THE WAYNE HERALD

ONE-HUNDRED SIXTH YEAR

WAYNE, NEBRASKA 68787, THURSDAY, APRIL 15, 1982

THIS ISSUE — TWO SECTIONS, 22 PAGES

NUMBER FIFTY-SEVEN

Highest bidder $55,000 below estimate

Wayne may save 50% on electrical project

The City of Wayne may have an opportunity to complete a major municipal construction project for half price. Bids received by the City Council on the proposed upgrading of the municipal electric system have come in at about 50 percent of the $150,000 engineering estimate.

The contract for the project, which drew bids from six contractors, is expected to be awarded after the city's electrical engineering consultants review the proposals and of for the Council a recommendation.

DAVID DEVRIES of DeWild, Grant, Recker & Associates, Rock Rapids, Iowa, opened the six bids during Tuesday night's City Council meeting.

Bids on the complex contract ranged from an apparent low of $73,182.18 to an apparent high of $94,762.52. According to figures presented to the Council by DeVries.

The actual project estimate was $167,000, according to DeVries. However, after engineering fees are deducted the base estimate is closer to $150,000, he said.

"We're seeing material prices lower than I've seen in 16 years," DeVries told the Council after checking the arithmetic in integrity of the bids.

"I'M HAPPY TO see these figures from the standpoint of what it will save you," DeVries added.

DeVries said the labor costs contained in the proposals represent pre 1977 prices.

In a light moment with the Council, DeVries responded to a question about whether the engineering fees would be reduced accordingly.

"My work is about the same," he said, as the Council members joined him in laughter.

"But if anyone is going to take some credit for this (the low bids), I will," he added, sparking more laughter.

E. A. Pedersen Co., Omaha, appeared to be the lowest bidder at the $73,182.18 mark, but DeVries asked for and received additional time to study the bids before making his recommendation.

HIGHEST BIDDER on the 1982 project appeared to be Knox Construction, Grand Island, with a $94,762.52 proposal — still more than $55,000 below the base estimate.

The second highest proposal appeared to be from Thompson Electric, Sioux City, Iowa, with a bid of $89,461.65.

Just under that proposal was Castor Electric Co., Sioux City, Iowa, with a bid of $84,688.

Next was Heiland Electric Inc., Laurens, Iowa, with a base proposal of $79,743.

The second lowest proposal was received from the Harold K. Scholtz Co., Ralston, with a bid of $77,634.40.

IN OTHER bidding action the Council awarded a land rental contract to Virgil Kardell of Wayne for $71 per acre.

Kardell was the high bidder on a 7.5-acre parcel of city owned farmland near the Wayne Industrial Park.

Annually the city receives bids and awards contracts on that land, and another 19.5 acre parcel in the southern end of town, for the crop year.

Dave Zach of Wayne was the only bidder on the 19.5 acre tract. He won the contract on the strength of a $60 per acre bid.

Zach also bid $60 per acre on the 7.5 acre parcel, but lost the contract to the $71 per acre bid from Kardell.

CITY COUNCIL members authorized Phil Kloster, city administrator, to negotiate with property owners along Fairground Avenue and Windom Street south for an agreement on underwriting the cost of a proposed paving project.

The major property owners along the section proposed for paving are Feeders Elevator and Fletcher's Farm Service.

Those property owners have approached the city with a proposal that seeks paving about two blocks of Fairground Avenue and about a block of Windom Street north of the avenue.

The initial proposal suggested financing the paving project should be a 50/50 city-property owner arrangement.

UNDER THAT TYPE of agreement the city would pick up 50 percent of the cost through general obligation financing and the property owners would pay for the other half of the project through special assessments.

The city owns land along Windom Street south, according to Kloster.

During the Council's last meeting in March, legal counsel was asked to study the city's options with regard to the project.

Tuesday night, Kloster reported that the proposed paving district would never be formed without the consent of the two major property owners.

Together they own more than 50 percent of the front footage along the area petitioned for improvement, Kloster told the Council.

Uniform pool ticket price set

Country kids and city kids will be able to swim at the Wayne Municipal Pool for the same price this season.

Family season tickets, which are expected to go on sale soon, will show no price differential between city residents and rural residents by consensus of the City Council.

The change, which is expected to be in time for the preseason sale of tickets, drops a $10 difference built into the price last season.

FAMILY SEASON tickets are expected to be $45 across the board, according to Phil Kloster, city administrator.

And, the preseason ticket purchase price of $40 will save families $5.

Last year's family tickets sold for $40 to city residents ($35 preseason) and $50 for non-residents ($45 preseason).

Kloster told the Council Tuesday night that his checking revealed Wayne was in the minority when it came to split rates.

"Most communities have one rate for city and rural people," he said.

"COMING FROM a rural community, I feel you've got to promote your communities," he continued. "If we can get that child into town, mom and pop are going to come with them."

Kloster acknowledged that the argument used to support split rates held that city taxpayers built facilities, such as the swimming pool, and should be allowed a break on the rates.

"It doesn't go with my philosophy," he said.

Wayne County's weatherman hot radio, TV news

By Randall Howell

Wayne County weatherman Wilbur Heftli's weather predictions have reached the far corners of the continent.

Since the 64 year old Carroll area farmer, and his 1982 weather predictions, first appeared in the pages of The Wayne Herald, Heftli has been involved in nearly a dozen radio and television programs, including a national broadcast aired over ABC's "Good Morning America."

After sharing his weather forecasting ritual, which involves onions, with readers of The Wayne Herald last December, Heftli was featured in The Sundowner, a Wayne based regional agricultural newspaper serving 17 counties — an nearly 30,000 readers — in northeast Nebraska and northwest Iowa.

ON FEB. 21, Heftli and his weather onions appeared on "One of Our People," a regular broadcast feature from the studios of KCAU-TV (Channel 9) in Sioux City, an ABC affiliate.

The KCAU-TV news staff filmed and taped Heftli on his farm, which is 5 miles west and 3 miles north of Wayne.

Three days later, on Feb. 23, Heftli's voice was heard by listeners tuned to WNAX-Radio, based at Yankton, S.D.

Heftli explained his weather predicting ritual, a Swiss tradition that has been handed down in the family for generations, during a WNAX program called "People and Numbers."

Then came Heftli's jump into the national limelight with a taped appearance on ABC network television during "Good Morning America" on March 4.

Wilbur Heftli

ACCORDING TO Heftli and his wife, Doris, the mail began to pour in, but the broadcast media attention subsided for nearly a month.

"We even got a letter from a Heftli family in Armour, S.D.," explained the Wayne County farmer.

"The woman wanted to know if we were any relation," Heftli explained. "We sent them all the information on our family that we had."

On April 5, however, the telephone rang about 7 a.m. The man on the other end of the line represented KFOR-Radio in Lincoln.

He wanted Heftli to share his weather predicting secrets with KFOR-Radio listeners. Heftli obliged and went on the air for a live broadcast about 7:45 a.m.

JUST OVER AN hour later, the telephone rang again.

This time it was radio station KUAS of Astoria, Ore., calling with a request to put Heftli on the air for a live interview.

Again, Heftli obliged. And, when it was over, the station staffer discussed the possibility of signing up Heftli for a daily weather report for Oregon listeners of KUAS.

Heftli declined, explaining that his weather forecasts only applied to the general area in which he lived.

In addition, the forecast involves a monthly prediction on moisture, not a day-by-day projection for weather.

Man faces 2 charges in Wayne break-ins

Bond has been set for a rural Wayne man who faces arraignment Thursday morning in Wayne County Court on two counts of burglary, a Class III felony.

Wayne County Associate Judge Luverna Hilton set bond at $25,000 (10 percent) for Alan L. Schuett, who was remanded to the Wayne County Jail Tuesday to await the 9:30 a.m. arraignment before Wayne County Judge Stephen Finn.

SCHUETT, WHO was recently released from the Wayne County Jail after serving a six-month sentence for conviction on a reduced charge of theft by unlawful taking, was arrested by Wayne Police Tuesday.

The Wayne County man was arrested in connection with break-ins at two Wayne businesses, the Dude Ranch Drive-In Theatre and D&J Hatchery, according to the Wayne Police Department and the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

Two felony charges of burglary were filed against Schuett in Wayne County Court Tuesday afternoon, according to Hilton.

WAYNE POLICE reports indicate that the D&J Hatchery break-in was reported about 6:45 a.m. Tuesday.

According to police, the padlock to the hatchery office door had been cut with a bolt cutter.

Eight gallons of gasoline, beer and soft drinks were reported missing, police said.

The break-in remains under investigation. Sheriff Scotty Thompson said the Dude Ranch Drive-In Theatre break-in was discovered about 7:45 a.m. Tuesday.

Thompson said the outdoor theater's ticket office had been broken into, but nothing was reported missing there.

ACCORDING TO Thompson, the door to the projection building had been kicked in and the structure had been entered.

Several dollars in change, candy and other food items were reported missing, Thompson said.

The break-in remains under investigation. Schuett was arrested Tuesday and taken before Judge Hilton, who set bond and the arraignment date on the two burglary charges.

Schuett did not meet the 10 percent bond requirements Tuesday afternoon.

WAYNE COUNTY court records show Schuett was sentenced to six months in jail on Oct. 8, 1981, after being convicted for a second time on charges of theft by unlawful taking.

Also on that date, the court terminated and revoked the terms of Schuett's probation.

In 1980, Schuett served six days in jail after his first conviction on charges of theft by unlawful taking.

'Spring Skies' at planetarium

A close glimpse of the beauty of the nighttime skies of Spring can be gained by attending the program "Spring Skies" at the Date Planetarium at Wayne State College.

A preview of special astronomical events for the coming months is included.

"Spring Skies" shows each Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in the Planetarium located in the Carhart Science Building on campus. Admission is free, and special showings can be arranged for school groups and other organizations by contacting the Planetarium.

Music Camp upcoming

The Wayne State College High School Summer Music Camp, the oldest and one of the biggest in the Midwest, is scheduled July 25 to August 1.

Students should be making plans now to attend the camp, now entering its 38th year. The camp, which enrolled over 360 musicians last summer, is staffed by members of the college music faculty and by area music educators.

For more information, contact Dr. Cornell Runestad at Wayne State College, Wayne, Nebr. 68787, or call (402) 375-2200, ext. 363.

Water safety course

Wayne State College has scheduled a course in "Water Safety Instruction" for May 11 through May 25 in the rice pool.

Bernice Fulton will teach the class, which is scheduled to meet daily and is open to all students who hold a current Advanced Lifesaving Certificate and who are at least 17 years of age.

For more information, contact the Extended Campus office at Wayne State College, Wayne, Nebr. 68787, or call (402) 375-2200, ext. 217.

Band, jazz ensemble performing

The Wayne State College Concert Band will present a Spring Concert today (Thursday), according to Dr. Ray Kellon, professor of music.

The 8 p.m. performance is free, as is an 8 p.m. performance on April 20 of the WSC Jazz Ensemble.

Both concerts will be held in Ramsey Theatre of the Val Peterson Fine Arts Center at Wayne State.

History Day correction

A story which appeared in last Thursday's edition of The Wayne Herald on the Northeast Nebraska District History Day Contest held March 27 at Wayne State College omitted the name of Craig Noe.

Noe and David Heckathorn of Allen Consolidated Schools were Media-1 winners in the Junior Division. Their project was entitled "A Tour Through Waldbaums."

John G. Neihardt conference scheduled May 8 in Bancroft

The John G. Neihardt Spring Conference is scheduled Saturday, May 8 at the Neihardt Center in Bancroft.

Theme of this year's conference, honoring the late Nebraska poet Laureate and former Wayne State College student is "Reflections on the Spirit of the Plains."

The conference is sponsored by the John G. Neihardt Foundation, with support from Wayne State College and the Wayne State Foundation.

THE PURPOSE of the conference is to provide those interested in honoring the outstanding Nebraska author and poet with a forum for discussion and study.

Students and teachers of Plains literature and Native American culture will find this conference particularly beneficial.

Organizers hope the conference will become an annual event.

TWO NEIHARDT scholars will present their insights into the religion and spiritual traditions of Dakota Indians. Participants will have the opportunity to question and discuss their presentations.

The two scholars are Raymond J. DeMallie, associate professor of anthropology at Indiana University, and Vine Deloria Sr., retired Archdeacon and the first native American to be named to an executive position with the National Council staff of the Episcopal Church.

MODERATING a panel discussion involving the two scholars will be Ruby Pedersen, head of the humanities division at Wayne State College.

The May 8 program will begin at 9 a.m. with registration and tour of the Neihardt Center, study and prayer garden.

Marie Vogt, executive director of the Neihardt Foundation, will welcome participants at 10 a.m. followed by the panel discussion. Following lunch, a program entitled "Understanding Lakota Religion" will be held.

A chuck wagon dinner follows at 5 p.m., after which the Wayne High School Dixieland Band under the direction of Ron Dalton will perform.

REGISTRATION for the conference must be received on or before Saturday, May 1.

Cost of the conference, including dinner, is $7.50 per participant. To register, checks should be made out and sent to: The John G. Neihardt Foundation, Bancroft, NE 68004.

Media Fair slated at Wayne State

A Media Fair designed to preview some of the latest materials available in the field of education will be held at Wayne State College from April 19-23, according to Dr. Robert Bower, assistant professor of education.

The Media Fair is made possible through a Dean's Grant provided by the Office of Special Education.

It will be held in the Instructional Resource Center of the U.S. Conn Library at Wayne State. Anyone can view the materials daily from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. except Friday, when the fair will close at 3 p.m.

ALL AREAS of exceptionally will be covered, according to Dr. Bower.

"We hope to create an awareness of materials currently available," Dr. Bower said, and termed some of the materials "state of the art."

Parents, elementary and secondary school teachers, school administrators and special education teachers will find the Media Fair particularly beneficial.

Visitors will have free viewing access to all available materials.

A NUMBER of videotapes, motion pictures, film strips and slide presentations dealing with students who have special needs will be made available. A variety of curricular materials at both the elementary and secondary levels also will be available.

Dr. Bower noted that the fair gives instructors a chance to preview before purchasing some of these latest materials.

THE MEDIA Fair can be viewed at the participant's convenience — no lecturers, workshops or salesmen will be involved. Organizers hope the Media-Fair can be staged next year also.

For further information, contact Dr. Robert Bower at Wayne State College, Wayne, Nebr. 68787; or call (402) 375-2200, ext. 273, or Carole Schmidt, ext. 271.

Spring concert Sunday at Ramsey

The annual Spring Concert of the Wayne State College choral groups, the Concert Choir and the Madrigal Singers, is slated for Sunday, April 18, at 3 p.m. in Ramsey Auditorium on campus.

Joining these groups will be the Wayne High School Choir under the direction of Rob Sluberg.

They will sing their concert pieces and will join the Wayne State College group for two massed numbers, "Hallelujah" by Beethoven and "A Gaelic Prayer" by John Rutter. Sluberg will conduct one of the massed numbers and Dr. Cornell Runestad, director of choral activities at the college, will direct the other.

PIECES CHOSEN for the concert will reflect the choir's activities for the year, beginning with an excerpt from the "War Requiem" by Benjamin Britten that was performed jointly with choirs from Nebraska Wesleyan, the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, and Union College last November with Robert Shaw conducting.

Elizabeth Stewart, a senior from Harlan, Iowa, will be featured as soprano soloist.

THE MADRIGAL Singers will be featured in a set of 19th century parsonages that were performed at the convention of the American Choral Directors Association (ACDA) in Cedar Rapids, Iowa in February in a special interest session there entitled "Form and Style in 19th Century Choral Music." The session was led by Dr. Morris Hayes, national past-president of ACDA.

The Singers also performed part of their Elizabethan Christmas Feast at this meeting.

STUBERG, the Wayne High choir director, is a native of Leeds, N. D., and a graduate of Concordia College, Moorhead, Minn., where he was a member of the famed Concordia Choir, directed by Paul J. Christensen. He is in his first year of teaching at Wayne.

briefly speaking

Easter bonnets modeled

Members of Merry Mixers Club made Easter bonnets to model when they met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Laurine Beckman.

Ten members attended, and guests were Mrs. Joe Claybaugh and Mrs. Russell Beckman.

The birthday song was sung for Faye Mann, and the lesson on eggs was given by Mrs. Claybaugh.

Next meeting will be May 11 at 1:30 p.m. in the home of Arlene Allemann. A lesson on decoupage will be given by Faye Mann, Laurine Beckman and Ella Luff. Roll call will be a favorite way to relax.

Celebrates 90th birthday

Warner Erlandson of Wakefield was honored for his 90th birthday during a reception Sunday, April 4, at the Evangelical Covenant Church, Wakefield.

Nearly 100 friends and relatives attended.

Robert Erlandson was master of ceremonies for the brief afternoon program. Linda Erlandson read the honoree's life story, and Mrs. Charles Pierson read a poem she had written for the occasion.

Elmer Carlson sang "My God and I," and the Rev. E. Nell Peterson spoke briefly.

Mrs. Carol Erwin was recognized for her 84th birthday, which she observed the same day.

Assisting at the serving table were Mrs. Dean Frye, who poured, and Linda Erlandson, who served punch. Others assisting were churchwomen Mrs. Marvin Felt, Mrs. Elvis Olson, Mrs. Melvin Hanson and Mrs. Paul Everingham.

Area seniors get scholarships

The University of Nebraska Lincoln (UN-L) has awarded $500 David Memorial Scholarships to 433 Nebraska high school seniors who will enter UN-L as freshmen this fall.

Among those receiving the scholarships are Jill Hanson of Concord and Karla Otte of Wayne.

Historical Society meeting

The Dixon County Historical Society will meet Tuesday, April 20, at the museum in Allen.

Hostess for the 7:30 p.m. meeting will be Mrs. Fred Pape.

Regional Arts Council meeting

The Wayne Regional Arts Council will meet tonight (Thursday) at 8 o'clock at the Black Knight in Wayne. All interested persons are welcome to attend.

Discussion will include the Chicken Show, scheduled Saturday, July 10.

We Few Club plans tours

We Few Home Extension Club met Monday in the home of Deb E. Olson. Members answered roll call by telling if they had ever been burglarized.

Plans were made for two tours in May. On May 12 the group will travel to Fremont to visit the Pendleton Woolen Mill. In the afternoon, Joan, and a museum. Clubwomen also will go on a wildflower tour at the Beemer bluffs in early May.

The annual family picnic is scheduled June 14 at Bressler Park in Wayne. Sandra Wright is in charge of entertainment.

The Spring Tea will be Friday, May 7, at the Methodist Church in Wayne.

Leona Janke presented the program, "How to Prevent Burglaries." She gave tips on how to make a thief's job difficult.

Honor roll corrections

The names of Renee Gehner and Glenn Elliott were inadvertently omitted from the list of Wayne-Carroll High School students who were named to the third quarter honor roll.

Gehner, a senior, attained a perfect straight A average. Elliott, a junior, was named to the high honor roll, receiving a grade point average between 3.50 and 3.99.

Dinner guests in Wayne

Easter Sunday dinner guests in the Steve Martindale home at Wayne were the Horman Ulechts, Rebecca and Andrew, and the Jim Martindales, Matt and Ryan, all of Wakefield, and the Jerry Martindales, Concord.

Tuesday afternoon lunch guests in the Jerry Martindale home were Mrs. Alvin Guerra Sr. and Mrs. Leo Dietrich.

Steve Martindale, Amber and Katy, were dinner and afternoon guests in the Jerry Martindale home Wednesday.

Golden observance held at Wakefield

Ella and Claren Isom of Allen observed their golden wedding anniversary Saturday afternoon at the Wakefield Health Care Center.

A family supper was held that evening at the Black Knight in Wayne.

Hosts were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Isom of Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Harlin (Verlyn) Anderson of Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Isom of Columbia, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Bob (Karen) Blohm of Allen. There are eight grandchildren.

ONE HUNDRED and forty friends and relatives attended the afternoon reception, coming from Sioux City, Iowa; Denver, Colo.; Allen, Lincoln, Pleasant Dale, Denton, Grant, South Sioux City, Wakefield, Laurel and Omaha.

Guests were registered by Kris

DORIS Linafelter of Allen baked the anniversary cake, which was cut and served by Karen Blohm of Allen and Kim Elliott of Lincoln.

Edna Rapp of Denton, Reva Stahn of Pleasant Dale and Myrtle White of Laurel poured, and Cindy Isom of Lincoln and Kay Anderson of Omaha served punch.

Waitresses were Kris Blohm and Dana Anderson, and assisting in the kitchen were Verlyn Anderson of Wayne and Corrine Carlson of Allen.

ISOMS WERE married April 30, 1922 at the Methodist Parsonage in Wayne, and have lived their entire married lives in the Allen community.

Plans are underway for a June 12 wedding at Trinity Lutheran Church in Hoskins.

Mitchell-Pflueger

The engagement of Paula Mitchell to Brad Pflueger has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Mitchell of Norfolk.

Plans are underway for a June 26 wedding at First Congregational United Church of Christ in Norfolk.

The bride-elect, a 1978 graduate of Norfolk High School, plans to graduate in May 1983 from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, where she is affiliated with Alpha-Phi Sorority. Miss Mitchell resigned as Miss Nebraska 1980. She is a member of PEO and the Kabaret Dinner Theatre Troupe of Norfolk.

Her fiancé, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Pflueger of rural Wayne, was graduated from Wayne-Carroll High School in 1973 and Northeast Technical Community College at Norfolk in 1975. A farmer and cattle feeder near Wayne, he also is on a board member of Providence Fitness Center in Wayne.

Winside woman joins Herald team

Phyllis Gallop of Winside joins The Wayne Herald staff as news correspondent for the Winside area.

Phyllis, who began writing for the newspaper this week, replaces Marjorie Mann.

Mrs. Mann and her husband Andrew will be moving to Concord in the near future.

Phyllis Gallop

PHYLLIS, who was born in Stanton, grew up in the Winsor community and graduated from high school there.

Following high school, she taught rural school near Winsor for two years and was married to John Gallop Sr. in 1947.

The couple resided in Pilger and Winsor before moving to Winside in 1951, where he worked on a farm for Louie Willers.

In October 1952, Gallops purchased Winside Motor and operated the business until selling it in October 1981.

GALLOPS ARE the parents of six children, including Warren of Winside, Mrs. Dean (Barbara) Junck of Carroll, Mrs. Robert (Beverly) Neel of Cameron, Mo., Mrs. Wayne (Nancy) Schulz of Norfolk, John Jr. of Norfolk, and Laurie, a freshman at Wayne State College.

There are eight grandchildren.

GALLOPS ATTEND Trinity Lutheran Church in Winside, where Phyllis is secretary of Sunday school teachers.

Phyllis, who enjoys reading and all kinds of needlework, serves on the Winside Library Board and is a member of TOPS Club. She and her husband also belong to a bowling league in Wayne.

Winside area residents who would like their news to appear in The Wayne Herald may contact Phyllis. Her telephone number is 286-4426.

Girl Scouts present Woman's Club program

Members of Junior Girl Scout Troop 191 presented a program at the Friday afternoon meeting of the Wayne Federated Woman's Club.

Mrs. Mike Perry explained to Woman's Club members how the money they donate to Girl Scouting is used.

MEMBERS participated in the program, which included three Easter poems by Lola Bressler. Mrs. Bressler also had the "do you know?"

It was announced that Pam Ruwe has been selected to attend Girls State at Lincoln June 6-12. She is sponsored by the Woman's Club and American Legion and VFW Auxiliaries.

Alternate delegate to Girls State is Mary Pat Dolata.

THE WOMAN'S Club will purchase shorts for youngsters participating in the Special Olympics.

Several members of the Woman's Club announced plans to attend the State Convention in Columbus on April 14.

Members also plan to attend the intercounty meeting at Randolph on April 29.

Lunch following Friday's meeting was served by Mrs. Eleanore Heitford and Mrs. Marian Jordan.

NEXT MEETING will be 9:30 a.m. breakfast on May 14 in the Woman's Club room.

Area women interested in joining the club are invited to attend and are asked to contact Mildred West.

Hohn Family singing at Christian Life Assembly

The Hohn Family will present their musical ministry Sunday, April 18 through Friday, April 23, at Christian Life Assembly, 901 Circle Dr., in Wayne.

They will perform at 7:30 night, according to the Rev. A. R. Weiss, local pastor.

LLOYD HOHN, his wife Mary, and son Jeremy are joined by his sister Lynelle in performing old gospel favorites as well as contemporary selections by such artists as Dallas Holm, Gordon Jensen, Lanny Wolfe and others.

An integral part of their music is a number of their own compositions.

THE HOHNS accompany their songs with piano, electronic keyboards, bass guitar, drums, trumpet and hand percussion, as well as taped background music from their own albums.

Since 1970 they have traveled thousands of miles in their bus to sing and preach at camps, churches, and outdoor and city wide crusades.

THE HOHN Family's meetings are free and open to the public.

THE WILDCATS make a routine out on a pop-up by Kearney State. WSC let victory slip away in the first

Two-out, three-run home run salvages split with Kearney

A three run homer with two out in the bottom of the seventh inning by Wayne State's Tom Todd salvaged a split with Kearney State in doubleheader action at Wayne Monday. The Cats dropped the opener 7-6 before rebounding for the 10-7 nightcap win.

Coach Ron Jones' club, 7-11, is scheduled to take on Northwestern at Orange City today (Thursday). The Cats are also set to visit Bellevue College this Saturday, then travel to Lincoln to challenge the University of Nebraska Cornhuskers on Wednesday (April 21).

Wayne State and Kearney State have now won two games apiece of the four-game series. As a result, the coaches must now decide on the date and site of a one-game playoff to determine the Nebraska representative in the Central States Intercollegiate Conference playoffs, set for April 30-May 1.

Todd, a junior outfielder from New Jersey, drove in six WSC runs in the 10-7 victory and two in the 7-6 loss to give him eight on the day. Todd also smacked a three run double in the fourth inning of the second game to go with his three run round tripper.

Wayne State blew a 5-0 lead going into the fifth inning as KSC mounted a six run rally. The Lopers extended their lead to 7-5 in the top of the sixth before the hosts tied the score with two runs in the bottom of the sixth to set the stage for Todd's heroics.

Sophomore relief pitcher Jeff Clark earned the win in relief of starter Rick Guy and Kevin Williamson. The Wildcats did blow a big 4-0 lead in the first game as Kearney rallied for the decision, 7-6. Wayne State pitchers Randy Frink and Dan Hilgenkamp had allowed just one hit through 6 1/2 innings before Kearney's Mike Keehn started the rally with a solo homer.

The visitors had a 5-4 lead before the sixth inning was over, only to see WSC reclaim the advantage of 6-5 in the bottom of the sixth. Kearney managed a pair of runs in the top of the seventh on two errors and three walks. The visitors then watched as the Kearney pitcher retired WSC's last three batters on two strikeouts and a deep fly ball.

Particularly frustrating for the Cats is the fact that Kearney's last five runs came across the plates with two outs. Pitcher Dan Hilgenkamp took the loss in relief.

Eagles place 2nd at Homer

The second outing of the year was a successful one for the Allen boys track squad. The Eagles placed second in the Homer Relays Tuesday.

Talented Coleridge used its depth to run away with the team title with 126 points. Allen was second with 66, followed by Homer, Ponca and Newcastle.

THREE FIRST PLACE finishes and a host of other places paced Allen in its performance.

Doug Moore won the shot put with a toss of 39.9. Marty Mahler won the 3,200-meter run with a time of 11:11 and the 3,200-meter relay team won its event in 9:03. The relay team is composed of Marty Mahler, Leonard Wood, Shawn Mahler and Brad Stewart.

Second place finishers were Vinit Kwanin with a leap of 38.0 in the triple jump, Leonard Wood with a time of 2:17 in the 800-meter run, the 400-meter relay team and the 1,600-meter relay team in 4:01. Members of the 400 team are Robb Linafelter, Deven Nice, Robbie Ridgeway and Dan Nice. Members of the 1,600 team are Marty Mahler, Leonard Wood, Gary Uehling and Jeff Chase.

Finishing third were Linafelter in the discus, Darwin Roberts in the shot put, Marty Mahler in the 1,600-meter run, Jeff Chase in the 300 intermediate hurdles and Deven Nice in the 200-meter dash. Chase, competing in the 300 meters for the first time, had a time of :36.5.

OTHER PLACE winners were Derwin Roberts, fourth in the discus; Robbie Ridgeway, fourth in the 100-meter dash; Jeff Chase, fifth in the 400-meter dash.

Coach Dan Looft said he was pleased with his team's performance on the all-diff track.

Randy's Recap

By Randy Hascall

1982 WILL BE a busy year for the Wayne Baseball Association. The group, which consists of about a dozen baseball enthusiasts, has assumed financial support of the Wayne Legion team this year.

And, as usual, the association will finance the Midgets and help the Recreation Board run Wayne's rec program. A town team will also consume added time and funds.

The Wayne ball park is in terrific shape. The grass outfield has progressed and improvements around the ball park have made it a classy place. Wayne will host an area Legion tournament this year and has hopes of hosting a state Legion tourney in a couple of years.

Everyone who donated time to the renovation project is to be congratulated. The park is a true show piece. Among the list of workers are many businesses that donated time, labor and materials to spice up the place. Without these people, the park would be far from complete.

Another vital part of the ball park renovation was the donation of money to the baseball association. Donations were used to paint the outfield fence, do various work on the grandstand and make other improvements. That is in addition to the support of the local teams.

A brand new electric scoreboard was purchased by the Wayne Recreation Board and should be installed in the next month or two.

A lack of parking is about the only negative point that can be found. Since I live across the ball park, I could probably help that situation by pouring a nice, level slab of concrete over my lawn. Heck, a compact parking ramp could even be built there.

When Wayne's ball park is completed, Wayne should join Wakefield on the list of Nebraska's best ball parks. Planned improvements at Laurel and Winside mean that northeast Nebraska should have its share of quality baseball facilities.

MAJOR LEAGUE baseball predictions were sent in this week by Layne Marsh of Wayne.

In the National League West: 1. Los Angeles, 2. Atlanta, 3. Houston, 4. San Francisco, 5. Cincinnati, 6. San Diego. National League East: 1. St. Louis, 2.

Montreal, 3. New York, 4. Chicago, 5. Philadelphia, 6. Pittsburgh.

American League West: 1. California, 2. Oakland, 3. Texas, 4. Kansas City, 5. Chicago, 6. Minnesota, 7. Seattle.

American League East: 1. Baltimore, 2. Milwaukee, 3. Detroit, 4. New York, 5. Boston, 6. Cleveland, 7. Toronto.

National League champ—Los Angeles; American League champ—Baltimore; World Series champ—Los Angeles in seven.

HOPEFULLY, THE weather tomorrow (Friday) will be as nice as it was Tuesday at the Wisner-Pilger track triangular with Wayne and Norfolk Catholic. I'll get to watch most of the Wakefield Invitational tomorrow but will have to miss out on the Wakefield-Laurel baseball game.

I'll be out of town Friday afternoon and this weekend to attend the Nebraska Press Association's annual convention in Omaha.

Hopefully, spring will stick around long enough for me to catch some track and baseball and softball next week. I'm getting anxious to watch Wayne State's softball team in action.

Blue Devils edge Wisner in meet

Wayne scored its points in the short races and field events. Wisner Pilger scored in the distances and the Blue Devils nipped the Lady Gators by one point in a triangular Tuesday.

Wayne edged Wisner 60 to 59 to win the track and field triangular at Wisner. Norfolk Catholic rounded out the field with 26 points.

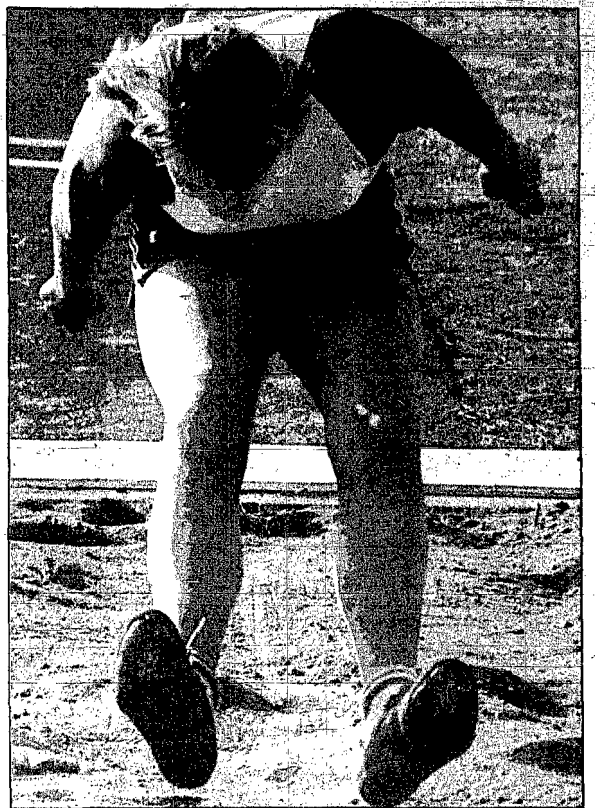

EIGHT FIRST place finishes propelled the Blue Devils to the first place team finish. Jo Carlson won the shot put with a toss of 33.2. Jill Mosley won the long jump with a mark of 15-9 1/2. Lisa Jacobsen won the 100-meter low hurdles in 17.1. Fran Gross won the 400-meter dash in :65.6 and Missy Stoltenberg won the 100-meter dash in :12.7 and the 200 in :26.8.

Wayne's relay teams came out first in the 400-meter relay in :52.8 and the 1,600-meter relay in 4:31.8. Team members of the 400 relay squad are Lisa Jacobsen, Jill Mosley, Fran Gross and Missy Stoltenberg. The 1,600-meter team is composed of freshmen Jody Allen, Sarah Lebsack and Lisa Jacobsen and sophomore Fran Gross.

Second place finishers were Kelly Bartholomew with a throw of 30.11 in the shot put, Kris Baier with a jump of 14.91 in the long jump, Paula Koplin in the 100 low hurdles (:18.1), Sarah Lebsack in the 100-meter dash (:13.4) and Jill Mosley in the 400-meter dash with a time of :65.6.

PLACING THIRD were Sarah Lebsack in the long jump with a mark of 13.11, Jo Carlson with a toss of 86.2 in the discus and Jill Mosley with a time of :28.7 in the 200-meter dash.

The Wayne girls are scheduled to compete in the Tekamah Invitational Tuesday.

KRIS BAIER leaped to a second place finish in the long jump at Tuesday's Wisner triangular.

One first place finish leads Wayne

A first place finish by Eric Brink led the Wayne boys track team in a triangular at Wisner Tuesday. Wisner-Pilger won the meet with 78 points followed by Norfolk Catholic with 62 and Wayne with 31.

Brink recorded Wayne's only first place finish of the day when he ran the 300-meter intermediate hurdles in :42.6. He also placed second in the 110-highs with a time of :17.1.

by Mark Kubik who cleared 11-0 in the pole vault and Mark Hummel who ran the 800-meter race in 2:12.5. The 3,200-meter relay team also took second with a time of 9:28.4. Team members are Blaine Johs, Jon Jacobmeier, Steve Zahmiser and Chris Hillier.

At Lindsay placed third in two events with times of :11.9 in the 100-meter dash and :24.2 in the 200. Terry Gilliland took third in the 110-meter hurdles in :19.1. Kevin Koenig placed third in the shot put with a heave of 42-4 and fourth in the discus with a mark of 110-6.

Other fourth place finishers were Jon Jacobmeier in the pole vault (8-6), Jeff Loberg in the shot put (40-7), Jim Poshman in the 400 (:157.7), Blaine Johs in the 800 (:2:17) and Chris Hillier in the 300 (:1:44.3).

Next action for the Wayne boys is scheduled Tuesday in the Randolph Invitational.

Freshman wrestler qualifies for state

Tim Book, a freshman member of the Wayne wrestling team, recently won a first place medal at the District 4 United States Wrestling Federation meet held at Herman.

Book, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Book of rural Wayne, won the 155-pound freestyle wrestling weight class. He pinned Bob Misner of Schuyler in 2:13 of his first round match and won the title with a 16 second pin over David Macholan of Schuyler in the championship match.

The championship automatically qualifies Book for the Nebraska State Meet scheduled May 28-29 in North Platte. Wayne's Loren Grashorn also participated in the district meet and placed fourth in his weight class.

Banquet plans progress

An athletic banquet to honor Wayne Carroll High School athletes is in the works and interest has been high.

A parents committee was formed to plan the 1982 Wayne Carroll High School athletic banquet for Thursday, May 20. The event is planned at 7 p.m. in the Wayne State College Student Union.

ATHLETES, MANAGERS and cheerleaders will be guests of the banquet and parents will receive invitations to the dinner and/or the program. Speaker will be Jack Pierce, assistant football coach at the University of Nebraska.

Because there was no allocation of money for the banquet in the school budget, the parents committee is seeking contributions. Anyone who is interested in making a contribution may send it to: Wayne-Carroll High School Athletic Banquet, in care of Marilyn Carhart, 1111 Sunset Drive, Wayne.

Reception of the athletic banquet idea has been good and donations have been accumulating. The committee's "dream" is to offer each student

Back-to-nature vacations

Before you make those summer vacation plans — for yourself, your teenage children, your junior high campers or for the whole family — take a look at 17 summer vacations already put together by the National Wildlife Federation.

These back-to-nature vacations, designed for all ages, combine outdoor experiences with conservation education and exploration. The result, according to former participants, is an entertaining, informative glimpse of some of North America's most scenic vacation spots.

FOR ADULTS or entire families, NWF offers Conservation Summits, six days of exposure to a variety of conservation-related topics in unique settings. This year's summits will be held at five different locations: the Blue Ridge Mountains of North Carolina, June 26-July 2; the Rocky Mountains of Colorado, July 4-10; the Adirondack Mountains of upstate New York, Aug. 1-7; the shores of Green Lake in Wisconsin, Aug. 7-13; and the Canadian Rockies in Banff, Alberta, June 9-15. The Canadian session is NWF's first International Summit, co-sponsored by the Canadian Wildlife Federation.

Summit participants can register for workshops on birds and wildlife, wildflowers, map reading, geology or fly casting, among other subjects. Teachers and college students can arrange to receive college credit for these workshops.

In their free time, "summitteers" can play tennis, ride horses, swim, hike or ski cross country. Evenings bring dancing, films, craft demonstrations, environmental forums and other forms of entertainment.

For teens and youngsters, Summits provide special programs geared to the interests of younger participants. Babysitting and daycare are available.

IN ADDITION to the Summits, NWF also offers two kinds of vacations for younger adventurers: Earth TREK and Ranger Rick Wildlife Camp. Earth TREK is a 12-day program for 13 through 16-year-olds that combines backpacking with environmental study. Designed for beginning backpackers, the program takes co-educational groups of 12 hikers through either the Blue Ridge Mountains of North Carolina or the Colorado Rockies, near Dillon.

Four Earth TREKS are scheduled for each location. In Colorado, teens can choose to go June 24-July 5, July 8-19, July 22-Aug. 2 or Aug. 5-16. Blue Ridge Mountain treks are scheduled June 20-July 1, July 4-15, July 25-Aug. 5 and Aug. 8-19. Professional environmental educators lead all groups and Earth TREK provides backpacks and food.

For the even younger camper, aged 9 through 13, NWF has an award winning summer program: Ranger Rick Wildlife Camp. In 12 or 15 day sessions at a campsite near Hendersonville, N.C., young campers are encouraged to pursue their interest in energy experiments, bird observations, arts and crafts, fishing expeditions and other activities. Three years ago, this camp was the Presidential Environmental Youth Award for its excellence in outdoor education. This year's sessions will run July 13-June 24, July 4-18, July 21-Aug. 1 and Aug. 4-18.

ALL SESSIONS are staffed by NWF experts, graduate teachers and college students. Costs for the Summits for a family of four range from $800 to $1100, depending on the location and the type of accommodation. Wildlife Camp costs $350 for the 12-day session and $395 for the 15-day session, and Earth TREK costs $360 per backpacker.

For further information about NWF's vacation programs, call 703-790-4363, or write the National Wildlife Federation, Dept. PR 82, 1412 16th St., NW, Washington, D.C. 20036.

Homer track meet

Allen girls take third in relays

The Allen girls track team placed third in the five-team Homer Relays held Tuesday on Homer's dirt track. Newcastle won the meet, followed by Ponca, Alton, Coleridge and Homer.

The Eagles failed to win any events but collected their points by placing second, third, fourth and fifth in numerous events.

SECOND PLACE winners were Michelle Harger in the 400 meter dash, Nancy Olsutka in the high jump, Janet Peterson in the shot put, Jeanne Warner in the discus and the 3,200 meter relay team. The relay team is made up of Shelly Williams, Michelle Petit, Michelle Harder and Tami Jewell. Finishing third were Des Williams in the 100 meter low hurdles, Michelle Harger in the high jump, Jeanne Warner in the shot put, the 400-meter relay team and the 1,600 meter relay team.

Team members on the 400 meter squad are Janet Peterson, Des Williams, Tami Jewell and Pam Heckathorn. Members of the 1,600 meter are Michelle Petit, Michelle Harder, Janet Peterson and Shelly Williams. Other place winners were Pam Heckathorn, fifth in the 100, Janet Peterson fifth in the 200, Shelly Williams fourth in the 1,600 meter run and Des Williams fourth in the long jump.

The Allen girls will be in action Tuesday at the Beemer Invitational which is scheduled at the Wisner Pilger track.

BROKEN BEER BOTTLES and discarded beer cans were strewn over a portion of the gravel road near the Wayne County Fairgrounds earlier this week. The plastic garbage bag and its contents appeared to have been dumped by a passing motorist. A second bag of garbage was dumped several hundred yards north of this site.

Wayne State Arboretum sets 2-trees planting date

An Arbor Day tree planting ceremony and a workshop on planting and pruning of planting stock are planned by the Wayne State College Arboretum, according to acting curator Dr. Charles R. Maier, professor of biology at WSC. Interested persons are invited to attend the Arbor Day tree planting at the Wayne State Arboretum on Thursday, April 22. (Nebraska's traditional Arbor Day) from 1:30 to 5 p.m.

THE ARBORETUM will observe and support Gov. Charles Thone's "Plant Two Trees" program by offering each participant two tree seedlings, one to be planted at the arboretum and the other at a site of the participant's choosing, according to Maier. Planting will be supervised by WSC grounds personnel and by the arboretum staff. Participants should proceed to the nursery area across 14th Street from the Providence Medical Center in Wayne. A workshop on the planting and pruning of planting stock will be conducted on the WSC campus on Saturday, April 24. Dr. George Briggs, director of the Nebraska Statewide Arboretum, will conduct the workshop, scheduled from 10:30 a.m. until noon.

ANYONE INTERESTED in the workshop is invited to come to the visitor parking lot north of the Hahn Administration Building on the WSC campus.

The workshop will involve the planting of several trees and shrubs at various sites around campus, and will be a demonstration as opposed to a "hands on" experience, according to Dr. Maier. The workshop is offered free.

Weatherman

(Continued from page 1) NONETHELESS, the next day (April 6) Hefti's telephone rang about 10:45 a.m. The call came from KOEX-Radio in Portland, Ore. The station put Hefti on live for a broadcast to its listeners about the northeast Nebraska farmer's weather predictions for 1982.

Hefti also recalled that he received several more calls that day from stations that arranged to call him back for over-the-telephone interviews. And, sure enough, on April 8, CHSJ-Radio of Brunswick, Canada, called. The ringing of the telephone woke Hefti at 5:55 a.m.

The radio station is in eastern Canada where the time zone shows a two-hour difference. It was 7:55 a.m. for eastern Canadians listening to the morning "Don Maybe Show."

BY THIS TIME, Hefti had his radio presentation down pat. He agreed to go on for a live broadcast. About three hours later, WABC Radio out of New York City called seeking to tape Hefti's weather predictions for the "Ross Britton and Bryan Wilson Show."

Since WABC, one of New York City's major network radio stations, had called earlier to schedule the taping session, Hefti agreed to do the interview. But, that wasn't the end of it. The telephone rang again about 10:45 a.m.

This time it was another Canadian radio station seeking a taped interview with the farmer/forecaster.

THE STATION, CFQC-Radio out of Providence, Canada, taped the Hefti interview for later broadcast.

Hefti then went on about his daily farm work, returning to the house for lunch.

His noon lunch hour was interrupted by a 12:25 p.m. telephone call from a Provo, Utah, radio station.

Hefti, who is fast becoming a veteran radio-interview personality, knew what station staffer Tom Wacker wanted. Within a few moments Hefti provided Provo, Utah, radio listeners with a glimpse of his weather-predicting methods and the forecast for moisture here in 1982.

WELL, HEFTI barely got out the door after lunch that Thursday when the telephone rang for the fifth time.

Radio station CHUM of Toronto, Canada, was on the line long distance. The station asked for and got a Hefti interview on tape for later broadcast to central Canadian listeners.

Meanwhile, the mail continues to roll in — substantiating Hefti's contention that almost everyone, everywhere is interested in the weather.

His wife has kept a log of the calls and contacts that they have developed over the months as her husband's weather predicting skills have snowballed across the continent.

And, Hefti is wondering how long it will take for the word to reach his father's homeland — Switzerland.

HEFTI LEARNED the ritual, which involves six onions and some table salt, from his father, who brought the weather forecasting tradition from "the old country."

Hefti, in keeping with the Swiss family tradition, has passed the practice of the annual Christmas Eve ritual on to his children.

According to Hefti, some of the letter writers and telephone callers have done their best to after the ritual to suit their own purposes.

One of the callers urged Hefti to perform the weather-predicting ritual on Easter instead of Christmas Eve.

A purist when it comes to family tradition, Hefti declined. Still, another was concerned that Hefti's wife allowed him to cut the onions in the house.

"I'M GETTING a real education about people," Hefti said. "Some of them have the darndest ideas about things."

Except for a few interruptions to his daily schedule, Hefti's life hasn't been changed much by the international broadcast media attention.

But, Hefti — and his close friends... friends who have come to rely on his predictions year in and year out — are still wondering why the national ABC weatherman on "Good Morning America" found it necessary to poke fun at his forecast.

"I've never said it was 100 percent accurate... nothing is 100 percent accurate," Hefti explained, indicating that over the years his predictions had proved to be about 70 percent accurate.

"That's better than most of them," he added.

Project

THE CITY IS interested in having the remaining gravel footage on Windom Street south, just north of the Feeder-Fletcher proposal, paved, Kloster indicated.

Kloster indicated that review of the proposed paving project indicated that special assessments along the Feeder-Fletcher proposal could exceed the value of some of the property along the south side of Fairground Avenue.

Furthermore, Kloster explained, the Council would be in line with a paving agreement that would reflect special assessments ranging from 50 percent to 75 percent of the project costs.

The benefit goes beyond the front footage along Fairground Avenue," Kloster explained, noting that the route is listed on state road maps as a "collector street."

IN THAT REGARD, Kloster said the route is rated higher than a residential street for improvement purposes. Councilman Darrel Heier told the Council he was concerned that the city would be "setting a precedent for other situations."

He said he wondered if others would use the 50 percent pick up to justify proposals to pave other streets.

"Are we going to get trapped?" Heier asked.

Councilman Keith Mosley said the route, as a collector street, offered access to the city lagoon area and the garbage compactor.

He said he wanted to see something started on the project but didn't know if a 50/50 agreement was what the city wanted.

"AT LEAST IT'S a starting point" for negotiations, Mosley added.

"We are dealing with a different-type situation, there," Kloster told the Council. "It is not a residential street. It's a collector street and we have participated, in the past, on collector streets."

He also reminded the Council that, with the paving of Fairground Avenue and Windom, the city was nearing completion of pavement for the entire municipal street system.

Kloster estimated the project would cost about $60,000. The city would be involved in the cost of the project along its own front footage, he explained, adding that it also helps on intersection upgrading.

COUNCILMAN DARRELL FUELBERG suggested that the Council authorize the city administrator to negotiate with the property owners.

The suggestion received unanimous support.

"One property owner down there is running around indicating that the property owners have no obligation for special assessments in the paving proposal," Kloster told the Council.

"I'm surprised," said Mayor Wayne Marsh.

In other action, the Council approved the final plat of the Feeders-Fletcher Subdivision, which had received unanimous approval from the City Planning Commission earlier this month.

The lot split allowed for the division of property between the elevator and the farm service operation, according to Kloster.

IN SOME HOUSECLEANING action, the Council approved an ordinance to eliminate a conflict between the municipal code and the zoning regulations with regard to mobile home definitions.

And, the Council unanimously approved Mayor Marsh's appointment of Gary Van Meter, owner and operator of Mines Jewelry, to the city's College Community Board.

Van Meter replaces Gerald Botenkamp, who recently resigned.

Nebraska's economy showing signs of stress, strain

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

It took awhile, but Nebraska's economy is definitely showing signs of strain now.

Federal tax cuts, larger than expected state income tax returns and a sluggish economy have joined forces to drain the state's treasury to a threatening low level.

Lawmakers and Gov. Charles Thone for some time now have acknowledged a need for increasing the state income tax rate. Corporate tax rates also are going up, as is the cigarette tax.

BUT IT WASN'T until a very bleak tax report came out for March that an increase in the state sales tax was seriously considered.

Now lawmakers have made it very clear they'll take the lead and approve a one-half percent increase to 3.5 percent in the state sales tax. The increase is expected to raise $21 million this summer and fall.

If the Legislature hadn't taken the lead, the state Board of Equalization would have been forced into raising the rate because of the dismal state of the budget. But it looks like the five-member board is off the hook.

That fact has angered some lawmakers, including Sen. Steve Fowler of Lincoln, who said the administration should assume the responsibility.

The vote indicating approval for a sales tax rate increase was mostly along party lines, with Republicans voting for it and Democrats against.

SEVERAL OPPONENTS claim the legislative proposal amounted to a political move that would take Republican Gov. Charles Thone off the hook Thone, of course, is seeking re-election.

Fowler charged that deals are being struck. "In return for legislative approval of the tax hike, he alleged, senators are getting promises Thone will sign some bills.

Whether such deals were struck is difficult to prove. But it is known that three top Thone aides were in the lobby during the sales tax debate, actively lobbying for votes. It's also evident the votes were there when the first vote was taken.

The political ramifications no doubt will be many. But the most important thing to remember right now is that the state is almost out of money and conceivably could find itself in the position of being unable to pay bills.

Something had to be done, fast. Unpopular positions had to be taken. More money had to be generated, and budgets had to be trimmed.

THE LEGISLATURE, led by Budget Committee Chairman Jerome Warner of Waverly, has continually met the challenge.

In fact, Warner has taken the lead many times when Thone and some lawmakers seemed unwilling to take a position or were arguing back and forth over who should shoulder the responsibility.

Warner, it would appear, is the unsung hero who is determined to pull the bell as tight as necessary to get the state through its fiscal emergency.

He doesn't seem to care who is praised or blamed, he's just trying to get the job done, and he's doing it.

CHRISTIAN SCHOOLS — Lawmakers almost always throw the word "compromise" around when they're trying to find a middle ground on a controversial or emotional issue.

Such was definitely the case with the Christian schools bill this year. Everybody was talking about compromise, and everyone had a different idea about how to find that middle ground.

But at this writing it looks like a compromise could not be found in the Legislature this year. The Christian schools bill, it appears, is dead, although last-minute resolution of differences is not unheard of.

Lawmakers recently approved what was billed as a compromise amendment, it provided a waiver of teacher certification at church schools.

But the waiver was conditional. Teachers still would have to obtain some training, even if it was at a church-run school. In other words, lawmakers wanted some guarantee that teachers were educated.

BUT EVEN THOUGH the so-called compromise amendment was approved, the votes just weren't there when the time came to advance the bill to the final stage of consideration.

That unsuccessful second-round vote came at the tail end of the session. Although enough time could be found in the waning days to take another vote, many senators said it is unlikely the issue will be discussed again because it's obvious the middle ground still hasn't been found.

Plus, lawmakers debate the issue endlessly, and there just isn't time left in the session to cover old ground, which happens every time the measure is debated.

So, until the 1983 session, it looks like Christian schools will have to listen to the courts and comply with all state education requirements or face closure.

If a 13th-hour deal is struck and the measure is approved, Christian schools still won't necessarily be winners. Last-minute lawmaking is dangerous and often sloppy. It would be unjust to let church school children if that happened.

viewpoint

Plant two trees

Next Thursday is Arbor Day. The observance which is steeped in Nebraska tradition, deserves the support of every Wayne area resident from children to senior citizens. But support is not enough.

The traditional tree planting day also deserves the tribute of participation. And, the participation needs to be both of a public and private nature.

Wayne area residents are fortunate to have an opportunity to participate in a tree planting program organized by the Wayne State College Arboretum.

That program offers participants two trees — both seedlings — to be planted on Arbor Day. One seedling is to be planted at the arboretum. The planting site for the second seedling may be selected by the program's participants.

The arboretum's planting, which is being conducted in support of the governor's "Plant Two Trees" program, offers area residents an opportunity to translate tree talk into action.

And, those unable to participate in the tree program need not back away from the commitment. Nebraskans have to plant trees.

The cost of purchasing a seedling locally is minimal. And, the return on any free planting investment far exceeds that of most purchases.

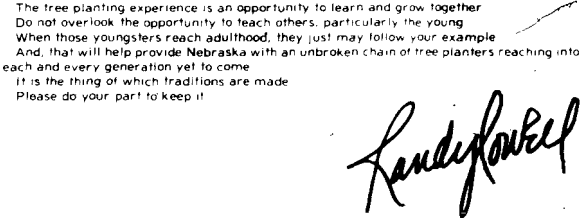

With care, the return is spread over a lifetime and the rewards never cease.

Furthermore, it's the kind of investment in our future that can be shared from generation to generation.

In fact, as important as it is to plant trees this Arbor Day, it is more important to share that free planting experience with the children of Nebraska.

If you are not a parent, you may want to share your tree planting with a friend. The tree planting experience is an opportunity to learn and grow together. Do not overlook the opportunity to teach others, particularly the young. When those youngsters reach adulthood, they just may follow your example. And, that will help provide Nebraska with an unbroken chain of tree planters reaching into each and every generation yet to come.

It is the thing of which traditions are made. Please do your part to keep it.

Gloom and doom

If you are in the market for the wares of another gloom and doom economist, you'd better shop elsewhere. I'm not selling.

In all my years, I have never seen so much rampant—and unjustified—pessimism among the nation's leading academic, economic, political, financial and media circles. Heaven help us if average American workers and business people ever started taking these self-styled experts too seriously.

Yes, we are in a recession. But the solutions—sweeping tax cuts for every American—were already in place before the worst of the recession hit us. Now, the worst is behind us. The economic news is getting better and it will continue to get better every week for at least the next two years. For example:

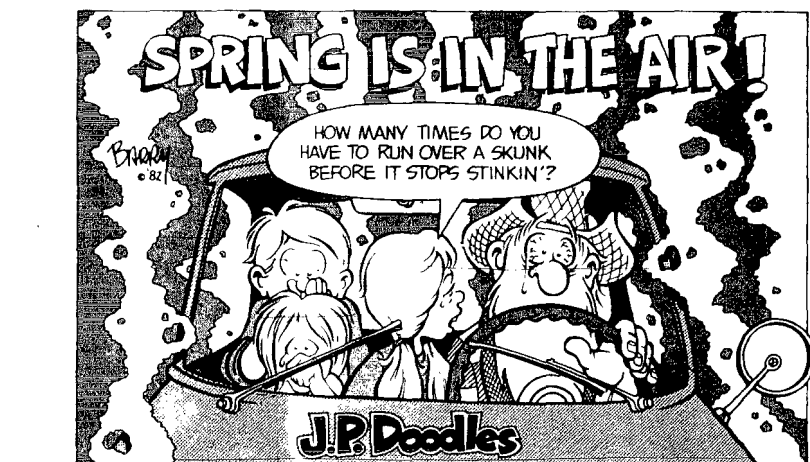

- Retail sales in February were up 1.6 percent from January.
- The industrial production index increased in February by 1.6 percent—the first increase since July 1981.
- The establishment employment series indicated that in February private sector jobs increased by 135,000. This more than offset a decline that month of 38,000 public sector jobs.
- Wage and salary income rose $7.7 billion from January to February.
- During the last three months through February, the compounded annual rate of inflation as measured by the Consumer Price Index was 3.7 percent.
- Unemployment will trend downward through 1983. Inflation, which has already come down, is going to stay down—a reality that has forced the gloom merchants into all kinds of embarrassing contortions as they now try to claim, well, that slower price increases are really a problem.
- I realize we are a nostalgic people, but I can't imagine anyone looking back fondly at the good old days of 1980 when consumer prices increased more than 12 percent.
- Interest rates have come down in recent months as well, and they will continue to drop throughout this year. And, we even have indications that the deficit for fiscal 1982 may be far less than anyone had predicted, including the administration.
- In fact, the Treasury Department is simply aghast to find that so far this year personal and corporate tax collections are running far above anyone's forecasts.
- Who says supply side economics doesn't work?

Christian school bill stalled DWI bill reasonable effort

The days are beginning to get long as the Legislature finds itself pressed for time in our attempt to consider as many of the remaining bills as possible.

The Legislature struggled with LB 508 until 11 p.m. on Monday of last week before advancing it to Final Reading. The bill will create new penalties for those convicted of driving while intoxicated.

Although it doesn't mandate imprisonment for the first offense, it does call for a 60-day driver's license suspension as a minimum even if the sentence is probation.

IF NO PROBATION were given, the minimum penalty for first offense would be seven days imprisonment, $200 fine, and six months suspended driver's license.

The penalties are not as harsh as some would like, but I think the bill does represent a reasonable attempt to find a solution for ridding our highways of drunken drivers.

The penalties for second and third offense are significantly harsher which reflects the Legislature's intent to punish the repeat offender.

Earlier that same evening, the Legislature failed to advance the Christian School bill, LB 652, which would have eliminated the requirement for certified teachers in private schools if the parents of the students declared that State certification conflicted with their religious beliefs.

I am afraid we haven't seen the last of this issue although I do not believe there is enough time left to consider the bill further this session.

LB 738 WAS also advanced to Final Reading last Wednesday. It would provide for tax credits for those who install renewable energy source systems such as active solar, passive solar or wind energy.

The bill was attached as an amendment to LB 799, a related energy bill, so if you are interested in the progress of LB 738, you should be watching LB 799.

The reason for this is that LB 738 was stalled on General File with no chance of passage this session. It was felt that there was enough support for the bill to warrant attaching it to a related bill which did have a chance to pass in the time remaining.

Two weeks ago, LB 408, a bill which would allow farmers or ranchers owning a semitrailer to purchase a special permit allowing them to haul their own agricultural products and livestock to or from storage or market without buying a commercial license, was advanced to Select File.

ANOTHER PROVISION would allow triple trailer trucks to travel on our highways if they obtained a special permit.

There is quite a bit of concern about the danger these vehicles may present to other motorists who will have to share our two-lane highways with them.

An amendment has been drawn up which, if adopted, will strike this section of the bill so that a study may be undertaken to determine the effects and possible benefits of allowing triple trailers on the State highways.

I intend to support the amendment when it comes up for consideration.

To the editor:

This Friday night will be the Wayne-Carroll High School junior-senior prom.

After the banquet and dance there will be a movie shows at the drive-in in their behalf. Of course, as usual, this will be an "R" rated movie.

I am deeply offended and insulted to think that this demoralizing trash is literally thrown at our youth.

I am well aware of the fact that the kids stay out until the wee hours of the morning on this special night and they need something to do. I would be delighted if a decent movie were shown!

The Motion Picture Association of America rating definition of "R" is: Restricted. Under 17 requires accompanying parent or adult guardian.

Nebraska law requires an accompanying parent or adult guardian for those under 18 at movies depicting nudity or sexual contact.

Either there is going to be an awful lot of chaperones at that movie or there's going to be an awful lot of people breaking the law. I'm sick and tired of hearing about youngsters as young as 13 attending these movies unaccompanied, with no questions asked. Come on, law enforcement officers, do the job for which you are paid.

Legislature twists idea of check-off funds usage

By M.M. Van Kirk
Nebraska Farm Bureau

Several million dollars are being collected annually from producers of farm commodities in Nebraska through the six commodity check-off programs now in place and the take will be bootlegged considerably if this session of the Nebraska Legislature sees a beef check off program added to the list.

Check off programs in Nebraska started with the potato industry shortly after World War II, then added wheat in the 1950s and after that soybeans, poultry and eggs, corn, and last year, sorghum.

The check off idea has been sold as a self help program on the part of commodity producers. The funds have been expended primarily for research and development purposes to aid producers through improved varieties and production techniques, and control of pests and diseases.

CONTRACTS for such research have traditionally been placed with agencies such as the University of Nebraska Institute of Agriculture & Natural Resources that have the staff and facilities for such assignments.

A second use has been to participate with established commodity agencies in developing and expanding consumer use of the products in both domestic and export markets. Overseas sales representatives and offices have undoubtedly helped in the rapid development of U.S. farm export markets.

Not all such self help programs have been financed through government mandated check offs. Certainly the dairy and pork voluntary programs have been sophisticated and successful. The pork producers several years ago said "thanks but no thanks" to suggestions that the USDA organize a national pork check off program for them.

The comeback of the pork industry and presentation of a leaner, better product, has recaptured a larger share of the consumer market and is an example of voluntary self-help at its best!

GENERALLY PRODUCERS have not complained about their check-off programs and where the law permitted producers to ask for refunds of their check-off contributions, such requests have been minimal and have posed no threat to the overall program.

The refund provision, still retained in the soybean law, is viewed as a safety valve and a method by which producers with a complaint can make themselves heard.

But in the last two sessions of the Legislature, a disturbing pattern has emerged. In the closing days of the 1981 session, an amendment was attached to the sorghum check-off bill which took the Wheat Board from the administrative structure of the State Department of Agriculture and set it out as a separate agency.

This had been a cost-saving feature, using state office facilities and personnel.

IN THIS SESSION, LB 786 is pending proposing that the Wheat Board be authorized to set up its own research units, and that the director of the Department of Agriculture be removed from the Wheat Board as an ex officio member, and that expense vouchers no longer be subject to his approval.

The bill also would remove from current law a provision that check-off funds are not to be used to "influence legislation." The proposed beef check-off bill, LB 953, omits these safeguards and is the same bill that was agreed upon by sponsoring farm groups last year.

Though it has been amended out, a provision deep within an appropriations bill would have taken 15 percent of the check-off funds from all the commodities and put them in the state's general fund.

If the check-off programs are to function as intended, check-off fees should be used for research and promotion of the commodity—not for the state general fund, not for lobbying legislators or sending delegates to influence legislation or provide political advantages, and not for setting up separate and expensive new research units.

Dairy award to Wayne man

A LARGE NUMBER of Nebraska dairy producers received various awards for the high milk or butterfat production of their herds or individual cows during 1981, in ceremonies during the recent annual meeting of the Nebraska State Dairymen's Association in Columbus. Eight herd owners qualified for a second silver bar (15-year) award, but only three were present to receive their awards. They were: (from left), Kenneth Guenther, Bancroft; Menno Murman of Murms Dairy, Glenvil, and John Anderson of Wayne.

Survey of farmers

Seed spacing is uniform in conservation tillage

While conservation tillage has been hailed as a revolution in agriculture, by the USDA's Soil Conservation Service, some farmers have worried that crop residue will interfere with proper seed placement. Not true, said Elbert Dickey, University of Nebraska extension conservation specialist.

"Since poor seed placement can harm yields, even an error of 20 percent can contribute to a poorer yield," concern about proper seed placement with conservation tillage is not academic.

DICKEY SAID that a field survey of 100 farmers has shown that planters used in conservation tillage have equal or better seed spacing uniformity than conventional tillage systems. He shared these findings March 3 at the first "Conservation Tillage for Row Crop Production" conference sponsored by the Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service.

Based on an index for seed spacing, no till ranked highest overall with a 53 out of a possible five points. Chisel was second at 2.48. Moldboard plowing was rated at 2.45 overall, and disking at 2.37.

The survey looked at the actual performance of six different planters under reduced to no tillage conditions.

Dickey and Paul Jaska, NU research technologist, developed the index to evaluate planter performance. An average was designated as an ideal spacing. The distance from the ideal spacing was given a one to five value. A "five" meant less than a 10 percent error in placement.

For example, Dickey said, a planter index of 2.8 would represent an average placement error of 32 percent. Even the best planter had a 20 to 30 percent error in seed placement, he said.

FOUR TILLAGE systems were used at eight sites. Tillage involved a plowing and two diskings, a chiseling and a plowing, two diskings, and no tillage.

In three of the sites, no till ranked highest in seed spacing uniformity. In two of the eight, it ranked second. The largest difference on any site between no till and the highest ranked system was .35. No till also had the highest index on any single site, 4.01.

Dickey said that in general, the higher the amount of residue present, the better the uniformity. He attributed this to the possibility that farmers who practice conservation tillage have to pay more attention to equipment adjustments.

Another factor affecting spacing was soil surface roughness, Dickey said. If the surface is lumpy, the spacing is less uniform. However, if the soil is loosened by repeated tillage operations, this lowers seed spacing uniformity because the drive mechanism on conservation tillage planters performs better in firmer soils, Dickey said.

ANALYSIS OF the planter features showed that a coultter that would cut residue in front of the planting unit contributed to more uniform seed spacing. The type of seed furrow opener, whether double disk, runner or seed covering device, had no effect on seed spacing.

Dickey also noted that planters which used a press wheel to control seed depth had a statistically lower spacing uniformity index (.714) than planters which used depth bands or gauge wheels to control seed depth (2.85 and 2.59 respectively).

"As with press wheel shape, using press wheels for depth control appeared to have an interaction with the type of drive for the seed metering mechanism. Therefore, it was concluded that the press wheel may not influence spacing uniformity as much as the drive for the seed metering mechanism. This topic needs further investigation," Dickey said.

Last call for Clarke-McNary trees

Now is the last chance for eligible Nebraskans to order trees under the Clarke-McNary program.

That's the word from Dennis M. Adams, extension forester at the University of Nebraska, who said that while many species are sold out, cedar, pines and shrubs are still available.

With the spring tree planting season just around the corner, landowners who plan to plant — or replace losses — in their windbreak, woodlot, wildlife or similar planting, should place tree orders immediately, Adams stressed.

More than three million Clarke-McNary trees and shrub seedlings of 25 species were included in this year's program, Adams stated. The Nebraska Forester Service began shipping tree orders March 23.

Tree and shrub seedlings are sold for $23 per hundred seedlings, including postage and handling. Orders must be placed by April 12 at Cooperative Extension Service offices around the state or at Natural Resources District offices. The last day for shipping trees will be April 15.

NE Pork Producers attend promotion

Members of the Northeast Nebraska Pork Producers participated in a pork promotion last Friday and Saturday at Southern Hills Mall in Sioux City. The promotion was sponsored by the Pork Producers and Parkettes from Iowa and Nebraska.

Northeast Nebraska Pork Producers members who took part were Mr. and Mrs. Veri Carlson of Wakefield, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Darnell of Walthill, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fuller of Pender and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Ballinger of Pender. The Northeast Nebraska Pork Queen, Sheri Peters of Pender, also attended.

Free miniature ground pork sandwiches were distributed to mall shoppers as part of the promotion. Other events included cooking demonstrations, pigskin style shows, pigskin craft shows, port slides, puppet shows, pork give-aways, a by-product display and meat cutting demonstrations.

Sheep producers tour ahead

Openings are still available on the bus tour to the Roman Hruska Meat Animal Research Center at Clay Center. All interested persons and members of the Northeast Nebraska Sheep Producers Association are asked to mail their fee of $15 to Leah Agler, R.R. 2, Wayne, NE 68787. The tour will take place Monday, May 3 leaving the bus depot at Norfolk at 6:55 a.m. Sheep producers in the area are all welcome. Hurry and make your reservations now!

Laurel teen helping at workshop

The search is on for outstanding high school sophomore or junior science students to receive scholarships to the 1982 Nebraska Biology Workshop, according to Dr. John Orr, 4-H youth and development specialist at the University of Nebraska.

"The workshop, to be held at the Eastern Nebraska 4-H Center near Gretna this summer, will feature the study of soils, water, plants, animals and careers that are related to those subject matter areas," Orr said.

Scholarship applications provided through the Nebraska Association for 4-H development are due April 15 and are available from biology instructors or high school principals.

The event is being conducted by the NU Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, the Cooperative Extension Service, and the Nebraska State Department of Education.

The Workshop will be conducted by NU faculty members and ten teachers who are being trained to assist with the event. They are: Julie Backes, Lindsay; Jackie Crisp, Laurel; Pamela Garey, McCook; Clover Merkel, 5331 W. Vance Road, Lincoln; Gail Rochelle, Wilber; Ruth Starman, Elgin; Donald Wademan, Blue Hill; Larry Barkdoll, Martell; Jeffrey Eastridge, 13485 Oak St., Omaha; Kristie Luhn, Grand Island; Mary Olmer, Humphrey; Sunny Sherertz, Columbus; Gail Stenson, Wolbach.

Sheep shearing school planned

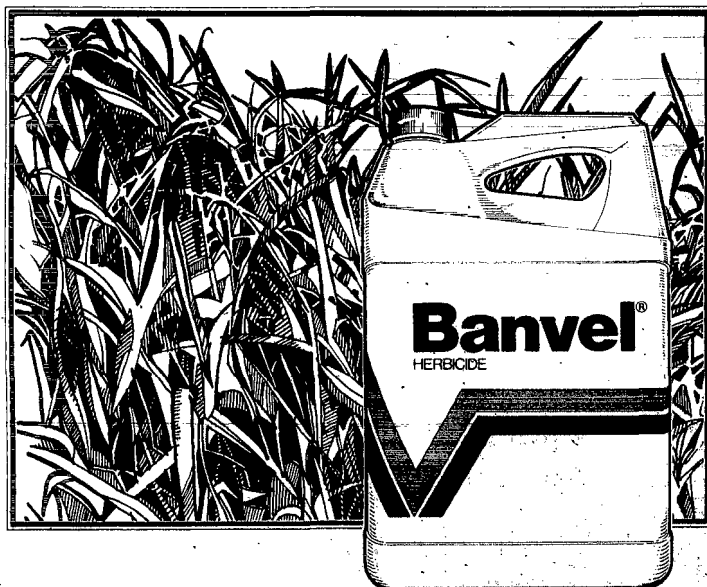

A shearing school to train beginning level sheep shearers will again be held this year in Northeast Nebraska. The school is tentatively scheduled for the third week in May and will be limited to 10 students maximum.

The school will be sponsored by the Northeast Nebraska Sheep Producers. The sheep shearing equipment and sheep are provided as part of the $20 fee. Instruction is given on correct procedures of shearing, equipment maintenance, and wool handling.

If interested contact Steve Gramlich, Route 1, Carroll, NE 68723, phone number 375-3678.

Club lamb sale is set

The Northeast Nebraska Sheep Producer's annual club lamb sale will be held at the Wayne County Fairgrounds on Sunday, April 25. The sale will begin at 12 p.m. All members of NENSPA are invited to have club lambs at the sale. All entries are requested to be in by 12 noon. 4-H and F.F.A. members are invited to attend.

Make every pasture acre count.

Banvel® Herbicide makes every pasture acre count.

Musk thistle can rapidly overrun pasture grasses. When weeds move in, pasture carrying capacity drops . . . cattle compete for forage . . . daily weight gains drop . . . profits fall. Your lush pastures turn into poor pastures.

You can break the broadleaf weed takeover with Banvel® Herbicide. It effectively controls dozens of broadleaf weeds like musk thistle — and many that 2,4-D alone often misses. Banvel® Herbicide circulates throughout the weed to kill the entire plant, above and below ground, from leaf tip to root tip.

If you're using 2,4-D now, put the extra punch of Banvel Herbicide in a tank mix. You'll add an impressive hit to your 2,4-D program — including dogfennel and Canada thistle.

For added convenience and weed control, Banvel Herbicide can be applied with fluid fertilizers as part of a Weed and Feed program.

This spring, break the broadleaf hold on your beef-making potential. Ask your ag chem dealer about cleaning up your pastures with Banvel Herbicide.

Worried About How You'll Look With A Hearing Aid?
Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of one of the smallest Beltone aids of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

Send for this model, put it on and wear it in the privacy of your own home. While many people with a hearing loss will not receive any significant benefit from any hearing aid, this free model will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It is not a real hearing aid, and it's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a fourth of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Department 27544, Beltone Electronics Corp., 4201 West Victoria Street, Chicago, Illinois 60646.

GULP!

Other life insurance companies may find Northwestern Mutual's new Extra Ordinary Term policy a little hard to swallow.

Until now you had two choices. Whole life or term insurance.

Until now Recently Northwestern Mutual Life has unveiled an entirely new life insurance plan called Extra Ordinary Term. Unlike most term policies, our Extra Ordinary Term plan provides level premiums plus the cash building advantages of whole life! And it's just another reason why other life insurance companies have come to realize that we're a tough act to follow.

In Wayne, Janice Ellis knows why. Call her at (402) 373-6701. Northwestern Mutual Life, 108 West 3rd, Wayne.

You got a good thing going, America 'n that's natural gas.

C'mon America! Take the heat out of the kitchen with a new energy-saving natural gas grill.

A gas grill means easy summer party giving, with no last-minute scramble for charcoal or fluid.

Food tastes better when it's cooked outside. And natural gas makes it clean, convenient and inexpensive. But that's not all.

By using a gas appliance, you'll be helping your country become less dependent on foreign energy sources. That's because natural gas is a product of the United States.

And since America has reserves well into the next century, natural gas makes sense for the future.

Whether the problem is saving money or helping solve America's energy problem, the solution becomes the same.
