Increased Transfer Station Use Holds Rates

Increased use of Wayne's transfer station by residents hauling their own refuse has enabled the city to hold the line on garbage rates.

And despite the fact that rates were increased about a year ago, the City Council has given verbal assurances that another jump is not likely in the near future.

City Administrator Phil Kloster has recommended that the Council hold the line on rates because number of customers using the station for garbage have increased substantially, generating more revenue at the plant.

DURING this year's first quarter, area residents using the transfer station for garbage disposal represented about a third of the customer activity.

By the end of the year, that figure had jumped to about 50 percent of the customer activity. Those dumping at the transfer station also include commercial haulers (licensed Class A collector trucks).

Those commercial haulers charge their clients $9 per month for garbage pickup and disposal at the city operated, non-profit transfer station, which is in the southeast section of Wayne.

Rates at the station, which is open to all Wayne area residents on a haul your own basis, are based on a cubic yard charge for garbage disposal.

The flat cubic yard rate is $2.50 per cubic yard, which essentially is the equivalent of five 35 gallon bags of garbage.

OPEN FROM 9 a.m. to noon every work day of the week, the transfer station also is open from 1 to 3 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

And, on Saturdays, the station is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The operation is closed Sundays and all legal holidays.

The breakdown of that cubic yard rate for city residents amounts to 50 cents per 35 gallon garbage can or bag.

The rate for pickup trucks (without sideboards) dumping at the station is $5 per vehicle. With sideboards, the pickup truck rate jumps to $10 per load.

The commercial licensed Class A collector trucks — Wayne Refuse Service or Mrsny Sanitary Service, for instance — pay a $3.27 per cubic yard for their tightly compacted refuse.

OTHER RATES at the transfer station include $10 for two-wheel trailers (4-cubic yard maximum) and $15 per four-wheel trailers (6-cubic yard maximum).

All other trucks are charged the basic rate of $2.50 per cubic yard.

Tire dumping (without wheels) is allowed at the station. The rate for those up to and including size 10.20 is $1.25 per tire. Anything larger is $1.65 per tire.

And, material weighing more than 400 pounds per cubic yard is figured at a rate of $3.65 per cubic yard.

On large household appliances, furniture, and mattresses, the rate is $2.50 per item.

And, all rates are doubled for solid waste generated outside the city limits.

THE TRANSFER station regulations include a penalty for littering to or from the dump site.

The compactor foreman has the authority to refuse any material that is not in "the best interests of public health, safety or welfare" of the city.

All solid waste must be transported in covered vehicles, containers or bags. And, the station accepts wood or logs, as long as they don't exceed 6-feet long.

NO DUMPING is allowed on concrete or demolition debris, hot or burning refuse, animals, manure, sewage, liquids or hazardous materials.

In addition, because of the processing time required, no dumping is allowed within 15 minutes of closing time.

That means garbage must be dumped by 11:45 on weekday mornings, or a full 15 minutes before the lunch hour.

On Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, the garbage must be dumped by 2:45, or 15 minutes before closing time. On Saturdays, garbage must be dumped by 4:45 p.m., or 15 minutes before closing time.

November Opening

Farmer's Plans Roll On New Skating Rink

Wayne's new skating rink is rolling toward a Nov. 1 opening.

Renovation is underway at the old white International Harvester Building on Main Street south.

And, Wayne area farmer Herman Luschen expects to hear the sound of skates on the new 6,000-square-foot rink soon after Halloween.

IN ADDITION to the rink, the completely remodeled building's interior will feature a game room and lounge area (another 2,100 square feet).

"The biggest holdup will be the floor of the rink," Luschen said. "It won't take long to pour it (the floor), but it takes 30 days to cure."

Last week, Luschen's renovation crew — including his 18-year-old son, Don — was redoing the lighting system, closing garage doors in the walls with concrete blocks, and cutting interior windows for a view of the rink from the game room.

"It's going to be a place for kids," Luschen said. "I've always thought Wayne needed something for the kids to do."

LUSCHEN BOUGHT the vacant building, which includes a large parking lot, from Vakoc Construction of Wayne.

Remodeling began about two weeks ago, as the block crew began sealing off the rink area, which will be heated with suspended, forced-air furnaces.

The 6,000-square-foot rink area will occupy about 75 percent of the building's floor space with a wall separating roller skaters from the game room and lounge area.

The game room and lounge will feature pool tables, pinball machines and other games, according to Luschen, who said no meals will be served at the recreation facility.

"It's strictly a candy, pop and popcorn thing," he explained, indicating that non-skaters will be able to use the games or watch the roller skaters through windows in the interior wall.

A railing will separate the game area from a skater-watching area, he said.

LUSCHEN SAID an inventory of skates will be available for customers to rent. And, those with their own skates will be allowed to use the facility for a rink fee.

A counter area and restroom facilities will be built into the building's southeast corner, according to Luschen.

He said the lighting will be completely changed, and the walls and ceilings will be sprayed with an acoustic material that not only will reduce the noise but add insulation to the structure.

The acoustic spray will be applied from the ceiling to within 6 feet of the floor, where carpeting will be installed along the walls, he said.

The floor, which has to be leveled, will consist of a special resin-plastic skating surface, he said.

Correction

The intelligence range for gifted students is much greater than the range between any school district's trainable mentally retarded (TMR) and the highest ranking student in standard programs.

That's one of many points Wayne-Carroll School District board of education member Becky Keidel made during a report on a recent teachers' workshop for gifted students. Keidel presented the report during the Sept. 14 board meeting.

An article in the Sept. 17 edition of The Wayne Herald incorrectly defined TMR children. The error is regretted.

Mrs. Gildersleeve said all of the sessions concern a different aspect of the problems facing cancer patients.

Energy Efficiency

American Association of University Women Invites Public to Tour Homes at Wayne and Wakefield

Members of Wayne's American Association of University Women (AAUW) are focusing on energy conservation as they plan for their seventh annual house tour.

Some of Wayne's most beautiful and energy efficient homes are included on the tour, which is scheduled Sunday, Oct. 4.

Betty Schroeder, publicity chairman, said the public is invited to tour the homes from 2 to 5 p.m.

Mrs. Schroeder said the tour is non-guided and ticket holders may visit the homes in any order they wish between those hours.

HOMES FEATURED on the tour will be those of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Mitchell, Jack and Kathy Manske, Mark and Lu Ann Wiltse, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bard.

Refreshments will be served at the Manske home.

BROCHURES FOR the tour, which will also serve as tickets, are $2.50 in advance or $3 the day of the tour. They may be purchased at First National and State National Banks, Griess Rexall Sav. & Drug or from any AAUW member.

Proceeds from the tour go to support AAUW fellowships, scholarships and project grants. Mrs. Schroeder pointed out that any woman changing careers may apply for a fellowship or scholarship.

Following are brief descriptions of the homes and their locations.

Larry Mitchell Home

The Larry Mitchells have lived in their passive solar home at 1004 Aspen since December of 1980.

A free standing fireplace placed in a heat absorbing brick alcove provides heat, and the furnace is used when necessary. Last year, the Mitchells turned off their furnace on Jan. 24.

South-facing sliding doors and windows let in the winter sun, and clerestory windows provide cir-ulation in summer. The house has a treated wood foundation, and the north side is earth sheltered to a height of about eight feet.

THE FRONT DOOR opens to a large open space, and to the right is a family room with a fireplace and sliding glass doors leading to a private courtyard.

To the left is the living room with adjoining dining area. The antique china belonged to Mrs. Mitchell's grandmother, and the sugar bowl and creamer to her great great grandmother.

The garage roof angle is correct for the placement of solar panels if desired.

Jack Manske Home

The home of Jack and Kathy Manske at 1223 Providence Rd. is built in a traditional Cape Cod style and features an adjoining Sun Wise solar collector to provide space heat and pre-heat the domestic hot water.

When space heating is not needed, the system automatically switches to heating the water supply.

Beside the front door is an old stained glass window, and to the left is the living room and formal dining area. The family room is directly ahead and features ample built-in storage and shelves and a display of family pictures.

The entire area is decorated in a rich wine color.

DOWN THE HALL

on the main floor is the nursery of son, Jay, 1½, and the master bedroom.

A quilt in the bedroom was worked on by three generations — Kathy, her mother and her grandmother. The cedar chest was a wedding present to Jack's great grandmother in Germany in 1870.

Upstairs, Alissa's room is a little girl's delight, with yellow gingham, a mock canopy bed, and a butterfly quilt. The doll collection is a combination of Mrs. Manske's dolls and dolls Alissa's uncle has brought her from foreign countries.

Mark Wiltse Home

Mark designed and built their two level passive solar home at 912 Aspen, where he and his wife Lu Ann and their daughter Michelle have lived since January.

Large south facing windows serve as solar collectors in the winter. In summer, opening upper level windows and low level windows, creates a natural flow of cooler air into the house and exit of warmer air out of the house.

A special panel which makes an air tight seal is placed over the large windows on winter nights to prevent heat loss. In the daytime, the opened panel reflects light up through the windows.

THE LOWER level of the home is earth sheltered on the north side, and the foundation is made of treated wood which is extremely resistant to water leakage and is a good insulator.

Because the house has no basement, Mark included extra large closets, ample cupboard space, and a storage area above the garage.

The roof slope is correct for the placement of solar panels at some time in the future.

THE FRONT door opens into an open living room, which includes Lu Ann's collection of Royal Copenhagen Christmas plates.

A china cabinet in the dining room was made from an old wardrobe by Mark's grandfather, Willard Wiltse, who also restored the walnut table.

The kitchen features cupboards made by Mark and his grandfather.

The main floor bedroom is currently used as a family playroom. Also on the main floor are a laundry room and bath.

An open staircase leads to the upstairs.

bedrooms. The master bedroom features a sliding glass door to the deck. The door is equipped with a panel similar to that on the front windows.

Gordon Bard Home

The Gordon Bard home, located seven miles east and one fourth south of Wayne, is an energy efficient earth sheltered structure.

The Bards planned and built their home with the help of their daughter and son-in-law.

The styrofoam insulated cement block back and side walls are covered with soil to moderate temperature changes. Windows in the extra thick south walls admit warm winter sun, but the roof overhang keeps out direct summer sunlight.

A DOWN-DRAFT furnace provides supplementary heat, however the house was almost self heating last winter. The furnace is connected to a cement tunnel under the house, allowing the Bards to circulate earth cooled air with the furnace fan in summer, and moderate heat losses in the winter.

The solar collectors on the roof are used to pre-heat water for the hot water heater in a system Gordon built.

THE FRONT door opens into a living-dining room with an antique china display cabinet. The room is decorated with plants and Mrs. Bard's needlework and macramé.

To the left is a kitchen and laundry room.

In the back are three bedrooms and the bath. Mrs. Bard made the quilts, and an antique trunk in the spare bedroom den was brought from Sweden by Mrs. Bard's uncle. A collection of family pictures decorates the hallway.

THE BARD home is proof that underground living can be bright, cheerful, and energy efficient.

'Believing and Serving' Meetings at Redeemer

Redeemer Lutheran Church of Wayne is hosting a three evening series of meetings under the theme "Believing and Serving," Sunday through Tuesday, Sept. 27, 28 and 29, at 8 p.m. nightly.

Guest speaker for these preaching and teaching meetings will be the Rev. Neal R. Boese, senior pastor of First St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Hastings.

PASTOR BOESE is a native of Tennessee... a graduate of Wittenberg University and Hamma School of Theology in Ohio, and has served three congregations in Texas since his ordination in 1964.

His special gifts in helping churches grow were evident in all three places.

At St. John, Grand Prairie, the congregation grew from 90 to 400 members in five years. At Mesquite, Austin, the growth was from 275 to 550 members in five years, and at House of Prayer, San Antonio, the congregation went from 250 to 700 members in six years.

BESIDES BEING involved in rapidly growing congregations, Pastor Boese has served on Synod committees and boards, and as a delegate to the National Convention of the Lutheran Church in America.

He presently is on the Board of Directors of Nebraska Campus Ministry and on the Evangelism Committee of the Nebraska Synod. He comes to Wayne as a pastor-evangelist for the Synod.

THE EVENING meetings are open to the public. Pastor Boese will also be meeting informally with congregational groups.

Laurel Teacher Retiring

The reception will be held Sunday, Oct. 4. There will be a program at 2:30 p.m., followed with a coffee hour in the high school gymnasium.

The public is invited.

Fourth Annual Fund Raiser

Historical Society Selects Date For 'Table Fashions on Parade'

The Wayne County Historical Society is once again inviting the public to take part in its fourth annual fund raiser, a "Table Fashions on Parade" show scheduled in October.

Mrs. Clifford Johnson, a member of the Society, said individuals and groups are invited to prepare an interesting table display of special dishes, silverware, glassware, candles, floral arrangements, etc.

Proceeds will go to the County Museum.

MRS. JOHNSON said some possibilities for a display may be formal or informal tea parties; luncheons, breakfasts and dinners; picnic and banquet tables; oriental and other foreign settings; holiday and seasonal themes.

Mrs. Johnson added that children's table displays would add variety.

THE SHOW is scheduled Thursday, Oct. 22, from 2 to 9 p.m. at the Wayne city auditorium.

There will be an admission of $1.50 per person.

Cash awards will be given in the categories of special occasion, contemporary, antique and novelty.

Tables may be set up in the auditorium on Thursday morning, beginning at 10 o'clock. Some tables, 30 inches by 8 feet, will be available, or participants may provide their own.

INDIVIDUALS or organizations wishing to prepare a display are asked to provide the following information to the committee by Oct. 10:

Size of the table, theme of table display, and brief description of table.

The information should be sent to Eunice Corbit, Rt. 2, Wayne, Neb., 68787, or Loreene Gildersleeve, 1005 Sherman St., Wayne, Neb., 68787.

Mrs. Johnson said exhibitors may display more than one table and are responsible for their own displays. Monitors will be in charge of displays at all times.

Highest Score Since 1970

Wildcats Batter Midland's Wishbone

Some members of the Wayne State football team looked like they were the ones who had been scalped but it was Midland College which was stamped in a 51-21 massacre, Saturday at WSC's Memorial Stadium.

With several players sporting grown-out crew cuts, Mohawks and other short hair styles, the Wildcats held a ceremonial post game victory dance at mid-field.

With shirts off, the winning players gathered and let out resounding victory cries which showed more emotion than fans had witnessed after a Wayne State victory in years.

NOT SINCE A 1970 69-7 whitewashing of Peru State, have the Cats scored more than 50 points in a game. The 72 points scored by Wayne State and Midland also is the Martin on a 27-yard play to cap the drive.

MIDLAND CAME BACK to score on an 80-yard drive and tie the game at 7-7 on a 10-yard run by Dave Nettles.

Sophomore Ken Kohlhof picked off a halfback pass and scrambled 23 yards for a TD. The PAT by Maxwell brought the score to 14-7.

WSC got another break when Midland's punter dropped the snap and Wayne's Mark Walker recovered on the 14. Three plays later, Neustrom ran the ball in from nine yards out for a 20-7 lead. Maxwell's PAT attempt was wide to the right.

The visitors pulled back within six points on another 80-yard drive. A one-yard plunge by Larry Parks brought the score to 20-14. Maxwell's 26-yard field goal gave the Cats a 23-14 advantage as the first half ended.

THE GAME WAS broken open in the third quarter. A 57-yard pass from Neustrom to Maxwell gave WSC its first TD. Then, a 31-yard TD pass from Neustrom to Ed Blackburn added another. The Wildcats added a touchdown with their rushing attack. Jeff Sausser, a sophomore fullback, scored on a one-yard plunge to give Wayne a big 44-14 lead.

Trailing by 30 points, Midland cut the difference with a 35-yard touchdown pass from Steve Carlson to Brian Alderman late in the third period.

The final TD was scored by Sausser on a three-yard run in the fourth quarter giving Wayne a 51-21 lead. The WSC reserves took over and finished the game.

Perhaps someone should have proclaimed Saturday as "Moville Day." Kohlhof and Neustrom are both from Moville, Iowa. Three other Moville players saw action in the game and complemented Wayne's play.

Kirk Neustrom, brother of Kelly, had four tackles and one interception for a 13-yard return. Kurt Brosamle had five tackles and Mark Walker had a fumble recovery. All are from Moville.

OTHER DEFENSIVE standouts were Ron Gilbert with 15 tackles and a fumble recovery and Ron Berrie with eight tackles and a fumble recovery. Jay Sandy and Troy Thiem also recovered fumbles.

Maxwell's five receptions for 93 yards topped the impressive WSC pass receiving list. Blackburn grabbed four passes for 71 yards and Martin had four catches for 61 yards. Scott Hallstrom, a Wakefield sophomore, had three receptions for 54 yards.

Sausser was Wayne's leading rusher with 23 carries for 73 yards. He also caught two passes for 10 yards. Tony Marinella carried 12 times for 43 yards.

greatest number of points scored by two teams since the 1970 Peru game.

The outstanding Wildcat offensive performance came against a Midland College team which nearly upset the NAIA's seventh ranked team, Peru State, last week.

Before an estimated Band Day crowd of 3,200, the home team outscored Midland 28-7 in the second half to even its record at 1-1. The WSC offense seemed to be too much for the scoreboard which quit working in the second half.

Led by the sizzling performance of senior quarterback Kelly Neustrom, the Cats racked up 431 total yards including 289 through the air. Neustrom completed 18 of 29 passes for three touchdowns. His two game marks are 27 completions in 44 attempts for 174 yards and four TD's. He has yet to be intercepted.

WAYNE STATE WILL face a stiff test this Saturday as the Wildcats challenge undefeated Yankton College at 7:30 p.m. in Yankton.

The passing game was not Wayne's only bright spot. Midland returned only four of Pat Maxwell's nine kickoffs for an average of 13.5 yards per return. The others carried either into or through the endzone. Maxwell also booted a 26-yard field goal, the first of his career.

The usually tough WSC defense gave up 200 yards rushing to Midland's wishbone offense in the first half. The Cats buckled down in the second half and gave up only 117 total yards in the final two periods.

In addition, WSC intercepted three passes and recovered six fumbles. Most of the Midland fumbles were caused by hard tackling.

The Wildcat offense opened up its aggressive attack early in the game. The hosts marched 80 yards on their first possession for a touchdown. Neustrom hit split end Steve

Beemer's Peck Leaves High School Success To Help WSC

By Jackie Osten
Wayne State Co-editor

If it's true that winning follows a person everywhere he goes, then the Wayne State Wildcat football team is fortunate to have assistant football coach Ron Peck on its sidelines. Before Peck came to Wayne State earlier this summer, he was a successful high school coach with a number of state championships during his 18-year coaching career.

Peck began his football career as a guard on the Coleridge High School football squad in the late 1950's. He was a three-year letterman in basketball and track as well as football, and a member of the All-Conference team for two years.

After graduation in 1959, he attended Wayne State College majoring in physical education and guidance. While at WSC, he was a member of the Wildcat football team playing defensive line and lettering two years. He also was a letterman on the wrestling team and was rated second in the heavyweight division of the Nebraska College Conference his senior year. Peck graduated with a bachelor's degree in the spring of 1963 and later returned to Wayne State in 1971 to receive his master's degree in physical education and guidance.

PECK'S FIRST COACHING job was as an assistant coach at Ida Grove, Iowa, in 1963. In 1964 he moved to Neola, Iowa to serve as assistant coach of Tri-Center High School for two years.

His first head coaching job was at NESCO (Northeast Story County) School in Zearing, Iowa where he posted two undefeated seasons during his four-year stay. Next, Peck coached both football and men's track at Maple Valley High in Mapleton, Iowa for five years. In 1976, he decided to return to Nebraska.

He served at Winslow for two years, again coaching football and wrestling, and his wrestling teams reigned as district champs twice and state runner up in 1976.

His final high school coaching job landed him in Beemer, his present home. The three years he coached at Beemer brought the school two consecutive Class D-1 eight man football championships, in 1978 and 1979, and the Class D-1 men's track championship in 1979.

PECK MADE the decision to move out of high school coaching "because I wanted to get out while I was on top." Now in his first year as assistant coach on the college level, he says that this is the type of position at which he would like to remain.

He arrived at his present position with the Wildcats by calling head coach Del Stollenberg one day this summer and asking him if he needed any help in the coaching department. The answer was a resounding "yes" and Peck appeared on the practice field along with the players in mid-August as the team's assistant offensive line coach.

Peck feels that the Wildcats "are a good football team and should be okay if they don't get injured." He went on to add, "The only problem is, I'm not sure how good any of the other teams are yet."

Regarding the 60-mile round trip drive between Wayne and Beemer, Peck says that while he doesn't really enjoy driving that distance every day, the job that he does when he gets here makes it all worthwhile, and he says, "I really love it."

During the day, Peck works as guidance counselor at Beemer High where his wife, Theola, is employed as a drama and English instructor. They have three children, Ronde, 14; Nancy, 10; and Ted, 9, all attending school in Beemer.

Blue Devils Lose to Class A Team

It took a good team to defeat Wayne High's volleyball team. Tuesday night

Host Norfolk High trimmed the Blue Devils 15-6, 13-15, 15-8 in a close match. Deb Prenger scored 12 service points to lead Wayne. Missy Stoltenberg was leading spiker with 17 spikes including five for aces. Sandy Utecht had nine spikes with four aces. Leading setter was Jill Zeiss with 29 good sets. "We played a super game against a fine team," Wayne coach Mavis Dalton said. "I was pleased with the team's performance."

In reserve action, Norfolk defeated Wayne 15-6, 15-6. Fran Gross led the losing effort with seven service points. Wayne's freshmen also were defeated 15-4, 15-10. Paula Koplin had a good all around performance, the coaches said.

Next action for Wayne is scheduled at Wisner-Pilger tonight (Thursday).

In a sub-par performance, the Wakefield Trojans lost a home volleyball match 15-9, 15-9 to Harrington, Tuesday.

The hosts led 7-4 in the first set but Harrington rallied to lead 9-7 and 11-8 before pulling away for the win.

The Trojans seemed to lack consistency and aggressiveness as they fell behind. They started out on top again in the second game with a 4-0 lead but again fell behind and lost.

The Trojans trailed 8-5 but stayed close at 11-8 before the visitors pulled away.

Rita Wilson had six good spikes in eight attempts and two ace spikes. Susan Baker led the setting with 14 good sets in 14 attempts. Lana Erb had eight good sets in eight attempts with one ace.

"Everybody seemed to go in slow motion. Our passing was below par and we still aren't aggressive enough. We must put the ball to the floor on our spikes," said coach Mary Schroeder following the match.

Wakefield won the junior varsity match 15-6, 15-3. Brenda Jones made nine consecutive points in the first game and finished the match with 11 points in the first game and 12 in the second.

There was no freshman match.

Wausa Edges Trojans. Wakefield couldn't hold on quite long enough to defeat Wausa in volleyball action last Thursday. Wausa won the match 6-15, 15-5, 15-7.

The Trojans won the first set easily but lost two successive sets as Wausa won the match.

Wilson made 12 of 12 good serves with one ace. Lana Erb made seven good serves in seven attempts with one ace.

Leading hitter was Kelly Greve with six spikes in eight attempts for three aces. Susan Miller led the team in setting with 13 good sets in 16 attempts. Lisa Hallstrom added two ace spikes.

In junior varsity action, Wakefield lost a close one to Wausa 9-15, 15-17.

The Trojans are scheduled to face West Point on the road tonight (Thursday).

Commission Lengthens Pheasant Hunting Season

Nebraska hunters will have an extra 17 days to enjoy pheasant and Hungarian Partridge hunting this year following action by the Game and Parks Commission to lengthen pheasant season to coincide with the Bobwhite quail season.

Seasons on all three upland game birds will be Oct. 31 through Jan. 31, 1982. Hunting hours for all three species will be 30 minutes before sunrise to sunset Oct. 31 through Dec. 31 then 30 minutes before sunrise to 4 p.m. during the month of January. This is a change from previous years when pheasant and quail were hunted until sunset during the entire season.

Biologists note the early closing is primarily for the benefit of quail to enable conveyes to regroup before dark during adverse weather.

The 1981 upland game bird bag and possession limits are Ringneck Pheasant 3 cocks daily, 9 cocks in possession. Bobwhite Quail 6 daily, 18 possession and Hungarian Partridge 3 daily, 9 possession.

The crow season will be Oct. 1 through Oct. 31, 1981 and Jan. 1 through April 2, 1982. There is no limit on the number of crows that may be taken.

Intramurals Draw Many Students

The intramural sports program at Wayne State College is off to a running start for the 1981-82 academic year, says Wayne State's director of student activities, Frank Teach.

Student participation in intramural sports is traditionally high at WSC with approximately 45 percent of the college women and 75 percent of the men taking part in one or more intramural activities during the 1980-81 academic year. Teach hopes that participation this year will meet or beat those figures.

As far as variety in sports goes, Wayne State intramurals seem to have something for almost everyone. Events run all the way from traditional sports such as flag football, tennis, golf, basketball, and softball to the unusual, like women's mud wrestling and sports trivia.

Something new has come to the intramurals sports this year in the person of "All Star Like." He makes daily predictions on the outcome of various intramural games. The catch is that no one knows just who "like" is.

According to Teach, the predictions appear under his office door each morning, are typed up and posted on the intramural bulletin boards in the lower level of the WSC Student Center. "like's" predictions are strictly for fun, as his accuracy sometimes shows.

State Patrol Investigates Three Accidents

Three accidents in the Wayne area were reported this week by the State Patrol's office. Trooper Wayne Headley responded to the accidents.

A two-car accident just east of Wayne Friday afternoon involved Hazel Carlson of rural Wakefield and Douglas Garvin of South Sioux City. Both cars were eastbound and Carlson was making a left turn at an intersection of Highway 35 when Garvin attempted to pass and the automobiles collided.

THE CARS driven by Hazel Carlson and Douglas Garvin collided Friday at this intersection.

Another accident occurred early Saturday morning 1 1/2 miles east of Wakefield. Dennis Tullberg was eastbound on a country road and reportedly swerved to avoid a deer. His pickup hit the Logan Creek bridge and rolled. The pickup was totaled and Tullberg was taken to the hospital where he was checked and released.

At 11:50 a.m. Wednesday, another two-car accident was reported one mile north of Wayne. The autos were northbound on a county road.

According to the report, Loren Murray pulled his vehicle off to allow a combine to go by at an intersection. Wilbur Giese attempted to pass and collided.

Rink

THE RINK will run the full length of the building, which is at the corner of Fairground Avenue and Main Street, and will the lounge and game-room area.

The parking lot, which is just off Main Street, is south of the building. Luschen said that, for the time being, the parking lot will remain gravel "at least until we get this thing going."

Two customer entrances will be along Main Street, adding that the building will also have fire doors.

And, Luschen plans to add a complete sound system for skating music.

NO FINAL name has been selected for the facility. Although Luschen said that Wayne State & Recreation is under serious consideration.

The new skating rink will be a "family recreation" facility, according to Luschen, who said the schedule probably would be geared for kids' after-school hours and weekends.

He said the rink probably would be available for private skating parties.

More than a year in the planning, the new Wayne skating rink will be operated by members of the Luschen family.

The family farms just east of Wayne.

THE LUSCHENS, who operate a grain and livestock farm, also produce a specialty crop of cucumbers for Gedney of Chaska, Minn. The family also buys for Gedney from other cucumber producers.

Luschen and his wife, Helen, are setting up the operation for their children.

He said the skating rink's operators will be his son, Don, and daughters, Sandra, 21, Mary, 17 and Carol, 15. Sandra's husband, Rick, 22, also will be involved in the operation, Luschen said.

"I'll be in charge because somebody's got to wear the stripes," he said.

Energy

fuel conservation, alternative energy sources and the economic impact of energy dependence.

"In the last few weeks information from officials in the gas utility industry have informed me of the fact that much of the state will be looking at natural gas rate increases of 25 to 40 percent," DeCamp said.

"Since this fuel is vital to the heating of our homes and running of our businesses, it is — to be frank — necessary for our survival," he said. "It also becomes quite apparent that these rate increases will have a profound negative impact on the economy of the state."

DeCAMP SAID the economic facts have been confirmed by a recent report submitted to the Midwest Governors' Conference.

"This could be especially devastating to Nebraska, as we import 95 percent of the energy we consume," DeCamp continued.

"It matters little to our consumers whether we pay Kansas, Wyoming or Saudi Arabia, the money is leaving the state in ever-increasing amounts. But it doesn't have to be that way."

He said study after study indicates that Nebraskans could do the same job with less fuel.

"Nebraska also has indigenous resources in its wind, sun and biomass sources," he said.

"This campaign can lead Nebraska away from its 95 percent dependence (on energy imports)," he added.

Nebraska's Revenue Picture Looking Good for 1981

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

State Tax Commissioner Fred Herrington recently had some good news for Nebraska taxpayers, at least through the rest of 1981. Herrington told his colleagues on the state Board of Equalization — Nebraska's tax-setting agency — that the state's revenue picture looks good for the year. In a letter to his colleagues, Herrington said a special tax setting meeting is neither needed nor appropriate right now.

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the board is Nov. 12, which means taxes probably will remain unchanged through 1981 if a special meeting is unnecessary. At their Nov. 12 meeting, board members will examine the state's revenue situation in an attempt to determine appropriate tax rates for 1982.

IN HIS LETTER, Herrington said the new Economic Recovery Act of 1981 will not affect state tax revenues this year. For that reason, he said, a special tax setting meeting is unnecessary.

But the effect of federal tax cuts on Nebraska in 1982 could be another story. Those cuts will translate into reductions in the revenue Nebraska receives from corporate franchise and income taxes and individual and trust income taxes.

Herrington says the state Board of Equalization in November will get a report on the impact of the tax cuts in 1982. He said the state Revenue Department has not yet calculated how much Nebraska will lose next year in tax revenue by virtue of the federal tax reductions.

BUDGET REQUESTS — The wheels are already spinning in Lincoln in preparation for the recommending a state spending package for fiscal 1982-83.

Sept. 15 was the deadline for state supported agencies to get their budget requests in to state budgeters, and about 80 of the 91 agencies met the deadline.

State Budget Administrator Don Leuenberger and his staff are now weeding through the budget requests, as a preliminary step in preparation for making the state budget recommendation that will be submitted to the Legislature in January.

More intense budget deliberations are expected by the middle of next month, when Gov. Charles Thone, Leuenberger and others will start setting down the guidelines and drafting the budget blueprint that Thone will take to the Legislature.

The state Education Department submitted what appeared to be one of the largest requests for an expanded budget. The department asked for a $13.1 million increase in state aid to education, which would boost the state supported fund to $708.3 million.

In its state aid to education request, the department said it needs the increase to maintain the current percentage of support for public education.

AGING DIRECTOR — Despite a storm of controversy surrounding the appointment of Patrick Augustine as executive director of the Nebraska Commission on Aging, the former Kansas legislator says he is determined to do his job effectively.

The debate that has surrounded his August appointment made him a "football in a partisan game," something he never expected to become.

Augustine, 26, believes his background makes him more than qualified for the job. Gov. Charles Thone and some commission members, however, have said he doesn't meet the qualifications to serve as the independent agency's executive director.

Augustine, nonetheless, says he's committed to stay on the job and will work with the governor and his staff, despite their differences. Augustine is a Democrat; while Thone is a Republican.

"I feel I can help the aging programs in Nebraska," Augustine told reporters at a recent news conference. "When things get tough, I get determined to bring innovative programs operating efficiently."

Augustine's strongest public supporter is commission Chairman Ruth Blankenship of Omaha, who has criticized Thone for his handling of the situation.

"I THINK we need to worry about helping the elderly and not worry who who is a Republican or Democrat," said Blankenship, a Democrat.

It became evident Augustine's appointment was controversial the day he was appointed when five commissioners said they were resigning. But Thone met with the commissioners, and announced they agreed to stay on the job.

Thone added, however, that some faces on the commission would change when he makes the next round of appointments.

Thone believes Augustine failed to meet minimum qualifications for the job and said he is "not of the caliber" required to fill the position. Blankenship flatly disagrees.

But the governor also has expressed concern Augustine avoided a felony theft charge in Kansas last year by agreeing to a pretrial diversion program.

Augustine, meanwhile, asserts that his background more than met legal qualifications. He said his resume was screened by Kansas personnel officials and clearly met the experience and academic requirements for the post. Thone disagreed, and the controversy ensues.

Gathering the Eggs

Chicken Show 1982. That's what's on the Wayne Regional Arts Council's July agenda. During the council's recent annual meeting, members decided to go for it again. And, area residents are going to have an opportunity to help plan the show's second edition. The council is planning to set up suggestion boxes in downtown Wayne to gather some new ideas from those interested in the show.

It seemed like nearly everyone had a suggestion or two in the days immediately following the show. And, now that some time has passed since the mid-summer event, many have had an opportunity to review their initial reaction.

The council is showing a sincere effort to improve the Chicken Show for 1982. So, once the suggestion boxes are available, let's hope area residents take the opportunity to put their thoughts on paper.

It takes a lot of work to put on a successful show. It takes very little effort to sit back and complain about the work someone else is doing.

So, if there were things about Chicken Show 1981 that you liked, let the world know. And, if there were things about it you didn't like, let the council know.

Your ideas and suggestions do count. In fact, the idea you have may just make the difference in 1982. One thing is for certain, if you don't offer your suggestion, it won't make a difference.

That would be unfortunate, given the community spirit that was displayed during the first show.

That kind of spirit can make or break a show. It made the 1981 show. And there's every reason to believe Wayne can do it again, and do it better, with your help.

One of the best indications that 1982's Chicken Show will be better is the fact that the council is starting the planning much earlier.

The early start will no doubt give everyone, including you, a chance to gather and sort a few eggs before the feathers fly.

Playing the Game

There is a game Washington bureaucrats like to play with taxpayers, and it's worth examining in view of the thousands of tourists who visit the Washington Monument.

As authentic version, emanating from upper echelons of the White House, comes from James C. Miller III, executive director to the President's Task Force on Regulatory Relief. In a recent interview with Editor Hank Cox of "Washington Watch," a monthly newsletter on regulatory matters, published by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, Miller was asked to explain the "Washington Monument game." He said:

"That's the old story where the president calls his cabinet together and says, 'You've all given your budget estimates to OMB and they're too high. I want you to come up with some budget cuts so we can put the aggregate budget back to reasonable levels.'

"And so the Secretary of the Interior tells the President, 'We've looked over all of our priorities and the thing we feel we can most easily cut out is the Washington Monument.'

"Now no President is going to close down the Washington Monument! This is a game that is sometimes played in order to avoid budget cuts. I don't want to talk about personalities here, but in the abstract I would not be surprised if we heard stories to the effect that if we are really serious about meeting our paperwork reduction goals, then the Department of Health and Human Services won't be able to send out Social Security checks!"

If you hear such a story about Social Security checks, be forewarned. It's another bureaucratic game.

Grain Exports Benefit State

America might export as much grain to the Soviet Union in the last three months of this year as was shipped in the first nine months.

The quantity of grain exported to the Soviets may rise steeply because of the extremely poor harvest prospects in Russia.

THE ECONOMY of Nebraska would benefit more from increases in grain exports than that of any other state. A recent U.S. Department of Agriculture study revealed that Nebraska has more counties (60 of 93) where agricultural income makes up at least 20 percent of the net business income of individuals and partnerships, plus the total income from wages, salaries and fringe benefits in those counties.

It developed that the reason 17 counties in Nebraska weren't included was because they are heavily dependent on cattle sales and lost money rather than made it during the 1975-77 year covered in the study.

governor charley thone

The Soviets have imported about 760 million bushels of grain this year and may have to buy an equal amount before the end of this year.

Russia may be one of the best prospects for additional grain sales because the Soviet government probably has to buy a lot of additional grain to avoid the possibility of large scale consumer unrest, such as has been evidenced recently in Poland.

THE U.S. is expecting that 1981 will for the 13th consecutive year set a record for the dollar amount of its farm exports. This is despite the fact that the rising confidence in the value of the dollar in the world money markets means that some countries are paying about a fourth more for American grain than they paid a year ago.

It's too bad that American farmers haven't realized increased prices for their grains. World stocks of grains have declined in the past year, however, and the bad crop in the Soviet Union could be the factor that brings a U.S. price increase.

In Nebraska we must do increasingly more to provide clean grain of dependably high quality and do more selling work overseas to persuade foreign buyers that they can't get better grain anywhere in the world than in Nebraska.

One Week Remains On Subscription Offer

Snap to it, folks. There's only a week left to get in on The Wayne Herald's September subscription special.

It's all part of a month-long subscription campaign, which started three weeks ago and ends Oct. 1 (next Thursday), that offers new readers a free 8x10 color studio photograph for a one-year subscription sign-up during September.

And, the same free-photograph offer is good for long-time readers of The Wayne Herald who extend their current subscription for a year or beyond.

College students who sign up for the full school term can get in on the offer, too. A one-year subscription for readers in Wayne, Pierce, Cedar, Dixon, Thurston, Cuming, Stanton and Madison counties is $12.79.

PLUS, THERE'S a special bonus offer for those who buy a two-year subscription or extend their current subscription for two years.

Those readers will have the same opportunity for the free 8x10 color photograph as set out by Blake Studios of Wayne — plus a $4.50 discount on the regular two-year subscription price of $23.50.

That means: during September, you can sign up for two years of The Wayne Herald for less than 200 issues — for $21.

For a two-year subscriber, the price per copy is less than half the cost of buying The Wayne Herald over the counter at 20 cents per issue.

NEW SUBSCRIBERS and those renewing their subscriptions will get a gift certificate at The Wayne Herald for a free 8x10 studio color photograph setting at Blake Studio.

The photo settings will be a subscriber's choice and may involve the entire family, six members, or any combination, including pets.

Additional charges will be made for settings outside the Blake Studio — outdoor or home settings, for instance.

Rural Crime Soaring in Midwestern Farm Belt

By M. M. Van Kirk Nebraska Farm Bureau

Rural residents, particularly those living in proximity to cities and towns, are well aware that the incidence of crime is increasing in the rural areas just as it has shown phenomenal increases in the past 20 years in urban communities.

Law enforcement agencies are well aware of this and have been recommending measure aimed at both preventing crimes and solving them after they occur. Modern farming is a high cost business, requiring investments of thousands of dollars in sophisticated tillage and harvesting equipment as well as extensive shop tools and equipment that make tempting targets for thieves.

ON THE FARM grain storage has been encouraged by government programs and probably has always been good management. But tens of thousands of bushels of grain sitting in bins on the farm waiting for marketing opportunities represent many thousands of dollars and the risk that thieves with trucks can strike quickly and within minutes make off with a sizable haul.

Cattle rustling and horse stealing were problems in pioneer days and they have carried over to modern times, now complicated with the use of mechanized equipment that can deliver the stolen animals to far away markets before the rightful owners have even discovered they are missing.

Stealing gasoline from a farmer's fuel barrel supplies was not unheard of 40 or 50 years ago but reports indicate it has become a much more common practice since the price has gone to $1.30 per gallon and more. Economic recession when jobs are hard to find and money is in short supply in many households always seems to trigger a rise in the "petit larceny" class of thievery as well as the "big money" items.

Extension specialists and law enforcement officers regularly recommend ways and means by which farmers and ranchers can keep their property from being such inviting targets of both theft and vandalism. Many counties now have a crime prevention property identification system in which the cooperating sheriff's department maintains and assigns a coded identification number for each farm and ranch which registers.

SUCH AN assigned identification number is applied by steel die marking equipment according to a prescribed plan, to a farmer's machinery and major tool items.

This enables law enforcement agencies to identify stolen equipment and quickly locate the rightful owners. Farm organizations, FFA chapters and other groups have been acquiring marking equipment sets and offering a marking service either as a good will service or money raising benefit venture.

Bundles of paper confetti carrying the assigned ID number can be distributed in a farmer's grain bin making it possible for law enforcement agencies to make positive identification of grain where there is suspicion that it may be stolen. Thieves aren't likely to haul off a farmer's grain if they know that it can be identified when they try to sell it and the owner located even after it has crossed state lines.

MANY OTHER common sense measures can diminish the attractiveness of rural crime. Farm and ranch tools can be kept in the farm shop and the door padlocked. Urban dwellers have learned the hard way that their doors have to be locked against burglars and rural residents must join the trend.

Beating the bushes and tall grass in the fields, particularly around busy roads and highways, overcasts of on weekends. Locks can be marked and probably the entire state should be in the brand inspection area and not just part of it.

And neighbors can be mutually helpful by alerting one another about unusual activity and strangers coming across roads parked for unknown purposes. Farm and ranch people can do much to reduce rural crime by making it more risky and unprofitable for the would-be thief.

Working Wayne County Soil

Farming is hard work. The farmer works from sun-up until sunset and sometimes longer during the busy season. Farming is not merely a process of putting the seed in the ground and harvesting the crop when it has matured. There is much more involved.

Many steps are involved from the time the ground is first prepared in the spring until the final ear of corn is picked in the fall. Often, the farmer is slowed by equipment breakdown. Then, he must hope for just the right amount of rain. Too much and the crop is flooded. Too little, and the crop can't mature.

When grain prices are high, the farmer has poor yields. When he has excellent yields, grain prices are low. Cattle feeders find that the price of cattle goes down when they are ready to sell. Or so it seems.

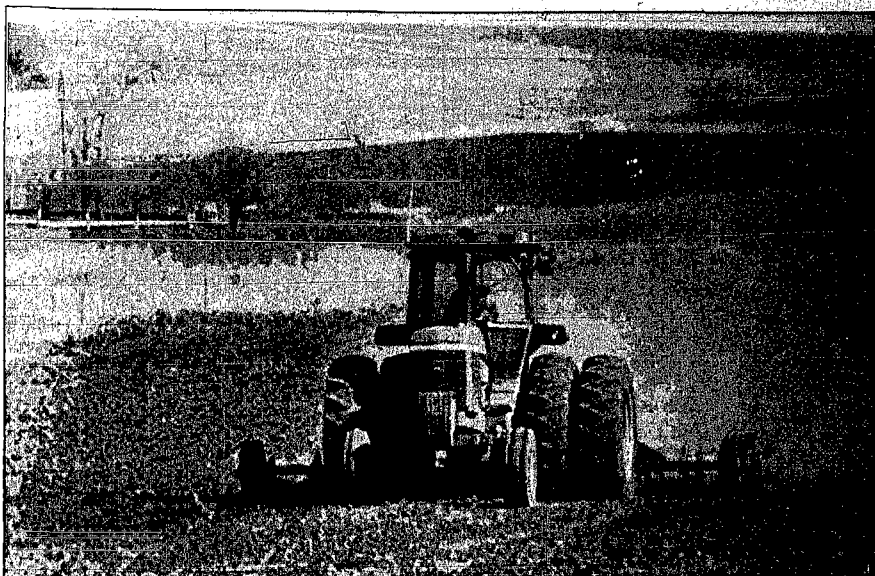

Farming is unpredictable. But, farmers love their work and we rely heavily on the job they do.

The Dale Topp farm of rural Winside (13 miles south and east of Wayne) is used here as an example of the work which is put into an average field. The steps used on Topp's cornfield are: fall chiseling, spring field cultivating, spreading of dry fertilizer, field cultivating (preplant), planting, spraying with broadcast fertilizer (nitrogen) and herbicide combination, cultivating, spraying of broadleaf weeds with drop nozzels, chopping of corn for silage, and hauling, dumping and packing silage. Then, the silage will be reloaded on feed wagons and fed to cattle.

Six separate steps are shown here. At right, spring field cultivation prepares the field for planting. Topp puts the seed in the ground (right, center photo) and hopes that some rain and sunshine will bring a good crop of corn. After the corn is planted, Topp turns his worries to weeds and sprays the field (left, center photo). After the corn has grown, Topp cleans out some of the other weeds with his cultivator (left photo). Finally, the corn is ready to be harvested so Topp and his hired helper (lower, right photo) chop the corn and haul it away. The silage is then dumped (lower, left photo) and packed at a convenient site.

Concord Farmer LEAD Fellow

Gerald M. Muller, 34, a partner in the 660-acre MGM Farms near Concord, has been selected as one of 30 fellows of the Nebraska Leadership Education/Action Development program.

Muller will participate in a seminar at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education in Lincoln, Oct. 11-13, focusing on potentially enhancing the session is one of a series designed to develop self-confidence and understanding of different points of view for participants who will continue to manage their farming and/or other agribusiness operations.

He and his partners grow corn, soybeans, alfalfa and oats and raise 800 head of cattle and 1,400 head of hogs. He received his bachelor's degree in mechanized agriculture from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Muller and his wife, Kathleen, have two children, Heidi, 6, and Andrew, 4.

He is president of the Northeast Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association, a member of the Masonic Lodge, the Northeast Nebraska Rural Public Power District Board, the Wakefield Community Club and the Northeast Nebraska Irrigators Association.

Dairy Convention in Omaha

The 27th annual Nebraska Dairy Industries Association convention will be held Oct. 14 and 15 at the Regency West Motel in Omaha, according to T. A. Evans, the association's executive secretary.

Three experts in the dairy industry will speak on the program Thursday afternoon, the second day of the program. Dr. Rod Brown, Utah State University, will talk on cheese yield pricing of milk and Dr. Robert Lamb, a Utah State staff member, will discuss feeding and management of dairy cows to improve protein production. W. W. Ozley of the Southeast Technical Center, Kansas City, will conclude the program with a presentation on concept to market the technical center.

Two of Nebraska's long time dairymen will be recognized at the banquet to be held Thursday evening. They are Dr. Phillip Kelly, Lincoln, a former chairman of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Dairy Science Department and Kenneth Ash, Lyons, former manager of the Lyons Cooperative Creamery.

Sheep Symposium Scheduled

The Nebraska Sheep Council and the Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service will sponsor the first sheep symposium on health and nutrition Nov. 16 and 17, at the Ramada Inn in Kearney.

The symposium is designed to meet the growing needs of Nebraska sheep producers, according to Dr. Ted Doane, University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension sheep specialist. Nebraska has shown a 20 and 19 percent increase in sheep numbers in the last two years, the highest in the U.S. on a percentage basis, he reported.

Dr. Frank Hinds, head of the University of Wyoming animal science department, is the scheduled speaker on Nov. 17. He will discuss nutrition as it relates to health. Dr. Bob Stear of Norden Laboratories, Lincoln, will speak on products and product development.

Wildlife Workshop at UNL

The University of Nebraska will host the Fifth Great Plains Wildlife Damage Control Workshop, Oct. 13-15, local organizers have announced.

Drs. Ron Johnson and Bob Timm, NU extension specialists, were successful in bringing the biennial workshop to Lincoln. The workshop was begun in 1973 and was primarily concerned with coyote damage control. Timm said. Now the focus includes all types of wildlife damage concerns and attracts participants from across the country. About 200 persons are expected to attend the workshop scheduled for the Nebraska Center.

The keynote address will be presented by James E. Miller, program leader for fish and wildlife at the U.S. Department of Agriculture. His topic will be wildlife damage control and the Cooperative Extension Service and the need for more national attention in the area.

Feeder Pig Expo in Columbus

The date of the 1982 Nebraska Feeder Pig Expo, to be held at Platte Ag Park in Columbus, will be Feb. 10-11, not Feb. 19, as appeared in an earlier news story, officials have announced.

This year's event will include a feeder pig show, speaking program and a new feature—a youth division for showing feeder pigs. Doyle Wolverton, University of Nebraska extension livestock youth specialist, said any Nebraska 4-H member, vocational agriculture or other youth who will not have reached 19 years of age as of Jan. 1, 1982, is eligible to enter pigs.

One to three sows must be identified prior to farrowing, on or before Nov. 15, 1981, to make the pigs eligible for the show, he added.

Fat Cattle Inventory Up

Nebraska cattle feeders had 1,340,000 cattle on feed on Sept. 1. This inventory was up 3 percent from last year and was 9 percent above 1979.

Feed cattle marketings for the month of August totaled 320,000, an increase of 10 percent from 1980 but was 6 percent below August 1979.

Placements of cattle into feedlots during August totaled 340,000 head. This was up 10 percent from last year and was 17 percent above two years ago.

Hearing Set on Pseudorabies

Watch Out Turkey!

DRIVERS TRAVELING on county roads between Wayne and Laurel while construction continues on Highway 15 will especially enjoy this sign, although it was put up by a farmer next to a county road southwest of Wayne. The sign mysteriously appeared after a driver popped over a hill and hit a turkey who had wandered onto the middle of the road from a neighboring farm.

Nobody makes them tougher. Valley gearboxes.

That's why thousands are used on center pivots other than ours.

- Withstands 60,000 in.-lbs. of torque.
- Low gear ratio moves the system with less strain.
- Built-in expansion chamber keeps out condensation. Not an add-on so it can't be knocked off.
- Special gear tooth design spreads the load, reducing friction.
- Big, tough bearings and double-lip seals.

Postponing The Harvest Often Costly

this and that

don c. spitzer
wayne county extension agent

Harvesting corn at 28 to 30 percent moisture will require 16 to 20 more gallons of propane per bushel to dry it down to 15.5 percent moisture. Assuming the average cost of propane to be 60 cents per gallon, the cost to remove 8 to 10 percent moisture from a 140 bushel per acre irrigated corn yield would range from $11.44 to $16.80 per acre for the fuel alone. Sheffield calculated.

While some farmers may be tempted to leave corn standing in the field to dry down to a preferred moisture level before they begin harvest, it is not likely to be economically feasible, according to Sheffield. The longer harvest is delayed the greater the field losses and more risk of wet weather or early snow, which could further increase field losses," he said.

SOME STUDIES indicate that field losses can rise by five or six percent for corn that is left in the field to dry down to 20 percent moisture. Common field losses result from dropped ears and down stalks from winds. Sheffield said insect infestations may easily increase this average loss, he added.

At an average corn price of $2.75 per bushel, a six percent field harvest loss on 140 bushel per acre irrigated corn would result in an average loss of $23.10 per acre.

On this basis, increased drying losses would be less than the field loss resulting from allowing the corn to dry down in the field, Sheffield concluded.

The following information was taken from the Weed Science Newsletter.

Perennial weeds including field bindweed, Canada thistle and leafy spurge can be effectively treated with herbicides in the fall. Food storage in the root systems of these plants is taking place in the fall.

Herbicides applied at this time readily move down to the roots along with the food. In the fall, temperatures and soil moisture are generally more favorable for plant growth than during the summer, a condition required for best herbicide performance.

HERBICIDES, most useful for controlling these perennial weeds are 2,4-D and combinations of 2,4-D + Banvel and Tordon. Treatment with 2,4-D and combinations of 2,4-D + Banvel must be made repeatedly to obtain satisfactory control. Tordon is more effective but also more expensive.

Fall treatments can be made anytime after mid September but before cold weather sets in. Daytime temperatures in the 50's are satisfactory. It is not necessary to spray before a frost as long as the plants are still green and growing.

Control of perennial weed required perseverance—there is no one shot solution. Even after the establishing plants have been killed, new plants will develop years later from seed in the soil. New seedlings must be controlled or the weed will become reestablished.

GLADIOLAS & DAHLIAS — Dig gladiolus bulbs about six weeks after they have finished blooming. When digging these corms, make sure to keep varieties separate for future planting reference. Leave foliage connected until the corn is dry.

When they are dry, cut the foliage back to an inch above the top of the corn and spread the corms in a frost free place for two or three weeks. After curing, clean off the old roots and store the corms at approximately 40 degrees F.

Dahlias are another summer flowering bulb that should be dug once the first frost blackens the foliage. Loosen the soil thoroughly around each dahlia clump and pry out the clump, taking care not to break the fragile tubes. Dry the clump thoroughly and store in dry sand or peat at 35 to 50 degrees F.

Out with the Old, In with the New

TO MAKE ROOM for the new corn crop, these four farmers had to spend some time emptying the old corn bins. Brian Bloom, Marlen Johnson and Lester Bowers gave Bill Garvin a hand as he used the corn from Garvin's bins on the east edge of Dixon. Here, they let the corn out of the bin onto an elevator which hauls it into the sheller. The sheller in turn deposits the cobs in a pile and shoots the corn into a trailer.

Hoskins Area Youngsters Biking for Cystic Fibrosis

Hoskins area youngsters are invited to take part in the Cystic Fibrosis Fall Bike Rodeo at Bruggeman Oil on Saturday, Sept. 26, from 2 to 4 p.m.

Participation in the Cystic Fibrosis Bike Rodeo is open to anyone wishing to help children and young adults who suffer with cystic fibrosis and other lung-damaging diseases like chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis and severe asthma.

"At the same time, we will be providing an excellent way to promote bike safety," said Carol Krajicek, chairperson.

MRS. KRAJICEK explains, "When you compete on Saturday, you'll be doing what a lot of youngsters with CF and other lung diseases cannot do."

"There are so many youngsters in this country who can't participate in strenuous activity because their health won't let them. And they need our help for research to find a cure for cystic fibrosis, and for the medical care that helps them live longer."
