Centennial First Trinity Lutheran Marks 100

By LaVon Beckman

There was a time when its parishioners traveled to church on horses or in sleds and wagons, read their Bibles from the light of kerosene lamps hung in brackets on the side walls, and sat patiently as the preacher delivered the Sunday sermon, in German, sometimes talking as long as an entire hour.

All those memories and many more will be drawn upon when members, and former members, of the First Trinity Lutheran Church of Altona come from hundreds of miles in every direction on Sunday, May 24, to celebrate the church's long and eventful history — spanning 100 years.

THE CENTENNIAL celebration will last throughout the morning and afternoon and will include a morning worship service of celebration, noon dinner, and an afternoon organ recital and service.

Although the church has seen many changes in the past 100 years, its parishioners still come, every Sunday, for the same reasons their parents and grandparents did throughout the church's history — to gather in His name.

FIRST TRINITY Evangelical Lutheran Church, Altona, was organized on Trinity Sunday, June 12, 1881, under the leadership of the Rev. G. Bullinger at the home of Carl Erxleben Sr., located one and a half miles east and two miles north of the present church.

Although early records do not tell where worship services were held during the first six years, it's believed members met to worship in their homes, then later in a public school in the area. It also is thought that a room was later constructed on the Erxleben home for the purpose of conducting worship services.

THE FIRST church building was erected in 1887, with the back of the building serving as a parsonage. This was located on the south side of the road across from the present church, nine miles south and one and a half east of Wayne.

The original church bell cost $25. The first parsonage was built in 1897 and was located to the west of the present parking lot.

AS THE congregation continued to grow a need arose for a larger building in which to conduct services. In 1911 the present church was built (between May and December). The cornerstone contains a Bible, catechism, and other papers. Dedication services were held Dec. 18, 1911.

The top part of the altar had not arrived at that time but was put in later. The organ was installed in the spring of 1912 at a cost of $1,200. The building of the church was not over $3,500.

The old church building continued to serve as a parochial school. Following the church's Golden Jubilee celebration in 1931, a

Oldest Parishioner Recalls Years Past

She was baptized, confirmed and married at First Trinity Lutheran Church of Altona and — at the age of 87 years — she says she'll probably be buried there one day.

Seated in her favorite chair near the window, an almanac resting across her lap, Louise Splittgerber remembers — remembers the busy plains winds which swept across the countryside on the day of her confirmation, in 1907, and the clear, crisp winter night when the church's new organ was dedicated, in 1912.

LOUISE, the oldest member of the Trinity Lutheran Congregation, grew up in the Altona and it is there she is affectionately known as Lizzie by her friends and neighbors.

Her father, Herman Frevert, was a charter member of Altona Trinity Lutheran Church, and Louise became a charter member of the Ladies Aid when she joined in 1942.

All six of her children attended the Trinity Lutheran Parochial School, which closed its doors in 1970, and all three of her daughters were married in the same church as their mother.

A SMILE spreads across Louise's face as she recalls her wedding day in 1917 and the great horse and buggy race afterward as the guests attempted to beat the bride and groom home from church following the ceremony. Then, of course, there was a reception at her parents' home before she and husband Paul settled down to raise a family of their own.

Louise's son and family, the Allen-Splittgerbers, now reside on the home farm located a half mile east, one south and a fourth east of the church.

LOUISE was baptized by the Rev. J. Klingbeil and was instructed in catechism, in German, at the Christian Day School.

While attending catechism during the winter months she and sister Ella, along with other students, stayed with Pastor Schaller to receive their instruction.

After completing fifth grade at District 26, Louise stayed home to help her parents with the work of running a farm. "But my parents saw to it that we got our catechism instruction," she smiles. "Dad took us on Monday and picked us up on Friday."

WSC's Funding-Shift Bill Signed by Governor Thone

Renovations On Schedule For Opening

Within days, Wayne State College will be able to draw on funds shifted from its 1982 fiscal year to the current budget to keep renovation of the institution's education and humanities buildings on schedule.

The technical amendment bill, which adjusts funds in an already appropriated renovation budget for the two renovation projects was signed into law by Gov. Charles Thone Wednesday.

It sailed through the state Legislature last week with enough votes to trigger the emergency clause that allows the law to take effect immediately, thus facilitating the funds transfer.

"WE'VE BEEN informed that the transfer of funds already has taken place for the education and humanities renovation projects," Dr. Lyle Seymour, WSC president, told The Wayne Herald after returning from May's State College Board of Trustees meeting in Lincoln Wednesday.

"Now that the funds are in place, it means we can proceed toward an orderly completion of the renovations projects," Seymour said. "I'm optimistic we can have it (the renovation) completed by fall."

Seymour said the governor's signature meant there "would be no slowdown" on the project.

The college president said that he had been assured by the contractor, Beckenhauer Construction of Norfolk, that the project would stay on schedule "if all deliveries of building materials came in on time."

THAT HASN'T been a major problem with the project to date. Earlier this spring, Seymour indicated that because of the current construction slump nationwide, building materials suppliers have been eager to fill and deliver orders on time.

"That means occupancy by fall," Seymour said Friday. "And that's good news for us."

Seymour said he expected to draw on the funds within a few days.

The technical amendment, contained in LB 232, shifts some $480,000 in renovation funds earmarked for expenditures expected in the 1982 fiscal year to the current fiscal year.

Shifting the funds, according to Seymour, allows the college to meet the contractor's renovation obligations as they come due on schedule, rather than postponing payment — a factor that could have temporarily halted or delayed the project.

THE AMENDMENT, carefully shepherded through the legislative process after being offered to the Unicameral by the State College Board several months ago, was part of a governor's bill first introduced in January.

It reached the Legislature's agenda on April 23, but a busy Unicameral schedule delayed passage until May 7.

It arrived on the governor's desk among a number of "uncontroversial bills" and was signed into law on Wednesday of this past week, according to Donna Nelson of the State College Board office in Lincoln.

Wind-scattered trash on runways from garbage dumped at Lions Park has Wayne Municipal Airport Authority board members concerned.

The trash and garbage, plus continued vandalism at the park, presents a danger to arriving and departing aircraft, according to Al Robinson, airport manager and owner of Air Service.

Robinson presented board members with photographs of the Lions Park litter during last week's Airport Authority meeting.

Litter included empty cardboard beer cans, beer bottles, paper bags and discarded fast-food containers. In addition, vandals apparently broke a bird house from its post on the park site, which is just west of the airport office building on state Highway 35 east of Wayne.

Robinson told the board he was concerned about the wind-blown trash causing an aircraft accident. Members discussed the liability of the airport, should an accident occur that could be linked to the litter.

Air Authority members discussed the possibility of placing a fence around the park to contain the litter, if arrangements could not be made to keep the park trash free.

Only one trash container was visible at the smart roadside park last week. Robinson's photographs showed the trash barrels near a picnic bench, filled to overflowing with litter that would fill two more cans stacked around it base.

The park itself was strewn with bottles, waste paper and cardboard containers.

AIRPORT authority members decided to informally contact some members of the Wayne Lions Club to find out if regular park garbage pickup was available on a more frequent basis.

No formal action was taken by the board on the matter, but several members expressed a desire to act if the vandalism and littering continues.

Robinson told the board he was concerned about the wind-blown trash causing an aircraft accident. Members discussed the liability of the airport, should an accident occur that could be linked to the litter.

The Lions Park is within the jurisdiction of the authority, particularly with regard to whether park facilities or park-related activity hinders the safe operation of the airport.

New Vice Chairman Cramer Concerned About Cutbacks

The state Legislature has dealt Nebraska's state colleges a triple blow in providing little or no instructional improvement money for three of four — including Wayne State College — in the 1981-82 budget.

That's the feeling of newly elected State College Board of Trustees vice chairman J. Alan Cramer, publisher of The Wayne Herald.

Cramer's comments came Thursday in Lincoln after administrators — including WSC President Lyle Seymour — told trustees that Wayne, Peru and Chadron state colleges would find it difficult to follow the Legislature's mandate to take any instructional improvement funds from maintenance or student services budgets.

Kearney State College is not affected by the mandate. State lawmakers reported that KSC's budget projections appeared to be more accurate.

"THE BOARD has to do a better job of communicating with the state Legislature's Appropriations Committee to make our needs understood," said Cramer, who was elected to the vice chairmanship during the board's May meeting in Lincoln this week.

Cramer, who also is chairman of the board's appropriations and legislative committee, said that for the first time in many years the Legislature appropriated less for colleges from the general fund than the governor recommended.

Not only did the Legislature's appropriations come in under the governor's recommendations, but lawmakers also said that instructional improvement money for Wayne, Peru and Chadron must come from a reallocation of funds in maintenance and student services budgets.

CRAMER SAID that in addition to the budget trim and the attendant mandate for the three colleges, the Legislature projected that the colleges would raise about $500,000 more cash from tuition than the college project.

"I don't want to appear to be antagonistic," Cramer said. "I hope they're (the lawmakers) right on their tuition projections."

The colleges cannot guarantee a continued enrollment increase, Cramer added. The Unicameral authorized about $40 million in expenditures from the general fund, tuition and other sources.

About $22.4 million would be from the state general fund, compared to the present $20.2 million level.

The colleges and the governor estimated tuition income for 1981-82 would be about $7.8 million. Lawmakers projected $8.3 million from tuition.

CRAMER'S COMMENTS came on the heels of the board's annual reorganizational meeting.

Along with the Wayne newspaperman's election to vice chairman came the selection of Alliance Times-Herald publisher Keith Kemper as chairman for 1981-82.

After being appointed by the governor to finish the term of Wayne's Henry Ley, who died about two years ago, Cramer was reappointed for a full six-year term beginning Jan. 1 of this year.

In addition to his duties as chairman of the board's appropriations and legislative committee, Cramer serves on the personnel and policies committee and is a member of the board's buildings and grounds committee.

A former chairman of the board, the Wayne native was appointed to a six-year term in 1968 by then-Gov. Norbert Tiemann. He served an unprecedented two-year term as chairman in 1970 and 1971.

J. ALAN CRAMER

According to Seymour, passage of the bill was essential to keeping the $2.2 million renovation program on schedule — something planners and budgeters hoped for but did not expect when the humanities and education buildings were being planned.

UNTIL WEDNESDAY the contractor obligations incurred in the current fiscal year were not scheduled for payment until after the 1982 fiscal year began on July 1, a prospect that could have meant at least a 45-day delay on a project that's coming in on time.

From the start, Seymour has contended that a delay in the project was unacceptable, since the timetable called for fall occupancy.

The State College Board agreed and approached the Legislature with the technical amendment that has now become law, moving funds already committed to the project into a budgeting timetable where they can be spent as the contractor obligations come due.

Board Approves Maintenance-Vehicle Fuel Supply Park Trash Litters Airport

IN OTHER action, board members agreed to a re-roofing project for the airport house, currently occupied by Robinson and his wife.

Robinson said the roof leaks in several spots, including over the porch and the bathroom.

Robinson was authorized to contract for the roofing job, which is expected to involve re-roofing the entire house.

The airport house is expected to have new occupants sometime in June with the arrival of Al and Tess Allen from Warrington, Mo. The Allens have agreed to purchase Air Service from Robinson, who is returning to his hometown to run a livestock equipment company.

Mark Allen, the Missouri couple's son, arrived in Wayne over a week ago and is staying with the Robinsons during the management changeover at the airport.

Board members also agreed to reimburse Robinson for air conditioning equipment and a tractor-powered lawnmower he purchased for the airport at his own expense.

'Two Gentlemen of Verona' Wayne State Spring Musical

A Galt MacDermot and John Guare adaptation of William Shakespeare's "Two Gentlemen of Verona" has been selected for this year's spring musical at Wayne State College.

Rehearsals are underway daily for the production, which will be staged May 27 and 28 in Ramsey Theater on the college campus. Curtain time is 8 p.m. each night.

GUARE and MacDermot have adapted Shakespeare's original "Two Gentlemen of Verona," adapted rock music and lyrics of the 1960's.

Arthur Dirks is in charge of the production with Dr. Christopher Bonds leading the music.

The two gentlemen, Valentine and Proteus (played by Wayne Lorenzen and Mark Shufelt, respectively) find themselves victims of spring fever as Valentine falls in love with Sylvia (Kathy Loeffler) and Proteus falls in love with Julia (Lola Naber).

The plot thickens as Proteus falls in love with Sylvia. This notorious love triangle is found out by Julia as she travels to Milan disguised as a man to spy on Proteus. Comedy is supplied by the frivolous antics of Launce (Tim Ryan), Speed (Carl Johnson), and Thurlo (Curt Carlsen), who also doubles as Antonio.

OTHER characters include the Duke of Milan (Ray Worden), Luceffa (Nancy Williams), Eglamour (Art Dirks) and the milkmaid (Kathy Olines). The cast will also take part in the chorus.

The orchestra will be seated on stage, which will provide for spontaneous interaction of the orchestra with cast members.

THE WISDOM WHICH COMES FROM a long, fruitful life, and the innocence of a babe not yet familiar with the ways of the world, are depicted in the eyes of 95 year old Anna Reeg and 16 month old Koinn Rees. The two share a few precious moments together at the Wayne Care Centre where Mrs. Reeg resides. Koinn was among 18 youngsters from this area who participated in a Baby Contest at the Care Centre Thursday afternoon for the enjoyment of residents there. Koinn, son of James and Tammy Rees of Wayne, took first place in the toddler race. Other winners with their parents' names in parenthesis, were Hailey Dachnik (Mick), crawling contest; Benjamin Nissen (Tom), baldest baby; Tiffany Ruback (Mark), baby

The winners received gift certificates awarded by the Care Centre to spend at five Wayne businesses, and all other contestants were given story books. Judging the event were three residents of the Care Centre, Hazel Smith, Maude Lutz and Deanna Matcom. Wayne's track and field girls seem to be peaking at just the right time. When the Class B state girls track and field meet opens at Omaha Burke Friday, sports writers will recognize Wayne as one of the squads to watch in the team race.

THE BLUE DEVILS continued their super season by capturing the Class B-4 district title Thursday and qualifying girls in a minimum of nine events. Wayne defeated Schuyler and Lakeview by nearly 30 points.

The 400-meter and 3,200-meter relay teams both placed third and thus did not qualify straightout for the state meet. However, the four fastest relays not first or second in a district will qualify and Wayne's times were impressive. The Nebraska School Activities Association will announce the added relay teams early this week.

"We're thrilled. We ran better than we have all year. Our goal was to peak at districts and we did it at the right time," Wayne coach Mavis Dalton said. "The girls really ran well. A lot of it was gut running. They gave everything."

DALTON SAID she was pleased with the leadership shown by her four seniors this year and added that she expects her team to do well at the state meet.

"We're counting on all three relay teams going to state," Dalton said after checking some of the other district times Friday. "We will go down to state to prove a point that we are good. The girls want to do well and want to prove worthy to the people who believed in us. We will shoot for high goals the highest."

Wayne is assured of sending at least 9 entries to the state meet and that figure could very well jump to 11 with the expected addition of the two third place relay teams.

AT THE TOP of the list are some familiar names in this part of the state.

Missy Stoltenberg swept firsts in the 100 and 200 meter sprints. Lisa Peters won the 800 and placed second in the 400. Stoltenberg was a member of the 400 meter relay team and Peters ran on the 1,600 and 3,200 relay teams.

Jill Mosley, who has emerged as one of the state's leading long jumpers qualified in her main event and also in the 200 meter dash. Lynn Surber placed second in the 1,600 run. Kelly Bartholomaus was a pleasant surprise for Dalton's crew. She placed second in the shot put.

ALL THREE of Wayne's relay teams set new school records. The 1,600 meter relay, which automatically qualifies with a second place finish, set a record of 4:08.5. Team members are Jill Zeiss, Fran Gross, Mosley and Peters.

Wayne finished third in the 400 and 3,200 relays with school record times of 5:15 and 10:11.2 respectively. Team members of the 400 squad are Zeiss, Mosley, Gross and Stoltenberg.

Individuals who ran the 3,200 relay are Kris Proett, Julie Wiener Surber and Peters.

The only thing that stood between the Wayne boys track team and a district championship was a tremendous performance by Columbus Scotus.

Scotus put together what its coach called its best performance of the year to sweep the Class B-4 district title at Pawnee Park in Columbus.

FINE FACILITIES and ideal weather accounted for some excellent times and efforts by numerous individuals and relay teams.

The Blue Devils performed well but were overshadowed by the Scotus effort. Wayne had to settle for second place with state qualifiers guaranteed in at least eight events.

Results of other district relay times will determine the fate of Wayne's 3,200 and 400 meter relay teams. Both teams placed third and only the top two teams in each relay race automatically qualify. However, the four fastest relays not first or second in a district will also qualify. Those teams will be announced early this week.

SOME OF WAYNE'S longer distance runners were bothered by the schedule of events which had athletes running in the 800, 1,600, 3,200, 1,600 relay and 3,200 relay without much rest in between.

One of the fatalities of the day was Steve Monson in the 1,600-meter run. Monson, led the race after 1 1/2 laps but became ill, faked and fell back in the pack failing to qualify for state. He had entered the competition with one of the team's top six Class B times.

Other than that disappointment, things went pretty well for the Devils. Four school records fell and another was tied.

Doug Proett claimed championship honors in the 1,600 and 3,200. His time of 9:41.7 set a new school record in the 3,200. Tod Heier, who placed second in the 800, won the 400 by tying the school record of 50.4 which was set last year by Kurt Powers.

PAT MCCRIGHT, who had a good day, broke the school record in the long jump by leaping 21 1/2' and placing first.

The 1,600 meter relay team set a school record of 3:28.3 and qualified for state. Team members are Jeff Baier, Joel Mosley, Eric Brink and Tod Heier.

The 400 meter relay team also set a school record of 45.5 although placing third in the event. Team members are Pat McCright, Alan Lindsay, Danny Frevert and Jeff Allen.

Proett, Heier and McCright are all double individual qualifiers. Heier also qualified as a member of the 1,600 relay squad. Proett is a member of the 3,200 relay team and McCright is a member of the 400 relay team.

Monson qualified in the 3,200-meter run with a time of 10:04.4 to round out the list of sure qualifiers.

WAYNE COACH Al Hansen was pleased with his team's performance and pointed out that the Blue Devils ran into a buzz saw.

"We ran well but Scotus did better. They performed spectacularly," Hansen said. "Our 3,200 relay team ran what would have been the fastest time in the state and got third. I think we'll outscore Scotus at state. I think we have more power points."

District 11 Softball Team

Five Wayne State College women softball players have been named to the All District 11 team for their efforts during the past season. Players receiving honors were Lori Cadwell, first base; Diane Hall, third base; Lynn Brandt, outfield; Lynn Larsen, pitcher and Deb Janssen, designated hitter.

The Lady Wildcats finished the season 23-18 and were district runner-up and are now making arrangements to travel south to the national tournament May 20.

Midgets, Legion To Open

It's that time of the year again and Midget and Legion baseball seasons are right around the corner.

The seasons will be starting soon in Wayne and Recreation Director Hank Overin recently drew up a practice schedule.

First practice for Midgets is scheduled at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday (May 20) at the Wayne city ball park. Legion players also should show up at that time to sign up for the Legion team.

Anyone who can not make it to Wednesday's session should notify Overin. Another practice session for Midgets only is scheduled at 6:30 p.m. Thursday (May 21). Further practice session times will be announced at that practice.

Anyone who competed in Midget or Legion ball last year but doesn't plan to participate this season should contact Overin to return his uniform. The first Legion game is scheduled Monday, May 25 in the Chuck Ellis Memorial Tournament. Opponent and game time have not yet been decided.

Wildcats Win Pair in District Action

A combination of long ball hitting and fine pitching propelled the Wayne State baseball team into the District 11 playoff finals against Kearney State.

The cats scored two runs in the top of the 11th and it looked as though Wayne would come away on top.

The Cats needed a pair of wins Thursday to keep their hopes alive and that is just what they got as they defeated Concordia College 13-6 and Dana College 13-10.

Coach Ron Jones gave the home run signal and his players responded in the sixth. Glatter and Blatchford unloaded for back-to-back homers for three RBIs and a 11-0 lead.

AGAINST CONCORDIA, a trio of Wildcats blasted home runs to give WSC the necessary runs.

Wayne scored its final two runs in the eighth as Glatter ripped a two-run homer.

Winning pitcher Randy Frink held Concordia scoreless for seven innings giving the Cats the pitching they needed to move on to the evening contest.

IRRIGATION HOTLINE

Lower Elkhorn NRD and the Cooperative Extension Service in Cuming, Madison, and Wayne Counties will again be providing Irrigation Hotline Reports. These reports give the daily crop water use throughout the irrigation season.

By using this information, irrigators can do a better job of applying the correct amount of water at the right time. When used in conjunction with irrigation scheduled tools (moisture indicators, soil probe, rain gauge, flow meter), this information can help to conserve water and fuel, while maintaining high yields. It can also prevent the leaching of nitrate fertilizer into the groundwater, which can result from over watering.

Natural Resources District and Extension personnel collect weather data from three weather stations across the district. This data is entered in the Agnet Computer at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln (UNL) to obtain the crop water use information. This information then will be broadcast over local radio stations for use by irrigators.

The Irrigation Hotline Reports will begin about June 1 on the following stations:

KUHB - Fremont 1340 AM
KNEN - Norfolk 94.7 FM
WJAG - Norfolk 80 AM
KTCH - Wayne 1590 AM

HOW VALUABLE IS RAIN?

Continued dry weather reminds us how much we depend on rain in Nebraska. Now Ralph Neild, Extension Climatologist, has set a dollar value on this basic need. Neild says it would take eight inches of rain in most of the state to bring us up to normal moisture conditions.

Considering this shortage, "one inch of rain across the state has a value of $6.6 million for production yields on the state's 2 million acres of dryland corn and a value of $6.7 million in fuel savings for pumping needs on the state's 4.5 million irrigated corn acres. Thus, across the state a one-inch rain has a value of $13.3 million (in corn production); and the value of the full 8 inches necessary for normal soil moisture conditions is $106.4 million.

Neild's figures do not include the value for other crops which would increase the total across the state considerably. The same values would apply to any practice or condition that conserves moisture which is already in the soil. Thus, conservation tillage has a definite value, which is magnified in years of low moisture.

NITRATE CONVERSION TABLE ppm NO3-N in Irrigation Water

Water Applied	5	10	15	20	25	30	40	50
6"	6.8	14	20	27	34	41	54	68
12"	18	37	54	72	89	107	136	170
18"	27	54	81	108	135	162	216	270
24"	36	72	108	144	180	216	288	360

If you know the nitrate concentration of your groundwater and the amount of water you pump, the above table can help you determine the amount of nitrogen available to your crop.
