Sunflower Silhouette

WIND-TOSSED AND its petals lost, this wild prairie sunflower strikes an afternoon pose against the steady September sunshine. With other weeds and road-ditch grasses whispering in the wind, the heavily seeded stalk scouts the countryside for a place to deposit next year's crop. A silhouette against the western horizon, the sunflower starkness suggests the end of summer is near.

DeLuca Mesmerizes WSC Students

By LaVon Beckman

A group of Wayne State College students were mesmerized — literally — before a crowd of several hundred persons Monday evening in Wayne State's Ramsey Theatre.

The students were all willing subjects for a program conducted by Tom DeLuca, a nationally-known expert in the field of hypnosis and unconscious communication.

DeLuca's appearance in Wayne was sponsored by the Student Activities Board at Wayne State.

A NATIVE of New York, DeLuca began work as a "hypnotherapist" dealing with psychosomatic disorders nearly six years ago.

He has been quoted in "Newsweek" magazine as one of college's top acts, and claims to have devised "rapid and unique" methods of communication with others in therapeutic or entertainment situations that allow him to induce hypnosis "almost immediately," as well as to influence another person's mind through "unconscious communication."

DeLuca was in Wayne earlier Monday to perform a "teaser" program at noon in the college's cafeteria.

During the brief noon show, DeLuca asked for 14 student volunteers who were willing to be hypnotized.

Under hypnosis, the students were put in a variety of entertaining situations.

MONDAY NIGHT'S crowd — composed mostly of college students — gave DeLuca several standing ovations as the hypnotist once again recruited volunteers from the audience to be part of the show.

Intimidation, Harassment Out School Board Adopts Policy for Principals

Guidelines for the performance of principals in the Wayne Carroll School District now carries the weight of School Board policy.

Those guidelines, which spell out in detail after detail the duties and responsibilities of a principal, have existed in the form of administrative policy since the early 1970s.

But during Monday night's September meeting, the school board formally adopted a resolution that makes principal performance, including personal and professional conduct, a matter of official public district-wide policy.

"SOME OF THESE things you wouldn't think you'd have to make a matter of policy, but when you get pushed into a corner it's good to have it written down," Superintendent Francis Haun said as board members discussed the issue.

The school district has three principals — Donald Zeiss at Wayne High School, Richard Mettler at Wayne Middle School and David Lutt at Wayne Elementary School.

A mid-summer incident between Zeiss, 38, and a Wayne High School senior, Jeff Moore, 17, has brought about an investigation by the Nebraska Professional Practices Commission — an arm of the State Education Department.

ZEISS, WHO has pleaded guilty in Wayne County Court to third degree assault as result of the incident, faces sentencing before County Court Judge James Duggan next Thursday, Sept. 24.

The board recently released a sternly worded statement regarding the case. In that statement, Zeiss was officially reprimanded for his conduct and students were warned about harassment of educators.

Though Zeiss was not mentioned by name during Monday's meeting, the board's action has "reduced to writing" a number of "specifics on principals doing their job."

INCLUDED IN those specifics is this statement: "Professional conduct is expected by the board of education of principals in all phases of their life. The board of education expects principals to abide by the laws of the State of Nebraska, maintain standards of ethical conduct and be honest in the handling of personal and professional business."

Spill into two sections, the newly adopted board policy involves a three page, 17-point guideline entitled "Building Principals — Qualities and Functions."

The second part, which is a four-page, 12-point guideline, is entitled "Performance — Job Expectations for Principals."

Spelling out everything from duty hours to use of school keys, the performance guidelines contains the clause about professional conduct.

DETAILING responsibilities ranging from student discipline to the teacher supervision, the qualities and functions guidelines specify that principals "shall implement and uphold board of education policies with loyalty and dispatch."

During Monday's meeting, board members amended a clause in the performance guidelines.

The clause deals with physical punishment, threats and intimidation by school officials.

The clause now states: "Bodily punishment for students shall be used by school officials only as a last resort and then only after parents (or guardians) have been notified. Another school administrator must be present when bodily punishment is given. Intimidation or harassment shall not be used as punishment strategies for students."

BEFORE IT WAS amended, the clause's last sentence said: "Intimidation or harassment are not recommended as punishment strategies for students."

Board member Becky Keidel objected to "are not recommended." And, after a brief discussion, Dr. Haun suggested the wording be changed to "shall not be used." All board members indicated a preference for the words forbidding intimidation or harassment.

The amended policy passed unanimously. Tuesday, Haun said the board's action meant that, for the first time, the duties and responsibilities of principals have become a matter of official board policy.

The superintendent's job description, duties and performance expectations have always been a matter of board policy, according to Haun.

United Way Directors Set Campaign Goal at $17,000

Wayne Community Chest board members are hoping for another successful fund drive as they prepare to kick off their annual campaign for the United Way.

Board members have scheduled Thursday, Sept. 24, as the day to begin the drive in both residential and business areas of Wayne.

The goal this year as set by the board is $17,000 and represents an increase of $150 over last year's goal.

UNITED WAY is designed to provide financial assistance to several organizations considered beneficial to Wayne.

Members of the Community Chest board of directors have met periodically throughout the year to organize for the 1981 drive.

Drive chairman this year is Dick Ditman, assisted by Steve Brandt.

Ditman said board members have been busy lining up volunteers to assist in the annual fund raiser and he hopes to have the drive completed in about two weeks.

DITMAN SAID the board has adopted the $17,000 budget to help support eight agencies.

The biggest percent of the planned budget will go to support the Wayne Recreation Program.

The Wayne Recreation Association activity list is long: football (both tackle and flag) for boys; basketball for boys, girls and men; baseball for pee wee through middle boys; softball for girls; golf, tennis, swimming, wrestling and volleyball.

There also is the Middle Center for Middle School youngsters.

Hank Overin directs most of the sport activities.

ALSO RECEIVING a large portion of the proposed budget are the Mid-America Council of Boy Scouts and the Prairie Hills Council of Girl Scouts.

Dick Ditman

Steve Brandt

Ditman noted that these three agencies alone touch the lives of nearly every family living in Wayne.

A COMPLETE breakdown of the agencies which the United Fund helps support is as follows:

Wayne Recreation Fund, $5,300; Mid-America Boy Scout Council, $3,850; Prairie Hills Girl Scout Council, $3,000; Salvation Army, $850; Arthritis Foundation, $1,300;

Dear Readers,
Everyone talks about the weather, but no one does anything about it.

But, The Wayne Herald has done something about it. We've invited elementary students from throughout our circulation area to draw pictures of weather depicting the four seasons.

There was an overwhelming response.

And, in a continuing effort to involve you in helping us improve The Wayne Herald, we've developed a twice-a-week weather corner around the students' artwork.

It's on Page 2A today.
Sure hope you enjoy it.

Local Jaycees Earn Honors

The Wayne Jaycees hosted the Region III Nebraska Jaycees meeting this past weekend. A total of 21 chapters and more than 120 Jaycees attended the meeting.

Randy Moeller of Pender was selected outstanding young farmer for the region. Runner-up was Rich Reppart of West Point. The Brownfield winner was Del Penlerick of Wayne. Kevin Roberts of Pender was second. A JCI senatorship was awarded Doug Koeclaw of Emerson.

The Wayne Jaycees selected Lajeane Stockdale as Jaycette of the quarter. Sue Penlerick won the Region III write-up contest.

Frans Aboard USS Nimitz

Navy Ensign Mark T. Frans, whose wife, Diane, is the daughter of Erwin D. and Janice Morris of Carroll, is currently deployed to the Mediterranean Sea.

He is an officer assigned to the aircraft carrier USS Nimitz, homeported in Norfolk, Va.

During the ship's fourth Mediterranean cruise, the crew is participating in training exercises with other 6th Fleet ships and units of allied nations. The six month cruise will also include port calls in several Mediterranean coastal cities.

A 1978 graduate of Iowa State University, Ames, Iowa, with a bachelor of science degree, Frans joined the Navy in May 1978.

Old-Time Saturday Night

The community of Wakefield is once again planning an Old Time Saturday Night this Saturday evening, Sept. 19. Members of the Community Club will be giving away refreshments. There also will be entertainment, including street music.

A spokesman for the community said local and area residents in bib overalls, driving old cars, riding horses, or just plain visiting are expected to be found on the streets.

There will be outdoor movies for youngsters and free popcorn, coke and ice cream.

The Wakefield National Bank is contributing $100 for prizes to be given away during the evening. Several businesses will be offering old time prices and are planning drawings for merchandise.

4-H Demonstration Winners

Four 4-Hers had the opportunity to share their knowledge on a wide range of topics during the 1981 Nebraska State Fair 4-H Demonstration and Illustrated Talks Contest.

The contest was open to both individual and team participants.

Area 4-Hers who received purple ribbons for their individual demonstrations were Blaine Johns, Wayne Agriculture and Related Projects; and Jonathan Stelling, Wakefield, Live Animal.

The team of Susan McQuistan, Pender and Terry Nuernberger, Wakefield, received a blue ribbon for their team demonstration in foods.

Lions Club Halloween Sales

The Wayne Lions Club has scheduled its annual Halloween candy sale for the evenings of Sunday and Monday, Oct. 4 and 5. Lions Club members will sell their candy door to door those evenings in Wayne.

Candy will sell for $1.75 per 4 pound bag or three bags for $5. Proceeds will be used to purchase a closed captioned encoder for television. The encoder will be placed in the Wayne Care Centre.

The Wayne Lions will celebrate their 20th anniversary on Oct. 20.

SS Representative Coming

Bill Howes of the Norfolk Social Security office will be at the Senior Citizens Center in Wayne on Monday, Sept. 21. Persons who have questions regarding Social Security are invited to visit with Howes between 10 a.m. and noon.

The Social Security office reminds persons who receive payments to notify social security of any changes in their living arrangements, income or resources as soon as possible.

Wayne Firefighters Fight Grass Fire

WAYNE'S VOLUNTEER firefighters responded to a grass fire at 1:05 p.m. Sunday behind the Country Sportsman, about a half-mile west of the city on state Highway 35. The blaze, which burned a small strip along a fence line behind the business, started when a spark from an open incinerator, at left, ignited dry grass and nearby trash. There were no injuries, but wind forced the fire down the fence line for several hundred feet.

Dixon County Jail Escapee

Still at Large

The Dixon County Sheriff Department today continues its search for an escaped prisoner who fled his way through Dixon County Jail cellblock bars early Monday morning.

Dennis E. Krutitek of Ponca, who was being held in the Dixon County Jail on a felony burglary warrant from South Dakota, escaped about 1:30 a.m. Monday according to Sheriff Dean Chase.

Krutitek, 29, is still at large according to Sheriff Chase, who said the escapee may be driving a 1963 color faded blue Chevrolet license plate GB9566.

Chase said the prisoner escaped through a hole 13 1/2 inches by 12 inches he filed in the bars.

After crawling through the hole, Krutitek climbed down the jailhouse wall with the help of bed sheets tied together, according to Chase.

Sheriff Chase described Krutitek as a four-foot-two-inch, 175-pound white male.

Anyone observing the escapee or the automobile is asked to call the law enforcement officials immediately.

Grand Give-A-Way

Wayne's Grand Give-A-Way contest merchants are itching to give away bonus bucks after a handful of no-win Thursdays.

Glenn Noe of Allen lost out on his chance for $1,000 in bonus bucks during last Thursday's contest drawing. He was not in a participating merchant's store when his name was called at 8 p.m.

Two weeks ago, three area residents lost out on a chance to win $350 apiece in bonus bucks.

So this week, the contest's tripleheader feature returns Thursday night, Sept. 17, with three drawings beginning at 7:45 p.m.

The second name will be called at 8 p.m. and the third will be announced at 8:15 p.m.

NEXT Thursday, Sept. 24, the grand slam is back with three $350 prizes.

And, the tripleheader is on again for Thursday, Oct. 1.

In this Thursday night's (Sept. 17) contest, all three names will be announced in participating stores within 30 minutes.

Both contests, the tripleheader and the grand slam alternate on Thursday nights.

The winners of this Thursday's grand slam must be in a participating store to claim the bonus bucks. All winners must claim the prize money within one minute after their name is announced.

The new tripleheader twist alternates prizes, giving Wayne shoppers three chances at $350 each one week and a single shot at the $1,000 bonus bucks grand slam the next.

In the tripleheader, three names are announced at the 15-minute intervals regardless of a win or a loss on the first or second try. One name is announced in the grand slam.

PARTICIPATING Grand Give-A-Way stores include Arnie's Ford/Mercury, Associated Insurance, Ben Franklin, Bill's GW, Black Knight, Burger Barn, Carhart Lumber, Charlie's Refrigeration, Chrysler Center, Coryell Derby, Diamond Center, Discount Furniture, El Toro Lounge and Ellington Motors.

Also, The 4th Jug, First National Bank, Fredrickson Oil, Griess Rexall, Jeff's Cafe, KTCH Radio, Karel's Furniture, Kaup's TV, Kunh's Department Store, McDonald's, Merchant Oil, Mike Perry Chevrolet Oldsmobile, Morning Shopper and Pamida Inc.

And, Northeast Nebraska Insurance, Rich's Super Foods, Sav Mor Drug, State National Bank and Trust Co., Surber's, Swans' Apparel for Women, T&C Electronics, TP Lounge, Rusty Nail, Triangle Finance, Wayne Book Store, Wayne Grain & Feed, Midwest Federal Savings & Loan Association, Wayne Shoe, Wayne Vet's Club, Weilmann's IGA, and Logan Valley Implement.

AS BEFORE, spouses can claim the prize on behalf of the winner.

Subscriptions Sought

When you say "The Wayne Herald for one year, please," you'll get a free chance to say "cheese" at Wayne's Blake Studios.

That's the offer new subscribers to The Wayne Herald will get until Oct. 1. It's all part of a month-long subscription campaign, which started two weeks ago and ends Oct. 1, that offers new readers a free 8x10 color studio photograph for a one year subscription, sign up during September.

And, the same free photograph offer is good for longtime readers of The Wayne Herald who extend their current subscription for a year or beyond.

College students who sign up for the full school term can get in on the offer, too.

A one year subscription for readers in Wayne, Pierce, Cedar, Dixon, Thurston, Cuming, Stanton and Madison counties is $12.79 PLUS, THERE'S a special bonus offer for those who buy a two year subscription or extend their current subscription for two years.

Those readers will have the same opportunity for the free 8x10 color photograph — to be taken by Blake Studios of Wayne — plus a $4.58 discount on the regular two year subscription price of $25.58.

That means, during September, you can sign up for two years of The Wayne Herald — more than 200 issues — for $21.

For a two-year subscriber, the price per copy is less than half the cost of buying The Wayne Herald over the counter, at 29 cents per issue.

NEW SUBSCRIBERS and those renewing their subscriptions will get a gift certificate at The Wayne Herald for a free 8x10 studio color photograph setting at Blake Studio.

The studio settings will be a subscriber's choice and may involve the entire family, one member, or any combination, including pets.

Additional charges will be made for settings outside the Blake Studio — outdoor or home settings, for instance.

Wayne High School Seniors Score High on ACT Tests

The Wayne-Carroll School District's college-bound seniors have scored significantly higher than the national average in American College Testing (ACT) program.

And, though Nebraska's college-bound student scores are consistently above the national average, the Wayne-Carroll students' scores were much higher than their classmates' scores from across the state.

Those ACT results, which show this year's seniors exceeded both national and state averages in English, mathematics, social studies and the natural sciences, were presented to the district school board during Monday night's meeting.

A COMPUTER analysis of the mean test scores, which involved 69 seniors who took the ACT test as juniors, shows the district's students three points above the national average overall.

However, the mean ACT score for local students was high enough to hit the top of the analysis chart, which registers on a range from nine to 24 points.

The national mean ACT scores on the natural sciences rests at 21 on that scale, far higher than any other scoring. Nebraska's mean ACT scores in that category are at 22.5 on the scale. Wayne-Carroll's 1982 male seniors broke the analysis range, scoring 25 points on a maximum analysis scale of 24. Senior women tallied a mean ACT score on 23.5 in the natural sciences — still far above the state and national average.

IN MATH, the total mean ACT score for Wayne-Carroll classmates is 21, nearly four points above the national average of 17.3.

The district's college-bound women scored slightly below the Nebraska average of 19.5 in math, but the men hit 22.5 on the scoring chart.

And, the district's college-bound male students were slightly below the state score of 18.7 in English, but exceeded the national mark and a full point above the state mean.

Women in the local district scored slightly over 21 in English, bringing the total score to 19.8 — some five points above the national mark and a full point above the state mean.

IN SOCIAL studies, the college-bound students, as a group, stayed above the national mean ACT score by more than 2 points with the men outscoring the women by a small margin.

Again, all Wayne-Carroll scores were above the state mean.

And, of the 69 taking the ACT test, 16 percent said they felt their high school education was excellent and 49 percent said they felt it was below average. According to the ACT report, 9 percent said their high school education was very inadequate.

The group consisted of 37 men and 32 women.

Most of those students sent their ACT scores to Wayne State College.

IN THE ACT analysis, 62 percent of the students said they were satisfied with their high school instruction and 61 percent said they were satisfied with course offerings.

Some 62 percent said they were satisfied with the district's grading system and 55 percent said they were satisfied with the high school testing.

A full 83 percent expressed satisfaction with the school's guidance program, but only 30 percent were satisfied with school policies.

Library facilities satisfied 67 percent of the group and laboratory facilities satisfied 62 percent.

Only 28 percent were satisfied with special-needs assistance and 39 percent were satisfied with gifted student assistance. Some 41 percent were satisfied with the high school's programs in career education and planning.

THE MOST typically planned education major and first vocational choice for the college-bound group were business and commerce — in that order.

Only 6 percent of the students said they were planning to attend an out-of-state college.

Some 58 percent expressed a need for special help in educational and vocational plans. And, some 30 percent expressed a need for special help in writing.

In reading, 32 percent expressed a need for special help, but a full 38 percent expressed a need for help in mathematics.

Some 30 percent wanted special help in study skills and personal counseling.

A LARGE majority — 74 percent — expected to work for a job during their college school years. The same percentage wanted help in finding that school-year job.

And, 77 percent said they expected to apply for financial aid for their college education.

Field of study was the run-away winner in the students' decision-making process for selecting a college. Only 10 percent of the students said cost was a main factor.

A total of 22 percent were "very sure" of their educational major, while 62 percent were "fairly sure."

Some 36 percent were seeking a bachelor's degree, while 45 percent expressed a desire for at least some graduate school or a professional degree.

The majority of students expected to obtain a 2.9 grade-point-average during their first year in college.

Board

IN OTHER action, the board authorized Haun to advertise for bids on the purchase of a new school bus.

The board asked for bid specifications on a 22 passenger gasoline powered bus and a 54 passenger gasoline or diesel powered bus.

The purchase has been budgeted for the 1981-82 fiscal year.

And, the board gave Haun the go-ahead to advertise for bids on the expansion of the north parking lot at Wayne High School.

The project had received board approval earlier this summer, but Haun said he delayed the bidding until the budget process was complete.

HAUN ALSO reported that the district sold all of the IBM electric typewriters recently advertised for sale to district taxpayers.

He said the district still had about 14 manuals on hand. Advertised price has been $75 per machine, according to Haun, who was authorized to cut the price in an effort to move them.

Tuesday, Haun said he would sell the manuals for $45 each to district taxpayers.

Haun also reported that the walk-in freezer, purchased earlier this summer as a used unit, has been installed at the elementary school.

The district purchased the freezer for the school lunchroom at a cost of $500. Once installed, Haun said, the compressor broke down and was replaced at a cost of $800.

He said the previous owner had agreed to return part of the purchase price to the district because of the compressor malfunction.

HAUN SAID that fluorescent lighting has been installed in the lunchroom area of the elementary school in an effort to reduce energy costs there.

He also said that the high school gymnasium's 400-watt mercury vapor lights were being replaced, as they burned out, by 250-watt bulbs as part of another energy saving effort in the school system.

Carpeting has been completed in the high school lecture hall, according to Haun. And, the district's maintenance staff has replaced the middle school gymnasium floor with a new tile surface.

Haun also was asked to investigate the possibility of obtaining a milk dispenser for the high school.

BEFORE ADJOURNING, board members reviewed enrollment figures for the 1981-82 school year.

District-wide data shows total enrollment down 34 students from last year. With 280 students in kindergarten through fourth grade, the figures range from a high of 65 students in the second grade.

Kindergarten and fourth grade have 42 students this year. There are 56 first-graders and 55 third graders.

Board members discussed the difficulty in planning for the enrollment gap from fifth grade to seventh grade.

ENROLLMENT figures show a total of 81 fifth graders, but only 36 sixth graders. At the seventh grade level, there are 66 students. The only class larger than the current fifth-graders is the Class of 1983 — 85 juniors.

There are 56 eighth-graders, 69 ninth-graders and 74 10th graders. The Class of 1982 has 74 seniors. The district's totally mentally retarded students add seven more, bringing the total to 830 students.

Board members also approved contracts for instruction with Beatrice State Developmental Center ($2,084) and the Nebraska School for the Visually Handicapped ($4,169).

Jacquelyn Day of Lynch was hired as a Title I (remedial mathematics and reading) teacher at the elementary school.

HAUN TOLD board members that Cindi Swarts, fifth and sixth grade language arts teacher at the middle school, has developed a plan to work with academically talented second, third and fourth graders at the elementary school.

According to Haun, Swarts presented him with the plan this summer. Swarts will use her lesson planning period each morning to work with the elementary students beginning next week.

Haun said she asked to be allowed to work with the students at no extra pay.

Board member Jim Hummel asked that Swarts be commended for her proposal. Every board member expressed approval of the proposal. Haun said no formal action was required since no additional pay was involved.

KEIDEL REPORTED to the board on the recent pre-school teacher workshop for gifted students.

She explained that education for the gifted student presents a host of new challenges for teachers.

Explaining that the intelligence range for the gifted "is much greater" than the range between any school district's totally mentally retarded and the highest ranking student in standard programs.

"The range for the gifted student is unlimited," she said.

Keidel explained that teachers attending the workshop learned that students and parents "did a better job" at identifying gifted students than did instructors.

"RESEARCH SHOWS teachers are the worst at picking out the gifted student," she said. "They often select the kid who gives them what they want, without looking for the kid who is bored, unchallenged and perhaps a behavior problem."

Keidel said "gifted kids need a lot of information about themselves" and often need to work harder at communications skills.

Explaining that often in standard program, the gifted student is simply given more work.

Keidel said the workshop outlined options with a "not more, but different" school-work philosophy.

SHE SAID teachers learned that gifted children often need more parental involvement in school and that research shows parents usually "do know when their child is gifted," often before teachers identify the situation.

In addition to dealing with problems of teachers "feeling inadequate" around gifted students, the workshop presented instructors with a number of exercises on identification, according to Keidel.

Board members also met in executive session to discuss progress on negotiations with the Wayne Education Association. Negotiations are at the fact-finding stage, after several months at impasse.

Florence Crittenton Home, $300. American Red Cross, $200, and Wayne Senior Citizens Center, $900.

Only about $1,300 of the total goal is budgeted for a contingency fund and administration of the campaign.

BOARD MEMBERS are optimistic the goal will be reached by the third week in October.

Students of Wayne-Carroll High School also will have a hand in helping reach this year's goal.

An all school dance, with proceeds going to United Way, is scheduled Friday, Nov. 13.

DITMAN SAID residents in the city are asked to consider what the Community Chest does for Wayne when they are asked to give.

He added that residents this year are being asked to donate a half day's pay.

Ditman noted that because Wayne's Community Chest has become a fixture, it is often easy to take it for granted, forget what it does, and underestimate what it needs.

He said the Wayne Community Chest undertakes to be the fund raiser for several organizations, many involved mainly with young people.

DITMAN NOTED that without support from the Community Chest, the Wayne Recreation Association would either have to reduce its many activities or use more government money.

Two other member agencies, the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, work with Wayne youth with the help of many adults.

When making a donation, Ditman said residents might ask how many dollars is it worth to give a youngster a year's experience in one or more activities in the Recreation Program, or in Scouting, or in the Red Cross-sponsored swimming and lifesaving classes.

BOARD PRESIDENT Randy Pedersen said a painted "thermometer" will be placed on the corner of Seventh and Main Streets to help residents keep track of the progress of this year's drive.

Board members, besides Pedersen, include Joyce Reeg, Jan Merriman, Cap Peterson, Galen Wiser, Merrill Hale, Vicki Pick, LaVon Beckman, Vaughn Benson, Doug Sturm, Loren Ellis and Cheryl Jordan.

Marilyn Carhart, although not a member of the board of directors, continues to serve as secretary-treasurer of the organization.

them, he would make 75 percent of them think the same thought.

There were laughs and sneers as he asked the group to think of something they like to do "a lot."

DeLuca also provoked laughter from the audience when he held up a copy of "National Enquirer" as evidence that psychic phenomena exists.

"It says right here," said DeLuca pointing to an article in the Enquirer, "that a well-known comic with the initial B will pass away in the next eight months."

"That only narrows it down to about eight million people."

While in the hypnotic state, students went sailing in the Caribbean, fished in the ocean, showered, stuttered, danced, spoke moon language, and were placed in a number of other entertaining situations.

DeLUCA also used several members of the audience to demonstrate "unconscious communication."

While one member was asked to think of a certain card in a deck, another was asked to write a card down on paper, while still another was asked to randomly select a card from a deck held by DeLuca.

There was a thunderous round of applause as all three cards were revealed as Jack of Hearts.

SEVERAL STUDENTS remained following the show to visit with DeLuca.

briefly speaking

Jager Awarded Scholarship

Hugh W. Jager, a 1980 graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School, is the recipient of a memorial scholarship given by the Cecil Wriedt family. The scholarship is given annually to an outstanding student majoring in industrial arts. Jager, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jager, plans to teach industrial arts.

Grace LWML Evening Circle

The Evening Circle of Grace Lutheran Church held its regular meeting at the church Sept. 8. Twenty-three members responded to roll call. The lesson topic was taken from the 23rd Psalm. Lesson leaders were Helen Tiedtke and Verdina Johs. The program included reports of the executive board meeting in July. Plans were discussed for LWML Sunday to be held Oct. 4. It was announced the Fall Rally will be held Oct. 20 in Wayne. The Lutheran Hour Rally is scheduled Nov. 8 in Norfolk. Next meeting will be Guest Night on Oct. 13. Speaker will be Sherry Kraemer of the Lutheran Family and Social Service, Norfolk.

Family Fall Festival Planned

The second annual Family Fall Festival will be held Sunday, Sept. 20, at Camp Luther located seven miles west and five and a half north of Schuyler. Festivities will begin with an 11 a.m. worship service, followed by dinner from noon to 2 p.m. Family fun will include pony rides, games and booths, contests, hay rack rides, tennis, nature hikes, archery, swimming and canoeing from 10 to 5 p.m., followed with supper from 5 to 7, and song groups and folk dancing from 6 to 7:30. All families are invited to attend, according to Carol Retzwich, public relations chairman, Camp Luther.

Local PEO Hosts District

One hundred members of PEO attended a luncheon Saturday at Wayne State College. The women in attendance, representing District IV, discussed plans to host the 1981 State PEO Convention on the Wayne State College campus May 26 and 27. Joining the Wayne chapter were PEO members from Albin, Amesworth, Atkinson, Bloomfield, Butler, Creighton, Madison, Newman Grove, Neligh, Norfolk, O'Neill, Pierce, Plainview, Randolph, Stanton and Valentine.

Grace Ladies Meet

Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid met Sept. 9 with six guests. Chair, Peggy, Helen Echtenkamp, Laverne Wischhof, Viola Roeter, Mary Echtenkamp and Mary Kruger. Hostesses were Mrs. Irene Geewe, Mrs. Ernest Grone and Mrs. Ed Grubb. The Rev. Tom Mendenhall had opening devotions and the program entitled "Mary." Mrs. Harold Ekberg gave the visiting report. Mrs. Bob Meyer, Mrs. Otto Saul and Mrs. Don Sherbahn will be on the Christmas card committee. The LWML Fall Rally will be at Grace Church on Oct. 20. Seated at the birthday table were Mrs. George Sieger, Mrs. Erwin Oswald and Mrs. Melvin Utecht. Hostesses Oct. 14 will be Mrs. Art Hagemann, Mrs. E. L. Hailey and Mrs. Ed Heithold.

Family Planning Classes

A series of natural family planning classes will begin at 8 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 20, at St. Rose School, Crofton. Classes are held once a month for four months and last approximately two hours. These classes are sponsored by the Couple to Couple League and teach the symptothermal system of fertility awareness. Teaching the class will be Henry and Arlene Foxhoven, Coleridge.

Reading Council Meeting

The Northeast Nebraska Reading Council will hold its fall meeting Sept. 26 in the Norfolk Junior High building. Mrs. Linda Buerkie of Minot, N.D. will be the featured speaker. Her topic is "Books Can Be More Than Just for Reading." Registration is at 8:30 a.m. The meeting will be concluded by noon. Members of the council, non-members, student teachers and parents are welcome. There will be a make-and-take period following the speaker. Those attending are asked to bring a scissor, paper, markers, etc.

Wheeler-Pomeroy Reunion

Thirty-two relatives and one guest were present at the annual Wheeler-Pomeroy reunion Sunday in the Allen park, beginning with a noon potluck dinner. Elmer Whitford was the oldest family member present, and Nathaniel Lipp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Lipp of Wayne, was the youngest. Newly elected officers are Ruth Luhr of Wayne, president; Basil Trube of Allen, vice president; and Pat Nygren of Sioux City, secretary. The 1982 reunion will be at 12:30 p.m. the second Sunday in September in the Allen park. Those attending are to bring something to share and show.

87th Birthday at Concord

Oscar Johnson was honored for his 87th birthday last Sunday afternoon in the Concordia Lutheran church parlors, Concord. The 100 guests were registered by Kim and Jennifer Backstrom of Wayne. The Rev. David Newman had prayer, and Georgia Addison sang "Surely Goodness and Mercy." The event was hosted by his daughters and families, Blanche and Laurence Backstrom, and Vendelyn and Bud Hanson.

100th Year is Presbyterian Milestone

The church has stood at Third and Lincoln Streets for 100 years. In July of 1881, when the town of Wayne was little more than two laths stuck in the prairie sod, religious life was stirring in the tiny community. The first religious services were conducted on Sept. 18, 1881 by a Presbyterian minister. On Sunday, Sept. 20, 1881, members of the United Presbyterian Church of Wayne will gather to honor the church's 100th year.

THE CONGREGATION'S first minister, G. M. Lodge of Avoca, Iowa, had been attracted to the area by a glowing article he had read in a magazine known as "Interior." The busy settlers might have been astounded to read of such golden opportunities surrounding them, for they were working to construct shelters, make soap, lay in food, and prepare for the winter ahead.

However, Mr. Lodge was in fringed and convinced a friend to accompany him for a tour of this land of milk and honey. After traveling to the end of the rail line in Wisner, the two journeyed across the prairie in a hack to arrive in Wayne on Sept. 13.

THE SETTLERS, upon hearing of the presence of an ordained pastor, prevailed upon the visitor to conduct a worship service. The unfinished business building of Capt. J. M. Merriam located on the lot where Kuhn's Department Store now stands, was swept of its shavings and stray nails.

Seats were contrived from boxes, a book stand was improvised from a packing crate, and on Sept. 18, 1881, the Rev. Lodge conducted a service for a congregation of some 40 persons, three of whom were women.

AS WINTER descended, three families discovered a common bond in being Presbyterian and decided that a congregation should be organized. The Rev. Lodge returned from Iowa to help with the formal founding procedures.

Meeting in the unfinished real estate and banking house of J. T. Bressler and D. C. Patterson, 11 settlers, Mr. Lodge and the Rev. George L. Little, then Synodical Missionary based in Omaha, drew up a charter for the church association on Dec. 21, 1881. Until the spring of 1881, the Presbyterians conducted services once a month in the chapel of the Lutheran church. The congregation arranged with the Rev. Lodge to serve as stated supply and he preached his first sermon as Supply Pastor on April 2, 1882.

THE FIRST building for the Presbyterian congregation was planned to be a church on Sunday and a school for the rest of the week.

The duo building required a $500 investment by the congregation, plus the lot. The Third and Lincoln site was purchased from F. H. Peavey at a cost of $200. The frame edifice, costing $1,200, was 26' by 50', with a room 12' by 16' at the rear. The foundation was laid the week of Oct. 20, 1882, and on Jan. 14, 1883, the church was dedicated.

At a congregational meeting March 3, 1885, a call was extended to the Rev. Lodge as a full time minister.

THE CONGREGATION grew between the years of 1885 and 1897, and managed to purchase a manse at a cost of $1,800 and put the church on a self-supporting basis.

The Ladies Aid Society was organized in 1883 with five charter members. The women worked hard to earn money towards repayment of the mortgage on the manse.

The Ladies Missionary Society was organized April 9, 1885 to give assistance to mission service.

THROUGHOUT THE decade of the 1890's, the congregation studied the proposition of building a fitting church home. On July 11, 1898, the building committee recommended that a new edifice be constructed. A contract was let to R. M. Farr and the cornerstone was laid on Nov. 17, 1898.

Dedication of the new church was held Sept. 3, 1899. After an appeal for funds to meet a deficit of $4,000, the congregation responded and $3,800 was raised before the morning hour had passed.

THE REV. D. C. Montgomery, pastor at the time of the dedication of the church building, left Wayne in 1901 to accept a position as Superintendent of Schools in the Philippine Islands. Traveling on Oct. 31, 1902, he apparently was mistaken for another official and was accosted and murdered by a gang of seven natives armed with golos, daggers and spears.

A GIFT from Mary Pingrey in 1902 started the Wayne congregation toward the purchase of a pipe organ. It was 1905, however, before sufficient funds had been collected.

Total cost of the new Estey Organ was around $2,500. Additional ranks of pipes were added in the early 1950's. The chimes were a gift in memory of Charles and Anna Belle White in 1952. In April 1960, the congregation voted to build a new parsonage at a cost of approximately $1,500. This building stood immediately east of the church structure.

A NOTED pastor of the congregation from 1910 to 1914 was the Rev. Alexander Corkey. He wrote a book entitled "The Victory of A. A. Rutledge" which was titled as an answer to Harold Bell Wright's "The Calling of Dan Matthews."

He also wrote other books and was a popular speaker on the Chautauqua Tour. Pastor Corkey died in October of 1914 in a Sioux City hospital from massive infection following appendicitis surgery.

IN 1925 the church was enlarged to the north with the addition of a new dining room, kitchen and more Sunday school rooms on the second level.

The Rev. J. W. Pressley of Omaha, Synodical secretary, led a dedicatory service for the addition on March 7, 1926. On Oct. 22, 1941, the Ladies Aid Society and the Ladies Missionary Society met and voted to unite in a single Presbyterian Women's Association. Today the group is known as United Presbyterian Women.

DR. OLIVER Proett came to serve the Wayne church in 1943 and was pastor until 1963, the longest term of service in the history of the church.

Under his leadership, the chancel was refurnished, the choir loft remodeled, and the organ

Centennial Celebration

The public is welcome to join members of the United Presbyterian Church for a Centennial celebration at 4 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 20.

The message, "Looking Ahead," will be given by the Rev. Robert Haas. The litany will be taken from the church dedication service on Sept. 3, 1899.

Letters of greeting, including those from former pastors of the church, will be read and there will be a skit, "Through the Years at Third and Lincoln," narrated by Margaret Lundstrom with several church members taking part. There also will be singing of old time gospel hymns.

There will be a covered dish dinner at 6 p.m. Old time church and Wayne mementoes will be displayed throughout the day.

renovated and improved. Dedication for these improvements was held in 1952.

Dr. Proett, seizing the opportunity provided by a drive in the theater north of Wayne, in stilted services there early on Sunday mornings, preaching to a strange assortment of vehicles, sometimes even a tractor.

This project continued until the early 1970's.

THE CONGREGATION celebrated the 75th anniversary of the founding of the church on Sept. 16, 1956.

A special morning service was followed with a basket dinner, an afternoon service presided over by T. S. Hook, and an evening pageant written and directed by Mrs. Don Emery.

An anniversary banquet followed on Tuesday.

IN 1944 a house at 716 Lincoln was purchased to provide an up-to-date residence for the pastor and his family.

The old manse was sold and moved to a lot at the southern edge of the town on Douglas street.

In the early 1970's the congregation faced a major decision of repairing the aging church structure or remodeling and updating the gray frame edifice. At a congregational meeting on Jan. 19, 1972, members of the church voted to remodel.

Plans were drawn up for adding a narthex to the main entrance, remodeling the fellowship hall to include two offices, rearranging the Sunday school space, modernizing the front of the sanctuary, and carpeting throughout.

At a rededication service on April 29, 1973, the old cornerstone was opened.

THE PRESENT pastor, Robert H. Haas, came to Wayne from Memphis, Tenn.

The congregation voted to extend a call to Mr. Haas on Feb. 28, 1972, and he began his work in Wayne on April 17, 1972.

In Memphis he worked with the National Conference of Christians and Jews. His first pastorate after he graduated from McCormick Theological Seminary was in Niobrara, Neb., where he served almost four years. He was then pastor of Westlawn Presbyterian Church in Sioux City, Iowa.

In terms of length of service to the local congregation, Mr. Haas ranks second.

SESSION CLERK is Jean Benhack, and members of Session are Ralph Olson, Dr. Ken Liska, Earl Tooker, Larry Koehmoos, Margaret Lundstrom, Sandra Metz, Jean Griss, John Struve, John Fuehlberth, Dr. Robert Benhack, Gerald Schaller and Richard Mantley.

Organist is Mrs. Scott Ruffledge, and secretary is Dorothy Stevenson.

Sharol Panko Bride of Sam Olson

Gladiolus, football mums, daisies and carnations decorated the altar of Southwood Lutheran Church in Lincoln for the marriage of Sharol Panko to Sam Olson.

The Rev. Gary Panko of Graton, Iowa officiated at the 6 o'clock ceremony Sept. 5.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Cook of Cook, Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Olson of Wayne.

SOLOISTS were Debra Erickson of Ashland and Luke Stevens of Lincoln, who also played guitar. Organist was Ernest Blecha of Lincoln. Wedding music included "Endless Love," "Wedding Song" and "Lord's Prayer."

Candles were lighted by Gloria Gemmel of Grand Island and Dorothy Rippe of Malcolm.

Alice Minchow of Lincoln was at the guest book and ushers were Jim Shepard, Don Madsen and Terrence Barton, all of Lincoln.

FOR HER wedding day, the bride chose a long, white gown of sheerganza over bridal taffeta, with a chapel-length train.

The gown was styled with a Queen Anne neckline, empire bodice, and a schiffli embroidered panel extending from the back waistline to the train. A ruffle of embroidered English net banded by silk Venice lace encircled the hemline.

Her triple-tiered veil of illusion tulle was trimmed in Chantilly lace and attached to a lace covered headpiece, and she carried yellow roses and white daisies.

MATRON OF honor was Mrs. Cheri Shepard, and bridesmaid was Mrs. Sue Madsen. Both are of Lincoln.

Serving as best man was Charles Rigby of Goehner, Groomsman was Galin Karpisek of Wichita, Kan.

THE BRIDE'S attendants were attired in Quiana knit gowns of marigot blue in floor length, fashioned with empire waistlines and sunburst pleated skirts. Covering their gowns were chiffon capes with high gathered necklines.

The bride's mother wore a blue floor-length knit gown, and the bridegroom's mother chose a light blue gown, also in floor length.

They carried white, blue, pink and yellow daisies.

The men wore medium gray tuxedos with gray vests, white pleated shirts and gray-striped ties.

DENISE HANSON and Tony Bonelli of Lincoln greeted the guests at a reception at the church following the ceremony.

Gifts were arranged by Jodi Olson of Carroll and Nancy Olson of Norfolk.

Women of the church served.

FOLLOWING their wedding, the newlyweds traveled to Lake Tahoe and California. They are at home in Lincoln.

The bride was graduated from Nemaha Valley High School in 1972 and from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln in 1976. She is employed by Central Telephone Co., Lincoln.

The bridegroom, a 1966 graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School and a 1970 graduate of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, is employed by American Greengings Corp.

Baptist Church Resumes Monthly Singspirations

"Fellowship in Song," a monthly singspiration at the First Baptist Church in Wayne, resumes Sunday, Sept. 20.

The Rev. Eddie Carter, local pastor, said churches of Wayne County and neighboring counties are invited to participate in an exciting weekend, concluding with the resumption of monthly singspirations each third Sunday at 7 p.m.

PASTOR CARTER said this weekend will begin tonight (Thursday) and will feature "Friendship," a group of young people from Colorado Springs, Colo.

Members of the group are on a 10 month tour that will carry them more than 50,000 miles with a ministry that reaches schools, colleges, military bases, youth and senior citizen homes, nursing homes, prisons and churches.

"FRIENDSHIP" will be at Wayne's First Baptist Church each evening, tonight (Thursday) through Saturday, at 7:30 p.m. Their ministry will consist of gospel music, mini-dramas, and puppets. Each program is carefully designed to be both inspirational and entertaining. The mini-dramas featured in each program will entertain all ages.

There will be no admission charge for any of the services, however a love offering will be taken to help defray the expenses of travel and to encourage "Friendship's" ministry.

WITH THE singspiration on Sunday evening, First Baptist will return to its regular schedule of evening services the third Sunday of each month beginning at 7 p.m.

Highlighting the evening will be congregational singing led by Pastor Carter, with Ruth Carter at the piano and Grace Melton at the organ.

Martinsburg Church Observing Annual Mission Festival

Trinity Lutheran Church, Martinsburg, will celebrate its annual Mission Festival on Sunday, Sept. 20.

Dick Greenhauer from Lincoln will be the guest speaker at the 10:45 a.m. worship service.

Greenhauer is a mission developer for the Nebraska District of The Lutheran Church Missouri Synod, with previous experience in mission fields of New Guinea.

BEGINNING AT 9:45 a.m., the Sunday school and adults will view a filmstrip, entitled "The 20 Foot Pole."

The filmstrip is a look at the mission work being done by the Lutheran Church in Valparaiso, Chile.

This will be followed by the 10:45 worship service.

THE REV. Dwayne M. Lueck, pastor of Trinity, Martinsburg, and St. John's Lutheran Church, Newcastle, will be the speaker for the afternoon service beginning at 1:30.

There will be a hymn sing before the service at 11:15. A dinner will be served at noon by members of Trinity and the public is invited to attend.

Following the afternoon service, cake and ice cream will be served by the Trinity Young Couples/Singles Group and the Lutheran Youth Fellowship.

THE PUBLIC is invited to join the members of Trinity for the Mission Festival celebration.

Presbyterians Organize in 1881

Wakefield Presbyterian Church Observing 100th Year Sunday

Like many other important institutions, the Presbyterian Church in Wakefield had a humble beginning.

While it was the first church in Wakefield, there was no church building. Services were held in the John T. Marriott store, a frame building standing where the Farmer's Union store stood until a few years ago.

On Sunday, Sept. 20, members of the congregation, former pastors, and other guests will gather throughout the day to celebrate the church's 100th anniversary.

IT WAS in the early fall of 1881 that Presbyterian services were held in Wakefield.

Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Belth, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Marriott, Mr. and Mrs. William Neeley, Mr. and Mrs. Mattien and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mayberry.

IN SEPTEMBER of 1881 the Rev. G. M. Lodge visited Wakefield. Finding the small congregation, he reported to the Rev. George L. Little, then Synodical Missionary for Nebraska.

Pastor Little came to Wakefield in January of 1882 to take steps to organize the church.

Supply pastors were sent to preach until April of that year when the Rev. G. M. Lodge had charge of the church at Wakefield.

Both Sunday school and church services were held in the schoolhouse until the Methodist Church, the first church building in Wakefield, was erected.

FOLLOWING construction of the Methodist Church, the Union Sunday school was transferred to the Methodist Church and the Presbyterians worshiped in the building until they were able to build a church of their own.

The first Presbyterian Church was constructed in 1884-85.

The Rev. J. W. Hicks was pastor at the time, serving from 1884 to 1885.

OTHER PASTORS have been the Rev. J. L. Lower (1886); the Rev. S. W. Welles (1886-87); the Rev. E. Smith (1889-91); the Rev. B. F. Pearson (1892-97); the Rev. John C. Giffen (1897-1900); the Rev. William Kuntz (1901-02); the Rev. J. J. Parker, supply (1902-03); the Rev. A. P. Armstrong (1903-07); the Rev. J. A. Gehrett (1908-10); the Rev. A. P. Armstrong (1910); the Rev. J. M. William Montagnani (1977-80); and the Rev. Dana White, who is currently serving the congregation.

IN 1912 during the pastorate of Dr. Caldwell, the church was completely remodeled.

The building was raised to allow for a full assembly room, including a large assembly room, small class rooms and kitchen.

A pipe organ was installed and art glass windows replaced the old ground glass ones. The church also was completely redecorated.

As of 1951 the church had 185 members.

AT ONE TIME there were various organizations in the church that were active.

There was a Ladies Aid for older women, a Missionary Society which contributed to Mission Boards, and a What-So-Ever Society for younger women.

These organizations were active until the General Assembly

Mrsnys Home in Wayne Following Wedding Rites

Making their home at 720 Logan St., Wayne, are Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Jay Mrsny, who were married Sept. 6 in 7 o'clock rites at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne.

Parents of the couple are Edwin and Donna Milligan and Frank and Alice Mrsny, all of Wayne.

Pew bows decorated the church for the double ring ceremony.

THE REV. John Vogel of Wayne officiated, and Bob Gullickson and Kelly Jo Mrsny of Wayne sang "Wedding Song," "Lord's Prayer," and "Endless Love."

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, appeared in an ivory satin and antique rose lace gown in floor length. The gown was a sundress style with satin spaghetti straps accented with miniature ivory pearls.

She wore a mother of pearl daisy headband with antique ivory rose lace, and carried a nosegay of peach roses.

HONOR attendants were Jodi Thompson of Sheridan, Wyo. and Brent Holdorf of Piiger. Bridesmaid was Marci Milligan of Sheridan, Wyo., and groomsmen were Frank Mrsny Jr. of Wayne.

The bride's attendants wore sheer cotton peach frocks, styled with capped sleeves, lace bodices accented with ivory pearls, and long gathered skirts.

They wore hair combs of peach roses and daisies, and carried white mums with peach carnations.

The men in the wedding party were attired in cream-colored western tuxedos and white shirts with cream-colored ruffled accents.

Mrs. Milligan chose a plum and ivory rose print fashioned with a satin ivory jacket, and Mrs. Mrsny selected a black and plum rose print.

USHERS WERE Steve Mrsny

MR. AND MRS. JEFFREY MRSNY

of Wayne and Mike Paulsen of Norfolk.

Allison Mrsny of Wayne was flower girl, and Stacy Jo Milligan of Carroll was ring bearer.

A RECEPTION for about 150 guests was held at the Carroll city auditorium following the wedding ceremony. The guests were greeted by Jesse and Judy Milligan of Carroll.

Cheri Milligan of Sheridan, Wyo., registered guests, and Kathy Green and Cecile Sanborn, both of Sheridan, Wyo., arranged gifts.

The wedding cake was cut and served by Norretta Amus of Norfolk and Lois Hahn of Osmond. Kathy Billheimer of Wayne poured, and Lola Paulsen of Winside served punch.

Waitresses were Becky Otte and Janee Isom, both of Carroll.

THE BRIDE attended Sheridan High School. The bridegroom, a 1980 graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School, is employed with Mrsny Sanitation Service.

Area Women Attend LWML Board Meeting

Mrs. Clayton Schroeder, Laurel, and Mrs. Dwayne Rethwisch, Wayne, attended the executive board meeting of Lutheran Womens Missionary League of Nebraska District North last Friday in Norfolk.

Zone presidents were present.

PLANS WERE discussed for a Lutheran Hour Rally to be held at Norfolk Senior High on Nov. 8. Congregations can bring banners before Nov. 6.

Mrs. Darlene Drenkow, Norfolk, is in charge of banner arrangements.

Plans for the LWML District Convention to be held at South Sioux City in June 1982 also were discussed.

MRS. RETHWISCH conducted a Christian leadership training session, and the Rev. Elton Dubs, Tilden, and the Rev. Willard Kassulke, Piiger, District Counselors, conducted devotions.

Woman's Club Begins Season

The Wayne Federated Woman's Club kicked off the new club year with a luncheon Friday in the Woman's Club room.

Twenty-five members and 44 guests were present for the first meeting of the season.

Luncheon hostesses were Edith Wightman, Paula Strahan, Ida Moses, Adeline Vakoc and Florence Koplin.

THE PROGRAM included reports by Deana Sharer and Deb Gilliland, recipients of Woman's Club scholarships.

Miss Sharer is a pre-med student at Wayne State College. Miss Gilliland is a Wayne State freshman majoring in elementary education.

Karla Otte reported on her activities at Girls State in Lincoln.

MILDRED West's "did you know" report included the announcement of 54 paid-up members in the club.

Marian Jordan, president, encouraged members to attend an inter-county meeting Sept. 19 at Creighton.

The District III Convention will be held at Howells on Oct. 6. Delegates from Wayne are Marian Jordan, Janice Predohl and Mildred West.

MRS. BERNICE Damme is chairman of the hostess committee for the next meeting, Oct. 9.

Mrs. Ed Kluge will have the "did you know," and Mrs. Vern Hagedorn, District III President, will give the program.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ream of Wayne, and the bridegroom is the son of Glenn Wilcox of Lincoln.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Edward Carter of Wayne.

DECORATIONS for the ceremony included two fireside baskets of pastel flowers, an altar arrangement, ferns, two seven-branch candelabras with fresh greenery, and pew bows.

The guests, registered by Kim Kugler of Wayne, were ushered into the church by Jim Grein of Ponca City, Okla. and Mark Dominguez of Lincoln.

Candles were lighted by Jimmy Grein, Michael Grein and Scott Grein, all of Ponca City, Okla.

WEDDING MUSIC included "Walk Hand in Hand" and "God, A Woman and a Man," sung by Daneze Hanish of South Sioux City; "Wedding Prayer," sung by the bride; and "The Lord's Prayer," sung by Ruth Carter. Organist was Ruth Carter and pianists were Mrs. Carter and Judy Grein.

Flower girl was Heather Hobson of Belmond, Iowa, and ring bearer was Scott Grein of Ponca City, Okla.

THE BRIDE appeared at her father's side in a white gown of sheer polyester with nylon lace and schiffli embroidery, fashioned with a chapel length train. Accenting her gown was a gold cross necklace of her grand mother's.

Her long nylon net veil was trimmed in lace, with lace appliques, and she carried silk flowers.

Matron of honor was Judy Grein of Ponca City, Okla. Other attendants were Carol Wilcox of Lincoln and Jeanne Kardell of Wayne. Personal attendant was Jerri Hobson of Belmond, Iowa. Byron Wilcox served as best man, and groomsmen were Kirk Hansen and Alan Woster. All are of Lincoln.

THE MATRON of honor wore a floor-length gown of sheer polyester knit in light blue with shimmering pastel accents. Her gown featured a V-neckline and lace trim on the cap sleeves. The bridesmaids wore identically styled gowns in light green and light yellow.

Each attendant wore a rose and baby's breath in their hair to match their dress, and carried two long-stemmed silk roses to match their dress, tied together with matching bows.

The bridegroom was attired in a white Bennet tuxedo with a matching ruffled shirt, and his attendants wore blue Ashley tuxedos with matching ice blue ruffled shirts.

The bride's mother chose a polyester lace knit in light dusty rose. Her corsage was a silk rose.

JERRI AND Terry Hobson of Belmond, Iowa and Linda and Tim Lynch of Omaha greeted the guests at a reception at the church following the ceremony.

Gifts were arranged by Patricia Wieland of Wayne and Teri Bigelow of Omaha. Gift carriers were Christy and Kelly Lynch of Omaha and Cheryl Wilcox of Lincoln.

The cake was cut and served by Jackie Wilcox of Lincoln. Lisa Peters and Jean Ring of Wayne poured, and Jenna Woster of Lincoln served punch.

Fourth Quarter Sinks Wildcats; WSC To Host Midland Saturday

By Kent Probst

Wayne State SID
Thirteen definitely wasn't Wayne State College's lucky number Saturday as Chadron State claimed a 16-13 come-from-behind win at Chadron.

A 13 yard Chadron touchdown pass capped a 13-point fourth quarter rally as the hosts surpassed WSC's 13-point total with 13 remaining in the 1981 season opener for 13 year Wildcat coach Del Stollenberg.

Wayne State will try to bounce back this Saturday when it hosts always tough Midland Lutheran, also 0-1 after a narrow 17-12 loss to powerful Peru State. Kickoff time is set for 1:30 p.m. in WSC's Memorial Stadium.

A 13 yard scoring pass from Chadron State's Scott Wickard to wide receiver Rocco Rotello with 1:33 to play capped the two-scored all of its points in the second period. Freshman fullback Bob Norris put the Wildcats in the lead on a one-yard blast midway through the second period to cap a 64-yard drive engineered by senior quarterback Kelly Neustrom. Pat Maxwell booted the extra point and WSC held a 7-3 lead.

Neustrom widened the score when he drilled a seven-yard scoring toss to Pat Maxwell just 25 seconds before the halftime break. The score was set up by an Eagle interception (by freshman defender Kurt Brosamite) and a Chadron fumble, sandwiched around a Wayne State fumble. Maxwell's extra point kick was blocked.

The Wildcats were slowed late in the third period when Neustrom was injured on an option play. Backup signal caller Mike Warren was called in but found the going rough against a veteran CSC defense. Neither team was able to move the ball effectively in the third period, though Eagle fullback Willy Long began to tear up yardage.

WARREN SCRAMBLED to the 15 but was injured on the tackle, and Neustrom was reinserted. Neustrom completed three quick passes to move Wayne to a first down, but was sacked twice to push Wayne State deep in the hole. On fourth down, Neustrom tossed to fullback Jeff Sauser over the middle, but Sauser was hit and fumbled the ball. Chadron State recovered and sealed the win.

Wayne State was led by Neustrom, who completed 9 passes in 15 attempts for 65 yards and a touchdown. Warren clicked on five of nine with one interception for 41 yards. Marinella paced the improved Wayne rushing game with 47 yards in 19 carries. Maxwell turned in his usual fine performance, catching six passes for 79 yards and averaging 37.6 yards on nine punts.

touchdown, 13 point fourth quarter rally by the host Eagles. It also averaged Wayne State's 14.9 win last year and moved Chadron to 1-1 on the young season.

EARLIER IN the fourth quarter, Wickard hit wide receiver Jim Fairfield on a 48 yard scoring pass for the first Eagle touchdown. The try for the two point conversion failed when WSC linebacker Tony Scudder picked off Wickard's toss. Chadron State scored its only other points on a PAT kick by DeWayne Barent after the last touchdown and on a 45 yard Barent field goal late in the first quarter to open scoring.

The Wayne State offense, dogged by injuries and a hard hitting Eagle defense, LONG, WHO WAS limited to just eight first-half yards, gained more than 60 in the fourth quarter alone on his way to a 101 yard afternoon. The scrappy Wildcat defense held the rest of the Eagle ball carriers to minus nine yards at WSC shut the Eagle ground attack down with 92 net rushing yards.

The winning Chadron touchdown was set up after Warren had moved the Wildcats from their own 17 to the CSC 16, eating up both time and yardage. Chadron defender Andy Callahan picked off a Warren toss with 3:19 remaining to stop Wayne State and set up the 84 yard winning march.

The long Chadron drive was aided by two key Wayne State penalties, a 15-yarder for unsportsmanlike conduct and a 19-yard pass interference call that gave Chadron a first down at Wayne State's 15. Two plays later, Wickard spotted Rotello on the goal line and passed to him for the winning score.

Wayne State's frustration was evidenced on the ensuing kickoff, when deep back Tony Marinella fielded the kick near the sidelines at the WSC one yard line. Marinella's momentum carried him out of bounds and

Wayne C.C. Team Loses At Norfolk

Wayne High's young cross country team came out on the short end of the score in a triangular held at Norfolk, Tuesday.

The Norfolk High junior varsity won the match with 17 points. Wisner-Pilger was second with 45 points and Wayne was third with 58. Each team scored five runners.

Individual champion was Norfolk's Larry Jurack with a time of 19:13. Wayne was led by Blaine Johs with an eighth place finish and time of 21:31 and Chris Hillier with a ninth place finish and time of 21:40.

Other finishers for Wayne were Dave Remer in 12th position with a time of 22:31, Gregg Elliott in 14th with a time of 22:52 and Pete March in 15th with a time of 22:52.

Johs and Remer are sophomores and Hillier, Elliott and March are freshmen. Other Wayne boys who ran at Norfolk were Glenn Elliott with a time of 23:34 and Dave Melton with a time of 24:50.

Tuesday's top five finishers will compose the varsity squad which will compete Friday at the O'Neill Invitational.

Three Wayne TD's Lead JV To Win

An interception return, a kickoff return and a five-yard run from the line of scrimmage led Wayne's junior varsity football team to a 22-6 win over West Point CC, Monday.

After a scoreless first quarter, Shaun Niemann scored on a five-yard run. Danny Frevert ran in the two-point conversion.

Terry Gilliland put Wayne in front by two TD's when he returned the opening kickoff of the second half 80 yards for another touchdown. The PAT failed.

The final Wayne touchdown came later in the third period when Kurt Janke intercepted a pass and returned it 40 yards to score. Jim Poehlman ran in the two-point conversion.

Janke was the leading tackler and had two interceptions for the winners. Darin Billheimer was the second leading tackler. Leading ball carrier was Poehlman.

Randy's Recap

By Randy Hascall

OVERTIME GAMES are not common but they certainly aren't rare either. The tie breaker rule at the high school level seems to have puzzled many fans.

So rather than explain it in my own terms, here is the rule interpretation according to the 1981 football rule book. Incidentally, the rule is recommended by the National Federation of State High School Associations. It also was used in Nebraska last year.

The 10-yard line overtime procedure:

When the score is tied at the end of the fourth quarter, the referee will instruct both teams to return to their respective team boxes. There will be a three-minute intermission during which both teams may confer with their coaches.

The visiting captain shall be given the privilege of calling the coin while it is in the air. The winner of the toss shall be given his choice of defense or offense or of designating the end of the field at which the ball will be put in play.

Each team shall be permitted one additional time-out for each extra period plus any unused regulation game time-outs. The team scoring the greater number of points in the overtime shall be declared the winner. The final score shall be determined by totaling all points scored by each team during the regulation and overtime periods.

To start the overtime, the offensive team shall put the ball in play, 1st and goal on the team B's 10 yard line anywhere between the inbounds lines. Team A shall have a series of four downs. The series shall be terminated by any score by A or if B has possession at the end of any down.

Team A shall be awarded a new series when: a penalty for defensive pass interference is accepted; or there is a change of team possession during the down and the ball belongs to A at the end of the down; or Team A recovers a field-goal attempt between the goal lines after it has been touched first by B beyond the neutral zone; or when B is guilty of roughing the kicker or placekick holder.

If team A scores a touchdown, it is entitled to the opportunity to try for the point-after, except when it is unnecessary to break the tie. A field-goal attempt is permitted during any down. If the defensive team gains possession by recovering a fumble or intercepting a pass, the ball remains alive until that down is ended. This provides Team B the opportunity to score following a recovery or interception.

After Team A has completed its series, Team B will become the offensive team with the ball in its possession at the 10-yard line. The same end of the field will be used for both possessions in order to insure equal game conditions and conserve time.

If the score remains tied after each team has been given one series, the procedure shall be repeated until a winner is determined. There will be an intermission of two minutes during which the loser of the coin-toss will be given first choice of the options. If additional periods are required, first choice of options will be alternated.

I HOPE THIS rule clears up some misconceptions about the overtime playoffs at the high school level. You will notice that the overtime should be played on the same end of the field. Fans who watched the Wayne South Sioux overtime will recall that Wayne scored at the north end zone and South Sioux scored at the south end zone.

The officials caught me by surprise. I was in the north end zone taking pictures when they switched and I had to loo down to the other end of the field to watch South Sioux score.

Here are some further overtime interpretations which you may someday encounter:

1. Team A has the ball third and goal from B's four-yard line. B player interferes during a forward pass. Ruling: If the penalty is accepted it will be first and goal for A from B's two-yard line.
2. Third down for Team A from B's six-yard line. An A player fumbles and it is recovered by B player on his two-yard line. The player attempts to advance but fumbles and it is recovered by an A player on B's four-yard line. Ruling: A's ball first and goal from B's four.
3. On second down, a forward pass by A team is intercepted by B player in the end zone and during his attempted advance, he fumbles. The ball is muffed out-of-bounds over the end line. Ruling: Touchback which ends the series for A. Team B will next put the ball in play, first and goal from the 10-yard line.
4. A player fumbles on first down and the ball is recovered at the five by B player who advanced to the 49-yard line where he fumbles. An A player recovers the fumble at B's 35-yard line. Ruling: First and goal for Team A from B's 25.
5. On fourth down, A player fumbles and it is recovered by B player at the five and he advanced 90 yards to A's five-yard line where he fumbles into the end zone. An A player recovers and is downed there. Ruling: Touchback. Team A will now put the ball in play first and goal (80 yards to go) from its own 20-yard line.
6. At the end of regulation time, the score is tied 7-7. Immediately after the last down of the fourth period, an A player strikes a B player. Ruling: The A player will be disqualified and may not participate during the overtime period. The penalty will be administered on the succeeding down. If B team is first to put the ball in play, it will be from the five-yard line. If A puts the ball in play first, it will be from the 25.

THE OVERTIME period is an extension of the game. These rules and interpretations should help you better understand the tie-breaker rule should you ever witness another overtime game.

I RECEIVED WORD this week that Perry Nelson is listed in the 'Who's Who in American High School Basketball 1980-81.

Perry, a 6-6, 195 pound center-forward for Wayne High last year, was listed on the honorable mention list to the All-State all star team. He was a member of the All-Area and All-Conference teams, was chosen team captain and set a record for most consecutive free throws with 32.

Nelson averaged 18.9 points per game while having game high mark of 32 points and season mark of 377. He shot 84.4 percent from the free throw line and grabbed 100 rebounds with 91 assists. Perry is now at Wayne State and hopes to compete for the Wildcats.

YARD BASKETBALL anyone? LeRoy Simpson left Wayne a couple of weeks ago and didn't expect any changes in his property during his short absence. However, he was fooled when he returned home and found that a basketball court had grown in his front yard.

Sure enough, in the middle of his nice front lawn was a basketball hoop at the top of a tall post. It resembled the one he had set up in his back yard. In fact, it was one and the same.

Simpson can't say positively who would be mean enough to dig up his basketball hoop and replant it in his front yard, concrete and all. But, he did mention that the lead on the case shows that the instigator's initials are: Pat Gross.

Bob Jordan, Dr. Leska and Sid Hillier had all been seen in the area the day of the incident as well. Gross denies he had anything to do with the dirty trick.

KEARNEY STATE football coach Claire Boroff said during the Central States Intercollegiate Conference pre-season briefing that he was concerned about the intelligence of his squad.

"We asked our players to fill out questionnaires and got some unusual answers. Under 'academic program...' one guy put down 'agriculture... I like to draw!' For church preference, another guy wrote 'red brick'. And for graduation date, one fellow said 'Emma Lou Johnson'."

AFTER LOSING 37-16 to Missouri Western, Benedictine KS football coach Larry White stated: "You have to respect their two starbacks (Eric) Hoskins and (Mark) Lewis. Those two guys can outrun my car."

Area Volleyball

Allen Girls Defeat Ponca

Things continued to go smoothly as the Allen volleyball team damped Ponca 15-4, 15-6 in Lewis Division play Tuesday at Allen.

Backed by 100 percent serving efficiency in the first game, Allen dropped Ponca 15-4, 15-6 to win the match. The hosts missed only four serves in the second game.

"We played pretty well. We had a good team effort and overall I was pleased. We were ready to play," Allen coach Gary Troth said. "We need a continued good effort to win against Emerson. I anticipate a good match."

The Eagles face Emerson-Hubbard on the road tonight (Thursday).

Against Ponca, Carmen Lubberstedt

scored seven points in the first game. Lorie Rastede and Janet Peterson each had four points in the second game.

Peterson chalked up eight ace spikes at the net. Nancy Olsufka had four ace spikes and Beth Stalling set the ball well for the winners.

Allen won the B match 11-5, 8-11, 13-11 and Troth said his junior varsity team had a rough time. He wasn't pleased with the team's performance.

Wynot Wins Winside Tourney

Tillaema win 7.

Wakefield defeated Wausa 15-11, 1-15, 15-11. Wakefield was led by Susan Baker with 11 points and Renee Wondstrand with 9.

Second round

Wynot defeated Coleridge 15-3, 15-7. Hartington defeated Wakefield 9-15, 15-12, 15-9. Shelly Krusemark and Renee Wondstrand led the Trojans with 10 points and 6 points respectively.

Consolation and finals

Coleridge defeated Wakefield 13-15, 15-8, 15-7 for third place. Lisa Hallstrom scored seven points, Renee Wondstrand scored six and Rita Wilson scored five in the Trojans loss.

Wynot topped Hartington 15-11, 7-15, 15-5 in the championship match Tuesday night.

The C match also was won by the Eagles 12-10, 11-0. Lisa McDonald scored all 11 service points in the second game as Allen pulled away for the win.

Wayne Rallies

After losing the first game, the Wayne Blue Devils rallied to defeat West Point CC 8-15, 15-4, 15-9 in volleyball action, Tuesday night.

Sandy Utecht led the winners in serving with 13 service points and 100 percent efficiency. Missy Stoltenberg was leading spiker with 12 spikes, 9 which were aces. Utecht had 7 spikes, Deb Prenger had 6 and Mandy Peterson had 5.

Wayne was led by the setting of Tamie Murray and Jill Zeiss. As a team, the Blue Devils were good on 81 percent of their serves and coach Mavis Dalton said that factor helped the team considerably.

Wayne will take a 4-2 record into action at Norfolk on Tuesday.

In junior varsity play, Shelley Emry scored 10 points in a losing effort. Wayne was defeated 15-7, 11-15, 15-15. Pam Nisset had a good overall performance for the hosts.

Karen Longe scored nine points to lead Wayne's freshmen to a 15-10, 15-7 win in the night's opener.

Winside Nipped

Winside lost what coach Paul Sok termed "a barnburner" as Osmond defeated the Wildcats 17-15, 15-12 in volleyball action Friday.

Judy Bauermeister led Winside with 15 points and Darin Jenke scored 7.

In the B team match, Osmond came out on top, 11-2, 8-11, 11-9. Leading Winside scorers were Patli Langenberg with 4 points, Shelli Topp with five and Lori Schram with five.

Hog Wild Weekend at WSC

Wayne State College students are preparing to go 'Hog wild' this Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the college's first Hog Wild weekend.

Hog Wild weekend is a new event at WSC to celebrate the first home football game of the year.

Festivities begin today (Thursday) at 4:30 in the afternoon. Professional Food Management will serve a barbecued rib dinner north of the Rice parking lot. In case of bad weather, the dinner will be held in the south dining room. This dinner is free to students on the meal plan. For those not on a meal plan, the cost is $3.75.

THINGS WILL GET wild as the afternoon goes on. At about 4 p.m., women's mud wrestling sponsored by Berry Hall, begins. After the mud wrestling there is a greased pig contest for men, also sponsored by Berry Hall. Both events will be held north of Rice parking lot.

On Friday, the movie "Any Which Way You Can" starring Clint Eastwood will be shown at 8 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre.

The annual Band Day parade starts Saturday off with a bang. Bands from the Wayne area will march through Wayne starting at 10:30 a.m. While marching, the bands will be judged on appearance and sound. Results of the judging are to be announced at halftime of the Wayne-State-Midland football game.

THE REASON for all the celebrating begins at 6 p.m. when Wayne State College opens its home football season against the Warriors of Midland Lutheran College.

During the game, members of Circle K will be on the watch for the group or organization that acts the cruelest and has the most spirts. The winning members will win a $15 gift certificate to the Pizza Hut.

Hog Wild weekend winds to a close with a dance Saturday night at Rice Auditorium from 9 p.m. to midnight. Music will be provided by "Flight".

Hog Wild weekend is planned to be an annual event at Wayne State College.

Wildcat Run Planned Oct. 10

Runners who like to race for medals or run for fun are invited to sign up for the first annual "Coca Cola Wildcat 10 kilometer race and two mile fun run" at Wayne State College on Saturday, Oct. 10.

The run is co-sponsored by the Wayne State athletic training department and the Chesterman Bottling Company. The fun will get underway at 9:30 a.m. on Oct. 10.

The entry fee is $5 if mailed before Oct. 3 and $6 after that date up to 9 a.m. on Oct. 10. All entrants will receive a T shirt, Coca Cola after the race and a ticket to the Wayne State Missouri Western football game that afternoon.

Entrants will meet that morning on the WSC track with check-in from 8:15-9 a.m. An aid station will be set up at the two mile mark. Both the two-mile and 10 kilometer (6.2 miles) courses will end on the WSC track. Showers and lockers will also be available.

Trophies will be provided to the first place finisher in each of eight divisions, while second and third place finishers will receive medals. The eight divisions include 18 and under, 19-29, 30-39 and 40 and over for both men and women.

For further information contact Kurt Czupryn, the head athletic trainer at Wayne State College, Wayne, Neb. 68787, or call (402) 375-2200, ext. 310.

Lions Plan Kids Football Competition

The Wayne Lions Club has scheduled a Football Skills Competition (punting, passing and kicking) for 2 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 27. The competition will be held at the Wayne State College football field.

The Football Skills Competition is open to boys and girls 13 years of age or younger. The four divisions are 10 and under, 11 years, 12 years, 13 years.

Registration forms may be picked up at State National Bank or First National Bank in Wayne or at the Wayne middle and elementary schools.

Arnie's Ford Mercury is providing equipment for the competition and trophies will be presented to the top two finishers in each division.

Benson Third at Jefferson

After competing in Sunday's late model races at Interstate Speedway in Jefferson, S.D., Wakefield's Mike Benson is third in the standings.

The Wakefield racer finished third in his heat and sixth in the A feature season championship race.

WSC's Opponents Place One-Two-Three

The Wayne State College volleyball squad faced some of the best competition around in the Kansas State Invitational last weekend and hope to come out winners despite dropping all four matches.

The Lady Cats will try to come back this weekend when they take part in the Briar Cliff Tournament all day Saturday. The squad opens home action on Wednesday, Sept. 23, when Morrisville and the College of St. Mary invade Rice Auditorium in action starting at 6 p.m.

Benedictine whipped the WSC spikers 15-7 and 15-9 to open the tourney Friday. As it turned out, Benedictine was the only team Wayne State faced that did not earn a place in the championships.

Drake overpowered Coach Berniece Fulton's crew 15-2 and 15-4 on Friday. The Jayhawks of the University of Kansas came away with well-earned 15-7 and 15-4 victories to end Friday's action.

Oral Roberts University sent Wayne State home on Saturday with 15-0 and 15-6 decisions.

As it ended up, Oral Roberts won the 18 team tourney. Drake took second, and Kansas University third. Though the setbacks left Wayne State at 1-4 on the season, Fulton said it was a great learning experience for the squad and should help the young team as the season progresses.

Annual Band Day Activities Saturday

Fans attending Saturday's Wayne State versus Midland College football game will be treated to an afternoon of music at the annual "Band Day" celebration Sept. 19.

Better than 15 area high school bands are expected to take part, according to WSC band director Dr. Ray Keltan. The bands will be competing for trophies and $1,000 in music scholarships provided by the Wayne Chamber of Commerce and the Wayne Second Guessers Club.

Competition will be in two divisions, large school and small school. The bands will take part in a parade, a pre-game show, and a massed band performance at halftime of the football game, scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. at Memorial Stadium.

Also, Wausa (Keith Byrkit); Verdigris (George Wondracak); Schleswig, Iowa (W. Victor Wood); Randolph (Ken Ganseboom); Creighton (Duane Booth); Sergeant Bluff-Luton, Iowa (David Black); Logan View (Bruce Bartels); Yankton, S.D. (Merle Larson); and Wayne (Ron Dalton).

In addition, the Wayne State College band under Dr. Ray Keltan and the Wayne Junior High band under Keith Kopperud will take part.

GENERAL NOTICE
Noxious Weeds Must Be Destroyed
YOU Are Required to Destroy Noxious Weeds on YOUR Property!

Notice is hereby given this 17th day of September, 1981, pursuant to the Nebraska Noxious Weed Law, Section 2-955, Subsection (1)(a), to every person who owns or controls land in Wayne County, Nebraska, that noxious weeds standing, being, or growing on such land shall be controlled by effective tillage, cropping, pasturing, or treating with chemicals or other effective methods or combination thereof, approved by the County Weed Control Superintendent, at such frequency as will prevent the spread of noxious weed plants or prevent them from reaching the bud stage.

Upon failure to observe this notice, the county weed control superintendent is required to proceed pursuant to the law and have weeds destroyed by such method as he finds necessary, the expenses of which shall constitute a lien and be entered as a tax against the land, and be controlled as other real estate taxes are collected or by other means as provided by the law.

YOU CAN EARN MORE THAN 15% on your money when you buy a home! It's true - homes have gone up an average of 15% per year in the last 5 years! And unlike interest, gains on real estate is deferred and taxed at the capital gains rate. And you can buy a Sunrise Townhouse Condo at last year's prices. But don't wait! Builders and developers must pay interest too, and the prices must go up! Yes, you can actually save by buying now when interest rates are high and construction costs are low. And you own a Sunrise Townhouse just like any home or real estate, except:

- You save on the purchase price because construction costs are lower.
- You don't worry about maintenance and insurance.
- You don't worry about snow and lawn service.
- The exterior real estate is owned jointly by all owners.
- You are always a member of the Homeowners association.
- Condos have a better tax advantage for those that need every deduction you can get.

Each 1180 sq. foot Townhouse has oak cabinets and trim, dishwasher, main floor laundry, private patio, central air, gas heat, a complete energy efficient insulation package, and are situated on the highest hill in Wayne, next to the college and hospital. The Marywood subdivision is a prestigious place to live, and an "easy to sell someday" type of location that will protect your investment for years to come.

So don't put your money in the bank and pay taxes on the interest. You not only defer the tax on real estate appreciation, you only pay at the capital gains rates (about 30% of the regular rate).

Appointment Generates Stir in Governor's Office

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The power of political appointments could become quite evident in Nebraska before the year is out.

Gov. Charles Thone has expressed his clear dissatisfaction with the selection of Patrick Augustine as executive director of the Nebraska Commission on Aging. But the agency is independent and Thone doesn't have any power over the appointment of the executive director — at least not direct power.

Commission members are appointed by the governor, and six commissioners' terms expire Nov. 18. Thone has almost promised some new faces on the commission, and he hopes the new members of the aging panel will move to reconsider the appointment of Augustine.

AUGUSTINE, a former Kansas legislator, has been the subject of considerable controversy since his appointment in August. Five commissioners submitted their resignations hours after the appointment, and stories about his past started circulating around the state.

Thone met with the resigning commissioners during a recent closed door meeting, and he said all five agreed to stay on — at his request. Thone told reporters afterwards "these five members will be holdovers, and I will add six more members."

That no doubt means Thone will ask the potential new members whether they will join the other five in seeking to remove Augustine from office. It would be wrong to say that will be Thone's only consideration in selecting the new commissioners, but the governor himself indicated he won't look too closely at the pro-Augustine candidates.

Thone said the problem with Augustine is that he isn't qualified for the job. He also said the 26-year-old Kansan is "not of the caliber" necessary for an executive director of the commission. The five commission members who wanted to resign agreed with Thone's assessment.

AUGUSTINE, throughout the controversy, has said he plans to stay on the job.

One of the things that has caused some concern was the fact that Augustine had been involved in a Kansas felony theft case last year. Charges were dismissed, but he had to participate in a pretrial diversion program.

The Augustine episode has shed some light on what Thone plans to do when it comes time to appoint commissioners in November. It also has given the governor a chance to lobby for a piece of legislation that would place the Commission on Aging under his control.

"THIS FIASCO (the Augustine affair) that we've gone through dramatizes why this agency, spending $8 million or $9 million a year, would be under the authority of the governor's office," Thone said.

Simply by virtue of his appointive powers, Thone might be successful in finding commissioners who will side with him on the Augustine issue. But it's less certain whether he will have the strength and/or clout needed to make the commission accountable to the governor.

REVENUE PICTURE—It looks like the State Revenue Department underestimated tax revenue for August in at least two categories — sales and corporate income.

Revenue projections are used to determine sales and income tax rates, and tax levies might have to rise if tax revenues are way overestimated.

Gov. Charles Thone has said he would call a special legislative session to cut spending rather than raise taxes if incoming revenue is insufficient to meet obligations. But if the August trend continues, neither option might be necessary.

August figures show receipts totaled $72.7 million, up 11.7 percent from what was projected. For the first two months of this fiscal year, receipts are 6.2 percent ahead of estimates.

ALTHOUGH THE fiscal year is getting off to a good start, it's too soon to be overly optimistic. And State Budget Administrator Don Leuenberger said he's not ready to say for sure a special legislative session won't be necessary this fall.

Although Leuenberger concedes the figures look good so far, he said he wants to see the figures for the entire first quarter — July through September — before he commits himself on the revenue picture.

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the state Board of Equalization is in November, although a special meeting of the panel — or a special legislative session — could be warranted sooner if the revenue picture changes drastically.

Energy Anxieties

The cost and availability of energy has been a major issue for agriculture for a number of years. Farmers have been seeking alternatives in the form of solar energy, wood fuel, farm produced alcohol and other options.

Will the concern over energy supplies increase the demand for even more alternatives? Will the demand on energy resources and related concerns spread to other resources, like soil and water?

These are concerns being raised by staff of the Energy Project and its sponsor, the Center for Rural Affairs. Over the past four years, the Energy Project has assisted farmers in developing energy conservation practices, the use of solar energy and other energy-alter natives.

Currently, however, various considerations are being given to future alternatives to high costs associated with livestock operations, motor fuels, soil losses and declining ground water tables, to list only a few examples. "Toward a More Resourceful Agriculture" has become a new theme of the organization.

The annual report of the Center for Rural Affairs noted that "the political and economic forces threatening existing world order will provoke policy makers to demand much more of our agricultural resources, both natural and human, than ever before."

The demands may force agriculture to sacrifice soil, water, energy and also farmers. The human resources of farmers is an important concern of the Center. "This organization's work with the Small Farm Energy Project has convinced us that the energy crisis is a cultural crisis, and that farmers are a human resource capable of responding to that crisis. That, too, is part of a resourceful agriculture," the report states.

The center's annual report proposes the following standards for a more resourceful agriculture:

It is a renewable and sustainable agriculture preserved by farmers for future generations; it relies on the craft of the farmer more than the complexity of costly machines; it provides economic opportunity for people who work the land, preventing concentration of resources; it affirms stewardship as a principle and responsibility of farming; and it nourishes the human spirit of farmers.

A special issue of the "Small Farm Energy Project Newsletter," March, 1981, discusses further "resourceful agriculture" topics, including reports on resource management, tree crops for the future, wood and solar energy projects, and other options. For a copy, write the Energy Project, P.O. Box 736, Hartington, NE 68737.

"WE STARTED OPERATING OUT OF THE FRONT DOOR WHEN THE 'LEGITIMATES' MATCHED OUR INTEREST RATES!"

State Doesn't Compete Fiscal Policy Conservative

One of the advantages of living in Nebraska is that the state isn't driving interest rates up by competing with families and businesses for the money that is available for borrowing.

The federal government of course gives all other borrowers in the nation lists by putting up 50 many billions of funds available for lending. The spending authorized by Congress in 1980 won't wind up until the federal fiscal year ends Sept. 30.

MANY STATE governments are nearly as bad as the federal government has been at running up huge deficits. These states spend far beyond their revenues and borrow the difference, thus competing with the individuals and corporations in their areas for the limited amount of savings available for lending.

Nebraska's constitution, as you know, prohibits the state from borrowing any money. Beyond that, the law requires the state to assure that every last penny appropriated will be spent within the fiscal year, which is never the case. On top of that the state is required to collect an estimated 3 to 7 percent above what has been appropriated, so that sufficient funds will be on hand even if tax revenues fall somewhat below expectations.

Nebraska's state retirement funds are entirely different also from those of the federal government and many of the states. The original concept of the U.S. Social Security system was that funds paid in by workers and matched by the employers would be invested to support the workers when they retired. Now those funds and others collected for federal civil service workers are spent as fast as they are collected, and Congress has to authorize borrowing to keep the monthly Social Security and pension checks flowing.

In Nebraska, retirement funds for state employees and teachers are kept in separate funds and invested so money will be available as people retire.

AS A RESULT of law providing for revenue reserves and of segregating retirement program monies, the state of Nebraska not only doesn't compete in borrowing but also is a source of funds for lending.

The Nebraska Investment Council puts these funds to work where they will bring the best return with the least amount of risk. On any day in the state fiscal year which ended June 30, the state had invested somewhere between $250 and $400 million.

One result of this is that the state earned about $46 million on that invested money last fiscal year, thus reducing the amount of taxes needed to be collected from Citizens in the current year. Another result is that some of that investment financed borrowing by Nebraskans.

The state's sound, conservative fiscal policy is another aspect of the good life in Nebraska. The state not only doesn't compete in borrowing with families and industry but also adds to the amount available for loans by its investment policy.

Farm Outlook To Improve In 1980's Say Analysts

By M.M. Van Kirk
Nebraska Farm Bureau

Amid all the pessimistic economic news, farmers and ranchers may find it helpful to read a U.S. Department of Agriculture feature in a recent issue of "Farmline" entitled "Farm Financial Picture to Improve in 1980's."

The two finance analysts of USDA's Economics and Statistics Service who prepared the forecasts had them in print before the most recent slide in grain prices but one has to remember that they are making long range general trend predictions and six months or a year from now they may have more credibility than they show at the moment.

IF FOR NO other reason than it helps to hear an optimistic note sounded occasionally, the following statements by Analysts Dean Hughes and Stephen Gabriel are heartening.

First they see the decade of the 1980s as a growth decade. They say that growth may start slowly (and it certainly has) and may not touch all segments of farming, the overall picture is one of increased strength and profitability for U.S. agriculture.

They base their opinion on expectations that rising foreign demand will provide steadily expanding export markets and that at the same time a sustained recovery in the U.S. economy could touch off renewed growth in consumer incomes—spurring demand for red meats.

They also project that the annual rate of inflation will turn down from recent high levels and may slow further as 1990 approaches. That would of course be the best news.

AFTER 1981, the projections indicate that gradual—but steady—gains in the farm sector's gross income will be largely offset by rising production expenses which will generally keep pace with the inflation rate throughout the economy.

Thus, they believe, net farm income may grow at an average annual rate of only 4 to 5 percent between 1982 and 1985. If their projections turn out to be accurate, the inflation rate will be somewhat higher than this, so farmers would still be losing ground in purchasing power.

However, in the second half of the decade, net farm income could start to grow rapidly with mounting export demand, a slowing inflation rate and higher consumer incomes.

In fact, Hughes and Gabriel foresee net farm income growing at about double the average annual rate of the early 1980s. The acceleration in farm income, while inflation continues to moderate, would give farmers substantial gains in purchasing power. Farm income could actually be rising faster than income in the non-farm sector.

FOR THE decade as a whole, farm production expenses could increase by an additional $240 billion above 1980's estimated $132 billion. However, gross farm income is expected to increase even more.

The result, the analysts say, is that net farm income may more than double by 1990. Even after adjusting dollar figures for the projected inflation rate, farmers' purchasing power would increase by a tenth over the 10-year period.

Nothing says that such optimistic possibilities will materialize but then again, who can say that they won't either. Many farmers can think back over the last 20 to 25 years and say about their decisions, "If I had only known what was coming!" or "If I had only been more confident and bought that extra land... or put down that irrigation well or installed a center pivot."

There is one thing about the history of farming... It is a volatile business and things can turn sweet just as quickly and readily as they have gone sour. The optimistic analysts just may be right... and they do make for much more pleasant reading.

Area Silage Harvest Begins

BYRON AND WERNER JANKE of rural Carroll work as a team to chop some of the season's first corn for silage. The four-row self-propelled chopper throws the cut corn into a silage wagon that matches the pace of the cutter as it travels up and down the field. Choppers were out in several fields northwest of Wayne last week to make silage out of part of what is expected to be Nebraska's second biggest corn crop in state history. And, area reports indicate that several farmers in the Carroll area are nearly ready to lift soybeans from several early ripening western Wayne County fields.

New Northeast Station Specialist

The appointment of Terry Mader of Stillwater, Okla., as beef specialist at the University of Nebraska Northeast Station Concord, was approved recently by the UNL Board of Regents.

He succeeds Dr. Vernon Krause, now employed in an industry position.

Mader will split his time between extension and research. His research work will be at the station's beef herd and will involve the utilization of feedstuffs produced in the northeast area of the state.

His appointment is effective Nov. 1.

Mader worked in feed management positions in Lexington and Kansas City, Mo., before continuing his education.

After receiving his bachelor's degree in feed science and management at Kansas State University, Mader studied at Oklahoma State University where he earned his master's in animal science. He will complete his Ph.D. requirements in animal nutrition this fall.

Corn Production is Up

Corn production as of Sept. 1 is forecast at 772.8 million bushels, up 2 percent from the Aug. 1 forecast, 28 percent above 1980, and second largest of record. Average yield is estimated at 112 bushels per acre, up 2 bushels from last month and 27 bushels higher than last year's heat and drought reduced yield. Acreage intended for grain harvest remains at 6.9 million, down 3 percent from last year. The 1979 record crop of 822 million bushels averaged a record high 115 bushels per acre.

Dryland corn production is forecast at 149.1 million bushels, 44 percent above last year. Yield is estimated at 76.5 bushels per acre, up 7.1 bushels from a month earlier and 28.3 bushels above last year. Farmers are expected to harvest 1.95 million acres of dryland corn for grain, 9 percent below last year.

Irrigated corn production is estimated at 623.7 million bushels, 25 percent above last year. Yield is forecast at 126 bushels per acre, equal to last month but 25 bushels above last year. Acreage for grain harvest continues at 4.95 million acres, equal to last year's record average.

Youths Win Expo Ribbons

About 180 4-H and FFA members participated in the 32nd Annual Meat Animal Exposition at the Norfolk Livestock Market on Monday. The show was sponsored by the Ag Council of the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce and the Norfolk Livestock Market.

Those participating from Wayne County and their ribbon placings include: purple - Barry Bowers, Winside; blue - Jerry and Kenny Kramer, Wisner; Jan and Kay Meierhenry, Hoskins; Joanie, Brian and Rick Bowers, Winside; Keith and Kent Roberts, Wakefield; Jim and Brad Roberts, Carroll; and Shellie Topp, Wayne.

Three Wayne County 4-H'ers participated in the Showmanship contest. The 4-H'ers and their ribbon placings were: blue - Jerry and Kenny Kramer and Shellie Topp.

National 4-H Week Set

More than 60,000 Nebraska 4-H'ers and their families and leaders are making plans to observe National 4-H Week, October 4-10.

Using the theme, "4-H Pathways to the Future," members of Nebraska's largest out-of-school youth organization and their 11,000 volunteer leaders will take part in special activities, according to the State 4-H Department at the University of Nebraska.

Growth in Non-farm Business

Number of Farm Counties Down

Farming is a leading source of income for fewer than 700 U.S. counties today, a sharp drop from the more than 2,000 such counties 30 years ago.

This decline, with an accompanying erosion of farmers' political power, nonetheless introduces economic opportunities for both farmers and their rural communities. The growth in non-farm business gives farmers a chance to supplement their income with a job off the farm.

And rural economics may become more "recession-proof" now that they have a more balanced mix of income sources, including farming.

THE LARGEST decline—33 percent—in the number of counties where farming was a leading source of income occurred in the 1950s. Technical advances in farm production which released people from farming contributed to this and later declines.

Another important factor was the growth in nonfarm employment in rural communities which outdistanced farm employment growth.

This review of the changing dependence of U.S. counties on farming considered farming a leading source of income if it produced 20 percent or more of proprietors' and labor income.

FIVE GROUPS emerge when U.S. counties are compared according to their changing dependence on farming since the early fifties: consistently farming counties, farm-loss counties, formerly farming counties, non-farm counties, and a non-exclusive category called overshadowed counties where a large farm sector is eclipsed by even larger nonfarm economic activities.

Consistently farming counties earned at least 20 percent of their income from farming in 1975-77 and in two or three of the earlier time periods. There were 673 counties in this group, mainly concentrated in a triangular area with its corners in eastern Montana, western Wisconsin, and western Texas.

Farm loss counties lost money farming, or earned low farm income per farmer in 1975-77. The 128 counties in this group had earned at least 20 percent of their income from farming in the earlier periods, but not in the midseventies. About 90 of these counties were west of the Mississippi River—60 of them in Texas, Kansas, and Nebraska.

FORMERLY farming counties were farming counties in 1950, but no longer depend on farming. Most of the 1,202 counties in this group lost their economic dependence on farming in the fifties or sixties. These counties were common in the Midwest, South, and West.

Nonfarm counties did not depend significantly on farming in any of the periods studied. There were 1,135 such counties. They were concentrated in the Northeast, but were also in coastal areas of the Pacific Ocean and Great Lakes and in scattered areas throughout the rest of the Nation.

Overshadowed counties earned less than 20 percent of their income from farming in 1975-77, yet were among the top 20 percent of U.S. counties when counties were ranked by farm income. These 374 counties were important to U.S. farming because they produced over a quarter of all U.S. farm sales. However, income from other sources eclipsed their farm income.

THERE were 210 formerly farming counties and 164 nonfarm counties in the overshadowed group. Major concentration of these counties were in the Pacific States, southern Florida, North Carolina, and a broad belt beginning in southern Minnesota and central Iowa and running through Wisconsin, Illinois, southern Michigan, and Indiana to western Ohio.

The decline of farming as a major source of proprietors' and labor income during the last three decades is depicted in figures 1 and 2. Only a third of the farming counties in 1950 formed the consistently farming group in 1975-77. Some of the 1950 farming counties, however, also appear as overshadowed counties in 1975-77.

The half million farms in consistently farming counties averaged 585 acres, compared to the 440-acre U.S. average. Although these counties contained only 23 percent of the Nation's farms, they had 31 percent of U.S. land in farms and 33 percent of the farms with more than $40,000 in sales. These counties harvested 53 percent of the U.S. wheat acreage, 47 percent of the land in other small grains, 41 percent of the sorghum acreage, 38 percent of the land in corn, and 33 percent of the land in soybeans.

NEARLY 78 percent of the farm operators in consistently farming counties reported farming as their principal occupation, compared to only 58 percent in the other groups.

Farmers in consistently farming counties were more likely to rent part of the land they farmed, allowing them to operate larger farms without buying more land. They were slightly younger and less likely to be members of minority groups.

Overshadowed counties had a smaller average farm size (296 acres) and a smaller portion of the Nation's farmland (15.1 percent). Yet these counties harvested 28 percent of the land in corn, 27 percent of the soybean acreage, 22 percent of the cotton acreage, 39 percent of the tobacco acreage, and over 50 percent of the land in fruits and vegetables.

Overshadowed and consistently farming counties together sold about 60 percent of the Nation's farm products.

A COUNTY'S dependence on farming does not necessarily result in low per capita income. Although per capita personal income in consistently farming counties averaged 20 percent lower than in nonfarm counties, it was slightly higher than in formerly farming counties.

If drought had not been widespread in the midseventies, farming would probably have been the largest source of income in the farm-loss counties, as it was in consistently farming counties.

Transfer payments (including receipts from Social Security, unemployment insurance, public assistance, and other government programs) were among the top three sources of income in all groups of counties.

About 30 percent of all jobs in consistently farming and farm-loss counties were on farms in the midseventies. Farming provided less than 4 percent of total employment in the remaining counties. Most people who worked on farms were proprietors rather than wage and salary employees. Government (local, State, and Federal) and service firms were the largest employers of wage and salary workers in all county groups.

COUNTIES with a continuing dependence on agriculture tend to be sparsely settled, containing only 4 percent of the Nation's population. Population in the consistently farming group averaged 11,800 per county and only 8,700 in the farm-loss group, compared to 27,200 in the formerly farming group and over 150,000 in the nonfarm group. Population growth was slowest in consistently farming and farm-loss counties.

IF YOU AREN'T IN LEGAL TROUBLE, WHY DO YOU NEED A LAWYER?

A better question might be "When do you need a lawyer?"

At one time or another, everyone needs legal advice and the best time to get it is before legal trouble occurs. Like preventive medicine, preventive law can save you a lot of money and misery. So the answer to the question, "When do you need a lawyer?" is, "Now." As a matter of fact, an annual legal checkup is a good idea. That way, your lawyer can catch and cure small difficulties before they grow into big disputes. Legal advice costs money. From any one but an attorney, it could cost you a fortune.

Milking Time

CARL PAUSTIAN of rural Carroll, right, beams with the pride of a dairyman with a new barn. And, that's because he finally has one. More than two months after a late-June tornado ripped through his farmyard and destroyed his old milking barn, Paustian has recovered with a modern 12-stall facility, above. Another mid-summer storm blew down a block wall on the building while it was under construction. On the site of the old barn, the new concrete block building features the latest in push button control milking gear. A maze of pipes carries the milk from the cows into a shiny cooling tank at the front of the barn. Cows eat from automatic feeders that work at the pull of a cord. Doors open and close at the touch of a button. And, manure is flushed down the drain. Paustian brought his cows home from the nearby Dale Claussen farm about two weeks ago.

$58 Million Loaned to NEN Farmers

In his annual report to members, Calvin J. Allyn, president of the Federal Land Bank Association of Norfolk, said association loans outstanding reached $236 million on June 30.

He said $58 million was loaned to farmers and ranchers in northeast Nebraska during the year. He reported that the primary purpose of a Land Bank loan was to purchase land with 32 percent of the loan volume during the last year going for real estate purchases.

Allyn indicated that 23 percent of the new loan volume during the past year had gone for the purpose of refinancing chattel debt. This has not indicated an increase over last year in the percentage of loan funds going for this purpose, however, it is higher than it had been in some previous years, he said.

ONE OF THE primary reasons for refinancing the chattel debt has been the differential in interest rate between the short term lenders and the Land Bank during the past year.

Allyn said many applications for loans had not been approved during the past year due to a declining cash flow. The operating expenses, with interest cost leading the way, had increased significantly during the past year and the commodity prices have decreased the past year leaving a limited amount of cash for debt repayment, he said.

George White of Plainview, chairman of the Norfolk Land Bank Association Board of Directors, presided at the annual business meeting. Other directors in attendance were Fred Schellpeper, Stanton, Leonard Kerkman, Clearwater, James Kathol, Harlington, Marvin Hagge, Bloomfield, Victor Luebber, West Point, and Larry Anderson, Elgin.

MERVIN HAGGE was re-elected to a three year term on the association's board and Patrick McLain of Ewing was elected to succeed George White who retired after 22 years of service this year.

The Federal Land Bank Association of Norfolk makes long term loans to farmers and ranchers in a 13 county area in Northeast Nebraska and the association is a cooperative lending organization, entirely owned by its 3,400 member borrowers.

From mid-summer until grain cools, Indian meal moth infestations will increase in stored grains. This is a surface infesting insect. The larvae spin webs that are quite visible on the surface. Adults are easily identified by wing color. The forward portion of the wings are cream color, the back portions bronze to copper color.

If grain is to be fed within a few weeks, skim off the webbing and larvae from the surface. If grain is to be stored for a month or longer, the insects should be controlled.

Vapona 20 percent resin strips can be suspended in the air space over grain, using one strip for each 1,000 cubic feet of space. Vapors from strips will kill adults, but will not control larvae. If air circulation removes vapors, the strip will not be effective. Vapona strips are best for long term storage, and should be in place early in the season.

Surface treatments of the bacterial insecticide Dipel will reduce larvae. The larvae must ingest the spores, and kill will be slow. If it is a safe treatment so far as feeding at any time is concerned, Dipel is mixed with the upper four inches of grain. Rates will be provided on the label.

STORING POTATOES — When should the potatoes be dug and how should they be stored? The variety and growing season will determine when the home garden potatoes are ready to be harvested. If over 50 percent of the foliage is brown, the potatoes should be dug now.

The tubers will make no growth once the vines have deteriorated to this point. Potatoes left in the ground after they are mature are subject to disease problems.

Do not scuff potato surface or expose them to sun and drying winds during the digging operation. The home gardener can spread the potatoes out in the shade until the surface has dried and the soil particles brush away easily.

After curing, the potatoes should be stored in a very cool cellar with low humidity. Loosely woven potato sacks or screen racks will aid in preventing potatoes from "sweating" during storage.

Store potatoes in a dark room once they have cured. Light may cause potato tubers to acquire an unpleasant flavor.

Belden Pool Honored

The Belden pool was honored Sept. 5 in Lincoln for second place overall of the 1981 Swim for Heart event. The top pool was Nebraska City raising $2,400 with Belden collecting $2,297.31.

Cheryl Koch, manager of the Belden pool, coordinated the event and received a plaque from the American Heart Association.

The honor was received at a recognition day at the Bob Devaney Sports Complex in Lincoln held for the top three money winners of every pool participating in the event. The day included demonstrations and a clinic by the University of Nebraska Swimming and Diving teams, a Valentino's pizza party and a day at the Nebraska State Fair.

The top three money winners from Belden attending were Rev. Dwayne Luack who collected $1,013.75, Amy Alderson, $214.10, and Lonnie Mitchell, $208. Rev. Luack also received a gold medal during the day for being the overall top money winner for the Heart Association. He also receives a 10-speed bicycle for his swim.

Others participating in the event which was held at the pool on July 23 and 25, with the money raised following their name: Jim Hay, $166.30; Brenda Hintz, $125.80; Janeen Kittle, $125.25; Cindy Cook, $125.20; Beth Dittman, $88.65; Cindy Avenell, $75.85; Vicki Meier, $72.61; Robyn Avenell, $51.80; Carla Dittman, $25.25; and Bonny Fish, $6.10.

Each swimmer received a certificate, T-shirt and swim patch. Those collecting over $50 also received a beach towel and those collecting over $125 were given a warm up suit.

Swim for Heart encourages physical fitness and heart health among people of all ages. In addition, the funds raised will help the Heart Association in its fight against heart diseases and stroke. Each year, more people die from heart and blood vessel diseases than all other causes of death combined. Swim for Heart encourages youth to begin regular heart healthy exercise programs at an early age.

Nestled in Memories

AN OLD CHICKEN HOUSE FRAMED BY roadside trees is all the remains of the childhood home of Doris Linafelter of Allen. The farm, located just south of Allen, was originally homesteaded in the late 1800's by Doris' grandfather, Joseph Isom, who came to the United States from England. The family home, once a showplace for miles around, was torn down in the early 1950's. Fire destroyed the barn in the early 1970's.
