NUMBER SEVENTY-SIX

Local biker returns home sore, tired from Bran II

How do you think someone would feel after riding a bicycle 525 miles across Nebraska in searing heat and high winds with about 200 people they'd never met before?

Well, John Struve of Wayne, who did just that, said, "I came back with one heck of a sore fanny, my hands hurt and I must be crazy."

ON THE PLUS side, Struve said "I didn't have a heart attack, there were only a few scrapped knees on the trip and there were no serious injuries involving any of the riders. Basically we all just had sore fannies. The best thing about the trip though is the people you meet and the friendships you form."

Struve is a two year veteran of BRAN (Bicycle Ride Across Nebraska), a ride started last year by Dr. John Wupper, an Omaha dentist.

"Last year there were only about 40 people on the ride," Struve said. "This year we had about 250 people start the ride and around 220 people finished."

THE RIDE WAS held from June 6 to June 12. The route started at Lake Ogallala with the riders traveling to Imperial the first day, about 61 miles.

Riding along with Struve that first day was his 15 year old daughter Laura.

"We'd finished working on a new bike for her before the trip and she wanted to give it a try," Struve said.

The bike Laura rode is a basic "English" type frame which Struve customized for his daughter's height and personal riding style.

On the second day, the riders left Imperial and rode to McCook.

"WE'D GENERALLY start leaving about 5:30 a.m. in groups of 10 or 15. We liked to get an early start so people would be aware there were groups of cyclists on the road," Struve said.

After two or three hours on the road the separate groups would stop for breakfast at diners and cafes.

"With that many people coming in and out we all just ended up pitching in, pouring the coffee and setting up the tables," Struve said.

The third day found the riders heading for Alma.

"BY THIS TIME, I was really hurting."

Struve admitted, "Last year I had tried to build up a bit for the ride, taking a few trips in the area building up my pace."

This year Struve had very little conditioning for the trip besides riding around town. "I knew it was going to be tough and that the key would be to pace myself, not to get too tired and get enough fluids."

Struve said by the end of the day he had found his pace but "I was riding in spurts, riding a lot and resting, riding a lot and resting. There was this 61 year old guy on the ride who was like the tortoise from the tortoise and the hare story. He had a touring bike with regular handlebars and he just kept up the pace, not too slow and not too fast but constant. He ended up passing me several times."

Struve said there were also a couple of youngsters on the ride with the motor cross type one speed bikes. "I couldn't believe it but they made it. I would have thought the hills would do them in," he said.

THE FOLLOWING morning the group left for Hastings for what was to be the worst day of the ride, battling against 35 m.p.h. headwinds.

"They were wicked," Struve said. "That day we lost a lot of riders to the sag wagon. We also had to start drafting in a group."

Drafting for a bicyclist is much the same as for auto racers. Several bikers will line up close, traveling the same speed and cut through the wind.

"THE BIKE in front may be in first or second gear while the riders toward the back will be in eighth or ninth gear," Struve explained. "It's very effective but is also dangerous. You've got to know the people you are drafting with, how they ride and everyone must be trusted to do the right things. We were riding right on the other persons tail and one mistake could mean six or seven riders going down to the pavement."

The following days found the riders traveling to Wilber from Alma, on to Syracuse the following day and ending the ride at Bellevue with a traditional dip of the front wheel in the Missouri River at Hawthorn Park.

"Why does a 41 year old man do such a thing? For the challenge of it," Struve said. "That and the relationships you form with so many people. It takes a lot of nuts to have a ride this size, a lot of diversity. There are bonds formed and I guess I feel a little let down afterwards because you won't see them for another year.

ANOTHER PLUS to the ride Struve said, was the technical information picked up.

"You learn that someone has the same problems with a piece of equipment or a way of doing things as you do but has solved it. Or you may have solved a problem someone else had with different equipment," Struve explained.

Struve said it's a way to keep up with new developments and equipment that otherwise people would not find out about.

Struve said he averaged about 10 to 12 m.p.h. with stops. His fastest speed with 45 m.p.h. "Of course that was down hill with a tailwind. We were really smokin' some days," he said.

What does a rider do, day after day, out on the pavement?

"WE TALKED A lot in groups, usually complaining to each other about aches and pains but I did meet the son of my first college roommate on this trip," Struve said. "I also ended up looking for rattle snakes. I wanted the rattles but I guess it's good I didn't see any. I wouldn't know how to get the rattles off a live snake anyway."

Getting in better physical condition for Struve wasn't one of the reasons for the ride. "In fact I gained five pounds after eating a lot of pancakes and food loaded with carbohydrates. I gained a few pounds last year also so it was expected," he said.

There were not many unusual occurrences on the trip, according to Struve. One night high winds took a persons tent up into the trees and his own collapsed about midnight another night. "All in all it wasn't anything spectacular, just a good time."

SPECIAL EQUIPMENT for Struve includes his customized Fugli 10 speed bike, water jugs, a riders helmet, shoes with plates on the bottom for ease in peddling and padded gloves.

Struve, who is Dean of Finance at Wayne State College, got into biking several years ago.

"I used to have a part-time repair business at home, fixing up bikes and one thing just led to another I-guess. It's a good hobby," he said.

Struve said he intends to make next year's ride and has one more 100 mile ride to go to in Illinois this season.

JOHN STRUVE AND HIS daughter Laura participated recently in BRAN II (Bike Ride Across Nebraska). Laura rode the first day, 61 miles, with her father going the last week and finishing over 500 miles. Struve, Wayne State College's Dean of Finance, has been interested in cycling for several years and has customized both bicycles for he and his daughter's personal riding styles.

Celebrities donate items for Wayne Chicken Show silent auction

A total of 48 items have been received from celebrities for a silent auction to be held in conjunction with this year's Chicken Show in Wayne.

This is the second year members of the Wayne Regional Arts Council have sponsored the Chicken Show, scheduled to be held Saturday, July 10.

In addition to the silent auction, other activities during the daylong salute to the chicken include a parade, national omelet cook-off, Bon Ami chicken pan-frying contest, chicken essay and poetry contest, chicken arts and crafts, and a variety of carnival-type activities including cluck-cluck golf, egg toss, and chicken song and calling contests.

CHAIRMEN FOR the silent auction are Cheryl Lindau and Kay Marsh.

Items, which will be on display during the festival, include a key chain from Bob Hope; autographed decorative feathers "that fell off the costume" of Phyllis Diller; a mariner's hat from Michigan with a printed card from President Ford; an autographed photo by Johnny Carson; a marble paperweight from Ed McMahon; an autographed and dated script of "I Ought to Be in Pictures" from Walter Matthau; and an autographed script of "Little House on the Prairie" by Michael Landon.

Other celebrities who have donated items for the auction include Joe Namath, Governor Thone, Jack Nicklaus, Artie Johnson, Lawrence Welk, Jack Lemmon, Edward Asner, Don Meredith, Mr. Rogers, Rodney Dangerfield, Mickey Rooney, Raquel Welch, Don Knotts, Ralph Nador, Robert Redford and Mary Tyler Moore.

ACCORDING TO Jane O'Leary, a spokeswoman for the Arts Council, approximately 300 letters were sent to various celebrities in the fields of sports, the arts, entertainment and politics.

Addresses were found in reference materials, through television networks, movie studios and "action editors."

Mrs. O'Leary said several letters were returned unforwarded, and other celebrities were "very graceful" in declining their participation in the silent auction.

"A very humorous letter from Joe Namath is a would-be collector's item," said Mrs. O'Leary.

Artist Judy Chicago sent an announcement of her latest project, and included some chicken puns. Robert Redford's secretary wrote with apologies that Redford was "on location," however she did send a photograph.

Mrs. O'Leary said addresses could not be found for James Coburn, who was born in Laurel, Brook Shields, Will Chamberlain, and many others.

MRS. O'LEARY said some of the more humorous items that have been donated include an "egg stirrer" from Jamie Farr of television's "MASH"; and a photo of Robert Peters in chicken costume on the show

"Captain Kangaroo," sent by Bob Keeshan. President Ford's donation of a hat included a business card and other items including a paperweight and key chains.

Other donated items include several scripts and a number of autographed photos, as well as books, jokes, recipes and recordings.

Mrs. O'Leary said bids for the silent auction may be sent early to Wayne Regional Arts Council, Attention Auction, 908 Circle Dr., Wayne, Neb., 68787.

Bids also will be accepted the day of the Chicken Show until 2 p.m.

Mrs. O'Leary said bids will remain secret, with the highest bid for each item considered a pledge of a donation to the Wayne Regional Arts Council in return for the item.

Bidders are advised to select a figure that includes cents to avoid flying bids.

MASTERS OF CEREMONIES for this year's Chicken Show in downtown Wayne will be a representative of Wayne KTCB Radio and Omaha announcer George Murphy.

Entries for the National Omelet Cook-Off being held in conjunction with the event must be received by July 1.

Interested persons should send their name, address and phone number, and include a $5 entry fee, to Omelet Cook-Off, Box 165, Wayne.

Participants should also indicate which division they will participate in: Junior (age 17 and under); women (18-64); men (18-64); or senior (65 and over).

Wayne parade is set for Saturday

The White Horse patrol from the Sioux City Shriner's Abu Bakr Temple will be the featured attraction on Saturday, June 26 when area Shriners gather in Wayne for a mile-long parade.

The White Horse patrol has received numerous awards, including the top national award which they received in competition held in New Orleans, La. They were also a featured attraction at the Rose bowl this past year.

The parade in Wayne will begin between 1:30 p.m. and last about one hour. Wayne's police department requests that there be no parking on Main st. from 1:30 p.m. until the parade is over.

Over 400 temple members from Northwest Nebraska, Northwest Iowa and Southeast South Dakota will be involved in the parade. Attractions and parade units, in addition to the White Horse Patrol, will include the Wayne area Corn Husker's and their 15 little red pick-ups. Other units include the campers and clown units, cycle corps, cycle escorts, foot patrol, rat patrol, wrecking crew, and keystone cops.

The Abu Bakr members will come to Wayne following a parade in Pender. Here they will be served lunch near the Morris Machine Shop and begin lining up for the parade.

The parade route will be up Main st., North to 12th st. where they will turn to Pearl st. and head back to the Morris area.

The Shriners are an organization for Master Masons. The organization annually supports a network of crippled children's hospitals and burn centers throughout North America.

THE FLYING CARPETS will be one of the featured units on Saturday when the Abu Bakr Shrine Temple members come to Wayne to put on a parade. Other units include the award winning White Horse Patrol. The parade is scheduled to begin between 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. The route will be up Main st. to 12th st. where it will turn and head back South on Pearl st.

news briefs

Attending Easter Seal Center

Five persons from Wayne County will be among 300 Nebraska children and adults attending one of the six camping sessions at the Easter Seal Center near Millford this summer, according to Camp Director Dave Breetzke.

Attending from Wayne County will be David Ackman, Karen Nieman, Jean Lierman, Larry Kubik and David Kvoles.

Among the activities planned are swimming, sports, such as wheelchair football, fishing, archery, arts and crafts, cookouts and picnics.

Most of the 60 staff members and volunteers are college and high school students studying in health care fields such as physical therapy, recreation, special education and nursing.

Sirens will be tested

Civil defense sirens will be tested in Wayne on Friday, June 25, at 1 p.m.

The sirens will run only one minute with a three minute pause between each test. Sirens will be tested in the following sequence: alert — both high and low siren on for one minute; three minute pause; attack — both high and low siren, on for ten seconds, off for ten seconds, continuing for one minute.

Normal time sequence for each of the sirens would be a full three minutes. Since this is for testing purposes only, they will be shut off after one minute each so the public may determine the difference between tests and actual warning.

If any resident living near a siren fails to hear the test, they should notify the Wayne police department in order that the siren may be checked for malfunctions.

Vets attend meeting

Dr. Kenneth Liska and Dr. D.A. Swerczek of Wayne attended the recent Summer Meeting of the Nebraska Veterinary Medical Association held in Columbus, June 15-17.

Roundtable discussions on both large and small animal topics were a feature of the meeting along with many guest speakers.

Highlighting the social events was a family bar-b-que on Wednesday night along with a golf tournament, children's activities, and numerous auxiliary activities.

police report

An accident on Saturday involved vehicles owned by Christie M. Milligan and Bruce Frevert. Both cars were southbound on Main st. when Milligan stopped in the traffic lane, waiting to turn left into the 7th street parking lot. Frevert did not observe the stop and struck the rear of Milligan's car. Police also asked cars gathering in the parking lot to clear the premises.

A disturbance complaint was investigated on Saturday at E. 10th street and subjects were advised to turn down the stereo. A toilet was reported lying in the intersection of 7th and Main and police notified the street department.

ALSO ON SATURDAY, police were unable to locate a possible prowler in the Woehler trailer court area that was reported and a wire fence on Fairgrounds Avenue was reported cut by vandals.

On Sunday, the Campus Ministry reported a theft and the State National Bank alarm was activated. Police weren't able to find anyone in the vicinity. Police were also called to a local drugstore, where two young boys were caught shoplifting. They were taken home and their parents informed of the situation.

The department finished out the weekend by rendering service to a motorist who had locked their keys in a car.

Birthright

International organization opens office in Wayne

By LaVon Anderson

Birthright, an international pregnancy service, opened its office in Wayne on April 13 at Providence Medical Center.

Easle Kathol, local director, said the organization offers free "confidential" help to pregnant girls and women, regardless of age, race, creed, marital or economic status.

Guidance and aid, said Mrs. Kathol, can be obtained not only for the mother-to-be but also for the newborn baby.

In addition, Mrs. Kathol said, Birthright can help with maternity clothing, infants clothing, medical and legal aid, shelter homes, adoption guidance, social welfare information and aid, professional counseling referrals, job assistance, community service information, and anonymous pregnancy tests.

"All Birthright services are free and confidential," stressed Mrs. Kathol, adding that the organization is funded solely by private donations with no monies from federal or state agencies.

"BIRTHRIGHT offers workable alternatives to abortion," said the director, adding that clients work with only one volunteer on a strictly confidential basis.

Mrs. Kathol said the service is offered to any girl or woman who finds herself in an unplanned or unwanted pregnancy.

"Birthright is for every woman who calls for help - whether it be only for an anonymous pregnancy test or for the full and helpful friendship through the months ahead," said Mrs. Kathol.

"If the client wants to give her baby up for adoption we will contact an adoption agency. We'll discuss any alternative to abortion.

"Birthright volunteers share every problem no matter how large or small."

Mrs. Kathol, along with two other volunteers in the Wayne office, donate their time and accept no fees for their services.

BIRTHRIGHT BEGAN in October of 1968 when Louise Summerhill, a Canadian housewife, addressed herself to the problems facing pregnant women who were being offered abortion as the only solution.

Believing that supportive concern and care were all that many women needed to bring their babies to term, Mrs. Summerhill started Birthright.

There are now more than 1,200 emergency pregnancy services on an international scale.

Mrs. Kathol said Birthright cares for all human life and makes no judgments as to the circumstance of the pregnancy.

"We don't ask when, or how, or why," she said, "only what can we do for the client and her baby?"

MRS. KATHOL became associated with Birthright in 1975 as a volunteer in the Grand Island office.

"I saw an announcement in the church bulletin asking for volunteers," she recalls. "So I volunteered."

When the family moved to Norfolk in 1977, Mrs. Kathol helped organize a Birthright office there, which opened in February of 1978. She also served as a member of the board of directors.

Mrs. Kathol said the age of clients varies in each office according to the needs of the area.

While the majority of clients in Grand Island were teenagers, Mrs. Kathol said clients in the Norfolk office ranged from their teens to their mid 40's.

There are 11 Birthright offices located throughout Nebraska, including Bartlett, Creighton, Ewing, Hastings, Lincoln, Norfolk, O'Neill, Scottsbluff, Sidney, Stuart and Wayne.

"Locations of the offices are determined by the demand in the area," Mrs. Kathol pointed out.

MRS. KATHOL said plans to open a Birthright office in Wayne began formulating in 1981 when she was approached by state director Rita Walsh of Norfolk.

Mrs. Kathol had been working as a satellite volunteer for the Norfolk Birthright organization since the family's move to Wayne in 1979.

A charter for the Wayne organization was granted from Birthright's home office in Canada and Mrs. Kathol began searching for office space in the community.

While speaking at a meeting of St. Mary's Guild in Wayne, Mrs. Kathol and state director Walsh expressed their desire to establish a local center.

Office space at Providence Medical Center was acquired through the efforts of Rose Rieken, a member of St. Mary's Guild, and Sister Gertrude, pastoral advisor at PMC.

OFFICE HOURS are 7 to 8:30 p.m. each Tuesday and Thursday, and 2 to 4 p.m. on Saturday.

Mrs. Kathol said a crisis telephone line, 375-2150, is open 24 hours a day. Money to install the telephone emergency line was donated by the Knights of Columbus.

"That's what is keeping us going right now," said Mrs. Kathol, adding that more donations are needed.

Persons who would like to volunteer their time or donate to Birthright are asked to call 375-2150 or send their donations to Birthright of Wayne, P.O. Box 126.

Phil Martin hit a sacrifice fly to bring in the winning run.

Both teams duled for the lead in the first inning, putting two runs each on the board, but O'Neill took the lead in the third by adding two additional runs to Laurel's one.

Laurel gained steam as the game progressed and scratched out a win by gaining one run each in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings.

Laurel's defense threw out three O'Neill runners at the plate including Dennis Martinson's throw to home in the fourth.

In the bottom of the sixth, Laurel's insurance run came from Brian Marquardt when he doubled off the left field fence with two outs. Mike Jonas followed to gain an RBI with a single down the left field line.

Brian Marquardt and Robson led the team in scoring with two runs each.

Wayne State names baseball lettermen

The Wildcats ended their 1982 season with a 20-21 record, which included trips to both the Central States Intercollegiate Conference and the NAIA Area III championships. The squad will be losing four seniors, but has a strong group of 16 returning letterwinners for the 1983 season.

Meyer, catcher from Wayne. Bill Schwartz, first baseman from Wayne. Dale Hensley, second baseman from Shenandoah, Iowa; and Ken Murcek, outfielder from Omaha.

The crop of juniors earning letters included Craig Gentzler, centerfielder from Plainview, Randy Heying, shortstop from Granville, Iowa; Craig Ladwig, outfielder from Omaha, Chico Mason, second baseman from Pittsburgh, Pa.; Vic Sharpe, pitcher from Wayne, Tom Todd, outfielder from Vineland, N.J.; and Rocky Thompson, pitcher and Joe Olsen, pitcher from Laurel.

Craig Ladwig topped the Wildcat batting column with a .360 average and led the team in both hits (40) and runs scored (28). Teammate Mike Meyer posted a .355 average followed by Gregg Cruickshank with a .337 percentage.

At the top of the pitching staff was Dan Hilgenkamp, who posted a 2-4 record and a 3.73 earned run average in 12 games. Following him was Randy Frink, who pitched in nine games for a 1-4 record and a 6.02 earned run average.

Camel defends crown in Omaha

Omaha's first major ring attraction since 1972, a June 30 Civic Auditorium event, will headline the first World Boxing Commission cruiserweight champion, Montana's Marvin Camel, in a 12-round defense of his United States Boxing Association crown.

Camel will face an impressive challenger from light heavyweight ranks, Leo Rogers of New York, on the same canvas turf that recorded the TKO defeat of the "Council Bluffs Butcher," Ron Stander, in his 1972 try at World Heavyweight Champion Joe Frazier. Rogers is ranked 10th in the WBC.

Camel, at 31 a determined stalker of the WBC crown he failed to recapture in bowing to Carlos DeLeon last February in Atlantic City in a 7th round TKO because of a cut over one eye, will encounter a seasoned ring foe in Rogers, who holds the Dominican Republic light heavyweight title and is New York State light heavyweight champion.

THE MONTANA title defender, from Black and Salish-Koofnal heritage, will meet the Rogers challenge carrying a string of 40 wins, including 18 knockouts, four losses—two at the hands of the cruiserweight champion, DeLeon—and two draws.

A classic confrontation in the new ring division, 176 to 195 pounds, is promised when the USBA cruiserweight title holder faces a first invasion of the new division by the New York light heavyweight who has logged 17 knockouts in 26 wins against 6 losses.

Rogers, managed by Rob Yorey, will go into his first cruiserweight fight with solid ring experience, including action as Michael Spinks' sparring partner. He has shared preliminary billing on boxing cards headlining Spinks.

The Omaha boxing highlight, scheduled to get under way at 8 p.m., will feature a preliminary non-pitting top area talent in five four to eight-round contests.

Camel gained his USBA crown by defeating Bash Ali in the fall of 1981. He faces the June 30 challenge with an impressive amateur record book of 140 wins in 180 encounters.

THE MATCHMAKER promotion assignment for the 11th fight is being handled by a veteran in the field, Bill Engel of South Sioux City. In Camel's corner on fight night will be Bill Pranzant of Don King Productions.

Camel secured the first cruiserweight title in a round-robin test in which he defeated Bill Sharkey and David Cabrera, then fought Mate Parlov to a draw in Yugoslavia. The title was cemented for Camel three months later with a unanimous decision over Parlov in March, 1980, in Las Vegas.

Camel, with the blessing of his St. Louis City manager, Fred Harbeck, has proposed a winner-take-all game plan in an effort to entice shy and nervous competitors into the ring and speed the return trip to WBC title ownership. To help the inducement to reluctant adversaries, Harbeck has proposed raising a $25,000 kitty. "This ought to make them fight us," he said.

The defending champion, ranked sixth in WBC ratings, has programmed a busy workout schedule for the remaining days before the June 30 clash. He will be working out at 1 p.m. each day at a ring set up at the Fox Hotel Bar, 2501 Leavenworth, with an open invitation to the general public and any sparring partner volunteers.

Omaha boxers headlining the five preliminary bouts are Jerry Banks, managed by Harlan Cooper, co-director of the Great Plains Golden Gloves Association, and John Gatus, former Golden Gloves champion. Raphael Valdez, another Omaha competitor who will appear on the Camel card, is managed by Bruce Strauss.

Tickets are priced at $30, $20, $15 and $10. Reservations may be made now, with other sale locations to be announced.

Laurel coach resigns

Laurel High School athletic director and coach Joel Parks has submitted his resignation to the Laurel Board of Education.

Parks, who has taught science and physical education at Laurel the past 13 years, has also served as head boys basketball coach the past 11 years and athletic director for five years.

He has signed a contract to be head boys basketball coach and activities director at Columbus Lakeview High School in Columbus.

His resignation at Laurel is effective immediately.

A NATIVE of Pawnee City, the 34 year old Parks began teaching at Laurel following his graduation from Wayne State College in 1969.

His family includes his wife Kathryn, daughter Alisha, who will be four years old next month, and two-year-old son Ehren.

"Laurel has been very good to me and I will leave with only the fondest of memories," said Parks.

"It's not an easy thing to decide to leave, but it's an opportunity that if I don't take advantage of now I may never have again," he added.

A REPLACEMENT for Parks is expected to be discussed at the July meeting of the Laurel Board of Education.

Actually, business owners and clerks were dressed for annual Moonlight Madness, when hundreds of shoppers come to town to take advantage of special sales offered by each merchant. Mrs. Dick Metteer, top photo at left, finds it hard to suppress a giggle as she is helped by Mine's Jewelry Store owner Gary Van Meter. May 1982

Climatic summary for Nebraska

May was a very wet month in most of Nebraska according to climatologists at the Center for Agricultural Meteorology and Climatology. Climatologically speaking, we expect from 10 to 12 days in May when the measured precipitation at a station is 0.01 inches or greater.

In May 1982 we have to look hard to find a few sites in the western half of the state that received measurable precipitation on 12 or fewer days. Most stations reported .01 inch or more on 13 to 19 days. A few sites in the eastern one-third of the state received measurable amounts on 20 to 23 days.

TEMPERATURES averaged 1 to 3 degrees below normal in the southwestern half of Nebraska and near normal to 2 degrees above normal in the northeastern half of the state.

Extreme high temperatures ranged from the low 80s up to the highest recorded of 91 degrees on May 3 at Merriman in northwestern Cherry County. The hottest day was recorded at most stations during the first ten days of the month.

Extreme low temperatures varied greatly. The lowest reported was 14 degrees on May 6 at Agate 3E in Sioux County. Lows in the panhandle and northern part of Cherry County and surrounding counties to the south and west were in the 20s to low 30s. Other areas in the state reported lows in the 30s and 40s. Extreme lows at most sites generally occurred on May 1, 6 or 7.

VALENTINE received 48% of the possible amount of sunshine; Lincoln, 37%; Omaha, 28%; and North Platte, 62%. The sunshine received at Omaha was the least amount received of any May since records began there in 1897. At Lincoln only one May (1935) received less sunshine since records began in 1905, with 31% of the possible amount of sunshine.

The frequent precipitation caused lowland flooding at some sites, but the low rainfall rates permitted sufficient runoff or soil infiltration in all but a few instances. New May precipitation records that are known by the time of this report include: Albion, 9.25 inches; Nebraska City, 11.51 inches; Valentine Lakes Game Refuge, 8.96 inches and Wayne, 10.58 inches.

Divisional precipitation for May was far above normal. Cumulative precipitation for the period April through May shows that all divisions were above normal except the Panhandle Division which was 7% below normal.

FERTILIZING SUDAN GRASS

Sudan grass or hybrid Sudan usually require fertilizer for good forage yields. It is best to base the fertilizer recommendations on a soil test. However, 60 to 90 pounds of nitrogen are usually needed. If the soil is known to be low or very low in available phosphorus, use 20 to 40 pounds of phosphate per acre.

WHEEL SLIPPAGE

Some farmers may be spending as much as $2 an hour for fuel that is wasted because of excessive wheel slippage. Slippage can be caused by worn tires or inadequate wheel weight. For heavy pulling, tractors should be weighted to use the maximum drawbar horsepower.

Weight controls slippage, and the greater ballast or weight, the less slippage occurs. Even under ideal conditions a tractor delivers only about 70 percent of its horsepower at the drawbar. On a 150 horsepower tractor, slippage could knock the total efficiency down to 55 percent, a drop of 33 horsepower. This amounts to two gallons of fuel wasted per hour.

Careful attention to tire size, wear and proper wheel weights for different soils can save wasted fuel.

Slippage can be determined for any type of drawbar load by marking the tire and then driving ahead for 10 tire revolutions. Then take the implement out of the ground and run the tractor the same distance as before. Estimate the last revolution closely and then calculate the percentage of slip by subtracting the no-load revolutions from 10. Then divide this figure by 10. Multiplying the result by 100 will give the percentage of slippage.

For example, if the no-load revolutions are 8.5, the percentage of slip would be 15 percent. Between 10 and 15 percent slippage is the proper amount. If the percentage of slip is 0.5 percent, remove weight. If it is above 20 percent, add weight!

It is also important to remember that a towed implement, because the mounted implement acts as additional ballast.

RABBITS IN THE GARDEN

Several gardeners have been asking this spring what to do about rabbits that eat garden vegetables. Here are a couple of ways to control rabbits in gardens: 1) Fence them out. 2) Use repellents.

The most effective and long-lasting method is to fence the rabbits out of the garden. Use a one-inch mesh fence at least 24 inches high; woven wire or poultry netting works well. The lower edge should be staked to the ground or slightly buried to prevent rabbits from squeezing under. The fence can be stored in the fall and reused for several years.

Repellents can help, but their effectiveness varies depending on the amount of alternate foods available to the rabbits, rainfall and other factors.

Mexican fruit fly is not established

U.S. Department of Agriculture plant health officials have said the Mexican fruit fly larvae found in citrus shipped from Mexico to California earlier this month are not signs that California is infested.

"There is no evidence that the Mexican fruit fly is established in California," said Greg Rohrer, an official with USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service. "These are isolated finds in a single shipment of fruit from Mexico."

The Mexican fruit fly damages a wide variety of fruits — among citrus. It prefers grapefruit, Rohrer said. It is found mainly in Mexico and Central America, and host fruit imported from these countries must first undergo treatment.

Rohrer said the worry fruit had been treated and USDA is working with Mexican officials to determine what corrective action may need to be taken to prevent a repeat of the incident. He said it is possible for larvae to survive for a time even in properly treated fruit, but the larvae will not grow to maturity, and therefore could not start a new infestation.

More Valley Corner Systems every year,

because it's the least costly investment per acre.

It's going to be harder to make farming pay off in the years to come. Harder for many reasons. So if anything makes sense, it's to maximize the potential of the land you now farm. Irrigating with a center pivot is one way. Irrigating with a Corner System is even better.

A Corner System can irrigate 19 to 45 more acres than a regular pivot, producing extra income on acres already being farmed. That's why nearly one out of every six pivots sold today is a Corner System.

And when it comes to Corner Systems, nobody knows more than Valmont. They're proven reliable with nearly 3,000 systems in operation. That's at least 20 times more than any other brand.

Before you buy any center pivot, see us. We'll tell you how a Valley Corner System can add to your bottom line profits while being the least costly investment per acre.

Valley Irrigation is the Best.

Only fraction of costs reported under law

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association
According to spending reports filed by legislative lobbyists, a fight over ownership of cable television franchises was among the most costly of the 1982 legislative session.

is interested in providing the service in some of the 24 communities to which it supplies electricity.
FIGHTING THE BILL was the Nebraska Cable Communications Association, which reported lobbying expenditures of $3,895. The association comprises private cable firms who oppose the potential competition from Loup and other entities.

Reported expenses do suggest something about the relative efforts by interest groups in trying to influence legislation.
In 1982, the cost of the cable fight was right up there with the multibank holding company fight, an issue which — year-in and year-out — is probably the costliest.

toral politics these days:
The 16 women who filed for Legislature prior to the 1982 primary election represent the highest total at least since 1960, and probably ever.
—Women represented 21 percent of all legislative candidates who filed this year, compared with 30 percent of all legislative candidates during the 1970s.

The women who are running this year are Bev Laing, Sen. Carol Pirsch, Jan Harrington and Gayle Stock, all of Omaha; Shirley Schmidt of Arlington; Doris Marxhausen of Seward; Patricia Morehead of Beatrice; Sen. Sharon Apking of Alexandria; Lorraine Langford of Kearney; Phyllis Person Lyons of McCook, and Corinne Jochum of North Platte.

While the proposal was getting swamped by nearly 2-to-1 statewide voters in Butler County approved it with 55 percent of their vote.
Sen. Loran Schmitl of Bellwood lives in and represents Butler County. Maybe the reason that the amendment passed there is Schmitl's legendary appetite for long workdays during the session. Butler countyans sometime see him — or at least hear about him — passing through town as early as 5 a.m. on his way to the Capitol.

Future Shock...

In 1974, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce came up with a set of predictions about inflation. Based on continued deficit spending and inflation, the dollar, which had shrunk in value by $.60 in purchasing power from 1946 to $1.40 in 1974, would further shrink to $.16 in purchasing power by the year 2002.

"Well, we are often accused of being alarmists and in fact our chief economist at that time did get a chuckle out of such speculation," recalled senior economist Martin Lefkowitz.

What did happen?
Well, the $.40 dollar of 1974 is now worth $.20. Federal spending in fiscal year 1983 may be kept down to $785 billion. The federal debt, based on optimistic forecasts, will be $1.2 trillion by the end of fiscal year 1983.

So what of the year 2002? If things continue the way they have gone from 1974 to 1982, here are the Chamber's revised predictions. In 2002, the 1946 dollar will be worth $.04; a $68,000 house will cost $363,000; the federal budget, which grew at a 13.3 percent annual rate from 1974 to 1982, will be $8.8 trillion and the federal debt will be $9.5 trillion.

Don't forget, you read it here first.

Zorinsky supports bill to lift IRS roadblocks

Senator Edward Zorinsky has cosponsored legislation that makes it easier for the Internal Revenue Service to cooperate in criminal investigations of narcotics traffickers and organized crime figures.
The bill, introduced by Georgia Senator Sam Nunn, removes roadblocks that have made it more difficult in recent years for the FBI, Drug Enforcement Administration and other federal agencies to obtain tax return information on criminal suspects.

Warns of witch doctor cures

The inclination among most members of Congress to raise taxes in a recession reminds me of the witch doctor who tried to cure a skin rash by boiling the patient in oil.
In fact, the current budget deficit is like a rash — a very visible and troublesome sign of deeper ailments. In the case of our economy, those ailments which caused the deficit problem are too little economic growth and too much government growth.

SCHOOL BOARD
Staffing the lower elementary grades received considerable attention at the Monday, June 14, Wakefield Board of Education meeting. Superintendent Derwood Hartman have five separate proposals but with current students, members did recommend one plan.
The plan consists of one kindergarten section to be held in the afternoon. There would be a first grade section, a first and second grade combination room, a second grade section and one third grade section to be divided between Mrs. Janelle Eaton and Mrs. Mildred Brownell in the morning. In the afternoon, Mrs. Janelle Eaton and Mrs. Brownell would have adult aides working with them.
Also discussed during the meeting was to have the school board budget and policy committees have meetings before the regular July meeting and then report to the board New Legislation (LB259), bus mileage report, summer baseball program, lunch room staffing, milk bids for the 1983 school year, non residents tuition, school insurance and roofing needs on the elementary building.
Blue Bunny's milk bid of 11.5 cents per carton for white milk and 11.9 for chocolate milk was accepted by the board for the 1983 school year.
The board also voted to participate in the federal lunch program for the 1982-83 school year and will discuss lunch and milk prices at the August board meeting.

The successful teaching of Miss Ellen Studer was acknowledged by the school board. This is one step in obtaining a new teaching certificate.

Special loans are available

Guaranteed Graduated payment mortgages (GPM) are now available with lower downpayments for new home purchases, according to the Veterans Administration.

James C. Smith, Director of the VA regional office, Lincoln, said the new program is part of the Veterans' disability compensation, housing and memorial benefits amendments passed by Congress last year.

Under the graduated payment mortgage program, monthly payments are lower for the first few years than the corresponding monthly payments on a traditional mortgage for the same amount. Also, in a GPM mortgage, a portion of the interest due on the loan each month is deferred and added to the principal balance of the loan during the early years. In a traditional mortgage, all the interest and a portion of the principal are scheduled to be paid each month.

SMITH SAID THAT AFTER a set number of years, the payments become a constant amount for the duration of the loan. From that point on, each scheduled loan payment includes all of the interest due plus a portion of the principal, as in a traditional mortgage.

He said that the VA will guarantee only those GPMs which feature annual payment increases of 7.5 percent, implemented on each annual anniversary date of the loan, for the first five years.

On new homes, the downpayment with such a mortgage may be as low as 2.5 percent, of the sales price or reasonable value of the property, whichever is lower, he said.

DEAN BILLSTEIN of KTCH radio was on hand to record Julie Dangberg's voice as she read her promotion for 4-H Ponca Day Camp.

Club records tapes

The 4-H Ambassador Club is trying a new public relations angle for 4-H. Members of the club made a number of radio spots, each about 30 seconds long, publicizing several different 4-H events in the area.

Individuals met in the Chamber of Commerce meeting room on Tuesday to record their tapes, publicizing judging contests, demonstration contests, Ponca day camp, County Fair and other events.

ROGER TOOMEY, Chamber of Commerce manager, is in charge of the program. He presented a speech workshop earlier this year for Wayne County 4-Hers and helped with the tapes on Tuesday. Toomey has had training in both radio and speech.

Wayne County Extension Agent, Dan C. Spitzo, helped members write their own scripts and provided training on making a tape. Individual spot recordings were later made for a radio broadcasting station.

THE 4-H AMBASSADOR Club consists of 4-Hers that received a purple ribbon at the county Timely Topic Speech Contest this year. Members are Camela Behmer, Vicki Frevert, Brian Schmidt, Vinl Johar, Lori Sorenson, Julie Dangberg, Greg Schmidt, Steve Rethwisch, Karen Sandahl and Anne Sorenson.

The radio spots will be broadcast prior to each upcoming event over KTCH radio.

KEM SWARTS, AN ATTORNEY at law from Wayne, is cast in the role of a judge during a workshop sponsored by Wayne State College. The week-long workshop, entitled "Teacher's Workshop: Law Related Education," was offered primarily but not exclusively to teachers. The course was intended to send teachers back to the classroom with a knowledge of the legal system.

Lawyers teach teachers at Wayne State Workshop

"It is critical Americans know about our legal system — most citizens are ignorant of it unless they have been involved in it usually as a victim," said Don Young about a week-long course just completed on the Wayne State College campus. Young is the coordinator for law-related education for the Nebraska State Bar Association. He spent June 14 to June 18 at Wayne State heading the course "Teacher's Workshop: Law Related Education."

The workshop faculty consisted of Young; Harriet Joseph, attorney at law, involved heavily in law-related education, from Philadelphia, Pa.; Michael Brogan, an attorney at law from Norfolk; and Allen O'Donnell, associate professor of political science at Wayne State.

NUMEROUS AREA lawyers and others in the U.S. legal system also lent their expertise to the workshop. They included Robert Spire, president of the Nebraska State Bar Association; the Honorable James Duggin, judge from Madison County; Robert Ensz, an attorney at law from Wayne; Kem Swarts, an attorney at law from Wayne; Thomas Brogan, an attorney at law from Norfolk; Richard Stafford, an attorney at law from Norfolk; Richard Krepela, an attorney at law and Madison County attorney from Norfolk; Sgt. Ken Waters from the Norfolk Police Department; Ross Stoffer, an attorney at law from Norfolk; John Gerrard, an attorney at law from Norfolk; and David Battialo, a student from the University of Nebraska College of Law.

A TOTAL OF 28 students enrolled in the workshop, aimed to provide basic information about American law and the legal system primarily but not exclusively to teachers.

The goal of the workshop is to send teachers back to the classroom with a knowledge of the legal system so that they can pass the knowledge on to their students.

"It is critical for students to see the need for law, and its importance," Young said.

THIS IS THE first year such a course has been offered at Wayne
