ONE-HUNDRED FIFTH YEAR NUMBER FORTY-EIGHT

Wayne Herald Starts Special School Pages

Beginning Monday (today), the Wayne Herald begins a twice-monthly school page featuring news from five area schools — Wayne-Carroll, Winside, Wakefield, Laurel and Allen.

A VARIETY of information will be provided by school students. Stories on upcoming events, activities, etc., will be reported and the results of various contests and intra-mural sporting events will be included.

Inner activities of area schools have long been ignored, and the talents and aspirations of the students need to be realized. The school page, possibly expanded later into two pages, will provide area students; their parents and Wayne Herald subscribers with an insight into school functions.

THE PAGE will begin slowly, but is expected to expand into a beneficial experience for all those involved. The Wayne Herald hopes to provide expanded coverage of school activities with more pictures, also.

Look for the first school page in today's issue. Winside and Wayne will have information for the March 16 school page.

Food Stamp Use Nearly Doubles

Food stamp use in Wayne County in 1980 was nearly double that in 1979, according to figures from the County Welfare Office.

THE INCREASE in food stamp use also coincides with a continuing decline in the economy, according to Thelma Moeller, county welfare director.

A total of $32,675 in food stamps was issued for the entire year of 1979, while the total for 1980 was $62,046, a difference of about $29,373.

In addition, welfare office figures indicate, the number of households receiving food stamps has increased by about 70 percent since January of 1979 and the number of persons receiving the welfare stamps has increased by exactly 100 percent.

"It's just that people cannot make ends meet with their incomes anymore," Moeller explained. Some of the increases have been automatic cost-of-living allotment hikes, but for the most part it has been a general decline in the economy, she explained.

year. Those figures increased gradually to a yearly high of 67 households and 197 persons using food stamps in September of last year. Use declined somewhat to 64 households and 180 people by December.

The downward trend continued some in January of 1981 to 64 households and 173 persons, but began an upward turn last month to 66 households and 191 persons benefiting from food stamps.

ONE OF THE major reasons for the sudden increase in food stamp use in September of last year was the start of college. According to figures compiled by Moeller, an additional five student households began using food stamps in that month. That was the month with the largest increase in student use of food stamps for the entire year.

Her records do not provide the total number of college students using food stamps, but rather the number of new users each month. Four students were added in January of 1980, one each in February, April, July and August and four in May. There were many applications that were denied, she explained.

The increase in food stamp use by college students generally increases when college begins in the fall, she explained.

effect last fall is expected to reduce the number of students using food stamps. Students applying for welfare stamps must work a minimum of 20 hours weekly to qualify.

However, the ruling does not apply to married students, Moeller explained.

Income guidelines established by the federal government for food stamp use are a maximum, she also explained.

For example, a family of one can have an adjusted income of $316 per month and qualify. A family of two can have an adjusted income of $418, a family of three can have an adjusted income of $520 monthly and an family of four can have an adjusted income of $621 monthly to qualify.

MOELLER NOTED that the monthly figures are the maximum after deductions for various reasons are made. Every situation is different, she explained.

The economic crunch which is believed to be largely responsible for the increase in food stamp use came about in the winter of 1979 when local industries and businesses began to lay off employees. Some larger businesses went to half-time help, thus reducing employees' incomes below the maximum food stamp limitations.

Food stamps also are expected to show a gradual increase as unemployment insurance runs out. Many of the food stamp users currently are on jobless benefits. When this income runs out, then food stamp dollars likely will increase, Moeller said in a September interview.

FOOD STAMP USE in 1979 was steady for the first nine months until an increase in October when the total number of households receiving food stamps was 44 and the total number of persons benefiting was 105. The previous month, 39 households were receiving stamps with 91 persons benefiting.

1979 started with 35 households receiving welfare stamps and 90 persons benefiting. By the end of the year, 49 households were receiving stamps and 122 persons were benefiting.

The trend continued into 1980, with the number of households receiving and persons benefiting increasing steadily through the end of the year.

PROJECTIONS ON the use of food stamps are unclear in view of President Ronald Reagan's proposed budget cuts. Welfare recipients are the general target of some of his cuts and Moeller says she does not know what the fate of the food stamp program will be.

Weible Attorney Asks for Delay

The attorney for drug defendant Charles Weible, 27, Winside, has filed a motion for continuance of Weible's arraignment in District Court on cocaine and marijuana charges.

HIS ARRAIGNMENT, along with that of other defendants Dale Busskohl, 27, Winside, Vernon Sahra, 30, Laurel, and Diane Coyle, 24, Winside, is scheduled for 10 a.m. Wednesday in District Court here.

However, a ruling on the continuance motion had not been made by District Judge Richard P. Garden as of Friday afternoon. If the motion is granted, Weible's arraignment on the four counts of possession of marijuana and cocaine will be reset.

The other defendants will be arraigned on their drug charges at the scheduled time.

NORFOLK ATTORNEY Vince Kirby filed the continuance motion Feb. 19 in District Court here. In his brief, he said he would be unable to attend his client's arraignment because of his involvement in a jury trial in Custer County scheduled to start Monday (today). The trial, he said, would last about four days.

In a response to Kirby's motion, prosecuting attorney Thomas DeLay, also of Norfolk, objected. DeLay said that Kirby did not object to the date when County Judge James Duggan set the arraignments Feb. 12 when both the attorney and defendant were present.

Weible will be arraigned on charges of possession of cocaine with the intent to deliver, possession of marijuana with the intent to deliver, possession of cocaine and possession of marijuana.

BUSSKOHL WILL be arraigned on charges of possession of marijuana of more than one pound, possession of cocaine with the intent to deliver, possession of cocaine and possession of marijuana with the intent to deliver.

Sahra will be arraigned on charges of possession of marijuana or more than one pound with the intent to deliver and possession of marijuana with the intent to deliver.

Coyle will be arraigned on charges of possession of marijuana with the intent to deliver and a misdemeanor charge of marijuana of less than one ounce.

Once the defendants have entered pleas to the charges in District Court, dates for either jury or court trials will be set. However, attorneys for all involved have the option of filing several motions which would delay the trials.

Ah! Clean Streets At Last

THE CITY OF WAYNE STREET Department sent a man and this water pumper out in force Friday morning to give Main Street a spring-like cleaning. Dry, dusty and windy conditions the past couple of weeks left deposits of dirt and debris cluttering Wayne streets. Although traffic was hampered somewhat as the pumper moved slowly down one side and up the other, the resulting clean streets were a blessing to shoppers used to fighting blowing dust and trash.

Not Wasting Time

WORK ALREADY is underway on preparing Nebraska 15 from Wayne north for reconstruction. Northwestern Bell Telephone crews took advantage of continued mild weather and were busy Thursday along the battered highway moving phone lines and poles back several feet to allow for widening and grading of the highway. Heavy machinery for work on culverts, a bridge and actual grading is expected on the scene in the next two weeks, with all resurfacing work scheduled to be finished by fall, weather permitting. The new highway will extend north from 14th Street to just south of the Concord Intersection.

Consumer, Phone Tips Reviewed

Consumer rights relating to use of the telephone were outlined by a representative of Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. Tuesday afternoon at a consumer education lecture at Wayne State College.

BARB HAYUNGA, director of operator services for NWB in Norfolk, spoke to the WSC consumer economics class as one of several speakers in a series on consumer topics.

She covered wiretapping laws, annoying and obscene phone calls, automatic solicitation calls, etc., and responded to concerns about advertising costs.

Hayunga said the best policy that NWB can recommend against annoying calls is this: don't get hung up, hang up.

Most of her talk centered on obscene, nuisance and annoying calls. She provided examples of calls which should be ignored. If the unwanted calls persist, then the proper authorities should be contacted, she explained.

MOST OF THE annoyance-type calls are made by pranksters, she said, and include those which inform the family of an "accident" involving family members. Generally, there are three types of annoying calls:

One, indiscriminate or thoughtless "sales" or "survey" calls.

Two, nuisance calls designed to irritate.

The latter includes the caller who infers sexual advancements with comments such as "get together" and "before you know it, we'll be seeing each other in person." Yet another was the heavy breather type who does nothing but breath heavily once the phone is answered.

All of these types of calls, Hayunga explained, are made by persons who get various types of gratification from making the calls. The more frenzied reaction by the person receiving the call, the more excited the caller usually becomes, she said.

Again, Hayunga reiterated, the best policy in circumstances such as these is to hang up immediately. Slamming the phone receiver down, asking repeatedly for names; etc., only incite more phone calls from the callers.

IF THE UNWANTED phone calls persist, an annoyance call log should be kept. Then, when telephone and police authorities are contacted, the persons making the calls can be determined more easily.

Once the identity of the caller is determined, authorities notify him or her and ask that the calls be stopped. If the caller persists, then criminal actions usually are undertaken, the director of operator services explained.

Other tips provided by Hayunga include the following:

- HANG UP at the first indecent word.
- Call the police if there is a threat against life or property.
- Teach children not to give out information over the phone when a stranger calls.
- Don't give out your phone number. Ask what number the caller is seeking.
- Know to whom you are talking.
- Say hello twice if no one replies, then hang up.
- Use good judgment in putting your name and picture in the local paper. Crank callers often times use this source for illicit calls.

REGARDING WIRETAPS, the NWB official said a court order must be issued before the wiretap can be legally authorized. Such eavesdropping is lawful, but is approved only rarely. For example, she explained, out of all the telephones in the country, there were only 571 wiretaps legally allowed in 1978.

Nebraska is one of 24 states that does allow wiretaps, but such listening must be within the scope of the law, she explained. If someone thinks his phone is wiretapped, the NWB officials and police should be notified.

Regarding privacy rights, Hayunga said Northwestern Bell considers all phone messages as personal property. For anyone to acquire phone records, credit information, or actual dialogues is illegal.

PHONE USERS do have some ways of assuring their privacy from crank callers, automated solicitation calls, etc., by requesting an unlisted or unpublished phone number. Unlisted merely means that the number is not listed in the phone book but is available through the assistance directory. Unpublished means that the number is not available at all.

Automated solicitation calls are considered annoying by many persons, Hayunga said. These calls are those made by computerized calling machines that offer products or services. The Federal Communications Commission feels that individual states should decide the legality of these types of calls since most are made within the states and not across state borders.

Misuse of automated solicitation calls should be avoided, she said, but limited use is legitimate. For example, people often are notified of important changes in appointments, changes in product information, etc.

DURING THE question and answer period, Hayunga acknowledged that consumers pay for advertisements by NWB. One person questioned the ethics of charging consumers for advertisements which solicit more use of the telephone.

Decline in Population Puts Status in Doubt

The city of Wayne is within an eyelash of losing its City of the First Class status because of an apparent decline in population.

ACCORDING TO still preliminary figures released recently by the Census Bureau, Wayne is just 94 persons above the 5,000 mark. If a community falls below the hearded figure, then the Class 1 status is lost. The city then would technically become a Second Class community.

Census figures remain unofficial for the city, but indicate the population declined by 285 persons from 1970 to 1980. Wayne ranks last among 31 cities with populations of more than 5,000.

In 1979, there were 29 communities across the state that qualified for the honor. Ralston, La Vista and Ogallala climbed past the 5,000 mark, with Fairbury dropping below the First Class level, according to Census Bureau figures.

WAYNE'S DECREASE was listed at 5.3 percent and was the third largest decline of any of the First Class cities that lost population during the last decade. Omaha lost 9.8 percent and Sidney lost 6.4 percent of its population.

People Getting SS

People getting social security checks will be able to earn more in 1981 than in 1980 before any of their social security benefits are withheld, Dale Branch social security district manager in Norfolk, said recently.

In 1981, a person under 65 for all of the year can earn $4,080 before any checks are held back. This annual exempt amount was $3,720 for 1980. The annual exempt amount for people 65 or older in 1981 is $5,500, up from $5,000 for 1980.

If a person's earnings exceed the annual exempt amount, $1 in benefits is withheld for each $2 of earnings above the exempt amount, Branch said people should notify social security as soon as they think their annual earnings might exceed the exempt amount. This way they can avoid receiving any incorrect payments that might have to be repaid.

There is a special rule that applies to the year in which a person retires. In the year of retirement, people can receive checks for any month their earnings do not exceed the monthly limit even though total annual earnings are well above the annual exempt amount.

The 1981 monthly limit is $458 for people 65 or over and $340 for people under 65.

People who want more information about the annual earnings test can obtain a free copy of the leaflet, "How work affects your social security check," at the Norfolk social security office. The office is located at 1310 Norfolk Avenue, Norfolk, and the telephone number is 1-800-642-3810.

Wisdom of Big Brother II

Richard L. Leshner, President Chamber of Commerce of the United States

Curious, isn't it, how the federal government, which rarely misses an opportunity to lecture business and taxpayers on their failure "to do the right thing," seems so reluctant to live up to its own standards? To cite just one example, consider Uncle Sam's record in paying his own bills.

A recently released report from the General Accounting Office revealed that about 40 percent of the government's bills are paid not just a few days late, but an average of 74 days after they are due. Of course that's just an average, and unlike private citizens, the federal government does not concern itself with late penalties.

These inexcusable delays have an especially detrimental impact on small business which provides most of the products bought by the federal government. When these companies are not paid, they must often borrow money at high interest rates just to cover their expenses. Sen. Bill Roth, of Delaware, reported in January that one small businessman who was contracted by the Department of Housing and Urban Development for construction work was still waiting for an eight-month overdue payment of $800,000. The delinquent bill was costing his company an astounding $8,000 each month.

Nevertheless, none of this will prevent the government from reminding us, now that April 15 is approaching, to get those tax returns in on-time—or else!

Let us make merry, for tomorrow . . .

Sensing, perhaps, that the new crowd might not view their activities quite so sympathetically, the regulatory agencies went on a good, old-fashioned binge in the final days of the Carter administration. During that last month, the Super-Regulators issued more than 150 final, "Midnight Regulations." More than 100 of them were scheduled to become effective within the next 60 days and many imposed substantial new burdens on the economy. The new administration is trying, within the extent of the law, to postpone their effective date and eliminate altogether those it considers unnecessary.

Keep up the good work guys!

A study produced by the Department of Agriculture recently concluded that dozens of government policies aimed at helping American farmers have been so counter-productive they have actually jeopardized the entire future of the family farm ownership.

Action is where the action is

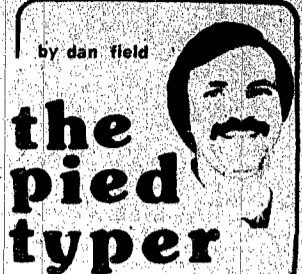

A member of Congress who has grown tired of his job can always junket. But what about those lesser mortals who still want to work in government and find a position with lots of possibilities for travel as well?

In that case, Action, the federal agency that houses the Peace Corps abroad and Vietnam home, is the place to be. According to "The Washington Star," Action last year could claim an average of 23 trips per employee — that's 42,201 trips among its 1,837 employees. In dollar amounts, the agency reportedly spent the equivalent of more than $8,600 per employee.

Shot down, but still flying high

It has now been more than 600 days since James Pope was transferred against his will from the Federal Aviation Administration headquarters in Washington to Seattle in the other Washington. Pope claims he was arbitrarily moved across the country for criticizing the FAA's plans for collision-warning systems.

The FAA disputes that Pope's transfer was punitive, but there can be no question that his new job is. For the past year and a half, he has collected $50,000 a year for sitting at an empty desk and doing — nothing.

the pied typer

When thinking about yellow journalism or sensationalism, The National Enquirer, The National Star and other assorted rags usually come to mind.

But from the Rocky Mountains in Kalspell, Mont., comes the Kalspell Weekly News. It appears to be a bonafide newspaper, with many picturesque photos of mountain scenery and animal life. As the saying goes, however, don't judge a newspaper by its pictures.

We acquired a Dec. 31 copy of the 'Kalspell News from a friend of sportswriter Randy Recap's father. Anyone who has ever accused The Wayne Herald of sensationalism, take note:

The first picture, about a quarter of a page in size, shows the wreckage of small airplane. The headline reads, "They Almost Made It." Not too yellow, but maybe in poor taste.

Flipping to the inside page, one's eyes fall upon a man pointing a gun right at the camera. The headline reads: "He Told Me He Did It Like This." The caption, in part, reads: "Richards (a witness), one of our less outstanding citizens and an ex-con, got caught with an underage girl at a local motel and shortly thereafter began singing like an overheated teapot." In my book, that is potentially libelous.

Another picture, this one of a mother bear and her cub. The mother had been shot and killed and the cub was hanging on tightly. The headline: "Waiting for the End."

Another picture, this one of a man seated with elbows on the table and his head held in a dejected manner. The headline? "A Child Molester." The caption, in part, read: "We grant that this is a sad and pathetic photo, but please remember you are looking at a man who for reasons none of us understand, has ruined and warped the lives of many innocent people."

Much of this is obviously in poor taste and some of it could be considered libelous. They do things differently in the mountains, apparently.

The editorial is a good one, too. It reads in part as follows:

"It is easier to count your friends during tougher times. The Kalspell News has been asked to get its newsstand off the Safeway Store property in Whitefish. Safeway has always been sort of an ornery bunch. Several years back, they had to be pressured into selling local dairy products, a battle that hurt both Safeway and local dairy producers. The latest friction is the Safeway recycling program...alleged to hurt the local handicapped folks' industry."

"Safeway Stores have made a few bucks off of selling our papers and I made a few bucks off of them. I don't know why they've thrown us out, but I do know that Markus Grocery, right there on Main Street in Whitefish, is a good grocery store that still sells the Kalspell Weekly News."

The writer, G. George Ostrom, also serves as "publisher, editor and janitor."

And the paper's motto, one that would make many a cheek turn red, is this: "The hottest places in Hell are reserved for those who, in a time of moral crisis, refuse to take a stand."

The town of Kalspell can't be much larger than Wayne, but the paper has a press run of 12,850. The old Devil that runs the Weekly News may be libeling himself repeatedly and may be stepping on scores of sensitive toes, but he's selling newspapers, for sure.

And here I thought some of the stuff I've written was risqué. Far from it.

Early Tax Return Means Early Refund

If you're like most Nebraskans, the earlier you file a state individual income tax return, the sooner you will receive a refund.

The chief reason most Nebraskans will be receiving tax refunds is that the state's individual income tax rate was cut from 18 percent of the federal liability that was in effect in 1979 to 15 percent for 1980.

There were two income tax reductions by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment, which I serve as chairman.

The first was a cut from 18 to 17 percent. It was in effect throughout 1980, and thus was reflected in tax withholding throughout the year.

The second tax cut from 17 to 15 percent was made by the board in November, 1980 but was retroactive to January 1st. That means that too much taxes were withheld from most taxpayers, and most will be due refunds.

"Another reason for refunds is that the 1980 legislature passed a bill, which I signed into law, increasing the food sales tax credit from $20 to $28. For a family of four, that will mean an additional $32 credit on state income taxes.

"Since an individual's state income tax bill is based primarily on 15 percent of what his or her federal income tax liability is, a person must file a federal income tax return before filing a state return. Some taxpayers may have to send in more money with their federal returns than they expect to get back from their state returns, and thus may want to wait to file until close to the deadline April 15th.

A Letter From

Gov. Charley Thone

"Average Nebraska personal income tax refunds are running higher, however, on returns filed for 1980 than those for 1979. Through February 4, 1981, the average refund was $69.58, compared with an average of $38.48 last year. On the above date in 1981, the state had sent out $5.9 million in refunds, compared with $2.9 million at that time in 1980.

"With many other taxes increasing, it's great that the Nebraska individual income tax rate has been cut — not once, but twice — since November, 1979."

Compulsion Seen in School Bill

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION By M.M. Van Kirk, Director of Information

The bitterness of a compulsory school district reorganization bill has been returned to the Nebraska Legislature this session after an absence of several years.

LB 319 introduced by the Legislature's Education Committee headed by Sen. Gerald Koch of Ralston aims at reducing the number of school districts in the state from the present 1,062 to at least 582 by Sept. 1, 1985. It would do this by requiring that all Class I districts (elementary grades only) be merged with a K-12 district except for those Class I districts that were not within a Class VI (high school only) district on Sept. 1, 1981.

If the mergers have not taken place by July 1, 1985, members of the joint county reorganization committee are to be penalized by a fine equal to the total amount reimbursed as expenses to such member for serving on the committee during the previous 12-month period. The decision then would be turned over to the State School Reorganization Committee to effect the necessary merger.

Section 5 of the act states as follows: "In determining the district or districts to which Class I districts shall be attached, consideration by the county and state committees shall be given to (1) the educational needs of local communities; (2) the economies in transportation and administrative costs; (3) the future use of existing satisfactory school buildings, sites and play fields; (4) the convenience and welfare of pupils; (5) disparities in per pupil valuation among school districts; (6) the equalization of the educational opportunity for pupils; (7) parental participation in the formal education of their children from kindergarten through twelfth grade; and (8) any other matters which, in its judgment, are of importance."

The bill also says that any Class I district which is within a Class VI district after Sept. 1, 1985, and then withdraws from such a district, or which was part of a Class VI district which was discontinued, shall be merged within one year with an existing K-12 district.

Some narrative explanations and statistics released by the Education Committee when the bill was introduced charged that the small districts amount to tax shelters for property taxpayers in certain rural areas. Sen. Koch has been quoted as saying that the intent of the bill is to provide support for schools on an equitable basis, particularly as such support relates to property taxes.

Such statements fan the fires of rural vs. urban conflicts. As long as property makes up a major part of the tax base for the support of education, no one need worry that rural residents will not be paying their share and more for the education of their children. Individually, their investments in land and personal property needed to make their living have always far exceeded those of their urban counterparts. In addition, they pay the same state income and sales tax rates that everyone does. The amounts they pay in sales taxes on farm machinery and equipment purchases naturally exceed what the average urban resident school patron will be paying.

Arguments over the distribution of state aid to the public schools for the past 10 years have never brought agreement on an equitable solution to the problem of distributing that aid according to realities of the differences between urban and rural schools. Probably they never will.

Progress has been made over a long period of years in reducing the numbers of Nebraska school districts. For improved quality of education of the students, the merger pace probably should be more swift and sure.

But LB 319 proposes four years of harsh coercion, ignoring past accomplishments in both elementary and Class VI high school reorganizations. In both tone and intent, it deserves to be rejected in favor of more reasonable and persuasive approaches.

'Health Hazard' Cited For Pop Top Legislation

Today, I introduced a bill that will reduce a significant health hazard to all of us. My bill, LB 291, will prohibit the sale of beverage cans that have disposable pull tab openers.

The reason I introduced this bill is really twofold. First, these tabs do constitute a health hazard. If you have ever looked at one after you pull it off your pop can, you can see that it has very sharp edges. What makes it even worse is that these tabs are curled and present a very dangerous item. They also are just plain unsightly. Furthermore, they are not going to go away and will continue to build up.

Soon we could be walking on a carpet of pull tabs. This is something that the can industry already is able to produce and we do not expect it to add much to the cost of the product.

A bill that has been introduced into the Education Committee, is LB 319. This bill would provide for the merger of Class I school districts. This bill has generated a huge amount of interest throughout the state and promises to be one of the more controversial ones of the session. The bill is currently in committee and if it makes it to the floor, that is where I will be able to debate it. At this point, the hearing for this bill has been scheduled for March 3 at 7:30 p.m. I do not think that will change, however, if you plan on attending the hearing, you might just call my office to make sure when it will be heard at that time.

I am sure that LB 319 will have an impact on our area and if you have thoughts or comments on it, please let me know.

Merle's Message

by Sen. VonMinden

In other legislative action, several interesting things have been happening. Senator Chamber's bill to raise the speed limit, was killed in the second stage of debate.

Sen. John DeCamp withdrew his government reorganization bill and I co-sponsored a bill to prohibit radar detection devices.

This is being written on different days, so the topics are vastly varied.

I've tried to steer clear of offering my opinions on President Reagan and his proposed economic policies.

His philosophies and mine are compatible (great minds, you know). I guess my most basic reaction to all of this economic mess and his proposals is that I am willing, as a middle class American, to make some sacrifices now for some financial security in the future.

The liberals are hollering that their beloved poor will be the ones to suffer. According to Reagan, the truly needy will not suffer, but the "needy," who are able and willing to work will have to make sacrifices as well. The key word here is willing, because so many of the "needy" are perfectly able to work but are not willing to do so because existing government rules are no incentive.

The voters gave Ronald Reagan a mandate in November. They said, in effect, they were fed up with the state of the economy, the lagging American defense potential and bureaucracy.

As one of those who is equally fed up, I find myself saying that a little give now will make room for a lot of growth later. Programs which affect my family and me will be cut. Programs which affect my community will be pared. But cities have been living high off the hog the last decade with revenue sharing money, federal grants and low interest loans, etc.

It seems time for all of us to conduct our lives as an efficient business rather than relying on Big Brother to hand over the bucks in huge, inflationary bundles.

Changing Insurance Policy? Consider Seven Tips to Save

Are you insuring yourself against the high cost of insurance? Insurance costs more today, just like everything else. If you're thinking about purchasing a new policy, consider the following seven ways to save.

- 1) COMPARISON shop. Check coverage and premiums from several different sources before deciding which policy to buy. Consider the company's reputation, its record of handling claims, and the recommendations of friends and relatives about local agents. Look for a person who takes time to get to know you and your needs.
- 2) Use group policies whenever available through your employment. Check into additional coverage offered by the group plan at work. Numbers have definite advantages.
- 3) Don't buy more insurance than you need. As children leave home, the need for life insurance changes. As a car gets older, consider dropping collision and comprehensive coverage. If you have more than one medical policy, check coverage to see if it overlaps. However, be sure your coverage is adequate. In case of personal tragedy, with rapidly escalating home values, be sure your homeowner's coverage is enough, both for the building and for your property.
- 4) See if you qualify for discounts. Nonsmokers get discounts from some life and automobile insurance companies. There are even a few life insurance companies who give discounts to people who follow a regular exercise program. If you have a smoke detector or a theft prevention system installed in your house, you may be eligible with some companies for a discount on homeowner's insurance. When buying auto insurance, check for reduced costs granted good drivers and young people with driver education and high grades.

5) Assume higher deductibles. When you accept some of the risk yourself on medical, auto, and homeowner's insurance, you lower your premiums.

by Linda Huinker
Wayne County Home Extension Agent

- 6) Pay premiums annually. As much as five to ten percent is added to the premium when you pay in installments to cover bookkeeping expenses. Put your money by automatic deposit. If possible, into a savings account each month, and you'll have the money each year plus interest.
  - 7) Don't purchase a whole-life insurance policy as a savings account. Returns reflect only a three to four percent interest rate when the truth is known. Simple passbook accounts even do better than that. Life insurance should be purchased to protect those dependents you may leave behind, not to pad retirement.
- In the interest of saving money, however, think twice before you reduce insurance coverage or drop a policy just to save. Make sure you can cover the additional risks of being without

Final Spectrum Program Features Recovery Panel

A panel demonstration by members of Recovery, Inc. was the feature of the final Spectrum program.

Spectrum is a lecture series sponsored by the Wayne State College Extended Campus office. Weekly sessions have been held at Columbus Federal in Wayne since Jan. 14.

Recovery, Inc. is a non-profit organization offering a method of self-help aftercare to prevent relapses in nervous patients and former mental patients.

The presentation at Spectrum was a demonstration of what meetings are like and was followed by a question and answer period.

Several members of the panel took a turn at recounting a stressful situation and describing how they dealt with it. Other panel members then discussed the situation and pointed out what positive actions had been taken.

Panel members stressed the importance of expressing anger without temper, explaining that temper is usually the cause of nervous symptoms.

Panel discussions follow a set procedure and used established terminology so each participant is easily able to both describe experiences and understand the experiences of others.

Participants are taught a method of dealing with temper-causing situations developed by Dr. Abraham A. Low. A group of Dr. Low's patients founded Recovery, Inc. in 1937 to teach this method.

There are Recovery groups in Norfolk, Yankton and Sioux City that meet on a regular basis.

Allen Eagles to Challenge State's Top Seed

It's vacation time in Allen, Nebraska and the residents of the small community are heading south.

The occasion is the 1981 State Class D girls basketball tournament in Lincoln and you can bet your farm that the majority of people who live in or near the town of 320 will leave their homes to watch the action.

The Allen girls earned a first class ticket to the tourney by drilling Silver Creek 57-41 in a tough Class D-2 regional playoff at Norfolk High School, Wednesday night.

No official state pairings were released until Sunday but unofficial pairings show the Eagles facing top seeded Shickley in first round action at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Allen enters the state berth for the second consecutive year with an 18-2 record. The near-perfect record is the worst of any team in the eight team field and thus the Eagles are seeded eighth. The top eight ranked teams in the state all qualified for the tourney.

Seeds according to records are: 1 Shickley (21-0), 2 Sumner-Eddyville Miller (19-0), 3 Wheatland (18-0), 4 Ansley (18-1), 5 Roseland (16-1), 6 Adams (20-2), 7 Clearwater (19-2), 8 Allen (18-2).

"Last year, we felt we were lucky to be at state. This year we plan to go down to play the teams tough and win some games," Allen coach Gary Troth said. "We didn't fair well last year but we plan to do well this year."

The 350 or 400 fans who watched Wednesday's game at Norfolk High School may have thought they were watching a disaster film. The Eagles missed their first nine shots as Silver Creek scored the first eight points of the game.

Allen kept its patience and closed the Tiger lead to two points as the first quarter came to an end. The teams exchanged buckets through most of the second quarter. Janet Peterson tied the game for the first time at 21 all on a three point play with 54 seconds remaining in the first half. Silver Creek scored the final basket and went into the locker leading 23-21 at the half.

Lisa Erwin, who sat on the bench with three fouls during most of the second quarter, brought the team alive with good shooting. The Eagles countered Silver Creek's excellent outside shooting with a solid team performance in the last two quarters.

Five unanswered baskets by Erwin, Peterson, Shelly Williams and Des Williams put the Eagles on top 31-23. The Tigers fought back on accurate set shots from the 20 to 25 foot range by sophomore Patty Torson and junior Jean Bryant.

"We relaxed and worked for good shots in the second half. Silver Creek reminds me of Wynot but they don't have a good inside game," said Troth. The tough competition we played all year helped us.

"I'd say probably 65 percent of our games this year were not decided until the fourth quarter so we had to work hard. We like to play good competition," Troth stated.

Erwin exploded for 17 points in the second half and finished with 21 to lead all scorers. Her career total is now 1,096 points. She also grabbed eight rebounds and made three assists. Allen shot 36 percent from the floor compared to 41 percent for Silver Creek.

In addition to Erwin's showing, Peterson scored 13 points and pulled down 12 rebounds. Shelly Williams scored 12 points and Beth Stalling grabbed 10 rebounds. Des Williams had four steals.

Allen led by six points entering the fourth quarter but the Tigers never gave up. The lead was cut to two points with 5:48 left and Silver Creek stayed close until the final two minutes.

With a 46-41 lead, the Eagles switched their offense to a deliberate style of play. Erwin hit both ends of a one and one and Peterson added a field goal to take a good hold on the victory.

Silver Creek became desperate and failed to score again as Allen earned the state berth. The losers finished their season with a 15-5 record.

We missed too many shots in the first half but were more dominant in the second half. In the big games, we have a tendency to get behind. I think we just get nervous. Troth said. We had to work the boards and put pressure on their outside shooting. I was glad to see them switch from a 1-3-1 zone to a man to man defense.

When asked if the regional loss this fall by the Allen volleyball team had any impact on the basketball regional game, Troth replied that he mentioned the volleyball game to his team and advised them not to "come in flat like they did in the volleyball regional".

"We hope to go down to Lincoln and play basketball. We have some small things to work on."

Troth said that Silver Creek had the right attitude in the regional playoff. "They came out enthused and shooting. I've never seen a team shoot like that before."

C-7 District Loss

Trojans Learn Lyons Too Tough

For three quarters, Wakefield pretty well contained Class C's fifth ranked Lyons in Class C-7 districts at Wayne. But, in the fourth quarter the Lyons, led by Chuck Hayes pulled away to secure the semitinal round district victory 66-46.

The loss ended Wakefield's season with a 10-10 record.

"We played them pretty well for three quarters but were behind in the fourth quarter and put pressure on them," Wakefield coach Ernie Kovar said. "Hayes scored 12 points in that period. We did what we wanted in the first three quarters but weren't close enough."

The game was tied at the end of the first quarter and Wakefield stayed within six and seven points after two and three quarters of action respectively. However, the Trojans yielded a 27-14 advantage in the final stanza.

Vaughn Nixon led Wakefield with 10 points. Brent Kahl and Mike Clay scored eight points each and Jeff Hallstrom added seven. Lyons was led by Hayes with 21 points and Kelly Barata with 18.

"I'm happy with the season we had. When the year began we had one starter back and a bunch of reserves. We played real well at times this year," said Kovar.

Wakefield's younger players will compete in a freshman-sophomore tournament at Stanton this week. The Trojans will face Wisner at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow (Tuesday). Howells and Norfolk Catholic will square off in the earlier game.

Other first round action at Stanton is scheduled tonight (Monday). Madison meets Dodge and Stanton faces Leigh. Semifinal round games will be played Thursday while consolation and finals are scheduled on Saturday.

Trojans Stop Winnebago
In first round district action, Wakefield eliminated Winnebago 57-48 Tuesday night.

The Trojans took control early in the game and had only a small letup in the third quarter.

Jeff Hallstrom and Rod Nixon each scored 14 points to lead the winning effort. Brent Kahl scored 10, Mike Clay hit eight and Vaughn Nixon added seven. Winnebago was led by Justin Parker with 14 points.

Vaughn Nixon led Wakefield's rebounding with 12 caroms. The Trojans hit 36.3 percent from the floor and Winnebago hit 34.3 percent.

"We played well to earn the win. We got control in the second quarter and by half-time we were in good shape. Winnebago shot well and closed the gap in the third quarter," Kovar stated.

Laurel Loses its Bid for an Upset

The giant killer Bears from Laurel saw their winning streak and season come to an end as Class C's third ranked Bloomfield edged the host team 47-42 in Class C-9 districts Thursday.

Laurel entered the semifinal contest with a 10 game winning streak and pushed the Bees to the limit before coming out on the short end of the score. Ponca upset Wausa 64-47 in the other semifinal round game.

The score was tied 33-33 at one point in the fourth quarter but the Bears were never able to gain the lead.

"We had the chances but we didn't get our shots to fall. We didn't shoot well overall when we had to," Laurel coach Joel Parks said. "It was a good, tough ball game. We just didn't convert when we had the chance. Things didn't quite fall our way."

Laurel committed some turnovers to hurt its early attack. The Bears trailed by four points at the end of the first quarter and by five at the half but rallied to within two points entering the final quarter.

Bloomfield used its height advantage to establish a rebounding edge of 20-13. Considering that Laurel was selective in its shooting, the rebounding edge made quite a difference.

Joe Olsen and Scott Norvell paced the Bears' offensive attack with 14 points each. Other scorers: Matt Johnson with four, Kelly Robson with four, Jamie Johnson with two, Dave Marquardt with two and Jeff Anderson with two.

Laurel hit 18 field goals compared to only 12 for Bloomfield but the winners converted 23 of 33 free throw attempts.

Only five players scored for top seeded Bloomfield (16-1). The Bees were led by Bob Gier with 15 points, Loren Hansen with 12, John Nagengast with 11, Alan Doerr with five and Jim Hagengast with four.

The Bears finished their season at 13-8.

First half action saw the lead change hands nine times with neither team able to go up by more than four points at any time. Foul shots played a factor in the first half as the Wildcats made 12 of 14 attempts with McRae hitting 10 of 10 in the initial half as Wayne State went in at half time with a slim 34-33 lead.

Chadron came out at the start of the second half to jump on top 39-36, when McRae went on a scoring spree by scoring the Wildcats' next 12 points. McRae's 12 points added with Shawn Kelley's two free throws moved the Wildcats out front to a 50-39 lead.

Chadron State's senior-dominated squad battled back as they cut the Wildcats' lead and eventually went on top 62-60 on two free throws by guard Dick Noll with 3:30 to go in the contest.

The Wildcats then came down the floor and once again went inside to McRae as he hit on a turn-around jumper to tie the game at 62-62. A basket by Chadron's Noll and a jumper by McRae moved the score to 64-64 with 1:50 to go in the game.

After a Chadron free throw put the Eagles up by one, McRae scored again and coupled with two free throws by Kelley, Wayne State moved to a three point lead, 68-65. Chadron then closed the gap to 66-67 with a basket with 15 seconds to go in the game.

"The Eagles then fouled Kelley on the in-bounds pass, and he went to the line and made the first foul shot of one and one top up the Cats up 69-67. Chadron then threw up a desperation shot that fell astray allowing the Wildcats to come away with the victory.

Leading the scoring for Wayne State were McRae with 36 and Al Jones with 10 points.

Lady Wildcats Lose Playoff

In District 11 playoff action Thursday night at Concordia, the Kearney State women downed the Wayne State Lady Cats 61-56, dooming the Lady Cats' hopes to stay alive in the NAIA District Championship race.

Free throws turned out to be the deciding factor in the game as Kearney hit 14 out of 23 free throws and the Lady Cats hit only 3 out of 5.

The Lady Wildcats, playing good defense, kept the score close despite not shooting a foul shot in the second half as they trailed 52-51 with 1:30 remaining. Kearney State then scored the next four points to give the Antelope a playoff position.

The loss ends the college basketball careers for three Lady Wildcat seniors, Lynn Larson, Lori Koester, and Julie Petronis closed out the 1981 season.

Randy's Recap

According to Randy Hascall

RICK WEAVER'S Wildcats surprised a few folks this year including the rest of the CSIC coaches. At a coaches pre-season meeting, Wayne State was tabbed to finish last in the conference.

The Cats finished fifth which isn't all that bad and have won 15 games. WSC has also faced what is probably one of the toughest schedules of any NAIA team in the country. Four of the teams rated in the most recent NAIA top 20 ranking were on the Wayne State schedule.

The Cats played number one Briar Cliff twice, number four Fort Hays twice, number 19 Hastings once and number 20 Kearney State twice.

ONLY TWO TEAMS in The Wayne Herald coverage area remain active after a heavy week of boys district action and girls regional play.

The Wayne boys and Allen girls both stay alive. For the Eagles, a trip to the state tournament next Thursday is a reward for a fine district and regional performance. I'll be looking forward to watching the girls challenge Shickley.

For the Wayne boys, the fun is just beginning. Our paper goes to press on Saturday morning so at the time I'm writing this, I don't know how the Blue Devils have fared. Wayne should have beaten Schuyler on Saturday but the Warriors always give the Devils a good scrap.

If Wayne advanced through the first round action, that leaves Hartington Cedar Catholic and Columbus Scotus in the way of the Devils' bid for a state berth. That has to be the toughest Class B district in the state.

All of my girls teams with the exception of Allen were eliminated in districts last week. The boys from Laurel and Wakefield reached district semifinals but finally succumbed to a couple of darn good teams, Bloomfield and Lyons.

MORE HONORS were earned by Wayne State forward Grady Hansen this week. After being named to the District 11 basketball team and also earning honors as District 11 player of the week, Grady was named Central States Intercollegiate Conference player of the week.

The 6-6 sophomore scored 84 points while hitting 55 percent of his shots from the field and 66 percent at the free throw line. He scored 33 points against Bellevue, 26 against Emporia State and 25 against Washburn.

However, it was Leon McRae who pulled the Wildcats through in Thursday's playoff game with Doane College. The senior hit 36 points in the win.

SEVERAL CHANGES in the NAIA District 11 Cage Classic were approved by district coaches at a recent meeting.

Dates for the 1981 event are Wednesday, Nov. 18; Thursday, Nov. 19; and Friday, Nov. 20. Games will be played at Hastings College and Kearney State on Wednesday and Thursday and only at Kearney on Friday.

According to a press release from the District 11 association, the first year's series produced positive reactions. By splitting game sites for next year, the series will allow more fans to see the games without traveling so far.

Wayne State will play Dana College, Concordia College and Hastings College.

WAYNE STATE COLLEGE dropped its swimming program last year but still has an active and successful swim club representing the school this year.

The WSC swimmers finished second in the Creighton Invitational a week ago to complete their season. The club finished the season with a 6-1 dual record.

THE COMMUNITY OF WAYNE is blessed with some fine young swimmers and has one of the finer swim teams in the state. Their talent is definitely better than most other communities this size.

The team is so well balanced that I usually don't make special mention of any one individual. However, the performance of Heidi Reeg this past weekend deserves some recognition.

Competing in the eight and under division at the Bellevue Invitational, Heidi claimed the top honor as overall pin champion in the girls competition. She has a long and prosperous swimming career ahead if she continues to improve.

Star Lab Lands in Laurel

Last week, Feb. 23-26, the stars came to life for the fifth, sixth and eighth grade science class. The Independent Science Research class also viewed the stars in the portable planetarium known as the Star Lab.

Inflated by a fan, the portable planetarium projects stars on its ceiling and helps students to identify stars and constellations. It serves as a good transition from learning stars and constellations on paper to finding them in the sky.

Mr. Rynearson, physical science teacher, said that the Star Lab was a fantastic learning experience made available through Service Unit V in Beatrice.

Laurel-Concord Elementary

Gains New Principal

In the fall of 1980, the elementary students were greeted by a new smiling face - Miss Therese Logue, principal. Colorado Springs and Canon City, Colo. were the hometowns of this warm and bubbly person.

Miss Logue received her Bachelor of Arts in history from Mt. Marty College in Yankton and her Master's Degree from the University of South Dakota Vermillion. She taught history at O'Gorman High School in Sioux Falls.

Seven years of elementary teaching and three years of holding the office of the principal at St. Agnes School in Vermillion kept Miss Logue busy before coming to Laurel. When asked why she chose Laurel, Miss Logue replied, "Because I felt that education here was excellent and the atmosphere of the school system was very good for kids."

If you haven't met this kind, wonderful person stop in for a chat. You'll be glad you did!

CLEP Exams This Month

March 16 will be the registration deadline for March's College Level Examination Program (CLEP) examinations to be held on the Wayne State College campus on Wednesday, March 18.

The CLEP program enables students to earn college credits by examination. Participants may sign up for one or more 90-minute exams to test their knowledge of specific areas. CLEP offers the opportunity to save both time and money in pursuing an education through recognition of your college level achievements.

Anyone can take CLEP exams and submit scores to one or more of 2500 participating institutions. To receive college credit for these exams at Wayne State College, you must either be currently enrolled or have completed admission requirements.

Individuals who have taken CLEP exams (particularly the subject exams) usually find that related introductory textbooks give a good overview of the area to be tested. If your local public library does not have this type of book, request it through an inter-library loan or simply visit the library of WSC.

Credit given through CLEP is entered on your record without grades and is not used in determining your grade point average. If you fail a CLEP exam, there is no official record made and it will not affect your transcript. The exam can also be taken again provided the appropriate fees are paid.

Wayne State College places no limit on the maximum number of credit hours earned through CLEP which are taken before the senior year.

Every institution which participates in CLEP establishes its own policy concerning (among other things) which exams are officially recognized and the minimum scores necessary before credit is granted. If you know that you will be transferring to another college in the future, it is a good idea to check with the Registrar of that institution for their CLEP policy. WSC will accept CLEP credit earned at another institution provided the exams are recognized for credit and the necessary scores were obtained.

Each CLEP exam takes 90 minutes and the schedule is set up so that anywhere from one to four tests can be taken on the same day. Other dates/times can be arranged for CLEP exams as appropriate.

The fee for General and Subject Examinations (with or without essay or lab exam) is $20 for each examination. Scores are reported to you and the College four to eight weeks after the test date.

For more information call 375-1317, WSC Student Services Office.

Program for Farm Women Planned

What do you do at the scene of an accident? How do you become a safety leader for your family? What about the inheritance and estate planning laws which affect women?

These are a few of the topics which will be covered at a Program for Farm Women scheduled for March 9 at the Pender Fire Hall, according to Susan Strahm, Thurston County Extension agent.

Rollin Schneider, Extension safety specialist from UNL, will conduct the morning program starting at 9 a.m. on "Farm Safety for Women." He will discuss accident problems that are common in Nebraska with major emphasis being directed toward the northeast corner of the state.

Dr. Schneider feels that women are the safety leaders for their family. He stresses thinking ahead concerning farm safety. He will discuss safe laundry procedures for clothing after application of pesticides, as well as safety facts about tractors which all people on the farm should know.

Participants are asked to bring a sack lunch. The afternoon program, "Property Rights for Women," will begin at 1:30 p.m. E. Shelton Burden will present a program on property rights and how present laws affect women. Laws concerning estate planning, inheritance, divorce and child custody will also be discussed. Burden serves as an attorney with the Nebraska

Commission on the Status of Women.

Susan Strahm, County Extension agent, feels that farm women will benefit from knowing what legal rights they have on the farm. This free "Program for Farm Women" is open to all interested persons. Men and women are welcome to all or any part of this program. Persons with questions, please contact the Extension Office in Walthill. No pre-registration is necessary.

Lincoln High School vocal group and a violinist were part of the entertainment. The Nebraska poster child helped hand out recognition awards.

There were approximately 50 people in attendance.

Boys with winning season

The Allen Eagles, under the direction of Coach Dan Lofte, finished the regular season Feb. 20 with a win over Wynot.

The victory gave our boys a season record of 9 wins and 8 losses, the first winning season in several years. Our congratulations to the coach and his team. They gave us some exciting moments.

Girls to state tournament

The Allen Eagles, under the direction of Coach Gary Troth, earned a slot in the Girls' State Tournament by defeating Silver Creek in regional action Wednesday.

Prior to the regional win, the Allen girls defeated Newcastle, Decatur and Walthill in district action. The girls will take an 18-2 record to Lincoln. Our congratulations to the coach and team. They, too, gave us some exciting moments.

State tournament

The team plus supervisors and coaching crew will leave for Lincoln Thursday morning. Allen will play its first game tentatively at 7 p.m.

The team and coaches will stay at the Villager Motel, 402-464-9111. We will take spectator buses. The price to ride will be $5 per person (all ages above lap size.)

The band will be transported to Lincoln for the game Thursday and the students will stay overnight at Doane College in Crete Thursday night.

Should we win, they will return to Lincoln for the next and all succeeding games. Should we lose Thursday, the band kids will come home from Crete. It's confusing, but it always works.

Vision Proclamation Signed

Mayor Wayne Marsh has signed a proclamation declaring March 17 as Save Your Vision Week.

The statement says in part that "how well people can see can greatly affect the enjoyment and fulfillment that may derive from work and play."

"People should place a high priority on the vision care that can enable them to see as well as possible. Professional vision care, as provided by highly skilled and dedicated health care practitioners, is readily accessible to the citizens of our city."

"I call upon the citizens of our city to appreciate the gift of vision and to avail themselves of the professional vision care that is available to them.

"I encourage our city's vision care specialists, schools, civic groups, community organizations and the media and all health care practitioners to join together in making the public aware of the importance of vision and to continue making high quality vision care available."

Tractor Permits Available

Nebraska State Law requires a special permit for all tractor operators 13 to 16 years old to enable them to drive a tractor or other farm equipment on any Nebraska roadway, says Don C. Spitze, Wayne County Extension agent.

This permit may be obtained by taking a written test, an eye exam and a tractor-driving test administered by the Department of Motor Vehicles examiners. A special test day to obtain the permit has been scheduled for March 14 at Northeast Station near Concord from 9 a.m. until noon.

Special application blanks can be obtained from the Wayne, Cedar and Dixon County Extension offices.

ESOP Can Result in Deductions

If you own a small business corporation with an employee stock ownership plan (ESOP), you know you're eligible for a tax break on your corporate income tax return.

But do you take deductions or credits? That depends on the type of plan your company has, according to the Nebraska Society of Certified Public Accountants. And the choice may lead to important savings.

With the simplest type of ESOP, the stock bonus plan, CPA's advise taking a tax deduction for the amount you gave to each employee. Here's how it works. You contribute cash or shares of stock to a tax-exempt employee stock ownership trust (ESOT). You may contribute up to 15 percent of covered compensation annually. Let's say you employ four people. For the two who are paid salaries of $12,000 you can contribute up to $1,800 every year in cash or stock for each one. You can contribute $2,250 a year to the trust for each employee earning $15,000 per year. (Up to an additional 10 percent may be contributed if the stock bonus plan is combined with a money purchase pension plan.)

Take a deduction equal to the cash contributed or to the fair market value of the securities contributed. The maximum deduction you can claim per year for each employee is limited to 15 percent of that employee's salary. You could deduct a total of $8,100 when the total salaries you pay your employees equals $54,000. Anything over this amount may be carried forward and deducted on a future income tax return in a year when you don't exceed the 15 percent limitation.

The stock bonus plan distributes company stock to employees when they retire. Cash cannot be distributed with this type of ESOP. The employee pays no tax on the stock until the distribution is received. Usually, this lump sum settlement is given favorable tax treatment.

If you have a family-owned business, you may find the stock bonus plan type of ESOP to be favorable, because non-voting stock can be contributed to the trust. This way, employees become equity owners, but control of your business is not affected, CPA's say.

The leveraged ESOP is a more sophisticated form of ESOP than the stock bonus plan, but it also allows for a tax deduction. In this type of ESOP, the trust obtains a bank loan and uses the cash to purchase stock from the corporation or other shareholders. The corporation guarantees that the loan and the stock is pledged as security. Each year, your corporation contributes cash to the trust to pay off the loan. These repayments, are fully deductible by your company, as they are considered contributions to the employee plan itself.

With leveraged ESOP, your company's stock may be purchased in installments and the trust can distribute cash (unless the employee wants stock). Since leveraged ESOP's are required to invest primarily in common or convertible preferred stock of the employer, and voting rights must be passed through to employees, you may lose some corporate control. There are strict regulations governing leveraged ESOP's, so consult your tax advisor if you think this plan can benefit your company.

You can claim an investment tax credit of 11 percent (instead of the usual 10 percent) with an investment credit ESOP. To take the extra credit, you transfer corporate stock equal in value to one percent of your company's qualified investment property to the ESOT. For example, your company invested in $40,000 worth of business property which qualifies for the investment tax credit. You transfer $400 of corporate stock to the trust, and you can claim an 11 percent credit of $4,400, rather than a 10 percent credit of $4,000.

If your company contributes additional stock equal to one-half percent of the qualified investment property, or $200 worth of stock, and your employees match this amount with a contribution of $200 cash, you can claim another one-half percent investment tax credit of $200. Your total credit of 11 1/2 percent is $4,600.

The investment credit ESOP is in effect until the end of 1983, and is available to your corporation, unless you are subchapter S. Stock or securities contributed to an investment credit ESOP must be fully allocated to employee accounts each year on the basis of the employees' salaries, be 100 percent vested, and the employee must be able to direct how his or her stock is voted. Allocated stock or cash cannot be distributed for seven years, unless the employee leaves the company, becomes disabled or dies.

Before you set up any kind of ESOP, consult with your tax advisor to determine which one will work best for your business.

Hearings To Cover Several Items

The Greater Nebraska Health Systems Agency's Northern Subarea Committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday, March 9.

Thirty committee members representing 21 counties in North and Central Nebraska are expected to attend the meeting at Northeast Technical Community College Community Room, 801 East Benjamin Avenue, Norfolk.

Louise Jenness, director of nursing at Providence Medical Center is Wayne County's provider representative. Jenness is also a member of the Triage Committee which makes recommendations on project reviews.

Irene Jeffrey, co-owner of Jeff's Cafe, holds the Wayne County position on the committee. At the meeting, a public hearing will be held concerning the West Holt Memorial Hospital Inc application for assignment of health manpower by the National Health Service Corps. The application is for the proposed use of federal funds in the amount of $37,000.

The manpower requested is one physician who will be a salaried employee of the U.S. Public Health Service. In the event of placement of a NHSC physician in Atkinson, the physician will use the Atkinson Clinic P.C. for office facilities. West Holt Memorial Hospital, Inc. is in Holt County. Holt and Boyd Counties have been designated a Health Manpower Shortage Area.

The Northern Subarea Committee and Governing Board of GNHSA gave a positive recommendation for such a designation.

The Touchstone Community Alcohol and Drug Abuse Services of the Northern Nebraska Comprehensive Mental Health Center submitted an application to the GNHSA for continuation of fiscal support for the purpose of providing substance abuse treatment, prevention and education to the 27 counties included in the Region IV Mental Health Service District.

The GNHSA determined that a full review would not be necessary for the grant proposal of Touchstone because it is a non-competing continuation grant and it has been reviewed and given a favorable recommendation for the past five years. As a result the non-substantive (Triage) committee of the GNHSA Northern Subarea reviewed Touchstone's grant proposal and voted unanimously to give a favorable recommendation for Touchstone. The Triage Committee Report will be presented at the meeting. Touchstone's continuation grant is for $131,733 and is to be funded by the Nebraska Division of Alcoholism and Drug Abuse for the sixth year.

A second grant proposal was included with the application to explain the proposed use of $23,073 in unexpended funds providing to the Touchstone project during the 1980 grant year. This proposal did not have to be reviewed because the GNHSA had approved the 1980 Touchstone grant. Under this proposal, an outreach program will be added to the Touchstone project. This will include the addition of a half-time Outreach Specialist whose responsibilities will be community development and the organization and delivery of educational programs.

The agenda for the meeting will be available for inspection at the Northern Subarea office, 125 So. Fourth St., Room 308, Norfolk.

The results of the Northern Subarea Committee's actions on the business conducted at the meeting will be forwarded to the GNHSA Governing Board for final action on May 26, at the Mid-Town Holiday Inn, Grand Island at 9 a.m.

The public is invited to attend both meetings.

Agronomist Is Invited To China

The People's Republic of China has invited a University of Nebraska agronomist to lead a three and a half week agricultural study tour there this summer. Dr. Leon Chesnin, waste resources management specialist, said the invitation came through a director of the United States-China People's Friendship Association.

Chesnin said the tour is for persons interested in agriculture, although there will be some cultural and historical visiting opportunities on the tour.

"We have been promised that we will see Chinese agriculture in great detail," Chesnin noted. Many previous tours have been superficial, he said, but the summer tour will include all of the main agricultural regions of the country and will include visits to commune farms, he said.

China has a very intensive agriculture, with inter- and double-cropping systems being common, Chesnin said. "They feed four times as many people as the U.S. using half the amount of land," he explained. "The Chinese practice conservation of resources. We hope to learn how to use their knowledge under Nebraska conditions."

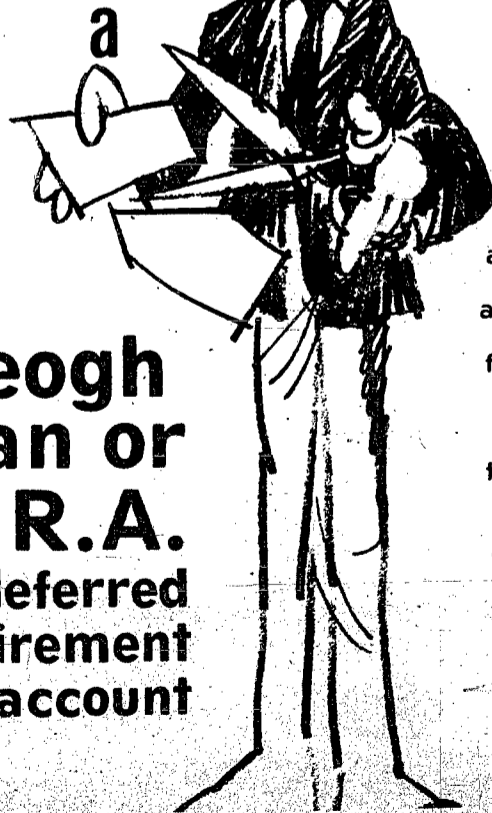

The tour will leave Lincoln June 14 and return July 8, with 20 days in mainland China. Travel within China will be by new trains and newly acquired air-conditioned buses. The tour also will include stops in Japan and Hong Kong.

Interested persons can contact Dr. Chesnin for details at (402) 472-1504, or 132 Kelm Hall, UNL East Campus, Lincoln, Neb. 68583. A maximum of 30 persons has been set for the tour.

Voiaual, a language in the Para state in Brazil, consists of seven vowels.
