Two Join City's Planners; Panel Picks New Chairman

Wayne's City Planning Commission has reorganized with members electing Glen Ellingson, local auto dealer and former Chamber of Commerce president, as chairman.

During a short July meeting in City Council chambers at City Hall Monday night, the commission paid a tribute to retiring chairman Dan Sherry, who ended his second three year term five minutes into the session.

Ellingson, 60, president of Ellingson Motors Inc. was first elected temporary chairman of the commission's reorganizational meeting.

Minutes later Ellingson, who has served two years, was the unanimous choice of the commission for the chairmanship post.

Elected vice chairman was Richard Keidel, 41, pharmacist and owner of Sav Mor Drugs Inc.

Keidel, who along with his wife Becky owns and operates drug stores in Wayne and Laurel and a gift store in Denison, Iowa, is in his third term on the commission. He is a past chamber board member.

Robert Meyer, 34, data processing manager at Carhart Lumber Co., was re-elected commission secretary.

Meyer, who has served on the commission for several years, was first elected secretary one year ago.

TWO NEW members joined the commission Tuesday night.

Ron Sladek, 41, president of First Savings of Wayne, and Virgil Kardell, 60, a farmer who lives in the city, accepted positions on the commission.

The two were officially appointed, with City Council approval, by Mayor Wayne Marsh last week.

Sladek and Kardell fill vacancies on the board created by the resignation of Sherry and Dr. Ken Liska, a Wayne veterinarian. Liska had served as vice chairman. Terms for Sherry and Liska expired at midnight June 30. Both declined reappointment.

ELLINGSON, a Minnesota native, was appointed to the commission to replace former member Walt Moeller.

Born in Austin, Minn., Ellingson came to Wayne about seven years ago from LeRoy, Minn. He and his wife, Verneal, have nine children.

Ellingson, who has served on the chamber's Wayne Industries Committee, and his son Grant are partners in the automobile dealership, where another son, Clay, works. Two sons, Jon and Cedric, are at home. The Ellingson's other children are in Omaha (1), Minnesota (2) and Oklahoma (2).

Keidel, a Stuart native, began work at Sav Mor in 1967. He and his wife Becky, who also serves on the Wayne Carroll School Board, bought the Wayne drug store in 1971.

The couple, owners and operators of Sav Mor Drugs Inc., have two children, Jeff, 13, and Bethany, 11.

MEYER, a West Point native, came to Wayne seven years ago when he joined Carhart Lumber Co. A veteran of 6 1/2 years in the Army, Meyer and his wife, Margie, have a son, Jeremy, 2.

Sladek, a Creighton native, was a vice president with Omaha National Bank before coming to Wayne two years ago.

During his five years in Omaha banking, Sladek served as president of the Metropolitan Bankers Credit Association. He is treasurer of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce and is on the chamber's board of directors.

He and his wife, Burnice, have two sons, Mike, 18, and Steve, 17.

KARDELL, a Laurel area native, moved to the Wayne area in 1941 where he and his wife, Verna, farmed just east of the city. They continue to farm over 400 acres there.

The couple has three children — a daughter, Janet, in Wayne, a son, Terry, in St. Paul, and a son, Virgil Leon, in Wayne.

Other commission members include Tony Netherland, an instructor at Wayne State College, and Dr. Sid Hillier, a Wayne chiropractor.

Here We Go to The Chicken Show

FEATHERS WERE FLYING IN WAYNE Saturday morning as the community's salute to the chicken kicked off with a Kid's Chicken Parade through downtown. Despite hot, humid weather, hundreds of persons lined the streets as the young feathered friends paraded past them in their chicken garb. Activities continued throughout the day with a variety of events, all designed to salute the chicken. They included a chicken look-alike contest, chicken sculpture contest, biggest chicken egg contest, races and walks, chicken flying contest, cluck-cluck golf, chicken hat style show, rooster legs look-alike contest, and egg juggling. Hundreds of egg lovers stood in line for a free omelet feed sponsored by the Milton G. Waldbaum Co. of Wakefield.

NASA Specialist Certifies Teachers To Handle Lunar Classroom Samples

By Theresa Wolf

After over an hour of moon films and instructions, Dean Metz suggested a break for the teachers at the briefing.

Instructor Rod Collins agreed. He stood out in the hall, keeping a close eye on his materials on the table.

Seeing another teacher walk by with a cup of coffee, he decided to run up to the lounge and get one for himself. His materials, forgotten only for a minute, laid unattended on the table.

He returned to his post in the hall and enjoyed his coffee, his materials forgotten for the moment. But a few close observers reminded him of what he had left, and Collins grimaced as he, too, remembered what he had left behind for only a few short moments.

WHAT COULD someone have in a classroom that would be so valuable?

Three fragments of moon rock and three samples of moon soil — a "priceless" result of six moon landings between 1969-72.

Rod Collins is an aerospace education specialist for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. He was in Wayne

Thursday and Friday, helping Wayne State science instructor Dean Metz with his Aerospace Education Workshop.

Friday's session was a three-hour Lunar Briefing Certification course.

THE COURSE, taken by about 20 teachers and future teachers, is necessary to order the moon samples from NASA for classroom use.

The samples — six in all, about one-half inch in diameter — come encapsulated in a six-inch diameter disc of clear Lucite. And teachers almost have to become security guards to follow NASA's prescribed procedures for the samples.

The disc must be kept in a safe or vault with a combination lock. The vault can be at the school or the teacher's home as long as no high-theft valuables, such as jewelry, are in the safe.

NASA must also know the names of all those who know the safe's combination. Campus or school security personnel must know that the disc is there and where it is at all times.

COLLINS ALSO said that the disc must be under the control of the authorized person. It must not be loaned — teachers can't leave it for a moment, even if they have locks on their classroom doors.

"You take it to lunch with you, to the bathroom with you, everywhere — or you put it back in the safe," he explained.

The disc may be displayed at a mall or other similar place, but it can't be used for promotion by a specific store. And it must be guarded constantly while displayed.

If the disc is lost or damaged, the authorized person must contact NASA immediately. An FBI investigation will follow if the disc is lost.

"No one has ever lost a disc, so I don't know what they do when one is lost. But don't bother requesting another if you do lose it," Collins told the group. "You won't get it."

The discs are a "priceless" national treasure. If you divide the total cost of the space program by the 842 pounds of rock brought back, then these samples are worth over $100,000. But they just can't be replaced," he emphasized.

Wedding Bells to Ring for Four Couples

Rhodes-Thies

Mr. and Mrs. Derald Rice of Concord and Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Thies of Winside announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their children, Dina Lynn Rhodes and Dwayne LeRoy Thies.

The bride elect, a 1978 graduate of Laurel Concord High School, will graduate from Wayne State College in December with majors in Spanish and sociology. She is employed at Taco del Sol in Wayne. Her fiancé, a 1976 graduate of Winside High School and a 1978 graduate of Northeast Technical Community College, Norfolk, is employed at LaPorte Implement, Wakefield.

The couple plans an Oct. 17 wedding at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne.

Ditman-Christiansen

Making plans for an Aug. 22 wedding at Pacific Hills Lutheran Church, Omaha, are Debra Ditman and Martin Christiansen.

Their engagement has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Robert Ditman and Barbara Ditman of Omaha. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Christiansen, Fremont.

Miss Ditman, a 1976 graduate of Grand Island Northwest High School, plans to graduate from Wayne State College in December 1981. She is majoring in art, physical education and elementary education.

Her fiancé is a 1975 graduate of Fremont High School and a 1981 graduate of Wayne State, where he majored in broadcasting and theatre. He is a six year member of the Nebraska National Guard and a salesman for T & C Electronics, Wayne.

Kudera-Colehour

The engagement of Barbara Jean Kudera to Larry Colehour has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kudera of Greeley, Colo., formerly of Hoskins.

Miss Kudera is a sister of Mrs. Harold Brudigan and a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bergstadt, all of Hoskins. She attended Greeley Central High School and is employed at Greeley National Bank. Her fiancé, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Colehour of Stone City, Iowa, attended Anamosa High School, Anamosa, Iowa. He is employed at Central Medical Supply, Greeley, Colo.

The couple plans a Sept. 5 wedding at the Christian Lutheran Church, Greeley.

Schleicher-Hasenkamp

Making plans for an Aug. 8 wedding at the First Lutheran Church in Fremont are Sandra Schleicher and Donald Hasenkamp.

Their engagement and approaching marriage have been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Schleicher of Fremont. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Hasenkamp of Scribner.

Miss Schleicher, a 1978 graduate of Fremont High School, is employed at Ace Hardware in Fremont. Her fiancé was graduated from Scribner High School in 1972 and from Wayne State College in 1976. He will be on the staff at Wayne State.

LaPierre-Roberts Wed

Betty Jean LaPierre and Robert Dean Roberts, both of Lincoln, exchanged wedding vows July 3 in the home of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Ann Roberts of Wayne.

The bridegroom is the son of the late Tom Roberts of Carroll.

The Rev. Robert Haas of Wayne officiated at the 6 o'clock double ring ceremony. Honor attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Henschke of Wayne.

They are making their home at 3235 S. 14th, Apt. 1, in Lincoln.

'46 Classmates Return to Wakefield

Members of the 1946 graduating class of Wakefield Community School returned for a 35 year reunion June 24.

Attending the reunion at the Wakefield Chuck Wagon were Dick Kai of Pender, Mrs. James (Betty Conner) Yunek of Lake City, Iowa, Mrs. Wesley (Leola Grimm) Anderson of Wausau, Lee Stauffer of Minneapolis, Minn., Mrs. Buck (Phyllis Schlines) Adink of Doniphan, Mrs. Edwin (Wilma Eckman) Knuth and Mrs. William (Dorothy Sundell) Freeman, both of Omaha, Lyle Park of Oakland, Mrs. William (Helen Holm) Domsch and Mrs. Melvin (Neva Jorgenson) Kremer, both of Wakefield, Adelyn Johnson of Long Beach, Calif., Mrs. C. C. (Janice Wendell) Marshall of Wahoo, and Mrs. Earl (Wilma Albertson) Eckert of Dixon.

THE MAN and woman attending the reunion from the farthest distance were Lee Stauffer of Minneapolis, Minn., and Adelyn Johnson of Long Beach, Calif. Neva Kremer was recognized for being married the longest.

and Phyllis Adink for being the most recently married. The person who changed the least was Dick Kai.

Also recognized were Lyle Park, the most children; Leola Anderson, the most grand children, and Dick Kai, the youngest grandchild.

The first person to respond to letters sent announcing the reunion was Adelyn Johnson. Recognition also went to Betty Yunek, who played a clarinet solo at graduation. Ceramic gifts were presented to each of those recognized. Lee Stauffer had the specially marked nut cup and received the door prize.

TABLES were decorated with vases of carnations. Receiving the centerpieces for celebrating their birthdays closest to June 24 were Janice Marshall, Dorothy Freeman and Velma Knuth.

Wilma Eckert made ceramic prizes and Helen Domsch made the crocheted nut cups.

The school colors of maroon and gray were carried out in the decorations.

Four-H'ers Learn Photography Tips

Seventeen Dixon County 4-H members brought their cameras, films and snap shots to a photography workshop held at the Northeast Station, near Concord, on July 8.

Glen Fluent of Newcastle was guest instructor. He discussed care of camera and films, photo composition, and tips for improving photography techniques.

Four H'ers judged each others photographs, and Fluent commented on points to consider when taking pictures.

THE FOLLOWING 4-H'ers attended: Mitch Pettit, Jennifer Benstead, Donna Rahn, Jeanne Warner and Linda Wood, all of Allen; Brian Bartels, Tom Crossdale, Dawn Boatman, Sheri Pearson, William Miller, Desiree Salmon and Suzanne Stelling, all of Wakefield; Debbie Gathie and Karen Rehm, both of Laurel; Pam Ruwe of Wayne; and Arnie Starling and Chona Van Buskirk of Dixon.

Also attending were Mrs. Bev Ruwe of Wayne and Mrs. Sharon Crossdale of Wakefield.

ARRANGEMENTS for the workshop were made by Anna Marie White, Dixon County Extension Home Economist.

Granquists Honored

The children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Granquist, Wayne, hosted an open house reception Sunday, July 5, honoring the couple's golden wedding anniversary.

About 100 friends and relatives, registered by Tina and Christie Granquist, attended the reception at the Hillcrest Care Center in Laurel.

THE CAKE was cut and served by Mrs. Jerry Granquist, Sheri and Jill Short served coffee and punch.

Assisting with serving were Mrs. Gilbert Granquist and Mrs. Rollee Granquist.

HARRY AND Vernice Granquist were married Nov. 21, 1931, in Omaha and have lived in the Wayne vicinity since that time. Their children are Gilbert Granquist of Colorado Springs, Colo.; Mrs. Mary Short of Evergreen, Colo.; Rollee Granquist of Laurel; and Terry Granquist of Lorette, Wyo. There are 10 grandchildren.

250 Attend Alumni Banquet at Concord

Over 250 persons from 13 states and 22 Nebraska communities attended the Concord School alumni banquet Saturday, June 27 at the Concord School auditorium. LeRoy Creamer of Dixon welcomed the alumni and guests. He also introduced the master of ceremonies, Waldo Johnson of Wayne.

Lisa and Susan Erwin presented several musical selections of past years. The evening ended with reminiscing.

The banquet was catered by Mr. and Mrs. Herb Niemann of Wayne.

Baier President of Historical Society

Richard Baier was elected president of the Wayne County Historical Society at a meeting June 30.

Other officers are Bill Burris, vice president; Coreen Bard, secretary; and Leon Meyer, treasurer.

Dr. Lyle Seymour was re-elected to the board of directors, and Eleanor Edwards and Flora Bergt were re-elected new board members. They will be installed in October.

MARIAN Jordan, Donna Shuffelt and Eleanor Edwards reported on the progress of the Wayne County History Book.

The society plans to again sponsor a table fashions show in October.

WILMA Johnson, museum curator, announced that a local women's shop has presented four mannikins to the museum.

Mrs. Johnson said the mannikins have been gowned in dresses and hats from the collection of Mrs. Amos Claycomb.

They are on display in the four main rooms of the museum during the summer.

THE MUSEUM will be open each Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. until the Christmas holidays.

THE REV. Doniver Peterson of Wayne led the group in prayer. Special recognition went to the classes of 1931 and 1956. A brief business meeting included the appointment of a new steering committee for the next reunion in five years.

Senior Women's Tourney

Muffly Edges McDermott

Jo Muffly sank a long putt on the first hole to win a sudden death playoff for the championship of the Wayne Women's Senior Golf Tournament played Wednesday at Wayne Country Club.

Muffly and Evie McDermott were tied for championship honors with identical 46's. A sudden death playoff ended on hole number when Muffly's putting stroke came alive.

The top two places were awarded based on scratch score while all other places were determined by use of handicaps.

First place in the handicap division was won by Marge Reeg with a scratch score of 68 and handicap of 40 for a net score of 28. Second place went to Jackie Williams with a gross score of 50 and handicap of 20 for a net score of 30.

Dottie Wacker shot a 49 with an 18 handicap to take third place with a 31. Three women tied for the next three positions so ties were broken by a sudden death playoff using scorecards.

Lil Surber won the fourth place spot with a 49 total and 17 handicap for a net 32. Glennis Swift took fifth with a 51 and 19 handicap for a 32. Lil Suhr settled for sixth with a score of 68 and handicap of 36 for a net total of 32.

Another tie resulted in a scorecard playoff for seventh and eighth places. Mylet McGath earned seventh with a 60 total and 16 handicap for a 33. Ella Lutt also had a 33 net score after shooting a 63 with a 30 handicap.

Glennis Swift won an award for low number of putts with 15.

Wayne Community Tennis Tourney Is Now Less Than Two Weeks Away

Tennis players in northeast Nebraska are invited to test their skills in the Wayne Community Tennis Open, scheduled Saturday and Sunday, July 25 and 26.

The two-day, non-sanctioned tourney is scheduled to begin at 8 a.m. on July 25 at the Wayne State College tennis courts. It is open to novice tennis players as well as experts. Tournament directors are Nick and Keith Zimmer.

THE TOURNEY is broken down into 11 divisions. The events are: 14 and under boys singles, 14 and under girls singles, 18 and under girls doubles, 18 and under girls singles, 18 and under boys doubles, 18 and under boys singles, women's open doubles, men's open doubles, men's open singles, men's novice singles (no tournament experience allowed).

One player may enter only two events. An open player cannot play in the novice event. Each event must have at least four entries or it will be cancelled. Entry fee for the tournament is $4 for singles and $6 for doubles team. Entries must be sent to Nick or Keith Zimmer, 519 Crescent Drive, Wayne by the Friday, July 17 deadline.

Anyone interested in competing may clip the entry form attached with this article or pick up an entry form at The Wayne Herald office. Trophies will be awarded to top two finishers in each event. For more information, call 375-1176. In case of a rainout, an announcement will be made on KTCH Radio.

THE FOLLOWING businesses are trophy sponsors: Farmers National Co.; Val's Bakery; Wayne Sporting Goods; Ambig Jr.; Columbus Federal Savings; Surber's Clothing; Midwest Federal Savings and Loan; Kugler Maytag and Frigidare; T & C Electronics; Carhart Lumber Company; the 4th Jug; Gerald's Decorating; Olds, Swarts & Ensz; Rain Tree Drive In; State National Bank; First National Bank; Rise's Hallmark; Stoltenberg Partners; Shear Designs; Tom's Body Shop; Smith's Auto Clinic; Gem Discount; Liquor; Pizza Hut; Godfathers Pizza; Century 21 State National; Rusty Nail.

Timely Hits Trigger Juniors To Victory

The Wayne Junior Legion baseball team collected only four hits Friday night. But the hits couldn't have come at a better time.

The locals scored two runs in the second inning and three in the fourth to top Harlington 5-2 in Ralph Bishop League play at Harlington. The game was originally scheduled in Wayne so Wayne was designated home team.

ALL FOUR HITS were collected in the second and fourth innings. Only two players reached base in the other four innings.

The first two runs were scored in the second inning and Wayne led the remainder of the way Jim Sperry reached base on a fielding error and Kevin Nissen walked. Brian Fleming advanced the runners with a sacrifice bunt. Then with two outs, Pat McCright drilled a key base hit to drive home both runs. In the fourth inning, Nissen singled and scored on a double by Fleming. Fleming came home on a triple by Tod Heier and Heier scored on a sacrifice fly by McCright.

With a 5-0 lead, Wayne gave up one run in the fifth and one in the sixth. An error and triple accounted for the fifth inning run and a walk and base hit accounted for the latter run.

TIM PFEIFFER threw a good ball game for the winners. He held Harlington to five hits and recorded six strikeouts. Losing pitcher was Doug Kedder who threw a four-hitter and had eight strikeouts.

Tonight (Monday) Wayne will travel to Bancroft for another Ralph Bishop League matchup.

Pickup Mud Run Steals Winside's 2-day Show

Old settlers, middle-aged settlers and young settlers wound up in Winside for a two day blowout this week.

From Thursday's noon-day sun to Saturday morning's sunrise, reunion meant meeting old friends, friendly competition, carnival barkers, cotton candy, passing parades, beer-drinkers' elbow, food, mud and no rain.

For the first time in four years, both days of Winside's two day Old Settlers Reunion celebration were sunny from start to finish.

In fact, old timers sat in the shade swapping stories about reunions and rainfall.

BUT, the youngsters, parents in tow, were not content to sit. With Main Street as the carnival midway, they pounded the pavement from food station to fun stallion, pausing only long enough to enter a race or an arm-wrestle in the park.

Thursday night's first-time-ever, 4-wheel drive, pickup mud run stole the show with a four-hour gearjam through a pit of muddy gril.

Spectators, often dodging and sometimes collecting mud, lined the 200-foot trench as stock and modified pickups churned time and time again through fopsoll soup.

Some carried over 100 pounds of mud on doors, windows and fenders as engines hammered and tires whined in an all-out effort to avoid the embarrassment of being pulled backwards from the man-made Winside swamp.

Wausa's Dennis Milander, driving what most observers agreed was a modified muddy-and-green Ford pickup with irrigation-unit tires, was the first to start and finish on dry land just as the sun slipped behind Winside's rolling hillsides.

THERE WERE favorites and fizzes as thousands of dollars worth of steel and rubber rammed over, under and into great goopy globs of Nebraska muck.

Fans ducked and screamed, scraped mud from their faces and clothes and came back to the banks to cheer drivers who dared the wet dirt.

Paying fans lined up two abreast for two city blocks for a $2 shot at four hours of mud and madness.

And, between runs, they watched each other, the little ones and a couple of three-wheeler riders rip down the pit with mud spraying from balloon tires.

Every hard-fought inch brought cheers and beers from the crowd, which filled the bleachers and all the standing room available on either side of the trench just south of the ballpark.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S demolition derby, an Old Settlers Reunion favorite, drew them back during the second day for more mud and the sound of engines, gears, tires and smacking steel.

Fans, their appetites whetted by the Thursday night's filing in the mud, gathered once more after the heat of mid-day had subsided.

They watched and perked as pit crews worked feverishly to keep four wheels turning and engines running for a crack at each other and $1,200 in prize money.

With helmets and white "uncle" flags, drivers silted through the slime for a couple of hours of have-at-it while fans cheered the cars and cursed the mud flung from smoking tires.

And, when it was over, they laughed more and danced the night away.

FROM THURSDAY'S opening three-legged races in the park through the water fights in the middle of west Main Street that same afternoon, Winside was alive with celebration.

After the kids warmed up the fire hoses, firefighters from Winside, Wayne, Carroll and Hoskins squared off under the barrel. Wayne firefighters push Hoskins back for the water fight title.

With stores closed and tractors setting in farmyards for miles around, the celebration caught the fancy of oldsters and youngsters who picked pennies, arm wrestled, pitched horseshoes and lodged their hearts out.

Charlie's Bar Tug O' War team hauled enough rope Friday afternoon to defeat all comers — including the defending champs and a tough carnival crew — in that competition.

COSTUMED KIDS kicked off Friday morning with a parade on west Main Street, just before the Old Settlers Reunion parade pushed through the streets.

Parade watchers lined the streets as floats, horses, fire engines, trucks, convertibles and farm equipment wound its way through the center of town to the tunes of Winside High School's marching musicians and Norfolk's Crimson Cadets, a drum and bugle corps.

With the sounds of "Solid Gold" in the auditorium, the town put its dancing shoes on and tripped the light fantastic during the annual reunion dance.

And, by sunrise, Winside had settled in for the morning after — some already counting the days until next summer's 81st annual celebration.

Know Your P's and Q's When Buying Upholstered Furniture

Do you know your P's and Q's when it comes to buying upholstered furniture?

Evaluating price and quality is difficult when shopping for upholstered pieces because what you get is not only what you see. You also get what you don't see!

High prices do not always indicate high quality. For this reason, do your homework before going shopping for upholstered furniture. Find out what's available and what it costs. Then learn what to look for in quality construction and fabric.

Window-shopping is the best way to find out what's available. Browse through furniture stores of all kinds. Get a broad idea of the market. Keep a furnishing file of things you see in magazines and the like.

READ labels as you browse. Manufacturers who have produced an item of good quality will be eager to let you know about it. You'll find that labels on low-quality furniture have little to say. Decide what style, color, size and price range you will look for and what's most important to you in terms of price and quality. Buying furniture is not too different from buying a new car.

Once your old sofa "quits" on you, you need a new well-constructed basic body for utility and service. But what auxiliary equipment is added onto the very minimum is up to the buyer, how much money he or she wants to spend, and the use.

IF THE new purchase will be just for looks and not used much, different features are called for than when one needs to be dependable enough to travel many miles daily.

Reputable dealers are also important when buying furniture. If you are making a sizeable investment, you want a dealer who will provide service if problems arise. Check to see if there is a guarantee on the furniture you buy.

When determining quality construction, check how the wood joints have been joined and glued. Good quality pieces will be joined with double dowels and glued so there are no gaps. They will also have block reinforced corners.

PUSH the piece of furniture. It should not give to tip easily. Lift it. There should be no movement or shifting of the frame. Find out what kind of springs have been used. Hand-tied coil springs are best.

Determine what kind of fiberfill and cushioning materials have been used.

Cotton fiberfill is used in less expensive furniture. Polyester fiberfill wears very well, needs little plumping, and resists mildew and insects. It provides soft cushioning. Feathers or down also make soft, luxurious cushioning, but they need constant plumping, may be allergenic and by linda huinker

home extension agent

are very expensive.

POLYURETHANE and foam rubber cushionings both provide firm seating and retain their shape well, but polyurethane is more resistant to mildew and other moisture and will not deteriorate over a period of time. Kapok and sisal cushioning are used only in poor quality furniture.

Feel the upholstered piece of furniture. It should be well-padded with no lumps or bumps. You should not be able to feel the framework through the upholstery so there will be no friction between the fabric and the wood.

Sit on it and bounce up and down (in a distinguished manner, of course). You should hear no creaks and the springs should not hit against the frame. Is there adequate back support? Is it easy to get out of? Are the cushions as soft or as firm as you want them to be?

REMOVE a cushion from the seat. The platform or dock should be covered with tightly-woven fabric and be color coordinated. Look for reversible cushions that are interchangeable on a sofa. Cushions should fit very snugly into corners. Welt cording on edges increases wearability.

Quality furniture will have cushions with zippers and the upholstery fabric will have a rubberized type of finish on the back which prevents the fabric from slipping.

Pull at the seams to determine if they are well-stitched. Look for straight seams and no loose threads. Fabric skirts should be sewn on, rather than stapled on, and have an inner lining to hold them straight and prevent wrinkling.

BUTTONS should be hand-sewn through the filling and not merely tacked on. Fabric pattern should be well matched throughout the entire piece. Quilting gives longer life to lightweight materials like cotton. Expect all the fabric to be quilted for longer wear — not just the cushions.

Check the label for fiber content, color fastness, spot and stain resistance, and non-flammability of the fabric.

Remember that overall prints are good for hiding soil and that heavyweight, tightly woven fabric will wear better than thinner and more loosely woven fabric.

Knowing your P's and Q's should make your next furniture buying experience more enjoyable.

A Meal and a Half

THIS LARGE CATFISH put up quite a fight before it was pulled from the water but it didn't get away. Tim Reno and son Cory of rural Wayne caught the fish between 5 and 5:30 p.m. Sunday at Ike's Lake north and west of Wayne. The cat weighed 7 pounds and was 27 inches long. The fun used a frog for bait.

Gold Rush Begins

Northeast Nebraska Farmers Harvest Small Grain

The northeast Nebraska gold rush of 1981 has begun. Farmers suddenly find themselves busy reaping veins of golden grain. Wheat harvest season is virtually over and the oat harvest season is just getting underway.

THIS PART of the state is better known for its corn crop but fields of oats can be seen scattered along most sections of the countryside. Occasionally one may stumble across a field of winter wheat.

This year's crop appears to be a good one. Early warm weather and timely rainfalls have been responsible for above average yields on many area farms.

Ted Gunnarson, who farms north of Wayne, started combining his 25 acre oat field on Thursday. The oats look pretty good. I thought they might be better but they're pretty dry. I'm surprised I came out here for a test run but think I'll keep combining.

Gunnarson said the Wayne area farmer said his field received good rainfall and he figures that was the main reason for a good crop.

AS A FARMER who combines his oats for grain, Gunnarson is a member of the minority in northeast Nebraska. Most area farmers use oats for silage.

In fact, Feeders Elevator and Wayne Grain and Feed both reported that no oats had been received as of Friday afternoon. An official at Feeders Elevator said that they were nearly done handling wheat for the season. That crop is shipped directly to the terminal. One field of wheat reportedly yielded 47 bushels per acre while another field yielded between 25 and 35 bushels.

Wayne County extension agent Don Spritz said that the oat crop is ripening much earlier than usual. Oats are way ahead. We had an early spring and a lot of crops are ahead of schedule.

Spritz said.

Some got so ripe area oat fields still project shades of green. However, a few days of sunshine and warm weather will change all of that.

And farmers will be out reaping the gold in "them thar hills."

Specialist is One of 18 NASA Security Tight For Moon Rocks

When Rod Collins' alarm went off Friday morning, he probably woke up half of Morey Hall.

The alarm on his van screamed for about 15 minutes before he finally got out to the Morey Hall parking lot to shut it off.

It's all part of the security needed to guard the moon rock and soil samples he uses while teaching a Lunar Briefing Certification course for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The alarm also went off during his stay at Peru State. "It looked like someone had tried to wipe off the windows to see what was inside," he said.

biology and chemistry and a master's degree in biology with emphasis in microbiology and botany.

He will begin working on his Ph.D. this fall at Oklahoma State University, where he teaches in conjunction with the NASA program.

Collins is one of 18 teachers of the course throughout the nation. He was in Wayne Thursday and Friday speaking at the Aerospace Education Workshop at Wayne State College.

Thursday's program focused on the spacemobile program. Students mostly talked about the shuttle and a program called Landsat.

These satellites use reflected sunlight from the earth and take a spectral picture of the crops below.

THESE SPECTRUMS are put into a computer enhancement, Collins explained, and can tell what the crop is, its stage of growth, and whether or not it's healthy.

This procedure will be explained further when Tom Holm of the EROS Data Center visits the class Thursday.

Field trips and projects are also included in the two-week course. The class went to the Eppley Airfield Control Tower, the Omaha Flight Service Station and the North Omaha Weather Station Tuesday to see how small airplane pilots follow flight plans and how weather data is collected.

The next day they toured the Strategic Air Command in Bellevue to see how the military and aerospace are combined.

Encouraged by the State Department of Education, students also take one hour of dual-flight training, which is paid for by the state.

"I think a fifth grade kid looks at his teacher a little differently if she can say she's flown a plane," Metz said.

He and Carl Rump have taught the class for six years, but it's been offered at WSC every summer for at least 15 years.

A homemade-rocket launching will conclude the class Friday.

Rocks

METEORITE SAMPLES, along with films, slides and worksheets, are also in the kit.

The samples of the "oldest rocks known to man" are in a disc similar to the moon rocks.

One film in the kit, "Reading the Moon's Secrets," has 10 thought provoking questions throughout. Students write their answers, and a discussion follows the film.

Answers to the "deliberately difficult" questions come in booklets which students and teachers alike may use.

A slide and cassette presentation also comes with the kit.

were quarantined upon their return to protect us earthlings from any harmful organisms they might have picked up. Scientists removed the quarantine after seeing no change in the rocks or the astronauts.

This lack of change showed scientists that "there probably never was life on the moon. It's been quiet and dead since the volcanic phase was over millions of years ago."

OTHER FILMS may be ordered from NASA to use with the program, Collins said.

One of these films, "Reflections," is a 16-minute narrative of astronaut Rusty Schweikart's thoughts about the Apollo mission he flew on.

"You go around the entire world every 1 1/2 hours. Pretty soon you take out your map and start identifying things: Greece, India, the Pacific Ocean. And then you see Houston, and you think of home."

"Then you and your partner put on your suits and go outside the capsule. You take pictures of each other. When your partner's camera jams and you get a few moments to yourself, you let go."

"You're a sensing element, a point out on the end."

After 10 days and 161 times around the world, splash. You're on the surface of the Atlantic. You're surrounded by people.

"You look at all the faces and realize that everything that means something to you was below you. You were traveling at 17,000 miles per hour at a depth of silence never known before."

"That's a very humbling feeling."

THESE SLIDES show how the surface of the moon has altered very little in the past three billion years.

Highlands, seas, mountains, peaks in craters and rills that "meander for hundreds of miles" make up the moon's surface.

Similar structures are found on earth but they were formed by shifts in the earth's five mile thick crustal plates.

This is almost impossible with the moon's 800 kilometer deep crust. They were probably formed by meteorite crashes, according to the presentation.

TWELVE ASTRONAUTS walked the moon in six Apollo missions, leaving five scientific stations. Data is still being collected and used from these stations.

Probably the most important things brought back — the 842 pounds of moon rock — have been examined by scientists all over the world.
