Wayne Chamber to Form Energy Task Force

Wayne may soon have a business-supported energy conservation task force. The Wayne Chamber of Commerce is expected to announce the formation of the task force during a press conference Tuesday. Designed to focus community attention on energy efficiency, the task force is expected to be set up to promote energy conservation throughout the community. According to Roger Toomey, executive vice president of the chamber, organizational more details and information on the energy task force's projects will be available Tuesday.

"WE ARE GOING to do what we can to promote energy efficiency," he explained to The Wayne Herald Friday. "The purpose is to promote energy conservation in Wayne for industry, business and homeowners," he said.

Toomey explained that a number of chamber members have become concerned about energy efficiency, and that the recent visit by Neligh Sen. John DeCamp has sparked business activity in the area of conservation.

DeCamp and several aides visited Wayne in late September to speak to community leaders and the general public regarding energy conservation. Under the auspices of "Project: Energy Independence," DeCamp warned Wayne businessmen that energy waste could destroy the Main Streets of small-town Nebraska.

DURING THE visit, DeCamp, a powerful Republican legislator, urged communities to develop energy efficiency programs for homes, businesses and public institutions, such as schools.

The Wayne stop was one of more than 50 on the energy independence itinerary set up by DeCamp, chairman of the Legislature's special committee on energy.

DeCamp backed his presentation with a number of statistics. He told listeners that this year Nebraska sent millions of dollars earmarked for energy efficiency programs back to the federal government because the money went unused.

Toomey said some of that money could have been used in Wayne if homeowners and businessmen had been aware of the programs and funding that was available.

"WE'RE GOING to do whatever we can with whatever we can to inform the public about these programs, grants, the government money...everything," Toomey said.

"If the energy task force has to spend time showing people how to fill out applications for grants, that's what it will do," he continued.

"We're setting it up to spread the word about the money and procedures available for energy conservation, including energy audits," he added.

The task force announcement Tuesday comes less than a month after the DeCamp visit — a visit that also focused on home, business, and public-institution energy audits.

DeCAMP URGED residents to take advantage of a federal law that requires public utilities serving urban areas to do $15 energy audits for homeowners.

The senator said industry projections indicate that the price of natural gas, alone, is expected to rise 35 percent during the next heating season.

Despite that warning, Peoples Natural Gas Co. of Wayne reports that only a handful of residents have made requests for the $15 home energy audits.

However, on the heels of DeCamp's visit, the Wayne-Carroll School Board initiated a search for energy engineers to audit the efficiency of the Wayne Elementary School.

THE BOARD is expected to seek state matching funds for energy conservation projects at the school. If the audit indicates a need.

Up to $100,000 per building is available to school districts under a DeCamp-sponsored law that passed the Legislature during the 1979 session.

Before the school district can apply for the funds, it must have an audit performed by a certified energy engineer.

Superintendent Francis Haun was authorized by the board to seek the services of a certified energy engineer.

Approval of any project recommended in that audit would be underwritten by the state to the tune of 80 percent in the first-one-first-served program.

ON THE HOME energy audit front, the federal law requires public utilities to offer the service on request for the $15 fee. The actual audit costs range from $120 to

Natural Gas Rates Going Up

Northern Natural Gas Co., the wholesale supplier for Peoples Natural Gas Co., is filing with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) for an increase in wholesale natural gas rates to become effective Dec. 27. The 6.87 cents per hundred cubic feet (Ccf) increase is a purchased gas adjustment (PGA) which reflect the increased prices for the gas Northern buys from producers.

ACCORDING to Keith Mosley, district manager for Peoples in Wayne, the typical Peoples customer who has an annual natural gas usage of 124 Ccf will pay an average over a 12 month period of about $7 more per month or 15.8 percent more per year as a result of this increase.

Mosley said the increase will be effective with Peoples' bills issued in mid-January. A previous increase, filed by Northern in April, will be passed on to Peoples' customers in mid-November. Mosley said that increase will average approximately $4 per month for the typical residential customer.

REGULATIONS of the local governing bodies in Nebraska allow such PGA increases to be passed directly on to customers by retail distribution utilities such as Peoples. These increases are for increased gas costs only and do not affect Peoples' earnings.

Mosley said that customers who are on Peoples' Even Payment Plan will not have an increase in their monthly amount as these increases were anticipated and included in that amount when it was calculated in August.

New Director's Priority on People

Role of Seniors to Expand at Center

By Randall Howell

Wayne's senior citizens are expected to have a major role in the operation of the Wayne Senior Citizens Center under the city's newly appointed director.

That's one of Georgia Janssen's top priorities. The new director has the backing of the city administration in her endeavor. Janssen, 34, who assisted former director Jocile Bull at the center, takes over as the center's new director Monday.

SHE WAS appointed by the Wayne City Council during a special session last Monday.

Orville Sherry, president of the Wayne Senior Citizens Association, has been acting director during the week-long transition. The Council made the Janssen appointment after accepting Bull's "mutual agreement" resignation during the Monday meeting.

Bull, director of the center for 12 years was given the option of resigning or being fired during a meeting with Phil Kloster, city administrator, on Friday, Oct. 16. Bull agreed to resign, effective immediately.

The Council turned to Janssen, who has worked at the center since the summer of 1979, for the directorship.

KLOSTER SAID the operation would undergo a change of direction. "I see us heading towards more senior-citizen directed activities," he said earlier this week.

"The new director will function more like a coordinator working with a stronger senior-citizen committee structure," he added.

Janssen has no argument with that. In fact, she's eager to "turn the senior citizens center back to the senior citizens."

A farmer's wife and mother, Janssen has worked with the center's membership for two years, while assisting the former director and driving the senior's mini-bus.

"THEY (THE seniors) are the ones who know what they want to do," she said. "They know whether they want more craft parties, more trips or more craft activities."

Acknowledging that center membership had dropped to "about 25 seniors," Janssen said she would begin working to increase that figure.

"We need an increase in membership," she continued, while discussing her plans for the seniors during an interview with The Wayne Herald at the Janssen farmstead just over eight miles west of Wayne.

"I'm looking for a change...every day a new change down there," the petite, dark-haired, Minnesota-born woman said.

THE 1964 graduate of Hooper High School (now Loganview High School) said she would be working hard to get seniors involved in running their own center.

"First, I want to know what they want...what changes they want to make at the center," Janssen explained.

"I really want to get Wayne's senior citizens more involved," she said. "It's a group that needs to get more involved."

Janssen also suggested that the members might consider getting out for more activities, such as touring hydroelectric dam projects, taking part in fall foliage tours, taking in major performances in the larger cities near Wayne.

"THEY NEED to do some different things," Janssen continued, explaining that senior citizen trips to such shows as the recent Ice Capades performance in nearby Sioux City would have offered center members an entertainment excursion.

The new director, whose husband is Carroll native Richard Janssen, 36, said she was hired as the mini-bus driver two years ago (summer of 1979) by the former director.

"Our youngest, Marc, was ready for kindergarten and we had just built the

Residents Drag Feet On Audit Requests

Wayne residents are dragging their feet on home energy audit requests.

And, despite the availability of the service through Peoples Natural Gas Co., the foot-dragging has given the city a backlog in the areas of a first-come, first-served priority by default.

Working with as much as a three-month backlog in the metro areas, Peoples Natural Gas has only about eight audit requests from Wayne homeowners.

WITH NO ENERGY auditor stationed with the division offices in Wayne, engineers have to be called off the backlogged auditing schedule in the metro areas, explained Keith Mosley, manager.

The competition from the metro areas has seemed to create a continuing confusion about the availability of the service in Wayne.

And, though the company is not even required to seek homeowner requests for the audit service until two years after its mid-summer public notice regarding the existence of the program, Peoples Natural Gas home energy auditors may be here soon.

Mosley said he is ready to "bring one (an auditor) up" to Wayne from the metro areas to handle the eight requests.

"I'M DOING THE scheduling of the requests I have next week," Mosley said, explaining that he would not know when the audit could be performed until he talked with the company's energy engineers.

Federal law requires the public utilities, such as Peoples Natural Gas, to perform the energy audits for $15.

However, the federal Department of Energy regulations set out a lengthy timetable for the utility companies to meet the law's requirements.

What may have added to the apparent confusion in Wayne about audit availability through Peoples Natural Gas was the recent arrival of Neligh Sen. John DeCamp with his "Project: Energy Independence."

DeCAMP URGED residents to take advantage of the home energy audit program well before the public utility companies — those serving urban customers in Nebraska — were required to do it under the federal mandate.

Peoples Natural Gas, for instance, has nearly 20 months left before being required to perform the audits under the DOE timetable. However, the company is doing audits, allocating most of its home energy audit resources where the demand has been greatest — the metro areas.

Furthermore, while the public utility companies are required to perform the service with state or federally certified engineers, a number of companies in the energy-related field are offering uncertified audits.

In Wayne, Sun-Wise Solar Systems, a solar energy sales and distribution company, offers free home audits by factory trained company representatives.

THOUGH NOT certified by the state or federal government, that company's audits still serve to give these requesting the service a look at energy inefficiency in their own homes.

The company offers the energy audits with no obligation to buy, but does not offer them because of any federal mandate — the situation faced by public utility companies.

Adding perhaps more confusion is the fact

Wayne Council Meets Tuesday

The Wayne City Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at City Hall.

Among the agenda items up for consideration is a resolution on delinquent special assessments and signs at Logan and Seventh streets.

Youngsters Get Long Weekend

Dave Luft, principal of West Elementary School in Wayne, said due to Teacher's Convention kindergarten through fourth grade students will be dismissed early on Friday, Oct. 28, and will not attend classes on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 29 and 30.

Luft said kindergarten and first grade youngsters will be dismissed Wednesday at 2:15 p.m. Second grade students will be dismissed at 2:20, and third and fourth graders will be dismissed at 2:25.

School will resume at the regular time on Monday, Nov. 2.

Christmas Workshop Slated

Nov. 2 is the deadline date to register for the Christmas Workshop to be held at the Northeast Station near Concord on Monday, Nov. 9, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Diane Radack Yankton, S.D., will be showing how to make seven different holiday decorations.

The registration fee, which includes all supplies and snacks is $22.75 per person. Each paid registrant may bring one guest to work with and to share the craft kits. To register send the registration fee, name and address to Dixon County Extension Service, Concord, Neb. 68728. Make checks payable to Dixon County Home Economics Fund.

This workshop is sponsored by the Dixon County Home Economics Extension Program.

LPN Meeting in Norfolk

All Licensed Practical Nurses in northeast Nebraska are invited to a meeting at Northeast Technical Community College in Norfolk regarding advanced placement into the University of Nebraska Associate Degree Nursing Program.

Representatives of the Nebraska College of Nursing from the UN Medical Center in Omaha will be present to explain the program and to determine interest of area LPNs in participation.

The meeting will be in the NTC Activities Center Theater on Wednesday, Nov. 4 at 2 p.m. Interested LPNs may call Anita Braden at NTC 371-2020 ext. 217 for more information.

September Temps Normal

September's temperatures were right on target for the Wayne/Wakefield area, after a slightly cooler than normal August.

According to weather data recently released by the National Weather Service in conjunction with the University of Nebraska Lincoln, the average temperature in the Wayne/Wakefield area for September was 61.3 degrees Fahrenheit.

The average was exactly normal for the month, while the August average of 70.5 was about 2.5 degrees below normal. Total September precipitation was 1.16 inches, or 1.39 inches below normal. That compares to 2.72 inches for August, a figure that was 0.43 inches below normal.

The figures were recorded at the Northeast Dixon weather station in Wakefield.

Farm Bureau Elects Officers

Merle Ring of rural Wayne has been re-elected president of the Wayne County Farm Bureau.

Ring was elected with a new slate of officers during the group's recent annual meeting at the Woman's Club rooms, Wayne.

Also elected were Don Liedman, vice president; Kris Loberg, woman at large; Dale Hansen, youth at large; and board members Jack Brockman, Ron Sebade, George Biermann, Alvin Sundell, Larry Nichols and William Hansen.

Prize winners were R.W. Haller, Winside Art Walters, Wayne; Ardell Mueller, Thurston; Neil Sandahl, Wakefield; and Robert Jones, Wakefield.

Career Fair at Lincoln

The fourth annual Career Fair sponsored by the Nebraska consortium of 16 colleges and universities, NETCHE Inc., has been scheduled for Nov. 3 at the Hilton Hotel, Lincoln.

More than 600 students are expected to attend, with more than 30 companies already registered to participate in the fair, according to Anne Koppera, NETCHE placement director.

Wayne State College and Northeast Technical Community College are members of the consortium.

WSC President at Art Meeting

Dr. Lyle Seymour, president of Wayne State College and a director on the Nebraska Art Collection Board, was scheduled to attend the group's meeting at the Governor's Mansion Friday.

Recent additions to the state art collection, which is housed at Kearney State College, were to be reviewed by the board. The acquisitions, which will become part of the state's official art collection, will be on display at the Governor's Mansion through Nov. 23.

The National Weather Service forecast Monday through Wednesday is for drying conditions with daily temperatures in the 50s and 60s and a low in the 30s. Wayne's first snowfall of the season began in the early hours of Saturday morning. The snowfall had ended by midmorning with little accumulation. And, if you didn't set your clock back an hour Sunday, you missed the fall return to Central Standard Time.

sheriff's log

The Wayne County Sheriff's Department is investigating the theft of gasoline, diesel fuel and batteries from the Hans Burmester farmstead rural Randolph.

According to Sheriff Scotty Thompson, thieves made off with gasoline from one of Burmester's tractors and his pickup sometime between midnight Monday and daylight Tuesday.

Also, diesel fuel was stolen from another Burmester tractor, and two new tractor batteries were taken.

Two old batteries on the ground near one of the tractors were also stolen, Thompson said.

Thompson said the fuel and batteries had an estimated value of $27.87.

SHERIFF'S Department officers also investigated two accidents this week.

According to Thompson, a 1979 Chevrolet pickup driven by Alice M. Oberhelman of Carroll flipped on its side in a country road ditch police report

Wayne Police investigated a two-car accident in the 100 block of First Street west at 11:10 a.m. Friday.

According to police, a west bound car driven by David E. Claussen of rural Wayne was struck on the passenger's side by an auto backing out from a parking stall along the north side of the street.

The parked auto, a 1976 Plymouth, driven by Myron P. Dirks, rural Coleridge, backed in to the street, striking the Claussen car, a 1972 Chevrolet. No injuries were reported.

about six miles east of Carroll about 10 p.m. Thursday.

The westbound pickup hit loose gravel on the county road, Thompson said. Oberhelman lost control and the pickup slid sideways over the edge of the roadway.

In the north ditch, the pickup rolled over onto its side.

No serious injuries were reported.

Also, EARLY Thursday, Chief Deputy LeRoy Janssen investigated a pickup cow collision on State Highway 35 southwest of Winside.

Janssen said a 1971 Ford pickup, driven by William Hawkins of Winside, was westbound on Highway 35 at 2 a.m. when it struck a black Angus cow on the highway about 5 1/2 miles southwest of Winside.

The cow, owned by Dale Deck of rural Hoskins, was thrown over a bridge into a creek beneath the roadbed, Janssen said.

The collision killed the cow and totaled the pickup, according to the chief deputy Hawkins was uninjured.

Country boy...

...by randall howell

Howdy. Wow, it snowed! It's still October, but it really snowed Saturday. Actually, I saw snow squalls cross Wayne County and Cedar County late Thursday.

If you were out in the countryside during the past few days, perhaps you witnessed an early-season snow squall, too. Late Thursday afternoon, while driving back from a day-long excursion into Antelope County, I encountered the isolated snowstorm.

The squall churned out of the west just east of Belden and continued along that stretch of state Highway 57 from the state Highway 20 junction southward for several miles.

AS LOW GRAY clouds hiked across the sky, a brisk west wind sprinkled snowflakes across the corn and bean fields.

In fact, enough fell to make it drift across the highway in an undulating rehearsal dance for the coming ground blizzards of Nebraska's windy winters.

By the time the Village of Carroll came into view, the snow squall had vanished, leaving me with some thoughts about mitten weather.

I couldn't help but chuckle to myself, thinking about some of the things I experienced as a kid when winter came knocking.

For instance, I could always count on a new pair of chore gloves. That doesn't sound like much, but it was a real special time around the Howell farmstead.

My father, who rarely shopped, would always make a fall trip to the local Army Navy Surplus store that was always well supplied with working clothes.

Overall, jeans, workboots, flannel shirts, winter caps, heavy socks, gloves and long underwear.

AS MY BROTHERS and I got older, we were sometimes allowed to make the shopping trip with him.

And, let me tell you, if he picked you to make that trip with him — why, you were so proud you could pop your buttons.

But, when we were quite young, he made the trip himself. Often, we never knew he'd been on the tall shopping trip until he came home.

That made his arrival, with the back seat of the car full of packages, even more exciting.

My brothers and I would be out in the barnyard doing chores — making every 10 minute job last a half hour — when he'd pull into the yard.

If he got out of the car and reached into the back seat, we knew what was up. Taking only a minute to watch him carry the bundles into the house, we'd do double time for the last half of the chores.

BREATHLESS, we'd race to the house, drop our raggedy old chore clothes on the entry way floor and wash up without getting wet.

Then, it was to the kitchen, where dad sat with the packages on the table and around his feet.

With eyes big as silver dollars, we'd all chatter at once trying to guess who got what.

He'd always have a grin on his face, knowing we couldn't stand the wait, but didn't dare take it upon ourselves to grab a sack and look inside.

Making the most of the moment, he'd usually preface everything with a few remarks about how we just couldn't afford anything this year and that last year's stuff would have to make it another winter.

Then, while we were looking at each other in disbelief, he'd toss a pair of gloves to each of us.

With squeals of delight, we'd snatch them and rub the smooth, soft, little, brown jersey gloves across our cheeks.

Then, off came the paper tags and on went the gloves. There's nothing that feels quite as good as a brand new, never-been-worn-before pair of brown jersey gloves.

OTHER MUCH-NEEDED items often were in the sacks, but those gloves were heaven. You see, the ones we'd used all summer for stacking hay had seen better days by that time.

And, for some strange reason, every glove on the place was a left handed one. No one could ever figure out what happened to the mates of all the left handed gloves we had.

Why... it was ridiculous. You'd think that out of a dozen pairs of gloves, we'd be able to find five or six for the left hand and five or six for the right hand. Not so.

Left-handers, every one. More often than not, we'd have to make due with what we had. So, you know what that meant.

The left hand was always gloved properly. But, the right hand was a total embarrassment. You see, the only way to make a left hand glove fit a right hand is to put it on backwards.

AND, OF COURSE, that's just what we did. It always felt goofy and looked goofy, but choretime was no fashion parade anyway.

Since few people ever wear out the back of a glove, the switch often worked out fine for the right hand. Those old gloves always had holes in the fingers and palms, but when you put that left one on backwards, you got a bonus to make up for how bad it looked.

Those holes exposed a few knuckles on the right hand, but your palm was always comfortably covered with the back of the left handed glove.

But, with nary a right hand glove in sight, the left hand took a beating. All those holes from the wear and tear of baling twine and barbed wire exposed a good deal of the palm.

ONCE IN A WHILE one of us would get lucky. We'd find an old, greasy, torn, right hand glove stuck under the seat of the truck.

That always brought a cheer and some relief for the left hand. We'd just flip that right hand glove around, put it on the left hand backwards and... well, it wasn't quite like getting a new pair, but it was the next thing to it.

That left and looked twice as goofy, but it worked. The only problem was keeping it.

You'd have to know my brothers to fully appreciate that. They're glove thieves, every single one of them. A right hand glove was a real prize. And, if you were silly enough to leave it laying around in your overall pockets or carelessly tossed deep into the toe of your boot, they'd nab it every time.

I ALWAYS THOUGHT that glove napping was about the meanest, low down thing you could do.

Of course, I just never would have done a thing like that myself, particularly to a brother. The thought of it was disgusting.

It was also an easy way to get hurt. The law of the barnyard was that if you caught another man with your glove — or, worse yet, your gloves — pain could be inflicted at will.

We bare-knuckled over more than one glove napping incident while growing up on the Dakota prairie. Glove-nappers around the Howell farm had to be ready for anything from a surprise bale of hay dropped on the head to a sudden and serious frozen cow pie bushwacking.

One of the worst punishments was a handful of ground feed shoved down the back of your neck. That sort of action often encouraged a return of the stolen glove, usually without apology.

THE GROUND-FEED trick had to be handled carefully, too. Often it sparked enough anger that the stolen glove was not delivered to you directly. You might find it thrown into a juicy manure-filled cow-barn gutter, or dropped into an equally mucky cattle pen.

If you were lucky, you got to it before a cow's hoof forced it to the bottom. Recovery, however, was the all-important thing.

Recovery strategy had to be tough enough to get the glove returned without being so tough that retaliation brought about the demise of the coveted glove.

And, every farm boy knows that glove-nappers caught with the evidence can be touchy and unpredictable.

I've watched in helpless anger as a cow walked across the barnyard with my precious right-hand glove warming the tip of her horn.

I'VE RACED INTO a dusty ground feed bin to wait for my precious right hand glove to drop from the discharge end of an auger.

I've searched the bottom of deep hoof prints in the manure with a flashlight, searching for a tattered piece of wet cloth to wear backwards on my left hand.

I've reached the bottom of icy water tanks in 20 below zero weather to fish for a hole-riddled covering for my left hand.

I've emptied right hand gloves that were filled with all sorts of things from itchy ground feed to... you guessed it.

And, I've shoved a half frozen hand into the warmth of fresh, wet, sticky cows milk cleverly squirted into my just recovered glove.

There's just no limit to the twisted mind of a glove napper caught red handed.

SO, WITH THAT as a background, perhaps you can see why it was that those new little brown jersey gloves were so important.

Sometimes, we wouldn't wear them right away. A courageous act designed to spare the pair the rude awakening of life on the farm.

Often, we'd have contests to see who could keep their pair driest longest. That was tough, because somehow a farm boy watering livestock ends up wet from head to foot.

One of the ways we'd protect those new gloves was to place them inside an older pair. But, it was rare to find an older pair — the correct glove for each hand — of gloves that could protect much of anything.

Those new jersey gloves always had the longest fingers and cuffs. When new, they'd reach from the tip of your finger to the cuff on your jacket.

HOWEVER, ONCE they found their way through the washing machine, they were the stubbiest things you'd ever seen.

They'd just shrivel up to nothing. I always hated the arrival of the day when they had to be washed.

If you were clever enough, you could extend the new life for several weeks by hiding them in places my mother would not think of looking.

Trouble was, those places were few and far between. Mother was no dummy. With nine kids running around the place, she was an expert at finding all kinds of things in the strangest places.

You'd just come home from school one day and there the once new gloves were stacked on the counter... clean, faded and shrunken.

They were never the same again. Catch you next week...

Trick-or-Treat Time

Next Saturday is Halloween. And, young trick-or-treaters probably will be out and about in your neighborhood. The tradition that brings us Halloween — with its ghosts, goblins, witches and jack-o-lanterns — is marked by merrymaking and masquerading, particularly by children.

With that in mind, it is important for parents to remember that unsupervised Halloween fun can quickly turn into a personal horror.

Several organizations are sponsoring supervised activities for children throughout the area. In the interest of safety, parents may want to encourage their children to participate.

If neighborhood trick-or-treating is a must, parents may want to spend a few minutes explaining some important things to their children.

For instance, wearing a costume is great fun, but it often restricts movement. And, the face masks, can limit vision as well as hearing.

Excited children, particularly the pre-school and early grade school kids, cannot be expected to exercise the kind of caution displayed by an older sibling or parents.

And, reminders to be careful are usually forgotten in the dash to the door for treats.

A parental escort or the help of an older brother or sister may offer your neighborhood trick-or-treaters the safety margin that keeps Halloween a happy day.

In fact, close-to-home trick-or-treating probably offers the best safety margin, because neighbors usually are more familiar with neighborhood kids.

And, children should be encouraged to postpone eating treats until they return with the loot. A quick parental check on the contents of a trick-or-treat bag is worthwhile.

It only takes one twisted trickster to ruin the treat of being out and about on Halloween. Furthermore, this Halloween's trick-or-treat excursions will be on a Saturday night, when streets are filled with weekend traffic.

Added caution when crossing streets should be encouraged. Remember traffic signs and signals, as well as crosswalks, are for personal safety.

Have a happy, but safe, Halloween. With some common sense, it can be a fun family time. But none of us will have a ghost of a chance to enjoy it, if a trick-or-treater is hurt.

Pipeline Projections

A survey of the nation's major interstate natural gas pipeline companies and their wholesale customers by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission staff projects no significant disruption of natural gas service or supply, even if this winter is colder than normal.

The staff report is an analysis of the winter gas supply for the 28 pipeline companies that transport 99 percent of the natural gas used in interstate commerce. The pipeline companies anticipate natural gas supplies of 6.141 billion cubic feet available for the winter heating season, November 1981 through March 1982, an increase of 103 billion cubic feet or two percent over actual deliveries the previous year.

This temporary surplus represents continued reduction in demand for natural gas because of conservation, a sluggish economy and price competition from alternate fuels, such as fuel oil and coal.

Projections are based on survey responses from the pipeline companies regarding anticipated gas supply, storage operations and inventory, emergency purchases, requirements and curtailment levels.

Fourteen pipeline companies project no curtailment of their customers during the 1981-82 winter season. Another five pipeline companies project curtailment of only interruptible contract customers, and nine companies project curtailment of firm contract customers during the coming winter season. Eight companies project a surplus of available supplies for the winter over current requirements.

If the winter weather is substantially colder than the coldest weather pattern used in the survey, some disruption of industrial natural gas supplies could be expected. The coldest weather pattern used in the survey is based upon 10 percent colder weather than normal during November and March and 20 percent colder than normal during December, January and February.

Alternate fuels, however, are generally expected to be available throughout the country without some unforeseen event, such as a shut-off of oil imports, an interruption of liquefied natural gas imports or long periods of unusually cold weather which can affect transportation systems.

Why I'm Thankful...

Thanksgiving Day is only a few short weeks away. It's a day we set aside each year to be thankful for the many good things in our lives.

If you are like me, some very special "good things" have happened to you over the years because someone took the time to care, or to help.

And, if you are like me, there is no way you could possibly repay that special someone for that good deed, that act of kindness.

Maybe you got the chance to quietly thank them, vowing to seek a more suitable way to show your gratitude.

Or, maybe you didn't get the chance to thank them at all. Well, The Wayne Herald staff is willing and ready to help you with that. All you have to do is take a few moments during the next few weeks to tell us about it in your own words.

So, get a pencil or pen and a piece of paper. Write us — in 500 words or less — about that good turn, that special person. Please pick a "special someone" who is alive and in our circulation area, so they can read about your thankfulness.

You see, if you drop your personal story in the mail to us by Tuesday, Nov. 10, we'll publish it. We'll publish it — just as you wrote it with your name on it — in a special Thanksgiving Day section of the newspaper entitled: "Why I'm Thankful."

That section will be published on Wednesday, Nov. 25 — the day before Thanksgiving Day.

Maybe you'll write about Aunt Kate, who helped out last winter when mother was ill. Or, maybe you'll write about grandma and the special tea cakes she used to make for you. Or, maybe you'll write about your neighbor, who is always walking that extra mile to give you a helping hand.

Whoever it is, tell us your story. Sign your name. Include your address and telephone number. Then, drop it in the mail to:

Why I'm Thankful
The Wayne Herald
P.O. Box 71
Wayne, NE 68787

Our panel of judges will select the best "Why I'm Thankful" story in four categories — kindergarten through fourth grade, fifth grade through eighth grade, ninth grade through 12th grade, and adult (out of high school).

The Wayne Herald will accept drawings from those kindergarteners and first-graders who would rather show, than tell, their thankfulness.

Four, Wayne merchants — Bill's-GW, Wellman's IGA, Rich's Super Foods and Johnson's Frozen Foods — will provide the winning writers with a free Thanksgiving Day turkey. And, Bill's-GW also will provide a free tub of broasted chicken to the "special people" the winners write about.

So, write on...

State's Highway Death Toll Drops

To the many hundreds of Nebraskans who have been involved in promoting a statewide highway safety campaign and to the many thousands of state citizens, who have been more aware of road safety, I offer my sincere thanks.

As of July 1, there had been 34 more highway fatalities in 1981 than on the same date in 1980. As I write this, the death toll is now below last year.

THERE ARE thousands of causes involved in roadway accidents, so there's no way to tell whether any efforts of citizens have been a factor in improvements. Nevertheless, I intend to continue and expand the efforts being this year to promote highway safety.

In May, I announced beginning of the Report Every Drunk Driver Immediately (REDDI) program. We are asking that whenever a vehicle is seen being operated erratically on our streets or highways, anyone observing it should call the nearest law enforcement office. This program is working. In August, 380 calls were made by rank and file citizens reporting suspicious driving. As a result of follow-up by law enforcement officers, 231 arrests were made. Possible fatalities are prevented each time a drunken driver is taken off the road.

The next step I took was to call a Governor's Traffic Safety Conference in August. Several hundred officials and representatives of associations and private enterprise spent a whole day looking for ways to prevent accidents.

ONE OF THE conference actions was to name a smaller council to meet periodically to make recommendations. When I met with this council in October, its members agreed to concentrate efforts in three areas:

(1) The state will establish a hotline so a citizen can call toll-free to report a traffic hazard. For example, there may be a road intersection where weeds are blocking vision. If a citizen does not know whether to call city, county or state officials, he or she can call the hotline and report the need for action.

(2) The council will promote local workshops throughout the state on drinking and driving. (3) December 6-12 will be designated as Super Safety Week. State, county, city, church, civic, labor, management, educational and charitable organizations will be asked to unite in efforts to make Nebraskans aware as never before of the need to reduce driving accidents.

EACH NEBRASKAN can help in this last-named effort. There needs to be an effort in every Nebraska neighborhood, village, city, township and county to persuade people to drive more sensibly. Every segment of society in our state needs to get involved in saving lives on our highways.

Motor vehicles are the greatest single cause of death among teenagers. Particularly for the sake of Nebraska youngsters, we should unite as never before to save lives through our efforts to make a tremendous success of Super Safety Week.

Lack of Skilled Workers Hurts Nebraska

In an age of high technology, a serious problem is gnawing at the very base of our industrial society. To put the problem bluntly — this nation is running out of people skilled in crafts essential to industrial work, like die-making and drill press and lathe operating. This country is slowly running short of skilled machine operators, and so many of our Nebraskans in these skilled jobs are getting up there in years.

In light of this problem, last week in Lincoln I met with a number of very interested vocational educational authorities, businessmen, state and federal agency representatives and representatives of state and private education to discuss the problem and consider what can be done to solve it.

OVER 70 PERSONS attended the meeting and openly and frankly traded views and ideas, not only with me but with each other. While Nebraska is not a highly industrialized state, its economic base, agriculture, depends on highly technological farm machinery and on the people who produce that machinery. And it will need skilled labor to attract new manufacturing and fabricating industries.

Reflecting on the discussions that were held, I think the only long-lasting, cost-efficient solution to this problem will be found with better communication and cooperation between industry, education and government. Industry must communicate its needs to the educational system and must understand what facilities are available to the schools for the training of students in these skilled professions.

According to some of the participants in last week's meeting, this kind of communication has already begun in some areas. On the job training and apprenticeship programs are obviously important parts of a solution.

I THINK A change of attitude is also needed in our schools. Students at the junior and senior high school levels, at least, must be shown that the mastery of the skills of tool and die and machine tool trades is a viable and respectable alternative to college.

Neither white collar nor blue collar futures should be portrayed as more fulfilling or desirable.

Vocational-technical programs must be an important and integral part of our school systems. An orientation of young people to the values of machine shop skills should be part of an educational system.

Even in the age of the mini-computer, a pair of skilled hands and a sharp mind are still very valuable and much desired commodities. This sort of craftsmanship will continue to be valued and profitable for generations to come.

Handicraft Helper

Wayne Woman's Work Boosts Hospital Bazaar

By LaVon Beckman

She says — modestly — that most of her handiwork is given as gifts to her children and grandchildren.

But, ask any member of the Wayne Community Hospital Auxiliary and they'll tell you that without the dozens of handcrafted items Hazel Lentz donates each year, shoppers would have a lot less to choose from at their annual Fall Bazaar.

Although shoppers won't know it, of course Hazel doesn't autograph her work. Many of them attending this year's bazaar will be taking home gift items that she has worked on throughout the year.

HAZEL, who is quick to emphasize that many other auxiliary members do just as much for the bazaar as she, has been a member of the Wayne Community Hospital Auxiliary for about 15 years.

And during each of those 15 years she has loved boxes and boxes of gifts she has made to the auxiliary's annual bazaar, where all of the money raised is used to purchase equipment for the community hospital — Providence Medical Center.

AS IN previous years, hundreds of area residents are expected to attend the 1981 bazaar which auxiliary members have scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 7, at the city auditorium.

And as in previous years, the spare bedroom in the Lentz home is filled with dozens of gift items. Hazel plans to take:

THIS YEAR, Hazel's bazaar contributions will include casserole carriers, jewelry cases, a variety of Christmas tree ornaments, including angels, stars and gingerbread men, knitted sweaters and ponchos for little girls, pillow cushions, pot holders and more.

For the youngsters, Hazel will be taking a new item this year — security bunnies.

The bunnies, fashioned after a child's security blanket, are made from baby blankets with the polyester-filled head and feet of a bunny attached. Hazel received the pattern from Marie Skokan.

"PEOPLE are good about giving me patterns," says Hazel, adding that the jewelry cases she plans to take to this year's bazaar also were made from a pattern given to her by a friend.

"There are a lot of people who deserve just as much or more credit than me," she laughs.

HAZEL, who was taught by her mother to embroider, knit and crochet, says she doesn't have a favorite craft.

"I like to do one and then change and do another," she smiles. "I probably like crocheting best because I can rest while I'm doing it."

Hazel says she couldn't begin to estimate how much time she spends on her handiwork. "I like to work at it in the evenings while I'm watching television. If I just watch television I go to sleep," she laughs.

OF ALL the items Hazel plans to take to this year's bazaar, she says her personal favorites are the floral and patchwork pillow cushions.

"I'm sort of proud of those pillows," says Hazel. "Although I don't like to take all of the credit because the embroidery work was done by someone else."

The floral cushions, with washable covers, are made of four embroidered quilt blocks sewn together and edged in lace.

Hazel says the most popular items at past bazaars have been the Christmas tree or ornaments, and she's made plenty this year to go alongside those that other auxiliary members have made.

"ACTUALLY, I've gotten a little bit lazy this year," says Hazel as she sits amid a spare bed laden with gifts she has made for the bazaar.

"I've been busy working on Christmas presents for my family."

THE HOME of Hazel and Carl, her husband of 48 years, is almost entirely decorated with items they have crafted.

Beautiful crowd pictures adorning the walls of their home were made by Hazel. The frames were made or remade by Carl.

Since his retirement from farming 17 years ago, Carl has developed a hobby which he found precious little time for while on the farm: woodworking.

In his work shop located in the basement of his home, Carl has constructed many of the pieces of furniture that ornament the house, including a grandfather clock, spinning wheel, rockers, corner shelves and cabinets.

THROUGH Hazel, Carl also takes an interest in the annual Fall Bazaar sponsored by the hospital auxiliary.

This year, bazaar shoppers will find a wood plant rooter which Carl made, and miniature picnic tables to hold ketchup and mustard, salt and pepper.

LIKE HAZEL, Carl too enjoys making things for his children and grandchildren.

The Lentz family includes four children. Roland, the oldest son, is a math professor at Mankato University, Minn. Willard (Janet) Dannehl and her husband farm near Bertrand and have four children.

Another daughter, Mrs. Lee (Dorothy) Cull and her husband reside at Stanton, where he is Stanton School superintendent. They have three sons.

The youngest member of the Lentz family is Dr. Gary Lentz who resides with his wife Carolyn in Guelph, Ontario, Canada. Gary is an agricultural economist and works for the Minister of Agriculture of Ontario.

HAZEL AND Carl built their home in Wayne following their retirement 17 years ago.

The house, located in the northeast section of the city, greets its guests like a storybook. Rooms decorated with crafts Hazel has made and furniture Carl has constructed tell visitors of the character of their host and hostess.

Plants which warm the living room include African violets, dieffenbachia, a California orchid, rubber plant, weeping fig, spider plant, split leaf philodendron, aluminum plant, Moses in the boat, and a piggyback plant.

HAZEL, a member of Minerva Club, United Presbyterian Women and the Wayne Federated Women's Club, also serves as memorial chairman for the Heart Fund, and is president of Wayne's Church Women United.

Still, she finds time throughout each year to give of her talents to the local Hospital Auxiliary.

"I do it because I enjoy it," says Hazel. "Because I think it's help for the hospital, and we all want to see our community hospital grow."

St. Mary's Church Scene of Rhodes-Thies Wedding Rites

St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne was the setting for the Oct. 17 wedding ceremony uniting in marriage Diana Lynn Rhodes and Dwayne LeRoy Thies.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Derald Rice of Concord Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Thies of Win side.

Officiating at the 2 o'clock double ring ceremony was the Rev. Jim Buschelman of Wayne.

Decorations included altar bouquets of pink and burgundy daisies, carnations and baby's breath, and two candelabras decorated with burgundy and ivory candles with pink carnations, roses and greenery.

GUESTS, registered by Lisa Schrieber of Fremont, were ushered into the church by Terry Rhodes of Concord and John Thies of Winside. The ushers also lighted candles.

Flower girl and ring bearer were Cheryl Renner of Howells and Sean McGrath of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Nick Sieler sang "Endless Love," "If," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Wedding Song," accompanied by Mrs. Cleo Sharer. Both are of Wayne.

THE BRIDE was given in marriage by her parents and appeared in a long, white gown of tulle with an organza illusion, overskirt and wide lace capelet of silk bridal illusion.

Pearls and re-embroidered organza lace accented the V-neckline. The skirt, enhanced with lace medallions, sequins and pearls, cascaded into a wide self-ruffle flounce ending in a chapel-length train.

Her three-tiered, chapel-length veil was attached to a Juliet headpiece, and she carried a cascade of pink and burgundy roses and baby's breath made by her mother.

MARTA, Victor-of-Wayne was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Sally Block of Hoskins and Shelly Owens of Norfolk.

They wore pink, floor-length dresses of crepe and re-embroidered lace, styled with shoulder capelets with embroidered lace bodices styled similar to the bride's.

Each wore a hair comb of pink daisies and baby's breath, and carried a single burgundy rose with pink ribbons.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Thies

BEST MEN were Lynn Langenberg of Hoskins, and groomsmen were Gordon Bethune of Carroll and Dale Kniel of West Point.

The men in the wedding party were attired in silver gray tuxedos with burgundy-trimmed ruffled shirts. Their boutonnieres were of pink carnations and baby's breath.

The bride's mother selected a powder-blue crepe dress in street-length, and the bridegroom's mother chose a royal blue crepe dress, also in street-length. Both had pearl accessories.

MR. AND Mrs. Roy McGrath of Cedar Rapids, Iowa greeted the 250 guests who attended a reception in St. Mary's School Hall following the ceremony.

Gifts were opened and arranged by Chris, Donna and Kathy Rhodes of Concord, sisters of the bride, and Lori and Linda Thies of Winside, sisters of the bridegroom.

JULIE Pedersen of Emerson, Irna Arp of Battle Creek, Elaine Sanders of Laura and Mickey Dounpink of Emerson cut and served the wedding cake.

Eldon Thies of West Point,

Lucille McGrath of Independence, Iowa, and Myra Thies of Pilger, and Pat Sullins and Anita Peterson of Wayne served punch.

Waitresses were Michelle Thies, Deanna Willis and Julie Brockman, all of Winside, and Mary Ann Kay of Wakefield.

A DANCE followed the reception at the Carroll auditorium. Music was provided by Complete Music, and hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Herb Willis of Winside.

All corsages, floral decorations, and the four-tiered wedding cake were made by the bride's mother.

FOLLOWING a wedding trip, the newlyweds are at home at 1015 Lincoln St., Wayne.

The bride, who is employed at Taco del Sol in Wayne, was graduated from Laurel-Concord High School in 1978. She plans to graduate from Wayne State College this December.

The bridegroom, a 1976 graduate of Winside High School and a 1978 graduate of Northeast Technical Community College, Norfolk, is employed at LaPorte Implement in Wakefield.

Wayne Regional Arts Council Sponsoring November Photography Show, Contest

The Wayne Regional Arts Council will sponsor a photography show and contest on Nov. 13 and 14 in the Wayne city auditorium.

All photographers in the region, both amateur and professional, are invited to participate.

ENTRIES must be a print that is mounted or matted with a minimum size of 5 x 7". Frames are optional, and titles, though not required, are encouraged.

For the purposes of the show, a professional photographer will be classified as one who uses photography to a large extent to aid or augment his income.

All prints will be allowed to be on sale.

WITHIN the amateur and professional divisions will be the broad categories, black and white, and color.

Each of these will include the categories of commercial, environmental, animals, action, people in groups, individual adult, and individual child.

Prints will be judged on photographic technique, subject matter, and general effectiveness of the print.

PRINTS will be judged by three out-of-town photographers who have tentatively agreed to make written comments to be given to the photographer. Ribbons will be awarded as prizes.

ARTS COUNCIL members who have paid their dues by Nov. 1 will be allowed up to 10 prints at the show. Non-members will be limited to five.

There will be no charge for entering the contest.

THE PHOTOGRAPHY show will be followed the next week by the first session of a 35mm photography workshop.

Six sessions on Monday evenings, beginning Nov. 16, will be geared to beginning or novice photographers who have a desire to learn more about 35mm photography.

The workshop will run from 7 to 9 p.m. and will be taught by Dennis Linster.

Cost for the combined sessions will be $30 for Arts Council members paid by Nov. 1, and $40 for non-members.

A regional photography club is scheduled to begin in January through the Wayne Regional Arts Council.

PERSONS interested in participating in any of the activities are asked to call Jane O'Leary, 375-2335.

briefly speaking

Wakefield Fall Festival

The Wakefield Hospital Auxiliary will hold its annual Fall Festival of the Legion Hall on Saturday, Oct. 31.

Mrs. Gordon Bard and Eveline Ring, who are co-chairing the event, said contributions are being accepted from individuals, clubs and businessmen. Treasurer is Mrs. Alfred Benson.

There will be drawings for prizes, including a double Irish chain quilt. The quilt is being displayed at Viken's Dry Goods.

The bazaar also will feature a variety of baked goods and handcrafted items. Lunch will be served throughout the day.

Mrs. Bard and Mrs. Gordon Bressler will once again be in charge of the Blue Tree of Lights. Lights may be purchased in honor of someone living, or as a memorial for a deceased relative or friend.

In the past year, proceeds from the annual festival have been used to purchase two chests of drawers, four bedside tables, four over the bed tables and eight chairs for patient rooms in the Wakefield Community Hospital.

The furniture has been ordered and is expected to arrive early next year.

Son Baptized at Allen

Baptismal services for Adam Randall Gensler, infant son of Randy and Chris Gensler of Allen, were held Sunday, Oct. 18, at the United Methodist Church in Allen. Officiating was the Rev. Anderson Kwankin.

Thirty-two family members attended the baptism. A luncheon afterward was held in the Gensler home.

Regents Scholarships Awarded

Regents scholarships covering tuition have been awarded to 129 students at the University of Nebraska Medical Center.

Area students receiving scholarships and their area of study are, Duwayne L. DeTurk of Wayne, medicine, and Kay L. Anderson of Wayne and Kathy Dolph of Wakefield, nursing Omaha division.

90th Birthday Observance

The family of Clara Johnson of Wayne hosted an open house reception Sunday, Oct. 18 in honor of her 90th birthday.

Ninety-two friends and relatives attended the event in the Wayne Woman's Club room, coming from Blair, Norfolk, Concord, Randolph, Rosalie, Wakefield, Carroll, Winside, Wausa, Wisner, Omaha, Sioux City and Wayne.

The cake was baked by granddaughter Karen Luschen. Mrs. Johnson's daughters in law and grandchildren assisted with serving.

The guests were greeted by sons Derald of Omaha, Melvin and Willis of Wayne, and daughter Leora Austin and husband of Wayne. Another son, Robert of Oklahoma City, was unable to attend and telephoned birthday greetings.

There are 13 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren. Thirty-eight persons attended a cooperative dinner at noon.

New BPW District Director

Marilyn Wallin of Wayne was elected District III Director of Business and Professional Women (BPW) during a conference Sunday, Oct. 18, at the Ramada Inn in Omaha.

Members of the Wayne BPW Club attending the meeting were Val Wagner, who was named district runner up in the Young Career Woman Contest, Janice Predeohl, district treasurer, Jocell Bull and Marilyn Wallin.

Miss Wagner is director of Region IV Services in Wayne. Winner of the Young Career Woman Contest was Andrea Lindner of Norfolk. The winner will represent the district at the state convention in April 1982.

Convention theme was "Time of Action." District III includes clubs in Omaha, Fremont, Norfolk, Madison and Wayne.

Wayne will host the District III Conference in 1982.

Achievement Day Correction

A story which appeared in The Wayne Herald on Thursday in correctly reported that the We Few Home Extension Club received the Silver Tray, a county fair award, during the Wayne County Home Extension Council's annual Achievement Day program held Oct. 16 in Winside.

Recipient of this year's award was the Farm Fans Home Extension Club We Few Club, which received the honor last year, made the presentation.

Historical Society Meeting

The Wayne County Historical Society will meet at the county museum in Wayne Tuesday, Oct. 27, at 7:30 p.m.

New officers who will be installed are Richard Baer, president, Bill Burris, vice president, Coreen Bard, secretary, and Leon Meyer, treasurer.

Reports on the Table Fashions on Parade show and the Wayne County History Book will be given.

Sales of the new history book will end soon. Publication is scheduled in December.

bridal showers

Miss LaVonne Bloom

LaVonne Bloom of Dixon was honored recently with three miscellaneous bridal showers.

Friends and classmates were guests for a merchandise shower Saturday, Oct. 17, in the Marilyn Kraemer home at Laurel.

Hostesses were Julie Crisp, Roxie Kraemer, Sharon Taylor, Sharon Hahne of Coleridge, and Jan Cooper.

FIFTY GUESTS attended a bridal fete Oct. 13 at the Evangelical Free Church in Concord. The guests came from Laurel, Norfolk, Allen, Dixon, Concord, Wayne, Ponca and Coleridge.

Decorations were in burgundy, dusty rose and soft pink.

MRS. WESLEY Bloom welcomed the guests. The honoree introduced her mother and future family members.

The program included devotions and prayer by Mrs. Edward Linn, and a vocal duet by Mrs. John Westerholm and Mrs. Milton Boyesen. A poem was read by Mrs. Clayton Hartman, followed with a humorous version of baking bread read by Mrs. Gary Erwin.

Fall Wedding Rites Unite Sheri Triggs-Todd Hoeman

Sheri Renea Triggs, daughter of Steve and Donna Schumacher of Wayne, became the bride of Todd Lynn Hoeman in 4:30 p.m. rites Oct. 17.

The bridegroom is the son of Ted and Evelyn Hoeman of Winside.

DECORATIONS included pew candles accented with stephanotis, garlands and bows, a seven-branch candelabra and altar bouquets.

Wedding music included "O Perfect Love," "The Wedding Song" and "Thy Will Be Done," sung by Bill and Deb Dickey and accompanied by Connie Webber, all of Wayne.

Guests were registered by Deb Woslager of Winside and ushered into the church by Rick Bowers of Winside, Randy Dunklau of Wayne, Clark Schmidt of Norfolk and Paul Roberts of Carroll.

GIVEN in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a gown of lustre glow with a Victorian neckline. The sheer yoke was edged with Venice lace and a ruffle of Chantilly lace. The neckline, of Venice lace, was accented with seed pearls. The full split sleeves of chiffon were cuffed with Venice lace.

The lustre glow overskirt was accented with Venice lace edging revealing the ruffled flounce of the underskirt. Silk Venice lace enhanced the waistline with a satin bow finishing the back waist.

A bridal lace overlay short brimmed hat encrusted with handclipped appliques, seed pearls and a waltz length veil applied with lace completed her ensemble.

She carried a bouquet of blue tipped roses, pink miniature carnations and white stephanotis.

MATRON OF honor was Deb Reinhardt of Wayne, and bridesmaids were Valerie Nelson of Wayne, Phyllis Hoeman of Fremont, sister of the bridegroom, and Michelle Aldrich of Fremont.

They wore floor-length dresses fashioned of frost rose silks featuring round necklines edged in dyed-to-match lace, and fluted sleeves.

The blouson bodices with V-shaped insets of matching lace lead to sunburst pleated skirts which fell from natural waistlines accented with fabric self-fie belts.

They wore dyed-to-match derby style hats with lace and silk flower trim, and carried hand bouquets of white roses, pink miniature carnations and white stephanotis.

ROBBIE Harmeler of Winside served as best man. Groomsmen were Tom Koll of Winside, Jeff Triggs of Wayne, brother of the bride, and Mitch Hokamp of Randolph.

The bridegroom, who ushered the mothers into the church, was attired in a white tuxedo with tails and white ruffled shirt, and wore a blue rose boutonniere.

His attendants were attired in royal blue tuxedos with light blue shirts, and had blue rose boutonnieres.

The bride's mother selected a floor-length champagne chiffon dress with a blue chiffon cape and gold accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a floor length gown of deep rose with a matching chiffon cape and silver accessories.

FLOWER GIRL was Danielle Nelson of Carroll, and ring bearer was Ritchie Brown of Fremont.

Chris Vakoc was the bride's personal attendant. Mrs. Gerald Schafer and Mrs. John Vakoc pinned flowers.

A RECEPTION and dance for 350 guests was held at the Wayne National Guard Armory following the ceremony. Music was furnished by Solid Gold.

Gifts were arranged by Katy Griess of Wayne and Brenda Hokamp and Teri Harlman, both of Winside.

Mr. and Mrs. Todd Hoeman

Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Keith Nieman of Fremont and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Meyer and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Spangler of Wayne.

THE CAKE was cut and served by Mrs. Henry Greene of Fremont and Mrs. Irene Luth of Wayne.

Mrs. Ritch Brown of Fremont and Mrs. Gerald Stork of Arlington poured, and Mrs. Merle Behmer of Hoskins and Mrs. Russell Longnecker of Winside served punch.

The Evening Circle of Grace Lutheran Church assisted with the reception.

Others assisting at the reception were Mrs. William Canner, Mrs. Gordon Davis, Mrs. Ernest Vogt, Mrs. Phil Griess, Mrs. Dale Langenberg, Mrs. Charles Jackson, Mrs. Bob Thies, Mrs. Joe Mundell, Merle Behmer, Gerald Schafer, Ernest Vogt, Gordon Davis, Ed Doeschner, Lee Anderson, Dale Langenberg, Charles Jackson, Mrs. Ethel Nickols and Mrs. Lee Anderson.

Waitresses were Mindy Luff, Beverly Baker, Shella Schroeder, Mary Kay Lange, Lisa Braasch and Sandra Braasch.

THE NEWLYWEDS traveled to the Black Hills and are making their first home at 302 Lincoln St. in Wayne.

The bride, a 1979 graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School, is employed as a secretary for Vakoc Construction Co.

The bridegroom was graduated from Winside High School in 1980 and from Northeast Technical Community College, Norfolk, in 1981. He is employed by Town and Country Builders Inc., of Wayne.

Blue Devils Lose to Cedar

Husker Conference Title Slips Away from Wayne

By Kent Probst
Wayne State College

The Wayne High Blue Devils saw their hopes for an outright West Husker Conference championship fall by the wayside as an opportunistic Hartington Cedar Catholic team claimed a 26-7 win at Memorial Stadium Friday.

A Wayne "parent's night" crowd saw the Blue Devil defense on the field much of the night trying to stop a Hartington wishbone attack that ground out 212 rushing yards and 15 first downs on the night, and raised their overall record to 6-1. A win over West Point Central Catholic next week would give the Trojans a perfect 3-0 record in the West Husker Conference.

COACH LONNIE EHRHARDT'S club finished its West Husker Conference campaign with a 2-1 mark and moved to 3-3 on the year. The Blue Devil offense never quite got untracked as the hosts netted just 107 ground yards and 49 more through the air. Hartington CC ran off 70 offensive plays compared to just 36 for Wayne High.

"They just brought the ball game to us," Ehrhardt said afterwards. "It wasn't that we weren't prepared, they just executed very well. We knew they'd be a power football type of team - they played ball control."

"We held ourselves back, too," Ehrhardt pointed out. A number of key penalties (seven for 40 yards on the game) and four turnovers, including three fumbles, crippled the Blue Devil effort.

"The kids are really starting to come around," Cedar Catholic coach Rick Perk commented. "It was just a case of deciding we wanted to go out and hit."

CEDAR CATHOLIC quarterback Tim Schaefer, in his first starting assignment as quarterback after regular Shane Kuchta sprained an ankle in practice the day before the game, did a fine job of directing the Trojan wishbone. Schaefer ran for 40 yards in addition to a good passing game including a 26 yard touchdown, and he kicked a pair of extra points.

The Trojans took the offensive from the opening second, executing a perfect on side kick that gave them the ball on the Wayne 45. It took just six rushing plays to net the score on a four yard run by Jay Wieseler, who took game rushing honors with 85 yards on 20 carries.

The Blue Devils' defense dug in and kept its guests out of scoring range the rest of the half, paced by the efforts of Tim Heier and Eric Brink. Heier played an outstanding game, notching 25 tackles. Brink clipped in 13 stops and was in on a pair of first half quarterback sacks.

Wayne High kicked off to start the second half, and the Trojans began a long march down the field that ate up nearly half of the third period. Hartington penetrated to the Blue Devil 10, but the hosts bucked down and forced a fourth down gamble. Tim Schaefer fired a desperation pass that Bill Schaefer caught over two Blue Devil defenders for the touchdown. Schaefer added the PAT to make it 13-0 with just over six minutes to play in the third quarter.

ON FIRST DOWN following the kickoff, the Blue Devils suffered a costly fumble that set up another Cedar Catholic score. The short 30 yard drive was aided by a personal foul penalty on Wayne. Wieseler again found paydirt on a two yard burst, and the score mounted to 19-0 after the extra point at tempo was wide.

Behind the running of half back Dan Frevert and quarterback Steve Overin, the hosts came back and threw a real scare into Hartington. They took the ensuing kickoff and marched down the field to what proved to be their only score of the night, with Overin sneaking in from inside the one on a fourth down play. Frevert booted the extra point to make the score 19-7 with just two seconds gone in the fourth quarter.

A big interception by Blue Devil sophomore Jim Poehlman moments later gave Wayne the ball on the Hartington 40, but a disputed Blue Devil fumble on a completed pass at the Trojan 28, turned the ball right back over to Hartington CC.

Again the Blue Devil defense rose to the occasion and forced a Trojan punt. But Trojan defender Mark Schaefer intercepted an Overin pass moments later, and returned it 26 yards to kill Wayne comeback hopes.

HARTINGTON THEN took charge and moved down the field against a tired and dispirited Wayne defense, and halfback Kim Kathol put another score on the board with 2:50 to play in the game. Tim Schaefer added the point after to end scoring at 26-7. Overin finished as the top rusher for the Blue Devils with 39 yards on 10 carries. Kurt Janke was right behind him with 38 yards on just two carries. Dan Frevert, after gaining over 140 yards, in each of the last two games, was limited to 57 yards on nine tries.

A BARRAGE of blue shirts fight to hold back Hartington CC's running back. In the photo are Wayne's Eric Brink (71), Bob Liska (68), Terry

Overin, on a freshman completed four of eight passes with one interception for 30 yards. Senior Mark Hummel completed one of his two attempts for 17 yards.

Reserve Heier's 25 tackles, other good defenses or performances were given by Dallas Hansen with 18 stops, Mark Kubik with 14, Brink with 13, Kevin Koenig and Jeff McCright with a dozen each, and Frevert with 11 tackles. Kurt Janke had eight tackles and a fumble recovery, while Jim Poehlman added four tackles, a fumble recovery and a pass deflection to his interception.

We'll have to regroup now and go after another big one next week," Coach Ehrhardt said. The Blue Devils and a rearing 1981 season next Thursday when they travel to O'Neill High School. O'Neill is the only team to defeat Hartington Cedar Catholic this season.

Trojans One Win Shy of Division Title & Possible Playoff Berth

The Wakefield Trojans are on the verge of one of their finest seasons in history. A victory Wednesday at Emerson Hubbard would give the undefeated Trojans an East Division title in the Lewis & Clark Conference and a good chance of a state playoff berth. The 7:30 p.m. game will be played Wednesday rather than Friday because of teachers' convention.

Wakefield racked up 332 yards against Bancroft and exploded for 23 points in the second quarter.

QUARTERBACK MARK STARZL commanded the offensive attack and put together a solid aerial display to wear Bancroft down. He completed seven of eight passes for 200 yards.

The only incompleteness came at the end of the game when coach Dennis Wilbur directed Starzl to pass to Dirk Carlson. Carlson was covered on the play.

The hosts racked up three touchdowns and a safety in the second period. Starzl completed all five of his passes in the first half for 142 yards.

Leading receivers were Mike Clay with two receptions for 78 yards, Rod Nixon with two catches for 62 yards and Vaughn Nixon with 60 yards on three receptions. Rod Nixon scored one touchdown and the other two each scored twice.

WILBUR, WHOSE team is ranked 10th in Class C-1 by both the Associated Press and Lincoln Journal Star is still unrated by the Omaha World Herald.

"I'm a little disappointed that we aren't rated by the World Herald probably has just cause," said Wilbur. "I don't believe in running up the score and if that's what it takes to be rated then Wakefield will never be rated. I won't do unnecessary damage to a team—it's not worth it. If we get in the playoffs I think we'll show we're respectable and that we can play with anyone."

The Trojans need a victory over Emerson Hubbard to keep their hopes of a playoff spot alive. Wakefield currently is second in the district standings behind undefeated Norfolk Catholic. The Norfolk squad has to face unbeaten number one Battle Creek this week. Battle Creek is unscored upon.

A win over Emerson also would give Wakefield undisputed claim to the East Division title of the Lewis & Clark Conference. A loss would put the standings in a three-way tie.

Starzl, who had a role in all six Wakefield TD's, scored the first one on a two-yard run in the first quarter. The PAT failed.

IN THE SECOND period, Fred Barge recorded a safety to give Wakefield an 8-0 advantage. Then, Starzl passed to Mike Clay in a touchdown play which covered 40 yards. Rod Nixon kicked the extra point. Starzl came back by passing to Vaughn Nixon from 12 yards out. The same combination resulted in a two-point conversion. A 28-yard pass from Starzl to Clay gave the Trojans their final touchdown of the first half and a 29-0 lead.

A fourth-down and six play resulted in a 36-yard touchdown pass from Starzl to Vaughn Nixon. Nixon sidestepped down the sidelines to score. Again the PAT attempt failed. The final score was made by Rod Nixon when Starzl passed to his leading receiver. Nixon booted the extra point.

THE TROJAN DEFENSE threw Bancroft for total gross losses of 104 yards. Eleven players had at least one tackle behind the line of scrimmage.

Doug Verplank had three tackles for losses of 31 yards, Vaughn Nixon had three for minus 18 yards, Gary Tullberg had three for minus 15 and Mike Muller had two for 17 yards. Other players with tackles behind the line: Rod Nixon, Jon Pretrer, Duane Witt, Fred Barge, Starzl, Brian Soderberg and Paul Schopke.

Roger Echtenkamp had five unassisted tackles and a blocked pass. Verplank had three solos and five assists and Starzl had three solos to lead the defensive unit.

THE BULLDOGS broke up the shutout against Wakefield's reserves with a safety and two fourth quarter TD's on a 9 yard run and a 61 yard pass.

"Our defense limited them. We needed a game like this to get untracked," said Wilbur. "It boils down to this, we have to win and we'll go after it. Emerson is our last obstacle and it will be a hard hitting game."

Wilbur said his team was "not real impressive" and pointed out that penalties called back some good plays. The Trojans were penalized 110 yards but set Bancroft back 104 yards on tackles for losses. The visitors' rushing attack was held to 30 yards in the hole.

Gary Tullberg recovered a fumble and Rod Nixon intercepted a pass in the game. Meanwhile, Wakefield fumbled six times and lost five. Mark Kubik had a blocked point after attempt.

Leading rushers were Dirk Carlson with 58 yards on three carries including a run of 44 yards and Jeff Coble with 14 carries for 54 yards. Mike Clay and Brian Soderberg also had rushing yardage.

Cats Gain Share of First

A 30-12 win over Hartington Friday earned Winside a share of the West Division title of the Lewis & Clark Conference.

The Wildcats completed division play with a 3-1 record and tied with Wausa and Osmond for first place. Winside defeated Wausa this year and Wausa defeated Osmond.

The victory was Winside's fifth in the last six outings after opening the season with back to back losses to Wakefield and Osmond. The Cats are now 5-3 and will host Ponca Wednesday night. The game is scheduled Wednesday instead of Friday because of teachers' convention.

DENNIS GONNERMAN switched his best lineman to the fullback spot for the game and the move couldn't have worked better.

Barry Bowers, who has run in the backfield only for a few plays during his career, took advantage of the opportunity by carrying the ball eight times for 126 yards and scoring two touchdowns.

With Winside receiver Doug Jaeger sitting on the sidelines, Gonnerman shifted regular fullback Brian Bowers to the end position and relied on Barry Bowers, Mark Koch and John Hawkins to shred Hartington's defense. Koch carried 23 times for 99 yards and Hawkins rushed for 67 yards on five carries.

Jaeger had been suffering from a back ailment and went to the doctor last week for a checkup. He learned that he was born with a slight spine defect and the doctor advised him to quit football because a hard hit could injure him seriously.

BOWERS AVERAGED nearly 16 yards a carry and Hawkins averaged more than 13 yards a carry to pace the offensive attack.

Koch scored the game's first touchdown from one yard in the first quarter. The second TD was scored by Bowers on a nine yard run.

Hawkins got his turn in the second quarter and scrambled 33 yards for a touchdown. A six yard touchdown pass from Koch to Brian Bowers brought the score to 24-0 at the half.

The second half wasn't as productive for the Wildcats but they did score in the third quarter. Barry Bowers ripped through Hartington's defense and rambled 44 yards to score.

"Thanks to Wausa (for defeating Osmond last week) we gained a share of the division title. It's really nice to salvage something for the year," Gonnerman said. "Even a share of the title means a lot. The players worked hard and put out a lot of effort and teamwork."

WINSIDE'S OFFENSIVE attack was complemented by a fair passing game. Jim Krajcick caught only one pass but gained 39 yards on the play. Koch and Brian Bowers each had one reception. Koch completed both passes he threw and quarterback Jon Meierhenry completed one of four.

"We played good football for three quarters but had a letdown in the fourth quarter. The team did a heck of a job except for the fourth quarter," said Gonnerman. "We hope to end the season on a winning note. The kids have kept their heads up and we'll be ready for Ponca. The conference championship will set in."

Gonnerman had kind words for his running backs. "Barry (Bowers) did a heck of a job. He's a super athlete and ran over a lot of guys from the fullback position. Mark (Koch) gained the hard ones."

Hartington operated out of the shotgun formation most of the night and tried to open up its passing game. However, the hosts completed only 9 of 30 passes and were intercepted once.

IN ADDITION to his offensive performance, Bowers also had a good game defensively. He made nine solo tackles and two assists to become the career tackle leader with one game remaining.

Bowers' total of 92 unassisted tackles and 299 assists is also a single season record. Krajcick made six unassisted tackles and three assists. Other defensive leaders had six or seven tackles.

Bears' Troubles Continue in Loss

Another blow was suffered by the winless Laurel Bears as surging Wausa pounded Laurel 44-0 Friday night in Laurel.

Injuries, inexperience and a tough schedule have taken their toll on the Bears this season. The combined record of all teams on the Laurel schedule is currently 45 wins, 24 losses.

Wausa, co-champion in the West Division of the Lewis & Clark Conference, used an explosive offense to hand Laurel its eighth loss.

WAUSA SCORED a pair of touchdowns in the first quarter. Boyd-Ober scored on a 33-yard run and Brian Lackas carried on a one-yard touchdown.

In the second quarter, Scott Frevert broke free for a 49-yard touchdown romp giving Wausa a 22-0 half-time lead. Quarterback

Ned Blankenship passed to Jeff Nelson for a 25-yard TD in the third period.

The Blankenship to Nelson combination worked again in the fourth quarter for a 34-yard touchdown. The final score came on a one-yard run by Randy Wolfgang.

LAUREL WAS HELD to 56 yards rushing and 18 yards passing. Dennis Martinson and Daye Marquardt each rushed for 22 yards. Shane Hayden had two pass receptions from quarterback Marquardt for 32 yards.

Mark Herrmann returned three kickoffs for 50 yards and Tim Bloom returned one for 24 yards. Bloom later left the game with a pulled calf muscle.

Defensively, Marquardt had a pass interception and was one of the team's leading tacklers. Martinson also was a leading tackler. Laurel statistics didn't show which player recovered the only Wausa fumble. "They're a very good football team. They played hard and took it to us," said Laurel coach Lynn Schuff. "We put some of our younger players in the game to give them some experience. We'll just keep on trying."

The Bears are scheduled to complete their season Wednesday night at Osmond.

Laurel Wins Title, Faces Allen

Two local volleyball teams are scheduled to clash tonight (Monday) to decide the Lewis & Clark Conference championship. Allen, the Lewis Division champion, will meet Laurel, the Clark Division champ, at 7:30 p.m. in the Allen High School gym.

Both teams are on hot streaks. The Eagles have won all 13 of their matches this season and the Bears have won their last seven matches. Allen defeated Laurel in the Pendef Invitational at the beginning of the year.

Tonight's probable starting lineups will match Allen's Nancy Olafka, Carmine Lubberstedt, Loree Rastede, Janet Peterson, Des Williams and Beth Stalling against Laurel's Cyndi Jonas, Jayne Reynolds, Carmie Crookshank, Renee Gadeken, Anne Schultz and Kim Sherry.

Allen is no newcomer to the Lewis & Clark playoffs. The Eagles have often been successful in winning their division but have never won the conference title. For Laurel, the playoff berth is a pleasant surprise. The Bears got off to a slow 2-5 start but are now 9-5 in their first seven as a member of the conference.

LAUREL WOM: The Clark Division of the conference hands down with a 6-15, 15-12, 15-5 win over conference favorite Wynot, Thursday in Wynot.

The victory settled a big hassle which could have occurred if Wynot would have won. A Wynot triumph would have resulted in a four way tie for first place in the division.

Instead, Laurel clinched first place with a 6-1 division record. Osmond and Wausa tied for second at 5-2 and Wynot finished fourth at 4-3. Laurel's only Clark Division loss was to Wausa.

"The girls showed lots of character. They decided they wanted it. Our first goal was to win the division and the second was to win the conference," Laurel coach Dwight Iverson said. "This is a boost for the Laurel schools. I'm convinced that playing in a conference makes a difference in the way a team plays. Every game is very important."

LAUREL FELL behind in the first set and found itself one game down. Iverson said his team "totally choked." The second set started out in Wynot's favor and it appeared the Bears were on the way to their first loss in seven matches.

However, the momentum shifted. After trailing 5-0 and 10-5, Laurel rallied gradually. Led by the serving of Anne Schultz and three key blocks by the front line, the locals took charge.

After Schultz brought Laurel back within one point at 12-11, Renee Gadeken took over by stringing four ace serves for a 15-12 win.

The third set was all Laurel's. Gadeken finished the match with eight serving points. Jonas had six, Schultz had six and Jane Cunningham had six. Schultz led the winners with 11 of 11 spikes with five aces. Iverson said Carmie Crookshank had an "awfully good game at the net."

"We served poorly in the first set but came on in the second. Then, we played our type of game in the third," said Iverson.

"We've been playing heads-up ball and we're trying to peak now. We've played our best ball in the middle of the season."

IVERSON SAID that tonight's matchup should be a dandy. "It should be a good game. The girls have surprised me all year. After we got off to a 2-5 record, we made some lineup changes. We've been playing with injuries and illnesses and have still been winning."

Laurel fans have plenty to cheer about after suffering through a 1-13 record last year. Iverson said his team is healthy now and should be ready for Allen.

"Hopefully, we'll be at our best against Allen. They have a tremendous team. If we're on and they're on, it should be one heck of a game and the best team will win."

The win over Wynot drained the Laurel girls emotionally. Iverson said as he compared their enthusiasm and excitement to that of a circus.

IN JUNIOR varsity action, Laurel lost 15-8, 8-15, 12-15 to unbeaten Wynot. Iverson said the pressure seemed to get to his young team and added that Wynot is a good team. Jean Lute scored nine points, Jane Cunningham scored seven and Renee Vanderheiden had the best individual rating for all around game. The loss dropped Laurel to 7-3.

Wynot won the C match 11-5, 12-10. Carla Stage scored seven points to lead the locals. Laurel's record is now 4-5.

Bus to Women's State Bowling

Any women who are interested in riding a bus to Hastings to participate in the Women's State Bowling Tournament should sign up by Friday (Oct. 30).

The state tourney is scheduled March 20 and 21. Interested women can sign up by calling Vicki Skokan at 375-3406 or stopping in at Melodee Lanes.

Cost of riding the bus will be $19 if there are 39 passengers and $18 if there are 47.

Guessers' Athletes of Week

Annette Reiman and Deb Poehling were honored at Thursday's Second Guessers meeting as athletes of the week for the Wayne State volleyball team. Steve Zelinsky and Tony Marinella were named athletes of the week for the football team.

Marinella also was named NAIA District 11 player of the week.

AAL Donates to Laurel Field

Branch 1566 of Aid Association for Lutherans recently received a $5,000 community action grant check to pay for the construction of a new softball field in Laurel. Receiving the check from AAL district representative Jim Schroeder, were local branch officers, George Schroeder, Belinda Magdanz and Sharon Vancleave.

The purpose of AAL's community action benevolence program is to enable the members of AAL, through their local branches, to engage in direct human service projects which aid their local communities. These projects stress the efforts of volunteers from the branch and the local community. The money that is needed to begin the project is provided by the association in the form of a grant and is controlled by the branch.

It was determined that Laurel had a need for an additional ball field so that women's softball, men's softball and pee wee baseball would have a field to play on without conflicts from other teams. AAL member Ernie Fork responded by offering a piece of property east of the sale barn in Laurel to be used for the field. Construction of the field by volunteer workers is almost complete and the field will be ready for play in 1982.

AAL is the largest fraternal insurance society in the United States with over 14 billion dollars of life insurance in force. The Laurel branch is one of more than 5,400 local AAL branches nationwide. AAL members own insurance, take part in association activities and conduct benevolent projects for their local Lutheran churches and communities. In 1980, over 23 million dollars was returned to AAL members through different fraternal programs.

Jones To Captain WSC

The Wayne State Wildcat basketball team has named 6-9 senior Al Jones as its captain for the 1981-82 season. The announcement was made by head coach Rick Weaver following a selection made by the team and coaches.

Jones is a 1976 graduate of Heelan High School in Sioux City, Iowa, where he played center for the Crusaders basketball team. He was named to the All-State basketball team, as well as the All State football team during his four years there.

Jones, a returning letterman, led last year's Wildcats in rebounds, pulling in an average of 7.2 per contest. He finished fifth in the league in rebounding, and sixth in assists. Jones also received honorable mention on the 1980-81 Central States Intercollegiate Conference team.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Jones of Sioux City, he is majoring in physical education at Wayne State.

The 1981-82 season gets underway on Nov. 18-20 in the second annual NAIA District 11 Pre-Season Cage Classic, with games to be played at both Hastings College and Kearney State. The Wildcats face Dana, Concordia and Hastings on successive days. Bellevue College will be the first home foe on Nov. 24.

Brandt, Blackburn Tabbed

Senior Lynn Brandt and sophomore Tammy Blackburn have been named co-captains of the 1981-82 Lady Wildcat basketball team. The choices were the result of a vote taken by team members and announced by coach Jim Jirsak.

Brandt, a 1978 graduate of Omaha Gross High School, was a four year member of her high school's basketball team, and played at the guard position. In her senior year she was named to the all star team, made up of players selected by area coaches.

She is in her fourth year on the Lady Wildcat basketball team, and the only senior on the squad.

Brandt is the daughter of Don Brandt and Donna Brandt of Omaha and is majoring in criminal justice at Wayne State. Tammy Blackburn joins the Lady Cats squad as a transfer from San Jacinto State in Houston, Texas. She graduated from Norfolk High School in 1979 where she played guard for four years. Honors include being named to the All Conference team for three years and the All State team her junior and senior years at NHS.

In Houston she participated in the basketball program her second year there, also at guard.

Blackburn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Blackburn of Norfolk and a physical education major at Wayne State College.

The Lady Cats open the 1981-82 season Nov. 19-20 in the women's NAIA District 11 Pre-Season Cage Classic.

Several players deserve credit for Wayne's success in the past four weeks. The Blue Devils got off to a slow start this season, losing their first three games. Since then, they won three of four games.
 One of the players who deserves credit for the turnaround is junior running back Danny Everett. Everett, who was used sparingly during the first half of the season, has rushed for 787 yards the past two games. He carried 21 times for 141 yards and a 47 yard touchdown in last Friday's win over Emerson Hubbard. For his performance, he is player of the week.
 Other nominees:
 Mark Starzl who led Wakefield to an overtime victory over Homer. He quarterbacked the team and scored the game's only touchdown and also starred on defense with 12 tackles.
 Jim Krapicek of Winside who had four receptions for 100 yards and two touchdowns while leading Winside to victory over Allen.
 Keith Rhode who led Allen's defensive performance last Friday. He had 18 tackles in the loss to Winside.
 Dennis Martinson of Laurel who led the Bears with 14 tackles in a loss to Ponca.

More Valley Corner Systems every year, because it's the least costly investment per acre.

It's going to be harder to make farming pay off in the years to come. Harder for many reasons.

So if anything makes sense, it's to maximize the potential of the land you now farm. Irrigating with a center pivot is one way. Irrigating with a Corner System is even better.

A Corner System can irrigate 19 to 45 more acres than a regular pivot, producing extra income on acres already being farmed. That's why nearly one out of every six pivots sold today is a Corner System.

And when it comes to Corner Systems, nobody knows more than Valmont. They're proven reliable with nearly 3,000 systems in operation. That's at least 20 times more than any other brand.

Before you buy any center pivot, see us. We'll tell you how a Valley Corner System can add to your bottom line profits while being the least costly investment per acre.

Wayne Lions Celebrate Club's 20th Anniversary

More than 70 persons attended the Wayne Lions Club's 20th anniversary celebration at the Wayne Vets Club Monday night.

Wayne Mayor Wayne Marsh opened the anniversary meeting with a welcome to members and visitors, which included guests from seven other Nebraska clubs.

During the meeting, the club presented the Wayne Care Center with a closed-captioned television encoder.

The encoder puts printed captions on a television screen for the hearing handicapped.

FUNDS FOR the encoder were raised during the Lion Clubs annual Halloween candy sale.

Cochairmen for that early October sale were Jack Imdieke and Fred Webber.

In addition, the club received a plaque for winning the district governor's point contest for 1980-81. District Governor Don Taylor presented the award, which salutes the club for community, district and state activities.

Speaker for the anniversary evening was Ralph Hendrickson, who was district governor when the Wayne club was chartered.

THREE LOCAL members were installed as charter monarchs. They included Charles Denesia, George Goblirsch and William Kemp. All have been club member for 20 years.

In addition to guests from the Omaha, Lincoln, Bethany, Elkhorn and O'Neill clubs, three state officers attended the meeting.

They include district governors Taylor and Merrill DeCamp. Also attending was William Biggs, state counselor.

You're Never Too Old To Hear Better.

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of one of the smallest Beltone aids of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

Send for this model, put it on and wear it in the privacy of your own home. While many people with a hearing loss will not receive any significant benefit from any hearing aid, this free model will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It is not a real hearing aid, and it's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a fourth of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Department 25540, Beltone Electronics Corp., 4201 West Victoria Street, Chicago, Illinois 60646.

Tripleheader Winner

LUCK HAS been on the side of Ted Ellis in 1981. The Wayne resident is now $350 richer as he was present at Melodee Lanes when his name was announced Thursday, Oct. 15, in the weekly Grand Give-A-Way. Here, Addie Kienast of Melodee Lanes gives Ellis his $350 in bonus bucks. The sports enthusiast bowled a 300 game in bowling and hit a hole-in-one at the Wayne golf course earlier this year. Two other persons were not present Thursday night when their names were called as part of the Tripleheader. They are Dale Claussen of Carroll and Allen Rastede of Allen.

YOU CAN EARN MORE THAN 15% on your money when you buy a home! It's true — homes have gone up an average of 15% per year in the last 5 years! And unlike interest, gains on real estate is deferred and based at the capital gains rate. And you can buy a Sunrise Townhouse Condo at last year's prices. But don't wait! Builders and developers must pay interest too, and the prices must go up! Yes, you can actually save by buying now when interest rates are high and construction costs are low. And you own a Sunrise Townhouse just like any home or real estate, except:

1. You save on the purchase price because construction costs are lower.
2. You don't worry about maintenance and insurance.
3. You don't worry about snow and lawn service.
4. The exterior real estate is owned jointly by all owners.
5. You are always a member of the Homeowners association.
6. Condos have a better tax advantage for those that need every deduction you can get.

Each 1180 sq. foot Townhouse has oak cabinets and trim, dishwasher, main floor laundry, private patio, central air, gas heat, a complete energy efficient insulation package, and are situated on the highest hill in Wayne, next to the college and hospital. The Maryland subdivision is a prestigious place to live, and an "easy to sell someday" type of location that will protect your investment for years to come.

So don't put your money in the bank and pay taxes on the interest. You not only defer the tax on real estate appreciation, you only pay at the capital gains rates (about 30% of the regular rate).

NEW ASSISTANT DIRECTOR DEPARTMENT OF WATER RESOURCES

Thomas R. Lamberson of Norfolk has been named Assistant Director of the Nebraska Department of Water Resources. As Assistant Director he will be stationed in the Lincoln office and have responsibilities in budgeting, personnel, legislative liaison, and will serve as the officer for various public hearings.

Thomas R. Lamberson

Tom has been employed by the Department in Norfolk since 1977. As a Water Specialist his responsibilities included surface water rights administration and investigation, flood plain investigations, safety inspection of dams and stream gaging.

The Department of Water Resources has been sharing office space with the Lower Elkhorn NRD and the Conservation and Survey Division in Norfolk since 1977. This service center arrangement provides a more convenient way for the people of Northeast Nebraska to get assistance with resource problems. People unfamiliar with resource agencies can conduct all of their business or get questions answered all under one roof.

The Department of Water Resources will continue this service center arrangement in Norfolk, to serve the people of Northeast Nebraska.

PLAN WINDBREAKS NOW

Although it is six months until tree planting, the time to begin planning is now. Tree orders through the Clarke-McNary program will be accepted beginning November 1. Before that time, you need to have all the planning done:

- 1) Know where the trees will go
 - 2) Size of the area
 - 3) Purpose of the planting (windbreak, firewood, wildlife)
 - 4) Species and number of trees to be ordered
- Soil Conservation Service personnel at local offices are available to assist landowners with planning, ordering the tree seedlings and arrangements for planting by Lower Elkhorn NRD tree planters. They can recommend the species of trees and the planting design to fulfill the purpose you have for the trees, whether it be windbreak, wildlife, firewood or others.

Cost share assistance is available to landowners for tree planting in some areas. This assistance is through local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) offices and is usually for 75% of the cost.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

- October 29 — LENRD Board Meeting
- October 29 through November 1 — Inter-disciplinary Environmental Education Workshop, Kearney
- November 5-6 — Society for Range Management Annual Meeting, Kearney

CLARKE-McNARY TREE ORDERS BEGIN SOON

Organized tree distribution began in Nebraska as far back as 1904, when Congressman Moses P. Kinkaid introduced a bill which authorized the tree distribution of trees west of the 100th Meridian. This plan affected the area of Nebraska lying west of Red Willow, Frontier, Dawson, Sherman, Boone, Antelope and Knox counties. The success of this operation was poor, however, the records show 1,977,445 trees were distributed from Bostoy Nursery at Halsey between 1912 and 1924 to 9,298 applicants.

On June 7, 1924, the Clarke McNary Act was passed by Congress. This act authorized the Secretary of Agriculture to cooperate with the various states in the procurement, production and distribution of forest tree seeds and plants, for the purpose of establishing windbreaks, shelterbelts and farm woodlots upon denuded or nonforested lands.

This plan became an instant success. In 1926, when the first plantings were made in Nebraska, 33,900 trees were distributed to 96 cooperators in 44 counties. In 1981 over 3 million Nebraska landowners through the Tree Distribution Program administered by the Nebraska Forest Service.

The Nebraska Forest Service will begin taking orders November 1 for the 1982 tree planting season. Again this year over 3 million tree and shrub seedlings are available. Selections can be made from 25 species including seven evergreen trees (eastern redcedar, Rocky Mountain juniper, ponderosa pine, Austrian pine, jack pine, Colorado blue spruce and Scotch pine); 10 deciduous trees (cottonwood, black walnut, siberian elm, honey locust, bur oak, red oak, silver maple, hackberry, green ash and Russian olive) and 8 shrubs (hackberry, norfolk cherry, cotoneaster, lilac, honeysuckle, American plum, autumn olive and skunkbush sumac). The price is $23.00 per hundred seedlings including postage and handling. Tree orders can be placed at your local County Extension, Soil Conservation Service or Natural Resources District office.

AREA LAND JUDGING CONTEST

The Northeast Area Land Judging Contest, attracted 187 contestants from area FFA chapters and 4-H clubs. The contest was sponsored by Lower Elkhorn NRD in cooperation with the Stanton Extension and Soil Conservation Service offices.

Participants met at the Stanton County Fairgrounds, 8:30 a.m., October 7 and did the judging at the Robert Sprick farm, 4 miles west of Pilger.

As a result of this contest, FFA teams from Howells, Stanton and Scribner plus the Colfax County 4-H team have qualified for the State contest.

WATER RIGHTS FOR FEDERAL AGENCIES?

The historic primacy of State water management has been reaffirmed by Saint James Watt by repudiating the highly controversial 1979 (Kullitz) legal opinion that sought to establish a "Federal non-reserved water right." The Solicitor's office, under the direction of William Coldiron, acting on the specific request of the Secretary, thoroughly researched the issue and reached the conclusion that there is no such thing as a "Federal non-reserved water right," despite the previous Administration's views.

The new determination means that Federal land managers must follow State water laws and procedures except where Congress has specifically established a water right or where Congress has explicitly set aside a Federal land area with a reserved water right. If Federal agencies now need more water for their programs, they now must take their place in line like any citizen and await a State decision on allocation.

Director

house," she explained. "I was looking for a job because we needed the spare money." A friend encouraged Janssen to apply at the center. Today, she's the director.

JANSSEN, WHO'S quick to smile, said she soon learned that the mini bus driver's job entailed much more than just driving senior citizens around town.

In addition to the bus duties, Janssen assisted with the center's meal programs, the office workload — including local, state and federal grant forms, and "visited with a lot of senior citizens" at the center.

"The sad thing about being old is that it seems like the family members aren't around anymore to talk to," she said. "But, I talk with them."

Janssen said she plans to take her new responsibility "day to day" and hopes Wayne senior citizens "find out the center can be fun."

JANSSEN TALKED about her own elder by grandmother, who lives in Decatur. "She's still living on her own and she's sharp as a tack," she said, her face lighting up with family pride.

"I really enjoy being with people," she continued, while her two daughters, Becky 14, and Mindy, 12, watched television in the living room of the couple's new home near the Carroll spur. It was a school night and eight year old Marc had gone to bed for the evening.

"Driving the mini bus, I met the neatest people," she said. "They are all my friends. They are interesting and charming."

Obviously excited by her new job, Janssen said the only thing she is "really scared about" is the center's monthly newsletter.

A hobbyist, she is treasurer of the Carroll Craft Club and does macramé and plaster craft in addition to sewing.

Treasurer of the Fine Arts Booster Club at Winside Schools, where the couple's three children attend school, Janssen also teaches Sunday school and is treasurer of the Carroll United Methodist Church.

The second daughter of four children — Gloria, Georgia, Wallace and Roger — born to Elmer and Roxene Smith, Janssen spent her early years at Round Lake, Minn., the home of Sather Cookies.

HER PARENTS moved the family to Nebraska, where she got her education in the Hooper school system. Her parents are retired and live in Hooper.

She married Richard Janssen in June of 1964 "right out of high school." The couple lived in Fremont for about a year before they moved to Carroll, Richard's hometown.

The son of Carl and Mabel Janssen of Carroll, Richard worked for the Wayne County Roads Department for about eight years before joining Nucor Steel in Norfolk, where he's worked for more than seven years. When the Janssens decided to raise their livestock, they left their home in Carroll and moved to a rented farmstead just west of Winside, where they started raising hogs.

FOUR YEARS ago, the Janssens bought their acreage on state Highway 98 west of Wayne, where they continue to hold down full time jobs, raise a family and produce hogs.

Georgia had worked in Norfolk for several years, including stints with Dale's Electronics and Sherwood Industries.

She quit outside the home work when son Marc was born and didn't re-enter the job market until he was ready for kindergarten. The 1974 decision to return to work took her to the Wayne Senior Citizens Center.

Energy

$135 per home, depending on a number of factors, including the size and location.

Under the law, the difference between the $15 homeowner audit price and the actual cost is regained by the public utilities through increased rates.

"They might just as well get an audit they're paying for them anyway," explained Keith Mosley, division manager for Peoples Natural Gas in Wayne.

Mosley said he has only about eight energy audit requests from Wayne homeowners.

INTEREST in the home energy audit service in Wayne is low, he said.

However, according to Mosley, interest is high in the state's metropolitan areas.

"At one point we had a three month backlog in some of the metropolitan areas," he said.

"We've started to catch up on that which makes our engineers more readily available for places like Wayne, but there aren't enough requests to keep a man here."

Mosley explained that the company has been waiting for enough requests to make it worthwhile to schedule an engineer for Wayne.

"We can and will do the energy audits for homeowners," he continued, explaining that it was difficult for the company to call an engineer with a three month backlog to do a single audit in Wayne.

Audit

that companies serving the energy needs of rural America, such as Nebraska Public Power District, are not required to perform the audits on request.

That's simply because the on demand home energy audit program is written for urban areas, not rural areas.

DeCAMP CONFIRMED that when he was in Wayne last month on his energy conservation tour of the state. He said there are no provisions and no funds for home or farm energy audits in the rural areas.

In Wayne, NPPD manager Sam Schroeder said his company is just beginning to work with the idea of totally voluntary family farm energy audits.

MOSLEY SAID he felt a company engineer would be available soon to do the eight audit requests in Wayne.

He indicated that, unless there were more requests from the smaller, rural towns like Wayne, the engineers performing the service would continue concentrating their efforts in areas of the state where the demand is greatest.

He'd like to be able to provide an engineer with a week long audit schedule in Wayne, he said, explaining that next week he plans to schedule the Wayne requests.

There's just no demand here beyond a few homeowners, he explained. "The people who need it don't want it and the few people who have the more energy efficient houses are the ones who are requesting it."

MOSLEY SAID his company was committed to the home energy audit program.

"We've trained people to handle the audits and we're following the law," he said.

Peoples notified customers in Wayne with a Residential Conservation Service mailing about four months ago, meeting the six month deadline set by the federal Department of Energy.

The first mailing was the program announcement, which was required by law. It also included an audit request form.

Under DOE regulations, the public utility has 24 months after the program announcement to provide each customer with the

He said the company offers energy audit assistance to its retail customers and to large business operations, but is not bound by the requirements facing Peoples Natural Gas.

If all that isn't confusing enough, DeCamp himself has confused the issue in Wayne by suggesting — in a letter received by The Wayne Herald — that the Wayne Chamber of Commerce is considering establishing a community based energy audit service.

ACCORDING to Roger Toomey, executive vice president of the chamber, Tuesday's planned announcement regarding the formation of an energy conservation task force is not an attempt to provide an energy audit service.

audit request form. That request form mailing is scheduled for a future mailing, according to Mosley, who said the forms are available now at the company's Wayne office.

"ANYBODY WHO wants an audit now will get one as long as we have a sufficient number to justify bringing in an engineer," Mosley said.

The company wants at least eight to 12 audit requests before bringing in an engineer from the back logged metropolitan areas.

If the company's first Wayne home energy audits are performed within the next month, the company will be performing the service a full 18 months ahead of the deadline set by DOE.

Mosley said that he felt his company would continue with its commitment to the program even if the Reagan administration throws the legal requirements out the window.

He said the small number of Wayne requests are facing stiff competition for energy auditors from the metropolitan areas right now, but a catchup in the backlog is expected to ease that situation.

"I'm ready right now to bring an auditor to Wayne," he said.

"But, beyond the eight homeowners in my file at the office, there are no more requests."

He said it is to promote the broader concept of energy conservation in Wayne, to get information out to homeowners and businessmen in the community.

And the fact that most companies involved in construction and building materials, such as lumberyards and home improvement firms, offer advice on energy conservation adds another iron to the sometimes-confusing audit fire.

Actually, any common sense assessment of energy efficiency represents some form of home energy audit.

Homeowners with a basic knowledge of construction can perform an energy audit on their own home by exercising common sense while examining walls, windows, doors and roofs for the basics of weatherization.

Q. I find myself able to pay off my 7 percent mortgage but have been advised to invest the money instead of paying off the mortgage. Although it would be nice to have a clear title to my home, I'm wondering if I might not be better off investing. What advice can you offer?

A. Having clear title to your home would be a good feeling. However, the money would probably work harder for you if properly invested. You can presently earn considerably more than 7 percent by investing in a certificate of deposit or money market certificate while letting your mortgage run its course. A discussion with one of our association officers is probably in order to help you determine the wisest course for now and the future.

H&R Block Franchise Available

We are seeking a responsible individual capable of operating a volume business for the largest income tax preparation firm in the world. Prior tax knowledge is helpful, but not necessary. An H&R Block franchise is compatible to most service-oriented businesses. As a Block Franchisee you will be provided with professional training, national advertising based on in-depth research, and supplies.

CLIP AND MAIL TODAY

Please send me your brochure outlining the H&R Block Franchise Program. I understand there is no obligation on my part.
