8 candidates seek seats in Winside election

Eight Winside residents have filed for four open seats on the village's five member board of trustees to be filled by special etec flon Tuesday. Not one former board member is among the official list of candidates seeking election to the village posts, which were vacated early last month when four veteran trustees resigned in a dispute over Winside water. The resignations left the village with only one trustee, Marvin Cherry Cherry, owner operator of Winside Dehy Inc., was attending his first meeting as a replacement for former trustee Kenneth Brockmoller, who also resigned, when the other members quit oath of office to the new board members. During the organizational meeting, the new-ly seated members are expected to elect a board chairman.

The board, which regularly meets at 7:30 p.m. on the first Monday of each month, will resume its meeting schedule with the Jan. 4 session.

CANDIDATES WERE required to file with the village clerk Nov. 17 through 20. Hansen, Morse, Denklau and Hartmann filed for the seats with 1992 expiration dates. Hansen. 29. Judge delays arraignment on challenge to evidence

The Ninth District Court arraignment of a 8 year old Winside man on second degree murder charges in connection with the October shooting death of Marlen Kleinschmidt, 40, has been postgoned for at least one week.
District Court Judge Richard P Garden has given the Wayne County Attorney Budd Bornhoft seven days to respond to a plea in abatement motion. Including a bill of exemptions, tilled by defense attorney Tery Dougherty on behalf of the accused. Dennis Virgil Thorne
Wednesday morning, Garden also denied the defense attorney's request to reduce Thorne's $50,000 (10 percent) bond

CITING CASES in Nebraska law and precedents set by courts in other states, Dougherty told Judge Garden that the right of confrontation "is a critical stage" of any case.

Garden's only comment was directed at the timing of confrontation rights — whether it should take place at the preliminary hearing or the trial.

The district court judge took the defense thorney's bill of exemptions under advisement and granted Bornhoft the option to poly to Dougherty's evidential challenge by half. The plea-in-abatement cannot be used to alt the state's proceedings against Thorne, coording to Dougherty.

But, should Gerden rule in the detendant's avor, it could send the matter back to a word or court and force the prosecution to efficient scale against Thorne with more confusive evidence.

SHOULD GARDEN rule against the detendant, the case is expected to move to an arraignment on the basis of evidence apresented in the preliminary hearing. Doughtery filled the plea-in-abatement motion, including the bill of exemptions, on Nov. 30.

Before Judge Garden Wednesday he argued that he had opportunity to cross-examine or confront witnesses during the preliminary hearing.

Blizzard's blast brings winter to Wayne area passable in most areas, while most east west roads were reported blocked. State Highway 35 was open, but motorists reported ice patches and linger drifts as state snowplows worked throughout the day to keep the route clear. Temperatures began to dip late Tuesday and were expected to reach the low teens overnight, but forecasts were for a bounce back into the high. 30s and low 40s Wednesday and Thursday.

DESPITE THE absence of city fender-benders and county road mishaps, the Nebraska State Patrol reported a weather-related accident near Winside Monday

Mild temperatures made digging out an easier early winter task Tuesday and Wednesday, as Wayne area communities resumed normal schedules after the season's first major snowstorm. The storm, which moved across the state trom southwest to northeast, dumped as much as 7 inches of heavy, wet snow on Wayne area communities. Tuesday morning winds kicked the snow across the prairie at speeds of up to 45 mph. according to the National Weather Service in Narfolk.

COMING ON the heels of an expected Thanksgiving Day storm that never developed, this week's bitzzard blasted through northeast Nebraska and northwestern lowa. With it came treezing rain and snow that brought traffic in many areas to a standstill.

Despite the glazed streets beneath Wayne's 3 inch snowfall, the Wayne Police Department and the Wayne County Sheriff's Department reported no accidents during the two-day storm.

IN THE WAYNE area, the storm grew from a late Sunday night drizzle to a heavy Monday morning rainfall. By noon, freezing rain had turned to glant wet snowflakes that thumped the countryside as a prelude to the steady afternoon, and overnight snowfall.

Snow began to drift on late Monday after noon winds that gusted as high as 38 mph. according to the Weather Service. With the wind came chill factors that howered about the zero mark, despite over night temperature readings in the high 20s and daytime highs in the high 30s.

But, Tuesday morning's winds — some clocked as high as 45 mph. — filled rural roadside ditches, blocked county roadways and sifted into sidewalks throughout Wayne County.

And, while Wayne matched Norfolk for accumulation, Laurel reported a 6½ inch snowfall during the 48-hour storm.
Bloomilietd, northwest of Wayne in Knox County, reported 6 inches on the ground the temerson, to the northeast of Wayne. Teported a 5-inch snowfall.

AS WINDS diminished Tuesday, Wayne County snowplows were out, according to Commissioner Merlin Belermann. North south county roads were reported

THE DRIVER escaped injury, but 25 hops suffacated in the wreck, according to State. Polico-Surviving hops were loaded onto an area farmer's stock trailer, carted to Windside Dehy Inc. and reloaded onto another fractor trailer.

The truck, owned by Boardman Livestock Co., Norfolk, was damaged extensively, Law enforcement officers, reported externely, limited visibility, in rural areas throughout the the Monday-Tuesday sform.

Mud and snow accumulation pulled the truck, which was en route to Sloux City, lower into the ditch where it flipped onto its side, according to State Police.

Santa is coming to town

Santa Claus will be arriving in Wayne this weekend for a pre-Christmas visit with area youngsters.

Estimated time of arrival at the Wayne Municipal Airport is 2 p.m. Sunday.
And, the jolly old elf, who is arriving by airplane, has sent word ahead that he plans to stay around these parts for several days.

ACCORDING to one of Santa's Wayne area helpers, the North Pole native will be available for chats with children from 6 to 8 p.m. each day the stores remain open on extended Christmas hours.

Santa, who will use Peoples Natural Gas Co. as his Wayne headquarfers, will be available from 6 to 8 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 10, Tuesday, Dec. 15, Wednesday, Dec. 10, Thursday, Dec. 17, Friday, Dec. 18, Monday, Dec. 21, Tuesday, Dec. 22, and nesday, Dec. 23. 50, Santa will be at the Mineshaff Mall on Saturdays, Dec. 12 & 19, from 1:30 to 30 p.m. On Sundays, Dec. 13 & 20, the red-suited, sielgh driver will be back at Peoples latural Gas Co. from 2 to 4 p.m.

AND, ONCE again, Santa has asked The Wayne Herald to help him with his mall, which gets pretty heavy this time of year.

He's asked the newspaper to assist by collecting his letters.

The Wayne Herald editor, who can be an Old scrooge at Times, agreed to do if on one condition — that Santa give his special permission to let the newspaper publish tops letters each week from now until Christmes.

Santa agreed with a hearty, "Ho, Ho, Ho."

So, area youngsters who write Santa this December should address their letters to 1. The Wayne Herald, 114 Main Sfreet, Wayne, NE 68787.

THOSE LETTERS will be published each week and then turned over to Santa Claus during the fellow's last day in town — Dec. 23.

He said he needed at least a full day to read all the letters himself. Santa indicated he'd be reading them on his way back to the North Pole that day. And, on the next day (Dec. 24), he'd be leading his sleigh for the Christmas Eve Journey back to the Wayne erea.

Students seek host families

Invite a bit of South America into your home this winter Families are needed for students arriving from South America this January for a six month stay. Youth for Understanding, a non-profit student exchange organization, has brought the experience of international friendship to students and lamilies for over 30 years. Students are between the ages of 14 and 18 and will study at high schools throughout the state. Host families provide room and board, and the same guidance and love they would give to their own children. The personal at Tachments that are formed between students and families often develop into lifetions friendships. The students are responsible for their own personal expenses and spending money. Youth for Understanding is currently looking for responsible families who feel they would enjoy and benefit from the experience of bosting a young student from another country. For more information on the program and on becoming a host family please contact. Youth for Understanding, 8450. Hickman Road. Suite C. Des Moines. Iowa 50322, (515) 726-6301.

Remodeling completed for 100th anniversary

Methodist Church continues to move forward

The story of Methodism in Wayne begins with the very earliest history of the town — 100 years ago. The church has seen many changes during the past century — including the recent completion of an extensive renovation project. In addition to remodeling the sanctuary, fellowship hall and relocating offices, a small addition to the church contains restrooms, a new stairway to the basement and storage space.

COMPLETION of the remodeling project comes just before the church's 100th anniversary celebration on Sunday. Dec. 6.

The Rev. Kenneth Edmonds said the public is in vited to share in the observance, which will include a morning worship service with Bishop Monk Bryan. Nebraska Area Bishop; a covered dish dinner, and a special Alleluia Praise Gathering in the afternoon followed with cutting of the anniversary cake

PRIOR TO the settling of Wayne. Methodist services were held at LaPorte, the first town in Wayne vices were neid at Carorte, the first rown in wayine County.

The services were held in the courthouse and were conducted by the Rev. 1. H. Skinner, pastor of the church in Wisner.

The coming of the railroad to the county set the depot two miles north and five west of LaPorte star ing an exodus in 1881 from the old town site to Wayne. With the moving of homes from LaPorte to Wayne came the moving of the site of religious worship Methodists opened services in Wayne in the fall of 1881.

IN SEPTEMBER of 1882 Bishop S. M. Merrill appointed the Rev. Dugald C. Winship to the Wayne Wakefield charge. Services in Wayne were hêld Sun day affernoons, first in the Lutheran Church and later in the Baptist Church.

Captain Davis, a veteran of the Crivil War Tollowed Pastor Winship and preached for about six months. The Rev. H. C. Pittinger came to Wayne on May 19 1884. During his pastorale the tirst courch edifice was BEFORE THE church was finished in 1884 services were held in the courthouse. A fire in the courthouse, which resulted in the loss of the church organ and some song books stirred the small congregation to action.

They purchased a lot where the present church now stands—then at the edge of town—and began to raise funds for the first building.

The first large gift recorded for the new building project was one of $100 from Mrs. William Miller. She had saved the money to purchase a new buggy however when the building project was begun she turned over her savings.

THE CHURCH was of frame construction and was Duilt almost entirely by volunteer labor. The minister's salary that year was to be $200 however he had to be content with $175 and found it necessary to teach one term of school three miles west of Wayne.

MRS. P. C. Crocketh was the first president of the Willing Workers Society, organized in March 1883. The name was later changed to Benevolent Workers and then to Ladies Aid. The society held festival spelling bees, bag sociables, ice cream and strawberry festivals and food sales to raise money. Through the efforts of the group the funds for completing payment on the church lots were raised.

THE FIRST parsonage was built in 1886 during the ministry of the Rev. William Grost. The site was at 714 Pearl St. Because the parsonage was too far from the church and town, it was sold in 1890 and a house south of the church was purchased from Judge W. A. Welch.

RAPID GROWTH of the congregation between 1892 and 1900 brought the urgent demand for a new church bullding. This was during the ministry of the Rev. H. Hurst Millard.

BY MAY OF 1901 the Building Fund Treasurer ported $8,500 on hand toward the total cost of the uilding, which was $17,000

The cornerstone was laid in 1901, and in October the onsecration service for the edifice was held with 7,000 still needed.

A pipe organ was purchased and presented to the church in 1903, a gift of Mrs J. H. Pingrey Further changes were made in the parsonage in 1905. The home which had been purchased from Judge Welch was moved and the present parsonage was built to replace it at a cost of $4.000. The next project undertaken by the church was the finishing of the church basement.

IN FEBRUARY of 1910 the organ was improved by the installation of an electric pump. Electricity had been placed in the church between 1908 and 1910. Concern for the cost of electricity was a subject for several board meetings. At one meeting the treasurer reported bills of 32,3 and 33,25 for the increasurer.

A member of the board was appointed to have the meter checked

IN 1917 the street in front of the chorch was dirt and the Board voted to have it springled to keep the dust down at a cost of $1 per month. Paving of the street came in 1920.

in 1919, the first men and boys banguet was held and in 1990 the board voted to authorize the choir fr wear robes. The robes were purchased in May of 1921

A big jump was taken in the pastor's salary during this period according to church records. The salary in 1921 was $2.500, and with the Rev. John Grant Shick as pastor it was set at $4.500 in 1923.

IN THE HISTORY of the First United Methodist Church there are several persons who stepped from the ranks of laymen into full time Christian service Foremost is Dr. Weldon Crossland who served the Methodist Church until his retirement in 1900 from Asbury First Methodist Church in Rochester. N Y

THE REV HAROLD Fitch joined the Meth hurch while a voling man in Wayne For so Church while a voing man in Wayne For toveral years he was an active layman here. later in Lexington. Neb and then in Denver While in Denver he became assistant pastor of the Wesley Methodist Church in Mason City, Towa He has served several pastorates in South Dakota and is now in Rapid City.

Melva Hamm Tranmer, a member of the Wayne Methodist Church in the 1960's and 1970's, felt the call to go into the ministry while actively participating in the programs of the Wayne church.

She presently is attending St. Paul School of Theology. Kansas City, Mo., and pastoring three churches—the United Methodist and Presbyterian Churches in Craig, Neb., and the United Methodist Church of Alder Grove—She was ordained a deacon at the 1981 session of the Nebraska Annual Conference

AN EXTENSIVE REMODELING PROJECT recently was completed in time for the 100th anniversary of the First United Methodist Church. In addition to remodeling the sanctuary, fellowship hall and relocating offices, a small addition to the church contains restooms, a new stairway to the basement and storage space. About 1960 because of the lack of adequate parking space, the Robert Moore property across the street east of the Ihurch was purchased at a cost of $15,000. The house was removed from the lot and it was prepared for parking. The child roth fellowstip half was added in 1952, and the front entrance was remodeled to enclose the steps in 1956.

IN 1966, the Methodor Church and the Evangelical United Brethren Church, were joined, becoming The United Methodos Church, At that time the women's group selected the present name, United Methodist Women.

FINAL VOLLEYBALL statistics for state

FINAL VOLLEYBALL statistics for state leaders were released this week by the Nepbraska High School Activities. Association. Two girls from The Wayne-Herald coverage area were listed among the list of the state's best players.

In Class B. Jill Zelss and Tamie Murray both made the list of leaders in setting percentage. Zelss made 389 good sets in 395 attempts for a percentage of 98. She was tied with six other girls who lead Class B in that category.

Getting down to the nitty gritty and using a calculator to determine decimals, Zelss ranks third in Class B.

Murray made 324 good sets in 331 at-ranks third in Class 8.

Murray made 324 good sets in 331 attempts and its listed in a tie for eighth place with a percentage of 97. However, when I use my calculator to figure more exact percentages, Murray's is closer to 98 percent and ranks her sixth in Class 8.

Eagles were aided by young players

One of the bright spots of a disappointing football season for the Allen Eagles is the fact that many underclassmen helped play major roles for the Eagles.

Of the 14 players who starfed many games on delens, seven are underclassmen. Offensively, nine underclassmen had starting roles much of the year. Coach Dan Loofe's squad finished the season with 8 seniors, 7 juniors, 10 Sophomores and 6 treshmen.

Allen was stowed considerably by injuries with 11 players missing at least three games because of injured arms, legs or ribs. The biggest loss was that of Dennis Smith, an all-conference center who missed nearly the whole season.

DEFENSIVE LEADERS were Keith Rhode with 91 tackles, Robb Linafelter with 73, Jeff Chase with 62, Deven Nice with Chase with 42, Deven Nice with passed for 424 yards: Marty and 50, Marty Mahler with 48, Bruce Malcom with 42, Derwin Roberts with 39 and Kevin Anderson with 37. Anderson also had three fumble recoveries and Linafelter made two interceptions. Offensively, the Eagles rushed for 756 yards and passed for 424 yards: Marty and passed for 424 yards: Mart Leading rushers were Malcom with 264 yards and Linafelter with 108. Quarterback Linafelter passed for 424 yards: Marty and Shawn Mahler also completed Shawn Mahler with 180 and Shawn Mahler with 171.

Shawn Mahler with 171.

IN ADDITION to promising players on the varsity and junior varsity, some other promising players are expected to come up from the junior high ranks.

This past year, the Allen junior high football team went undeteated. The Eagles deteated dhomer 120, degded Ponce 146 in overtime, shutout Newcastle 14-0 and nipped Wakefield-6 in overtime.

As a team, the Eagles rushed for 489 yards compared to 169 yards for their opponents. Leading rushers were Kirk Hansen with 21 yards. Jeff Chase with 85, Dan Nice with 78. Tackling leaders were Derwin Roberts and Snawn Manier With 26. Tacking leaders were Derwin Roberts with 22, Kelth Karlberg with 20, Doug Moore with 19, Robby, Ridgeway with 18 and Jay Jones season's first major snowstorm whipped up a frosted icing.

Old man winter spread that icing across the prairie from courtyard to graveyard as snowbound residents waited for a break in the storm to begin dig-out duties.
Buses stayed put, school children frolicked in the white stuff and office workers watched as the fluff fell for hours.
Even the most serious student of summer seemed excited by the thump of goose-feather flakes and the howl of the north wind.

Thone has upper hand on Aging Commission shift

Augustine, a former Kansas legislator, was appointed on a 7.5 vote. The five dissenters submitted their resignations, but hone convinced them to stay on Thone convinced them to stay on The governor also promised to replace the commissioners who voted for Augustine when their terms expired in November.

True to his word, Thone replaced the pro-Augustine forces. His six appointees were at their first meeting when Augustine resigned.

Back when Thone said he planned to replace the commissioners who supported Augustine, the governor and tive dissenters made it clear they didn't think Augustine was qualified for the job. The revelation that Augustine had been involved in a theft case in Kansas also ruftled some feathers.

The commission's new chairman. Bruce Davis of Omaha, said before the Nov. 20 meeting, that Augustine would be discussed when the new commissioners got on board. The commissioners spent more than an hour in an executive session, but they wouldn't talk about what they discussed benfind closed doors.

CONFERENCE RESCHEDULED —
Everybody's falking about budgets, funding problems and money wees these days. And most of the talk is coming from agencies — state and otherwise — that face budget cuts in these austere times.

Recently the University of Nebraska Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources announced the postponement of a staff conference. The reason? The budget crunch.

BY POSTPONING the conference. Of-toson said, the Institute could save from $50,000 to $70,000. The savings will come in travel and housing expenses, he said.

Ottoson's reference to the Legislature and governor dealt with the special legislative session called by Thone to cut spending in an effort to avoid a fax hike.

The institute hasn't been alone lately in telling reporters what the budget cut means to them.

The Nebraska Natural Resources Com-mission recently complained about being

THE COMMISSION at a recent meeting approved a revised budget to reflect the budget cuts. Commissioners said the budget cuts meen they cannot fill two positions, and will have to make 10 percent cuts in areas of equipment, printing and computer services and travel expenses for fiscal 1981-82.

But the commission's complaints and cor-cerns are not unique; nor are they the first. The important thing will be for lawmakers to keep politics out of their budget-making decisions as much as possible, and making sure the scarce tax dollars are spread even-ly and equitably.

The ballot box

I Uesday, Winside voters have an opposition, it is a tribe ballot but. The community is shoting a special election to fill four open seats on the village's board of trustees. Those seats are vacant for a number of personal and political reasons. The reasons seem to spring from a growing discontent in the village about how the community's water problems should be handled. Certainly, there was and is more to the controversy than that I It came to a head recently when the board was presented with a petition urging a delay in the acceptance of bids on proposed improvements to the water system. Four members of the board, obviously frustrated in their efforts to upgrade the village's water distribution system, quit self government.

And, in that sense, perhaps Winside residents are fortunate that the water problem grew beyond the scope of that issue.

That growth forced residents to take a closer look at local government. Their own local government.

illage leaders. No doubt, the residents opposed to the ideas proposed by those leaders telt the blame should be put on the back of the board members. And, no doubt, the board members telt the blame should be placed squarely at the feet of he petitioners.

Ironically, they are both right and both wrong. Board members, charged with the responsibility of tending to a communities needs, often referced to operate in the dark on major issues. Public apathy about local self government often creates a vacuum that leaves leaders imply handed when it comes to community input.

The construction industry is caught in a classic Catch 22 situation. There is no way it can comply with federal regulations and still achieve goals imposed by the federal government to increase proportions of women and minority workers in the industry. The skilled craft workers simply are not there.

The effort to recruit women for the construction industry is perhaps most dramatic. Since the late 1970s the industry has been under a federal order to increase the proportion of women to 6.9 percent of the total work force. Women in 1980 accounted for only 1.57 percent of the total force of 4.5 million.

Corporate land grab kicking up some dust

By M.M. Van Kirk
Nebraska Farm Bureau
Revelations in recent weeks that Prudential Insurance Co has bought more Sandhills range land to convert to concentrated block center pivot farming just has to raise some questions in the minds of Nebraska farmers and ranchers concerning land and water use. Conservation of natural resources, and whether there is still a future for family type farming and ranching.
One conglomerate reality isn't any different from any other. It is just that the name Prudential rings a bell and creates an immediate corporate image. One of the reports circulating was that Prudential is negotiating to purchase and probabily expand the holdings of one of the original big developers in the O'Neill area.

IF CERTAIN types of marginal land are basically unsuited for crop production and lend themselves to pollution of underground water resources through infilitration of nitrates and chemicals, then it really doesn't matter whether the development is done by an individual or a conglomerate, the end results will be the same.

Kinney said today the effort to bring leafy spurge under control is being stepped up with $200,000 in new funding. The money will go to land-grant universities in Wyoming, Montana and North Dakota for cooperative research on finding safe and economical control techniques.
Kinney said leafy spurge has infested three million acres in north central and western states. Without adequate controls, he said, the weed will continue to crowd out forage plants and take rangeland out of use for livestock. If not halted, leafy spurge could spread over another three million acres in succeeding years in Wyoming, Montana and North Dakota as welf as in South Dakota. Nebraska, Idaho and neighboring states.

Conservation tillage trims costs, covers soil

The tack of cover on cropland has cost farmers millions of dollars in loss of top soil, crops, chemicals, etc. Yet the cause for soil blowing, washing and soil nutrients and chemicals getting into pinds, rivers, road ditches or the neighbors field is nearly always man's decision to let it do so.

verting from cleantill plowing to farming in last year's crop residue. This sytem of tillage is called conservation tillage. Conservation tillage saves up to 50 percent of fuel bills, time, and human percent is termer.

1980, we need to re-examine the efficiency and cost of our present Illiage system.

An average conventional tilliage system, (plow, disk, har row, etc.), will require 7.4 gallons of fuel per acre while an average no till system will only require 1.25 gallons of fuel per acre. Labor costs are also reduced in proportion to fuel requirement reductions.

In addition to saving energy and labor, maintaining these residues through planting time will reduce soil and nutrient loss from water and wind erosion and conserve moisture. Soil losses can be reduced 50 to 90 percent with conservation tillage. Leaving crop stubble and residue standing this winter will conserve water by holding snow eventy over the field where it falls. When snow is held in place.

Planning for a conservation tillage system needs to be started in the fall immediately after harvest. The key to a successful conservation tillage system is smaintaining the residues of the previous crop. Therefore any type of fall tillage considered must keep the inversion of soil to a minimum. One trip with a fandem disk will reduce residues by 50 percent, while a chisel only reduces residues 20 percent per trip and machines utilizing blade sweeps reduce residues a mere 10 percent for each operation. No till or till planting disturbs only 5 to 10 percent or one third of the soil surface respectively and thus provides maximum energy saving and moisture conservation with a minimum amount of soil and nutrient loss.

Conservation tillage sylems require—planting—equipment specifically designed to plant in residues with no prior seedbed preparation. Seedbed preparation with a chisel or tandem disk will allow planting with conven because it's the least costly investment per acre.

It's going to be harder to make farming pay-off in the years to come. Harder for many reasons.

So if anything makes sense, it's to maximize the potential of the land you now farm. Irrigating with a center pivot is one way. Irrigating with a Corner System is even better.

A Corner System can irrigate 19 to 45 more acres than a regular pivol, producing extra income on acres already being farmed. That's why nearly one out of every six pivots seld today is a Corner System.

And when it comes to Corner Systems, nobody knows more than Valmont. They're proven reliable with nearly 3,000 systems in operation. That's at least 20 times more than any other.

Before you buy any center pivot, see us. We'll tell you how a Valley Corner System can add to your bottom line profits while being the least costly investment per acre.

WHILE THE number of farms has declined steadily since 1945, acreage in farms has changed liftle since 1945. There was an actual increase 101,389 (0.2 percent) in the number of acres in farms between census years 1974 and 1978.

In 1969 here were 4.8 million acreas in farms and 46.2 in 1974. This slow trend loward more acreage in, farms confinued through 1978, although the rate of increase was below that recorded in the five year interval 1969.74

The first census of agriculture was taken in 1840 along with the sixth decennical census of the population From 1840-1950, an agriculture census was taken as part of the decennial census of MID-DECADE censuses of agriculture were conducted in 1925, 1925, and 1945. From 1954 from 1954 from 1954 frough 1974, census was taken in the years ending in four and nime. This was changed by Congress in 1976 to adjust the agriculture census with other economic censuses. Economic censuses will be taken in 1978. 1982, and thereafter in flive year cycles.

One of the interesting aspects of the 1978 census is the sharply rising value of farm land. The value of the average Nebraska farm has increased substantially.

has been a steadily increasing trend lower larger farms as the number of farms has declined and acres per farm largesed. The average farm was 427 acres in 1945, compared with 702 in 1978.

Farm land was valued at $525 per-acre on-average in 1978, up from $882 per acre in 1974. In 1945, farm land was valued at $36 per acre. It was still valued at less than $100 per acre in 1959 and by 1964 had increased to $109 per acre.

ACREAGE PRICES began to ncrease at higher rates during the 1960s.

During the last four years, 1974-78, farm land value increased at more than 16 percent compounded annually. The 16 percent compounded increase in agriculture land prices 1974-78 comes after a 13 percent compounded increase in the value of agriculture land over the interval 1969-74.

1969-74

Over the nine year interval 1969-78, census of agriculture data indicate that Nebraska land prices increased from $154 per acre in 1969 to $525 per acre in 1978, an increase of approximate by 240 percent or a compounded rate of 14.6 percent. By way of comparison, farm land increased from $36 per acre in 1945 to $109 in 1964, an increase of more than 200 percent or a compounded rate of approximately 6 percent

THE RATE of increase in the price of farm land has more than doubled since the mid 1905. Cer tainly farm land has increased more rapidly than all prices over this interval. Average total farm value increased from $15,205 in 1945 to $372,786 in 1978.

As the price of farm land per acre climbed higher and higer, production seems to have become slightly more concentrated. One sixth or 10,324 of Nebraska's farms accounted for two thirds of the value of all agriculture products sold in 1978. These 10.274 farms had sales in excess of $100,000 in 1978.

Thirty percent, or less than one-third of Nebraska's farms 19,799 accounted for slightly more than 80 percent of all agricultural products sold in 1978. These farms had sales in excess of $00,000 or more per farm — In-1974, 30% off-all Nebraska farms marketed approximately 77 percent of all agriculture products sold. Data from the 1978 and 1974 censuses imply that marketing of agricultural products is more concentrated today than it was a few years ago.

THERE HAS been some shift in

THERE HAS been some shift in the composition of crops planted in Nebraska and the value of this production between the two census years 1974 and 1978. Acceage of corn planted increased to 40 opercent of all cropland, up from 34 3 percent in 1974. Soybeans recorded an increase in acres harvested of approximately 200,000, and accounted for 7.4 percent of total harvested cropland in 1978. Sorghum recorded a slight increase in harvested acres over the interval 1974.78. Wheat amp hay declined in 1974.88. Wheat amp hay declined in 1974.88. Wheat amp hay declined in 1974.88. Wheat amp hay declined in 1979.

"Wheat accounted for 14.7 per cent of all harvested cropland in 1978. compared with 17.3 percent in 1974. Supply decline was also recorded for hay.

The value of crops harvested reflects this composition in acreage change Corn was responsible for more than one habit of the value of all crops harvested in Nebraska in 1978. Corn accounted for 56.9 percent or approximately. 1.4. Billion dollars in terms of value of production in 1978.

BY CONRAST, corn accounted for 47 percent of the value of production of cropland in 1974. Soy beans and sorghum were up in terms of the proportion of the value of production accounted for in 1974. The value of wheat produced in Nebraska was placed at 5000,000,000 in 1978, down from $344,000,000, in 1974. Corn and soybeans have gained in Terms of value in acres harvested at the expense of primarily wheat.

Nitrogen build-up measured

When farmers talk about fer-hilter programs for corn they generally use a rule of thumb which says that one pound of fer-hilter nitrogen per acre is needed for each bushel of corn produced per acre. Nebraska research shows that there's now a better and more accurate way of arriv-ing at nitrogen recommendations for corn according to George Rehm, extension soils specialist at the Northeast Experiment Sta-tion at the Normeas capearaction.

The key to more accurate introgen recommendations is a soil sample collected below the top 8 inches. We know, says Rehm, that nitrogen that is now used for crop growth can accumulate or build up in soils. This accumulation, however, takes places below the top 8 inches. Therefore, It's important to collect a sample from below the top 8 inches.

8 inches.
Several fields in Thurston County were sampled in recent weeks and the results were surprising. The amount of nitrogen remaining at the close of the 1981 growing season varied from a low growing season varied from a low of 43 pounds per acre to a high of over 400 pounds per acre. Rehm points out that the farmer who had only 43 pounds per acre would certainly need to apply infrogen fertilizer for corn in 1982, white the farmer who had over 400 pounds per acre would need no nitrogen fertilizer in 1982. Accurate nitrogen fertilizer in 1982.

need no nitrogen tertilizer in 1982.
Accurate nitrogen recommendations do not decrease yields. They certainly can lead to a savings in the amount of money spent for fertilizer. The Soil Testing Laboratory of the University of Nebraska is currently completing analysis of soil samples in 7 to 10 days. Farmers can collect the samples themselves or many fertilizer dealers in the area will collect soil samples as a service to the tarmer. The majority of the fertilizer dealers will send the samples this fall. All extension of-lices have free boxes and easy-to-
