1881, Speaker Keifer stood next in line to the presidency as Vice-President Chester A. Arthur assumed the office. Mrs. Keifer was called on at times to assume official and social responsibilities which would have been carried on by the deceased Mrs. Arthur.

Joseph W. Keifer Jr. (1860-1954) served as his father's secretary in Washington. In 1883 he left the political scene and settled in Nuckolls County. After leaving Congress the father returned to Springfield, Ohio, where he practiced law, but he made occasional trips west to check on his holdings.

The older Keifer, commissioned a major in the 3rd Ohio Infantry in 1861, later transferred to the 10th Ohio. Wounded four times in the Shenandoah and Petersburg-to-Appomattox campaigns, he was brevetted a brigadier general for his service. In 1898 he returned to duty as a major general in the Spanish-American War. His two-volume history, "Slavery and Four Years of War," was published in 1900 by G. P. Putnam and Sons.

From the Keifer Farm in 1890 about "21 carloads of cattle and 10 of hogs" were shipped to market each year in addition to the crops raised. The younger Keifer, besides managing the farm, served as postmaster of Elora, was a justice of the peace, and was for years a member of the school board. Educated at Antioch College and Ohio State University, he saw that his children were enrolled in a city school system offering a broader education than the country school. All four children were graduates of Lincoln High School and the University of Nebraska. To accomplish this he maintained a home in Lincoln for fifteen years. Mrs. Keifer and the children spent the school months in it, returning to the ranch in the summer. During this period he served a term in the Legislature (1907) and was a state chairman of the Republican party.

On one of the elder Keifer's visits to Nebraska, he was interviewed by the "Superior Journal" (1901). Then 65, he told of a trip he had made to south central Nebraska when the area was still Indian country. The knowledge he gained there about the fertile Republican River Valley doubtless influenced him to establish family enterprises there in the 1880's.

"I was with a party of men on horseback. We came over the brow of the hill near where the cemetery now is and looking down in the valley where now stands the town of Superior, we saw a hundred or more Indians going along single file. We soon withdrew and going around northwest from where we were, secreted ourselves and our horses in a creek or ravine, behind some bushes, until the Indians had passed on up the river and out of sight."

In the third generation of Keifers in Nebraska, Oswin, a son (died 1978), served as a state legislator (1923); was prominent in establishing the Bostwick Irrigation Districts of Kansas and Nebraska; and was active in historical and numismatic organizations. A daughter, Mrs. Joel E. McLafferty (deceased) was once selected "mother of the year" for Nebraska.

'Human' Rights for Animals

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
By M.M. Van Kirk,
Director of Information

As if farmers didn't have enough things to worry about in trying to cope with inflation, government regulation, the uncertainties of weather, etc., there now looms a new irritant and possible threat from a group of people seeking to endow animals with "human rights."

Before the average person passes that off as a joke, consider that in 1979, the California Legislature adopted a resolution declaring "that the Legislature of the State of California should take effective measures to protect and defend the rights of animals."

If legislatures accept the notion that animals have legal rights, then it becomes easier for certain groups to force their opinions about diets, etc., upon the rank and file of people. For example, some vegetarians are so convinced of the sanctity of their position that they would cheerfully accept laws denying other people the right to eat meat on the grounds that it was in their best interests.

One of the network television special weekly programs delved into this field recently, giving the "animal rights" advocates national exposure and a relative amount of credence. For instance, "animal rights" advocates would deny broiler producers and egg producers use of the modern confined and controlled facilities that have become standards for efficiency. They contend that it is the natural right of chickens to run free and lay their eggs in nests of their own choosing instead of on conveyor belts.

Early in this century, farmers learned that they got more eggs and had broilers ready for market much faster by putting their flocks of chickens under semi-confinement and not permitting them the free, wild happy life that they formerly enjoyed. This also saved a sizeable number from the coyotes that liked to sneak up through the cornfields and grab off a nice fat hen for breakfast at the crack of dawn.

The "animal rights" advocates also object to raising hogs in confinement. They cite as evidence of stress that producers have to cut off the little pigs' tails and clip their eye teeth to prevent potential can nibbling later on. They worry about the sow's kept in farrowing crates and the restrictions on their movement. They overlook the fact that the use of farrowing crates reduces the numbers of little pigs that were crushed to death by their mothers lying on them.

These measures make for more efficient production and benefit consumers who would otherwise be paying much higher prices for their eggs, broilers and pork products.

Of course the "animal rights" people like to confuse the issue by bringing in unrelated "endangered species" and "cruelty to animals" arguments. There is some of the "animal rights" contention in the movement that created the federal "Wild Horse and Burro" preservation act, and the silliness which directs that the Department of Interior run a program encouraging people to "adopt" wild horses and burros from government lands where they are overpopulating to the point of starvation.

Apparently the lawmakers see nothing in consistent with commercial slaughter and sale of domestic horse meat for human and pet food purposes but forbid the "cropping" of excess horses and burros for the same purpose from the wild.

If one wants to observe the allocation of "animal rights" in the extreme, then go to India where herds of cattle roam the countryside eating crops that otherwise could be used by a starving populace. In India, even the rats are protected to ravage and pollute the stored grain.

There has never been any real argument over the need to eliminate needless cruelty to animals or to preserve and protect wildlife and endangered species. But "far-out" movements to endow animals with human "rights" is ridiculous and an invitation to human hunger and disaster.

Dear Editor:

A group of us have questions and comments about the recent arrest of Charlie Weible for possession and intent to sell cocaine.

We wonder how the village of Winside has justified letting this business (Charlie's Bar) stay open.

Some taxpayers feel that the county attorney is mandated to be the prosecution in situations such as this. Supposedly, he is the paid representative of the people of this county.

Also, we are hopeful that the other offenders in this county will be arrested, and that those already arrested be prosecuted. For obvious reasons, we are signing this only —

Concerned Citizens
Of Winside

Editor's Note: Much of this letter was edited because we considered it potentially libelous material. The letter made unsubstantiated charges against Weible's father, Wayne County Sheriff Don (Butch) Weible. In addition, the general tone of the letter was that Weible was guilty of the charge, when in fact he is innocent until proven guilty.

Letters Welcome

Letters from readers are welcome. They should be timely, brief and must contain no libelous statements. We reserve the right to edit or reject any letter.

Letters may be published with a pseudonym or with the author's name omitted if so desired. However, the writer's signature must be a part of the original letter. Unsigned letters will not be printed.

Who's who, what's what?

1. WHAT unique gift did Ken Weender give his daughter for Christmas?
 2. WHEN will the higher rates for public power become effective?
 3. WHO are the Holiday Tournament champs?
 4. WHEN are the property assessments due?
 5. HOW can a person become a candidate for the Ak-Sar-Ben annual Good Neighbor Award?
- ANSWERS: 1. A homemade 60-pound dollhouse. 2. February 1, 1981. 3. Wayne State Wildcats. 4. March 1, 1981. 5. Be a good neighbor who consistently goes out of his way to help others in need.

CPR, Obstructed Airway Classes Scheduled at Allen Fire Hall

Two classes in Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) and Obstructed Airways will be offered at the Allen fire hall during January and February.

Monday evening classes are scheduled at 7 p.m. Jan. 19 and 26 and Feb. 2. Classes also are scheduled at 7 p.m. on Thursday evenings, Jan. 22 and 29 and Feb. 5.

Classes are limited and interested persons are asked to pre-register with Pearl Snyder, 635-2426 or 635-2444, or at the Security State Bank. Cost is $3 for the manual.

Meeting Change A change in the meeting of Chattersw Club this month has been announced.

The club is planning a potluck luncheon in the home of Norma Warner on Jan. 21. Members are to bring a $2 wrapped prize for bingo.

ELF Club Meets The ELF Home Extension Club met Friday in the home of Lori Jackson with eight members.

New president Pearl Snyder conducted the meeting, which opened with the flag salute Mrs. Snyder reported on the special county extension meeting.

Date books were filled in for the coming year.

A lesson in quilting by Pearl Snyder included slides of various quilts. At the close of the lesson each member worked on a baby quilt.

The February meeting will be held in the home of Carol Jackson. Doris Linafelter, and Lori Jackson will give the lesson, entitled "Change, a New Opportunity for Growth."

Friday Meeting Fern Benton entertained the Allen Community Extension Club Friday. Ten members read the Extension Collect and answered roll call with a hobby.

Dessa Jones, reading leader, presented several clippings and Mabel Wheeler reported on "Healthier Nebraska."

The February meeting will be with Esther Koester. The lesson, "Change, a New Opportunity for Growth," will be given by Irene Armour and Flossie Wilson.

Birthday Coffee Whit and Sylvia Whitford and Dorothy Ellis will host a coffee at the Senior Citizens Center in Allen on Tuesday, Jan. 20, honoring the 93rd birthday of Joe Bennett.

All friends and relatives are invited to attend the coffee at 10 a.m.

One Act Play Allen's one-act play entry, directed by Connie Roberts, is "Lady Seeks Position."

The play was presented at the conference contest on Jan. 14 and will be presented again at the district contest at Wayne State College on Jan. 21.

Members of the cast are Dawn Kluber, Lisa Kraft, Lori Troth, Ann Gwin and Linda Wood.

Meet at Fire Hall Troop 174 Allen Brownie and Juniors met at the fire hall Friday.

President Tamie Noe and vice president Tabitha Burnham called the meeting to order.

Secretaries Patty Cooper and Armeta Noe read the minutes, and the treasurer's report was given by Ella Cooper. The news was reported by Jennifer Lee.

A treat committee for the Jan. 24 meeting was selected by Lynnell Wood and Sandy Noe. Leslie Isom is a new member. The meeting was opened by the color guard, Amy Noe and Valerie Puckett, and was adjourned by Tabitha Burnham.

Mrs. Pearl Snyder was a guest at the meeting and spoke on first aid. A question and answer session followed.

Following the meeting Mrs. Snyder, who is town clerk, took the group to the clerk's office and explained its functions. The girls then visited the library where Mrs. Kellogg explained its services.

The group returned to the fire hall for lunch and to discuss Girl Scout cookie sales. Scouts will begin taking orders for cookies on Feb. 7, with delivery expected around March 20. Scout leaders are Mrs. Paulette Kumm and Mrs. John Noe.

Young Homemakers Young Homemakers met in the home of Kathy Wilmes last Thursday for a post-Christmas luncheon, and exchange of homemade gifts.

Ten members and a guest, Mary Burnett, attended. Activities were planned for the year.

The February meeting will be in the home of Joyce Benstead. Shella Schroeder will give a demonstration on candle making.

Attends Meeting Joann Rahn attended an informational meeting of the Housing Authority in Omaha Jan. 7.

Mrs. Rahn reports that another new resident, Martin Domsch of Ponca, has moved into the Senior Citizens Housing complex in Allen.

Five of the 16 units remain unoccupied, with two applications pending.

Conservation Tillage Not Cutting Crop Yields Much

Preplant tillage operations are being reduced on many Nebraska farms without significant yield reductions. Farmers cite labor, fuel and equipment costs, in addition to better erosion control, moisture conservation and more timely planting as reasons for reduced tillage.

Elbert C. Dickey, Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources extension agricultural engineer, and Allan R. Rider, former extension ag engineer now with Sperry New Holland, conducted a row crop tillage survey in Eastern and South Central Nebraska. These results and others were presented at a symposium in Chicago recently called "Crop Production with Conservation in the '80s," sponsored by the American Society of Agricultural Engineers (ASAE).

The survey was conducted during the spring and summer of 1979. Fields being planted were generally selected at random and the planter operator was interviewed regarding type and sequence of tillage operations used to prepare the seedbed.

Adopting a no-till system can result in a 70 percent fuel savings over the moldboard plow system and a more than 45 percent savings over the disk system. On the labor front, a disk system can save about 30 percent of the labor required for a moldboard plow system and a 50 percent savings can be realized by going from a moldboard plow to a no-till system.

Dickey and Rider found that the moldboard plow tillage system has been largely replaced by the disk system for row crop production. More than 60 percent of those fields surveyed were tilled with the disk system. About seven percent were using the no-till and till plant system as compared to 11 percent for the moldboard plow system. Except for the chisel system, replacing the moldboard plow system with another tillage system has resulted in a reduction in the number of field operations required for tillage and planting.

They also found that fall tillage has been replaced by spring tillage in Eastern and South Central Nebraska. Of those producers using the moldboard plow, about 70 percent were spring plowing rather than fall plowing, and nearly 80 percent were spring disking rather than fall disking. However, about 70 percent of those producers using a chisel tillage system are still chiseling rather than spring chiseling.

They said the type of residue as well as the crop to be planted influences the tillage system to be used. The disk system was used most often except in soybeans following soybeans, where the chisel system was used more often. Chisel plow usage on corn and soybean residue was about three to four times greater than moldboard plow usage. However, the chisel plow was not used to any extent on grain sorghum residues.

Residues also influence the number of tillage operations used, they found. In corn residue, 2.6 operations were used with a disk system, while 2.3 and 1.9 operations were used in grain sorghum and soybean residues, respectively.

The ag engineers also found that none of the producers surveyed chopped residue prior to plowing, and only 13 percent chopped prior to chiseling. About one-fourth of the producers using a moldboard plow or chisel plow system disked residues before plowing or chiseling. Only 18.1 percent of all producers surveyed used a shredding or chopping operation in conjunction with their tillage system.

FmHA Provides $232 Million

During fiscal year 1980, Nebraska received $232,328,450 in loan and grant funds from the U.S. Department of Agriculture Farmers Home Administration (FmHA).

This was used to support farms, home improvement and community development in rural areas. FmHA State Director Leonard T. Hanks reports.

The agency's farm loan services, which supplement private credit available in rural areas, added $168,676,010 to Nebraska's resources for operation of farms during a year of emergency and commercial credit shortage for many farmers.

FmHA home loan programs accounted for $32,044,270 to build or improve 1,371 homes in town and countryside areas.

Loans and supplementary grants to improve rural community water, sewer, health, fire protection and other public facilities totaled $9,093,460 for 62 projects throughout the state.

FmHA's service is guaranteed commercial loans for business and industry that employ rural people accounted for $10,096,910 during the year.

Hanks said FmHA's Improvement as a multi-purpose rural financial agency, serving rural localities through county and district offices, has resulted in an average of $227 million a year for farm credit and community development in rural Nebraska during the past years.

The State Director emphasized that FmHA has been given a lead responsibility in a system introduced this year to coordinate the Federal Government's rural development assistance with goals adopted in local and regional areas of the state.

"This action to implement the Rural Development Act has provided a clear channel of communication from localities, through their state development organizations, to highest levels of Washington for finding resources to meet the greatest needs of rural areas," Hanks said. "We expect to further improve this system of cooperation during the coming year."

State Outfront in Promoting Pest Management Practices

Nebraska is in the forefront of an endeavor to promote the concept of integrated pest management practices in the control of economic losses caused by vertebrate animals to agriculture, forest and range resources.

Dr. Robert Timm, extension vertebrate pest specialist in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, discussed the intent and progress of the Integrated Pest Management (IPM) program during the 42nd Midwest Fish and Wildlife Conference held recently.

Timm said IPM uses all available methods of prevention and control to keep pests from reaching damaging levels, while minimizing potentially harmful effects of pesticides on man, non-target species and the environment.

The program's goals are to ensure proper use of pesticides, minimize detrimental effects on man and ecosystems, improve cost effectiveness of pest control by ensuring maximum efficiency, and to protect the resource from pest damage.

The project at Nebraska became operational in September 1978. It was specifically intended to provide assistance to pork producers experiencing economic losses to Norway rats and house mice, and to provide help to alfalfa growers experiencing pocket gopher damage.

Timm said the program has used many methods of reaching the pork producers and others having difficulty with pests, including demonstrations, written and audiovisual materials, educational presentations, and in-service training of agricultural extension agents. A pilot project in starting damage control was begun in the winter of 1979-80, which is being continued this year.

Timm said information obtained through this project will assist extension personnel in helping agricultural producers to deal with vertebrate pest damage in a safe and efficient manner. Proper selection and use of vertebrate pest control methods will also lead to reduced hazards to humans and other non-targets, he noted.

Swine Days At Emerson This Month

Area Swine Days, an annual University of Nebraska event comes to Northeast Nebraska Jan. 22. The Legion Hall in Emerson will host the event to begin at 10 a.m. with programs touching every aspect of swine production.

Dr. Bobby Moser, nationally renowned swine nutritionist will discuss feeding lactating sows from a reproduction perspective. According to Thurston County agent, Andrew Christensen, this is one area where local producers are experiencing many difficulties that force them to use less than optimal feeding systems.

Other speakers include Villisca, Iowa producer Don Williams, who will relate his experiences in getting sows bred. Fremont banker, Jack Paulson will outline ideas on keeping the money moving. Northeast Station specialist Mike Brumm, has the latest on feeder pigs - where to buy, receiving rationals and antibiotics.

Austin Lewis will speak on alternative sources of protein and Jerry Bodman has ideas on solar energy in the hog house.

The Northeast Nebraska Pork Producers will co-sponsor a free dinner with the First Nation Bank of Emerson.

Chinch Bug Solution: No Corn or Sorghum

The best solution to control chinch bugs is to plant something other than corn or sorghum, University of Nebraska extension entomologist Bob Rosette said in Lincoln Jan. 5 at the first of the 13 Crop Protection Clinics.

The clinics are scheduled this month for locations around the state and are designed to update farmers and others on crop problems and possible control methods. Weed and entomology-plant pathology sessions run concurrently. The NU Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources sponsors the day-long meetings in cooperation with county extension offices.

Farmers should substitute soybeans, if possible, when chinch bugs are a threat, Rosette said. Further, "don't plant sorghum or corn in or adjacent to small grain stubble," he advised.

No outstanding chemical controls for chinch bugs are currently available, he added. If chinch bugs are observed before planting, insecticide can be placed in the furrow at planting time, he said. Furadan 10G for sorghum and Sevin for corn are useful, but will give 45 to 50 percent control at best and will not be effective at high population levels, he cautioned.

For corn rootworm control, Rosette noted that crop rotations are 80 percent effective in controlling these pests. However, soil insecticides have been the most popular method of controlling larvae since 1950 because they permit continuous corn production, he noted.

Applying these insecticides at cultivation time is generally more effective than at planting, he said. Granules are preferred and should be covered with soil at the base of plants.

Insecticides are rarely needed the first year a field is planted to corn, he said.

"Growers who have had unsatisfactory results at planting time with any insecticide should consider switching to one in a different category," A farmer might rotate to a carbamate after using an organic phosphate for two or more years, he suggested.

For European corn borer control, "farmers may have to decide between going after corn borer and spider mites," according to Lloyd Andersen, IANR extensionist, integrated pest management specialist. Insecticides such as Furadan and Dyphonate used for borer control may promote mite build-up, he said.

Corn borer usually has two broods, and a farmer is likely to catch one of them whether he plants early or late, Andersen noted. The second brood is more difficult to combat and control becomes economical when fields have an average of one egg mass per every other plant, he said.

In the weed science section, IANR extension agronomist Alex Marlin listed some considerations for late-season weed control. "It may pay to control weeds in mid-July or later," he said, with benefits obtained this year or next.

Harvest efficiency could be improved by controlling weeds, he said, in small grains and most row crops. Farmers can protect but not improve the quality of grain by eliminating the moist, growing weeds before harvesting field beans, soybeans, sorghum and small grains.

Late weeds have little effect on crop yield, he indicated, since weeds are most damaging during the early life of the crop. But a farmer can get a jump on next year by controlling weeds to decrease weed seed production, he said.

Weeds need to be treated before they flower, he said, noting that various sites on the same plant will be in different stages of maturity, so treating before the first sites flower is necessary.

However, growth-regulating herbicides such as 2,4-D must be applied well after the crop has pollinated, he said, to prevent crop injury. In addition, to prevent stem breakage in wheat, 2,4-D shouldn't be applied until the nodes or joints are no longer green.

In another weed presentation, William Lueschen, University of Minnesota agronomist, identified velvetleaf as the number one broadleaf problem in soybeans and corn. "It's persistent, it's an aggressive competitor and it produces abundant seed," Velvetleaf often needs a two-pronged approach for good control, he said, including timely use of a post-emergent or lay-by treatment.

"Even 5 percent weed escapes produce enough seed to cause a population increase," he noted. Roguing of escapes is advisable.

Black nightshade is becoming more of a problem in the corn belt, he added. A poison in the immature berries can be hazardous to man and animals while the mature berries can become mixed with grain and lower its quality.

Another upcoming weed problem was identified by Alex Marlin. "We are beginning to see some shorter shattercans," he warned. Shattercane escapes are well controlled with height-differential applicators and a herbicide such as Roundup, but this advantage is lost with shorter varieties.

Winter care of house plants. House plants require special care during the winter months because homes are operated for convenience of people and not the best health of house plants.

Most foliage plants grow best when exposed to indirect light. These kinds of plants include ferns, bromeliads, palms, philodendrons, sansevierias and rex begonias.

Cacti, succulents and plants with highly colored leaves, such as coleus and croton and most flowering plants like geraniums, kalanchoe and begonias, require full sunlight for best growth.

room should satisfy plants needs. Spraying plants once a week will not only help maintain humidity, but will keep the plants clean and help control insects.

There is no general rule that can be followed for watering, but there are several guides which may help. The more water it will need. Some plants like ferns, cinerarias and hydrangeas require more water than succulents and cacti, which grow best when the soil dries out fairly well between waterings.

Plants in large pots require less frequent waterings than plants in small pots. Two simple tests can help tell when plants need water. Press a dry fingertip on the top of the soil — if soil particles adhere and the surface is resilient, there may be no need for watering. If a toothpick thrust into the soil comes out clean, water is probably needed.

One danger of daily light watering is that the top of the soil may remain moist while the body of the soil gradually dries out. Alternate watering from below will avoid this danger. To be on the safe side use water at room temperature. When watering from the bottom, never allow the pot to stand in deep water for more than an hour.

Watering plants

Unfavorable moisture conditions in the home will have effects on plants. Lower leaves that droop, yellow and fall probably indicate too little humidity. If leaf tips brown, improper watering may be the cause.

Plants need moist air — a relative humidity between 40 to 60 percent is best. Since the air in most homes is usually much drier than this, care must be taken to see that humidifiers in heating systems are kept filled with water. The evaporation of one gallon of water each day per

EOT Plans Valentine Cookie Exchange At Wilbur Hefti's

EOT Club is planning a family card party this Friday evening in the Wilbur Hefti home. Next regular meeting will be Feb. 5 in the Lowell Rohlf home. Mrs. Ron Sebade will be co-hostess and there will be a Valentine cookie exchange. Fifteen members met with Mrs. Roger Willers last Thursday afternoon. Co-hostess was Mrs.

Wilbur Hefti. Mrs. Melvin Magnuson conducted the business meeting. The secretary and treasurer's reports were read by Mrs. Dale Claussen and Mrs. Wilbur Hefti. For roll call, each member told something interesting about their birthday. Cards were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Dan Loberg.

Mrs. Lowell Rohlf and Mrs. Ron Sebade.

Woman's Club
"Take Time to Read" was the theme when the Carroll Woman's Club met last Thursday in the Lutheran Church fellowship hall with 18 members.

A soup and sandwich luncheon preceded the meeting. Hostesses were Mrs. Ervin Wittler, Mrs. Merlin Kenny, Mrs. Earl Davis and Mrs. Esther Batten. Mrs. John Swanson conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Arnold Junck gave a report of the last meeting and Mrs. Ervin Wittler read the treasurer's report. Roll call was a poem.

Mrs. Esther Batten was appointed courtesy chairman. Members are asked to notify her if they hear of another member's illness or hospitalization.

A thank you was received from the Lynn Roberts family in memory of Mrs. Lynn Roberts.

Thank you notes also were received from persons who received Christmas boxes from the club.

Mrs. Arthur Cook led group singing, accompanied by Mrs. Edward Fork.

Mrs. John Swanson gave a report on a book written by Teresa Bloomingdale of Omaha, entitled "I Should Have Seen It When the Rabbit Died."

Next meeting will be Feb. 12 in the church basement. There will be "Take Time to Laugh" and roll call will be a joke. Hostesses will be Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mrs. Ellery Pearson and Mrs. Arnold Junck.

Presbyterian Women
A covered dish dinner Jan. 7 preceded the regular meeting of United Presbyterian Women.

Six members were present and Mrs. Enos Williams conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Lem Jones reported on the last meeting and Mrs. Esther Batten read the treasurer's report. They also read resumes of the past year.

Mrs. Milton Owens had the lesson, entitled "Filling Our Buckets," and Mrs. Jones accompanied for the singing of "Revive Us Again."

Mrs. Keith Owens was coffee chairman for the dinner.

Mrs. Erwin Morris will be coffee chairman for the dinner Jan. 21 preceding the business meeting.

New Officers
The Adult Fellowship met Sunday evening at the Congregational Church fellowship hall.

New officers, who conducted the meeting, are Mrs. Milton Owens, president; Mrs. Robert I. Jones, vice president; Mrs. Esther Batten, secretary; and Mrs. Erwin Morris, treasurer. Mrs. Owens read an outline of plans for the upcoming year.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Morris had the lesson, "Happy New Year," and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Owens served.

Senior Citizens
The regular monthly potluck dinner was held at the Carroll Senior Citizens Center, Jan. 5. Cards were the entertainment and prizes went to Mrs. Lena Rethwisch and Ted Winterstele, high, and Mrs. Christine Cook and Frank Cunningham, low.

Birthdays recently observed at the center were Ted Winterstein, Mrs. Lloyd Tetzley and Harry Hofeldt. Bingo was played Jan. 6 with prizes going to Mrs. Anna Hansen, Mrs. Louise Boyce and Arthur Cook.

Cards and crafts furnished the entertainment Jan. 8 and 9. Mrs. Christine Cook was acting director at the center while Mrs. Kenneth Eddie was III.

Businessmen's Supper
Carroll Businessmen's Club met for a potluck supper Sunday evening in the Joe Claybaugh home. Thirteen attended and the evening was spent socially.

Bill Claybaugh is president of the club and Mrs. Dennis Rohde is secretary-treasurer.

Choose From these 4 Cabinet Models!!

Nottingham

There's something beguilingly British about these stately new cabinets by AristOKraft. The frames are solid hardwood and the doors are of pecan veneer, their natural wood grain and individual character marks enhanced by an embossed diamond pattern reminiscent of old leaded windows. Imposing Antique Brass hinges and pulls heighten the effect. Whether you're building or remodeling, specify Nottingham cabinets by AristOKraft. They have the look and feel of custom cabinets costing far more.

FIRESIDE OAK

Rich oak grain patterned cabinets... Fireside Oak by AristOKraft. Solid oak face frames and door frames with veneer insert panels. Drawers come with adjustable shelves and self-closing doors. Wall cabinets complete with cathedral arch. Cabinets available for the kitchen and bath. See the complete Fireside Oak collection today.

AristOKraft's charisma begins with eye-catching beauty, but it doesn't end there.

Mountain Pine

Created to bring the color, the grain, the texture of native American Pine into kitchens and bath, indeed, these veneered AristOKraft cabinets actually improve on nature—the door is constructed with a solid knotty pine frame and knotty pine veneered panel with burr, swirls, knots and character marks. With AristOKraft's ultraviolet wood finishing process, it's wonderfully easy to clean, remarkably resistant to scratching, staining, and moisture. Sturdily constructed to withstand years of family use and abuse. Cleanly styled to blend with any decor. An ideal choice whenever you build... or remodel!

Meadowbrook

NRD Re-Elects Officers

Nine new or re-elected directors were sworn in at the Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District board of directors meeting in Norfolk on Jan. 8.

New directors are Howard Hansen, Stanton; Marlen Kraemer, Laurel; and Gerald Kratochvil, Clarkson. Directors re-elected were John Hansen, Newman Grove; Lowell Johnson, Wakefield; Dale Lingenfelder, Plainview; Dennis Newland, Norfolk; Bert Peterson, Lyons; and Clinton Von Seggern, Scribner.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Rewinkel of Lyons were awarded a Lower Elkhorn NRD Conservation Picture Award. The award is a framed color photo of their farm which is given in recognition of an outstanding record of applying conservation practices to the land.

The Rewinkel's award was sponsored by the First National Bank of Lyons and was awarded by Harold Myers, assistant vice-president of the bank. Seven other picture awards were given at previous meetings.

Directors also: Approved expenses of $337,704.26 and income of $342,233.67. Approved payment of dues to the Nebraska Water Resources Association. Voted to support NARD resolutions which would establish an Interagency Committee of NRD's and SCR and for legislation to modify NRD Improvement Project Area authorities.

Directors then elected board of:

Natural Resources Districts Known to Some 60 Percent

Less than 40 percent of the Nebraska surveyed in the 1980 Nebraska Annual Social Indicators Survey (NASIS) had ever heard of Natural Resource Districts, but that was nine percent more than a year ago, according to the University of Nebraska-Lincoln's Bureau of Sociological Research.

Susan Welch, professor of political science and author of the NASIS Report on "Nebraskans and State Water Policy: An Update," suggests that the increase in public awareness of Natural Resources Districts indicates that there is public interest in the water question and that some information about water policy "seems to be diffusing throughout the population."

Professor Welch said, however, that even though Natural Resource Districts have been given some important water regulation functions by state government, the fact that 60 percent of the state's population have never heard of Natural Resource Districts.

In the 1980 NASIS survey, respondents were asked several questions in regard to water regulation which were asked in the 1979 survey. Dr. Welch found that in 1980, as in 1979, more than two-thirds of the respondents favored water regulation for business and agriculture, while a significantly smaller proportion in both years favored regulation for private household use.

There were some changes, however. While the percent favoring agricultural regulation, 67 percent, remained remarkably constant, public support for both private household regulation and business regulation declined by 9-10 percentage points.

She speculated that a possible reason for the decline is the lack of drought conditions in 1978. "One might suppose," she said, "that support for water regulation (at least of someone else's water) in creases directly as water shortages increase."

Dr. Welch noted some differences among groups in regard to water regulation. In general, the greater the education, the more support is voiced for decreasing water use through increasing cost. Older people tend to favor regulations for private and agricultural use more than younger people, while younger people are more predisposed to make increasing water costs and regulation of business water use their top priorities.

Survey Here On Jobs

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the work week of Jan. 19-23. Leo C. Schilling, director of the bureau's regional office in Denver, announced recently.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 84,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the nation.

For example, in November the survey indicated that of the 105.3 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 97.4 million were employed. The jobless rate was approximately 7.5 percent for the third month in a row.

Information supplied by people participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and results are used only to compile statistical totals.
