CanSurmount Program Unfolds In Wayne to Cope with Cancer

An ongoing program to assist cancer patients and their families is being developed for residents of Wayne and the surrounding area.

Entitled CanSurmount, the volunteer program is sponsored and supported by the American Cancer Society. Its purpose is to help cancer patients and their families, as well as the public, better understand and cope with the disease of cancer.

COORDINATING the program in Wayne are Mave Middendorf, Joanne Kubik and Ann Barclay.

Loreene Gildersleeve is advisor, and members of the advisory board are Sister Gertrude of Providence Medical Center, the Rev. John Jorde, Tama Krause, Dr. Jim Lindau, Marguerite Platner, Ph.D., Marcie Thomas and Ann Witkowski.

Those volunteers met at Providence Medical Center last week with Juliette Cowdin, Nebraska division director of medical affairs for the American Cancer Society, and Shelly Bursik, northeast area executive director, to outline the CanSurmount program.

CanSurmount, which provides the cancer patient and his or her family with education, service and empathic support, involves both volunteers and health professionals.

MRS. GILDERSLEEVE said the advisory board has established five main goals which they hope the program will achieve. They include:

1) To provide continuing education and nurturing for the cancer patient, their families and the volunteers.

2) To provide cancer patients and their families current information which will enable them to cope more effectively with cancer.

3) To help health professionals better understand the needs of cancer patients and their families.

4) To help the public better understand the needs of cancer patients and their families.

5) To provide specially selected and trained volunteers, who are cancer patients, to visit with other cancer patients and their families.

The list of activities will expand as the program grows.

THREE meetings are planned in March, April and May for area cancer patients and their families, as well as those interested in learning more about the disease of cancer.

Mrs. Gildersleeve said the CanSurmount coordinators and advisory board will meet in May to determine what effect the program is having in Wayne and what can be done to improve it.

THE FIRST educational meeting has been planned for Tuesday, March 31, at 7 p.m. in the Chapin Room of Providence Medical Center. Speaker will be Dr. Joseph Washburn, Radiation/Oncologist at Marion Health Center, Sioux City.

Dr. Washburn will present information on the various aspects of radiation treatment for cancer patients.

Mrs. Gildersleeve said all interested residents of the area are encouraged to attend the first meeting and show their support for the CanSurmount program.

THE SECOND CanSurmount speaker, who will be in Wayne on April 27, will be Dr. Alf Jordon of Sioux City. Dr. Jordon is a plastic surgeon and does breast reconstruction.

The program in May will be announced at a later date.

COORDINATORS of the CanSurmount program said they need input from the public in order to plan for future meetings. Persons attending the first educational meeting to hear Dr. Washburn will be given a questionnaire which they will be asked to fill out and return to the program coordinators.

On the questionnaire they will be asked to specify what time of day suits them best for meetings (morning, afternoon, evening), how often they would like to meet (monthly or every other month), whether or not they would like to meet during the summer months (June, July and August), and what specific topics they would like to see covered at the meetings.

PERSONS who have questions regarding the program in Wayne or upcoming meetings are asked to contact one of the CanSurmount coordinators or any member of the advisory board.

Postage

Rates Go Up

The cost of mailing a letter went up from 15 cents to 18 cents effective yesterday (Sunday).

FIRST CLASS MAIL now costs 18 cents for the first ounce and 17 cents for each additional ounce, according to officials at the Wayne Post Office. Postcard rates will increase to 12 cents each and envelopes with stamps will now sell for 22 cents.

The rate increase approved recently by the Postal Rate Commission also will affect other post office services such as box rentals, parcel post, third class bulk mail, money orders and insurance.

ACCORDING to national figures, the 18 cent rate that was approved is not sufficient to meet budget demands. The Postal Service had originally requested a 20 cent first class rate.

The new 18-cent stamp will feature Elizabeth Blackwell, the first woman doctor in the United States.

At the present time however, not enough of the new stamps have been printed so the postal service will issue a "B stamp" which has a picture of an eagle on it and the letter 'B'.

Organ Donations May Be Gift of Life

A door-to-door passkit campaign has begun in Wayne County for the National Kidney Foundation of Nebraska.

THE DRIVE is being chaired by Felix Dorcay of Wayne. Passkits have been mailed to 28,000 homes in Nebraska and will be passed from neighbor to neighbor.

Each passkit contains a uniform donor card which acts as a "pocket will" for those choosing to donate their organs for transplantation. A card carrier can donate any specified organ or part, any needed organ or part, or the entire body.

A donated kidney can mean the gift of life for many afflicted with kidney disease. In Nebraska as many as 30 people are on the list waiting for a kidney transplant. Nationally, it is estimated that 14,000 Americans could benefit from a kidney transplant.

CONTRIBUTIONS FROM this passkit campaign are used in the fight against kidney diseases. It is the goal of the National Kidney Foundation of Nebraska to improve the quality of life of the renal patient through its public and professional educational programs, patient services, the organ donor program and research.

More information can be obtained from the National Kidney Foundation of Nebraska, 8707 West Center Road, Omaha, 68124; 397-9234.

Walk for March of Dimes

Plans of a Wayne area walk-a-thon were recently announced by Jeff Jaeggli, a Wayne

State College junior who is the March of Dimes' volunteer advisor for youth.

THE WALK is scheduled on Saturday (March 28) and will start at Bressler Park in Wayne. Registration will be held from 9 to 9:30 a.m. and the 20 kilometer walk will start at 9:30.

Jaeggli, who has been involved in the March of Dimes for more than eight years said, "Supporting the walk-a-thon will help support the March of Dimes' goal of healthier babies through research, medical care and educational programs."

"We are concerned that 250,000 babies are born each year in the United States with some type of birth defect," Jaeggli said.

WAYNE'S WALK-A-THON is being sponsored by Phi Beta Lambda. The idea is to pick up pledge sheets and get people to pledge a monetary amount per kilometer and to bring the pledge sheets to registration.

Organizations and area businesses are asked to send a team of walkers or help donate something for the walk.

Jim Varner, Phi Beta Lambda vice president, said, "We invite young and old alike to participate in the walk. Urge the local community to come on down to the walk for a day of fun. The PBL business organization is happy to play a part in the walk-a-thon for the March of Dimes and hope for a good turnout."

PLEDGE SHEETS can be picked up at The Wayne Herald, Wayne High School, First National Bank, State National Bank, Chamber of Commerce, Bill's G.W., Wayne Middle School, Welman's IGA, Wakefield High School, Allen High School and Norfolk Catholic High School.

Dr. Wessel Elected Vice President of Dentists

Dr. Wayne Wessel of Wayne was elected vice president of the Nebraska Dental Association at an annual meeting Monday in Omaha.

WESSEL WILL serve as vice president during 1981 and will automatically become president-elect in 1982 and president in 1983.

The Nebraska Dental Association meeting was held at the Red Lion Hotel in Omaha on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Wessel will now serve on the Board of Trustees of the NDA, will be the NDA representative to the North Dakota annual meeting and will serve as alternate delegate from Nebraska to the National Dental Association's House of Delegates meeting in October.

DR. DAVID COOLEY of Wayne was one of the delegates for the north district of the House of Delegates which elected this year's officers.

A Sweet Treat

PANCAKES, PANCAKES and more pancakes were served at the annual Kiwanis Pancake Feed, Thursday night at the Wayne city auditorium. Here, Jason Wehrer, five year-old son of Jerry Wehrer, takes a bite of a pancake that was cut into pieces by his grandfather Lyle Cleveland. The Kiwanis Club, Boys Scouts and Circle K were kept busy with a large crowd.

To be eligible for the Dean's List, students must earn at least a 3.5 average (on a 4.0 scale), while carrying a course load of 12 hours or more.

Consumer Lecture Planned

The eighth lecture in the consumer economics course organized by Marie Hoyt is scheduled at 1 p.m. Tuesday, March 31 in the Benfleck Hall, lecture room 103. Guest speaker will be Lawrence R. Myers, executive director, Equal Opportunity Commission of Lincoln.

The title of his lecture is "Consumer Issues in Equality."

The Consumer Economics Course is dealing with contemporary issues in consumer economics that affect the individual, family and larger social systems.

The lecture is free and open to the public. Doors to lecture room 103 will close promptly at 1 p.m. For additional information contact Marie Hoyt, 375 2200, Ext 254 or 256.

Faculty Art Show

Wayne State College's art department will present a faculty art show in the Nordstrand Visual Arts Gallery from March 30 through April 24. Sculptures and paintings will be exhibited by Wayne Anderson, Pearl Hansen, Marlene Mueller and Ray Replogle.

The gallery is located in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center and will be open to the public at no charge Monday through Fridays from 9 to 5. Some art works will be for sale.

Livestock Feeder Banquet

The annual banquet of the Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association is one of the highlights of the year for livestock producers, agribusinessmen and others interested in the livestock industry.

This year's banquet will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday, April 4, at the Wayne State College Student Center, with a coffee hour at the center beginning at 7 p.m. There will also be a social hour at the Wayne Fire Hall starting at 6:30.

Speaker and entertainer for the event will be Roger L. Welsch, associate professor of English and anthropology at the University of Nebraska, with stories of humor on the pioneer plains and Nebraska pioneer folksongs lived by his banjo.

Tickets for the event may be purchased for $7 from directors of the Northeast Feeders Association, from Gerald Muller, Concord, president; or Norman Meyer, Wakefield, secretary. Those wishing tickets are urged to arrange for them prior to April 1 as a very limited number of tickets will be available the night of the banquet.

Bowling for Hope

Phi Mu Sorority at Wayne State College is planning a fund-raising "Bowling for Hope" to take place on Thursday, March 26, at Melodee Lanes in Wayne.

Project Hope (Health Opportunity for People Everywhere) is associated with The People-to-People Health Foundation. It is a non-profit organization. Hope was the first pacetime hospital ship that sailed on worldwide missions. The ship Hope is now retired because the project had outgrown it. Similar programs have been developed in the United States.

Bowlers who sign up for the fund-raiser in Wayne are sponsored by non-bowlers, other bowlers, businessmen, housewives, and others who pledge to pay an amount per pin. Each bowler gets as many sponsors as he can. They will register for an hour to bowl, between 4 and 6 p.m., and will pay a $1 registration fee. The dollar includes the game, shoes, and the pins for Hope. All of the proceeds go toward Hope.

A spokesman for Phi Mu said the public is welcome to bowl as well as pledge towards the event. For further information call the Phi Mu house at 375-2093.

Opinion

A Special Invitation Given to Small Business

Richard L. Lashor, President
Chamber of Commerce of the United States

William Proxmire, the brilliant senator from Wisconsin and a tireless foe of government waste, once remarked: "Who comes to Washington to ask us to cut a particular program? You will wait a long time for an answer. Who comes? No one. Not ever. But hundreds come purporting to represent millions, asking us to increase spending."

How right he was, because take one look and — hee-hee! You see, when many of the big spenders first realized this President really is serious about getting the budget under control, they were stunned and virtually paralyzed. But now they're getting their act together.

Suddenly, Washington is teeming with people who direct, organize, staff, administer, research and represent various government programs. Each day their rhetoric grows more shrill and their message more ominous. Each evening the television news programs broadcast their heart-breaking scenes of distress. By now it seems clear: without their services, the poor will not survive.

It's enough to conjure up visions of an economic Armageddon — that is, until we remember a few facts. First, the total size of the spending reductions being proposed amount to approximately two percent of the current fiscal year budget, and less than seven percent of the next. Hardly the kind of cuts that spell catastrophe. Second, for the most part the cuts represent mere reductions in planned spending increases, rather than actual reductions below the level of last year's budget.

Third, several programs comprising about 36 percent of the budget — those that form the so-called safety net under which no poor person must be allowed to fall — have been left untouched. Fourth, much of what is often casually described as social spending does not even assist the poor, but consists of entitlement benefits or subsidies parcelled out to various middle class groups.

Nevertheless, this information is being submerged as the screams of protests from special pleaders grow louder and louder. So we at the U.S. Chamber have come up with an idea. What if we could prove, just once, that Senator Proxmire is wrong? What if we could convince thousands of Americans working in small businesses to come to Washington and challenge Congress to rise about parochial interests by placing the needs of the nation first, so we can get our economy back on track.

I specified small business because small business is America — it's the store next door. Small business represents more than 97 percent of all individual firms, employs the majority of the labor force and offers our best hope for new jobs, new technologies and stronger growth. But small business won't be able to tackle these jobs — America's biggest job — unless Congress takes dramatic action to reduce spending, taxation and excessive regulation.

This then is our plan: On April 27, Americans working in, associated with, or concerned about the survival of small enterprises are invited to participate in a giant rally on the U.S. Capitol steps. We are aiming for a big demonstration that will launch the most concerted legislative drive Washington has ever seen on the behalf of small business. After the rally, participants will have the opportunity to engage in face-to-face meetings with legislators from their districts and states.

I hope all my readers will seriously consider participating in this event... and bringing their neighbors as well. I can assure you that your presence will have an impact. In fact, if enough of you come, your personal contribution could spell the difference and transform proposals that are still rhetoric into lasting reality.

Should you need further information, please call The Small Business Center at the U.S. Chamber of Commerce in Washington, D.C. (202) 659-6180.

An Open Letter to Congress: Head Evidence; Ignore Rhetoric

The following information was included in a personal letter from me to each of the 535 members of Congress. I wanted my regular readers to be aware of it.

President Reagan's plan to reduce personal income tax rates by 10 percent a year for three consecutive years has been criticized by some individuals in a way that, while widely publicized, is both unfair and uninformed. The nation needs a constructive debate guided by evidence rather than inflammatory rhetoric. The U.S. Chamber strongly supports across-the-board personal tax rate reductions, and indeed, deems them essential to a sustained, economic recovery. Please permit me then to respond to three arguments being used against them.

First: The proposal unfairly benefits the rich. Which rich? During the last 10 years, the percentage of tax returns that fell into or above the 30, 40 and 50 percent tax brackets at least tripled. The rich apparently are everywhere; they are us. But are we really rich just because inflation combined with a progressive tax code to push us into the highest tax brackets, and often without any real increase in income? Of course not.

Also, it is true that people who make more money will get a big tax cut, but the highest 10 percent of all taxpayers — those earning approximately $30,000 a year or more — already shoulder nearly one-half the entire federal income tax burden. A profile of those upper bracket individuals would not match that legendary caricature of the infamous, greedy fat cat. Spurred by inflation, the new trend in America is for both spouses within a family to hold jobs, even though their incomes are often combined in one return. Try calling these people rich and watch their reaction.

Certainly America does have a genuine class of super-rich who pay exceptionally high taxes, which is why they seek to shelter their taxable income. Why not coax more of that income into productive — and taxable — investments by lowering their tax rates? Because, conventional economists claim, there is no proof the rich will invest. But history demonstrates there is proof. Every major tax-rate reduction in this century resulted in increased government revenues.

Look at the example provided by the world's new industrial giant — Japan. Not only is there no capital gains tax in Japan, but tax rates on personal levels of income are much lower with the top bracket of 70 percent applicable only to earnings over $396,000.

Perhaps the most compelling argument for this across-the-board, three-year personal rate cut — and one that is totally ignored — is that, by definition, it is a small business tax cut. The majority of the 14 million firms in America are unincorporated small businesses, exposed to the severely graduated personal rates.

Second: Personal rate reductions will increase the deficit, fuel consumption and worsen inflation. Nonsense! A tax cut will do all of the above if it is the typical one-shot, here-today, gone-tomorrow rebate or tax credit of recent years which individuals received regardless of personal effort. But by permanently cutting the tax rates that determine how much a person can keep on each extra dollar earned from work, savings and investment, we will be using incentives to fight inflation. In effect, over the three-year period, after-tax rewards for work, savings and investment will become steadily more attractive than leisure and consumption.

We are told it is inflationary when individuals are allowed to keep more of their own money, but not inflationary when government taxes it away and spends every cent. So why is it then, that even while raising taxes to their highest levels in history, government has managed only one balanced budget in the last 20 years, and we now have chronic double-digit inflation?

Third: The President will fail, because Margaret Thatcher tried this idea and failed. Poppycock! The two situations are not comparable. Britain's industrial base is weak and her basic industries had already been nationalized. What's more, Margaret Thatcher did not move to cut income tax rates equally across the board, and she compounded that error by doubling the value-added tax. Overall, she has significantly increased the general tax burden, as well as public spending and money growth.

To sum up: If Congress rejects permanent, across-the-board personal rate reductions, now that the President has submitted credible spending reductions, it will be endorsing another massive inflationary tax increase and inflicting special penalties on small business — our best source for new jobs, new technologies and dynamic growth. We must not let that happen.

Basic Freedoms Under Attack?

To the Public:
A bill aimed at narrowing the latitude voters in towns and villages in the state have to strike down ordinances which the voters feel are unfair passed first round approval of the Nebraska Legislature with a 25-0 vote.

The bill, LB 434, was introduced on behalf of the League of Municipalities and was advanced by the Urban Affairs Committee. If given final approval, LB 434 would jeopardize the future of the Initiative and Referendum petition powers of voters by exempting from that process ordinances relating to acquisition and improvement of public works, property, utility system and other capital projects, ordinances establishing or changing utility system rates and salaries for city employees other than the mayor and city council.

While it limits the power of the people through the Initiative and Referendum process, LB 434 would also cut off the only other recourse open to the people under our system of government — the right of petition to the courts.

In other words, if LB 434 is passed, the people are no longer the ultimate final voice in their own self-government. In an extreme case, a group of elected officials could dictate extreme spending in areas not covered by the current 7 percent lid with the only recourse open to the people the ballot box every four years.

Hopefully this bill's advance so far in the legislative process has been an oversight by members of the Unicameral. It is in the best interests of the people to bring this bill to the attention of Gov. Thone and state senators for their review in light of possible ramifications of LB 434 before the measure is advanced any further.

Lid Bill Repeat a Mistake

There is nothing wrong with putting a limit on spending by local subdivisions since limits are designed to help the people get the most for their tax dollar. Spending must be held down in today's inflationary times although the seven percent limit may be at a point where it is cutting too many needed services.

Another bill advanced from committee, LB 352 which was advanced by the Revenue Committee, calls for a complete repeal of a lid on government spending.

There are both pros and cons to the idea of a lid on spending by local governments. The current lid had depleted many savings accounts and reserve funds of subdivisions and requires a special election if the lid is to be exceeded.

Few people would doubt that the seven percent lid has done the job for which it was designed — the holding down of unnecessary spending by local government and it may now be time to revise the current lid law. But to abolish the lid, as advocated in LB 352, would be a mistake.

It would be much wiser for the state to set a limit which more closely matches the rate of inflation and to place that limit on every fund within a budget rather than on the overall budget.

As it stands now, some areas of a budget can be funded well in excess of the seven percent lid and this is fine as long as the total budget falls within the law. Unnecessary areas or services can then be kept alive and needed services or equipment would be slighted to meet the final letter of the law.

Without the protection of a lid bill, there is a real and serious danger that spending would once again skyrocket, leaving the people with the recourse of a constitutional amendment to limit taxation on their homes and property.

Nebraska is a long way from the situation in California which necessitated enactment of Proposition 13 in 1978 but no limit on local taxes could put some people into the position where they are paying enough in taxes to buy back their home in 20 years.

As with LB 434, read proposed bill LB 352, decide for yourself and then let your state senator and Gov. Thone know your feelings. It's in the best interest of freedom for all. The Atkinson, Nebraska, Concerned Citizens Group

Report is Valuable Reading

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
By M.M. Van Kirk,
Director of Information

Recommended reading as a factual analysis of what has taken place in U.S. agriculture under government farm programs during the past 50 years is the USDA booklet issued in the closing days of Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland's 4-years in office entitled, "A Time to Choose: Summary Report on the Structure of Agriculture."

The book is the result of the series of public hearings on the subject in late 1979 and early 1980 at 10 locations across the country which produced volumes of testimony that had to be sifted and churned and boiled down into understandable form. One of the most interesting parts of the book is the foreword written by Bergland who in retrospect probably will continue to look like one of the best of the Carter administration members.

Bergland has been scoffed at by the large wealthy landowners who insist there must be no restraint on their access to all government benefits with none of the disadvantages and by those who want unlimited government guarantees and scorned Bergland publicly as an operator of "a piddly little 600-acre farm in Minnesota."

There are those who fault some of the recommendations arrived at by the Bergland crew and rightfully so, because political philosophy has changed with a new administration. But the book performs a valuable service with an accurate description of how agriculture arrived at its present condition and position.

A wise old Nebraska farmer-rancher who had headed one of the Roosevelt Administration's Triple A farm committees in 1933 used to look back over 40 years of farm programs and say, "They have been a crutch for agriculture, valuable at times, but never a real solution."

He said, and Bergland's department study summary says, that farm programs and benefits through the years have always benefited the large farmers more than the small farmers and have contributed to the much-lamented concentration of land into fewer and larger farm and ranch units.

Currently there are about 2.7 million farms left in the U.S. (6.8 million was the most in 1935) and of that total there are about 1.2 million with annual gross sales of less than $5,000; 898,000 small farms with annual sales of between $5,000 and $40,000; 524,000 medium-sized farms with annual sales of $40,000 to $200,000; and 64,000 large farms with annual gross sales of over $200,000.

The conclusions are that the small farms are viable and worth keeping because the operators get most of their family income from off-farm jobs. The studies show that the most technical economies are achieved at sizes within the $40,000 to $200,000 bracket, with most efficiencies being attained by the time sales reach $130,000.

That ties in with the contention that the most efficient farm or ranch is the one which can be operated by a single family unit and that theory has been around and tested for a good many years. The family-operated farm or ranch can improvise and "make-do" in times of adversity while the really big operations are inclined to bog down with cash-flow ills due to their capital-intensive, highly debt-leveraged nature.

Some other conclusions are that present tax policies are biased toward the larger farmers and wealthy investors as are farm commodity and credit policies.

Following is a quote from the General Recommendations: "It seems fairly certain policies and programs, will continue and even accelerate the shift to large and super-large farms. Therefore, unless present policies and programs are changed so that they counter, instead of reinforce and accelerate the trends toward ever-larger farming operations, the result will be a few large farms controlling food production in only a few years."

"A Time to Choose" provides valuable farm background information. It should not be discarded or discredited, particularly in 1981 when Congress is writing a new farm law.

Wayne businessmen participating in the Grand Give-A-Way drawing are scratching their heads trying to determine why there hasn't been a winner in seven weeks.

Is there anyone out there who wouldn't like to win the $1000 in script money? Remember, the bonus bucks may be spent like cash in any of the participating business places!

WE'RE wondering if some people don't feel the contest includes them. If so, anyone who receives The Wayne Herald or The Marketer is eligible to win. If they are inside one of the participating stores at 8 p.m. each Thursday night when a name is drawn.

The contest even includes persons who for one reason or another don't subscribe to the newspaper or receive The Marketer. All they have to do is stop in and leave their name with one of the businessmen participating in the give-away. Be assured he'll see that their name is placed in with others eligible to win the drawing.

BELIEVE it or not, local businessmen are anxious for someone to claim the $1,000 prize! They also are interested in hearing any comments or suggestions you might have concerning the drawing.

And if you appreciate the time and effort that is spent in sponsoring the Grand Give-A-Way, tell your local businessmen that too. He's more than glad to do it, but remember he also likes a kind word now and then.

RECEIVING The Wayne Herald's "Give 'Em a Pat on the Back" distinction this week are members of the Wayne County

History Book Committee.

We think it's important for the public to know that, despite some rumors, members of the book committee are not being paid for their work! Their time and effort, as well as casual expenses such as mileage and postage, are being donated to further the book project.

REMEMBER too, that the Wayne Historical Society, which is sponsoring the publication of the new history book, has to earn the money for the book's printing, a matter of several thousand dollars. There are only three ways the money for the cost of printing can be obtained: by the sale of books before publication; by the sale of memorials or tribute pages; and by extra pages that are paid for by businesses and organizations. All three are important!

THE MEMORIAL pages are designed to pay tribute to a living or deceased member of a family, honor an institution or individual for working towards community betterment, and so on. Those pages are an enduring memorial tribute, and every purchase of a memorial page, or portion thereof, greatly assists the local historical society in its efforts.

THE HISTORICAL Society's goal is to produce the most comprehensive book possible. Wayne County residents can be assured that every contribution toward the project is helpful.

We should all help make this project as successful as possible. If you haven't already sent in your family history for publication in the book, please do so as soon as possible. The deadline for submitting stories is March 31.

Everyone has the responsibility to preserve their family history for future descendants. Remember that books of the late 1800's, today's primary research sources of family history, included the tales of many brand new citizens to those areas.

WHEN the new Wayne County History Book is returned from the printer, it will be beautifully bound in hardback leatherette with a gold stamped cover depicting the history of the county. The gold stamped emblem which will appear on the publication's cover has been designed by Ted Blendersmith, art instructor at Wayne Carroll High School.

FAMILY histories have been received from more than 400 county residents. Some of your friends and neighbors whose histories will appear in the publication include:

Walter and Anna Fleer, Arnold Wittler, Douglas Deck and James and Ira Robinson, all of Hoskins; LeRoy Grimm, Henry Westerhaus, Adolph Korn, Ralph Beckenhauer, Gordon Nelson, Theodore Hook, Jack Beeson, Cliff Pinkelman, Norman Maben, Robert McLean, Bill Fredrickson, John and Johanna Luff, Charles Nichols, Dr. J. R. Johnson, Charles Maler, and C. O. Mitchell, all of Wayne; Norman Wichmap of Pender; Leonard Hallesen of Carroll; Allen Spittgerber of Wisner; Clifford Burris, Edwin Vahkamp, Albert and Laura Jaeger, James Troutman and Glen Frevert, all of Winside; Perry Jarvis of Laurel; and Floyd Johnson of Wakefield.

Wedding Plans Told

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Beckmann of Pender announce the engagement of their daughter, Leora, to Mark Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Peterson of Rosalie.

Miss Beckmann is a business major at Wayne State College. Her fiancé is employed by Schwedhelm Freightline in Pender.

A June 20 wedding is being planned.

Nebraskans Baking and Taking

Judging from all the requests that have been received for Bake 'n' Take Days information, it appears a lot of Nebraskans will be baking and taking on March 27 and 28, according to Sue Smith, Nebraska Wheat Committee Home Economist.

"So if you haven't requested one of the attractive yellow and brown Bake 'n' Take Days stickers or gold insert cards for your baking," says Smith, "there is still time to do so."

The stickers and cards are free for the asking. Just write Nebraska Wheat Committee, P.O. Box 94912, Lincoln, Neb., 68509. The insert cards include two recipes — one for Oven Cheese Puff for one person and Rolled Wheat Caramel Bars.

Bake 'n' Take Days are, as the name suggests, a special time to bake something and take it to someone you want to remember in a special way. "What could be more thoughtful than giving a gift you've made yourself?" asks Smith.

"There's no doubt your recipe file includes a lot of very special recipes," she adds, "but if you're looking for a new one, here's one you might try."

Whole Wheat Orange Cookies
1 cup sugar
1 tsp. baking powder

1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. soda
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 Tbsp. milk
1 Tbsp. grated orange peel
1 tsp. vanilla
1 egg
2 cups whole wheat flour

Mix all ingredients except the whole wheat flour. Add flour and shape by hand into 1-inch balls. Roll balls in a sugar-cinnamon mixture (2 tablespoons sugar and 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon). Bake on ungreased cookie sheet for 8 to 10 minutes at 375 degrees. If a flatter cookie is desired, flatten a bit with a glass before baking.

Governor Charles Thone has declared March 27 and 28 as Bake 'n' Take Days in Nebraska. Bake 'n' Take Days in Nebraska are sponsored by the Nebraska Wheat Committee.

According to Smith, this is a time to share the fruits of your creative baking talents with others. The formal proclamation will be made today (Monday) at 10:15 a.m. in the Governor's Hearing Room.

In proclaiming March 27-28 as Bake 'n' Take Days, Governor Thone will call attention to the dollars the Nebraska Wheat Committee invests in promoting the nutritional benefits of wheat foods in the diet.

Norfolk Bridal Fete Honors Deb Weiher

A miscellaneous bridal shower was given in honor of Deb Weiher March 15 in the Merlin Klug home, Norfolk.

Several games were played and prizes were forwarded to the honoree. Linda and Joni Weiher assisted with the gifts.

A cake decorated in the bride's chosen colors, peach and yellow, centered the salad bar.

Hostess was Sue Luebe and 30 guests attended from Norfolk, Stanton, Hoskins, Pierce, Oakdale, Magnet, Randolph and Roca.

Miss Weiher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weiher of Stanton, and Gary Klug, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Klug of Hoskins, will be married April 4 at Christ Lutheran Church in Norfolk.

County Cancer Crusade Underway

Volunteers from throughout Wayne County attended a kickoff meeting of the American Cancer Society last Monday morning in Wayne. A follow-up meeting was held Thursday morning in the home of Mrs. Wayne Hankins of Carroll.

April is Cancer Crusade Month and volunteers from throughout the county hope to have the local drive completed by Easter. The drive in Wayne County began last week and the volunteers will be calling on residents to help raise money in the continuing fight against cancer.

Mrs. Lester Hansen, county president, said this year's goal in the county is $5,870. Last year residents contributed $5,205. Chairmen this year are Mrs. Emil Uken and Arnold Marr, Wayne City; Orville Sherry, Wayne business district; Mrs. Nell Sandahl, rural; Mrs. George Voss, Winside; and Mrs. Wayne Hankins, Carroll. The drive in Hoskins will be conducted by a number of volunteers.

Mrs. Hansen said Monday's meeting was informative as well as educational. The group viewed a film, "Circle of Care," which tells about the CanSurmount Program in Colorado. A similar program is being developed for Wayne area residents and was outlined by Mrs. Loreene Gildersleeve.

Several Wayne County residents are planning to attend a State Cancer Crusade kickoff meeting April 4 in Omaha. Members of four 4-H clubs in the county also are planning to hold a bake sale that day at Peoples Natural Gas Co. in Wayne, with all proceeds going to the American Cancer Society. Clubs participating in the bake sale are Deer Creek Valley, Pleasant Valley, Carrolliters and Combination Kids.

Wayne High AFS Student Guest of Methodist Women

Kathy Sekinger, this year's American Field Service (AFS) foreign exchange student at Wayne Carroll High School, spoke to the United Methodist Women's society of Wayne following a luncheon.

The luncheon was held Wednesday at the Presbyterian Church in Wayne because of remodeling work being done at the Methodist Church.

On the serving committee were Norma Carr, Janet Bull, Deb Eloffson, Becky Keidel, Roberta Wolfe, Ella Kingston, Ruth Andrews and Twila Claybaugh.

Miss Sekinger, who is making her home with the Cletus Sharer family while attending school here, gave a slide presentation of her native country, Switzerland.

Ruth Luhr gave devotions for the call to prayer and self denial. A sample copy of a historical book was passed among the members as an illustration of the forthcoming Wayne County History Book. Everyone is encouraged to write their family history and submit it to the committee before March 31.

Women who would like to help serve the Sodar supper on Thursday, April 16, are asked to contact Dorothy Hubbard, Methodist Men are planning to serve supper

April 2 to raise funds for the church remodeling project. Persons who would like to donate food or money for the supper are asked to sign a donation sheet posted in the church.

Mildred Jones encouraged members to participate in the reading program this year. There are three categories from which to choose in the UMW library.

Easter and May Day card baskets will be available next month from Thelma Day.

Next meeting will be April 8 following a 12:30 p.m. casserole luncheon.

FHA State Leadership Conference Scheduled

"Families We're Still the One" is the student developed theme of the Future Homemakers of America's annual State Leadership Conference to be held April 6 and 7 in Lincoln.

Presiding over the two-day activities will be the current State Executive Council, including historian Susie Baker of Wakarusa.

One thousand young women and men and 200 adult advisers and chapter parents are expected to attend.

The leadership meeting is designed to help teens expand their thinking about the importance and variety of families in contemporary society and to cope with the challenges families face today and in the future.

The two-day meeting includes general sessions, small group workshops, and special interest seminars. Problem solving sessions will focus on family demands and stresses. Participants also will have the opportunity to polish their skills in the areas of leadership development, decision making, personal growth and public relations.

The first woman dental school graduate was Lucy Hobbs Taylor, who first practiced in 1861.

Inexpensive Suggestions to Help Keep Bills, Blood Pressure Down

Fuel costs have gone up this year — and so did my blood pressure when I received my last electric bill. I've been looking for some inexpensive ways to keep both my bills and my blood pressure down.

Here are some low-cost/no-cost suggestions that could reduce fuel bills by 25 per cent.

KEEP YOUR shower from cleaning out your bank account by installing a flow controller. It's inserted between the shower head and the shower arm and reduces the flow of water while the shower continues to give off a good spray.

Hot water is expensive. Save a gallon per minute or up to 4,000 gallons per year with a flow controller, costing less than $1. A savings of $40 a year for electric water heaters can be realized by a family of four. ($15 a year for gas water heaters).

Lower the thermostat on the water heater as low as you can. Save at least $20 a year for electric water heaters and $10 for gas. If this change produces spotty dishes in the automatic dishwasher, you can always turn the dial back up a little. But the lower the setting you can accept, the more money you will save.

washing machine can have a major impact on utility bills. Changing the rinse water from warm to cold could save $25 a year; if you wash a load a day. Going a little further, and changing the wash setting from hot to warm could save another $25 a year. Better yet, use a cold water detergent, and wash and rinse with cold water.

WHEN MOST people think of caulking and weatherstripping, they generally think of windows and doors. But most energy studies find that 80 percent of costly infiltration gets in underneath the baseboards, through wall outlets, through holes where plumbing pipes and telephone wires enter the house, through holes

THERE'S A myth that lowering the temperature of hot water only causes people to use more of it, and therefore, nothing is saved. The fact is, dialing down the thermostat saves money in two important ways. It reduces the amount of costly hot water used and it keeps some of the heat from escaping through the walls of the water heater tank.

Save money by adding an extra layer of insulation around the outside of the water tank to cut heat loss. This effort is estimated to save $20 a year for electric water heaters and about $10 a year for gas. Foil-backed insulation and tape to do this job can be purchased for less than $5.

Get specific instructions for how to do this however, because critical areas have to be left free to "breathe."

around exhaust fans and around dryer vents.

Some windy, cool evening, hold your hand in front of an outlet or light switch. Then check on the price of the inexpensive gaskets that can be purchased at a hardware store to remedy the situation.

PROPER furnace maintenance is, of course, a great way to save money. Clean filters are important to both furnaces and air conditioners. And setting the temperature back at night is one of the best energy-saving suggestions.

Every degree that the home is artificially held above or below outdoor temperatures adds to your bill. A ten-degree night setback is an easy way to achieve a 10 to 25 percent savings on fuel bills while you sleep.

CanSurmount Volunteers

SEVERAL RESIDENTS OF WAYNE have been meeting during the past weeks to establish a CanSurmount chapter to aid cancer victims and their families in the surrounding area. CanSurmount is an ongoing program sponsored and supported by the American Cancer Society (ACS). An advisory committee has invited trained professionals to speak in Wayne during the months of March, April and May and encourages all cancer patients, their families, and other interested persons to attend. The first meeting will be held March 31 at 7 p.m. in the Chapin Room of Providence Medical Center in Wayne. Speaker will be Dr. Joseph Washburn, Radiation/Oncologist at Marion Health Center, Sioux City. Dr. Washburn will present information on the various aspects of radiation treatment for cancer patients. Volunteers helping to coordinate the CanSurmount program in Wayne are, front row from left, Julie Cowdin, Nebraska division director of medical affairs for ACS, Ann Barclay, Joanne Kubik, Marcie Thomas, Sister Gertrude; back row from left, Dr. Jim Lindau, Mave Middendorf, Loreene Gildersleeve, Shelly Bursik, northeast area executive director for ACS, Tama Krause and the Rev. John Jorde. Advisory board members not pictured are Marguerite Platner, Ph.D., and Ann Wilkowski.

Winside Track Season Opens Tomorrow

Some pretty good talent will form the nucleus of this year's boys track team at Winside High School.

With 15 boys out for track, head coach Dennis Gonnerman and assistant Paul Sok expect to be competitive in the running events but may be hurting in several field events.

"The amount of effort put forward by this team will determine our success. I hope we will be a good track team," Gonnerman said. "We have been running and working hard this year."

Nine lettermen return to lead this year's team. Brian Foote is the only state qualifier and should be an asset for the Wildcats this spring. He qualified for the state tournament in the pole vault and hurdles last year. Foote is also a sprinter.

Other seniors on the squad are sprinters Joel Broekemol and Byron Schellenberg and distance runners Bill George and Rod Dotin.

"The seniors should be a pretty good group. They are the core of the team," stated Gonnerman.

Juniors are Kent Glassmeyer, Tom Wills, Barry Bowers, Mark Koch and Jim Krajicek.

Glassmeyer will compete in the shot put and discus and Gonnerman expects him to do "fairly well" in those events.

Wills will run the 200 and 400. Bowers will throw the shot and discus and run the hurdles and Koch is a mid-distance runner and hurdler. This is Krajicek's first year out for track and he is still practicing several events to determine where he will be most useful.

Sophomores on the team are Dan Broekemol, Brian Bowers and Jon Meierhenry. All are distance runners. Freshmen Tom Wittler and Jon Hawkins will fill out the team in distance and sprint events, respectively. Hawkins, who had an outstanding junior high season last year, is expected to be a strong candidate.

"We have a good sprint unit and more distance runners this year. Our 440 relay team should be strong," said Gonnerman. "Special events like the long jump, triple jump and probably the high jump will hurt us. If we put out a good effort, we could have a good team."

Class D Winside is scheduled to open its season tomorrow (Tuesday) in a home triangular with Laurel and Coleridge.

Season schedule: March 24—Triangular with Laurel and Coleridge; April 2—Laurel Relays; April 10—Wayne State Invitational; April 15—Wakefield Invitational; April 21—Beemer Invitational; April 30—Winside Invitational; May 7—Lewis and Clark Conference Meet; May 14—Class D districts.

WINSIDE BOYS practice the high jump in preparation for tomorrow's home opening track triangular with Laurel and Coleridge. Cold weather slowed the practice sessions somewhat this week.

Throwing Events May Be Strength

The shot put and discus may be two of the best events for the Winside girls track team which is scheduled to open its season tomorrow.

The Wildcats are coached by Jim Winch and will receive help this year from new assistant coach Jill Stenwall. Stenwall, a Winside native who is one of the premier shot putters in the country, will help mainly with technique in the throwing events and weight training.

Three seniors are expected to help the team in the shot and discus. Laurie Gallop, Sue Meierhenry and Tammy Thomas are expected to do a good job in those events.

Another plus for Winside is the return of Lori Langenberg, a state qualifier in the high jump last year. She will be looking for a return trip to state and will also compete in sprints.

"We're not particularly strong in our running events," said coach Jim Winch. "Our best chance will probably come in the shot and discus. Lori should have a good chance in the high jump too."

Only 11 girls make up the roster of this year's team. Winch said that competition will be tough but he hopes the girls will respond at districts. "The high jump and discus state qualifying marks are automatic and they are well within our reach," Winch stated. "We're a wheel short in most of our events. We do have senior leadership."

Winside will soon be able to find out how they stack up with other teams when they host a triangular against Laurel and Coleridge tomorrow (Tuesday).

Other leading prospects on the track team are seniors Becky Westerhaus, Robyn Winch and Deb Woslager. Westerhaus and Woslager are sprinters and Winch will run the quarter and half mile events.

Two other lettermen on the squad are senior Coleene Miller and sophomore Patti Langenberg. Other hopefuls are sophomore Mary Wantoch and freshman Susie Peterson.

Season schedule: March 24—Triangular with Laurel and Coleridge; April 2—Laurel Relays at WSC; April 9—Wayne State Invitational; April 15—Wakefield Invitational; April 21—Beemer Invitational; April 30—Winside Invitational; May 7—Lewis and Clark Conference Meet; May 14—Districts.

THE STRENGTH of the girls track team at Winside High School this year could well be the throwing events. Here, Laurie Gallop gives the shot put a heave as Sue Meierhenry, Tammy Thomas and assistant coach Jill Stenwall watch.

Piano Students Presenting Recital at Fellowship Hall

Piano students of Mrs. Wayne Hankins will be presented in a recital Saturday evening, March 28, at the Methodist Church fellowship hall in Carroll.

Eighteen students will participate in the program at 8 p.m. and the public is invited.

Hillcrest Club
Mrs. T. P. Roberts was hostess Tuesday afternoon when the Hillcrest Home Extension Club met with eight members.

Mrs. Emma Eckert conducted the meeting, which opened with the flag salute and club creed. Mrs. Marian Jordan reported on the last meeting.

Members answered roll call with "My Favorite Flower, How to Plant and Care For It."

Mrs. Lloyd Morris read an article about the St. Patrick's Day celebration in O'Neill. Mrs. Perry Johnson read "Beware of Cancer," and Mrs. Robert I. Jones had the lesson.

The April 21 meeting will be with Mrs. Robert I. Jones.

Meet at Ron's
Happy Workers Social Club met at Ron's Steakhouse last week with hostess Mrs. Irene Harmer.

Ten members attended and played cards. Prizes went to Mrs. Adolph Rohlf, high, Mrs. Ernest Junck, low, and Mrs. Lyle Cunningham, traveling.

Mrs. Enos Williams, president, opened the meeting with a thought for the day, scripture reading and prayer.

The Rev. Gail Axen had the lesson, "God's Steady Will," and the group sang "The Old Rugged Cross."

Next meeting will be in April.

Seven at Meeting
Seven members of the Social Neighbors Club met with hostess Mrs. Marvin Haselhorst Wednesday.

Mrs. Kenneth Eddle conducted the business meeting and Mrs. Duane Creamer reported on the last meeting. Members responded to roll call with something new they achieved this past winter.

Cards furnished entertainment, with prizes going to Mrs. Arnold Junck, high, and Mrs. Duane Creamer, low.

Plans were made for a 12:30 p.m. dinner to precede the April 15 meeting in the Steve Hogkamp home.

Smorgasbord Supper
Fifteen couples were present when the EOT Club met for a smorgasbord supper last Monday evening at the Black Knight in Wayne.

The event also honored the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gramlich, who were presented a monetary gift from the club.

Cards furnished entertainment, with prizes going to Lowell Rohlf, Ray Loberg, John Gathje, Mrs. Larry Stevers, Mrs. Gary Stevers and Mrs. Ron Sebade.

The next meeting will be April 12 in the Gary Stevers home with Mrs. Dan Hansen serving as co-hostess. The group will have election of officers and will make favors for Providence Medical Center in Wayne.

Birthday Guests
Mrs. Ervin Wittler, who celebrated her birthday last Monday, was honored March 15 when Mrs. Allen Frahm and Mrs. Merlin Kenny hosted a supper in the Frahm home.

Guests were the Ervin Wittlers, Lynn Roberts, the Merlin Kennys and Mrs. Esther Hansen, all of Carroll, and the Henry Warrimans of Wayne.

The Harold Wittlers, Benji and Bobby, were guests Monday evening in the Wittler home.

Monday noon dinner guests in the Art Rohde home to honor Mrs. Wittler's birthday included the honoree and Mrs. Neva McFadden, Mrs. Gurney Lorenz, Mrs. Murray Leicy, Mrs. Julius Oberding and Pix Rohde.

Mrs. Dean Junck entertained at a coffee Tuesday morning to honor the birthday of Mrs. Ervin Wittler. Other guests included Mrs. Murray Leicy, Mrs. Lonnie Fork, Mrs. Harold Wittler, Mrs. Merlin Kenny, Mrs. Terry Munter, Mrs. Allen Frahm and Mrs. Don Volwiler.

Mrs. Arnold Junck, Mrs. Dennis Junck and Ryan, Mrs. Anna Hansen and Mrs. George Stolz went to Coleridge last Monday where they visited Mrs. Anna Paulsen at the Park View Haven Nursing Home. They also visited Mrs. Marvel Junck, an aunt of Mrs. Arnold Junck, who also is a resident of the home.

The Don Leifings, Colorado Springs, Colo., spent March 14-18 in the home of her parents, the Leonard Halleens.

The Arthur Cooks spent March 13-15 in the Gordon Jorgensen home, Milford, Iowa.

Bonnie Owens, Grand Island, arrived March 14 and was an overnight guest in the Milton Owens home. Judy Owens, Columbus, spent March 15 in the Milton Owens home and they all attended the Welsh Heritage Day program that was held March 15 at the Congregational Church of Carroll.

considerable amount of time. Most affected businesses can withstand some delay without seriously injuring their operations.

Bereuter said, "But, in the uncertain, price-volatile business of farming, any delay in the disposal of the commodity can cause serious hardships. First, the grain in a bankrupt elevator is generally the sole marketable asset of a farmer's operation. If the disposal of the grain is tied up for any length of time, the viability of the entire farm enterprise may be jeopardized."

He said, "Second, anytime agricultural commodities are being marketed, a large degree of price volatility should be assumed. Bankruptcy judges simply should not be left with the burden of responsibility for determining when to put grain on the market. Instead, upon application by the farmer, the judge should make every effort to promptly deliver the grain in question."

Bereuter said, "While some bankruptcy judges are sensitive to the particular situation of farmers and move quickly to clear up any claims, other judges, with no ill will, simply do not. This legislation would address that latter situation in an uncomplicated, yet, I believe, effective manner."

Bill is Introduced To Protect Farmers

Congressman Doug Bereuter Wednesday joined in introducing legislation to protect the rights of farmers with grain stored in elevators that are involved in bankruptcy proceedings.

"The bill would require that judges give priority attention to resolving claims of agricultural producers who are involved in bankruptcy proceedings. The legislation works within the existing bankruptcy statute and merely strengthens the law as far as the need for priority action on fungible, perishable commodities," Bereuter said.

"While admittedly only a partial answer to the current problem, this bill would require no federal expenditures since it merely makes a minor clarification to assure priorities in judicial proceedings. It would not set up any massive or complex program to deal with the broader problem of insolvent elevators. Other actions may be necessary by federal and state government to resolve the underlying problems, and I will continue to seek such appropriate actions," he said.

"Under present bankruptcy laws, interested parties may file a motion for relief against the stay. If a farmer follows that procedure, his motion is considered en masse with the others," Bereuter said. "Action can take a considerable amount of time. Most affected businesses can withstand some delay without seriously injuring their operations.

Bereuter said, "But, in the uncertain, price-volatile business of farming, any delay in the disposal of the commodity can cause serious hardships. First, the grain in a bankrupt elevator is generally the sole marketable asset of a farmer's operation. Wayne State Schedules Annual Art Conference

The Wayne State College Art Department has scheduled the annual High School Art Conference on Thursday (March 26).

Nigel Buss, art consultant for Educational Service Unit No. Eight in Neligh, will be guest speaker.

High school art students and instructors will have an opportunity to observe demonstrations performed by WSC art students in the varied disciplines of pottery, crafts, print making, sculpture, painting, drawing and watercolors.

Also scheduled during the conference is an art exhibition and scholarship competition for high school seniors. The scholarship winners will receive a partial tuition remission stipend. The recipients must attend WSC as art majors.

The conference will be an informal, educational program to be of value to the novice art student. Since a number of high schools do not have the facilities for all art processes, WSC likes to introduce students to the facets of art they have yet to experience.

Orientation for the conference will take place at 9:30 a.m. in Ramsey Auditorium at the WSC Val Peterson Fine Arts Center. Demonstrations will be conducted from 9:45 to 11:20 a.m.

Following the luncheon, tour guides will be provided for those students wishing to see the WSC campus.

Saddle Club Elects Officers At Jackson

Merle Anderson was elected president of the Dixota Wranglers Saddle Club when it met with 46 members March 15 at the Jackson Legion Hall.

Other newly elected officers are Bill Domsch, vice president; Judy Botgger, secretary; and Leonard Anderson, treasurer.

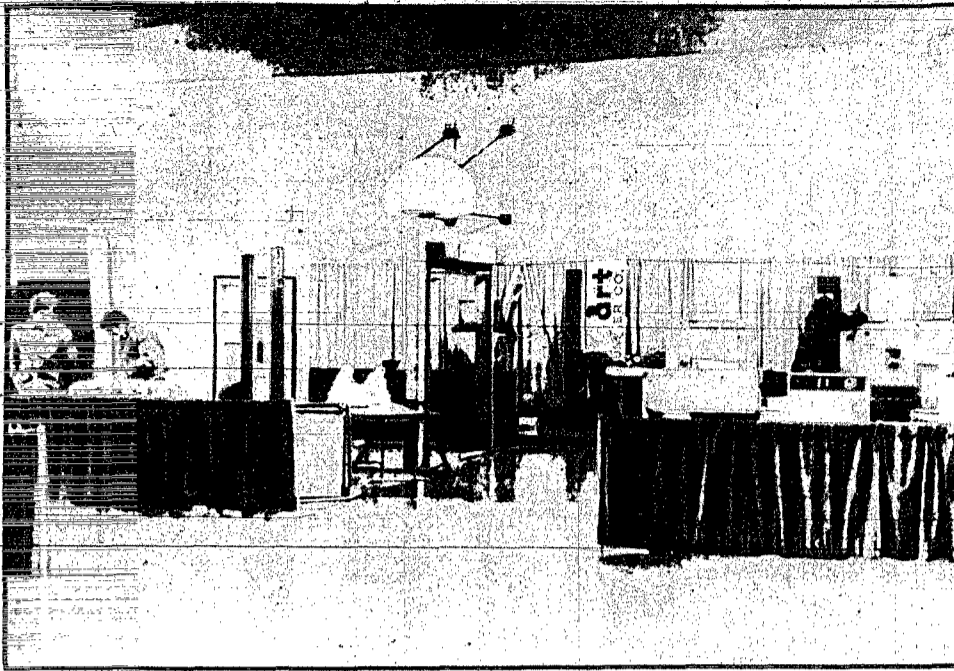

New Board of Directors are Charles Fiscus, Whit Dawkins, Louis Gonzallas and Paul Stewart.

Bill and Helen Domsch received the Senior Trophy for Dixota

Wranglers Recognition Award for 1980. Receiving the Junior Trophy for Dixota Wranglers Recognition Award for 1980 was Valerie Navrkal.

Hosting the meeting were the families of Whit Dawkins, Bill Beacons, Merle Andersons and Jerry Botggers.

The April meeting will be a trail ride hosted by the Larry Blair, Gary Blair, and Jim Twohig families.

Preparing for Home Show

THE WAYNE Home Show was held Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the National Guard Armory in Wayne. Here, some local businessmen set up booths in preparation for the show which began at 5 p.m. Friday.

Atokad Park Adds $93,000 to Program

Atokad Park in South Sioux City will add over $93,000 in Stakes and Handicaps Purses for its 1981 thoroughbred racing season.

Track manager J. Morry Eckman said, "We've added these special purses to 18 races to attract better horses and to give our racing fans better quality, more exciting horse races."

$10,000 purses have been added to races being run July 19 and July 25. The Big "A" Derby for 3-year-olds, and The Big "A" Futurity for 2-year-olds.

$7,500 purses are added to The Nebraska Breeders' Futurity Allowance Stakes for Nebraska-bred 2-year-olds, to be run June 20; The Nebraska Breeders' Derby Allowance Stakes for 3-year-olds, to be run June 21; and The Big "A" Championship Handicap for 3-year-olds and upward, to be run July 26.

$3,000-$5,000 purses have been added to 13 other races from May 1 throughout the race schedule.

Atokad is also implementing new racing dates for its 1981 season. The track usually runs from October through mid-November; this year, races run May 1 through July 26. Post times are 4 p.m. Mondays and Fridays, and 1 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. Atokad's enclosed grandstand seats over 3,000 people; and the track stables over 800 horses, with additional horses available from Ak-Sar-Ben for Stakes and Feature Races.

Nomination blanks for the special Stakes and Handicaps races, may be obtained from Eckman at Atokad Races, P.O. Box 518, South Sioux City, Neb. 68776. (Phone 402/494-3611). No supplemental nominations will be accepted.

Governor Signs Von Minden Bill

Allen Senator Merle Von Minden reported Tuesday that LB 217 has received final approval. LB 217 is the freshman senator's first bill and Von Minden said "the main purpose of this bill is to return the question of sale of liquor on election day to local cities and villages."

Senator Von Minden explained that opponents of the bill sentimentalized the liquor aspect of the bill and ignored the fact that the bill's major purpose was local control.

Von Minden also indicated that he was particularly proud that he was able to succeed in passing his first piece of legislation and in having it advanced to the Governor in the first 45 days of his term.

Nichols Bureau Board Member
Over 30 persons attended a meeting of the Wayne County Farm Bureau Board of Directors last Monday evening at the Farm Bureau office in Wayne.

Larry Nichols, a new member of the board, was introduced. Merlin Felt and Ron Ring reported on the Young Farmer and Rancher Convention they attended recently in Kearney.

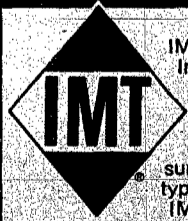

County Affairs chairman Dan Loberg introduced Doris Stipp, county assessor, and Merlin Beiermann, Gerald Pospisil and Ken Eddle, county commissioners, who conducted an informative discussion.

The board agreed to actively support LB 243 which limits the power of eminent domain of the Natural Resources District.

St. Paul's Lutheran Ladies Aid Meets

The Ladies Aid of St. Paul's Lutheran Church met March 12 with hostess Mrs. Dan Dolph. Twelve members were present, and guests were Mrs. Mike Stevers, Audra and Stacy.

Mrs. Howard Greve read an article, entitled "Nearer To God" for opening devotions, and the group sang the hymn "Nearer My God To Thee." The Christian growth lesson on death was given by Mrs. Clifford Baker.

President Mrs. Greve conducted the business meeting. The members revised the Ladies Aid Constitution and made an Easter donation to Camp Luther at Schuyler.

Members are asked to bring items for a layette to the next meeting. The layette, for Lutheran World Relief, will be taken to the International LWML Convention this summer in Milwaukee.

The closing hymn honored the birthdays of Mrs. Dean Meyer and Mrs. Albert L. Nelson, and the anniversary of Mrs. August Kal.

Mrs. DeLloyd Meyer will be the April 9 hostess.

The Men's Club of St. Paul's Lutheran Church met March 10 with their wives as guests. Slides were shown of the history of The Lutheran Hour.

Melvin Wilson and Howard Greve were on the serving committee.

Mrs. Emil Tarnow and Mrs.

Gertrude Utecht were guests of Mrs. Dean Meyer March 13. They joined others there to observe the birthday of the hostess.

Guests in the Erwin Bollger home March 10 to observe the hostess' birthday were the Gilbert Rausses, the Paul Henschkes, Terry Henschke and Jessica, the Forrest Joses and the Jerry Anderson family. Coffee guests March 11 were Mrs. Herman Oetken and Mrs. Adeline Sieger of Wayne and Mrs. Jerry Anderson and Mandy.

The Erwin Bollgers spent Feb. 13-16 in Minneapolis, Minn., where they were guests of the Clarence Royles. They also visited Sid Jarvis in Minneapolis and Wayne Oetken in the Veteran's Hospital there. Enroute home they visited in the Eugene Gehrts home, Holstein, Iowa.

The Ed Krusemarks returned home March 12 after a 10 day visit with the Les Brudigams at Coupeville, Wash., and the Bill Mitchell family of Oak Harbor, Wash. The Merle Krusemarks and sons met them in Sloux City, and the Raymond Brudigams joined them in the Krusemark home for the evening.

The Bill Hansens were March 15 dinner guests in the Jack Hansen home in Omaha to observe the birthdays of Joshua and Jack.

The Douglas Samuelsons and Eric, Grand Island, came to the Arvid Samuelson home March 13 to spend the weekend. Joining them for dinner Sunday were the Walter Burhoops of Bancroft. Afternoon visitors were the Erhard Reptschaegers of Bancroft.

The Robert Hansens and the Ronnie Krusemarks attended the American Pork Congress in Kansas City, Mo., held March 10-12.

Five girlfriends of Kodl Nelson were her guests for a slumber party March 10 in the Albert L. Nelson home honoring Kodl's 11th birthday.

CLEP Test Signup Deadline April 6

Registration deadline is April 6 for College Level Examination Program (CLEP) examinations to be held on the Wayne State College campus on Wednesday, April 8. The CLEP program enables students to earn college credits by examination.

Participants may sign up for one or more 90-minute exams to test their knowledge of specific areas. CLEP offers the opportunity to save both time and money in pursuing an education through recognition of your college level achievements.

Anyone can take CLEP exams and submit scores to one or more of 2,500 participating institutions. To receive college credit for these exams at Wayne State College you must either be currently enrolled or have completed admission requirements.

Individuals who have taken CLEP exams (particularly the subject exams) usually find that related introductory textbooks give a good overview of the area to be tested. If your local public library does not have this type of book, request it through an inter-library loan or simply visit the library of WSC.

Credit given through CLEP is entered on your record without grades and is not used in determining your grade point average. If you fail a CLEP exam, there is no official record made and it will not affect your transcript. The exam can also be taken again provided the appropriate fees are paid.

Wayne State College places no limit on the maximum number of credit hours earned through CLEP which are taken before the senior year.

Every institution which participates in CLEP establishes its own policy concerning (among other things) which exams are officially recognized, and the minimum scores necessary before credit is granted. Anyone who plans to transfer to another college in the future should check with the registrar of that institution for their CLEP policy.

WSC will accept CLEP credit earned at another institution provided the exams are recognized for credit and the necessary scores were obtained.

Each CLEP exam takes about 90 minutes and the exam schedule is set up so that anywhere from one to four tests can be taken on the same day.

Other dates/times can be arranged for CLEP exams as appropriate.

The fee for General and Subject Examinations (with or without essay or lab exam) is $20 for each examination. Scores are reported to you and the College four to eight weeks after the test date.

For more information call 375-1317, WSC Student Services Office.

Victims of Heart Attack

"Can heart attacks be prevented by lowering cholesterol?" is the question asked by a team of University of Minnesota researchers conducting a study of the relationship between heart disease and cholesterol. Most heart trouble results from atherosclerosis or hardening of the arteries. A clue to the cause of atherosclerosis may be that cholesterol, a fatty substance, is found in diseased arteries; it is, however, still uncertain whether lowering cholesterol can actually prevent heart attacks. The research team hopes to answer this question. The University is seeking persons aged 28 through 64 who have had only one heart attack and that attack was in the past five years. Anyone interested in more information may call the University of Minnesota Hyperlipidemia Study collect at 612-376-4594.

College Juniors Plan on Med Training

Seven Wayne State College junior students have been accepted for professional clinical training in medical technology at Nebraska and Iowa hospitals. The students and respective hospitals are: Lori Martensen of Norfolk at St. Luke's Hospital, Sioux City, Iowa; Renee Carstens of Norfolk at Mercy Hospital, Council Bluffs, Iowa; Karla Chamberlin of Columbus at Marian Health Center, Sioux City, Iowa; Jan McCullough of York at University of Nebraska Medical Center, Omaha; Joan Shannon of Irwin, Iowa at Marian Health Center, Sioux City, Iowa; Steven Sufficool of Crofton at Nebraska Wesleyan University, Lincoln's affiliated hospitals, Bryan Memorial, St. Elizabeth and Lincoln General; Shari Wragge of Pierce at University of Nebraska—Medical Center, Omaha.

Clinical training for the students will start in July. Following the successful completion of the 12 month training, they will receive a bachelor of science degree from WSC with a major in medical technology.

According to Dr. Jogindar Johar, WSC chemistry professor and chairman of the Medical Technology Committee, a medical technologist is an integral part of the health care delivery team, who performs laboratory tests on the body fluids and tissues in order to help determine the presence or absence of a disease, and the progress and outcome of the treatment and the maintenance of health.

The employment opportunities for medical technologists exist in hospital laboratories, research centers, independent clinics, physicians clinics, industrial laboratories, as well as in pharmaceutical companies, educational institutions and allied health management, Johar said.

The WSC Medical Technology Committee, appointed by Dr. Frank Prather, WSC division head of mathematics and science, concerns itself with student advisement, academic acceptance of the hospital programs, acquiring new hospital affiliations and coordinating the combined college-hospital programs.

Periodic visitations to the affiliated hospitals are made by members of this committee. Hospitals not mentioned above which are affiliated with WSC include: Mercy Hospital, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Research Medical Center, Kansas City, Mo.; and Providence Medical Center, Kansas City, Kan.

Other members of the committee are: Frances Groth, instructor of chemistry; Jewell Schack, assistant professor of biology; Dean Metz, associate professor of physics; and Elizabeth Mohr, medical technologist at Providence Medical Center in Wayne.

Poetry Reading Planned at Wayne State

The Program for Arts in Communities and Education at Wayne State College will present the Plains Writer's Workshop of 1961. Poetry readings in conjunction with the workshop will be held in the KWSC-TV studio in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center. These poetry readings are free and open to the public.

The fourth reading will be performed by Ted Kooser on Thursday, April 2 at 7 p.m.

Kooser, a returning guest at Wayne State College, lives in Lincoln, where he is employed as an underwriter in an insurance company. A nationally respected poet, he is also editor and publisher of Windflower Press, a small publishing concern specializing in poetry. He has recently begun editing "The Blue Hotel," a poetry magazine. Kooser's poetry and criticism has appeared in numerous literary magazines. His most recent collection of poetry is "Sure Signs," which is, in the words of Karl Shapiro, "... a complete and mature work of poetry. There is little in contemporary poetry that can compare with it in excellence."

The Program for Arts in Communities and Education at Wayne State College will present the Plains Writer's Workshop of 1981. Poetry readings in conjunction with the workshop will be held in the KWSC-TV studio in the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center. These poetry readings are free and open to the public.

The fourth reading will be performed by Ted Kooser on Thursday, April 2 at 7 p.m.

Kooser, a returning guest at Wayne State College, lives in Lincoln, where he is employed as an underwriter in an insurance company. A nationally respected poet, he is also editor and publisher of Windflower Press, a small publishing concern specializing in poetry. He has recently begun editing "The Blue Hotel," a poetry magazine. Kooser's poetry and criticism has appeared in numerous literary magazines. His most recent collection of poetry is "Sure Signs," which is, in the words of Karl Shapiro, "... a complete and mature work of poetry. There is little in contemporary poetry that can compare with it in excellence."
