One-man, one-vote proposal based on 1980 Census

Council reviews redistricting of city wards

The 1980 Census has forced some slight shifting of boundaries for Wayne's four city wards.

In a proposal presented to the City Council Tuesday night, Norman Melton, city clerk, outlined boundary shifts that would swing part of the Wayne State College campus into Ward 3 and add several city blocks to Ward 1.

Under a long standing federal one man one vote mandate, the city has redrawn the lines to accommodate the results of the 1980 Census which lists Wayne's population at 5,240.

ACCORDING TO Melton, the redistricting proposal, which is expected to be approved by the City Council during an upcoming meeting, resets the boundaries in such a way as to avoid gerrymandering any City Council officeholder.

Basically, the redistricting retains the north south and east west ward boundaries of Seventh Street and Main Street, according to Melton.

If the Council approves the redistricting proposal, Ward 1 will gain a four block area bounded by 10th Street on the north, Seventh Street on the south, Windom Street on the east and Main Street on the west.

It also will gain a four block area anchored by the Wayne County Courthouse that is bounded by Seventh Street on the north, Fifth Street on the south, Main Street on the east and Lincoln Street on the west.

UNDER THE proposal, Ward 1 would also gain a two block area from Lincoln to Main Streets between First and Second streets, and a two block area from Windom to Dearborn streets between Sixth and Seventh streets.

Those boundary shifts would give the ward a head count of 1,274 — just under the 1,310 persons per ward that is produced by quartering the city's population and within redistricting mandate's margin of error.

The old Ward 1 boundaries, drawn to comply with 1970 Census data, had left the area with only 881 persons because of population shifts in the city, according to Melton.

Ward 2, which ends up with 1,355 persons under the redistricting proposal, would lose the two blocks from Windom to Dearborn between Sixth and Seventh

ALSO LOST TO Ward 2 would be the nine block area from Main to Windom between Seventh and 10th streets. A portion of the Wayne State College campus — currently in Ward 2, would join Ward 3, under the proposal.

And, a small 1 1/2 block area between Pearl and Main streets from 12th Street north beyond 13th Street would become part of Ward 3. The area currently is part of Ward 2.

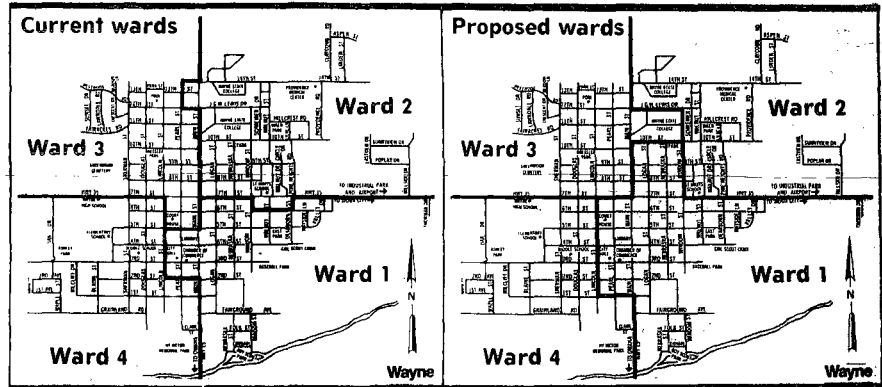

Population growth and shifts since 1970 had left Ward 2 with 2,050 persons — a figure far above the 1,310 mean.

In addition to gaining the small area around the Fat Kal diner, Ward 3 gains an area of the college campus between J G W Lewis Drive and 10th Street.

That campus area includes Berry Hall and Terrace Hall, both WSC dormitories. The area is bounded on the east by Denkinger Drive and on the west by Main Street.

HOWEVER, WARD 3 loses the four block area from Lincoln to Main streets between Four win seats in Winside election

With just over a 60 percent turnout at the polls, Winside voters elected a new village board of trustees Tuesday.

Unofficial returns show Owen A. Harjmann and Ralph "Jay" Morse won election to the two short-term seats vacant on the five-member board.

Also, according to Tuesday night's unofficial tally, Nancy Warnemunde and Clarence O. With won election to the two long-term seats vacant on the board.

WITH ABSENTEE ballots yet uncounted, unofficial results show 171 of the village's 282 registered voters went to the polls during the special election.

The special election was held just over a month after all but one member of the village board resigned in a growing controversy over water development for Winside.

Marvin Cherry, a newly appointed member of the board, was the only member of the board remaining on the job since early November when trustees Bruce Wylie (chairman), Floyd Burt, Dick Schmidt and Ray Jacobsen quit.

Cherry, owner/operator of Winside Dehy Inc., was appointed to fill the unexpired term of trustee Kenneth Brockmoller, who resigned before the four-man walk-off.

Mobile-home subdivision zoning proposed

City planners seek sunshine law

Wayne may get a new sunshine law next year.

The development of the proposed zoning ordinance, which would regulate and protect a solar energy user's access to the sun, has been unanimously recommended by the City Planning Commission.

Meeting Monday night at City Hall, the commissioners voted to seek City Council funding of the ordinance's development by Kirkham, Michael & Associates of Omaha.

HOWEVER, during Tuesday night's City Council meeting, the recommendation was tabled along with another request from the commission.

The commissioners also asked that the Council fund the development of a zoning ordinance that would regulate the development of mobile-home subdivisions in the city.

According to Phil Kloster, city administrator, the commission recommended that Kirkham, Michael & Associates develop the proposed ordinances for about $2,000.

That price brought the matter to a temporary halt at the Council meeting.

COUNCILMAN GARY Vopalsensky suggested that the city might explore obtaining a copy of similar ordinances developed by other municipalities before committing to the $2,000 consultant's fee.

In addition, Councilman Darrel Fuelberth asked that the Council be given the opportunity to study LB 298, a law passed during the last session of the state legislature which forces first-class cities to allow mobile-home subdivisions.

Vopalsensky suggested that the city's legal counsel, Olds, Swartz & Enns, explore developing the proposed ordinance for the city at "less cost" than that bid by the Omaha planning consultants.

DURING MONDAY'S Planning Commission meeting, Kloster explained that under the new state law "every first-class city must make available" the opportunity for mobile-home subdivisions.

"We felt it best to have regulations developed regarding the subdivisions," Kloster said.

He explained that, under the law, the city "would be hard put to stop" the development of any mobile-home subdivision, or regulate it.

Ordinances on the city's books primarily deal with trailer courts, where land is leased to the mobile home owner, or where the land and mobile home are leased as a unit.

THE NEW STATE law opens the way for the development of subdivisions where the mobile home owners also own the land in much the same way as standard housing, according to Kloster.

With a zoning ordinance to regulate the development of mobile-home subdivisions, the city would have a hand in setting guidelines for the paving of streets, development of water and sewer services and building permits, according to Kloster.

Currently, the city zoning laws and regulations apply those kinds of guidelines

Christmas-tree caper

5 women arrested in Black Hills spruce theft

Five Wayne State College students face arraignment in Wayne County Court Thursday on charges of injury to trees, a misdemeanor, in connection with a weekend Christmas-tree caper.

The students — all women living in Anderson Hall at WSC — were arrested by Wayne Police Sunday after an investigation turned up an 18-foot Black Hills blue spruce at the dormitory.

Arrested were Christine H. Penne, 20, Belgrade; Lori J. Ganseboom, 19, Osmond; Sharon L. Kratochvil, 21, Osmond; Sandra K. Kratochvil, 19, Osmond and Janet M. Peters, 20, Bellwood.

POLICE MADE the arrests in connection with the reported theft of a live, 18-foot Black Hills blue spruce from the yard of Richard and Becky Keldel, Wayne, sometime late Friday night or early Saturday morning.

On Saturday, police investigation revealed that the Keldel's tree had been chopped down and removed from the homeowner's yard.

The short-needed pine tree, measuring about 4 1/2 feet in diameter at the trunk, was dragged west across the Keldel's yard to the alley, then south toward 13th Street, according to police.

A number of footprints were found in the yard, but the Keldels told police they heard no disturbance, police report.

THE TREE, which was about 18 years old, was valued about $230, according to a replacement estimate obtained by Keldel from Country Nursery in Wayne.

Patrolman Robert McLean said he was on campus Sunday searching for clues in the disappearance of the tree.

According to McLean's report, about 7 p.m. Sunday he was informed about a large tree at Anderson Hall. He met with the dormitory director.

The director said several girls told her the tree was obtained from a farm north of Wayne, police reports indicate.

AT 11:55 P.M., McLean was called back to the campus dormitory by the director, according to the police report.

There, the patrolman met with the director and the five students.

Arrests were made and the tree was impounded by the police department for evidence.

If had been decorated for the Christmas season. The students were released, pending a court appearance, on their own recognizance, according to Police Chief Vern Fairchild.

news briefs

November Jaycees agenda busy

Several projects have made the month of November a busy and successful time of year for the Wayne Jaycees. The Jaycees started the month off with about a dozen members braving cold weather at their annual leaf pickup.

Several wagon loads of leaves were gathered throughout the city. Msnry Sanitary Service and Wayne Refuge hauled the leaves away. A cooperative soup supper was held later that evening.

Gary West and Alan Ekberg represented the Wayne chapter at the OYFR convention in York while other Jaycees operated a concession stand at the Jaycees Craft Fair. West and Bren Stockdale taught a four-week leadership dynamics course last month.

Perhaps the biggest project is now being considered by the City Council. The Jaycees softball committee met with the council to discuss a proposal for acquiring land for a four field softball complex. The last day of November also kicked off one of the year's biggest projects with the selling of approximately 500 Christmas trees.

No winner in Grand Give-A-Way

Henry Schmitz of Wayne lost out on his opportunity to win $1,000 in the Grand Give-A-Way drawing Sunday.

Schmitz's name was drawn at 3 p.m. Sunday and announced in participating merchants' store. He did not identify himself to claim the prize.

The next Christmas Grand Give-A-Way drawing is at 8 p.m. Thursday. Another drawing will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday, when stores are open special hours for weekend Christmas shopping.

Allen schedules Christmas drawing

Allen merchants will hold a Christmas drawing on Saturday, Dec. 19, at 2 p.m. Each participating merchant will be giving away gifts.

The drawing will be followed with a visit from Santa Claus to youngsters of the area.

1,161 job seekers in November

At the end of November, 1,161 persons were registered for employment with the Nottrok Job Service Office, and 181 with the O'Neill Office for a total of 1,342.

New applications filed during November totaled 294 compared with 367 last month and 297 for November of last year.

Nonagricultural job openings received from employers numbered 155.

WSC foreign language teachers learned English the hard way

by Roseann Davis
WSC Intern

More and more people across the nation are realizing the importance of learning a foreign language. But at Wayne State College there are three women who have understood that all along.

Dr. Maria Grovas, Mrs. Fiorella Garlick, and Mrs. Inga Atkins are all foreign language teachers in the Wayne State Humanities Division.

They have one other factor in common — each one has had to learn English as many Americans learn a language other than their native tongue — the hard way. They are what language teachers refer to as "native speakers."

"LEARNING a language from a native speaker is different from being taught by a non-native speaker in several ways," says Dr. Grovas, who fled Cuba's Castro regime in 1963.

"When a native person is a teacher he or she is especially well trained to teach. When the student learns intonation and accent, they learn by imitation. A native speaker can teach that much better than a non-native."

ANOTHER area that the native speaker shines in is culture. Mrs. Garlick, a native of Rome, Italy, comments that a native speaker often knows more about the culture and customs of the people who speak the language they are teaching because they were raised with them.

Being a native speaker is an admirable qualification, but it does not automatically qualify a person to teach.

"A native speaker has already had to learn a second language (English), so they know the pitfalls of learning another language," states Mrs. Garlick. "But you have to be more than a native speaker to be a good teacher. I do not see myself as teaching Spanish — I teach students."

MRS. ATKINS, who came to the U.S. from Munich, Germany says, "I am for language study — period.

We need to create an awareness that foreign languages are not just for smart kids. Foreign languages are necessary in today's world of international business."

Mrs. Atkins adds, "Do you know why so many Japanese speak English? Because the language that sells is that of the customer, which in this case is English. How many Americans would buy Japanese cars, no matter how economical they may be, if the owner's manual were printed in Japanese?"

ALL THREE instructors agree that the knowledge of at least one language other than English is "vital for the future."

Dr. Grovas states that "when I was in Cuba I never took English because I did not think I had an aptitude for foreign languages. Look where I am now."

Dr. Grovas is especially pleased because as coordinator for foreign languages at WSC, she has learned that all sections of introductory foreign language classes are closed, and cannot accept any more students.

A bumper sticker on Dr. Grovas' office door sums it up. It reads "Foreign languages are foreign only to those who don't speak them."

Family and local history course offered at Wayne State College

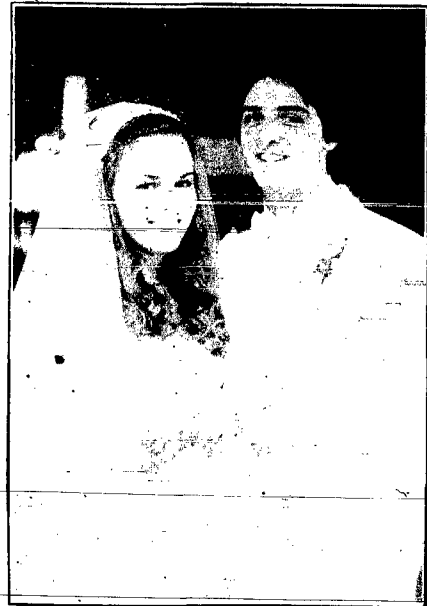

Dr. Guy Bishop hopes that "Introduction to Family and Local History," a course being offered through the Extended Campus division at Wayne State College, will attract several residents of the community and surrounding area. Bishop said the course is being offered in Wayne because of the growing interest in family trees stemming, he believes, from "Roots," the book and movie

"Introduction to Family and Local History" will include discussion of genealogical methods and provide a background in American history. THE CLASS is scheduled to meet for 13 weeks, beginning Monday, Jan. 18. Classes will meet each consecutive Monday, through April 5, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. BISHOP, interim assistant professor of history at Wayne State, said the first four weeks will be a traditional history course to provide class participants with a background in American history and give them a better idea of what motivated their families to make the moves they did. "AMERICANS tend to have a feeling for history," said Bishop. "Countless people go out of their way to stop at historical sites, and history books are among the nation's best sellers."

He said "Introduction to Family and Local History" will offer persons formalized instruction on how to go about researching their own family or local history. "Knowing the history of the family gives a person a better sense of security or belonging," said Bishop. "You find out all sorts of things that never occurred to you before — including why your family chose to come here, what life was like, why they made the decisions they made, and how their actions did or did not fit into what the majority of Americans were doing at that time." BISHOP SAID anybody can write their family history and that the research is an ongoing process. "Nobody can write about your family better than you," said Bishop. "and you can't finish as long as anybody in your family is living." "BISHOP said he feels persons who have any kind of interest in researching their history will not be disappointed in the class. "It's a chance for persons to act on something that they may have thought about doing for a long time, and to get formalized encouragement," said Bishop. "Who knows, it may become a lifelong avocation." FOR FURTHER information or to enroll, contact Dr. Bishop or Dr. Randy Shaw in the Extended Campus division at Wayne State.

Historical Society offers suggestions for Dixon history

The Dixon County Historical Society is in the process of publishing a new book on Dixon County history and offers several suggestions to families who wish to be included in the book. Residents, or former residents, of the county are eligible for inclusion and are being asked to write their own family history. Families writing their history are allowed 500 words and one photograph free of charge. THE HISTORICAL Society offers the following tips for families who wish to begin work on their histories. —When and why your family came to the county; how old were you (if you weren't born here); include as many generations as you like; where did you settle; your childhood, brothers and sisters; factors that influenced you. —Activities; jobs; what your ancestors did for a living, what you do, sports, marriage and children. —Avocations — what you do for recreation, civic and political interests, and church, hobbies and travels. —Remembrance: special celebrations, holidays, birthdays, etc.; and ancestors — those you have "heard" about. —Writing "tips": tell what is interesting to you, and any story that does not embarrass or hurt someone is accepted.

Late pair of pins secures Blue Devils mat victory

Three Unbeatens lead Wayne to win

A pair of pins in the upper two weight classes enabled Wayne to secure a 38-27 win over Randolph in wrestling action, Tuesday night.

The Blue Devils saw their 26-0 lead vanish as Randolph won five consecutive matches for a 28-26 lead. Freshman Kevin Koenig pinned Mike Keiffer in 44 seconds at 185 pounds for a 32-28 lead.

With the dual outcome riding on his shoulders, Eric Brink gave the hosts the winning points by pinning Scott Wilkenson in 3:40. His pin gave Wayne a 38-28 advantage and an unsportsmanlike conduct call against Randolph's heavyweight cost the visitors one team point.

WAYNE WON SEVEN of the 12 matches. Koenig, Brink and junior Jon Jacobmeier all remain undefeated after five matches. All will get stiff tests in the West Point Invitational this Saturday and in the South Sioux Invitational next Saturday.

Jacobmeier racked up a 20-0 superior decision over Darrin Loberg at 119 pounds. Other winners were Chad Janke 7-0 over Scott Sausar at 98, Steve Pospishil by pin at 112 and Doug Doescher by forfeit at 105.

The match looked like it would be a runaway as the hosts won the first five matches for a 26-0 lead. Then, Randolph won four matches by pins and one by a major decision.

With his team trailing 26-28, Koenig wasted no time earning his pin. He took his opponent down and whipped him to his back for a fall in the first minute of action.

Brink had a little trouble before disposing of his opponent in the heavyweight class. Giving away 30 or 40 pounds, Brink found himself down 4-0 when Wilkenson scored a takedown and near pin.

But, the Randolph wrestler gave Brink a free escape and the Wayne senior came back with a takedown and three point near pin. Wilkenson let Brink escape again in the second period and Brink again took advantage by scoring a takedown and pinning his opponent as the home crowd went wild.

"I knew it would be really close. Both teams are young and we won where we had to," said Wayne coach Don Koenig. "We had some good efforts even from the guys who lost."

Results:

Wayne 38; Randolph 27
98—Wayne's Chad Janke won a 7-0 decision over Scott Sausar.

105—Wayne's Doug Doescher won by forfeit.

112—Wayne's Steve Pospishil won by pin in 4:53 over Bruce Reimers.

119—Wayne's Jon Jacobmeier won a 20-0 decision over Darrin Loberg.

124—Wayne's Rod Luft won by pin in 1:51 over Larry Sohler.

132—Wayne's Terry Gilliland lost by pin to Scott Lackas.

138—Wayne's Todd Dorsey lost by pin to Ron McClain.

145—Wayne's John Carhart lost by pin to Mark Korth.

155—Wayne's Tim Book lost a 12-2 decision to Daryl Loberg.

167—Wayne's Gerald Monk lost by pin to Merlin Loberg.

185—Wayne's Kevin Koenig won by pin in 44 over Mike Keiffer.

Heavyweight—Wayne's Eric Brink won by pin in 3:40 over Scott Wilkenson.

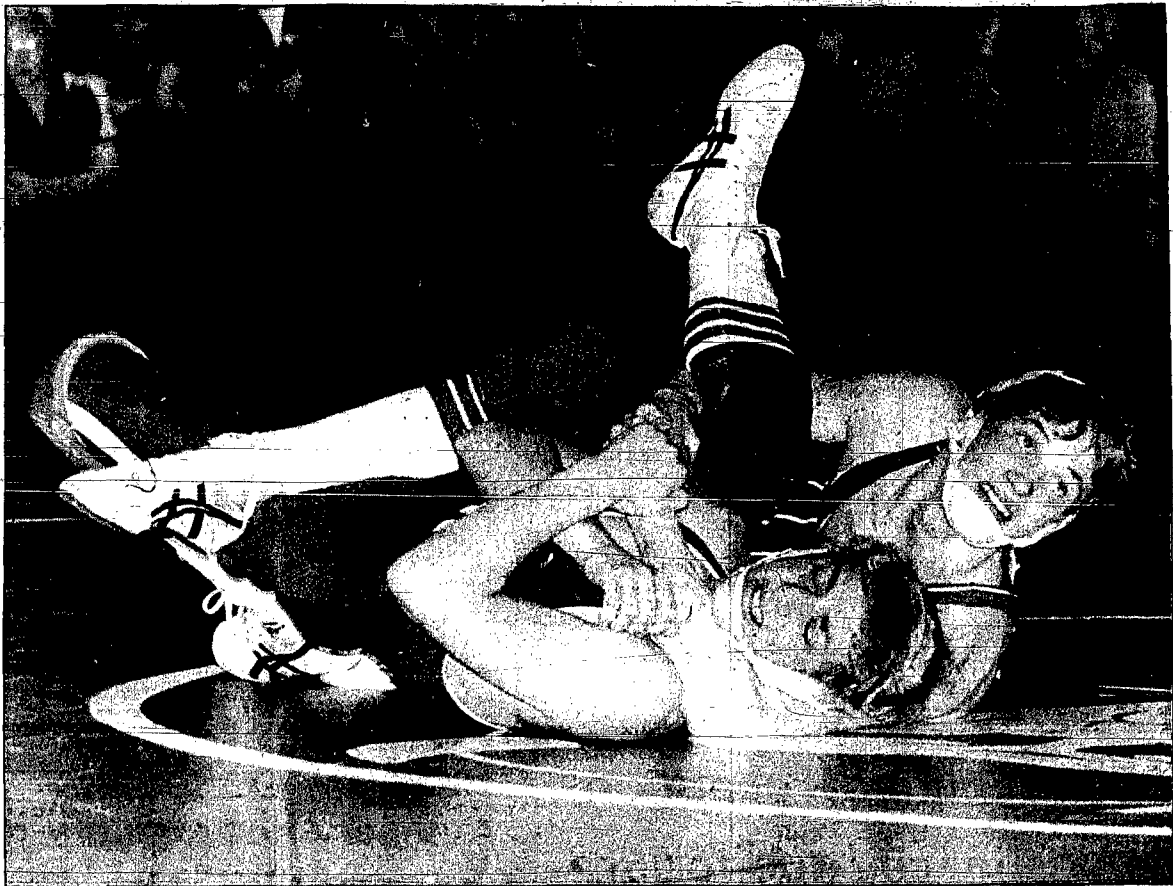

Junior varsity results

145—Wayne's Rod Bennett lost by pin to Mike Hanna.

167—Wayne's Sean Dorsey lost by pin to Rodney Isom.

167—Wayne's Lance Corbit lost by pin to Brian Broderson.

HW—Wayne's Steve Sladek won by pin in 1:53 over Hos Hammad.

WAYNE'S JON JACOBMEIER looks to the bench for advice as he tries to pin Randolph's Darrin Loberg. Jacobmeier didn't pin his opponent but did win by superior decision 20-0. Wayne won the dual match 38-27 Tuesday in the Wayne High School gym.

4th period mistakes cause Trojan downfall

A cold fourth quarter proved to be the downfall of the Wakefield Trojans as Homer won a 43-33 girls basketball contest, Thursday night.

The Trojans trailed by only two points at the half and by five after three quarters. An 11-6 advantage by Homer in the final period put the finishing touches on the game.

Guarding its lead, host Homer went into a stall game in the fourth quarter and Wakefield lost its composure. "We panicked at the end," said Wakefield coach Mary Schroeder. "We started three sophomores and the panic was to be expected."

THE TROJANS hit 33 percent of their shots from the floor and pulled down 41 rebounds compared to 43 for Homer.

Brenda Jones led the locals with 16 points and nine rebounds. Rita Wilson scored eight points and grabbed nine rebounds and Kelly Greve had four points with eight rebounds. Homer was led by Joanne Tighe with 16 points.

Despite the loss, Schroeder said she was pleased with her team's season opening performance. "I was real pleased with our first game. We need to be more aggressive but the girls were impressive for their first performance."

Wakefield missed a late free throw and the young players weren't quite sure how to handle the delay game.

In junior varsity action, Roni Starzl handled nearly all of Wakefield's scoring with 17 points in a 25-19 loss. The Trojans are scheduled to host Wausa tonight (Thursday).

Five victories

Lady Wildcats leave their mark on foes

The Lady Wildcat basketball team at Wayne State College, expected to suffer through a long rebuilding season, continued on its winning ways with a pair of victories at Chadron last weekend.

Coach Jan Jirsak's cagers, now 5-1, hosted Hastings on Tuesday in hopes of avenging their only setback of the year. Wayne State travels to Storm Lake, Iowa, this Saturday to take on Buena Vista before taking time off until the Lady Wildcats host the third annual WSC New Year's Tourney, on Jan. 4, 1982.

Wayne State 55, Chadron State 54
Wayne State claimed its second one point win of the season by squeaking past Chadron State 55-54 at Chadron Friday.

It was an extremely physical game and Chadron State was whistled for 27 fouls to send WSC to the free throw line 26 times. The Lady Cats converted on 15 of them, compared to CSC's six for 12 charity shooting, to earn the win.

Sophomore forward Patty Carney led WSC with 17 points, while another sophomore forward, Carol Durkee added 15 and 10 rebounds. Standout guard Tammy Blackburn fired in 10 points and grabbed seven rebounds.

Maggie Alberts tallied 17 points to lead WSC scoring. Tammy Blackburn added 13 before leading the game with a severe arm injury. Blackburn and Jackie Schimnitz had eight rebounds each to lead in that department.

Ponca surprises the Eagles

The Allen girls basketball team opened the season with a loss as Ponca shocked the Eagles 54-47 in overtime, Tuesday night in Allen.

"We were outplayed every place on the court. They outrebounded us and outshouted us," said Allen coach Gary Troth. "Some people I expected to be consistent weren't. We let a little pressure bother us."

Troth was happy with the performances of three of his players but disappointed with many of the others. The coach credited Beth Stalling for playing a good overall game. She scored nine points, played solid defense and led the team in rebounding.

Michelle Harder led the team in scoring with 14 points and Tami Jewell scored 10. Troth said he was pleased with their often five performances.

"WE LET A little pressure bother us. Hopefully, some individuals will improve. I'm still looking for the right combination," said Troth. "Right now, I'd say we'll be lucky to be 500."

Turnovers were the biggest downfall of the Allen team. The Eagles' uncharacteristically committed 34 turnovers.

Ponca was led by Wendee Harder with 21 points and Janet Peters with 17. In junior varsity action, Deanna Hansen scored eight points to lead Allen to a 37-21 win. Troth said everyone on the JV team played well.

Next action for the Eagles is scheduled tonight (Thursday) at Laurel.

"The girls played with a lot more intensity and it paid off. I was pleased with their effort," said Laurel coach Dwight Iverson.

The winners were led by Renee Vanderheiden with 14 points. Jana Cunningham with 12 and Kelli Johnson with 11. Winside scoring: Pam Frevert 5, Missy Jensen 5, Shelli Topp 4, Trisha Topp 2, Karen Reeg 2.

Three Wayne wrestlers won individual championships as the Blue Devils finished fourth Saturday in the eight-team Blair Bear Invitational.

A second place finish and fourth place finish kept the locals in the thick of the team race throughout most of the day. Prior to the second round of wrestlebacks, Wayne was in the lead.

Jon Jacobmeier, Kevin Koenig and Eric Brink all claimed individual titles while Steve Pospishil took second place and Doug Doescher finished fourth.

JACOBMEIER WON a 5-4 decision over John Karles of Tekamah-Herman in the 119 pound finals. The Wayne wrestler pinned his other two opponents. Koenig won by default over Dave Pearson of Oakland-Craig at 185 pounds when his opponent was injured and couldn't continue the match. Koenig pinned his first two opponents.

In the heavyweight class, Brink pinned Willie Ryan of Blair in 5:45 for a string of three pins in the meet.

Pospishil was pinned by Craig Steven of South Sioux City in the 112-pound finals after winning his first two matches. Doescher won two matches by pins and lost two to finish fourth at 105.

"I am really pleased. Our wrestlers are further ahead than I thought. We are a ways off yet but we're coming on," said coach Don Koenig.

The Blue Devils compete in the West Point Invitational Saturday.

Winside edged out Creighton for second place team honors in the Randolph Invitational wrestling tournament held Saturday.

The Wildcats scored 115 points to place second behind champion Plainview. Wakefield finished sixth in the nine-team field.

Two Winside wrestlers won championships and another placed second. Wakefield was paced by one individual champ. Winside had two wrestlers place third and another finish fourth. Wakefield had one place third and three others finish fourth.

Barry Bowers pinned all three opponents including Dave Bowling of Osmond in 5:12 of the finals to win the 185-pound class. Mark Koch pinned Mike Doerr of Creighton in 3:15 to win the 119-pound title. Wakefield's Jon Stelling edged Terry McGuire of Wisner-Pilger 4-3 in an exciting championship match at 195 pounds.

Winside's Doug Jaeger placed second at 132 losing a 5-3 decision to Tom Moss of Creighton. Other Winside wrestlers who placed are Kurt Rohde, Brian Bowers and Kent Glassmeyer.

Rohde decided Kurt Kindusch of Wisner-Pilger 7-3 to place third at 112 pounds. Bowers lost a 4-0 decision to Larry Nielson of Creighton to finish fourth at 145. Glassmeyer pinned Scott Hoets of Wisner in 14 seconds to capture third place in the heavyweight class.

Other Wakefield wrestlers who placed are Jeff Verplank, Dirk Carlson, Jon Pretzer and Paul Schopke. Verplank was pinned by Darrin Art of Plainview at 98 pounds to finish fourth. Carlson decided Kirk Friedrich of Plainview 4-3 for third place. Pretzer lost a 12-4 decision to Stu Baskoux of Yankton to finish fourth. Schopke lost by default in the consolation finals and finished fourth.

Shots prevented

Bears ride their defense to triumph over Wildcats

A tough defense limited Winside to only 25 shots and carried the Laurel Bears to a 50-38 win Monday in Clark Division basketball action.

The host Bears opened the game up in the second quarter and coasted to their first win. An effective pressure defense forced turnovers and steals.

Dave Marquardt led the winners with 15 points. Phil Martin, Brian Marquardt and Kelly Robson each added eight points in the win. Winside was led by Jon Meierhenry with 23 points and Jim Králicek with 12. However, only three players scored for the Wildcats.

THE FIRST QUARTER got off to a slow start and ended with Laurel on top 12-8. Winside switched to a man-to-man defense in the second quarter and the Bears took seven-point leads at 21-14 and 23-16 on baskets by Dave Marquardt and Martin.

Robson and Dave Marquardt added buckets to build the lead up to 27-16 late in the second period. Brian Marquardt's basket in the final seconds gave the hosts a 29-16 advantage.

"We opened up with a good man-to-man defense and after we got the lead switched to a good zone," said Laurel coach Joel Parks. "We had some good shooting in the second and third quarters. Winside went to a man-to-man and we did a better job offensively."

Winside coach Dennis Gonneman said he told his team before the game that it needed to get the early lead to prevent Laurel from playing its style of game.

DAVE MARQUARDT was mainly responsible for the Bears getting off to a good start. He hit six points in the first quarter and four more in the second to change Winside's game plan.

"We shot more like I thought we could. We still need to learn more and make wiser shot selections," Parks said. "It's nice to get a win and I hope we continue to improve. We'll have a real test against Cedar (Hartington CC)."

Martin had a good floor game against Winside. The 6-1 senior made six rebounds and six steals. One of the key factors in the game was the Bear defense which made 18 steals. The Wildcats hit 56 percent from the field but took only six shots in each of the first three quarters and seven in the fourth.

The Bears hit a mediocre 37.5 percent from the field but took 56 shots. Laurel hit over 50 percent in the second and third quarters but dropped its average while experimenting in the fourth period.

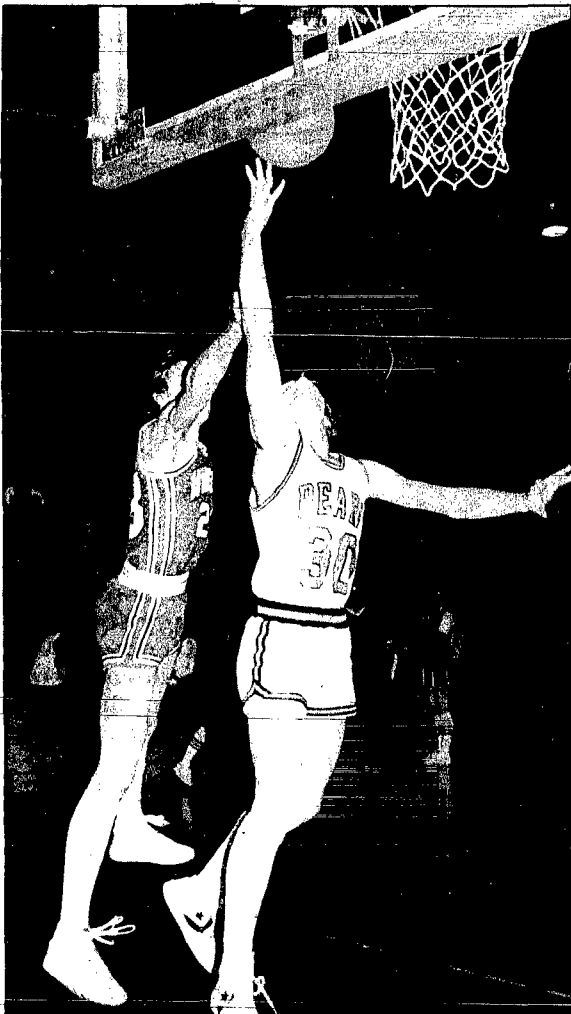

LAUREL LED by as many as 23 points at one time. Meierhenry closed ground by hitting 13 points in the second half.

The Bears are scheduled to host Hartington CC tomorrow (Friday) while the Wildcats play at Newcastle tonight (Thursday) in a girls-boys doubleheader.

In junior varsity action, Laurel pounded Winside 61-15. The Bears had eight players with six points apiece.

Laurel scoring: Paul Lofquist 6, Mike Jonas 6, Troy Young 6, Mike Forsberg 6, Mark Herrmann 6, Mark Penlerick 6, Troy Heitman 6, Ron Hirschman 6, Jim Casey 3, Kyle Daberkow 2, Kevin Joslin 2, Scott Kardell 2, Scott Rath 2, Ben Gelvin 2. Winside scoring: Tony Woerdenman 7, Dan Mundill 4, Jim Roberts 2, Joel Carstena 2.

Football honors

WSC places 5 on all-state team

Five members of the 1981 Wayne State College football team were named Sunday to the Omaha World-Herald All-State College football team.

The five members include senior tight end Ed Blackburn, senior offensive tackle Steve Zelinsky, senior wingback Pat Maxwell, senior defensive lineman Ron Berrie and junior linebacker Ron Gilbert.

In addition, freshman defensive end Kevin McArdie was named to the second-team defense, and senior quarterback Kelly Neustrom and senior linebacker Tony Scudder were listed as honorable mention.

Blackburn, a 6-5, 220-pound track All-American, caught 25 passes for 359 yards and six touchdowns in 1981. The Malvern, Iowa native has already earned All-Conference and All-NAIA District 11 honors this season.

Zelinsky, a 6-3, 255-pound native of Wheaton, Ill., has won numerous honors over the past three years, including first team All-CSIC accolades for the past three seasons. It was Zelinsky's pass blocking that helped Neustrom set a single-season passing record at Wayne State.

Pat Maxwell has himself earned a number of prestigious awards in a sparkling career at WSC. Maxwell's duties as a Wildcat have included receiving, rushing, punting, blocking, blocking, punt returning and kickoff returning. He is the number two all-time receiver at Wayne State with 1,814 yards catching the ball. The 6-1, 205-pound Maxwell is a resident of Tekamah.

Ron Berrie of Davenport, Iowa, was the number two tackler at WSC in 1981. The 6-3, 240-pound Berrie registered exactly 100 tackles and added three fumble recoveries and five quarterback sacks. Berrie also scored a two-point safety on a sack.

Ron Gilbert led the Cats in sacks with 110. The 5-10, 215-pound linebacker fell on four fumbles and notched six quarterback sacks. Gilbert, from Waterloo, Iowa, has already earned All-District and All-CSIC honors.

McArdie "earned a rare second-team spot of defensive end as a freshman," according to World-Herald sportswriter Terry Anderson. McArdie, at 6-5 and 210, led the state in quarterback sacks with 11 for 104 yards in losses. He amassed 65 tackles on the season.

Neustrom, a 6-foot, Iowa student, passed for 1,576 yards and 19 touchdowns in 1981. The 1,576 yards represents a school record for most passing yards in a season. The 5-11, 180-pound signal-caller previously was named to the first team of the Central States Intercollegiate Conference.

Scudder collected 86 tackles for WSC in 1981. The 6-2, 235-pound "linebacker" has received a number of awards throughout his collegiate career. Scudder hails from Galesburg, Illinois.

Concordia College placed the most members on the World-Herald's first team with seven. Hastings, Coleridge and Wayne State both placed five on the honor roll.

Late lapse hurts

Allen falls to Coleridge

A scoring surge in the final three minutes enabled Coleridge to break open a tight ball game and post a 48-36 win over Allen, Friday night.

The Eagles led after the first quarter and were within four points late in the game. However, with Coleridge turning to a delay game, Allen was forced into a man-to-man defense and 6-5 Mike Hoffart hit 14 points in the final three minutes to insure the victory.

"I felt we did a good job except for our turnovers. We should have won both our games (against Coleridge Friday and against Winside Thursday)," said coach Dan Looft.

The game—the same number Coleridge committed. "Our turnovers killed us just like against Winside."

Allen led 8-6 at the end of the first quarter and the second period was nip-and-tuck with Coleridge gaining a lead near half-time. The game remained close through the third period and most of the fourth before Hoffart erupted with his scoring spree.

The Eagles hit 36 percent from the field compared to 34 percent for Coleridge. The winners were led by Hoffart with 21 points. Robb Linafetter and Dennis Smith each scored 11 points to pace Allen. Leonard Wood added nine points.

The junior varsity game also was won by Coleridge. Allen is scheduled to host Ponca on Friday.

Fifth and Seventh streets in the redistricting proposal.

The redistricting plan gives Ward 3 a population of 1,319, compared to the 1,008 total that had developed since the 1970 Census.

Ward 4, which experiences the least redistricting under the plan, would lose the two-block area from Lincoln to Main streets between First and Second streets.

That realignment would leave Ward 4 with 1,292 persons, compared to the current figure of 1,301.

According to Melton, one of the disadvantages to the proposal is that two traditional polling places — the City Fire Hall for Ward 4 and the First United Methodist Church for Ward 3 — end up in Ward 1 under the plan.

HOWEVER, MELTON said his research indicated that special arrangements could be made for establishing "polling places" outside the boundaries of a ward.

If that is the case, the two traditional polling places could be retained even though they have been redistricted into Ward 1.

After Melton's detailed explanation of the redistricting proposal, Councilman Gary Vopatensky expressed a concern about the shift of a portion of the college campus to Ward 3.

A short-lived debate on the issue of redistricting by census vs. registered voters ensued.

COURT TESTS of the one-man-one-vote rule consistently support a census-based formula, not a registered-voter-based formula.

The City Council directed legal counsel to prepare an ordinance based on the proposed redistricting plan.

In other action, the Council passed two ordinances — one that gives the city administrator the authority to hire police department subordinates, such as patrolmen and dispatchers, another that established a parking ban for trucks and tractor-trailers.

According to Phil Kloster, city administrator, the ordinance on personnel appointments brings the police department in line with the hiring practices used in other departments for subordinates.

HE SAID the new ordinance allows the city administrator to appoint candidates to positions below that of the police chief without Council approval.

However, he said, the new law does not circumvent Civil Service Commission procedures.

The truck and tractor-trailer parking ban affects that section along the east side of Main Street from Fairgrounds Avenue south to the city limits.

Trucks below the one-ton capacity are not affected by the parking ban, Kloster said.

In a related matter, Councilwoman Carolyn Filter told the Council she had received a number of reports about illegally parked vehicles blocking driveways and sidewalks.

She said motorists in Wayne should be warned that it's not just a violation, but also the illegal parking makes it difficult for pedestrians during the winter months.

THE COUNCIL also tabled action on the proposed vacating of an alley on Douglas Street south near the railroad right-of-way.

Kloster said the property owners in that area have reported having a great deal of trouble with traffic on the alley and want it vacated.

Misidentification of the property to be vacated forced the matter to be tabled for future action.

The Council asked attorney Robert Enz to obtain the correct and legal description of the property for consideration at a later date.

Council members also unanimously approved the appointment of Robert E. Treacle as a city patrolman to replace Doug Heimer, who recently resigned from the Wayne Police Department.

TREACLE, WHO has received law enforcement training in Ohio, has been working for Iowa Beef Processors.

The Council also received, as requested, a written report on the proposed Wayne County Jaycee's softball complex.

Mayor Wayne Marsh said the report would give the Council members something to study.

Kloster told the Council members that if they had questions regarding the proposal, he would forward them to the Jaycees — representatives for answers.

The Jaycees have asked that 12 acres of city property be set aside east of Wayne's lagoon for a four-field softball complex.

to subdivisions for standard housing.

However, the city has little authority to guide the development of mobile-home subdivisions.

ACCORDING TO Kloster, the development of an ordinance is needed to protect the city, property owners and developers.

He said such an ordinance, if developed for and passed into law by the city, could designate a special zoning class for mobile-home subdivisions.

That zoning would place restrictions on the development, just as current regulations limit the development of other property within the city.

The mobile-home law has been forced on the cities by the Legislature," Kloster said. "We've got to provide the regulations and the area or a developer could force one on us."

ON THE PROPOSAL to seek a solar access zoning ordinance for Wayne, Kloster said that it was needed because the units are beginning to catch on in Wayne.

"In a nutshell, the ordinance would protect a person's solar rights so that a neighbor cannot build in such a fashion as to deny you your right to the sun," he explained.

Kloster said solar access laws are going on the books all over the country.

He said normally the laws protect solar energy users against a sun blockage from neighboring structures, including trees.

In addition, Kloster said the city "would probably have to grandfather previous applications" to the law.

KLOSTER SAID Omaha planning consultants were asked to offer a bid on the development of the proposed ordinance because they helped develop the city's existing zoning and subdivision regulations.

The Council is expected to reconsider the matter after the city's legal counsel studies the options available in preparing the proposed ordinances.

UNOFFICIAL RETURNS Tuesday show Hartmann, 45, owner of Hartmann Crane Service, received 123 votes and Morse, 48, a retired Winside businessman, received 83 votes.

Losing candidates in the short-term trustee race were Wayne Denklauf, 49, Wayne County veterans service officer, with an unofficial 69 votes, and Ronald Hansen, 29, a part-time Wayne State College student and Salmon Well employee, with an unofficial 45 votes.

Several absentee ballots remain to be counted in the race. Official returns will be available on Monday, Dec. 14, when the Canvass Board certifies the election results.

The trustee terms are staggered. The winners of the short-term race will serve out the unexpired months on two terms that end in June of 1982.

UNOFFICIAL RETURNS also show Warnemunde, 40, president of the Winside Women's Federated Club, received 98 votes to lead the field in the long-term race.

With, 66, owner/operator of With's Cafe in Winside, 87 votes for the second vacant long-term seat, according to unofficial special election results.

Losing candidates, according to unofficial returns, include Leon Koch, 46, who received 75 votes, and Veryl Jackson, 52, who received 69 votes.

Koch is owner/operator of Lee & Rosie's Bar in Winside. Jackson is a bus driver for the Winside School District.

Winners in the long-term race will serve out the unexpired months in two terms that end in June of 1984.

A NUMBER of write-in votes were cast during the 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. election, according to members of the election's Receiving Board.

However, no write-in candidate received more than two votes.

Once the election results are certified at the office of the Wayne County Clerk on Monday, the winners will be sworn into office by Village Clerk Lynne Wylie.

The swearing-in ceremonies will be held during a special organizational meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Big Red may do more rolling across NETV screens

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent.
The Nebraska Press Association
Nebraska Educational Television Network officials say support was overwhelming for the airing of the Nebraska-Iowa State football game this fall.

In fact, NETV officials say thousands of dollars poured in support of the endeavor.

The success of the broadcast, and obvious viewer support, might mean the Nebraska Cornhuskers will be seen often on NETV next year, albeit only in a limited viewing area.

NU REGENT Robert Simmons of Scott bluffs said there's a good chance the home game will be broadcast on NETV next year. His guess is the chances are "better than 50 percent."

According to Simmons, statewide coverage by NETV isn't too likely, but he says "we've got time to work on that."

It's Simmons' belief that the NETV broadcasts, if they are allowed next year, should be self-supporting. And based on the response to the Nebraska-Iowa State game, where the first batch of mail brought in more than $10,000 from 720 viewers, the broadcasts do have the potential for being self-supporting.

Negotiations are still under way, and it's too soon to know for sure what will happen next year. Continued viewer input, however, could tip the balances.

PROPERTY TAX LIDS — Limiting taxes, particularly for property, is something lawmakers, state officials and citizens have talked about for some time.

Various approaches have been tried, and at least someone finds fault with whatever is suggested. But the proposals keep coming, and maybe someday the Legislature will be able to devise a tax-limiting law that will work and has widespread support.

Sen. George Fenger of Bellevue has one option that he intends to present to the Legislature next year.

Fenger wants to amend the Nebraska Constitution to place an absolute lid on property taxes. If the Legislature goes along with his plan, Nebraska voters would be given a chance to approve or disapprove the measure.

UNDER FENGER'S plan, the amount of taxes that could be levied against real estate would be limited to 1.25 percent of the property's appraised value.

The Bellevue lawmaker says New Hampshire is the only other state in the nation that relies on property tax to support local government. Tax levies in Nebraska raise money for such things as schools, county and city government, and numerous subdivisions of government.

The state itself got out of the property tax business more than a decade ago when Nebraska adopted its sales income tax package.

If Fenger's proposal were to fly, it likely would mean considerable increases in the sales and income tax rates. Such increases probably would be unpopular, but their unpopularity would have to be weighed against the popularity of limiting property taxes.

Fenger echoes comments of others who believe something must be done to more equitably divide the tax load between property, income and sales.

WHEN PROPOSALS similar to Fenger's have surfaced in the past, many government officials said they agreed the approach would more equitably divide the tax load. But the solution to the property tax dilemma is never quite that easy.

His proposal no doubt will receive considerable attention in the Legislature next year. It's also likely other senators will come forth with other tax relief packages. Gov. Charles Thone's leadership on the issue will be important, especially since the current set of lawmakers appear more than willing to go along with what the governor proposes.

But proposals like Fenger's are not new, and there's no clear indication his plan will fly in 1982.

Fenger seems rather optimistic: "If the voters are informed of the advantages and successes of this proposal as experienced by other states, I believe Nebraskans will look with favor on this new direction of taxation."

But before Fenger can count too much on the ballot box, he'll have to work his way out of the legislative box. And that isn't always easy, especially during an election year.

Degree drift

Early winter weather in northeast Nebraska has been mild. And, many area residents, particularly homeowners and business owners, are smiling with delight at the prospect of lower fuel bills.

In fact, it's not difficult to overhear the coffee conversation that often drifts into discussions about the staying power of the early winter mildness.

Certainly, the prospect of continued mild weather should have an impact on fuel bills in the Wayne area.

But, there is a hidden danger in it all. Homeowners and businessmen, perhaps lulled by Mother Nature's efforts to reduce the fuel bill this winter, could easily find themselves postponing or ignoring their own obligations to conserve energy.

For instance, Wayne shoppers need not go far to find local businesses with thermostats set far above the temperature range needed to sustain retail life.

Homeowners, perhaps over confident that the family budget will again withstand the rising cost of heat, also may be leaving thermostats at an unnecessarily high temperature range.

Furthermore, those winterizing projects that became an emergency on the day of the first snowstorm, may still be awaiting some action on the home or business front now that the snow has all but disappeared.

Human nature, being what it is, rarely moves people to action unless the "horse is out of the barn."

In fact, that's been the most formidable problem faced by the forces of energy conservation in this country.

There's been a continuing and consistent response to energy problems in emergency situations.

With it, however, has been an overriding lackadaisical attitude that stops energy conservation in its tracks once the emergency appears to abate.

That kind of attitude is largely responsible for encouraging the next energy emergency. The result, of course, is that energy conservation as a way of life continues to be an elusive goal.

So, mild early winter months or not, energy conservation remains the personal responsibility of every American, including those in the Wayne area.

Don't be lulled into a lackluster energy conservation performance just because the weather outside is delightful.

Back stabbers

Battle scarred from his many fights with the California bureaucracy, Ronald Reagan arrived in Washington fully aware of the resistance he would face from the federal establishment as he attempted to streamline government. Yet, the extent of the bureaucratic sabotage confronting President Reagan has surprised even the most seasoned Washington hands.

A president's policies, no matter how big his electoral victory, should be debated and examined by Congress and when necessary, reviewed by the courts. This is what our system of checks and balances is all about.

But employees who work in the executive branch for the top administrator, the president, have a duty to carry out his policy decisions once they have been reached. Deliberate sabotage of the presidential decision making process by underlings should be reason enough for immediate dismissal.

So help me, I'd say the same thing if Ted Kennedy were president and this were happening to him!

The stage was set with a midnight raid on the U.S. Treasury and an unprecedented flurry of new regulations in the closing days of the Carter administration. The most notorious case involved the Labor Department, which issued 287 grants at a cost of more than $115 million to Washington area unions, advocacy groups and consultants in the final three months of the Carter presidency.

Investigations by Congress and the General Accounting Office have revealed that many of these awards were made outside the normal procedure of review, competitive bidding or evaluation of previous performance. Moreover, this last minute check-writing and rule-making locked the new administration into policies it was elected to reverse.

Once the reins of power exchanged hands, bureaucratic resistance went underground. There have been innumerable and unexplainable delays in carrying out orders. Budget reductions have been extracted from services instead of bureaucratic overhead. In order to attract media attention and scare legislators from further cuts, numerous cases have been documented in which internal memos and proposals have been leaked to the press and liberal politicians.

Internal debate, discussion and consideration of a broad range of policy options is as healthy in a government agency as it is in business. But once a decision has been reached, it is the responsibility of the administrators to enforce it.

If their conscience prohibits them from doing so, they should have the courage to leave government and lobby for their position in full view of the public—instead of doing it behind the backs of the people we elected to office.

NEWS ITEM: BUMPER CROPS AND LOW PRICES WILL TAKE THEIR TOLL ON MANY FARMERS WHO ARE MORTGAGED TO THE TOPS OF THEIR SILOS...

Judicial redistricting plan flawed

Disclosure act unnecessary

The Second Session of the 87th Legislature is scheduled to begin Wednesday, Jan. 6. Although the Legislature has not begun its regular session since May 29th, it hasn't been an inactive period for me. Of course, everyone remembers the Special Session in November.

Besides that, I have kept busy by attending public hearings on the various resolutions before the Miscellaneous Subjects and Judiciary Committees of which I am a member, by meeting with constituents and by attending numerous functions within the 17th District and elsewhere in Nebraska.

TWO RESOLUTIONS studied during the interim which will be introduced as legislative bills when the regular sessions convene are of particular concern to me. The first is LR 160, concerning the Nebraska Political Accountability and Disclosure Act. At present, elected officials in county and state offices must comply with the act by filling out the required forms. Now, some would like to see the act expanded to require those seeking to serve on school boards, town boards, etc., to file an accountability and disclosure statement.

Others would like to exclude certain appointed officials, zoning commissioners for example, who must file under the current law. It is a controversial issue with many views as to what should or should not be done about it in the future.

I have decided, after filling out these forms when I ran for County Supervisor and again during last year's election, that the disclosure statements are not doing what they were designed to do. They are time consuming to file and really do not disclose all that much information.

I FEEL THAT the Commission isn't doing the job many thought it would and since it is so costly to the taxpayer ($160,000 per year since its creation in 1976), I am in favor of eliminating it altogether. I just do not believe you can legislate honestly—the dishonest can find a way around anything.

The other resolution I think is very important is LR 103, which seeks to devise a plan for judicial redistricting. A new plan calling for consolidation of the existing 21 districts into 9 districts has been drawn.

This plan does not appear to alleviate the problems we now have, primarily unequal caseloads. Consolidating several small districts into a large district (our current 3 county district would become part of a 17-county district), only creates additional problems.

People, including the judges, will have to travel further to get to court, for example. The plan may make it easier for those judges who sit in the larger cities, but it certainly won't help our district and county judges here. At this time, I am opposed to this resolution.

I HOPE I have aroused your interest in these issues with this brief discussion. If I have, attend one of the future hearings or write or call me with your opinions or questions.

I plan to have another article in the papers near the end of the month with more details about the legislative schedule for the regular session.

Nebraska's counties on USDA test for farm production

By M.M. Van Kirk
Nebraska Farm Bureau

Nebraska had three counties in the top 100 counties in the United States in the value of agricultural products sold, according to the 1978 Census of Agriculture.

In 30th place was Cuming County with total marketings that year of $28.2 million of which $24.3 million came from crop marketings and $20.3 million from livestock, which is to be expected since Cuming County is recognized for its cattle feedlot numbers.

In 37th place was Dawson County with $35.4 million in crop receipts and $156.7 million in livestock and livestock products for a total of $191.7 million. Dawson County too is a major cattle feeding county.

And the third Nebraska county on the list was Scotts Bluff County with total agricultural marketings in 1978 of $155 million which included $16 million in crop receipts and $119.4 million in marketings of livestock and livestock products.

It is interesting that in 1978 Nebraska had a total of 10 counties which had agricultural marketings exceeding $100 million. In addition to the top three cited, the others in order, with the crop and livestock figures in parentheses, were:

- No. 4, Platte County, $113.8 million ($30.8 million crop, $82.9 million livestock).
 - No. 5, Antelope County, $112.6 million ($35.5 million crop, $77.0 million livestock).
 - No. 6, Phelps County, $111.6 million ($41.9 million crop, $69.7 million livestock).
 - No. 7, Hall County, $107.4 million ($36.7 million crop, $70.4 million livestock).
 - No. 8, Saunders County, $106.9 million ($38.6 million crop, $68.1 million livestock).
 - No. 9, Buffalo County, $101.8 million ($36.8 million crop, $64.9 million livestock).
 - No. 10, Holt County, $100.8 million ($9.6 million crop, $91.1 million livestock).
- In 1978, Nebraska ranked sixth in the nation with $5.1 billion in total agricultural marketing receipts of which $1.7 billion was from crops and $3.4 billion from sales of livestock and livestock products.
- For those who want to compare with county productions nationally, Fresno, Calif., was the top-ranking county in farm products sold, according to the 1978 census, with a total of $1,023 billion. Fresno was the only county to attain the billion-dollar mark, and it leads the nation in crop receipts.

IN SECOND PLACE was Weld County, Colo., with a total of $817.7 million, most of it from livestock receipts since Weld County is first in the nation in livestock sales. Third place went to Kern County, Calif., at $716.5 million. Cattle feeding is big in Kern County.

Twenty-one of the 100 leading counties in farm commodity sales in 1978 were in California; 13 in Texas, 9 in Iowa; in Illinois; 7 in Kansas and 6 in Florida. Actually Nebraska's three top counties are in pretty illustrious company overall.

The importance of the state's livestock industry is dramatized by the cash receipt totals, with 66 percent of its total marketings represented by sales of livestock and livestock products.

The steady climb in cattle and hog numbers in the state indicates that much of the state's huge grain production is being marketed through its livestock.

HOG PRODUCTION has been going up, and in 1978 22,460 of its 65,000 farms and ranches marketed 8.1 million hogs that brought them $545.4 million. There were 35,648 farms and ranches which marketed 5.3 million head of cattle in 1978 with total receipts of $2.6 billion.

Among other things, the figures say that as the livestock market goes, so goes the Nebraska economy.

SOYBEAN STALKS

Do soybean stalks have much feeding value if fed to beef and dairy cattle? This question comes up frequently and here is the answer. The straw, or stalks, from-soybean harvest have value mainly as a feed ration for dry dairy cows, heifers or for wintering cattle. Their energy and protein value both are low—about the same as wheat and oat straw.

If the residue contains considerable leaves and bean seeds, both these values would be higher. In any feeding program stalks will need supplementing with protein, plus minerals and vitamins. Including some alfalfa hay with this is generally the most practical way of increasing the protein. A few pounds grain per head might be used as a carrier for added minerals and vitamins, as well as providing any additional energy needed.

Some extra energy generally will be needed by growing heifers and will help in utilizing the energy of such high roughage rations. Soybean stalks should not be included in rations of moderate to high producing dairy cows or beef cattle fed for rapid growth.

BLACK CORN STALKS

Many of the corn stalks this year are black in color. This black color is the result of weather conditions that contributed to the growth of two fungi which are apparently not toxic to cattle.

There seems to be a reduction in palatability of these stalks which are apparently the result of the fungi. How serious this is as far as affecting consumption of corn stover is not known at this time. It is suspected that in most cases the cattle will adjust to the affected stover and that it can be fed as a major part of the wintering ration of beef cows.

FEEDING RAW SOYBEANS

Raw soybeans may be ground fed to beef cattle instead of soybean supplement. Feeding the split beans which usually are sold at a considerable discount is likely to be especially competitive. Feeding beans that are good enough to command the regular market price seldom can be justified in competition with soybean meal. Their value is about equal to soybean meal pound for pound.

The high fat content of soybeans cause them to become rancid quickly after grinding, especially in warm weather. Frequent grinding is needed to maintain palatability every 10 to 14 days during the winter or more often during the summer may be necessary for most effective use.

More Valley Corner Systems every year, because it's the least costly investment per acre.

It's going to be harder to make farming pay off in the years to come. Harder for many reasons.

So if anything makes sense, it's to maximize the potential of the land you now farm. Irrigating with a center pivot is one way. Irrigating with a Corner System is even better.

A Corner System can irrigate 19 to 45 more acres than a regular pivot, producing extra income on acres already being farmed. That's why nearly one out of every six pivots sold today is a Corner System.

And when it comes to Corner Systems, nobody knows more than Valmont. They're proven reliable with nearly 3,000 systems in operation. That's at least 20 times more than any other brand.

Before you buy any center pivot, see us. We'll tell you how a Valley Corner System can add to your bottom line profits while being the least costly investment per acre.

Valley dominates the field.

Gardner elected to Hall

Dan Gardner of Wakefield and Otis Dewey Applegate of Gibson were elected to the Nebraska Poultry Hall of Fame Thursday night (Dec. 3) during the annual banquet of the Nebraska Poultry Industries, held at the Holiday Inn in Columbus.

Gardner has been an active member of the poultry industry since 1964 when he built his chicken house, Egg-Time, which housed about 4,000 birds. Today, Big Red Farms at Wakefield, a part of the Milton G. Waldbaum Company Inc., has more than a million layers and Gardner Growers has more than 200,000 pullets. In addition to managing the Milton G. Waldbaum Company in Wakefield, he is director of the Poultry and Egg Institute of America, the Midwest Egg Producers and the Egg Clearinghouse Inc. Gardner is also an alternate director for the American Egg Board and has served on several committees for the United Egg Producers.

Gardner had held several offices for the Nebraska Poultry Industries, and made several trips to Washington, D.C. to represent the industry. He was appointed by Congressman Berueter to serve on a special task force on international trade.

He is an active community leader, having served on the Wakefield School Board and the Wakefield City Council. He and his wife Jeanne have three children, David, Kirk, and Leslie.

Farm exposition scheduled

The 15th annual Northeast/Central Nebraska Farm Exposition is scheduled for Columbus on Tuesday and Wednesday, January 12 and 13. The second day show will be held at the Platte County Ag. Park in Columbus and is sponsored annually by the Farm Department of Columbus Radio Stations KTTAM & FM. This Exposition is designed for farmers, feeders or for anyone with an interest in the field of agriculture. The show is free and hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

More than 150 exhibitors have reserved space for the 1982 show according to Joe Stavas, vice president and general manager of the Columbus radio stations. Stavas, who has directed the show since it began 15 years ago, says several new innovations will be available this year. Computer and electronic aids for today's farming will be evident with firms displaying services available to the farm of today, in addition, energy savings ideas, special marketing tools and the latest in feeding, crop raising, harvesting techniques, tillage practices and innumerable other ideas will be made available.

Another major show feature is the educational program presented each day. This program is provided through the Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Nebraska and coordinated by the Platte County Extension Agent Robert Voboril and Area Agronomist Duane Kantor.

Bureau to collect info

Information about farm work done for pay during the past year and about migratory farm work will be collected by the Bureau of the Census in this area during the work week of December 14-18, 1981. William F. Adams, director of the bureau's regional office in Denver, has announced.

The farm work questions are in addition to the ones asked regularly in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor.

Results of this survey provide data on conditions in the labor force, prime indicators of the economic health of the country. For example, in October, the survey indicated that of the 106.7 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 98.2 million were employed. The nation's employment rate was 8.0 percent, up from 7.5 percent in September and the 1981 low of 7.0 percent in July.

About 71,000 households across the country, scientifically selected to represent a cross section of American households, take part in this monthly survey. All information provided the Bureau is confidential by law and can be published only as statistical totals in which no individual or household can be identified.

Dorcoy attends Kent school

Kevin Dorcoy of Carroll Fertilizer, Inc., Carroll, recently attended a three-day school at the general offices of Kent Feeds, Inc., Muscatine, Iowa.

The school was for the employees of businesses that carry Kent feeds and animal care products and was designed to help them better serve their livestock and poultry producer customers.

Nearly 50 dealer people attended sessions taught by members of the Kent nutrition, training, advertising, marketing, animal care and production departments. A wide variety of subjects were covered at the school, ranging from basic nutrition to methods of merchandising to grind-and-mix practices. There was also a tour of the company's 650-acre research farm, which is located near Muscatine.

Kent Feeds serves feed dealers and livestock and poultry producers in a 12-state area. Manufacturing and distribution facilities are located in Marshall, Mo.; Loganport, Inc.; Rockford and Beardstown, Ill.; Columbus, Neb.; and Sioux City, Altoona, Waterloo, Esterville and Muscatine, Iowa.

USDA says trends lead to trouble

Continuing present nationwide soil and water conservation trends would mean serious future conservation and farm production problems, according to a U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) report.

The finding is based on an analysis of the condition and trends of the soil, water and related resources of the United States. The analysis was part of a report required by Congress in the Soil and Water Resources Conservation Act of 1977. RCA explains Verlin Francis of the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) in Wayne County.

The analysis shows that the demand for food and fiber produced in the United States would increase while technological advances in agricultural production would decrease.

Without better technology to boost production, the demand to produce more food and fiber will mean that more acres of marginal land will be farmed. The result will be increased soil erosion rates and other resource problems.

If this happens, the productive capacity of American agriculture would decrease and production costs would increase.

The report says that these resource problems need to be addressed most quickly: excessive erosion rates, upstream flood damages, groundwater depletion and deteriorated water quality.

To project future conditions, the USDA analysis used a computer model to simulate the nation's agricultural productivity related to erosion. Although the model's results can't be taken as absolute indicators of what will happen, they do show the relative direction of American agriculture and the possible magnitude of future resource conditions and problems.

RCA Appraisal Part II, the second of three major RCA documents, contains the detailed analysis of the trends in the use and condition of America's soil and water resource base. A copy of this and other RCA documents is available for reference use at

Soil problems predicted

America will face reduced agricultural productive capacity and increased production costs unless the critical soil and water resource conservation problems of the nation are addressed. This is the conclusion of a three-year study by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The study was required by Congress in the Soil and Water Resources Conservation Act of 1977 (RCA), according to Verlin Francis, of the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) in Wayne County.

Specifically, the RCA study showed that: —One-third of America's cropland is eroding faster than the soil can rebuild itself through natural processes. Unless corrective actions are taken, the acreage of this excessively eroding land will increase further.

—Floods threaten human life, cropland and other property, livestock and crops in upstream watersheds. Greater damage is likely in the future.

—Depletion of ground water threatens the continuation of irrigated agriculture in extensive areas of the west.

—Deterioration of water quality may limit the use of water for irrigation, municipal and industrial supply, fish and wildlife habitat, and other purposes.

These RCA findings are based on the most intensive and accurate appraisal of the country's nonfederal natural resources ever conducted, Francis reports. "Much of the data came from on-site examinations of about 200,000 sample points across the United States. In Nebraska, nearly 4,500 sample points provided information for the national summary."

The information gathered included data on land users, soils, erosion, prime farmland, cropping sequences, and crop residue treatment.

Besides the SCS inventories and other USDA studies and evaluations, the RCA process drew on studies made by the Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, Fish and Wildlife Service, Environmental Protection Agency, Water Resources Council, Bureau of Outdoor Recreation and others.

RCA Appraisal Part I, the first of three major documents, contains detailed information on the resource base — status, conditions and trends. A reference copy of all three major RCA documents is available for use at SCS and Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service offices throughout the state.

Copies of the short leaflet summarizing the RCA findings and proposed conservation program are also available at the two USDA offices or the nearest Natural Resources District office. The leaflet contains a pre-addressed, postage-paid response form that people may use to comment on the program.

The Mattress: A Somma Controlled Flotation System

The single most important quality we all look for in a mattress is comfort. And the most comfortable mattress available today is the Somma Controlled Flotation System. Experience this mattress yourself. But don't just touch it. Lie down on it. Move around. Turn over. Stretch out. Feel the difference. The comfort. The quality. The relaxation. Wouldn't it be wonderful to come home to a Somma?

A Somma is designed like no other flotation system. It eliminates all the negatives heretofore associated with flotation sleep and utilizes all the conveniences of the common innerspring mattress. Look under the plush mattress top and get acquainted with the patented Somma design. Under the top liner are the individual water filled cylinders aligned side by side to eliminate unwanted wave motion while giving you the sleeper, extraordinary comfort. By varying the amount of water in these cylinders one side of the bed can be made firmer than the other. Custom Comfort - As you like it. And notice that there are no "hard" spots on a Somma System, just the gentle caress of the mattress as your body moves.

You've just experienced the Somma Controlled Flotation System. You've lain down... moved around... turned over... stretched out and not disturbed your bed partner at all. This is all due to the patented individual cylinder design. Now lie down on a conventional mattress and compare the two. You'll instantly feel the difference, the comfort, the relaxed, tension-free sleep that could be yours.

It has been reported in the Wall Street Journal that by the end of the 1980s 40% of us will be sleeping on a flotation system and enjoying every minute of it. But why wait so long. The Somma Controlled Flotation System is here today. Tonight come home to the most comfortable mattress and the most comfortable night's sleep imaginable. Come home to Somma.

In addition, the individual cylinder design allows this to truly be the only portable flotation system available. Each cylinder holds approximately 5 gallons of water. Lift one and feel how easy it is to handle. These cylinders are simply filled in the bathtub or other convenient location and carried to the bed. There is no bothersome hose needed, and no emptying the cylinders when you want to move the bed to another location. A Somma can be moved from one room to another just like any conventional mattress.

- Have the salesmen show you:
1. The individual water filled cylinders that are the heart of the Somma Controlled Flotation System. Unwanted wave motion is eliminated and by varying the amount of water in the cylinders one side of the bed can be made firmer than the other. Custom Comfort - As you like it.
 2. The two liners which completely enclose the water system should a rupture occur. If a cylinder is accidentally punctured, only that particular cylinder need be replaced.
 3. The quilted top with 2 inches of insulation eliminating the need for a worrisome and troublesome electric heater.
 4. The foundation, specifically designed for a Somma. It fits a standard heavy duty bed frame making the Somma Controlled Flotation System easily adaptable to any room decor.
- And finally - look at the superb tailoring and workmanship; experience the individual comfort zones; feel the plush quilted panel that gently cushions your body, and try the pillow soft, yet firm, sleeping surface.

The ease of filling a Somma makes it ideal for apartment dwellers, right up to the penthouse. And a Somma queen size mattress weighs only 285 pounds more than a standard innerspring mattress.

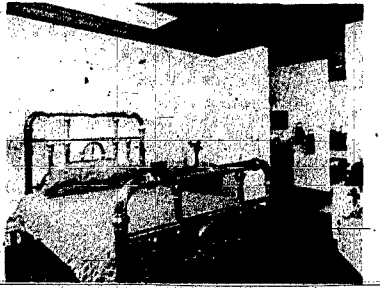

Feel the quilted top of the Somma mattress. It's so luxurious, so plush, so wonderfully insulated that this system requires no worrisome or troublesome electric heater. This is due to the 2 inches of insulation between the top of the mattress and the water system.

Designed for instant integration into any room decor, the Somma Controlled Flotation System fits on a standard heavy duty bed frame, or European style platform bed or any other support system. Now you can have the most comfortable, luxurious sleeping system in a Country French bedroom, a modern bedroom, Victorian Colonial, traditional or any other style. And your standard flat or tilted sheets fit a Somma perfectly and elegantly.

The popularity and acceptability of the Somma Controlled Flotation System can be traced directly back to its superior design and construction. The individual cylinders with less seams per unit than any other bladder system on the market reduce problems to almost zero. The overlapping liners completely contain the water protecting the mattress top. If a cylinder is accidentally punctured, only that cylinder need be replaced. The performance of the system is hardly affected.

The system rests on a foundation specifically designed for Somma. The contoured basin, which contains the cylinders, is made of high density cushioning material 4 inches thick.
