Real estate market reviewed by the local housing experts

Now is the best time to buy a home or get into the housing market, according to the people in the know in Wayne, those involved in residential real estate.

Even with high interest rates at the lending institutions, deals are being made and, in some cases, they really are deals.

According to a spokesman for one real estate firm, prices of homes have dropped considerably from what they were three years ago. Houses that were selling for $40,000 or more have dropped to the $30,000 range for a variety of reasons.

People moving and forced to lower the price is the most common reason cited by Wayne's real estate people for the drop in prices and most do admit that the sellers are the ones hurting.

John Dorcay of Century 21 said, "You have to look at the market. By that I mean what people not only are willing to pay for a home and what the seller needs to get back, but what type of financing is available for the purchase."

With interest rates running around 16 percent in most cases for home buying, it's taking a lot of creative, hustling people to straddle the fence between the buyers and sellers.

Working closely with the lending institutions in Wayne, real estate people have come up with several different financing routes, due solely in most cases, to the high interest rates.

"With the high fluctuations of the interest rates, the days of home loans with fixed interest rates are probably gone," according to local banker Bill Dickey of Wayne's First National. "More and more you will see the variable interest rates coming into play."

Dorcay said "financing is the key to getting into the market these days or in changing times."

Variable interest rates allow the buyer to renegotiate the loan, in some cases as quickly as on a quarterly basis. Although the change means a lot of paper work and time, in some cases it can provide a hefty savings.

"Look," said Roger Boyce of Wayne's State National Bank, "with interest rates up about 16 percent, if you drop to 12 percent on a 25 to 30 year mortgage the savings, on a $50,000 home could be just that, $50,000." No wonder people are getting creative.

Investors
So fast was way has been devised that a couple of Wayne's real estate firms have been able to employ — investor's real estate using co-owners.

"With co-owner ship there is an investor involved for a variety of reasons, most commonly it seems because of taxes," said Darrell Fuetberth of the ERA property exchange.

"Say for instance, a young couple wish to purchase a home but lack the necessary financial basis. Maybe their parents or other family members, due to their higher incomes, need some kind of tax break."

In this type of financing, involving either family or an outside investor, actual contracts are signed, insuring that the investor will gain some of the benefit of the ownership for tax purposes.

Often people find that dealing with family is easier when it comes to the ultimate "pay-off" terms, but that's not always the case.

Basically, Fuetberth said, both parties benefit from the contract arrangement — the investor gets what they are after, either for investment or tax purposes and the buyer gains a home that they would otherwise be unable to afford.

Seller's Help
Dorcay pointed out that there are also several ways to get into the home ownership market or to change homes with the help of seller financing.

In a sort of wrapping fashion, Dorcay said in the cases of someone seeking a new home, the buyer will take out a mortgage on the new home with the seller taking out a second mortgage on the buyer's present home until it is sold. In some recent cases there has been 7 percent money available.

"It's a little bit tougher for the first time home buyers, not only in Wayne but anywhere," Dorcay said. "In most cases family help is needed. But if the seller is willing to help, if you can afford it and financing can be worked out, which in most cases it can, I still think now is the best market time to purchase a home."

That remark was heard time and time again, but whether it's a "buyer's market" or not is a matter of debate. Even though sellers may have lowered their price from three years ago, many observers feel it reflects a price that's more in line with the actual market in Wayne.

A recent United States Supreme Court ruling, which made the headlines in newspapers and in the broadcast media, supposedly closed the door on one avenue of financing which allowed the transfer of a mortgage from the present holder to the buyer of a home.

As Dorcay and other agents explained, it was not as complicated as the news media led people to believe, rather it was a clarification on the part of the Supreme Court.

"All if (the opinion) said was that the "due on sale" clause written into the loan contracts was good. The loan institution can force the seller to pay the loan off when the house is sold. It has been before most state courts across the country and it has been handled this way for years. Finally someone took it too the Supreme Court and they have said yes, you may enforce the clause if you so desire."

Payment Changes
Barring a court fight and added cost, there is another avenue gaining in popularity for the purchase of a home.

Graduated payments, an idea that came out of late 1960's and early 1970's, is now being employed in a number of home purchases.

"What it means," explained Fuetberth, "is that when you start out buying a home, most people have lower incomes, so the payments are lower. As the income rises over time, so do the payments. It's as simple as that."

As in most cases, people agree the days of the "conventional" loan are gone. "The people who got in on those are lucky," said Boyce. "Most of today's people weren't in the market then."

What has been the result is interim financing.

Balloon Payments
This usually involves a balloon payment, said Dickey.

He explained that the interim loan process involves two parts — the monthly payments and the ultimate payment.

"When it is set up, the loan on the home is actually figured as a conventional mortgage, with monthly payments amounting to what they would if the purchasers were agreeing to a 25 to 30 year mortgage. What is signed however is generally a five year loan agreement with the buyer agreeing to pay off the balance of the loan at the end of five years. That's the balloon, the balance of the loan."

Dickey said if the loan had been figured on a five year basis instead of 25 to 30 years, "there would be no way most people could afford the monthly payments."

So what happens at the end of the five year period? Is the purchase required to come up with the balance of the loan, when even the interest is barely paid off after five years? No — in the majority of cases there is a clause in the contract that the entire agreement may be refinanced.

Lowering The Rate
Another type of financing that has proved helpful in Wayne is called a buy-down arrangement.

When many people want to get into the market, they may be able to afford a mortgage at 12 percent, but not at 16 percent.

Using the buy-down arrangement, the seller agrees to pay the necessary interest rate down to a level that the buyer can afford. If the rate is at 16 percent and the buyer can afford only 12 percent, the seller will provide funds to cover the 4 percent difference.

Usually the agreement lasts only a few years until the buyer's income rises and they are able to take over the full loan's interest requirements.

Another traditional method still in use in some cases is a contract purchase. Generally the seller is not under a mortgage agreement with a loan institution, they own the home. In addition, most real estate people agree that in order for the contract to work, the seller must need the cash for the price of the home in a lump sum.

This may be due to tax purposes or to provide a steady monthly income for the seller. Of course the seller, in the contract case, usually also owns an additional home.

Finally there is the government guaranteed financing route through Farmer's Home Administration or the Veterans Administration. In most cases, when money is available, these loans are made at a lower than market interest rate. The loans, in some cases, may be assumed by the buyer from the seller.

All in all the main problem home buyers and sellers face is financing but as Fuetberth said, "There are a number of ways around the 16 percent or 17 percent interest rates. Very few people end up paying this amount."

Evaluation of ESU completed

An internal evaluation of Educational Service Unit One, launched last year by the unit's board of directors, was accepted by the board during their meeting this month.

The evaluation, which took nearly a year to complete by Waldo Johnson and Dr. Arnold Emry, was a top-to-bottom evaluation of the unit which also included the board of directors.

Johnson and Dr. Emry, both of Wayne, agreed to serve as co-chairmen for the evaluation during the June, 1981 meeting of the ESU.

Johnson, now retired, is a former superintendent of Wausa School District. Dr. Emry, a professor of education at Wayne State College, is a former instructor and principal in the Alton schools.

The following areas were covered in the evaluation: general administration, including the ESU's board of directors and administrators; school district administrators; psychological services; speech and hearing services; resource teacher services; nursing services; media services and special education services.

The evaluation followed these steps: describe the current situation, evaluate the current situation; identify practices for commendation; identify concerns and make recommendations for change.

The evaluation was based, in part, on questionnaires, record inspections and interviews with parents, school district personnel and ESU personnel.

What follows is a summary of the commendations, concerns and recommendations for several areas of the ESU as presented in the evaluation.

General Administration
Commendations were issued for the general administration in the areas of meeting attendance, services provided and the quality of the staff.

Concerns however included one for better supervision of ESU personnel and inadequate communication between the ESU administration and personnel.

The evaluation team also focused attention on poor communication between the administration and the board of directors and noted that board meetings need better planning and organization.

There were nine recommendation points made in this section of the evaluation including the suggestion to schedule regular meetings around the unit so that more people may have the opportunity to attend.

Recommendations for the general administration area also include preparation of a philosophy for the service unit to aid in providing direction and goal formation; increased communication and planning between the administrator and the board; setting up evaluation procedures for the administrator and service unit employees.

Administrators Concerns
Following a survey of school administrators and ESU staff members, recommendations in the evaluation include that a concerted effort should be made to improve the communications between the service unit and those it serves.

Concerns included the feeling that most of the people in the school districts served by the ESU are not informed about the unit and its services.

There also appears, according to the evaluation, more work to do than the existing traveling staff members can handle. Also, some school administrators expressed concern about the lack of supervision given to the employees who travel.

Commendations included the high value most schools place on the services provided to handicapped students. ESU staff members are also reported to be well qualified and very cooperative. The cooperative purchase program, according to the evaluation, has also permitted schools to save considerable amounts of money.

Psychological Services
For psychological services, recommendations included the need to expand the amount of communication between the ESU and area schools regarding procedures, job responsibilities, expectations and scheduling of psychologists.

Also recommended was a study of the utilization of staff time and case load needs in order to determine if any additional personnel are needed.

Concerns centered around the psychologists' heavy case loads, involvement between psychologists and parents and evaluations of the effectiveness of the psychologist's work.

Commendations included the staff's quality of performance in view of case overloads.

Speech & Hearing
For the speech and hearing service, recommendations included an inservice workshop to be offered and designed to provide additional training for teachers in identifying the speech and hearing needs of students.

Periodic meetings with supervisors throughout the year with staff members followed by at least one written evaluation report each year was recommended following a staff request for more supervision, especially from first year employees.

Commendations for the staff members included their cooperative manner, the quality of their training and a good variety of materials and equipment used by the staff.

Resource Teachers
Having an on-going program of supervision from the ESU director throughout the entire year was one of the recommendations made in the evaluation concerning the resource teachers service.

The recommendation includes visiting and observing teachers on the job, having individual conferences, group meetings with all of the resource teachers and a conference with the school administrator where the teacher works.

Concerns expressed in the evaluation concerning the resource teacher service include a lack of formal evaluation procedures. There is also a desire for more inservice for the school personnel to be held right in the local school. Some teachers felt

Dog Days are scheduled

Special sales have been scheduled by Wayne merchants for next Saturday, July 24, when Dog Days comes to Wayne.

Many items will be on sale during the day long event in Wayne stores and special advertised special will appear in next Thursday's Wayne Herald.

A SIGN THAT IS being seen more and more in not only Wayne but in communities across the country is the For Sale sign in front of homes. Even with today's creative financing techniques, many people are unable to buy a new home or sell their present home due to a lack of lending money from many financial institutions.

Bridal gowns modeled at Dixon

Over 30 bridal gowns were modeled during a generation party Thursday afternoon, July 8, sponsored by the Dixon United Methodist Women's Society. Approximately 60 guests attended the occasion, which is held every three years. The guests came from California, Hinton, Iowa, Omaha, Lincoln, Fremont, Norfolk, Wayne, Allen, Concord, Ponca and Laurel. Mrs. Clayton Stingley welcomed the guests. Following scripture reading and prayer, the group sang "O Perfect Love."

Dresses which were modeled included the wedding gown of Jessie Hinds, worn on April 22, 1886 for her marriage to William Hall. The gown was modeled by Mrs. Brad Penlerick. Mrs. Penlerick also modeled the dress made and worn by Mrs. F. M. Noe for her brother's wedding in 1909. Also worn during the show by Tami Jewell was the dress worn by her great grandmother, Mrs. Nina (Weston) Patfield about 1910. The latest fashion was the wedding dress worn by Lisa (Dennis) Abler for her wedding on June 27, 1981. The dress was modeled by Dori Alvin. Mrs. Anderson Kwankin modeled the sari she wore on her wedding day in Dogadda, India on Jan. 25, 1960. Several baby dresses and women's hats of yesterday were displayed, along with wedding pictures. Among those attending the program were two four-generation groups. One group included Alice Chamber, Mrs. Aaron Arntfield, Mrs. Paul Paulman and Roger, all of Omaha. Another group was comprised of Mrs. Newell Stanley, Mrs. Gerald Stanley, Mrs. Jerry Stanley, Peggy and Jason. Also attending were several three-generation groups. Lunch was served at the close of the afternoon.

Receiving gifts were Elsie McCaw, the oldest charter member present; Mrs. John Thomson, the oldest member present; and Mrs. Clarence McCaw for being the hostess and holding office 14 times during the club's history. Frances Noe won the prize for having the most pictures (29) of her grandchildren in her purse. The program also included a "do you remember when..." Mrs. Gerete Kavanaugh and Mrs. Doeschner received game prizes, and Mrs. Doyle Kessinger received the door prize. A salad luncheon was served. Next regular meeting of the club will be in September.

Win moves Town Team closer to division title

Make 11 victories for the Wayne Town Team.

The first year members of the Tri-County League moved a step closer to an East Division championship in the league by flattening Wausa 10-0 Wednesday night at the Wayne city ball park.

The win improved Wayne's record to 11-1 with Laurel being the closest challenger in the East Division race. Those two teams are scheduled to meet in the final game of the regular season Sunday, Aug. 1 at Laurel.

The locals will have a chance to avenge their only loss on Wednesday (July 21) when they host Bloomfield. Other regularly scheduled league games: Sunday, July 25—Wayne at Hartington, Wednesday, July 28—Crofton at Wayne.

10-run triumph

Two runs in the eighth inning put an end to Wednesday's game as Wayne shut out Wausa 10-0 in East Division play, winning by the 10-run rule.

Wayne pitcher Joel Ankeny allowed only one hit through the first six innings—a single in the third. Wausa collected its other four hits in the seventh inning but failed to score.

One runner was thrown out in a rundown between first and second bases and the other three were stranded as the inning ended with bases loaded. Ankeny fanned nine strikeouts to post the win.

The hosts opened a 1-0 lead with two outs in the first inning. Bill Schwartz reached base on a Wausa error and swiped second base. Doug Starzl's RBI single produced the run.

The lead was stretched to 3-0 in the fourth as Wayne collected three hits. Mike Meyer led off with a base hit, Mark Ganseboom laid down a sacrifice bunt and Jeff Dion drove Meyer home with a single. Ankeny then helped his own cause by blasting a double to score Dion.

The sixth inning was enough to put Wausa away. Al Nissen ripped a home run to open the inning in style. Tim Pfeiffer reached base on an error and Dean Carroll brought him home with a base hit. Carroll was forced out at second on Ankeny's grounder but Neil Blohm and Dave Schwartz walked to load the bases.

Emerson is troubled by Pfeiffer

Todd Pfeiffer has a tradition of pitching his best against Emerson over the past several years. That's why it was no surprise when Pfeiffer stopped Emerson on one hit and one run, Thursday night.

Wayne's Legion held off to squeak by Emerson 2-1 in a Ralph Bishop League makeup game. The lone Emerson base hit was a double by Bob Utemark in the second inning.

The Wayne Legion played errorless baseball for the second time this season.

Pfeiffer and Paul Calvert were engaged in a pitcher's duel of the entire seven-inning game. Wayne collected only two hits—singles by Tim Heier and Jeff McCright.

Emerson left bases loaded in the second inning and finally scored in the sixth. Three walks and a squeeze bunt resulted in the only score.

Wayne also left bases loaded in the first inning and missed a couple of other scoring opportunities. In the third, Jim Sperry reached base on a fielder's choice and later scored on a sacrifice by McCright.

The hosts took a 2-0 lead when Sperry scored again in the fifth inning. He walked, took second base on a passed ball and came home on McCright's single. McCright had both RBIs in the game.

Emerson got one run back in the sixth but a Pfeiffer strikeout closed the inning with a runner on second base.

Wayne is scheduled to play at Wisner tonight (Monday) in a Midget-Legion

JEFF JORGENSEN beats the throw to score on a passed ball. Jorgensen's run was one of nine as the Wayne Midgets defeated Pender 9-5 Friday night in Ralph Bishop League play.

Midgets shake off bad inning; regain form in win over Pender

One sloppy inning resulted in five Pender runs and the Wayne Midgets had to dig in a little to earn a 9-5 Ralph Bishop League win Friday night at the Wayne city ball park. Pender doesn't have a Legion team.

In fashion similar to this season's first meeting between Wayne and Pender, the locals staked an early lead. With two outs in the first inning, Steve Overin singled and Kevin Maly reached base on an error which also scored Overin.

Todd Dorcey and Jeff Jorgensen drew walks and Maly scored on a passed ball. A base hit by Pete Warner drove in Dorcey and another single by Jeff Sherer brought in Jorgensen and Warner.

One big inning was all it took for Pender to tie the score. With two outs, three walks and a base hit put Wayne in danger. Another single, another walk and a fielder's choice resulted in a 5-5 tie.

Wayne regained its lead when Jeff Jorgensen scored in the bottom of the inning. He walked, moved to second on a near-perfect sacrifice bunt by Warner and then scored on a hit by Sherer.

A pair of runs in the fourth put the hosts on top 8-5. Overin stroked a single and stole second base. Maly struck out but the third strike got away from the catcher. He overthrew first base and Maly moved to second as Overin came home.

Maly moved to third on a passed ball and scored on an infield grounder by Jorgensen. Sherer scored Wayne's final run when he walked, stole second base, moved to third on a passed ball and came home on a passed ball in the fourth inning.

Rick Nelson and R.J. Metteer teamed up to pitch a three-hitter for the winners. Nelson pitched the first two innings, Metteer pitched for two outs in the third and Nelson finished up.

Offensively, Overin was 4-for-4 with two runs and Sherer was 2-for-2 with a run. Warner and Maly each had a hit and Maly scored two runs while Warner scored one. Wayne, which was scheduled to host Lyons yesterday (Sunday) in a Midget-Legion double-header, will play at Wisner tonight (Monday) in Ralph Bishop League competition.

Midget rally is killed in defensive ball game

Bob Utemark threw his most important strike of the night when the pressure was on as Emerson's Midgets edged Wayne 2-1 Thursday night in a Ralph Bishop League play at the Wayne city ball park.

Don Larsen was at the plate with two outs and a no-ball, two-strike count in the bottom of the sixth and final inning. Wayne trailed 2-1 with Chris Wieseler on third base and Steve Overin on second.

As Utemark started his windup, Wieseler broke for home plate. He slid safely across the plate just as the pitch sailed into the catcher's mitt. Unfortunately for him, the pitch was a called strike and the game was over.

Emerson's two runs were both scored in the first inning off of starting pitcher Rick Nelson. The visitors collected a double and two singles and took advantage of an error.

In the bottom of the inning, Randy Gamble drew a walk for the hosts. Three passed balls allowed him to score.

Emerson threatened again in the second, when three consecutive walks loaded the bases. Overin came in to relieve Nelson and retired the next two batters to get out of the jam. He checked the visitors on one hit the rest of the way.

Wayne placed another runner in scoring position in the fourth inning but Kevin Maly was stranded on second base. In the fifth, Todd Dorcey singled, moved to second on an error and then to third on a sacrifice by Jeff Jorgensen. However, two strikeouts ended the threat.

Wayne pulled off a nice double play in the fifth inning. With a runner on second base, an Emerson batter hit the ball back to the mound. Overin saw the runner going and fired to third. He was tagged out in a rundown and the batter was thrown out trying to reach second during the action.

Bases loaded

The hosts really challenged Emerson in the sixth inning but came up empty-handed. Randy Gamble's bloop single started things off. A ground ball by Wieseler was booted by the second baseman and the runners moved to second and third on a passed ball. Utemark walked Overin to load the bases.

Gamble tried to score from third on a fly ball by Kevin Maly but strong-armed center fielder Dean Fuscher stepped in front of the left fielder to make the catch and fired the ball home. Gamble was tagged out as the other runners advanced.

Utemark then threw three strikes to record the game's final out as Wieseler tried to steal home. The Emerson pitcher fired a two-hitter and recorded 11 strikeouts.

Wayne is scheduled to play a Midget-Legion double-header tonight (Monday) at Wisner.

Shattering hit

THIS BROKEN car windshield was NOT the result of vandalism. Instead, the window was broken when a high foul ball smashed into it at Friday's Wayne-Pender Midget game. The high pop-up came nearly straight down into the windshield of the Pender car which was parked about 10 feet from the fence.

Stoltenberg celebrates 80th birthday. Thursday

A party was held Thursday evening, July 8, in the Columbus Federal community room in Wayne honoring Allen Stoltenberg of Carroll on his 80th birthday.

Stoltenberg was born in Carroll on July 8, 1902 to Henry and Anna Stoltenberg. He married Wilma Mills on Aug. 14, 1929.

They are the parents of six children, Annabelle Peterson of Norfolk, Don and Dale of Wayne, Lois Townsend of San Bruno, Calif., Dennis of Dana Point, Calif., and Bryan of Carroll. There are 13 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Stoltenberg farmed north of Carroll until retiring and moving into Carroll in 1972.

Hosting Thursday night's party were Annabelle and Bob Peterson, Don and Bev Stoltenberg, Dale and Norma Lee Stoltenberg, and Bryan and Kathy Stoltenberg.

Other relatives attending were Verlyn and Holly Stoltenberg and Corryn Stoltenberg of Carroll, Steve, Anne, Heather and Robyn Peterson of Columbus, Ellen and Scott Stoltenberg and Esther Gerald Stoltenberg of Wayne, Enid and Gerald Stoltenberg of Norfolk, and Allan and Hannah Perdue of Laurel.

The honoree was presented a happy birthday banner made out of eighty $1 bills.

The birthday cake was baked and decorated by Kathy Stoltenberg.

Process explained

Do you wonder why cigarette smoking is so harmful to your health? The Nebraska Medical Association asks you to think about the hot smoke and harmful compounds entering your mouth as a result of smoking.

When you inhale on a cigarette, the hot smoke assaults delicate tissues in your mouth, throat, breathing tubes and lungs.

After the smoke passes your mouth, your lungs retain from 85 to 99 percent of almost all of the compounds you inhale.

There are hundreds of chemical substances in cigarette smoke. Three of the most damaging are nicotine, tars and carbon monoxide.

Nicotine makes your blood vessels constrict. It cuts down the flow of blood and oxygen through your body. Your heart has to pump harder.

Tars damage delicate lung tissues. There are billions of tiny particles in cigarette smoke. When they cool inside your lungs, some form a brown, sticky mass, containing chemicals that produce cancer in tests with animals.

Carbon monoxide literally drives the oxygen out of your red blood cells. Levels of the gas in the blood of smokers is four times higher — for heavy smokers, sometimes 15 times higher — than for nonsmokers. Carbon monoxide stays in the bloodstream, robbing the body of oxygen as long as six hours after the person stops smoking.

Account changes

Married individuals, whether or not they are covered by a pension plan at work, may be eligible to set up an Individual Retirement Arrangement (IRA) for themselves and a separate one for their non-working spouses according to the Internal Revenue Service.

A spousal IRA is a savings program which allows husband and wife to set aside money for their own retirement. Contributions to an IRA are tax deductible and earnings accrued are not taxed until they are distributed, usually upon the individual's retirement.

To qualify for the spousal IRA, an individual must be married at the end of the tax year, and the spouse cannot be an active participant in a qualified retirement plan or receive compensation during the year.

Beginning in 1982, the amount deductible each year for a contribution to an IRA and spousal IRA is $2,250. Under the old law a maximum deduction of $1,750 was permitted.

Under the new law contributions are no longer required to be equal for husband and wife. For example, instead of having to contribute $1,125 to his IRA and $1,125 to his wife's, a man can now contribute $2,000 to his plan and $250 to his wife's.

To set up a spousal IRA, individuals may use trust and custodial accounts, or annuity and endorsement contracts approved by the Internal Revenue Service.

Complete information on taxation aspects of spousal IRAs can be found in IRS Publication 590. "Tax Information on Individual Retirement Arrangements." It is available free by writing the IRS.

Erosion means big money...Lost

The high rainfall amounts of 1982 have gotten much attention because of flooding and planting delays for farmers. What some people do not realize is the amount and value of soil that has been lost to erosion.

Even normal rains cause erosion, but the torrential rains that have come in some areas with little ground cover staggers the imagination.

Soil is constantly being formed by weathering or breaking down the parent material (rock or gravel) which lies underneath. At the same time, erosion is occurring even under natural conditions. However, under natural conditions, the rate of erosion is slower than the rate of soil formation, so the soil tends to build up over long periods of time. Plant and animal material which decays becomes humus which gives topsoil its fertility.

Soil Conservation Service personnel use 5 tons per acre as an acceptable amount of soil loss. At this rate, the productivity of the soil can be maintained indefinitely. Soil Conservation Service personnel estimated that up to 100 tons of soil per acre were lost this spring in a single heavy rain. It is true that these are usually heavy rains, and the highest losses are on the steeper land. However, soil losses of 20-25 tons per acre year after year are not uncommon in Northeast Nebraska. This is five times as fast as the soil can regenerate itself. It isn't hard to figure out that this land will eventually become unproductive.

In the short run, a more pressing concern is the economic loss from erosion. Several methods could be used to determine the value of topsoil. One method would be to buy topsoil and have it trucked to your field. At 55 per cubic yard it would cost $85 per acre to restore the soil lost in one year at a rate of 25 tons per acre.

Replacing the lost topsoil does not account for lost commercial fertilizer and other chemicals. It also doesn't account for the problems this erosion causes other people. Every year taxpayers finance the cleaning out of road ditches that were filled with sediments from neighboring fields. Sediments fill stream channels, reducing their ability to carry high flows without flooding. The chemicals attached to the sediment pollute streams and can be harmful to fish, wildlife and people who come in contact with it.

Mudding under crops is just the beginning of problems caused by erosion.

What can be done?

- 1) Conservation Tillage - Leave crop residues from last year on the surface.
- 2) Contour Farming - Around rather than up and down hill.
- 3) Strip Cropping - Bands of close sown crops alternating with row crops.
- 4) Terrace Systems
- 5) Erosion Control Dams
- 6) Buffer strips of grass and trees along stream banks.

Resources conservation agencies stand ready to assist landowners in controlling erosion and sediment problems. Soil Conservation Service personnel can design a complete conservation plan for your land. The ASCS and LENRD have cost-share programs to help you finance necessary construction.

We must control our soil loss before it becomes a crisis. When the topsoil is gone, it will be too late. For more information or assistance, contact your local Soil Conservation Service office.

Natural resources district (NRD) elections

Petitions are now available for anyone wishing to run for election as a Director of Lower Elkhorn NRD or other NRDs. One Director will be elected for each of nine subdistricts, plus the Director At-Large. The term of office is four years, beginning January 6, 1983.

Candidates must be registered voters of the subdistrict they are nominated in, and must have their petition signed by 25 registered voters who are also residents of that subdistrict. Director At-Large candidates may reside anywhere in the district, and the petition may be signed by registered voters from any part of the district.

Director Nominating Petitions may be obtained from the Norfolk office of Lower Elkhorn NRD and County Clerks or Election Commissioners.

The completed petitions must be received at the Nebraska Natural Resources Commission, 4th Floor, State Office Building, 301 Centennial Mall South, Lincoln, Nebraska 68509, on or before 5:00 p.m., August 10, 1982, in order for the name to appear on the ballot.
