2 Holocaust Shows Set

Because of the overwhelming response to the Wayne State College Public Affairs program, "The Holocaust Revisited," two showings of the National Archives film "Nazi Concentration Camps" will be presented on Monday, Oct. 19, in the Ramsey Theatre.

The Public Affairs Institute asks that the general public and "close-in" high school students be at the theatre by 9 a.m. Monday in order that there be room for a 10:15 a.m. showing for those schools which are at a distance from the Wayne community.

Allen O'Donnell, director of the program, said: "We are sorry for the inconvenience while, at the same time, we are very pleased at the interest being shown in the program." The program, as now scheduled, will continue after the second showing of the film in Rice Auditorium, just north of Ramsey Theatre.

The program includes two survivors of the Auschwitz concentration camps, Sam and Magda Fried of Omaha, and two liberators of Nazi concentration camps of World War II.

Also, an historian of the Holocaust, Rabbi Yechiel Eckstein of Chicago, will present an address on "Human Dignity" immediately after the second showing of the film. His address, with time for questions and answers, will be in Rice Auditorium.

The afternoon segment of the program, consisting of the Frieds and the liberators, Rev. Norbert Johnson and Hollis Limprecht, both of Omaha, will begin at 1:15 p.m. also in Rice Auditorium.

"It appears that we may have more than 700 Iowa and Nebraska high school students from area schools at the program — some coming from considerable distance," O'Donnell said.

Former Astronaut Praises U.S. Colleges

By Jackie Osten
Wayne State College

In a speech laced with colorful humor and hand gestures showing flight patterns and rocket launches, former astronaut Capt. James Lovell spoke about his adventures as a member of several NASA space missions, including the ill-fated Apollo 13.

The presentation in Rice Auditorium Tuesday night, was part of the scheduled homecoming activities. His talk was delayed due to poor weather conditions.

LOVELL BEGAN by congratulating the school systems of America, stating that "the colleges and universities of today provided the basic research that made the moon landing possible."

On the April flight of the Enterprise, he said the shuttle program signals a "new era" in the space program. "The huge, slender, needle shaped space crafts are gone forever, and economics have brought about the reusable transportation system."

Use of the shuttle is far reaching, and could be used by farmers in the future to project grain harvests, he added.

The space flight of Apollo 13 was termed a "successful failure" according to Lovell. He went on to describe the technical and human factors leading up to the ill off, including last minute crew changes and malfunction.

"WE (APOLLO 13) had just lifted off on April 11, 1970, at 1313 p.m. CST and right there I should have known it would be an unlucky flight," Lovell joked.

As they approached the moon, Lovell said he heard a loud bang which he at first thought was a crewmate's practical joke carried a step too far. One look at their faces told him that there were problems.

"I looked at the warning lights, and saw that two of the three fuel cells were dead...checking further, I saw that we had also lost all the liquid oxygen out of one tank, and the other was emptying rapidly. It was right then that I felt the lead weight drag down to the bottom of my stomach."

He explained the cause of the explosion, which they later learned had blown out the side of a back portion of the space craft. "We didn't know the cause of the explosion until three months later, and when we did, it was linked to an electrical problem that had occurred five years earlier."

The landing of the space craft ultimately relied on some very simple procedures that had been never utilized until this situation. Lovell described them as "flying by the seat of their pants."

The program ended with a short film, originally prepared for Congress, showing highlights of the Apollo 13 mission, with live narration by Lovell.

A reception sponsored by the Wayne State College Senate was held in the Birch Room of the Student Center after his presentation.

Cats Tamed by Western; Homecoming Next

By Kent Probst
Wayne State College

Unbeaten Missouri Western scored a safety and a touchdown within 18 seconds to pull away from a close 21-13 lead enroute to a 36-13 win over the Wayne State Wildcats in Wayne Saturday.

Wayne State will try to rebound from back-to-back losses to nationally rated conference opponents next weekend when it hosts Fort Hays State in a 2 p.m. homecoming test. The Wildcats are now 2-3 and 0-2 in the Central States Intercollegiate Conference.

A disastrous fourth quarter spelled defeat for Wayne State as the Wildcats surrendered 15 unanswered points in a span of 1:50 to the explosive Griffons of Missouri Western. Linebacker Robert Newhart started the Western explosion by sacking Wildcat quarterback Kelly Neustrom for a two-point safety with just 6:36 to play in the game.

FOLLOWING THE SAFETY. Wayne State kicked off from its own 20 and Western's speedy Marc Lewis returned the kick to his own 48. On first down, Griffon Take away five key plays and the Griffons totaled only 76 yards on the day. But pass plays covering 84, 38, 36 and 34 yards plus the 52-yard scamper by Moore allowed the visitors to outyard Wayne State, 220-246.

Meanwhile, it was a day of missed opportunities for Coach "Det" Stollenberg's Wildcats, who ran off a whopping 40 more offensive plays than their guests, 89-49. The Cats recovered two Western fumbles in the first five minutes of the game, including one on the Western 15, but failed to come up with a score.

Then, in the closing seconds of the first half, freshman fullback Bob Norris was stopped short of the goal line on a fourth down play at the Griffon one.

WESTERN SCORED the first two touchdowns in a two and one half minute span at the end of the first quarter. A Maxwell punt seemingly had the Griffons pinned at their own 16, but on first down Terry Moore led a long pass to Tim Hoskins for an 84-yard touchdown. Mark Mesmer kicked the extra point for a 7-0 Missouri lead.

Wayne's next possession was stopped at its own 38 after fullback Tony Marinella fumbled after a seven yard gain. On first down, Moore passed 36 yards to Lewis, who was brought down at the WSC two. Three carries by Rodney Stephenson finally netted the TD, and Mesmer's kick made it 14-0.

Early in the second period the Wildcats mounted an impressive 93 yard drive to close the gap to 14-7. On the drive Neustrom completed two key third down passes to tight end Ed Blackburn covering 26 and 11 yards, and the senior quarterback sneaked a yard on a fourth and one at the MWSC 39 to keep the drive going. Neustrom fired a 39 yard touchdown pass to senior wingback Pat Maxwell for the score, and Maxwell kicked the point after.

In the second period, the teams exchanged turnovers when freshman defensive end Kevin McArdie and senior middle guard Paul Sobansky teamed up to force a Terry Moore fumble. Wayne returned the favor when a Neustrom pass intended for split end Steve Martin was picked off by Western's Kurt Mortenson.

MOORE QUICKLY came up with a 38 yard pass to Lewis, but on the next play Sobansky grabbed onto a deflected Moore pass and lumbered 45 yards to the Western 8. Four Wayne State carries came up just shy of the goal line as the half ended with Western on top 14-7.

Western got another big break in the third quarter when defensive back Ricky Benton stepped in front of a Neustrom pass and ran 48 yards for the touchdown. Mesmer's kick boosted the advantage to 21-7.

Moments later, Neustrom engineered a 35-yard drive set up by a 27-yard Western punt. Neustrom rushed for a pair of first downs on the drive and scored on a one-yard sneak with 1:45 left to play in the third quarter. Maxwell's extra point kick was wide and left WSC trailing 21-13.

From that point on the Wildcats found themselves starting drives from their own 7, 18, 11, 20, and 19. Wayne State managed just nine total yards in the fourth quarter, compared with 117 yards and two touchdowns for Western.

WESTERN QUARTERBACK Terry Moore, the national NAIA Offensive Player of the Week, the week before, completed just six of 12 passes with one interception but made his passes count for 221 yards. Despite his 52 yard touchdown run, Moore ended up with minus eight yards rushing.

Marc Lewis caught six of the seven Griffon completions for 171 yards, while Tim Hoskins made his one reception good for 84 yards and a touchdown.

Kelly Neustrom completed eight of 20 passes for 128 yards and suffered three interceptions. Pat Maxwell caught three passes for 72 yards, and Ed Blackburn grabbed four of 58 yards. Sophomore tailback Randy Frink was the game's leading ball carrier with 40 yards on 13 carries.

Ron Gilbert once again led the Wildcats defense with 10 tackles, a fumble recovery and a forced fumble. Senior tackle Ron Berrie had 10 tackles, and end Kevin McArdie came up with nine tackles including three quarterback sacks for 30 yards in losses.

IT WILL BE a must situation for both Wayne State and Fort Hays State next weekend if either team hopes to earn an upper division berth in the Central States Intercollegiate Conference. Fort Hays has dropped three straight decisions since opening the season with three wins and, like Wayne State, is 0-2 in the CSC.

Like Wayne State, two conference losses have been to rated powers Missouri Western and Kearney State. Fort Hays succumbed to KSC last weekend, 45-22. Kearney State, Western and Pittsburg State are all 2-0 in conference play.

quarterback Terry Moore harassed by the Wildcat defense all day, executed a perfect fake handoff into the line and raced around his right end for a 52 yard scoring run just 18 seconds after the safety.

Western held the Wildcats on their next possession and took over on the Wayne 46 after Pat Maxwell's punt carried only 24 yards. With alternate quarterback Greg Fetters in control it took the Griffons just two plays for Mike Mallory to score on a 12 yard run with just 4:45 left to play.

Big plays were the order of the day for Western, which didn't damage its number 11 national rating ranking in NAIA Division I.

DEB PRENGER spikes the ball for a Wayne point as Wayne players Sandy Utecht (33) and Tamie Murray watch. Wayne won the first set against Hartington CC but lost the next two, Tuesday.

Blue Devils Challenge Cedar Before Falling

Northeast Nebraska's third ranked Hartington Cedar Catholic scored four consecutive points to escape with a 13-15, 15-5, 15-10 win over Wayne's Blue Devils, Tuesday night at Wayne High School.

The hosts gave the Trojans all they could handle before succumbing to their solid team play. Wayne lost to Hartington CC last week in the South Sioux Tournament.

The Blue Devils will play at Pierce tonight (Thursday) and must then prepare once again for Hartington CC. The Blue Devils drew the Trojans in first round competition of the West Husker Tournament which is scheduled Monday and Tuesday in Hartington.

A PARENTS NIGHT crowd watched as the Blue Devils issued a strong challenge to the highly regarded Trojans.

Trailing 1-5 and 2-7 in the first set, Wayne came back to take a lead. Behind Sandy Utecht's hard serving and Deb Prenger's fine play at the net, the Blue Devils scored five points for an 8-7 advantage.

The score was tied at 9 and 10 before Cedar took a 12-10 lead. Utecht made a nice block at the net, Stacy Marsh made a diving save and Prenger hammered an ace spike as the hosts pulled within one point at 12-13.

Prenger took over serving duties at that point and scored the final three points on two ace serves and a Cedar Catholic error. The Blue Devils won the first set 15-13.

THE HOSTS SCORED the first two points of the second set but slumped and found themselves too far behind to recuperate. Nice saves by Missy Stollenberg and Prenger accounted for the first two points.

Cedar tied the score but Marsh served for a 3-2 Wayne lead. Then, Cedar racked up the next nine points to pull away for an 11-3 lead. The Blue Devils stayed alive but couldn't put together a rally.

The Devils added their final two points with Stollenberg serving and Jill Zeiss setting up the front line players. A dink by Utecht and a spike by Prenger ended Wayne's scoring.

Hartington's Deb Leader spiked and served the visitors to a 15-5 win forcing a third set.

PRENGER OPENED the final set as server and got the Blue Devils off to a good start. She used hard, spinning serves to build up a 4-0 Wayne lead.

Hartington CC closed within one point at 4-3 but the Devils held off the rally with Stollenberg scoring three serve points for a 7-3 advantage. Prenger added an ace spike as Wayne maintained its momentum.

Cedar again came back and this time tied the score at 7-7. The hosts regained the lead at 8-7 when Tamie Murray made a nice set and Prenger dinked it over for a point. Hartington CC took a 9-8 lead and Wayne never again saw the lead. The Devils had two opportunities but served into the net. The set was tied one final time at 9 all when Kris Proett served and Zeiss hit the ball over for a point.

THE SPIKING of Stollenberg and Prenger kept Wayne in the ball game and Zeiss served the Devils within one point at 10-11. However, Cedar capitalized on Wayne mistakes and missed serves to pull away.

Fine diving saves by Wayne's back line postponed defeat but Cedar held on for a 15-10 win in the final set.

"Everyone played well. No matter who I subbed, they did a good job," said Wayne coach Mavis Dalton. "Our movement and intensity was so improved. It was a total team effort and it's just too bad the girls had to lose."

Prenger scored 10 service points with seven aces to lead the Blue Devils in serving. She also had 16 spikes with four ace spikes. Zeiss was leading setter with 24.

Hartington CC won the junior varsity match 15-5, 15-4. "Our movement was poor. We just didn't have it, it was an off-night," JV coach Dale Hochstein said.

Cedar also won the freshman match 15-8, 15-9. Karen Longa scored five service points for the Blue Devils, who according to their coaches were much improved. All 18 freshmen played.

Ceremonies Set Saturday

Six Persons To Be Inducted To WSC Hall of Fame

Six names will be added to the Wildcat Hall of Fame at Wayne State College at homecoming festivities on Saturday.

Four will join the Hall of Fame for former athletes and coaches, and two will join the affiliated Hall of Contributions. Dave Gunther, Loren Andrews, Bill Goodwin and Duane Wehrer will be inducted into the Hall of Fame and Henry Schmitz and Dale Gutshall will join the Hall of Contributions.

This fall will mark the fifth year of Hall of Fame selections. The selection committee is composed of three college faculty members and three members of the Wayne Second Guessers club, an organization for the support of Wayne athletics.

REQUIREMENTS FOR SELECTION to the Hall of Fame indicate the candidate must either have been a student at WSC for a minimum of two years, a former WSC coach, or an athletic administrator. Athletes are eligible for selection five years after graduation, and coaches and athletic administrators five years after they leave Wayne State or after 10 years of service.

Hall of Contributions inductees are in individuals who have made outstanding contributions to the athletic program at Wayne State. These honorees need not be former WSC students, athletes or coaches. Nominations are made by alumni and friends at the start of each academic year to the selection committee. The committee then reviews each nominee and votes for the top individuals.

LOREN ANDREWS attended Wayne State from 1988 to 1992. A native of Randolph where he graduated from high school, Andrews earned a dozen letters as a WSC athlete, lettering each year in football, basketball, and track. The 1991 Wildcat football team, under Coach Ray Hickman, posted a 7-0-1 record. The 1929-30 basketball team earned a conference championship as did the track squad.

Andrews now resides in Chico, Calif. where he works in real estate sales and investments. His history in education includes eight years teaching and coaching at Meadow Grove High School; eight years as a teacher, counselor and vice principal at Red Bluff, Calif. Union High School; one year teaching at Ventura Junior College; and 23 years as a principal in the Chico school systems.

Andrews is married to the former Lucille Noakes and they have two children. Andrews is active in community work as a former city council member, director of the Bidwell golf course, YMCA board of directors, and the Chamber of Commerce, among others.

From 1967 through 1971 and he was a two time NAIA All District performer in basketball and one year All District baseball player.

A native of Lawton, Iowa, Goodwin taught at Woodbury Central Iowa High School for five years after graduation. He is presently an insurance agent in Lawton. Goodwin graduated from WSC magna cum laude.

He and wife Kathy have two children, eight year old Todd and five year old Tricia. An armed forces veteran, Goodwin also served as a Lawton city councilman.

DAVE GUNTHER is a native of LeMars, Iowa where he went to high school. He is a former Wayne State standout as a coach. He played for the Iowa Hawkeyes in the late 1950's and spent several years playing pro basketball.

He joined Wayne State prior to the 1967-68 season, and during his three years he led the Cats to season records of 24-3, 24-3, and 23-6 for an overall mark of 71-12. His squads were Nebraska College Conference and NAIA District 11 champions all three years. Gunther has coached at the University of North Dakota since the 1970-71 season and his teams have yet to suffer a losing record. The member of the Iowa High School Basketball Hall of Fame and his wife Jane live in Grand Forks, N.D. with children Kam, 12, and Dani, 10.

DUANE M. WEHRER is a former Wildcat baseball standout who attended Wayne State from 1962-65. The Wisner native who now resides in Denver, Colo. led the team in batting in 1963 and 1965 and earned NAIA All-American honors in 1965, when he was second in the NAIA in RBI's.

After leaving Wayne State, Wehrer spent seven years teaching and coaching. He is presently the owner and president of the European Sausage Company of Castle Rock, Colo.

He and wife Francene have two children, Duane Jr., 14, and Allison, 11.

Gutshall is a past president of the Wayne Second Guessers club, and also served as director of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. He always showed a strong support for WSC athletics and gave a lot of time and talent to the college.

Eagles Top Newcastle

State volleyball raters at the state's two largest daily newspapers won't be able to overlook the Allen volleyball team much longer if the Eagles continue their present pace.

Undereated Allen defeated Newcastle 15-9, 15-4 Tuesday for its 11th consecutive victory this season. "We were pretty much in control except for a little while in the first game," said Allen coach Gary Troth.

Newcastle came as close as 12-8 in the first set but Allen scored three of the next four points to win the game. The Eagles dominated the second set.

The hosts were led by a strong serving performance of 96 percent efficiency. In the first game, Beth Stalling scored five points and Loree Rastiede scored four. Each of the two girls scored four points in the second set.

At the net, Janet Peterson had five ace spikes and Nancy Olsufka had three ace spikes. Leading setters were Stalling who was 19 for 19 and DeS Williams who was 9 for 9.

Allen's B team won its match 11-0, 11-5. Shelly Williams served all 11 points in the first set and Michelle Harder scored four points in the second. Troth said his JV team "didn't play real well but made some good plays."

According to Troth, the C match was the most exciting. Allen rallied to win that match 10-12, 11-6, 13-11. Jeanne Warner and Karen Magnuson spiked well for the winners. Kelly Kraemer did a good job of setting and Lisa McDonald played well in the back line.

Allen will host Winside tomorrow (Friday) in a volleyball-football doubleheader.

WSC Beats Bellevue

The Lady Wildcat volleyball team at Wayne State College posted a win over Bellevue College and a pair of losses to Chadron State in action at Rice Auditorium on Friday and Saturday.

The Lady Cats traveled to Platte College in Columbus on Wednesday to face triangular action against Platte and Concordia at 6 p.m. Coach Bernice Fulton's squad returns home this Friday and Saturday to face conference opponents Washburn, Kearney State and Missouri Southern. Play begins at 7 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. Saturday morning.

The Wildcats took on the Chadron State Eagles Friday night in a game that matched two similar teams in terms of size and talent. The more experienced Eagles, with a host of junior college transfers on the roster, survived two quick game wins by WSC to rally for three game decisions and the victory. Wayne State won the first two games 15-11 and 15-10 before falling 9-15, 4-15 and 1-15.

Saturday morning Wayne State opened with Chadron State and suffered a similar fate. The Lady Cats won the first set 15-6 but dropped 13-15, 9-15 and 13-15 decisions. Bellevue College tasted Wayne's frustration as the Cats finished the day with a win in straight sets, 15-12, 15-9 and 15-6.

On the weekend, junior Annette Reiman was the WSC leader, scoring 36 points and notching 49 assists to top both charts. Sophomore Diane Wachholz and freshman Beth Erickson drilled 24 defended spikes, and Erickson had seven blocks.

Deb Poehling had 23 defended spikes and eight good blocks, and senior Linda Prchal had 41 sets. Fourteen women saw action on the weekend. Wayne State is now 6-19-3 overall.

Wayne JV Squad Ends Year at 4-1

The Wayne High junior varsity football team finished its season with an impressive 4-1 record by trimming Norfolk's sophomores 18-11, Monday.

After a scoreless first quarter, Norfolk took the lead with a second period field goal. But, with 50 seconds left in the half, Wayne got the ball and took advantage.

The Blue Devils passed their way downfield for a touchdown to gain the lead late in the half. A key pass from Steve Overin to Jim Poehman set up the go-ahead touchdown. With 10 seconds left, Overin passed 30 yards to Danny Frevert for the score. The PAT failed but Wayne led 6-3 at the half.

Wayne came back with two third quarter TD's. Kevin Koenig scored on a 10-yard run and Terry Gilliland returned a punt 60 yards for a touchdowns.

Norfolk kept the game tight with a touchdown and two point conversion in the fourth quarter. An attempted onside kick failed but Wayne fumbled to give Norfolk one final chance to score.

However, Layne Luaders intercepted a pass in the endzone to wrap up the game. Leading tacklers for the winners were Frevert, Chad Dorsey and Bob Liska.

"The team improved as the season progressed," said reserve coach Ron Carnes. "We have a lot of young players and things look good for next year."

Dear Readers,

Thanksgiving Day is only a few short weeks away. It's a day we set aside each year to be thankful for the many good things in our lives.

If you are like me, some very special "good things" have happened to you over the years because someone took the time to care, or to help.

And, if you are like me, there is no way you could possibly repay that special someone for that good deed, that act of kindness.

Maybe you got the chance to quietly thank them, vowing to seek a more suitable way to show your gratitude.

Or, maybe you didn't get the chance to thank them at all. Well, The Wayne Herald staff is willing and ready to help you with that. All you have to do is take a few moments during the next few weeks to tell us about it in your own words.

So, get a pencil or pen and a piece of paper. Write us — in 500 words or less — about that good turn, that special person. Please pick a "special someone" who is alive and in our circulation area, so they can read about your thankfulness.

You see, if you drop your personal story in the mail to us by Tuesday, Nov. 10, we'll publish it. We'll publish it — just as you wrote it with your name on it — in a special Thanksgiving Day section of the newspaper entitled "Why I'm Thankful."

That section will be published on Wednesday, Nov. 25 — the day before Thanksgiving Day.

Maybe you'll write about Aunt Kate, who helped out last winter when mother was ill. Or, maybe you'll write about grandma and the special tea cakes she used to make for you. Or, maybe you'll write about your neighbor, who is always walking that extra mile to give you a helping hand.

Whoever it is, tell us your story. Sign your name. Include your address and telephone number. Then, drop it in the mail to:

Why I'm Thankful
The Wayne Herald
P.O. Box 71
Wayne, NE 68787

Our panel of judges will select the best "Why I'm Thankful" story in four categories — kindergarten through fourth grade, fifth grade through eighth grade, ninth grade through 12th grade, and adult (out of high school).

The Wayne Herald will accept drawings from those kindergartners and first-graders who would rather show, than tell, their thankfulness.

Four Wayne merchants — Bill's GW, Wellman's IGA, Rich's Super Foods and Johnson's Frozen Foods — will provide the winning writers with a free Thanksgiving Day turkey. And, Bill's GW also will provide a free tub of broasted chicken to the "special people" the winners write about.

So, write on...

police report

Wayne Police had a busy weekend with an attempted break in, a theft and vandalism that shattered car and house windows.

At 8:33 a.m. Saturday, police investigated an attempted break in at the Farm Bureau Insurance building at the corner of First and Pearl streets.

Melvin "Bud" Froelich told police that an unknown subject had attempted to enter the building through the west side window.

POLICE REPORTS indicate the window was bolted down to help support an air conditioner.

The window was pried loose and the glass shattered during the early hours of Saturday morning, according to police.

No entry was gained to the building, but damage was estimated at $200, police said.

And, at 1:26 a.m. Saturday, police investigated a report of a stolen stereo from the home of Nancy Neuharth in Wayne.

ON SUNDAY, Myron Jenness, Wayne, reported the windshield of his vehicle was shot with a gun while he was attending St. Mary's Catholic Church services.

According to police, the vehicle was parked in the church parking lot when the incident occurred between 9:49 and 11 a.m.

The single shot, of unknown calibre, shattered the entire windshield, police said. Damage was estimated to be $150.

LATER THAT day, a Windom Street resident reported to police that a front window to her apartment had been shot with a BB gun.

Linda Young, the apartment tenant, told police she heard the shot about 9 p.m. Saturday, but could not determine where it came from.

A BB was found inside the apartment after the shooting incident that broke the 10 inch by 36 inch window.

No one was hurt, but damage was estimated at $10.

POLICE ALSO investigated three motor vehicle accidents on Sunday and Monday (Columbus Day).

At 12:58 a.m. Sunday, a car driven by Timothy W. Whelan of Wayne struck the rear of a parked car owned by Grace Lutheran Church, Wayne.

The Whelan car, a 1968 Chevrolet, was westbound in the 100 block of east Ninth Street when it struck the parked church car, a 1980 Chevrolet, which was parked diagonally on the north side of the street.

AT 5:10 P.M. Monday, police investigated an accident between two parked cars.

Police reports indicate both cars were parked in the Rich's Super Foods Sav. Mor Drugs store parking lot when the accident occurred.

A two year old boy in a 1981 Pontiac, owned by John Hafermann of Winslow, took the car out of park, police said.

The car, which was parked facing the drugstore, rolled backwards into a 1979 Honda, owned by Robert E. Stanley of Wayne. The Honda was parked at the grocery store.

RAIN-SOAKED streets may have contributed to the two car collision at the intersection of Lincoln and Tenth streets Monday night.

A westbound car, a 1974 Volkswagen driven by Colleen Steiner, Norfolk, was struck about 11 p.m. by a northbound car, driven by Robert W. Dolata, Wayne.

According to police, Dolata attempted to stop on the wet street, but couldn't.

The Dolata car, a 1971 Am bassador, slid sideways on Lincoln and slammed into the Steiner vehicle, pushing it onto the street corner sidewalk area.

Riverbank Rest

THE BARE branches of this old tree reach skyward in a riverbank appeal for rest before the onslaught of winter's coming storms. The tree was found standing alone just northwest of Wayne.

City Engineer Presents Council With Waste-Water Plant Update

Wayne's proposed $12 million waste water treatment plant is well into the design stage.

And, working plans and specifications should be ready for City Council inspection by early December.

That's the word from Dennis Hirschbruner of Bruce Gilmore & Associates, the city's consulting engineers.

HIRSCHBRUNER presented the Council Tuesday night with a designer's aerial view and hydraulic view (flow chart) of the proposed plant, which is to be sited adjacent to the city's present sewage lagoons.

Updating the Council on the plant's design progress, Hirschbruner said "a lot of the preliminary engineering work is now out of the way."

He said soil borings have been completed and are being incorporated in the design of the facility, which will face west near the city junkyard.

The plant, when completed, will receive a waste water flow from two lift stations, according to Hirschbruner.

Sewage will be processed through two primary clarifiers after the solids have been ground, he explained.

AFTER FLOWING through final clarifiers, the waste water effluent will be sampled and pumped into Logan Creek, he explained.

Solids will be discharged to the lagoons through a sludge pumping station, where evaporation and decay will take over, according to Hirschbruner, who said the lagoons should have a life of about 20 years before being dredged.

He said the plant will feature an office building, laboratory, control room, blower room, sludge pumping station and two-bay garage.

Hirschbruner said one of the features is expected to be a sludge loading pad and sludge wagon, should the lagoons require pumping for any reason.

Also, he said, area farmers may want the sludge to spread on cropland.

ACCORDING TO Hirschbruner, the plant site is going to require at least 2 to 3 feet of fill to bring it a foot above the 100 year flood plain.

Engineers will be developing an operations and maintenance manual for the plant, which is expected to be staffed eight hours a day, five days a week.

One of the features of the new facility will be in-house waste water testing, something the city does on contract with a private laboratory now.

Hirschbruner said "your guess is as good as mine" when asked by Mayor Wayne Marsh about the start of construction on the plant.

The engineer said that much of the timetable depended on the actions of Congress, since it's a federally funded facility.

IN OTHER action, the Council approved a resolution to seek a court remedy in the collection of delinquent special assessments from Willard and Irene Jeffrey of Jeff's Cafe, downtown Wayne.

The property owners are four in all — $882.15 — behind in downtown improvement district special assessments.

Councilman Gary Vopalensky abstained during the vote on the resolution, which passed. Before the vote, Vopalensky asked whether the property owners had to be identified by name in the resolution.

Kem Swartz, legal counsel for the city, said Nebraska law required the identification.

BEFORE ADJOURNING, the Council passed a housecleaning ordinance regarding the establishment, identification, and public notice procedures on newly created water and sewer districts.

In addition, the Council approved the application of Douglas R. Cole, Wayne, for membership in the city's volunteer Fire Department.

At the opening of Tuesday night's session, City Administrator Phil Kloster read a letter addressed to the city from Mr. and Mrs. John Nutzman of rural Wayne.

The letter was critical of city fees for recreation activities, garbage collection and swimming pool use.

KLOSTER SAID he would respond to the couple on behalf of the city.

Kloster also said the city was on notice regarding a potential problem with a private, out of town contractor doing excavating for Northwestern Bell.

He said the contractor had filed no bond to date, but that city officials had had several complaints about the work.

Councilman Keith Mosley, who is manager of Peoples Natural Gas, said the contractor cut through premarked lines belonging to his company.

City Council recently passed a revised excavation policy for Wayne. Kloster said that if the problems weren't corrected, "we may find out if our new ordinance holds up (in court)."

COUNCILWOMAN Carolyn Filler asked that the issue of parking along the 700 block of Logan Street be placed on the agenda for the next meeting.

She said she has had several complaints that parking along that north south block, adjacent to Scott's Restaurant, caused traffic problems.

She suggested the city consider a "no parking here to corner" sign north on Logan at the Seventh Street intersection.

Filler asked that the police chief investigate the matter and offer a suggestion on the distance the sign might be set from the intersection.

Audit

neighborhood of 10 cents per square foot of building space.

No exact square-footage figure was available for the elementary school during the meeting, but Sandahl said the audit would probably involve some 20,000 square feet.

"This energy thing is going to get worse each year," Sandahl said.

The district has been working on energy conservation projects, including some extensive work at the Wayne Middle School.

IN OTHER action, the board awarded a contract for a new 53-passenger school bus to Superior Sales of Nebraska, Ralston, and Mike Perry Chevrolet-Olsmobile of Wayne. The combination contract, which has Superior providing the bus body and Mike Perry Chevrolet providing the chassis, was awarded for the low bid of $21,990.51.

The next lowest bid also was by Superior in combination with Arnie's Ford-Mercury of Wayne. It came in at $22,318.

The bus will be a five-speed, gasoline-engine powered unit to replace a unit currently in the district fleet.

Board members also awarded the district's refuse contract to Wayne's Mrs. Sanitary Service for $2,844, or $237 per month. Wayne Refuse was the only other bidder with an offer of $3,050.40.

IN ADDITION, Vakoc Construction of Wayne won the contract for paving and curbing on the expansion of the parking lot north of Wayne High School.

Vakoc won the contract with a $6,918 proposal.

Haun also reported to the board on the cost of providing the high school with a hallway milk dispenser.

Haun said the school's vendor, Gillette of Norfolk, would not provide the unit, but would sell one to the district for $2,600.

Ketel, who had originally suggested the district explore providing students with the milk machine, expressed disappointment in the price and the fact that Gillette would not furnish the unit.

"The intent was to see if we could get one furnished so we could try it out to see if it went over," she explained.

The board tabled the matter until the November meeting.

Contract

HAUN SAID he felt the factfinders' recommendations were in line with the district's budgeted salary package.

The new contract retains the district's index for extra-duty compensation.

"All those things the teachers were holding out for...they didn't get," he commented, just before the board members approved the contract.

The new contract ranges from the $11,550 base for a beginning teacher with a bachelor's degree to a top of $22,061 for a master's degree, plus 27 credit hours after 15 years of experience.

Top range for a teacher with a bachelor's degree and no additional credit hours is $13,860 after six years of teaching experience.

A TEACHER with a bachelor's degree plus nine credit hours begins at $12,128. That salary can range to $14,900 after seven years.

A bachelor's degree plus 18 credit hours nets the teacher a starting salary of $12,705. It tops at $15,939 after eight years.

The starting salary for a teacher with a bachelor's degree plus 27 credit hours is $13,283 under the new contract. It ranges to $16,979 after nine years of experience.

Those with a master's degree, or a bachelor's degree plus 36 hours, start at $13,860. The range reaches $16,942 after 12 years.

A TEACHER with a master's degree plus nine hours starts at $14,438 and tops at $19,982 after 13 years.

Those with a master's degree plus 18 credit hours start at $15,015. The ceiling is $21,021 after 14 years of experience.

And, those with a master's degree plus 27 hours start at $15,593. The top step there is $22,061 after 15 years of experience.

The contract offers fully paid medical insurance, term life insurance and long-term disability insurance.

ed to 12 feet above the street and 7 feet above the sidewalks.

The penalty for violating terms of the proposed ordinance is 30 days in jail or a maximum fine of $100.

Enforcement rests with the street superintendent, city clerk, and city administrator.

BEFORE THE proposed ordinance was tabled for revisions, several Council members expressed concern about the impact of regulations.

Councilman Jim Craun asked about the clearance demands of the ordinance, particularly as they pertain to new trees in the downtown district.

"Some of those trees are too small to have the 7 foot sidewalk clearance," he said.

Kloster said he felt some of "those trees could be trimmed better" and explained that he supported the downtown tree-planting program.

Keith Mosley said Wayne was the only city in the state with what he called "Nebraska Palms."

He said he couldn't understand why

"everything below 20 feet" on the city's street trees was cut.

"LOOK AT Lincoln...and the beauty of that city with the trees growing over the streets," he said. "They don't seem to have any problems with it. Wayne's trees, many of them, are overpruned," he said.

Craun also questioned the penalty. "Don't you think 30 days in jail is a bit much for not pruning a tree?" he asked. Kem Swartz, the city's legal counsel, explained that the penalty was in line with the fines and jail sentences of other Nebraska misdemeanors.

YOU CAN GET YOURSELVES INTO A MARRIAGE EASILY. BUT DON'T TRY TO GET YOURSELVES OUT.

No matter how much the two of you might agree on divorce, dissolving a marriage without the help of your lawyers can create more problems than it solves. That's because even the most amicable divorce involves more emotion than objectivity. And objectivity is what it takes to equitably arrange the terms of divorce: the division of property, the custody and support of the children.

Only your lawyers can help make sure those terms are fair and satisfactory — now and five years from now. When divorce is the only way out, having sound legal guidance is the only way to go.

The tripleheader returns Thursday night, Oct. 15, for Wayne's Grand Give-A-Way drawing.

Wayne's participating merchants will again attempt to give away $350 in bonus bucks to three area shoppers.

Both contests, the tripleheader and the grand slam alternate on Thursday nights.

The winners of this Thursday's tripleheader must be in a participating store to claim the bonus bucks. All winners must claim the prize money within one minute after their name is announced.

Wayne State College Picks Nine Candidates

Ambassador Program Debuts

A new program, the Wayne State College Student Ambassadors, makes its debut at Wayne State College this fall.

The program, under the auspices of the college and the Wayne State College Foundation, is sponsoring nine students to serve as WSC Ambassadors for the 1981-82 academic year.

They include Jean Campbell of South Sioux City, Cheryl Erks of Ulica, Gaylene Goldfuss of Lander, Wyo., David Hansen of Wayne, Margaret Horak of Clarkson, Shoshanna Jones of Bellevue, Ann Phillips of Hastings, Jeanne Ring of Wayne and Brenda Walt of Ayrshire, Iowa.

"AMBASSADORS will be responsible to act as host and hostesses and to represent WSC at various activities, official and non official," according to Adrie Nab, director of college relations. "However, the program also has to do something for the students involved in it. The ambassadors will have an opportunity to mix and mingle at socials with special guests of the college, which can be a valuable experience for them. This too will be an important part of the program," explained Nab.

The WSC Ambassadors made their first unofficial appearance at a backyard social given recently by WSC vice president, Dr. Ed Elliott and his wife, Sandra. Dr. Elliott called the ambassadors' performance "extraordinary," and remarked that "since there were over 200 people in attendance it would have been virtually impossible for my wife and I to pull it off by ourselves. The WSC ambassadors did a superb job, and I heard many favorable comments about them. They are all hard workers; every one of them jumped in and helped."

WSC AMBASSADORS will make their formal debut after a training retreat which was held Aug. 28 and 29 at the Villa Inn in Norfolk. During the retreat, seminars were presented by Inez Barth of the Merle Norman Cosmetic Studio on makeup, Jenette Shuffell of Shear Designs in Wayne on hair care and Peggy Craker, catering manager for the Villa Inn on table setting and serving.

Wayne State College President Lytle Seyler attended to explain the workings of the Nebraska State College system and the Board of Trustees.

A special highlight of the retreat was a luncheon visit by the 1980 Miss Nebraska, Paula Mitchell. Miss Mitchell briefed the Ambassadors on socializing in a large group.

The WSC Ambassador Program is funded through the Wayne State Foundation. The Foundation covered the cost for training programs, dress and other necessary items.

AMBASSADORS are also supervised by a control board consisting of Virginia Seymour, Sandra Elliott, wives of the WSC president and vice president, respectively, Pam Pottorf, Wayne State Foundation secretary, Joan Giese, Wayne State College instructor and NBDC co-ordinator, and headed by Nab.

Community Chest Drive Already Tops $8,000 Mark

The Wayne Community Chest annual fund drive continues full speed ahead as board members strive to reach the $17,000 goal.

At a meeting last Friday noon, board members reported that nearly $8,000 has been collected, with many cards still to be turned in.

The 1981 drive got underway Sept. 24.

MEMBERS OF several Wayne State College fraternities and sororities volunteered to assist in this year's annual fund raiser.

Members helped residential chairmen Sheryl Jordan, Vicki Pick and Joyce Reeg call on homes in the community through Wednesday of this week.

Sororities and fraternities taking part, and each group's chairman, included Chi Omega, Susie Powers; Phi Mu, Allyson Bvohkovsky; Kappa Delta Gamma, Tammy Crawford; Alpha Beta Sigma, Jeff Harrison; Phi Sigma Epsilon, Doug Castle; and Tau Kappa Epsilon, Larry Peterson.

COMMUNITY CHEST board president Randy Pedersen said a trophy will be awarded to the fraternity or sorority collecting the most money.

Pedersen extended his appreciation to the fraternities and sororities for their help and support.

SEVERAL BOARD members were involved in a contest this year in Wayne's business district.

Winning the contest was the team of Merrill Hale. Hale's team collected 102 percent of their original 2,465.10 goal.

Coming in second was the team of Cap Peterson.

UNITED WAY is designed to provide financial assistance to several organizations considered beneficial to Wayne.

The biggest percent of the planned budget will go to support the Wayne Recreation Program ($5,300).

Also receiving a large portion of the proposed budget are the Mid-America Council of Boy Scouts ($3,850) and the Prairie Hills: Council of Girl Scouts ($3,000).

Other agencies supported by Wayne's United Way are Salvation Army ($850), Arthritis Foundation, ($1,300), Florence Crittenton Home ($300), American Red Cross, ($200), and Wayne Citizens Center, ($500).

About $1,200 of the total goal is budgeted for a contingency fund and administration of the camaign.

DRIVE CHAIRMAN this year is Dick Diltman, assisted by Steve Brandt.

Board president is Randy Pedersen.

Other members of the board are Joyce Reeg, Jan Merriman, Cap Peterson, Galen Wiser, Merrill Hale, Vicki Pick, LaVon Beckman, Vaughn Benson, Doug Sturm, Loren Ellis and Cheryl Jordan.

Attorney General's Opinion Just Another Opinion

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association
Legislators, with some regularity, can be heard criticizing legal opinions from the state Justice Department when they disagree with them and citing the legal advice when they agree.

If a legal opinion from the attorney general's office doesn't support their views, they make special note of the fact that it's "just an opinion." If the opinion says what they want to hear, it becomes a strong argument for their views.

Even though this kind of talk is somewhat common for legislators, we hear it less often from the executive branch of the government. But recently an opinion affecting an officer of an "executive department" did elicit the "it's just an opinion" response.

AT ISSUE was Attorney General Paul Douglas' opinion that state Labor Commissioner John Hanlon cannot legally serve on the Mexican American Commission.

Hanlon is Gov. Charles Thone's representative on the commission.

Douglas said people who head "executive departments." In this case the state Labor Department, are required by the Constitution to devote all their energies to that job. Hanlon said he wants to stay on the commission, but he'll resign if he has to. But he and members of the commission are, in essence, waiting for another opinion.

Commission Chairman I. C. Plaza of Omaha said Douglas' advice was "just an opinion," and the commission is "still in the process of determining whether it applies to Mr. Hanlon."

Douglas' research was prompted by the state auditor's office, which questioned whether Hanlon was entitled to per diem allowances since he was employed by another state agency at the time he served on the commission.

HANLON, BASED ON Douglas' research, says he now knows there was "no question" he was not entitled to the per diem payments. He has been paid $525 in per diem allowances and $800 for travel, lodging and meal expenses.

Although Hanlon is willing to serve on the commission without pay, he says he'll quit if he has to. He also says he'll repay the per diem allowances to which he was not entitled.

The Hanlon affair raises several interesting points. First, attorney general's opinion, although sometimes the brunt of considerable criticism, raise some legal questions that otherwise might not be raised. And that is probably good, because some of these legal questions need to be asked.

Secondly, what about other executive officers who also might serve on some agency, board or commission as the governor's representative?

DOUGLAS acknowledges other agency directors might be subject to the same legal restrictions as Hanlon. But he says he'll have to do more legal research to find out who, if anyone, is affected.

If Hanlon has to resign and Douglas finds other agency officials in the same position, those will have to look elsewhere for representatives on the various agencies, boards and commissions.

The level and type of representation probably would be different from what he enjoys now, but he would in the end still be represented.

PRISON STABBINGS — Nebraska's deputy ombudsman for corrections thinks the June 25 stabbings of four prison employees could have been prevented.

Hanson-Muhammad recently issued a massive report that said "high administrative officials at the prison had a constant flow of reliable information from inmates that there was a plot to take over the east cell house and kill prison guards on June 25."

Specifically, Muhammad points to Warden Robert Parratt among others as being responsible for failing to take the necessary precautions that could have prevented the stabbings.

Muhammad says Deputy Warden Thomas Mason and several other officials should be fired, and Parratt should be suspended for a month.

STATE CORRECTIONS Director Charles Benson, however, believes the "basic premise" of Muhammad's report was incorrect.

"Penitentiary staff took prompt and appropriate action on June 12, 1981, to prevent a rumored takeover of the east cell house," Benson said, adding five offenders who were believed principals in the planned takeover were confined to maximum security.

Three inmates who ultimately were charged in the stabbings also should have been pinpointed, Muhammad indicated. But Benson said evidence was insufficient at the time to confine the three.

Benson more or less brushed off Muhammad's recommendations for discipline. He also refused to accept a suggestion that inmates who supply information to prison administrators be offered such privileges as early parole, work release, educational release and park crew detail.

MUHAMMAD'S REPORT definitely sparked interest. In the newspapers, it prompted a point-counter point discussion, with Muhammad making points and prison officials countering them.

But what purpose does Muhammad's report serve? True, it didn't prompt any prison changes, at least not publicly. But it did let the public hear another side of the story — Muhammad's.

And even if prison officials aren't saying publicly they might do things differently, it would seem logical that they'll watch their steps, so to speak, knowing Muhammad is not afraid to issue a controversial report.

So maybe the purpose Muhammad serves, right or wrong, is being someone on the outside looking in, and he'll speak up if he doesn't like what he sees.

Community Journalism

Community journalism is one of the most vibrant forces in our society today. It's newswriting at its best. And, sometimes, it's newswriting at its worst.

It's product, the community newspaper, is both welcomed and spurned for as many different reasons as there are readers.

Sometimes it's irreverent, and sometimes it's too reverent.

Always, it represents the free flow of information about you and your neighbors as they struggle to survive in an increasingly complex world.

It's journalism with accountability here at home, where small town accessibility opens the doors to the editor's office.

And, it's your window on the world — your world.

It's neighborhood newswriting that abandons the trappings of officialdom for the straight talk of tireless public servants and concerned taxpayers.

It's a never ending public and personal record of current events for the analysis of history as well as for grandma's scrapbook.

It's a mirror on the trials and tribulations, hopes and dreams of individuals, communities and generations dedicated to making things work.

It's a friend that brings both the good news and the bad news, beckoning you to read and learn through a window sometimes smudged with heartache or trimmed with tears of joy.

It's sometimes a leader, and sometimes a follower.

And, it's business that has the privilege of serving its customers with a responsibility that reaches into this country's Constitution.

Community newswriting in Wayne is all those things and more. It's more, because it involves you and will continue to involve you as a respected reader, a first rate customer and neighborhood friend.

The Wayne Herald is proud to be a part of this community. Each and every staff member here is proud to be counted among your neighbors and friends.

So, with this being National Newspaper Week, The Wayne Herald staff rededicates itself to better community journalism in the months and years ahead.

It's a privilege to serve you. And, we want to continue being your window on your world.

Farmer's Share of Food $$$ Shrinking

By M.M. Van Kirk
Nebraska Farm Bureau

One of the most disturbing aspects of the U.S. farm economy is that the farmer's share of the retail food dollar continues to decline.

When farmers, whose inflated costs of production are at all time highs, hear consumers complain about high retail food prices and infer the blame lies with the producers, they feel that they are unfairly treated. This is an age old problem but it has worsened as a smaller and smaller part of the population has had exposure to the realities of farm life and food production.

For a brief period of time in 1973, 1974 and 1975, prices of farm commodities in general were at favorable levels in relation to production costs. There were ups and downs of course and a widespread drought problem in 1974, but it was a period when farmers and ranchers came close to realizing a respectable profit on their commodities.

AT THE best of that period, USDA figures showed that farmers were getting as much as 41 cents out of the retail food dollar. But then their share again began to shrink. In 1977 and 1978, the charts showed farmers averaged 37 and 38 cents of the retail food dollar.

But as the annual rate of inflation rose from 6 percent per year in 1976 to levels of 12 to 16 percent, the farmer's share dropped rapidly. Based on 1980 averages from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the farmer's share of the retail food dollar was down to 32 cents.

The rest of that dollar was split as follows: labor, 30 cents; packaging, 8 cents; intercity transportation, 5 cents; before-tax profits, 4 cents; fuels and electricity, 3 cents; and other costs, 18 cents. Those "other costs" include depreciation, rent, advertising and promotion, interest, property taxes and insurance and many miscellaneous items.

With 68 cents of the retail food dollar going to marketing costs, it is easy to point the blame to the so-called "middleman." But it isn't always fair and easy to fix the blame on the wholesaler, the retailer or laborers.

THE RETAIL food business is a highly competitive field that has eliminated the independently owned family-type grocery stores over the last 20 years. Even the big chain food markets have their troubles with good management at a premium in a high volume, relatively low markup business. Long hours, high energy costs, and heavy maintenance expense are common to the retail food business. Not many employees of the retail food markets are getting rich.

Consumer food expenditures climbed 219 percent from 1960 to 1980, but food hasn't put more of a burden on consumer budgets. In 1960, about 20 cents of each dollar of disposable income went for food. Last year it was only about 16 cents. Most consumers' food cost increases look good in comparison to their increases in taxes, automobiles, housing and medical and hospital bills.

The farmer's share varies according to commodities. In 1980, choice beef averaged $2.37 per pound and that of the farmer's share was $1.45, or about 61 percent. Of the rest, 68 cents went for slaughtering, 18.5 cents went for transportation and wholesaling, and 67.3 went for retailing costs.

By comparison, the retail price of pork during 1980 averaged $1.39 1/2 per pound of which the hog producer got 63.2 cents, or about 45 percent of the retail price.

THE RETAIL price of milk averaged $1.04 per half gallon, of which the producer's share was 58 cents or about 55 percent. The retail price of eggs last year averaged $4.5 cents per dozen of which the producer got 31 cents or about 68 percent.

The farmer's share is less where much processing is involved, such as in a loaf of bread. In 1980, a 1-pound loaf retailed at an average of 50.9 cents. The farm value of ingredients in that loaf amounted to 7.5 cents or about 14 percent.

An Independent Press

Since the founding of the Republic, freedom of the press has been a fundamental tenet of American life. We have always believed that the truth, given a chance to be heard, has a power of its own. And we recognize that a free press, whatever its occasional abuses or excesses, is essential to the pursuit of that truth and to the human freedom it engenders.

To continue as a success in what Thomas Jefferson called our "noble experiment" in self-government, there is no more essential ingredient than a free, strong, and independent press. For a people to truly govern themselves, they must have a free flow of information on which to base their decisions and attitudes.

The dedicated men and women of the journalistic fraternity, who serve their profession with responsibility and high standards of accuracy, are among the foremost bulwarks of our nation's liberty. Their credibility and devotion to news reporting is a major factor in our people's confidence in our free institutions.

Newspapers serve as the nerve centers of information so essential to the functioning of modern life in America. Because of the in-depth reporting and analysis offered by newspapers, we are able to build a knowledgeable frame of reference by which to interpret the knowledge produced by devoted newspaper people coupled with the freedom to print the truth as they see it. It is the foundation for the continued progress of our nation.

Nancy and I join all Americans in paying tribute to our country's newspapers during this week long recognition of their many contributions to our way of life.

Local-Level Problem Solving Best

This month we are beginning a national effort to try to get back to the situation where we solve local problems at the local level.

For almost 50 years we have turned in creasingly to the federal government to solve what were strictly state and local problems. The reliance on Washington didn't grow at a steady rate but increased more rapidly year by year.

With the budget for the federal fiscal year that began October 1, the first serious effort is being made to reverse the flow of power.

ONE PART of this turn around is a reduction in funds for most of the federal grant programs, many of which had started small and grown rapidly.

The more important part of this attempt to move power closer to home is the block grant program. Some 57 programs of grants for very specific purposes have been replaced with nine programs of grants for broad purposes.

The federal money in general categories will allow state and local officials to decide what the priorities are, rather than having all the decisions made in our nation's capital.

The transition to these block grants won't all go smoothly. The total amount of money available has been reduced. Congress hasn't repealed all the unnecessary strings on how the money can be used. The program didn't receive congressional approval until August, so there's delay in getting it implemented for the fiscal year that began October 1.

ALSO the 57 categorical grants that have been replaced are only a small fraction of the more than a thousand categorical grant programs that have been provided for through federal law. Congress in the next year, I hope, will move to break more of the chains that have hindered the independence of state and local governments, and made them serfs of the federal nobility.

As a first step in making the transition back toward local independence as smooth as possible in Nebraska, I have appointed an Intergovernmental task force. Its chairman is former Nebraska Governor Robert Crosby, a man who has served this state superbly in many important responsibilities. Its membership includes city and county officials and state legislators, as well as executives from state agencies.

My pledge is to make restoration of power to local governments work here in Nebraska. I am giving that effort high priority. Week by week, I am also emphasizing to employees of state agencies that they must allow local authorities the maximum flexibility permitted by existing federal and state laws.

I firmly believe that the government that is closest to the people is most responsible and responsive.

Interim Resolutions Hearings Underway for Upcoming Session

After a summer break from my legislative message, I decided to offer a monthly column in October, November, and December to inform you of some of the things your state senator is doing between sessions.

Attending various meetings, and speaking in the district has kept me busy and accessible to the people and their concerns.

Many of you have read about the Five-State Legislative Conference held recently at Rapid City, South Dakota. I was among the state senators from Nebraska who attended and heard the discussion concerning water, railroads, the coal slurry, and the proposed veterinarian college.

A DAY in October was spent in Columbus where the Chamber of Commerce promoted a Legislative Day for the senators, giving us a tour of their progressive community.

The district highway hearing held Sept. 23 at Hartington, chaired by Merle Kingsbury of Ponca, was well attended. Many citizens voiced their concerns and special problems. I am among those concerned with the problems Atokad is facing, and am keeping in touch with the Atokad officials and the State Racing Commission.

The Interim Resolution Hearings are now being held - these are public hearings on resolutions proposed by senators during the last session. From these hearings, the Legislature determines if a law is needed or needs changing.

LR 143, which was heard by the Judiciary Committee, of which I am a member, concerns handguns - not the control or registration of handguns, but to have a mandatory sentence if a crime is committed using a handgun. Most of those testifying were in favor of this resolution.

I intend to visit Wayne, South Sioux City, and the other communities in my district before returning to Lincoln in January.

Corn Crop to Set Record

Corn production on Oct. 1 is forecast at 786.6 million bushels, up 2 percent from the Sept. 1 estimate. If realized, this would be 30 percent above last year and the second largest of record. Yield is indicated at 114 bushels per acre, up 2 bushels from a month ago and 20 bushels higher than last year's heat and drought reduced yield. Acreage intended for grain harvest remains at 6.8 million, down 3 percent from last year. The 1979 record crop of 822 million bushels yielded a record 115 bushels per acre. Dryland corn production is estimated at 158 million bushels, 53 percent above last year. Yield is now estimated at 81 bushels per acre, up 4.5 bushels from a month ago and 32.8 bushels above last year. Farmers are expected to harvest 1.95 million acres of dryland corn for grain, 9 percent below last year. Irrigated corn production is forecast at 628.6 million bushels, 26 percent above last year. Yield, at 127 bushels per acre, is up 1 bushel from last month and 26 bushels higher than a year ago. Acreage for grain harvest continues at 4.95 million acres, equal to last year's record acreage.

Farm Equipment Sales Down

The powerful one two punch of soaring interest rates and weak grain prices is wreaking havoc on the farm equipment industry, according to a University of Nebraska extension economist. Roy Frederick said some industry officials are bracing themselves for the situation to get worse before it gets better. "Mounting inventories, price cutting and other financial concessions are the order of the day," he said, adding that one full-time manufacturer already has laid off 8,000 workers. "Ironically, farmers who have spare cash are trying to take advantage of the high interest rates by delaying purchases as long as possible," Frederick explained. Two potential problems loom for farmers as a result of the stagnation in purchasing new equipment, the economist said. Some manufacturers may not be able to survive the current financial crunch, which would reduce produce and price competition throughout the industry. Secondly, while a big market awaits improvement of economic conditions, it will take manufacturers who have substantially curtailed operations some time to return to full production. "Spot shortages of certain types of equipment can be expected," he concluded.

Tree Program Opens Orders

The Nebraska Forest Service will begin taking orders Nov. 1 for the 1982 tree planting season, according to Dennis Adams, University of Nebraska extension forester. More than 3 million tree and shrub seedlings will be available under the Clarke McNary tree distribution program. Adams said Selections can be made from 25 species, including seven evergreen trees and 10 deciduous trees. In 1981, more than 3 million tree and shrub seedlings were distributed to more than 5,000 Nebraska landowners through the program, Adams said. Trees may be ordered for the purpose of establishing windbreaks, shelterbelts and farm woodlots. Orders can be placed at Cooperative Extension Service, Soil Conservation Service, or Natural Resources District offices around the state. The cost is $23 per hundred seedlings, including handling and postage. The NU Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources staff member said.

Soybean Loan Extension Set

Soybean farmers whose 1980 crop government soybean loans were scheduled to mature in September and subsequent months may—at their discretion—extend their loans for up to four months. According to Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block, this action will provide producers additional time to market their soybeans and will relieve some pressure on currently depressed farmers who wish to extend their loans should contact the county office of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service where the original loan was made.

Soybean Production Soars

Production of soybeans is forecast at a record 81.9 million bushels, 54 percent above last year and 50 percent higher than the previous record for 1979. A new record high yield of 39 bushels per acre is forecast, 17 bushels above last year and 3 bushels above both last month and the 1977 previous record. Acreage for harvest continues at a record 2.1 million acres, 19 percent above last year.

Sorghum Yield Up 38%

Sorghum grain production is expected to total a record 168.1 million bushels, 38 percent more than last year and 11 percent above the previous record for 1979. A new record yield of 82 bushels per acre is estimated, up 1 bushel from a month ago and 22 bushels greater than 1980. Acreage for grain harvest of 2.05 million acres is 1 percent above last year.

Wayne County ASCS Outlines Plan

Commodity Loan Program Option

After the fall harvest, farmers will decide how much corn to sell and how much to hold for later sale in hopes of higher market prices.

Current prospects for near record feed grains and somewhat lower prices could cause many producers to opt for the commodity loan program administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. "Farmers who have suitable storage on their farms or the use of an approved warehouse are eligible to obtain a price support loan on their 1981 corn crop," County ASCS committee chairman Erwin D. Morris said.

LOAN RATES per bushel for Wayne county's feed grain crops are $2.37 for corn, $1.88 for barley, $1.22 for oats and $3.90 for sorghum.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture forecasts a 7.94 billion-bushel corn crop for this year, 16 percent more than last year and the second largest crop on record. Department officials also predict large crops of sorghum, barley and oats.

Per bushel farm prices for the season may average between $2.70 and $3.15 for corn, $2.50 and $2.90 for sorghum, $2.35 and $2.60 for barley, and $1.65 and $1.85 for oats.

The ASCS commodity loan program provides farmers with operating cash and allows them to hold their crops off the market and benefit from price increases that often come after harvest. Although the program does not guarantee participating farmers a profit, it does guarantee a minimum price.

THE ASCS official said farmers can store the grain for as short a time as they wish or for as long as nine months.

The interest rate on commodity loans is now 14 1/2 percent but it is subject to adjustment each October 1 and April 1 to reflect the cost of borrowing money from the U.S. Treasury.

An announcement has already been made that interest rates on commodity loans will continue at 14 1/2 percent until further notice.

Home storage of apples purchased in quantity may be difficult without a built-in fruit storage area. Good storage will prolong apple quality.

Store apples in the coolest place available and cover the crate or box with a moist burlap bag, rug or similar material. Wet the cover frequently. Evaporation will cool the fruit and keep humidity high. It is advisable to store apples in plastic bags or large plastic container liners to reduce moisture loss.

A LARGE refrigerator with shelves and protruding knobs removed provides good home storage for fruit and vegetables. Store all fruit in heavy, closed polyethylene bags so the fruit does not acquire odors from the other produce and is protected from moisture loss. One bushel of apples requires about 2.5 cubic feet of storage space.

When apples are removed from storage keep them cool. Apples ripen twice as fast at 40 degrees as at 30 degrees, at 50 degrees twice as fast at 40 degrees, and at 70 degrees four times as fast as at 50 degrees.

To preserve fresh fruit quality in storage: 1. store slightly immature fruit; 2. do not bruise the fruit; 3. refrigerate or cool immediately after picking; 4. keep fruit as close to 32 degrees F. as possible; 5. keep relative humidity over 85 percent if possible and 6. provide for ventilation and air circulation.

ROSES AND ROUGH WEATHER — To provide winter protection for tea roses and floribundas you should have the crown of the plant covered with soil to a depth of about 12 inches. Try not to dig up any soil from around the plant when doing this. If a very cold winter is expected or to give the rose added protection, use straw or leaves on top of the soil and surround the plant with chicken wire.

For climbing roses, use some type of insulation around the rose as high as possible. Building insulation around the rose as high as possible. Building insulation or burlap stuffed with straw should be wrapped around the rose trellis.

Tree roses can also be wrapped in this manner, but "burying" is the preference method. To do this, dig out the earth from one side of a tree rose and lay the plant down. Cover with soil to protect from wind and cold.

Wayne County 4-H Livestock Projects Plan New Ground

In Wayne County, 4-H livestock projects represent much more than winning ribbons the fair.

A number of programs have been developed for livestock 4-Hers that have enriched the experiences of club members, according to Don Spitzke, Wayne County extension agent.

"Typically, most people feel that 4-H livestock market projects involved getting ready for the fair, taking the animal to the fair, getting the ribbon and going home," he said.

"THAT'S JUST not the case in Wayne County," the agent added. "Our livestock projects are becoming more educational every year."

One project that is unique to Wayne County 4-H involves a livestock challenge program, Spitzke said.

The program, which has been in operation for more than four years, competition at four levels.

Including a livestock project test that is administered at the fair. Test scores are blended with live animal placings and showmanship at the fair, as well as a thorough examination of the 4-Her's records book on the project, Spitzke said.

LIVESTOCK projects in Wayne County primarily involve beef, swine, sheep, horses and goats, according to Spitzke.

The livestock challenge program is conducted at two levels — junior and senior division — with the main difference reflected in the at-the-fair test.

"It's an optional program," Spitzke said. "The kids are not required to participate in it, but the 4-Hers who want to take part in the program must exhibit their livestock at the fair."

He said about two-thirds of the kids in 4-H livestock programs do participate in the challenge program.

"If they participate, they must take the quiz, they must exhibit and they must present a records book," he added, explaining that the records book represents a quarter of the final score.

ANOTHER program that is generating more and more 4-H interest each year is the pens of three beef program, according to Spitzke.

"It's an old time project," the extension agent explained. "A number of the counties in Nebraska have it, but we've added some things to it in Wayne County to improve the educational value of the program."

Spitzke said that for a number of years the pens-of-three beef project involved exhibiting the animals, selling them and submitting records.

Today's pens-of-three project is a complex undertaking.

The 4-Her selects a minimum of three market steers or heifers and has them weighed and tagged on a selected day in December, according to Spitzke.

"AT THE weigh in, the owner provides the cost of the animal, lists the feed ration he will be using, estimates the weight at market time (fair time) and makes an estimate of the selling price," Spitzke explained.

That information is run through the Ag Net computer, according to Spitzke. He said the computer analysis suggests a ration, makes an estimation on the gain and the profit.

"The computer serves as a backstop," he said. "It monitors the project and suggests the grower-to-finish ration. It can give the 4-Her the exact day the animal should reach market weight."

According to Spitzke, the computer keeps track of the estimates, but the 4-Her must keep track of the actual figures, such as the exact amount of feed consumed by each animal.

EACH SPRING, the pens of three participants can expect a visit from the county agent, the county project chairman and a feed management consultant.

"Just before we make that tour, the 4-Hers turn in a sample of the feed ration and records on how much the animals ate in a week," Spitzke said. "It's a check on the feeding program and the progress of the project."

About a week before the county fair, the participants turn in the actual feed records and the complete work book on the project, Spitzke said.

At the county fair, the animals are weighed again, he said. A representative from a beef packing firm looks over the animals and puts a market price on them.

"THEY GET an appraisal from the packer and the records go through the computer to tell the kids what the actual rate of gain was, and what the profit or loss is," Spitzke said.

This year, according to Spitzke, the pens-of-three contest included a carcass contest.

He said about 25 percent of those participating in the pens-of-three project also took part in the carcass contest.

"We feel we learned a great deal from the carcass contest this year," he said. "We're trying to do these things on a commercial basis, where we figure in such costs as yardage fees and labor."

Spitzke said some of the advanced 4-Hers even get involved in a futures pricing exercise with the pens of three project.

THIS YEAR, Wayne County 4-Hers also were offered two new projects, one in market hogs and one in market lambs.

The new hog project goes beyond the usual "rate of gain" competition that's featured in most swine programs, according to Spitzke.

Rate of gain is included in the new hog contest, but it is only a third of the final score.

According to Spitzke, participating 4-Hers have their hogs weighed in May and tagged and keep records on the animal.

The hogs are judged on rate of gain, live animal placing at the fair and carcass merit, Spitzke explained.

"It strikes a balance among rate of gain, how they look and a balanced pork carcass," he added.

IN THE market lamb project, which also is unique in the state, participants enter three to five animals.

The animals are shorn, weighed and tagged at the county weigh-in in June, according to Spitzke.

In addition to records kept on the lambs, they are weighed again at the county fair, he said.

The final scoring is based on rate of gain, the score in the livestock challenge program and the live animal placing, Spitzke explained. Each aspect counts for one third of the final score, he added.

"We're plowing through some new ground on livestock projects," Spitzke continued.

Spitzke said one of his big goals for next year will be to enhance the educational experience for 4-Hers in cow-calf projects.

Acreage Reports '81 Key

Erwin Morris, chairman of the Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, says 1981 acreage reports now have added importance.

Secretary of Agriculture John Block recently announced his intention to implement a 15 percent reduced acreage program for the 1981 wheat crop to offset the effects of record supplies and depressed wheat prices. He also held open the possibility that he may propose a reduced acreage program later for feed grains.

"It now appears that in order for farmers to participate in an acreage reduction program next year, they must have a 1981 acreage report of wheat and feed grains on file in our office," Morris said.

THE IMPORTANCE of all farm owners and farm operators complying with this request cannot be over emphasized, he said.

If implemented, the reduced acreage program for 1982 wheat will be voluntary. Producers can decide for themselves, based on market conditions, whether they want to participate.

Program benefits, however, will be tied to participation. Morris said program operating procedures will be issued after pending farm legislation is enacted into law.

According to Morris, 1,165 local farms are certified and eligible for 1981 program benefits. Wayne County farmers who have not certified their crops are urged to do so as soon as possible.

To avoid eligibility problems, the reports should be accurate. Farms will be checked to verify that acreage reports are correct," the ASCS official said.

Deficiency Payments Available Through County's ASCS Office

Wayne County farmers who accurately reported their 1981 crop acreages to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service may receive deficiency payments on their wheat and barley crops, according to Erwin Morris, an official of the ASCS committee.

Market prices for 1981 wheat and barley have been below the federal target price for these crops. If this trend continues, it means that wheat and barley producers would be entitled to deficiency payments, Morris said.

ASCs WILL make 1981 wheat and barley deficiency payments to eligible farmers if the national average price of the crop falls below the government established target price for the crop during the first five months of the marketing year. Farmers who failed to report their small grains by the Aug. 17 deadline should contact the county ASCS office. If the crop acreage and use can be verified, it still may be possible to gain eligibility, he said.

Deficiency payments are computed by multiplying the program yield for the farm by the acreage planted for harvest times the payment rate. The per bushel payment rate is the difference between the target price and the higher of either the loan rate for the commodity or the average price received by farmers.

THE 1981 target price for wheat is $3.81 per bushel and $2.60 per bushel for barley. National average loan rates are $3.70 for wheat and $1.95 for barley.

Wayne County farmers harvested about 436 acres of wheat and 468 acres of barley in 1981. The ASCS official said 31 local farmers are eligible for the deficiency payments.

YOU CAN EARN MORE THAN 15% on your money when you buy a home! It's true — homes have gone up an average of 15% per year in the last 5 years! And unlike interest, gains on real estate is deferred and taxed at the capital gains rate. And you can buy a Sunrise Townhouse Condo at last year's prices. But don't wait! Builders and developers must pay interest too, and the prices must go up! Yes, you can actually save by buying now when interest rates are high and construction costs are low. And you own a Sunrise Townhouse just like any home or real estate, except:

1. You save on the purchase price because construction costs are lower.
2. You don't worry about maintenance and insurance.
3. You don't worry about snow and lawn service.
4. The exterior real estate is owned jointly by all owners.
5. You are always a member of the Homeowners association.
6. Condos have a better tax advantage for those that need every deduction you can get.

Each 1180 sq. foot Townhouse has oak cabinets and trim, dishwasher, main floor laundry, private patio, central air, gas heat, a complete energy efficient insulation package, and are situated on the highest hill in Wayne, next to the college and hospital. The Marywood subdivision is a prestigious place to live, and an "easy to sell someday" type of location that will protect your investment for years to come.

So don't put your money in the bank and pay taxes on the interest. You not only defer the tax on real estate appreciation, you only pay at the capital gains rates (about 30% of the regular rate).

Farmyard Flower Pot

SOME PEOPLE WILL use anything for a lawn ornament. And, at the Don Nelson farmstead, southeast of Winside, this toilet bowl — complete with water closet — is anchored in the front lawn with a wood post. Nelson's wife, Donna, used the old toilet as a planter for her flowers this summer. However, early frost warnings forced her to remove the flowers, leaving the toilet standing bare and alone in front of the couple's farm house.

tion prowess are Michelle Kraemer, daughter of Cindy and Marlin Kraemer, and Robert Kumm, son of Paulette and Glenn Kumm. The map includes the home of each youngster, along with the school, churches, museum, post office, a beauty shop, bank, and several other businesses.
