Director of care center resigns

The administrator of the Wayne Care Center, a 92-bed nursing home at 918 Main Street, has resigned.

The 46-year-old administrator, Dee Stoltenberg, resigned about 3:30 p.m. Monday after nearly two years in the position.

Tim Boyle of Boyle Offices, Sioux City, Iowa, confirmed the resignation by telephone Tuesday.

Stoltenberg

STOLTENBERG, wife of veteran Wayne State College football coach, Del Stoltenberg, had moved out of her office by Tuesday morning, a spokesman at the center said.

It was not clear whether Stoltenberg resigned during an afternoon staff meeting or soon thereafter.

Boyle, who is a partner in the Sioux City firm that owns and manages the center, said company representatives were on hand to accept Stoltenberg's resignation.

MEANWHILE, Marion Evans has been appointed temporary administrator at the center, according to Boyle.

He said Evans will serve in that capacity until the company has selected a replacement for Stoltenberg, who has been at the center since 1978.

Boyle declined to elaborate on Stoltenberg's sudden resignation, except to cite "personal reasons."

Stoltenberg contacted Tuesday night, also declined to elaborate, but did confirm the Boyle statement.

WEA, Board prepare for negotiations

By LaVon Beckman

The Wayne-Carroll School Board has appointed a committee to negotiate a teachers contract with the bargaining unit of the Wayne Education Association.

Board members Alton Owens, president, Neil Sandahl, immediate past president, Becky Keldor, vice president, were appointed to the negotiating committee Monday afternoon during a regular monthly meeting.

The committee was appointed in response to a request from Duane Blomkamp, WEA representative. Blomkamp sent Owens a letter dated Feb. 5 requesting the board open negotiations.

PRESIDENT OWENS received a letter dated Feb. 5 from Duane Blomkamp, WEA representative, requesting that the board agree to negotiations.

The WEA submitted a list of items it wishes to negotiate for the 1982-83 contract year, including insurance, salary, and leave policy.

The letter stated that in all other respects, the terms and conditions previously negotiated are acceptable to the Association and would continue unchanged.

BLOMKAMP, who was present at the meeting on behalf of the WEA, said it was the hope of the WEA negotiating committee that improved communication and cooperation might lead to finalization of benefits of the local level.

Blomkamp was referring to the past two years when the two parties negotiated to impasse and the contract was settled with the help of an independent facilitator panel.

In an effort to improve communication, Blomkamp said the WEA would be agreeable to making a representative available at all Board of Education

Cold as a courthouse icicle

THE THAWING AND FREEZING OF February has kept the historical Wayne County Courthouse decorated with huge mid-winter icicles. This long one has dripped its way off the first floor downspout near the south doors where the sunshine is more intense. The icicle is more than six feet long.

School Board member challenges need

Wayne High School vocational plan hits roadblock

By LaVon Beckman

The Wayne Board of Education finds itself in the throes of a continuing debate over the need for expanding the high school's vocational education facilities.

Board members have agreed to meet with the Vocational Advisory Committee in charge of the proposed expansion before next month's regular board meeting.

That decision came Monday afternoon when the board heard alternative plans presented by Superintendent Francis Haun.

The alternative modified the committee's initial proposal presented at the January board meeting by high school principal Donald Zeiss.

BOARD MEMBER Wilbur Giese challenged the entire concept. His challenge came during Monday afternoon's meeting and spurred lengthy debate.

Giese, who said he had given the matter considerable thought, challenged the need for the entire project and questioned whether the project is as advisable as it appears on the surface.

Haun's alternative plans call for a 1,000-square-foot addition to the west side of the existing facility. That is a 1,920-square-foot reduction from the advisory committee's original plans which called for a 4,920-square-foot addition.

The addition would be used for auto mechanics and metals, with the existing vocational facilities utilized by the wood department.

SERIOUSLY doubt that the students would come out of an auto mechanics class with enough expertise to work as a mechanic," stated Giese.

Giese said he had spoken to several mechanics in town prior to Monday afternoon's board meeting and they indicated

Council denies sewer backup damage claim

Without proof of city negligence, Wayne homeowners are — and have been — on their own when it comes to footing the bill for sanitary sewer backup.

And, on the strength of a 6-1 vote, the Wayne City Council Tuesday night affirmed that long-standing policy — a policy that's common place in a majority of municipalities throughout Nebraska.

The policy affirmation was not without challenge, however.

IN AN UNSUCCESSFUL effort to set a precedent for compensating homeowners on sewer system backup damages, Councilman Gary Vopalensky introduced a motion to pay a $4,243.30 claim submitted by Curt Frye of Wayne.

Frye submitted the claim to the city in connection with a sewer backup in the basement of his home at 704 Grainland Road on Dec. 14, 1981.

The backup which generated the claim was one of at least three that occurred at the Frye home between Nov. 22 and the end of December, according to Phil Klostler, city administrator.

City insurance adjusters from Employer's Mutual investigated the incident, found no evidence of city negligence and denied the claim. Klostler told the Council.

DESPITE THE claim denial, the Fryes submitted the damage estimate to the city for settlement.

Klostler's recommendation that the city also deny the claim sparked the ensuing debate over taxpayer property protection.

According to the city administrator, the Dec. 14 sewer backup at the Frye home "caused considerable damage" but there was "no evidence of negligence on the part of the city."

Expressing concern for the damage sustained by the Fryes, Klostler said: "They did receive considerable damage. I have experienced similar situations...it's never a pleasant experience...but generally, the courts have found in favor of the city where there's no negligence involved."

KLOSTER SAID the sewer-line blockage that caused the backup seemed to have occurred in the vicinity of the city's lift station east of the Frye home.

Vopalensky questioned Klostler's reference to "no negligence" and used that to preface his introduction of the motion to honor the Frye's claim. He suggested that it should be "no negligence found."

The motion was seconded by Darrell Heier.

Mayor Wayne Marsh called on Kem Swartz, the city's legal counsel, for an opinion. Swartz told the group that were the matter to reach a court test, the past cases indicated that the city would win.

"NOBODY LIKES to see this happen," Marsh said. "But there is a device that can be placed on sewers to prevent backup."

Indicating that he felt it was the property owner's responsibility, Marsh said: "I think we would be setting a dangerous precedent that we cannot afford and should not have to pay for."

Vopalensky agreed that the city would be setting a precedent, but said that he felt it would not be a dangerous one.

Jaycees, city OK softball complex

Wayne area ball players may open the 1982 season in the new Wayne County Jaycees softball complex.

The Jaycees and the city are only days away from inking a 10-year contract that sets aside an area near the city lagoon for the four softball fields.

On a unanimous vote during Tuesday night's City Council meeting, Mayor Wayne Marsh was authorized to sign the $1 lease.

BEFORE MAYOR Marsh will sign the contract, however, an official map of the area must be developed, according to Phil Klostler, city administrator.

Klostler volunteered the services of the city in the preparation of the map and the legal description of the property.

Verdel Lutt, chairman of the Jaycees' softball complex committee, briefly reviewed final-draft sections of the lease with the Council Tuesday night.

Klostler told Lutt that an official map of the proposed four-field complex must be attached to the lease agreement before it could be signed by the mayor.

AMONG THE THINGS the map must show is the exact location and amount of property dedicated to the softball fields, and the access road to the fields.

Lutt told Klostler he had been attempting to obtain a "good map" of the area, but had had some difficulty.

Klostler suggested that the city would be willing to assist and noted that Clyde Flowers, a licensed surveyor with Bruce Cimora & Associates (city engineering consultants) would help in the preparation of the map.

Lutt then sought clarification on the lease's subtle clause. And, before gaining final Council approval, the Jaycees committee chairman indicated discussion was already taking place about the formation of a Wayne County Softball Association.

IN OTHER ACTION, the Council sent revised plans for the Hunters Knoll preliminary plan to the Wayne City Planning Commission for approval.

The development, which was initially approved by the commission contingent on

news briefs

Job Service employment review

At the end of January there were 1,082 persons registered for employment with the Norfolk Job Service Office, and 191 with the O'Neill office for a total of 1,273 registered applicants. This compares with 1,152 in December and 1,280 at the close of January 1981. The 1,273 total includes 438 females and 229 veterans but does not include 294 individuals seeking only part time work. New applications filed during January totaled 268 compared with 280 in December and 393 for January of last year. Nonagricultural job openings received from employers numbered 95 compared with 198 in December and 168 for January 1981. Job openings filled by the offices during January totaled 78. This compares with 188 the previous month and 137 during January of last year.

Wayne hosting band festival

Seven schools will participate in the West Husker Junior High Band Festival this Saturday at Wayne. The festival, which is primarily for seventh and eighth graders, is being hosted by Wayne Community Schools and will include students from Wayne, Wisner-Pilger, Winside, Emerson-Hubbard, Wakefield, West Point Central Catholic, and Hartington Holy Trinity Elementary. There will be 60 solos and ensembles performed in the morning. Bands from each school will perform in the Wayne High School lecture hall in the afternoon. Wayne seventh and eighth graders are scheduled to perform at 2:40 p.m. There is no admission, and the public is welcome to attend. Clinicians are Harold Willis, band director at Pierce, and Dennis Ehmke, Stanton band director.

Three file in Allen

Allen Village Clerk Pearl Snyder announces that incumbents Doc Ellis and Cliff Gotch have filed for the Allen village board and Frank Pflueger has filed for a seat on the Allen Board of Education. Mrs. Snyder said forms are available at the village office for those wishing to file for village board or school board. Mrs. Snyder said incumbents must file by 5 p.m. Feb. 25. The last date for all others to file is March 12 at 5 p.m. Voters who have moved in the township, state or county must register to vote by May 1, 1982. Persons turning 18 must also register to vote and may do so at the Allen Village Office.

Annual bike-a-thon scheduled

The Wayne Jaycees and Jayceettes will sponsor a third annual bike-a-thon on April 18 on behalf of the American Diabetes Association. Members will be asking for prizes and donations from local businesses. For further information, contact Susan Penlerick 375-4330.

Membership drive launched

Tree lovers who want to join the National Arbor Day Foundation, headquartered in Nebraska City, will receive two free Red Maple trees for the $5 membership fee this year. Foundation members also receive a Say Trees and Smile bumper sticker and a subscription to the organization's newsletter. Membership contributors should be sent to: Two Free Trees National Arbor Day Foundation, Arbor Lodge 100, Nebraska City, NE 68410. Deadline is Sunday, Feb. 28.

Ballot applications available

The Wayne County Clerk's Office is accepting applications for absentee ballots for the May 11 primary election. According to Orgetta Morris, county clerk, registered voters may obtain the absentee ballot request form in writing, or by stopping at the office (in the Wayne County Courthouse). The applications for absentee ballots became available on Wednesday.

National Guard sets summer camp

Wayne and O'Neill National Guard units will train at Camp Ripley, Minn., from July 24 through Aug. 8 this year. The Guardsmen will be joining summer camp soldiers from other 1st Battalion units, including Omaha, Wahoo, Columbus and Norfolk. Both units are under the command of Capt. Stanley Burst of Wayne.

Wayne man on state board

Rod Tompkins of Wayne has been appointed to the state Manufactured Housing Advisory Board by Gov. Charles Thone. Tompkins, who is a new appointment to the board, will serve a term that expires in July.

Wakefield man gets jail term

A Wakefield man has been sentenced to 90 days in the Wayne County Jail in connection with two counts of theft. Loren Erlanson, Wakefield, was given credit for 66 days already served on Wednesday when Judge District Court Judge Merle C. Warren ordered the young man remanded to the Wayne County Jail. Erlanson, who pleaded guilty to two reduced charges of theft by unlawful taking, also was placed on probation for 30 months for each count.

JUDGE WARREN ordered the 30 month probation terms to be served concurrently, and directed Erlanson to pay court costs and make restitution in both cases.

Erlanson was arrested and charged with burglary in connection with the theft of three battery chargers from Dan Gardner of Wakefield on Dec. 17, 1980. Erlanson was also charged with forcible breaking and entering with intent to steal in connection with an incident at the Grace Lutheran Church, Wayne, on Jan. 13, 1981.

On Sept. 14, 1981, the charges were reduced to two counts of theft by unlawful taking.

sheriff's log

The Wayne County Sheriff's Department investigated a one-car accident five miles southwest of Wayne Sunday morning.

According to Sheriff's Department accident reports, Thomas Dale Edmisten, Wayne, lost control of the 1978 Datsun he was driving on a county gravel road four miles south and about a mile west of the city.

The eastbound Edmisten car went into a skid, slid into the south ditch, rolled over once and upright again - traveled through a fence and into a farm field.

Damage was reported to both sides and the top of the vehicle. Edmisten reported no serious injuries.

ON WEDNESDAY, Feb. 3, the department investigated a two-car accident on state Highway 35 just south of Wakefield.

According to department accident reports, a northbound 1977 Chevrolet, driven by Kelly S. Roth of Wakefield, struck the rear of a northbound 1974 Chevrolet pickup, driven by Raymond J. Prochaska of Wakefield. Roth attempted to stop the car he was driving, according to the department report, but struck the pickup around on the covered roadway where it ended up facing the opposite direction, the accident report indicates.

The Roth vehicle continued forward into the east ditch. No serious injuries were reported.

business notes

Mike Drake

New loan officer

Mike Drake has recently joined the staff of Norfolk Production Credit Association. He will be responsible for handling loans in Hoskins township of Wayne County, along with responsibilities in Stanton and Madison Counties. Drake graduated from the University of Nebraska in Lincoln where he majored in ag economics.

A native of southeast Nebraska, Drake grew up on a farm near Barnestown where his father is still actively involved in farming and raising Simmental cattle. Mike is working with Fred Schellinger who is also a loan officer for Wayne County.

correction

Floyd Burt has filed for the District 3 seat of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners as a Republican. A story in The Wayne Herald on Thursday, Feb. 4, announced his bid for the seat held by Commissioner Gerald Pospisil of rural Wayne, also a Republican.

However, a story in The Wayne Herald on Monday, Feb. 8, announcing Pospisil's bid for reelection, inadvertently identified Burt as a Democrat.

The error is regretted.

Wayne native to be featured in Wayne State College recital

Professional baritone John Brandstetter will accomplish two things when he visits Wayne State College on Feb. 17—he will present a recital at the college and celebrate a homecoming in his native Wayne at the same time.

Brandstetter will perform on Wednesday, Feb. 17, at 8 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre of the Val Peterson Fine Arts center on the WSC campus.

Admission is $2.50 at the door the night of the show.

BRANDSTETTER received his musical education at the University of Nebraska, and served an apprenticeship with the Santa Fe Opera.

Now based in St. Paul, Minn., Brandstetter is a regular member of the Minnesota Opera.

His impressive list of credits includes engagements with the companies of Chicago, San Francisco, Philadelphia, Atlanta, Aspen, Virginia, and Omaha. Last season he toured the country with the New York City Opera in their production of "La Traviata." He also has appeared as a soloist in the choral and symphonic repertoire with such organizations as the Lincoln Symphony, the Minnesota Orchestra, and the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra.

BRANDSTETTER'S parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Brandstetter of Wayne, said their son was last in Wayne nearly a year ago. His mother said he will be around Wayne "a couple of days, then back to New York."

According to Dr. Cornell Runestad, professor of music at WSC, Brandstetter has performed previously at Wayne State College. He was the featured baritone soloist at a WSC performance in 1973 as a graduate student at UNL.

WAYNE NATIVE AND professional baritone John Brandstetter, now based in St. Paul, Minn., will present a recital at Wayne State College on Wednesday, Feb. 17. Brandstetter will perform at 8 p.m. in Ramsey Theatre on the WSC campus. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Brandstetter of Wayne.

Tickets will be available at the door for the performance on Feb. 17.

Winside girl in play

Michele Brockmoller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Brockmoller of Winside, has been selected to portray the role of Sôstrata in the Wayne State College theatre department's February production of "La Mandragola."

The play is directed by Arthur L. Dirks and will be presented in Ramsey Theatre on Feb. 14, 15 and 16. Performance times are 2 p.m. Sunday, and 8 p.m. on Monday and Tuesday.

Gestalt workshop slated

Wayne State College will offer a two-day course entitled "Gestalt Workshop" in late February, according to the WSC Extended Campus division.

The "Gestalt Workshop" will deal with the widely-acclaimed Gestalt therapy that is based, according to the course outline, on the premise that what people need in order to "know themselves" is an "experience—not an explanation."

THE INTRODUCTORY workshop on Gestalt is designed to be valuable as a personal growth experience for participants.

Dr. Vincent Savage, who has been involved in Gestalt therapy for 10 years and has trained with well-known Gestalt therapists throughout the country, will be the trainer.

The "Gestalt Workshop" will meet from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 27-28, in the Education Building, Room 321, on the Wayne State campus.

Cost for the workshop, which is offered for one credit hour, is $24.25 for Nebraska residents and $39.25 for non-residents.

ANYONE WHO finds the course interesting is asked to take note of the upcoming class entitled "Introduction to Ericksonian Hypnosis" scheduled April 3-4 at Wayne State College.

If textbooks are required, they will be made available at the first class meeting.

For further information, contact the Extended Campus office at Wayne State College, Wayne, NE 68787, or call (402) 375-2200, ext. 217.

Bid-rigging problem puts state projects on hold

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

The possibility that bid rigging has gone on in Nebraska for more than a decade has obviously distressed state Roads Department officials.

Roads Director David Coolidge recently called together Lincoln reporters to tell them business was not unusual in Nebraska. Therefore, he said, the department was taking the unprecedented action of canceling a scheduled bid letting on state highway projects.

The problem that prompted the cancellation was the revelation that bid rigging has been a serious problem in Nebraska, at least since 1976 and possibly since 1975.

Nebraska's bid-letting procedure prevents early disclosure of bidders, and Coolidge says federal officials have praised "our excellent bidding procedures."

BUT THOSE procedures apparently haven't prevented bid rigging from occurring. Bid rigging occurs when one contractor, for example, privately agrees with other contractors who are expected to bid on the project to "rig" the bids. The other contractors agree to submit a bid higher than the figure the initiating contractor says he'll submit.

That makes it much more likely the initiating contractor will get the bid. And, depending on what kind of deal has been struck, the other contractors might receive some benefits too.

A Grant Island construction firm and its vice president have pleaded guilty to a federal indictment for bid rigging, but that's apparently only the tip of the iceberg.

There is a clear indication that several other contractors and companies were also involved in inappropriate bid-letting. Coolidge said.

Gov. Charles Thone has expressed deep concern about the problem, and has directed Attorney General Paul Douglas to give priority attention to the problem.

COOLIDGE AND Douglas both pledged to get to the bottom of the problem, even if that means a suspension of bid-letting on state highway projects for several months.

Meanwhile, legitimate and worthwhile projects are on hold. And, honest contractors have to sit back and wait for more opportunities to bid on state projects.

A state roads official says a one-month delay in bidding won't push things too far back. But he said a two- or three-month delay could cause problems primarily because the planned construction and bidding schedule would be delayed considerably.

More federal indictments are expected soon, and the state's own investigation might bear some fruits before the month is over.

But this problem with illegal bid rigging might have been going on for more than a decade, and a quick resolution would seem impossible. Still, state and federal officials have pledged to get to the bottom of the problem, and make sure it doesn't happen again.

STATE PROBE — The state Sunshine Commission's executive committee believes an investigation of Omaha Public Power District board member John P. Munnelly is warranted.

The subject of the probe will be whether Munnelly used his office for personal financial gain.

Munnelly, Omaha's postmaster, resigned his post as OPPD president 16 days after he was elected. He has been on OPPD's board since 1975, including a long stint as treasurer.

MUNNELLY'S PROBLEMS came to a head when it was revealed he charged $3,394 to a telephone credit card issued for OPPD business. He has paid the district for the calls, including 156 either to or from Las Vegas, but wants to be reimbursed for the calls that did involve OPPD business.

It also was disclosed recently that there have been problems with payment of an electric bill for a tavern Munnelly co-owns.

A Sunshine Commission spokesman said the investigation, including all records and proceedings, will be confidential. The commission can, once a final determination is made, initiate civil or criminal proceedings. Another option would be to turn the case over to the county attorney.

CHURCH/SCHOOL — A decision finally has been made on which Christian school bill will be debated by the full Legislature this year.

The Education Committee recently sent to the floor the committee's LB 652, then killed two other church school bills.

The committee's proposal would provide a waiver from certain state education regulations. The measure is the most restrictive of the three bills that had been referred to the panel.

THE TWO BILLS that were killed appeared more to the liking of church schools. They would have exempted the private schools from state education rules on the basis of "religious interference."

It's entirely probable and possible the provisions of the two dead bills will be offered as amendments to LB 652. But at this point, at least, the Education Committee, and a majority of its members, has made their preference clear.

The angry man

The recent display of tempers during a meeting of the Educational Service Unit One board is difficult to defend, but neither should it be totally condemned.

When Dave Hay, a board member, and Harry Mills, the ESU administrator, locked horns recently during a meeting in Laurel it was over an issue that is of critical importance to the operations of the unit.

That board is responsible for millions of special education and special services dollars distributed over hundreds of miles for hundreds of children.

Not only is the board's responsibility awesome, but the task of keeping ESU operations functioning in a coordinated manner is beyond the scope of challenges faced by any board in the five county territory (Cedar, Dakota, Dixon, Knox, Thurston and Wayne counties).

No one likes to be threatened or blamed. But, then, no one is particularly fond of usurpers either.

Board members found themselves grappling with that kind of an issue — an issue where a wrong decision could set a dangerous precedent.

Furthermore, the open and frank discussion of the issue — even if it injured some egos and embarrassed some members and administrators — was somewhat refreshing.

That's the way our system is supposed to work. The duel did not draw blood. And, no shots were fired at 20 paces.

And, even though Hay may have significantly reduced his effectiveness by staging a walkout, it is not the first time in the history of this Republic that a point was made in absentia.

The fact that he is afraid to speak his mind in a public meeting, whether you agree with it or not, strikes a blow for democracy.

One would only hope that those board members would defend to their death his right to do as he did.

Whether it prods or produces a solution to the board's dilemma remains to be seen. Cooler heads prevailed that night, but the jury is out on whether they are right.

In over-sanitized board rooms across the country, rows of heads often nod in unthinking unison only to wish — sometime later — that matters at hand had been discussed more openly, challenged more frequently and angered more men.

Last week in Laurel, every member of that ESU board was called on, as a matter of public responsibility, to represent his views.

That they all are not cut from the same cloth may be a blessing we can endure, rather than a hardship we can't handle.

Bouncing back

The nation can look forward to a moderate upturn in the economy in the last half of 1982, an upturn that will gain support from the continuation of the current downward trend in inflation, lower interest rates than prevailed in 1981 and the federal income tax reduction scheduled for July 1.

While the outlook for the early part of 1982 is not bright, the current recession may be cushioned somewhat by the slower pace of inflation and by lower interest rates resulting from sluggish demand for money and credit.

The economic expansion that began in the summer of 1980 came to an early end. The slowdown began in the second quarter of 1981, and by the final three months of the year the nation was experiencing a distinct recession.

The economic upturn expected to begin about mid-1982 may be longer lived.

While the growing economy will tend to push interest rates upward as the demand for money and credit increases, this influence may be offset by lower inflation, especially if the recovery is moderate rather than rapid.

Thus, interest rates may not actually rise, or at least not enough to put an early end to the recovery, as was the case in 1981.

The prospects for recovery will be greatly enhanced if appropriate monetary and fiscal policies are applied.

Beef State title tops

Recent statistics indicate that the title of Beef State is becoming more and more appropriate for Nebraska.

Producing and processing more beef within our state can be one of the best ways for providing more jobs and raising the income level in Nebraska.

In 1981, Nebraska passed Texas to become the number one state in beef slaughtering and processing, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture statistics.

NEBRASKA WAS second among the states in the number of cattle as of Jan. 1, 1982. USDA accounts indicate, Nebraska has passed Iowa since last year.

In our state, numbers grew by 6 percent last year, compared with a 1 percent growth nationally.

Nebraska livestock producers who have been selling at a loss in recent months can find some encouragement in the statistics on cattle numbers. The national total was two million head lower than had been predicted, which should bring about some relief from the disastrous prices being received by producers.

How increasing livestock production will increase total agricultural income is shown by figures from the 1978 Census of governor charley thone

Agriculture. The state as a whole received 66 percent of its agricultural income from livestock and 34 percent from crops. The three counties — Cuming, Dawson and Scotts Bluff — that had the highest agricultural income, however, received 83 percent of it from livestock. The top county, Cuming, received 89 percent of its agricultural income from marketing livestock.

Our state's tax and other government policies encourage both livestock production and processing. We will continue to push for expansion of Nebraska as the Beef State.

Firearm felony bill needed

The Judiciary Committee heard several bills last week during public hearings which, if they become law, will establish tougher penalties for those who commit violent crimes.

LB 567 would establish a minimum penalty of two years imprisonment for a person who is convicted of using a firearm to commit a felony.

The minimum sentence would be five years for a second offense and 30 years for the third offense. Offenders would not be eligible for pretrial diversion, suspension of sentence, probation, or parole while serving their sentences. Prosecutors would also be forbidden to plea bargain the charge.

I THINK the provisions of this bill reflect the attitudes of most decent law-abiding citizens who are demanding that those who commit violent crimes be punished.

I agree that something must be done to deter the unlawful use of firearms and to insure that those who go ahead and use a gun to commit a felony are justly punished.

LB 913 deals with the problem faced by our peace officers and jail employees who are assaulted by prisoners during the course of their confinement.

I feel that we must do something to protect our law enforcement people who have increasingly become targets of violent attacks by criminals who feel they have little or nothing to lose. This bill will insure that they do have something to lose by making such assaults a separate crime punishable by up to 20 years imprisonment.

ONCE A PERSON has been imprisoned in the state penitentiary, LB 745 proposes that he or she be employed by local businesses either outside or inside the prison and paid at least the minimum wage.

Part of the salary would go to the penitentiary for the offender's upkeep, part toward restitution of the victim, and the rest would go to the offender and his dependents. The idea is to reduce much of the expense of our correctional system, provide restitution for the victims of crime, and provide for the offender's family.

The idea is good, but the problem lies with its workability. Current law already provides for the employment of inmates by out side businesses, but finding businesses willing to participate in the program has been difficult.

Possible competition with the outside controversial provision of the bill is the section which would allow overnight visits between inmates and their spouses or friends.

SENATOR merle von minden

IF you have a problem or a suggestion about state government, now's the time to contact your state senator.

Wayne area residents are represented by two legislators: Sen. Merle Von Minden of Allen and Sen. Elroy Hefner of Coleridge.

The toll-free Unicameral Hotline is 1-800-742-7455.

Von Minden's Lincoln telephone number is 471-2716.

Hefner's Lincoln telephone number is 471-2624.

Letters to the senators need only be addressed to them c/o the State Capitol, Lincoln, NE 68509.

LET ONE POINT, a senator who offered an amendment saying that the underground water supplies should be extended indefinitely. "My intent is to have that water there forever."

Noble as that intent may be, it would be impossible to halt the irrigation of some 6,200,000 of this state's estimated 7,200,000 acres now under irrigation, because that is what would be involved if all ground water pumping were to be curtailed.

Millions of dollars have been invested in irrigation development and in farming programs dependent on high volume crop yields possible in Nebraska only through the use of supplemental water.

One can't go back 30 years (and it would have been impractical anyway) and say that no use of the underground reservoirs could be permitted which would contribute to lowering of the water tables. Think of the benefits which have accrued to Nebraska's farmers and ranchers and the general economy because of irrigation development.

AT THE SAME time there is a greater need to create and conserve the state's splendid water resources and make them last as long as possible. There is no doubt that there has been much wasting of water resources over the years and a great reluctance on the part of farmers, ranchers and lawmakers to come to grips with the situation. There exists a great tendency to delay and insist upon endless and repetitious studies before taking even minimal remedial action.

Water studies have been done for most of this century and there is a vast and accurate body of data on which to base water legislation and regulation.

This is true not only in Nebraska but throughout the other states, particularly those included in the Ogallala Aquifer. According to USDA sources, about 32 million acres are irrigated with ground water in the U.S. and of these about 15 million acres have ground water levels that are in chronic decline, as dropping at least one-half foot per year.

letters

To the editor:

I seldom read your "Country Boy" column as I think it is a waste of space in a pretty good country paper. Your last special report about the differences of the people in western Nebraska, however, caught my eye.

My daughter married one of your so-called "panhandle pinheads!" I would think that before you write such an authoritative and knowledgeable article you should go out west and check with some of the "pinheads."

I realize you wrote the article with "longue in cheek," but, before you start calling people names for showboat effect, you should get behind a tree and watch yourself go by.

Increased energy costs for pumping make it uneconomic to continue irrigation development in some areas. The day of "cheap water" is over whether one is talking about underground or surface sources of water.

Industry and manufacturing will more and more compete with agriculture for water. Actually that is what part of the argument is about between rural and urban senators in the Nebraska Legislature in consideration of water use priorities.

Nebraskans must face the water mining issue

By M.M. Van Kirk
Nebraska Farm Bureau

Nebraskans still labor under many illusions about their underground water resources and are reluctant to face up to the reality that it is being used at a much greater rate than it is being replenished.

This was evident during the recent General Assembly session in the Nebraska Legislature. LB 375, a bill which would amend the Ground Water Management Act of 1975.

LB 375 if approved this session in a rewritten version would permit a Natural Resources District to plan on how rapidly its farmers and other residents would use up the reservoir of water which lies beneath them and to which they have access for large volume use such as irrigation, manufacturing and processing.

AT ONE POINT, a senator who offered an amendment saying that the underground water supplies should be extended indefinitely. "My intent is to have that water there forever."

Noble as that intent may be, it would be impossible to halt the irrigation of some 6,200,000 of this state's estimated 7,200,000 acres now under irrigation, because that is what would be involved if all ground water pumping were to be curtailed.

Millions of dollars have been invested in irrigation development and in farming programs dependent on high volume crop yields possible in Nebraska only through the use of supplemental water.

One can't go back 30 years (and it would have been impractical anyway) and say that no use of the underground reservoirs could be permitted which would contribute to lowering of the water tables. Think of the benefits which have accrued to Nebraska's farmers and ranchers and the general economy because of irrigation development.

AT THE SAME time there is a greater need to create and conserve the state's splendid water resources and make them last as long as possible. There is no doubt that there has been much wasting of water resources over the years and a great reluctance on the part of farmers, ranchers and lawmakers to come to grips with the situation. There exists a great tendency to delay and insist upon endless and repetitious studies before taking even minimal remedial action.

Water studies have been done for most of this century and there is a vast and accurate body of data on which to base water legislation and regulation.

According to USDA sources, about 32 million acres are irrigated with ground water in the U.S. and of these about 15 million acres have ground water levels that are in chronic decline, as dropping at least one-half foot per year.

THE WATER TABLE decline in the Ogallala Aquifer ranges from one-half foot per year in some areas up to 5 feet in others. At that rate, scientists say that economically usable supplies in much of the aquifer area could be depleted by the middle of the next century.

In the Texas Panhandle, a great deal of cropland has already been returned to dryland farming because underground supplies sufficient for continued irrigation are exhausted.

Increased energy costs for pumping make it uneconomic to continue irrigation development in some areas. The day of "cheap water" is over whether one is talking about underground or surface sources of water.

Industry and manufacturing will more and more compete with agriculture for water. Actually that is what part of the argument is about between rural and urban senators in the Nebraska Legislature in consideration of water use priorities.

briefly speaking

Boosters sponsoring bake sale

Wayne-Carroll Music Boosters will sponsor a bake sale Saturday, Feb. 13, at Peoples Natural Gas Co. in Wayne. The bake sale begins at 9 a.m.

Trinity Ladies Aid meets

The Ladies Aid of First Trinity Lutheran Church, Altona, met Feb. 3 with president Mrs. Delvin Mikkelsen conducting the business meeting. Hostess was Mrs. Harris Plueger. The Rev. Willard Kassulke led the Bible study based on Psalms 121. Ten members and one guest, Mrs. Irene Radcliff, were present. Plans were made for upcoming Lenten services. Mrs. Delvin Mikkelsen reported on the LWML Executive Board meeting. The spring workshop will be held April 27 at St. John's Lutheran Church, Wakefield.

Karen Nelson, District 1 Supervisor of Norfolk, will conduct a School of Instructions on March 8 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., and at the 8 p.m. regular stated meeting. Refreshments were served to 35 members by Lois Jach and her committee. Bette Roam is chairman of the refreshment committee for the March meeting.

Association for Retarded Citizens sponsoring Respite Care training

A program designed to train persons to provide temporary care to a family with a handicapped family member will be held this month in Wayne.

Entitled Respite Care training, the program is sponsored by the Wayne County Association for Retarded Citizens (ARC) and the MCRJ Statewide Respite Training Project.

Free training sessions are scheduled Feb. 20 and 27 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the community room of the Columbus Federal building in Wayne.

Babysitting will be available for participants' children.

BE MAGDANZ of Laurel, program coordinator, said Respite means to take a break.

"All parents need an occasional break from their children to relax, attend to business or personal needs," said Mrs. Magdanz.

Mrs. Magdanz said getting this time off can be especially difficult for parents of persons with developmental disabilities such as cerebral palsy, autism or mental retardation.

THE TRAINING workshops are designed to provide the training necessary to meet the special needs of these persons.

Those completing the training program will receive a certificate from the Statewide Respite Training Project and will be referred to parents who need a short break.

Mrs. Magdanz said the trained Respite Providers will be paid for their services.

RESPIRE CARE training sessions will include the following topics:

- 1) Role and responsibilities of Respite providers.
- 2) First aid/medications/seizures/home safety.
- 3) Positioning and handling/feeding techniques.
- 4) Normalization.
- 5) Behavior management.
- 6) Overview of developmental disabilities.

IN ADDITION, one-half day practicum will be required where participants will work with a handicapped person while under supervision.

The practicum can be arranged to fit participants' schedules.

MRS. MAGDANZ said the trained Respite providers will provide hourly, overnight, weekend or longer care for a handicapped individual.

They are expected to provide a warm, homelike environment, quality physical care and nutritious meals; opportunities for socialization and recreational activities; and guidance in self help or home management skills.

Respite care providers also administer prescribed medications and attend to other health needs that the individual might have.

RESPIRE CARE providers can come from all walks of life. They may be students or retired persons, parents or single persons, professionals or lay persons.

Those interested in attending training sessions are asked to send their name, address, phone and age to Be Magdanz, Region IV ODD, Box 352, Wayne, Neb., 68787.

The workshop is funded by the Nebraska Governor's Planning Council for Developmental Disabilities.

engagements

Roth-Hansen

Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Roth of Parkston, S. D. announce the engagement of their daughter, Karen Lynette, to Michael Hansen, son of Mrs. Louie Hansen of Wakefield and the late Louie Hansen.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Parkston High School. She also is a graduate of the University of South Dakota with a BS degree in education, and received her MLS degree from Emporia State University in Kansas. She is presently employed as the high school librarian at Wayne Public Schools.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Wakefield High School and Northeast Technical Community College in Norfolk, is employed with Broyhill Co. of Dakota City, and is an officer of the Nebraska National Guard. A July wedding is being planned.

Holtgrew-Burris

Making plans for a March 6 wedding at the United Methodist Church are Patricia Holtgrew and Bill Burris. Their engagement and approaching marriage have been announced by the bride's parents, Warren and Virginia Holtgrew of Nokomis, Fla.

Miss Holtgrew, a 1975 graduate of Winside High School and a 1977 graduate of the University of Nebraska School of Technical Agriculture at Curtis, is employed at the Wayne Veterinary Clinic.

Her fiancé, son of Clifton and Elsa Burris of Winside, was graduated from Winside High School in 1972. He was graduated from Wayne State College in 1976 and from the University of South Dakota in 1979. He is engaged in farming.

Better babysitting is goal of clinic

Area youth are invited to take part in a babysitting clinic to be held in the Redeemer Lutheran Church social room in Wayne.

After school sessions will run for four consecutive Tuesday afternoons, beginning Feb. 16 from 4 to 5:15 p.m.

ALL YOUNGSTERS in the Wayne area are invited to attend the clinic. It will be conducted by Mindy Lutt and Diane Zach, Wayne County Jaycee members, and will include such topics as responsibilities of babysitters, toys, fire safety, preschoolers, infant care and first aid.

MRS. LUTT said the clinic may be especially beneficial to 4-H members enrolled in the Child Development project.

Youths who attend all four sessions will receive a certificate saying they have completed the program.

Former area residents mark 40th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Fork of Prior Lake, Minn., formerly of this area, were honored Sunday, Jan. 31, for their 40th wedding anniversary.

The event was hosted by their daughters, Mrs. Dave (Elaine) Stricker of Scottsbluff and Mrs. Keith (Judy) Weintzell of New Hope, Minn.

KERMIT FORK and Frances McDonald were married Jan. 25, 1942, in Carroll and farmed there before moving to Wayne. Later, they farmed in Iowa and near Laurel before moving to Prior Lake six years ago. They are the parents of two daughters and five grand children, Troy, Shane and Derrick Weintzell of New Hope, Minn., Robby Stolle, who is in the Navy, and Mrs. Rhonda Hipp of Arkansas.

There is one great grand daughter, Jennifer Hipp of Arkansas.

THE OPEN house reception honoring the couple, was held at St. Paul's Lutheran Church fellowship hall, where they are members.

Dental Health Month observed

DR. WAYNE WESSEL SPOKE on dental hygiene to a group of fourth grade students last week at Wayne's West Elementary School. February is National Dental Health Month, and Wayne students spent last week learning how to care for their teeth. Activities included a poster contest, with prizes being awarded by Dr. Wessel. Tying for first place were Jeannie Brown and Eric Rasmussen, front row, who received combination water picks-toothbrushes. Receiving honorable mention for their posters were, second row, from left, Jody Osentowski, Kevin Heier, Stephanie Watson, Ryan Shaw, Kathy Baier and Heidi Reeg. Pictured in the back row are Dr. Wessel, Mrs. Grant Ellingson, school nurse, and other students receiving honorable mention, including Glenn Johnson, Kip Mau, Diana French and Cheri McDonald.

Hansens observe 25th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hansen of rural Wayne observed their silver wedding anniversary Sunday, Feb. 7.

Nearly 100 friends and relatives attended an open house reception in the afternoon at the First United Methodist Church in Wayne. The event was hosted by their children.

Among those attending was Mrs. Hansen's mother, Mrs. Anne Lage of Wayne.

GUESTS were registered by Mrs. Laurence Hansen of Wayne, and gifts were arranged by Connie Hansen of Wayne and Rhonda Wilson of Lincoln.

Mrs. Gene Cumming of Genoa baked the centerpiece cake, and Mrs. Herb Niemann of Wayne baked sheet cakes. Cutting and serving the cakes were Mrs. Gene Cumming and Mrs. Harold Magnuson of Wayne.

Mrs. Leo Hansen of Wayne poured, and Mrs. Herbert Hansen of Wayne served punch. Members of the Personal Growth and Morning Glories Interest groups of the church assisted in the kitchen.

LESTER AND Donna Hansen were married Feb. 3, 1957, at the First United Methodist Church in Wayne, and have resided on a farm northwest of Wayne since that time.

Among those attending the anniversary observance were Mrs. Hansen's sister, Mrs. Gene (Nadine) Cumming of Genoa, and Mr. Hansen's brother, Laurence Hansen of Wayne, who were attendants at the wedding 25 years ago.

Also attending was Mrs. Alan (Nancy) Niemann of Wayne, a flower girl 25 years ago.

HANSENS ARE the parents of five children, Kevin, David, Connie and Dale, all of Wayne; and Marvin of Lincoln.

Wayne Community Theatre selects Neil Simon comedy

At a recent meeting the board of directors of the Wayne Community Theatre set dates and selected the play for its annual spring production.

Neil Simon's endearingly funny comedy, "Last of the Red Hot Lovers," will be presented on Friday, April 30, and Saturday, May 1, in the Student Center on the Wayne State College campus.

The board also approved Ron Whitt as the director of the play.

DUE TO THE unavailability of a theatre, the board and director decided that the spring play offered a perfect opportunity for arena staging.

In arena, or in the round staging, the audience sits on four sides of the acting area.

Dr. Helen Russell, a member of the board of directors, said, "Last of the Red Hot Lovers" especially lends itself to this type of intimate presentation.

THERE WILL be a general membership meeting of the Wayne Community Theatre tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m. in the community room of the Columbus Federal building.

Purpose of the meeting is to assign committees for "Last of the Red Hot Lovers," and to discuss the technical aspects of the show.

Members are encouraged to attend and to bring a friend.

AUDITIONS FOR "Last of the Red Hot Lovers" will be held in the Columbus Federal community room on Sunday, Feb. 14, from 2 to 5 p.m., and on Monday evening, Feb. 15, beginning at 7 p.m.

All interested persons are invited to audition.

Dr. Russell said it is not necessary to be a member of Wayne Community Theatre to participate either as an actor or as a member of the technical staff.

Wayne senior awarded achievement scholarship

Amanda Peterson of Wayne has received an Achievement Scholarship, valued at $1,400 over four years, to attend Nebraska Wesleyan University, according to Ken Sieg, NWU director of admissions.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cap Peterson of Wayne and is a senior at Wayne Carroll High School.

A RECIPIENT of an Achievement Scholarship must have graduated in the top one-third of the individual's high school graduating class, or have a composite score of 23-24 on the American College Test, or a score of 1,000 to 1,100 on the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board, Sieg said.

The scholarship is awarded automatically after a student applies and is accepted by Nebraska Wesleyan and is based strictly on academic accomplishments, not on financial need.

THE ACHIEVEMENT Scholarship is valued at $400 each year of the four year college career.

A recipient must maintain a 2.25 grade point average to retain the award.

Marking 50th year

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Labs of Wisner will be honored on their golden wedding anniversary with an open house reception on Sunday, Feb. 21, from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Wisner city auditorium. Hosting the event will be their children, Vern Labs, and Willis and Lorna Hollman, all of Wisner, and Jim and Nancy Polacek of Schuyler.

Herbert Labs and Hilda Sluthmann were married Feb. 18, 1932 at Trinity Lutheran Church, Altona.

Pirates loot Laurel at free throw line

A second quarter slump spelled defeat as the Laurel Bears were tripped up 53-44 by Emerson-Hubbard Tuesday night in Emerson.

Laurel, which trailed 15-12 after one quarter, hit a cold shooting spell and fell behind as far as 13 points in the second period. The Emerson lead was cut to nine points by half-time and six after three quarters.

WITH 3:00 LEFT in the game, the Bears pulled within one bucket at 44-42. Laurel coach Joel Parks said his team had to be aggressive in those final minutes and fouled in the process.

Emerson hit its free throws down the stretch—in fact 7 of 9 in the late going. Free throws and the fine play of 6-4 Bryan Daum were the decisive factors in the final outcome. Daum scored 23 points including 15 in the second half. Many of those baskets came off of offensive rebounds. Dan Bell added 15 points for the hosts.

While the Pirates were hitting their free throws, the Bears were unable to retaliate with baskets of their own.

"Emerson is a good, physical team. Daum made some good baskets off of rebounds," Parks said. "His performance and Emerson's free throw shooting down the stretch did it."

THE KEY TO Laurel's comeback was the showing of Brian Marquardt. He scored 18 points in the ball game. "We did a good job of playing ourselves back in the game. We made a good effort," said Parks.

Dave Marquardt scored eight points and Phil Martin scored seven points and had eight rebounds. Laurel hit 37 percent of its shots and Emerson shot 43 percent from the floor.

Emerson's powerful junior varsity squad ripped Laurel 47-13 behind the 14-point performance of Bob Utomark. Laurel's scoring: Ben Galvin 5, Mike Jonas 2, Troy Young 2, Mark Herrmann 2, Scott Kardell 1, Mark Penlorick 1.

The Bears are scheduled to play at Wause Friday and host Plainview Saturday. The Wause game is important in the Clark Division race.

Girls districts to open

Class C and D girls basketball district tournaments open this week and Class B girls will complete next week throughout the state.

Allen, Laurel and Wakefield will compete in the Class C-7 tourney at Laurel and Winside will host the Class D-3 tourney. Wayne's girls won't open up district play until the following week at Madison.

The Class C-7 tournament is expected to be full of excellent matchups. Seven of the eight teams are members of the Lewis & Clark Conference and five teams fewer than five losses. Wynot is top seeded, Randolph is second, Allen is third and Emerson-Hubbard is fourth. Allen will play Laurel and Wakefield will face unbeaten Wynot in first round play.

The D-3 tourney features tough Wakefield as the top seed. Hartington is second seeded, Macy is third and Winside is fourth. Winside will play Bancroft in the first round.

When the Class B-4 tourney opens, Wayne will have the odds stacked against it. The Blue Devils are the only team in the seven-team field with a losing record. Five teams have lost no more than three games.

Wayne must face Class B's 10th rated Hartington CC (14-1) in the first round. North Bend, 14-0 and ranked third in the state, is seeded first. Columbus Lakeview, rated ninth with a 12-3 record, is seeded fourth and 13-3 Columbus Scotus is seeded third. Schuyler (10-3) and West Point (7-5) round out the field.

District pairings:
Class D-3 at Winside, Feb. 15-16
 Monday (15th): 6:30—Wakefield vs. Hartington. Tuesday (16th): 6:30—Bancroft vs. Winside, 8 p.m.—Macy vs. Decatur.
Wednesday's semifinals: 6:30—Wakefield Coleridge winner vs. Bancroft-Winside winner, 8 p.m.—Macy-Decatur winner vs. Newcastle-Hartington winner.
 Finals at 7:30 Thursday.

Class C-7 of Laurel, Feb. 15-19
 Monday (15th): 6:30—Wynot vs. Wakefield, 8 p.m.—Ponca vs. Emerson-Hubbard. Tuesday (16th): 6:30—Allen vs. Laurel, 8 p.m.—Homer vs. Randolph. Thursday's semifinals: 6:30—Wynot-Wakefield winner vs. Ponca-Emerson winner, 8 p.m.—Allen-Laurel winner vs. Homer-Randolph winner.
 Finals at 7:30 Friday.

Class B-4 at Madison, Feb. 22-25
 Monday (22nd): North Bend gets bye, 5 p.m.—Schuyler vs. Lakeview, 6:45—Scotus vs. West Point, 8:30—Wayne vs. Hartington CC. Tuesday's semifinals: 6:30—North Bend vs. Schuyler-Lakeview winner, 8 p.m.—Scotus-West Point winner vs. Wayne-Hartington CC winner.
 Finals at 7:30 Thursday.

Wrestlers at districts

Wrestling season winds down to a close as district tournament action opens this week. Teams from Wayne, Wakefield and Winside will be in action in hopes of qualifying individuals for the state wrestling tournament scheduled Thursday through Saturday, Feb. 18-20 at Lincoln. The top four finishers in each weight class will qualify for state.

Wayne will compete in the Class B-2 Tournament today (Thursday) and Friday at Boys Town. Other teams in the district are: Arlington, Blair, Boys Town, Columbus Lakeview, Elkhorst, Gretna, North Bend, Omaha Roncalli, Omaha Ryan, Platteville, Schuyler, Tekamah-Herman, Wahoo, West Point.

Wakefield will compete in the Class C-3 Tournament Friday and Saturday at Plainview. Other teams competing in the district are: Atkinson West Hill, Burwell, Centestoga, Creighton, Mellieth, Norfolk Catholic, Osmond, Ponder, Plainview, Elgin Pope John, Randolph, Stanton, Winer-Pilger.

Winside will compete in the Class D-2 District at Newman Grove. Other teams competing are: Ansley, Clarks, Clearwater, Greeley, Elgin, Leigh, Newman Grove, Palmer, St. Edward, Sargent, Scribner, Stromsburg.

Patience pays off

Bears nip Hartington in overtime

The password was patience and Laurel's boys gave Hartington a lesson in a 31-28 overtime victory Saturday night.

As the night went on, the Laurel Bears demonstrated how tough they are to beat at a slowdown game. The number of points scored in the final three quarters combined was identical to the number scored in the first quarter.

THE TRIUMPH was an important Clark Division victory which upped Laurel's division record to 4-1 with games remaining against Wause and Osmond. The Bears are 8-6 overall.

The new year has been a successful one for Laurel. The Bears struggled to a 1-6 record by New Year's Day but have since won six of their last eight ball games in 1982.

The first quarter gave no indication of the type of basketball which followed in the next three quarters and overtime. Laurel held a 12-10 lead after one quarter of play.

"The first quarter wasn't fast paced but it also was not near as slow as the pace got later in the game," said Laurel coach Joel Parks.

THE BEARS had three players in foul trouble early so they slowed down the pace of the game. Hartington also preferred to play a slowdown pace while trying to work the ball in to 6-8 center Dave Pederson.

The hosts held on for a slim 16-15 edge by the end of the first half. Laurel played extremely conservative basketball in the second half as leaders Phil Martin and Kelly Robson sat on the bench in foul trouble. Todd Hellman also ran into foul problems.

With Martin and Robson on the bench, we really slowed things down. Jerry Kastrop, Tim Bloom and Brian Marquardt did a good job for us," Parks said.

Kastrop came off the bench to score eight points in regulation play. Bloom and Marquardt did most of their damage in overtime.

More points were scored in the three-minute overtime than in the entire second half. The Bears outscored the Wildcats 9-6.

Brian Marquardt hit three points and Blodoin connected on six of seven clutch free throws.

For the game, Laurel took 39 shots compared to only 20 for Hartington. The visitors were led by Pederson with 10 points.

Laurel won the junior varsity game 45-25. The Bears were led by Mike Jonas with eight points and Troy Young, Ron Hirschman and Mark Penlorick with six apiece. Other scorers: Mark Herrmann 5, Dave Kardell 4, Paul Lofquist 4, Troy Hellman 3, Ben Galvin 2, John Chace 1.

Lady Wildcats roll to district triumph

Give the Wayne State Lady Wildcats a home court advantage, some competition in their caliber and turn them loose.

That's what happened Monday night and the Lady Cats put on a fine performance before a sparse crowd to bombard Chadron State 84-59.

The hosts had lost five consecutive games and 10 of their last 11 prior to Monday's contest. But, the Lady Cats showed no signs of fatigue from their numerous road trips and no signs of a letdown after their losing streak.

INSTEAD, WAYNE ran the ball well, played sharp, heads up defense and at times shot the eyes out of the basket from the out side.

"We've been playing a little bit more zone defense than we would like. Before, we tried to match up 5-7 people with 6-0 people and it just didn't work," Jirsak said. "So, we've been playing zone defense. Most teams probably expect us to play man-to-man and practice for that. They aren't ready for the zone."

WSC coach Jan Jirsak is probably hoping that her two Norfolk sophomores will bring some of their friends to school with them next year. The Norfolk connection of Tammy Blackburn and Pally Carney was responsible for 38 points.

Blackburn hit 10 of 20 shots and scored 22 points. Carney made 7 of 15 and scored 16 points. Next in line was Maggie Alberts of Denison, Iowa who was 5 for 7 with 14 points. Jackie Schimontz scored 10 points with 3 for 5 shooting and Janet Lee hit 4 of 9 for 8 points.

The hosts held a slight rebounding edge of 55 to 52 and outshot Chadron 47 percent to 31 percent. Leaders on the boards were Robbie Lehr with 11 rebounds, Carol Durkee and Sue Juhljin with nine each, Schimontz with seven and Carney with six. Blackburn dish ed out four of WSC's 18 assists.

A STICKY Wayne defense forced 33 turnovers. The Wildcats turned the ball over 24 times. Wayne State led all the way and went into the locker at half time with a 39-25 lead. The Cats came out fired up in the second half and quickly put the game out of reach to improve their record to 9-14.

Chadron was led by Jeanne Placek with 14 points, all in the first half. The 5-10 sophomore collected her fourth foul late in the first half and failed to score after that although she never fouled out.

The Lady Cats will host Fort Hays and Kearney State respectively this Friday and Saturday.

WITH THE WIN over Chadron, Wayne stays in the thick of the race for an District 11 playoff berth. The Lady Cats have only one loss in the state schools division as does Kearney.

"We have to keep in perspective where we're at in the district standings. If we finish number one in the state schools division, we know we'll meet the number two private school. We kept that in mind when we played Chadron," WSC coach Jan Jirsak said.

The Wayne State coach is looking forward to a rematch with Kearney State Saturday night after losing by five points two weeks ago in Kearney. Jirsak said she feels her team should have won that game.

"If we keep our turnovers down, we can win two games this weekend (Fort Hays and Kearney)," Jirsak added.

Winside rides its press to easy victory over Wynot

Winside's pressure defense took its toll in the first quarter and it was all downhill from there as the Wildcats defeated Wynot 61-43 Tuesday night in a girls' boys' doubleheader.

Led by their press, the hosts got off to a quick start and jumped ahead 12-4. A 20-9 lead at the end of the first quarter put Winside in the driver's seat for the remainder of the ball game.

THE WINNERS were led by a well-balanced scoring attack with four players in double figures. John Hawkins hit his season high of 18 points to lead the Cats. Jim Krajack and Jon Melerhenry each scored 14 points and Scott Janke scored 10.

"We finally won," said Winside coach Dennis Gernerman after a long dry spell. "We played real well at times and not so well at other times. We shot pretty well but should have shot even better."

Winside's top three scorers also were the top three rebounders. Melerhenry pulled down 12 rebounds, Krajack grabbed 10 and Hawkins had 8. Melerhenry dished out seven assists in the game.

"We played good team ball. When we ran our offense, we did a good job," said Gernerman. "We had balanced scoring but need better concentration. It's nice to win."

THE CATS played a tight man-to-man defense to shut down Wynot's attack. The defensive effort led to 23 fouls for the hosts. Wynot was led by Lyle Klug with 12 points.

For the game, Winside hit 29 of 59 shots for 49 percent and Wynot hit 14 of 41 for 34 percent.

Winside, which hosted Wakefield last night (Wednesday) in a makeup game, is scheduled to host Osmond tonight (Thursday) and will then prepare for districts which open Feb. 22. The Wildcats are 3-0.

Compete in basketball skills

The Wayne Lions Club is planning a basketball skills competition for Saturday, Feb. 20 in the Wayne High gym. The competition, which begins at 1 p.m., will be divided into four age divisions: 8 and under, 9 years, 10 years, 11 years. Boys and girls will compete against each other.

Trophies will be awarded for first and second places in each age group with judging on shooting skills, dribbling skills, and combination of shooting and dribbling. Entry forms may be picked up at First National Bank, State National Bank or the Wayne Elementary or Middle Schools.

Four individuals win championships; as Winside gives number one showing

Winside	126	Oscoda	71
Osmond	122	Elgin	40
Greeley	100	St. Edward	56
Fullerton	83	Clearwater	10

Class D's top-ranked team Saturday issued a warning for other Class D teams to be on the lookout when the State Wrestling Tournament opens next Thursday in Lincoln.

Winside powered its way to first place in the Elgin Invitational, edging out Class C's fourth-rated Osmond 126 1/2 to 122.

Four Wildcats claimed first place honors in their individual weight classes to pace the high-powered performance. Champions were John Thies at 98 pounds, Mark Koch at 119, Doug Jaeger at 126 and Barry Bowers at 185.

The first place finishes of Koch and Bowers, tournament champions all season long, were no surprise. However, Thies knocked off a highly ranked wrestler and Jaeger earned his first tournament title.

Thies, rated fourth in Class D, entered the tourney with five losses—all to Osmond's second rated Paul Peterson. In the final meeting between the two, Thies gained some revenge by winning an overtime decision against Peterson in the finals.

The score was tied 2-2 at the end of the third period and neither wrestler scored in overtime. Thies was awarded the victory on third criteria by the judges. Jaeger had never won a tournament before Saturday but defeated undefeated Tom Nekoliczek of Greeley 4-2 in the championship match at 132 pounds.

Koch pinned Rob Beacom of Osmond in 3:41 of the 119-pound title match. Bowers won a 12-0 superior decision over Dave Bowling of Osmond in the 185-pound final.

Second place finishers for the Wildcats were 145-pound Brian Bowers, who lost 6-4 to Randy Walkowiak of Greeley, and heavyweight Kent Glassmeyer, who lost by pin to Dave Bryan of Oscoda.

Curt Rohde was Winside's only third place finisher. He pinned Randy Wood of Greeley in 1:59 of the 112-pound match. Jeff Thies placed fourth at 155 pounds, losing by pin to Kevin Martin of St. Edward in the consolation match.

Don Hayden and Kyle Miller both lost two matches for the Cats and failed to place. Miller hyperextended his elbow and is lost for the remainder of the season. Winside entered the Elgin Invitational because it was forced to miss the Oakland Invitational when the meet was postponed.

Class D-2 districts are scheduled at Newman Grove beginning at 3:30 Friday. Four rated teams will compete in the tourney. First round, preliminary and quarterfinal matches will be held on Friday with the remainder of the matches beginning at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Allen runs record to 11-3; district tourney is near

Allen ended its home basketball season on a winning note Tuesday with an easy 58-36 victory over Wakefield's girls.

Both teams have one final tuneup game before opening Class C-7 district action Monday at Laurel. Allen will play tonight (Thursday) at Westhill and Wakefield will play at Coleridge tonight (Thursday).

THE C-7 DISTRICTS will be extremely tough with Wynot, Randolph, Allen and Emerson Hubbard drawing the top four seeds in that order. Tough Ponca, Laurel, Homer and Wakefield round out the field.

Allen's record is 11-3 now with Emerson responsible for two of those losses and Ponca the culprit in the other one. Ponca and Emerson will meet in first round action.

The Eagles will play Laurel at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday in first round district action. Wakefield has to face top seeded Wynot at 6:30 Monday. The tournament continues on Thursday and Friday.

"It was kind of a fun game. It was our last home game and everyone played a lot," Lisa Hansen did a good job off the bench and Machele Pettit played pretty well," said Allen coach Gary Troth. "Everyone played fairly well."

Troth said he felt his team could pick up some valuable momentum for districts by defeating Wakefield tonight. He added, however, that letting Wakefield dominate that game could mean a long battle ahead in districts.

Allen shot 31.3 percent from the field and Wakefield hit about 23 percent.

The Eagles won the junior varsity game 34-14. Leading scorers were Deanna Hansen and Jeanne Warner with eight points each and Machele Pettit with seven. Wakefield was led by Roni Starzl with 10 points.

Cats can't quite break the Mustangs

A brilliant rally was stopped one point short as host Stanton held on to nip Winside 59-58 in boys basketball action Saturday night.

The Wildcats were a dozen points behind with one quarter to play and put together a good comeback effort.

Winside was led by Jim Krajicek with 20 points. Jon Meierhenry scored 13, Ronnie Prince scored 9, John Hawkins scored 8 and Scott Janke scored 8. As a team, the Cats hit 50 percent of their shots. Krajicek and Prince led the locals with 12 and 10 rebounds respectively.

Stanton was led by Steve Phillips with 14 points, Scott Persighi with 13 and Darrin Dubski and Rich Roenfeldt with 10 apiece.

Winside coach Dennis Gonnerman said that neither team was very aggressive in the first half. Stanton led 32-24 at the break and opened the second half with a four corners offense. The Wildcats countered with a full court press.

"We had our chances but came up just short. We played a good game—better than we have played in a long time," said Gonnerman.

The Wildcats outscored the Mustangs 22 to 11 in the final period to make a strong run. Stanton also won the junior varsity game.

No statistics were available.

Winside will host Osmond tonight (Thursday) in a girls boys doubleheader.

Loss to Pittsburg last in WSC skid

The losing skid continued but improvement was apparent as the Wayne State Lady Wildcats hosted a pair of Central States Intercollegiate Conference opponents last weekend.

A physical Missouri Southern squad escaped with a 67-59 win Friday night, while powerful Pittsburg State coasted to a 77-40 victory Saturday evening. The setbacks left the Lady Cats at 8-14 including losses in 11 of their last 12 games. WSC stands 0-8 in the CSC.

The Lady Cats will host CSC opponents Fort Hays State and Kearney State on Friday and Saturday. Wayne State will host Washburn on Feb. 16 and Peru State on Feb. 17, then travel to Emporia State and Washburn on Feb. 19-20 to end regular season play.

THE PITTSBURG State Gussies, smarting from a loss at Missouri Western the previous night, took their frustration out on the Wayne State Lady Wildcats to the tune of 77-40 at Wayne on Saturday.

Pittsburg State, which had defeated Wayne State by only six at Pittsburg last month, jumped to an 8-0 lead and was never headed while improving to 17-6. Ten of 11 Gussies suited up found the scoring column, led by Kelly Krumsick's 17.

Their hosts, on the other hand, suffered through their second consecutive night of 28 percent field goal shooting and had no one in double figures. Sue Juhlin continued her improved play with eight points. Carol Durkee had eight rebounds to lead in that category.

Bellevue hammers Cats in district game

Wayne State College basketball players don't look forward to playing at Bellevue College and after Tuesday's shocking loss, the Wildcats may never want to return.

Only 250 fans watched as Bellevue whipped the Cats 94-54.

NOT ONLY DID the Bruins outplay the Wildcats, but they seemed to receive a little help from the officiating crew. The hosts were whistled for only eight fouls and Wayne State didn't get to shoot a free throw all night. The Cats were called for 28 fouls and Bellevue made 20 of 32 char-ly shots. "This is the first ball game I've ever been associated with when a team had zero attempts," Weaver told Omaha World Herald reporter Terry Anderson. "Twenty-one foul shots to none; now that ought to qualify for 'That's Incredible.'"

The Cats could have just as well packed their bags and headed home at the half. Bellevue hit 61 percent of its shots and led 48-18 at the break.

While Bellevue had five players in double figures for the game, Wayne had nobody with more than 10 points. Jay Bellar, Grady Hansen and Charlie Pugh scored 10 points apiece for the Wildcats.

The hosts were led by Ron Phillips with 23 points. Gary Blum with 20, Bill Gates with 15, Herschel Gibbs with 15 and Doug Cook with 14.

Bellevue, which led 6-4 early in the first half, broke the game open with 14 unanswered points for a 20-4 lead.

The Wildcats are scheduled to host Fort Hays Friday and Kearney State Saturday. The Kearney game is a CSC game and a district game.

Trojans go flat in meeting with rated foe

Walhill, rated 10th in Class D, got its fastbreak rolling in top form in the second quarter and cruised to a 51-30 win Tuesday over Wakefield. The game had been rescheduled twice due to snowstorms.

Matching up against Walhill's quickness and explosiveness was no easy chore so Trojan coach Scott Miller opened the game with a slow, deliberate style of play.

Wakefield stayed within four points at 8-4. However, the Blue-boys came alive in the second period with an advantage of 17-5.

The one thing that hindered Wakefield in its hopes of running a patient offense was its shooting. The Trojans had trouble hitting their shots and failed to take advantage of their opportunities.

"They're a good team and we didn't play real well," said Wakefield coach Scott Miller.

Jeff Coble led the team with 10 points. Mark Starzl was leading rebounder with nine. Walhill was led by Bryan Samson with 11 points and Mike Becker with 10.

The 5-8 Trojans, who played a makeup game at Winside Wednesday night, will play at Coleridge Friday and host Oakland-Craig on Tuesday.

Wynot string continues

Wynot's perfect record didn't intimidate Winside's girls Tuesday night. Wynot did extend its unbeaten streak to 14 games but the Wildcats made a good game out of it, losing 40-30.

"We were in the ball game at all times. The girls did an exceptional job on defense," Wynot coach Kathy O'Connor said. "We played real well and I was real pleased."

O'Connor was especially pleased with Kelly Leighton and also with Joni Jaeger. Leighton led the Wildcats in scoring with 11 points and added three assists. Jaeger, who is one of the leading rebounders in the Lewis & Clark Conference, pulled down 12 rebounds and scored eight points. Kim Frederick grabbed seven rebounds.

Wynot was paced by Jana Backman with 13 points and Carmen Koch with 12. One of the deciding factors in the game was that the winners forced 28 turnovers by Winside.

Winside led 8-6 after one quarter and trailed by only four points at the half. The hosts were outscored 12-6 in the third period to fall behind by 10 points—the final margin.

The Wildcats are scheduled to host Osmond tonight (Thursday) in a boys-girls doubleheader and will open district action on the home court Tuesday against Bancroft.

Wynot won Tuesday's junior varsity game 19-12. Winside scoring: Shellie Topp 4, Tammy Brudigan 4, Pam Frevert 2, Missy Jensen 2.

Two junior high games were played prior to the junior varsity contest. Winside won

Emerson reserves take toll on Allen boys

Led by an explosive second half, Emerson Hubbard rolled to a 77-49 win over Allen Tuesday night in Lewis Division play.

The Eagles kept the game close through the first half but the Pirates broke loose for 22 points in the third quarter. The fourth quarter made the final score more lopsided as Allen's reserves were outmatched.

THE SCORE was tied at 21 all in the second quarter when Emerson coach Marly Hansen brought in his reserve players. Allen coach Dan Looe said those junior varsity players did more damage than the starters and were responsible for putting the Pirates out in front. Emerson's starters hit 18 of 51 shots from the field or 35 percent. Meanwhile, the reserve Pirates made 15 of 25 shots for a sizzling 60 percent. As a team, Emerson made 43 percent from the field and Allen hit 36 percent.

The Eagles outscored the Pirates 39 to 30. Emerson had 24 turnovers while Allen committed 31.

Three players scored in double figures in the losing effort. Robb Linafeller scored 17 points, grabbed six rebounds and made six assists. Derwin Roberts hit six of 10 shots for 12 points, pulled down five rebounds and made two steals. Troy Harder made four of seven shots, scored 11 points and had seven rebounds. Bruce Malcom had nine rebounds and Jeff Chase made two steals.

EMERSON WAS PACED by Bryan Daum with 16 points, Dan Bell with 12 and Bill Paulsen with 10.

The 3-9 Eagles had two players in foul trouble early when Roberts and Harder both collected their fourth foul in the second quarter. Allen coach Dan Looe was forced to move the pair to the top on defense and thus lost some valuable rebounding. Both players fouled out early in the fourth quarter.

Allen is scheduled to play at

A long road to spring

FARMERS ARE beginning to get the itch to get out in the field and do farm work but it's a long road to spring. Another inch of snow was deposited in the Wayne area Wednesday morning.

Feed grain changes

Reduced acreage planned

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block last week announced a voluntary 10 percent reduced acreage program for 1982 crop feed grains. He also announced that 1982 feed grains may be entered immediately into the farmer-owned reserve.

This action will strengthen feed grain prices by reducing supplies for the 1982-83 marketing year," Block said. Participants will be required to devote the reduced acreage to conservation uses, he said.

Block said a number of market factors, including the record 1981 U.S. corn harvest of 8.2 billion bushels and instability in the export market, make the reduced acreage program advisable. Feed grain supplies are about 13 percent above last year. Corn carryover at the beginning of the next marketing year (Oct. 1, 1982) could be around 2 billion bushels, the largest since 1960.

Only those who participate will be eligible for program benefits such as target price protection and Commodity Credit Corporation commodity loans.

Participating farmers must reduce their acreage planted to feed grains (barley, corn, oats, sorghum) by at least 10 percent from the established feed grain bases. Two bases will be established — one for corn and sorghum, the second for barley and oats. Generally, the bases will be higher of the 1981 base acreage or the average of the 1980-81 base acreages. However, for farms that have been following a definite rotation pattern, the bases will reflect such rotations.

PARTICIPATING PRODUCERS will receive the following target price (per bushel) protection, corn, $2.70; sorghum, $2.40; barley, $2.60; oats, $1.50. Participants will be eligible for the following CCC loan rates: corn, $2.55; sorghum, $2.42; barley $2.00; oats, $1.31.

Here is an example of how the programs will work: A farmer with a base of 100 acres must plant no more than 90 acres of feed grains for 1982 harvest. The 10 acres reduces (11.11 percent of 90 acres) must be devoted to a conservation use. Farmers planting less than the full 90 acres to feed grains would be permitted to devote fewer acres to conservation. If only 50 acres were planted, only 5.55 acres (11.11 percent of 50) would have to go to conservation.

The land taken from production and devoted to conservation uses must be eligible cropland and protected from wind and water erosion. The land may not be mechanically harvested. Farmers will be permitted to graze this acreage, except during the six principal growing months

NEITHER OFFSETTING compliance nor cross compliance is a requirement under this program. This means that farmers owning or operating more than one farm will not be required to participate on all farms in order to obtain program benefits on participating farms. Also, participation in the feed grain program is not required to qualify for program benefits on other crops grown on the farm.

Block said that 1982 feed grain placed under CCC loan would be eligible for immediate entry into the farmer-owned grain reserve at loan levels higher than for regular CCC loans. The reserve loan rates per bushel will be: corn, $2.90; sorghum, $2.75; barley, $2.37; oats, $1.49. Market price trigger levels at which farmers may take their grain out of the reserve without penalty will be: corn, $3.25; sorghum, $3.10; barley, $2.65; oats, $1.65.

Bereuter supports set-aside program

First District Congressman Doug Bereuter has called for a set-aside program to reduce corn production in the coming crop year with increased loan rates for those farmers who elect to participate in the set-aside.

In a telephone conversation with Agriculture Secretary John R. Block, and in a letter to Block, Bereuter recommended the adoption of a program developed by the Nebraska Association of Farmer-Elected Committeemen that would increase the loan rate and release level by 5 percent for those producers who agree to set aside 15 percent of their planted acreage.

SHORT-TERM non-recourse loans to farmers are made by the federal government based on anticipated production, with grain as collateral. In emphasizing the need to raise loan rates, Bereuter cited the potential cost to the federal Treasury of deficiency payments to farmers if there is low participation in the set-aside program, with resulting over-production and low grain prices.

Under present law, the federal government compensates farmers if cash grain prices remain below target prices. The target price for corn in 1982 is $2.70 per bushel; prices received for corn in Omaha on Jan. 26 averaged $2.45. Based on average yields, at these current low price levels, deficiency payments to farmers in Nebraska alone would cost $114 million this year.

Bereuter said to Block, "The rate of compliance with any set-aside program will be negligible unless adequate incentives are incorporated into the program. A completely voluntary program, without strong incentives, simply will not work."

Requesting a prompt decision, Bereuter said, "I urge you to implement this approach at the earliest possible time, so that our producers can make the necessary planting arrangements. Farmers right now are obtaining necessary operating credit and purchasing supplies for the coming year's operations."

A SIMILAR set-aside program for wheat was announced last fall after most winter wheat producers had already planted their 1982 crop. Bereuter, in his letter to Block, suggested that the loan rate for these farmers be increased and that some additional compensation should be provided to these producers because they had already made the investment in preparing the ground and planting the winter wheat crop.

Bereuter cited the current depressed state of the rural economy and urged the Secretary to exercise the discretionary authority granted in the 1982 Farm Bill to provide the needed protection for America's farmers by implementing a strong set-aside program.

There are a lot of rabbits around and with the snow cover this means conditions are right for rabbit damage to newly planted trees and shrubs.

To reduce the menace, use a repellent containing thiram, or place a barrier around the plant like chicken wire fencing. You can make your own repellent by mixing two tablespoons of Tabasco Sauce to one gallon of water and spray the trees,

CARE OF BABY PIGS
Here are ten things you can do to prevent diarrhea in baby pigs that have just been weaned.

1. Take sows away from pigs. Leave pigs in farrowing crates for a few days to adjust to weaning before moving to nursery.
2. Start feeding weaning feed one week before weaning. Don't make abrupt changes in feed.
3. If weaning early (three weeks), leave pigs on sows an extra week.
4. Limit feed on pigs weaning. Don't self feed as pigs eat too much.
5. Keep pigs warm after weaning. Keep the temperature as high as 85 degrees if weaning at three weeks.
6. Use small modular nurseries with 100 percent plastic or fiberglass slats. Use all-in, all-out management of nursery and thoroughly clean between groups.
7. Consider adding antibiotics to feed—but only as a last resort.
8. Use nipple waterers. Cleaner water is provided by nipples than drinking pans or cups.
9. Have a veterinarian check pig's blood for hemoglobin level. It should be nine grams per 100 ml. of blood. If it is low, give 100 mg. of iron one week before weaning.
10. Feed clean sod to pigs before and after weaning.

Producers may invest 1.5 million for promotion of Nebraska beef

By M. M. Van Kirk
Nebraska Farm Bureau

Nebraska beef producers will be investing an estimated $1.5 million annually in promotion of their product and industry if LB 953, introduced in this session of the Nebraska Legislature, becomes law and installs the state's first beef checkoff program.

The state has a number of farm commodity checkoff programs in operation, some dating back many years, each seeking to aid the producers through, research and development and market expansion.

Each commodity checkoff law differs a bit from the others and there is no standard commodity statute, but in most cases the governing boards have been appointed by the governor.

LB 953, HOWEVER, calls for a seven-member board, with six members to be elected by eligible cattle producers and they in turn authorized to appoint a producer as the seventh member.

A coalition of representatives from Nebraska Stock Growers Association, the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association, Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, the Nebraska Grange and the Sandhills-Cattle Association studied the proposal last year and made recommendations as to what they felt such a measure should contain.

The present version of the bill was introduced by Sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood, chairman of the Agriculture Committee, and co-sponsored by Sens. Wiley Remmers, Martin Kahle, Harold Stock, Donald Wagener, Howard Lamb, William Nichol and John DeCamp.

LB 953 states that if approved, a fee of 25 cents per head shall be paid to the board on all cattle sold in the state during the first year of operation of the program, and after that the fee may be raised or lowered by the board after public hearing but shall not exceed $1 per head.

Fees are to be paid by the seller at the time of sale or delivery. If sold through a livestock market, the fee is to be collected by the market; if sold to a packer, then the fee is collected by the packer; in other commercial sales of cattle, the fee is to be collected by the livestock dealer, commission company or order buyer, involved in the sale.

In non-commercial sales where a brand inspection is performed, the fee is to be collected by the Nebraska Brand Committee, or if no brand inspection is required, then the fee shall be retained and remitted by the seller. Cattle will be subject to the fee each time they are sold.

ADMINISTRATION will be vested in a Nebraska Beef Industry Development Board. Six members are to be elected, one from each of six districts. Then the elected members will appoint an at-large member. Terms in all cases after the first board is formed shall be for three years, and members are limited to two consecutive terms.

A person seeking to be a director must be a resident of Nebraska, at least 21 years of age, have been actually engaged in the production, breeding, feeding or marketing of cattle in Nebraska for a period of at least the previous five years; and derive a substantial portion of his or her income from the production, breeding or feeding of cattle in the state. Such person must submit a petition to the Secretary of State containing the signature of at least 200 qualified voters.

A qualified voter, entitled to one vote, shall be any producer who shall be subject to the payment of checkoff fees required by the act. LB 953 contains no provisions for refund as do some of the commodity programs, except in cases of over-payment of fees.

LB 953 states that the Secretary of State shall conduct the election according to state election laws as far as applicable. It has been speculated that a producer could obtain a ballot from a local Extension office or the county clerk and after voting, mail it in for tabulation.

THE BILL PROPOSES that the Beef Board function as an autonomous body separate from the State Department of Agriculture, as the Wheat Board was restructured by LB 11 passed in the final days of the 1981 session. LB 786 introduced in this session by Sen. Schmit, proposes that all the other grain and soybean boards no longer be structured as operating divisions of the State Department of Agriculture.

A disturbing omission is noteworthy in LB 953. While it states that checkoff funds cannot be used to promote or oppose political candidates, it leaves out a further statement contained in current commodity law which prohibits use of checkoff funds "to influence legislation." This would open the possibility that checkoff funds could be used to hire lobbyists and pay expenses of delegations to Lincoln and Washington for lobbying purposes.

LB 953 would give the Beef Board authority to appoint and set the salary of an executive director. It would decide how the checkoff funds would be spent but a major portion is expected to be placed with the national beef marketing and advertising programs already underway, such as the $7.2 million beef promotion campaign to be launched in April by the Beef Industry Council of the National Livestock and Meat Board.

Currently the beef promotion job for the state is being done through a voluntary checkoff program conducted by the Nebraska Beef Industry Foundation which has generated about $400,000 per year. The mandatory checkoff program proposed would boost that figure by at least three times.

NPCA loans $201 million

The Norfolk Production Credit Association loaned a record 201 million dollars during 1981 according to Eldon Peters, association president. This was nearly a 20% increase from the 168 million loaned during 1980. Continued higher farm operating costs, high interest rates and an increase in the number of members served were cited as the primary reasons for the substantial increase in dollars loaned.

According to Peters, a recent survey of their members showed that in spite of all the things that worked against agriculture in 1981, over 40 percent of their customers showed financial progress for the past year, and very few have had to discontinue farming. The survey also pointed out the Association's commitment to young farmers, in that one-third of the loans outstanding are to farmers under 35 years of age.

The Norfolk Association had 56 million in loans outstanding as of Dec. 31 to some 600 farmer members. The Association serves Antelope, Cumming, Madison, Pierce, Stanton, and Wayne Counties with offices in Norfolk, Neligh, and West Point.

Pioneer family awards

The Knights of AK Sar Ben and the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers announced Friday that nominations for the twenty-seventh annual Nebraska Pioneer Farm Family awards are being accepted. The program honors farm families in Nebraska whose land has been owned by the same family for 100 years or more.

The honored families will receive an engraved walnut plaque and an aluminum gatepost marker for each farm from the Knights of AK Sar Ben, plus a special framed citation from the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers. In addition, AK Sar Ben will host the honored families at an annual banquet during the organization's 55th Livestock Exposition and Rodeo, September 22 through October 3.

All nominations must be submitted by May 15 to the secretary of the local county fair board. Elstermeier said.

Gotch attends seminar

Larry Gotch representing Farmers Cooperative Elevator Company of Allen, attended a recent advanced livestock production seminar in Omaha sponsored by Land O'Lakes.

Since 1978, Land O'Lakes and its member cooperatives have been participating in a program called "Double Your Feed in Five." This program emphasizes improvement of product and service to member patrons.

Major emphasis is placed on education and training at all levels. The Land O'Lakes Advanced Livestock Seminar is one of many ways this is achieved. Topics ranged from the future of feeding and marketing beef to the role of computers in pork production.

Bishop, congressman to speak

Congressman Berkley Bedell (D Iowa) will be the featured speaker at the annual meeting of the Center for Rural Affairs Saturday, Feb. 13, in Hartington. Also addressing the meeting will be Rev. L. David Brown, bishop of the Iowa District of the American Lutheran Church, and Most Reverend Lawrence J. McNamara, bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Grand Island.

Bedell is scheduled to speak at 8:30 p.m. at Holy Trinity Elementary School; Brown and McNamara will speak at 3 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall. A limited number of tickets for the 8 p.m. informal country supper are still available. All events are open to the public. For information or supper reservations, call (402) 846-5428 or (402) 754-6893.

Greve is on judging team

The University of Nebraska Lincoln livestock judging team competed last Friday in the Southwestern Livestock Exposition in Fort Worth, Texas. Seven students, accompanied by R.B. Warren, professor of animal science and team coach, judged beef cattle, hogs, sheep and Quarter Horses.

Team members are Lisa Greve, Wakefield; Michael Cooper, Bladen; Scott Langemeier, Schuyler; Brent Meeks, Taylor; Lyn Schuerman, DeWitt; Jan Volk, Battle Creek; and LeAnn Winget, Marston.

Cedar County feeders plan membership drive

"Livestock producers cannot afford to 'stand alone' in this complex and organized world, so we plan to expand our membership in the Cedar County Livestock Feeders Association," according to Dave Hoising, president of the organization.

"Our Board of Directors plan to hold a kick-off meeting next Wednesday morning (Feb. 17) at 8:30 a.m. at Nickel's Cafe in Hartington. Then they will spend two days calling on our neighbors to ask them to join our association, the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association, and the National Cattlemen's Association. This three-way combination gives us the representation we need at the local, state, and national level," he said.

Other directors include: Wayne Vogle, Cy Smith, and Larry Smith of Laurel; Clarence Kaltr and Jack Dandinger, of Hartington; Don Bruning, of Corning; and Daryl Jones, of Wynot. Gerry Wiedefeld, of Hartington, also a board director, is immediate past president and membership chairman.

"The team effort by the three organizations in the recently adopted tax law changes will benefit members for many years through savings to shippers, feeders and ranchers," Hoising said. "It is estimated this one effort would pay a member's dues for 500 years in the future," he added.

Another development in the NLFA organizational structure that will benefit many Cedar County producers is the formation of a State Cow-Calf Council, he said. "Through this arm of the Feeders group, and the State and County Extension Service, our organization is joining in sponsoring a Beef Production Seminar at the Norfolk Livestock Market on Feb. 22, 1982."

"One of the features will be an explanation of the Green Tag Preconditioned Calf Program and the outlook for special sales of those calves," he added. The NLFA Cow-Calf Council helped design this program for the benefit of the entire livestock industry, he added.

4-h news

Loyal Lassies and Lads
The Loyal Lassies and Lads 4-H Club met Feb. 3 in the home of Brian Lentz.

Thirteen members answered roll call with their favorite animals.

Following the business meeting, demonstrations were given by Wendy Korih and Rachel Haase on three different ways to hard cook eggs.

Other demonstrations were given by Michele Fluett on how to make brownies, and Tammy Griesch and Heidi Wriedl on peanut butter cups. The brownies and peanut butter cups were later served with submarine sandwiches made by the Tricks for Treats food group.

Members held a Valentine's party during the evening.

Next meeting will be March 4 in the home of Michele Fluett. Rachel Haase, news reporter.

Hi-Raters Boys
The Hi-Raters Boys 4-H Club met Jan. 14 at Grace Lutheran Church in Wayne.

New officers and members were installed, and yearbooks were filled out. Ten boys attended the meeting.

New officers are Terry Gilliland, president; Mark Rahn, vice president; Todd Dorcy, secretary; and Rod Gilliland, news reporter.

During the business meeting projects were discussed for the new year.

Next meeting is Feb. 11 with the Rehwisches serving and the Drosschers in charge of recreation. Rod Gilliland, news reporter.

1982 may be 3rd consecutive year of depressed farm income

The outlook for 1982 is gloomy one for the nation's farmers, and all the more so since farmers have experienced two consecutive years of sharply depressed farm income.

But it is possible that forecasters may be too pessimistic about the coming year, notes Dr. Marvin Duncan, assistant vice president with the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City.

Dr. Duncan sums up his views in the December Economic Review of the Reserve Bank.

In 1981, Dr. Duncan points out, farmers were particularly hurt by the generally unfavorable economic conditions experienced by this country and by our major trading partners. In addition, prices fell as the result of abundant farm production, while higher expenses cut into profits.

EVEN MORE than in 1981, farm prosperity in the year ahead will be closely linked to the performance of the U.S. economy and the economies of countries that buy our farm products.

Since it seems unlikely that the U.S. economy will begin to experience any significant real growth before midyear, growth in consumer demand will be sluggish, during the months just ahead. In addition, growth in export demand may be somewhat less rapid in 1982 than in recent years.

Farmers can look forward to modest improvement in farm product prices in the coming year, but that improvement will likely be overshadowed by rising production costs. Thus, farmers must consider the prospect of three consecutive years in which net farm income in real terms is lower than at any time in more than 40 years.

While current prospects are gloomy, various changes—such as improved economic growth or easing of inflationary pressures—could change the picture for farmers. In fact, there is some good news for consumers. Farm product prices are helping to keep food costs down.

Farm program applications accepted after Feb. 15

"We will begin accepting applications for the 1982 farm programs on February 16," Erwin D. Morris, chairman of the Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said.

Secretary of Agriculture John Block recently announced acreage reduction programs for wheat, corn, grain sorghum, barley, oats, rice and upland cotton.

"To be eligible for loans and target price protection farmers must sign up and comply with the acreage reduction program requirements," Morris said.

For reducing their wheat acre by 15 percent, farmers will be eligible for the $4.05 per bushel 1982 target price for wheat, a regular loan rate of $3.55 per bushel, and a grain reserve loan rate of $4.00 a bushel.

Farmers who reduce their feed grain acreage by 10 percent will receive federal target prices of $2.70 per bushel for corn, $2.60 for sorghum and barley, and $1.50 per bushel for oats. They will also be eligible for loan rates of $2.55 per bushel for corn, $2.42 for sorghum, $2.08 for barley, and $1.31 per bushel for oats.

According to Morris, 1982 wheat and feed grains will be eligible for immediate entry in the farmer-owned grain reserve.

Feed grain reserve loan rates are $2.90 a bushel for corn, $2.75 for sorghum, $2.37 for barley, and $1.49 per bushel for oats.

"The acreage reductions and higher loan rates will help strengthen farm prices," Morris said. The land taken from production and devoted to conservation uses must be eligible cropland and protected from wind and water erosion.

"Participation in the 1982 farm programs is voluntary. However, only those farmers who take part in the program will be eligible for benefits," the ASCS official said. The sign up period ends April 16.

You got a good thing going, America 'n that's natural gas.

C'mon America!

By installing a new natural gas water heater, you could save up to 24% a year over the operation of an older model.

And since natural gas is the most efficient energy system, by starting with gas your savings could be even more.

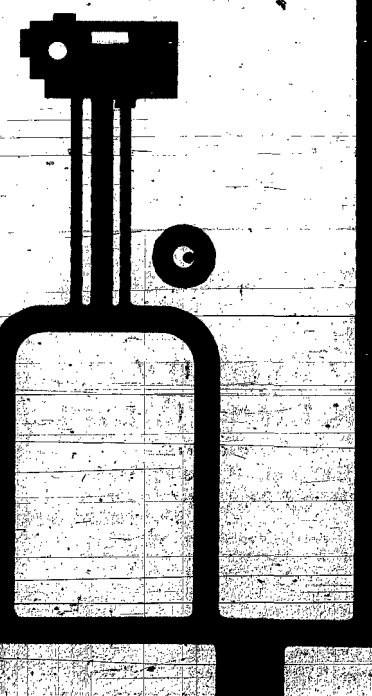

Gas water heaters are built to last longer, with longer warranties. There's no waste, and faster recovery means more hot water for the entire family.

And there's more.

Because natural gas is a product of the United States, by buying a gas appliance you'll be helping your country become less dependent on foreign energy sources. And since America has reserves well into the next century, gas makes sense in the future.

Whether the problem is saving money or helping solve America's energy problem, the solution becomes the same.

Why the best time is right now — to purchase your own home!

The demand for housing is increasing daily. This demand, and the appreciation of residential properties, will increase throughout this decade. The Wall Street Journal calls real estate "the average family's greatest single hedge against inflation." This, coupled with the decline in new housing construction, means the demand for housing will be even greater.

With all things considered — tax advantages, potential for constant appreciation, increasing demand for housing, and the emotional benefits of home ownership — right now is the very best time to purchase your own home.

Q. How much higher will my electrical energy costs be this year?
A. The rates for retail customers of NPPD have increased an average of 18.9%. If you pay your bills to your municipality, a rural cooperative or another power district which is a wholesale customer of NPPD, your rates may vary slightly upward or downward from that figure. Assuming that you use 780 kilowatt hours of electricity per month at NPPD's rates, it would mean an increase of about $7.90 per month during the winter and about $9.70 per month during the summer.

Q. What are the main reasons for this increase?
A. In general, there are two major reasons: NPPD's customers must now begin to repay the borrowed money plus interest to build Gentleman Generating Station Unit No. 2 near Sutherland and the continuing inflationary spiral that causes higher overall operating costs.

Q. Will a similar increase be necessary next year?
A. Present indications are that rate increases beyond 1982 will be held to much lower levels at least for the next several years. A principal reason is that our forecast of your future power needs indicates no new generation facilities will be required until the late 1980s.

Q. What is being done to control these increases?
A. Prior to setting 1982 rates, NPPD made substantial revisions in planning to eliminate or defer to later years certain construction expenditures. These reductions totalled more than $6,000,000 and were instrumental in lowering the amount of the anticipated increase. In addition, NPPD's overall budget was decreased and wage increases for employees were lowered from what earlier had been considered.

Negotiations

(Continued from page 1) meetings in which teacher negotiations are to be considered. Blomenkamp said the representative would supply information, if requested, about specific terms under consideration.

Blomenkamp said it is essential that cooperation between the groups be complete for the negotiations process to be successful. "It is hoped the community will also appreciate the efforts of the Board of Education, the Superintendent, and the Education Association to provide the best possible educators and education for the children of our district," added Blomenkamp. "We feel our school has been, and is, a leader in education. It's curriculum, organization, and staff are rated as excellent by the North Central Accreditation Association," he said, adding that to be a leader and maintain such a position requires, among other things, an excellent professional staff. "IN PRESENTING the letter, Blomenkamp said the WEA formally initiates the process they hope will lead to benefits which compensate the educators for their teaching assignments, the preparation required to carry out these assignments, and will commend the teachers on outstanding efforts. "I'm primarily here to see if things can go smoother than they have the last couple of years," said Blomenkamp, adding that a survey has been distributed to teachers to see what areas they feel are important to negotiate. Serving with Blomenkamp on the WEA negotiating committee from the high school is Byron Heiler. Other members of the committee include Sally McNeill and Keith Kopperud from the middle school, and JoAnn Benshoof and Sus Larsen from the elementary school. SUPERINTENDENT HAUN reported to the board on a lawsuit filed in Ninth District Court, Wayne County, by several taxpayers seeking tax levy relief from the county's Board of Equalization. Haun said a motion to have the case withdrawn from Wayne County has failed. Board members approved a consortium with Norfolk Attorney David Domingo to represent several different counties, including Wayne. In the lawsuit, Haun said he expects the consortium to save the school district "quite a bit of money." The suit, initiated in dozens of counties across the state through the efforts of the Nebraska School

Improvement Association of Lincoln, seeks a ceiling or relief regarding non-resident high school tuition levies. HAUN ALSO reported to the board on unicameral activities of concern, including LB 895, which would set the upper limit of free high school tuition at three times the computed pupil cost. He also reported on LB 842, a proposed constitutional amendment to require the legislature to fund new programs mandated by the state to school districts.

Becky Keldel reported to the board on a meeting of the Nebraska Association for the Gifted which she attended recently in Lincoln. Attending the meeting with Mrs. Keldel were Elaine Rump and Charlene Raamussen, members of the Community Advisory Council, which serves as the official link between the parents, community, and school system.

HAUN SAID the architects, who conducted the audit last month, found the building "in not too bad of shape," with the roof well insulated, and the building reasonably tight. In his report to the board, Haun said the architects did recommend using sealant around doors and enclosing glass coverings on north windows of the school with insulated material. Haun said the insulation project would have an eight-year payback period, with the district saving about $8,400 in fuel, the total cost of the project, over a period of about eight years at the present rates.

service, to conduct a professional energy audit of the elementary school for a fixed fee of $1,500. He also reported that the school had to hire the removal of most of the snow on school grounds, and that pipes froze up in three rooms of the elementary school. Board members also received an annual report from librarian Karen Roth regarding 1981 library circulation. "We would possibly be within the payback period that would receive approval at that time," said Haun, adding that right now the eight-year payback is too long a period. The board directed Haun to submit claims for the energy grant.

IN OTHER action Monday, the board received rezoning requests from the city planning commission to change the zoning of Kappa Delta Gamma Sorority at 1202 Main Street from B-3 to R-3, and Valley Squire property from A-1 to B-1. The board voted unanimously to approve the rezoning requests. In addition, board members extended Superintendent Haun's three-year contract by one year. Haun distributed evaluation blanks to board members. The evaluation blanks dealt with the performance of the superintendent and may be discussed at the next board meeting.

(Continued from page 1) He indicated he felt that, by approving the claim, the city would be signaling taxpayers that they had a right to be protected and could turn to the city in similar situations.

KLOSTER EXPLAINED that, after city investigation and insurance inspections, it simply boiled down to "something being dumped in the system." He added that insurance companies are writing that kind of protection out of homeowner's policies because it is considered an act of God. In response to Mayor Marsh's comment about a sewer check valve to prevent backup, Vopalensky said "it does nothing but protect the individual it doesn't address the problem - the problem goes down the line to the next homeowner." At that point, Frye, who attended the meeting with his wife, explained that they had "taken care to see that it doesn't happen again." CONTINUING, Frye said, "What concerns me is that we have no cause, therefore we have no solution. It will continue to be a problem until a solution is found." Marsh told Frye that he could not put the city in that kind of position (a reference to paying claims for sewer backups without proven city negligence). Kloster told the Council that if the claim was approved the city would be "paying money that it was not obligated to pay." Several councilmembers, including Keith Kusley, cited examples of other sewer backup incidents in the city. "How about the other people?" Kloster asked. "Are we going to open the door to others who have had this problem? You have to be very careful about doing things one way for someone and another way for someone else." VOPALENSKY TOLD the Council he felt the city had an obligation to "take care of the welfare of taxpayers." Kloster challenged Vopalensky on that point: "You say the city should be looking after taxpayers, but it appears you are looking after one taxpayer at the expense of the other 5,000." The city administrator rejoined, "Vopalensky cited a 20 call telephone survey he said he took before attending the Council meeting. He said he limited the survey to his ward (Ward 4) and that 18 of the "randomly selected" residents were in favor of 100 percent payment by the city. The other two were in favor of reaching a compromise, he said. "I THINK it is an important sampling of taxpayers," Vopalensky said. "They were in favor of payment. They felt they could look toward the city on this." Kloster again responded: "The city should not be responsible for anything anyone dumps into the city sewer system." Vopalensky questioned the size of the sewer line near the Tilt station, suggesting that the engineering scheme of 8 inch lines dumping into a 4 inch to 6-inch line near the lift station may have been at fault. Vern Schulz, city public works superintendent, explained that the line reduction was common and that it protected the lift station from a surge of effluent that "could knock it out." KLOSTER NOTED that it not only was a common engineering design, but that it had 15 years of "problem free" operation. Marsh again called on Swarts to give a legal opinion. Swarts told the Council he was in agreement with the insurance adjusters and that he felt the Frye's chances of winning in court were "less than 10 percent." In response to a question from Vopalensky, Swarts said the Council would be within the law to approve the claim. "However, the bad effect is the precedent," Swarts added. Marsh asked Vopalensky if he had checked with other cities regarding policy. Vopalensky said he had not. Marsh said Kloster had. KLOSTER ACKNOWLEDGED the Frye's had from 3 to 6 inches of sewage backup in the basement of their house. He said, however, that he'd seen cases with sewage "coming out the basement windows" without any negligence being in void "and the claims weren't paid." With Councilwoman Carolyn Filter absent, Vopalensky's motion failed 6-1.

Roadblock

(Continued from page 1) We have good vocational technical colleges nearby so that a kid is given the opportunity to acquire these skills after we've given him the "good solid basics," said Giese. Giese said he personally isn't interested in spending $100,000 for the addition at this time and thinks it would be a step in the wrong direction. THE ADVISORY Council was forced to back off on its original plans of a 4,920-square-foot addition when Haun told school board members last month that a maximum of $92,000 would be available for the project. At that time the board authorized Haun to meet with the architects to draw up alternative plans within the district's budget.

BOARD MEMBER Jim Hummel, who also serves on the Vocational Advisory Committee, said studies show that the school's present vocational facilities are totally inadequate. "Many of these kids are looking for additional skills that they can use for the rest of their lives," said Hummel, adding that at this point he feels the school should proceed with the addition. "Vocational programs do not provide the students an opportunity to get out of the basic classes," said board member Becky Keldel, adding that the school requires students to take so many hours of the basics such as reading, writing and arithmetic. "HOW MANY OF the graduates that go through Wayne High School will take woodworking and make it a lifetime skill," argued Giese. "I'm one of those people who likes to tinker on my car," said Giese, "and I never had any auto mechanics class in high school. I think any other kid can do the same. If you're interested you'll learn to do these 'hobby type' things on your own." Questioning Giese's statement was board member Neil Sandahl who said many vocational skills can help students save a lot of money later in life. "If we're going to keep the vocational program then we need to expand," said Sandahl. "It will create a hardship tax wise, then we should take a hard look at the project," Sandahl added

"THIS IS THE last deficient area we're looking at and we have the dollars," said Hummel. "We're looking at a commitment to the vocational students." "I don't think we should feel for a minute that just because we have the money in the sinking fund we should spend it," argued Giese. Giese questioned why the school introduced the auto mechanics program in the first place if there wasn't room for it. Superintendent Haun, replying to Giese's question, said the program was first offered as an eight-week introductory course. "Now, said Haun, the state wants students who have a complete hands on experience." "I don't think we can offer everything to everybody," replied Giese.

GIESE TOLD the board he particularly wants to eliminate the auto mechanics class because most people who have car trouble take them to the garage where the right tools and knowledge are available. Giese, who made a motion that the board suspend any further action on the project, was backed by board member Dale Stoltenberg. "We're talking about a lot of dollars," said Stoltenberg, adding that he wasn't comfortable with the project at this time. Sandahl, who said perhaps the board had been a bit hasty, suggested that any further action on the project be suspended until next month's board meeting to allow more time to gather information.

Complex

blem as originally proposed, according to city planners. Also, since the property originally proposed for the subdivision extended westward to what is commonly called the fairgrounds road (a north-south road forming the western edge of the land), a problem developed over annexation and responsibility for improvement of the county roadway. Coryell's new proposal stops the proposed development's property line some 130 feet short of the roadway, which all but eliminates the original drainage problems and drops the roadway, annexation and paving question out of the picture, according to the Council. HOWEVER, THE modified preliminary plat shows substantial grading changes, according to Mayor Marsh, who recommended that Coryell take the proposal back to the planners for approval. Kem Swarts, city legal counsel, also recommended that that procedure should be followed. Coryell's plan drops about 10 lots from the development proposal. It also leaves land between the proposed subdivision's northern boundary and state Highway 35 zoned commercial. Council consensus was that the preliminary plat is workable with commission approval and further study of potential drainage problems on Oak Drive. If the city planners approve the preliminary plat, the proposal will again come before the Council for final approval. At that stage, the proposed subdivision would move toward the final plat stage. THE CITY COUNCIL also approved the formation of a street improvement district for a block of Nebraska Street between Fairgrounds Avenue and Folk Street. The district was created to facilitate paving of the one-block section of Nebraska.

Also, in a house cleaning matter, the Council approved a resolution asking the State Department of Roads to place the reconstruction of Seventh Street on its One & Six Year highway program. Reconstruction of that section of state Highway 35, as it runs east-west through the city, was stricken from the state's priority list after a recent attempt to improve the roadway failed in Wayne. Wayne's City Planning Commission had sought Council support in the matter.

Cooking with microwaves

Times have changed and so has the American lifestyle. Families are smaller, living space is smaller and many women are now employed outside the home. As a result, the demand for time-saving cooking methods has increased.

The microwave oven is one such time saver. Microwaving saves up to 75% of the cooking time with some foods. A recent survey revealed the 23% of American homes now have a microwave oven.

ANCHOR HOOKING supplies all of your microwave cookware needs with quality glass, plastic and ceramic ovenware.

Transparent ANCHOR HOOKING glass ovenware is available in a variety of shapes and sizes, ideal for microwave cooking. Plastic Microwave is light weight and break resistant. Microceram™ performs well in the microwave and is attractive for serving, too. All ANCHOR HOOKING ovenware can be used in a conventional or convection oven as well as a microwave oven.

MICROWAVE COOKING TIPS
Stir foods when possible to redistribute cool portions to the edges.

Turn over dense pieces of food such as meat or whole baked potatoes.

Always use minimum amount of recommended time.

Add cooking time when quantity of food has been increased.

Arrange items in a ring shape. Thicker foods should always be near the outside edge of the dish.

To avoid dehydration, do not use salt on the outside surface of foods.

Microwaves cannot pass through metal. Always use ANCHOR HOOKING glass ovenware. Microwave™ or Microceram™ for cooking in the microwave oven.

DINNER FOR ONE

- 1/3 cup crushed corn flakes or potato chips
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1/4 teaspoon paprika
- 1/4 teaspoon celery salt
- 2 chicken legs
- 3/4 cup frozen peas and onions

Combine corn flakes, garlic powder, paprika and celery salt. Rinse chicken and roll in crumbs. Place chicken legs in one section of the MICROWAVE™ Versatility Pan divided cover. Fill other section of the divided cover with peas and onions. Cover with wax paper or paper towel. Microwave in GE Microwave Oven at High 6 to 7 minutes or till chicken is done. For conventional oven: Bake at 350 degrees F., uncovered for 40 to 45 minutes or till chicken is done.

Yam 'n date patties for the crowd

Glazed baked ham is one of the most popular main courses when there's a crowd for dinner. And yams or sweet potatoes are the perfect accompaniment.

Instead of glazed sweet potatoes, serve Yam 'n Date Patties for added interest and rest to your menu. Mashed yams or sweet potatoes are combined with pitted dates and then rolled in crushed HONEY MAID Graham Crackers.

exciting nutrition story. Sweet flavorful yams themselves are an exceptional source of Vitamin A and C and contain lesser amounts of other vitamins. HONEY MAID Graham Crackers give crunch and flavor to this good-tasting, good for you vegetable.

YAM 'N DATE PATTIES

- 1 (20 oz.) can sliced pineapple
- 1 (8 oz.) package pitted dates
- 2 lbs. fresh yams or sweet potatoes, cooked and peeled OR 1 (40 oz.) can yams in syrup, well-drained

1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
6 HONEY MAID Graham Cracker squares, crushed (about 1/2 cup crumbs)

Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. Drain pineapple, reserving juice. Place pineapple slices on 15x10 1/2 inch baking pan set aside. Reserve 5 dates, cut in half lengthwise. Snip remaining dates, reserve in large bowl, with SUNBEAM electric mixer at medium speed, beat yams, beat in 1/2 tablespoon reserved pineapple juice and cinnamon. Stir in snipped dates and walnuts. Form into 10 (about 1 1/2 cup) patties, roll in HONEY MAID Graham Cracker crumbs. Place on top of pineapple slices. Top each with reserved date half. Bake 15 to 18 minutes or until heated through. Makes 10 servings.

Pretty gingerbreads to freeze now....bake later

make lovely gifts and are as delightful to sample as they are to admire!

More ideas using FLEISCHMANN'S Yeast will be shown at the 1981 Homemakers School. Home economist Nancy Mann will be presenting an informative and entertaining evening. Don't miss the fun!

GINGERBREAD KIDS

- 4 to 6-1/2 cups flour
- 1/2 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
- 1-1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon ginger
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon cloves
- 3 pkgs. FLEISCHMANN'S Active Dry Yeast
- 1 cup water
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/4 cup dark molasses
- 1/4 cup BLUE BONNET Margarine
- 2 eggs (at room temperature)
- Melted BLUE BONNET Margarine
- Confectioners' sugar frosting

Today's sleek, contemporary designs leave some people cold when looking for original gift ideas that have a personal touch. There is no need to look farther than the pantry!

The Gingerbread Kids pictured here can be baked easily using simple ingredients found in most kitchens. Developed by the FLEISCHMANN'S Yeast Test Kitchen, these adorable breads are as convenient to make as they are to give.

The Gingerbreads are made from a "freezer dough" which can be mixed together today, frozen and baked at another time. The dough can be frozen from 4 to 6 weeks, if desired, leaving time for other activities.

These individual breads make unique place cards that catch attention at any dinner table. They

1/2 cup flour. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a stiff dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes.

Divide dough into 4 equal pieces. Shape each piece into an 8 x 3 inch rectangle. Place on 2 large greased-baking sheets. Starting at bottom of each rectangle make a 3 inch cut up the center. Shape as for legs. Measure 2 inches down on each side from top of oblong and press dough towards the center to shape head. Make 1/2-inch cuts on both sides at the neck. Measure 4-inches up the sides from bottom of legs, slit in 1-inch and then up 1 inch on both sides. Pull arms out to 3-inches. Press dough against baking sheet and shape arms. Tuck dough in around head and body to finish shaping. Brush generously with melted margarine. Cover tightly with plastic wrap. Freeze until firm. Transfer to plastic bags. Keep frozen up to 4 weeks.

Remove from freezer, place on ungreased baking sheets. Cover; let stand at room temperature until fully thawed, about 2 hours. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until more than doubled in bulk, about 1 hour, 15 minutes.

Bake at 375 degrees F for 20 to 25 minutes, or until done. Remove from baking sheets and cool on wire racks. Frost with confectioners' sugar frosting, then decorate as desired. Make 4 8 inch kids.

To bake without freezing: After shaping, let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour and 15 minutes. Bake as directed above.

Pressure cooking lowers beef budgets

With economic pressure fast pushing up grocery costs, Americans traditionally beef about the price of beef. Even so, we still buy more, cook more and eat more of it than any other meat.

To help cut the beefing, as well as consumers' beef costs, Merle Ellis, a spokesman for the newly formed Presto Pressure Cooking Institute, has some advice. Ellis, a San Francisco butcher with a national reputation as a meat authority through his syndicated column, "TV Appearances and Books: Cutting Up in the Kitchen," offers two beef-buying rules.

First, he says, "You cut beef costs best when you cut the beef yourself." That doesn't mean buying a side of beef, he cautions, but cutting roasts and chuck steaks into smaller specialty items, such as kabobs.

What is the second rule? "Buy less expensive, leaner cuts from the chuck," says Ellis. "What they lack in tenderness from fat marbling, you can make up by braising. If you think it takes hours to prepare a dinner, think again," says Ellis. "Using a Presto Pressure Cooker, you can cut the time to cook a pot roast by 80%, down to just 35 minutes. Ellis demonstrates how he follows both rules by cutting and cooking one six-pound 7-bone roast into three beefy meals ideally suited for the smaller family of the 80's.

Instead of buying pre-packaged beef strips, Ellis suggests lightly freezing the 7-bone chuck roast, then cutting five or six thin slices from the top portion, next to the bone. Sautéed with garlic, it is enough meat for two generous servings of Steak Italian Style.

The middle portion of the same pot roast can be rolled up or cooked flat. With the Presto Pressure Cooker only 20 minutes are needed for the stout or ale-cooking liquid to fully penetrate and tenderize the meat and onions. Ellis suggests cutting the remaining portion of the roast into cubes for use in a nouvelle cuisine type dish, Kiwi Beef. Using the Presto Pressure Cooker, the beef is fully cooked and tender in just eight minutes, ready for stir-frying with white wine and fresh sliced kiwi fruit.

STEAK ITALIAN STYLE
Top portion (Flat-Iron/Chuck Tender) 7-bone beef pot roast, (approximately 3/4 to 1 lb.), chilled
2 tablespoons olive oil
2 or 3 cloves garlic, crushed
Salt and pepper
1 tablespoon water
4 tablespoons Blue-Bonnet Margarine, softened to room temperature

Cut chilled meat into 6 thin slices; pound flat. Sauté garlic in olive oil in heavy frypan. Remove garlic. Over high heat, quickly sauté 2 or 3 meat slices at a time. When all meat is browned, return to pan and add water, cover and turn off heat. Let sit for about 1 minute. Remove meat from pan to a heated platter. Whisk margarine into sauce until smooth, spoon over beef. Makes approximately 2 generous or 4 small servings.

STOUT BEEF AND ONIONS
2 1/2 lbs. center portion chuck roast (approximate)
Salt and pepper

2 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup Blue-Bonnet Margarine
5 cups chopped onions
1 bay leaf
1 (12 oz.) bottle or can stout or dark ale

If desired, remove excess fat from roast; roll and tie. Sprinkle roast with salt and pepper; dust with flour. Brown meat in margarine in Presto Pressure Cooker. Add onions and brown; add bay leaf and stout. Close pressure cooker cover securely. Place pressure regulator on vent pipe. Cook 20 minutes at 15 pounds pressure. Let pressure drop of its own accord. 4 to 6 servings. (If using 6-quart pressure cooker, add an additional 1/2 cup stout.)

KIWI BEEF

2 cups small beef cubes from chuck roast, (about 1 lb.)
1 bay leaf
1 clove garlic, minced
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 cup water

Butter pecan ice cream

2 tablespoons Blue Bonnet Margarine
1/4 to 1/2 cup chopped pecans
1 (14 oz.) can Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk (NOT evaporated milk)
2 egg yolks, beaten (Grade A clean, uncracked eggs)

1 teaspoon maple flavoring
2 cups (1 pint) whipping cream, whipped
1n small saucepan, melt margarine; stir in pecans, set aside. In large bowl, combine sweetened condensed milk, egg yolks, maple flavoring and pecans. Fold in whipped cream. Pour into aluminum foil-lined Anchor Hocking 9x5-inch loaf dish. Freeze 4 hours or until firm. Scoop ice cream from dish or remove from dish, peel off foil and slice. Return leftovers to freezer. Makes 3 1/2 quarts.

Vitamin E the mystery vitamin

Much has been written about vitamin "E" since its discovery in 1922. Even though many scientists have tried to uncover its benefits, much is still unknown about this mystery vitamin.

Researchers know vitamin E is one of the essential vitamins required for good health, during all stages of life. Vitamin E acts as an antioxidant to protect the thin membranes or walls around red blood cells and other cells. The destruction of these red cells leads to certain anemias in premature infants. Vitamin E helps protect another essential nutrient, vitamin A.

Eating foods rich in vitamin E—wheat germ, whole grains, egg yolk, leafy vegetables and certain oils—will insure a sufficient intake of vitamin E requirements.

For those who don't have the time to make sure they're eating enough vitamin E rich foods, a vitamin supplement may be the answer. Try this Vita Quiz to test your vitamin E IQ.

Vitamin E will increase your sexual drive?
FALSE. Research on vitamin E deficient hamsters, guinea pigs, rats and mice has shown reproductive failure of one type or another, but no problems with reproduction have been found in E deficient humans. Furthermore, sexual activity and reproductive failure are not necessarily related.

Vitamin E protects foods from getting rancid.
TRUE. Because certain forms of vitamin E (tocopherol) prevent oxidation in oils, it is commonly added to oily foods, like salad dressings, to prevent spoilage.

For more information on vitamins and minerals, pick up a vitamin information pamphlet at your participating Homemakers School pharmacies and super markets or at the Homemakers School sponsored by the Wayne Herald in the Wayne Auditorium on Feb. 11, starting at 1:00.

Freezer jam with a hint of mint

Imagine, if you will, the refreshing flavor of Strawberry Mint Jam lavishly spread on warm rolls. Then you might think about it on crisp morning toast or tender pancakes. Actually, there's no need to stretch your imagination when it's so easy to prepare this freezer jam. The fruit is not cooked, just mixed with sugar and a liquid pectin mixture. By not cooking the fruit, the flavor stays much fresher.

If this is your first freezer jam, you'll be pleased to know that special containers are not needed. Glass and plastic containers not larger than one pint with tight fitting lids can be used. Or, if you prefer, use standard glass jelly jars with two-part lids. Prepare the containers as directed and read the recipe carefully before making the jam.

Because the natural pectin in berries often decreases during the ripening process, it is necessary to use commercial fruit pectin as a supplement. This recipe calls for one pouch of Certo Fruit Pectin.

Remember, it's the correct proportion of pectin combined with other elements—sugar and acid—that makes the jam. Jam and jelly differ. Be certain to select bright plump berries without blemish, then start to prepare the jam. The whole process is so easy. Prepare the strawberries as directed, adding chopped fresh mint or crushed dried mint leaves. Then simply mix and add sugar, lemon juice and Certo Fruit Pectin to the fruit mixture, stirring for three minutes, tading into containers and covering with lids. After standing for 24 hours, containers can be stored in the freezer.

With the season for fresh fruits ahead, watch for freezer jam or jelly recipes printed on the insert tucked inside the package of Certo Fruit Pectin. You will also discover recipes for cooked jam and conserve to use with fresh fruits in the coming months.

STRAWBERRY MINT JAM
1 1/2 cups prepared fruit (about 1 qt. fully ripe strawberries)
2 tablespoons chopped fresh mint OR 1 tablespoon crushed dried mint leaves

4 cups (1 1/2 lb.) sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 pouch Certo Fruit Pectin
First prepare the containers. Use only containers 1 pint or less in size that have tight fitting lids. Wash, sterilize and drain. Wash with hot water and higher rinse water.

Then prepare the fruit. Stem and thoroughly wash, and leave at a time about 1 quart strawberries. Measure 1 1/2 cups into a large bowl or pan. Add mint.

Then make the jam. Thoroughly mix sugar into fruit. Let stand 10 minutes. Add lemon juice to fruit pectin in a small bowl. Stir into fruit. Continue stirring about 3 minutes. A few sugar crystals will remain. Ladle quickly into containers. Cover at once with tight lids. Let stand at room temperature 24 hours, then store in freezer. If jam will be used within 2 or 3 weeks, it may be stored in refrigerator. Makes 4 1/2 cups or 5 18 oz. containers.

New breads to try:

Meet the bagel

What's a bagel? It's a German word, literally meaning bracelet, which became the name of a popular roll. A bagel is crusty on the outside and chewy on the inside. It is shaped in a circle, with a hole in the center.

In the 17th century, the bagel was regarded as a symbol of life, by those of the Jewish faith. Given to pregnant women before they gave birth, the bagel was believed to be a "miraculous life-saver." Although this still has much less grave a meaning to people today, it is still considered the "staff of life" for many Jewish people.

Today bagels are no longer considered strictly "ethnic" food. They are becoming popular throughout the country. Bagel restaurants and snack shops serving a variety of fresh bagel sandwiches are springing up across the country.

No matter where you live, you can learn to make these special rolls yourself. The Orange Oatmeal Bagels pictured here, developed by the FLEISCHMANN'S Yeast Test Kitchen, have a sweet, delicate lightness and a golden color. Yogurt Bagels, also pictured here, are made with all natural yogurt, for a creamy, moist texture.

Try both of these wholesome, treats: toasted with jam at breakfast, or make delicious chicken, ham or cheese sandwiches with them for lunch.

ORANGE OATMEAL BAGELS

4 to 4 1/2 cups flour
1 cup old-fashioned oatmeal
3 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
2 pkgs. FLEISCHMANN'S Active Dry Yeast
2 tablespoons BLUE BONNET Margarine
1 tablespoon sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1 egg white
Oatmeal OR sesame seeds (optional)

Combine 2 1/2 cups flour and oatmeal in a large bowl; mix 2 cups flour mixture, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon salt, orange rind and undissolved yeast

Heat 1 1/2 cups water and margarine in a saucepan until very warm (120 degrees F - 130 degrees F). Add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add 1/2 cup flour mixture. Beat at high speed 2 minutes. Stir in remaining flour mixture and enough additional flour to make a stiff dough. On a floured board knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Set in greased bowl. Turn to grease top. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down. Cover; let rest 15 minutes. In a large skillet heat a 1-inch depth of water over medium heat to a simmer; stir in remaining sugar and salt. Divide dough into 12 equal pieces; shape 6 pieces into smooth balls. With a floured finger, make a 1-inch hole in each. Cover and let rest 5 to 10 minutes. Drop 3 bagels into simmering water. Cook 3 minutes. Turn and cook 2 minutes. Turn again; cook 1 minute more. Drain on towels. While cooking first batch of bagels, shape 6 more and let rest 5 to 10 minutes. If necessary, add boiling water to skillet if level drops below 1-inch.

Place bagels on greased baking sheet. Mix egg white and 1 tablespoon water; brush on bagels. Sprinkle with oatmeal or sesame seed if desired. Bake at 375 degrees F for 25 to 28 minutes. Remove from sheets. Cool 1 dozen bagels.

SWEET YOGURT BAGELS
4 1/2 to 5 cups flour
1 tablespoon salt
2 pkgs. FLEISCHMANN'S Active Dry Yeast

Water
1/3 cup dark molasses
2 tablespoons BLUE BONNET Margarine
1/2 cup plain yogurt (at room temperature)

1 tablespoon sugar
1 egg white
2 tablespoons sugar (optional)
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon (optional)

Mix 1 1/2 cups flour, salt and yeast. Heat 1 cup water, molasses and margarine to 120 degrees F - 130 degrees F. Add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of mixer. Add yogurt and 1/2 cup flour. Beat at high speed 2 minutes. Stir in enough more flour to make a stiff dough. On floured board, knead 8-10 minutes. Set in a greased bowl; turn to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm draft-free place 1 hour.

Punch dough down. Cover; let rest 15 minutes. In a large skillet heat 1-inch water over medium heat to a simmer; add remaining sugar.

Divide dough into 12 pieces; shape 3 pieces into smooth balls. With floured finger, poke a 1-inch hole in each. Drop bagels into simmering water. Cook 2 minutes. Turn and cook 2 minutes. Turn again; cook 1 minute more. Drain on towels. Repeat shaping and cooking rest of dough.

Place on greased baking sheet. Mix egg white and 1 tablespoon water; brush on bagels. Sprinkle with a mixture of sugar and cinnamon, if desired. Bake at 375 degrees F - 20-25 minutes. Remove from sheets. Cool 1 dozen bagels.

Food processor traditional pizza

3 cups flour
2 tablespoons oil
1 1/2 teaspoons salt, divided
1 pkg. FLEISCHMANN'S Active Dry Yeast
1/4 cup warm water (105 degrees F - 115 degrees F)
3/4 cup very cold water (about)
1/4 pound fresh mushrooms
1 medium green pepper
1 pkg. (8 oz.) mozzarella cheese
1 can (6 oz.) tomato paste
1/2 cup water
1 teaspoon basil leaves, crushed OR 1/2 teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed
Few grains black pepper
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Food Processor Preparation
With metal blade in place combine flour, oil, sugar and 1 teaspoon salt in bowl; process 5-10 seconds to combine. Dissolve yeast in warm water, pour through feed tube. Begin processing, pouring cold water through feed tube in a fast stream till ball forms, about 10-15 seconds. Continue processing for 60 seconds to knead dough.

Carefully remove dough from processor bowl. Shape into a ball and place in a greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft; until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes.

With slicer disc in place, slice mushrooms. Coarsely chop green pepper with metal blade. Spread mozzarella cheese using shredder disc. Set ingredients aside.

Punch dough down; divide in half. Roll and stretch each half into a 13-inch circle. Place on ungreased 12-inch pizza pans, pressing around edge to form a standing rim of dough. Place a 9-inch pie plate over center of each pan. Bake at 250 degrees F for 10 minutes. Remove pie plate and bake about 5 minutes more.

Combine tomato paste, water, basil or oregano leaves, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt and pepper; spread mixture over crusts. Sprinkle half the mushrooms, green pepper, mozzarella and Parmesan cheeses over each pizza. Bake at 425 degrees for 15 minutes, or until done. Serve hot. Makes 2 12-inch pizzas.

Fructose—sweetener for today's consumer

Now there is hope for the health-conscious person who loves sweets, but not the calories. It's fructose, also commonly called "fruit sugar," the sweetest of all commonly found natural sugars.

Fructose has always been a part of the human diet, and is found in such foods as strawberries, bananas, vegetables—and honey. Pure crystalline fructose, made from natural sources, comes in a white, granular form, and can be purchased at supermarkets, in the dietetic or sugar sections, and at local health food stores.

People watching their weight may find pure crystalline fructose helpful in reducing calories. Although crystalline fructose has the same calories per gram as sucrose (table sugar), it is up to 1 1/2 times sweeter than sucrose in some foods such as frozen desserts, lemonade or iced tea. Using less, you can save 100 calories without sacrificing the sweetness. Crystalline fructose is an excellent substitute for sucrose in jams, jellies, toppings, cold beverages, gelatin desserts, puddings, cakes and cookies.

Simply heed the general rule of thumb in recipes: use one-third less fructose than you would sucrose. However, adjustments are necessary depending upon the acidity and temperature of the food. Fructose is much sweeter in acidic or cold products like lemonade and frozen desserts. In hot servings, the sweetness of fructose is comparable to sucrose, or slightly higher.

Pure crystalline fructose: Improves flavors—natural flavor of foods is enhanced with fructose. Makes underripe melons or under-sweet berries taste riper, more flavorful.

Resists crystallizing—in jams, preserves and ice cream; this property makes foods suitable for freezing.

Is highly soluble—dissolves quickly and completely in cold water. Its greatest sweetening potential is in cool, slightly acidic drinks. It is not as effective in hot beverages where its sweetness is about equal to that of sucrose.

Good-tasting—imparts clean, cool, refreshing taste on fruits and in beverages.

Enhances freshness—baked goods retain their freshness longer because fructose retains moisture. For this reason, it should be stored in a tightly covered container, not in an open bowl, as ordinary table sugar. Storage period—up to 12 months.

For salt-restricted diets—fructose is an excellent flavor enhancer of vegetables, meats, fruits and berries. The salt won't be missed, particularly when fructose is combined with a few drops of fresh lemon juice.

Offers unique metabolic advantages—It is absorbed slowly and is metabolized in the liver, essentially independent of insulin. It may be used under medical supervision in conditions where the use of common sugar is restricted, such as diabetes and hypoglycemia (high blood sugar). Of course, caloric intake should always be monitored.

Helps in dieting—does not produce "highs" and "lows" in blood sugar levels. (May thus help avoid cravings for food and result in better dietary compliance.)

You'll receive more information about fructose at The Wayne Herald's Homemakers School on Feb. 11.

Spiced grape butter

2 cups prepared fruit (about 2 lb. fully ripe Concord grapes)
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon cloves
4 cups (1 1/2 lb.) sugar
1 pouch Certo Fruit Pectin

First prepare the fruit. Thoroughly crush about 2 pounds grapes. Force crushed fruit through a food mill or press through a sieve. Measure 2 cups into large bowl or pan. Stir in spices.

Then make the butter. Thoroughly mix sugar into fruit; let stand 10 minutes. Stir fruit pectin into fruit. Continue stirring 30 minutes (a few sugar crystals will remain). Ladle quickly into sealed containers. Cover at once with tight lids. Let stand at room temperature 24 hours; then store in freezer. Small amounts may be covered and stored in refrigerator up to 2 weeks. Makes 4 1/2 cups or 6 (8 fl. oz.) containers.

ZUCCHINI BREAD

1 1/2 cups shredded zucchini
1 1/2 teaspoon fresh lemon juice
3/4 cup fructose
1/2 cup oil
1 egg at room temperature
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon
3/4 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon soda
1/4 teaspoon ginger
1 3/4 cups flour
1/4 cup minced or ground walnuts

Combine the zucchini and lemon juice and set aside. Combine the fructose, oil, egg and vanilla and mix well. Combine all remaining ingredients except the walnuts and mix well. Combine the fructose-oil mixture with the dry ingredients and mix till well blended, scraping the sides of the bowl frequently. Fold in the zucchini lemon juice mixture and the walnuts. Put the dough in a greased and floured 9" x 5" loaf pan and bake in the center of the preheated 325 degree oven for approximately 1 hour and 15 minutes or till a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Remove from the oven and let cool on its side for 5 minutes, then turn out of the pan, place on a rack and cool to room temperature. When the bread is cool, wrap it lightly in aluminum foil or place it in a plastic bag and store in the refrigerator. To serve, slice thinly, wrap in foil and reheat in the oven (it can be eaten right after it is baked, but it is better the next day). Makes 1 loaf (20 slices). Each slice contains approximately 146 calories.

OLD FASHIONED LEMONADE
1/4 cup freshly squeezed lemon juice
1/4 cup fructose
3 cups water
Combine the lemon juice and fructose and mix well. Add the water and again mix well. Refrigerate till very cold before serving. Serve over ice cubes. Makes 1 quart of lemonade. 1 cup contains approximately 40 calories.

Cutting up a chicken

Although you can buy chicken cut up in the supermarket, it is preferable and more economical to buy a whole chicken and cut it up yourself. It not only gives you meat, perfect serving pieces, but also back, neck and giblets to add to the stock pot.

(1) Place a 2 1/2 to 3 pound chicken on cutting board with neck end toward you. Lift leg and hold it out from the chicken. Use your fingers to locate the joint, then cut through the connecting skin and flesh with a sharp knife. Bend the leg back away from you and cut through the joint.

(2) Lay the leg on the cutting board. Cut the skin between leg and thigh, locate joint, and cut through.

(3) Next, remove wings from the breast. Move wing up and down a few times to find the joint. Place the tip of the knife on the joint and cut through.

(4) Now grasp the chicken by the back and hold it so you can cut through the entire length with a large, sharp knife. Cut through the ribs where they connect to the wing joint.

(5) Bend the neck and cut through the bones at the shoulder to separate the breasts from the back. If desired, cut the breast in half up the center with knife, straight through the wishbone at the top.

(6) The breast of the chicken is used in Chicken Tarragon. The remaining pieces are cooked in the Presto Pressure Cooker according to the Chicken Stock Recipe. After cooking, the meat is removed from the bones and used in Chicken Enchiladas with Mole Sauce, while the broth becomes the base for Curried Peanut Soup.

When the pressure's on, this pot is a chicken magician

"A chicken in every pot" may well be one of the few President Bill Clinton pledges ever kept. After Herbert Hoover promised it in the late 20's, chicken did indeed go from a Sunday only specialty to an economical and versatile dish for everyday family meals.

But for the 80's, that slogan might well become "the pot for every chicken," predicts Merle Ellis He's "The Butcher" of syndicated column and TV talk show fame. "With poultry prices on the rise, we're all going to have to get used to making less chicken do more. And in my experience, no one pot does it better than a Presto Pressure Cooker," he says.

Ellis has become well known for his TV kitchen wizardry, because he disjoints an entire chicken in less than 90 seconds. His demonstrations of adding pressure to poultry cooking has an even more dramatic result: three pots worth of chicken dishes fit for entertaining fare all from just one inexpensive broiler fryer and cooked in less than an hour.

For example, using Ellis' menus, one chicken breast, deboned and filled, then pressure poached in wine, makes a quick six minute version of Chicken Tarragon. Garnished with cream and served on toast, this simple main dish needs just a salad and Ginger Orange Carrots.

The rest of the whole chicken pressure cooked for just 30 minutes, produces more than a cup of meat, which Ellis suggests dicing for Chicken Enchiladas. It also yields approximately two quarts of rich, full flavored chicken broth, enough to freeze for stock and still simmer up an unusual Curried Peanut Soup.

"See Nancy Mann, Homemakers Schools home economist" use the Presto Pressure Cooker on Thursday, Feb. 11. Watch for show details!

CHICKEN BREASTS TARRAGON

1 chicken breast, cut in half
Salt and pepper
1 teaspoon dry tarragon
1/4 cup diced celery
1/4 cup diced carrot
1/4 cup diced onion
1 cup dry white wine

SAUCE

1 egg yolk
1/4 cup cream
1 teaspoon cornstarch
2 slices toast, optional

Wash and dry chicken breasts, sprinkle with salt and pepper. (Skin and bone may be removed from chicken and added to a soup pot.) Put tarragon, diced vegetables, wine and chicken breasts in Presto Pressure Cooker. Close pressure cooker cover securely. Place pressure regulator on vent pipe. Cook for 6 minutes at 15 pounds pressure. Cool pressure cooker at once. Remove chicken; keep warm. To prepare sauce, strain broth and return to pressure cooker. (There should be about 1/2 cup broth; reduce if necessary.) Beat egg yolk, cream and cornstarch together. Blend some of the hot broth into the cream mixture. Add mixture to remaining broth in pressure cooker. Cook and whisk over medium heat until thickened. If desired, place chicken breasts on toast. Spoon sauce over chicken. Serves 2.

GINGER-ORANGE CARROTS

1 lb. carrots, cut into quarters, lengthwise
1/2 cup thawed frozen orange juice concentrate
1/2 cup Blue Bonnet Margarine, melted
1 tablespoon honey
1/2 teaspoon salt

Place carrots in Presto Pressure Cooker. Blend remaining ingredients and pour over carrots. Close cover securely. Place pressure regulator on vent pipe and cook for 3 minutes at 15 pounds pressure. Cool pressure cooker at once. 2 to 4 servings.

CHICKEN STOCK AND COOKED CHICKEN

1 (2 1/2 to 3 lb.) chicken cut up, (set breast aside for another recipe)
1 carrot, cut up
1 medium onion, quartered
1 celery stalk, cut up
6 or 9 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 bay leaf

Wash and dry chicken, put in Presto Pressure Cooker. Add the vegetables, water and seasonings, using 6 cups water in 4 quart cooker or 9 cups water in 6 quart cooker. Close pressure cooker cover securely. Place pressure regulator on vent pipe. Cook for 15 minutes at 15 pounds pressure. Let pressure drop of its own accord. Remove chicken. Strain broth and reserve. Remove chicken meat from bones. Makes approximately 1 1/2 to 2 quarts chicken broth and 1 1/2 cups diced chicken meat.

CHICKEN ENCHILADAS WITH MOLE SAUCE

1 1/2 cups diced chicken meat
1/2 cup diced Monterey Jack cheese
1/2 cup sour cream
6 Flour or corn tortillas
1/2 cup chopped onions
2 cloves garlic
2 cups cut up peeled tomatoes, mashed
1/2 cup raisins
2 teaspoons chili powder
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup chicken broth
1 (1 oz.) square chocolate, cut up
1 cup shredded Monterey Jack cheese

Combine chicken, diced cheese and sour cream. Follow package directions for softening tortillas. Put 2 rounded tablespoons of chicken mixture in center of each tortilla and roll. Place seam side down in an 8"x12" baking dish. Set aside. Put onions, garlic, tomatoes, raisins, chili powder, cinnamon, salt and chicken broth in Presto Pressure Cooker. Close pressure cooker cover securely. Place pressure regulator on vent pipe. Cook 10 minutes at 15 pounds pressure. Cool pressure cooker at once. Put hot mixture in a Sunbeam Food Processor or Blender, process until smooth. Add chocolate and process until melted. Pour sauce over chicken enchiladas. Sprinkle with shredded cheese. Bake at 400° for 15 minutes. Makes 4-6 servings.

CURRIED PEANUT SOUP

1 cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon Blue Bonnet Margarine
2 teaspoons curry powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon cayenne pepper
1 quart chicken stock (prepared in pressure cooker)
1 (12 oz.) jar (1 cup) chunk style peanut butter

In uncovered Presto Pressure Cooker or large saucepan, saute onion in margarine until soft, but not brown. Add seasonings; cook 5 minutes. Stir in chicken stock. Cook 5 minutes over medium heat to blend flavors. Blend in peanut butter. Continue stirring and cooking until thick. 4 to 6 servings.

Cinnamon candy ice cream

1 (14 oz.) can Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk (NOT evaporated milk)
1 cup water
2 cups (1 pint) half-and-half
1/2 cup coarsely crushed hard cinnamon candy balls
Additional crushed candies for garnish, optional

Combine ingredients in ice cream freezer container. Proceed according to manufacturer's instructions. Garnish as desired. Makes 1 1/2 quarts.

Variations: Substitute orange or lemon drops for cinnamon balls. *Tip: To crush candies, leave in wrapper, place on cutting board and crush with hammer.

One Basic Batter:

Three festive cakes with continental flair

Most of us like to show off a bit when we entertain. It is a good time for razzle-dazzle desserts that bring "bais" and "aahs" from company.

Anything chocolate is very likely to be especially popular. Consider this trio of fabulous tortes. Surprisingly enough, each is relatively simple to put together following step-by-step directions. Each starts with a single, versatile batter based on HERSHEY'S Cocoa.

HERSEY'S Cocoa shortcuts preparation since there are no solid squares to melt. Just measure and mix straight from the can, and save your precious time.

HERSEY'S Cocoa blends readily with other ingredients, helping to prevent lumpy batters. And it gives you special flavor, since HERSHEY'S Cocoa is chocolate in highly concentrated form. It also costs less per ounce than baking chocolate.

Each of these elegant cakes has a European counterpart, created by a famous pastry chef many years ago. Whether you make the French Yule Log, Austrian Doboschorte or Italian Ricotta Torte, you'll begin with that Cocoa Almond recipe, a tribute to American ingenuity. Slice layers and lavish with cocoa whipped cream, buttercream or ricotta cherry filling. Transfer to your prettiest serving plate, garnish and get ready for compliments!

COCOA ALMOND TORTE CAKE

- 4 eggs, separated
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 3/4 cup ground blanched almonds
- 1/3 cup flour
- 1/3 cup HERSHEY'S Cocoa
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
- 1/4 cup sugar

For French Yule Log, line a 15 1/2 x 10 1/2 x 1 inch jelly roll pan with aluminum foil, generously grease foil. For Italian Ricotta Torte, grease, wax paper line and grease again two 9 inch round layer pans. Do not grease sides of pans. For Austrian Doboschorte, grease, wax paper line and grease again three 8 inch round layer pans. Do not grease sides of pans. Set prepared pans aside, prepare batter as follows.

Beat egg yolks in small mixer bowl for 3 minutes on medium speed of mixer. Gradually add 1/2 cup sugar and continue beating 2 minutes longer. Combine almonds, flour, cocoa, baking soda and salt, add alternately with water to egg yolk mixture on low speed of mixer, just until blended. Stir in vanilla and almond extract. Beat egg whites in large mixer bowl until foamy, gradually add 1/4 cup sugar and continue beating until stiff peaks form. Carefully fold chocolate mixture into beaten egg whites. Spread batter evenly into prepared pans. Bake at 375 degrees for 16 to 18 minutes or until top springs back when lightly touched. Cool 10 minutes in pans on wire rack, remove from pans. Cool completely. Assemble torte as directed in recipe.

FRENCH YULE LOG

- 1 Cocoa Almond Torte Cake (recipe above)

Prepare Cocoa Almond Torte Cake in 15 1/2 x 10 1/2 x 1 inch jelly roll pan as directed in recipe above. When completely cool, cut cake crosswise into four equal rectangles, approximately 3 1/2 x 10 inches each. Chill layers while preparing filling and frosting.

WHIPPED CREAM FILLING

- 1 1/2 cups whipping cream
- 1/3 cup confectioners' sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine whipping cream, confectioners' sugar and vanilla in large mixer bowl. Whip on high speed of mixer until stiff.

CREAMY COCOA LOG FROSTING

- 1/2 cup HERSHEY'S Cocoa
- 2 1/2 cups confectioners' sugar
- 1/2 cup BLUE BONNET Margarine, softened
- 2 tablespoons light corn syrup
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1/3 cup milk

Combine cocoa and confectioners' sugar in small bowl. Cream margarine, 1/2 cup cocoa mixture, corn syrup and vanilla in small mixer bowl until smooth. Add remaining cocoa mixture alternately with milk until smooth and of spreading consistency.

To assemble French Yule Log: Place one cake layer on serving plate. Spread 1/3 (about 1 cup) Whipped Cream Filling evenly over cake layer; top with a cake layer. Repeat with remaining cake layers and filling, ending with a cake layer. Chill about 1 hour before frosting. Generously frost loaf with Creamy Cocoa Log Frosting. Swirl filling with spatula score with a fork to frosting resembles bark. Garnish with shaved chocolate and holly, if desired. Chill thoroughly before serving, about 4 hours.

AUSTRIAN DOBOSCHORTE

- 1 Cocoa Almond Torte Cake (recipe above)

Prepare Cocoa Almond Torte Cake in three 8-inch round layer pans as directed in recipe above. When completely cool, cut each layer in half horizontally to make 6 thin layers. Chill layers while preparing Buttercream Filling and Frosting.

BUTTERCREAM FILLING AND FROSTING

- 4 cups confectioners' sugar
- 3/4 cup HERSHEY'S Cocoa
- 1 cup BLUE BONNET Margarine, softened
- 1/4 cup light corn syrup
- 1/2 cup whipping cream
- 1 tablespoon vanilla

Combine 2 cups confectioners' sugar and cocoa in large mixer bowl. Add margarine and corn syrup; cream mixture until smooth. Add remaining confectioners' sugar alternately with whipping cream and vanilla, beating well after each addition. Continue to beat frosting until fluffy and smooth.

To Assemble Austrian Doboschorte: Place one cake layer on serving plate and spread filling over it to a thickness of about 1/8 inch (about 1/2 cup fill ing); top with another cake layer. Repeat with remaining cake layers and filling. Use remaining 1 1/2 cups filling to frost sides and top of torte. Garnish with chocolate curls or blanched almonds; if desired, chill thoroughly before serving, about 4 hours.

ITALIAN RICOTTA TORTE

- 1 Cocoa Almond Torte Cake (recipe above)

Prepare Cocoa Almond Torte Cake in three 9-inch round layer pans as directed in recipe above. When completely cool, cut each layer in half horizontally to make 6 thin layers. Chill layers while preparing Buttercream Filling and Frosting.

AUSTRIAN DOBOSCHORTE

- 1 Cocoa Almond Torte Cake (recipe above)

Prepare Cocoa Almond Torte Cake in two 9-inch round layer pans as directed in recipe above. When completely cool, cut each layer in half horizontally to make 6 thin layers. Chill layers while preparing Buttercream Filling and Frosting.

BUTTERCREAM FILLING AND FROSTING

- 4 cups confectioners' sugar
- 3/4 cup HERSHEY'S Cocoa

- 1 cup BLUE BONNET Margarine, softened
- 1/4 cup light corn syrup
- 1/2 cup whipping cream
- 1 tablespoon vanilla

Combine 2 cups confectioners' sugar and cocoa in large mixer bowl. Add margarine and corn syrup; cream mixture until smooth. Add remaining confectioners' sugar alternately with whipping cream and vanilla, beating well after each addition. Continue to beat frosting until fluffy and smooth.

To Assemble Italian Ricotta Doboschorte: Place one cake layer on serving plate and spread filling over it to a thickness of about 1/8 inch (about 1/2 cup filling); top with another cake layer. Repeat with remaining cake layers and filling. Use remaining 1 1/2 cups filling to frost sides and top of torte. Garnish with chocolate curls or blanched almonds, if desired. Chill thoroughly before serving, about 4 hours.

ITALIAN RICOTTA TORTE

- 1 Cocoa Almond Torte Cake (recipe above)

Prepare Cocoa Almond Torte Cake in two 9-inch round layer pans as directed in recipe above. When completely cool, cut each layer in half horizontally to make 4 thin layers. Chill layers while preparing filling and frosting.

RICOTTA CHERRY FILLING

- 1 cup whipping cream
- 1-3/4 cups (15-ounce container) ricotta cheese
- 1/3 cup confectioners' sugar
- 1/2 cup chopped candied cherries
- 1/2 teaspoon almond extract

Whip whipping cream in small mixer bowl until stiff; set aside. Beat ricotta cheese and confectioners' sugar on medium speed of mixer in large mixer bowl until smooth. Fold whipped cream into cheese mixture just until blended. Stir in candied cherries and almond extract.

COCOA WHIPPED CREAM

- 1/2 cup confectioners' sugar
- 1/4 cup HERSHEY'S Cocoa
- 1 1/2 cups whipping cream
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla

Combine confectioners' sugar and cocoa in large mixing bowl. Blend in whipping cream and vanilla. Whip on high speed of mixer until stiff.

To Assemble Italian Ricotta Torte: Place one cake layer on serving plate; spread with 1/3 (about 1 1/3 cups) of Ricotta Cherry Filling. Repeat with remaining cake layers and filling. Frost sides and top of torte generously with Cocoa Whipped Cream Frosting. Garnish with candied cherries, almonds or holly leaves, if desired. Chill thoroughly before serving, about 4 hours.

All-American chocolate ice cream

- 2 cups sugar
- 2/3 cup HERSHEY'S Cocoa
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups milk
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 tablespoon vanilla
- 4 cups half-and-half
- 1 cup whipping cream

Combine sugar, cocoa, flour and salt in medium saucepan; stir in milk and eggs. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture boils; boil and stir 1 minute. Remove from heat. Blend in vanilla, half-and-half and whipping cream. Chill. Freeze in ice cream freezer according to manufacturer's directions, 3 hrs. ice cream.

Baking day

Brought up-to-date

When life was simpler and few women worked outside the home, Monday was traditionally laundry day, Tuesday reserved for ironing and Wednesday baking. It wasn't unusual for Mom to make six pies before breakfast, followed by the breads, cakes and cookies a large family would eat during the week.

Today, there are very different demands on our time. Since families are smaller, huge quantities of food are no longer necessary. Yet everyone still loves homemade treats. So, why not plan to set aside some time in your busy schedule for preparing simple but delicious desserts and snacks that will add appeal to daily menus. Double the batch, make an extra cake or pie shell when you bake and freeze it for another day.

The four recipes given here offer tips for sequential cooking to help you maximize your own precious time as well as conserve energy.

Start by making the pie crust pastry. Because HERSHEY'S Cocoa is chocolate in highly concentrated form, this will be extra rich in flavor. Let it chill.

Now preheat the oven to 350 degrees and combine ingredients for the Chocolate Peanut Butter Chip Bars. These require just a few easy steps since HERSHEY'S Cocoa is ready to use as it comes from the can, without messy pre-melting.

Chocolate and peanut butter are, of course, great kid-pleasing go-togethers. Wrap bars in plastic to tuck in lunch boxes. Or top with ice cream and chocolate sauce to create a quick, luscious dessert!

While bars are baking, mix the Triple Spiced Cocoa Cake. A very satiate "snacking" cake, it's moist and tasty enough to serve plain. Dress it up with a cocoa butter cream frosting when there's company for dinner.

The cake will reward you with a delightful aroma as you blend Chocolate Oatmeal Cookies. Raisins add a wholesome bonus to this variation on the popular classic. And since 6 ounces of HERSHEY'S Cocoa goes as far as 8 of baking chocolate, you can afford to make enough to satisfy all your "cookie" monsters.

Finally, turn up the oven to 400 degrees and let pie shells bake while you prepare a banana or chocolate cream filling. Fill one pie shell, freeze the other.

Plan now to attend the 1982 Homemakers' School on Feb. 11. The doors open at 1 p.m. in the Wayne Auditorium. Nancy Mann, Homemakers' Schools' home economist will show you more ideas for delicious easy desserts!

TRIPLE SPICED COCOA CAKE

- 3/4 cup BLUE BONNET Margarine
- 1 1/4 cups firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
- 2 2/3 cups cake flour
- 2/3 cup HERSHEY'S Cocoa
- 1 1/2 teaspoons baking soda
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon ginger
- 1/8 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 1/2 cups buttermilk or sour milk*

Cream margarine, brown sugar and vanilla blend well. Add eggs and vanilla. Blend well. Combine flour, cocoa, baking

- 1 1/3 cups sugar
- 2 eggs
- 2 cups flour
- 1 1/3 cup HERSHEY'S Cocoa
- 1 tablespoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 cup milk
- 2 cups rolled oats
- 1 cup raisins

Cream margarine and sugar in large mixer bowl. Add eggs, blend well. Combine flour, cocoa, baking soda, salt and cinnamon and alternately with milk to creamed mixture, beating well after each addition. Gradually stir in oats and raisins. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto lightly greased cookie sheets. Bake at 375 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes. Cool 1 minute before removing from cookie sheet onto wire rack, cool completely. 6 dozen cookies.

CHOCOLATE OATMEAL COOKIES

- 1 cup BLUE BONNET Margarine

COCOA PASTRY PIE CRUST

- 2 cups flour
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/3 cup HERSHEY'S Cocoa
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup plus 6 tablespoons COLD BLUE BONNET Margarine
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 4 to 5 tablespoons very cold water

Combine flour, sugar, cocoa and salt in mixing bowl. Cut in margarine with pastry blender or two knives until particles resemble coarse crumbs. Sprinkle in vanilla and water. 1 tablespoon at a time, mixing with fork until all ingredients are moistened. Shape into a ball, chill until ready to use. Divide dough in half. Roll each piece into a circle 2 inches larger than 9-inch pie plate. Place in pie plate; flute edges. Prick bottom and sides with tines of a fork. Bake at 400 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes; cool. Fill with your favorite cream filling. And, if desired, sprinkle with grated chocolate. 2 pie shells.

CHOCOLATE PEANUT BUTTER CHIP BARS

- 1-1/3 cup BLUE BONNET Margarine
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 2 eggs
- 2 cups flour
- 1/2 cup HERSHEY'S Cocoa
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 (12 oz.) pkg. REESE'S Peanut Butter Chips

Cream margarine, sugar, brown sugar and vanilla in large mixer bowl. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Combine flour, cocoa, baking powder and salt; add gradually until smooth and well blended. Stir in peanut butter chips. Spread mixture in two greased, and floured 9-inch square pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan; cut into bars. 22 bars.

Basic American Pizza

- 1 cup warm water (105 degrees F - 115 degrees F)
- 1 pkg. FLEISCHMANN'S Active Dry Yeast
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 2 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons oil
- 2 3/4 to 3 1/4 cups flour
- 1 can (6 oz.) tomato paste
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 teaspoon minced garlic, crushed
- 1 teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed
- Dash black pepper
- 1 1/2 cups shredded mozzarella cheese

Measure 1 cup warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle in undissolved yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in sugar. 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, oil and 1 1/2 cups flour. Beat until smooth. Stir in enough additional flour to make a stiff dough. Turn out onto a lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic, about 5 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover, let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes. Meanwhile combine tomato paste, water, garlic, remaining

1/2 teaspoon salt, oregano and pepper. Punch dough down; divide in half. Shape each half into a ball; cover and let stand 10 minutes. Roll and stretch each half to a 14-inch circle. Place on 2 greased 12-inch pizza pans forming a standing rim of dough around edges. Let stand 10 minutes. Bake crusts at 375 degrees F for 8 to 10 minutes. Spread half the prepared tomato sauce over each crust and sprinkle each with half the cheese. Return pizzas to oven and continue baking for 15 to 20 minutes longer, or until cheese is very lightly browned. Cool slightly and cut into slices to serve. For variety, one or more of the following toppings can be arranged on top of sauce before sprinkling with cheese. 1 pound crumbled, cooked and drained Italian sweet sausage, 1 1/2 cups sliced fresh mushrooms, 1 small green pepper, cut in thin strips, 2/4 cup sliced pitted ripe olives, 2/4 cup sliced marinated artichoke hearts, 1 can (2 oz.) anchovy fillets, drained and diced 1/4 pound sliced pepperoni or 1/4 pound sliced hard salami. Whole Wheat Crust: Substitute 1 1/2 cups white flour for 3/4 cups white flour, when adding flour to dissolved yeast mixture.
