

Exchange Students Visit Laurel

Big City Residents Enjoy Farm-life in U.S.A.

Life in a foreign metropolis is not always that much different from life in a small rural American community.

ALTHOUGH KIRSI RINDELL and Juan Pablo Avilan have traveled thousands of miles from their homeland, both find that their native countries have much in common with the United States.

Kirsi and Juan are foreign exchange students at Laurel-Concord High School. They are visiting and studying in the United States through the Youth for Understanding Program.

Kirsi Rindell

Kirsi is a 17 year-old senior from Helsinki, Finland, a city with a population of nearly half a million. She is staying with the Wallace Anderson family on a farm approximately eight miles north of Laurel.

WHEN KIRSI returns to Finland this summer she will have two years of school left before completing her education.

In Finland she says, an individual must attend school until age 16 and study 11 or 12 different subjects. Kirsi started school at age seven.

Finland's government is a republic. Kirsi said and the United States has a major influence on her country. People watch American television and movies and listen to American music.

Native languages are Finnish and Swedish, she said with a gentle Finnish accent. Climate in Helsinki is similar to that in Nebraska with cold and lots of snow during a normal winter and real warm summers.

Kirsi lives with her widowed mother, one brother and one sister in Helsinki. Her mother is an English and German teacher which helps explain Kirsi's ability to speak fluent English. Kirsi has studied English for eight years.

ALTHOUGH SHE says there are many differences between life in a big city and on a small farm, Kirsi points out that there is little difference between entertainment, friends, and food.

Kirsi, whose favorite class is chorus, said she came to the United States because she wanted to learn the language and visit our country. She hopes to travel to the west coast before returning home.

Helsinki is located near forests and lakes and Kirsi says she is only half an hour from the ocean. Sports in Finland are soccer, ice hockey and skiing. Top industries are wood and wood products.

When asked if she is homesick, Kirsi quickly shook her head and replied, "No, I'm not homesick. I like it here. And I just love my American family."

Juan Pablo Avilan

Juan is a 17 year-old senior from Cali, Colombia, a metropolis with a population of near two million. Juan, who graduated from school in Colombia, is staying with the Gary Lute family on a farm five miles west of Laurel.

COLOMBIA IS LOCATED on the northern edge of South America and Juan lives near the equator. Temperatures there are pretty hot all year he said.

Juan said that the main language in Colombia is Spanish but stated that American television and music are popular. Juan's home is about two hours from the ocean. Colombia has a democratic form of government.

Farm life is a change after living in Cali but Juan helps the Lutes with chores such as feeding cattle, pigs and horses.

In Colombia, Juan's father works for a company which produces automobiles and jeeps, his mother is a housewife. The main crops raised are coffee and bananas. Sports include soccer, golf and baseball.

WHEN JUAN leaves Laurel he plans to visit his brother who is attending college in Illinois.

Juan has studied English for six years and hopes to continue his education either in Colombia or at a university in the United States.

When asked what his favorite classes are at Laurel, Juan replied bookkeeping and woodworking and then joked, "I like study hall, too."

Juan, who has one brother and one sister, came to the U.S. to learn the English language and visit the country.

HE INDICATED THAT one of his favorite pastimes in his homeland is to attend bull fights which are held annually.

One of the big differences between Colombia and the U.S. is food. However, Juan says he likes the American food alright.

Colombia, has numerous mountains and beaches near Cali. People ride motorcycles and buses in the bigger cities. Juan said the driving age is 17 unlike 18 in Finland.

Juan seemed somewhat homesick but said he is having fun here and added that he likes his American family.

MAKING THEMSELVES at home in Laurel are foreign exchange students Juan Pablo Avilan and Kirsi Rindell. Juan is from Colombia and Kirsi is from Finland. Both are seniors at Laurel High School.

Wakefield Hospital Plans International Bazaar

The Wakefield Hospital Auxiliary will hold an International Heritage Food Bazaar on Saturday, April 4 at the Legion Hall.

The bazaar is among several activities which have been held since the beginning of the year as part of Wakefield's Centennial observance. The grand celebration is slated to be held in June.

A spokesman for the auxiliary said Wakefield's population is made up of a variety of nationalities and each will be represented at the bazaar.

AN ALL AMERICAN lunch and bake sale will be held in conjunction with the bazaar, beginning at 11 a.m. The lunch menu includes cornbread with syrup, link sausage, hot dog in a bun, apple pie and coffee. Contributions to the bake sale are welcome, including homebaked breads, rolls, ostakaka, etc.

THERE ALSO will be a number of "fingerfood" tables. The tables and their captains are:

Denmark — Mrs. Burnell Grosz; England — Mrs. Eleanor Park; France — Mrs. Norman Minola; Germany — Mrs. George Holtorf; Ireland — Mrs. Harold Olson; Italy — Mrs. Norman Minola; Korea — Mrs. Gary Mitchell; Mexico — Mrs. Duane Tappe; Norway — Mrs. Alden Johnson; Sweden — Mrs. Gordon Bard.

Anyone who would like to contribute to any one of the tables listed should contact the captain by Wednesday, April 1, so arrangements can be made. If there is a country not represented and someone would like to have a table they should contact Mrs. Marvin Muller by April 1.

A WAKEFIELD table also is planned where old interesting items, articles manufactured in Wakefield, old cookbooks, and any other type of Wakefield souvenir will be displayed.

Persons who have articles they would like displayed are asked to contact Margaret Pafferson by April 1.

ENTERTAINMENT also is being planned with Mrs. Russell Swigart in charge. The Centennial committee will have several Centennial items for sale.

Kindergarten Roundup

LITTLE MOLLY BURST, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Burst of Wayne, had a good time Friday morning during kindergarten roundup at the West Elementary School in Wayne. In addition to meeting children who will become her kindergarten classmates next fall, Molly demonstrated that she is a pretty fair colorer. Principal Dave Lutt said next year's kindergarten class will be the smallest in five years, with only 40 youngsters attending the morning and afternoon pre-registration sessions Friday. Personnel from the Educational Service Unit were on hand to screen the youngsters for speech and hearing. Mrs. Vi Hafman, elementary teacher, along with other school staffers conducted an ABC inventory, which is a pre-readiness test. Lutt said a highlight of this year's roundup was a film shown by the school nurse to parents of next year's kindergarteners emphasizing the importance of immunizing.

Fire Marshal's Office Reminds That Burning Ban is in Effect

The Nebraska State Fire Marshal's office Friday emphasized that a statewide burning ban is still in effect and warned that persons in violation of this ban may be fined.

IN CONTACT with The Wayne Herald, officials indicated that warning tickets will be issued to anyone burning without a burning permit. Anyone who has been warned and is again caught burning could receive a fine.

In order to burn without a permit, a person or business must have an approved incinerator. To obtain a burning permit, contact the local fire chief. The decision to issue a permit will be left up to his discretion. Each burning permit which is issued contains the burning date.

"WE ARE HOPING to get these fires slowed down and will be giving warning tickets," said Curly McDonald of the Fire Marshal's Office.

Anyone who sees someone who may be burning without a permit should report that person to the local fire department according to Fire Marshal officials.

Council Meets Tomorrow

The agenda has been released for this week's City Council meeting. The Council is scheduled to meet at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow (Tuesday) at the City Hall.

TOPICS OF DISCUSSION will range from a resolution on stop signs to consideration of a liquor license.

After the meeting is called to order, the Council will open discussion to visitors concerning the national electrical code.

Topics scheduled at 7:40 are an ordinance on energy conservation code update, a resolution on stop signs, a resolution on weed control, an electrical distribution system study, an agreement on purchase of real estate, appointment of a planning commission and a review of special animal permits.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION topics include a resolution on adjusting assessments in street improvement District No. 80-2 and a resolution on making assessments in street improvement District No. 80-3.

At 8:30, a public hearing is scheduled to discuss a resolution on a Class B liquor license.

Paul Harvey: 'America, She Ain't Perfect; But We Ain't Done Yet'

By Randy Hascall

"Americans are at their best when they have to be. America, it is time to have to be."

THOSE WERE the words of America's most popular and well-known commentator Paul Harvey, who spoke to a crowd of 2,000 at Norfolk Senior High School, Friday night. Harvey drew numerous rounds of applause from the attentive audience as he editorialized, joked and spoke on topics ranging from the attentive audience to energy to disease to his son Paul.

The guest speaker talked optimistically about energy of the future, discussing solar energy, nuclear energy and discovery of oil and gasoline in the deserts.

"PEOPLE ARE even using corn cobs now instead of throwing them away. Why didn't they use them years ago? Because oil was $2 a gallon," Harvey stated. "We might even discover the use of elbow grease, someday."

Harvey made about success and said that there are certain common denominators for success. "Inevitably," he stated, "success belongs to those individuals who get up when they fall down. We all fall down. The nations that deserve a place in the sun are those that get up when they fall down."

The commentator termed our homeland imperfect but added that land requires ceaseless renovation and repair.

USING RESULTS from a study conducted by Switzerland, Harvey told the audience that a test was done to determine the best place to live.

"Do you know what country they decided was the best place on earth to live? You're living in it," he said. "There is no place to run anymore."

"America, discovered in 1492, needs to be rediscovered. The Union born in 1776 needs to be reborn," Harvey said. "We have made considerable progress but certainly need to make much more, he pointed out.

Harvey reminded the audience of the increased progress in medicine by stating that many leukemia victims are now outliving their doctors. "Half of the hospital beds are filled because of smoking, drinking and venereal infection," he stated. "None of those are the fault of medical people. Self-discipline is the answer."

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE figures are deceiving according to Paul Harvey. He pointed out that the divorce rate is now unchanged and the marriage rate is up.

"The odds are one-in-three that rapture will be ruptured but the odds are so high because so many are repeaters," Harvey said as the audience responded with chuckles.

While speaking about news and the media, Harvey stated that it isn't wrong to tell the bad news. "Bad news is good news in reverse. A reader doesn't want to read about a rich man who is healthy and happily married. But if that rich man is diseased or divorced, the reader feels better off. He learns he is not as bad off as he thought; his problem is not so bad after all."

THE 60'S WERE a time when people decided to do their own thing, Harvey said. Then, when he visited Kent State campus in the 60's, Paul Harvey said he suddenly realized where "do your own thing" was leading — anarchy.

"The sons and daughters who did get through the 60's and realize the hazards of doing your own thing will be the strictest parents since Queen Elizabeth."

HARVEY, who had to fly back to Chicago for a midnight appointment on "The Larry King Show" Friday night, spoke to the crowd about taxes.

"Let me tell you why your taxes are so high: I'll give you 180 reasons. There are 180 different Federal welfare programs," he said. "If that Ralph Nader fellow really wanted to make himself useful, instead of barking and complaining about the Reagan administration budget cuts, he would turn his attention to the useless lead in the rear of 13 million goof-offs."

The patriotic speaker drew a hearty round of applause as he told the audience, "Farmers are about to move up in the bus and it's about time."

"THE YEARS AHEAD will be the greenest," Harvey predicted.

And he closed his speech by telling the audience about his favorite bumper sticker. It reads, "America, she ain't perfect. But we ain't done yet."

Paul Harvey, good day!

Wayne State Orientation in Norfolk

The Extended Campus Division of Wayne State College will hold an information-orientation meeting at Northeast Technical Community College in Norfolk on Monday from 7-9 p.m.

The meeting will take place in the Community Services Room and is being held to acquaint potential students with the educational opportunities offered by Wayne State. WSC faculty representatives will be on hand to answer questions.

The need for this meeting was established by an educational needs assessment survey conducted in Norfolk last fall which was developed by Dr. Cheryl Beamer, WSC director of Extended Campus Division.

The survey showed that there was a great need for a master's degree program in business administration in the Norfolk area. Nearly all of the persons interested in the program listed their reasons as career advancement, increased job performance or promotional advancement.

Foreigners Will Tour

Foreign students within the University of Nebraska Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources will have an opportunity to view various types of agricultural operations and new technology in Nebraska during a four-day tour in May.

Dr. Norman Tooker, assistant director of international programs at IANR, said about 40 students will participate in the tour May 11 to 20.

"The purpose is to give foreign students a better understanding of the state's agriculture and the kind of technology they can use or adapt for use in their own countries," Tooker said.

Communities that will be visited are Blair, Wakefield, Norfolk, Ericson, Dunning, Halsey, Alliance, Fort Robinson, Scottsbluff, Sidney, Chappell, Ogallala, North Platte, Curtis, Cozad, Holdrege, York, Aurora, Omaha and Nebraska City.

Several students from other states, including South Dakota and New Mexico also will join the tour, Tooker said.

The second largest market indicated by the survey was Human Relations, Counseling and Psychology. Social Problems, Family Problems and Data Processing also were popular fields according to Dr.

Beamer. For additional information contact Vernice Johnson, WSC Regional Coordinator in Norfolk at 371-8081, or Dr. Cheryl Beamer at WSC, Extended Campus Division, 375-2200.

OBITUARIES

Esther Bloom

Services for Esther Bloom, 79, Laurel, were held Saturday, March 28 at the Evangelical Free Church in Concord; the Rev. John Westerholm officiating. Burial was in the Concord Cemetery with the Wilts Funeral Home of Laurel in charge of the arrangements.

Esther Bloom was the daughter of Edward and Emily Magnuson Forsberg. She was born Aug. 1, 1901 near Laurel and died Thursday in the Wayne hospital following an extended illness. On Feb. 6, 1924, she married Adolph Bloom at her parents home near Laurel. The couple farmed in the Laurel area until retiring and moving into town. She was a member of the Evangelical Free Church and Women's Missionary Society in Concord and the Gideons Auxiliary.

She was preceded in death by one son, Dwaine.

Survivors include her husband, Adolph of Laurel; three sons, Wesley and Floyd, both of Laurel and Darrel of Denver; two daughters, Mrs. Wayne (Leona) Dykeman of Fremont and Mrs. Brent (Dorothy) Arant of Kansas City, Mo.; one brother, Joseph Forsberg of Laurel; two sisters, Phoebe Forsberg of Sioux City, Ia. and Mrs. Emil (Hannah) Carlson of Norman, Okla.; 15 grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren.

Palbearers were David, Bloom, Brian Bloom, Randy Bloom, Tim Bloom, Mike Arant and Dick Grosvenor.

Barton Jorgensen

Services for Barton Jorgensen, 29, of Allen were held March 19 at the First Lutheran Church in Allen; the Rev. David Newman officiating. Burial was in the Eastview Cemetery in Allen with the Bressler Funeral Home in charge of the arrangements.

Barton Lynn Jorgensen was born Nov. 2, 1951, in Sioux City, Iowa, to Mr. and Mrs. Homer Jorgensen of Laurel and died March 17 in a Sioux City hospital due to injuries suffered in a one-vehicle accident near the junctions of Highways 20 and 9 on Feb. 28.

He was baptized and confirmed at the First Lutheran Church in Allen and graduated from Allen Consolidated High School in 1970. He continued his education and graduated from the University of Nebraska Technical College of Curtis in 1973. He moved to Norfolk and was employed as a veterinary assistant at a veterinary clinic for six years. At the time of his death he held a position at the Dixon County Feed Lots.

He was preceded in death by one brother, Keith, who died in 1955.

Survivors include his parents of Laurel; two sisters, Mrs. George (Marsha) Cunningham of Fair Oaks, Calif. and Karen Robertson of Livermore, Calif.; and one brother, Mark of Allen.

Palbearers were Mike Roeber, Mark Roeber, Gary Troth, Jim Furness, Bill Sachau and Mark Hansen.

Energy Assistance to Low Income

The Nebraska Low Income Energy Assistance Program (LIEAP) has expended approximately $6.1 million in assisting some 20,000 low income households with their fuel costs this heating season, but the number of applicants is short of the estimated number of eligible Nebraska households.

LIEAP officials estimate at least 10,000 more households are eligible, but have not as yet applied for energy assistance.

Officials are uncertain whether the mildness of this winter or other factors are involved, but noted that other states generally are experiencing fewer applications for energy assistance than was anticipated.

Eligible households have until April 30 to make application and receive energy assistance either by direct payment or through their fuel supplier.

If a household's fuel bills are currently paid up, payment can be made directly to the applicant. If the household has an outstanding bill, payment is made to the supplier of the primary heating fuel — whether gas, fuel oil, electricity, coal or wood.

Energy assistance payments are averaging $300 per household and range from $98 to $750, depending upon household income, type of heating fuel and the three "heating" regions designated in the state.

The Federal Energy Assistance Program is administered by the Department of Public Welfare through its statewide network of County Welfare Offices, but this program is separate and distinct from public assistance programs.

Energy assistance eligibility is based on the Bureau of Labor Statistics Lower Living Standard Income Level for families and on the Community Services Administration's 125% of poverty guidelines for one person households.

The income guideline for a one person household is $4,738 annually. Income guidelines for large households are $7,220 for two persons, $9,910 for three persons, $12,240 for four persons, and $14,440 for five persons.

For households in the metropolitan area covering Douglas, Lancaster, Sarpy and Dakota Counties, the income guidelines are $200 to $400 higher.

Income guidelines for households with additional persons are proportionately higher. There is a special deduction for households with persons 60 years of age and older or with handicapped or disabled individuals. Also, a special earned income allowance may be deducted in eligibility determination.

All potentially eligible households should contact the local County Welfare Office or call the statewide toll free number of 800-742-7630 for detailed information regarding the program and eligibility and special circumstances guidelines.

Debate: Budget Cuts Are Preferred Over Tax Cuts

A funny thing happened to President Reagan on his recent visit to Capitol Hill to tell Congress of his dramatic new economic recovery program — a combination of massive cuts in federal expenditures and an across-the-board, 10 percent reduction in personal income tax rates.

To the surprise of many commentators, his budget cuts went over much better than the tax cuts. The cutbacks in government programs are receiving strong, bipartisan support in Congress and overwhelming endorsement of the public and from the business community.

But the tax reductions, which normally are politically popular, face trouble that could alter their final legislative form — and invite President Reagan's veto if he is convinced that the program would not bring down inflation by creating savings in the hands of the public to spur a strong economic recovery.

Old-line liberals and some of the economists whose policies helped create today's problems are among the chief critics of the Reagan tax plan. They charge it would create budget deficits and more inflation and favors the rich over the poor — the high income taxpayer over the low income groups.

This kind of debate is perennial in the Nation's Capital. But this time the tax tables are about to turn the table on the old-line liberals who did not worry about inflation when they pushed to use the tax system to redistribute income.

Advocates of the Reagan plan, such as Dr. Richard L. Leshner, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, have been quick to point out that under the 10 percent, across-the-board reductions, the tax savings will be distributed in approximately the same proportion as people pay taxes under our graduated system.

"It's true," says Dr. Leshner, "that there are people earning $12,000 who will average reductions of only $400 a year. But it should not come as a surprise that they get a smaller tax cut because the upper and middle income taxpayers pay the largest share of the taxes.

"If you are going to cut taxes," Dr. Leshner adds, "you have to cut taxes on those people and those organizations that are paying taxes. Over 90 percent of the taxes in this country are paid by people in the upper half of the income range."

Sen. William V. Roth, Jr. (R-Del.), an originator of the Reagan-type tax proposal, made the same point. In a recent speech on the Senate floor: "Middle-income taxpayers will receive tax cuts in proportion to what they are paying in taxes. In fact, middle income Americans, those earning from $15,000 to $60,000 a year, currently bear 66 percent of the Federal tax burden. They will receive 67 percent of the proposed reduction in taxes. In my judgment, this is an eminently fair tax cut."

What of the complaint that the plan is inflationary, which, ironically, comes from such economists as Walter Heller, who authored a similar and successful tax savings and incentive plan in the 1960's? Remember the oft-quoted figure of speech:

"A rising tide lifts all boats"? It was used by President Kennedy, speaking of how tax cuts faltered to increase business investment would help workers as well through creation of new jobs.

Dr. Richard W. Rahn, vice president and chief economist for the U.S. Chamber, maintains that fears of inflation due to the tax reductions are based on the "false" premise that the reductions will lead to more budget deficits. In an article in the Washington Star, Dr. Rahn observes:

"The whole idea that cuts are inflationary stems from confusion of tax rates with tax revenues. The two are not identical. Inflation-swollen incomes will automatically produce higher revenues, even if tax rates stay the same.

"Every major tax rate reduction in this century, starting with those first proposed in 1920, resulted in increased government revenues."

Including those initiated by Presidents Kennedy and Johnson — and Dr. Heller. But in the final analysis, it is not a question of tax cuts as such but whether the American public will stand endless gouging by inflation and high taxes. Federal revenues will still expand by $340 billion from 1981 to 1986 under the Reagan plan, based on budget projections. Without the tax reductions, the increase would be almost double. Can there be any question about whether the tax program is essential? Or equitable?

Picking the Best

You could look high and low in the government archives in Washington without being able to find a single set of authoritative guidelines on how to pick the best qualified people to run the government regulatory system.

None existed until recently. Thanks to a joint effort by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the American Hardware Manufacturers Association, you now can find a thick, paper-backed book, "Quality of Regulators," in the White House and in offices of U.S. senators who must vote whether to confirm appointees. The directory-sized book is the product of a months-long and unique study.

James M. Landis, former Harvard law dean and regulator in New Deal days, put his finger on the problem: "... good regulators can make poor laws workable; poor regulators will wreak havoc with good laws."

Scores of regulatory agencies in Washington cost the American public over $100 billion a year in compliance and paperwork expense. Top people are essential to prevent havoc.

The study, made by a consulting firm, Management Design, Inc., can be helpful in many ways. By formalizing the procedure for example, the search for qualified persons can be computerized. It will be possible to pick the likely political choices from an abundance of qualified people, rather than in place of a qualified candidate.

Now to get the guidelines used!

The Lessons of Great Britain Still Hold

Richard L. Leshner, President Chamber of Commerce of the United States

Remember all those warnings by conservatives a few years back that we were following Great Britain down the road to socialism, and eventual economic ruin? It was an argument socialist sympathizers at the time found hard to refute. The British welfare state was an economic mess, characterized by inefficient, nationalized industries, ballooning public sector expenditures, punitive taxation, rapid inflation, substantial unemployment, anemic growth, a plunging currency and a growing balance of payments deficit.

The human response to these failures was telling. Call it a brain drain, or talent drain, or people drain, but for years individuals of every stripe, from engineers, to doctors, musicians, athletes and ordinary working people were leaving merrie old England for more favorable economic surroundings. One problem, more than any other, caused them to flee: high taxes. In 1977, for example, personal income over $34,000 was taxed at a rate of 83 percent. Even a $21,000 family man with a modest mortgage could see 60 percent of a $1,000 raise eaten up by taxes.

Investment income was taxed even more heavily with a top rate of 98 percent.

But then came Margaret Thatcher. Elected in May 1979 on a platform to denationalize industries, freeze the growth of the bureaucracy, slash public spending and restore tax incentives to promote work, savings and investment, she seemed the angelic answer to every supply-sider's dream. It hasn't quite worked out that way. After nearly two years, spending and inflation is up, unemployment has almost doubled, and Mrs. Thatcher has come under fire within her own Conservative party. One Tory actually bolted the party altogether.

The interesting thing about all this is that American liberals now insist there is a new lesson from Great Britain: Supply-side economics does not work, tax cuts are inflationary and President Reagan should avoid making the same mistakes.

In defense of Mrs. Thatcher, who has more courage than most economists and politicians combined, she should not be burned at the stake for failing to reverse more than three decades of mistakes in just 22 months. But in defense of supply-side, personal tax rate reductions — the real object of the liberals' attacks — they have not been tried in Great Britain. To pretend they have is to be intellectually dishonest.

Despite certain adjustments in personal and investment tax rates, the overall tax rate burden in Great Britain has increased following a tremendous jump in the value-added tax and the introduction of other levies. The British are now told tax reduction must wait. Arthur Laffer, economic advisor to President Reagan and backer of his 30 percent personal tax rate reduction proposal, warned as early as October 1980, that by raising rather than reducing tax rates Mrs. Thatcher's policies would provoke a sharp recession. This is precisely what happened.

The lesson of Great Britain remains the same, and it also applies to the Nixon-Ford-Carter presidencies. Trying to balance the budget by raising tax rates only reduces private incentives. Reduced incentives discourage production, income growth, savings and investment. Slow growth increases unemployment and welfare, which, in turn, lead to new calls for more spending.

But liberals are never convinced. If high taxes caused so many British to flee their country, and if we suffer from these same problems, why, they ask, are so many people knocking down our doors trying to live here? That's easy. Countries like Cuba and Vietnam have no freedom, political or economic. Compared to these totalitarian dungeons, America is still a paradise. And compared to socialist countries like Great Britain, we still have a relatively lower tax burden.

Thus, we have no people drain. But we do have a capital drain. As taxes continue rising, Americans look for more and more ways to avoid them. Tax shelters for all income groups are now valued at $300 billion, and this amount is growing. Certainly not all of these investments are productive. Some estimates peg the size of the underground economy near $500 billion, and it is growing. Tax protests and outright cheating are also increasing. All this evidence should serve as a warning to us.

For heaven's sake, let's heed it. Punitive taxes in themselves never help those in need or provide more revenues to government. They merely force people with capital to look for shelters, to run away, or, ultimately, to give up and do nothing productive at all.

Coal Slurry Pipelines and More Water

NEBRASKA FARM BUREAU FEDERATION
By M.M. Van Kirk,
Director of Information

Some Nebraskans are concerned enough about protecting the state's water resources to ask questions about promotional development schemes such as coal slurry pipelines that would appropriate huge amounts of water from the region's underground resources.

For a number of years, promoters of the coal slurry pipeline idea have besieged legislators at both state and federal levels for legislation that would grant them the power of eminent domain to acquire access for routes across Nebraska and other states to transport coal in slurry form from Wyoming coal fields to power generation plants in Arkansas and Louisiana.

Lobbyists for these interests have attempted to lull the public with an inference that they were talking about "one pipeline" taking about 20,000 acre feet of water per year from the deep Madison formation in Wyoming. They also have claimed that the railroads couldn't possibly move all the coal that would be needed in the energy switch to coal, that a pipeline would help reduce railroad freight rates and eliminate the problem of trains blocking crossings, etc. Per suasive speakers say many things when billions of dollars are at stake.

Some Western Nebraskans are concerned about the continued pressure for pipeline development across the state. Mrs. George Iske, a ranchwoman from Marsland in Daves County, recently wrote as follows:

"I attended a 'Save Nebraska Water' meeting in Chadron, Neb. last night (March 5). It was about the coal slurry pipeline with Red Fenwick from the Denver Post as guest speaker. ETSI (Energy Transportation Systems, Inc.) wants to use water for 50 years from the Madison aquifer to carry powdered coal from Gillette, Wyo. to Arkansas and Louisiana.

"My late husband, George Iske, and I have attended quite a number of the pipeline meetings over the past 6 or 7 years with ETSI attending the meetings. ETSI always talks about 'The Pipeline.' When questioned about more than one pipeline in the future, they give an evasive answer. At one meeting I asked why they couldn't recycle the water and leave the deep water in this area for irrigation, stock wells and domestic wells.

"The answer was that the water was brackish and couldn't be used for anything, and it would be too expensive. Also they mentioned that extra water could be obtained along the way. At that meeting they said 'By killy cornering across Nebraska they could use some of the water from the meandering Platte River.'

"Taking Platte River water and lowering the river very much, would hurt the whole State of Nebraska.

"It seems back in 1974 before there had been much investigation the Wyoming Legislature agreed to let ETSI use the Madison water. In the meantime, it has been found the Madison water isn't brackish, but the 1981 legislators feel they should live up to what was agreed on back in 1974.

"I would like to know if this deadline couldn't be extended for one more year and let more study be done. If water in the Madison formation is lowered, water from above levels could leak down through faults in the earth and cause serious water shortages in Wyoming, South Dakota and Nebraska (Western Nebraska)."

There are plenty of people who will attempt to discredit the common sense questions raised by thinking persons like Mrs. Iske, people like the hired "experts" for the coal pipeline developers and those who want to mine uranium by the water injection process. Their idea of "progress" frequently is to develop and exploit without limitation and let future generations worry about how to clean up and undo the problems they invariably have left behind them.

To the Editor,
The History Book Committee of the Wayne County Historical Society wishes to thank the managers of the recent Home Show for donating a booth for our use at the Show. Special thanks go to chairmen Gerald Bofenkamp, Randy Surber and Tom Schmitz.
Having the booth enabled us to display samples of histories like the one we plan to produce, to hand out brochures, answer questions and take orders for our own book. We feel that being at the Home Show really helped our project.

Sincere thanks, then, to those who saw to it that a booth was made available to us.

Brown Bagging It

By the Unknown Columnist

Lost in Our Day-to-Day Shuffle

THE TIME is near that the editor's shoes will be filled and the rest of the staff at the Herald will be relieved.

Thus, it is time for a column that makes no more sense than its author. The unknown columnist crawled out of The Wayne Herald's air conditioning vent this week and asked if he could write a column. When he assured us that he would return to oblivion again when the column was published, we agreed.

So, here goes nothing. The unknown columnist will try his hand at one column and remain incognito for the rest of the years of his life.

EVER FEEL LIKE just crawling in a rat hole and sleeping for two or three days while people wonder what on earth happened to you?

This has been one of those weeks when I just can't believe some of the strange things that happened to me. If I were Superman I think I'd reverse the rotation of the earth to go back in time and start this week over again.

Now, I'm real familiar with flat tires. Since I've been driving I bet I've had more flats than Ronald Reagan has jelly beans. But, this week's flat was the lopper of them all.

While on rounds at Laurel, I discovered that my fire had lost every breath of air. It originally contained, I quickly changed tires, putting on my little inflatable jobbie that hides in the trunk.

Then, when I got back into Wayne I dropped the fire off at a station for repair. The attendant and I noticed a shiny piece of metal protruding slightly in one area. It looked like a nail had run over a large worn nail. However, when we picked up the repaired fire the next day, we were given a quarter inch allen wrench and told that was the culprit. An allen wrench, 5/16 inches long was buried in my steel belted radial. Only a fraction of an inch stuck through the tire. The rest was buried inside.

If you figure that one out, let me know.

PAUL HARVEY, everyone's favorite radio personality, held a press conference in Norfolk, Friday afternoon. If you want to call it that.

I had planned to leave Wayne at about 1:15 to attend the 2 p.m. press conference but got a late start because I was covering the area fires.

By the time LaVone Tienken of the Wayne State staff and I arrived at the conference, it was well underway. We made it to the brief meeting by about 2:15.

In this day of an energy crisis and gas prices reaching $1.40 a gallon, pain struck deep in my bilfold when the conference ended before 2:30. I had expected the conference to last at least 45 minutes and probably an hour.

Back at the office for the remainder of the day, I was about as pleasant as an upset stomach. After making the round trip and listening to answers to three questions, I kind of wished I would have stayed to watch the fire fighters in action.

On a reporter's salary! can barely afford to drive back and forth to work each day.

LET ME TELL you a story about Wayne Herald publisher Al Cramer. I doubt that he will run around town like Chicken Little to tell the whole community what he did.

Al carries with him at all times, a key ring with more keys than a centipede has legs. Every time he walks into the office, we can recognize him by the sound and shout out, "Good morning, Jingles."

Now poor Al was in a frenzy the other day. He couldn't find his keys anywhere, no matter how hard he looked. And he couldn't find the jacket in which he usually carried the keys.

Finally, just before he was ready to have a nervous breakdown, the cleaners called him on the phone and told him they found a bunch of keys in one of his jackets. It seems they accidentally picked up the jacket when they picked up the rest of Al's laundry at his house.

So it goes.

Young Couples Encouraged to Write Histories for Publication

The Wayne County Historical Society reminds young persons of the county that their family histories are as important as those of older citizens for publication in the new Wayne County History Book. Residents, young and old alike, are reminded that March 31 is the deadline for submitting stories for the book, however committee members will be working several days after that date and will not turn down late story arrivals. Following is the family history of Larry and Linda Carr, a young couple residing north of Wayne.

LARRY AND LINDA CARR

Larry M. Carr was born in Sioux City, Iowa on Jan. 1, 1951 to Maurice (Red) and Norma Ellis Carr. He attended school in Allen, Nebraska, graduating from Allen High School in 1969. He attended Wayne State College and Kearney State College and moved to Anchorage, Alaska in September of 1972. He returned to Wayne a year later, where his parents had moved their implement dealership.

LINDA M. (Penn) Carr was born in Wayne, Nebraska on Oct. 3, 1952 to Robert F. and Mavis D. Totusek Penn. She attended school in Wayne, graduating from Wayne-Carroll High School in 1970. She was graduated from Wayne State College in 1974 with a BA in physical education and home economics.

While in college she was active in sports, participating on the varsity squads of the volleyball and softball teams.

LARRY and Linda were united in marriage on December 29, 1973 in Wayne. In the spring of 1974 they moved to Denver and Littleton, Colo., where they resided for six years.

Of those six years in Denver, Larry worked for F. R. Orr Construction Company and the last year was a field technician and installer for Precision Vacuum Systems of Englewood, Colo. Linda was a homemaker and substitute teacher for the Jefferson County schools.

son County schools.

THEY HAVE two children, both born in Denver. Christina Joy was born on Aug. 5, 1974, and Jason Christopher on Jan. 17, 1977. While in Denver they were members of the Valley Baptist Church and served in many areas, dedicating their time to the ministries of the church.

ON MARCH 15, 1980, they returned to Wayne where they have joined the implement dealership with Larry's folks, Maurice (Red) and Norma Carr. Linda is a homemaker, a substitute teacher and co-leader of a mothers of preschoolers group. They are members of the First Baptist Church and active in various sports.

Fat Chance Only Dieting Will Take Off Extra Inches

There's only a fat chance that dieting alone will take off all those extra pounds and inches you're wanting to get rid of.

That's what the group of senior citizens and guests who attended their polluck lunch and my program on health last week were told. I just hope I convinced them.

ACCORDING to the last National Health Survey, there are 818 million pounds of excess body fat in men and 1.5 billion pounds of excess fat in women. That's a lot of energy waiting around to be released.

Doctors say that lack of exercise, rather than overeating, is the most important cause of obesity in our society. The problem is accentuated for the inactive elderly who have a decreasing metabolic rate, resulting in a need for even less energy and fewer calories.

HOWEVER, not very many people learn to change their eating habits as they get older. They continue to eat as they did when they were active and probably have more social situations at which to consume sweets. The result? Excess weight, possible obesity.

Obesity is more than a matter of personal appearance or discomfort. It increases the possibility of high blood pressure, atherosclerosis, gall bladder disease and diabetes in some people and aggravates conditions of cardiovascular disease and osteoarthritis in others.

THE SENIOR citizens attending the program agreed that one's later years present enough stressful and challenging situations, without adding poor health or immobilization to the list.

Medical authorities now recommend that weight reduction be accomplished by an increase in daily physical activity. Weight is lost when more calories are used than consumed.

Senior citizens should, of course, limit the intake of high fat and high carbohydrate foods in their diets, but they should also be encouraged to get as much exercise as they are capable of working into their daily agenda.

PHYSICAL exercise does not necessarily mean jogging or playing tennis. Walking is a very good physical activity — as is dancing, golf and calisthenics.

Exercise programs should begin slowly and with a doctor's approval. Short walks may be all one can handle in the beginning, but a number of short walks in a day or a week will burn up a fair number of those extra calories that are waiting around to be released.

GRADUALLY turn those walks into brisk strolls, then take up three wheel bicycle riding. From there, the sky's the limit!

Exercise makes a person not only look better but also feel better. Various organs of the body, particularly the digestive process, work more effectively with exercise.

Regular movement of the joints can slow down the onset or the development of arthritis, one of the most common and painful diseases associated with old age. Exercise also helps maintain good circulation and respiration.

GOOD PHYSICAL condition and mental health go hand in hand. Studies show that depression and boredom can be combated with a consistent exercise program and balanced diet.

The later years in life should be the happy years. But the full promise of retirement comes only to those who eat sensibly and remain active.

If you're still middle aged, start planning now for your later years. Your tennis game will be worth nothing if you can't get out of bed. Any form of exercise is beneficial in later life.

Keep in shape now and keep it into your eighties.

Winside Selections Announced

The Winside American Legion Roy Reed Post 252 and Auxiliary announced last week that Lisa Jean Jensen and Douglas Jaeger have been chosen to attend Girls and Boys State June 7-13 in Lincoln.

Lisa, a 17-year-old junior at Winside High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jensen.

In high school Lisa participates in W Club, sings in girls glee and mixed chorus, plays in band and stage band, and belongs to the National Honor Society.

She also is a cheerleader and has been active in volleyball and girls basketball. She belongs to Speech Club and recently appeared in the school play. She also took part in County Government Day recently in Wayne.

Lisa also is a member of the Helping Hands 4-H Club and Trinity Lutheran Church and Luther League.

Jaeger also is an honor student at Winside and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jaeger. His high school activities include football and wrestling, having qualified for the State Wrestling Tournament three years. He also plays Junior Legion baseball.

He served as secretary of his sophomore class and recently visited the office of the county commissioners during County Government Day held recently in Wayne.

Jaeger is a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church and serves as vice president of the Walther League.

Alternates to Girls and Boys State from Winside are Darla Janke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Janke, and Duane Suehl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Suehl.

Darla, 17, is a junior at Winside High School, where she is active in music, participating in band, stage band, swing choir, girls glee and mixed chorus. She is a member of the National Honor Society and the Fine Arts Club.

She has been a cheerleader for three years, is a member of W Club, and participated in volleyball and basketball. She serves as secretary for her junior class and recently participated in the all-school play. She also attended County Government Day in Wayne.

Darla is a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Winside and is president of the Lutheran Youth Fellowship group.

Another junior at Winside, Suehl is 16 years of age and is co-editor of the annual staff. He also belongs to swing choir, boys glee and mixed chorus, and is a member of Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne.

LCW Observes Birthday

The Wayne-Carroll High School swing choir and six students who performed in the school musical "Guys and Dolls" presented special entertainment during the annual birthday party of Lutheran Churchwomen (LCW) Wednesday afternoon at St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Thirty-one LCW members attended. Guest speaker was Thelma Moeller of Wayne who told about programs offered by welfare. A brief business meeting was followed with a lunch of dainty sandwiches and birthday cake. Hostesses were Mrs. Marvin Draghu, Mrs. Warren Baird, Beulah Bornhoff and Mary Martinson.

Esther Circle will meet April 3 at 2 p.m. at the church with hostess Mary Martinson. Leone Jager will give the lesson. Naomi Circle will meet in the home of Mabel Johnson on April 16.

The Evening Circle will meet April 27 at 7:30 p.m. at Wayne Care Centre where they will have a birthday party honoring Eljen Hansen.

Next general meeting will be at 2 p.m. April 22. Mrs. Verdel Backstrom will be in charge of the program, "Rejoice, Give Thanks and Sing."

'Easter in Germany' Program Presented at Senior Center

Edith Zahniser presented a slide program at the Senior Citizens Center in Wayne March 20, entitled "Easter in Germany."

She read scripture from John 3: 1-17 and showed slides of churches located in Trier, Fulda, Creglingen near Rothenberg, Regensburg, Dietranzell (Bavaria), Lubock, Berbir-East and West.

Mrs. Zahniser also displayed a typical German Easter breakfast setting, including handpainted Easter eggs.

Twenty eight persons attended her program and joined in group singing of "A Mighty Fortress is Our God" and "Bringing in the Sheaves," accompanied by Alma Splittergerber at the piano.

Mrs. Zahniser, who teaches German through the continuing education program at Northeast Technical Community College in Norfolk, left her native Germany for the United States 20 years ago. Her husband, Robert, is a German teacher at Wayne State College.

The Rev. Larry Ostercamp of the Wayne Evangelical Free Church conducted Bible study of Exodus 29 at the center March 23. Twenty persons attended.

Get well cards were signed and sent to Nellie Brockman and Dick Horton, who are hospitalized at Providence Medical Center.

Next Bible study of Exodus 30 will be at 2:30 p.m. on Monday, April 13. Persons attending are asked to bring their favorite translation of the Bible.

Beth Stalling, John Stapleton Allen's Girls, Boys Staters

Members of the Allen American Legion and Auxiliary last week announced their selections for Cornhusker Girls and Boys State to be held in Lincoln June 7-13.

Chosen to attend from Allen were Beth Stalling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Stalling, and John Stapleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Stapleton.

Des Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Craig Williams, was named alternate to Girls State. There is no Boys State alternate.

Miss Stalling is a junior at Allen High School, where she is active in volleyball and basketball, band and jazz band, chorus and Eagle's Club.

She is a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, where she sings in the church choir, serves as a Sunday school teacher and is a member of Walther League.

Stapleton, who also is a junior at Allen High School, participates in band, mixed choir, swing choir and football, and is a member of the Future Farmers of America chapter.

He is a member of the First Lutheran Church in Allen, where he sings in the church choir and is a member of the Youth League. He also is a member of the Lucky Lads and Lassie 4-H Club and a Junior Leader. His hobbies include, hunting, fishing, and all other outdoor sports activities.

Wayne Teams Make Strong Showing

The track season at Wayne High School got off to an explosive and successful start as the Wayne girls swept first place and the boys finished third in the Columbus Lakeview Invitational, Thursday in Columbus.

In the girls division, Wayne scored 96 points to nip David City Aquinas (89 points) for the title. In the boys division, Columbus Scotus captured first place with 100 points and Seward finished second with 95 points. Wayne sewed up third with 81 points.

Girls team standings: 1. Wayne 96, 2. Aquinas, 89, 3. Schuyler 62, 4. Albion 47, 5. Scotus 42, 6. Lakeview 39, 6. Seward 37, 7. Wisner-Piager 16, 8. Madison 7.

Boys team standings: 1. Scotus 100, 2. Seward 95, 3. Wayne 81, 4. Aquinas 72, 5. Schuyler 64, 6. Lakeview 56, 7. Albion 38, 8. Mt. Michael 14, 9. Madison 7.

Top finisher for the Wayne boys was Doug Proett who won the two-mile run and mile run. He set a new school record in each event.

His two-mile run time of 9:58.11 is the equivalent of 9:54.8 in the 3,200 meter run and breaks his own previous school record of 9:58.0 set last year.

Proett's winning time in the mile was 4:36.33 which is a new meet record and the equivalent of 4:34.8 in the 1,600 meter run. The previous 1,600 meter school record of 4:37.3 was also held by Proett. Wayne runners swept the top three spots in the mile.

Other outstanding performances were turned in by Tod Heier, Steve Monson and Pat McCright.

Heier won the 800, finished second in the 400 and led the mile relay team to a second place finish. Heier's winning time in the 800 was 2:05.72. He ran the 400 in 52.35 seconds, just one-hundredth of a second behind winner Tim Cielocha of Scotus.

Monson placed second behind Proett in the mile and two-mile. His times were 4:46.11 and 10:18.71.

McCright broke the school record for the high jump by clearing 6-0 and placing fifth in the competition. He also placed sixth in the 100 meter dash in 11.62 seconds.

Other individual place winners were Eric

Brink, fifth in the 120-yard high hurdles (:16.70), fifth in the 300 meter intermediate hurdles (:43.13); Henric Olsson, fifth in the two-mile run (10:40), third in the mile run (4:51.13); Jeff Baier, sixth in the 400 (:55.14).

Wayne's relay teams placed fifth in the 400, second in the mile and sixth in the two-mile.

Times are team members: two-mile relay (9:24.84)—Joel Mosley, Mark Hummel, Blaine Johs, Mark Kubik, mile relay (3:42.63)—Tod Heier, Eric Brink, Mark Hummel, Jeff Baier; 400 yard relay (1:47)—Pat McCright, Kurt Janke, Alan Lindsay, Jeff Allen.

The Wayne girls were led by Lisa Peters with first place finishes in the 400 yard dash and the 800 yard run. Her times were 1:03.26 and 2:31.21.

Sophomore Missy Stoltenberg also had a field day, placing second in the 100 meter dash (1:12.75), second in the 220 (1:26.8) and third in the 400 (1:06.60). Her time in the 220 is a new school record when converted to metric figures.

Jill Zeiss won the 100 meter hurdles in 16.65 seconds and Tracy Stoltenberg placed third with a time of 17.31. Jill Mosley placed third in the 220 in 27.79 and Fran Gross finished sixth in 29.15 seconds.

The Blue Devils also scored numerous points in the field events. In the discus, Jo Carlson placed fifth with a throw of 96 feet and Sarah Bliven placed sixth at 93.9.

In the long jump, Tracy Stoltenberg finished fourth (15.2) and Jill Mosley finished fifth (15.1). Kelly Bartholomas placed third in the shot put at 32.5'4" and Jo Carlson placed fourth at 31.8.

Wayne's relay teams placed fifth in the two-mile, second in the 400 and fifth in the mile. Times and team members: Two-mile (11:13.61)—Kris Proett, Kathi Sekinger, Julie Wiener, Lisa Peters; Mile (4:32.46)—Jill Zeiss, Julie Wiener, Jill Mosley, Lisa Peters; 400 (1:53.58)—Jill Zeiss, Jill Mosley, Fran Gross, Missy Stoltenberg.

Bucketeers Perform

THE BUCKETEERS pulled the old "water bucket" routine on the capacity crowd at Wayne State, Thursday night. Meadowlark Lemon's crew packed the house for two performances. The team even played a five minute exhibition against a Wayne State faculty squad.

Cats Win One, Lose One

Errors were costly as the University of South Dakota Springfield rallied to gain a split of games in baseball action against Wayne State, Friday.

Wayne fans could call the windy day "Schwartz Day" because of the super performance Bill Schwartz had. The Wayne native clobbered four homers and drove in 13 runs in the two games.

He now has a season batting average of .386, an RBI total of 32 and seven home runs for the season. He raised his batting average 53 points with Friday's performance.

WSC won the first game 17-0 on the 10 run rule but lost the nightcap 13-10.

Randy Frink was the winning pitcher in the first game although USDS had 13 hits and seven runs. The Cats trailed 5-3 after the first inning but scored four in the second seven in the fourth and three in the fifth to finish the game.

Leading hitters were Bill Schwartz with two home runs and seven RBIs, Mark Glatler with a homer, double and single in three at bats, Ken Murcek with three singles and Al Voigt with a homer, single and RBI in three plate appearances.

In the second game, USDS jumped on Wayne for six runs in the first inning. However, the Wildcats took a 9-6 lead in the bottom of the fifth inning. Springfield scored three runs in the sixth and four in the seventh to rally for the win.

WSC had 11 hits but committed four errors. Losing pitcher was Jeff Creamer. The hosts were paced at the plate by Schwartz with two homers and six RBIs, Chico Mason with two singles, Mike Meyer with a triple and single and Glatler with two doubles and a triple.

Wayne Recreation Teams

Sweep Sioux City YMCA Boys

Wayne's Rec teams swept the Sioux City YMCA teams in action Tuesday.

The Wayne eighth graders nipped Sioux City 45-43 in overtime. Steve Overin pumped in 26 points to lead the way for the winners. Other scorers: Rick Nelson, 6; Brad Moore, 4; Pete Warner, 4; Chris Wieseler, 3; Tod Dorsey, 2.

Overin hit 11 field goals in the final three quarters as Wayne broke an early 12-2 deficit to pull out in front 17-16 by half time. The locals led by one point at the end of the third period and were tied at all at the end of regulation.

Overin scored one field goal and added two free throws in overtime to seal the win.

The leading scorer for Sioux City had 23 points.

Wayne	2	15	14	10	4-45
Sioux City	4	12	14	11	2-43

In seventh grade action, Wayne dropped Sioux City 42-28.

Wayne was led by a three player balanced scoring attack. Don Larson scored 12, Don Gross scored 10 and Jon McCright scored 10. Other scorers: Shannon Dorcsey, 6; Corey Nichols, 2; Brent Pick, 2.

Wayne had a 10 point lead by half time and never let up.

Trojan Baseball Team

Will Rely on Youth

Considerable talent and experience is gone with last year's graduation but the Wakefield baseball team has a good group of younger players back.

The workhorse in the lineup will be junior Mark Starzl, who will be the number one pitcher this year. His record was 5-0 last season. When Starzl isn't on the mound he will be playing at the shortstop position.

Of the 16 players out for baseball, four are seniors and three are juniors. Returning seniors are Dale Phipps, right fielder and pitcher, Jeff Hallstrom, pitcher and second baseman, Bill Warren in left field and Jordy Sherer in center field.

Juniors in addition to Starzl are the Roberts brothers Keith and Kent. Keith is a first baseman and Kent is a catcher.

Sophomores are Mike Clay, Ted Tulberg, Tom Schwarden and Lee Peole. Clay will probably play at third base and the other three are outfielders. All of the seniors, juniors and sophomores are returning left fielders.

We lost our infield including our catcher. We have an awful lot of freshmen and sophomores to push for positions," coach Joe Coble said.

Freshmen who may see action are pitcher and shortstop Wayne Guy, second baseman Jeff Coble, outfielders Steve Peterson and Dennis Biggerstaff and infielder Troy Grove.

Blank spots this season are the condition of the field and the dropping of Ponca from the schedule. The field was seeded last fall but has suffered through a dry winter and it appears all home games will be scheduled on the road. Ponca has dropped its baseball program leaving four teams in Northeast Nebraska.

Coble termed his team's speed as no better than average, pointing out that Sherer, Starzl and Guy are the fastest players.

Pitching may be a strong point for the Trojans. Starzl will carry Wakefield in big games and the other pitchers will fill in during less important games.

Our outfield is tops. It has the most experience. Virtually every other position is untested," Coble stated. "All of our opponents have a lot coming back. Wayne, Laurel and Bancroft will all be fighting for the conference title. When Pfeiffer is on the mound, Wayne may have an edge. There is not a better pitcher in Northeast Nebraska."

Coble said that his team members have learned a lot of baseball during the summer and said that things should come around based on that alone.

"We have the potential to be a heavier hitting team this year. Phipps is our best offensive threat, Starzl is a bonafide hitter and Sherer gets big hits," said Coble. "Before the year is over, we will be heard from."

Season schedule: March 31—at Bancroft, April 9—Bancroft, April 10—Laurel, April 22—Wayne, April 24—Laurel, May 1—host Lincoln High, Lincoln East, 1:30, May 6—at Wayne.

Allen Track

Eagles Should be Strong in Mid-Distances

The Allen boys track squad should be strong in the middle and long distances this season according to expectations by coach Barf Kneiff.

Returning for the Eagles are state qualifiers Scott Carr and Robb Linateller who composed half of the state qualifying 400 meter relay team last year.

Allen is scheduled to open its season today (Monday) in a dual at Homer.

Carr will run the 100 and 200 meter sprints and participate in the long jump. Linateller will run the 100, 200 and 300 meter in intermediate hurdles. Kneiff said he expects Linateller to produce in the hurdles.

Three returners will run the middle and long distances. Pat Odersal and Marly Mahler will both run the 800, 1,600 and 3,200. Leonard Wood will run the 800 as well as triple jump and long jump.

Other returning lettermen are Jeff Chase in the 400 and pole vault and Mike Rhodius in the shot put and discus. Both are sophomores.

Another distance runner is sophomore Brad Stewart who will run the 800 and 1,600. He has been looking good in practice according to Kneiff.

Two other sophomores, Todd Jewell and Jody Mahler have been looking good. Jewell runs the high hurdles and 100 meter in intermediate hurdles. Mahler will run the high hurdles, 200 meter dash and 100 meter intermediates.

Other team members are Joe Ellis in the 100 and 200, Robby Ridge way in the 100 and 200, Ed Sturges in the 200 and 400, Dewon Roberts in the shot and discus, Doug Moore in the shot and discus, Deon Niece in the 100, 200 and long jump, Dennis Smith, Chip Young, Mike Hoffman and Keith Karlberg.

"I think we're stronger in the long distances. We are young with only two seniors and five juniors on the team," said Kneiff. "Our sprints are a little weaker now than Hanson (Lee) and Carr (Greg) have graduated. They were the bulk of our relay team."

The coach said that the team attitude is good and added that his team has chances of state qualifiers if the individuals keep improving like they have been. "I'm optimistic but it's hard to tell how we'll be."

Season schedule: March 30 dual at Homer, April 2—Laurel Concord Relays at WSC, April 13—Homer Invitational, April 21—Bancroft Invitational at Wisner, April 30—Winside Invitational, May 7—Conference meet at WSC, May 14—District meet at WSC.

Freshmen Will Be Key to Girls' Success

Allen coach Gary Troth doesn't have any real high expectations of his team but does expect to score in seven or eight events during a rebuilding year.

The Eagles will get their first test in today's season opener at Homer.

Of the 16 girls out for track, only two are seniors. Over half of the team members are freshmen.

Returning lettermen are Lisa Erwin in the 400 and 800 meter races, Dawn Kliver in the shot put and discus and junior Des Williams in the hurdles, long jump and 100 meter dash.

Troth said Erwin is looking fairly tough" this spring and added that Kliver is throwing well.

Des is one of four juniors on the squad. Others are Janet Peterson in the 200 and 400, Nancy Olsufka in the 200 and 400 and utility person Lisa Hansen. Linda Wood, another utility person, is the only sophomore out for track.

"The freshmen will have to pull some weight this year," Troth said. "With only three lettermen I don't know what to expect. We run into some tough competition."

Leading freshmen probably are Shelly Williams in the 1,600 and 800 meter races and Michelle Harder in the high jump and 400. Troth said that both girls are doing well this early.

Another top prospect is Tami Jewell in the long jump and 100 meter dash. Troth said he expects her to score in both events.

Other freshmen are Jeanne Warner in the shot put and discus, Julie Cole in the 100 and hurdles, Karma Rahn in the 100 and 200, Deanna Hansen in the 100 and 200, Kathy Niece in the discus and 800 and Lisa McDonald in the shot put and discus.

Troth predicted that his team could be strong in the relays. Some members of the various relay teams are not yet selected.

"Our meets are real strong so we don't expect to win any meets. We want to score in seven or eight events and we should score in the 20's at most major events," said Troth. "We plan to have a little fun and build the program up."

Season schedule: March 30 dual at Homer, April 2—Laurel Concord Relays at WSC, April 9—Wayne State Invitational, April 14—Homer Invitational, April 21—Beemer Invitational at Wisner, April 30—Winside Invitational, May 7—Conference Meet at WSC, May 14—District Meet at WSC.

Devil Golfers Improved

With one of the largest squads in recent years, the Wayne golf team appears to be improved and strong.

Coach Harold Maciejewski said that he feels he has enough individuals working each day to have a good golf team. "We should be better than in past years. We have enough people who like to play golf," Mac said.

One of the bright prospects is freshman Cole Froeschle. Although untested in high school competition, Froeschle has been golfing well and may earn the number one spot on the team.

Jeff Brandt and John Melena are veterans of the team who plan to again earn varsity positions. John Carhart could be a darkhorse according to Mac. Other golfers who look good early are Bill Vriska, Jeff Moore and Cedric Ellingson. Those golfers will probably fight for varsity positions.

Rudy Froeschle, Wayne Country Club golf pro, will be helping teach the Wayne golfers this year and has already videotaped them in practice. Mac feels this should help in individual golf games.

Wayne's golfers open their season tomorrow (Tuesday) at Oakland CC in a triangular against Oakland, Craig and West Point. After Tuesday, Mac figures he will get a better idea of what to expect from his team.

Other team members are: seniors Royce Anderson, Nick Sieler and John Bahns, juniors Larry Lueders and Rocci Schulz, sophomores Vincent Predoche and Lee Weander, and freshman Perry Benshoot, Layne Marsh and David Remer.

Season schedule: March 31—at Oakland, April 6—at Oakland, April 14—North Catholic and Hartington CC here, April 22—O'Neill Invitational, April 27—Oakland Invitational, May 1—Hartington CC Invitational, May 5—Schuyler and Hartington High here, May 8—West Husker Meet at Beemer, May 11—Districts at Grand Island; May 21—State Tourney at Columbus.

Laurel Track

Bears' Goal is to Finish in Top Half

The goal set by the Laurel boys track team for the upcoming season is to place in the upper half of the field in each invitational this year.

With 23 individuals out for track and 12 seniors composing the nucleus of the team, Laurel should have a respectable team.

The Bears are led by two returning state qualifiers, Todd Twiford and Matt Johnson. Twiford qualified in the shot put and discus and Johnson qualified in the long jump. Johnson will also run the sprints and triple jump.

Returning lettermen are Dave Reynolds in the 800, mile and two-mile; Jamie Johnson in the triple jump, 400, 800 and relays; Dan Luhr in the 400, 800 and relays; Curt Saunders in the 100, 200 and 400; Jeff Anderson in the 400 and relays; Arnie Christensen in the shot put and discus; Don Luhr in the 400, 800 and relays and Tod Heitman in the hurdles.

"We have fair depth but it's awful early to tell how we'll do," coach John Jonas said. "If we jell, we could have a pretty respectable season."

Jonas said his team doesn't really have one area that is particularly strong but pointed to the field events as one of the stronger areas. He added that sprinter Curt Saunders is working hard and had a good outing in a triangular at Winside.

"We would like to place in the upper half of each meet. If we have decent weather, some records should be broken here and all across the state," said Jonas. "We have been working outside much earlier this season."

The next test for Laurel is scheduled in the annual Laurel-Concord Relays at Wayne State College, Thursday (April 2). A total of 22 teams will compete in the relays this year.

Other senior members of the Laurel team are: Kevin Gotheier in the weights, Scott Sherry in the discus, Layne Johnson in the discus and Kevin Erickson in the sprints and relays.

Juniors are: Scott Haahr in the shot and discus, Scott Anderson in the middle distances, Jeff Nelson in the middle and long distances, David Hansen in the long distances and Kevin Frahm in middle distances.

Sophomores: Elliott Van Buskirk in middle distances, Mike Jonas in the 800 and relays, Shane Heydon in the 800, 400 and relays, and Lathan Asbra in the discus, 200 and 400.

Season schedule: April 2—Laurel-Concord Relays, April 10—Wayne State Invitational, April 15—Wakefield Invitational, April 21—Beemer Invitational at Wisner, April 30—Winside Invitational.

Girls Team Will Rely Mainly on Juniors

Juniors will lead the Laurel girls track squad this season. With 13 girls out for track, the nucleus will be formed by juniors.

Only four lettermen return for the Bears. They are Dee Maxon in the 800 meter run, Cyndi Jones in the 800 and 3,200 meter relay, Larrae Nelson in the 400 and 1,600 meter relay and Shelli Taylor in the 400.

Coach Gary Siepkas figures these four will form a solid nucleus. "Those events are what we can do exceptionally well," Siepkas said. "Last year we had a good two-mile relay team and we should be improved. The relay teams should be good."

Jayne Reynolds, another junior, will run the hurdles, a few sprints and compete in the long jump. Seniors are Chris Rhodes in the 1,600, Rhonda Bowman in the sprints, Karla Hermann in the shot put and Kathy Stage in the 1,600 and possibly the 800.

Other team members are: sophomore Patsy Thompson in the long-jump, sprints and possibly the 800, junior Alice George in the weights, junior Donna Rhodes in the weights and freshman Carla Stage in the shot put, discus and high jump. Siepkas said she is promising for a freshman.

"We should be strong in the relays and middle distances. I'm looking for some good times in the 400 and 800," Siepkas stated. "I'm really pleased with the way the girls have been working. We've been outside much more this year and everyone is giving 100 percent. If they keep going, we should have a real good year."

The Laurel coach said he hopes to qualify some members of his team for the state tournament and expects some state qualifiers.

"It's hard to do real well with only 13 girls but I'm optimistic because of the way they've been working. Four or five juniors should lead us to a good year. We're ahead of schedule," Siepkas added.

Season schedule: April 2—Laurel-Concord Relays at Wayne State, April 9—Wayne State Invitational, April 15—Wakefield Invitational, April 21—Beemer Invitational at Wisner, April 30—Winside Invitational.

Winside Meet Results

Coleridge swept boys and girls action in a triangular between Coleridge, Laurel and host Winside, Tuesday.

Boys scores: Coleridge 72, Laurel 54, Winside 53.

Wayne State Basketball Camp

The annual summer basketball camps are scheduled at Wayne State College this June.

The camp for grades 10, 11 and 12 will run from June 15 through the 19 and camp for grades 7, 8 and 9 is scheduled from June 22 through the 26.

Cost of the camp is $95 for week campers who will be housed on campus and $50 for day campers. A certified athletic trainer will be on duty at all times.

The camp will feature instruction from coach Rick Weaver, his Wayne State College staff and top area high school coaches. Play will be videotaped and individualized instruction will be given.

Recreational facilities available to the campers include six lighted tennis courts and an indoor swimming pool.

Habit Contest Place Winner

Kathy S. Lundin of Allen earned an honorable mention award in the annual Habitat Stamp Art Contest sponsored by the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission.

Lundin competed in the senior division of the contest and was one of five Nebraskans whose work was named a traveling exhibit.

The Senior category, which includes grades 9-12, was won by Todd Turner of Omaha. A repeat performer, he won the contest with a painting of a red fox. Other winners were from Primrose and Ainsworth.

Approximately 1,000 entries were received in the three categories this year. Paintings will be on display at the Commission's headquarters in Lincoln until late April when they will begin their tour of the state.

'C' League Playoff Set for Next Week

Team One clinched the bye in C League basketball playoffs by nipping Team Two in overtime, the final week of regular season play. Playoffs will begin Wednesday.

Final league standings: Team One 10-1, Team Three 8-3, Team Two 6-4, Team Six 5-7, Team Four 4-7, Team Seven 4-7, Team Five 2-9.

Team One 6-3, Team Two 5-7

In the game of the week, Team One edged scrappy Team Two in overtime.

A balanced attack in the extra period paced Team One to the win. The winners were led by Ric Wilson with 19 points, Morris Boockenhauer with 14 and Gene Casey with 10. Other scorers: Spangler, 8; Zeiss, 8; Dickey, 4.

Team Two was led by Jack Imdieka with 16 points, Kom Swarts with 12, Mike Carney with 10 and Darrell Doeschler with 10. Other scorers: Wessel, 7; Flowers, 2.

Team Two, led 16-10 after one quarter, 33-29 at the half and 45-44 before entering the final period, Team One tied the game and outscored Team Two 10 to 4 in overtime.

Team Six 7-4, Team Four 6-4

Bob Nelson burned the nets to lead Team Six to victory in Tuesday's second game.

Nelson put in 32 points including 19 in the second half. Lee Remer scored 14 for the winners. Other scorers: Carlson, 19; Sorenson, 8; Jerry Dorsey, 4; Enst, 4; Schumacher, 3.

Team Four had four players in double figures led by Bill Blecke with 17 points. Dick Dittman scored 15, Duane Blomkamp scored 13 and Marlon Arneson scored 11. Other scorers: Hammer, 6; Nichols, 2.

Team Three 5-5, Team Seven 5-2

Team Three held off Team Seven to post a three-point win, Tuesday night.

The winners were led by Dave Luff with 15 points and John Dorsey with 12. Other scorers: Kopperud, 9; Corbit, 6; Peterson, 2; Koerber, 1.

Only four players scored for Team Seven but all four scored in double figures. Don Sherman and Hank Overin scored 16 points each and Jack March and Phil Kloster scored 10 points apiece.

The difference in the game was free throws. Although Team Three was cold at the line, the winners did score 13 points in 28 attempts. Meanwhile, Team Seven made only three trips to the free throw line and made two.

Wednesday's playoff schedule: 7 p.m.—Team 4 vs. Team 7; 8 p.m.—Team 2 vs. Team 6; 9:15—Team 3 vs. Team 5. The first round-by game goes to Team One.

'B' League Basketball Race Continues

The two-way race for first place continued in B League basketball this week as Teams Five, Two and One earned wins.

B League standings: Team Five 9-1, Team Two 8-2, Team Three 4-5, Team Seven 4-5, Team Four 3-6, Team One 3-6, Team Six 2-8.

Team One 7-3, Team Seven 6-5

Four players scored in double figures as Team One put together a strong finish to dump Team Seven.

Leading scorers for the winners were Don Pearson with 21 points, Robinson with 17, Mike Looft with 16 and Bob Kruger with 11. Other scorers: Olson, 4; Burst, 4.

Team Seven was led by Dan Vodvarka with 20 points and John Jorde with 19. Other scorers: McQuistan, 8; Burst, 8; Eynon, 6; Wieland, 4.

The score was tied after the first quarter and Team Seven gained a four-point advantage by the half. However, Team One tied the game by the end of the third period and pulled away for the triumph.

Team Five 7-4, Team Three 4-9

The hot shooting of Rod Erwin tied Team Five to an easy win over Team Three.

Erwin scored 32 points, Jim Erwin scored 11 and Bob Ridings scored 10 for the winners. Other scorers: Stroh, 9; Jarvi, 8; Ellis, 6.

Team Three was paced by Bruce Johnson with 24 points and Breck Giese with 18. Other scorers: Peterson, 3; Anderson, 2;

Team Two 7-8, Team Six 6-0

With four players scoring in double figures, Team Two didn't have much trouble putting away Team Six in Tuesday's finale.

Tony Peters led all scorers with 22 points. Brent Johnson scored 16, Tom Erwin scored 14 and Nick Danze scored 10. Other scorers: Dunklau, 8; Hansen, 6; Pankaskie, 2.

Team Six was led by Mark Flier with 20 points, Randy Workman with 16 and Gary Leach with 12. Other scorers: Langenberg, 8; Jones, 4.

Tuesday's schedule: 7 p.m.—5 vs. 6; 8 p.m.—3 vs. 1; 9:15—4 vs. 7.

Erwin is Selected to All Star Classic

The Nebraska Coaches Association's girls All-Star Committee has selected 24 seniors to participate in the 1981 NCA/Coca Cola Basketball All-Star Classic.

Among those 24 is Lisa Erwin, 5'9 forward from Allen High School. She averaged 17.6 points and 10.3 rebounds per game. Lisa will be a member of the north squad.

Players from across the state were nominated by their coaches in January. The final selections were made by the All-Star Committee after the state tournament.

Also selected by the committee were the All-Star coaches. Heading the North team will be Henry Willemson of Lincoln Northeast. He will be assisted by Randy Carpenter of Lexington. Head coach for the South squad will be Bill Paar of Ashland-Greenwood. His assistant will be Ken Cook of Adams.

The Classic will be played at the Omaha Civic Auditorium on Saturday, July 11. The 1981 Classic will be the second double-header featuring both a boys game and a girls game.

The Classic is sponsored by the Omaha Coca Cola Bottlers and will be produced by the NCA and the Greater Omaha Chamber of Commerce Sports Committee.

North All-Stars: Tammy Barth, S-E-M (D); Lisa Erwin, Allen (D); Nancy Gogan, Ord (B); Stacy Jakubowski, Howells (C); Cindy Jelinek, Lincoln Northeast (A); Celine Jochum, North Platte (A); Ann

Lazure, Omaha Cathedral (C); Sue Peter, Grand Island (A); Lisa Phipps, Lincoln High (A); Jackie Rauert, Grand Island Northwest (B); Lana Torczon, Columbus Scotus (B); Anne Wilcox, Omaha Marlan (A).

South All-Stars: Jeri Carlson, Kimball (B); Ann Edmunds, Lincoln East (A); Jane Foster, Papillion (A); Tracy Fricke, Millard (A); Karen Gerdes, Hebron (C); Keri Giles, Kearney (A); Vicki Harlan, Odell (D); Julie Hermann, Nebraska City (B); Janee Pannuk, Ashland-Greenwood (B); Rita Ransey, Omaha Bryan (A); Tammy Smedjir, Crete (B); Beth Vivian, Omaha Westside (A).

Wayne Rec Boys Split With Fremont Teams

Wayne's eighth grade recreation basketball team defeated the Fremont YMCA 41-35 Saturday in Fremont. Wayne's seventh grade lost to a tough Fremont club 49-41 in the other matchup.

In eighth grade action, Steve Overin scored 20 points to lead Wayne to the victory. Kevin Malys scored seven, Rick Nelson scored six, Chris Wieseler scored four, Pete Warne scored two and Steve Peterson scored two.

Wayne led by six or seven points in the first two quarters and jumped to an 11-point lead after three periods. Behind a strong fourth quarter performance by one Fremont individual, the YMCA closed the final margin to six points.

Wayne 8th 12 7 10 12—41
Fremont YMCA 6 6 6 17—35

In the seventh grade game, Wayne couldn't overcome a 30-point performance from a Fremont player named Gdowski.

The locals led 13-11 after the first quarter but fell behind by half-time and couldn't quite catch up.

Don Larsen scored 11 points to lead Wayne. Other scorers were Scott Baker with eight, Dan Gross with seven and Jon McCright with seven. Other scorers: Brent Pick, 4; Tom Perry, 2; Shannon Dorsey, 2.

Meyer Grandson, State Champion

Jerry Meyer, 12 year-old son of former Wayne High athlete Don Meyer, is a member of a team of eleven 12 year-olds from Nashville, Tenn. which won the 14-team state tournament at Knoxville.

In the championship game, Jerry scored 20 of his team's 40 points in a 40-38 win. He had 44 total points in the three-game tourney.

His dad is head basketball coach at David Lipscomb College of Nashville and was a small college All-American in basketball at the University of Northern Colorado at Greeley.

Players for the state tournament all-star teams are selected at the end of the school year and practice for the state tourney.

Jerry is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Don Meyer of Wayne.

Wayne Baseball Season Opens

One of the most-proven pitchers in the state is back to lead the Wayne Blue Devils in the baseball season this spring.

Tim Pfeiffer, who performed well in high school and Legion ball last year, will be the mainstay of the Wayne squad.

The Devils are scheduled to open their season Wednesday against Brainard East Butler on the Wayne State field.

Other chief players are: returning lettermen Kevin Nissen, Todd Skokan, Brian Fleming, Todd Pfeiffer and Jeff McCright. Nissen will catch and pitch; Skokan will play first base, Fleming will play left field, Pfeiffer will play at third base and McCright will play outfield and catch.

Other players who are expected to move into starting positions are Jim Sperry, a shortstop and pitcher, Shaun Nieman, a sophomore right fielder and Todd Schwartz, a sophomore second baseman who can also catch.

The bad break of the season is the loss of solid infielder Jere Morris. Morris is suffering from a bad case of mononucleosis and was confined to the Pender Hospital. According to Wayne coach Mike Mallette, the senior probably won't play this year unless he sees limited action toward the end of the season.

The rest of the Wayne squad is made up of sophomores: Jeff Jorgensen, Steve Reithwisch, and Shaun Dorsey and freshman Pat Melena, Brendan Dorsey, Randy Gamble and R.J. Mettzer.

"This year, I think the teams in the conference are a toss-up. Laurel and Bancroft will both be tough and Wakefield with Startz can't be counted out," Mallette said. "It's just that kind of year that if we don't play well, it will be easy to lose."

Mallette termed Brainard tough with most of its squad returning and added that the Lincoln schools are always tough while considering his upcoming schedule.

"I would hate to pick a conference favorite, it's up in the air," Mallette said. "Some of our players have to mature if we are going to have a good team. It will be a very interesting year and we must fight for everything we can get but we can beat anyone if we play well."

All home games will be played at Wayne State this season due to renovation of the city ball park. All games are scheduled at 4 p.m. unless doubleheaders are planned.

Season schedule: April 1—East Butler here; April 3—at Bancroft; April 8—at Laurel; April 13—Bancroft here; April 15—Laurel here; April 22—Wakefield here; April 27—Boys Town here; 2:30, May 1—at Lincoln East; High 1 p.m., May 6—Wakefield here.

CHIEF your best building buy!

See your Chief dealer and compare Chief quality with pole, conventional and other steel buildings. You'll find Chief is your best buy. Our doors are big enough to handle the largest equipment. Yet they're easy to handle. Our Clear-Span Interiors have no poles or obstructions, no trusses to cut overhead space. Chief gives you premium 26-gauge wallsteeling with paint so tough it goes on before we roll form it. Not 29-gauge steel and ordinary paint. Chief buildings are easy to erect and expand. So easy, you can do it yourself for greater savings. See your Chief dealer and compare. You'll agree that Chief is your best building buy. Do it today.

LOWER ELKHORN NATURAL RESOURCES DISTRICT

LANDS FOR CONSERVATION

Lower Elkhorn Natural Resources District is once again offering landowners $40.00 per acre payments for constructing terraco systems during the summer months.

Construction of conservation practices has always conflicted with normal farming operations because of timing. Dirt moving work can only be done when the ground is not frozen. This generally leaves a short time in the spring before field work and in the fall after harvest, when conservation work can be done. During those times earth moving contractors are very busy, but the summer months are usually not so busy.

By encouraging landowners to do conservation work in the summer months, we may eliminate some of the conflicts. Contractors will have a steadier workload for a longer period of time, which should result in more conservation practices on the land.

PROGRAM RULES

1. The program will be on a contractual basis between the landowner (cooperator) and the NRD for one year while conservation practices are being established. Signups should be by April 1st at the appropriate local SCS Office.

2. Level terraces with outlets, gradient terraces with grassed waterways, and terraces with tile outlets qualify for this program. Terraces and waterways must be seeded during the contract period.

3. SCS personnel will design terraces with waterways or tile drains. These practices must protect the entire field on which they are established, however, the area under contract will be the smallest practical area to encompass the practices, as agreed with the cooperator.

4. The terraces with waterways or tile outlets may be cost-shared through the ACP program administered by ASCS. If these funds are not available, or if the total cost is too high, cost sharing can be obtained through Lower Elkhorn NRD's Land and Water Development Assistance Program.

5. Construction must be done between June 1st and September 1st, and the field may be planted to cover or a small grain crop, preceding or after construction. The crop or cover may be harvested or pastured during the contract period.

6. Land under this contract must be farmed on the contour.

7. Maximum contract area for any operating unit will be 60 acres.

8. Conservation cropping system must be carried out that keeps soil loss down to permissible amount under SCS formulas.

9. The landowner will contract for the construction of terraces, waterways, tile outlets and any other necessary construction.

10. Terraces, waterways and tile outlets must be maintained for 10 years or as long as the current owner has control of the land, whichever is less.

$40 per acre payments are available for building terraces during the summer months.

WILDLIFE HABITAT PAYMENTS

Landowners in the Lower Elkhorn NRD may still sign up for payments up to $50.00 per acre for establishing wildlife habitat. The $50.00 payments apply to stripcropping practices using oats and sweetclover or grass mixtures in farmed crop ground. The area between strips should still be row crops.

Block plantings of oats and sweetclover or grasses are eligible for $30.00 per acre payments.

Protection of existing habitat including grasses or trees pays $7.50 per acre.

Besides the basic payments, the Lower Elkhorn NRD also offers a $25.00 per acre payment for ground preparation, reimbursement for the cost of seed and trees, and a payment for allowing public access.

For more information or to apply for the program contact your local SCS office.

CONSERVATION COST SHARE ASSISTANCE

The Lower Elkhorn NRD is again offering cost share assistance to landowners for constructing dams or terraco systems. This cost share assistance is at the same rates (usually 75%) as ACP funds administered by local ASCS offices. NRD funds may be used if ACP funds are not available or are not sufficient to cover the project.

Local SCS personnel design and lay out the projects to be cost-shared and assist landowners in applying for cost share funds.

For more information or to apply for the program contact your local SCS office.

NATIONAL WILDLIFE WEEK

The week of March 15-21 has been declared "National Wildlife Week." The theme for this year is "We Care About Oceans."

The National Wildlife Federation has been sponsoring Wildlife Week since 1938. This year the Federation has again developed a packet of learning materials and have distributed about 400,000 of these.

Although the theme "We Care About Oceans" may be a distant one to us in Nebraska, it can still serve to remind us of our own environmental problems. We all know that wildlife numbers have been decreasing in recent years, due primarily to losses of proper habitat.

The Nebraska Game & Parks Commission is giving everyone a chance to do something about our habitat problems. This week, the "Recycle for Wildlife" campaign will credit the Wildlife Habitat Program for aluminum cans and newspapers turned in at approved centers. Every $7.50 worth of material turned in buys a habitat stamp which can provide habitat for wildlife. For more information contact a Nebraska Game & Parks Commission office.

Board of Education Gives Go Ahead to Rebuild Marquee

The Wakefield Board of Education has approved the rebuilding of the school marquee that was destroyed by vandals in January.

The structure will be built 2 to 2½ feet higher than the original one so that it can be seen above cars parked in front of it.

Willie Nixon Construction will build the marquee at its original location.

Special permission was asked for the use of the area on the south side of the practice football field for a horse pulling contest to be held on June 28 during Wakefield's Centennial. The group is now discing and sowing grass on the slope south of the track and will restore the track to its original condition following the contest.

Waitresses, Waiters

Waitresses and waiters have been selected to serve during the Junior Senior Banquet to be held May 2 at the Wakefield Schools.

Waitresses are Cheryl Engstedt, Cristy Hings, Jean Lutz, Becky Pretzer and Renee Wensfrand. Waiters are Mark Borg, Mike Carlson, Rod Nixon, Paul Schopke and Brent VanderVeen.

Spring Adult Classes

Three Adult Education classes began the week of March 16 at the Wakefield Community Schools. The classes are held in cooperation with Northeast Technical Community College in Norfolk.

A three week course in Spring Decorations, taught by Marian Hofeldt, is being held in the Art Room on Monday evenings. Kathy Zielke, teacher of home economics, is the instructor of a five week course in knitting on Tuesday evenings. Those who wish to learn how to crochet enrolled in a class on May 19. Mrs. Connie Utecht, school book keeper and secretary, is the instructor of this class.

Girls' Basketball Supper

The annual Wakefield girls' basketball supper was held on Tuesday evening, March 17. The senior mothers were in charge of organizing the event.

A potluck dinner was held for all players, coaches, student managers, and their families.

Following the potluck dinner, the girls played basketball in the gym. Those senior girls who completed their last season of basketball are Joan Miller, Connie Tullberg, Coleen Neuhaus and Teri Schwarden.

Dennis Wilbur was this year's basketball coach.

NHS Consultant

Mrs. Mary Ellen Sundell, teacher of English at Wakefield High School, met with a council of six secondary faculty members at Laurel Concord High School on Monday, March 17.

Mrs. Sundell acted as a consultant in establishing a National Honor Society (NHS) chapter in the Laurel School.

Mrs. Sundell has been the NHS sponsor at Wakefield High School since 1967. In that time, the organization has initiated 111 members. Currently the group gives a grant in aid to one of the senior members each spring. The organization also elects an honorary member from the faculty or community each year.

We acknowledge Laurel in the establishment of a National Honor Society in their school, and wish them well in all the years to come.

'The Boy and the Goat'

Several youngsters in the local school Spanish class presented the play "El Muchacho Y Nel Chivo" or "The Boy and the Goat."

Members of the cast included Shelley Nettleton, Stephanie Torczon, Tom Crossdale, Kelly Lawson, Dawn Boatman and Craig Anderson.

The play dealt with various animals who tried to pull a stubborn goat home.

Spanish classes presented five short plays on Friday, March 13. The presentations were made in the multi-purpose room of the elementary building.

The theme of the program was "Habia Una Vez" or "Once Upon a Time." Parents and friends of the students were invited to attend, and Mrs. Olga Tappe, instructor, was in charge.

We are very proud of our few Spanish students and the activities they have participated in.

S-P-E-L-L-I-N-G BEE

We extend a Big Congratulations to Marcia Nelson, our annual spelling contest winner.

Marcia was named the Dixon County Champion and will advance to compete in the Midwest Spelling Bee in Omaha on April 4.

The Wakefield Republican presented Marcia with a $25 US Savings Bond. Susie Stout, the runner-up, was presented with a dictionary courtesy of the Wakefield Republican. The sixth grade winner was Shelley Nettleton, and the fifth grade winner was Kelly Fredrickson. Cash prizes were given by the Republican to the top speller of each participating grade.

Students in grades five through eight competed in the Spelling Bee held at the school on March 19. Duane Tappe pronounced the words to the spellers and the teachers served as judges.

"Thank you" to everyone who helped in any way and especially the teachers who had them well prepared.

Speech Class to District

The Wakefield High School speech class attended the district meet at Northeast Technical Community College in Norfolk on Friday, March 20.

Mrs. Betty Heier, instructor, said the students received either good or excellent ratings. She said there were 33 schools represented and the judging was very tough.

Participating were Jonathon Stelling, Steve Warren, Deb Wageman, Lisa Meier, Bill Warren, Jean Lutz, Angie Stout, Trudy Hansen, Jean Tullberg, Hayley Greve, Kandy Kinney, Connie Tullberg, Joan Miller, Heidi Munson, Jeff Hallstrom, Randal Barge, Keila Lund and Sonja Portwood.

Woodwind Quintet

A concert presented by the Midlands Woodwind Quintet was held Saturday, March 21, at 8 p.m. at the Wakefield Community Schools.

Members of the Quintet are John Boden horn, John Zeigler, clarinet, Mark Kelley bassoon, Barbara Leibundguth, flute, and Brian Ventura, oboe.

The Wakefield Community Club sponsored the event. The program was made possible through the Nebraska Arts Council and the National Endowment for the Arts. Selections by Charles Lefebvre, Paul Hindemith, Igor Stravinsky, Ferenc Farkas, and Johann Bach were presented.

The public was invited to attend the event which was most wonderful.

FHA Supper

The Future Homemakers of America served a sandwich supper at the school on March 21 in conjunction with the Woodwind Concert and the Centennial Art Show.

The chapter served barbecued sandwiches, potato chips, bars and beverages. Advance tickets were sold by the FHA members.

Officers are Carla Meier, president; Deb Wageman, vice president; Trisha Willers, treasurer; Michelle Meyer, parliamentarian; Teresa Biggerstaff, secretary; Keila Lund, historian; Bonnie Harrison, counter chairperson; Catherine Russell, recreational chairperson; Susan Baker, publicity chairperson; and Deb Meyer, song leader.

The FHA wishes to thank all who attended and helped to make the evening an enjoyable one.

Centennial Art Winners

Approximately 20 adults and 250 students entered the Centennial Art Show and Contest held on March 21 at the local schools.

The show was held in conjunction with the Woodwinds Concert and the FHA supper.

Prizes were awarded in four divisions: adult, senior, junior and primary.

In the adult division, Sam Leonard took first prize for his painting of a winter scene. Warner Erlandson placed second, and Jan Johnson was third.

In the primary division, Kyle Torczon, a second grader, won first. Kristen Miller, first grade, was second, and Kenny Addink, third grade, was third.

Jody Navrkai took first place in the junior division. Tim Schwarden, fifth grade, was second, and Kirt Roberts, seventh grade, was third.

Heidi Munson, a senior, was the top winner in the senior division, followed by Connie Tullberg, 12th grade, and Jeff Hallstrom, 12th grade.

Special awards went to Lynn Anderson, fifth grade; Kristi Coble and Kristi Miller, seventh grade; Connie Tullberg and Jeff Hallstrom, 12th grade; Sonja Portwood, ninth grade; Joedy Shery, 12th grade; and Diane Row and Warner Erlandson.

Others from this area entered in the adult division included Evelyn Johnson, Nellie Johnson, Martha Prochaska, Margaret Paulson, Bonnie Clay, Marie Pretzer, Rae Brown and Sandra Parker of Hubbard.

Pearl Hanson, art instructor at Wayne State College, served as judge. Mrs. Jackie Ditman, art instructor at the local school, was in charge of the event.

Congratulations to the winners and a big "thank you" to all participants, judges, and to Jackie Ditman.

Patriots to Workshop

Members of the musical group, The Patriots, from Wakefield High School participated in a workshop at Coteridge High School on Monday, March 23.

Those attending were Penny Miller, Teri Schwarden, Keila Lund, Renee Wensfrand, Angie Stout, Coleen Neuhaus, Randal Barge, Brent Kahl, Jonathon Stelling, and their instructor, Mrs. Diane Trullinger.

The Touch of Class from Nebraska Wesleyan at Lincoln was in charge of the day's events. At 7:30 p.m., a concert was held in the school auditorium. Each school performed a selection as did The Touch of Class. There also was a number which was performed by the combined groups.

Other schools participating were Coleridge, Wausa, Randolph, Winside and Pender.

Boys' Basketball Supper

The annual Wakefield boys' basketball supper was held on Tuesday evening, March 24.

A potluck dinner was held for all players, coaches, student managers, cheerleaders, and their families.

Those senior boys who completed their final season of basketball are Jeff Hallstrom, Jim Urbanec, Brent Kahl and Dale Phipps. Coaches are Ernie Kovar and Robert Nissen. The Wakefield High School Athletic Director is Lyle Trullinger.

We congratulate the boys on a fine season.

FBLA Meeting

The Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) held a meeting on Tuesday evening, March 24. The guest speaker was Merlin (Lefty) Olson, Mayor of Wakefield.

Lunch was served and games were played.

The FBLA is selling special frisbees for $2. A frisbee throwing contest will be held at 1 p.m. on Saturday, April 11.

Officers of the Wakefield FBLA are Jodi Greve, president; Duane Witt, vice president; Hayley Greve, secretary; Vaughn Nixon, treasurer; Shelley Paul, news reporter; Holly Meyer, historian; and Cristy Hings, parliamentarian.

Tour Day Care Centers

The Family Living Class and their instructor, Mrs. Kathy Zielke, visited Waldbaum's Day Care Center on Tuesday, March 24.

Sharon Boatman spoke to the class on the duties of taking care of small children at the center. A tour was taken and the students look advantage of the opportunity of talking with and observing the workers and the children.

On Thursday, March 26, the Family Living Class visited The Raggedy Ann and Andy Preschool. Mrs. Mardelle Salmon spoke to the group and they once again observed the children and their surroundings.

The class is studying the care of infants and small children.

Those attending were Teresa Nettleton, Penny Miller, Nancy Dais, Deb Foote, Lucia Rodriguez, Cindy Ballard, Christine Ballard, Jim Urbanec, Randal Barge and David Stelling.

Conferences Held

Parent Teacher Conferences were held at the school on March 27. Parents of the elementary students met with the teachers on the evening of March 26 and all day, March 27.

High school conferences were held on Thursday, March 26, from 7 to 9 p.m. Report cards were sent home with all students on March 26.

The high school conferences are intended for parents of students who are encountering academic problems.

There was no school for students on Friday, March 27, as the high school teachers participated in a Learning Disabilities Workshop and the elementary teachers conducted conferences.

School was dismissed at 2:30 p.m. on Thursday, March 26, to allow the teachers to prepare for the conferences.

Senior Play

"Blithe Spirit" by Noel Coward was presented by the senior class of Wakefield High School on March 26 and 27. Each performance began at 7:30 p.m.

Directors of the play were Mrs. Dan Bard and Maura McCune. Teri Schwarden was the student director who assisted them.

The plot tells how novelist Charles Condomine invites into his placid country home an eccentric lady medium of the occult. The medium stages a seance to bring back Charles' first wife.

The first wife has a ghostly plot in mind for Charles. However, mistakes occur and it is Ruth, his second wife, who passes on only to return with the first wife to plague the utterly bewildered astral bigamist. How Charles manages to extricate himself from these two very blithe spirits made a hilarious conclusion to the very unusual farce.

Members of the cast were Connie Tullberg (Edith), Julie Sherer (Elvira), Kathy Lundin (Ruth), Penny Miller (Madame Arcati), Jeanni Tullberg (Mrs. Bradman), Jeff Hallstrom (Dr. Bradman), and Randal Barge (Charles).

Others helping were Hayley Greve (stage manager), Todd Greve and Kevin Woodward (lights and sound), Connie Tullberg, Christine Ballard, Nancy Dais and Kathy Ruzicka (programs), Deb Wageman (make-up), Christine Ballard and Kathy Ruzicka (publicity), and Connie Tullberg (set designer).

Other seniors who helped were Doug Carlson, Kathy Dolph, Alan Echtenkamp, Jodi Greve, Damon Henschke, Bill Warren, Brent Kahl, Joan Miller, Heidi Munson, Teresa Nettleton, Coleen Neuhaus, Scott Obermeyer, Shelley Paul, Kendall Paulson, Dale Phipps, Kim Schopke, Joedy Sherer, David Stelling, Jim Urbanec, Dwight VanderVeen and Roger Wurdeman.

Lunch was served following each performance.

NHS Entertains Parents

Members of the Wakefield Community Schools' National Honor Society entertained their parents on Friday night, March 20.

Homemade ice cream and cake were served. Joan Miller, president, gave the welcome. Joan and Heidi Munson were in charge of games and the group played UNO and robber bingo.

Exchange Student

Olga Lucia Rodriguez, 16, of Bogota, Colombia, is making her home with the Duane Tappe family and is attending Wakefield High School as a foreign exchange student.

At school, she is registered as a junior. However, she has completed her high school education in her country.

Lucia loves music, sings, plays the piano, and enjoys sports of all kinds. Lucia feels that everyone is very friendly.

Before coming to this country, Lucia kept up on the news and current events in the United States. In Bogota they call the new president "Ronald Reagan." She says she is interested in seeing if the changes talked about during the presidential campaign will come about.

Lucia's mother works at home. Her father passed away three years ago. She is the youngest child in the family and has three brothers and two sisters.

All the students are glad that Lucia could attend school in Wakefield and we hope she enjoys her stay here.

Upcoming Events

Thursday, April 24: The Future Business Leaders of America Leadership Conference will be held at the Red Lion Inn in Omaha. This is the first year that Wakefield has sent participants to the conference. Three girls will be competing in various areas. They are Heidi Munson, stenographer, spelling clerk, typist; Julie Sherer, stenographer, spelling, proofreading; Kim Greve, general business, accounting, proofreading. In addition, the girls will attend various meetings and learn of the goals of the FBLA.

Friday, April 3: Kindergarten Round up.
Monday, April 6: The Future Homemakers of America's annual State Leadership Conference will be held in Lincoln. The theme is "Families: We're Still the One." Presiding over the two day activities will be the current State Executive Council including the historian of the Wakefield FHA, Susan Baker. The meeting will include general sessions, small group workshops, and special interest seminars. Participants also will have the opportunity to polish their skills in the areas of leadership development, decision making, personal growth, and public relations.

Tuesday, April 7: Apollo Swing Choir will appear at the school.

Thursday, April 9: Business Competition Day at Wayne State College.

Saturday, April 11: District Student Council Convention; FBLA sponsored Frisbee Throwing Contest.

Tuesday, April 14: Pre-Contest Concert.

Thursday, April 16-20: Easter Vacation.

Helping Hands
Owl note holders were made by members of the Helping Hands 4-H Club when they met March 14 with Lisa Janke in the Norris Janke home.

The note holders were made for the club's adopted grandparents. There were 12 members and guests Mrs. Eugene Longe, Mrs. Dennis Evans and Mrs. Norris Janke.

Members answered roll call by naming their favorite color. A fun meeting committee was formed. Committee members are Kelly Leighton, Lisa Jensen, Doug Cherry, Rhonda Suehl and Craig Evans.

Demonstrations were given by Lisa Janke and Darrin Wacker on measuring flour and setting a table.

A motion was made by Darrin Greunke to pick up cans in roadside ditches and to redeem money for aluminum cans. Lisa Janke seconded the motion.

The club played an energy hunt game for recreation, followed with lunch served by Lisa Janke and Chad Longe.

Next meeting will be April 11 at 1:30 p.m. with Lisa Jensen in the Robert Jensen home.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

The City of Wayne, Nebraska, will receive bids for proposed work consisting of the construction of Water System Improvement Project No. 1 until 2:00 p.m., April 14, 1981 at the City Hall in Wayne, Nebraska. At that time, all bids will be opened and publicly read aloud.

The construction work contemplated in this project includes the following principal features:

DIVISION I - WATER SUPPLY

Section A - Municipal Well

Construction of a municipal well, including bore hole, steel casing, stainless steel screen, gravel pack and concrete grout.

Section B - Pump and Interconnecting Piping

Furnish and install a deep well turbine pump in the well, including pump, motor, pumphead, pump base, column piping, interior piping, exterior piping, valves, meters, fittings and connections.

Section C - Masonry Pumphouse

Construction of a masonry pumphouse for the new well, including site work and electrical work.

DIVISION II - TRANSMISSION MAIN

6" Class 51 DIP Water Main 62 L.F.
8" Class 51 DIP Water Main 377 L.F.
Valves, Fittings and Connections 3 Total

Each of the divisions is separate and distinct. The bid on each division will be an aggregate bid on all work to be performed in the division, broken down in such a manner as to accurately reflect unit prices for the estimated quantities set out herein. Details of construction, materials to be used and methods of installation for this project are given in the plans and specifications. Contracts will be awarded on each division to the low, responsive, responsible bidder, based on the aggregate bid on each division.

The contract documents, including plans and specifications, are on file at the office of the City Clerk in Wayne, Nebraska. Copies of these documents for personal use may be obtained from the City Engineer, Associates, Inc., P.O. Box 565, Columbus, Nebraska, 68401, upon payment of $25.00 of which $10.00 will be refunded if the plans and specifications are returned in good condition within 30 days of the bid opening.

Each bid shall be accompanied in a separate sealed envelope by a certified check drawn on a solvent bank in the State of Nebraska, or bid bond in an amount not less than five percent of the amount bid, and shall be payable to the City of Wayne, Nebraska, as security that the bidder to whom the contract will be awarded will enter into a contract to build the improvements in accordance with this notice and give bond in the sum hereinafter provided for construction of the improvements. Checks and bonds accompanying bids not accepted shall be returned to the bidder.

No bids shall be withdrawn after the opening of bids without the consent of the City of Wayne, Nebraska, for a period of 30 days after the scheduled time of closing of bids.

The successful bidder(s) will be required to furnish a Performance Bond, as well as a Labor and Materials Payment Bond, on the forms included in the Contract Documents, each to be in an amount equal to 100 percent of the contract price. Said bonds, to be executed by a responsible corporate surety, shall guarantee the faithful performance of the contract in the terms and conditions herein contained, and shall guarantee payment for all labor and materials used in connection with the work.

The engineer's estimate for this project is: Division I - Water Supply $48,000
Division II - Transmission Main $4,900

The City reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to waive any technicalities or informality in bidding.

Dated at Wayne, Nebraska, this 10th day of March, 1981.

Zorinsky Offers Dairy Amendment

Senator Edward Zorinsky said last Tuesday that American farmers deserve to know whether or not President Reagan intends to lift the grain embargo on the Soviet Union, and that he intends to introduce legislation to force a decision by April 30.

The Nebraska Senator said he will offer an amendment to dairy legislation scheduled to be considered by the Senate. The Zorinsky amendment will repeal the embargo unless President Reagan takes specific action to continue it.

According to Zorinsky, his amendment would automatically lift the embargo unless the President certifies to Congress by the end of April that U.S. foreign policy requires continuing the restrictions and that American farmers are not unfairly burdened by the embargo.

In a statement prepared for delivery on the Senate floor, Zorinsky said the American farmers deserve better than President Reagan's refusal to fulfill his campaign promise to lift the embargo. "This amendment will send a clear signal to the White House -- stop shilly-shallying and make a decision."

According to the Nebraska Senator, his amendment would require that if the President decides not to lift the embargo, he must take steps to make sure that American farmers are not unfairly harmed by it. Zorinsky said, "If our country's foreign policy really does require the continuation of this embargo, our nation's farmers are willing to do their share. But as the President himself argued during his campaign, forcing the American farmer to bear the sole burden of this policy would be unfair."

The Nebraska lawmaker says the President could meet that condition by either broadening the embargo to include all goods sold to the Soviets, or by raising loan rates on wheat and corn.

The Zorinsky amendment also would allow the President to delay temporarily lifting the embargo but only if the President is negotiating a new bilateral grain agreement with the Soviets. Zorinsky said that, "If the embargo is a necessary bargaining chip in the negotiations, and the President feels he needs it to get a better deal for America's farmers, he can delay lifting the embargo for a reasonable period. At least then America's grain producers will know that the Soviet market will eventually be open to them again."

The Senator points out that the current uncertainty exports to the Soviet market "makes it impossible for farmers to make good planting and marketing decisions." He also noted that without knowing if the Soviets would be allowed to purchase U.S. grain, Congress would be unable to formulate sound farm legislation this year.

Stress Workshop Planned

Stress. How do you cope with it? Do you have a family history of heart problems and/or high blood pressure? Are you interested in learning more effective ways to handle stress in your day to day living?

The Thurston County Extension Service is sponsoring the second "Coping With Stress" workshop given by Dr. Hermann Witte, from the UNO Cardiovascular Center in Omaha, according to Susan Strahm, Thurston County Extension Agent Unit 2. Workshop will be held Friday, April 3, 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Pender Presbyterian Church. Cost will be $6 and checks should be received by April 1. At least 25 persons must register for the class or the class will not be offered, according to Strahm.

Attendance at the previous sessions is not required for registrants. While the first sessions dealt with more of the cognitive foundation on how to cope with stress, this second session will allow participants to actually apply those principles in real life conflict situations. Participants will also be able to examine their own stress responses on biofeedback equipment.

Persons interested in the "Coping With Stress" workshop should register with Susan Strahm at the Thurston County Extension Office in Wallhill, 68047. Enclose a $6 check for registration along with your name and telephone number. Make checks payable to the Thurston County Extension Service.

Adams Is Wheels For Life Chairman

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, Western Regional Office, announced today that Keith Adams has been chosen to head the Spring 1981 "Wheels for Life" campaign in Wayne.

According to Regional Director Gary D. Schrenk, "Over 70 percent of our hospital budget comes from public support. The 'Wheels for Life' program is one way in which everyone can get involved in helping to eliminate catastrophic childhood disease. It is only through the dedicated efforts of outstanding volunteers from throughout the country like Adams that we are able to carry on our life-saving research and treatment programs. I am very pleased that we have found such a capable chairperson for this event."

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas in 1962 to fulfill a pledge which he made to St. Jude Thaddeus, patron saint of the hopeless. From this promise grew the largest childhood cancer research center in the world, and the first center dedicated exclusively to eliminating cancer and other life-threatening diseases which afflict children.

"When the hospital opened its doors, the survival rate for children diagnosed with acute lymphocytic leukemia was less than 5 percent," Schrenk stated. "Today, the disease-free survival figure for children in long-term remission has grown to 50 percent. Cancer treatment procedures originated at St. Jude are now being used to treat children throughout the world."

"The 'Wheels-for-Life' program involves volunteer participants securing sponsors and then riding bicycles, tricycles, unicycles or whatever over a course designated by the chairman. We hope the response to the program will be as good in Wayne as it has been throughout the rest of the country," Schrenk said. "We need the support of everyone who can participate." The time and location of the event will be announced in the near future by Adams.

Entertain Feeders

Roger Welsch, author of "Shingling the Fog and other Plains Lies," will entertain at the Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association banquet to be held at Wayne State College on Saturday, April 4 at 8. His subject is humor on the pioneer plains.

Welsch has written over 100 articles on plains folklore, books, including Treasury of Nebraska Pioneer Folklore, Tall Tale Postcards, and several others, and a record album release entitled "Sweet Nebraska Land." He is currently working on a book of tales about pioneer horse trading. He will entertain with story and song accompanied by his banjo.

Born, raised, and educated on the plains, Welsch teaches English and anthropology at the University of Nebraska. He also finds time for hiking, beekeeping, banjo and guitar playing, searching for found barns and baled hay houses and exchanging tall tales.

The banquet is open to producers, agribusinessmen, and others interested in the livestock industry. A coffee hour precedes the banquet at 7 p.m. in the Student Union. A social hour at the Wayne Fire Hall begins at 6:10 p.m. Tickets can be purchased from Association directors, President Gerald Muller, Center or Secretary Norman Meyer, Wakefield, Neb. 68082.

Congressmen to Nebraska

Congressman Doug Bereuter has initiated an "exchange program" with congressmen from the East and West Coasts to "bridge the information gap" in agriculture that exists within Congress.

To start the exchange program, Bereuter has invited Congressman Bill Thomas (R Calif. 18th) to visit Nebraska's First Congressional District on today (Monday) to get a first hand look at the state's agriculture and way of life.

"This will be an on the farm tour. We are deliberately avoiding a classroom or conference room approach; we'll be getting dust on our shoes or better yet, mud," Bereuter said.

"Congressman Thomas' tour on Monday is the first of a series of exchange visits. Eventually I hope to return a visit to agricultural and energy areas in Congressman Thomas' district in the Central Valley of California. In early April, I plan to visit the Long Island district of Congressman Bill Carney (R N.Y. 15th). He, in turn, will visit Nebraska later that month. In the summer, I will have a similar exchange with Congressman Dan Lungren (R Calif., 24th) of Long Beach," Bereuter said.

"The purpose of this exchange program is to bridge the information gap on agricultural and rural affairs that exists within Congress. In Washington, conflicts often arise between rural and urban interests. Many times we find Easterners at odds with Westerners and Midwesterners. One reason why parochial and regional interests tend to dominate Congress is because many of its members lack an understanding of day to day life in areas of the country unlike their own," the Utah congressman said.

"It is a fact that there are fewer and fewer representatives in the House from predominantly agricultural districts. That problem is even more acute for the Great Plains states like Nebraska," Bereuter said. "I have on a number of occasions said that I believe it is fundamentally important that members of Congress from rural areas reach out to their urban colleagues. This exchange program helps meet a commitment I made earlier to my constituents to exchange visits with my colleagues from both coasts," Bereuter said.

"I believe this effort to reach out to urban colleagues is clearly in the best interests of Nebraska farmers and agribusiness," Bereuter said. "I believe it is absolutely essential that farm state representatives in turn express a willingness to understand particular concerns of other areas of the country."

Congressman Thomas, whose home is in Bakersfield, Calif., represents one of the most important oil producing counties in the nation, according to Bereuter. Thomas' congressional district covers an area larger than the size of New England, excluding Maine. It is highly productive farm country with the aerospace industry also a major employer.

"It's especially important that Congressman Thomas visit Nebraska now since he is on the House Agriculture Committee, which is about to produce a new multi-year farm bill," Bereuter said.

The Monday tour will start at the Plant Science Building at the University of Nebraska East

Campus in Lincoln and include stops at a grain operation near Ceresco, the University of Nebraska Mead Field Lab, and a feedlot near Yutan.

Book Workshop Set in Norfolk

Mrs. Richard (Oline) Marvel will be giving a workshop presentation on Giving Oral Book Reviews at the Columbus Public Library 1:15 to 3 p.m., March 31. The same presentation will also be given at the Norfolk Public Library 1:15 to 3 p.m. on April 1.

According to Mrs. Marvel, "The thing is to talk about a book before a group so that each person there will want to read it, not to 'review' it so that people will think that they will no longer need to read it."

The workshop presentation should be useful to members of book-review groups and other organizations. The presentations are open to the public without charge. They are being sponsored by the Northern Library Network in order to promote reading and library usage.

Council Accepts Assessments, Denies Liquor License Request

The Wayne City Council accepted two alternate assessment plans and denied a request for a liquor license at its regular meeting Tuesday night at the City Hall.

THE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION voted unanimously to accept alternate assessments in street improvement district No. 80-2 and No. 80-3.

The measure in District No. 80-2 will now assess the First Church of Christ $10,198.63 and Donald and Dottie Wacker $10,140.91 for street construction adjoining Highway 35 east of Wayne.

The original plan called for original assessments of $28,765.47 by each property owner. Now, the general obligation to the city of Wayne will assume an assessment cost of $38,924.60 to cover cost of a box culvert, storm sewer system, earth work, some paving and a proportionate cost of engineering and other expenses.

IN A CONTINUATION of a hearing on District 80-3, the Board voted unanimously to assess each property owner $9,298.80. This measure covers construction done near the new Wayne Veterinarians Clinic.

Total cost of this project is $31,668.28. General obligation will absorb $9,597.28 while property owners including the city of Wayne will be assessed a total of $22,071.00. The Board had to wait on results of the first resolution before continuing the second one.

BY A VOTE of 6-1, the City Council denied recommendation of a liquor license for 619 Windom Street. The request for a recommendation was made by Casey's General Store, which will reportedly be located at the Windom Street location.

Casey's is described as a combination convenience store which will sell food and retail products and dispense gasoline.

Councilman James Craun voted against the motion to deny the license to Casey's.

with Class B liquor licenses in speaking against a liquor license for Casey's.

She brought it to the Council's attention that there are presently 14 liquor licenses in Wayne and figures show 340 persons per license.

Al Mohlfeld addressed the Council and pointed out that this is not a good time to grant another liquor license in Wayne.

APPOINTMENTS of Gary Van Meter and Dr. Sidney Hillier to the Planning Commission were unanimously approved.

IN OTHER ACTION, the Council:

- Adopted a 1981 National Electrical Code.
- Adopted energy conservation guidelines.
- Continued until the next meeting, a decision on stop sign replacement.
- Adopted a notice of weed control.
- Accepted an offer for purchase of real estate.
- Discussed complaints on a special animal permit.

Howell Accepts Position

Dakota Native Named Editor

Randall Howell, 34, a veteran newsman with over 15 years in daily and weekly newspapers, has been appointed editor of The Wayne Herald, according to Jim Marsh, business manager.

A South Dakota native, Howell was co-publisher of the Roseau Times-Region, a weekly newspaper serving Roseau County in northern Minnesota.

FORMERLY weekend editor of the Grand Forks Herald, Grand Forks, N. D., Howell also worked as managing editor of The Dickinson Press, Dickinson, N. D.

Howell interrupted his newspaper career for a stint in South Dakota politics during the 1978 primary and general elections. He served as campaign manager for South Dakota's senior senator, Larry Pressler. He also was press secretary for the late LaRoy Hoffman in the South Dakota rancher's unsuccessful bid for the Republican nomination for governor. Hoffman lost the primary election to South Dakota Gov. William Janklow.

BEFORE entering politics Howell was business manager for three weekly newspapers in north central South Dakota. In addition, his journalism career includes a managing editorship with a business publishing house in New York City and the editorship of a small daily in Port Chester, N. Y. He also served as city editor for The Knickerbocker News, a daily newspaper in Albany, N. Y.

HOWELL began his newspaper career in his hometown as a part-time sports reporter for the Aberdeen American News, Aberdeen, S. D.

Howell and his wife, Randy, have moved to Wayne with their two children, Cassidy, 5, and Danielle, 3.

Bridge Footing Under Construction

CONSTRUCTION ON Highway 15 north of Wayne continues as workers begin construction on various areas of the stretch. Here, several workers tie steel reinforcement together to help strengthen a concrete base that will be poured at the bottom of a bridge. The site is just northwest of Rice Auditorium. The workers were hampered somewhat by the rain which was received in the Wayne area Saturday. Muddy conditions still existed at the location, Tuesday. It was reported that several cars got stuck while attempting to drive around the construction site Saturday night and Sunday.

Contamination in Allen Water Supply

Nitrate contamination has been confirmed in the drinking water supply serving the village of Allen.

The nitrate level in Allen is 11.6 milligrams per liter of water. The limit according to health department standards is 10 milligrams per liter.

The State Department of Health issued an exemption to the village of Allen so they can correct the problem by taking action to seek another water supply. Allen has until Jan. 1, 1984 to correct the matter.

According to a representative of the Department of Environmental Engineering, the nitrate level problem is nothing serious but needs to be corrected to meet state standards. Allen is one of 12 communities in which nitrate contamination has been reported.

The Health Department warns however that infants six months of age or younger should not drink the water in Allen. All physicians in the area have been notified by mail of the nitrate level.

The Village Board of Trustees at Allen is currently in the process of correcting the problem.

Little Paul is Bright, Quick to Smile, and He Has Cancer

By LaVon Beckman

A very special three-year-old celebrated his birthday this week.

There were games and presents, a birthday cake, and of course, the traditional singing of the birthday song as his playmates gathered around the table, eyes sparkling, watched.

"Make a wish, Paul!" Little Pauley pauses for a second, turns up his bright blue eyes as if to wish on a star, inflates his cheeks until they resemble a chipmunk's, stretches up on his tiptoes, bends across the table, and with one long gust of air extinguishes the three flickering flames.

WHAT DID he wish for? Maybe a bright red bicycle or a scruffy little kitten with long, tickly whiskers.

What were his parents silently wishing? Maybe for a miracle.

OTHER THAN a slight limp when he walks and the almost total loss of his once long, butter gold hair, there is little indication that Pauley has cancer. Terminal cancer.

It's called neuroblastoma.

Until about a year ago, Pauley's parents, the Rev. John and Carol Jorde, had never heard the word.

The Jordes had moved to Wayne just two years earlier. John was, and still is, campus minister at Wayne State College. Carol was a teacher and the family, including sons Paul and Brian, who will be five in June, were beginning to feel comfortable in their new home and with their new found friends and neighbors.

He seemed to drag his foot

PAULEY was, starting to walk when his parents noticed that he seemed to drag his left foot. Although concerned they were not overly alarmed. The problem, they thought, would be overcome with corrective shoes.

On April 10 of last year, the family decided that Pauley should visit his local doctor, Jim Lindau. Maybe, they thought, one leg was slightly longer than the other.

WHEN JOHN took Pauley to Omaha on April 12 for what he thought would be just a day of testing he was still not alarmed.

"I became apprehensive," he says, "when I found not one but four doctors waiting for me in the hospital's reception room." "How's your major medical insurance?" asked the nurse, who then directed him to the admitting area.

'Something was wrong'

John said it was at that point he knew something was terribly wrong. "The word cancer had not been used yet," said John, "however specialists said there definitely was a destructive bone process."

The rest of the day was a blur of tests.

JOHN immediately called Carol, who was teaching in Norfolk at the time, to get her classes in order and come down to Omaha immediately. Pauley had been admitted to the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha and further tests were to be conducted.

"I was there alone," says Carol, "and I watched as they subjected my son to a long series of extensive, often extremely painful, tests."

Dr. Al-Rashid, head pediatric hematologist/oncologist, called Carol into his office. "It doesn't look good," he said. "It looks very bad." Dr. Al-Rashid showed Carol slides they had taken of Pauley, hugged her, and told her it was terminal.

ON APRIL 18 Pauley underwent surgery. Results of the surgery showed he had neuroblastoma with bone involvement. Doctors were able to remove 90 percent of the tumorous growth. His survival odds — 1 in 100.

Neuroblastoma is rarely seen in children over the age of two years. The disease strikes the undifferentiated cells of the embryonic nervous system.

Neuroblastoma strikes about four children in every 100,000. Only four or five children in the world diagnosed as having neuroblastoma with bone involvement have lived beyond their projected times.

The cancerous cells in Pauley had attached themselves to his left pelvis, destroying from inside the bone out.

into the Omaha hospital until the time he underwent surgery, just six days, Pauley's limp became more pronounced," says Carol. "By Thursday, the day before surgery, he could only crawl on his stomach."

"He got very angry," said John. "He was leaning against the wall and was extremely frustrated because he couldn't get to his toys in the room."

THE DAY before surgery Pauley was released from the hospital for a short time to have his picture taken. "We didn't know," explains Carol, "doctors said his chances of surviving surgery were 50-50."

The picture taken that day shows a bright little boy with long, flaxen hair and a radiant smile. Today, Pauley is still quick to smile, however he has lost almost all of his hair because of weekly chemotherapy treatments he must undergo.

'I was singing and weeping'

CAROL is certain that Pauley sensed the pain she was going through. "I remember sitting in the hospital room rocking Pauley before putting him to bed. I was singing to him and at the same time weeping. Pauley stood up on my knees and looked me straight in the eyes. 'I'm O.K.," he said softly. "I love you."

PAULEY was released from the hospital at the end of April but continued to receive treatment there as a out patient throughout the month of May. During that time he underwent radiation therapy on both sides of his pelvis so that as he grew the pelvis would remain uniform on both sides.

Although the radiation was given in hopes of destroying what was left of the tumor following Pauley's surgery, its side effects can be grave.

For young persons who undergo radiation there is a much higher risk of cancer as an adult. Pauley also is sterile because of the amount of radiation he has received.

THE family sub-rented a home in Omaha while Pauley was undergoing treatment there. Son Brian had gone to stay with John's sister in North Dakota.

At one point in the hospital Pauley took a definite turn for the worse. Carol had a THREE-YEAR-OLD PAUL JORDE and his mother share a precious moment together on the day of Paul's birthday. It's been less than a year since the Jordes discovered Paul is a victim of cancer.

Stress Workshop Planned

Stress: How do you cope with it? Do you have a family history of heart problems and/or high blood pressure? Are you interested in learning more effective ways to handle stress in your day to day living?

The Thurston County Extension Service is sponsoring the second "Coping With Stress" workshop given by Dr. Hermann Witte, from the UNO Cardiovascular Center in Omaha, according to Susan Strahm, Thurston County Extension Agent Unit 2 Workshop will be held Friday, April 3, 8:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. at the Pender Presbyterian Church. Cost will be $6 and checks should be received by April 1. At least 25 persons must register for the class or the class will not be offered, according to Strahm.

Attendance at the previous sessions is not required for registrants. While the first sessions dealt with more of the cognitive foundation on how to cope with stress, this second session will allow participants to actually apply those principles in real life conflict situations. Participants will also be able to examine their own stress responses on biofeedback equipment.

Persons interested in the "Coping With Stress" workshop should register with Susan Strahm at the Thurston County Extension Office in Wallhill, 68047. Enclose a $6 check for registration along with your name and telephone number. Make checks payable to the Thurston County Extension Service.

Adams Is Wheels

For Life Chairman

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, Western Regional Office, announced today that Keith Adams has been chosen to head the Spring 1981 "Wheels for Life" campaign in Wayne.

According to Regional Director Gary D. Schrenk, "Over 70 percent of our hospital budget comes from public support. The 'Wheels for Life' program is one way in which everyone can get involved in helping to eliminate catastrophic childhood diseases.

It is only through the dedicated efforts of outstanding volunteers from throughout the country like Adams that we are able to carry on our life-saving research and treatment programs. I am very pleased that we have found such a capable chairperson for this event."

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas in 1962 to fulfill a pledge which he made to St. Jude Thaddeus, patron saint of the hopeless. From this promise grew the largest childhood cancer research center in the world, and the first center dedicated exclusively to eliminating cancer and other life-threatening diseases which afflict children.

"When the hospital opened its doors, the survival rate for children diagnosed with acute lymphocytic leukemia was less than 5 percent," Schrenk said. "Today, the disease-free survival figure for children in long-term remission has grown to 50 percent. Cancer treatment procedures originated at St. Jude are now being used to treat children throughout the world.

"The 'Wheels for Life' program involves volunteer participants securing sponsors and then riding bicycles, tricycles, unicycles or whatever over a course designated by the chairman. We hope the response to the program will be as good in Wayne as it has been throughout the rest of the country," Schrenk said. "We need the support of everyone who can participate."

The time and location of the event will be announced in the near future by Adams.

Entertain Feeders

Roger Welsch, author of "Shingling the Fog and other Plains Lies," will entertain at the Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association banquet to be held at Wayne State College on Saturday, April 4 at 8. His subject is humor on the pioneer plains.

Welsch has written over 100 articles on plains folklore, books, including Treasury of Nebraska Pioneer Folklore, Tall Tale Postcards, and several others, and a record album release entitled "Sweet Nebraska Land." He is currently working on a book of tales about pioneer horse trading. He will entertain with story and song accompanied by his banjo.

Born, raised, and educated on the plains, Welsch teaches English and anthropology at the University of Nebraska. He also finds time for hiking, beekeeping, banjo and guitar plucking, searching for found barns and baled hay houses and exchanging fall tales.

The banquet is open to producers, agribusinessmen, and others interested in the livestock industry. A coffee hour precedes the banquet at 7 p.m. in the Student Union. A social hour at the Wayne Fire Hall begins at 6:30 p.m. Tickets can be purchased from Association directors, President Gerald Muller, Concord or Secretary Norman Meyer, Wakefield, Co. 68151.

Congressmen to Nebraska

Congressman Doug Bereuter has initiated an "exchange program" with congressmen from the East and West Coasts to "bridge the information gap" on agriculture that exists within Congress.

To start the exchange program, Bereuter has invited Congressman Bill Thomas (R Calif. 18th) to visit Nebraska's First Congressional District on today (Monday) to get a first hand look at the state's agriculture and way of life.

"This will be an on the farm tour. We are deliberately avoiding a classroom or conference room approach; we'll be getting dust on our shoes or better yet, mud," Bereuter said.

"Congressman Thomas' tour on Monday is the first of a series of exchange visits. Eventually I hope to return a visit to agricultural and energy areas in Congressman Thomas' district in the Central Valley of California. In early April, I plan to visit the Long Island district of Congressman Bill Carney (R N.Y. 1st). He, in turn, will visit Nebraska later that month. In the summer, I will have a similar exchange with Congressman Dan Lungren (R Calif., 24th of Long Beach," Bereuter said.

"The purpose of this exchange program is to bridge the information gap on agricultural and rural affairs that exists within Congress. In Washington, conflicts often arise between rural and urban interests. Many times we find Easterners at odds with Westerners and Midwesterners. One reason why parochial and regional interests tend to dominate Congress is because many of its members lack an understanding of day to day life in areas of the country unlike their own," the Utica congressman said.

"It is a fact that there are fewer and fewer representatives in the House from predominately agricultural districts. That problem is even more acute for the Great Plains states like Nebraska," Bereuter said.

"I have on a number of occasions said that I believe it is fundamentally important that members of Congress from rural areas reach out to their urban colleagues. This exchange program helps meet a commitment I made earlier to my constituents to exchange visits with my colleagues from both coasts," Bereuter said.

"I believe this effort to reach out to urban colleagues is clearly in the best interests of Nebraska farmers and agribusiness," Bereuter said. "I believe it is absolutely essential that farm state representatives in turn express a willingness to understand particular concerns of other areas of the country."

Congressman Thomas, whose home is in Bakersfield, Calif., represents one of the most important of producing counties in the nation according to Bereuter. Thomas' congressional district covers an area larger than the size of New England, excluding Maine. It is highly productive farm country with the aerospace industry also a major employer.

"It's especially important that Congressman Thomas visit Nebraska now since he is on the House Agriculture Committee, which is about to produce a new multi year farm bill," Bereuter said.

The Monday tour will start at the Plant Science Building at the University of Nebraska East

Campus in Lincoln and include stops at a grain operation near Ceresco, the University of Nebraska Mead Field Lab, and a feedlot near Yutan.

Book Workshop Set in Norfolk

Mrs. Richard (Oline) Marvel will be giving a workshop presentation on Giving Oral Book Reviews at the Columbus Public Library 1:15 to 3 p.m., March 31. The same presentation will also be given at the Norfolk Public Library 1:15 to 3 p.m. on April 1.

According to Mrs. Marvel, "The thing is to talk about a book before a group so that each person there will want to read it, not to 'review' it so that people will think that they will no longer need to read it."

The workshop-presentation should be useful to members of book-review groups and other organizations. The presentations are open to the public without charge. They are being sponsored by the Northern Library Network in order to promote reading and library usage.
