School board reviews bids for building

The Wayne Carroll Board of Education has 60 days to decide whether or not to accept or reject bids for the expansion of the high school's vocational education facilities.

Bids were opened Thursday night during a special meeting of the board of education.

Submitting the lowest base bid, $111,000, was Risor and Barney Inc. of Wisney.

Submitting the highest base bid was J. H. Hesse Co., Inc. of Norfolk at $121,986, nearly $11,000 higher than the bid submitted by Risor and Barney.

Other companies submitting bids were Beckenhauer Construction, Norfolk, $117,363; Fauss Construction, Hooper, $118,800; and Otte Construction, Wayne, $117,398.

Base bids submitted by the companies are for completing all general, mechanical and electrical work for the construction of the new auto mechanics metals shop.

In addition to the base bids, companies were asked to submit four alternate bids.

The first alternate bid was for a nine foot addition to the original 56' x 60' proposed expansion.

Risor and Barney again submitted the low bid on the nine foot addition, $4,500.

Other bids for the addition were: J. H. Hesse Co., $6,525; Fauss Construction, $6,890; Otte Construction, $7,269; and Beckenhauer Construction, $7,373.

The second alternate bid was for the addition of a carbon monoxide exhaust system. Risor Barney again submitted the low bid of $3,000. Other bids for the carbon monoxide work were: J. H. Hesse, $3,170; Beckenhauer Construction, $3,234; Fauss Construction, $3,380; and Otte Construction, $3,421.

Another alternate bid was for additional work on the carbon monoxide exhaust system, including an exhaust fan, ductwork, flexible tubing, and related electrical work. Those bids came in at: Risor and Barney, $4,250; J. H. Hesse, $4,795; Beckenhauer Construction, $4,822; Fauss Construction, $4,900; and Otte Construction, $5,033.

Only three companies submitted bids for the final alternate plan, which calls for the installation of a two plunger passenger car lift hoist.

Submitting bids on the car hoist were: Risor and Barney, $4,000; J. H. Hesse, $4,500; and Otte Construction, $4,514.

Companies that did not submit bids on the car hoist were Beckenhauer Construction and Fauss Construction.

Total bids submitted by each of the companies, including the base bid and all four alternate bids, were: Risor and Barney, $126,750; Beckenhauer Construction, $132,792; Fauss Construction, $133,970; Otte Construction, $137,635; and J. H. Hesse Co., $140,976.

Contract time on the proposed addition ranged from 180 days (Otte and Risor Barney), to 100 days (J. H. Hesse Co.). Estimating their contract time at 150 days were Beckenhauer Construction and Fauss Construction.

Following the opening of the bids, architect Lynn Jones of the firm Davis, Fenton, Stang and Darling of Lincoln, explained the bids to school board members and outlined several options available to them to reduce the amount of work and base bid price.

"I think in the long haul the prices are pretty good for what we've got," said Jones. Some board members expressed disappointment at the number of bids that were submitted.

All of the bids submitted are above the $90,000 Superintendent Francis Haun earlier recommended be spent on the proposed addition.

School board members will study all of the bids and discuss them at the next regularly scheduled meeting on Aug. 9.

Base plans on the proposed addition call for a 56' x 60' expansion to the west of the existing vocational shop facility. The addition would be used for auto mechanics and metals, including electrical work, small engine repair and welding.

The expansion would include room for four automobile bays and four overhead doors.

The existing facility would be expanded for woodworking and would include a classroom for both woodworking and auto mechanics and metals students.

Alternate plans call for nine additional feet to the south to allow for a total of eight automobile bays in the newly expanded area.

Alternate plans also include an automobile hoist.

New method is successful

Although most people in Wayne didn't notice any difference Friday morning, there was a subtle difference taking place for a few hours within our environment.

Early Friday morning, trucks and work crews started moving into Wayne for a very special project, one which had never been attempted before in a city of Wayne's size. About 7 a.m., crews working for Northern Natural Gas cut off the supply line to Wayne in order to replace part of the pipeline on the Eastern edge of the city.

The 65 businesses and residents owning natural gas air conditioning units were not forced to do without cooler air Monday morning, nor were city residents forced to do without natural gas for home and business energy requirements because of a unique switching system recently put into use by Northern Natural Gas.

Northern, the main supplier to Wayne's supplier, People's Natural Gas Co., trucked in five volume bottle trailers, each with several tanks on them, and tied into the Wayne line of the switching station, before cutting the gas off of the main line.

Northern spokesman Rod Williams said this type of switch over has never been attempted when dealing with a community the size of Wayne.

"Normally with large communities," Williams said, "we plug the line, and lay a bypass line around the section to be replaced to serve the city's needs until the problem is corrected."

Williams said however that this type of project is quite expensive. "The cost for just one of the fittings for the bypass is roughly similar to the total cost involved in using the volume bottle trailers. That's one of the reasons these special trucks were developed."

The new repair process, which Williams estimated at about $19,000 to complete for Wayne, involves hooking up the volume bottle trucks and switching to their energy source while cutting off gas in the main line.

Williams said, for the operation, trucks were brought in from Farmington, Minn., Waterloo and Ogden, Iowa and Palmyra and South Sioux City, Neb.

"The repair operation had been planned for some time," said Keith Mosley of People's Natural Gas, "scheduled in for after the really hot weather but before we got into cooler temperatures."

Williams said if they would have known Friday was going to be a fairly cool day, they would have only needed three of the special trucks instead of five.

Each of the trucks had between 700 and 800 lbs. of propane gas or 20,000 cubic feet. The volume bottles contained enough propane to supply Wayne for about 11 hours.

"What we did, however, was have three of the trucks feeding the city and two standing by if needed," Williams said. "We also kept the trucks full by having them run two miles East of Wayne to one of our valves to fill to capacity."

Using this system, Williams said there was never any danger of running out of gas if problems developed.

Williams said the crews moved along at good speed, replacing 200 feet of gas line and installing a new valve for the Wayne Rendering line.

"Any problems would probably have developed following the X-raying of the line," Williams said.

He explained that the X-rays show if the welds were done correctly. "If they X-ray shows they have failed, they have to be cut out and redone and that's where we could run into time problems," he said.

Williams said the project could not have been attempted without local assistance, especially from People's Natural Gas.

All in all, the project was completed in just a few hours of time and proved the new type of supplying system was effective in controlling costs for the natural gas companies and, at the same time, meeting the continuing needs of the community.

Pre-fair 4-H judging is completed

Several Wayne County 4-H members will be advancing to the state fair at Lincoln in September as the result of contests held in July.

A home economic demonstration won Karen Sandahl the chance to advance to the state fair during the county demonstration contest July 14.

Karen, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Sandahl, Wakefield, was selected to advance to the state contest with her purple ribbon demonstration entitled "Wok Tak". She also won registration fees to the Nebraska 4-H Conference in Lincoln from the First National Bank of Wayne.

Lori Sorensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delwyn Sorensen, Wayne, will also advance to the state fair with her demonstration entitled "Craity Patchwork".

A team of Terri Nuernberger, Susie McQuistan, Lori Sorensen and Karen Sandahl won a chance to attend the state fair with their group demonstration entitled "Star Light, Star Bright".

Margo and Marta Sandahl, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Sandahl, Wakefield, were selected as the top demonstrators under 14 for their demonstration "It's Not Impossible".

The Wayne County 4-H Ag and Miscellaneous Demonstration contest was held July 12 with Steve Reithwisch, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Reithwisch, Wayne.

winning a state fair slot with his demonstration entitled "Entomology". He also won registration fees to the Nebraska 4-H Conference in Lincoln next summer from the Wayne County 4-H Council.

Also receiving a trip to the state fair is Dean Fuelberth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Fuelberth, Wayne, with his demonstration, "Computerized Hovercar Simulator."

Kathy Leighton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Leighton, Winslow, was selected as the top demonstrator in the junior division. She also received registration fees to the Nebraska 4-H Conference in Lincoln from the State National Bank of Wayne.

Several Wayne County 4-H'ers will advance to the state fair home economics judging contest as a result of the Wayne County contest July 8.

Advancing will be Anne Sorensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delwyn Sorensen, Wayne; Shelly Emry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Emry, Wayne; Karen Sandahl, Wakefield; Valerie Bush, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Jim Bush, Carroll; Annette Finn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Finn, Carroll and Sherrill Burmester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Burmester, Randolph, named as alternates were Ruth Loberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Loberg, Carroll and Susan Burmester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Burmester, Randolph.

Other 4-H'ers participating in Wayne County's home economics judging contest were:

Senior Division: Red — Susan Burmester, Pam Svoboda, Cindy Berg, Turena Walde and Lori Sorensen; White — Valerie Rahn, Coleen Otte, Mary Pat Gross, Carmen Reeg and Eunice Wacker.

Junior Division: Purple — Dawn Sands, Marta Sandahl, Susy Luft, Sally Burmester and Margo Sandahl; Blue — Shelley Gilliland, Rhonda Suehl, Amanda Bruns, Vicki Frevert and Craig Evans; Red — Susie Nichols, Ann Nichols, Lisa Dowling and Jennifer Hammer; White — Julie Dangberg and Jennifer Lutt.

On July 23, 59 Wayne County 4-H'ers modeled in the 4-H "Fashion Revue of '82" in Ley Theater on the Wayne State College campus.

This year the judges had a difficult time making a decision on who the style revue winners were. The judges felt that there were four girls of equal quality in the style revue contest who should be recognized. Since Wayne County's clothing enrollment is under 100, only one representative to the state fair style revue may be chosen. The judges felt it was necessary to give county recognition to the two other girls as well.

Karen Longe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Longe, Carroll, was announced Wayne County's State Fair Style Revue entry. She will model a reversible jacket and outfit. She also received the Silver Thimble Award from the Teen Supreme Organization.

Anne Sorensen was selected as State Fair Style Revue alternate.

Wayne County Style Revue Champion is Missy Jensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Jensen, Winslow. She modeled a jogging suit during the revue. She will receive a trip to the Nebraska 4-H Conference in Lincoln sponsored by Wilse Mortuary.

Wayne County's reserve Champion Style Revue winner is Christine Holmstrom, Wakefield.

April Marotz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lane Marotz, Hoskins, received the award from Kuhn's Department Store for the best constructed beginning unit exhibit. Debby Bull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Waldron Bull, Wayne, received the award for best constructed garment in the middle unit.

Cynthia Walde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Walde, Winslow, exhibited the best constructed garment in the advanced unit.

Participating in the song contest which preceded the fashion show were six clubs.

Advancing to the State Music Contest are the Gingham Gals led by Mrs. Neil Sandahl, Leslie Lads and Lassies led by Mrs. Alvin Svoboda and the Combination Kids led by Mrs. Gerald Grone. All three groups received purple ribbons.

Grand opening is held

The Kid's Closet, located at 215 Main Street, opened its doors for business with a Grand Opening celebration this weekend.

The new shop, which features maternity and infant wear, is located in the basement of the Timberline building.

The store's owner, Millie Thomsen, decided to open her shop when she heard numerous complaints from mothers that Wayne had no place where they could buy children's clothing or maternity wear.

Mrs. Thomsen redecorated the basement area with wallpaper and new paint and moved in the clothing. The building is divided into sections for infant wear, children's clothing up to size 14 and maternity wear.

Mrs. Thomsen buys her selections from markets in Minneapolis and Omaha. Her two daughters-in-law, Joan and Krista Thomsen, also help pick out the clothing and work part time in the store.

Mrs. Thomsen said the Grand Opening has been a total success and response has been good from area mothers. Door prizes have been awarded and balloons given away in honor of the opening.

SPECIAL TRUCKS WERE lined up and ready to begin serving the natural gas energy needs of Wayne on Friday morning. Northern Natural Gas Co. had scheduled to replace part of the gas line on the Eastern edge of Wayne. In order to do it economically, they brought in several trucks loaded with volume bottles of propane gas which were hooked up to the Wayne lines for several hours while the line was replaced. It was the first time this method had been used on a project for a city the size of Wayne.

Salary negotiations completed for the Winside school district

Salary negotiations have recently been completed with all Winside Public School staff members for the 1982-83 school year.

The contract calls for a base salary increase of $600 per year from $11,200 to $11,800 for beginning teachers with no experience. Increments for each year of experience and each nine graduate hours will remain at four percent.

The district cost for health insurance for staff members will increase to $50.73 per month paid toward single insurance premiums and about $127 per month for family insurance premiums. The paid monthly premium for married couples on the staff will be about $147. All other items will remain the same.

The contract settlement represents a cost increase of about 7.4 percent over last year's contract.

In other salary negotiation areas, principal Ron Leapey's salary will increase from $20,750 to $22,912.50 plus fringe benefits. At his own request, superintendent Don Leighton's total salary will remain the same for the 1982-83 school year at $29,100. There will be some minor adjustments in his paid expenses.

Excellent choice

This week, the city fathers approved a resolution of dedication for the Wayne ball diamond.

For several months, it has been one of the best kept secrets as to who, in honor of, the field would be dedicated.

It was, no doubt, with extreme pleasure that those responsible for the dedication process viewed the expression on Hank Overin's face Wednesday night when he heard the field will be hereafter known as the H.C. (Hank) Overin Field.

A better choice could not have been made by those involved with the decision process. No other single individual has done more for the youth of this community than Hank Overin.

Through his enduring energy and countless work hours, over the years he has been able to take many teams to state competition; his work with the community's youth borders on the legendary as head of the city's recreation program for he not only imparts athletic skills, but also skills of life, which the youngsters carry with them into adulthood.

It is extremely fitting and proper therefore that this recently added addition to the recreation needs of the community, bear the name of the person most responsible for meeting the individual and group needs of the community through his ceaseless and unselfish efforts.

We heartily congratulate those responsible for their choice. We also deeply thank Hank Overin for his time, efforts and devotion to youth, through the programs of the community's, as well as to the City of Wayne.

My little Irish green car just recently turned over 90,000 miles. It's a 1978 model so I guess you could say I drive alot. I've replaced the brakes and the exhaust system and the tires a couple of times, but nothing serious has needed replacing and I've had no major work done to it. Not too bad.

The best part is as of this week it is all mine, not shared with a bank — the last payment was due this month and, I made it.

Now, I've been warned, I've been warned, to expect problems to begin in August or September with the transmission, the drive train, the rear end, and, of course, the engine — simply because it is now paid for.

I don't know...I have faith in Rover (the name of the car).

During the first Winter that Rover and I were together it was blizzard city every weekend. So, we took great glee in passing stuck four wheel drive vehicles, starting when everyone else was frozen solid and coming through the rough times in good shape.

We've moved together three times, duded ourselves up for the honey's pleasures, both of us gotten completely covered with mud, both on and off the job and as Steve Stills said, "we've had our ups and downs but are still playing together."

I don't know who it was that first got me talking to machinery, imposing some sort of personality on these contraptions that serve us, but I'm convinced anything from presses to computers have a personality all their own. If they don't want to work, hey, they don't work.

The car I had before Rover, Old Blue, saw me through my Iowa college party days in good shape, but she knew that last week I owned her that she was being traded off.

She started telling me of her hurt feelings with little hints toward the end — like having a date, heading out for the summer races and losing the exhaust system — like the passenger's door not opening one morning — oh, she knew alright.

But she cared for me as much as I her and during that last drive to the dealers she ran like a new filly just out of the barn on a spring morning.

That's the way all my cars have reacted to me. From Triumphs and Firebirds to Volkswagens and Datsuns, our relationships have been one of trust.

Maybe that's where that cynic has made a mistake. He doesn't trust his car. I do. I have to as much as I drive. In turn, Rover trusts me. Crazy, but it's true. Try talking to your machinery and you'll find they improve. Heck, we talk to plants don't we?

Speaking of plants, I have two from Texas, I'm very fond of — not that I'm having an affair with them, nor do they converse with me as Zonker's plants do in Doonsberry, but they are pretty nice.

Anyway, one is a cactus...or was, it's kind of hard to tell. It's in Doc Farmer's intensive care center right now after a severe mugging, which involved a beastly predator.

This said predator, not only tore the cactus loose from it's root moorings one night, but ate the majority of the plant.

The good part is this predator, Skeeter the cactus eater, has been very healthy the past few days. The plant, unfortunately, may not survive.

Bless his little cat heart. He's also been in wrestling training, I guess, practicing take-downs with the cactus's Texas cousin. That one is just in the hospital under sedation.

Listen, I love the little devil, but if he's not careful he's going on a downer diet. It's either that or I'm really going to find out if calls always land on their feet...say from 30 feet in a plastic bag into the Missouri River?

We're doing something a little differently this year for the Wayne County Fair, I'm used to putting out a special edition at fair time, a third section tabloid.

I've always thought of community newspapers as the record keepers of a society. Often we are requested by people and organizations to supply past information from such things as weddings and births to special community events like county fairs.

We are designing a fair tabloid section with that in mind. Something people can hang on to as a record of the 1982 Wayne County Fair. It's an experiment because, as far as I have found out, it hasn't been done here before, at least not in the past 10 years or so.

What will be in it? Mainly it will be for the 4-H events. Top winners in the livestock divisions and the results of all the judging. We'll also include some open class events as well. There will probably be some features and photographs highlighting those personal touches from the fair. We think you will like it. Besides, the tabloids keep better in scrapbooks—pif.

A matter of attitude

There has been much discussion in the press lately about a national drunk driver crackdown. Numerous states have passed laws imposing strict penalties against those convicted of drunk driving, and a motive is underway in Congress to provide financial incentives for states with drunk driver programs. And at least one songwriter has put the idea to music in hopes of cajoling the radio audience into thinking before drinking.

The state legislature, responding to public pressure for stricter DWI laws, this year passed L. B. 568, which sets mandatory sentences for those convicted of drunk driving. In addition to suspension of driving privileges for six months, first offenders will receive seven days in jail and a $200 fine; second offenders, one year driving suspension, 30 days in jail and $500 fine, and third offenders, permanent revocation of driver's license, six months in jail and $500 fine.

Some say that if the law stopped here it might have some impact on this life-threatening situation. But the legislature included some wording which softens the teeth of the new law. "If the court places such person on probation or suspends the sentence for any reason, the court shall..." and then goes on to specify a 60 day suspension of driving privileges for first offenders; six-month suspension and 48 hours in jail for second offenders, and one-year suspension for third offenders, plus seven days in jail. Probation can also include mandatory attendance in an alcoholism treatment program.

Critics say the probation section wipes out any impact the new law might have on potential DWIs because it reduces the penalties.

But penalties are not really at issue. There are far stiffer penalties for those convicted of robbery and murder, yet those crimes still occur.

What is at issue is individual and public attitude. Somehow, people need to stop thinking about what they can get away with, and consider more what can happen while they are trying to get away with it. Respect for life needs to supersede any personal concern about what will happen if the police catch up.

This is, unfortunately, a naive approach, but perhaps if more people started thinking this way, instilling the concept in their children, and practicing it in their personal lives, our judicial and legislative system might work better.

Unemployment is up but so is amount in work force

Believe it or not, the number of Nebraskans employed in June, 1982 was 7,150 higher than in May and 1,150 higher than in June, 1981.

All of the headlines have been devoted to the fact that the unemployment rate in the state went up four tenths of a percent, from 5.4% in May to 5.8% in June.

Most all Nebraskans join me in wishing that every citizen of our state who wants to work will find employment. And for the person who's looking for a job and can't get one, there's not comfort in any statistics.

Nevertheless, in making a rational examination of Nebraska's economy, we should realize that unemployment went up in June only because of the large number of people entering the job market. The state labor force was 10,450 larger in governor charley thone

June than in the previous month. Most of these are recent high school graduates. The fact that nearly 70% of the new people entering the job market found jobs, the first month indicates a growing Nebraska economy. Even while plant layoffs have been getting publicity, more employers in our state added employees during June.

In Omaha 1,900 more people were employed in June than in May and 850 more than in June, 1981.

Nebraska's unemployment rate is much lower than for most of the states in the nation and is lower than in most states bordering Nebraska.

Our state's well-balanced economy is one reason why our unemployment is lower than most states. Another reason is that we are getting results from our job promotion efforts. There are 3,000 more jobs serving visitors traveling in our state than a year ago. One of the prime goals of state government remains the creation of more and better-paying jobs for Nebraskans.

To the editor: Our thanks to you for the news item concerning our twins, Leslie and Lisa Hellman, who visited the Rich-Erwin farm on July 8.

To give you an update — the twins have been traveling on schedule — were in South Bend, Indiana, last Monday and Tuesday; then onto Detroit where they met with the Chrysler Corporation people and the American Cancer Society. They spent time in Toledo and Cleveland with the Society people. They are either in Geneva, Ohio, or in New York today — they are homeward bound on their journey. They will be Albany way on August 7 to open the Annual American Cancer Society Drive.

Listening to the local radio station, WORC, we hear news of the twins daily. We speak with them a few times a week.

They are meeting people, learning, fund raising and enjoying. This is truly a fantastic, ambitious and rewarding adventure. We know that they are generating interest for cancer research wherever they speak.

Thanks for your welcome to our children. Best to you.

ASK A LAWYER
A PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE NEBRASKA STATE BAR ASSOCIATION

Q. If you are hired for a job, and then a disease such as arthritis prevents you from doing the job you were hired for, can the company fire you or do they have to give you some other type of job to do?

A. The answer to your question depends upon a number of issues which cannot be resolved on the facts you have furnished. The issue is whether the various laws which protect employees against discrimination on the basis of a handicap would offer you protection. However, those laws exist on the state level as well as in several different areas administered by the federal government. The type of employer you work for, the number of persons employed and the amount of contracts with or aid from the federal government will provide the basis for determining which laws might be applicable.

However, in order to receive the protection of any of those laws, one must have a "handicap" as defined in the particular law which might apply to your employer. Whether arthritis is a "handicap" depends upon the type of arthritis you have and the resulting physical impairment to you. If your arthritis results in a total inability to perform the essential functions of your job without endangering the health and safety of your co-workers, your employer may be able to discharge you.

If, however, an employee's handicap only prevents the performance of some of the functions of a job, your employer will be under a legal obligation to determine whether your job could be modified so as to accommodate your handicap. Although the issue has not been well settled by the Courts, in some instances, this duty to accommodate you may include offering other available employment to you.

It is important to determine which law applies to you, not only so you can learn what protections might exist, but also because different laws impose different "filing deadlines" under which you must bring your complaint to the attention of an appropriate agency or, alternatively, file a complaint in Court. Also, depending upon which law is applicable, you may first be required to exhaust certain administrative remedies you might have, such as filing a complaint with the company/personnel office.

As you can see, the precise circumstances involved in your situation will determine both the rights of your employer and your protection under the law.

You contacts with state and federal agencies, such as the Nebraska Equal Opportunity Commission, would not require legal consultation prior to filing. However, there are time limits within which complaints must be filed, so you should act as soon as possible, and you may wish to have your attorney review your complaint.

If you have a legal question, write "Ask a Lawyer," P.O. Box 1239, Lincoln 68502. This column is intended to provide general legal information, not specific legal advice. "Ask a Lawyer" is a public service of the Nebraska State Bar Association.

First 'Lifeline' subscriber

CARL NUERNBERGER OF WAYNE was the first subscriber to receive a Lifeline unit last week from Providence Medical Center. Lifeline is a new emergency communication service for elderly and disabled persons and is designed to keep persons out of hospitals and nursing homes by increasing the security of individuals who prefer to remain independent. Pictured with Nuernberger are, from left, Marci Thomas, PMC administrator; Cheryl Luedtke, Lifeline installer; and Sister Monica, Lifeline coordinator. Providence Medical Center is the first hospital in the state to put the Lifeline system to use. With Lifeline, persons who need help at home and cannot reach the telephone can press a button on a transmitter attached to their clothing. A Lifeline communicator connected to their telephone automatically receives the wireless signal and dials the hospital, sending a digital message to the 24-hour emergency response center. Responders, including neighbors, relatives or friends, are immediately sent to the home if the subscriber cannot be reached by telephone. When a responder answers the call he or she must send an "all clear" signal back to the emergency response center located at the hospital. If medical help is needed, the responder can either take the subscriber to the hospital or have an ambulance dispatched. If the subscriber is unconscious and unable to press the button, a clock-timer in the Lifeline communicator at the subscriber's home will initiate an emergency call.

Wayne Midgets reach area championship by drubbing Hartington

The crack of aluminum echoed through the stadium as Wayne's Midgets smashed 13 base hits to pound Hartington 13-4 in five innings Thursday night in opening round action of the Class B, Area 3 baseball tournament.

The Midgets, making their first appearance since the field was dedicated as Hank Overin Field on Wednesday, had a fine offensive showing.

Leading the way was Kevin Maly who went 4 for 4 and scored three runs. Jeff Sherer, Rick Nelson and Don Larsen all went 2 for 3.

Mike Pfeiffer led off the game with a base hit for Hartington and scored the visitors' only run on a sacrifice and two passed balls.

Wayne pitcher Steve Overin then held Hartington scoreless the rest of the way. He limited the visitors to four hits and recorded 10 strikeouts in the five-inning game. Wayne right fielder Todd Dorcay saved one run in the second inning when he fielded a base hit and threw home where catcher Randy Gamble tagged out Dale Kaiser, who tried to score from second.

Maly scored the tying run in the bottom of the first inning when he tripled and scored on a sacrifice bunt by Overin.

The second inning had more fireworks than the Fourth of July as the hosts exploded for nine runs on seven base hits. Four players batted twice in the inning and Rick Nelson ripped a double and single in his two at bats.

Jeff Sherer, who scored two runs in the inning, started things off with a base hit. Jeff Jorgensen bunted safely and the ball was overthrown at first base. Both runners advanced on the play.

In an attempt to pick off Sherer, Hartington pitcher Henry Schaefer overthrew third base and Wayne's two runners scored. Nelson got things rolling again with his double and moved to third on a passed ball. Todd Dorcay was safe at first base when his ground ball was booted by the third baseman.

Nelson, who stayed at third base on the play, scored when Pony Leaguer Don Larsen rapped a single. Maly singled to drive in Dorcay and Chris Wieseler reached base with a bunt single.

With bases loaded, Overin was hit by a pitch to bring home Larsen. A sacrifice fly by Gamble scored Maly. Sherer bunted the ball with runners on second and third and one out. The pitcher fielded the bunt and threw home. Wieseler had the throw beat and Overin also scored as the throw flew over the catcher's head. Sherer scored the last run of the inning on Nelson's second hit.

Larsen led off the third inning with a double and Maly singled. Overin walked to load the bases and Sherer drove home Larsen and Maly with a sharp base hit.

In the fourth inning, pinch hitter Pete Warne added an insurance run when he tripled and scored on a single by Maly.

The victory advanced Wayne (17-3) into Sunday's championship game against Schuyler. That game was scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. with the Legion championship to follow.

Schuyler Midgets advance
After getting off to a poor start, Schuyler's Midgets came back to defeat O'Neill 8-7 Thursday night in Area 3 baseball action. O'Neill jumped out in front 2-0 as Kevin Asher and Greg Morrow scored in the second inning and Bill Minarik had a sacrifice fly in the top of the third, the visitors collected runs by Steve Schneider and Todd Eby. Eby and Asher smacked triples and Jeff Pinkerman drove in a run with a sacrifice.

Schuyler got two runs back in the third when Dan Zrust and Kelly McClintic scored. Ted Coch had a run-scoring single. The home team scored four more runs in the fourth inning with the key hit being a triple by Doug Halley.

In the sixth inning, McClintic and Halley scored for an 8-4 advantage.

O'Neill's seventh inning challenge came up short although Tom Schmitz, Schneider and Eby scored. A fly out and strikeout ended the game. O'Neill Schuyler

TWO HARTINGTON players seemed interested in the same base at the same time Sunday but Wayne settled the dispute when Jim Sperry took a throw from Dennis Lebsack and tagged one runner out to end the pickle.

Juniors are eliminated

The Wayne Juniors were eliminated from the Class B, Area 3 American Legion baseball tournament Friday night when Hartington edged the hosts 7-6 in a losers bracket competition.

The loss to Hartington combined with Wednesday's loss to Schuyler knocked Wayne out of post season play and ended its season at 8-11. Both tournament losses were by one run.

"I'm really proud of the way this team stuck together. We started the year with 15 players and ended it with 13," said Hank Overin. "It's been a rebuilding year. It's always easy to play on a winning team but tough to play on a losing team and show good sportsmanship. I think this team did."

Seven returning starters will join many of this year's Midgets to form next year's Legion team. Only one starter was back to start the 1982 season.

Wayne shut Hartington out in the first four innings but gave up six runs in the fifth inning and the winning run in the sixth.

The locals had a 4-0 edge when Hartington started its rally. Jeff McCright reached base on a fielder's choice in the first inning, took second on a passed ball and scored on a single by Todd Schwartz.

In the third inning, Jim Sperry led off with a single and advanced on an error by the left fielder, who lost the ball in the sun. McCright singled him home and then stole second base to move into scoring position. A double by Tim Heier drove McCright home. Heier smacked his second double of the night in the fifth inning to bring in Schwartz for Wayne's fourth run.

Five singles and two walks helped Hartington gain the lead at 6-4 in the fifth inning.

With one out, Schwartz relieved Pfeiffer. Wayne knotted the game up with two big runs in the sixth inning. Mark Kubik walked and moved to second on a passed ball. Pinch hitter Chad Dorcay ripped a double to score Kubik. Pfeiffer scored Wayne's tying run on a double by McCright, who was 3 for 4.

With the game tied at 6-6, Kim Kathol singled and scored on Steve Dykeman's two out single.

Although the hosts lost, they trotted 10 hits including four doubles. The win moved Hartington into Saturday's game against Schuyler. The winner of that game was scheduled to play O'Neill Sunday in the finals.

O'Neill in finals
Led by a home run, O'Neill used nine hits and 10 walks to crush Schuyler in five innings Friday night.

The big blow was a three-run homer by Gary Schneider in the third inning. Greg Auen drove in two runs with a single that inning and was 2 for 4.

Mendell Miller had a two run single in the second inning and Chris Mann, who was 3 for 4, drove in two runs.

In Class C, Area A baseball action at Wakefield Thursday, Laurel's Juniors advanced to second round play with a 5-3 win over Elgin.

Kelly Robson's fly ball was lost in the sun by Elgin's right fielder in the seventh inning, giving Laurel an insurance run. The winners led 4-3 entering the final inning.

Dave Marquardt fired a two-hitter to lead Laurel. Crofton won the other first round game 3-2 over Stanton when Brad Peterson singled, stole second base and scored the winning run on a base hit by Mark Tramp.

Laurel and Crofton were scheduled to play Saturday night in the winners bracket while Elgin was set to meet Stanton in the winners division.

Midgets ousted
Laurel's Midgets were eliminated from area competition with an 18-2 loss to Plainview Friday night.

Town Team clinches at least a share of division title in Tri-County League

Wayne clinched at least a share of the East Division title with a big 7-5 win over Crofton Wednesday in Tri-County League baseball action. The game, regularly scheduled in Wayne, was moved to Hartington because the Class B, Area 3 American Legion tournament was held in Wayne.

Second place Laurel and first place Wayne were scheduled to battle it out last night (Sunday) at Laurel in the season finale. A Wayne win would wrap up first place in the division while a victory by hot hitting Laurel would force a two-way tie for the title.

Pitcher Darrell Mueller, who moved to Yankton several weeks ago, returned to Wayne's pitching staff Wednesday and pitched a complete game to collect the win against his former teammates. Last year, he pitched for Crofton.

Crofton scored twice in the first inning off of Mueller. Two walks, a double and a single fueled Crofton's attack.

Wayne pushed two runs across in the bottom of the inning to counter. Neil Blohm doubled, Bill Schwartz walked and Mike Meyer drove in Blohm with a single. Tim Pfeiffer added another base hit to score Schwartz.

Crofton regained the lead on a home run by Don Hames in the second inning but Wayne added three runs of its own in the third. Blohm led off with a single, Doug Starzl walked and Schwartz doubled in a run. Singles by Meyer and Joel Ankeny drove in the other two runs as the locals took a 5-3 lead.

A solo home run by Jeff Mueller gave Wayne its fourth inning run and a walk, error and single resulted in the final run in the top of the ninth.

Darrell Mueller, who finished the game with 13 strikeouts, retired three of the final four batters on strikes to preserve the win.

Wayne's other two runs came in the eighth. Meyer reached base on an error and Pfeiffer walked. Mueller helped his own cause by driving both runners in with a base hit.

Blohm had three hits to pace Wayne which held onto the East Division lead with a 15-3 record. Laurel was 14-4 entering Sunday's shootout.

Tough battle ends in loss on dedicated Overin Field

The Wayne Juniors battled to the finish Wednesday night but suffered a 4-3 loss to Schuyler in the first round of the Class B, Area 3 American Legion baseball tournament.

The game followed a brief dedication ceremony which named the recently renovated ball park H.C. "Hank" Overin Field.

The first contest on Hank Overin Field was a well-played shootout with the final outcome in doubt until the last throw to home plate.

Schuyler, which entered the game with a 15-5 record, overcame a 2-2 deficit with two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Third baseman Craig Moore, who committed a costly throwing error in the sixth inning, made up for his mistake by jacking the first pitch in the bottom of the seventh inning over the left field fence.

One out later, Jeff Conrad drew a walk. He broke for second and Mike Tews blasted a double off of the left-center field fence. Center fielder Jeff McCright fielded the ball and fired to shortstop Jim Sperry. Sperry took the relay throw and ducked it to catcher Dennis Lebsack who tagged Conrad out at the plate.

With two outs and Tews on second base, Kent Rittdorf lined a single into right-center. This time, Tews crossed the plate before the throw for the winning run.

Todd Schwartz gave up only two other hits in the ball game. One was an RBI single by Craig Moore which drove in Todd Erickson in the second inning and the other was a double in the fourth inning by Russ Lane which drove in Jeff Saalfeld.

Wayne collected eight hits in the ball game. With two outs in the fourth inning, Doug Jaeger singled and Mark Kubik drove a run-scoring triple to the left field fence.

The locals took a 3-2 lead in the bottom of the sixth inning. Dennis Lebsack pounded a triple and Tim Heier walked and stole second base. Kubik hit a hard grounder to the third baseman who overthrew first base on the play. Lebsack and Heier both scored on the throw.

The loss dropped Wayne (8-10) into the losers bracket to play Hartington (16-2), a 14-12 loser to O'Neill in Wednesday's early game. Schuyler and O'Neill were scheduled to play in Friday's winners bracket game.

O'Neill advances
In a game filled with hits and errors, O'Neill rallied with five runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to slip by Hartington 14-13 Wednesday night in the Legion division of the Area 3 tournament.

Chris Mann scored the winning run as a throw home was too late on a ground ball to the first baseman. Earlier in the last inning, Mendell Miller doubled in Dick Thomas, Greg Auen reached base on an error and Gary Schneider doubled home Miller. Mann tripled to bring home both Auen and Schneider.

Mann was 3-for-4 at the plate with five RBIs. Schneider was 2-for-4 with five runs and Miller had three hits and scored three runs.

For Hartington, Kim Kathol was 2-for-4 with three RBIs.

Randy's Recap

By Randy Hascall

Legend in his time
Wayne's baseball park, commonly referred to as the Wayne city ball park for years, has finally been named. At a dedication ceremony Wednesday night the park was officially named H.C. "Hank" Overin Field.

It's much more fun to name a ball park or complex or building or whatever after someone who is living instead of naming it in someone's memory. And it's much more fulfilling.

There's nothing like a well kept secret and this was one of the best I've witnessed. In a city where rumors and gossip spread like crab grass, word on the dedication plans were kept hush-hush.

The plans had been discussed months ago at a city council meeting...The Wayne Baseball Association had developed plans even before that. Yet, when the dedication ceremony was held Wednesday, Hank and Glenda Overin were just as surprised as any Joe on the street.

It was worth the price of admission just to watch Hank's eyes light up when the announcement was made. A smile crept across his face like a proud father who sneaked a peak at his newborn son.

Tears rolled down the tired eyes of wife Glenda who has backed her husband for decades. She has had to put up with thousands of late nights and seemingly endless seasons.

Most of the time was spent pouring cooking oil into the popcorn popper at the Wayne concession stand. Not just any woman could be the wife of a man who coaches Little League, Pony League, girls softball, Midgets, Legion and Town Team.

It would have only been right that the first victory on Hank Overin Field would have been recorded by one of Overin's teams. Unfortunately, that wasn't the case. Wayne's Juniors put up a good fight but lost a one-run ball game to Schuyler that night. Still Hank will remember that game and the effort his team put out.

Hank's second game on the field was much more rewarding. The Wayne Midgets steamrolled Hartington Thursday night.

The dedication of the park in his name was a well-deserved prize for the man who has spent countless hours toiling on the field, instructing the youth of our community and doing last minute, odd jobs to make the ball park a nicer place.

Now, I think it's time that Hank names the softball field on his farm "Glenda Overin Field" to avoid confusion of two "Hank Overin Fields."

Why call them Midgets?

The term Midgets is deceptive when referring to Wayne's baseball team. The average height of a Wayne infielder is nearly six feet tall depending on who is playing infield in a particular game.

The tallest infielder is Don Larsen, who at 6-3 also plays Pony League ball. Steve Overin is 6-1, Rick Nelson is about 6-1, Jeff Jorgensen and Jeff Sherrer are both about 5-11 and Chris Wieseler is 5-10. The shortest player is catcher Randy Gamble who is 5-8.

A check of the Class B, Area 3 American Legion tourist rosters shows that Schuyler and O'Neill stack up quite well against Wayne in the infield.

Mistaken identity

A couple of weeks ago, a daily newspaper in Nebraska reported in a brief sports notice that Charlie Parker had been named head basketball coach at Wayne State.

Fans of current basketball coach Rick Weaver shouldn't fret though. Although the story didn't state which Wayne State hired, Parker, we assume it is Wayne State University in Michigan.

Anyway, Weaver definitely is staying on as head basketball coach at Wayne State College in Wayne, Nebraska.

TOMMY CASH

Tommy Cash's love of music and sports was part and parcel of his growing up. With an Arkansas-Tennessee background, he was a star basketball player in high school in Memphis, Tennessee, and he stays in top physical shape by indulging his leisure time in such sports as golf and water skiing.

Tommy Cash is good-looking, smartly groomed, affable, warm and yet reticent enough to add a fascinating mystique to himself as a performer.
