Two county officials file for '82 primary

Two more Wayne County officials have filed for a spot on the Republican Party ticket in this spring's primary election. Seeking re-election are Leon Meyer of Wayne, Wayne County treasurer, and Joann Ostrander of rural Wayne, clerk of Ninth District Court, Wayne County. Meyer, 58, a lifelong resident of Wayne County and a 1941 graduate of Wayne High School, is completing his third term as county treasurer. Ostrander, 49, a Wayne native and 1951 graduate of Wayne High School, is seeking her fourth term as District Court clerk.

MEYER FARMED AND was owner and operator of the Altona Store for 21 years before winning election to the county treasurer's post in the November 1970 general election.

Meyer beat incumbent treasurer Leona Bahde in that election. He and his wife, Melvina, moved into Wayne from Altona about a year ago. Ostrander, who farmed with her late husband, Kenneth, until he was killed in a traffic accident in 1969, had a 10-year business career with Mutual of Omaha before seeking election to the District Court position. She also worked for the Department of Business and Social Science at Wayne State College and KTCH-Radio station before beating incumbent John Bressler in the 1970 general election. Ostrander lives southwest of Wayne.

BOTH INCUMBENTS, who will be seeking a line on the GOP ballot during the May primary election, John Doris Sloop, county assessor, and Ornette Margis, county clerk. In their announced bids for re-election. Incumbents Sloop and Margis filed for re-election on the GOP ticket earlier this month. Wednesday morning, Clyde Flowers of Bruce Gilmore and Associates, Wayne, filed for the post of county surveyor. In addition, Mike Karel of Wayne and Herman Opler of Hoskins have both filed for re-election, on the nonpartisan ballot, to their urban seats on the county Nollux Weed Board.

Chief says staffing shortage could curtail police services

The Wayne Police Department, operating with a critical manpower shortage, may be forced to curtail some traditional services if the department's budget restrictions continue. That's the thrust of Police Chief Vern Fairchild's annual report to the city. "I am afraid that we have only enjoyed a holding pattern this past year and will soon find ourselves back working against the tide," Fairchild said in his annual report and statistical comparison.

PRESENTED IN written form to the City Council Tuesday night, the report includes an introductory statement by the chief. "In this age of ever-increasing crime rates, traffic accidents and demands for police service, we were able to pass through the year with almost no changes from the year before," Fairchild said. "To my knowledge, this is the first year that we have held the line since records have been kept in the department," he continued. "I am extremely pleased with the accomplishments of our department," he continued. "This could not have come about without the extreme dedication of the men and women of this department and the very great cooperation of the citizens of Wayne."

FAIRCHILD CALLED for the continued support and involvement of the community in law enforcement efforts. "The ever-tightening budget restrictions combined with ever-increasing cost will mean that every member of the department will have to become even more money-minded," the chief said.

"And, the general public will need to understand that some services that it has come to expect may have to be curtailed," he continued. "As we move into 1982, I fully expect to see demands for police service to begin climbing again," Fairchild said in the report. He pledged that the department would meet those demands "in the most efficient and professional manner possible."

FAIRCHILD NOTED that the resignation of an officer in October curtailed the scheduling of patrolmen on duty. He said the resignation of patrolman Doug Helmers forced the department to operate with only one officer on duty for 17 shifts from Oct. 8 to the end of the year. That officer was replaced by patrolman

Robert Treacle. "While this did present a serious morale problem, it is a credit to the officers that morale remained as good as it did," Fairchild said. "The manpower level remains at a critical stage following the budget restrictions of 1980," the chief added. HE SAID THAT any prolonged illness or manpower loss due to an accident could make it difficult for the department to provide full service. "Every effort should be made to correct this problem," the chief added. "As we close the books on 1981, I can only say 'a job well done' to the personnel of the department and to the citizens of Wayne, without whose cooperation we could not have done it," he concluded.

Council, Jaycees review lease terms

Softball complex agreement near

Wayne's City Council and the Wayne County Jaycees appear to be battling 1,000 on the proposed softball complex.

In fact, the final draft of the proposed lease is expected to be ready for Council action at the next meeting — scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 9.

The Council is expected to approve the proposed agreement, which offers the Jaycees a 10-year lease on municipal land near the city lagoon for four softball fields.

CITY COUNCILMEN and Jaycees representatives reviewed a rough draft of the proposed lease during Tuesday night's Council meeting.

Verde Luff, Jaycees secretary and chairman of the organization's softball complex committee, sought approval of the lease at Tuesday's meeting, explaining that the group had worked on the project for more than two years. Phil Klotzer, city administrator, said approval was not possible until a final draft of the agreement had been reviewed by the Council members.

"Do we get the land?" Luff asked the Council, his arms outstretched in an appeal for an answer.

"IT'S MY OPINION you will," said Mayor Wayne Marsh. "That seems to be the consensus of the Council, but we have to have a vote on that."

The smile on Luff's face broadened. He had just spent a few minutes explaining to the Council that he had contacted several Jaycees leaders before attending the meeting.

"I told them tonight's the night," Luff explained. "We might do some...er...ah...celebrating."

Only moments before Luff's remarks, Mayor Marsh said: "The problem is the Council doesn't own this land, the city taxpayers do, that's why we have to get it all in writing. But, I know we'll have a good ball diamond down there."

KLOSTER EXPRESSED concern over the removal and stockpiling of dirt that is presently on the land site.

The Jaycees contend that the city should bear the cost of removing the dirt (fill) and placing it in a stockpile. Kloster has contended the matter should be negotiated as part of the terms of the lease.

During Tuesday night's discussion, several Council members noted that the city would incur the dirt moving costs whenever it needed the fill anyway.

In fact, Councilman Larry Johnson said that he felt the dirt fill presently on the land was the responsibility of the city, regardless of the Jaycees' plans.

BEFORE DISCUSSION ended on the matter, a consensus developed. The consensus was that the matter of dirt removal could be resolved.

Klotzer said he was concerned about meeting the Jaycees timetable. (The group has indicated it would like the land site available in April.)

However, Luff reassured Kloster that the softball schedule did not get underway until "late April or May."

The proposed agreement gives the Jaycees use of the property for 10 years commencing with the execution of the lease.

However, under additional terms, the lease stipulates that the city has the right, prior to any construction of softball fields, to remove dirt from the property and store it adjacent to the complex site.

LUFF TOLD THE Council that the group was able to secure $500,000 worth of general liability insurance coverage through the Jaycees organization.

However, he said, the coverage was for spectators only and did not apply to participants and players.

Klotzer suggested that Luff's committee

Academic freedom's fight

Wayne State College instructor witnesses Poland's campus purge

At least two pro-Solidarity professors at the University of Wrocław have died following brutal beatings when martial law swept Poland's military onto college campuses in mid-December.

Both students and professors were "brutally beaten," according to Dr. Barbara (Bobbye) Lupack, a Wayne State College English teacher who was in the communist-ruled country on Dec. 13, when martial law was declared.

"Two professors in our city (Wrocław), to my knowledge, have died as a result of the militia," Lupack said.

Bobbye Lupack

IT'S BEEN confirmed that they died as a result of their beliefs, which were pro Solidarity," said the WSC instructor, who has been reassigned under a federal Fulbright grant.

Lupack, and her husband Alan, have been reassigned to a university in the French Alps. Lupack's husband was teaching in Poland without the aid of a Fulbright grant.

The couple fled Poland, where they had been since September, after 10 days under martial law, which kept them from any direct contact with the outside world.

In that one day (Dec. 13), all of the academic freedoms Polish students had briefly enjoyed were crushed, according to Lupack.

"ALL UNIVERSITY - printing presses have been destroyed, as have all of the private printing presses throughout Poland," she said.

Lupack, who will finish her Fulbright grant teaching contract in the French Alps, said a recent article in "The Chronicle of Higher Education" said permits are now required in Poland for the purchase of typing paper, notebooks and carbon paper.

The permits are also required for tents, knapsacks and sleeping bags, which were sight into the Polish system of higher education.

HER COMMENTS reveal that freedoms American students take for granted are simply unheard of in Poland.

And, other privileges — won through the efforts of the independent union, Solidarity — were implemented only briefly and lost on Dec. 13, when troops and tanks rolled on to the nation's campuses.

"Everything is going to change now," Lupack said. "From the summer of 1980 with the emergence of Solidarity, through December of 1981, there was a tremendously relaxed intellectual atmosphere at the universities," she explained.

"There was a feeling that the situation — economically, politically, culturally — could change. It really was wonderful to observe, because they were beginning to feel the spirit of independence," she continued. "Obviously, that's all going to change."

IN THIS COUNTRY, almost anyone who wants to go to college can do so. But, in Poland, colleges have what Lupack termed "a rather difficult admissions policy."

She said somewhere between one in five and one in 10 are eventually admitted because of a "very rigorous" pre-entrance examination.

Only the "cream of the crop" is allowed to enroll, Lupack said.

Through American financial aid channels, a majority of this country's students receive some help in paying for their education. But, most U.S. students bear the majority of the financial burden, not to mention the cost of books, personal materials and living expenses.

POLISH STUDENTS, on the other hand, are "entirely subsidized by the government, which is a fact the government brings up all too frequently, unfortunately," she said.

"Everything they use, except notebooks and personal materials, is provided by the government," Lupack added.

Lupack said that through Solidarity-led reforms, other changes took place on Polish campuses. Some censorship was lifted.

"I was teaching a course in the politically censored novel," she explained. "That is something that could never be taught in Poland prior to 1980 (and the formation of Solidarity)."

"PLAYS THAT HAD been banned in prior years were produced," she continued. "Literature that was banned was able to be brought into the libraries. Now, all of that has changed."

Contrary to the U.S. system of higher education, there is no such thing as an elective course in Poland, according to Lupack.

"The (students) are able to choose their major area," she said.

"For instance, the students at our in-stillute (University of Wrocław) could choose whether they wanted to go into English literature, inter-American literature, or interlinguistics," she continued. "Once they made that choice, any kind of elective process is over."

ALL STUDENTS HAVE to follow the same kind of regimen, according to Lupack. "They must take six to seven hours, depending on whether they are men or women, of military training," she said.

"They also have to take upwards of 10 hours per week in courses called philosophy — a euphemism for Marxism and Leninism," Lupack said. "Other courses are chosen for them. That's mandated by the government."

Full-time enrollment in American colleges and universities is generally considered to be 12 credit hours or more per semester, with class loads rarely exceeding 20 credit hours.

The remainder of a U.S. student's time is generally spent in study and research, participation in campus organizations and other extra-curricular activities, or social life.

Despite academic reforms pushed through by Solidarity, there was a "tremendous feeling of depression, of pessimism among the students" even before the declaration of martial law, Lupack said.

This was partially because "they knew they were not going to be placed in the areas for which they were preparing themselves."

WHEN STUDENT strikes began last October to protest an illegal action on the part of Polish authorities, the situation on campuses worsened, according to Lupack.

"I think the strikes clearly were a factor that contributed to the imposition of martial law," she said.

She said the student strikes resulted from the violation of a Solidarity-demanded change that called for direct election of campus rectors (deans).

"Qualified people were getting the positions, no longer simply (Communist) Party officials," she continued.

In October, a rector at the University of Radom was illegally elected, according to Lupack. Students protested.

"THE FOLLOWING week, the students at (the University of) Warsaw went on strike to support the students at Radom," Lupack said.

Then, she said, "Students at all of the other universities went on strike, and faculty went on short strikes to support the students."

According to Lupack, what happened next signaled the violent end to all the hard-fought academic reforms.

On Dec. 13, martial law was declared and all campuses occupied by the military.

"Polish students were banding together like students in the United States did in the '60s," Lupack said.

"They were able to discuss philosophy or talk politics" in public, she said, "things that they could not have vocalized on in earlier years."

LUPACK EXPLAINED that "due to the economics of the situation, the social life (of Polish students) was different from the social life students would experience in the United States.

"Students (in Poland) simply could not afford to go to the movies, or to go out for any kind of recreation, so there was a definite emphasis on simply getting together and talking," she continued.

The Lupacks refer to their late-December train trip from Poland to Cologne, West Germany, as an "escape."

AND, DESPITE the ordeal, she said she has "expressed an interest in going back to Poland, but the American government is a little reluctant — at this particular point — to send us back there."

Her father, George Tepa, fled Poland when World War II erupted. He now lives in Forest Hills, N.Y.

"My dad thought we were still in Poland when we called him from Cologne," Lupack said. "And, I thought he was going to have a heart attack when he realized we'd escaped safely."

BLINDING SNOW LAST weekend obstructs the view on the Wayne State campus.

Budget cuts may have long-range impact at WSC

Although the recent budget cuts at Wayne State College may not look like much from the outside, their long-range impact may be more visible.

Plans to trim $153,007 from the 1981-82 Wayne State budget have been finalized. The cuts are designed to have a minimum impact on the academic programs and library resources.

"We did protect the academic and library areas. We tried as much as possible to minimize the impact of the cuts," said John Struve, Wayne State dean of finance. "The impact of some of the cuts won't show for years."

Charlie Thone's three percent special reduction in state expenditures.

The college received input concerning possible cuts from the faculty senate and administration council which has student input. Recommendations were made through the channels and President Seymour made the final decision.

Seymour said his main concern is the long-range impact of the cuts, not the immediate impact. "Because we continue to operate the school doesn't mean those funds weren't needed," said Seymour. Their long range impact will become visible he added.

The cuts were spread over many areas in opposition to making one large traumatic cut, Seymour explained. He pointed out that Wayne State has a "role in northeast Nebraska and could cut corners rather than suddenly chopping off one program or one division."

IN ADDITION to the fund cuts, a hiring freeze has been placed on the college. Positions which become vacant for various reasons will be supported by other offices rather than filled. Work loads are absorbed by existing employees.

An exception is positions which are considered "absolutely essential." In those occasions, the college may exercise its prerogative to fill the positions.

Struve said the restriction on hiring will continue at least until next year's budget is decided sometime in May. That budget will be based on this reduced budget and both Struve and Seymour said they expect to see diminished increases in future budgets.

No faculty terminations will be made and no classes will be dropped from the first or second semesters. Some classes will be cut from the fall, spring and summer sessions.

WHEN ASKED if any consideration was given to a change in length of class periods of semesters to save money on energy, Struve replied that those considerations were rejected.

He and Seymour explained that regulations governing length of class periods and semester hours limited consideration of changes in those areas.

Seymour stated that reviews of all activities and areas are being made continuously. When questioned about the possibility of leaving the Central States Intercollegiate Conference, Seymour replied that consideration had been given but rejected.

He pointed out that because the athletic conference has an impact on travel budgets, it was one of the points considered when recommendations and final cuts were made.

Wayne State currently is a member of an athletic conference consisting of Kearney State, Missouri Western, Missouri Southern, Emporia State, Fort Hays State, Washburn University and Phillipsburg State. The latter four schools are located in Kansas.

"I DO THINK we have a reasonably tight, operational budget," said Seymour. He and Struve explained that the cuts forced the college to evaluate all areas of operation and pinpoint expenses that were least necessary.

The proposed reduction in utilities by $28,875 is of some concern because of low temperatures this winter. A new computerized energy monitoring system is expected to help save money in that area.

THE FINAL PLAN calls for expending cash revenue funds totaling $400,000 in lieu of general funds, reduction of $28,365 in summer sessions for 1982, reduction of $15,767 in hiring and reduction of $28,875 in utilities. In addition, another $40,000 will be cut from 16 non-academic departments making the total $153,007.

The 16 departments which will be affected by the cuts include: the student government, college newspaper, special programs, placement office, athletic department, president's office, student affairs office, vice president's office, finance office, business office, payroll/accounting, transportation pool, campus security, administration computing, admissions office, student records.

The department which receives the largest cut is the transportation pool, its budget will be reduced by nearly 24 percent from $51,875 to $39,431.

THE CUTS WERE proposed because of the Legislature's recent appraisal of Gov-ment funding.

President Seymour said the cuts were necessary to meet the Legislature's demand for a 3 percent reduction in state expenditures.

KURT JOHNSON AND THE Johnson Christian Consort will perform at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne this Friday evening at 7:30. Johnson weaves over 30 instruments together in a unique Christian performance for the entire family.

One performer; 30 instruments provide Christian entertainment

Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne invites residents of Wayne and the surrounding area to attend an unusual family concert Friday evening Jan. 29.

Kurt Johnson and the Johnson Christian Consort will be featured in the concert, which begins at 7:30 p.m. at the church. The Rev. Tom Mendenhall, pastor at Grace Lutheran, said over 30 instruments will be used in the Christian performance.

How many performers? Only one.

KURT JOHNSON, son of former Wayne Herald editor Bob Johnson, is the Johnson Christian Consort.

Johnson, a student at St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn., weaves over 30 instruments together in a unique Christian performance.

Bible instruments include the harp, psaltery, bowed psaltery, and the dulcimer. Johnson also sings several of David's psalms word for word.

International instruments used during his performance include the balalaika from Russia, the Celtic harp from the Britains, and a German zither.

THERE ALSO is bluegrass played on banjo, mandolin and guitar, and wind instruments including several Baroque records, penny whistle, Turkish flute, ocarina, harmonica and Harpo Marx horn or twirling baggie.

New additions during the past year include another hammered dulcimer which Kurt built, an instrument from India combining the dulcimer and the typewriter, a squeeze box or concertina, and, the strangest, a hurdy-gurdy.

A TYPICAL concert with Kurt Johnson includes songs based on Scripture, short explanations of the instruments as they are played, and a Christ-centered witness.

The Johnson Christian Consort has performed for concerts, schools, coffeehouses, conventions, retreats, banquets, youth gatherings, ladies rallies, mens clubs and other assemblies. Johnson is in his sixth year of Christian performance throughout the U.S., Canada, and Mexico.

He attended Concordia College in St. Paul and presently is working in music education and history of musical instruments at St. Olaf's.

Dixon County Council plans program for '82

The Dixon County Home Extension Council held its regular winter meeting at the Northeast Station, Concord, to make plans for 1982.

Extension club presidents and council officers held a business workshop to review topics to be included in the '82 program, committee assignments, goals and special activities.

Mrs. Jim Nelson, Laurel, council chairman, and Anna Marie White, extension agent, conducted the workshop.

THE STATEWIDE program impact for 1982 pertains to leadership, assertiveness, membership promotion and personal development.

The program is referred to as "LAMP - Impact '82". LAMP leaders from the clubs also met in a workshop session with Mrs. Verdel Erwin, Concord, County LAMP leader in charge.

Plans for 1982 include sponsoring a special spring event related to the LAMP impact. The council also plans to review and revise their constitution and their committee duties and responsibilities outline.

THE BUSINESS meeting which followed the workshops was chaired by Mrs. Jim Nelson. The proposed budget was presented by Mrs. Glen Magnuson, Concord, council treasurer.

It was announced that Mrs. Jim Nelson will be the Dixon County representative to Omaha Homemakers Recognition Day in May. Alternate is Mrs. Joe Pfister, Newcastle.

Stephanie Unger January bride of Kenneth Daniels

Making their home at 115 1/2 West 3rd St., Wayne, are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Daniels, who were married Jan. 16 in a candlelight service at Peace Lutheran Church in Grand Island.

The bride, nee Stephanie Unger, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold McLellan of Omaha. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Jerold Daniels of Wayne. Groomsman were Rick Mitchell of Columbus, Robert Mitchell of Wayne and Chris May of Grand Island.

Ring bearer was Jason Unger of Grand Island. Candles were lighted by the ushers.

Guests were registered by Jill Manning of Grand Island and ushered into the church by Kenny Gray of Grand Island and Scott Newell of Omaha.

Wedding music included "Endless Love" and "The Wedding Song," sung by Larry Decker and accompanied by Kathy Hornbacher, both of Grand Island.

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a sheer jersey ivory gown with a cathedral train.

The gown was designed with a Schererelli embroidered lace yoke, cuffs and hemline, a satin sash, and pearl buttons down the back.

Her short brimmed hat of Schererelli lace and seed pearls held a floor length veil, and she carried a bouquet of sterling silver roses with baby's breath and greenery.

HONOR ATTENDANTS for the couple were Patricia Gray of Grand Island and Paul Mallette of Hayes, Kan.

Bridesmaids were Molly An

THE BRIDE'S honor attendant wore a raspberry, floor-length gown of crepeback satin, designed with a scooped neck, blouson bodice and elbow-length sleeves.

The bridesmaids wore mauve-colored gowns styled identically to the matron of honor's.

Each carried white roses with baby's breath.

The bridegroom wore an ivory Ashley tuxedo with an ivory wing-tipped collar, satin lapels and satin ascot, and his attendants were attired in tan Ashley tuxedos with ivory wing-tipped collars and matching ascots.

The bride's mother wore a crepe taupe dress in street length, and the bridegroom's mother selected a raspberry crepe dress, also in street length.

A RECEPTION was held at the church following the ceremony. Members of the Church Circle cut and served the cake, which was baked by the bridegroom's mother.

A dance was held that evening at the Grand Island Saddle Club. The bride's uncle, Kenny Gray, entertained guests at the dance with a magic performance.

Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Manning of Grand Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Daniels and Mr. and Mrs. Mick Atkins of Nebraska City. Gifts were arranged by Scott Manning of Grand Island and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Meyer of Wayne.

The bridegroom, a 1974 graduate of Wayne-Carroll High School and a 1981 graduate of Wayne State College, is an instructor at Region IV Services, Norfolk.

THE BRIDE, attended Grand Island Senior High School and

Dietetic assistant classes at NTCC

Two Dietetic Assistant classes, which are part of an 18-unit, 162 hour course, are scheduled at Northeast Technical Community College (NTCC) in February.

"Food Service Industry" (Unit 1) will be held on Thursday, Feb. 11. The cost is $2, plus an optional $15 manual which can be used for all units.

"Cooperation in Food Service" (Unit 11) will be held Feb. 18 and Feb. 25 at a cost of $4.

BOTH UNITS will be in Room 108 of the Activities Center, 7 to 10 p.m., and will be taught by Marie Maas.

Units 3 and 18 will be offered by NTCC pending student interest.

UPON completion of the entire 18-unit course, students will be certified as Food Service Supervisors by the State Department of Health or as School Food Service Managers by the Department of Education.

Preregistration is necessary by Feb. 8. For more information, contact Jean Wubben at NTCC, 371 2020, ext. 238.

ERIC BRINK scores five team points for the Blue Devils with a superior decision.

Right to the wire

Blue Devils come up two points short

One less pin by an Albion wrestler could have been enough for the Wayne Blue Devils to defeat Albion Monday night.

But, the Cardinals escaped with a narrow 30-28 win in a dual between two evenly matched teams.

ALBION WON seven individual matches and Wayne won five. The Blue Devils won two matches by pins, one by forfeit and two by superior decisions. Albion won four by decisions and three by pins.

All that Wayne needed was for one of its three victims by pin to go the distance and lose by decision. That would have cut Albion's team total by three points and given Wayne a 28-27 win.

In fact, if Wayne's Gerald Monk could have scored two more points in his match, it would have been enough to give the hosts a slim victory. Monk lost by two points and Albion earned three team points in the match.

A draw would have given each team two points.

However, it wasn't to be. Albion did what it had to do and wrapped up the match with a win at 167 pounds. The decision gave the visitors an insurmountable 30-27 lead.

WAYNE COACH Don Koenig said that he was satisfied with his team's performance after such a long layoff. The Blue Devils haven't seen any action since a 33-28 dual loss to Wisner Pilger on Jan. 7. That was the only outing for the Wayne wrestling team since Christmas vacation.

Things pick up this week however. Wayne hosted Albion Monday, competed in the Elkhorn Invitational on Tuesday, will wrestle at Wakefield tonight (Thursday), compete in the Albion Invitational Saturday and host Columbus Lakeview Tuesday.

"Considering the long layoff, I thought we wrestled pretty well. It sure would have been nice to beat them," said Koenig.

Koenig said that he and the Albion coach figured before the match that the lightweights were even, Albion would win the middle weights and Wayne would win the heavy weights. And the dual went according to schedule.

CHAD JANKE wasted no time giving Wayne a six-point lead. He pinned Mike Santoneto in 1:35 of the 98 pound match. Albion handed losses to Doug Doescher at 105 and Steve Pospisil at 112 to tie the match.

Then, Jon Jacobmeier, ranked first in Class B, racked up a 13-0 superior decision over David Iverson to give his team five points.

Albion won the next four matches, three by pins to jump out in front 27-11. Todd Dorcely, who did a good job at 138 pounds, was the only Wayne wrestler to lose by decision in the middle weights.

Wayne freshman Tim Book showed lots of promise by pinning Roger Anderson in 3:43 of the 155 pound class to cut Albion's lead to 27-17.

THE 167 POUND match proved to be the deciding match. Wayne's Gerald Monk put forth a fine effort, before losing 6-4 to Albion's sixth ranked Dan Cole.

Monk threatened Cole's ranking and appeared to have the wrestler exhausted and stalling. Cole was warned for stalling with 24 seconds remaining in the match but Monk ran out of time and lost the match by two points.

Trailing, 17-30 with only two matches left, the Blue Devils found themselves out of reach. Kevin Koenig, making his first appearance since a shoulder injury last Dec. 19, was awarded a forfeit at 185 pounds. The freshman is rated third in Class B.

Eric Brink put the final points on the scoreboard with a 16-1 superior decision over Randy Stur in the heavyweight class. Brink put his opponent on his back several times but couldn't force a pin.

The superior decision gave the Devils five points, just one less than a pin.

132—Wayne's Terry Gilliland lost by pin in 1:05 to Kip Weber.

138—Wayne's Todd Dorcely lost in 2:27 decision to Doug Evans.

145—Wayne's John Carhart lost by pin in 4:46 to Kelly Iverson.

155—Wayne's Tim Book won by pin in 3:11 over Roger Anderson.

167—Wayne's Gerald Monk lost a 6-4 decision to Dan Cole.

185—Wayne's Kevin Koenig won by forfeit.

Heavyweight—Wayne's Eric Brink won a 16-1 superior decision over Randy Stur.

Junior varsity results

105—Wayne's Terry Schultz lost a 15-3 decision to Mark Stamp.

126—Wayne's Kelley Echtenkamp lost a 9-5 decision to Kevin Bader.

155—Wayne's Sean Dorcely won a 10-5 decision over John Kennedy.

Lewis Division play

Eagles' victory advances girls into semifinal round

The Allen girls got a mediocre offensive performance out of their systems Tuesday and still advanced into the second round of the Lewis & Clark Conference Tournament. The Eagles eliminated Bancroft from the Lewis Division competition with a 32-21 win.

Allen held Bancroft's 6-0 center Jill Samuelson to 11 points and Troth said he hoped the defensive play would carry over against Emerson's 6-0 center Mary Walsh. However, Troth pointed out that Emerson is a much more balanced ball club than Bancroft.

"We'll have to play real, real solid," said Troth prior to Wednesday's semifinal game. "We have had no preparation time because of the postponements. We need to move the ball better against Emerson."

Shelly Williams led the Eagles with 13 points and eight rebounds. Michelle Herder also pulled down eight rebounds.

Troth said that his team worked the ball fairly well but missed its shots. Allen's press was ineffective, he stated.

Allen boys are eliminated by Ponca's hot shooting

In first round play of the Lewis & Clark Conference Tournament, Ponca eliminated Allen 68-40 Tuesday in the Lewis Division boys competition played at Homer.

The Eagles fell behind early and found themselves playing catchup through the remainder of the ball game. Ponca held a six-point edge after one quarter and a 14-point lead at the half.

"We couldn't get our shots to drop. They rolled around the rim and dropped off," explained Allen coach Dan Looe.

No Allen players hit double figures but four were close. Robb Linafelter scored nine, Dennis Smith and Troy Herder each scored eight and Derwin Roberts added seven. Leading rebounders were Linafelter with nine and Roberts with eight. One Allen varsity player, Leonard Wood, has quit the team.

Ponca held a slight rebounding edge of 31 to 28 but outshot the Eagles. Ponca hit 48 percent of its shots while Allen connected on only 28 percent.

The winners padded their final margin with a 27-12 advantage in the fourth quarter. Most of those points were scored on Allen's reserves. Keith Curry scored 21 points and Brian Malcom scored 12 to lead the Indians.

One of the bright spots of the game came in the third quarter when the Eagles held Ponca to two points over a 5 1/2 minute period of time. However, Allen also struggled offensively during that time.

"Defensively, we did a good job in the third quarter," said Looe.

The Eagles are scheduled to play at Emerson-Hubbard next Friday (Feb. 5).

Championship finally held

Improving Laurel peaks to win Ponca Tournament

When Ponca let Laurel into its basketball tournament last year, it may have made a mistake.

The Bears won last year's tournament and then came back this year to knock off Ponca to repeat as champions. The championship game was postponed three times due to weather but was finally played last Thursday and Laurel came through with a 44-20 win.

"It was a good win against a real good, experienced team. Ponca has good leadership, experience and some size," Laurel coach Joel Parks said. "The kids are happy with the win and proud of it."

AT THE END of one half, it appeared the hosts were on their way to winning their own tournament. Ponca led 24-17 at the midway mark.

It was a third quarter surge that got Laurel untracked and sparked the comeback. The Bears outscored the Indians 10-4 in that period to pull within one point. A 17-12 advantage in the final quarter gave the Bears the championship victory.

"We weren't real aggressive on defensive in the first half," said Parks whose ball club trailed by nine points at one time in the second quarter and again in the third. "We became more aggressive defensively in the second half."

Laurel's full court press became more effective in the second half, forcing turnovers and setting up steals. The Laurel Puffery reached its peak with about 5-30 remaining in the game when the Bears took the lead.

THE TURNAROUND in the game occurred in a short period of time and was sparked by a couple of key steals and baskets. "We made the most of it. We had the momentum at the end," Parks said.

Dave and Brian Marquardt hit important baskets as Laurel built its lead to nine points at one time in the fourth quarter. Ponca rallied late in the game but Phil Martin's layup with 25 seconds left sealed the victory.

"The big difference was our aggressive defensive play in the second half. We did play a pretty good game," said Parks.

Free throws proved to be a deciding factor in the game. The Bears hit 8 of 14 free throws and sent Ponca to the line only eight times. The hosts hit only two of those opportunities. Rebounding was even and both teams shot well from the floor. Laurel hit 44 percent of its shots and Ponca made 43 percent.

Martin led all scorers with 15 points and Brian Marquardt scored 10 for the Bears. Martin, Kelly Robson and Brian Marquardt each grabbed four rebounds.

police report

Someone went on a window-breaking spree in downtown Wayne early Saturday morning. When the Wayne Police Department arrived at the scene, about 1 a.m., large windows had been broken at the H&R Block office, 108 1/2 Main Street, and at Karel's Furniture store, 113 Main Street.

In addition, a glass panel was broken at the H&R Block office, according to police.

POLICE ARE investigating, but no arrests have been made. Most business in downtown Wayne had closed Friday afternoon as a January blizzard rolled through northeast Nebraska dumping upwards of 16 inches of snow on the city.

However, several bars remained open until the legal closing hour of 1 a.m.

The H&R Block window breakage was reported at 12:58 a.m. The Karel's Furniture store window breakage was reported at 1:04 a.m.

ON TUESDAY, police investigated the theft of a tool box and tire chains from a pickup owned by Kent Wilke of rural Wayne.

Wilke's pickup was parked in the 100 Block of Main Street at the time of the incident. Wilke reported the theft to police at 11 a.m.

Also, police arrested a male suspect in connection with a shoplifting incident at Sav-Mor Drug Store at 2:50 p.m. Tuesday. In addition, police investigated a two-car accident at the intersection of Third Street east and Nebraska Street at 12:10 p.m. Tuesday.

ACCORDING TO police accident reports, a 1977 Chevrolet, driven by Duane F. Havrda of Wayne, and a 1981 Buick, driven by Mary Jane McCullough of Wayne, collided at the intersection.

The Havrda car was eastbound on Third Street east. The McCullough car was northbound on Nebraska.

Police said the drivers were unable to see each other because of snow piled on the corner of the intersection.

POLICE ALSO investigated two accidents — one Monday and one Sunday — in the 100 Block of Second Street east.

On Monday, police were called to the scene of a two-car accident about 4:10 p.m. between William Reed and John B. Addison, both of Wayne.

Police said the Addison car, a 1978 Subaru, was backing from a parking space on the north side of the street when it collided with the westbound Reed car, a 1979 Oldsmobile.

ON SUNDAY, police were called to the scene of a car-tractor accident in front of Taco Del Sol at 9:45 p.m.

According to police, the IHC tractor, driven by Charles M. Rezek of Wayne, backed into a parked 1974 Pontiac owned by Terry L. Warren of Wayne.

Wayne native gets Air Force promotion

A former Wayne resident has been promoted to the rank of brigadier general with the U.S. Air Force.

President Ronald Reagan recently approved the selection of Col. James B. Davis, a graduate of Wayne High School, for brigadier general.

Davis, who also attended Wayne State College; is the son of Mary Ellen Davis of Costa Mesa, Ariz.

THE WAYNE native is currently serving as deputy chief of staff for personnel at Headquarters Tactical Air Command, Langley Air Force Base in Virginia.

Davis is a command pilot with more than 4,000 flying hours, including 100 combat missions over North Vietnam.

He received a regular commission as second lieutenant in the Air Force after graduating from the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., in June of 1958.

A DISTINGUISHED graduate of the Air War College, Davis has a masters degree in public administration from Auburn University in Alabama.

He has directed personnel matters for the Tactical Air Command since June of 1980.

Police issue December report

Slick streets slow city speeders

Slick streets may have helped reduce the number of speeding violations handled by the Wayne Police Department during December.

According to the department's monthly report, only 11 arrests were made for speeding during December.

In addition, police issued only six warnings to speeding motorists during the month.

DESPITE THE decline in speeding violations for the month, parking violations to 143, some 33 more than the 110 logged for December of 1980.

Police also issued 21 parking violation warnings during December.

The highest number of warnings came for church parking only violations. Police warned seven motorists in that category.

The most frequent parking ticket violation involved 87 motorists. Police cited them for violation of the ban on parking between midnight and 5 a.m.

SIXTEEN TICKETS were issued for parking beyond the 24-hour limit and 15 tickets were issued for no parking between 3 and 5:30 a.m.

Another 15 tickets were issued for parking on the wrong side of the street.

Six warnings were issued for parking beyond the 24-hour limit and four warnings were issued to motorists for parking with the left side of their vehicle to the curb.

In addition to the six speeding warnings, police issued warnings for two illegal U-turns and two traffic signal violations.

Other warnings were issued for careless driving, failure to yield and failure to dim lights.

FOUR RESIDENTS received warnings for failure to remove snow from sidewalks and two were warned about dogs at large.

Police issued a total of 40 warnings during December compared to 32 issued for the same month in 1980.

Also, police issued a total of 13 violation cards during the month including five for no headlights.

Three violation cards were issued for invalid inspection stickers and one each for no registration, no license plate, expired license plate, no drivers license and no taillight.

Two of the cards were returned with the violation corrected. The same number of violation cards were issued in December of 1980.

DURING THE month, police made five arrests for criminal mischief, five for failure to dispose of parking tickets within five days and two for invalid registration.

In all, 28 arrests were made during December compared to 23 for December of 1980. A total of $312 in fines were collected.

The five arrested for criminal mischief received probation and were ordered to make restitution.

Police had 23 cases still on the court docket when December started. The cases were disposed of during the month.

Uniformed officers worked a total of 694 1/2 hours during December, somewhat off the 755-hour pace set during December of 1980.

RADIO DISPATCHERS worked 761 hours, compared to 744 during December of 1980.

Police handled 122 complaints or calls for service during the month, compared to 128 in December of 1980.

And, the department handled 762 telephone messages during the month. Of those messages, 42 were on the 911 emergency line.

Police considered 31 of those legitimate emergencies.

Some 377 teletype messages were sent and 1,847 teletype messages were received.

Police handled eight criminal complaints and impounded three animals (dogs). Six automobiles were impounded during the month.

POLICE CRUISERS logged 2,642 miles during December, compared to 3,263 during the same month in 1980.

And, 313.9 gallons of gas were used, compared to 386.8 during December of 1980.

Vehicle expenses (gas, oil and tires) for the month totaled $2,919.65. And, equipment maintenance cost the department $70.43.

Police were called to the scene of 18 traffic accidents on public streets and six on private property during the month.

Expenses to date totaled $80,515.57, leaving a balance for the fiscal year of $170,840.43.

Marchers expected in Wayne

A group of about 16 marchers dedicated to international disarmament is expected to arrive in Wayne late Saturday afternoon.

Wayne State College's Campus Ministry, Gamma Delta and Newman Club are joining together to host the marchers.

An open forum has been scheduled from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Saturday at the Campus Ministry house for the public.

TWO SLIDE shows will be presented, one on Hiroshima and the effects of nuclear weapons and the other on uranium mining in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

The marchers are part of an international March for Peace that began in the United States in October.

Groups marching on five different courses are expected to converge in New York City on June 5 to show support for the United Nations special session on disarmament.

Monday through Friday menu

Meals offered at Senior Center

There is always a hot plate at the dining table in the Wayne Senior Center.

A number of Wayne seniors, 60 years of age or older, are taking advantage of the center's congregate meals, according to Georgia Janssen, center coordinator.

However, there is always room for more. She said.

ACCORDING TO Janssen, the center has a plate at the table for every senior. The meals are served from 11:30 a.m. Monday through Friday at the center, which is in the basement of City Hall, according to Janssen.

She said the meals are priced according to the seniors' ability to pay. "It's a donation deal," she added.

Trained cooks and dieticians at Providence Medical Center plan, prepare and cook the meals.

THE MEALS ARE delivered ready to eat with the center providing the tableware and utensils, Janssen said.

Seniors wanting to take part in the congregate noon meal program must make reservations by 1 p.m. on the day before they plan to join their friends for lunch at the center, Janssen explained.

Reservations may be made by calling the center at 375-1460. The menu for each meal of the week appears in the Monday edition of The Wayne Herald.

Homemaker School set for Feb. 11

Don't forget to set aside time to participate in the 1982 Homemakers School on Thursday, Feb. 11.

Circle that date on your calendar, because homemakers from throughout the Wayne area will be at the city auditorium on that day for an afternoon of cooking demonstrations.

The program gets underway at 1 p.m., but auditorium doors will swing open at 12:30 p.m., so area homemakers can find a seat in the full-house crowd expected.

MORE THAN 40 Wayne merchants have joined The Wayne Herald to co-sponsor the Homemakers School.

Free coupons and a 1982 cookbook will be given to each homemaker attending the session.

A variety of door prizes, including 21 bags of groceries, will be awarded.

Nancy Mann of Bozeman, Mont., a specialist with Homemakers Schools of Madison, Wis., will be offering cooking tips and demonstrating homemaking techniques.

Get the drift?

The blizzard that struck northeast Nebraska this past week brought back memories of snowstorms of years ago. After two consecutive mild winters, a blizzard was overdue.

The snowstorm did its damage and it appears its mark will be left behind for quite some time. Highways and county roads were blocked by the snow and reblocked when strong winds hit the area Sunday evening. Drifts left residents scooping, snow blowing and using large equipment to clear driveways, free automobiles and open sidewalks.

In top photo, cattle take advantage of their partially clear lot while one large snow drift guards against a strong north wind.

of Ervin and Marie Hagemann.

Many residents were awakened by thunder and flashes of lightning last Friday morning when the blizzard was in full force. The lightning did damage to a light pole (lower, left photo) north and east of Wayne and temporarily put a stop to electricity.

Snow removal was a large chore for the city of Wayne. In photo below, a pile of snow is moved off of the street to a place where it will be out of the way until it melts.

Wayne State College students who had cars parked in the Rice Auditorium parking lot have lots of work ahead before their car can be moved. The lot was packed full of snow Monday and the vehicles parked there were going nowhere. Only the tops of some cars could be seen in the area.

Thone's egg-money plan may feather re-election bid

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association
If you haven't heard by now, Gov. Charles Thone has made it official: He wants to help you save "egg money" for another four years.

percent lower than when I became governor, Thone said. "That will provide a lot of egg money for all Nebraskans."
Fiscal restraint was among the issues Thone raised when he convened reporters in Omaha recently to officially announce his candidacy for re-election. The announcement was no surprise; administration officials for months have been saying Thone would seek a second four-year term.

"IF I AM RE-ELECTED as governor, and I expect to be, I don't plan ever again to be a candidate for any public office," Thone said.
Thone's involvement in politics dates to the late 1940s. He was elected president of the University of Nebraska Young Republicans in 1949 and didn't stop at that.

mind-blasting lawmaker when he thought it necessary: Thone pledged cooperation with senators, not confrontation.
The contrasts are many, but Thone now is in his fourth year as governor and has established himself to the point where people don't compare him to Exon as much as they did in 1979.
JUST LIKE WITH any governor, several things come immediately to mind among the chief executive's accomplishments. Although Thone often is criticized for being indecisive, he has taken a position on several key issues.

Some ordered changes were substantial, and the issue would up in court. But Thone and the board were victors.
Thone now seems intent on feminizing Nebraskans about his fiscal restraint and desire to maintain existing tax rates.
When he announced his candidacy, he pledged: "I will continue to seek tight-fisted government. I will continue to deliver honest and open government. My experience will equip me to provide common sense leadership."
And, of course, Thone wants to help you save your "egg money."

ago. In addition to this year's 403, lawmakers still have to deal with 92 bills left over from last year's 90-day session.
But 403 won't be the final figure for the 1982 session. Bills sponsored on behalf of the governor and budget bills can still be introduced. Plus, lawmakers or committees can throw bills into the hopper after the 10-day limit if they get permission from 30 senators.
Lawmakers earlier this session refused to amend their rules to limit the number of bills a senator can introduce. The ongoing debate about bill introductions and limitations resurfaces often, and it can be expected to continue down the road.

Digging out

As city residents continue to dig out from the deluge of snow brought by the Blizzard of '82 this week, it seems appropriate to note that Wayne survived the weekend ordeal with characteristic calm.
Perhaps it is the mark of Midwesterners to deal rationally and responsibly with situations that, to others, have all the elements of an emergency.
Certainly, the Wayne area received its fair share of snow during the blizzard. And, certainly, there was a potential danger to life in the way that snowfall arrived.

Fortunately, the majority of Wayne residents abides by the law and works with the city crews in an all out effort to dig out after big blizzards.
Those who cannot find it in themselves to cooperate might be reminded that, had there been a weekend emergency, their abandoned vehicle or misfiring snow could have spelled the difference between life and death for someone - maybe a friend or neighbor.
Hopefully, the sorry saga of a few is far outweighed by the public spirited helpfulness of those who pitched in to help the city dig out.

That, neighbors, was encouraging to see.

another viewpoint

A farmer is...

A farmer is a man who wears out two pairs of overalls growing enough cotton for one.
A farmer starts every year with nothing, loses everything he grows and at the end of the year comes out even.
Farmers are made of bent nails, rusty horseshoes, barbed wire and calluses.
During planting time and harvest season, he finishes his 40-hour week by Tuesday noon; then, he puts in another 72.
He can make a harness out of haywire, feedbags and shoe scraps. He grows corn and melons mostly to make crows fat.

Proposed rollback matches federal drop

Income tax cuts on the line

Further cuts in the Nebraska personal income tax rate now hang in the balance.
As governor I have proposed them. The legislature must now deal with my proposals that would allow state personal income tax rates to be cut approximately 30 percent below the 1979 level.
DURING 1980 and 1981 Nebraskans kept more than $100 million that otherwise would have been taken by state government. That was because expenditures were held low enough to allow a 1.6 percent cut in state personal income tax rates.
The budget I have proposed allows the state personal income tax liability to be lowered, matching the 5 percent federal cut now in effect and the additional 10 percent cut coming July 1. These two state income tax cuts this year together, with the one in effect for two years, would make the effective tax approximately 30 percent lower than in 1979.

During the eight years before I became governor, state spending increased at an average of about 14 percent per year. During my first three years as governor, state spending increases were held to about 7 percent per year. For the year beginning July 1, I have asked that the increase in state spending be held to 4 percent. Lowering of inflation makes feasible a lower rate of growth in state government spending.

BUDGET CUTBACKS

are, the chief means of achieving the new cuts in state personal income tax rates. Some tax adjustments are also necessary, especially for corporate taxes.
Income taxes on corporations had paid about 9 1/2 percent of the total going into the state general fund in 1978. Because the federal income tax cuts automatically cut the state corporate tax, it is estimated that if no adjustment were made state corporate income taxes would make up only 7.7 percent of state general fund receipts in 1983. The increase I have proposed would stop the decline in the corporate share of the state tax burden.
A number of state senators want to keep spending rising at rates as high or higher than recent years. If they get their way, additional state personal income tax cuts can't be achieved. Citizens should let their senators know whether they want more government growth or state personal income tax cuts.

letters welcome

Letters from readers are welcome. They should be timely, brief and must contain no libelous statements. We reserve the right to edit or reject any letter.
Letters may be published with a pseudonym or with the author's name omitted if so desired. However, the writer's signature must be a part of the original letter. Unsigned letters will not be printed.

To the editor:
The purpose of this letter is to let the merchants of Wayne know the main topic of conversations going on in Wayne these days. Many groups are discussing the need for a public restroom and also the need for a chair or bench to sit and rest upon, while shopping. None of these seem available in Wayne as far as we know - except, of course, those at a shoe store, a cafe, or a drug store (while a prescription is being processed).
A public restroom is especially needed for young mothers coming into Wayne to shop and have small children with them. It is going to continue to be necessary for those mothers to haul their own "potty chair" to town each and every trip they need to make?
The elderly folk also often need a restroom while down town shopping; and certainly they also need a bench or chair to sit upon to rest a while as they do their shopping. Are the merchants aware that any person, regardless of age, might shop longer in their store, and thus spend more money, if a chair were only provided for them to rest upon a minute or so?
It is well known that the reason for no restrooms being available these days is the simple reason that they have been abused by careless people. There is a very simple remedy for that: each merchant could hire a cleaning lady for 30 or 45 minutes a day and the problem would be solved.
Are the Wayne merchants honestly concerned about the comforts of their patrons - or could it be the only thing they are interested in is the green folding money? We enjoy their air conditioning in hot weather and the heating system in frigid temperatures, but how nice it would be to have a restroom and a bench to use.
I hope others will write and send in some answers as many people are interested in this. Many out of town merchants have both of these things for their patrons, so why don't or can't Wayne have them too?
I hope this letter will be printed. I am signing it, but I wish my name to be withheld.
Name withheld on request

To the editor:
We would like to thank all of the people of the community for all of your concern about Katrina Lee and myself. We are both doing just great.
We would also like to give a very special thanks to the Allen Fire Department and to all of the guys who brought out their four-wheelers to help us try to get through that night, and then again that next day when we did finally make it through. Thanks to Skinny Wheeler, township snowplow, Dale Taylor Jr. and Rick Smith, the county snowplow, and the Nebraska State plow from Wayne.
They all worked very hard to make way for us to get to the Wakefield hospital.
We would also like to thank all of the nurses at the Wakefield Hospital for all of their kindness while we were there.
And, last of all, I would like to thank Dr. Max Coe for staying on the phone all the time during my delivery, which was made possible by five very important people who we will never forget and always feel close to.
They are Gary Troth, Carol Chase and Pearl, Bill and Pete Snyder. We don't know what we would do, or do without them. You would not have even known it was their first time if they wouldn't have told. They were the greatest doctors I have ever had. It was a job well done.
We'd like to thank our families for being so concerned, and Shawne Dickens and Tania Hansen for babysitting while I was in the hospital.
Thank you everyone. We didn't know so many people could care so much, but now we do.

Oats is an important crop in northeast Nebraska so it's essential that you pick an oat variety that will fit your particular farm...
Some factors, besides yield, that should be considered when selecting an oat variety include maturity date, straw strength and bushel test weight.

Table with 5 columns: Variety, Maturity, Relative Straw Strength, Relative Bushel Weight, Relative Height. Lists various oat varieties like Bates, Benson, Burnett, etc.

*Varieties that are mentioned in this article.

Yield is certainly very important. Yield, bushel test weights, and other characteristics are shown in Table 2 for Northeast Nebraska.

Clearing his driveway

LAST WEEK'S blizzard dumped more than a foot of snow on the Wayne area and strong winds were responsible for heavy drifting. Here, Delmar Heithold of rural Wayne cleans off his driveway Monday as his dog checks out the situation. Fields had plenty of cover yet on Wednesday as temperatures rose above the freezing mark.

Scientists studying fat content

University of Nebraska animal scientists working on projects supported by funds from the Nebraska Pork Producers Association delivered progress reports on their work at the recent NPPA annual meeting.

A project led by Dr. Roger Mandigo is designed to determine if manufactured meal products can be made from pork with lowered fat content, without sacrificing overall quality and eating properties.

The goal is not to eliminate all the fat, Dr. Mandigo emphasized, noting that it is an excellent energy source. "We are trying to adjust fat content but not at the cost of flavor, texture and juiciness of the end product," he explained.

Preliminary studies have involved determining the effect on texture when fat content is changed. Fat can be a factor in controlling the economics of a product, as well as manipulating texture, juiciness and flavor, Dr. Mandigo stated.

"Fat improves flavor," he said, which aids palatability and texture in assuring its contribution in providing tasty meat products for the consumer.

Larry Himmelberg, graduate assistant in swine nutrition, discussed research comparing the merits of complex vs. simple starter diets for pigs. Light weight weanling pigs pose a problem for many swine producers, Himmelberg reported.

Complex diets high in milk products may help alleviate this management problem, he suggested. NU researchers conducted research to determine the effect of diet and pig weaning weight on the performance of 3 week old pigs. Lightweight pigs less than 14 pounds initially fed a complex diet for 5, 10, 15 or 20 days post weaning and then switched to a simpler, corn soybean meal based diet, gained 21.7, 24.0, 24.7 and 29.3 pounds, respectively, over a 34 day period.

Heavyweight pigs (greater than 14 pounds), showed no improvement in gain by being fed a complex diet for more than five days.

Their weight gains for the four switch days were 26.2, 25.5, 27.0 and 25.5 pounds, respectively. Because of the increased costs for complex diets, individual swine producers must determine if the relative benefits are economically feasible," Himmelberg said.

Dr. Dwane Zimmerman, professor of animal science specializing in breeding and genetics research, reported on the effect of photoperiod (day length and light intensity) on age of puberty in gilts.

Expression of first estrus (puberty) is delayed in gilts reared in total confinement as compared to gilts reared outside. But the factor(s) in the confinement environment that are lacking or are inhibitory to the expression of first estrus have not been identified, Zimmerman said.

Inadequate light exposure (duration and intensity of daily light period) has been suggested as a causative factor since season is known to influence puberty exposure," Zimmerman noted.

Canadian researchers have found that day length is important to pubertal development in gilts but data from the current Nebraska study, supported by Nebraska Pork Producers Association, and previous Nebraska studies have failed to confirm their findings, the NU researcher said.

In the present study, gilts subjected to an extended photoperiod, 16 hours of light (daily) starting at 31 months of age, attained puberty at approximately the same age as gilts provided only six hours of light exposure each day. In addition, 4 to 7 fold increases in light intensity failed to influence the expression of first estrus. Hair growth increased in response to decreased photoperiod but was not affected by differences in light intensity, Zimmerman concluded.

Heating precautions

Efforts to cut costs could cause problems

Efforts by homeowners and livestock producers to cut costs of heating fuels may lead to health hazards for both humans and animals, unless proper precautions are taken, a University of Nebraska staff member said this week.

Gerald E. Bodman, Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources extension agricultural engineer, said "the desire to reduce costs has in some cases led to the installation of heating systems which may adversely affect livestock production or pose serious health hazards for building occupants."

Burning of liquid, gaseous, or solid fuels requires an adequate supply of air in order to provide sufficient oxygen for complete combustion, Bodman said. "Unfortunately, 'complete' in this case means something less than 94 percent since the most efficient combustion process developed still results in approximately 6 percent of the fuel entering the building space or being discharged as unburned hydrocarbons," he explained. "Additionally, as fuel orifices become enlarged due to fuel flowing through them or as air inlet openings become partially clogged, the proper ratio of air and fuel for complete combustion may not exist. The result is usually an increase in carbon monoxide."

follow if fresh air is not provided. "The threat of this situation developing increases as our homes become tighter due to weather stripping and caulking and is particularly harmful and threatening when we begin using unvented gaseous, solid or liquid fuel heating systems in homes or in poorly ventilated livestock facilities," Bodman stressed.

The National Fire Protection Association states that in order to assure freedom from carbon monoxide poisoning, no unvented heater may be used in any space designed for human occupancy, he said. "While some people will perceive this as a rule or recommendation to limit their options or perhaps even to jeopardize their business, the real motivating force is the safety of humans or livestock," as the case may be, he said.

In residential structures, the risk is probably greatest when unvented heating systems are used in houses originally designed as all-electric homes," Bodman said. "The risk increases because the chimney, which serves as a flue to discharge air from the inside of the home and hence to allow air to infiltrate through other parts of the home, is absent in many all-electric homes," he pointed out. "Additionally, many of these homes were built with tighter type construction than is typical of Nebraska homes."

Persons having questions about the legality of using unvented heaters in Nebraska should call the State Fire Marshal's office, Bodman recommended. "Under no circumstances should unvented heating units be allowed to operate while the occupants of the home are asleep," Bodman concluded.

Table with 5 columns: Variety, Maturity, Relative Straw Strength, Relative Bushel Weight, Relative Height. Lists various oat varieties like Bates, Benson, Burnett, etc.

Average yields in parenthesis are for 1978-1981 in Dixon and Cedar County. *These varieties are mentioned in this article.

This variety of certified seed oats is available from growers in Wayne County. Many of the other varieties would also be available in adjacent counties. List of certified seed growers is available from the Wayne County Extension Office.

Ogle is the newest variety released in Nebraska. This oat when compared to Lang is higher yielding about 2 days later, equal or slightly taller in height and about equal in test weight. The grain is yellow in color.

Lancer is a variety released in Nebraska in 1979 that was developed in South Dakota. It is medium in maturity, straw strength and height. Lancer has been one of the top yielders in northeast Nebraska tests and also has had one of the higher protein and test weights of all varieties tested. It is a white oat.

Another variety that has been popular in this area for the last couple of years is Lang. Lang is an early yellow oat with strong straw strength and high bushel weight with good protein and tall height that would be an excellent choice for silage production. Burnett is also a good variety for silage and has been popular when a faller oat is required.

Benson is a medium late white oat variety with medium straw strength and high bushel weight with good protein and tall height that would be an excellent choice for silage production. Burnett is also a good variety for silage and has been popular when a faller oat is required.

These are only a few of the good varieties that are available for planting in northeast Nebraska.

If you are still planting a bin run oat variety that has been around for a while, now would be a good time to change. Many of the new varieties will out yield some of the older varieties by 15-20% or even more. Locally grown certified seed is available for many of these varieties. Ask the Wayne County Extension Office for the 1981 Grower Directory.

AFTER INVENTORY SALE

THURSDAY—FRIDAY—SATURDAY—MONDAY

Don't Do Anything Else Thursday, January 28th From 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

But Come To Discount Furniture's Gigantic Sale!

"4 Big Days"

HERE WE GO AGAIN. This is the time of year that the people at DISCOUNT go a little crazy. This is really a chance to save a good sum of money and get a worthwhile investment with it. If you need furniture for any part of your home... and want to really save, now is the time and Discount Furniture Home Furnishings is the place! This special event is going to be for a limited time only... 4 Big Days Only, so be here when the doors open Thursday morning at 9 a.m.

Looking over our merchandise after inventory, we find we have got to get rid of a lot of merchandise because we just returned from the Dallas Furniture Market and we need the room for all the new merchandise that will be arriving soon. Some items have been here too long or some are being discontinued so we are not just reducing prices but are slashing, hacking or whatever you may call it but we are going to get rid of this furniture. If you want a real bargain, now is the time to buy.

Well enough of this jabber... Let's get down to the nitty gritty. OUR CRAZY UNBELIEVABLE SALE PRICES. Yes, they are crazy, but we're going to move a lot of furniture now.

Ouch! It's great furniture for your family room. They changed the style on this Jan. 1 and we are down to our last set, so it's going to go. Look at this sofa and matching chair, 2 lamp tables and one cocktail table. All 5 pieces for just $399.95. Now you know we mean business!

Here's a real value for you. La-z-Boy Rocker/Recliner. A regular $314.00 value and it is yours for only $199.88. So get here early!

Oh Yes... everything is reduced. Just take a look! We are sure you will find something you want.

Need a new dinette?? All our stock of dinettes are on sale. For example a 5 pc. Chromcraft set with 4 swivel chairs. Reg. $699.95, for only $399.95... or this Daystrom 5 pc. set, originally $439.95, only $199.95. The two best brand name dinette furniture on the market today and all at fantastic prices that can't be beat.

SOFAS... SLEEPERS... CHAIRS... DRUMS DRUMS??? No, not really but we've got everything else you could want for your living room. At Discount Furniture we're drumming out prices like these: A Charles sofa in rich luxury velvet that was tagged $829.95 which we're giving away for $319.95. Or a Mastercraft sofa, regularly $1,030.00. Tagged to go for only $599.95. You have to haul this Southland sofa yourself, Regularly $799.95, Only $465.00. Now you must know we mean business. OR how about this Early American Sofa by Kroehler, Reg. $729.95, only $469.95. Or this Southland Sofa which was Reg. $639.95. Now only $359.95. And the story goes on and on.

WE'VE GOT THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS WORTH OF FURNISHINGS THAT MUST GO NOW... Our display floors and warehouses are jammed packed and now is your chance to save on hundreds of items at giveaway prices... Some haven't been sold... some have been lost in the warehouse... some are discontinued... some left odd. We have to move them, NOW.

Use your credit - 90 days same as cash or take 36 months to pay!
4 Days only - January 28-29-30-February 1 - Thursday 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Of course not everything is half off... but in no way will you pay regular price for any item in the store... For 4 days you'll find the best bargains of the year... We must sell hundreds of items that tie up our space and money... prices are not just reduced... PRICES ARE DROPPED, SMASHED, SLASHED... TO GET RID OF THESE ODDS AND ENDS, DISCS AND ONE-OF-A-KIND GEMS... HERE'S ANOTHER EXAMPLE: Solid Oak Kroehler Desk with a slightly damaged top. Reg. $369.95. You can have it for only $249.95

WOW!!! Ever thought your bed was too hard or too soft. Get with the times and get the latest in floatation sleep. Complete set up and delivery includes everything you need for only $299.95.

Reading this far, you will know that we are serious... We have truckloads of fine furniture that we intend to sell (or should we say, give away) in 4 days and it has to go.

Looking for a good regular or queen size Sofa-Sleeper? Choose from brand names you can trust for quality. Many in stock to choose from with sale prices as low as this Mastercraft Sleeper with innerspring mattress that was reg. $770.00. Now Only $399.95. Our building and warehouses are loaded with furniture so, of course, we can't possibly list all the items but we can assure you that our prices are right and lowest in Northeast Nebraska.

In our Bedroom Department, we have a terrific all wood dresser with mirror, door chest and headboard that was tagged at $575.95. Be sure to see this for only $369.95 or how about this solid pine triple dresser and hutch mirror, 5 drawer chest and matching headboard that was $1,169.95, but is going to go within the next 5 days for only $738.88. Seeing is believing, so stop and look at the rest of the fantastic buys we have, some as low as $299.95 for all 3 pieces and it has a door chest, crazy? Almost, but it is a fantastic buy.

When it comes to recliners we have only the best! La-z-Boy starting at $199.88. See for yourself, there is a difference. But we do have less expensive ones you can buy for only $99.95. Over 65 styles, colors, fabrics on our show room floor. Don't miss these.

We found some odd and discontinued merchandise we didn't know we had. These are specially priced, see them now! Most are reduced half or more. Sofas, end tables, table lamps, rockers. Check these out because they are going to go. Like we said before, this is a Crazy Sale.

To sum it all up, we say there is no one that can beat our prices no matter how they try. We sell only quality merchandise for the lowest prices anywhere. So take advantage of this crazy sale and enjoy a better looking home while saving money. We have any credit plan to fit your budget and free delivery and set up at no extra charge.

HOLD IT! If you haven't read this before you turn the page, you may have missed the savings of your life! Don't stop to think about it, be here 9 a.m. Thursday when the doors open.

COMMUNITY IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM
The Community Improvement Program held its first meeting of the year on Jan. 20 at the Winside Stop Inn with 14 members present.

The group elected officers. Gloria Lessman was selected for the position of chairman; Marilyn Morse is the new vice chairman; Kelly Leighton is the secretary and Curt Jeffries is the treasurer.

This year it was decided to have a person who will be in charge of getting word out to everyone on decisions that have been made. Ron Leapley will be the publicity chairman. The group also will have Shawn Bofel for a photographer.

Playground equipment was one of the major topics. There was a committee set up at the end of last year to come up with useful equipment. They will be going ahead with measuring space and clearing it with the board.

The group will be participating in the NICP Program.

Also discussed was the survey entitled the development project report.

One of the final topics brought up was the use of private donations. No voting took place. It will be discussed more at the next meeting.

The next meeting will be Feb. 17 at 7:30 at the Winside Stop Inn. Everyone who is interested is invited to attend this meeting.

Kelly Leighton, secretary.

CENTER CIRCLE CLUBS
The Center Circle Club met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Marie Suehl with 12 members present.

Roll call was what you received for Christmas. The birthday song was sung for Mrs. George Jaeger.

Blind pitch was played for entertainment with Mrs. Marvin Andersen receiving high prize.

Mrs. Alfred Janke, second high and Mrs. William Holtzow, low.

The next meeting will be Feb. 18 with Mrs. Jo Thompson as hostess.

Roll call will be to bring a Valentine for your mystery pal.

RETURNED HOME
Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dangberg returned home Sunday from a 14 day vacation visiting Leland Lowry of Gultala, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Frye of Moore, Okla., the Ervin Jaegers at Mesa, Ariz., the Conn. Roberts family, Miss Emma Kant and the Donald Clarkson family, all in the Phoenix, Ariz. area.

In the Los Angeles area, they visited Vivian Nissen, Rose Walker, Mildred Smith and Dennis Dangberg.

THE NEW TAX-DEFERRED INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNTS-IRAs.

It's nice to have someone take care of you.

But it's even nicer to feel confident that you can take care of yourself. Especially when you retire.

To start building that confidence, talk to the professionals at the State National Bank about setting up a tax-deferred Individual Retirement Account (IRA).

Starting in 1982, IRAs will be available to almost everyone (even individuals already covered by a company pension).

With the new IRAs, you as an individual may deposit up to $2,000 a year.

We'll even help you set up a convenient payment schedule.

Letting you make your deposits by the week, by the month, or whatever suits you best.

You then deduct the annual

Landowners get $40 per acre for terracing

Lower Elkhorn NRD is again offering landowners $40 per acre payments for terracing fields during the summer months. The Lands for Conservation Program was initiated in 1976 to increase terrace building, and in FY 1982 $43,920 was paid to landowners throughout the NRD. Most of those landowners also harvested a crop of oats from the contract area, received technical help from the Soil Conservation Service, and cost share payments from ASCS and Lower Elkhorn NRD.

PURPOSE

Present day agriculture has pressed much land into production that should not be in production, until it is terraced to control water runoff and erosion.

Terrace construction can be done only when the ground is not frozen which causes a conflict with farming operations. Contractors have time to do only part of the planned terraces before corn planting time or after harvest. Therefore, the other landowners must wait until next year, plant late, or destroy part of their crop in constructing terraces during the growing season. The Lands for Conservation program increases terrace building by making fields available when the contractors can do the construction.

RULES

1. The program will be on a contractual basis between the landowner and the NRD for one year while conservation practices are being established. Signups must be by April 1st at the appropriate local SCS Office.

2. Level terraces with outlets, gradient terraces with grassed waterways, and terraces with tile outlets qualify for this program. Terraces and waterways must be seeded during the contract period.

3. SCS personnel will design terraces with waterways or tile drains. These practices must protect the entire field on which they are established, however, the area under contract will be the smallest practical area to encompass the practices, as agreed with the cooperator.

4. The terraces with waterways or tile outlets may be cost-shared through the ACP program administered by ASCS. If these funds are not available, or if the total cost is too high, cost sharing can be obtained through Lower Elkhorn NRD.

5. Construction must be done between June 1st and September 1st, and the field may be planted to cover or a small grain crop, preceding or after construction. The crop or cover may be harvested or pastured during the contract period.

6. Land under this contract must be farmed on the contour. If used for permanent pasture after the contract period, the money received in this program must be returned.

7. Maximum contract area for any operating unit will be 60 acres. Payment is $40/acre.

8. An effort will be made by the Lower Elkhorn NRD to distribute the funds throughout the district, but the Directors may designate areas of preference, where a high priority exists.

9. Land contracted for must be a part of an SCS developed conservation plan for the entire farm, and must require terraces to meet the permissible soil loss under the SCS soil loss formula. Also, conservation cropping system must be carried out that keeps soil loss down to permissible amount under SCS formulas.

10. The landowner will contract for the construction of terraces, waterways, tile outlets and any other necessary construction.

11. Terraces, waterways, and tile outlets must be maintained for 10 years or as long as the current owner has control of the land, whichever is less.

For information or to sign up for the program, contact your local SCS office.

Windbreaks not only save terrific amounts of snow moving when planned well, they are excellent livestock protection and cut home heating costs. Clarke-McNary seedlings, used for windbreak and wildlife purposes, sell for $23 per hundred. Pine species are becoming depleted, so contact your local SCS, ASCS, Extension or NRD office now to order for spring delivery.

Tri-state conservation tillage conference

Local, state and Federal agencies in the three state area (Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota) are cooperating to sponsor the second annual Tri-State Conservation Tillage Conference. The program will be February 17 and 18 at the Marina Inn in South Sioux City. Exhibits open at 9:00 a.m. with the program beginning at 10:00. The program is the same for both days:

- * Weed Control and Conservation Tillage
- * Dick Fawcett, Russell Moomaw, Loren Schuett, Dean Easton
- * Insects and Conservation Tillage
- * David Keith

SCS asking for reinforcements in Eastern Nebraska

Gene Sullivan, State Conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service in Nebraska, spoke this fall of "targeting funds to specific problem areas. This means a request of $1 million in FY 1982 to hire 40 soil conservationists. The new personnel would be stationed in the northeast and southeast parts of the state to control erosion in those areas.

Targeting problem areas is an attempt to solve the most serious problems first. Funds would come from areas with less severe erosion problems, and would not increase the total SCS budget.

Whether or not this request materializes, the concept seems to be gaining acceptance. The first action of this kind was taken last year in western Iowa, and similar steps are being considered in other Federal programs.
