BACK AS A VISITOR, rather than a student, Henric Olsson, center, has been visiting Wayne and staying with a couple of his former high school friends, Perry Nelson, left and Tod Heier. Olsson, a native of Molkom, Sweden, has been checking into the possibility of beginning university studies here in the United States, rather than in his home country. A running enthusiast, Olsson has previously attended Wayne-Carroll high school where he was an outstanding member of the track team. He will return home on Aug. 25 and hopes to come back soon to begin his university career.

Student returns to explore further studies

by Michelle Kubik

"I came back for chicken days," said Henric Olsson jokingly, who arrived from Sweden just two days before the annual event was celebrated in Wayne. The young Swede, a previous foreign exchange student at Wayne High, is back for a visit until Aug. 25. "Actually, I came back to see all my high school friends," he said "and to look into future schooling."

Olsson, a 19-year-old from Molkom, Sweden, would like to attend a university or college in the United States to study Economics and International Studies. "A lot will depend," Henric said, "on what kind of financial aid I can get."

Right now, Henric is attending a gymnasium school in Karlstad, a city just a short distance from his home. "When people hear the word 'gymnasium' here in the United States, they think I'm attending some sort of school that teaches gymnastics, actually it is quite similar to a prep college. You attend from 2 to 4 years depending on what field you're in," said the student, who is studying natural science and has completed two of his three required years.

"Gymnasium school is optional," Henric said, "although our entire educational system is financed through taxes, you still need good grades to get in." Swedish children start school at age seven and complete nine years of compulsory education. From then on, they can attend the secondary schools (such as gymnasium school) or pursue the university level.

"Every Swedish male is required to do military service for ten months," Henric said, "but we don't feel it's any sort of burden. Swedes are proud to defend their country." Henric hopes to do his military service immediately following gymnasium school, but if his arrangements for a university are set earlier, he can get a postponement from the military.

Jobs are very rare at age 16, but Henric has worked part-time in a bakery, was employed as a gardener and also helped with the upkeep of a stadium and track in his teenage years. "Wages are high in Sweden," Henric said, "but so are prices." The government provides free medical care and finances education. This is all possible through tax money. "We have a higher living standard than most countries," he said, "there are less poor people because of the medical benefits and funded education. Taxes pay for the poor. I would be stupid to become a citizen of any other country," he added, "there are so many financial benefits for me in Sweden."

Although Henric wouldn't change his citizenship, he loves to travel. He lived in Africa when he was younger and then his family moved to Sweden. He has also spent a lot of time in the United States. "We hear about the U.S. every day in Sweden," Henric said, "radio and television are always broadcasting the daily news from this country."

The Swedes have only two television channels, with no commercials and a radio is common in every home. The Freedom of the Press Act, passed in Sweden, is probably the oldest and most liberal in the world. They are a parliamentary democracy with a ruling prime minister and a unicameral legislature. "We have a king," Henric said, "but he is only a figurehead with ceremonial functions."

Henric's father, Bengt, is an engineer in Sweden and his mother, Marta, teaches preschool children. He has one sister, Maria, who is also studying in gymnasium school to be a teacher.

In Sweden's schools, they have no type of sports like our high school competitions.

Henric, who was an outstanding runner for Wayne High's track team, is a member of a track club in Karlstad. "We compete individually amongst each other in the club," Henric explained, but it's not like high school sports, where different towns compete."

Henric's training program, set up by his coach, makes his day a busy one. He runs the trails every day for at least two hours after classes are over. "I am away from home at least twelve hours a day," Henric said, "school starts at 7:30 and I go to practice at about 3:30. After that, I go home, eat and study the rest of the night."

Henric has little time on weekdays for anything but studying. "Most of my friends," Henric said, "are also involved with running. My free time is spent with them on the weekends, going to parties or discos." He also enjoys cross-country skiing and other sports.

While in Wayne, Henric is planning on entering some competitions, along with former teammate Steve Monson. The two boys, who run every day, are planning to go to Norfolk and possibly Aurora for some special races.

Henric, nicknamed "Hank" by Wayne High students, has also improved his tennis game while staying with former classmates Tod Heier and Perry Nelson in their basement apartment. They often play tennis at the college courts or go to baseball games. He has also gone with his hosts and other friends to out-of-town discos.

Henric's trip back to the states just goes to show that it really is a small world. While on the plane, he met a lady who was a native of Wausau. She was also on her way to the states and was going to stay the night with

by Michelle Kubik

"I chose the Midwest," said French visitor Marie des Neiges Coche, who has been visiting Wayne since Aug. 2, "because everyone is familiar with the coastal areas but they don't know the true heart of the states. I wanted to see the part that is not as well known."

Marie des Neiges Coche, whose name means "Mary of the Snow," came to the United States through a program entitled NACEL. The program, which involves teenagers from France and the United States, is not like the usual foreign exchange programs. It is intended to help strengthen ties between the two nations through sharing of cross-cultural experiences. The program is more of a temporary summer visit rather than an exchange between homes.

The 18-year-old girl from Paris, France, has just passed her high school exam and will attend a French university beginning in October. Her high school exam consisted of a written and an oral test in front of her teachers. She plans to study philosophy and history but is not sure what she wants to do for a career.

Marie des Neiges Coche, who's name is Spanish-oriented and not a common one in France, filled out a questionnaire about herself and sent it into the NACEL officials. Her host, Kathy Lempke, a French major at Wayne State College, learned about the program through her language teacher, Janet Schmitt, who is a French instructor at the college. She also filled out a questionnaire about herself and gave it to the organization.

The women were matched from the information and they sent each other letters describing themselves and their interests. A group of about 240 French teenagers flew to an airport in Maine and then connected with another flight to Omaha. The Nebraska Kansas coordinator for the program, Jolane Lutchen of Lincoln, lined up people from the area to pick up the teens in Omaha. A woman from Norfolk picked up Marie at the airport plus two foreigners for the Norfolk area and one for Wakefield.

She has been living with Kathy and her five-year-old son, John Paul, since she's been in Wayne. Kathy uses some French when she talks to Marie, but the basic point of the program is to acquaint visitors with the American culture.

Marie has been very busy in Wayne and Kathy is very intent on keeping her entertained. She tried wet biking on a private lake down by Pilger, flew to St. Louis City on a small plane and went shopping, and has gone swimming in the city pool. She also attended the Wayne County Fair this past weekend.

"Our fairs are very similar to those in the United States," she said, "although we don't have the livestock and crafts part, we have a huge carnival with rides."

Marie really likes the smaller cities in the U.S. compared to her large home. "I don't miss home at all," she said, "I've traveled to parts of Spain and England and really like to move around and see places."

She left her apartment home in Paris and the other three members of her family. Her father works in an office for a car production enterprise and her mother runs an art gallery in Paris. She also has a 17-year-old brother, Romain.

"I've been wanting to go to the United States for about two years now," Marie said, "our country is very influenced by the United States in a lot of ways." Her hobbies are horseback riding and jazz dancing. She also loves to go to American movies. "Marie knows more about the movies and actors than I even do," said her host, Kathy, "and I'm the one that lives here."

Besides the movies, she goes to bars and discos with friends. Age 18 is a big step for

French teenagers since they are allowed to drink alcohol and can also get their driver's license. "The pamphlet we got," Marie said, "told us not to bring any liquor to Nebraska. It said that midwesterners don't drink."

Marie's country does not experience the weather extremes which Nebraska does.

"The most snow we get is in the Alps and Pyrennes mountains," she said, "and the south is always warm." What we know as the French Riviera is called Cote d'Azur (which means "coast of the blue") by the French.

Marie has been keeping in touch with her parents while she's been in Nebraska. A call made to Paris costs $1.46 for the first minute and $.80 for every minute after that. "If you call collect," Kathy exclaimed, "it costs $12.00 for one minute. We decided to make Marie's calls direct."

Kathy plans to take Marie to some of the larger towns in Nebraska, such as Lincoln and Omaha, before she leaves on August 29. She will also get to see an American wedding the day before she takes off.

"I am really glad I got to see the central part of the United States," Marie said, "and hopefully my work will give me a chance to see the coasts. I love the United States and I don't miss home much at all."

Bids accepted for new hanger

Bids for a new six-place T-airplane hanger were accepted by the Wayne Airport Authority during their meeting Monday night in the airport lounge.

Charles Barnes, chairman of the authority, accepted five bids from construction companies, ranging from a low of $73,183 to $81,457.

Construction specifications used by the Authority for the hanger follow those of the Nebraska Department of Aeronautics' guidelines.

The specifications include extensive special electrical wiring and electrically operated bi-fold type doors with clearances of 37 feet 6 inches. Also included in the specifications were partitions between each individual hanger and concrete flooring.

An option on the bid form allowed the companies to bid on construction of six concrete approach aprons to the hanger.

The companies, their bid amounts and option amounts are as follows:

* Otte Construction, Wayne, $73,183 for the hanger and $4,135 for the option.

* Lilleras and Associates, Grand Island, Neb.; $73,573 for the hanger and $3,900 for the option.

* A.F. Wieseler Construction, Yankton, S.D.; $73,758 for the hanger and $3,937 for the option.

* Chuck & Dan's Construction, York, Neb.; $74,649 for the hanger and $3,217 for the option.

* Dennis Otte Construction, Wakefield; $81,457 for the hanger and $5,568 for the option.

The majority of the builders specified they would be constructing an Erect-a-tube brand hanger building. The only other type, submitted by Lilleras and Associates, was for a Fulmab aircraft hanger.

In addition to submitting specifications and proposals for the six-place hanger, contractors also were required to submit design computations and complete hanger plans along with a $3,000 bond to the Wayne Airport Authority.

Funding for the construction will be provided partially through a state grant to the Wayne Authority.

According to the procedure, the Authority may receive about $8,000 for each hanger unit, or $48,000 total from the state.

Although the amount must be paid back within a 10-year period, there is no interest involved on the grant.

The remainder of the funding for the construction of the hanger will be made up in Wayne Airport Authority funds which have previously been set aside for the project.

The commission will be reviewing the bids along with a list of current area buildings and hangers constructed by the companies involved.

Bid letting for the construction is expected to be within about 30 days. The Authority may accept or reject the original bids as well as the options submitted on a separate basis.

A YOUNG WOMAN FROM Paris, France, Marie des Neiges Coche, sitting, has been visiting Wayne as part of a special cross-cultural program between the United States and France. Her hostess here in Wayne, Kathy Lempke, is a French major at Wayne State College, and first learned of the program through the school's faculty.

Winside's budget stays at old level

The 1982-83 budget for the Winside Public School system will remain at $868,430, the same level it was for the 1981-82 school year, according to Superintendent Don Leighton.

The tax request, however, will go up about $92,613, due to several factors including the Class I school district court case, which the Wayne Carroll school system is currently involved in.

According to Leighton, the Winside system has not received about $31,500 in non-resident tuition from the last school year.

Another factor involved in the tax request hike is the loss of $26,000 in property tax relief, the result of a new law in effect for the 1982-83 school year.

Leighton also said that last year, a surplus cash balance was used to lower taxes by about $68,000 which will not be available this year.

The total tax request will be for $550,058, the same amount requested during the 1979-80 school year.

The budget categorical breakdown, which shows the general areas where funding cuts were made or where modest increases were approved, is as follows:

Instruction	$503,080	$522,825
Pupil Support Program	21,621	21,813
Instructional Support	11,402	13,671

Department underspends allocation

About $10,000 remained unspent in allocated funds by the Wayne Police Department, according to the department's end of fiscal year report.

According to the expenditures statement for fiscal year 1981-82, the department had been allocated $172,100 for personal services and spent about $169,720 for a savings of $2,380. Within the category however, the department over expended approximately $1,405 for group health insurance and $314 for temporary salaries.

In the area of total commodities, which includes such items as legal publications, auto insurance and vehicle expenses and clothing costs, the department was allocated $22,596, but spent only $14,687, for a savings of about $7,909.

relatives. Henric, who had planned to take a bus to Nebraska, was asked to be a companion on her ride back. When the plane arrived in Minneapolis, Henric was taken in for the night at the woman's relatives in Austin, Minnesota. They drove to Wausa and Henric was picked up by Tom and Marge McCright and their daughter, Paula at the woman's home.

"It was a real coincidence to find someone going my way," Henric said, "and it saved me a lot of money, not having to pay a bus fare to get to Nebraska."

Henric also commented on Sweden's unions and the fact that demonstrations on city streets are a common sight in modern Sweden. "We have one of the strongest unions in the world," Henric said, "and strikes like those you have at IBP are an everyday occurrence in Sweden."

Henric leaves for Sweden on Aug. 25, but hopes to return soon and begin his schooling. "Our educational system in Sweden invites a lot of competition between students," Henric said, "and I expect the same sort of challenge when I transfer to an American university."

BOB REEG hits an approach shot.

Same old story — Reeg wins club title

Defending champion Bob Reeg continues to dominate the Wayne Country Club men's club tournament like the UCLA Bruins once dominated the world of collegiate basketball.

For the 10th time in 11 years, Reeg turned back his nearest competitors to claim the club title Saturday and Sunday. Reeg's only setback in more than a decade of competition came in 1979 when Bob Bornhoff won the club championship.

No other golfer has won the title in the past 11 years.

Reeg repeated as first in fine fashion by carding a one under par score of 143 for 36 holes. His nearest competitor, John Fuelberth, was five strokes back with a 148 total. Fuelberth was only one stroke back entering the final nine holes but shot a 40 on the front nine.

Darrel Fuelberth finished third with a 151 total and Dick Pflanz moved into fourth place with a par round on the final nine for a total of 153. Bill Erickson was one shot back at 154 and Russ Swigart was sixth with a 155.

Gene Claussen won the first flight with a 36 hole score of 157. The second flight was won by Randy Simonsen with a score of 163. Erle Racely won the third flight by shooting a 163.

In the fourth flight, Ken Christiansen tied Don Pierson with a 177 total and then won a sudden death playoff on the first hole to claim the first place trophy. The fifth flight was won by Paul Stuart with a 173.

Gordon Nuernberger's 181 total gave him a narrow victory in the sixth flight. Randy Pedersen won the seventh flight with a 174 and the eighth flight was won by Red Carr with a 181.

The ninth flight was won by Max Kathol with a 173 total and Roger Boyce won the 10th flight with a 191. Because of a wide variance of handicaps, the 11th flight used net scores with handicaps subtracted. Larry Brodersen had low net score of 120. Bob Jordan, who had low scratch score of 195, finished second in the net play.

A longest drive contest was held following the club tourney. A line was drawn down the number one fairway and the distance a drive missed the line was subtracted from the length of each drive.

Ken Berglund, who won his age division with a drive of 286 yards, was the overall champion in the contest.

WSC offers season pass

So you think the cost of an afternoon or an evening of entertainment is too high? Not if you take advantage of an offer by Wayne State College.

Beginning this year, patrons of Wayne State College athletic events can gain admission to all regular-season home football and men's and women's basketball games for a fraction of the cost of regular admission, according to Joe Parker, WSC business manager.

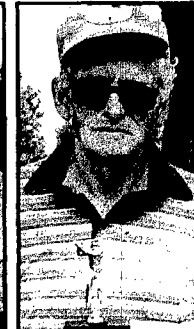

How? By purchasing a "season ticket" from Wayne State College. Sales of WSC season tickets will begin immediately, at a universal cost of $15 per ticket. Adult general admission to WSC's five home football games alone would exceed that cost.

Adult general admission to all regular-season home football and basketball games, at a cost of $3.50 per ticket, would cost the sports patron $84 in 1982-83. With the season ticket, that results in a savings of $69.

Anyone wishing to purchase season tickets can stop by the WSC business office on the first floor of the Hahn Administration Building. Tickets can also be ordered by mail — simply send a check or money order for $15 per season ticket payable to Wayne State College to the Business Office, Wayne State College, Wayne, Neb. 68787.

Randy's Recap

By Randy Hascall

Misunderstood sport

Elizabeth Prather will be up before the sun every morning this fall. Her day at the University of Nebraska begins at 5:30 a.m.

You see, Elizabeth is a member of the UNL crew team.

A lot of people don't know what the crew team is. The Wayne High graduate says, "My friends used to think I was on the grounds crew. Sometimes, I just tell people I'm on the rowing team."

Referring to the sport as rowing clears things up for most people. And essentially that's what the crew team does.

Nebraska's crew team currently consists of a varsity four women's team, a novice eight women's team, a varsity eight men's team, a varsity four men's team, a novice eight men's team and occasionally a men's pair.

Elizabeth was one of eight members on the women's novice eight team last spring. She probably will compete on the varsity team this fall.

The object of crew team is simply to beat other boats in a race. Races: usually 1,000 meters long, are held on lakes or rivers. Nebraska competes at Carter Lake near Omaha.

Each member of a crew team, facing the back of the boat (called a scull), mans one oar, either on the port or starboard. Rowers sit in a kneeling position and push off with their legs as they row.

Timing is crucial

Teamwork is essential as the rhythm of the rowing is more important than the force. It takes skill and technique to beat a smaller team," Elizabeth explains.

The Nebraska crew team travels to other states for competitions and Wisconsin competitions in an old school bus. The group takes a van with a hitch to transport the boats. The boats must be loaded and unloaded, rigged and d-rigged each time.

The sport is not university funded so the crew team must raise its own money. Spring training is held in Austin, Texas. On the way back from last year's spring training, the Nebraska team competed on rivers in Oklahoma.

Because the sport is physically demanding, crew members must stay in good shape. Practice sessions begin at 5:30 a.m. at Capital Beach near Lincoln. Participants must work to improve their timing and stamina.

Much emphasis is placed on leg training. Crew members must run stairs and lift weights. Each student runs approximately five miles a day.

Elizabeth, who will be a junior at UNL, joined the crew team last spring because one of the girls in her house was on varsity and asked her to try out. She made the team and participated in five competitions.

Learning in the tank

She says she learned to row in "the tank" which she describes as a stationary stage with water on both sides to enable rowing with the oars. The tank is used for winter training.

"After getting hit in the back with an oar, you learn quickly," Elizabeth says. "You can practice and practice and you feel like you're not getting anywhere. Then in a meet, things seem to work well."

Other responsibilities of crew members include care and upkeep of equipment, stripping and varnishing of oars and storage of sculls for the winter. The wood on the sculls is thin and Elizabeth recalls one instance where a girl actually pushed her feet through the bottom of the boat.

Nebraska placed third in the Big Eight last year and competed in the Midwest Rowing Championships at Madison, Wisc. Elizabeth says she plans to compete in Wisconsin Universities give scholarships to their crew teams.

"Some of the women of their teams look like the missing link," Elizabeth jokes.

Nebraska usually competes with teams like Kansas, Kansas State, Wichita State, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

The sport means considerable traveling for Elizabeth. In addition to spring training in Texas, meets are held at various sites in several states. The varsity four plans to compete in Boston this fall.

The Wayne High graduate, who plans to stay on the crew team during the remainder of her career at the University of Nebraska, says the sport helps her arrange her time.

"I wouldn't advise it for freshmen though," she adds, emphasizing that the sport is demanding.

"I like it so well because I've always liked sports. I had no idea what I was getting into," she says. "It's very demanding but very rewarding."

Town team in driver's seat, Laurel is knocked out

The Wayne town team continued its dominance over O'Neill and became the only undefeated team in Tri-County League playoffs with a 4-0 victory Sunday at Hank Overlin Field. It was the third win over O'Neill this year.

With the triumph, only four teams remain in the playoffs. Wayne, 20-3, was scheduled to host Coleridge last night (Wednesday) and O'Neill hosted Creighton. On Sunday, Creighton eliminated Laurel and Coleridge eliminated Norfolk.

A Wayne win last night would leave only two teams in the playoffs and set up a game in Wayne Sunday night.

Joel Ankeny used excellent control to keep O'Neill out of scoring position all night. Only five Irish batters reached first base and none made it to second. Ankeny gave up three singles and recorded six strikeouts.

O'Neill pitcher Steve Erwin, a Wayne State graduate, pitched an eight-hitter and retired 10 batters on strikes but Wayne took advantage of opportunities in two innings.

Tim Pfeiffer reached base on an error in the second inning and Jeff Dion singled. Ankeny moved the runners with a sacrifice and Jeff Zeiss drove in both Pfeiffer and Dion with a single up the middle.

Pfeiffer and Dion also scored in the sixth inning. Pfeiffer singled, Dion reached base on an error and Ankeny cracked a base hit.

Laurel eliminated Creighton, the Cinderella team of the Tri-County League playoffs with a 7-17 record, surprised Laurel 4-2 Sunday to eliminate the Falcons from the playoffs.

Two Laurel errors were costly and led to Creighton's first two runs. The other two runs were scored on a base-loaded lead and fielder's choice in the ninth inning.

A solo home run by Lon Swanson in the bottom of the fifth inning gave Laurel its first run and tied the game. Creighton regained the lead with a run in the sixth but Laurel tied it in the seventh when Brian Johnson and John Mangano hit doubles. The late ended Laurel's season at 13-7.

The Class B Women's Slow Pitch Softball Tournament had an undramatic finish but it was a happy one for Wood Plumbing of Wayne as the locals claimed the state title.

Wood Plumbing, which has a history of coming through the losers bracket to win tournaments, followed its usual route in the weekend tourney at Crete. The locals edged First National Bank of York 4-3 in the first game of the finals and then blasted the runners up 10-0 in the title game. The Wayne team won its first two games, lost in the third round and then won seven straight games to work its way through the losers bracket to the championship.

Becky Kelley drove Bodenstedt in with a single.

Paula Rager scored the winning run with two outs in the third inning. She singled and scored on a base hit by Donna Kelly. York scored once in the first inning and twice in the sixth.

Wood Plumbing 5, Dairy Queen: In an even ball game, Wood's scored twice in the bottom of the seventh inning to pull out a victory. Deb Bodenstedt, Becky Kelley and Sue Plumb hit three consecutive singles with one out. Bodenstedt scored the tying run and Kelly scored the winning run. Plumb was 3 for 4, Kelley was 2 for 3 and Rager was 2 for 3.

Wood Plumbing 4, Oasis Lounge 3: It was sweet revenge for the locals as early runs led to a narrow win. Sue Plumb scored in the first inning and Deb Bodenstedt, Becky Kelley and Plumb all scored in the third. Jolene Bennett had a big hit. Donna Kelly was 2 for 3.

Wood Plumbing 7, Klein's 1: Led by the 3 for 4 hitting performances of Becky Kelley and Sue Plumb, Wayne dumped the McCook team. Jolene Bennett was 2 for 3.

Wood Plumbing 12, Coors 7: It was Wayne against Norfolk and Wood Plumbing of Wayne came out on top with consistent offensive play. The winners gave up six runs in the first three innings but scored more than enough runs. Paula Rager, Donna Kelly, Deb Bodenstedt, Lisa Lundergard, Deb Poehling and Deb Janssen each had two hits.

Wood Plumbing 9, Sidney Oilers 3: Deb Bodenstedt, Sue Plumb, Jo McElvogue and Lisa Lundergard each collected two base hits to lead the winners.

Becky Kelley and Plumb smashed home runs.

Oasis 9, Wood Plumbing 6: Wood Plumbing suffered its only loss when Oasis Lounge of Norfolk scored three runs in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Oasis scored six runs in the first two innings and was then shut out for the next four. Wood's scored one in the first, one in the second, two in the fourth and two in the fifth. Plumb, who had a two-run homer, was 2-for-2. Deb Poehling had a triple and was 2 for 3. Deb Bodenstedt had a triple, double and single in four at-bats. The Wayne team had 12 hits.

100 to report for football

Approximately 100 athletes including more than 30 lettermen are expected to report when Wayne State College opens fall football camp next Sunday (Aug. 22) according to veteran Wildcat Coach Del Stoltenberg.

The Cats, who will work out without pads for the first three days, will undergo two-day workouts for a full week in preparation for their 1982 season opener.

A home bout with rival Chadron State at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 11 kicks off Stoltenberg's 14th season at the Wildcat helm. Stoltenberg is the longest-tenured college football coach in Nebraska and in the Central States Intercollegiate Conference (CSIC).

A veteran defense will anchor the Cats as they attempt to improve on last year's 4-6 record. Seven starters return on defensive coordinator Dr. Ralph Barclay's roster, while six offensive starters will be on hand.

Assisting Stoltenberg and Barclay will be a veteran Wildcat coaching staff of Ray Wagner, Ron Peck, John Torczon and Dr. LeRoy Simpson.

Five home contests are scheduled this fall. In addition to the Chadron State opener, WSC will face Doane during homecoming at 2 p.m. on Sept. 18; Kearney State at 1:30 p.m. on Oct. 2; Washburn at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 23; and defending conference champ and national playoff finalist Pittsburg State on Oct. 30 at 1:30 p.m.

Among the returnees expected to lead the Cats in 1982 are: senior linebacker Ron Gilbert (Waterloo, Iowa), who paced WSC with 110 tackles last fall; safeties Jay Sandy (senior, Sioux City) and Ken Kohlfhof (junior, Moline, Iowa); quarterback Mike Warren (senior, Papillion); junior fullback Randy Frink (Henderson, Iowa); fullback Tony Marinella (senior, Medfield, Mass.); junior split end Scott Hallstrom (Wakefield); and offensive linemen Paul Zeilinsky (junior, Wheaton, Ill.) and Dan Mitchell (junior, Wayne).

All's fair in Concord

Persons from every corner of Dixon County congregated to Concord Thursday, Friday and Saturday to take part in the annual Dixon County Fair. There was entertainment of several varieties to satisfy the wants of the people. One of the most popular, yet simple attractions was a pen with two calves set up by War-J-Ayr Farm and Jim Warner of Allen.

A sign invited everyone to pet the calves named E.T. and Rosanna. There were many takers including Lana (2), John (8) and Kyle Schutte (10) of Dixon (top left photo). They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. David Schutte.

A couple boys weren't quite patient enough to wait for the start of the kiddie pedal tractor pull which was delayed about two hours. Casey Schroeder of Allen gives Mike Johnson of Allen a helping push (lower left photo) as the two work their way around the concession stand.

AMY SAWTELL'S CALF gave her some problems following a showing at the Dixon County Fair, but with some helpful hands, and a couple more helpful hands, Amy finally managed to get her calf moving from its resting place in the ring.

A sluggish economy is continuing to produce less than expected revenue from the state sales and income taxes.

The $53.5 million collected in July, the first month of the current fiscal year, was 10.8 percent less than anticipated. That raises questions about the adequacy of the current 3.5 percent sales tax rate and 17 percent individual income tax rate to fund state spending obligations.

State officials downplay the significance to the meager July tax collections. Some $33 million turned up in the mailbox at the State Revenue Department in the first four days of August, they say, and that means the next monthly report should show collections at least closer to — and possible ahead of — projections.

The Governor has a couple of options when collections aren't matching projections. He could convene the State Board of Equalization to raise tax rates or he could bring the Legislature into special session to cut the budget.

This being an election year, the tax increase option is very unlikely. The special session is likely to be only slightly less appealing. The potential political cost of bringing mischievous lawmakers into session during campaign season is risky.

In any event, it's too early to predict either action. The State is muddling along financially by borrowing its own cash funds to supplement the state general fund. Unless the bottom drops out of the economy, the State will probably be able to hobble along at least until the next scheduled meeting of the Legislature in January.

The recently announced conclusions of the three-year old Project 2000 weren't very startling, but at least they were cheap.

The cost of the project, which was organized during Gov. Charles Thone's first year in office, was less than $10,000, most of which came from private contributions, said Lt. Gov. Roland Luedtke during a recent press conference.

Luedtke held the press conference to announce the conclusions of the effort, which was directed by a 19-member advisory committee.

Following a series of statewide forums, the Project 2000 report reached several conclusions about what Nebraskans want for the future of their state. Among them are desires for local control of schools, a broadened tax base and conservation of water.

Luedtke sounded slightly defensive about how mundane the conclusions were. "A lot of this is just — I won't say a rehash — a restatement," Luedtke said.

But, he added, "you can't lead the people of Nebraska into the future without getting a consensus first."

Some State officials would like to see Atokad Racing Association, the organization which operates the thoroughbred track at South Sioux City, increase the surety bond which it posts with the State Racing Commission.

The track owes $232,000 in back taxes, and if it proves to be unable to pay up, the State would collect only the $10,000 bond which has been posted with the commission. For two consecutive years, the state auditor has said the surety bond for Atokad and the other four thoroughbred tracks in the State is small compared to the tax bill of the track. Most of the concern rests with Atokad, which doesn't have many assets as the other tracks.

State risk manager Don Erway has recommended an increase in the bond to about half of the average parimutuel tax incurred by the tracks over the last three years, which for Atokad would be approximately $150,000.

For the financially troubled track, the added cost of an increased bond is an unwelcome development. The surety bond requirement is still a matter of discussion between Erway and track officials.

Who pays...

The strike at Iowa Beef Pack continues. When it began, many weeks ago, Nebraska State Troopers were sent into the area to control the crowds, violence and protect property. Following an escalation, the Governor sent in Nebraska Guardsmen to supplement the troopers.

Contract talks, following a request by the Governor for a federal mediator, broke down after one session last month and the strike continues. With the guard reduced, troopers remain in the area.

Although the patrol's thinned absence from many areas in Northeast Nebraska may not be missed by speeders, their limited coverage means increased shift and driving time for those trying to cover a wider area. Ultimately we pay for the strike through increased overtime and crowd control at the IBP plant.

Part of the troopers responsibility is to protect citizens and property, no matter what the situation, yet we believe the situation has gone far enough.

Due to the failure of both sides, IBP management and the striking union officials, to be able to sit down and again begin discussions, both sides should be fined, on a daily basis, for the necessity of maintaining a contingent of troopers in the area.

Charging for public services that are usually "free" are not unheard of when people abuse their rights. By instituting a daily fine schedule, added pressure will also result on both union and management officials to strive toward resolution of the matter. Without additional pressure brought to bear, the troopers ranks, for the rest of the area, could be thinned indefinitely.

We are not calling for a withdrawal of the protection force, rather for an added incentive to renew discussion through a fine schedule which will make up some for some of the over and extended duty costs the patrol is building up.

The "National Dairy Products Promotion Act" was introduced in the Senate July 2 by Senator Patrick Leahy (D-Vt.) and assigned number S. 2716. Leahy was joined by Senator David Boren (D-Okla.) and it is expected that other members of the Senate will join as co-sponsors in upcoming weeks. This self-help initiative was introduced by Chairman Tom Harkin in the House (H.R. 6314) and eight of his colleagues back in May.

The legislation authorizes establishment of a national promotion and advertising campaign that would be funded by a uniform five-cents-per-hundredweight assessment on all milk marketed. During the first two years of the program, promotion would be directed at manufactured dairy products—the products purchased by CCC under the milk price support program and which have the greatest potential for increased sales. After two years, the National Dairy Promotion Board responsible for administering the program would have the option of adding fluid milk products to promotion efforts.

AMPI supports the promotion bill as a constructive and promising "demand side" response to current milk surpluses. All dairy farmers would benefit from the initiative through increased income and expanded markets.

Amendments reviewed

By M.M. Van Kirk
Nebraska Farm Bureau

Nebraska voters in the November General Election will be presented a choice of five proposals to amend the Nebraska State Constitution, four of which were originated by the Nebraska Legislature and by initiative petition.

Of the five proposals, the one submitted by initiative petition is of special and primary concern to the farmers and ranchers of the state. Secretary of State Allen Beermann has announced that the petition signatures have been reviewed and there were sufficient valid signatures to insure that the "Family Farm Preservation Act" as it was termed by its sponsors, will be presented to the voters.

If approved, a new section would be added to Article XII of the State Constitution to prohibit non agricultural corporations or syndicates from acquiring Nebraska farmland or engaging in the practice of farming.

Syndicates are defined as meaning "any limited partnership organized under the laws of any state of the United States or any country, other than limited partnerships in which the partners are members of a family related to one another within the 4th degree of kindred according to the rules of civil law, or their spouses, at least one of whom is a person residing on or actively engaged in the day-to-day labor and management of the farm or ranch, and none of whom are non-resident aliens. This shall not include general partnerships."

The proposal specifically exempts a family farm or ranch corporation which is incorporated under the laws of the State of Nebraska, founded for the purposes of farming or ranching and the ownership of agricultural land, in which the majority of voting stock is held by members of a family, at least one of whom resides on or actively engages in the operation of the farm or ranch, and none of whose stockholders are corporations, partnerships or non-resident aliens.

The petition spells out an extensive list of exemptions such as farms or ranches used for research or experimental purposes, Nebraska Indian tribal corporations, corporations using land for poultry, alfalfa, seed, nursery or sod production, bona fide encumbrances taken for purposes of financial security, etc.

It contains provisions that would leave non-qualifying corporations and syndicates that are already in place at the time that the amendment is approved in an exempt status as long as they continue to be held by the same ownership in other words, a conglomerate type corporation could continue to own and operate its present holding but future expansion or new corporations buying agricultural land for farm and ranch operations would be prohibited.

Backers of the petition proposal have noted that North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma all have similar statutory restraints. The petition would permit the Nebraska Legislature to enact further restrictions if they are deemed necessary to the intent of the act.

The other four amendment proposals include the following: —An amendment to permit cities, counties and villages to issue tax exempt revenue bonds to acquire, develop or finance property for business enterprises in blighted areas. Currently, such Industrial Development Act bonds are limited to manufacturing and industrial projects. This proposal was sponsored as LB 634 by Sen. David Newell of Omaha and is seen generally as more applicable to a larger city situation.

An amendment whereby in cities, villages and sanitary improvement districts, the redemption period for property that has been tax foreclosed would be shortened from two years to six months. The two year period would continue for property in other areas and for dwelling occupied by their owners. LB 766 was introduced by the Constitutional Revision Committee.

—Amendment to authorize the State to issue revenue bonds for dam construction with all or part of the money derived from use of the structures to be pledged to repaying the bonds. LB 577 was introduced by Sen. Gerald Koch of Ralston and Sen. Chris Beutler of Lincoln.

—An amendment whereby state senators would be reimbursed for all actual expenses connected with their duties, in addition to their $400 monthly salary. This was presented by LB 531 introduced by Sen. Bernice Labedz of Omaha.

The proposals introduced by legislative bills became law without the signature of the governor, which indicates the executive branch had doubts concerning them. Relative to the revenue bond issuance for water impoundment structures, such improvements are not usually considered extensive revenue producers. And while many Nebraskans would agree that the state senators deserve more salary and expense reimbursement, they probably will take a dim view of authorizing the lawmakers open-ended expense privileges.

To return would be wrong

by Richard L. Leshar
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

The 9.8 percent unemployment rate posted in July is one more indication that the record $99 billion tax increase now under consideration is bad economic policy. Whether you are a conservative or a liberal, a supply-sider or a Keynesian, you were taught that you don't raise taxes during a recession. To do so would further depress economic activity, put more taxpaying workers and businesses out of commission and thus, leave Uncle Sam with even bigger budget deficits.

Nonetheless, a wide range of "wise men" in political, academic and media circles insist that the way to rescue our economy is to bail out of supply-side economics with the parachute of a record tax hike. They'd better prepare for a crash landing!

Come to think of it, the recent track record of "conventional wisdom" espoused by many of these sages does not exactly inspire confidence in their current prognostications. To cite just a few examples: The conventional wisdom insisted that sweeping tax reductions on the order of the Kemp-Roth proposal would send the rate of inflation back up to 20 percent and perhaps even higher. Debating candidate Ronald Reagan on this subject in 1980, President Jimmy Carter said, "The Reagan-Kemp-Roth proposal is the most highly inflationary proposal that has been presented to the American public."

Yet, since last year's tax package was passed, not only has the double-digit spiral been broken, but inflation so far this year is running at an annual pace of just 5.1 percent.

The conventional wisdom also claimed that rather than save and invest, Americans would fritter away their tax cuts on foolish pleasures. Yet, individual Retirement Accounts — about as long-term a savings commitment as one can make — have exploded since the new law took effect. And despite the recession, businesses are increasing their spending for new research and development this year by 17 percent over last year.

The conventional wisdom insisted that energy prices would skyrocket as a result of President Reagan's decision on Jan. 28, 1981 to totally decentralize crude oil prices. Sen. Donald Riegle (D-Mich.) took to the Senate floor the next day to declare that "every citizen and every family will find their living standards reduced by this decision, and it will hurt those people most who need drive to work..." Sen. Edward Kennedy chimed in, claiming that "because of decontrol, the inflation we will suffer will be double-digit rather than single-digit next year."

Don't look now Senators, but prices for petroleum products are lower today than they were on the day of the dreaded decontrol.

The conventional wisdom also told us that there was no way interest rates could drop in the face of rising deficits. The widely quoted Wall Street economist Henry Kaufman declared last October that "I continue to believe that we have not yet seen the high in interest rates, either short term or long term."

Without excusing the deficit, the fact is the prime rate has dropped 30 percent over the last 19 months, during which time the federal government has been running up record deficits.

The purpose of pointing out these inaccurate predictions by leading opinion makers is not to say "I told you so," but to demonstrate that those who claim that 1) supply-side economics has failed and 2) our only recourse is to return to the policies of tax and spend, have been wrong, woefully wrong in the past. And they are wrong this time.

First credible attempt

Last week the House passed a package of legislation that is the first credible effort to correct some of the damage done by the 1981 Farm Bill. The Agriculture Committee's Reconciliation Bill represents a good faith effort to actually reduce Federal spending while at the same time providing the American farmer with some meaningful assistance.

The wheat and feed grain provisions of the reconciliation measure were taken directly from legislation introduced earlier this summer, which I cosponsored along with other farm state representatives. This bill will provide strong incentives to substantially reduce production, raise commodity prices, and avoid huge outlays in deficiency payments next year.

There is currently almost 2 billion bushels of wheat and corn in the farmer-owned grain reserve. While this program has worked well in providing our producers with additional marketing flexibility, the mere existence of this surplus grain has worked to the disadvantage of the farmer in that it has a price depressing effect upon the market. The Agriculture Committee has not only met, but exceeded by $1.3 billion, the savings required by the budget resolution which passed this body earlier this year. This exemplary effort is in sharp contrast to that of some other committees which have failed to honor the budget process.

Help for the Housing Industry

One of the most critical problems hamstringing the U.S. housing industry today is a shortage of affordable mortgage investment capital. I am cosponsoring a bill designed to remove the barriers that discourage private pension fund investments in mortgage securities.

The largest unfapped source of long-term capital is private pension funds, which now total almost $300 billion. Add public pension funds and you have a pool of nearly $700 billion. The problem is that rules governing private pension funds discourage — though don't prohibit — investments in mortgage securities.

The Residential Mortgage Investment Act (H.R. 6781), a "No-Cost, No-Subsidy Housing Bill," would allow the trustees and managers of the nation's private pension funds to consider investing in mortgages and mortgage-backed securities free from the regulatory shackles that have discouraged such investment in the past.

The bill does not require pension funds to invest in housing, it merely clears out the regulatory underbrush that has made mortgages a second-class investment. It retains requirements that pension funds invest prudently in arms-length transactions that contribute to diversified portfolios. This bill contains no subsidies. It will not cost taxpayers one cent.

Republican Governor Charles Thone and Democratic candidate Bob Kerrey have agreed to meet on Sept. 9 at 1 p.m. at the Nebraska State Fair in Lincoln to discuss agricultural issues of concern to voters of the state. It will be the first public meeting of the two candidates.

The event, billed as a "Candidates' Forum," will be sponsored by the League of Women Voters and the Nebraska State Fair. During the one-hour meeting, agricultural questions will be asked of both candidates by four representatives of the news media in Nebraska. The panel of four will be selected from recommendations submitted to the League by the Nebraska Press Association and the Nebraska Broadcasters' Association.

Ak-Sar-Ben entries are due

All entries for the 1982 Ak-Sar-Ben 4-H Livestock Exposition are due at Ak-Sar-Ben no later than Wednesday, August 25, according to Sherman Berg, Ak-Sar-Ben's Director of Agricultural Activities. Entry blanks and application forms are still available at County Extension Offices or at Ak-Sar-Ben.

Berg is anticipating over 2,500 exhibitors and 5,000 animals for the 55th edition of the Exposition, the world's largest 4-H show, which will run from September 22 through October 3. Only exhibitors from the following eight states are eligible to enter: Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota, Wyoming, Colorado, Kansas, and Missouri.

Classes will include horses, swine, sheep, dairy, breeding beef, and market beef. Market beef must have been identified, nose printed and filed with their respective county and state 4-H offices by April 1, 1982.

The Livestock Exposition and the Ak-Sar-Ben Rodeo, starring Louise Mandrell, R. C. Bannon, and Sylvia, are two of the main attractions during the first annual River City Roundup. The city-wide festival will run during the same 12 days as the Exposition and will celebrate the agricultural and western heritage of the region.

Hay hauling contest set

Ever tried to load 42 bales of hay onto a half-ton pickup, drive through an obstacle course, unload and stack the hay as fast as you can?

4-Hers 14 years of age and older are eligible to try their hand at such a task during the 1982 Ak-Sar-Ben Livestock Exposition, according to Doyle Wolverton, University of Nebraska extension livestock youth specialist.

One three member team from each county is eligible to compete in the contest to be held Sept. 26 at 4 p.m., Wolverton said. "Using pickups furnished by Ak-Sar-Ben, the teams will be required to complete the designated course as quickly as they can without breaking any of the bales or going off course," Wolverton explained. "Five second penalties will be assessed for each broken bale or knocked over cone."

Members of the top two teams will receive special Ak-Sar-Ben trophy belt buckles. Entry forms are available from Cooperative Extension Service offices and are due no later than Aug. 25.

Alger has champion ram

The champion Suffolk yearling was named the Sweepstakes Ram Saturday at the 46th annual Nebraska Top of the Flock Show and Sale. The ram, owned by Merrill Neary of Valparaiso, was the full brother of the 1981 Suffolk champion shown by Neary.

This year's winner sold for $575 to Jerry Fields of Tilden. The Sweepstakes Ewe, owned by Harry Hart of Cozad, was purchased by the Gillespie Sheep Company of Fulton, Mo., for $375. The ewe was the Hampshire yearling champion.

The show judge was R. B. Warren, a University of Nebraska animal science professor. The auctioneer was Bobby Fletcher of Wolforth, Tex. Exhibitors and entered 227 sheep in the show and sale, held in the 4 H Pavilion on the State Fairgrounds. The Nebraska Top of the Flock Show and Sale is sponsored by the Nebraska Registered Sheep Breeders Association. It is the oldest, continuous purebred sheep show and sale in the nation.

Columbia rams (two shown) champion, reserve champion, John Alger, Wayne.

Jones wins driving contest

Steve Jones, son of Wayne Jones of Allen, was the top contestant in the Dixon County 4 H tractor driving contest held recently. Steve received a purple ribbon and will represent Dixon County at the Nebraska State Fair. He is a member of the Pleasure and Profit 4 H Club.

Jay Jones of Allen also received a purple ribbon, and Derwin Roberts of Allen received a blue ribbon. Events included in the contest were a written quiz, troubleshooting for tractor maintenance and safety problems, and a two wheel driving course.

Helping radio range

THE DIXON Elevator is the site of a UHF repeater which was installed Friday. The repeater should improve and increase mobile communication. The advantage of a repeater is that it provides greater power and elevation for greater range of communications. It provides two-way communications and business band reception without skip or interference like a CB radio. The repeater should allow communication within a radius of 25 or 30 miles. The equipment was purchased from Anderson Radio of South Sioux City and hooked up by Fairchild Communications of Boone, Iowa. Tim Garvin checks out the antenna in this high contrast line shot.

Take the bite out of hemp dogbane with Banvel herbicide.

Hemp dogbane can frustrate your harvest plans. By choking combines. And biting into your harvest time.

A Banvel® herbicide plus 2,4-D tank mix bites back — controls dogbane so harvest is faster and easier. Just apply the Banvel herbicide tank mix shortly before harvest. When corn is in the brown silk stage — before the first killing frost. While dogbane is still green and growing.

Banvel herbicide immediately penetrates the dogbane leaves. Then translocates throughout the weeds to knock dogbane out of the combining zone.

Follow with another late fall application next year for most effective dogbane control. This two-year program pays off with cleaner, faster harvests.

Ask your ag chem dealer for Banvel herbicide. And take the bite out of dogbane.
