Wakefield boosters traveled to several other area towns for rallies.

Celebration Set For Wakefield's 100th Birthday

Persons travelling to the community of Wakefield this week may get carried away. Carried away in a current of excitement that will take them back before the turn of the century — when skirts were long and buggy rides were short.

RESIDENTS OF the small community — population 1,126 — are bustling this week to complete plans for the town's 100th birthday party.

Mayor Lefty Olson said former residents, friends and relatives from all corners of the United States are expected to return for the celebration, which begins Thursday and concludes Sunday with a baseball game.

ON TAP Thursday are bed races, a micro-mini tractor pull, judging of families, a beard and whisker contest, and crowning of the King and Queen of the Grand Generation.

The Baumann Shows Carnival will set up on Main Street Thursday through Saturday with rides, amusement stands and other activities for both young and old.

Thursday's program begins at 2:30 p.m. with a micro-mini tractor pull. Randy Blafert, chairman, said those planning to enter are to be on the street north of the Wakefield National Bank about one-half hour before the event.

STEVE Greve, chairman of the bed races, said more entries are needed for the event, which begins at 6 p.m. Entries may be made by calling Greve at 287-2924. Starting positions will be made at 5:30 p.m.

The King and Queen of the Grand Generation will be crowned in ceremonies at 7:30 p.m.

Candidates are Albert Anderson, Robert E. Anderson, Clifford Busby, Verner (Dutch) Fischer and Paul Soderberg for King, and Mrs. Ruth Anderson, Mrs. Mabel Fleethood, Mrs. Martha Johnson, Mrs. Edith Hanson and Mrs. Clara Nelson for Queen.

Following the crowning, there will be judging of families. According to chairman Mrs. Eleanor Johnson, several categories of costumes will be judged.

JUDGING of the beards and whiskers will be held following the family judging. Chairmen are Gene Brown and Willie Nixon.

In the event of rain, all of Thursday's activities, with the exception of the bed races, will be held at the school.

Announcers Thursday will be Mert Nixon and Pete Brown.

There will be a ball game Thursday night at 8:15 between Arlington and the local Town Team.

TWO GRAND parades will be held Friday and Saturday, at 6 p.m. both days.

Chairmen Don Rouse and Berneal Gustafson said over 125 entries have been made.

They include the Shriners Brass Band and the Abu Bekr Clowns from Sioux City, Eagles clown unit from South Sioux City, Crimson Cadets of Norfolk, Rivercade Royalty, Nebraska Honey Queen, a six pony hitch belonging to Edwin Flammang of Sioux City, a stage coach and the Pipes and Drums from Omaha.

The Trojan Band, Wakefield's Queens, saddle clubs, machinery and trucks also will be entered, as well as antique cars. Many of the antique cars and trucks will be on display following the parade, according to chairman Dale Anderson.

A PEDAL tractor pull for youngsters ages four through nine will begin at 8 p.m. Friday on the street north of the bank.

Chairman Bill Matthes said tractors will be furnished for youngsters who do not have one. Trophies will be awarded by the Happy Homemakers Club to the first-place winners in each division.

SATURDAY'S events kick off with a two-mile fun run at 8 a.m., with Tim and Les Beebe in-charge of the event.

All entrants will receive a tee shirt.

The Wakefield Horse Puller Association will serve a barbecue Saturday starting at 5 p.m. on the street north of the fire hall.

6 Families Find Warmth in Hoskins Woodpile

By Randall Howell

Three years ago, Kenneth Elkins bartered 48 bales of hay for a goat farmer's woodburning stove.

A year ago, Elkins and five other Hoskins men, who turned to woodburning stoves in an effort to cut home heating costs, swapped their labor for the wood in a farmer's tree claim.

Today, six Hoskins families have a community woodpile big enough to keep their homes heated for the next three winters.

"WHEN WE BOUGHT this place, it was all broome hay," Elkins, 37, a Johnstown native, said. "I mowed and baled it. We had all kinds of hay... 48 bales."

Elkins had no livestock to feed it too, so he found someone who did.

"This guy had some goats and a wood-burning stove," Elkins continued. "I wanted a woodburning stove, so I traded him 48 bales of hay for it."

Elkins put it in the family's mobile home and began — for the first time in his life — cutting wood out the trees that grow along Spring Branch Creek. The creek cuts three sides of his 2-acre spread.

ELKINS, HIS wife, Shirley, 42, and their two daughters, Jody, 13, and Theresa, 9, are living in the mobile home while building their own house in the northeast corner of the parcel.

Along the southern edge of their property is the community woodpile — 12 neatly stacked piles of wood that each measure about 5 feet wide by 12 feet long and 7 feet high.

The wood, which represents seven months of weekend chainsawing, hauling and splitting, is only part of the tree-claim fuel Elkins and his fellow woodburners — Gene Brudigan, Harold Brudigan, Dan Painter, Al Broeckemeier and Kennard Wockmann — gathered from October of 1980 to April of 1981.

Beyond the 12 stacks are several more piles of firewood — some in rough-cut lengths, others in unsplit cordwood lengths and still another massive pile near the splitter that is twice the size of the split stacks.

FURTHERMORE, woodpiles on Gene Brudigan's home and Wockmann's home, when combined, would "about equal" the amount stored on the Elkins spread.

"We figure we've got enough for all of us for three years without cutting down another tree," said Elkins, an employee of Harding Glass in Norfolk.

But, the crew plans to cut down more trees. "We've got another tree claim lined up for this fall over by Foster," he said. "This time we'll only be taking out the dead trees, primarily ash."

The first tree-claim, which was primarily cottonwood, was on a farm near Petersburg — about 54 miles from Hoskins.

"THEY (THE owners) were going to put in a center-pivot irrigation system on this quarter of land, but the tree claim cut the quarter in two," Elkins explained. "The farmer was going to bulldoze the trees, so we agreed to cut them and clear the claim."

The six-man crew, working nearly every weekend except Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's, took chainsaws and a skid loader to bring back the 28 straight truckloads and one tractor-trailer load of wood that the claim yielded.

The tree claim was about a quarter-mile long, according to Elkins. He said the width was about 100 yards.

This fall's project is a tree claim that's smaller — about an eighth of a mile long and 60 yards wide. The crew won't clear cut it, but will take all the dead trees for six families that use woodburning stoves to heat their Hoskins homes.

ELKINS SAID that while he was starting to use wood as a fuel to heat his mobile home, a couple of other Hoskins families also were trying it. Among them were the Arvon Krugers and the Dick Hebers.

"I was cutting dead wood out of those trees," he said, pointing to the creek bank stand. "Harold Brudigan got started too. People just started cutting down dead trees around here to fuel their woodburning stoves. But we were running out of trees."

That's when the Petersburg farmer approached the families regarding the tree claim clear-cut.

By that time, the six family group had been established and the project was on. Wockmann, who has a large woodburning furnace to heat his Hoskins farm home, stores a pile of lengths, according to Elkins. His furnace, which has a backup system, can handle the lengths.

Other members of the community wood pile group need the fuel in split cordwood lengths, Elkins explained.

ALL SIX FAMILIES use wood and wood-burning stoves as a primary heat source, Elkins said. The Brudigans not only heat their homes, but also burn wood at their Hoskins machine shops.

Elkins said he has a propane backup system for his mobile home, but his family uses wood for heating from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. daily throughout the cold months.

"Last year our fuel bill was less than $200 for the full year," he said. Elkins said the family was sold on it to the point of planning to install two woodburning stoves

Kenneth Elkins, his wife, Shirley, and daughter, Theresa, at the Hoskins woodpile.

Adventurous Redeemerites Canoe Down Niobrara River

"Oar to the left!" No, No, to the right, to the right! Watch out for that big rock!"
I told you we were going to run right on top that sand bar!"
If you've never been canoeing then you've never been caught up in the excitement of trying to steer clear — of sand bars, rocks, trees, the river banks, and, yes, even other canoes.

ON SATURDAY, June 13, about 85 members of Wayne's Redeemer Lutheran Church packed their bags and headed to the Niobrara for a day of canoeing.
For many it was the first time they had ever tried to propel anything without a motor.
Many of the first time canoeers claimed to be pretty fair hands when it came to guiding a motorboat — including Wayne's Dave Kruse. But Dave was whistling a different tune last weekend as he glided down the Niobrara — backwards, sideways, into the banks, and on top the sand bars.

THE CANOE trip, an idea originated by Redeemerite Roger Lentz, with a lot of assistance from Clay Ellingson, was the first such trip ever attempted by the church.
The group left in a caravan of 13 cars about noon Saturday from the church and arrived at Sunny Brook Camp, about 30 miles from Valentine, five hours later.

As the men and women unloaded their cars, vans, and campers, the sunny weather provided a perfect opportunity for many of the youngsters — and adults — to wade in the warm, shallow waters of the Niobrara.
After setting up camp, it was supper time. Later, there was volleyball for all ages, a marshmallow roast, and singing around the campfire to the guitar music of Sue Olson. Then to bed.

WHAT SEEMED like a very, very short time later, campers were awakened at the crack of dawn. Not by the roosters — which wouldn't have been so bad — but by Roger and his "magic" whistle.
The 85 campers always knew what time it was — time to eat, time to sleep, time to canoe and time to stop — all at the foot of a whistle.
Following a brief outdoor worship service, prepared by the Rev. Daniel Monson, the canoeers loaded into pickups for a 24 mile trip — the beginning of their journey by canoes.

THE 34 CANOES began the six hour, 24-mile journey about four miles east of Valentine.
Old Mother Nature decided to test the first time canoeers on Sunday as she sent much cooler weather, rain, and heavy breezes. But for the canoeers it was a simple matter of dressing a little warmer and paddling a little harder.
The rainy weather didn't come close to dampening the high spirits of the 85 adventurers.

ABOUT FOUR hours later and 16 miles downstream, canoes pulled to shore — at Brewer Bridge — for a lunch of ham sandwiches and potato salad, then on another 10 miles before pulling up in front of camp.
The entire trip lasted five to five and a half hours in a current traveling about 7 miles an hour.
Of the 34 canoes traveling downstream, six overturned before the journey was ended.

WOULD THE group do it all over again? You bet!
Although Roger and Clay spent nearly two and a half months and many hours organizing the excursion, both said they enjoyed doing it and hope to help organize another such trip next year.

"Many of the canoeers requested we do it again," said Roger, adding that he was overwhelmed by the many cards of thanks he has received in the week since the trip.
Roger said the canoe trip began as a project for about 30 young adults of the church. Plans blossomed as church members of all ages expressed interest in taking part.
"Many persons deserve a big thanks for their help in making the entire weekend one of fun, fellowship and adventure," said Roger.

Roger especially credits his wife Lynette for her work in lining up all the food for the weekend, with the assistance of several other women of the church.

THE RINGING of the Redeemer Lutheran Church bells at 10:30 Sunday night as the group pulled up to the church signaled the end of a weekend that many simply summed up as "an experience" — one they're anxious to repeat.

FRITZ ELLIS WILL REMEMBER to ask for the instructions next time he borrows a tent for camping. Fritz, top left, spent most of Saturday evening trying to figure out which poles went where. When asked how much it rained Saturday night, Fritz said two inches — "all in my tent." Clay Ellingson, bottom left, mixes hamburger while paying little attention to a stray dog begging to join the group for supper. Canoeing isn't just rowing. Keith and Cheryl Kopperud, bottom right, discovered it's also carrying your canoe to the start of your destination. "Stay to the left," says Debra Panterick, center photo, as he and five-year-old Jeff Luschen guide Scott Johnson as he pushes the two in a rubber raft near camp before supper Saturday. In the photo at top right, campers prepare to embark on their journey down the Niobrara.

SHANNON HOPKINS of Laurel scores a run as Winside's Mark Koch tries to cover home. Umpire is Russ Gade.

In Ralph Bishop Race

Laurel Balance Keys Win

Ron Hirschman slugged a grand slam homer in the bottom of the sixth inning to give his team a 10-run rule win as Laurel's Legion thumped Winside 13-0, Friday night in Ralph Bishop League play.

Hirschman's homer over the right field fence backed the strong pitching performance of Lon Swanson Swanson recorded 14 strikeouts in 6 innings and gave up only one hit.

WINSIDE SECOND baseman Jon Meierhenry put an end to Swanson's bid for a perfect game by drilling a base hit over second base. In the second inning Meierhenry was the only Winside player to reach base.

Laurel's defense was seldom tested and played errorless ball. In addition to Swanson's 14 strikeouts, the other four outs were recorded on two grounders and two fly balls.

The hosts led 9-0 entering the bottom of the sixth. With bases loaded and one out, Hirschman clubbed a curve ball over the right field fence to end the game.

Matt Johnson scored the first run of the inning after reaching base when Winside's catcher dropped a third strike. Brian Marquardt drew a walk and Dave Marquardt singled to score Johnson.

SCOTT NORVELL walked to load the bases. Brian Marquardt was thrown out at home plate when Bryan Buss hit into a fielder's choice. Bases were still loaded and Hirschman took advantage of the situation to uncork his homer.

Laurel took a 4-0 lead in the first inning on two base hits, two walks and a pair of errors. Shannon Hopkins, Brian Marquardt, Dave Marquardt and Joe Olsen scored the runs. Hopkins had a hit and Olsen had a run scoring double.

In the second inning, Jamie Johnson and Brian Marquardt each scored. Laurel appeared to have at least one more run in the inning but a base running error nullified the run.

With Brian Marquardt on third base and Dave Marquardt on second, Olsen ripped a long fly to right field. The ball hit the top bar on the fence—just an inch short of a home run—and bounced up in fair territory.

THE BALL WAS nabbed in the air and while running home. Dave Marquardt passed brother Brian in the confusion of the play. He was called out and only one run counted.

The hosts added a pair of runs in the fourth. Jamie Johnson led off with a bloop double and scored from third one out later on a sacrifice fly by Brian Marquardt. Dave Marquardt singled and took second on a passed ball. A base hit by Scott Norvell scored Marquardt.

In Ralph Bishop League Midget and Legion action scheduled tonight (Monday) Winside will host Bancroft and Laurel will travel to Emerson.

Kids Texas Scramble Is Held at Wayne CC

The youth of Wayne got a taste of golf competition in a junior Texas scramble held Friday morning at the Wayne Country Club.

Two teams tied with scores of 24 in the five-hole event. The team of Steve Marra, Jon Stollenberg, Jill Jordan, Bob Sherman and Bill Sperry tied the team of Kevin Griess, Heidi Reeg, Terri Hansen, Stacy Mau and Andrea Marsh.

Third place in the competition went to the team of Jed Reeg, Ted Lueders, Kip Mau and Jody Dillman. The team which won the putting contest was made up of Pat Melena, Ted McCright, Lisa McDermott, Shelly Pick and Shaun Nutzman.

Wisner Nips Wayne in Nine

In a big Ralph Bishop League matchup, Wisner's Junior Legion nipped Wayne 4-3 in nine innings, Friday night.

Wayne collected 12 hits in the contest while Wisner was limited to 8 hits by pitcher Kevin Nissen who went the distance.

However, Wisner took advantage of its hits to push across one extra run. A single with one out and bases loaded in the bottom of the ninth inning scored the winning run.

WAYNE HAD RUNNERS on third base in the seventh and ninth innings but left the runner stranded. Both innings came to a close with strikeouts.

After Nissen held the opponents to one single in the first three innings, Wisner scored a pair of runs in the bottom of the fourth on two hits, an error and a walk.

Wayne came back to tie the game in the top of the fifth. Tod Heier opened the inning with a base hit but was forced out when Nissen hit into a fielder's choice.

Then, Pat McCright came through by slugging a three-bagger. Brian Fleming's base hit scored McCright for the tying run.

The locals scored again in the sixth inning but Wisner countered. Wayne's Jere Morris doubled, moved to third on an outfielder's error and scored on a passed ball.

UNFORTUNATELY for Wayne, Wisner came right back with a run. An error, a walk and two base hits tied the score at 3-3 by the end of the sixth inning.

The seventh and eighth innings went by with neither team scoring. Wayne stranded McCright on third base in the seventh inning and again in the ninth. Wisner stranded a runner on third in the eighth.

Finally, the hosts pulled the victory out by recording two hits and drawing two walks in the ninth. Bases were loaded with one out when the winning single was made.

Wayne outhit Wisner 12-8 but lost out on the scoreboard.

Wayne is scheduled to play at Wakefield tonight (Monday) and at Emerson Friday in more Ralph Bishop League play. Because renovation work on the Wayne ball field is not completed, Wayne will play most of its games on the road. The games against Wakefield and Emerson were originally scheduled at the Wayne ball park.

The Ralph Bishop League leaders in the Midget division moved a step closer to a league championship, Friday.

Wayne's Midgets dumped Winside 8-1 to keep their unbeaten record intact.

Steve Overin pitched a two-hitter and Wayne's offense collected eight hits while rolling to a big win. A four-run first inning was the key to victory.

Midgets Keep Ralph Bishop Lead With 8-1 Road Win over Wisner

The Ralph Bishop League leaders in the Midget division moved a step closer to a league championship, Friday.

Wayne's Midgets dumped Winside 8-1 to keep their unbeaten record intact.

Steve Overin pitched a two-hitter and Wayne's offense collected eight hits while rolling to a big win. A four-run first inning was the key to victory.

THE FIRST FOUR Wayne batters scored and the hosts were never able to recover. After Jeff Jorgensen singled and Overin walked, Jeff McCright ripped a run-scoring double.

Overin scored from third on a passed ball and McCright scored when Wisner booted an infield grounder by Chris Wieseler. Wieseler scored two outs later when Wisner's first baseman made an error on Tim Heier's grounder.

Wieseler scored again in the top of the third. He led off with a singled and Chad Dorsey collected another hit. A walk drawn by Mark Kubik loaded the bases and Wieseler came home on a wild pitch.

Wisner scored its only run in the bottom of the fourth on three errors and a base hit. Overin got all three outs with strikeouts.

IN THE FIFTH inning, the locals padded their lead with three more runs.

Kubik, Heier and Kevin Maly made the score 8-1. Kubik reached base on a fielder's choice. Heier singled and Maly reached on an error. With bases loaded, Randy Gamble pounded a three-run double.

Wayne is scheduled to play at Wakefield tonight (Monday) and at Emerson Friday. Those games were originally scheduled to be played in Wayne but the Wayne ball park is not ready.

Froeschle Hopes for State Bid

Cole Froeschle of Wayne may have won a berth in the Nebraska State Big 1 Golf Tournament scheduled July 23-24 at Kearney Country Club.

Froeschle, playing Friday in the Big 1 Tourney at Norfolk, shot an 18 hole total of 78. He won the 15 and under division by winning a sudden death playoff against Bill Schwarley of Norfolk. His score placed him fourth overall in the competition among golfers age 17 and under.

The top three or four golfers will qualify for the state tourney. Districts with the most competitors will be awarded four qualifiers while smaller districts will be awarded three.

Three other Wayne golfers competed in the tourney at Norfolk. Brad Moore shot an 86, Tom Perry shot an 88 and John Carhart carded a 97.

THESE SIX Wayne youngsters are getting ready for the city's kiddie parade, part of a Moonlight Madness promotion that starts at 7 p.m. Tuesday. Parade time is 7:30 p.m. on Wayne's Main Street. Participating in the pajama promenade will be Joel Pedersen, Ann Swerczek, Eric Liska, Jason Liska, Andrea Marsh and Kim Liska.

Wayne Moonlight Madness Tuesday

The moon is on the wane and when it comes to Wayne Tuesday night, there'll be nothing but madness throughout the business district. Wayne's lunatic fringe — those merchants who've brought you past promotions — have ganged up again for Moonlight Madness. Moonstruck merchants plan to lock front doors at 5 p.m. sharp, but they'll be back at 7 p.m. in pajamas and nightgowns to welcome the first beaming customers.

FROM THEN on it's sale time in the stores, as costumed crazies compete for your last dime while the moon turns to its last quarter. At 7:30 p.m. pajama clad kids will march down Main Street in a Kiddie Parade that starts at the Wellman's Griess parking lot and ends at First Street.

Each marcher will get a Susan B. Anthony silver dollar for the promotion promenade. Judges will review employee costumes throughout the evening. A best costume winner will be selected, though store managers and owners do not qualify, according to Randy Pedersen, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Retail Committee. Prize for the best costume is a steak dinner for two, Pedersen said.

IN ADDITION to the city wide shopper sales promotion, each participating merchant will be featuring special priced merchandise. In store contests and some real crazy cost cutting for consumers.

Pedersen the chamber's Retail Committee, which sponsors the once a year bargain bonanza, has set no limit on hours merchants can be open.

He said shoppers might want to bring pajamas along because bargain hunting may extend into the wee hours of the morning. "Just to show shoppers how crazy we are about this Moonlight Madness, we've decided to offer customers free parking just to get in on the sales."

When reminded that Wayne shoppers have always parked free, Pedersen shook his head muttering, "It's madness. I tell you, sheer Moonlight Madness — five got it already."

Fifth and Main Streets. There will be cash prizes and a free ride ticket for each entrant, courtesy of the Wakefield Community Club.

FOLLOWING the Grand Parade Saturday evening, the Pied Pipers, a family comedy theatre, will present a program at 8 p.m. in the Wakefield city park.

Admission will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for youngsters.

SATURDAY evening, at 8 p.m., there will be a ball game between the Wakefield and South Sioux City American Legion Junior teams.

the street north of the fire hall, with music by Avatar. The American Legion also will hold a dance at the Legion Hall with the Artie Schmidt Combo furnishing the music.

Admission at both dances will be $1.50 a couple or $1 for an individual.

SUNDAY'S events will start off with a barbecue sponsored by the Wakefield Horse Puller Association at 11 a.m. on the grounds west of the high school.

Beginning at 1 p.m., the Wakefield Horse Pullers Association will have a draft team horse and mule pull. It will be a sanctioned pull with a $2,000 purse.

Chairmen Merl Nixon and Eugene Bartels said there will be teams from Nebraska, South Dakota, Iowa, Kansas, and possibly other states.

Dick and Dan, Canadian horse pulling champions, are scheduled to participate in the event. The five-year-old team from Watertown, S. D. won the championship at Regina, Saskatchewan in 1980.

THERE ALSO will be a display of antique cars and machinery Sunday.

An Arts and Crafts Festival will be held at the school on Sunday from 2 to 6 p.m.

The four-day celebration will close Sunday evening at 8 o'clock with a town team baseball game with Valley.
