County Taxpayers Begin Protest of 'Consolidation'

The wheels of protest were put into motion Tuesday night when about 80 Wayne County residents met to show their disdain for a state legislative bill that would abolish Class I schools.

THE MEETING, held at School District 57 south of Wayne, was one of two scheduled for Wayne County and one of many planned this week and next in every county with rural school districts. The object of the meetings is to generate opposition to LB 319 which, if approved, would merge all Class I (rural) school districts with existing Class II, III, IV or V districts unless the Class I districts are merged with a Class VI district by Sept. 1.

The bill currently is being discussed in committee and a public hearing will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 3, at the State Capitol in Lincoln. No one is sure when the bill will reach the floor of the Unicameral for debate.

The discussion was led by District 57 board of education president Gene Luff, with comments from County Supt. Loren Park. Each answered various questions and provided information to better inform the listeners on the potential impact of the bill.

LUFF URGED each resident of the county to write letters to each of the Education Committee members, Gov. Charles Thone and this area's representative, Sen. Merle Von Minden. The letters, according to an instruction sheet provided by the Nebraska School Improvement Association (NSIA), should "tell in your own words your resentment and disgust for the manner in which the majority of the members of the Education Committee has given an endorsement to LB 319, even before it had a public hearing."

Luff said the letters also should contain each person's opinions on why LB 319 should be killed before it reaches the Unicameral floor.

In addition to the letter barrage, petitions against the bill are being circulated the next 10 days throughout the state. Once completed, these will be compiled and presented to Governor Thone and to the Education Committee. Both the petitions and the letters must be completed and in the mail to be received prior to the March 3 hearing, Luff explained.

THE PETITION, circulated by the NSIA, reads, in part, as follows:

"We are deeply distressed by the on-going persistent and varied methods which have been used to try to force the reorganization and consolidation of our school districts. We protest the mandate contained in LB 319 which would, if passed, require the reorganization of all elementary school districts (Class I), which are not now within the boundaries of a high school district, into school systems offering kindergarten through the 12th grade. We are not so naive as to believe that forced reorganization of school districts will end with LB 319. We believe it is only the beginning.

"We totally reject and resent the false claim, being made by some, that the residents of small schools, whether rural or town, are only interested in maintaining their Class I school districts as tax havens and are not supporting quality education.

"WE BRAND AS false the premise and theory that 'bigger is better'. We believe that the students from the rural schools have a demonstrated and enviable record of scholastic attainment and success after they leave our small schools. This is a record of which we are proud.

"We believe that we, the affected parents and taxpayers, not some county or multi-county committee or distant state committee, should continue to have the right to make the decision on whether or not to reorganize our schools. After all, it is our families, our children and our lives which will be affected. Our children are not the property of the state to be herded and hauled to distant government schools to appease our self-appointed guardians, who in their arrogance say they know better than we do what is in our best interests and those of our children.

"We vehemently protest the loss of local control which will occur, and the increased intrusion and meddling in our daily lives and the accompanying disruptions of home life that will result should LB 319 become law."

DURING GENERAL discussion, County Superintendent Park informed the taxpayers that "one of the things people will be asked (at the public hearing) is how well each district can serve the needs of special kids, those with special needs or with special talents."

So far, Park said, Educational Services Unit No. 1 in Wakefield has "done a good job" in taking care of these services. "But each year it becomes more of a financial problem," Park said each district "has to show some strength in this area."

District 17 Senator Von Minden has been written twice in the past two weeks for his opinions. It was noted, but had not responded as of Tuesday.

Luff said that this type of protest is the first step in opposing the bill and is the most economical. If the bill reaches the floor for debate, additional attorneys and experts will be needed, the school board president said.

"THE BIGGEST thing is the people being told they have to do it. The district has never prevented anyone from leaving the district and never will. It's a freedom we should be guaranteed. That's the whole ball of wax," Luff said.

Luff said hundreds and hundreds of protesters are expected for the 1:30 p.m. hearing on LB 319. Each person motoring to Lincoln for the hearing is asked to take some kind of poster "which won't influence the committee, but which will attract the attention of the media." The posters will not be allowed inside the capitol building.

Bereuter Seeks Farm Exports Hike

Speaking here Monday, Congressman Doug Bereuter reiterated the need to focus the nation's attention on the potential of farm exports.

"THE EXPORT MARKET has become the growth market for U.S. agricultural production and the leading positive factor in the nation's balance of trade," Bereuter said. "To realize our farm export potential, we must identify and alleviate constraints and obstacles that hinder exports. We then can move forward establishing a consistent national export policy."

Bereuter made his remarks during a meeting in Wayne of his Regional Agricultural Advisory Committee. He is a member of the Congressional Farm Export Project, which was created to develop a unified plan to increase farm exports in the 1980's.

The Congressman, the First District representative, addressed a group of approximately 95 persons from 25 communities at the Birch Room in Wayne State's Student Union.

"ABOVE ALL, we must establish ourselves as a reliable trading partner. I generally oppose using food as a weapon for this reason. If our national security really requires a trade embargo, then such an embargo should be all-inclusive," he said.

When asked if there might be any specific circumstances which would change his mind toward using food as a weapon, Bereuter replied that he felt the only justification would be if the U.S. decided on a total embargo of another country.

Bereuter pointed out that if President Reagan does not lift the embargo on the Soviet Union, then the embargo should be broadened. "I asked that the embargo be lifted. I always thought it was a mistake. If they feel an embargo is essential then it should be broadened to a total embargo."

THE CONGRESSMAN said that embargoes have always worked to the disadvantage of our country, and added that he doubted if the embargo on the USSR has had any real impact on the Soviet Union.

Argentina is dealing twice as much grain to the Soviet Union and Poland is believed to be filtering grain to the Russians, Bereuter said.

The Congressman said that the United States should exert pressure on trading partners to remove trade barriers of all types.

Specifically, he said, "Japan is a prime example. I am encouraged by Special Trade Representative Bill Brock's recent remarks that this nation is ready to 'play some hardball' with the Japanese. They are guilty of allowing unfair, informal import barriers on beef and citrus fruits, in particular," Bereuter said.

"FREE TRADE must work both ways. We always seem to be beat at the negotiating table," said Bereuter.

The Congressman from Utica said that the U.S. should consider eliminating impediments in the transportation system. "Tie-ups sometimes occur, because of lack of rail cars, rail line abandonment, inland waterway bottlenecks, strikes and inconsistent truck weight limits on the nation's highways."

"A progressive and efficient transportation network is indispensable to a successful export marketing system. Of course, in solving problems, a balance must be struck between the interests of farmers, shippers, carriers and consumers."

Bereuter also noted expansion possibilities. "The potential for export is extraordinary. Export demand for wheat, for example, is expected to double by the end of the century while corn exports are projected to increase 60 to 80 percent."

HE SAID, "American farmers now produce 50 percent more food and fiber than is consumed in this country. Farm exports last year had a net value of $2.2 billion. Agriculture, in other words, is a national asset that gives Americans greater buying power while creating jobs at home."

When asked if he thinks Reagan will be successful in balancing the budget by the end of his term, Bereuter pointed out that we should have an answer within the next four or five months.

"If the President is not successful in getting his proposals passed, then he won't be able to balance the budget," the Congressman stated. He then added that Reagan's goal is to balance the budget in three years. The three-phase plan includes: 1. getting the budget cuts passed, 2. tax cuts, 3. total reconsideration of federal spending.

BEREUTER POINTED OUT that Reagan is a likeable person and began his term in office by working well with Congress. "He has good relations with Congress and that's a good sign," he added.

"My constituents say they are willing to tighten their belts. If this belt tightening is done all across society, then Reagan's program can work," Bereuter said. "All of us receive some sort of federal help and every raw nerve will be touched by this program."

"I just hope that everyone's ox will be goaded. Then the peer pressure will lead Congress to not defend one parochial interest. The program is one package not individual parcels."

Varied Past for Athletics, Fine Arts, Middle School

(Editor's Note: This is the second and final in a series of articles on the history of the Wayne Public School system. Supt. of Schools Francis Haun prepared the historical sketch for use in the Wayne County History Book, a publication sponsored by the County Historical Society. Deadline for contributing to the book was Sunday, Feb. 15, but the committee will be compiling contributions for several days. Persons still working on their information have time to submit their works.)

Middle School origins
Middle School, grades 5-8, as it is now known in Wayne, is part of District 17's central educational campus which encompasses three buildings.

Located at 312 Douglas St. in a residential area, the Middle School is one block from the West Elementary School (grades K-6) and two blocks from the new Wayne-Carroll High School (grades 9-12).

BUILT IN 1906 and remodeled in 1939, this building housed all the students in Wayne Public Schools, K-12, until 1959. At that time, it became the junior-senior high school (grades 7-12) serving the enlarged District 17 area until 1967.

In 1967, the structure was given over to a new concept in education. Although the building had not been designed for a middle school, the design did not prove to be a serious obstacle to implementing the new concept. The board of education and the administrative staff of District 17 held the view that intelligent and imaginative development of a program to meet the early years of adolescence was the most important single factor in its ultimate success.

AS DISTRICT 17 continued to study the needs of its students in the middle school, major remodeling became needed for the developing program. The building, however, basically was sound, in good repair and generally provided good facilities for teaching most of the present curriculum offerings.

Within the three-story Wayne Middle School are 21 teaching stations including a gymnasium, band room, shop, homemaking department and library. For the most part, grades five and six were housed on the first floor with classes held there and grades seven and eight were housed on the second floor and classes held there.

However, all pupils left their home rooms to attend classes in specialized fields such as band, shop, homemaking and physical education, or to go to the library and the learning center.

IN 1981, THERE are 22 Middle School faculty members. This group includes four teachers who are shared with the high school. There is a full-time nurse shared with the entire school system.

The Middle School has one full-time secretary. The principal also is special education director for the school district. He has no teaching responsibilities.

Enrollments
Enrollments in the public schools were fairly constant from 1924 to 1950, averaging 470 students. There was a steady increase in enrollments from 1951 to 1969 when the enrollment peaked at 1,130 students. Since 1970, there has been a steady decline in enrollment.

The Wayne and Carroll schools have an enrollment in 1981 of 864 students and a continuing decline through 1983 is anticipated when the decline should stabilize.

AA accreditation
In 1970, after comprehensive external self-evaluations, the Wayne Public Schools were awarded AA accreditation by the Nebraska State Department of Education. In a letter to Wayne Supt. Dr. F.R. Haun, Mel Olson of the State Department of Education said: "The reclassification of the Wayne-Carroll School System to AA is in recognition of the excellent quality of education being carried on in your school district. It is in recognition of a quality of effort in your school which exceeds the requirements for accreditation and which exceeds the basic requirements found in other accredited school systems."

THE DEPARTMENT of Education has continued to annually award the Wayne Schools AA accreditation.

In addition to holding AA accreditation, the Wayne-Carroll High School has been accredited by the North Central Association of Secondary Schools since 1917.

Athletic activities in which the school district have excelled over the years include the following:

Girl's volleyball — won district title in 1975.
Cross country — won district title in 1980.

Local school officials will be using the following family size income criteria for determining eligibility:

Family Size	Free Meals Lunch and/or Breakfast and/or Free Milk	Reduced Price Meals Lunch and/or Breakfast

Building principals will contact all families whose eligibility for free or reduced price meals has changed due to the change in these guidelines. Any family may discuss any eligibility change with the building principal at any of the three schools. A formal appeal may be requested from Wayne Supt. Francis Haun, 611 W. Seventh St., Wayne, 375-3150; Winside Supt. Don Leighton, 286-4466; or Allen Supt. Robert Heckathorne or Loren Carr, 635-2493.

Use Tax Credits To Reduce Your Tax Bill

Editor's Note: This is one in a series of articles regarding income tax. The Wayne Herald is printing these as a service to its readers.

If you own a small business, you can reduce your federal income taxes by taking advantage of tax credits, says the Nebraska Society of Certified Public Accountants. A credit is a dollar-for-dollar reduction of your tax bill, rather than a reduction of your taxable income.

You may claim a 10 percent investment tax credit, a 10 percent energy credit and the targeted jobs tax credit, which you can qualify for by hiring people from disadvantaged groups. You may be able to combine credits for an even greater tax break. For instance, if you invest in energy-saving property, you may qualify for both an investment credit and an energy credit.

Let's start with the investment credit. Machinery is the major type of business property which qualifies for this credit, but you may also take an investment credit for oil and gas storage tanks. Claim the investment tax credit if your property is used for manufacturing, production, transportation or communications, for example, or for gas, water or sewage disposal services. Elevators and escalators usually qualify for credit, too.

Although a building does not qualify for the investment credit unless it is certified as historic, part of its structure can qualify for this tax credit if it is part of the machinery or equipment with which it functions. A specially-designed concrete mat serving as a base for large stamping presses may also function as a floor, but its major use classifies it as an integral part of the machinery. In this case, CPAs say, the concrete mat qualifies for the investment credit.

Claim investment tax credit if you rehabilitate a building that is at least 20 years old and a similar credit has not been claimed for 20 years. Factories, warehouses, and retail and wholesale stores are eligible. An apartment building generally won't qualify, unless it is converted to office space.

If you make structural improvements to such a building, which will last five years or more, you may claim an investment tax credit. This includes the removal and replacement of interior walls, plumbing, electrical wiring and heating and air conditioning systems, which don't qualify when installed in a newer building. When renovating the building, be sure you retain at least three-fourths of the original exterior walls. CPAs suggest that you keep all detailed renovation plans, such as architects' drawings, so you can show exactly what work was done.

Remember, there is a ceiling on investment tax credits. On your 1980 federal income tax return, you can claim up to the first $25,000 of your bill plus 70 percent of the liability over that amount. For example, if your tax liability is $100,000, you are limited to an investment credit of $75,000 ($25,000 plus $50,000 which is 70 percent of the difference between $100,000 and $25,000). Should your total investment tax credit be $85,000 — or more than your credit limit — the remaining $7,500 may be deducted from past or future tax bills. This is known as "carryback" or "carryover."

Now on to the energy tax credits. If you bought alternative energy manufacturing equipment that does not use oil or gas, or if you install pollution control equipment required by certain federal, state or local regulations, you may qualify for the 10 percent energy credit. Certain specially designed energy property such as regenerators, heat exchangers and automatic energy control systems also qualify, and so does recycling equipment. Reduce the energy credit to five percent if you financed the energy property with tax-exempt industrial development bonds. Take a 15 percent credit if the property uses solar or wind energy to generate heat, cooling, electricity or hot water.

The amount of the qualified investment on which both the energy and investment tax credits are taken depends upon the useful life of the business property. CPAs say, for example, if you buy $15,000 worth of computer equipment you can claim an investment credit of $1,500 only if the equipment is expected to last for seven years or more. If the equipment is expected to last five or six years, then two-thirds of your investment qualifies. You claim 10 percent of $15,000 for a $1,500 credit. If the equipment will last only three or four years, then one-third of your $15,000, or $5,000, is considered to be a qualified investment. Your credit would be $500. Property must have a useful life of at least three years to qualify for either the investment or the energy credit.

Here's how the targeted jobs tax credit works. You can claim a maximum credit of $3,000 per employee for the first year of employment and $1,500 each in the second year. These amounts are based on 50 percent of wages in the first year and 25 percent in the second year up to $6,000. This credit may be available to you if you hire a handicapped person, for instance, in any one year, this credit is limited to 90 percent of your tax bill after all other credits have been applied. Like the investment tax credit, the unused portion of the targeted jobs tax credit may be applied to past or future tax bills.

Here's an example of how tax credits could cut a $15,000 tax bill by almost two-thirds: Let's say you own a small printing business and last year you spent $48,000 for computerized typesetting equipment and a solar heating system. This new business property has a life expectancy of at least seven years so it qualifies for a full 10 percent investment credit — $4,800. You also claim a 15 percent energy credit for the solar heating system. Your credit would be $450 (15 percent of $3,000). Because you added two printers to your staff, one being a qualified disabled individual and the other a disadvantaged Vietnam veteran, you can claim a targeted jobs credit of $5,000. So, your tax credits total $10,250, which is subtracted from your tax bill of $15,000. You pay $4,750 in income taxes this year.

However, careful planning for tax reduction by using credits is required as a result of the new alternative minimum tax. You may find that credits eliminate a substantial portion of your income tax liability only to have the alternative minimum tax be applied. So if you are planning to reduce your income tax liability by using credits, see your tax advisor.

Carol Wieseler February Bride

Spiral candelabras with greenery, and burgundy carnations and dusty rose and white flowers decorated St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne for the Feb. 7 ceremony uniting in marriage Carol Lee Wieseler and Curtis Ray Kalkowski.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Al Wieseler of Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. August (Corky) Kalkowski of Verdel.

Officiating at the 2 o'clock double ring ceremony was the Rev. Thomas McDermott of Wayne.

Guests were registered by Judy Denesia of Chadron and were ushered into the church by Chris Wieseler of Wayne, brother of the bride, Kevin Kalkowski and Perry DeKay, both of Lynch, and Bruce Barnes of Niobrara. "Homecoming" was played for the processional and "Joy" was played during the recessional. Carmel Sonnek of Sioux City sang "Theme From Ice Castles," "Sunrise, Sunset," "God, a Woman and a Man" and "That's the Way." Organist was Paul Vornhagen of Niobrara and flutist was Dina Barfa of Verdigris.

The bride appeared at her father's side in a white Quilana floor-length gown styled with a jewel neckline edged in handclipped silk venise lace. The semi-bodice was enhanced with English netting and lace appliques. Silk venise lace edged the skirt, which draped into a long chapel train.

Her bridal illusion mantilla was adorned with cascade venise lace and was attached to a Juliet headpiece. She carried a cascade of dusty rose and burgundy sweetheart roses and buds accented with baby's breath; greenery, white forget-me-nots and white pecol ribbon. —Colleen Pischel of Lincoln was the bride's honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Marilyn Niemann of Longmont, Colo., sister of the bride, Tammy Kalkowski of Norfolk, sister of the bridegroom, and Shelly Wieseler and Cathy Wieseler of Wayne, both sisters of the bride.

Their long primrose frocks were styled with blouson bodices and jewel necklines beautified with dyed-to-match lattice lace. Self tie belts encircled the natural waistlines, which fell into full circular skirts. Each carried a long-stemmed bouquet consisting of five dusty rose and burgundy sweetheart roses accented with greenery, baby's breath and matching ribbon.

The bride's personal attendant was Janet Emry of Omaha.

Flower girl was Chelsey Wilson of Niobrara and ring bearer was the bride's brother, Cory Wieseler of Wayne.

Best man was Charlie Dryak of Verdel, and groomsmen were Mike Wieseler of Lincoln, brother of the bride, and Red Watson of Winview, Garth Ducker of Lynch and Donny Goodrich of Verdel.

The bridegroom was attired in a white tuxedo with satin lapels and top collar, white ruffled shirts and satin bow ties.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wieseler selected a plum floor-length gown with a semi-sheer floral border print coat. The mother of the bridegroom chose a floor-length dress of burgundy chantilly over polyknit, styled with a scoop neckline and waterfall cape which formed bell sleeves. A self fabric belt trimmed the natural waistline. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Vornhagen and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson of Niobrara greeted the 275 guests who attended a reception in the school basement following the ceremony. Gifts were arranged by Debbie Zavadt of Crofton and Deb Heilhold and Karen Nolt, both of Wayne.

Mrs. W. J. McCullough of Sioux City and Mrs. Allen Spittiger of Wisner cut and served the cake. Mrs. Dale Thunker of Norfolk and Lucille Wieseler of St. Helena poured, and Denise Hansen of Wayne served punch.

Waitresses were Jana Backman of Wymot, DeeDee Thunker of Crofton, Debbie Penn and Karen Kaup, both of Wayne, and Judy Wieseler, Joyce Wieseler, Tammy Wieseler and Connie Wieseler, all of St. Helena.

The newlyweds left Feb. 15 for Texas and will be making their first home in Verdel.

The bride was graduated from Wayne-Carroll High School in 1975 and from Stewart's Beauty School in Sioux City. The bridegroom, a 1975 graduate of Lynch High School, is engaged in ranching and farming near Verdel.

Koch placed fourth at 98 pounds in 1979 and fifth at 105 pounds last year. Foote won the state championship at 119 pounds last year and placed second at 112 in 1979.

A total of 41 wrestlers are unbeaten and 17 are returning state champs. Foote, at 22-0, is the only undefeated wrestler in the area. State records show that Winside has had 10 individual champions. Wakefield has had four and Wayne has had none. Defending team champions this year are Columbus in Class A, Gering in Class B, Wymore Southern in Class C and Elm Creek in Class D. ## Seven Wildcats Qualify in Class D Meet

The Winside wrestling team put together its finest performance of the season, Friday and Saturday to place second in Class D 2 Districts at Clarks and send seven wrestlers to state.

The Wildcats were led by undefeated Brian Foote and 167 pound Barry Bowers. Foote extended his winning streak to 22 matches this season by placing first at 126 pounds. He defeated Jeff Church of Clarks 11-0 in the finals.

Bowers won his weight class by pinning Mark Feldharker of Waterloo in 3:46.

Second place finishers were Mark Koch at 119, Doug Jaeger at 132 and Kent Glassmeyer in the heavyweight division.

Koch was pinned by Steve Strobel of Clarks in 1:56. Jaeger was decided 10-6 by Marc Staroska of Clarks and Glassmeyer was pinned in 59 by Ken Armstrong of Scribner.

The top four individuals in each weight class qualified for state. Two Winside wrestlers finished third in their respective classes.

John Thies pinned Paul Janulewicz of Clarks in the 98 pound consolation finals and Curt Rhode pinned Barry Thoendel of Waterloo in 1:42 of the 105 pound consolation finals.

Records of the state qualifiers are: Foote 22-0, Koch 21-6, Bowers 21-7, Jaeger 16-10, Glassmeyer 8-9, Rhode 10-13, Thies 10-13.

We had one of the toughest districts in Class D. Four of the teams were rated and we finished 20 points above the third place team," said Winside coach Paul Sok.

"Clarks has a well-balanced team. We had 17 pins that allowed us to jump up in the placing. We took nine wrestlers and won seven medals for third place or better."

Sok predicted that Winside should finish among the top 10 teams at the state tourney and added that his team is aiming for the number five spot. "If things go well, we should be there," he added.

For six Winside wrestlers the trip to Lincoln is nothing unusual. Foote will be making his fourth appearance at state and is aiming for a third medal. He placed second at 112 pounds two years ago and won the 119 pound championship last year.

Koch, a junior, will make his third appearance at state. He placed third at 98 pounds two years ago and fifth at 105 last season.

Bowers and Glassmeyer have each qualified for state the past two years. Bowers wrestled at 132 pounds his freshman year and at 155 last year. Glassmeyer competed in the heavyweight class both years. Both wrestlers are juniors.

For Jaeger, a junior, and Rhode, a sophomore, this will be the second state appearance. Rhode wrestled at 98 pounds last year and Jaeger qualified at 112 pounds last season.

Wakefield Drops Meeting at Oakland

After falling behind in the first half, the Wakefield-Trojans tried to make up lost ground but came up short, losing to Oakland-Craig 76-61, Tuesday night.

Oakland led 19-13 after the first quarter and 37-27 at the half. The Trojans battled back within four points in the third quarter and had possession of the ball. However, Oakland put together a couple of baskets to open up an 8-point lead again.

The hosts went into their delay game in the fourth quarter and Wakefield was forced to change its game plan.

"Oakland used delay tactics late in the game with an eight-point lead and picked up some guppy baskets," Wakefield coach Ernie Kovar said. "We fought back in the third quarter but we were up and down."

The Trojans were led by Vaughn Nixon with 18 points and 12 rebounds. He hit 7 of 12 shots from the floor. Rod Nixon scored 16 points and Jeff Hallstrom made 15. Kovar credited Vaughn with a good game and added that Rod played well at times.

The loss dropped Wakefield's record to 9-8 for the season. The Trojans will play at Ponca Friday and play Winnebago in district action at Wayne, Monday.

Oakland was led by J. Johnson with 24 points. The hosts also won the junior varsity game 53-30.

Hot Shooting Grady Paces Cats To Important Win Over Bruins

Sizzling Grady Hansen ripped the nets for 33 points to lift the Wayne State Wildcats to a key 63-61 win over Bellevue College, Tuesday night in Rice Auditorium.

"The triumph keeps Wayne in the thick of the race for an NAIA District 11 basketball playoff berth. The Wildcats' hopes improved again when they learned that Chadron State was nipped 53-52 by Kearney State, Tuesday. Kearney has clinched the title.

Wayne, Bellevue and Chadron are competing for the runner-up spot and WSC's win gave the Cats sole possession of second place with a 4-3 conference mark. Bellevue dropped to 3-3 and Chadron fell to 1-4.

A Wayne State win over Chadron next Tuesday could clinch a tie for second place. Bellevue must play Chadron and Peru on the road next week. Chadron has three games remaining.

The Wildcats opened up a big lead against Bellevue but couldn't put the Bruins away. The visitors closed within two points late in the game but Hansen kept his team on top.

The 6-6 sophomore hit two free throws in the final eight seconds to give Wayne a 63-59 lead and clinch the win. Hansen made 12 of 20 field goal attempts for 60 percent accuracy and was perfect at the free throw line in nine attempts.

Leon McRae added 11 points for the winners.

WSC coach Rick Weaver was pleased with Hansen's performance but wasn't happy with the way his team played.

This year is no exception as a pair of brothers will accompany Trullinger to the state tourney scheduled today, tomorrow and Saturday at Lincoln.

David Stelling placed third at 105 pounds and Jon Stelling placed fourth in the 112 pound class. The top four finishers in each weight class qualify for the state tournament.

Wakefield competed in the Class C-2 Districts at Lyons.

Senior David upped his record to 15-8-1 for the season by winning a 2-0 decision over Matt Japp of Bennington in consolation finals.

Sophomore Jon lost his consolation match by pin to Terry Maguire of Wisner-Pilger. Jon, whose record is now 10-10, placed fourth in Class C last year.

Devils Top Elkhorn, Get Upset by Lyons

The Wayne Blue Devils appeared to have big hearts on Valentines Day as they let the Elkhorn Antlers stay close before pulling away for a 71-60 win, Saturday.

The game was played before a moderate sized Parents Night crowd in the Wayne High gym.

Wayne, ranked fourth in the most recent Class B ratings, jumped out in front to a 17-7 lead and held on for a 21-11 advantage after one quarter of play.

However, the Devils didn't play like a state ranked team in the second period. Elkhorn pulled within one point at 34-33 with 44 seconds remaining in the half. Two late field goals improved Wayne's lead to 38-33 at the intermission.

The lead was stretched to 10 points at the end of the third quarter but Wayne's play was still not reminiscent of a big win over Hartington CC a week earlier.

Wayne made about 45 percent of its shots from the field. Leading scorers were Perry Nelson and Kevin Nissen with 14 points each, Jere Morris with 13 and Todd Heier with 11. Tim Pfeiffer scored eight points and Mike Sladek added seven.

The Blue Devils had 16 offensive and 18 defensive rebounds. Nelson made 10 rebounds, Sladek had seven and Heier grabbed five. Heier had nine recoveries and Morris and Pfeiffer each made three assists.

Elkhorn was led by Kevin Bridges with 28 points and Mike Schilke and David Flor with 10 points each.

In junior varsity action, Wayne prevailed 51-50 as Elkhorn ran out of time on its last shot. Shaun Niemann pumped in 24 points to lead the Blue Devils. He hit seven field goals and 10 of 13 free throws.

Other Wayne scorers: Todd Pfeiffer, 8; Todd Schwartz, 7; Tim Heier, 6; Mark Botenkamp, 6.

Winners of the Wayne-Carroll Baseball Association hog give-away were Wayne Wessel and Ron Sladek. Each winner will be given half of a hog.

The first of two road tests this week proved to be rougher than hoped as the Wayne Blue Devils were administered some bitter medicine, Tuesday in Lyons.

Class C's ranked Lyons avenged a Wayne State Holiday Tournament loss by dropping Class B's fourth-ranked Wayne 48-40. Wayne's record dropped to 16-4.

The Blue Devils hit 35 percent of their 55 shots while Lyons took only 32 shots but hit 45 percent. The hosts outrebounded Wayne by one.

"We didn't shoot well at all. We didn't play well, they just outplayed us," Wayne coach Bill Sharpe said. "We had poor shot selection and when we did have some good shots, we couldn't hit them."

Sharpe reported that Lyons was selective in its shooting and added that the hosts slowed the pace down considerably with a lead in the second half.

Lyons led 13-12 after one quarter and 29-22 at the half. Wayne committed 11 turnovers while Lyons turned the ball over 19 times. The Devils made only seven offensive rebounds.

Wayne was led by Mike Sladek with 11 points and 10 rebounds. Kevin Nissen with 11 points, Todd Heier with 10 points and Perry Nelson with six points and eight rebounds.

Lyons broke Wayne's zone defense with good outside shooting and the Devils were forced into a man-to-man. Nelson was assigned to cover high scoring Chuck Hayes and was forced to play outside on defense, thus hurting Wayne's rebounding.

"When you play on the road you must be a little more intense," Sharpe said. "This could be a good lesson if the team will take it that way."

The winners were led by Hayes with 14, Kelly Barada with 14 and Brad Schoch with 11.

Lyons won the junior varsity game 59-46 in overtime. Shaun Niemann scored 13 points and Todd Schwartz hit 10 for Wayne.

Bears Triumph In Low Scorer

There wasn't a lot of scoring but the Laurel Bears prevailed 39-28 in a slow-down contest at Plainview, Saturday.

The Pirates slowed down the pace but Laurel kept its patience and overcame a close first half to gain the win. Joe Olsen scored 11 points and Matt Johnson added eight for the winners. Bert Liggenteiler led Plainview with nine points.

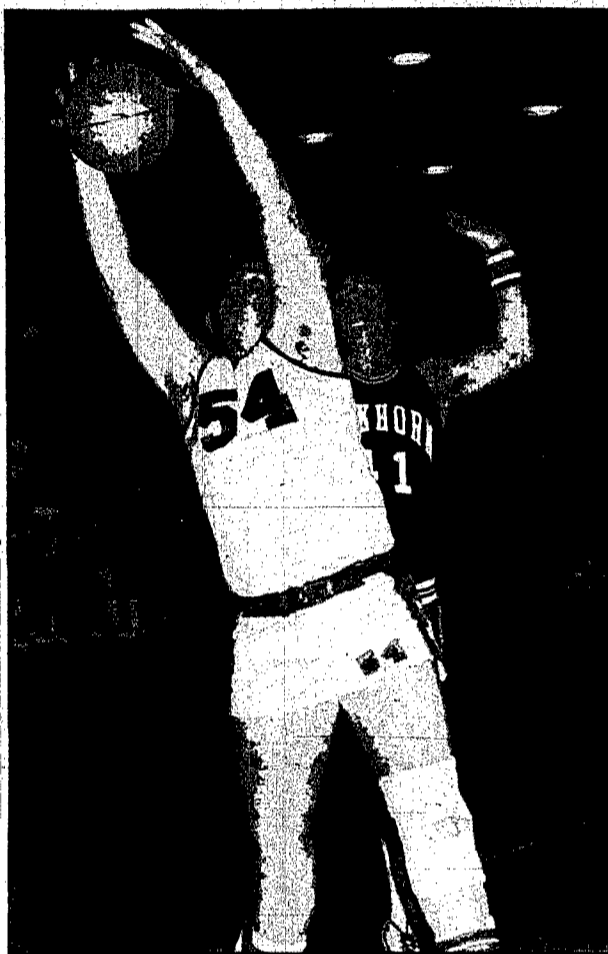

The Bears took 43 shots from the field and hit 42 percent while Plainview got off only 27 shots and hit 37 percent.

"We had a real good defensive performance and were very patient on offense. We didn't attack the zone real well but shot fairly well," Laurel coach Joel Parks said. "We had a big win the night before (over Wausa) and it is hard to peak out again."

The Bears will host Walfhill Friday and play Hartington at 8 p.m. Monday in district action.

Laurel won the junior varsity game 44-36. Scoring: Tod Heifman, 10; Phil Martin, 7; Dave Marquardt, 6; Tim Bloom, 6; Kelly Robson, 5; Kraig Lofquist, 4; Jerry Kastrop, 4; Brian Marquardt, 2.

Randy's Recap

IT'S STATE TOURNAMENT time for wrestling and basketball but it's also time to turn some attention toward summer baseball.

The American Legion has selected sites for its Midget and Legion tournaments this summer. The association neglects Northeast Nebraska this year, probably because so many tournaments have been held in this part of the state the past several years.

The Class B Junior Legion Tournament is scheduled Aug. 7 in Ogallala. The Class B Midget Tourney will begin on the same day at Lexington.

Class C will hold its Junior Legion and Midget finals in the same tournament on Aug. 7 at Tecumseh.

Age requirements for each league are: Juniors—born on or after Aug. 1, 1962; Midgets—born on or after Aug. 1, 1964.

Class B district tourneys are scheduled at the following sites: 1-Beatrice, 2-David City, 3-Blair, 4-York, 5-O'Neill, 6-McCook, 7-Sidney.

Class C regional tourneys are at the following sites: A-Wisner, B-Wahoo, C-Daykin, D-Gothenburg.

THE DODGE COUNTY Baseball League has scheduled an organizational meeting for any town teams wishing to join the league this summer.

The meeting is scheduled at 1:30 p.m. Sunday (Feb. 22) at the Snyder Fire Station. Any town baseball team interested in joining the league should have a representative at the meeting.

HIGH ON THE HOG: some guys have all the luck. Wayne Wessel and Ron Sladek each won half a hog at a give-away sponsored by the Wayne-Carroll Baseball Committee. And I was waiting for my name to be drawn. Tickets were sold for several weeks and those two tickets were drawn at half-time of the Wayne-Elkhorn basketball game Saturday night.

The Wayne-Carroll Baseball Committee wishes to thank everyone who supported the Wayne baseball program by buying tickets or making donations. Representatives of that organization report that the response was great and that a considerable amount of money was raised.

Anyone who is still interested in making a donation should call Vicky Skokan at 375-3406.

WAYNE STATE improved its chances of earning a berth in the District 11 basketball playoffs by dropping Bellevue College, Tuesday night.

Bellevue and Chadron State are right in the thick of the race for second along with the Wildcats.

In the overtime Fort Hays outscored the Lady Wildcats 16-13 enabling them to win their 14th game of the year.

The Lady Wildcats placed five players in double figures as Lisa Draper scored 23 points followed by Julie Petronis with 16, Sue Juhlin and Lori Koester with 12 each and Deb Emanuel with 10.

Wayne State dropped a 85-73 decision to Kearney State on Friday the 13th while on their last southern CSIC road trip.

It was the shooting of Kearney State guard Jeff Veerhusen that hurt the Wildcats as he went 10 for 15 from the floor to lead the Antelopes in scoring with 24 points.

Wayne State, trailing 42-32 at half time, continued to battle the talented Kearney State team. With three minutes to go in the contest, the Cats were only down by eight points.

Early Start Not Enough
The Wayne State Wildcats experienced their second loss during the weekend (88-66) traveling to Hays, Kan. to play the NAIA second rated team, Fort Hays State University, Saturday.

Marie's Art Studio Is Not Just A Business

The experience of living in the Far East has influenced the art works and teachings of Marie Hagemann in her new business — Marie's Art Studio — at the Mine Shaft Mall. The shop opened last month.

Three years in Taiwan, Hong Kong, the Philippines and Hawaii provided her with a sense of "wonderlust" for her business hobby.

Mrs. Hagemann is a native of this area, having been born on a farm near Laurel and having graduated from Laurel High School. She attended Nebraska Wesleyan College in Lincoln for one year and joined the Air Force in the late 1950's. She also worked as a commercial artist for several years in Fremont where she met her husband.

They have lived in Wayne for about 15 years and operate a hog farm four miles south and about one-quarter mile west of Wayne. She and her husband are interested in ecology and operate their farm with the environment in mind.

She says the town and farm communities should work together for the economy and the ecology.

Marie's Art Studio provides instruction in various art forms (primarily stained glass) and sells materials, supplies and the finished products. Anyone interested in art classes is asked to contact her at the shop.

Her hours are 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, and from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Mondays and Thursdays. Currently taking classes as a

"Parents Are Human" is the title of the first of eight sessions of Parent Effectiveness Training (PET) to be held in Norfolk beginning at 7 p.m. Feb. 25. Dr. Richard Sanders, director of the Northern Nebraska Comprehensive Mental Health Center and Kathy Sanders will be the instructors for PET. The other sessions of PET are titled: "How to Listen So Children Will Share Problems," "Putting Your New Skills to Work," "How to Talk So Kids Respect Your Needs," "Other Ways to Prevent and Change Unacceptable Behavior," "The Inevitable Conflicts — Who Will Win? — The No-Lose Method," "How to Avoid Being Fired as a Parent," "Parent Effectiveness Training is open to all parents of children of all ages." For more information, call Lois Halbur at 1-800-672-8323. Parent Effectiveness Training is sponsored by the Northern Nebraska Comprehensive Mental Health Center.

senior in counseling and psychology at Wayne State College. Mrs. Hagemann said she has wanted to work with stained glass "for years." In fact, she took classes from Michael King in Lincoln, one of the area's better known stained glass experts. "It's one of the most rewarding and frustrating things I've done," she said. She encourages visits from various groups for demonstrations. See picture elsewhere in the second section of today's issue.

It's Time Again for Tax Relief Talk

CAPITOL NEWS
By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

It's that time of the year again when property tax relief becomes a hot issue and is talked about from your house to the Statehouse.

Lawmakers, local and state officials, home owners and taxpayers in general probably all have an opinion on the best way to provide the tax relief that no doubt everyone wants. But what is good for the goose might not necessarily be good for the gander, and that poses a problem.

The Legislature right now is looking at a number of so-called property tax relief measures, and lawmakers are faced with the same concerns and problems that crop up each time the issue is debated. The major stumbling block usually comes with the realization that property tax relief, although relieving property taxes, means sacrifices elsewhere.

Take for example Omaha Sen. Vard Johnson's "homestead" exemption bill, a "simple but high-cost" proposal that would increase considerably to $15,000 the actual value of a home that would be exempted from property taxes.

Johnson concedes his plan would probably mean increases in state sales and income taxes, but he says it would provide much-needed property tax relief for "rebellious" taxpayers. He also admits his LB42 would be more beneficial for those urban taxpayers, who are in such a "rebellious mood," because urban areas have more homes.

But Johnson's homestead exemption bill, aired recently at a Revenue Committee hearing, would apply to all homesteads.

Johnson's bill is a good example of the types of concerns raised during debate on property tax relief, something the state in fairness already provides through millions of dollars in aid to local governments.

But if Nebraskans want and need more property tax relief, and if the Legislature is to provide it, some hard questions and issues have to be addressed.

Should the Legislature, for instance, raise sales and income taxes to replace revenue lost when more property is exempted from taxation? Or should the Legislature strive to maintain existing tax rates?

If the latter course were chosen, several options remain that likely would be unpopular. Lawmakers could, for example, relieve the property tax burden by raising the homestead exemption but refusing to replace that lost revenue. That option surely would come under fire.

Lawmakers could also grant property tax relief and find money to replace the lost revenue by cutting or eliminating existing aid programs. The result would be true property tax relief, but it probably would be unpopular, too.

Those options, albeit only two of many, point to the crux of the property tax relief question. If the status quo is to be maintained, something must give, but what? Raising other tax rates? Eliminating programs?

Refusing to replace the lost revenue?

Those questions and others face lawmakers each year, but they become more intense as taxpayers — and senators are included in that category — press harder and harder for relief from the tax that they apparently believe is most burdensome — the property tax.

Add to the obvious concern the problem of how to equitably provide that relief. What about renters and large land owners? If landlords get a good tax break, are they likely to pass their savings along to tenants through lower — or stable — rent? Is an increased exemption fair to agriculturalists who have most of their property tied up in land?

The property tax relief question is never an easy one, and lawmakers spend many hours wrestling with the options available. Various forms of tax relief have been approved in each of the last four sessions, and more certainly will be forthcoming this year.

But true and total property tax relief seems unattainable, at least until all of the many tough questions can be answered to the satisfaction of the majority. And that will take more time than lawmakers have this session.

Limit those bills

The Legislature's Rules Committee believes Nebraskans would like to see a limit on the number of bills senators and committees can introduce during a session.

For that reason, the committee has asked the full Legislature to consider a new rule that would, once again, restrict bill introductions. Lawmakers earlier voted to lift the limit on the number of measures they could sponsor.

Speaker Richard Marvel of Hastings said it probably will be several weeks before the committee's new plan is scheduled for debate.

Basically, the committee has proposed limiting senators to 15 bills during a 90-day session and seven in a 60-day meeting. Committees would still have to live with their eight-bill limit.

But the Rules Committee's plan goes a step farther. It also would restrict the governor's ability to have senators introduce bills on his behalf.

Under existing procedures, the governor can have an unlimited number of bills introduced on his behalf. He can also offer legislation any time beyond the 10-day bill introduction limit senators live by.

The Rules Committee wants to make the governor get his measures in the hopper during the 10-day limit, and wants the governor's bills to count toward a senator's limit.

The ironic thing about the bill introduction debate is that the limits are aimed at cutting down the number of measures offered and in turn leaving more time for thoughtful consideration of legislation. But lawmakers, who already have unveiled more than 500 bills this session, literally spend hours debating the time-saving rule.

OUT OF OLD NEBRASKA

by the
Nebraska State Historical Society

Washington's birthday celebrated in Nebraska by soldiers, students

Patriotic celebrations of George Washington's birthday were regularly held by early Nebraska veterans, civic organizations and students. Newspapers on file at the Nebraska State Historical Society report the speeches, songs and other observances characteristic of the day. The Feb. 28, 1890, "Chadron Advocate" said of an 1890 G. A. R. gathering on Washington's birthday:

"G. A. R. Hall was too small to accommodate the crowd last Saturday night and the post celebration and supper was held in the court room. The house was well filled with old soldiers and their families, besides a plentiful sprinkling of others. The audience was called to order by Post Commander Powers who made an address reminding the hearers that it was appropriate for the soldiers of the late war to celebrate the birthday of Washington. Singing and prayer by Rev. G. J. Powell followed and then Attorney P. E. Baird made a scholarly address on the subject of Washington and his times.

"Rev. Barnard was called upon and made an energetic speech that brought out applause from the old soldiers. He said he was a recruiting officer in Iowa (upon) outbreak of the war and helped raise several regiments. He had promised the soldiers $13 a month in gold. They never got it. Depreciated greenbacks worth 40c to 60c were their pay. There was a good deal of glorification of certain generals, but let it not be forgotten that the common soldier won the battles. Rev. W. R. Julian followed this gentleman and made but a short speech on account of the lateness of the hour. What he said however was appropriate and well received. Supper and song closed the entertainment."

The Feb. 24, 1907, "Nebraska State Journal" published excerpts from the remarks of state dignitaries who addressed "several hundred veterans of the Civil War, their wives and friends (who) gathered at the G. A. R. hall last night to do honor to the name of George Washington, whose birthday had just passed. The evening was spent in listening to speeches from soldiers, old and young, and others, among the speakers being Gov. George L. Sheldon, ex-Governor J. H. Mickey, State Superintendent McBrien, and Captain P. J. Cosgrave. Washington's picture hung in the front of the hall, and the place was decorated with souvenir hatchets and flags. After the program those present were served with candy cherries.

"Governor Mickey was the first one of the men to speak. He eulogized Washington and Lincoln. Captain P. J. Cosgrave, of the war of the Philippines, was in the audience, and some of the veterans called on him for a talk. Capt. Cosgrave's address, although brief, was well received, for it was full of patriotic spirit that appealed to the hearers. He paid a tribute to the W. R. C. (Women's Relief Corps, women's auxiliary of the G. A. R.) which stands ready to aid and cheer the old soldiers when aid and cheer are needed.

Governor Sheldon, who was also an army officer during the Spanish war, had no prepared address, but he spoke briefly, paying a tribute to Washington, Lincoln, McKinley and Roosevelt.

A lighter observance of the holiday was recorded in the March 2, 1887, "Hastings Gazette-Journal":

"The Freshman class of Hastings college gave a George Washington party at the residence of Mr. P. L. Johnson last Tuesday evening. The class (members) were nicely attired in costumes of olden times. Matters of revolutionary times were discussed, how they used to dance the 'giltie reel' when they were young and everything was passing off as merry as marriage bells when there was a sound not of revelry but of the war-whoop by night. Washington at once summoned his general and held a council of war. Chief Indian said that they were at the point of starvation but if they could be received as members of society and be allowed to vote they would be good Indians. With this they were admitted.

"Refreshments of superior order were served. With each plate was given a fas-

Dear Editor:

In my opinion, it should read customers of Peoples Natural Gas Co. indirectly donate $500 toward a scholarship to Wayne State.

Scholarships are wonderful, but who deserves the credit? Who really pays? If the donation is part of the big increase in gas rates in 1930 then wouldn't it be fair to direct the appreciation of the gift to the unsung heroes who pay the gas bills?

Dear Editor:

The Wayne Herald notice of Pesticide Recertification Meetings was as welcome as heavy hail in July. Those meetings are an insult to the farmers and chemical dealers intelligence. The message conveyed in two hours is "Follow Directions."

Our area dealers put forth much effort to inform us of new chemicals and their use as well as showing us results of well known pesticides. We consult carefully with the dealer and sometimes chemical company representatives before making a decision affecting the years crop. Really, no one could actually believe that the farmer sends his wife to town to pick up a couple thousand dollars worth of chemicals, dumps it in the tank and hopes it was right. You needn't worry about re-certifying that kind of farmer because he'll be out of business before recertification time.

Why the discrimination against the farmer? How about a certification class and number registration for gardeners before they can buy bug dust for their roses and cabbage. Housewives across the nation should have to register their certification with the grocer each time they purchase Drano because that is dangerous stuff. We all know cigarettes are hazardous to health. Shouldn't their purchasers also need a certification number?

But the group that needs strict certification most of all are the dumbbells who dream up certifications, because anyone with that much power and so few brains can really be harmful.

P.S. We're not picking on Don Spitze because we know he didn't dream up the idea!

Legislature Considers Speed Limit, Embargo

This week the Legislature considered bills that ranged from raising the speed limit to a resolution calling for an end to the grain embargo.

Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha sponsored a bill that would raise the speed limit to 60 mph on the interstate. When Senator Chambers first introduced the bill, it would have raised the speed limit to 65 mph, but the bill was then amended to the 60 mph limit.

The debate mainly centered around federal financial assistance for highway construction, safety, law enforcement and energy. There was a great deal of time spent thoroughly debating this issue and a number of amendments and compromises were offered. Finally, the bill was advanced to the second stage of the floor debate by a 27-16 vote.

On Thursday, a resolution was introduced that many people in our area are concerned about. The resolution, LR 16, calls for President Reagan to end the Soviet grain embargo. The resolution said, "The continuing embargo has placed many family farms... in serious jeopardy without curtailing the adventurism of the Soviet Union." Particularly in our area of the country, the stability of the family farms and agriculture related businesses are very crucial to the continued economic stability.

The Miscellaneous Subjects Committee advanced to the floor of the Legislature the bill I introduced, LB 217. I discussed this bill in my column last week. It repeats an old law that needlessly prohibits the sale of liquor on election day.

Merle's Message
by Sen. VonMinden

In another committee, a bill that would raise the park entrance fee from $5 to $7.50 a year and $1.50 to $3.80 for a 24-hour period, was advanced to the floor for debate. The bill was amended from $10 per year to the $7.50 level. This income is used to support parks like Ponca State Park.

Finally, I would just like to mention once again that I am very interested in hearing from you. Your letters truly do help me do a better job in representing you.

Letters Welcome

Letters from readers are welcome. They should be timely, brief and must contain no libelous statements. We reserve the right to edit or reject any letter.

Letters may be published with a pseudonym or with the author's name omitted if so desired. However, the writer's signature must be a part of the original letter. Unsigned letters will not be printed.

The Proper Approach

In a vein much different from that taken a couple of years ago by farmers protesting in Washington, D.C. about the grain embargo, Wayne County farmers are undertaking an organized, tactful and probably effective protest.

Two meetings were held in the county this week to organize an effort against Nebraska's LB 319 which, if approved, would force the reorganization and consolidation of Class I schools (all those with only grades K-8). The small districts would be mandated to join Class II, Class III, Class IV and Class V districts.

The attempt at consolidation is an annual event among certain Nebraska legislators. Their argument is that rural school districts are no longer financially practical and do not provide as good an education as larger school districts. There are many, many graduates of rural schools who will argue intelligently otherwise.

The statewide effort to protest LB 319 appears to be a conscientious move to let all 49 state senators, and the eight members of the Education Committee, that the law is not wanted.

Farmers found that unruly and emotional tactics were useless in convincing the U.S. Congress to end the grain embargo. Similar tactics to sway Nebraska lawmakers would have the same results.

However, area rural patrons also should be aware that costs of running the rural schools are, in fact, skyrocketing. More and more pressure will be applied each year to consolidate schools, or to find solutions to the costly economic problems. Rather than waiting until a bill is introduced to raise a voice, maybe some foresight would be appropriate to head off further reorganization moves. Dan Field, Editor

Farmers Watch for 'Hot Spots'

Farmers who store grain through the winter should regularly check the grain for "hot spots" which indicate insect and fungus activity, according to Bob Roselle, extension entomologist in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Insects can't reproduce in grain unless it is 50 degrees or warmer, Roselle said. But if they get established during the summer and are encouraged by surface condensation, insects may cause a hot spot that in turn grows fungi.

The University of Nebraska Lincoln specialist suggested using a thermometer in a thin pipe to probe stored grain for insect activity. Temperatures higher than 60 or 70 degrees may indicate bran bug or weevil activity, he said.

"Fumigation is the only feasible answer in case of weevils and bran bugs, but it is only effective after the grain has warmed up in the spring," Roselle said. "If the grain is cooler than 50 to 60 degrees, the only thing to do is aerate to remove moisture and hot spots."

If no insects are present, keep the grain cool as long as possible to prevent a buildup of insects. "In case of a heavy infestation, it may be best to hire a commercial fumigation concern," Roselle said.

If the farmer decides to do the job himself, the specialist offered these precautions:

- Make sure to use the proper gas mask. Fumigants are highly toxic and the vapors come out rapidly.
- Use the "buddy system." If two people are working together and one gets sick, the other can get him out of the area.
- Post the area to be fumigated and make sure there are no children around.
- Lock the doors and warn people away from the bin for 24 to 48 hours because vapors will continue to escape.
- Before fumigating, make sure the grain mass is level and the grain temperature is 60 degrees or warmer.

Roselle noted that the main reason for insect-infested grain is unsanitary storage conditions. If grain is stored at less than 13 percent moisture content and in a clean facility, it should remain insect-free for a year to 18 months.

"If producers anticipate storing grain for one year or more, premium grade malathion may be sprayed on grain as it is augered or elevated into the bin," he said. "A residual spray of two percent methoxychlor or one percent premium grade malathion applied to floors, walls or ceilings before storing will add extra protection. Use about one gallon of spray per 1,000 square feet."

Before grain is brought into storage, the bin should be swept clean and any cracks in the concrete filled with caulk, Roselle said. Chaff and cracked grain should be disposed of a mile or two from where the new grain is to be stored.

"Never store new grain on top of old grain because if the old grain has insect problems, the new grain will, too," he added.

This year by nearly 33 million tons.

If economic sanctions, drastic price hikes in petroleum and other conflicting influences don't materialize, U.S. producers could see feedgrain prices well above last year's.

That's the analysis of Dean Linsenmeyer, assistant professor of agricultural economics in the University of Nebraska Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

Feedgrain utilization levels for 1980-81 are forecast at 739 million tons up 1.5 percent from the previous year.

Increased demand for livestock feeding and human consumption in Western Europe, Latin America and Asia will more than offset slight declines in domestic use in the U.S. and the Soviet block countries, he predicted.

In contrast, total world feedgrain production is down three percent from a year ago, and 5.5 percent lower than 1978-79. Both the U.S. and the Soviet Union had a 13 percent smaller crop in 1980. Typically Lake Superior is our nation's largest lake with a total area of more than 31,000 square miles.

The two countries account for more than 40 percent of world feedgrain output.

Western Europe, Canada, Mexico and Brazil increased production slightly. But major exporters including South Africa and Australia suffered reduced production because of drought. "Little increase in available supplies for export from foreign competitors is forecast," Linsenmeyer said.

However, clear potential exists for further expansion in U.S. feedgrain exports, he said. "With world feedgrain trade being forecast to increase by three million tons and tight conditions in most other exporters, the U.S. could provide for nearly all the increase."

Both farmer and government-owned feedgrain reserves would be nearly depleted if this happens, he noted. U.S. carryover stocks would decline from 52 to 21 million tons.

Heat and drought reduced the 1980 U.S. corn crop by 17 percent, for a total production of 6.46 billion bushels. Large carryover stocks from 1979 helped to buffer the effect of this shortfall, Linsenmeyer said, but by late 1980 farmer owned reserves had fallen to 585 million bushels, down from 900 million six months earlier.

Corn producers can expect prices to average in the $3.35 to $3.75 range or nearly 40 percent above year-earlier levels, Linsenmeyer predicted, assuming no drastic measures are taken to dampen export demand.

Domestic corn use in 1980-81 is expected to fall about 100 million bushels below year-earlier levels. "Low feeding margins in poultry, pork and beef are likely to depress domestic corn use," Linsenmeyer said.

Grain sorghum producers can look for farm prices to average in the $3.25 to $3.60 range, if growing conditions are less than ideal again this year, and if anticipated exports materialize. Prices in '79-80 averaged only $2.35.

U.S. grain sorghum production was down about 263 million bushels or 32 percent, also because of heat and drought during critical growing periods.

Domestic use is expected to decline about 26 percent and exports will be down slightly as well. However, total usage is expected to outstrip production by 71 million bushels, which would reduce carryover by 50 percent, he said.

As always, Linsenmeyer said, new crop growing conditions in early summer will largely dictate whether corn and sorghum prices fall near the top or bottom of the predicted ranges.

County Farm News Summary

Higher interest rates
Regulations have been amended to provide that 15.25 percent interest will apply to all grain loans not paid by the due date.

Reserve I loans were to have been repaid by Feb. 9. Interest will be charged at 15.25 percent on these loans starting Feb. 10.

Reserve II and III loans will be charged 15.25 percent interest after April 15.

Regular grain loans now past-due will be charged 15.25 percent interest starting Feb. 16.

30-day extensions
A 30-day extension has been authorized for regular CCC (Commodity Credit Corporation) loans and called reserve loans. Reserve I corn loans now have until March 11 to repay and Reserve II and III corn loans have until May 15.

Regular loans maturing Feb. 23 and March 31 will have until April 30 to make settlement.

The higher interest rate will apply during the extension period.

Early deliveries
Producers with corn in Reserves II and III that wish to move their grain to an elevator now and sell the grain later can do so. Authorization must be issued by the County ASCS office. The elevator must provide a warehouse receipt. Storage must also be provided for through April 15 or May 15 if extended.

Change in extension meeting
Due to a change in personnel, the Extension Winter School for Beef Cattle Feeding — Protein: Your Biggest Out-of-Pocket Costs — will be held with Dixon County Extension at the Northeast Station in Concord on Thursday, Feb. 26, from 1 to 3 p.m. instead of Feb. 27 in Wayne as was previously advertised.

ACP taking applications
We are now taking applications for cost-sharing for conservation practices. Applications must be filed and approval issued by the ASCS office before any work is started on the practice.

The practices available in Wayne County are:

- SL 4 Terrace Systems
- SL 5 Diversions
- SL 7 Windbreak Restoration or Establishment
- WP 1 Sediment Retention, Erosion or Water Control Structures
- WP 3 Sod Waterways
- FR 1 Forest Tree Plantations
- WL 1 Permanent Wildlife Habitat

Feed grain program
Notices of yields and NCA will be mailed March 2. Fifteen days are allowed for appeals of yield or NCA. If you have a proven yield, you will not receive notice of a provide yield. To maintain a proven yield, you must file an appeal within the 15 days and submit evidence of 1980 production.

The NCA will not be effective for 1981. To be eligible for program benefits you must certify small grain plantings by June 1 and all other crops by Aug. 1.

Please notify the ASCS office of changes in owners and operators so we can send notices and information to the right people.

Good lambing practices
Start good management by identifying the ewe and the lamb before they are taken out of their small lambing pen and returned to the flock.

Castration and tail docking should be done when lambs are three to 10 days old; the sooner the better because there's less shock. Use a knife, an "all-in-one" docker and emasculator, or rubber bands, and be sure to disinfect all equipment.

To dock lambs, cut the tail off 1-1/2 inches from the body. Push the skin on the tail toward the body before cutting. This lets the loose skin cover the stub so the bone is not exposed.

Provide lambs with an attractive warm dry area for creep feeding. This area should include heat lamps, a palatable grain ration and good, leafy alfalfa hay.

You need to feed the ewes enough so they can do a good job of milking. Lactating ewes should get 4-4 1/2 pounds of good quality hay plus 1 1/2 pounds of grain per day, or 8 1/2 pounds of silage plus 1 pound of alfalfa hay and 1 pound of grain.

Try to separate ewes with single lambs from those with twins or triplets and feed them accordingly.

The ewe's milk production peaks within 50-70 days after lambing. After that it is not economical to feed her extra grain, so reduce each ewe's grain to about 1 1/2 pounds per day.

Feeding wildlife
The feeding of game birds in isolated places is possible and feasible. Ear corn is probably best for pheasants, quail and rabbits. Impaling the ears on nails driven into sticks is a successful method to keep ears off the ground.

Some birds can be fed by placing seeds such as bird feed mixture of wheat, milo, etc. in protected feeding platforms. English sparrows will become a pest as they will soon learn where the living is easy. Pieces of suet suspended in trees will attract still other song birds.

But effective winter feeding of birds must be necessary.

We want you to know about fuel costs

This chart shows the percentage of increase in fuel and electrical generation costs over the period of 1973-1981. Fuel costs shown represent national average. Electrical generation costs represent basic wholesale costs of NPPD.

In these inflationary times, the fast rising cost of fuel has become a major concern. This is particularly true where NPPD is concerned because fuel costs are now the most important factor in determining the cost of generating electricity.

The chart above shows how the cost of various fuel sources has risen over the past 8 years and contrasts them with the cost of generating electricity over the same period. It is encouraging to note that the cost of generating electricity has risen at a less rapid rate than the cost of fuel. A major reason for this is that our generating system utilizes an economical "mix" of fuels including water and nuclear. Of equal importance is the fact that we have been steadily moving toward maximum use of coal, a low cost and available fuel source. The percentage of electricity that can be generated by coal on NPPD's system has increased from 20% in 1975 to 49% in 1981. NPPD coal requirements this year will total nearly 2,500,000 tons. Certainly no one can predict what will happen to fuel costs in the immediate future. However, Nebraskans are in a more favorable position to escape the dramatic electrical cost increases which have occurred in areas where power generation is more dependent on oil. We will do everything we can to keep electrical costs as low as possible.

A dependable supply of electricity is one of Nebraska's most vital resources. Keeping it that way is our responsibility.

Farm Prices to Outpace Sales of Farm Machines

Sale of farm machinery will increase about eight percent in 1981 while prices paid by farmers and ranchers will be up about 12 percent, Doug Jose, University of Nebraska farm management economist, said Monday, Jan. 19.

Although U.S. farm machinery sales for the first nine months of 1980 were about 20 percent below the same period for 1979, the deficit will be partially erased if sales increase 7 to 12 percent as expected, Jose said.

Two major factors will determine this increase, according to Jose, an extension economist in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

One factor is increased grain exports and higher grain prices. World grain reserves indicate high grain prices in 1981, and political unrest could prompt increased exports. "If farmers sell more grain they may be able to afford more machines," he said.

Economic conditions are also affected by interest rates. The higher the interest rates, the more likely farmers are to wait for better rates. Interest rates have been high. Industry is retooling and replacing capital stock. "Energy exploration and development has drawn down capital reserves, making remaining capital available only at higher interest," he said.

A current analysis of these factors indicates that net farm income will be up in 1981, Jose said. If farm income increases and interest rates drop, machinery manufacturers can be optimistic about a better 1981.

In 1980, tractor sales were down 17 percent, combines down 21 percent and balers down 27 percent.

Machinery manufacturers also can be optimistic about development and sales of new equipment, such as new tillage and planting equipment, he said.

General trends in the mechanization of agriculture will continue, Jose predicted. Tractor and machine size will continue to increase, but at a slower rate than in the 1970's.

The number of tractors on Nebraska farms has increased about 6 percent over the past five years. "Combines have shown a similar increase in recent years although the total number of combines on farms is substantially less than 20 years ago," he said.

Efforts to effectively use alternative fuels also will increase. Several machinery trends also will continue, according to Jose. The capacity of farm machinery systems will increase and power unit size will grow. "Farmers will continue to seek ways to reduce labor, often buying more machinery than they may need to get work done fast."

Planting and tillage equipment systems will change, offering reduced fuel consumption. Farmers can expect the recent increases in fuel costs to continue, he said.

More tiny computers will be monitoring specific parts of machines, aiming for better machine efficiency and fewer machine breakdowns. During harvest, this could mean higher yields and better-quality crops, he said.

Cattle on Feed Up 4-H's Nominated

Nebraska cattle feeders had 1,550,000 cattle on feed on Feb. 1. This inventory was up 1 percent from last year but was down 9 percent from 1979.

Fed cattle marketings for the month of January totaled 380,000, a decrease of 3 percent from 1980 but was the same as January, 1979. Placements of cattle into feedlots during January totaled 310,000 head. This was up 15 percent from last year but was 2 percent below two years ago.

Cattle and calves on feed Feb. 1 for slaughter market in the seven states preparing monthly estimates totaled 7.51 million head, down 6 percent from a year ago and 14 percent less than Feb. 1, 1979. This is the smallest Feb. 1 number on feed since 1975. Marketings of fed cattle during January totaled 1.53 million, off 9 percent from last year and 19 percent less than January, 1979.

Placements of cattle and calves on feed in the seven states during January were 1.28 million, down 5 percent from last year and off 19 percent from two years ago. Net placements of 1.17 million were down 1 percent from last year and 15 percent from January, 1979.

Other disappearance totaled 110 thousand compared with 166 thousand in January, 1980, and 198 thousand in 1979.

Six different Wayne County 4-H's in eight different award areas have been nominated for district award competition for 13 counties in Northeast Nebraska, announced Don C. Spitzer, Wayne County Extension Agent.

They were selected for their outstanding 4-H records in the following areas:

Sherrill Burmester, Sholes Country Kids 4-H Club, daughter of Hans Burmester, Randolph, received the food and nutrition award; Turena Walde, Springbranch 4-H Club, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Walde, Winfield, received the achievement, leadership and 4-H Cloverleaf reporter awards; Blaine Johs, Wayne Peppy Pats 4-H Club, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hilbert Johs, Wayne, received the entomology award.

Karen Sandahl, Gingham Gals 4-H Club, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Sandahl, Wakefield, received the home environment award; Steven Rethwisch, Hil-Raters 4-H Club, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Rethwisch, Wayne, received the public speaking award; and Cynthia Walde, Springbranch 4-H Club, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Walde, Winfield, received the agriculture achievement award.

These 4-H's will compete against other 4-H's in Nebraska for the state and national 4-H awards program.

HS Grads Have Chance At Conservation Career

1981 high school graduates interested in conservation careers have the opportunity to work in a national forest, national park, wildlife refuge or research laboratory through the Izaak Walton League recruitment program.

The program is in cooperation with the United States Department of the Interior and the U.S. Forest Service. The Izaak Walton League is a national organization dedicated to the conservation of the nation's natural resources.

Jobs offered students include employment on fire and brush crews, survey teams or as lab assistants. Students will earn minimum wage and must have their own car.

Applicants must be 18 years old by June 15, and should be interested in a career in natural resources and conservation. They must be in good health and, in most instances, physically capable of field work.

A completed U.S. Government form 171 (available from all federal agencies), the student's high school transcript, a written recommendation from an adult other than family and a letter from the applicant indicating college or career plans, high school activities, conservation-oriented work and reasons for seeking employment in the program must be submitted for consideration.

Interested Nebraska students should apply by Feb. 23, to Prof. Ronald Case, Summer Employment Program, 202 Natural Resources Hall, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Neb., 68583.

Gingham Gals
 The Gingham Gals 4-H Club met Feb. 2 at Grace Lutheran Church, Wayne, with 15 members and nine mothers present. One guest also attended.

Club members did a Valentine word puzzle prior to the meeting. The business meeting was called to order by president Karen Sandahl. Members answered roll call with a good deed done secretly during the past month.

The secretary and treasurer's reports were given.

Mrs. Neil Sandahl, club leader, reminded mothers of a leaders meeting scheduled in Norfolk. The club discussed possible fund raising projects, and the meeting adjourned.

Speeches were given by Anne and Lori Sorensen, Tonya Erleben, Marsha VonSeggorn and Maria Sandahl.

Giving demonstrations were Mindy Burst on "A Very Special Valentine" and Kristie Craun on "Strawberry Delight."

Lunch was served by the Crauns and games were led by Kristie Craun and Katy Griess.

Girls signed up for projects they want to take and selected mothers they wish to help lead them.

Next meeting will be March 3 with the Emrys as hosts.

Shelley Emry, news reporter.

A spokesman for the league said they will be serving oyster, chili and chicken noodle soup, sandwiches, rollshes, pie or cake, and drinks.

The public is invited and may purchase their tickets in advance from any church member or at the door.

Library Gifts

The Springbank Township Library has received a large book case and several books as a gift from the Emerson Public Library.

Kathy Boswell, library board secretary, said the library operates on a $500 annual budget and appreciates all donations. Persons who would like to make a donation can contact any board member or stop at the library.

A mini-library is now operating out of the meeting room of the Housing Authority.

The main library is open each

Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon. There is an outside book drop so books can be returned anytime.

Books not in the library may be ordered from librarian Bonnie Kellogg. Persons requesting the book pay only the postage from Norfolk.

Grain Reserve Changes Suggested

Congressman Doug Bereuter sent a letter Sunday to Agriculture Secretary John Block suggesting a shift in emphasis in the grain reserve program in order to avoid a shortage of feed grains.

"I believe a shift in emphasis is necessary because with another poor harvest, we could be faced with a shortage of grain, particularly for export sales," Bereuter told members of his agricultural advisory committee during a Saturday morning meeting in Fairbury. "My letter to Secretary Block makes suggestions for changes in the program that I believe are timely and reasonable."

In his letter to Block, Bereuter said, "Generally, I believe that the reserve program is a sound approach which is valuable both for insuring adequate food supplies for consumers and in helping to stabilize prices for producers. My main concern with the program is that the emphasis now seems directed mostly at stabilizing prices near or below the call level."

"I believe that the emphasis should be shifted more in the direction of supply of carryover grain beyond that amount normally in the 'pipeline.' With another harvest like last year's, we could be faced with a very short supply of feed grains with which to continue our export sales."

"I realize that a number of different means could be used to achieve this shift. My personal preference would be to drop the call provision entirely, leave the release price at the present level (adjusted periodically for inflation) and let price be the only determinant of movement of grain out of the reserves. Since I believe that the grain reserve is in the public interest, no-interest loans for reserve grain should continue, at least until a price level near present call levels is reached."

"Another method would be to give the Secretary of Agriculture the option of calling some minimum percentage of the reserve or all reserves when the call price is reached. The Secretary's decision would be based upon achieving a set goal of projected carryover of grains,

A first in, first out method could be used to determine which reserve grain would be called on partial calls.

"Another approach would be to allow a reinstatement period whenever the average national price falls below the call price for more than 5-15 days. The period for determining call level may also need to be increased beyond the present five day average. Thus, in a situation in which the grain supply is not short enough that the call level price is maintained after a call, producers would have the option of placing called grain back into the reserve. Such a method would allow price levels to help determine the level of supply in the grain reserve.

"Perhaps a more practical approach for the immediate situation would be to open a new reserve for corn, grain sorghum and other feedgrains. I would urge you to give this your most urgent attention, especially if the administration decides to continue the partial embargo on grain exports to the Soviet Union. I would emphasize that without the cooperation of other nations such an embargo will be ineffective. Unless the embargo is extended to cover all of our exports to the Soviet Union, the embargo will continue to be unfair to the American farmer."

PCA Loans Total $168 Million

During 1980, The Norfolk Production Credit Association advanced $168 million in short and intermediate term operating credit to farmers and ranchers in this area, according to President Eldon Peters.

"This was a 58 percent increase over the $106 million advanced during 1979," he said. At year-end, the association had $51 million in loans outstanding to 570 member-borrowers in Antelope, Cuming, Madison, Pierce, Stanton and Wayne counties. This is a volume increase of 16 percent over the end of 1979.

"Increased production costs and fluctuating commodity prices have placed increased stress on many operations. Also, the drought in 1980 put additional burden on many area farmers,"

Peters said. "The increase cost of goods and services purchased by PCA borrowers is illustrated in the average loan size. At year-end, the average PCA loan was $89,000 which was up $7,000 from last year," Peters said.

The name Priscilla means "somewhat old" in Latin.
