ONE-HUNDRED FIFTH YEAR NUMBER THIRTY-SIX

Projects for City This Year Already Are in the Works

Much of what lies ahead for the city of Wayne this year already is locked into becoming reality as a result of City Council action last year.

ACCORDING TO City Clerk and Acting City Administrator Norman Melton, three major projects involving water, sewer and electricity were placed in motion before the first of the year. However, there will be many, many decisions the new Council must make.

"A lot of the major items are well on their way," Melton explained. "The Council will be faced with seeing that these milestones are met, but the processes have begun, and we seem to be doing a good job so far of meeting the obligations."

Besides the "big three", there are other projects that should get started this year, the City Clerk said.

PROBABLY THE first of these is hiring a city manager and then providing the community with some direction. Melton said the list of manager candidates has been narrow ed from 37 to four and these will be personally interviewed later this month.

The finalists are residents of the Midwest, with the oldest 35 years of age. The Council's Selection Committee is expected to make a decision in the next eight weeks.

Regarding water, the Council already has made some short-term decisions which should help alleviate projected water problems by this summer. However, engineers theorize, it will take several years for the city's water system to be in peak condition.

CONSTRUCTION ON renovating the water system "will be begun for certain" this year, Melton explained. A new well, new transmission lines from the new well, improvements in the central control panel and in the Roosevelt Park area are expected to be undertaken this year at a cost of some $386,000.

The entire short-range improvement program will cost around $806,000 and the overall, 20-year program will cost some $1.89 million, the city clerk explained.

"The Council is just now taking a bite out of the short-range items and is doing these first," he said.

Costs of the water improvements will be paid from revenue raised through water rates.

AS A RESULT OF federal rules and regulations, the city is being forced into constructing a new sewage treatment plant. The Council has heard numerous reports on the progress of this project, but construction is not expected in 1981, Melton explained.

It is hoped the design phase will be completed this year and bids let late this year or early next year.

The treatment plant will help purify Wayne's water and bring it into compliance with federal environmental and pollution regulations. Total cost is estimated at $1.1 million with the cost shared by the federal, state and local governments.

Again, revenue generated from sewer use fees will help pay for the local share.

THE MOST UNCERTAIN project for this year involves revamping of the city's electrical system. Plans are still in the preliminary stages, but the situation "is obviously going to require attention this year," according to Melton.

The Council must decide this year which phases of the electrical short- and long-range plans are to be priority and then seek bids. Estimated cost of the short-term projects is $814,000 and would include improvements in the distribution system and construction of a new substation.

The city's electric system is based on needs of several years ago when there were fewer homes, fewer electrical appliances, air conditioners, etc. With the increased load, problems of adequate electrical load have surfaced and must be tended to, Melton said.

ONCE AGAIN, the project will be supported through revenue generated by local electric rates, the acting city administrator noted.

The normal amount of street work is anticipated this year, with one priority project expected to be reconstruction of three blocks of East 10th Street from Main Street east to Windom. This will cost about $56,000.

Other projects "will depend on how far the money will go," he explained.

Two relatively major equipment purchases are planned this year, both of which will be paid with revenue sharing funds.

A 1981 police cruiser and a front-end loader are scheduled. The cruiser, for which bids already have been received, will cost about $7,000 and the front-end loader about $42,000.

Melton said when the budget was formulated last August, there was some question whether or not federal revenue sharing money would be available this year. However, Congress did authorize more funding, but Wayne will receive about $12,000 less than last year.

Internally, Melton said he will continue to stress that his staff receive additional professional and educational instruction.

"YOU DON'T get the bang out of your buck unless the city has its employees educated about their jobs," he said. "That goes hand in glove with being more efficient."

Melton said he will strive for more efficiency within the operation of the city since the 7 percent lid bill does not allow for any expansion.

EXTERNALLY, he said, he feels City Hall must play some kind of role in helping revive the city's population. The latest preliminary figures show Wayne has just 5,094 people, down from the 1970 figure of 5,380.

"We are very close to losing our First Class status. If we do, our ego will be hurt and we will have less of a chance to attract the industry that is needed to generate jobs and thus more people," Melton said.

The year ahead will provide the city with some challenges that will have to be met if Wayne hopes to continue its respected reputation and First Class status.

Year in Review

Precipitation

1980 was the second driest year of the previous 10 years, being surpassed in lack of moisture only by 1974. Total moisture recorded last year was 16.43 inches and compares to 15.79 inches during the driest year of the decade.

Despite the unusually dry year, the previous year — 1979 — was the wettest year on record since 1970. A total of 33.25 inches of precipitation fell on Wayne in 1979.

During 1980, not one of the months recorded more than five inches of moisture. In fact, only two months — May and August — recorded precipitation of more than two inches. May recorded 3.61 inches of rain and August 4.09 inches.

The remainder of the months had less than 1.5 inches of moisture, with November of 1980 recording hardly a trace — .04 hundredths of an inch.

Normally, rainfall is heaviest during April, May and June. Over the past 40 years, April has averaged 2.16 inches, May 4.08 inches and June 4.82 inches. However, last year April recorded 8.7 inches, May recorded 3.61 inches and June 1.37 inches.

The 40 year average for the Wayne area is 25.97 inches of precipitation through the forms of rain, sleet, snow, ice, etc.

According to County Extension Agent Don Spitze, the Wayne area as of the end of the year was 9.54 inches of moisture behind normal. The following is the total moisture for each month of 1980 followed by the normal for the month over the last 40 years.

January — 21 compared with 55; February — 41 compared with 110; March — 44 compared with 433; April 87 compared with 195; May — 3.61 compared with 4.08; June — 1.37 compared with 4.82; July — 1.21 compared with 3.17; August — 4.09 compared with 3.22; September — 1.42 compared with 2.50; October — 1.30 compared with 1.42; November — .04 compared with .85; and December, .18 compared with .59.

Total snowfall during 1979 was estimated at 36.75 while in 1980 it was 24.25 inches.

Marriages

Marriages for 1980 were only slightly down from 1979, according to figures available from the Wayne County Court.

Last year, there were 95 marriage licenses issued compared to 100 for 1979.

The most popular months to get married last year were June, July and August which recorded marriage permits of 13, 12 and 15 respectively. The least popular months were February (3), March (4), October (4), January (5) and December (5).

In 1979, July and August were by far the most popular, with 17 couples issued permits in July and 21 couples in August. December had two couples, January three and February, April and September six each.

Births and Deaths

The number of births increased markedly from 1979 to 1980, as did the number of deaths. However, the births outpaced the deaths by a large margin both years.

There were 104 births in Wayne County last year compared to 85 in 1979. There were 70 deaths last year compared to 54 the year before, figures in the County Clerk's office show.

The leading month for births last year was December when 12 babies were born. August and September were close behind with 11 each followed by May with 10. The slowest month was January when five were born.

The leading month for births in 1979 was February when 11 babies were born. November and January had 10 each and July, August and March each had nine births recorded. The fewest births in 1979 were recorded in June when one baby was born and in May when two births were recorded.

The leading month for deaths last year was July when 10 deaths were recorded. August had nine and March 8. The fewest deaths were recorded in January with three and December, May and September with four each.

The leading month for deaths in 1979 was April with nine followed by November with 7. The fewest deaths were recorded in October with two.

Building Permits

There was but one building permit issued in December of 1980, but there was a tremendous flurry of permit activity in October and November.

The total volume of construction for last year was estimated at $2,464,568 and compares to $2,964,753 for 1979. This indicates that construction was down about $500,000 from 1979 to 1980.

The busiest month last year for building permits was November which recorded 20. The poorest month was December which, as noted, recorded just one.

The busiest month in 1979 was April with 16 building permits issued, while January of 1979 saw only one permit issued.

There were 77 permits issued in 1980 compared to 74 in 1979, according to figures supplied by the City Hall.

The most productive month dollar-wise in 1980 was October which recorded total volume in permits of $1,038,472. The next most productive month was November which showed proposed construction volume of $570,948. The poorest month was March which had just two permits issued for $3,000.

Twelve of the 20 permits issued in November were issued to Vakoc Construction Co. for construction of new homes in Sunnyview Subdivision north of Amber Inn just off U.S. 35. The remainder were issued to several other persons for a variety of uses.

The largest permits issued last year were for construction of two apartment complexes behind E. Toro ($440,000 in October) and construction of four Sunrise Condominiums ($144,343 in October) in Marywood Subdivision.

A month by month breakdown of permits for last year is as follows:

January — three for a total of $35,564; February — five for $89,600; March — two for $3,000; April — seven for $89,255; May — five for $116,114; June — four for $41,700; July — five for $120,783; August — six for $212,119; September — 10 for $162,896; October — nine for $1,038,472; November — 20 for $570,948; and December — one for $41,191.

Winside Water System Is Nearer

Winside's village board of trustees voted last week to apply for a loan that would help revamp the city's water system.

MEETING IN special session Wednesday evening, the board heard a report from Keith Koller, an engineer with Associated Engineers of Lincoln. He explained the alternatives that Winside has in improving its water.

For many years, Winside's water system has depended upon just one well. Although two wells exist, only one is used since water in the other was contaminated with diesel fuel after a mishap nearly 20 years ago.

While water in the good well meets state and federal health requirements, it has a pungent odor which residents say makes it difficult to drink. Some city patrons have even gone so far as to compare the smell to that of a barnyard.

THE TRUSTEES voted to apply for a Farm and Home Administration loan of $310,500 at 5 percent interest. If approved, the money would be used to drill and construct two wells and a treatment plant. However, if water in the wells is pure and desirable, the treatment plant might not be needed, the engineer said.

Estimated cost of the wells and the plant is $313,500, with village picking up $3,000 of the tab. The engineer also said no grant funds are available, so the only source of money is the 5 percent loan.

Public hearings on the proposed water system improvements will be at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 2, at the City Auditorium.

WINSIDE CITY Clerk Lynne Wylie said two locations for the proposed wells are a half-mile south of Winside on U.S. 35, almost across from the cemetery, and a mile south of Winside across from the De-Hy plant.

The project the board opted for is about half of what originally was considered. In all, the two wells, the treatment plant, a new storage tank and distribution system were reviewed, but the $620,000 project cost was considered too costly.

BASED ON the original figure, the cost would have been an extra $20 per average user per month. However, the latest project will only be an estimated $10 more per average user.

The board decided against a new storage tank because the existing tank is in good condition, had just been sand blasted, repaired and repainted last fall.

The existing well provides the city with about 350 gallons per minute, which is adequate to meeting the community's needs. However, if the pump were to break down — as was the case with at least one of Wayne's well pumps — the city would be without water.

Hammerin' Hank Believes Someone Will Top Record

Hammerin' Hank Aaron, one of baseball's most successful and well known retired stars, told an audience of about 800 persons Wednesday in Wayne State's Rice Auditorium that he believes "some kid, maybe in this audience, somewhere in America will someday" break his home run record. And, he added, "I'll be pulling for him 100 percent."

THE SPEAKING engagement at Wayne State may have been a return trip to Wayne for the man who holds or shares 21 Major League records including Most Lifetime Home Runs.

It is possible that Aaron may have played in Wayne at one time many years ago when he was a minor league ball player.

When asked about the possibility of a past appearance in Wayne, Aaron replied that he has played in so many ball parks across America that there are many he can no longer remember.

AARON TOLD the audience that he could have quit after hitting 100, 200, 300 or 400 home runs but decided he could be even more successful.

"Success," he said, "was an American goal until recently. Your fore-parents and mine strived for success. It doesn't matter what age you are, what color you are or what area you are from, you can be successful."

"The question I'd like to ask is, 'Where is our winning spirit now?' We have to be successful in other places than just the basketball court. We have to do some things about the world's problems," Aaron said. "Too many people put things off until tomorrow. Why? Why wait? If it is worth doing tomorrow then it is worth doing today."

THE HOME RUN hitter lectured for only about 15 minutes and then responded to audience questions for about another 45 minutes before closing. He signed autographs for several minutes after the engagement.

Questions directed to Aaron ranged from his feelings on greatest players, long-term baseball contracts and ball parks to batting and coaching.

Aaron, 44, is now working as vice president of player personnel for the Atlanta Braves, and says he is pleased with his duties.

He told the audience that he has no desire to become a manager and jokingly added, "unless someone offers me a contract like Winfield's" referring to the multimillion-dollar contract recently signed by outfielder Dave Winfield to play for the New York Yankees.

WHEN ASKED if he feels any present Major League player has the potential to break his home run record, Aaron replied that many players have the potential but few have the motivation because of multi-year million dollar contracts.

Aaron indicated that Atlanta's Bob Horner, New York's Reggie Jackson and Philadelphia's Mike Schmidt have the most potential to break the record and added that Schmidt probably has the best chance.

One member of the audience asked Aaron for his feelings on long-term, million dollar contracts. The baseball great jokingly snapped back that he wishes the contracts would have been common when he played baseball.

On the serious side, Aaron pointed out that it is difficult for a player to give 100 percent after signing a big contract.

RECALLING SOME of the great names of the past, Aaron told the audience that Willie Mays was the greatest player he ever played against. Some of the toughest pitchers he ever faced were Bob Gibson, Juan Marichal and Don Drysdale, Aaron said, adding that he feared Gibson the most.

"I mentally prepared myself to bat by knowing what I had to do and knowing what the pitcher will throw in what situation," said Aaron, who hit 755 home runs in his career.

During a press conference prior to his speaking engagement, Aaron talked about his early years in baseball when Blacks had to sit on the back of the bus and eat by themselves.

HE INDICATED he has seen a lot of changes throughout his years of involvement with baseball, adding that he expects more managing positions to open up to Blacks. Frank Robinson's recent appointment as manager of the San Francisco Giants is a case in point, he said.

Aaron was paid $2,900 plus expenses through the Wayne State Student Senate office for his engagement.

HANK AARON signs autographs for a few of his young fans after his Wednesday speaking engagement. Ron Jones (right) of Wayne State presented Aaron with a Wildcat baseball cap.

Also, custodians will receive $300 per month up from $290 per month. In other action, the board elected Jerry Pospisil as chairman, replacing Merrill Beiermann who served as chairman last year. Orgratta C. Morris was re-elected as clerk-secretary of the board.

THE BOARD appointed Sheriff Don (Butch) Weible as chairman of the board of health with Dr. Robert Benfack as county physician and Mrs. Morris as a member of the board.

Perfect Weather for Skating
ICE SKATING has become a popular sport in Wayne over the past few weeks as the temperature's dropped near zero and the ice was frozen solid. Last weekend some 15 to 20 skaters were seen on the ice continuously from morning until late night. Ice skate sales in town were probably up from last year, since weather conditions have generally been more favorable for the sport.

Rail Crossings Concern of Bereuter

Congressman Doug Bereuter has renewed his pledge to make alleviation of rail crossing problems one of his top priorities for the New Year.
"You might say that one of my New Year's resolutions is to step up my efforts in Congress to focus attention on problems states like Nebraska experience as a result of heavy coal train traffic," Bereuter said.
"The fact is, those problems have generally been overlooked in Congress even though increased coal traffic impacts on Nebraska, Kansas and other sparsely settled Plains states is the result of moving the coal from Montana and Wyoming to power plants located in the east and south. People in the Plains states have fewer voices in Congress, compared to residents of more populous states. But I can assure you that those few voices will join to become louder, and I intend to be a leader in that effort," Bereuter said.
"One thing I want to do is to see that money is specifically targeted to states like our own to build overpasses and underpasses at busy rail crossings. These grade separations are critically needed to make our roads more safe and efficient," he said.
The House earlier approved an amendment introduced by Bereuter for that purpose, but the amendment died along with the mass transit measure to which it was attached. The bill was stopped in the Senate by a threatened filibuster over the mass transit allocation formula and funding levels.
"I am now considering the best possible approach to earmarking funds for construction, whether through the amendment process, separate legislation, or both," Bereuter said.
"As I've said before, Nebraska has become the coal chute of the nation. Yet the state does not have the additional resources — either through coal severance taxes or other energy-related taxes — to build grade separations in those 99 communities that are bisected or skirted by major coal train traffic," Bereuter said.
"Many of us have experienced the problems created by this increased rail traffic: disruption of business and commerce; dangers to public safety; and a generally unpleasant environment," the Congressman said.
"For example, communities

Police Report

Wayne Police Department reports a pair of accidents recently.
The first was reported about 11:20 a.m. Monday in the parking lot at Rich's Super Foods. According to the report, a parked car owned by Evan Bennett, Wayne, slipped out of park and struck a car driven by Joan R. Sieler, 45, Wayne. The Bennett car was not damaged, and the Sieler car received $200 in damages.
The other accident was reported about 11:33 a.m. Friday in the 100 block of West Third Street. According to the report, an unattended vehicle owned by Merle D. or Donna M. Ring, Wayne, slipped out of park and struck a parked motorcycle owned by Regg Peterson of Laurel. There was little damage to either vehicle.

along the Burlington Northern coal route through Nebraska for many years were accustomed to seeing only six trains per day pass through their town. Suddenly, traffic along that line has increased to 30 trains per day, with three trains per hour, more than 100 cars each, projected in the near future."
Bereuter said, "This dramatic change has had a shock effect on citizens in these communities, who find there is little they can do about it. The solution is not to stop or curb rail traffic. The movement of coal is essential to meet our energy needs. Our nation's future demands more coal."
He said, "But the problems I've identified can be alleviated. That's what I aim to do."

Opinion

What's-What With Interior Designate Watt

Richard L. Leshar, President Chamber of Commerce of the United States

President-elect Reagan's nomination of James G. Watt as Secretary of Interior has cheered conservatives but left certain self-described environmentalists reeling in panic. Indeed, to listen to some of these people, one imagines Mr. Watt need only cross the portal at Interior for us to risk seeing the skies fall in, the earth crack in two and the seas disappear within. One prominent environmentalist bitterly complained: "I've been trying hard to imagine a poorer choice for Secretary of Interior, and I haven't been able to come up with one."

Oh come on! Quite frankly, these hysterical reactions reveal much less about Mr. Watt than about the deep biases of the environmentalists themselves. Certainly Mr. Watt will bring exceptional attributes to his position. He is articulate, extremely bright and very thorough. He is also experienced in his field, having served for three years in the Department of Interior as director of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation. One department official calls Watt "a strong delegator" and "one of the most effective managers we've ever had."

Most importantly, Mr. Watt has a deep respect for the environment. As director of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, for example, he advocated tripling the Land and Water Conservation Fund, a popular program for buying parks and other scenic lands.

So what's the problem? The problem is, Mr. Watt does not believe in protecting our environment by simply closing it off to virtually all other activities. As he stated way back on August 17, 1967, and reiterated during his recent confirmation hearings: "our objective should be to manage our environment for the greatest net benefit to man and his total community."

Consider his position on a controversial issue such as surface mining. Mr. Watt has observed: "Surface mining can leave an ugly scar and bring damage to the environment... It can also bring tremendous benefits to the people of America... Wise conservation and reclamation programs have been and are being established by industry and local and state governments to protect the environment. As surface mining expands, these conservation and reclamation programs will expand."

Sound like an extremist, or a man desirous of striking a common sense balance between the need to preserve our environment and to encourage economic development? But you see, it is precisely his quest for a balance, and for a greater delegation of responsibilities to state and local governments in determining desirable environmental standards for their own communities, that has outraged some environmentalists.

That's because they are not interested in achieving a genuine balance themselves. In reality, they are the real extremists. It bothers them that Mr. Watt was president of an organization, the Mountain States Legal Fund, that went to court to argue that the Environmental Protection Agency exceeded its authority by trying to withhold more than $300 million in federal funds from Colorado when that state failed to meet a deadline for an auto pollution control plan. It bothers them that Mr. Watt's organization also went to court to argue that the oil-bearing Overthrust Belt in Wyoming should not be declared a total wilderness area.

In case you didn't know, the definition of a wilderness area is "an area where the earth and its community of life are untrammeled by man... where man himself is a visitor who does not remain." This is the kind of "balance" that appeals to environmental extremists — the kind pursued by the Carter administration which locked up from any economic development more than 200 million acres above and beyond all the park systems and wilderness areas already designated by Congress.

Taking note of America's dangerous over-dependency on insecure and expensive foreign sources of energy and strategic minerals, Mr. Watt pinpoints the ultimate irony: it is the extremists themselves, together with their misguided policies, who actually represent the greatest threat to our environment. In effect, by preventing the responsible development of our energy resources now, these people would risk forcing us to develop them later in a crisis atmosphere, which could result in the ravaging of our land and the destruction of our natural environment.

Jim Watt is a man who fits the mood of the public and the needs of the country. He will make an outstanding Secretary of the Interior — despite so many pointing people who remain such a pain in the posterior.

Fathers who were not present at the moment their child was born have missed a moving and thrilling experience.

Our little girl — Kelly Marie — entered the world at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 13, only mildly irritated that she was being taken from the secure confines of her mother. The proud father was but a few feet away, listening anxiously for her cries and the doctors' words that she was healthy.

The Cesarean section was flawless and Kelly was born within a few minutes after surgery was begun. Kathy was allowed to remain awake during and after the surgery; a spinal block type of anesthetic was provided so she could remain awake and share the experience with me.

Both Mother and daughter are doing fine. Kelly was well ready to be born, with lots of black hair covering her head and several fingernails so long they had broken off either in the womb or during birth.

When Kathy first became pregnant with our first one — Chris — we decided it was an experience that had and should involve both of us. We attended pre-natal sessions together and Lamaze (prepared childbirth) classes together. What Kathy knew about her pregnancy, I knew about her pregnancy.

So when she became pregnant with Kelly — probably our last one — our feelings were the same. We had shared in the birth of our son from start to finish and we would experience our second child's birth the same way.

Being able to stay at your wife's pregnant side from the time she leaves the safety of the hospital room until she returns to her room with her newborn child only a few hours later provides the mother; the baby and the father with strength, closeness and a bond that should survive forever.

Many a husband will argue that birth is "the woman's responsibility." Granted, women have been given the ability to birth, but the responsibility lies both with the woman and the man.

Study after study shows there is a trend toward the breakdown of the American family. Too much time is being spent by each family member at functions other than those involving the family, too much time in front of the television instead of developing family ties, etc. We feel that the strength of a family has to start at birth, and the presence of the mother and father are vital to the plan.

Who needs that kind of stuff, many will argue? We do. And many like us, do also. That is why most of the more progressive hospitals in the nation are allowing fathers to be present at the birth of their children. Allowing them to be the first to hold, stroke and cuddle the newborn.

Kelly was born not to the cold, sterile and impersonal world of an operating room, but was born in St. Luke's Medical Center's delivery room which is equipped to handle Cesarean sections. The temperature was warm, the walls were painted a pleasant green. A mural of a rain forest on a hot, muggy afternoon graced one wall and speakers wafted soothing, instrumental music to everyone's ears.

The concept is not new. Studies have found that babies born under these conditions appear to bond better and adjust more quickly to their new environments than babies born in a chilly, clinical situation. In addition, the atmosphere is more relaxing to the mother who is so important during the birth process as is the child.

Kathy and I were allowed to see Kelly immediately after she was checked by the attending pediatrician for stable vital signs. We saw that she was, indeed, healthy and received the assurance from the doctors and nurses that she was a perfect little girl. But of course that is what we had ordered and expected.

By shortly after 10 a.m., Tuesday, after I already had rocked with Kelly for several minutes in a private room, Kathy was allowed to examine her first-hand. She recounted the toes and fingers I already had examined twice, checked the ears and gave her a thorough once-over. When given the opportunity, Kelly began nursing and all signs point to a normal and healthy child.

Now about those pictures that brought the ire of at least one reader. Yes, the doctors and nurses allowed pictures. Not of the actual birth, of course, because those did not interest us. No, I'm not going to print any in The Wayne Herald. This is not my newspaper. It is yours.

My responsibility in this column is to inform and educate and entertain. I can only present the information, but have little control on how well it will be absorbed.

My feelings on pictures apparently are not unique. The walls of the maternity ward are lined with large, color photos of newborn babies being held by mothers and fathers. There are pictures of babies in their incubators. Immediately after birth, of mothers anxiously watching over their child as it sleeps or receives medication through an IV.

There are pictures of brothers and sisters looking over their new arrivals, probably contemplating some kind of reaction that will guarantee some equal love and affection. There are pictures of babies being examined under protective lights immediately after birth. The idea of taking pictures of my child's birth was not original. It has been done for years, and years and years.

WORK on Madison's new pool is all but completed with the erection of the perimeter fence and the shorter fence separating the large pool from the kiddie pool. It was discovered there was no provision in the pool contract for landscaping and seeding or for surfacing the parking area. These items will be an additional expense to the city and it is likely that gravel will be used for the parking, at least temporarily.

THE Bank of Dixon County in Ponca reached three milestones during the first week of 1981. The Bank was founded by E. E. Halstead in 1881 and will be celebrating its 100th anniversary during 1981, making it one of the oldest banks in Nebraska. One of the bank's major goals, according to officers, was to reach 10 million dollars in assets prior to its 100th anniversary. That major goal was reached Jan. 5, when total deposits and assets reached $10,061,000. Also, on Jan. 5, the bank's daily balance sheet of funds handled for the day, topped the one million dollar mark for the first time ever.

Back to Household and Intangibles

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
By M.M. Van Kirk,
Director of Information

As members of the Nebraska Legislature reopen the personal property tax exemption issue in this session as a result of the Dec. 29 State Supreme Court decision, they could well examine the possibility of the exemption of household goods and intangible property may also be vulnerable to court action.

The Supreme Court decision which nullifies LB 882 finds fault not with the idea of the exemption of farm equipment, livestock and business inventories by classification, but with the method of reimbursing the local subdivisions of government for the loss of revenue involved.

The court specifically found unconstitutional the distribution of the $70 million reimbursement to the counties on the basis of 1976 valuation figures... a "frozen classification" not subject to change. And the court also found a fatal constitutional flaw in LB 882 as to the payment of an additional amount based on 10 percent of the total statewide property tax increase and reports as follows:

"Likewise, what we have said with regard to the overall classification applies equally as well to the payment of the additional 10 percent. As the act notes, the only factor to be taken into account by the Tax Commissioner is whether the amount of general taxes levied in the county in a subsequent year is greater than it was in the immediate prior year."

When the Legislature in 1967 first exempted household goods and intangibles, reimbursement to the counties was based on the actual assessments and enumerations accomplished that year. Of course, such a reimbursement situation would become obsolete almost at once.

In 1971, the Legislature revised that distribution formula, directing that starting Jan. 1, 1972, the State Treasurer should place $12,600,000 of general sales and income tax funds into a special Governmental Subdivision Fund, and of that money, $4,600,000 would be transferred on or before the third Monday in January each year to the various county treasurers, 50 percent on the basis of the ratio of the population of the particular county to the population of the entire state, and 50 percent on the basis of the valuation of the real estate in the particular county to the valuation of real estate in the entire state. The balance remaining in the fund was to be distributed to the counties yearly, going to the incorporated municipalities according to the percentage of population each represented with the county's incorporated units.

Such language surely might qualify for a court finding of a "frozen situation" and a constitutional "no-no." There has been no public or editorial clamor over the years to return to taxing household goods and intangibles, partly because many people have forgotten that they ever were taxed and partly because the cost of enumeration made the revenue return hardly worth the great effort required. It was well known that people and businesses did a scummy job of listing their household items, cash in the bank, stocks and bonds and other intangibles. A former governor's "Operation Honesty" campaign in the early 1950's aimed at getting a fair listing of such personal property became a laughable failure.

The reason that exemption of livestock, farm machinery and business inventories has created so much opposition and so many charges of "special interest" legislation is that it is so much more difficult to hide such items from an assessor. The personal property tax finally amounted to keeping a special tax on the things that farmers and business persons have to own to make a living.

Since household goods and intangibles were exempted in 1967, the majority of Nebraskans do not really know what a personal property tax is all about other than they have been led to believe it is something that farmers and ranchers and business people are unfairly trying to get out of paying.

As the Legislature struggles with the problem under the urgency to permit distribution of some $70-million of state funds badly needed by schools and local subdivisions, the lawmakers could consider that if there must be a return to enumeration of personal property to be constitutionally legal, it would be well to get an attorney general's opinion and possibly another Supreme Court decision as to the constitutionality of state reimbursements for exempted household goods and intangibles. Then all Nebraskans would possibly become more interested in the subject of an equitable tax system.

Dear Editor:

For the obvious reasons of being afraid, the "concerned citizens of Winside have to hide behind their anonymous signature. Are they also afraid of freedom, the constitution and the rights of the accused? Whatever happened to innocent until proven guilty?"

I wish cocaine did not exist but it does; our law enforcement officials are obviously handling the situation. There is no reason to attack a business that has nothing to do with illegal activity (Charlie's Bar), and to attack a capable, elected sheriff (Don Weible) just because of his son's mistake. These are acts of stupidity.

How many parents do you know would control their 28 year old son's life? Charlie answers to himself.

Wayne State College senior art students Jeff "Frosty" Merriman and Amy Wilson will display their artwork on Jan. 28 to Feb. 6.

The public is welcome to attend the exhibition in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Building on the second floor in the Nordstrand Art Gallery, WSC, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Artwork will be for sale.

Included in the exhibition will be intaglio prints, graphite drawings, bronze and cast iron sculpture, jewelry, ceramic pottery, photographs, watercolor and oil paintings, and pen and ink renderings.

A reception for the artists is planned Tuesday evening, Jan. 27, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Workshop Will Focus on Stress

"Excessive anxiety, constant insomnia and severe feelings of helplessness or dependency are early signs of stress," says Linda Huinker, Wayne County Home Extension Agent.

"Getting people to recognize the signs, determine what exactly is causing the stress, and making a plan of how to cope with the stress causers is a real challenge," she adds.

Two days, Jan. 30 and 31, will be spent teaching homemakers, farmers, educators, business and professional persons how to effectively cope with stress — a part of everyday living.

Cost of the workshop is $3.50. It will be held at Northeast Technical Community College in Norfolk.

Dr. Herman Witte, a psychologist from the University of Nebraska Medical Center, will conduct the stress-management workshop. It runs from 7 to 9 p.m. on Friday evening and from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday.

As an introductory workshop, attention is focused on the reasons why a person gets upset or stressed, and how he or she can prevent or reduce effects of stress," explained Mrs. Huinker.

"More is constantly being learned about effects of stress on the body. It may play a significant role in heart attacks, high blood pressure, cancer, some types of arthritis, migraine headaches and ulcers," she adds.

Stress alone does not cause all these disorders, emphasized Miss Huinker, but it may be a factor in their onset and progression.

Alcoholism, drug abuse, child abuse, accidents, and some crimes also may be intensified by stress.

"For the sake of our physical health and general welfare, we need to be informed about how to deal with stress in our lives," Mrs. Huinker recommends.

The University of Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service is co-sponsoring the workshop. Persons who would like to register are asked to contact their local extension office by Jan. 21.

Benefit for Andersons

The Hoskins Branch 439 of the Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL) is sponsoring a benefit to raise funds for the Orville Anderson family, who lost many of their possessions in a recent fire at their home.

The event will be held at the Hoskins Public School on Sunday, Jan. 25, from 7 to 9 p.m. There will be a bake and handicraft sale. Entertainment will be a basketball game and volleyball game.

There is no admission, however a free will offering will be taken. Money raised at the benefit will be matched by the AAL home office.

Craft Lesson Presented at Merry Mixers

Mrs. Don Lutt and Mrs. Herman Vahlkamp presented the program on various crafts at the Tuesday afternoon meeting of Merry Mixers Club.

All members attended the craft lesson in the home of Mrs. Les Alleman. Guests were Mrs. Fred Vahlkamp, Mrs. Jerry Allemann, Mrs. Vernon Morse and Mita Dittus.

The meeting opened with the song "Home on the Range."

The club is planning a family party Sunday evening, Feb. 1, at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Lawrence Backstrom.

Next regular meeting will be at 1:30 p.m. Feb. 10 in the home of Mrs. Ray Butts. Lesson leaders will be Mrs. Les Alleman and Mrs. Harvey Reeg. Members are asked to bring a recipe or hint on the use of cheese.

Questers Meet

Mrs. Dorothy Brandstetter entertained members of the Confusable Collectables Questers Club earlier this month. Three guests attended the meeting.

Joy Hein gave the program, "Thosh Purrry Bittersh Bot-tlesh." There also was a brief lesson on old needles and their containers.

Barbara Maier will be the next hostess, on Feb. 2. The program, entitled "The Wood Burner Is Back," will be given by Jackie Owens.

Wayne Back on Winning Track vs. Scrappy Stanton

PERRY NELSON of Wayne fights Stanton's Dan Persigehl for a rebound in action at the Wayne Stanton basketball game Friday. The Blue Devils earned their 10th victory in 12 outings by defeating Stanton 71-63.

Class B's 10th ranked Wayne Blue Devils turned back an improved Stanton team 71-63 Friday night in Wayne. The win upped Wayne's record to 10-2.

"Stanton has a good ball club. They hang right in there. I was impressed," Wayne coach Bill Sharpe said. "We played well. Our press was adequate and it helped us win the game. We looked a lot sharper and moved the ball well."

Stanton played Wayne close most of the way but didn't have enough strength to pull the upset.

The Blue Devils were backed by a well-balanced offense attack. Tim Pfeiffer had his best performance of the year, scoring 16 points and grabbing seven rebounds with good aggressive play.

Tod Heier also scored 16 points and had nine rebounds. Mike Sladek and Perry Nelson scored 14 points apiece and pulled down 10 and six rebounds respectively. Todd Skokan made seven rebounds.

As a team, Wayne shot 49 percent from the floor and made 22 offensive and 21 defensive rebounds. The Blue Devils, who trailed by point at the end of the first quarter, opened up a seven point half time lead.

In the second half, Wayne built that lead to 10 and 12 points but Stanton refused to give up. The Mustangs closed the deficit to eight points at 69-61 with 1:33 remaining but ran out of time.

The visitors were led by four year player Rick Weatherholt with 17 points. Brett Benson with 16. Dan Persigehl with 15 and Dean Quinn with 11.

The junior varsity game was won 42-33 by Wayne. Shaun Niemann led a second half rally with 12 total points. The Devils trailed by two points at the half but dominated the final two quarters.

Todd Schwartz scored nine points and Tim Heier, Mark Botenkamp and Jim Sperry scored four points each. Bob Liska added two points for the winners.

Wayne is scheduled to host Class B's third ranked team Hartington Cedar Catholic on Friday. The Blue Devils will host West Point next Friday (Jan. 30).

Laurel Lets Dragons Escape with Slim Win

The Laurel Bears had tough Class C foe Madison on the ropes from start to finish but let the Dragons escape Tuesday with a late basket and a 38-36 win on Laurel's home court.

The Bears were outshot from the floor but stayed in the game with good rebounding, heads up play and a strong showing at the free line. Laurel hit 14 of 17 attempts at the line and held Madison to just two free throws in four attempts.

Laurel had possession of the ball in the final minute with a 36 tie and had hopes of going for the winning basket. However, a travelling violation turned the ball over to Madison.

Mike Weiss scored a basket for the Dragons with 22 seconds showing on the clock. Laurel went for the last shot of regulation play in hopes of sending the game into overtime but the shot was off target. The loss dropped Laurel's record to 3-6. Three of the six losses were decided by one or two points.

The Bears hit 30 percent of their shots from the floor while Madison connected on 56 percent of its field goal attempts. The hosts ruled the boards with a rebounding edge of 18 to 11 but committed more turnovers.

"It was a real close game. We did a lot of good things but a couple mistakes on fundamental play at the end cost us dearly," Laurel coach Joel Parks stated. "Madison is a good team. Both teams had a chance to open things up but never did."

The Bears were led in scoring by Joe Olsen with 12 points. Kent McCallum with 20 points and Mike Weiss with 12 handled most of Madison's scoring duties.

Laurel Girls Work Way Past Hartington

A fourth quarter rally lifted Laurel's girls past Hartington 46-43 Thursday in basketball action.

The Bears outscored their opponents 14-8 in the final period to get the win, upping their record to 4-7.

"Finally," Laurel coach Dwight Iverson said after his team broke a six game losing skid. "We got good shot selection and Kay (Anderson) and Kim (Sherry) hit at least 50 percent of their shots."

Anderson scored 20 points and Sherry scored 11 to lead the attack. The hosts hit 35 percent of their shots from the floor. Laurel dominated the boards with Renee Gadeken pulling down 14 rebounds and Anne Schultz grabbing 10.

"Defensively, Laurel was led by LaRae Nelson who played aggressively and slowed down Hartington's offense in the fourth quarter."

"Kim had her best game of the year. She handled the press, often by herself. We also had good rebounding from Renee and Anne," Iverson stated. "LaRae shut off Carla Watz in the fourth quarter to give our offense a chance to catch up."

In the junior varsity game, Laurel improved its winning streak to nine games with a 24-13 win. Kelli Johnson led the undefeated Bears with seven points.

Laurel is scheduled to host Renner Thursday and Randolph next Monday.

First Win No Fluke

Eagles Again Top Raiders

The second meeting between Allen and Newcastle basketball teams was double the pleasure for the host Eagles.

Allen, which knocked off Class D's fourth ranked Newcastle 54-42 last Saturday in the finals of the Allen Tournament, proved the win was no fluke. The Eagles turned the trick again with a 60-57 win, Friday.

The hosts had their hands full trying to stop 6-6 scoring threat Vaughn Zerbe. Allen boxed and double-teamed Zerbe but couldn't contain him. He scored 33 points for the visitors.

However, Allen's offense more than made up for the damage Zerbe had done. Team leader Frank Larsen was shut down offensively so three other Eagles took over. Robb Linafelter and Rick Goch each scored 18 points to lead the hosts. Terry Brewer scored 15 points, including nine at the free throw line.

Allen trailed by two points with only 55 remaining but Larsen hit his only field goal of the night to tie the score. Newcastle miss-

High School Needs Weights And Mirrors

Wayne High School football coach Lonnie Ehrhardt reports that the high school is developing an advanced weight program and asks for some help.

Ehrhardt said that he is looking for any extra sets of old weights that might be cluttering up someone's house. He also would like some full length mirrors for the weight room.

Ehrhardt said he would appreciate any old weights or mirrors that anyone is willing to donate to the program.

Some 16 boys and two girls who are not competing in basketball or wrestling are presently involved in a weight training program at Wayne Carroll High School.

Anyone who has weights or mirrors they would like to donate should contact Lonnie Ehrhardt at Wayne Carroll High School.

WSC Lady Wildcats Hold Off Late Kearney Surge

Lynne Larsen hit both ends of a one-and-one situation in the final 11 seconds Friday to give Wayne State's Lady Wildcats a 77-75 win over Kearney State, in Rice Auditorium.

Kearney fouled Lynn Brandt but Brandt was injured on the play and forced to leave the game. Larsen replaced Brandt at the free throw line with WSC leading 75-73. The two free throws gave Wayne a four-point margin.

The final free throws put to rest a Kearney comeback bid that saw the Lady Lopers rally from a 75-61 deficit in the final five minutes.

The lead exchanged hands 10 times in the first half but Wayne State took the lead permanently when Patty Carney made a layup for a 38-36 advantage late in the first half.

The Lady Wildcats led by as much as 17 points at one time in the second half before Kearney put together its rally.

Leading scorer for the hosts was Lisa Draper with 22 points. Lori Koester and Julie Petronis followed with 15 and 13 points respectively. Petronis had 13 rebounds and six blocked shots and Koester had eight rebounds.

The Lady Cats hit 44 percent of their shots from the floor and Kearney made 43 percent. The win improved Wayne State's record to 4-5.

WSC coach Helen Carroll said she was pleased with the performance of Julie Petronis and the outside shooting of Lisa Draper. She pointed out that the big difference in the outcome of the game was Wayne's rebounding edge.

The Lady Cats are scheduled to host St. Mary's College tomorrow (Tuesday) and will hit the road this weekend traveling to Pittsburg State and Missouri Southern.

Kearney Proves Too Quick, Strong

WSC's SHAUN KELLEY (11) defends Kearney's Rick Johnson as Grady Hansen (41) watches the shot.

Wayne State Outplayed

A 12-3 scoring advantage in the final three minutes of the first half enabled Kearney State to blow open a close game against Wayne State, Friday in Rice Auditorium.

Kearney coasted to an 86-69 win after leading 45-29 at the half. The Antelopes relied on quickness and good shooting, hitting 55.8 percent from the floor.

Wayne State, which trailed 6-0, rallied for a 14-10 lead at one time. Senior Leon McRae was injured early in the game when he was fouled on a layup. He saw limited action.

Kearney outscored 13-2 Wayne in a three-minute stretch to open a 23-16 advantage. WSC never closed within less than five points from that point on.

The Wildcats, who were scheduled to host top-ranked Fort Hays Saturday night, were led in scoring by Grady Hansen with 21 points. Jim Reinders scored 15. Al Jones scored 10 and Doug Lollman made nine.

The injured McRae scored only four points. Reinders and Jones led the rebounding department with 13 and 9 caroms respectively.

Kearney State was paced by Doug Hoffmeier with 22 points, Rick Johnson with 16, Pete Anderson with 13 and Jeff Verhulsen with 11.

The Wildcats are scheduled to host Doane College tonight (Monday), travel to Pittsburg State Friday and play at Missouri Southern on Saturday. Briar Cliff will invade Wayne next Tuesday (Jan. 27).

Last Attempt Fails as Trojans Are Trimmed by Walthill Boys

A stolen pass and a late field goal washed Wakefield's hopes of a win over Walthill down the drain, Friday night.

Trailing 50-47 late in the game, the Trojans were hoping for a three point play to tie the score. Walthill stole the ball and drove the length of the court to put the game out of reach.

"We played hard and we played well, at times," Wakefield coach Ernie Kovar said following the game. "Our defense wasn't bad but offensively we didn't shoot well."

The Trojans trailed by only three points after one quarter but had a cold second period which led to a 29-18 half-time advantage for Walthill.

A solid pressure defense in the third quarter reversed the momentum and pulled Wakefield within one point at 29-28. Unfortunately for the Trojans, Walthill withstood the late rally to preserve the victory.

Ron Nelson led Walthill with 16 points. Brandi Kahl scored 10. Jeff Mattstrom made nine and Mike Clay added eight. Walthill was led by Jay Jackson with 21 points.

The Trojans held a rebounding edge of 37-24 led by Vaughn Nixon with 13 rebounds. Wakefield made 36.5 percent of its field goal attempts and Walthill hit 39 percent.

Wakefield will take a 5-4 record into home action Tuesday against Emerson-Hubbard. The Trojans also will host Wynot in a boy girl doubleheader on Thursday. The Lewis and Clark Conference Tournament is scheduled Jan. 26-31.

Winside Wrestlers Top Stanton in Dual of Forfeits

JOHN THIES of Winside pulls in his opponents leg as he works for a reversal and two points in 98 pound action at the Winside Stanton dual, held Thursday. Thies gained the reversal and went on to pin Marty Cheyne of Stanton to lead the Wildcats to the mat win.

In an unusual wrestling dual Thursday night, Winside defeated Stanton 45-24 on the Winside mat.

Because eight matches were decided by forfeits, only four matches took place. The Wildcats won three of those four.

John Thies started Winside off on a winning note by pinning Marty Cheyne in the 98-pound class. The match was close before Thies turned his opponent on his back for the fall in 2:29.

After exchanging forfeits in the 105 and 112 pound classes, Winside gained a 15-6 lead when Mark Koch won a 2-0 decision over Kevin Wookman at 119 pounds.

The 119-pound match was scoreless through two periods. Koch gained a reversal in the final period for a slim win, sewing up the team victory.

Stanton placed second in the Winside Invitational last Friday and Saturday.

The final Winside victory came in the 132-pound class. Doug Jaeger held a 9-1 lead when he pinned his opponent in 4:32. Stanton's heavyweight Tom Settlemyer won the final match of the evening by pinning Kent Glassmeyer.

The Wildcats travel to Plainview for a dual Tuesday and will compete in the Oakland-Craig Invitational Saturday. The month's activities will come to a close in the Plainview Invitational Saturday, Jan. 31.

Wakefield Pins Turn Back Osmond

Six consecutive wins brought the Wakefield wrestling team from behind to down Osmond 36-24 on the home mat, Thursday evening.

Osmond won the first three individual matches by virtue of a decision, a major decision and a forfeit for a 13-0 lead.

The momentum took a turn in Wakefield's favor when Jon Stelling pinned Osmond's Troy Johnson in 3:53 of the 119-pound match. Dirk Carlson won by forfeit at 126 pounds pulling the Trojans within one point.

Four straight pins by Jon Pretzer at 132, Joedy Sherer at 138, Steve Warren at 145 and Doug Verplank at 155 put the host ahead to stay with an advantage of 36-13.

The four pins used up a total of only about seven minutes. Osmond won the 167 and 185 pound matches and both teams were open in the heavyweight class.

Wakefield is scheduled to meet West Point in a dual on the road Thursday and compete in the Oakland-Craig Invitational Saturday. The Trojans will complete January's competition with a dual at Wayne.

Laurel Again Loses Close One

With a couple of points here and a couple of points there, the Laurel Bears could now be sporting a winning record. Instead the Bears are 3-7.

Laurel lost another close one 51-50 to Homer, Friday night on the road. Two of Laurel's seven losses have come by a margin of one point and two others have been decided by two points. Two of those games went into overtime.

The game went all the way to the wire and the Bears had one final chance to win. Laurel had possession of the ball with four seconds remaining and went to Kevin Erwin. Erwin puffed up at the buzzer but the ball bounced in and out.

Homer scored its winning basket on a field goal by Rod Flaugh with eight seconds left. Laurel had earlier gained the lead with 19 seconds remaining on a basket by Kelly Robson.

The Bears led 15-10 after the first quarter and 29-25 at the half before Homer jumped in front with a 15-7 advantage in the third period. The Knights led by four points midway through the fourth quarter prior to a surge by Laurel.

"We played well but it seems like we have to be perfect to win. Things are not going our way right now. We're having a tough time," Laurel coach Joel Parks said. "It was a real close game. I guess if we had an Achilles Heel it was missing five of our first six free throws."

Three players scored in double figures for the Bears. Joe Olsen led the way with 13 points followed by Scott Norvell with 11 and Kevin Erwin with 10. Matt Johnson scored eight and Jamie Johnson added six.

Homer was led by Tim Sherman with 21 points, Rod Flaugh with 11 and Bryce Wilke with 11.

Laurel won the junior varsity game 57-50. The Bears trailed 42-25 after three periods but put together an outstanding fourth quarter to win the game. Laurel outscored Homer 32-8 in the final quarter.

Laurel scoring: Phil Martin, 14; Tim Bloom, 12; Kelly Robson, 10; Brian Marquardt, 8; Tod Heitman, 7; Jerry Kastrop, 3; Mike Jonas, 2; Kraig Lofquist, 1.

The Bears are scheduled to host Creighton

Friday and will play at Randolph next Tuesday (Jan. 27).

Cedar, Osmond Top Laurel Girls

A couple of letdowns near the middle of the game were enough to turn back Laurel's challenge as the young Bears lost 38-28 to Class B's eighth ranked Hartington Cedar Catholic in girls basketball action, Monday.

Junior Anne Schults had her best performance of the year, scoring a game high 14 points.

"I really feel we should have won. We played very good defense but we're young and made too many turnovers," Laurel coach Dwight Iverson said. "Anne Schults did a fine job for us. She is really coming around."

The Bears shot 30 percent from the field but had a cold spell in the second quarter and another in the third. Laurel played even ball in the other two periods.

Leading rebounders for Laurel were Kay Anderson with eight and Kim Sherry with seven. Cedar was led in scoring by Deb Leader and Cindy Schults with 10 points apiece.

The junior varsity team won its game 21-16 upping its record to 8-0. Jill Hansen led Laurel with 10 points.

The Bears were scheduled to take a 3-7 record into action on the home court against Hartington High on Thursday. Laurel

Winside Loses on Road

Hartington, runnerup in last year's Class C boys' basketball tournament, used a fastbreak and a height advantage to defeat Winside 43-44, Friday night.

The host Hartington team led by three points and held on for a 31-23 half time lead.

"We played them close in the first half but they got a few easy baskets off of their fastbreak in the second half," Winside coach Dennis Gornerman said. "Their big guys shot over us from the outside and after they got a good lead, they slowed down the pace."

Winside countered Hartington's height and speed with good shooting from Jim Krajkcek and Byron Schellenberg.

Krajckcek scored 16 points and pulled down 12 rebounds and Schellenberg scored 14, grabbed 10 rebounds and had four assists. John Hawkins followed with nine points.

Hartington was led in scoring by Mark

Winside Wildcats Lose to Taller Stanton

Some quick baskets on steals and good outside shooting broke open a close game as Stanton defeated Winside 65-50 in boys basketball action, Thursday in Winside.

The Wildcats used a four point play to tie the game at 10-10 midway through the first quarter. Jim Krajckcek hit a field goal and Brad Roberts added two free throws following a foul underneath the basket.

At that point, Stanton capitalized on some Winside miscues. The tall Mustangs, used their height advantage to rule the boards and hit some key baskets. Seven players on the Stanton roster are taller than any of Winside's starters.

Winside fell behind 30-17 at one point and switched from a zone to a man to man defense.

The Wildcats trailed 38-21 at the half and 46-29 after three periods. The hosts improved their shooting in the fourth quarter but so did Stanton.

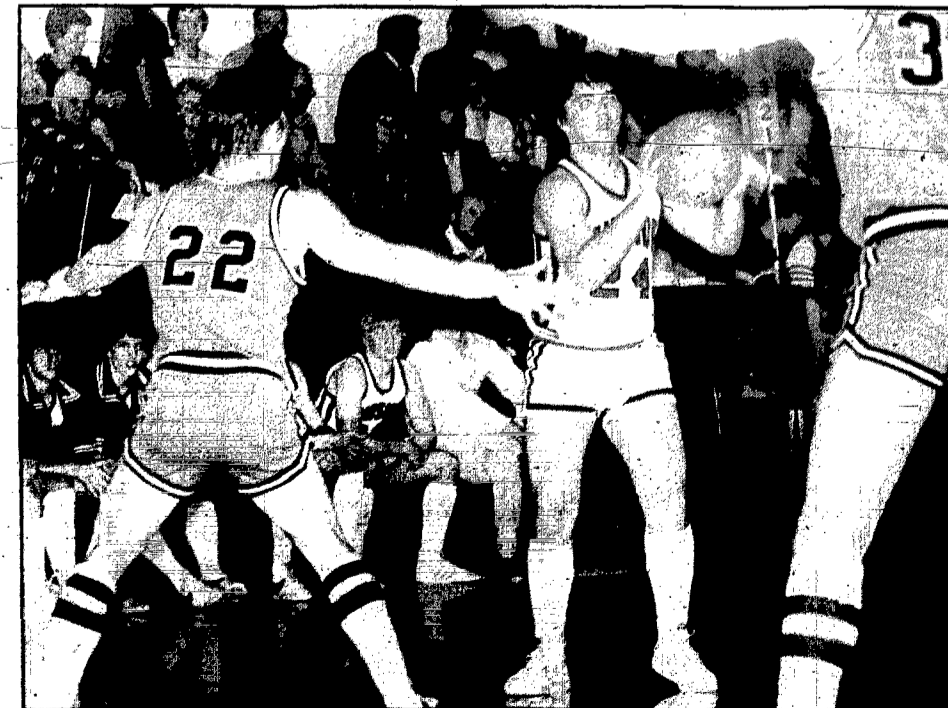

Winside matched its entire first half output by scoring 21 points in the final period. Stanton experimented with a four-corner offense in that quarter.

Krajckcek finished the game with 13 points and Bill George scored 10. Byron Schellenberg scored nine points and Brad Roberts added six. Stanton was led by Dan Persigehl with 20 points, Rick Westherholt with 15 and Brett Benson with 10.

Next action for Winside is scheduled Friday on the home court against Wausa. The Cats will compete in the Lewis and Clark Conference Tournament Jan. 16-31.

Winside made only two points in the first quarter and had a cold second half as well. The Wildcats hit only 3 of 13 free throw attempts. Many of those free throw opportunities were one-and-one situations.

"Our shooting was cold. We couldn't seem to put anything in the basket," Winside coach Kathy O'Connor said after the game. Her team made 24 percent of its shots from the field and 23 percent at the free throw line.

Despite the cold first quarter, Winside rallied in the second quarter to tie the game at 12-12 by half time. The hosts outscored Winside 24-12 in the second half.

Walthill Girls too Tough for Trojans

Troubles continued to plague the Wakefield girls basketball team Thursday as the Trojans fell to powerful Walthill 64-28.

Jean Miller continued her successful individual season by hitting 19 points and hauling in 13 rebounds in the losing effort. She made five of 11 field goal attempts and added 9 of 14 free throw attempts. Miller made 9 of 11 shots at the line in the first half.

Two Trojan starters missed this game and are expected to miss more action. Rita Wilson is out with chicken pox and Teri Schwanen is out of the lineup with a strain in her knee.

Another player, Kris Mitchell is transferring to Wayne-Carroll High School second semester.

Wakefield was right in the game during the first two quarters but fell behind in the second half. Walthill led by five points after one quarter and by six at the halfway mark.

A pressure defense hurt the Trojans in the second half.

"We played real well in the first half but they pressed in the second half and we made a number of mistakes," Wakefield coach Dennis Wilbur said. "We expected to make some mistakes but not that many. I did see some improvement and think we're progressing. It was a well reffed game."

The young Trojans were out-rebounded 43-29 by Walthill. Kris Mitchell grabbed eight rebounds for Wakefield. Walthill was led by a balanced attack with four players in double figures. Molly Mitchell was high scorer with 15 points.

The junior varsity game was won 41-25 by Walthill. Wakefield scoring: Brenda Jones, 8; Kelli Greve, 7; Michelle Meyer, 6.

Wakefield is scheduled to host Wynot Thursday in a boy-girl doubleheader and will compete in the Lewis and Clark Conference Tournament, Jan. 24-31.

Jacobowski-led Howells Controls Wayne Girls

Perennial power Howells protected its number five ranking in Class C by defeating Wayne's girls 51-30, Thursday in Wayne.

Stacy Jacobowski put on a one-player show, scoring 20 of Howells' 51 points in a consistent attack.

Lynn Surber led Wayne's attack with nine points and Tamie Murray added six. Thomas pulled down 10 rebounds and Missy Stollenberg grabbed eight. As a team, Wayne had 30 total rebounds and hit 32 percent of its shots from the field.

"The girls played a really good game. They hustled, played aggressively and never gave up," said Wayne coach, Becky Kelley. "I was real happy. If we continue to play like this, we should have a good second half of the season."

Kelley pointed out that Wayne couldn't handle the shooting and rebounding of the Howells and added that Howells ran a good zone defense.

Wayne will take a 2-6 record into competition at South Sioux City tomorrow (Tuesday). The Devils will host Pender next Tuesday and finish this month's action at Hartington Cedar Catholic, next Thursday.

What A Difference

YOU'VE COME A long way, Ronnie! From playing cowboys on the screen more than 40 years ago, Ronald Reagan will become President of the United States during Inauguration ceremonies Tuesday. It wasn't too many years ago when Reagan was headlining movies at the Gay Theatre — starring with Alexis Smith in 'Stallion Road'.

Jack March, owner of the Gay, said he ran across this picture of his building before it was remodeled. Little did he know that in 1981 the tough hombre in many a Class B movie would be the tough hombre in the biggest movie of all.

Every government official or board that handles public money should publish at regular intervals an accounting of it showing where and how each dollar is spent. We hold this to be a fundamental principle to democratic government.

Alcohol Awareness Session Set at WSC This Month

The Small Farm Energy Project is currently studying low-cost and energy-efficient alcohol fuel systems for small farms. Initially, the project is conducting experimental work with small scale equipment, before demonstrating larger plants for actual farm use.

A small one bushel batch experimental still was purchased in August by the Energy Project. The plant uses conventional techniques and can be fired by wood or cobs. The still can be used for cooking, fermentation and distillation by a three-inch packed column. The plant has a 55 gallon cooker tank and is capable of producing up to 7 gallon of 180 proof alcohol per hour. It is realized that a certain amount of time and experience are required for the operator to perfect all three aspects of the production process: starch conversion, fermentation and distillation.

The one bushel still is basically an educational tool and a demonstration device for the farmer to learn about the alcohol production process before moving into larger investments. Farm groups or organizations could use such a still for loaning out to members for experimentation. There is much to learn about the process and methods of monitoring its progress.

Various new techniques also had been considered for farm plants by the Energy Project to provide for some improved efficiencies, automation and other process improvements. Such techniques considered have included vacuum distillation, continuous distillation and continuous fermentation. But they all now appear to perhaps be a much more ambitious effort for the farmer wishing to develop his own plant, than the simpler batch still being used at the Energy Project.

Following the further study of the one bushel batch process, a scaled up permanent farm plant is anticipated as part of the work plan of the Energy Project. The batch process will hopefully be easy to manage and low-cost.

Handling of the by-product of spent mash will require special attention. A recent review of the various literature on protein by-products from alcohol production from corn indicates that a diverse livestock operation would be most appropriate for effective by-product use. Hogs appear to make the best use of spent beer or the liquid portion of the by-product, whereas dairy animals are more appropriate for utilization of the solids following fermentation.

Edger Wuebben provided both liquid and solid by-products to his dairy herd in small quantities and separately. He reports that after a day of becoming familiar with the materials, the animals "licked the barrels clean."

4-H Labo Exchange Seeks Host Families

"Six to eight Wayne County families may have the opportunity to add an international dimension to their 4-H program this summer," says Don Spitze, Wayne County Extension Agent. "Applications are being distributed to extension and 4-H families who would like to share their home and community life with a Japanese visitor during part of July and August." The international visitors are part of the 4-H Labo Exchange program in which youth from the United States and Japan can learn about the culture, economy, youth programs and educational systems of another country. "Labo Exchange enables both urban and rural 4-H members and leaders to broaden their horizons and have an international experience without ever leaving home," Spitze explained. "Families who participate will contribute to the special understanding of the American way of life that comes only when individuals live and work side by side." Ranging from 12 to 19 years of age, the Japanese youth will have studied two years of English and hope to improve their language skills while in the United States. "Labo exchange with Japan fosters friendship and understanding between countries and gives youth new insights into the world in which they live. This is an important dimension of the 4-H program and of the development process of young people," emphasizes Linda Huinker, Wayne County Home Extension agent. "Four-H members, themselves, recognized this in recent years, when they added 'my world' to the 4-H pledge." To obtain an application, contact the extension office and return it by Jan. 29. Applications will be forwarded to the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, where final decisions will be made by March 1. Typical of the comments of the program are as follows: "We think this program was a huge success. Maybe we were lucky to get such an adorable child, but we really enjoyed her." "I think we all gained a great deal. It is amazing to me how children can really take time to explain things to another child when there is a language barrier."

State's Farmers Harvest Less Feed Grain Tonnage

Nebraska farmers harvested 26 percent less feed grain tonnage during 1980 than in 1979. It was 2 percent above the 10-year average production.

Nebraska corn producers harvested 603.5 million bushels of corn for grain in 1980, the smallest crop since 1976 and down 27 percent from 1979's record production. Average yield per acre was 85 bushels, compared with the record 115 bushels for a year earlier. Acreage harvested for grain was down 1 percent from the previous year.

Dryland corn production was 103.5 million bushels compared with 201.4 million for 1979. Yield per acre at 48.2 bushels was down 39.4 bushels from the record yield of the previous year. Dryland acreage harvested for grain was down 7 percent.

Job Applications Are Up Some

At the end of December, there were 1,059 persons registered for employment with the Norfolk Job Service Office and 172 with the O'Neill office for a total of 1,231 registered applicants. This compares with 1,012 last month and 612 at the close of December, 1979. The 1,231 total includes 574 females and 184 veterans but does not include 195 individuals seeking only part-time work.

New applications filed during December totaled 318 compared with 297 last month and 207 for December of last year.

Nonagricultural job openings received from employers number 209 compared with 202 in November and 193 for December, 1979. Job openings filled by our offices during December totaled 200. This compares with 176 last month and 143 during December of last year.

With today's increasing wage, production costs and taxes, employers need all the assistance they can get. We know that in times when jobs are scarce, employers have people applying in large numbers. Respect Life Week Jan. 17-24

Mayor Wayne Marsh has signed a proclamation designating Jan. 17 to 24 as Respect Life Week in Wayne.

The proclamation reads in part that since the reverence for human life is a vital issue and since all human beings have certain inalienable rights and that the first of these is the right to life, "we realize that by denying one person the right to life affects all society." "Our fellow human beings support in times of need and support of life is extremely important."
